Over 300 Westmount youngsters take to the ice tomorrow evening in a figure skating show that highlights the Westmount Recreation Department's 1976 figure skating program.

The show, produced and directed by Miss Beverly Allin-Adams, is titled "Musical Memories" and takes as its theme the music of the 20th century. It starts at 7:30 pm at the artificial ice rink and admission is free.

The show is the result of one and a half months work by the children and instructors. The large number of children participating this year is a record. When the program of figure skating instruction started five years ago only 50 children took part while the program now involves girls, and 34 boys, from ages six to 18.

Producing the show is only one part of the overall program which includes a period of basic instruction followed by a testing period in which merit badges can

Police may be returned to local control

We Say

The mayors' role

THE put-upon people of Montreal island, specially citizens of the suburban municipalities of which Westmount is as put-upon as any, have cause for nervousness.

The Conference of Montreal Suburban Mayors long has been emerging as the only bulwark of sanity in the ordering of local government in our region.

A bulwark against the rapacious designs of the impecunious City of Montreal administration.

Against the already entrenched mechanisms of the Montreal

Westmount may get back control of the day-to-day operation of its police should the province implement recommendations of the Castonguay commission's latest report on urban government, Mayor Donald MacCallum told The Examiner this week.

The mayor said this was one bit of news he was able to report from last week's two-day meeting of Montreal suburban mayors at Mont Gabriel, where he glanced at a copy of the 500-page report.

Though he was excited at the prospect of regaining control over police, he could give no further details about its recommendations, since he had not been able to study it fully.

Mayor MacCallum said he and the other mayors had agreed not to comment on any of the results of the meeting, which will be announced in a matter of weeks

If hockey is only a game for young people, don't tell 1,300 over-35 Canadians, including a team from Westmount, who returned Sunday from Holland where they took part in the first international oldtimers hockey tournament.

The Westmount All Canadian Old Timers, a team put together for the tournament by Don Duprey, was one of 40 teams that took part in the tournament which was organized by the Canadian Oldtimers Hockey Association. Thirty-two of the teams were Canadian and the rest from the U.S. and Europe.

Westmount's entry lost three of their four games during the week-long event but according to Duprey, the recreation involved is the important part. The oldtimers have altered the game for recreational purposes, eliminating body checking and slap shots.

Each team in the 117 game tournament was guaranteed four games with the winners advancing to further competition. In its games, Westmount lost to Summerside, P.E.I. 1-0; Thetford Mines 4-2, and Gatineau, Quebec 7-3, while it defeated a Dutch team 13-2. Games were played in Utrecht, The Hague, Tilbourg and Amsterdam. A team from Moncton won the division in which Westmount played.

Twelve arrests over weekend

Csts. A. St. Denis and M. Potvin flagged down an auto on Rosemount avenue for a routine check at 6 am Saturday, found the auto's registration inconsistent and had MUC police phone the car's registered owner, a resident of Longueuil.

The owner claimed his car was outside the house but when he looked he found it was gone.

Two men, aged 19 and 17, were arrested by the constables in connection with the stolen auto.

That arrest highlights an even dozen effected by police in Westmount over the weekend. Others were for such matters as drunken driving and shoplifting, according to local officers.

Windsor theft nets $2,500

Thieves forced open the front door to a Windsor avenue residence and stole some $2,500 worth of valuables. The theft, which occurred between 8 pm Friday and 10 am Saturday, included such items as jewelry and antiques, taken from various parts of the house.

This was the scene of last Thursday's accident. Note imprints of heads on windshield.

Ald. Thom recovering from injury

Ald. James L. Thom slipped on ice and broke his shoulder and back while walking his dog (on its leash) on the morning of Saturday, March 6. The Examiner learned this week. He is recovering well, undergoing physiotherapy treatment and expected to be back at work today.

The public safety commissioner was treated to a ride in the Westmount ambulance, operated by the city fire department and thus under his aegis, complete with police escort. He was taken to the Montreal General Hospital where his injuries were diagnosed.

Doctors have told him it will take 12 weeks to recover fully. He claims he caught flu shortly after his accident, adding to his misery. He was in relatively good spirits when contacted yesterday, however.

Six hurt in head-on crash

Six people were injured, some of them badly, as the result of a head-on collision on Claremont avenue at the corner of Willow avenue last Thursday just after the noon hour.

Police, receiving a call about the accident at 12:03 pm, immediately rushed the victims—including four with head injuries—to the Queen Elizabeth Hospital, and used the police ambulance to transport one young man with a back injury.

The accident occurred as a 1974

APRIL 1 to 10

A pleasant weekend is followed by gusty winds, thunder and blowing snow, turning to drizzle. Nights continue cold. Granular snow, 8 to 12 cm. for Laurentians and northern counties.

Violent coastal storms will extend their rainy fringes into the Townships. A mild spell will hasten the break-up and the Chaudiere and other southern rivers will overflow. Our early bird population will now begin to arrive.

Temperature range in south, -6 to 10 C. Sunshine, 45 to 50 hours.

MacCallum on valuations

Mayor Donald MacCallum is not necessarily in favor of returning property assessments to the individual island municipalities, he said Monday, despite growing protests over the latest Montreal Urban Community valuation rolls.

The mayor pointed out that various municipalities might use different procedures in assessing properties, and might cause an imbalance in the overall assessment from one city to the next.

Since the MUC levy makes up such a large share of the overall property tax burden, Westmount could end up in a position where it would pay an overly large share of the costs.

be earned. Miss Adams describes the show as a "real family affair" with many parents having pitched in to help with costumes, lighting and decorations.

