PROSPECTS & BETTING.

IMMENSE RUSH !

Though we of this continent do not, as a rule, like the people of the British Islands, live so close to the water that we are afraid of getting up some night in our sleep and falling into the Atlantic or German oceans, those of us who do not toil by the boundless sea have at our very doors such magnificent lakes and rivers that it would be an outrageous contempt of the good gifts of Providence did we not in some way utilize the advantages which have been placed in our way with such a generous hand. We cannot all of us do business in great waters, or even little streams ; we cannot all of us

CONTROL IMMENSE SHIPS

or revel in the luxuries of yachts or pleasure steamers; still most of us have our skiffs or boats in which we are accustomed to row or sail just as the whim takes us, and the wind permits, varying the pleasure of taking with us our friends of the fair sex, by that amusement after Isaak Walton, of which Dr. Johnson, we believe, once spoke in such unfavorable and contemptuous terms There are boats and boats, some useful and, perhaps, correspondingly ugly, while others have all the beauties of design and appearance that could be imagined, but are really incapable of being handled by any except those who are

SPECIALLY TRAINED FOR THE PURPOSE.

We do not intend to enter into a discussion as to who was the inventor of boats. It is certain that the ancient people, of whom we are supposed by some to be a lost branch, were not possessed of them when they ran away from Egypt, for the water cleared away to make room for them, while forty years subsequently the descendants of those aquapedestrians crossed the Jordan upon stepping stones which were afterwards collected and preserved as national treasures. It is not clear how streams were subsequently crossed during a considerable period next ensuing, although we know the Phoenicians were sailors, and we are told of those who

GO DOWN TO THE SEA IN SHIPS,

but their build and their characteristics are in no way described, though according to the record we have it that on the Lake of Galilee and elsewhere fishing in boats was an avocation followed by not a small section of the existing communities. Possibly the boats then used in build and appearance much resembled what the Ancient Britons had, which the historian describes as coracles made of wicker work, covered with skins, and held together with a stick run through the top of both sides and secured there. These coracles, from what we can gather, must be very much like the canoes of which the Indians of this continent make use and which are to be found in all uncivilized countries. There the people have discovered a common necessity, which necessity has been the mother of an almost common invention. The similarity of these barbarous aquatic constructions is a remarkable proof of our common ancestry ; but as the individual has become more highly developed, in the same proportion have symmetry and adaptability to the special purpose for which they were designed been the characteristic of the model, and by these conditions have the width, draught and length been regulated.

THE CORACLE, OR CANOE, had in some quarters its rival in the punt, and from these have been evolved the wherry, the scow and the skiff, and as time went on the racing shell. The objects for which these were respectively designed have been progression, amusement, physical exercise and sport. It is now in the two latter capacities that we have to consider them As a means of physical training there is nothing superior to rowing, and in all educational institutions, recognizing the necessity of combining amusement with knowledge,

ROWING OCCUPIES A PRIME POSITION

in the list of recreations. Boat racing is an old British institution, and rowing for prizes is what we read about in the days of long ago. A veteran racing fixture is the race upon the Thames for the Doggett Coat and Badge. This prize was founded by Thomas Doggett, an old Drury Lane actor, and was established in 1715 to commemorate the accession to the throne of Great Britain of King George the First. It was to be competed for by six apprentice watermen who had just served out their time. Now-a-days, and in this country, we hear much said about the unfairness of courses which have strong currents. It is true the

BOATS ARE CONSIDERABLY DIFFERENT

in build, but Mr. Doggett's express conditions were that the race should be rowed from London Bridge to the Old Swan at Chelsea, when the current of the Thames, by the recession of the tide, was at its strongest. Then we have those world-renowned University contests between Oxford and Cambridge, and their types upon this side the Atlantic. At these, occasionally, the strokes are very rapid, but there is a considerable difference of opinion as to the respective values of the short, quick stroke or the long, steady, though somewhat slow movement which has generally characterized the British method. But, to return to British boat-racing, for from that American aquatic sports have

DERIVED THEIR ORIGIN :

we have there the celebrated Henly and Putney regattas, together with those great contests which have from time to time come off between the champions of the Tyne and the Thames, who, like the Oxford and Cambridge men, have met with varied fortune. One of the early champions of the Thames —tide water and in shells—was Campbell, who, in 1831 beat Williams, having to give way to Coombs only in 1846—an exceedingly long period during which to hold so distinguished a championship. Coombs succumbed to Cole in 1852 ; Messenger wrest the laurels from him in 1854. Kelly [illegible]

FAMILIAR TO MONTREALERS,

became champion in 185[illegible], but in 1859 he gave way to Robert Chambers, of the Tyne, but in 1865 was beaten by Kelly, who also took the Tyne championship in 1867. Renforth, however, came to the front in 1868, since which time the old Montreal favorites, Kelly, Sadler, Robert Chambers, Taylor, Morton, Winship, Bagnall and others have in England disputed among themselves for the victory and with various results. On this side the water and on our side the lines we have had other contests, with which the names of the Paris crew have been associated—such men as Fulton and his plucky companions, who well earned the distinctions that they achieved on the other side of the ocean Our neighbors to the south of us have for some years fancied boating as

and from their schools many good men have been sent out; but it is only since the Paris crew did so well that we in Canada have made any pretensions to have champions among us. Our Maritime Provinces since then have exhibited a number of noteworthies, but as they have presented themselves against the Toronto boy, Hanlan, they have been successively beaten, and he to-day stands before the world as the

REPRESENTATIVE CANADIAN

in the great double scull match between the Dominion of Canada and the United States. Handsome prizes have been previously rowed for, but possibly the present is the richest that has ever been offered for a similar contest upon this continent. It is emphatically an international affair, though both men have sprung from the same common Anglo-Saxon ancestry. The eyes of the world are upon the two men, whose names have long before this become as familiar as household words. The man who will be beaten, we are assured, will not be disgraced, for both are worthy foemen and compete against each other in that spirit of generous rivalry which, when beaten, is ready to say, "I have done my best, but I met a rival who was even better than myself."

Edward Hanlan.

The subject of this sketch is of Irish descent, and was born in the city of Toronto, on the twelfth of July, 1855. His father was in moderate circumstances, and Edward did not have many opportunities for study during his youth, but such as he had he improved and showed himself bright, quick and intelligent. While yet an infant his parents went to reside on the island opposite Toronto, by which the bay is formed, and here he soon displayed a great taste for rowing. So early was his skill developed that in 1871, when only sixteen years old, he rowed

HIS FIRST RACE.

Being one in a two mile fisherman's race, on Toronto Bay, with Berry and Derning, beating Pat Gray and two others. Thus it will be seen that his first attempt was successful, and the star of success which then rose over the youthful oarsman has never set, but has continued to glow with ever-increasing brightness with each succeeding year. In the following year he pulled a couple of skiff races, and won both easily, having even then begun to display that faculty of "going to the front and staying there" which has since characterized him, and which makes it so difficult to judge of what he is really capable of doing, as no one has yet ever forced him to do his very best. In 1873 he made his first appearance in a shell, and in a race for the championship of the Bay, easily defeated Williams and McKay. At the Hamilton regatta of 1874 he made his first professional effort, beating for the championship of Burlington Bay ; and also taking part in a double scull race, in which he was also victorious. Luther was considerably chagrined at his defeat by a boy, and, being by no means satisfied, challenged the champion to a mile race for $200, which was pulled in 1875, Hanlan again proving victorious. Later on in the year he won the Governor-General's medal, in Toronto Bay, beating T. Londen and James Douglas. In the spring of 1876 he beat McKen and Douglas, and on the 12th of August, same year, won the championship belt of Ontario, offered by the Toronto Rowing Club, his only opponent being McKen, whom he easily vanquished. On the same day he was also one of a fishermen's crew, in a boat actually used during the summer for fishing, and was again victorious, his partners in the race being McKen and Elliott. This finished his record up to the Centennial, and it will be seen that of the eleven races he had pulled in he had won all easily.

VICTORY AT THE CENTENNIAL.

So far Hanlan's reputation was a purely local one, and, beyond Toronto and Burlington Bays, his name was scarcely known ; but he was soon to achieve a triumph which was to make that name known to fame wherever aquatic sports are loved, and wherever there are aspirants for fame in skill at handling the oar. Anxious that he should have an opportunity of attaining greater victories than he had as yet achieved, and confident that he "had it in him" if he could only get a chance to show what stuff he was made of, some of his friends assisted him to go to the Centennial and compete in the great professional single scullers' race, which was to be held there early in September. Here were assembled most of the

and there, if anywhere, he could either establish his reputation at one ambitious leap, or show that he had aspired too high and sink to his proper level. The entries for the single sculls were :—H. Thomas, Tom Greene, W. Spencer and John Higgins, of London, Eng. ; Harry Coulter, Evan Morris and Pat Luther, of Pittsburg ; Fred. A. Plaisted and John McKill, of New York ; Alexander Brayley, of St. John, N.B. ; Ellis Ward, of Cornwall, N.Y. ; R. Peel, of Philadelphia, and Edward Hanlan, of Toronto. Amongst such an array of acknowledged skill and recognized "flyers," the "little Kanuck" did not attract much attention ; and although many were pleased at the ease and grace of his stroke, few but his most ardent admirers had the slightest hope that he could "get away" with such men as Ellis Ward, Harry Coulter, or John Higgins, but the event proved that those who had placed confidence in his powers were right, and that there was more in the lithe form of the Canadian than had been suspected.

THE CONTEST

took place on the Schuylkill River, and commenced on the fourth of September, lasting three days. On account of the number of entries, and the narrowness of the river, not admitting of more than three sculls competing at the same time, the race had to be run in heats, three miles each, the winners of the various heats to compete again until only one victor was left. The first heat was rowed by Edward Hanlan, of Toronto ; Harry Coulter, of Pittsburg, and H. Thomas, of London, England, and, to the great surprise of everybody, was won easily by the little Torontonian, he pulling away from his competitors and winning as he pleased, in 21.34. This at once showed what stuff he was made of, and he became a hot favorite for the remainder of the race. The second heat was between Tom Greene, of London, England, and Alexander Brayley, of St. John, N.B., and here again the knowing ones were disappointed by seeing the New Brunswicker pull away from his redoubtable antagonist, and win in 22.13½. The third heat was between Ellis Ward, of Cornwall, N.Y. ; W. Spencer, of London, England, and R. Peel, of Philadelphia, and was won by Ward in 22.20½.

