World News In Brief

Chicago, March 30.—(AP)—An octogenarian who entered the Chicago Art Institute through a window and stayed 54 years says Chicago culture had changed somewhat since 1892. "People don't spit on the floor like they used to," said Martin Thon, 82. He arrived at the Institute with a wagon load of sculpture too big for the door. He stayed and became assistant superintendent of the building. Asked about art, he replied "I'm more interested in keeping the place clean."

New York, March 30.—(AP)—Customers of Sing Lee's laundry in Brooklyn couldn't wait any longer for the 70-year-old Chinese to recover from pneumonia. So police sent two men to open his shop and deliver the bundles. After all, the customers had waited quite a while. Sing Lee has been ill for two months.

Washington, March 30.—(AP)—An air transport agreement between the United States and Greece, including so-called "Fifth Freedom" privileges, has been signed in Athens, the State Department announced yesterday. It provides for a United States route extending from the Western Hemisphere to the Middle East by way of Eire, France, Switzerland, Italy, Greece, Egypt, Palestine, Iraq, and Saudi Arabia to India.

Milwaukee, March 30.—(AP)—Four former officers of the Crucible Steel Casting Company were found guilty yesterday of attempting to evade more than $1,500,000 in income and excess profits taxes. Sentence will be imposed April 8. Defendants were Walter W. Lange, former Crucible secretary; his brothers, Fred A. Jr., former treasurer; and Albert C., former president; and George Randall, former bookkeeper.

Tokyo, March 30.—(AP)—Fourteen Japanese ex-servicemen today were charged with executing without evidence or trial six Filipino civilians on Mendanao last September. All but one of the victims were women or children, including a baby. The Japanese allegedly killed the Filipinos to prevent their revealing the hideout of the unsundered Nipponese unit.

Montreal, March 30.—(AP)—Aime Leblanc, 66, Recorder of the City of Montreal for the past 14 years, died last night at his home here after an illness of two months.

Leblanc was born in Naperville, Que., and attended the Montreal College after which he obtained his law degree at the University of Montreal. One year after he was admitted to the bar he joined the Canadian Pacific legal department and after three years' service with them he went to Ottawa as private secretary to the Solicitor General of Canada. Leblanc played an important part in many litigations and criminal cases while he was in Ottawa.

Russia And Iran Asked To Give Data On Negotiations

By CLYDE BLACKBURN

Canadian Press Staff Writer

New York, March 30.—(AP)—Russia and Iran yesterday were asked to submit exact information on the status of their negotiations by 11 a.m. E.S.T. Wednesday, April 3rd, when the United Nations Security Council is scheduled to hold its next meeting.

Decision to seek this information, through the representatives of the two countries, was taken at a harmonious council session on motion of State Secretary Byrnes, United States delegate.

Secretary-General Trygve Lie was instructed, on the unanimous adoption of the Byrnes proposal, to communicate the request for information to the Iranian and Soviet representatives at once.

Mr. Byrnes said he was particularly anxious to know, and that the council should know, if the reported evacuation of troops from Iran was conditioned to Iranian agreement on other Russian proposals, presumably those relating to Iranian oil and the autonomy of Azerbaijan.

Sir Alexander Cadogan, British delegate, supported this attitude. The decision was reached after Hussein Ala, Iranian Ambassador and observer at the council meeting, reiterated his claim that his instructions were to pursue the plea for the council to take action on continued occupation of Iran by Russian soldiers and inter-

MORE DETENTIONS EXPECTED IN SPY CASE

Commission Says Halperin Gave Secret Information About 'Electro-Projector'

Believe Embassy Officials At Head Of Secret Police

Ottawa, March 30.—(CP)—Activities of the Soviet secret police organization N. K. V. D. in Canada, dating back before 1943 and possibly headed by the man now listed as second secretary at the Soviet Embassy, were reported yesterday in the third interim report of the Royal Commission on espionage.

The report said Igor Gouzenko, former cipher clerk at the Soviet Embassy in Ottawa, had named "Pavlov," second secretary and consul of the Soviet Embassy, as a member of the N.K.V.D.—Soviet secret police—and perhaps the chief.

(Vitali G. Pavlov is listed as a second secretary at the Soviet Embassy in Ottawa. The Embassy said today Mr. Pavlov was still in Ottawa.)

References to the secret police were made in a section of the Commission's report dealing with Sgtm. Ltr. Fred Poland, under detention for espionage activities. The Commission said in 1943 Col. Nikolai Zabolotni, Soviet military attaché and senior man of the Soviet spy ring in Canada, had sent a message to Moscow suggesting "Poland"—who the Commission assumed to be Poland—be turned over to the N.K.V.D. The proposal was turned down on the ground that "Poland" might later prove useful.

"We have evidence that organization, the Russian secret police, had an organization under its direction working in Canada long before Zabolotni arrived in July, 1943," the Commission reported.

Inference that more than one member of the N.K.V.D. was connected with the Embassy was contained in the reference to Pavlov.

"Pavlov, according to the evidence of Gouzenko, is one, and perhaps the chief of the N.K.V.D. there," the Commission reported.

Ottawa, March 30.—(CP)—After six spectacular weeks, the first major phase in Canada's espionage probe had become one complete and developing picture today with official disclosure of the names of the last five persons—all men—so far detained as suspects in a Russian network of agents.

But even as the third interim report of the investigating Royal Commission named those five the case was shaded with implications that a second phase would open soon and that it would involve more detentions than the 15 to date.

The first phase involved government employees except in one case. The second, informed sources said, would involve persons outside government employment who also acted as links in what has been compared to "a vast fifth column."

The third interim report was tabled in the Commons yesterday by Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

The five men it named were detained Feb. 15—the day the investigation was announced. All were in strategic government positions to obtain vital information and none of them, the report said, had admitted participation in the network.

But its most sensational disclosure came in the statement that "we have evidence that the N.K.V.D., the Russian secret police, had an organization under its direction working in Canada long before . . . July, 1943."

Possibly, it said, it was headed by the man now listed as second secretary at the Soviet Embassy, Vitali G. Pavlov who, the Embassy said, still is in Ottawa.

Eric Adams, 41, Ottawa and a native of Granby, described by another accused as "head of a group in Ottawa." Graduate of McGill and Harvard universities, and wartime employee of the Foreign Exchange Control Board, Bank of Canada, Industrial Development Bank—which gives government aid to fledgling small industries, had been secretary of the main examining committee of the Inventions Board.

Russian documents credited him with giving "detailed information about all kinds of industries."

Prof. Israel Halperin, 35, Queen's University professor and wartime army ballistics expert who "had access to all the files and documents concerning explosives and weapons and all the new discoveries made available to the artillery."

The Commission report said Halperin gave information on a new "electro-projector," one of the most devastating projectiles used in the Japanese war and still so secret military authorities asked the commission to mention it only skilfully.

Durnford Smith, 23, Hull, Que., a member of the radio branch of the National Research Council who, according to Russian documents, gave "IT absolutely secret, and secret documents (British, American and Canadian) on magnet, radio-locators for field artillery and three secret scientific research journals of 1945."

The wan diplomat spent the day in a painstaking move-by-move account of manoeuvres preceding the outbreak of the Second Great War. He drew from the president of the international tribunal trying him and 21 other ranking Nazis as war criminals a statement that such detailed explanations of his actions "doesn't do the defendant's case any good."

Immediate Removal Of Price Controls On Farm Products Demanded By John Bracken

Five Accused Arraigned On Spy Charges

Ottawa, March 30.—(CP)—Five persons named yesterday in the third interim report of the Royal Commission on espionage appeared in Ottawa police court yesterday afternoon on charges of obtaining documents for Russia and were remanded until next Thursday, April 4.

Two—Sgtm. Ltr. Fred Poland, 36, Ottawa, and J. S. Benning, 38, Ottawa, former Munitions Department official—elected trial by jury. The others did not elect.

They were: Eric Adams, Ottawa and Montreal, Industrial Development Bank executive; Israel Halperin, 35, Kingston, Queen's University professor and wartime army ballistics expert who "had access to all the files and documents concerning explosives and weapons and all the new discoveries made available to the artillery."

The Commission report said Halperin gave information on a new "electro-projector," one of the most devastating projectiles used in the Japanese war and still so secret military authorities asked the commission to mention it only skilfully.