13-part program

The program for tomorrow evening includes 13 sections and one intermission. Skating in the overture will be Cynthia Mizgala followed by a "Marching Melodies" number by the Westmount Twirlers.

The roaring twenties come next with Joanne Quart skating to "Yes Sir That's My Baby" and Shelley Greenberg interpreting the theme song from "The Sting".

The beginners Wednesday class will present "How Much Is That Doggie In the Window?" featuring soloists Jill Schwartz and Kara Feifer and special performances by Leslie Goldstein and Nancy Mizgala.

"Walt Disney on Parade" is the title of a four-part performance to be led by "The Wizard of Oz" featuring the Monday Beginners Class and Maria Vincelli, Colleen Duncan, Vincent Loranger, Karen Auerbach and Stanley Loranger.

Taking part in the "Three Little Pigs" are Lori Berthiaume, Marian Hendry, Patricia De Butler and Louis Loranger. Lucie Loranger will play "Cinderella" and supporting her will be Alexandra Zorbas, Vanessa Zorbas, Sonya Eydt, Nancy Loranger, Andrea Cleghorn, Liane Mizgala and Mark Nicholson.

"Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" will feature Caroline Semple as Snow White, Wicked Queen Natalie Beaulieu and dwarfs Michael Z'Graggen, Kim McArthur, Stephanie Littler, Anne Hollifield, Mary Bishop, Caroline Lafleur and Kim Scott.

Modern music

Following the intermission the music will be a bit more modern. Linda Loranger will skate to "Never on Sunday" before rock and roll takes over courtesy of the intermediate and senior group one skaters. A pairs performance will be presented by Nicole and Mark Beukers.

Other musical items include "Mame" with Brenda Kossman; "Babes in Arms" with intermediate group skaters and solos by Stanley Loranger, Mark Nicholson, Fiona Nicholson and Melanie Mizgala; "Penny Lane" with Nicole Beukers; "Lara" with Kathy Farrell; and "The Way We Were" with Cathy Faisans.

The program's finale is titled "Let's Get It On" with the entire cast participating. Final solos will be performed by Leif Cantave, Kathy Martin and Sylvia Devlin.

Pedestrians hit in two incidents

Two pedestrians were struck by turning automobiles in different parts of Westmount this week.

A 15-year-old boy was struck by a car at the corner of Grosvenor avenue and The Boulevard on Monday at 4:30 pm, while a 67-year-old woman was knocked over by a car on Sherbrooke street at Wood avenue on Tuesday afternoon at 5:35.

Ted Mahon, 103 Sunnyside avenue, was crossing Grosvenor avenue from west to east, on the north side of The Boulevard, when he was struck by a 1975 Pontiac being driven by Mrs. Nancy Wood, 49, of Dollard des Ormeaux, coming west on The Boulevard and turning to go north on Grosvenor. Mrs. Wood told police later that her view of the corner was blocked by a Westmount public works vehicle stopped at the corner, around which she had to turn.

The boy's father took him to the Queen Elizabeth Hospital for examination, but it was decided he had not sustained any injuries. The father then reported the accident, complete with Mrs. Wood's name and address and statements from a witness.

Anne Fraser of Montreal was knocked over and her leg injured when she was struck by a white 1968 Mustang at the Sherbrooke-Wood intersection, while crossing Sherbrooke street from south to north on the west side.

The auto, driven by Gilbert Bushe, 30, of Dorval, was coming north on Wood avenue and turning left to go west on Sherbrooke. The injured woman was taken by police car to the Reddy Memorial Hospital, where she was treated and later released.

The victim told police she had no idea how the auto had struck her, and Mr. Bushe claimed only that he had not seen the woman in time to stop. Police are investigating the possibility of pressing charges against the driver for failing to yield right-of-way to a pedestrian.

Cockroach ruse reported

Westmount inspectors will answer complaints from residents about cockroaches or other bugs in buildings around the city, but make no specific inspections for the small animals.

A woman reported to The Examiner she had been phoned recently by an exterminating company and told that the city inspects each year for cockroaches, and that she could have her home checked by the company to ensure that the city inspectors would find none.

Information to that effect is fallacious, though Westmount will recommend that citizens contact an exterminator if, because of a complaint or discovery when inspecting for other purposes, they find that a home is infested.

City officials would appreciate hearing from others who may have received such calls, and especially if citizens could provide the name of the company which is making them. Citizens should contact the inspection services division, in city hall, at 935-8531.

Dr. Suzanne Fletcher profiled by CBC-TV

Dr. Suzanne Fletcher, 708 Upper Roslyn avenue, is one of three women who will be profiled on a one-hour documentary, "A Woman's Place," on CBC-TV Monday at 7 pm.

Dr. Fletcher, an internist on the staff of the Royal Victoria Hospital, is married to Dr. Robert Fletcher and is the mother of two boys, John, 7, and Grant, 6. The documentary will explain how she can be an internist (which includes some teaching, research and clinic work), wife and mother at the same time.

Dr. Fletcher will be compared with Elaine, a student, and Pegi, an advertising executive, both of whom are also married with two children each, to discover what they think about their respective situations.

The feature is being produced by Judith Walle and Paul Risacher, the team which pro-

While the negative aspects of government—such as the regulation of scarce resources—may be expected to continue to be centralized, the initiatives and other positive aspects will come from the local level.

So said Paul N. Ylvisaker, dean of the school of education at Harvard University—in a 1973 speech on tape played to members of the Rotary Club of Westmount yesterday mid-day in Victoria Hall by Norman T. Dawe, city manager of Westmount.