THE FOURTH HEAT

between Pat Luther, of Pittsburg ; John Higgins, of London, Eng. ; Evan Morris, of Pittsburg, was captured by Luther in 21.59. Higgins claimed a foul by Luther, which was allowed, and the two men ordered to pull the heat over on the following day, but Higgins failed to put in an appearance, and the heat was awarded to Luther. The fifth, and last of the trial heats, was between Fred. A. Plaisted and John McKill, both of New York, and was won by the former. This left the five winners in the first stage as follows : Edward Hanlan, Alex. Brayley, Ellis Ward, Pat Luther, and Fred. A. Plaisted. On the fifth, the first heat pulled was between Ellis Ward and Alexander Brayley, the latter winning in 22.06½. The second heat was between Hanlan, Plaisted and Luther, and was taken by Hanlan in 21.54½. This left the Torontonian and the New Brunswicker alone to compete in the final heat, which was rowed on the sixth and was won by Hanlan, after a very close and exciting race, in 21.16½, which was then the fastest time on record, and so remained until beaten by Charles E. Courtney.

HIS RECORD IN 1877.

As may naturally be expected, the sporting men of Toronto were highly delighted at the victory gained by their champion, and a right royal reception awaited him on his return home. Not satisfied with mere wordy expressions of commendation, a more substantial way of showing their appreciation of him was taken, and he was assisted to engage in the hotel business, which he did, opening a small house on King street west. Here he continued during the winter, waiting for the coming of spring and an opponent, and an effort was made to get up a match with William Scharff (then champion of America), and $100 deposit was sent to the Clipper in March, 1377, together with a challenge to row a three mile race for $1,000 a side, the race, to take place on Toronto Bay. Owing to Scharff's having just made a match with Evan Morris, he was unable to accept Hanlan's offer at that time, and his subsequent defeat by Morris caused the proposed match to fall through. Failing to make a match in Canada, Hanlan betook himself to the United States, and appeared at the near Boston, on the thirteenth of June, where he pulled against Fred. A. Plaisted and Frenchy Johnson, sustaining the first defeat, he having the misfortune to break one of his outriggers, and so was practically thrown out of the race. Considerable disappointment was felt at the accident, and in order that Plaisted and Hanlan might have another opportunity of coming together again, a purse of $150 was offered, to be rowed over the same course, on the twenty-fifth of June. Plaisted, however, who was the favorite for the regatta to take place in Boston harbor, on the fourth of July, did not care to risk his laurels, and Hanlan was left to contend against Frenchy Johnson and James Driscoll, both of whom he defeated without any trouble. From Silver Lake, Hanlan went to Boston, and entered at the Civic regatta in the harbor, on the fourth of July, in the two mile scull race. In this race Plaisted also entered, and the betting was pretty heavy, both men having numerous backers. This race almost proved the ruin of Hanlan, for in turning the stake boat he fouled Plaisted in such a manner as to

LOSE THE RACE

During the time which had elapsed between the Centennial Regatta and the summer of 1877 several new oarsmen had sprung into notoriety, foremost amongst whom was Wallace Ross, of St. John, N.B., who had defeated Brayley for the championship of the Maritime Provinces, and made the fastest four miles on record, 28:30, on the 19th of October, 1876, being nearly two minutes faster than Joe Sadler's time at the International regatta at Saratoga, on 6th of September, 1871. Soon after Hanlan's return from Philadelphia, Ross had offered to make a match, but Hanlan was otherwise engaged at the time, and nothing was done. After Ross had defeated Brayley, Hanlan published a challenge to him, but it was too late in the season, and the backers of Ross were not prepared to talk business just then. After Ross had beaten Plaisted, and Hanlan had given his two unfortunate exhibitions at Silver Lake and Boston, the backers of Ross became more confident, and in August, 1877, he

PUBLISHED A CHALLENGE

to row any man in the Dominion, Hanlan preferred, a five mile race for $1,000 a side, offering to give $300 for expenses if the race was pulled at St. John, or to take $300 if it took place at Toronto, or to row at Springfield, Massachusetts, each man paying his own expenses. This proposition was perfectly agreeable to Hanlan's backers, and the stakes quickly posted, Toronto being the place selected, and the thirteenth of October the date fixed ; it being agreed that the race was to be for the

CHAMPIONSHIP OF THE DOMINION,

as well as for $1,000 a side. Both men were in first-class condition, but Ross was the favorite by nearly two to one in the pools, not so much, it must be confessed, on account of any doubt in Hanlan's ability to win if he chose to, but because his friends had not quite regained the confidence in him which had been lost by the Boston regatta. Still a large amount of money was put up, for Ross' friends were enthusiastic and would bet wherever they could get a chance. The thirteenth was an unfavorable day, the water was very lumpy, and the race had to be postponed until Monday, the fifteenth, to the great disappointment of fully fifteen thousand people who had gathered to witness the contest. On Monday the water was all that could be desired, and nothing occurred to mar the pleasure of the event. The result was a most hollow.

VICTORY FOR HANLAN,

who surprised even his most ardent admirers by the ease with which he pulled away from his opponent, and led him all the way winning as he pleased, although Ross pulled a steady and plucky race, and did "his level best" all the time. This closed his season of 1877, and his last gallant exploit fully restored him to public confidence. The next important event was unconnected with boating matters, but was more momentous to him than any other engagement he has ever entered into. On the nineteenth of December, 1877,

HE WAS MARRIED.

Miss Maggie Sutherland, of Pictou, N.S., and the occasion was made one of due rejoicing by his numerous friends. During the winter and early spring a number of matches were mooted—one with Higgins, of London ; another with Courtney, of Union Springs, N.Y. ; and another with Trickett, the Australian oarsman, who had been astonishing everyone at the Antipodes, pretty much the same as Hanlan has been doing here ; but there was some hitch in each arrangement, and they all fell through for the time being. At last with Fred A. Plaisted, of New York—the only man who has ever come ahead of Hanlan—for a race on Toronto Bay, on the 15th May, two miles straight away, for $1,000 a side. This was another easy victory for Hanlan, for although Plaisted caught first water, and thereby gained nearly a length, he did not keep the lead for more than an eighth of a mile, and once he was passed he was beaten, and Hanlan won as he pleased. Some time before the race with Plaisted an engagement had been entered into for a five mile race for the

A MATCH WAS MADE

and $2,500 a side with Evan Morris, of Pittsburg, who claimed the title, and with a good show of reason on his side. The title of Champion of America had been claimed by Hanlan on account of his victory at the Centennial; but it was contended that the Championship proper was for a five mile race, and the most Hanlan could claim was the championship amongst three-mile scullers, that being the length of the heats at Philadelphia. Morris' claim was on the following grounds : The late George Brown, of Halifax, was Champion of America at the time of his death, 8th July, 1875, having won the title from Billy Scharff, and successfully defended it against Morris in a five mile race on the Kennebecassis, on the 26th September, 1874, Morris being beaten by two lengths, after a hard race, Brown's time being 37 minutes. Brown's death left the championship vacant, and, on the 11th of September, 1875, Morris and Coulter contended for the title and $500 a side, pulling five miles over the Hulton course, Morris winning handsomely. Morris was beaten at the Centennial, but that did not affect his title to the championship, which, however, was captured from him by Billy Scharff, on the 21st of October, 1875. In the spring of 1877 Morris again encountered Scharff and recaptured the championship, which he successfully defended against Pat Luther over the Hulton course. The match between Hanlan and Morris was to settle the disputed question of the championship, and it did so most effectually, Hanlan winning with the greatest ease in 37 minutes, the race being pulled over the Hulton course at Pittsburg, on the 20th June. This settled the question of the championship and left Hanlan in undoubted possession of the proud title of

CHAMPION SCULLER OF AMERICA,

as well as of the Dominion. But the Champion was not allowed to hold undisputed possession of his laurels. The friends of Wallace Ross were not satisfied with his defeat at Toronto, and a challenge for another race had been accepted, and articles signed on the 4th of June, for a five mile race, to take place on the Kennebecassis river on the 25th of July, for $1,000 a side. Meanwhile there was more cut out for the champion before he could proceed to the Lower Province to prepare for his contest with Ross. Brockville had made preparations for a grand regatta on Dominion Day, the great feature of which was to be a single scull race for $1,000, in which Hanlan had been persuaded to enter, and in which most of the "crack" oarsmen in Canada and the States—except Wallace Ross, who was hard at work training for his race with Hanlan—were expected to take place. The race was four miles, with a turn, for $1,000, $500 to first man ; $300 to second, and $200 to third, and brought together as fine a lot of oarsmen as has ever been seen in Canada. There were eight entries, as follows :—Edward Hanlan, of Toronto ; Fred A Plaisted, of Boston ; John Kennedy, of Portland, Me. ; James H Riley, of Saratoga ; J A Ten Eyck, of Peekskill, N Y ; A Elliott, of Toronto ; Pat Luther, of Pittsburg ; W McKen, of Toronto. At the start, Kennedy caught first water and showed ahead, but Hanlan had captured and passed him before he had gone a hundred yards, and from that point the champion opened the gap until it was about a dozen lengths, and the others coming in in the order given above. No official time was taken, and Hanlan's is variously given at from 26 minutes to 33 minutes, the latter being probably nearest the correct time. From Brockville, Hanlan, together with Plaisted, Kennedy and McKen, went to Cape Vincent for the 4th of July regatta at that place, and there he easily won the four-mile single scull race, beating the others with his usual ease. From Cape Vincent the champion went to St John, N.B., to practice on the Kennebecassis for the race which we have already mentioned as having been arranged with Wallace Ross Training he could hardly be said to need, for he had been in almost constant train from April, but had kept in excellent condition in spite of all his hard work, and was as fresh as if he had not made a single exertion all summer. His head-quarters were at the Clairmont House, Torryburn.