Ottawa, March 30.—(CP)—Immediate removal of price controls on farm products and the removal of other wartime restrictions in a relatively short period of time was urged last night by John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader.

Addressing the annual dinner meeting of the Dominion Progressive Conservative Association which winds up its two-day annual convention today, Mr. Bracken criticized government policies and outlined his party's platform.

"In wartime, multitudinous controls were invented to ensure that the product of every man's labor would serve our maximum war effort," said Mr. Bracken. "The maintenance of those controls means the negation of what is required for maximum peacetime production."

He urged that controls on farm prices be lifted first to encourage all-out production and that the lifting of other controls follow soon afterwards so as not to unbalance the country's economy.

Mr. Bracken was introduced by J. M. Macdonnell (P.C., Muskoka-Ontario) who refuted charges that the Progressive Conservative party is the "stooge" of big interests or "unfriendly" to Quebec.

He stated that the policy of Prime Minister Mackenzie King was to segregate Quebec and to keep Quebec separated from the rest of Canada in order to remain elected.

Mr. Bracken said the party must have a dynamic, realistic policy which will command the confidence of every section of the nation, racial, religious, economic, agricultural, laboring and others.

The Progressive Conservative party stood for plenty not scarcity; it stood for jobs for all who could work, partnership between labor and management. It also looked on agriculture as a partner and not a "hired man" in the setup of the nation's economy.

In addition the party favored international trade and a social security program that would see that no one was denied the needs of life.

Development Bill Passed By House

Quebec, March 30.—(CP)—The Quebec Legislative Assembly, before adjourning until Monday, last night gave final reading, by a vote of 37-28, to a bill by Mines Minister Robinson to promote mining and industrial development in New Quebec. Defeated by a similar vote was an Opposition Liberal amendment disapproving the bill "because it compromises the economic interests of the province."

The Hollinger North Shore Exploration Company contract, granted in January for a 17-year exploration licence in a 3,900-square mile area of Ungava, will be ratified by the bill and will be followed by an 80-year operating licence in 200 square miles to be selected by the company from the area exploited.

Premier Duplessis said the Province could not make the necessary expenditures for such an exploitation and had to let the contract to a private company.

Way Is Paved In House For Amendments To Militia Act

Ottawa, March 30.—(CP)—A wide variety of topics was discussed yesterday in the Commons as members voted supplementary expenditures incurred during the fiscal year ending Sunday and voted interim supply of $273,197,945 to cover expenses in the next two months.

Before members switched their attention to money matters, Prime Minister Mackenzie King tabled the third interim report of the Royal Commission on espionage activities. The report named five new accused and disclosed the commission had "evidence that the N.K.V.D., the Russian secret police, had an organization under its direction working in Canada long before . . . July, 1943."

Members paved the way for the introduction of resolutions to bills amending the Militia Act and ratifying the recent $125,000,000 Canadian loan to Britain.

Defence Minister Abbott said the Militia Act would be amended to remove the restrictions limiting the peacetime force to 10,000 and to allow the payment of pay and allowances to members of the force not technically on active service under the act.

Mr. Abbott said it might be April 15 before he could announce the rates of pay for the proposed 25,000 permanent force army.

Open Probe Into Great Hull Blaze

Two Million Dollar Blaze Which Seriously Damaged Inter-Provincial Bridge Burning Itself Out in Large Pulpmill Pile.

By JACK BRAYLEY

Canadian Press Staff Writer
Hull, Que., March 30.—(CP)—An investigation was started today into a spectacular $2,000,000 fire of uncertain origin that was burning itself out in mountainous stockpiles of pulpmill waste after putting out of operation for months the vital inter-provincial bridge connection with Ottawa and threatening the big E. B. Eddy Company paper mill.

A score of fire-fighters were treated for burns in the raging inferno that whipped up to serious proportions in a stiff wind, cut road, rail and tram traffic from an important route and stopped telephone service to a large section of the city.

The fire also promised an enforced layoff for hundreds of employees of the big mill and ate up thousands of cords of badly-needed newsprint potential.

In the absence of official statements there was a flood of reports as to the cause and origin of the fire.

Long tongues of red flame still licked up from the fire this morning and firemen estimated it would burn for a week. But the fire was under control or at least confined to an area.

The wind blew great showers of blazing embers over the plant which sprawls along the Hull waterfront and eventually met the equally big J. R. Booth plant. At times it seemed as though flames would reach across and devour the mill, plant by plant. Firemen stood their ground and concentrated a river of water in the 100-foot gap between the fringe of the stockpile and the plant and eventually controlled the situation. The big plant escaped with nothing more than a singe.

Meanwhile on the bridge Hull firemen from one side and Ottawa firemen from the other got the fire under control after it had eaten out the first few spans of the 1901 structure and left them a waving, twisted, buckled mass of hot steel.

Firemen miraculously escaped with only a cloud of smoke. Sensation wires snapped and flashed blue flame as they broke and fell from power lines. Two box cars laden with a type of chlorine gas used in the manufacture of pulp were jerked out of the path of the fire with only minutes to spare. Hundreds of tons of highly inflammable sulphur were wetted down as a precautionary measure.

Today, with a cloud of smoke billowing over the two cities and the flames still challenging the multi-streams of water being poured on them, Hull and Ottawa began to take stock of the effects of the fire.

Canadian Pacific trains were rerouted into the city on other lines.

He said the inter-governmental committee on refugees will continue its work until the economic and security council of the United Nations organization can take over matters affecting refugees.

He was asked by M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, to consider adoption of the British policy under which displaced persons in Europe were allowed to join relatives in Britain under certain conditions.

Veterans Minister Mackenzie, as House Leader said Canadian profits in 1945 from operations under the provisional fur seal agreement between Canada and the United States were $153,000.

He was replying to Chester McCure (P.C.—Queen's) who said he understood the operations involved $6,000,000 to $25,000,000 annually, and protested that Canada should receive a larger share of the profit, even if she was only a "one-fifth partner" in the enterprise.

Lima Acquitted On Murder Count

Halifax, March 30.—(CP)—A Supreme Court jury yesterday acquitted Frank J. Lima, 60-year-old Italian-born plasterer, of the murder of his neighbor, Ervin Boudier of Boudier's Point, N.S., early last November.

The jury went out at 3:46 p.m. A.S.T., and returned at 6:02 p.m. with a verdict of not guilty.

Granby Speaker Addressed Waterloo Kiwanis On "Typographical Errors"

Waterloo, March 30. — The thirty members of the Waterloo Kiwanis Club who turned out to their regular Tuesday evening meeting were treated to an address given by Walter Legge, immediate past president of the Granby Kiwanis Club, and editor and owner of the "Granby Leader Mail," on "Typographical Errors." Keeping his audience in a constant hilarious frame of mind, the guest speaker quoted numerous cases when those errors that have caused so much humour and headaches amongst the readers. While stating that the "Bible," the "Prayer Book" and "Evangelist" are considered to be perfectly set books, there is still an error in the "Te Deum," which proves beyond a doubt that these errors will creep in at any place. Mr. Legge pointed out that there are thousands of ways of creating a typographical error in one single column of a newspaper, so chances of setting a perfect sheet are stacked up against the typesetter. A letter may be dropped, or one added, or one placed in the wrong place, or a simple punctuation point may be omitted to create an altogether undesired effect. Many editors have been put to much worry and trouble due to these "gremlins" of the newspaper world, and they will happen tomorrow, regardless of what pains are taken to avoid them.

Besides Mr. Legge, there were present three other guests from Granby, Mr. Donald Legge, the son of the speaker, a former Flying Officer of the R.C.A.F.; Mr. Owen Lewis and Mr. Clayton Ball. Kiwanian Walter Readshaw had as his guest, Pte. Leonard Draper, who returned on Thursday, March 21, after five years' service overseas. The Town of Waterloo and the manufacturers are desirous of showing their appreciation to the returned personnel, and this will take the form of a banquet to be held at a date to be announced later. All active service personnel whose homes are in Waterloo or are at present residing or working in Waterloo are asked to register, giving name and regimental number, at Town Hall with Philippe Jolin, Phone 332, or after 5 p.m. with Walter Readshaw, Phone 36-W, before April 15th.