Dr. Ylvisaker originally was addressing some 2,000 members of the International City Management Association pre-Watergate and pre-oil shortage and forecasting trends already becoming perceptible.

He said the "era of the ranch house" is over—it no longer making sense for the small or even childless family to occupy a separate structure on a large property which, in any event, is becoming beyond the ordinary person's economic reach.

Rather, he saw a return to the "inner ring" of the large city.

The incident follows by less than a week two other purse snatches in the area, near Kensington avenue and Sherbrooke street the previous Thursday and Friday. One other occurred at the Metcalfe-Sherbrooke intersection a week before that. In most cases the

Now was the time to recruit new, bright brains into city government, he asserted, urging integrity as the hallmark of municipal management.

We Say

'Save-it syndrome' appears again

WE feel compelled by the newest round of effort to save an older building—this time the disused apartment block on the south side of St. Catherine street opposite the foot of Kensington avenue—once more to comment on what we have dubbed on a previous occasion the "save-it syndrome."

The arguments put to city council last week, and in a letter on the page opposite this one this week, are well made, as far as they go. We say this even if there is an abusive tone directed at the city administration when, in fact, Westmount long has maintained tough standards in architecture, planning and the general esthetics of the municipality.

For instance, it is only sense that the local authorities should inquire of the cultural affairs minister if, in fact, there is any point in seeking preservation of the Quinlan apartment block or, even, its façade.

We say "as far as they go," for the arguments proceed from the premise of those making them that the structure, or its front, is indeed worth saving and then stop short of considering who is to do the preserving, who is to bear the cost, and the property rights of the owners.

Certainly, the overburdened taxpayers of Westmount are not in the mood for a financial adventure of this sort nor would they in equity force it upon the present owners, who bought the derelict for redevelopment according to their own plans.

For our part, let it be said that after some intimacy of long standing with the existing structure, we do not regard its somewhat forbidding, cold, grey, brooding presence a great asset to either the neighborhood or the city at large. The idea expressed in Save Montreal's sketch, on our front page last week, was worse still: a monstrosity.

MUCH good effort is wasted in these instance-by-instance campaignings to save particular buildings when attention first should be directed to the causes of their dilapidation and to the effect of public intervention to inhibit change.

Mr. Fernand Leclaire had his feet firmly on the ground when he reminded council last week that he had proposed some years ago that steps should be taken to require owners to maintain their properties. More rigorous inspection is required of older structures, minimum maintenance and repair standards should be enforced, and the tax-valuation formula be made to encourage upkeep of older buildings rather than, as at present, make responsible landlordship uneconomical.

With regard to making landmarks-to-be-preserved of older properties, the law is going to have to follow through so as not to thrust the burden only on the owners. And the entire question of redevelopment, without undue harassment of the developer, must be clarified.

We believe Westmount made a good move in establishing its own cultural properties advisory committee. Its task is far bigger than simply preparing lists of real estate. And it is too early for critics.

Mayors...

Urban Community: its Montreal-style, near-autonomous executive committee; its fifth-wheel Security Council; its troubled MUC Transportation Commission; its untrusted valuation department; its unasked overtures into local planning; its trending toward becoming another level of government rather than a mechanism of inter-municipal order.

Against the centralizing instincts of a provincial government clearly run by its proliferating civil service of backroom planners and dreamers far removed from the realities of local government, rather than by the ministers and legislators.

We now detect the Conference of Montreal Suburban Mayors betraying some of the early signs of itself becoming institutionalized.

It has acquired the beginnings of its own permanent staff—however competent, the start of another layer of taxpayer-supported bureaucracy.

THE dilemma of the suburban mayors is recognized. Elected by their citizens to preside over the affairs of their cities and towns, they have been drawn into an unenviable battle, of great complexity, against well-equipped forces arrayed against the principle of local responsibility.

The battle has become a preoccupation of near-fulltime proportions, in which their own city halls' needs fast are becoming secondary and the fundamental problem of earning a living in their private businesses and professions is getting short shrift.

It perhaps was inevitable that they should turn to fulltime help.

They have been sucked in.

Their Worships have taken up the same blunt, unwieldy weapons of their adversaries.

With which they cannot win.

THE real, effective and potent weapons of the mayors are not position papers, studies, research, consultants, copying machines, committees, aides, flackery. The real, effective and potent weapons of the mayors are their citizens—concerned, aroused, angry, distressed, hard-pressed, put-upon.

They are real people, who write letters, who attend municipal council meetings, who head up or support municipal associations, who attend mass meetings in community halls to protest valuations, taxation without representation, dismantled local police forces and inferior MUC substitutions, rampant trade unionism in essential public service, indifferent or incompetent representation at Quebec, financial and administrative irresponsibility in the core city, and on, and on.

They are citizens with political clout, whose blind rouge or bleu loyalties are transcended by their primary concerns for the immediate communities and the very homes in which they live.

And who look to their mayors as their first citizens to lead them.

Not to disappear into private study

Organized crime and wiretapping

For most of us in Westmount organized crime is something that affects somebody else. We read or hear about it in the media. It comes along with glaring headlines or the scandalized tones of a radio announcer. And glaring headlines, or scandalized broadcasters, do not nowadays have the impact they once had.

So it is not that easy to really accept that organized crime may affect us, close to home. We may say, but not really personally appreciate, that organized crime has become a serious Canadian problem—or at least a serious Canadian big city problem.

Organized crime deals in illicit narcotics and, from that ugly trade, murder and vice and all manner of violent crimes fan out and reach into legitimate businesses and institutions.

As your Member of Parliament for Westmount, I outlined in a recent article the federal government's new peace and security program of legislation now before Parliament.