WON AS HE PLEASED,

THE KENNEBECASSIS

has always had a bad reputation as an uncertain course, and it certainly more than maintained its reputation on this occasion, for, for six days it rained, or blew, or both, to such an extent that the water was at no time in a fit condition for the race, between the specified hours of three and six, and, although the race was fixed for the twenty-fifth, it had to be postponed from day to day until the thirty-first, when it was finally rowed, after being again very nearly postponed. The termination of this race was unfortunate and unsatisfactory, for when only about one mile had been pulled, and Ross was showing in much better form than he had done at Toronto, one of his oars slipped out of the rowlock and he was thrown overboard, and Hanlan had only to row over the course as he pleased and win. Fortunately Ross sustained no further damage than a ducking, but it was a sad disappointment, after a week's waiting, to have so unsatisfactory a termination. But if

ROSS WAS UNFORTUNATE

on the Kennebecassis he soon had an opportunity of showing whether it "made any difference" that he fell out of his boat on that occasion, for ere two weeks had elapsed, he again met Hanlan, at the Barrie Regatta, where no less than ten of the best oarsmen of the continent assembled, and over the calm waters of Kempenfeldt Bay was rowed one of the prettiest races ever seen in Canada. The contestants were : Edward Hanlan ; Evan Morris ; A. Elliott ; Fred. A. Plaisted ; Harry Coulter ; Pat Luther ; Wallace Ross ; Edward Ross ; Hosmer and McKen. The race was four miles, with a turn, for $1,000, and for the first half was a very pretty contest for first place between Hanlan and Wallace Ross, but after turning the buoys the New Brunswicker became satisfied that first money was beyond his reach while Hanlan was in the race, and contented himself with second place, Hosmer being third, This was the last race Hanlan has pulled in up to the

COMING MATCH WITH COURTNEY.

It will be seen that he has pulled three matches this summer, and taken part in three regattas, winning uniformly without any apparent effort, and still leaving it an open question as to "what is the best he can do." The total number of races he has rowed since 1871 is twenty-eight, twenty-six of which he has won with comparative ease, and in the two instances when he was defeated by Plaisted, his discomfiture was due to accident more than to the prowess of his opponent, whom he has since frequently defeated.

Charles E. Courtney.

Charles E. Courtney was born at Union Springs, N.Y., and is, therefore, twenty-nine years of age. He is a fine looking fellow, as our portrait of him shows, and is a giant as compared to his opponent Hanlan, standing six feet and a half in his stockings, while "our boy" has to stretch his best to see five feet eight and a half inches. Courtney's weight has been as much as two hundred pounds, and he has trained down as fine as one hundred and sixty, but his usual racing weight is from one hundred and seventy to one hundred and seventy-seven pounds, the former being his weight when he pulled his first professional match against Riley and Plaisted. From boyhood he has known what hard work is, being apprenticed at an early age to a carpenter, and proving himself a first-class workman by the time he reached his majority. Born in what may be called "a rowing country," he at an early age displayed a great fondness for aquatic sports, and soon showed such proficiency as an oarsman that he gained a very considerable local reputation by defeating all the youthful aspirants for aquatic honors with whom he came in contact. Having in his own neighborhood, he began, like Alexander the Great, to sigh for new worlds to conquer ; but, unlike that disappointed monarch, Courtney found his worlds by attending the amateur regattas in various parts of New York and other States, and entering in the all-comers' races, in which many, far older and previously invincible oarsmen, had to acknowledge that they had at last met more than their match. For several years he continued to attend the regattas of all the prominent boating clubs, and simply "swept the board" of all the amateur honors and trophies the clubs offered. It would be useless to follow him through his long list of triumphs as an amateur. Suffice it to say that he engaged in over seventy contests and never suffered defeat. Amongst the most important of his victories were the senior sculls, Saratoga regatta, September 11th and 12th, 1874, defeating Yates, Keator and others very easily in 14m. 15s., for two miles ; and the diamond medal and of the State of New York, 28th August, 1875, two miles, in 14m 44s, when W. B. Curtis, David Roche, Ed. Blake and F. Yates had to acknowledge him the best man. On the 1st of September, 1875, at Troy, he in company with R. A. Robinson, a fellow-townsman, took the prize for double sculls, one mile and a half, in 8m 50½s ; and on the 8th August, 1876, with Frank Yates as a partner, he took the double sculls at Saratoga with great ease. Courtney's career as an amateur was one unbroken success, and his opponents found him a modest, unobtrusive and gentlemanly fellow, who found it only pleasant amusement to beat them upon every occasion they met him in a contest. A frank, open countenance, which impresses one most favorably, and a straightforward way of doing business, rendered him a general favorite, and made it almost a pleasure to be beaten by the good natured giant.

BEATEN EVERY SCULLER

VEGETINE
FOR DROPSY.
I never shall forget the first Dose.
PROVIDENCE.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:—
Dear Sir,—I have been a great sufferer from dropsy. I was confined to my house more than a year. Six months of the time I was entirely helpless. I was obliged to have two men help me in and out of bed. I was swollen 19 inches larger than my natural size around my waist. I suffered all a man could and live. I tried all remedies for Dropsy. I had three different doctors. My friends all expected I would die; many nights I was expected to die before morning. At last Vegetine was sent me by a friend. I never shall forget the first dose. I could realize its good effects from day to day. I was getting better. After I had taken some five or six bottles I could sleep quite well nights. I began to gain now quite fast. After taking some ten bottles, I could walk from one part of my room to the other. My appetite was good; the dropsy had at this time disappeared. I kept taking the Vegetine until I regained my usual health. I heard of a great many cures by using Vegetine after I got out and was able to attend to my work. I am a carpenter and a builder. I will also say it has cured an aunt of my wife's of Neuralgia, who had suffered for more than 20 years. She says she has not had any neuralgia for 8 months. I have given it to one of my children for Canker Humor. I have no doubt in my mind it will cure any humor; it is a great cleanser of the blood; it is safe to give a child. I will recommend it to the world. My father is 80 years old, and he says there is nothing like it to give strength and life to an aged person. I cannot be too thankful for the use of it.
I am, very gratefully yours,
JOHN S. NOTTAGE.

ALL DISEASES OF THE BLOOD.—If VEGETINE will relieve pain, cleanse, purify, and cure such diseases, restoring the patient to perfect health after trying different physicians, many remedies, suffering for years, is it not conclusive proof, if you are a sufferer, you can be cured? Why is this medicine performing such great cures? It works in the blood, in the circulating fluid. It can truly be called the Great Blood Purifier. The great source of disease originates in the blood; and no medicine that does not act directly upon it, to purify and renovate, has any just claim upon public attention.

VEGETINE
I owe my Health to your Valuable Vegetine.
NEWPORT, KY., April 29, 1877.
MR. H. R. STEVENS:—
Dear Sir,—Having suffered from a breaking out of Cankerous Sores for more than five years, caused by an accident of a fractured bone, which fracture ran into a running sore and have used every thing I could think of, and nothing helped me until I had taken six bottles of your valuable medicine, which Mr. Miller, the apothecary, recommended very highly. The sixth bottle cured me, and all I can say is that I owe my health to your valuable Vegetine.
Your most obedient servant,
ALBERT VON ROEDER.

"It is unnecessary for me to enumerate the diseases for which the VEGETINE should be used. I know of no disease which will not admit of its use, with good results. Almost innumerable complaints are caused by poisonous secretions in the blood, which can be entirely expelled from the system by the use of the VEGETINE. When the blood is perfectly cleansed, the disease rapidly yields; all pains cease; healthy action is promptly restored, and the patient is cured.

VEGETINE
Cured me when the Doctors failed
CINCINNATI, O., April 10, 1877.
DR. H. R. STEVENS:—
Dear Sir,—I was seriously troubled with Kidney Complaint for a long time. I have consulted the best doctors in this city. I have used your VEGETINE for this disease, and it has cured me when the doctors failed to do so.
Yours truly,
ERNEST DURIGAN, Residence, 621 Race street. Place of business, 573 Cent. avenue.

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

CARBOLINE
A DEODORIZED EXTRACT OF PETROLEUM.
The only Article that will Restore Hair on Bald Heads.
WHAT THE WORLD HAS BEEN WANTING FOR CENTURIES.

The greatest discovery of our day, so far as a large portion of humanity is concerned, is Carboline, an article prepared from petroleum, and which effects a complete and radical cure in case of baldness, or where the hair, owing to diseases of the scalp, has become thin and tends to fall out. It is also a speedy restorative, and while its use promotes a luxuriant growth of hair it also brings back the natural color, and gives the most complete satisfaction in the using. The falling out of the hair, the accumulations of dandruff, and the premature change in color, are all evidences of a diseased condition of the scalp and the glands which nourish the hair. To arrest these causes the article used must possess medical as well as chemical virtues, and the change must begin under the scalp to be of permanent and lasting benefit. Such an article is Carboline, and like many other wonderful discoveries it is found to consist of elements almost in their natural state. Petroleum oil is the article which is made to work such extraordinary results; but it is after it has been chemically treated and completely deodorized that it is in proper condition for the toilet. It was in far-off Russia that the effect of petroleum upon the hair was first observed, a Government officer having noticed that a partially bald-headed servant of his, when trimming the lamps had a habit of wiping his oil-besmeared hands in his scanty locks, and the result was in a few months a much finer head of black glossy hair than he ever had before. The oil was tried on horses and cattle that had lost their hair from the cattle plague, and the results were as rapid as they were marvelous. The manes and even the tails of horses, which had fallen out, were completely restored in a few weeks. These experiments were heralded to the world, but the knowledge was practically useless to the prematurely bald and grey, as no one in civilized society could tolerate the use of refined petroleum as a dressing for the hair. But the skill of one of our chemists has overcome the difficulty, and by a process known only to himself, he has, after very elaborate and costly experiments, succeeded in deodorizing refined petroleum, which renders it susceptible of being handled as daintily as the famous eau de Cologne. The experiments with the deodorized liquid on the human hair were attended with the most astonishing results. A few applications, where the hair was thin and falling, gave remarkable tone and vigor to the scalp and hair. Every particle of dandruff disappears on the first or second dressing, and the liquid, so searching in its nature, seems to penetrate to the roots at once, and set up a radical change from the start. It is well known that the most beautiful colors are made from petroleum, and, by some mysterious operation of nature, the use of this article gradually imparts a beautiful light-brown color to the hair, which, by continued use, deepens to a black. The color remains permanent for an indefinite length of time, and the change is so gradual that the most intimate friends can scarcely detect its progress. In a word, it is the most wonderful discovery of the age, and well calculated to make the prematurely bald and grey rejoice.

We advise our readers to give it a trial, feeling satisfied that one application will convince them of its wonderful effects.—Pittsburg Commercial of Oct. 22, 1877.

The article is telling its own story in the hands of thousands who are using it with the most gratifying and encouraging results :

W. H. BRILL & Co., Fifth Avenue Pharmacy, says : "It affords us pleasure to add our names to your already long list of recommmendations for your valuable Hair Restorer 'Carboline.' We have sold preparations for the hair for upwards of twenty years, but have never had one to sell as well, or give such universal satisfaction. We have examined your 'Carboline' with the greatest care, and find it contains nothing whatever injurious to the hair or general health. We therefore recommend it with confidence to our friends and the general public."