Mr. Herbert Boyle was congratulated on the anniversary of his birthday, and E. D. Mitchell received Dr. Victor Gariépy into the club with a short address on the benefits and aims of Kiwanis throughout the world today. Kiwanian Charles Robidoux introduced the guest speaker and Roger McKergow expressed the thanks of the club for the excellent address.

Mr. Harry Minor, father of Mrs. Corbett, had arisen early and made the fire in the kitchen range and had gone to the Consolidated School, where he is the janitor, to attend to the fires there. Returning home at six o'clock he found flames and smoke issuing from the shed roof. The alarm was given and nearby neighbours were quickly on the scene and succeeded in putting the fire out. Mrs. Corbett and two little sons were asleep upstairs at the time and had Mr. Minor not returned when he did, the only exit from the chamber would have been cut off owing to the position of the stairs and the house would have been a blazing inferno before she would have discovered it. The cause of the fire is unknown.

The numerous friends and clients of Dr. Ephrem Jacques, veterinary surgeon, will be sorry to hear that he is presently a patient at the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, Sherbrooke, for a critical operation.

In long range naval fire, the target is supposed to be struck on the third salvo.

Municipal Gas Department To Construct 300,000 Cubic-Foot Holder To Assure Big Reserve

The Municipal Gas Department's rapid growth is reflected in Superintendent Gaston Masse's report, issued this week, which indicates that last year the production of gas, estimated at 109,761,000 cubic feet, was 11,693,000 cubic feet higher than last year.

Mr. Masse reported, further, that the number of customers increased by 413 during the year and the revenue was ten per cent higher. "Since 1939," he said, "the annual production has increased from 67,723,000 to 109,761,000 cubic feet, and the number of customers has passed from 3,012 to 5,332, an increase of 2,320 customers."

"The plant has operated efficiently all year. The two gas holders and the oil tanks were painted and the laying of the new 8-inch main to feed the East Ward will soon be completed."

"The Public Works Department has finished laying the pipe from Bowen Street to the Q.C.R. bridge. The MacKinnon Structural Steel Company will shortly start the work of reinforcing the bridge, as required by the railway company; then, the main will be completed by the laying of the pipe on the bridge. This new main will contribute to improve the pressure in the East Ward, and will be a factor of a better continuity of service."

"The building of another gas holder has become necessary, and prices will soon be asked for the construction of a 300,000 cubic feet holder."

"At present, our reserve capacity is only 220,000 cubic feet while the daily consumption reaches as high as 425,000 cubic feet in the summer time. Our reserve is hardly sufficient to take care of half the daily demand. A trouble of a few hours at the gas plant would be sufficient to deprive the whole city of gas."

"The purifiers have become too small to be effective, and we propose to build next year two new cylindrical tanks, similar to the present ones. With these, it will be possible to run the gas through twice as big a mass of purifying mixture."

LAUDS BRYANT FOR ATTITUDE IN ELECTIONS

A statement from ex-Alderman Eugene Thibault, who unsuccessfully opposed retiring Alderman Guy Bryant in Tuesday's municipal elections for the office of Chief Magistrate, was made today.

"Now that the fight for the majority has closed and my opponent, Guy Bryant, has received the largest vote, it is my duty to offer him my congratulations, and I wish to thank him personally for the attitude he took toward me throughout the entire campaign," he said. "I thank him also for refraining from all disagreeable manifestations in celebrating his victory and wish him all the success which he merits in his important function as Chief Magistrate of the City of Sherbrooke."

Mr. Thibault extended thanks to all his supporters and in particular to those who assisted him during his campaign and felt that upon close analysis of the election results that the custom of an alternate French and English-speaking mayor, would, "in the near future, be abolished."

Too Late With Bail—Rose Slept In Jail

Montreal, March 30.—A sudden flood of cash and negotiable government bonds was just 14 minutes too late yesterday, and Fred Rose rode in the police van back to Montreal jail to spend the second successive night.

More than four hours earlier the Labor-Progressive Member of Parliament for Montreal-Cartier, charged with espionage activities, heard Mr. Justice Wilfrid Lazure fix bail at $25,000—in cash, negotiable government securities or the equivalent in real estate value—and warn him against public speeches or meetings.

That was $15,000 more than the bail on which he was free from his arraignment two weeks ago today until he was committed for trial yesterday and the bail cancelled by Judge Rene Therberge.

Throughout the afternoon Rose remained in a police cell at the court house while his friends hustled about to raise the additional $15,000.

At 3:58 p. m. Mr. Justice Lazure left his chamber and announced he would be available tomorrow morning. The office of the clerk of the Crown closed.

At 4:12 p. m. an automobile rolled up and a thick-set, medium-height stranger hopped out and was met on the court house steps by City Councillor Michael Buhay, who had been standing around with $5,000 in his pockets.

The two talked briefly and then went inside and conferred with Albert Marcus, associated with Joseph Cohen, K.C., chief defence counsel.

The stranger said he had the $10,000 needed to bring the total amount to $25,000. He refused to give a newspaperman his name. Buhay also declined to reveal the identity of the man with the money. Marcus was busy telephoning.

Then the stranger and Marcus left in the car and Buhay walked toward the City Hall.

An open invitation to all local citizens is extended and the meeting will start at 8 p. m. Red Cross Society Will Spend $5,000,000 On Relief Supplies

Canadian Red Cross, in conjunction with the Canadian United Allied Relief Fund, proposes to expend in 1946 some $5,000,000 of its remaining war funds on relief supplies for war-stricken populations in Europe and China and in addition will allocate large amounts of supplies on hand from its Overseas and Canadian warehouses for the same purpose. Commitments against this 1946 allocation are already underway.

Officials at the National Headquarters of the Society making this announcement referred to despatches from its overseas representatives stating that suffering in Europe and China due to the war had reached acute proportions and called for every possible assistance.

Considerable expenditures from available funds and the distribution of large quantities of supplies on hand are also planned for relief in Britain in 1946, it was stated.

Purchases of relief goods, principally clothing and medical supplies, totalling some $9,000,000 covering commitments on behalf of the Canadian United Allied Relief Fund for the year 1945 have now been completed and the bulk of the goods shipped. In addition to these, approximately $2,000,000 worth of Red Cross made-up supplies, it was estimated, had also been despatched to European countries and for use in Britain.

Relief goods consigned to Belgium, Czechoslovakia, France, Greece, Holland, Norway, Yugoslavia, China, Denmark, Luxembourg, Poland and Russia in 1945 were packed in over 70,500 cases and carried on 89 steamers.

Committees of each of the above countries collaborated with the Red Cross in the selection and purchase of goods most needed in the individual countries concerned and involved many hundreds of different items.

Among these items were 51,453,000 units of penicillin, 24,275,000 units of sulfa tablets, 719 long tons of coal, 1,147,350 garments purchased from the War Assets Corporation, 52 complete Hospital Operating-Room Units costing $12,500 each, 124 ambulances, and 297,000 pairs of shoes purchased from the War Assets Corporation and the Department of National Defence.

A well-known and highly esteemed member of the community, Mrs. Robinson was for many years active in church work, and devoted much of her time to charitable organizations. She was a member of Plymouth United Church.

Mrs. Robinson is survived by several nephews and nieces including Kenneth Paton, of Toronto, and W. R. G. Andrew and Herbert Holt, of Montreal. She was predeceased on February 24th last by her brother, William E. Paton, of this city.

Paton Co. Workers Switch To C.C.C.W.

Rene Harnegies, organizer of the Catholic and Canadian Confederation of Workers, announced today that employees of the Paton Company here had joined up with the National Federation of Textile Workers, a C.C.C.W. affiliate.

Originally the workers were members of a Canadian Congress of Labor Unions, and later switched to the Canadian Association of Employees, an independent labor body formed recently by Paul Marquette, former regional organizer for the C.C.L.

The Paton workers voted 75 per cent in favor of the change to the C.C.C.W.

BARRACKS ARE OFFERED CITY FOR $34,280

With the return from Ottawa of the civic delegation which conferred with heads of the War Assets Corporation regarding purchase of the buildings at the former Lord Sherbrooke Training Camp, Drummond Road, it was learned today that the immovables had been offered to the city for $34,280. The city has been given first priority on all the buildings, said City Treasurer Maurice Cormier, and a full report of the Ottawa conference will be tabled at the next Council meeting.

