

13
no 3
MAY COMES LAUGHING,

Sung by

MADAME STOCKHAUSEN,

The Poetry by

Mrs E. B. Wilson,

The Music by

J. BLEWITT.

Ent. Sta. Hall.

Price 2/-

London,

Published by Cramer, Addison & Beale,

201 REGENT STREET.

MAY COMES LAUGHING.

Written by M.^{rs} C. B. Wilson.

Music by J. Blewitt.

VIVACE.

May comes Laughing o'er the plain He--rald of young Summer's reign, Breathing sweetness through the bowers Tinting with bright hues the flowers, See she waves her magic hand And Earth smiles like fairy lento.

land, Life and beauty round her play, 'Tis the joyous month of

May May comes

Laugh ing, May comes laughing o'er the dim:

pp f

plain, Herald of young Summer's reign, Breathing sweetness through the lento.

bowers Tinting with bright hues the flowers, May comes laughing, May comes

lento.

laughing through the plain. May comes laugh lento. p

f

-----ing through the plain.

f gr

p gr

loco

f piu lento.

p pp

ppp

Winters' cold and leafless bough Blushes at her presence now, On the staccato.

bush the linnet sings In the brake the wild flower springs, Sportive nymphs and hap-py swains Roam the fresh e...na...meld plains Every living thing doth say, Tis the joyous month of May...

May comes Laugh...

...ing, May comes laughing o'er the plain, Herald of young summers reign, Breathing sweetness through the bowers Tinting with bright hues the lento.

flowers, May comes laughing, May comes laughing through the plain.

lento.

f

May comes laugh ing through the plain.

lento. p

f

p gva. 3

gva. loco

f piu lento.

p pp

ppp

dim.