Mr. GUSTAVUS F. HALL, of the Oates Opera Troupe, writes : "After six weeks' use am convinced, as are also my comrades, that your 'Carboline' has and is producing a wonderful growth of hair where I had none for years."

N. MCCLARREN, Druggist, Pittsburg, Pa., says : "The good effects from the use of 'Carboline' are brought to my notice every day to such an extent as to justify me in recommending it to my most intimate friends."

C. H. SMITH, of the Jennie Hight Combination, writes : "After using your 'Carboline' three weeks I am convinced that bald heads can be 're-haired.' It's simply wonderful in my case."

is now presented to the public without fear of contradiction as the best Restorative and Beautifier of the Hair the world has ever produced.

INQUIRER. — The poem "Forewarned," credited by two of our contemporaries to the late Thomas D'Arcy McGee, is to be found in Gerald Griffin's Works, Sadlier's edition, Volume 8, page 235, under the heading, "To * * *"

MR. VALLEE, Conservative, has been declared returned for Portneuf.

EVERYTHING appears to be favorable for the Great Boat Race to-day. We know that there will be a fair field and no favor, and expect that the best man will win.

THE BOAT RACE.—Continued.

AT THE CENTENNIAL

Courtney won the amateur championship for single sculls, but his victory was a most hollow one, as after the first heat, in which he beat Ackerman easily, the other contestants gracefully retired, and he was allowed to walk over the second heat, amongst those who declined to face him being Labat, of the London, Eng., Rowing Club. Courtney's last amateur match was with J. H. Riley, at Greenwood Lake, on the 14th July, 1877, and resulted most unsatisfactorily, Courtney being taken ill shortly before the race, and rendered unfit to pull. Courtney stated that while at dinner, about four hours before the race was to have taken place, he asked for a glass of iced tea, and that he noticed at the time that it had a very queer taste. Shortly after he was taken violently ill, showing every symptom of having been poisoned, and the general theory was that he was drugged to make him lose the race. However, there were not wanting some who thought that it was an attack of nervousness, and others who held that he had eaten too much dinner.

CAREER AS A PROFESSIONAL.

The unsatisfactory termination of the race at Greenwood Lake led to another race being arranged for between Courtney, Riley and Plaisted, which took place at Saratoga on the 28th August, 1877, for a purse of $800, Courtney winning easily in 20m. 47¾s., the fastest time in which three miles has ever been sculled, and time which has never been beaten by any man but Courtney himself. Courtney's next appearance was at the Regatta on the 27th of September, 1877, where he entered for the single scull three mile race, prize $500. The other entries were J. H. Riley, Frenchy Johnson, Laberge and Ten Eyck. Courtney took first water and led slightly all the way, but was closely waited on by Riley, who finished close up to the winner, whose time was given as 21m. 29¼ sec.

On the 17th of October, Courtney, Riley and Johnson again met at the Oswego regatta, when Courtney rowed away from his opponents and won easily, making the three miles in the remarkable time of 20m. 14¾ sec., being 33 seconds better than the record made by him at Saratoga. This closes his record for 1877; and during the winter various attempts were made to get on a match with Higgins or Trickett, but so far no satisfactory arrangement has been arrived at with either. There is little doubt, however, that the successful competitor in the coming match will visit England and meet the English champion, and, perhaps, the Australian also. Courtney has pulled in only three races this year, two of which ended unsatisfactorily. The first was a match with Dempsey and Skaneateles, on the 4th of July, where Courtney rowed clean away from his opponent, beating him by forty lengths, in 40m. 58 sec., the race being two miles and a half and return. On the 19th of June again met at Seneca Lake in a three-mile race; but when Courtney reached the stake-boat, which he did in 12m. 30 sec., his oar was caught in an obstruction, supposed to be a wire worked by someone on shore, and his boat was upset. The referee ordered the race to be rowed over again on the twentieth, but Dempsey refused and claimed the stakes, and Courtney was suffering so much from cold caught by his involuntary bath of the day before that he was not in condition to row anyway. On the fifteenth of August Courtney, Riley, Ellis Ward, Frenchy Johnson and Sullivan started in the three-mile race, for $400, at the Silver Lake Regatta, but Courtney was taken ill during the race, and although he pulled it out he was badly beaten by all the others. The theory was again stated that he had been "dosed" as he claimed to have been at Greenwood Lake, but there was no evidence to show that such was the case, and his illness was, probably, caused by overtraining or nervousness. The New York Herald gives the following account of the race:

THE EVENT OF THE DAY

was the professional scullers' race. As soon as the word went forth that the boats would start promptly there was a general rush for advantageous positions. Everybody conceded the victory to Courtney, and there was a general murmur of dissatisfaction and disappointment when it was seen that the champion was getting badly whipped. It was given out in the morning, as previously stated, that the American champion was ill. Riley had come here with the expressed purpose of wiping out the defeat experienced at the hands of "Frenchy" Johnson on Decoration Day, the first of the series of regattas given this season by the Eastern Rowing Association. He was not ill, and he stated to some of his friends half an hour before the race that he would clean out the colored oarsman. It may have been his friendship for Courtney that that kept him so close to the champion, but certain it is that Johnson completely walked or rather rowed away from all of them. It was like a procession. Ellis Ward led off with a slight advantage, but as soon as "Frenchy's" oar began to tell, he was not long in overhauling the Philadelphian, and he shot to the front with ease. He pulled a steady stroke for the first half mile, and studied the positions of his competitors.

RILEY AND COURTNEY

struck out together, and Sullivan, the only other oarsman in the race, kept up a steady pace at the rear. Johnson pulled a 36 stroke and forged gradually ahead, his backers and friends cheering lustily from the shore. Riley was also pulling 36 strokes, and Courtney put his work in at 34, pulling beautifully, but gaining on the colored man away ahead. As the mile was passed, "Frenchy" was three good lengths ahead of Riley, with Courtney one length further back, while Ward was neck-and neck with the "American champion." Riley, to lessen Johnson's prospects of success and improve his own chances, at this point changed his course and crossed the stern of Johnson's boat, Courtney following suit. Then came an effort to drive Johnson out of his course, as was done on June 17 last, by which Plaisted won the race. But he was and seeing the game that was on foot he spurted beautifully and gained his own stake five lengths ahead of Riley. Courtney was then taken ill, or for the first time felt the symptoms, for he told Riley to go ahead and turn. After they were squared away Courtney proceeded to turn and made a beautiful exhibition of his skill. Ward was fourth to turn, Sullivan being last. They all turned at Johnson's stake. After the turn "Frenchy" swept away ahead of his nearest competitor, Riley, leading him by five lengths and the latter leading Courtney by as many more. These positions were maintained for the balance of the race. At the last mile buoy Courtney threw up his hands, and the Judges' boat steered towards him, keeping him from falling into the lake. His head was bathed, and he kept on his course. Johnson and Riley were meanwhile pulling vigorously, and the former crossed the line three lengths ahead of the latter.

The Course

is much the same as that which was rowed over by the Renforth and Paris crews, only to-day's course is half a mile shorter than the one followed on that occasion. It extends from about five hundred yards west of the Grand Trunk wharf, extending almost due west, the distance between it and the north shore varying with the indentations of the river. After leaving Stony Point the nearest approaches to the shore are Tuesnel's Point, Latour's Point and Macdougall's Point, at which latter the shortest distance intervenes, and where the turning buoys have been laid. On the south side Isles Dorval, Dixie and Courcelle break considerably the force of the current, which comes from the Chateauguay shore, and will, some say, with the booms that have been laid in the space intervening between it and the starting point, prevent any very undue advantage or disadvantage being given to one or other of the contestants. It cannot, however, be disguised that the current will give one of them some little favor. There is, it is satisfactory to believe, very little chance of a recurrence at Lachine of those terrible delays which so disgusted everybody with the Hanlan-Ross race on the Kennebecasis, the weather this morning being all that could be desired. We have already described the occasion from the Montreal Harbor Commissioners all the shore right. Indeed it is the only point of land from which a complete view of the course can be obtained. Several steamers have secured excellent places on the river where they will be moored and will, doubtless, be well patronized. Row boats have been prohibited from the course, the only craft that will be allowed on which being the police boats and the steamer "Gatineau" assigned to the Referee and the members of the Press. Order will be preserved by an efficient staff of regular and special constables, while in addition carriages have been prohibited on the Main street of Lachine on the day of the race. Fifty men of the Montreal Water Police are to be on the scene under Sub-Chief Paradis, while nearly the whole of the Water Police have been sent out under Chief Murphy. It may not be out of place to direct the attention of the public to the subject of pickpockets, for many of the fraternity are said to have arrived, and they are known not to be over particular.

Mr. Elliott, of New York, has been appointed Official Time-keeper, with Sheriff Harding, as Referee. The judges appointed so far are:—At the starting point: Mr. David Ward for Hanlan, and Mr. Brister for Courtney; on the Referee's boat: John Davis, of Windsor, Ont., for Mr. Hanlan, and Mr. Rankin, of the Boston Herald, for Mr. Courtney; at the turning buoy will be John Scholes, of Toronto, for Hanlan; Courtney will also be represented.

THE COMMITTEE OF CITIZENS who have carried out the arrangements consist of Sir Hugh Allan, chairman; Alex. McGibbon, vice-chairman; Arthur Ross, secretary; Adam Darling, treasurer; C J Brydges, of the Intercolonial Railway; Jos Hickson, Grand Trunk Railway; Thomas White, Colonel Frank Bond, Colonel E A Whitehead, Messrs. David Colson, F B McNamee, C P Davidson, Q C, R H Southgate, H E Murray, W H Rintoul, D'Arcy Heath, A T Hughes, secretary of the Lachine Boat Club; A J Dawes, W Stafford, H D Whitney, secretary to the Harbor Commissioners; F E Henshaw and James Stewart, of the Montreal Herald. The clerks of the course are Lt-Colonels Bond and Whitehead, Mr C P Davidson, Q C, and Captain Rudolph.

TWO INDIAN RACES

have been arranged for, to come off before the great race, and will be contested for the red men of Caughnawaga, and "Big Jean Baptiste" has been engaged by Mr. Holm, Frank Leslie's artist, to take him down the rapids in a canoe after the race is over.

THE COLORS

of Hanlan are blue and cardinal red. He will wear a blue shirt and a cardinal red band on his head. Courtney's colors are white and blue. His shirt will be white, with a blue star on the breast, and he will wear a white handkerchief or a white band around his head. Their admirers, both ladies and gentlemen, were eagerly buying the badges yesterday from a couple of speculative individuals, who are turning an honest penny by this means.