In offering the buildings to the city, the governmental board made the stipulation that profits from recycling be for municipal profit only.

Price of $34,280 represents eight per cent of the estimated $427,500 outlay on construction of the camp, considerably less than could have been realized by the War Assets Corporation by asking for tenders from individuals.

Heading the local delegation was Maurice Gingués, M.P., and Mayor Armand Fiset, City Treasurer Maurice Cormier and Aldermen Guy Bishop, Oliva Deziel and Hector Lanctot.

Should the city decide upon the purchase of the buildings, the main drill hall would be retained to be used as a municipal garage and storage for machinery. Priority on the remaining structures would be given public institutions and possibly to help with the local housing problem.

2 PROMOTIONS ANNOUNCED BY POLICE CHIEF

Two promotions in the local Police Department were announced today by Chief Edouard Moreau when Detective Roland Gaboriault was elevated to the rank of sergeant-detective and Constable Armand Gosselin was promoted to detective.

Sergeant-Detective Gaboriault, 30, was born in Farnham and has been a member of the local police department since June 1940. After having served for more than two years as police-fireman he became a member of the detective bureau on November 29, 1942, where he has served ever since.

Detective Armand Gosselin, 32, was born in Sherbrooke and entered the police department in June of 1940 up until the time when the two departments were separated served as police-fireman. From then he worked with the radio cars until his promotion to the detective branch.

Due to the hiring of eight new police officers a few months ago, it is not expected that a replacement for Detective Gosselin will be necessary.

Seeding May Get Underway In Another 2 Weeks In Townships If Favorable Weather Lasts

Whether Old Man Winter has any kicks left is unknown, of course, but this week spring appeared to have arrived in no uncertain terms and prospects for early seeding looked good across the country.

The Dominion Experimental Farm at Lennoxville reports that seeding can very easily get underway in another two weeks if the present balmy weather holds. Seeding usually starts around the first of May. Last year was an early year in the Eastern Townships, because there was very little frost. There has been a great deal more of it left reclining in the ground this spring, but if the sun continues to glower as it has been doing, Jack Frost is going to be exceedingly hot around the collar and may be prepared to depart a little earlier than usual for his winter resort in the north.

A survey by The Canadian Press showed mild weather and drying winds holding sway over the Prairie Provinces, where prospects looked good for earlier seeding than last year. In Ontario seeding will be in full swing in a few days, if the exceptionally favorable weather lasts. The picture in Quebec is uncertain, but in the Maritimes, which seeds later than other parts, a normal winter snowfall will aid spring operations.

Farmers were already on the land in Southern Alberta, where the first seeding was reported on the farm of Michael Houka, two miles from Taber, and seeding is expected to be quite general in the Medicine Hat area this week. Moisture conditions were normal across the prairies with good snow-coverage throughout the winter. Indications are that seeding will be general by the middle of next month, but farmers are mindful of what happened last year when an early spring was followed by cold and rainy weather in the middle of April that delayed land work and resulted in only a small percentage of the crop being seeded by the middle of May.

TO BE HOPED FOR

The inclusion of an item of $75,000 in the estimates submitted to the House of Commons for the 1946-47 fiscal year for the construction of a public building in Sherbrooke raises the hopes of local residents that something is being done finally to improve the local postal facilities. True the estimates do not list the proposed expenditure as being for a post office, it has been apparent for some time that post office department officials have realized that present conditions in Sherbrooke are unsatisfactory to say the least and that methods for ameliorating conditions have been under study.

There can be no arguing the point that the building which has been serving Sherbrooke for many years past is unsatisfactory from two points of view. It is too small and provides inadequate means for the staff to carry on their work and secondly it is too far from the centre of the city. The present post office was erected when Sherbrooke was only a small fraction of its present population and at a time when the greater part of the population was centred about the Dufferin Avenue Bridge. But over the period of years the population has multiplied, the greatest growth being in those regions far removed from the post office. In fact the most thickly populated section of the city today—the West Ward—was either farm or forest land at that time. Wellington street has replaced old Commercial street, now Dufferin Avenue, as the commercial district.

Thus it is an urgent necessity that a new and larger structure be erected in some more centralized location. The efficiency of the local post office staff is beyond argument. But their work is greatly increased by the inadequate facilities provided for them.

HOOVER IN EUROPE

The travels of former President Herbert Hoover throughout the starving lands of the Old World must bring to this man himself and to whole multitudes of Europeans who lived through the First Great War the idea that he is an actor in a re-told drama—the central figure in a tragedy which the world had hoped would never be repeated.

His work on the former occasion saved the first drama from being the final tragedy for them. Through his efforts and organizing ability millions of persons apparently facing certain death from starvation were provided with the necessities of life which enabled them to restore themselves and their families to health and a degree of happiness. Now, as honorary chairman of President Truman's Famine Emergency Committee, he is forwarding a familiar humanitarian cause. His tour is one more witness to America's determination to do all in her power to save the starving, just as her bounty helped to save millions of an earlier generation.

Herbert Hoover won world fame and the unforgetting gratitude of millions for his work during and in the critical years following the First Great War. Now he is going over familiar ground bent on the same mission, and while his task is rendered more difficult by the world-wide shortage of food, hopes mount high that he will be able to accomplish his objective. Should he succeed, his reputation will rise to even greater heights and such reverses as it suffered during the period of his occupation of the White House will be forgotten in the greater objectives achieved.

There seems to be no reason to believe that the omission of Russia from the Hoover itinerary is for other than the stated reasons. The Soviet has sufficient grain supply to offer aid to France. Hoover's survey will include only those nations incapable of helping themselves.

Whether Russia's food resources are adequate, aside from food-producing grains, remains to be seen. If they are not her needs must receive full consideration along with those of all other nations.

CLEANING UP MINING PROMOTION

The drastic action of the Ontario Securities Commissioner in cancelling the licenses of a number of Toronto stock brokers and stock salesmen for irregular practices in connection with the sale and distribution of mining stock will be generally applauded across Canada. For some months now the activities of some of these promotional groups have brought the Canadian financial world into disrepute, as many of these high-pressure artists used this country as a headquarters for pressing the sale of doubtful issues across the line, carrying on their campaign by long-distance telephone and by telegraph.

The reports issued on eighteen of the suspensions provide interesting reading. In one case all the victims were found to be women, most of them widows. Their last nickel was grabbed off, leaving them destitute. In one case, the brokerage firm defended itself about a transaction which was odious with the declaration that the "woman knew what she was doing." Boiler room tactics and high pressure salesmanship have been found all down the line in the indictment by the Commissioner. Women were sold shares at $5 which were purchasable at 50 cents a share. They were the type, of course, who invested before they investigated.

But leaving aside the sentimental angle of robbing the widow, the clean-up should be to the general advantage of the Dominion. On the expansion of the mining industry generally much of the future prosperity of the Dominion depends. The opening of new mines should give direct and indirect employment to hundreds of thousands of persons, many of them working in machinery and equipment plants hundreds of miles from the mines themselves. The promotion of new mines requires much speculative capital, money that must be advanced by persons willing to risk modest sums in the hope of large gains. No undeveloped mine is an investment. Even the best prospect is a speculation and any reasonable person will appreciate that fact. But without the assurance that the money paid for the stock will find its way into development work instead of into the pockets of the stock seller, the investor does not even have the chance of an honest speculation. By cleaning up the crooked promoters, the Ontario Government increases the possibility of capital flowing into this important industry—all over Canada.

THE STUDENTS STRIKE

North America has been plagued by an epidemic of strikes in recent months, some serious, some merely a nuisance and some which lend a lighter tone to the whole picture. Included in the latter would be one in East Chicago, Ind., and involving about one hundred youngsters of the Riley grade school. They walked out of classes because, according to the strike leader, "We are tired of being taught by old and ugly teachers and want young and pretty ones."

The superintendent of schools persuaded the strikers to return to their desks, perhaps pointing out the duties of the truant officer. But he also advised them that the teachers in Riley school compared favorably in pulchritude with teachers in other East Chicago schools.

REORGANIZING REICH ECONOMY

Designed to prevent the rise of Germany as an industrial power with the equipment needed to wage another war, the newly-announced Allied policy for the reorganization of German economy also seeks to make that country as self-supporting as possible so that its people will not become a burden on the world at large.