We have already passed a bill that included provisions to deal with "laundered" funds, that is, funds illegally obtained by organized crime and then transferred into otherwise legitimate business enterprises.

The most recent legislation introduced will enable provinces to set up commissions of inquiry into organized crime—similar to the Quebec inquiry that uncovered planned criminal activities including contract killings and the protection racket.

This new legislation also provides for extensions to the powers the authorities already have in electronic surveillance of known or would-be criminals—in a word, wiretapping.

Wiretapping—or "bugging," as it is popularly referred to—is an issue that provokes very strong opinions both for and against. There are Westmounters who would argue that wiretapping can too easily become an unwarranted invasion of our privacy and thus our personal freedom. Personal freedoms have been too hard won to be played with lightly or to be sessions to frame reactions to others' structures, reports, recommendations—as they did at Mont Gabriel last week, with a compact among themselves not to share the direction of their thinking, jointly or severally, with their citizens. That was the most disturbing development of the past week.

MORE generally, there is unease over the increasing tendency of the mayors, unfortunately including our own, to retreat to statements that "the MUC is with us to stay; we must make the best of it."

We say this isn't necessarily so.

The mood of the people of the island outside the City of Montreal is that we have had our bellyful of the forced-upon-us MUC, that it is an unmitigated disaster and, far from accommodating to it, the time has come to unwind it.

We have witnessed in the past week the Castonguay commission reporting what we all have suspected: that Montreal's finances are in a disastrous state.

They could drag down all the MUC municipalities, perhaps even the province.

Yet we have the premier, Mr. Bourassa, blandly stating that the province is satisfied with its knowledge of Montreal's tangled and secretive affairs.

As he was with the Olympics?

It is time for the suburban mayors to tell Mr. Bourassa, and his handmaiden in these matters, Dr. Goldbloom, the facts of political life in the municipalities.

Loudly, clearly, for all their citizens to hear.

"Passed at a city council meeting and released for publication, the City of Westmount's annual report reveals a net surplus of $2,542 for the year ending December 31, 1940. Amounting to $407,474 with expenditures at $371,726, revenue from the electric light and power department gave an additional surplus, apart from general account, of $38,290. General and special taxes, principal item of revenue, amounted to $969,051."

"Improvements to Cote St. Antoine road costing $64,000 have been authorized by the Westmount City Council. At several points the road will be straightened out, widened and repaved. Between Clarke and Argyle avenues where the road bows it will be straightened and similarly between Argyle and Stanton. Widening will take place between Kensington and Metcalfe avenues. At present Cote St. Antoine is 27 feet wide there and will be broadened out to 33 feet."

"The enthusiasm of Island police chiefs for installation of a central police teletype network on the Island of Montreal is not matched in the city halls of the area. Although endorsement of the Bell Telephone proposal was almost unanimously endorsed by the police chiefs only seven municipalities have actually installed teletype receivers."

City is criticized over Quinlan block

Sir: One of the lead articles in last week's Examiner (March 18) describes the efforts of a number of Westmount residents to have the façade of the Quinlan Apartments preserved, and the reaction of our municipal administration to this request.

The wish to see the façade saved is not surprising. The Quinlan Apartments were designed by distinguished Canadian architects to whom we owe many buildings now considered landmarks. What is surprising is the seeming inability of the Westmount administration to come to its own conclusion about a building under its jurisdiction.

Why, for example, should Mayor MacCallum find it necessary to ask the opinion of Quebec's cultural affairs minister on the value of a building when council has a special Cultural Properties Advisory Committee to make recommendations on just such questions? And why was this committee established at all when it appears that it too is applying to Quebec for advice on whether or not to investigate the issue?

The other reported comments from city officials involved in the matter were either simplistic or incomplete. Westmount's commissioner of redevelopment and planning, Ald. M. E. Nixon, is quoted as preferring new buildings to "derelict" ones, completely ignoring the fact that the request is to have the façade of the Quinlan Apartments (which is in good condition) incorporated into a new building. The Westmount Architectural and Planning Commission claims to have made its decision that the façade is not worth saving according to specific criteria; however, these criteria are not mentioned and have never been made public.

Urban conservation issues like the one referred to here are going to arise more and more frequently as the encroachments on our environment increase. It is clear that Westmount has the tools with which to make decisions on these issues, including the use of Bill 91 which allows any municipality to delay demolition of a building up to 12 months while civic authorities ask Quebec to classify the property. Westmount is going to have to stop waffling and make its own judgments about what is valuable and worth saving in this city.

Due to the circumstances of history, Westmount has perhaps the finest and most extensive collection of heritage buildings and neighborhoods in Canada. Westmount City Council is irresponsible if it does not recognize its role as guardian of this important legacy.

Gaz Metropolitain explains increase

(A copy of the following letter has been sent to The Examiner:)

Mr. J. H. Blandford,
64 Rosemount Crescent,
Westmount H3Y 2C9

Dear Sir:

Further to your letter published in the Feb. 26 edition of The Westmount Examiner, we would like to supply you with the following additional information regarding the December 1976 increase on the cost of natural gas.

Firstly, let us clarify one very important point. The increase is a result of an agreement reached between the Federal Government and the Alberta Government.

Secondly, the revenues stemming from this increase will go entirely to the Alberta gas producers and in no way supplement the profits of Gaz Metropolitain.

Before Gaz Metropolitain can pass on the increase resulting from the agreement to its customers, the company must be authorized to do so by the Electricity and Gas Board of the Province of Quebec.