To-Day's Race.

COURTNEY'S QUARTERS, LACHINE, Oct. 2, 9.15 a.m.—Weather beautiful. Water in very good condition. There is at present every prospect that the great race will be rowed to-day. The town is alive with excursionists.

HANLAN'S QUARTERS, LACHINE, Oct. 2, 9 30 a.m.—Water promises fine. Prospects good for race coming off to-day.

Last Night's Scenes.

THE WINDSOR.

"Just like a bee-hive" was the expression of a gentleman on entering the vestibule of the Windsor Hotel last evening, and the scene amply bore out the correctness of his observation. The floor of the rotunda and the vestibule were crowded with knots of gentlemen, some eagerly conversing on the prospects of the race of the morrow, while others calmly discussed the merits of the two great champions. The pool selling under the rotunda was lively, and $10,000 or $11,000 were put up on the race. The "pools" were under the direction of the "Hanlan Club," and were sold by Mr. Quimby and ranged from 100 on Hanlan down to 65, 55 and even 50 on Courtney. Several private bets were made among which were 250 for Courtney against 375 for Hanlan, and 250 for "The Hope of the States" against 385 for Hanlan, and two of a $1,000 each on Hanlan against $500 on the American at the upwards of $6,000 or $7,000 were staked on the result of the race, the average odds being similar to those at the Windsor. An Albany man was found so confident in the success of his fellow-countryman that he ventured $2,200 against $3,000 put up by a Toronto sporting man. In the other hotels betting was generally two to one against the American oarsman. At the

ST. LAWRENCE HALL

a "pool" was in active operation, [...] about $1,000 or $5,000 were risked by various sporting men. Some American "sports" ventured as high as 60 [...] 100 by Hanlan's supporters. At the an admirer of Hanlan bet $1,0[00] against $500 by a Courtney man, and [...] put up on the spot. This was [...] the bets here, which altogether reached a total of $4,000 or $5,000. In the

AMERICAN HOUSE

[the bett]ing was pretty even between the [two cham]pions. One even bet of $400 was made [du]ring the evening, while a total sum of [ab]out $1,200 was put up. At the a considerable amount was staked, the betting being about even.

BEFORE THE RACE.

The Incoming Trains Crowded—Sharpers and Pickpockets in the City—Passing Counterfeit Money.

THE INCOMING TRAINS

from all points, including specials, were crowded this morning with passengers, the majority being of the sterner sex. The scene at the Bonaventure Depot was one not easily to be forgotten, and fully 6,000 persons must have arrived here alone. Most of the travellers came right into the city and put up at the hotels, intending to go to Lachine by the afternoon trains. A great many of all descriptions are known to have arrived this morning, and we are glad to say that one, who began his operations early in the day, is already in the hands of the police.

PASSING BOGUS MONEY.

Shortly after 9 o'clock, a stylish gentleman entered the store of Mr. David Goldberg, pawnbroker, No. 191 McGill street, and asked to buy a revolver. One was sold to him for $3.00, and he tendered in payment a $50 note of the U. S. National Bank of New York. The bill seemed good, but, nevertheless, Mr. Goldberg, with the precaution of his class, refused to take it until the stranger assured him positively it was really genuine. Shortly after the individual left the bill was taken to an exchange broker, who declared it a counterfeit. The police of the Central Station were telegraphed for from the Albion Hotel, and Detective Lafon arrived and arrested the delinquent, who had just succeeded in changing another note for the same amount in the store of Messrs. H. Jacobs & Co., importers and manufacturers of tobacco, on the same street. The prisoner, on being taken to the station, described himself as James H. Henry, farmer, but from a card found in his pocket, bearing the name Orlando H. Leland, Crown Point, N.Y., it was easily conjectured he had not spoken the truth, and this supposition was found to be true enough, as Sergt. Lancey, when he was in the cells, whispered softly "Leland," "Leland," when, not suspecting anything, he innocently answered. The accused, on being brought before the Police Magistrate this morning, said he got the money which, was all he had in his pockets, by gambling. He was remanded to jail to stand his trial.

EVERYTHING FAVORABLE.

LACHINE, October 2, 11.55 a.m.—Wind south; slight ripple on water. The race will most likely take place at the appointed hour.

COMMERCIAL.

Oct. 2.

Subjects other than that of the great boat race occupied precious little attention among the sports on 'Change this morning, which served materially to relieve the tiresome monotony of dullness and inactivity which has for some time past been too intimately associated with the flour and grain trade. Save a few sales of City Bags at $2.25 and $2 30 there was really no business in flour to-day. Spring Extra could be obtained at $4 35 and Extra at $4 45. A lot of Extra was said to have been offered at $4.40. No. 2 Spring wheat was quoted at 99c to $1, and Red Winter at $1.01 to $1.02. Barley 80c to 85c, and oats 27c to 28c. Wheat in the West is weak and lower, No. 2 Spring wheat declining to 86c for October and 87c for November in Chicago this morning. In Milwaukee October sold at 87½c and November at 89⅛c.

The following were to-day's quotations:

|---|---|
| Superior Extra | $4 60 to $4 65 |
| Extra Superfine | 4 45 to 0 00 |
| Fancy | 4 40 to 0 00 |
| Spring Extra | 4 35 to 4 40 |
| Superfine | 4 15 to 4 25 |
| Strong Bakers | 4 75 to 5 00 |
| Fine | 3 20 to 0 00 |
| Middlings | 3 00 to 3 10 |
| Pollards | 2 75 to 3 00 |
| Ontario Bags | 2 15 to 2 20 |
| City Bags, delivered | 2 25 to 2 30 |

Mess pork is quoted at $12.75 to $13.00, and lard at 9½c to 9¾c in tubs and pails respectively. Montreal sugar-cured hams are nominal at 12c, and canvassed at 12½c to 12¾c. Canvassed side bacon at 9c to 10c, and shoulders 6c to 7c. Eggs 13c to 14c. In butter we hear of several large lots of Choice Eastern Townships changing hands at 15c and 16c, and 160 packages of very Choice Townships at 16½c. A better enquiry has been experienced for fine late made cheese during the past few days, and the sale of 2,000 boxes of fine August has been reported at 8½c, and one lot of October cheese was contracted at 9½c in the country this week. We quote 8½c to 9c for perfect flavored and conditioned cheese, these being the only qualities wanted just now.

W. J. Fairbairn's Liverpool private cable despatch reports scarcely anything doing in wheat, prices nominally unchanged.

The Chicago hog market was steady at $3.30 to $3.60 for heavy mixed packing. Receipts of hogs 12,500.

EASTERN AFFAIRS.

The Ministerial Crisis in Austria—The Porte to Submit a Treaty of Peace with Russia—A Last Chance for the Ameer—The Greek Difficulty.

LONDON, October 1.—A Vienna correspondent believes Herr Tisza, Hungarian Premier, will resume office, as he only joined the Finance Minister in the protest for the sake of form. M. Tisza is in accord with Andrassy's views. A Vienna despatch says the Emperor has not yet accepted the resignation of the Hungarian Ministry. Here the crisis is considered more a question of figures than of principle, and much depends on the Ministry deciding whether the occupation of Novi-Bazar will be effected this year or next. A Constantinople despatch says Admiral Hornby represented to the Admiralty that Artaki is unsuitable for winter anchorage. A Bombay despatch says the latest news from Simla is that an opportunity has been offered the Ameer to make amends for the affront offered to the British Envoy. Constantinople despatches say:—The Porte intends submitting the treaty of peace with Russia to the Powers. Safvet Pasha, Grand Vizier and Minister of Foreign Affairs, has sent a circular to the Powers, calling attention to the fact that the Greek Government on authority reports from its consuls in Thessaly and Epirus, charges the Porte with stirring up the fanaticism of the Albanians against Greece, and providing them with arms. Safvet declares the assertions calumnies, communicated to the Cabinets by Greece for the purpose of justifying her military preparations, which are really a direct threat of aggression against the Ottoman Empire. He makes counter charges, and says the Porte is daily apprised of the machinations of Greek agents in Thessaly and Epirus to arouse the peaceable population. Moreover, he states that Greece is preparing to place in the field, within a month, an army of 40,000, with a reserve of 300,000; this fact, conjointly with a loan of 10,000,000, leaves no doubt of the aggressive intentions of Greece.

FROM QUEBEC.

The Wreck of the "L'Orignal"—Poisoned—The Bartley Trial—The Levis and Kennebec Railway—Street Railway.

QUEBEC, October 2.—About half past six last night, another explosion of dynamite occurred in the bed of the river opposite the wharf of Messrs. Allans, Rae & Co., which is believed to have been attended with considerable success, so far as the breaking up of the wreck of the old "L'Orignal" is concerned. A diver will go down to-day to ascertain the effect of the explosion.

Sir Charles Stuart had a very valuable bull and cow poisoned last week on his farm at Deschambault, County of Port Neuf; no cause can be assigned for this dastardly act.

The next term of the Court of Queen's Bench, for the district of Beauce, opens at St. Joseph on the 21st instant, when Bartley will be again put on his trial on the remaining charges preferred against him.

It is stated that the Government engineer of railways has made an official report to the Local Government upon the dilapidated condition of the line of the Levis and Kennebec Railway. This road, it is said, has been allowed to deteriorate to such an extent during the last few years, for want of ordinary repairs, that portions of it are even considered to be growing unsafe for traffic. It is not unlikely that the Government may take steps to close the road until the necessary repairs have been effected.

The earnings of the St. John street railway for the month of September were $1,100.

In a crush which took place near the grand stand three or four ruffians openly attempted to rob an individual whom they had evidently "spotted" and knew to have money on his person. One of them seized hold of their victim from behind, while another, taking out his knife, attempted to rip open the unfortunate man's pants' pocket where the cash was. In their hurry they stabbed their victim in the thigh, but strange to say in the noise and confusion their nefarious game was not perceived until too late for their arrest, as they immediately slunk off without effecting their object. Mr. McNamee, the contractor, pursued the scamps for some distance, but without success.

At the Bonaventure depot, on the departure of the 2 35 train, a drunken man was betting 10 to 1 on Hanlan, and exhibited a roll of bill, containing about $400. A thief snatched the roll and disappeared among the crowd.

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

CARBOLINE

A DEODORIZED EXTRACT OF PETROLEUM.

The only Article that will Restore Hair on Bald Heads.

WHAT THE WORLD HAS BEEN WANTING FOR CENTURIES.