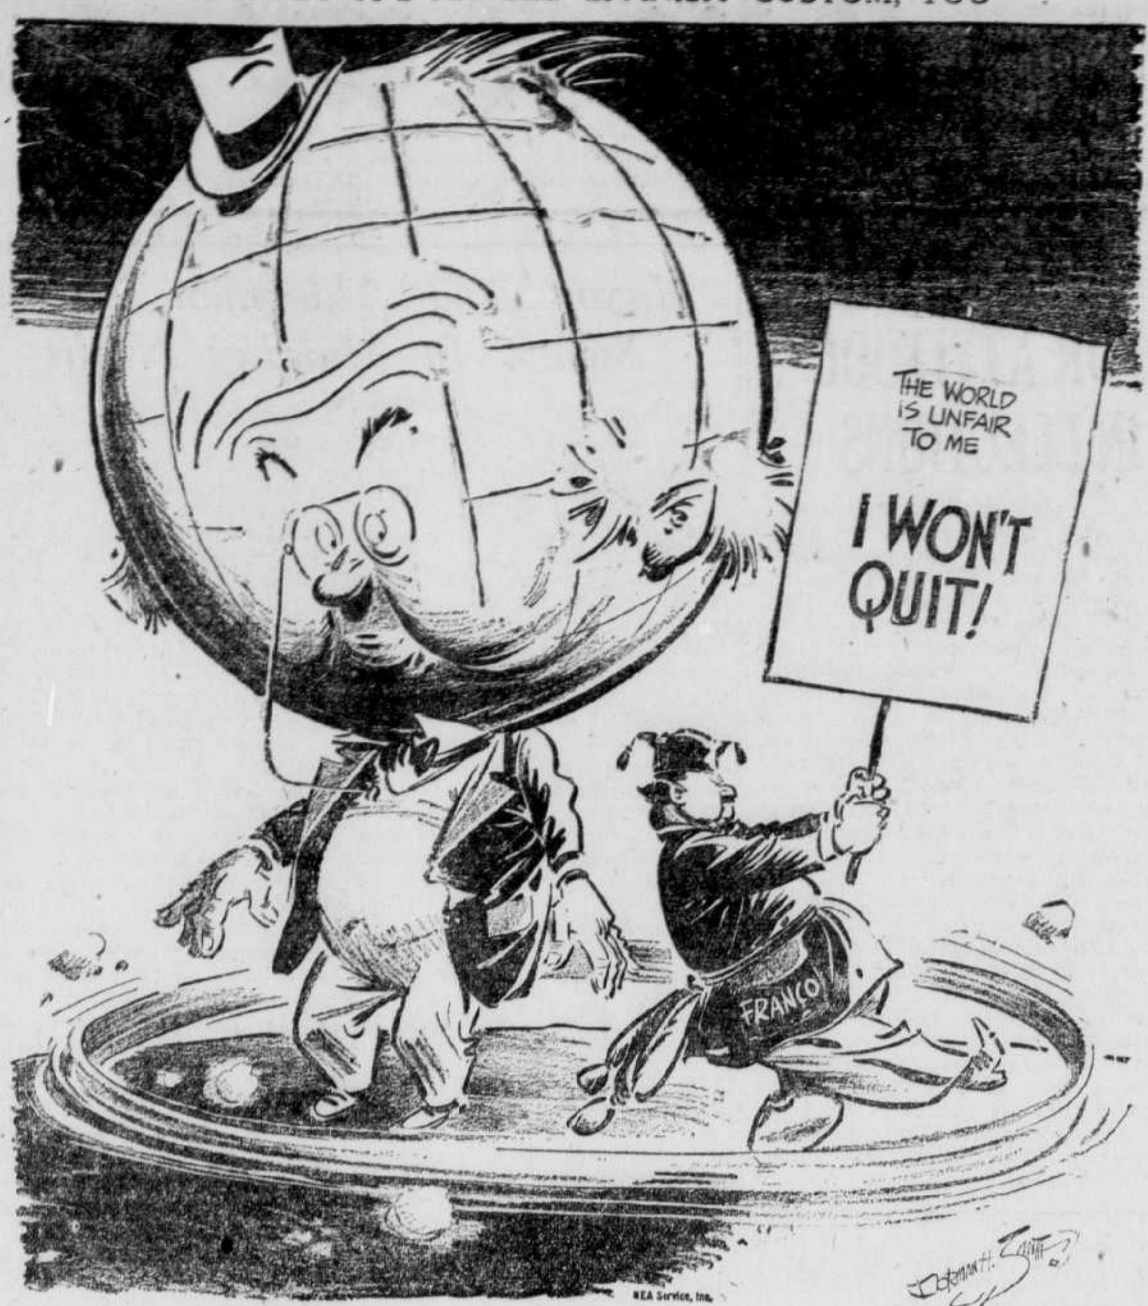

To accomplish this end, agriculture is to become the base for the new Reich economy in place of the industrial machine which provided Germany with valuable exports before the war and which also enabled it to amass the huge supplies of armaments required to launch a campaign for world conquest. With the full development of the land available, it is hoped to have the country reasonably self-sustaining by 1949.

Industrial activity is to be limited to the production of coal and the production of such material as is needed for the reconstruction of war-smashed cities. Coal production is to be pushed to the limit as most European industrial nations suffer from a lack of this vital resource. Nations suffer from Germany's huge reserves are essential. Home use of this commodity is to be restricted severely to make as much as possible available for export. The proceeds of this export sale will be applied to two purposes—payment for such food supplies as the nation cannot produce within its own boundaries and the balance for the liquidation of reparations claims. Such industrial equipment as still exists within the country and is not needed for the limited industry planned for will also be turned over to the Allied nations on reparations account.

The reconstruction of the war-ravished cities may not be as great a task as first appears on the surface. With the change of the country to an agricultural state, many of the former large cities will find their populations substantially reduced. Thus the demand for homes will be correspondingly less, little time need be spent on the rebuilding of factories and there will be a reduced call for public buildings.

The Allied plans call for the establishment by 1949 of a standard of living in Germany equivalent to that of 1932, with this important proviso—the German living standards must not be higher than the average of other European countries.

EVIDENTLY IT'S AN OLD SPANISH CUSTOM, TOO

YOU

By REV. B. S. MURRAY, M.A.

If, at any time, you feel unimportant remember that the Master said: "I go to prepare a place for you" and also "Lo, I am with you always." Christ did reveal the interest of both Friend and Saviour in you. So you are very important. That's certain. The United Nations think so, too, for victory came to our cause because of the team-work of millions of "yous" at home and abroad, irrespective of race, color, and creed.

The story of Canada and the Church of God are really stories of millions of "yous-writ-large." Have you noticed that the word CHURCH is spelled with six letters, with "U" at the centre? The Church as an organization becomes meaningless without you at the centre of it. Here is a challenge that we, you and I, may have an undivided witness and bring about a united world. One world.

MUCH DEPENDS ON YOU

Hitherto the old order basically selfish, greedy, materialistic and paganistic functioned to the motif of "I" with emphasis on Thou, and me. The order to which we should turn speaks in the plural stressing we—you—they. That is, we have closed the book with "I" and opened the book with "We". This, of course, demands strong men, men of brawn, men who have convictions, men who will stand up and be counted. Each of us must ask before God: "Have I convictions about a secular and profane Sabbath, mob violence, economic injustice, social righteousness and personal purity? Do I stand by these convictions? Most of us, I suspect, must confess that our lives are weak and futile, so unlike those of the first century who for Christ and His Cause faced a hostile world and turned it upside down.

To inaugurate the new social order to the motif of "We," each has his or her part to play. Life from henceforth must be increasingly co-operative and along broader lines. Much depends on you. Don't forget that. You are a determining factor. Democracy is composed of millions of "yous" who weigh and consider life's values and cast their vote for the greatest good of the greatest number. Nor do we forget those who have tried to belittle, undermine, and destroy the democratic way of life. To counteract their influence, we must be up and doing, ready to follow the Strong Son of God as our permanent leader. He still loves strong, courageous people. As people could not be weaklings and follow Christ in the early centuries, so today we need to heed the challenge of St. Paul and "quit you like men, be strong" (1 Cor. 16:13). Today we need millions of Pauls "who dare to stand alone, dare to have a purpose firm and dare to make it known."