The price increase was 5.54 cents per hundred cubic feet of gas and appeared on your gas bill included in the amount of 9.19 cents (or $0.0919) next to the heading "Gas Adjust" (adjustment of gas price). The increases are shown on your bill under adjustment as per regulations of the Electricity and Gas Board.

In your case, there was a consumption of 900 CCF of gas from Dec. 3, 1975, to Jan. 7, 1976, i.e. the 102 CCF for the former rate to Dec. 8, 1975, and the 749 CCF is applied to the new rate. Therefore the increase amounts to  $797 \times 0.0554$  equals \$44.27 which is included in the \$83.19 adjustment on your bill.

Concerning the 850 CCF consumption of gas from Jan. 7 to Feb. 5, 1976, the last increase amounts to  $0.0554 \times 890$  equals \$53.26 which is included in the \$88.34 adjustment on your bill.

$(0.0554 + 0.0365) \times 890$  equals  $0.0919 \times 890$  equals \$88.34.

What is the actual percentage of the last increase?

The last increase included in the total adjustment is about 30 percent of the customer's annual cost of gas. The 30 percent increase is spread over the 12 months of the year. This figure takes into account the amount of greater as well as of lesser consumption of gas. For example, during the winter months, when more gas is consumed for heating the increase will be more than 30 percent, but during the summer months the increase will be reduced proportionally.

Finally we would like to underline that, while the cost of all fuels were subject to considerable price increase in the past few years, natural gas despite this last increase remains the least expensive form of energy on the market today.

Should you need any more information, please do not hesitate to contact the undersigned at 527-8455 local 622.

Yours truly,

Overnight parking tickets protested

(A copy of the following letter has been sent to The Examiner:)

Mr. D. MacCallum
Mayor of Westmount

Dear Sir:

I would like to protest the indiscriminate distribution of overnight parking tickets to citizens of Westmount who have no other means of parking their cars due to lack of garages or parking areas. I am referring specifically to Burton avenue where there is no rear access nor enough room to park in front.

Recently there has been a very marked upsurge in ticketing at night. A complaint to the officer in charge at the Westmount Police Station brought forth the explanation that cars must be kept off the

JUST WHAT WAS SAID

Trouble with titles

An editorial in The Westmount Examiner, Quebec: One of the troubles with titles and honorifics is that their bearers as well as the public tend to take them entirely too seriously.

(We have a penchant for using them generously for the old-fashioned reason, perhaps, that usually they are earned and that the paper when speaking editorially should do so with courtesy, even down to the lowly "Mr."—whether we are ripping or praising the subject.)

Take, for example, the national "revolutions" concerning three local Westmount figures: Mr. Justice Kenneth C. Mackay, of Cedar Ave., Hon. Charles M. Drury, Member of Parliament for Westmount and Minister of Public Works, Science and Technology, and Associate Chief Justice James K. Hugesen, of Forde Ave.

Odds are they are known to one another simply as Ken, Bud and Jim. And it's even better they normally are all good friends—not in the slightly subversive-sounding sense of what some call "the old-boy network" but simply, friends or, if you will, Westmounters.

They are in the middle of accusations of having talked to one another.

So what? We're glad to hear that public figures in different spheres communicate.

Indeed, we are in a sorry plight if judges and politicians cannot communicate, specially in matters of public, political or judicial concern.

After all, these are big boys, capable of saying "Come off it, Ken," "Get with it, Jim" and even "Butt out, Bud"—without any one of them or their high offices losing a whit of dignity, independence or propriety.

street at night because of snow removal in winter and street cleaning in the summer.

As you know snow removal signs are placed well in advance when the city clears the snow and of course the same thing could be done in the summer if necessary. Nevertheless, during normal times anyone has the right to park up to four hours anytime during the night. Would this not defeat the theory that streets would be clear of vehicles during that time?

The exorbitant new tax levied by the MUC will to some extent pay for good police protection. If every night police are occupied in marking cars, then following up and ticketing them, would it not be more beneficial to Westmount citizens if these same men were occupied in more urgent matters?

A solution can be found. I would like to suggest one. All citizens of Westmount who cannot park on their own premises for reasons already stated should be issued special permits in the form of authenticated stickers placed inside their windshields which would give them immunity to fines or parking tickets for overnight parking only. Many companies use the same system.

I hope that this matter will warrant your most urgent attention as the inconvenience, frustration and mainly the costs have become intolerable.

turned over to something called "authority." Personal freedoms too often lose out to authoritarianism, even today, throughout the world. We must, therefore, be vigilant in protecting our liberties. But we also must be as vigilant in protecting our common society based on freedom.

Criminals plan much of their activities on the telephone or in private meetings and it is through electronic surveillance that the police are able to gather evidence of these activities.

As the law now stands, authorization to conduct a wiretap is issued for 30 days and requires that after a maximum of 90 days that individuals under surveillance must be notified by the police.

Under the new legislation the police are not required to issue such a warning and they are authorized to conduct surveillance for a period of 60 days. Authorization for electronic surveillance can be given covering all criminal offences rather than for the current short list of specific offences.

Unauthorized wiretapping, either by the police or other individuals is illegal under the Protection of Privacy Act. The police must justify, according to specific criteria, why they should receive a court order for a wiretap.

I should like to point out, and this is important, that court authorizations to wiretap are not granted lightly. It is also important to remember that the basic protection of the individual under law still remains.

If you're a serious saver, how about this...

Recital at Ascension

A recital of music for choir and organ will be given in the Church of the Ascension of Our Lord, Westmount, on Sunday at 3:30 pm.

The choir of the Church, under the direction of Phillips Motley, will sing motets and the Mass of St. John of God by F. J. Haydn.