THE greatest discovery of our day, so far as a large portion of humanity is concerned, is Carboline, an article prepared from petroleum, and which effects a complete and radical cure in case of baldness, or where the hair, owing to diseases of the scalp, has become thin and tends to fall out. It is also a speedy restorative, and while its use secures a luxuriant growth of hair it also brings back the natural color, and gives the most complete satisfaction in the using. The falling out of the hair, the accumulation of dandruff, and the premature change ... attendances of a diseased con...

ST. LAWRENCE CENTRAL CAMP GROUNDS, Oct. 1.—To-day's proceedings commenced with a prayer meeting, followed by the relation of extraordinary manifestations of God's spirit in the existence of his people, during which many very remarkable instances were narrated. The meeting was attended by a very deep religious feeling. At 2 p.m. a lecture was delivered by the Rev. Dr. Aylsworth on "Modern Scepticism," followed by prayer and short addresses relating to the same subject. A very interesting and profitable day has been spent thus far. The Rev. R. Faul preaches to-night. A telegram was received from Dr. Talmage announcing that he would be present to-morrow to preach at 2 p.m. Last night the Rev. J. B. Aylesworth, LL.D., preached a sermon on the subject of the "Semi-Centenary of Methodism," founded upon the historical fact that in the year 1828 an independent Methodist Episcopal Conference was established in Canada just 50 years ago, and therefore, according to the Mosaic economy, this should be a year of jubilee for Methodism. He took for his text Revelations, 14th chapter, from the 1st to the 5th verse inclusive, claiming this statement to be a prophetic description of the Methodist revival which began a little over one hundred years ago.

For the Maritime Provinces, moderate to fresh southwesterly to southerly winds, partly cloudy weather, with rain in some localities at night.

Their request was refused, but they left the vessel and attempted to get work. At 1 o'clock they returned, but were not allowed on board, and they have now instituted proceedings against the captain for disregarding the law, which provides that no seaman on a British ship can be deserted in such a manner.

OPENING OF THE MONTREAL VETERINARY COLLEGE.—The inaugural lecture of the above College for this season was delivered by Professor Wm Osler, M.D., M.R.C.P. L., before a large audience of students, medical men and veterinary surgeons. The subject of the Professor's discourse was "Comparative Pathology," which was listened to with marked attention throughout, and was well received. Professor McEachran then addressed a few words of welcome to the students, after which he announced that the lectures proper would be postponed till Thursday on account of the boat race.

New York ... guished reputation as billiard players ... seph being great on the American game, while Cyrille was equally skillful in fancy billiard playing. They were, we believe, natives of Montreal. The deceased had been out of health for some time and came to Montreal a few days ago, partly for his health and partly to see the Hanlan-Courtney race. On arriving at the residence on Bleury street last night he complained of feeling very ill indeed, and lay down on the sofa. Shortly afterwards he said to his mother, who was present, "Mother, I think I'm going to die," and almost immediately expired. He was about 35 years of age and so far as we can learn unmarried.

AN INHUMAN CRIME.

A Brute Carries a Child, Three Years and Ten Months Old, to a Wood Yard, and Brutally Outrages Her.

Yesterday afternoon, about 5 o'clock, a little girl named Ovilla Chabot, three years and ten months old, who lives with her parents at No. 70 Atwater avenue, St. Henri, was playing with some companions near her father's door, when a man, who a fortnight ago attempted liberties with her, came and enticed her with sugar some distance away, when he took her in his arms and carried her into a wood-yard thirty feet from the house, and outraged her. The first thing the little one's parents knew of the occurrence was the entrance of their little girl into the house, bleeding badly. By skilful treatment the little sufferer revived, and is now in a fair way of recovery, but if she had remained much longer in the wood-yard she would have been beyond all help. The St. Henri police received early notice of the inhuman deed and Constable Hardie soon had arrested on suspicion one Damien Bonheur, alias Taillefer, described as a pedlar, but who is said to be in reality a wandering tramp. The fellow is thirty-five years of age, middle height, well-proportioned, with dark hair. He first stated he came from Vaudreuil and afterwards said he was from Cornwall. He is identified as the guilty party by the little girl herself, and also by two lads, 9 and 7 years respectively, named Napoleon Moisant and Elzear Quennville, who alleged they saw the deed committed. The father of the victim is Denis Prosper Chabot, whose place of business is at No. 137½ and 139½ St. Bonaventure street, and he declares his intention of investigating the affair thoroughly. Our representative saw the child this morning; the poor little thing is small even for her age, but withal very engaging, with deep blue eyes and flaxen hair. She says her brutal assailant put his hand over her mouth while he was with her, to prevent her calling for help. Surely no punishment is sufficient for the heartless fiend who so far forgot the common instincts of humanity as to commit such a dastardly crime, and it is to be hoped that if the case is fully proved some new departure will be taken in this respect that will strike terror to the perpetrators of such outrages. Threats of lynching the accused are freely made in the municipality.

COAL.—American coal has advanced at all the great producing and distributing centres on this continent. During the past week stove coal in this city has gone up to $6 per ton, egg to $5.75 and chestnut from $5.25 to $5.50. Stocks are ample and arrivals continue very fair, but freights on same being considerably higher, it is from this cause more than any other that values have risen. A good business has been done during the week, the recent advance causing those who had been holding off to order their winter stocks immediately. The general impression in the trade is that we shall experience no lower rates this season, whilst the chances are that higher prices may obtain further on.

|---|---|
| Pittston and Lackawanna Stove, 2,000 lbs | $6.00 to $0.00 |
| do. Egg | 5.75 to 0.00 |
| do. Chestnut | 5.25 to 5.50 |
| Grate | 5.00 to 0.00 |
| Picton Steam, 2,240 lbs | 4.00 to 4.25 |
| Scotch Steam, do | 4.25 to 4.50 |
| Newcastle Smiths' do | 5.00 to 5.25 |

CORDWOOD.—Business has been quite brisk since our last report, but with good supplies there has been very slight changes in prices. Good long maple is in demand at full quotations.

The following are the prices per cord at the wharves, cartage extra:—

|---|---|
| Long Maple | $5.50 to $0.00 |
| Short do | 4.50 to 5.00 |
| Long Birch | 5 00 to 0.00 |
| Short do | 4 00 to 4 50 |
| Long Beech | 4.50 to 0.00 |
| Short do | 3 75 to 4.00 |
| Soft Maple | 3.00 to 3.25 |
| Tamarac | 2.75 to 3.00 |

Mr. Daley, the Emigration Agent, who was observed to be unusually busy around the Bonaventure depot this morning, was reported to have mistaken the crowd around that quarter for a tremendous influx of emigrants.

THE HOTELS.

Seldom has it fallen to the lot of Montreal hotels to experience such an overcrowding of guests as upon the present occasion, where sitting room, much more sleeping room is at a discount. The Windsor, Ottawa, Albion, American and Richelieu hotels were literally crowded, and in the Ottawa chairs had to be ... for beds last night. Should the race ... will be ...poned, the demand for hotel room ... greater than ever.

FAILURE OF THE GLASGOW BANK.

Liabilities Fifty Million Dollars—A National Calamity.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The City of Glasgow Bank, which closed its doors to-day, ... liabilities are stated at fifty millions of dollars. ... liabilities of shareholders are ... One hundred pound shares of the limited ... dealt in yesterday at over 200 and were ... the week at 237. The bank was established in 1839, and had fifty to sixty branches. This is the heaviest bank failure in Scotland since 1857. Other Scotch banks were asked for assistance but after examining the books, at a meeting yesterday, refused to more than redeem the note circulation of the bank, which is stated at three and a quarter millions. The failure causes great excitement throughout Scotland and on the London Stock Exchange, where there was a heavy fall in Scotch Railway securities, in consequence of the pressure of Scotch holders to sell. The failure is generally attributed to resources being locked up in bills, shares and debentures of various kinds that were not readily convertible. The Echo says the failure is not less than a national disaster, but as usual in such cases it had been foreshadowed by innumerable occurrences, and is hardly likely to do more than bring down commercial firms involved in bill transactions, which have overwhelmed the bank.

The Crisis in Austria.

LONDON, October 2.—Various despatches agree that negotiations are progressing at Vienna to prevent a change of the entire administration, and that the difficulty is increased by the growing dissatisfaction in Hungary with Andrassy's whole policy, in connection with the Eastern question. Von Szett, Hungarian Minister of Finance, a man of vast knowledge and astonishing power of work, has declared he could not take the responsibility of contributing to the expenses of the occupation of Bosnia after the 1st Nov. After a Cabinet Council at Pesth on Sunday, Tisza, Hungarian Premier, visited Vienna. He informed Andrassy the whole Hungarian ministry must resign unless the limit be fixed to military expenditure and that the expenditure be reduced. In consequence of this communication Von Szett was called to Vienna and received by the Emperor in an audience lasting nearly two hours.

The Peach Crop.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., October 2.—The last shipment of Morris County peaches made yesterday. Only five thousand baskets were shipped, against 18,000 last year. During the present year many growers have set out orchards.

Yellow Fever.

MEMPHIS, October 2.—It rained heavily this morning. It is now sultry and warm. From noon yesterday until noon to-day, 38 deaths.

Small-pox Epidemic in Brazil.

WASHINGTON, October 2.—The Consul-General at Rio de Janeiro reports, September 4th, small-pox becoming epidemic. Fears are also entertained that yellow fever will be prevalent at Rio the coming summer.

Yellow Fever in Madrid.

MADRID, October 2.—Three cases of yellow fever in the hospital.

SS. Arrival.

NEW YORK, October 2.—Arrived, SS. "Italy," from London.

FROM TORONTO.

Attacked with an Axe—The Boat Race—Taxes—Brutal Assault.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE STAR.]

TORONTO, October 2.—During a row between two drunken men, named Mountford and Moore, on Front street East, at an early early hour this morning, the latter was dealt a severe blow on the head with an axe in the hands of the former. Medical aid was summoned, but Moore's injuries are of such a nature that recovery is considered doubtful. At the Police Court Mountford was remanded for a week.

Considerable interest is manifested here in the Hanlan-Courtney race. The prevailing opinion is that Hanlan will be victorious, and that he will have to make his fastest time.

It is estimated that the total amount of taxes collected during the past two days amounted to something like $600,000.

Last night a man named Charles Wilson, hailing from Hamilton, was beaten in a brutal manner on Adelaide street. He was under the influence of liquor at the time, and was afterwards arrested on that charge. His appearance in the dock of the Police Court this morning was sickening in the extreme, being one mass of cuts and bruises. He was sent to the hospital.