Will you enlist in Christ's permanent army and do your part so that justice and righteousness will function and there shall be no World War III? You are summoned to exert your full influence on the side of love and justice in building a new world. Today pray fervently and work enthusiastically towards the triumph of God's will in world affairs. The secret? Do justly, love mercy, and walk humbly with thy God.

LENGTHEN YOUR OUTLOOK

There is no other way but go forward. Advance. Strike your tents. That's what the Jews understood by the word advance. Now they were summoned to enlarge their outlook and their faith. Enlarge it! Bigger canvas! Longer poles! Stronger pegs! Firmer ground! They heard the call to look ahead and be prepared for advance.

Don't you hear the clarion call to reconstruction? That call must encourage us to adopt a larger revision of the Master Builder, Christ. His was the way of love and it is and will work and contribute towards that desire that the Church may be a living power within Canada fulfilling her duty towards those whose home it now is, and those who shall come from afar, that sanctified family life may be richly planted in this land. The Church calls you. Are you listening?

ACCORDING TO YOU!

Will you take up His Cross and tread the narrow way? Only a deepened faith will produce a larger outlook. You are important and have a part to play in bringing the world to the feet of the Saviour. Unless our own hearts are right we cannot get the heart of the world to turn to the right way. It does depend on you. Christ depends on you. His eyes are yours; His hands are yours; His feet are yours; His voice is yours; but are these His? As you perform your daily work, remember that you are the only Bible that many people read. Think of that! We are either Bibles or liars. Which? You are writing a gospel, a chapter each day, by deeds that you do, by words that you say. And, as men read what you write whether faithful or true, what is the gospel according to you? Humanity is striking tent and on the march to the motif of Isaiah's stirring challenge; "Spare not, lengthen thy cords and strengthen thy stakes" (54:2). It is up to you to cultivate the will to serve bequeathing the Master Builder, Who from the beginning has known the plan, and provided the means, and called the workmen, that He may give you and me minds to know, hearts to love, and will to serve Him till the end of the day. Begin today for whatever may be the task of the future and begin by saying: "Higher than the highest heaven, Deeper than the deepest sea, Lord Thy love at last has conquered. Grant me now my soul's desire—None of self and all of Thee. This is up to you!"

MAKING SCAPEGOATS

Windsor Daily Star Because one of the men arrested in the spy investigation is a professor at McGill University, and some others are graduates of that school, the charge has been made that it is a "hotbed" of Communism. No one should be surprised that this indictment has been launched. It was exactly what was to be expected. It reflects the kind of superficial thinking that is a menace. Dr. F. Cyril James, Principal of McGill, has made a sane and reasonable answer to the charge, which, of course, has no foundation whatever. As he says, if the connection between the university and a few of the suspects is to be taken as damning evidence, then it is just as logical to accuse the Navy, the Army and the Air Force of being Red "hotbeds." All three services have contributed to the list of accused. There is some Communism in every college and university in

SO-CALLED "MAN'S STYLE" QUESTIONED

At a bridge tournament, one often hears the remark that a certain good woman player plays "a man's style of game," meaning that she plays a type of game that is supposedly characteristic of men. However, I do not think that this idea holds true. Carefulness is the thing that counts in the game, whether the player is a man or a woman.

At the Mid-South Tournament in Dallas, Tex., Elinor Murdock of Birmingham, Ala., won the open team-of-four championship with Capt. William Christian, also of Birmingham, Payne Harrison of Dallas and Capt. Mark Hodges of Fort Worth, Tex. Back in 1934 Miss Murdock won the world championship Masters Individual title.

While it has frequently been said that she plays a man's type of game, you may see from today's hand that carefulness makes her game what it is.

As the opening lead was obviously a singleton, Miss Murdock knew that the heart finesse was out. She won the first trick with the ace of hearts, took two rounds of

Women Fast Learning To Pop Marriage Question Instead Of Waiting

One of the pet peaves of the feminine sex has always been that men had a monopoly of courtship and the exclusive right to popping the question.

She had to dissemble her feelings and act coy and camouflage her intentions, and this naturally cramped her style, for few men are gifted at reading love signs and many a maiden missed a good husband through his being too dumb to interpret her double talk.

Of course in the days when every wife had to be supported it was manners for a girl to wait until she was asked before she wished herself on a man, but now when girls so often keep on with their jobs after marriage the Little Woman is often an asset rather than a liability.

It is just common fairness for her to have a say-so in picking out her bargain instead of having to take whatever is offered to her.

Also, it is a well-known fact that every wife is ten times as much married to her husband as he is to her and that the success of a marriage depends far more upon the wife being satisfied with her husband than it does upon him being pleased with her.

Nevertheless, in spite of all these arguments in favor of women being free to choose their mates, men have put the taboo on it and keep them sitting on the anxious seat.

But if I can read the handwriting on the wall, the day of men being the autocratic bestowers of their hands and hearts and women the humble receivers is about over.

Some of these forward-looking lassies say that the lads who have struck their fiancées have never paid them the slightest attention, and they want to know if they should tell the dumb creatures that they are in love with them and want them for husbands.

But when the boys went out to fight for the Four Freedoms, they didn't foresee that they were adding a fifth, the Freedom for Women to Pop the Question.

It won't be such an unpleasant experience to be wooed by a pretty girl, and if they don't want to say "yes," they can always tell her they will be a brother to her.

The Record will be pleased to receive any letters to this Dorothy Dix column. These will be forwarded to Miss Dix who will answer them as quickly as possible.

ROYEA-BROWN Brome, March 30. - The marriage of Miss Gwendolyn Beverley Brown, eldest daughter of Mr. C. L. Brown, of Montreal, and of Mrs. Brown, of West Brome, took place on Friday evening, March 28th, to Mr. Arthur W. Royea, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Royea, of Gilman, St. John's Church, Brome, with Rev. F. W. Gelye officiating.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. J. W. R. Brown, the bride was attired in a white costume with a shoulder knot of pink and white carnations.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Earl P. Royea. Only the immediate relatives were present at the ceremony.

Glorify Yourself.... Spice Silver Locks With Colorful Hat

By ALICIA HART Make your hats and clothes pay homage to your hair, if it's gray. Gray hair deserves stellar billing—and will get it—in dashing spring hats of vivid shades, chosen for line rather than trimming.

The only color that needs firm rejection is brown. The styles and shapes to be scorned are any which are sedate or mature.

Make gray hair your badge of distinction by pointing it up with the clothes that you wear. To focus attention upon hair, keep line of clothes simple. As for color of dress, there are no two which will frame gray hair more strikingly than black and navy blue.

But you can point up the drama of your hair by using touches of cracker-crisp white or delicate shades of lingerie frou-frou placed at your throat.

Just as yellow in clothes complements the honey-haired blonde, so does warm gray pay tribute to the woman whose hair is a nimbus of the same color. Again, brown in dress should be rejected.

Mrs. C. E. Soies, Quebec Street, left on Thursday for Edmonton, Alta., to visit her daughter, Mrs. C. A. Howitt, and Mr. Howitt.

Mr. Carl Bonallie, who since his return from overseas just before New Year's Day, has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Bonallie, and his British bride, the former Joyce Guanendon, of Old Woking, England, who arrived in Canada to join her husband two weeks ago, were the guests of honor at a largely attended reception given in the Brompton Road Community Hall on Saturday evening.

The hall was attractively decorated in orchid and yellow, and as the bride and groom entered Mrs. E. M. Goodfellow played the wedding march. After the exchange of felicitous congratulations and best wishes, five hundred was played, the prizes being won by Mrs. Clifford Goodfellow, Mr. and Mrs. William Lavallee and Mr. Norman Beach.

At the conclusion of the game delicious refreshments, including a three-tiered wedding cake topped with natural flowers, sandwiches and coffee, were served, the bride's table being charmingly done with daffodils and white tulips in a cut crystal bowl and lighted yellow tapers in cut crystal holders.

During the interim Mr. Douglas Ross on behalf of the guests, there were upwards of eighty, presented the honored guests with seventeen pieces of "Queen's Bouquet" china, towards a dinner service, together with a purse of money, and extended in a kindly manner the warmest of welcomes to Mrs. Bonallie to the community, inviting the assembled guests to join in a hearty clap, the answering spontaneous burst of applause making the "raffers" ring.