Mr. Motley will play the "Grand Jeu" by DuMège, the prelude on "O Man beware thy grievous sin" and the Dorian Toccata in D minor by J. S. Bach on the brilliant, four-manual organ.

Park members at meeting

Ten members of Westmount Park Church attended the 84th annual meeting of Welcome Hall Mission Saturday evening and under the auspices of the renewal group of the church, additional support for the activities of the Mission is hoped for during the coming year.

Attending from the church were Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Edward DuBois, 426 Clarke Avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ingham, Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt Carter, Miss Helen McMahon and Miss Winifred Hurst.

Coffee House on Sunday

The St. Matthias' Coffee House is open again Sunday evening with guest performers being the Beaucatchers. They are a group of American performers who have played in several coffee houses throughout Montreal and the United States.

The St. Matthias' Coffee House is an outreach of the Christian church towards the youth of Westmount and is open from 8 to 10:30 pm for teens age 15 to 18.

The Coffee House is also an outreach to those less fortunate than ourselves. Patrons are asked to bring along a can of food to help support the St. Michael's Mission.

Park Church looks at confession

"What about Confession?" This often misunderstood aspect of devotional life will be the subject of consideration by Rev. J. E. Nix in his sermon this Sunday morning at Westmount Park Church.

This will be the first in a series of two services directed toward the enrichment of personal religious life, as we prepare for Palm Sunday and Easter.

Music will play a most important part in the Sunday morning worship, as this is the last week of Ruth Lloyd's tenure as organist and choir director. She and her husband are leaving Montreal to take up residence in Bermuda.

Miss Lloyd, on the organ, will be joined by Vera Jamieson, on the piano, to present a duet arrangement of Bach's "My Heart Ever Faithful." The Senior Choir will be singing "Gloria in Excelsus" by Mozart; and Fred Lloyd, Miss Lloyd's father, from Moncton, New Brunswick, will be the special guest tenor soloist. The Junior Choir will also be offering an anthem, accompanied by piano and by Christian Ellingsen on clarinet.

The mid-week Lenten Series will continue next Wednesday at 7:30 pm. Mr. Nix will be conducting the meeting and he plans to pick up on some of the questions about church membership which have been raised in the previous four sessions. Each of these meetings is self-contained, and newcomers are welcome to begin attending at any point in the series.

Gordon Phillips leaves organ

F. Gordon Phillips, 296 Grosvenor Avenue, has announced his resignation as organist and choirmaster of St. George's Church, at Place du Canada in Montreal, effective Aug. 31. Mr. Phillips has worked at the church for 30 years.

The musician also taught at Selwyn House School from 1933 to 1972. He still substitutes for other music teachers at the school on occasion.

St. Andrew's continues moral study

A further look at the current moral situation will form part of the service at St. Andrew's Church this Sunday at 11 am. In a sermon titled "The Enemy is Us" Rev. E. A. Kirker will examine the implications for individuals of new movements in psychiatry and psychology which attempt to link integration and integrity.

Dietrich Bonhoeffer will be the subject of this week's Lenten Study. Jenet Martin will review the life and thought of this influential German theologian who was executed in a wartime concentration camp. This mid-week series "Saints Alive" which has filled the church's Green Room each Wednesday at 8 pm will conclude April 7.

Preparations are under way for a service on Good Friday when members of the three United Churches in Westmount will take part at St. Andrew's in a dramatic presentation based on Michel Quoist's "Prayers on the Way to the Cross."

Plans have been announced for a leader's conference on Saturday, April 24, when elders and members of all church committees will attend a meeting of the church board, followed by small group discussions of plans for the future.

The Guild of Women of St. Andrew's holds its monthly meeting next Wednesday at 10 am. The Scouts and Cubs held their annual parent and son banquet at the church last Tuesday.

Bazaar and sale

A bazaar and nearly-new sale of housewares and clothes for men, women and children is to be held Monday, March 29, 10 am to 9 pm, at Beth Rivkah Academy, 5001 Vezina avenue, corner of Westbury avenue, by the Pioneer Women's Organization. Admission is free. Excellent transportation, buses 124, 160, 17 and 65.

Dessert bridge

The annual dessert bridge of the Maritime Women's Club of Montreal takes place Saturday, March 27 at 1 pm at Ephraim Scott Church Hall, Snowdon avenue corner of Clanranald avenue.

Nearly-new sale

A nearly-new sale, sponsored by the Pioneer Women's Organization, is to take place on Monday, March 29, at Victoria Hall, 4626 Sherbrooke street west. Doors open at 10 am. Excellent values. Merchandise for entire family. Admission free.

Centre offers textiles art

A textiles participation exhibition started Monday at the Visual Arts Centre, 350 Victoria avenue. This exhibition is subsidized by the art council of the Montreal Urban Community and is intended to awaken and stimulate public awareness of new concepts of artistic expression in the textile media.

Visitors are invited to participate in the creation of an abstract environment in textiles and are able to explore the use of various craft techniques such as spinning, knotting, netting or weaving with a variety of materials. The participants also have the opportunity to explore and learn basic techniques and conceive fundamental ideas involving creative thinking.

The design and conception of the project is co-ordinated by the textile department of the centre. Tsipora Levy, Juliana Lynch-Staunton, Efelda Russel, Anna Peterson and Gabrielle Schmidt are being assisted by their students and are working with the public to Sunday.

From March 29 to April 3, the Gallery will be exhibiting the created environment.

Dr. Loyola Perras heads UN group campaign

Westmounter Dr. Loyola Perras, 530 Grosvenor avenue, is chairman of the donations and membership campaign of the Montreal Branch of the United Nations Association which is now in the middle of its campaign which finishes at the end of this month.