FROM OTTAWA.

Horse Thieves—Robbery—The Boat Race—Political Picnic.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE STAR.]

OTTAWA, Oct. 2.—Horse thieves are continuing their depredations in the Ottawa district. Six fine animals were stolen from J. Kerr, of Bell's Corners, last night, and have not yet been recovered. This makes twenty two animals stolen from farmers in the vicinity of the city within the past two weeks. They are beginning to think seriously of forming an association to employ detectives.

A young man, George Farley, was arrested to-day, charged with breaking into Easton's office, canal basin, and stealing a sum of money and several notes.

A lady named Mrs. Hogue, coming from Plattsburg to see the boat-race, was robbed of her pocket-book, valued at 50 cents, containing $5.90, on the train at St. Lambert, just before entering the Victoria bridge. A man giving his name as John Ross, 28, confectioner, of New York, was arrested on suspicion, and given into charge of Constable Draper at the depot, when he exclaimed that he would "rather pay the money than be shut up." This morning he was remanded for trial by the Police Magistrate. Mr. James Morgan, a merchant of Sorel, was robbed of his purse with about $60 at the Bonaventure depot, at one o'clock this afternoon, while jammed in a crowd waiting for the Lachine train. In the portemonnaie was a quantity of valuable papers, and the owner would willingly give up the money and ask no questions if these were returned.

Open Resistance Abandoned in Bosnia—Insurgents Fleeing Across Servian Frontier—The Key-Note of Russian Policy.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—A Belgrade despatch says:—News from various parts of Bosnia shows that Turks and insurgents have abandoned further open resistance, having become convinced that neither moral nor material assistance can any longer be hoped for from the Porte, unless other political complications arise. Upwards of 4,000 insurgents fled to Servia, where they have been disarmed and interned. Among them are two Pashas, 200 Beys, and a whole battalion of Nizams. They brought with them three Krupp guns, 1,000 breech-loading rifles, horses, stores, etc. Small bands cross the frontier daily with their wives, children and property. A Rajusa despatch says:—The Prince of Montenegro has ordered the leaders of the Old Herzegovinan insurrection, who have been hitherto in the pay of Montenegro to proceed with their bands on the 6th of October to Bolek, where the Prince's father-in-law will formally surrender them to the Austrians. A Berlin despatch says; The North German Gazette has a significant letter from St. Petersburg, saying the key-note of the Russian policy is tranquillity on the basis of the treaty of Berlin, and Russia will not support the enterprises of Afghanistan.

Alarming Spread of the Plague—Appeal for Aid.

BATON ROUGE, October 2.—82 new cases, 5 deaths. Fever increasing at Plaquemine and Port Hickey.

BATON ROUGE, October 2.—Fever increasing rapidly; 88 new cases reported yesterday; a large accession will be added this a.m.; 6 deaths since yesterday; great many reported.

NEW ORLEANS, La., October 2.—Reports of the Office of the Board of Health indicate slightly increased mortality, and continual warm weather is followed by the spread of the fever among children.

NEW ORLEANS, October 2.—Deaths, and to reported, 185. W[ith a] ... pull at the bell he summoned Fifine, [and b]ade her undress her mistress. He dis[pat]ched a servant, well-mounted, to Eastbourne, for the Chetwynd family physician, and another to Chetwynd-by-Sea, for the humbler practitioner there. He summoned Mrs. Skewer to his young wife's side, and the panic of his great dread spread throughout the household.

The guests took their leave at once, and Miss Monk, calm and composed, with her red cheeks flaming, came up to Lady Chetwynd's rooms.

She found the young marchioness in bed, wrapped in hot blankets, still pale as death, her terrible chill unabated. The marquis was chafing her cold hands, and Mrs. Skewer was administering hot draughts, while Fifine was wandering about, putting away jewels in their cases, and wringing her hands and weeping at odd moments.

Miss Monk advanced to the bedside, and looked down with calm and pitiless eyes upon her victim.

"Let me do something for her," she said. "Poor Bernice!—poor little Bernice!—Don't you feel better now?"

Bernice's heavy breathing was hushed for an instant, and the heavy eyelids were lifted, and the brown eyes, dull now as lifeless coals, glanced at the questioner; but no answer came from the chattering lip[s]. The young wife could not command [her voice] to speak.

Miss Monk performed various ministrations, listening acts, and uttered her apprehensions, and seemed overcome with ... especially. One would have thought ... dear to her.

The humble pr[actitioner] of Chetwynd-by-Sea was shown up into ... presence. He was a short, ... significant-looking personage, stumpy, narrow and very high and prominent forehead. The top of his head was ... the lack of hair upon his skull ... by the heavy fringe that adorned his chin, running from ear to ear. He was a conscientious person, not at all learned, very commonplace in every respect, but he was conversant with the treatment of ordinary and simple diseases, and was generally consulted as an oracle by the Park servants. He had been consulted in simple ailments by the late Lady Barbara Monk, the former Lady Chetwynd.

Dr. Bennet approached the bedside upon his toes. Mrs. Skewer gave place to him. He bent over the young marchioness, felt her pulse, and looked grave. The housekeeper explained the remedies that had been applied, and he approved of them.

"I should advise sending to Eastbourne for Doctor Hartright, my lord," he said, drawing the marquis aside. "There are cases of fever in the village, and a chill always precedes the fever. I met Lady Chetwynd coming out of Martin's cottage yesterday, and Martin's wife is very low with fever. I warned her ladyship of the risk she was running in making such visits, but she said she was not afraid of illness, was perfectly healthy, and that her position as your lordship's wife imposed upon her certain duties in regard to your lordship's tenantry. She has taken beef tea and jellies to Mrs. Martin. Her action did her ladyship credit, my lord, but was most rash. I apprehend no danger from this attack, my lord, but I would prefer to have Doctor Hartright here."

"I have sent for him," said the marquis, briefly. "Lady Chetwynd was rowing to-day, and I am persuaded she took cold from over exertion. Do what you can for her till Hartright comes."

The little doctor brought into requisition the remedies usually resorted to in similar cases, and with success. The chill abated, but long before Dr. Hartright arrived Bernice was in a raging fever, her face flushed, her pulse bounding, her eyes unnaturally bright and wild.

Dr. Hartright appeared at last, and pronounced the case one of fever. He was a large, portly man of benevolent aspect, a skilful physician, a scholar and a gentleman. The marquis looked at him appealingly for his verdict.

"You need not look so despairing, my lord," said Dr. Hartright, as the two walked away from the bedside. "Lady Chetwynd is young, endowed with a splendid constitution, and I venture to predict that she will soon be well again.

Despite this prediction, despite the constant attendance of her physicians, the devoted care of her nurses, Lady Chetwynd grew steadily worse. The fever seemed to have seized upon her with a hold that would not be shaken off. Miss Monk shared Lord Chetwynd's vigils during the night, and Dr. Hartright and Mrs. Skewer remained in the sick-room. By morning the young marchioness was raving in delirium. She did not know her husband; she shrieked in terror when Miss Monk bent over her, and raved wildly of St. Kilda, its rocks, its waves, its grandeur, and its freedom.

By midday, Lord Chetwynd, nearly beside himself, sent his butler to Eastbourne with a telegraphic message to a famous London physician. The great London doctor arrived at Chetwynd Park that evening, held a consultation with Dr. Hartright, suggested a changed course of treatment, and went back to town upon the following morning, without having been able to better the condition of the sick girl, or even to probe the cause of her illness. The fact that there was fever in the village of Chetwynd-by-Sea seemed to be proof sufficient to the trio of doctors that this fever of Lady Chetwynd's was of the same character.

The days dragged slowly by, those dreary November days, when the sky was dark and the air heavy with gloom. In her bed room Bernice Chetwynd lay battling with the poison fever that was consuming the life within her veins. She knew no one. Her sweet voice rang through the rooms and halls, calling the names of those whom she had known at St. Kilda. Her glorious hair, which the marquis begged might not be shorn, streamed over her pillow. Her head was kept bandaged in iced cloths. Her eyes roved wildly from object to object, unknowing and unseeing.

Lord Chetwynd scarcely quitted her side night or day. It was his hand which gave her medicines, his voice which soothed her ground was alive with people on the qui vive for the appearance of the celebrated pulpit orator, Dr. Talmage. At the appointed time he stepped on the platform, and announced for his text the 8th verse of the 19th Psalm, "The statutes of the Lord are right." He preached a vigorous and beautiful sermon.

The gale continued all Thursday night, and up to five o'clock the next morning, at which time the ship was off Ilfracombe, when the wind suddenly chopped round to the northward and westward, blowing most furiously. Several heavy seas struck the ship with great violence, and in consequence of being light she rolled most awfully and very quick, knocking the furniture about below, and extensively damaging the crockery ware. At the time the wind changed, the vessel maintained her speed of from four and a half to five knots an hour against the gale, the engines working with great uniformity at from ten to twelve strokes per minute. Though 327 feet in length, and 52 feet in width, the huge mass was tossed about with apparently as much ease as a cork. Those who were below at the time the sea struck the ship, rushed upon deck, and many not accustomed to sea voyages exhibited the greatest consternation, imagining that the ship had split on a rock, or had come in contact with another vessel. So violent was the force of the sea that two of the dead lights in the bow, with their frames, which were forced in, and the water rushed into the forward compartment. The figure-head was somewhat damaged, and some portion of the bulwarks fastened to the side of the ship, and a heavy piece of thick wood, strongly rivetted and bolted between iron plates, was so severely shaken as to exhibit cracks. On examination, however, it was found that no material injury had been sustained, further than the complete sousing consequent on the admission of the sea. It was such weather that not a single sail was seen the whole distance from King Road to the Land's End. It was remarked by Captain Hosken and many other experienced nautical men, that 100 voyages might be made across the Atlantic, without encountering anything so severe, and most probably the effect of such a sea striking a timber-built vessel would be frightful and extremely dangerous. Notwithstanding this shock, she still held on her way and continued her voyage up the Channel at from 10 to 10½ knots, and at 45 minutes past 9 a.m., when off Portland, there being a light breeze from the westward, she set all her fore and aft sails, with her mainsails, and at 45 minutes past 12 p.m. entered the Needles Channel and passed Lymington at 20 minutes past 1, making 11½ knots with 16 revolutions. When off Cowes, at a quarter past 2 p.m., she stopped for three minutes to land despatches. She continued her course, making an average speed of 12 statute miles throughout the day; and having rounded the South Foreland, came to an anchor in the Downs at 40 minutes past 1 a.m. on Sunday morning, having performed, in 28 hours and 55 minutes, 320 nautical or 350 statute miles.