Mr. Bonallie voiced thanks and appreciation to the friends and neighbors who had so kindly welcomed his English wife upon her arrival at her new Canadian home. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bonallie are presently residing with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Bonallie, at their home on the Brompton Road.

Weekly Ration Fashion for a family of four

Table with columns for days of the week (SUN. to SAT.) and rows for various food items (Roast, Veal, Group C, etc.) and their corresponding coupons or tokens.

Sunday's roast of veal can reappear in Monday's stew, glamorized by a golden crest of sweet potato. A spaghetti dish for meatless Tuesday can be made interesting and wholesome with a spiced tomato sauce and grated cheese.

During the month of April three sugar-preserves coupons become valid, $5 on April 4, $6 and $7 on April 18, thus giving a family of four a total of 12 coupons with which to buy sugar and/or preserves.

But planned buying is a requisite if your family's sweet tooth is to be satisfied. With the coupon value increased on preserves fewer coupons are used, and it becomes necessary to arrange your purchases so that you will keep your sugar-preserves supplies in balance with your family's preferences and food habits.

The purchase pattern outlined above is suggested as representative of average consumption at this time of year when more sugar may be used because of the spring rhubarb season, when maple syrup is a ration bargain (its coupon value reverts to 48 fluid ounces May 31), and when sweet spreads may be useful alternates for butter.

"Reality" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 31st, 1946. The Golden Text is from Philipians 4:9 " whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think of these things." Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "When the even was come, they brought unto him many that were possessed with devils; and he cast out the spirits with his word, and healed all that were sick." (Matthew 8:16). The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy "God has set His signet upon Science, making it co-ordinate with all that is real and only with that which is harmonious and eternal. Sickness, sin, and death, being inharmonious, do not originate in God nor belong to His government. His law, rightly understood, destroys them. Jesus furnished proof of these statements." (Page 472).

Address Given By School Inspector Was Enjoyed By Waterloo Gathering

Waterloo, March 30. — A meeting of deep interest to all those interested in the welfare of the Waterloo High School was held in the Town Hall, when Mr. Ployart, inspector of Protestant Schools in the Province of Quebec, was present. Even though a small attendance was on hand for this meeting, it proved to be most beneficial to all who had taken advantage of this opportunity of learning more about the present method of consolidation of schools.

Introduced by Mr. H. D. Wells, Inspector Ployart began his address by tracing the early history of the consolidation of the elementary schools, showing the marked advantages over the early system of the upkeep of the smaller schools scattered throughout the countryside. This provided better educational facilities for the children, permitting the payment of better salaries for higher-classed teachers.

This idea of consolidation is now being extended to high schools, and in many places the old high schools are being turned into secondary schools and the high school grades are attending one central high school, where instructors specialized in their own subjects offer the best possible methods of teaching, to the advancement of the pupils concerned. As an example of this system, Mr. Ployart pointed out that Waterville send its pupils to Lennoxville, and Longueuil to St.

Lambert; Huntingdon has over one hundred outside pupils coming in each day, while Granby has about the same amount. The new school at Knowlton accommodates the pupils from all the surrounding district.

To illustrate his remarks, the speaker showed films of the high schools of the Province of Quebec, bringing out especially the Domestic Science rooms, the Manual Training workshops, various Art displays, and fully equipped chemistry laboratories.

The means of transportation to and from these schools are provided for by special buses in summer and snow-mobiles, bringing the pupils within a twelve mile radius in no longer than a half-hour's time to the school.

Mr. Ployart pointed out that the cost to the rate-payers is considerably less in the maintenance of one consolidated school in comparison with the upkeep of several smaller schools, and implied that this system of schools would be general in the future.

A further film on "The Hands are Sure" was presented with Mr. O. T. Pickford operating the projector.

THE KIWANIS CLUB

The guest speaker at the Waterloo Kiwanis Club was the Rev. Father H. P. Phelan, vice rector of Loyola College, Montreal, who gave an excellent talk in keeping with the St. Patrick's season. Listing the world's debts to Ireland, he mentioned (1) Christianity, (2) Population (emigrants), (3) a leisurely cheerful philosophy of life, (4) soldiers through the centuries.

In Christianity, he showed that the great monasteries of Europe had been peopled by Irish monks, who took culture and Christianity with them. Unfortunately, the chief reason for the emigration of population in Ireland to keep the people.

Father Phelan mentioned that nine per cent of the population of Southern Ireland served in the last war, which is a greater percentage than from Canada. In speaking of St. Patrick, the speaker lauded his courage, prayer and Christian asceticism, which had made Ireland one of the most Christian countries in the world.

In closing, he declared that first of all we must be Canadian. We should exalt the land from which we came, but remember first to be Canadian.

Father Phelan was introduced by Mr. Benoit Marchessault, and thanked on behalf of the club by Mr. George Dallaire.

A new member, Dr. Victor Gariepy, Mayor of Waterloo, was introduced to the gathering at this meeting.

This meeting took the form of an inter-club meeting with Granby with the following members from that club present: Messrs. William G. Simpson, president of the Granby Kiwanis Club; Walter R. Legge, immediate past president; W. J. Flannery, secretary; F. A. Ayre, J. G. Fuller, H. Gordon, Harry Sorenson and D. L. Fowler.

Next week, the guest speaker will be Mr. Walter Legge, of the Granby Club.

esses, Mrs. Heman Wing and Mrs. Ira Boyd.

The War Time Prices and Trade Board met at the home of the president, Mrs. Norman Paterson. Mrs. Godbout read the minutes of the previous meeting. The price ceilings on maple sugar products, which are to be the same as those of last year were discussed. All consumers have been warned in a letter from regional headquarters in connection with a type of inferior butter made from whey, which is on the market and is passing for grade A butter. No increase in the amount of sugar is foreseen. The amount of canning sugar will be the same as last year, namely 10 pounds per person. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostesses.

"Murder!" They Cried

The Story: Arrogantly beautiful Philippa Willson, Fletch's wife, announces to the gathered Willson clan that she has sent her small twin sons away so that they will not have to march in the town's Independence Day parade. This is an annual affair, sponsored by the Willson family who own the Willson mills. Philippa's gesture of one of defiance toward her in-laws. Old Mr. Willson asks his secretary, Dru Ellis, if she thinks Philippa can be bought off. Dru says no, that "position" means too much to Philippa. Incidents reveal that Dru and Fletch are in love with each other. Fletch says there is nothing to be done about it now, but that when he comes back from the war things will be different. "They will, will they?" exclaims Philippa, suddenly coming upon them.

Chapter VI

Philippa turned on Dru and her voice was now neither cool nor arrogant. "You rotten, little cheat."

Dru said quietly, "I have taken nothing that was yours, Philippa."

I thought, "Oh, Dru, Dru, don't let her bully you." But apparently this time I had misconstrued Dru's attitude, for she continued, still calm and quiet.

"For which I assure you I am very sorry. You aren't fit to be a wife to Fletch nor mother to the boys. I can do both jobs better, and believe me somehow or other, I'm going to."

I wanted to stand up and cheer, but in the next instant I had neither the power of speech nor motion, for in that instant Philippa had lashed out with her riding crop at Dru, and Fletch, before it could even touch her, had struck Philippa's arm with force enough to send the crop spinning and Philippa staggering up against the huge library desk. At that moment I first saw Frank, one of the farm hands, standing goggle-eyed at the long window leading on to the terrace. He had been clipping the grass at its edge and his shears hung half open like his mouth.

"I didn't want to leave, but I got up and went to the window, crowding Frank ahead of me. And believe me, that wasn't easy for Frank didn't want to leave any more than I did. But I pushed him ahead of me and walked with him to the woods path and part way through the woods with him, talking fast all the time, asking questions about his wife's operation and his job in the service. Frank isn't any too bright and I figured that there wasn't room for many thoughts in his mind at once and if I kept it occupied, any speculation about the scene he had witnessed could not begin. Well, I was either wrong in my education or I didn't talk fast enough.

When I got back to the house, I went up to my room. From the window I could see Dru standing at the edge of the rock garden, and as I stood there watching her, Fletch's car went down the drive. I knew it was Fletch in it and not Philippa when I saw Dru wave her arm in salute to someone on the road below. I don't know where Philippa went.