The association is looking for donations and new members to help it carry on its work as a non-partisan, non-political, voluntary organization.

Montreal Branch programs include studying Canada's foreign policy, organizing programs to encourage public interest in the environment, immigration and other issues, arranging visits to the United Nations headquarters, selling of UNICEF greeting cards and operating a bilingual research library in Notre Dame de Grace.

Contributions can be sent to Montreal Branch, United Nations Association of Canada, 4335 Hampton avenue.

Bank marks 50th year

The first 50 customers to enter the Bank of Montreal branch at Claremont avenue and Sherbrooke street yesterday were presented with Pinkerton flowers in honor of the office's 50th anniversary.

Throughout the day, clients were offered coffee and doughnuts—the latter supplied by Pom Bakery and delivered by its restored Pomobile No. 1.

Pinkerton and Pom are among the bank's longtime local accounts.

Bank payment of city bills under study

Westmount is now considering allowing payment of all of its bills at any chartered bank on the Island of Montreal, a move concurrent with the city's recent announcement that power bills can be paid at any bank.

The decision to expand the collection points for electricity bills has resulted from last fall's postal strike, when money could be paid at any bank branch in the City of Westmount. Though city officials have received no pressure from citizens to pay at banks, they reasoned that many local residents work outside the city and do their banking elsewhere; thus it might be more convenient for them to pay their bills on St. James street, for example, or in Pointe Claire, if they work there.

Announcement may come soon about the payment of property, school and business taxes. Traffic tickets are not expected to follow the same course, since new forms are now in the process of being printed with heavier fines, and the cost of reprinting all of those tickets to include a new system of payments would be too great.

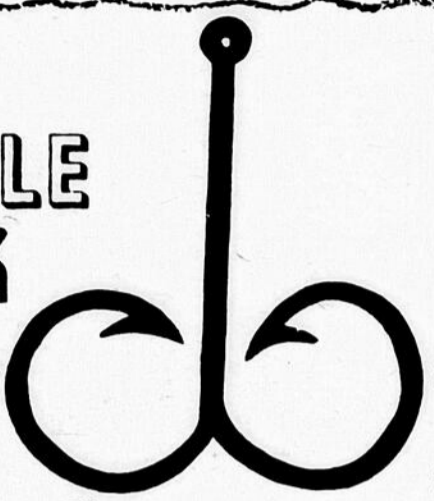

Any decision will not affect payment of Montreal Urban Community taxes, due May 1, for which bills have already been mailed to property-owners. Those must be remitted—either by mail or in person—to city hall.

Return envelopes addressed to city hall are not being sent out with the power bills, but if citizens request them they will be included regularly. Other bills, still payable directly to city hall, are mailed with return envelopes.

Pre-school French program at Library

The children's department of the Westmount Public Library is sponsoring a pre-school French program featuring songs, stories and games, for children 3 - 6 years old.

Enrollment is limited to 12 children per class so that attention can be paid to individuals.

Classes will be held in the children's department on Tuesdays at 10:15 and 2:15 and start on March 30. The cost is $5.00 for six one-hour sessions.

To register, call 935-8531, local 231 or drop in to the children's department from 2 - 6 pm.

Order of Nurses expands

The Quebec Order of Nurses has been granted a $300,000 building permit to expand their offices inside their building at 4200 Dorchester boulevard west, corner Greene avenue. They will take over the first and fourth floors of the five-storey building to add to their office space on the second and third floors.

Extensive renovation of the heating and ventilating equipment is taking place at the same time. No exterior changes to the building are contemplated.

ABBDL Consulting Engineers, who had occupied the first floor of the building, are moving to new facilities on St. Urbain street in Montreal.

Some activities on despite disruptions

By VICTOR DONNAY
and ARTHUR HOLDEN

The ski trip to Mount St. Sauveur last Friday was a resounding success. The weather was mild, with lots of fresh snow, and the 51 student skiers enjoyed themselves immensely. If the snow remains, Westmount's ski club is planning to hold a night-skiing trip sometime in early April, or perhaps a day trip.

Planning for Westmount's annual fashion show is in high gear, with the show only two weeks away. It is scheduled to be held April 7, and tickets should be going on sale this week. The money raised for this show is going to a very worthy cause, the scholarship fund.

Clothes are being supplied by Pant City and Laura Ashley, and all the models are WHS students. The masters of ceremony will be Jody Gliserman, Robin Grover, John Archer, and Philip Tyndale. This fashion show promises to be very enjoyable, so come out and support the scholarship fund. Admission is $1.00 for students and $2.50 for adults.

Regular school has been disrupted a great deal in the past week. Last Tuesday morning, students arrived at school, only to find that classes did not begin until 10 am. Thursday, there were no classes during the period immediately after lunch. Friday was a professional day, and there was no school Monday because of an all-day maintenance walk-out. With further disruptions planned by the various unions this week, students are beginning to suffer from a lack of continuity in their studies.

Six hurt...

Meteor station wagon, driven by Mrs. Otto Salzman, 50, of Dorval, came south on Claremont, preparing to turn left into Willow avenue. A 1976 Monza was coming north on the street, driven by 19-year-old Robert St. Germain of Pincourt who had four passengers in the car.

Unconfirmed reports indicate the Meteor was in the northbound lane as it came toward Willow. The two autos smashed together head-on and both were extensively damaged.