HOPE DEFERRED.

No Race Yesterday.

THOUSANDS ON THE COURSE

Great Disappointment.

INCIDENTS AND ACCIDENTS.

The magnificence of the weather, yesterday morning, induced, in addition to the vast number of strangers, a much larger attendance of Montrealers than would otherwise have found their way to Lachine to watch the boat race. But all their hopes had to be deferred, for, by degrees, the condition of the elements became such as to render it impossible for the men to row, no matter how much their supporters and referee might have desired it. The race was then fixed for to-day, and it is to be hoped no further delay will take place. Scarcely less than twenty-five thousand persons—few being of the female sex—were upon the scene of disappointment, which number to-day will, in all likelihood, be considerably reduced.

THE VILLAGE.

From an early hour yesterday the village of Lachine began to assume a scene of activity, perhaps unequalled in its history. The sound of the hammer busily plied in the completion of stands and booths, was to be heard in all directions. Carriages and vehicles of all descriptions, from the rude waggon to the highly-finished hack, soon began to stream in, and the old village to put on a veritable holiday appearance. On the arrival of each train the numbers gradually swelled to large proportions, the visitors scattered ...

... the ... of the calamity are ... great as after the former conflagration; the value of the property destroyed probably greater. The population of St. John Suburbs was about ten thousand, and the population of St. Roch had mostly found refuge in St. John Suburbs. Quebec is now reduced to the Upper Town within the walls, the Lower Town from the St. Charles below Hope Gate to Cap Blanc on the St. Lawrence, the extent which is occupied, but then more sparsely built after the destruction of the suburbs during the siege in 1775. The remaining houses in the suburbs are about as many ... they were half a century ago. We have seen them spread out so as to contain about twenty-four thousand inhabitants, many of them wealthy, most of them proprietors of their dwellings, and living comfortably. This was the ... of persevering industry and general good conduct, and we trust it will be persevered in. There is one truth which the recent misfortunes must have strongly impressed on the minds of all; it is that every inhabitant has a direct interest in the good and careful conduct of every individual who lives in or frequents the same city, particularly in regard to fire. Quebec formerly might be considered fortunate in exemption from great fires. The total of the fires which have happened during the last seventy years do not equal one of those which have occurred within a month, and it is remarkable that no very extensive fire ever occurred before in the Suburbs. There was a fire to-day on the roof of a house in St. Valier's Suburbs, near the toll-gate, but speedily got under.

A nightly patrol is getting up, and the subscription list is at Mr. Cremazie's, bookseller, Ste. Famille street.

FACTS AND FIGURES.

The London Tract Society has already distributed 350,000 of its publications at the Paris Exposition.

The cotton crop of America for the years 1877-78 is reported by the National Cotton Exchange at 4,773,865 bales.

It takes seven million miles of thread to hold the people of the United States in their clothes. So says a writer in the September Scribner.

The quicksilver yield of California, for the current year, is estimated at 8,000 flasks, probably of the aggregate value of $2,500,000.

Of the 264 millions of capital invested in British railways, forty-one and a half paid no dividends at all last year, and less than ten millions paid over eight per cent.

The yearly value of the milk, cream, butter and cheese produced in the United States is $300,000,000; of eggs, $180,000,000, and of poultry, $68,000,000.

The value of the entire amount of gold in the world is estimated at nearly $7,000,000,000. It might all be contained in a block 17 feet high, 28 feet wide, and 56 feet long.

In a sun-kitchen at the Paris show, Prof. Mouchot, of Tour, has roasted quails in 20 minutes, and in 45 boiled water. The cooking is done with an apparatus having a strong reflector.

Boston's total valuation is $631,000,000, a shrinkage of $55,000,000 from last year's valuation. The rate of taxation will be a few cents less than $13 on $1,000, against $13.10 on $1,000 last year.

About 600,000 copies of the Scriptures have been given away from the Bible-stand in the Paris Exposition. These copies were in 22 languages. It is the purpose to distribute about 500,000 more.

In a population of 2,000,000 in Texas there are about 260,000 church members. Of these 92,000 are Baptists, 109,000 are Methodists, 31,000 are Presbyterians, 11,000 are Campbellites, 5,000 are Lutherans, and 10,000 are Catholics.

The increase in the export of live stock from the United States to England in the year ending June 30 was 30,800 head of cattle, and 4,000 head of sheep. The actual numbers exported were 80,040 cattle and 183,995 sheep. In addition thereto, 54,000,000 pounds of beef went over, an increase of 5,000,000 pounds.

The number of rabbits sold in the markets of Paris in 1845 was only 177,000, but in 1860 this number had increased to more than 2,000,000. Taking the number consumed in Paris at a thirtieth of the whole quantity used in the republic, the total consumption would be about 70,000,000 annually. According to official returns the average price of a rabbit exceeds two francs, so that the value of those consumed annually may be taken at $27,500,000. In France about 60,000,000 of rabbit skins are collected annually.

There are in Russia 3,000 tanneries and leather manufactories, and the annual production in prepared hides and sheep skins amounts to close upon 40,000,000. The number of raw hides and skins obtained annually is estimated at 20,500,000, of which 19,000,000 are dressed. Deducting sheep skins, which are more than fifty per cent. of the whole, the numbers and weights may be taken as ox hides, 2,200,000, averaging 40 pounds; 1,300,000 cow hides, averaging 20 pounds; 4,000,000 calf skins, at 3 pounds each, and 1,000,000 horse hides averaging 12 pounds each. About one-tenth of all these are exported.

A RAINY AFTERNOON, and every one who could get shelter as best he or she could, for there were a few ladies at the race, though but a few in proportion to the sterner and rougher sex.

HANLAN

remained secluded as much as possible all day, but was always ready to see any friends who called upon him. He professed an anxious wish to see the race come off, so as not to disappoint the people, and kept himself in readiness to come forth at any moment he might be ordered out. From three o'clock there was the utmost anxiety manifested on all sides, as hopes were indulged that the wind would take a lull and the race come off. It was not to be, as fitful gusts came up, and made it worse than ever, until the official announcement proclaimed the postponement.

COURTNEY.

The quarter of the American were kept very quiet all day, and very few visitors except intimate friends were admitted to see them. The brother of Courtney arrived in the morning, and with some friends immediately repaired to his cottage, where all received a cordial welcome. Riley, the celebrated oarsman, as well as several other professionals called on the American during the day. He expressed himself to all as confident, and hoped to go home a victor. When asked if the water was suitable for the race, he remarked that if it was smooth enough for Hanlan it would suit him.

MORE FAVORABLE PROSPECTS.

Shortly before five o'clock the rain ceased and the wind fell considerably. The situation was eagerly discussed, and on all hands the question was asked and was answered ...

In a crush which took place near the grand stand three or four ruffians openly attempted to rob an individual whom they had evidently "spotted" and knew to have money on his person. One of them seized hold of their victim from behind, while another, taking out his knife, attempted to rip open the unfortunate man's pants' pocket where the cash was. In their hurry they stabbed their victim in the thigh, but strange to say in the noise and confusion their nefarious game was not perceived until too late for their arrest, as they immediately slunk off without effecting their object. Mr. McNamee, the contractor, pursued the scamps for some distance, but without success.

At the Bonaventure depot, on the departure of the 2.35 train, a drunken man was betting 10 to 1 on Hanlan, and exhibited a roll of bill, containing about $400. A thief snatched the roll and disappeared among the crowd.

ADRIFT UPON A BOATING HOUSE.

About three o'clock, at the time the squall took place, one of the persons in charge of the Judge's stand, which was put upon the top of the Lachine Club's boat-house, was engaged in paying out an additional length of chain, when the concern receiving the whole force of the tempest, forced the chain out of the hands of the holder, and becoming unmoored from the post let the house adrift, which at a very rapid pace was carried down by the current. With very great force it come into collision with the "Mattawan," carrying away the landing stage and striking terror into the hearts of those who were aboard. The ... confusion and excitement ... upon the stand, which ... fied as the current ... The tug steamer ... started ...

MR. THOMAS H. MCLEAN:

My Dear Sir,—It would be doing the public great injustice were I to refrain from informing them of how superior a Dyspeptic remedy they possess in your Egyptian Bitters. It has been my misfortune to suffer nearly twenty years, without intermission, from Dyspepsia and its terrible accompaniment, deep melancholy, which had all but driven me within the hideous walls of a lunatic asylum. So dreadful are the effects of that disease, when fully fastened upon the patient, that no one short of having felt its baneful influence can conceive one-tenth the sufferings its victims are destined to endure.

Even while I pen these few lines my former fears of mental aberration, produced by dyspepsia, induce cold chills to thrill through my blood while an involuntary shudder shakes my nerves as if a barbed arrow, twanged from the red man's cross-bow, had penetrated my body. Sometimes my mind, while influenced by these vagaries, would be engrossed with phantoms of a spiritual form, and anon they would vanish to assume the opposite; now I would experience all the ecstacy flowing from spiritual contemplation, and quicker than lightning that phase also would give place to another of a deep, dark, melancholy aspect that invariably superinduced hatred towards humanity deeper in its nature, if it were possible, than Milton's dark fiend infernal, conceived, after many days, towards the man of Uz. During all these years of suffering, I had recourse to almost every specific within the covers of the Materia Medica, together with all extraneous remedies (for every comer and goer had his nostrum), but all to no purpose—"the hell of all diseases," as Burns has characterized the "toothache," held imperial sway—sticking to me "as close as the ghost of Ossian stuck to his horse's saddle crupper."

Now, however, I have been restored to health, both physically and mentally, and my recovery is due, under a benevolent Providence, to a generous use of your Egyptian Bitters, which I unhesitatingly, unconditionally and conscientiously recommend to all suffering from dyspepsia and its concomitants.

Yours very gratefully,

The Vitalizing Nutritive-Tonic qualities of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime, would indicate its great value as a Restorative and Invigorator, in that low condition of the system prevailing in patients recovering from Diphtheria as well as Fevers, especially those of a Typhoid character; while if taken when the premonitory signs of lassitude and weakness appear, it would have a tendency to prevent the attack, or lighten and shorten its duration. The cases in which it has been used fully bear out this hypothesis. It stimulates the enfeebled powers, and builds up and gives fresh life and vitality to the whole system.

Prepared solely by J. H. ROBINSON, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N.B., and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle; six bottles for $5.00.