Both Mrs. Salzman and Mr. St. Germain received head injuries. Passengers injured include Gilbert Adam, 18, of St. Laurent, who had the back injuries; Claude Menard, 19, of Outremont, who also sustained head injuries; Michel Bonnier, 18, of LaSalle, who injured both his head and his right wrist; and André Proulx, 17, of Oka, who hurt only his right elbow.

The chartered banks employ about 50 agronomists to assist branch managers in meeting the increasingly sophisticated credit needs of farmers.

Working on play

Westmount's theatre club is still at work on its production of "Arsenic and Old Lace." The club plans to put on three performances sometime in late April or early May. The play is directed by Francis Parkman, and stars Jody Gliserman, Cordelia Strub, and John Archer.

Westmount High School NEWS

Today at 4:30 pm, a team of grade 11 boys from WHS will be playing in an exhibition hockey game against a team of Westmount Old Boys. This game, organized by John and David Edgell, both old boys themselves, promises to be a terrific one, with graduates of Westmount's Class of '76 playing against ex-grads from as far back as 1940.

If you like hockey, or Westmount High, don't miss this game at the Westmount artificial ice rink at 4:30 pm.

Two Bulls champions in peewee, mosquito

By NICK KASIRER

The hockey season has ended for players in the mosquito and pee wee leagues as their playoffs were completed this past week.

The first two games in the mosquito finals were split between the Bulls and the Huskies, but the Bulls ended the series last Saturday by winning the championship game 4-0.

Debbie Fuller earns bronze for diving

Nine-year-old Debbie Fuller, 35 Aberdeen avenue, took the bronze medal in all-round diving performance by girls 10 and under at the Quebec provincial diving championships in St. Lambert last weekend.

The accomplishment left her as the third-best diver under 10 in the province, though the youngster who placed second turned 11 on Sunday, so Debbie is now second-ranked. Graduation of the provincial champion to the 12-and-under category within two weeks will leave the Westmount girl as the top-rated 10-and-under diver in the province.

Debbie took six dives off the one-meter board in the meet, with a half-twist her best dive. She had qualified for the national championships scheduled for May 24 in Winnipeg, where she will get a chance to jump off one-, three- and five-meter boards. The three-meter board provides her best launching pad, she feels.

Debbie will not turn 10 until June, giving her another year in the ten-and-under age group before she moves higher up the ladder. She works out at the Pointe Claire Swim Club.

She will lead between five and ten girls from Quebec to the Winnipeg championships.

Debbie is not the only star athlete in her family. Her 11-year-old sister Wendy is a member of Gymnix, the elite Montreal gymnastics troupe, and has numerous gymnastics competition medals on her wall.

Duncan Yull scored twice with Fraser Lunney and Sam MacCallum each scoring once. Trevor Margetts also played an excellent game, registering a shutout in goal for the Bulls. Other members of the Bulls are Adrian Mask, Billy Shannon, Andrew Bishop, Mark Blostein, Sean Smith, Robert Dorey, Danny Parsons, and John Pitblado. The winning coaches are Jack Wilson and Gary Jackson.

In the pee wee section the Bulls beat the Capitals in two straight games but both were very close. The first game went into overtime, the Bulls winning 6-5. David Ramsay had four goals and Andrew Osterland had two. Georges Vibien scored the series winner with 1:51 remaining in the second game to make the final score Bulls, 5, Capitals 4. Georges scored twice in the final game with Andrew also scoring. Robert Paskulin and John Walker also had goals.

Other players on the Bulls' roster are Chris Reynolds, Charlie Cleghorn, John Papageorgiou, Tim Hopper, Stephen Adams, and goaler Vanya Levy who had a successful season in nets. The pee wee champs were coached by Jamie Fraser and George Maris.

Other series continue

In other playoff series the Flames and Flyers are tied with one game apiece in the bantam section. The Flames took the first game 6-3, and the Flyers won the second 3-2 in a close one.

The senior best of five final promises to be a close series with the Stars and Sabres tied with one game each. The Sabres won the first game 4-3, with the Stars coming back to win the second one by the same score. The midget finals start this week between season rivals Badgers and Hornets.

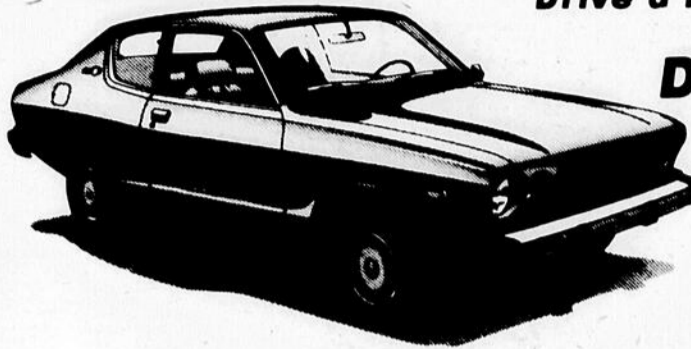

The annual twin city match between youngsters from Westmount and Rimouski will take place here in Westmount on April 3. Boys on the Westmount pee wee team of 11- and 12-year-olds have prepared anxiously for the traditional friendly game.

We turn Bugs into Rabbits.

That's quite a trick. Bring in your old reliable Bug. We'll turn it into a brand spanking new Rabbit, probably the most revolutionary small car on the market today.

It'll probably cost you a lot less than you think. We'll give you a good allowance because of the demand for used Bugs.

Now if you're reading this and worried that you don't have a Bug to turn into a Rabbit, we can also turn just about anything on wheels into a Rabbit.

So drop in for a demonstration. You'll probably drive out in a new Rabbit. Or an Audi Fox. Or a Dasher, or a Scirocco, or any one of our great cars.