I don't know how those three left, but I was emotionally exhausted just from being a witness to the things going on in that house that day. I couldn't sleep and I couldn't read, and I was just sitting by the window looking out when my Miss Jenny came in.

She said, "I'm very tired, Nana. She sat down on the chaise longue and leaning back, closed her eyes.

"Were the workrooms very hot?" I asked.

"Stifling," she said. "I'm glad Betsy didn't go."

I said wonderingly, "Betsy didn't go in? Then where did she go?"

My Miss Jenny opened her eyes. "Wasn't she here?" There was a lot of interrogation in Miss Jenny's question.

I shook my head, and Miss Jenny said, "Oh," and closed her eyes again. Neither of us said any more, but I was wondering where Pen Downes had been that day, and I knew Miss Jenny was thinking the same thoughts.

After a while, Miss Jenny said, "I haven't been a very good mother, have I, Nana," and I saw two tears squeeze reluctantly from under the closed eyelids.

"That," I answered, "depends on what you are using as a standard."

There are many ways of measuring a good mother."

She didn't reply to that for a minute and then she said, "They say the sins of the fathers fall upon the children. What about the sins of the mothers, Nana?"

I said, "For goodness' sake, Jenny Stiles, what are you talking about?"

She reached in her bag then and fumbled for a letter. "This came today, Nana. I haven't shown it to Stephen. I can't bear to."

I took the note. It was on good paper but was crudely worded and printed. "Mrs. Willson," it said. "A nice girl like your Betsy shouldn't be carrying on in Mr. Downes' house the way she is. No good will come of it."

I said, "Of all the rotten things!" My Miss Jenny held up her hand. She said, "Do you remember Carrie?"

I did. Carrie had worked at Cliff's Edge for eight years when Betsy and Fletch were small. She had left to marry the Barelyy chauffeur and recently been widowed. She had adored Betsy; had named her own child Betsy.

My Miss Jenny said wearily, "She does laundry now by her day. She goes to Long Meadow one day a week. If it wasn't for that, I have burned this."

She began to cry. "I know what is happening and I don't know how to stop it. Betsy isn't a child."

I felt shaken and frightened.

My Miss Jenny said, "Will you talk to her, Nana?"

"I'll try," I answered, "but one word too many would push her into the very thing we don't want."

I knew—for once I had said too much to my Miss Jenny.

SOCCER MEETING THIS AFTERNOON

A meeting of all former soccer-players of the district will be held in the Y.M.C.A. this afternoon at 3:30 to discuss the possibility of reorganizing the pre-war E.T. League.

Lortie, Cortez In Headline Grapple

That nasty man, Paul Lortie, of Montreal, returns to the Belvidere Street Armory tonight to headline the weekly razzle-dazzle opposite Manuel el Gaucho Banderero Ampola y Double Hammerlocko Cortez, resident of an adobe stoa in Mexico.

The two groaners will grapple through a best-of-three falls affair with a time limit of 90 minutes. In his last showing here Lortie lost his gold belt, representing the Sherbrooke Central Ward world junior heavyweight wrestling championship, to Boh (Legs) Langvin, the scissor artist who keeps in trim by cutting up paper dolls.

In the 45-minute, one fall semi-final horror Sheik Abid, whose appearance has been awaited here for three weeks, takes on Bob Lortie, No. 2 of a villainous family. The shuddering Sheik is a former weight-lifting champion of Egypt who became obsessed with the idea that razzle-dazzle is a game of strength and demoted himself to its ranks.

In the prelims Tiger Tasker, a limelight basker who husked corn for many years in Nebraska, meets Les Ruffin, the roustabouting ruffian and Pat Girard will pull hair with Rosario Lefebvre.

The gorillas will be released from their cages at 8:45.

Only two of every 1000 persons reported missing in England are never heard of again.

BASKETBALL

THETFORD, REGIMENT OPEN FINAL SERIES TONIGHT

According to reports emanating from Thetford Mines, the visit of that town's basketball team to Montreal, where it was defeated in the final round of the provincial basketball crown by the Montreal Georgians, paid off in bags of experience. If nothing else, and by virtue of that added experience, the Thetford Mines cage five has high hopes of turning back the Sherbrooke Regiment in the first game of the best-of-three series for the E.T.B.A. men's title, starting tonight.

Both high-scoring teams, these aggregations are pretty well evenly matched, and in regular season play each team won on its home floor in their two scheduled games. The first time they met was on the Regiment floor, which is undoubtedly the largest and, incidentally, the only regulation size floor in the district. On that occasion, Thetford Mines found it difficult going early in the game, but came back to recapture the lead as it changed hands several times. However, one proof of the old saying that "the last mile is the hardest" was that in the last quarter of the game, the Mines were a tired bunch of boys and looking from one end of the floor to the other seemed like more than a mere sixty odd feet. The Regiment was victorious on that occasion, but Thetford returned the compliment in the second meeting at Thetford.

As for tonight's game, naturally Thetford will be using all the tricks they know to catch the Regiment flat-footed around the hoop but on the other hand the Army aggregation will be using their knowledge of their own floor and prowess on long shots, on said floor, to take the lead in the series. Basketball fans should put this one down as a "must" in their cage program.

New York, March 30.—(AP)—Rockabye Graziano, boxing's most devastating right hand puncher in years, knocked out welterweight champion Marty Servo last night in the second round of a non-title 10-rounder that was the hottest betting and biggest money bout between two little men in Madison Square Garden history. Graziano weighed 152; Servo 144½.

Leveling with his "Sunday punch" from the opening bell of the first round, the local East Side slugger caught up with babyfaced Servo early in the second heat and crushed him to the canvas three times with just about every punch in the book, before Referee Arthur Donovan stepped in and halted it at 1 minute, 52 seconds of the session. Outweighed by 7½ pounds and without a real test under his belt since leaving the Coast Guard several months ago—it only took him four easy rounds to win the 147-pound crown from Red Cochrane in February—Servo never had a chance to find himself against the explosive Rocky packed in his gloves.

QUEBEC SIGNS NEW PLAYERS

Quebec, March 30.—(AP)—Officials of the Quebec Alouettes of the Canadian-American League have announced the signing of four new players.

Junior Canadiens Top St. Pat's 9-4

Ottawa, March 30.—(AP)—Montreal Canadiens last night eliminated Ottawa St. Patrick's College juniors in an Eastern Canada Memorial Cup semi-final play-down, defeating the Celts 9-4 to sweep their best-of-three series in two straight games.

The Survivors

Six teams remained in the running today for the Allan Cup and the Canadian senior hockey championship, three in the east and three in the west.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By FRED KERNER
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Toronto, March 30.—(AP)—Laurels for this year's sport success honors at Cambridge University may well go to a Canadian—six-foot two-inch, 180-pound Ft.-Lt. Peter Macdonnell of Toronto—but belief that he is the first Canadian to win a blue as an oarsman for Cambridge is unfounded.

The big Canadian will have plenty of Dominion supporters cheering for him today when he lends his power to the Cambridge boat in the annual "Battle of the Blues" against Oxford. The remarkable thing about it all is that Macdonnell never rowed until a year ago.

But distinction for being the first Canadian on a Cambridge crew rightly belongs to Air Commodore Philip Livingstone, O.B.E., A.F.C., of Cowichan Bay, B.C. A consultant in ophthalmology—it has something to do with the eyes—in the R.A.F. since 1934, Air Commodore Livingstone studied medicine at Cambridge starting in 1912.

The story came out when J. B. (Bart) Creighton, managing editor of the Cowichan Leader at Lunenburg, B.C., pointed out the seeming discrepancy in a yarn from Cambridge earlier this month. Creighton dug up clippings which quoted Livingstone as saying he was the first Dominion man to hold this distinction.

In 1914 he made the crew and rowed against Oxford. So, give credit where it's due. Meanwhile thousands of Canadians—Livingstone included—await results of today's race. The former Upper Canada College and Queen's University student has plenty of moral support from his homeland.

Habs Say Five Or Six Will Do Job

Montreal, March 30.—(AP)—Coach Dick Irvin and his highflying Montreal Canadiens were in the best of spirits today and greatly optimistic about the outcome of the Stanley Cup final series starting here tonight against Boston Bruins.

Confident but not cocky, the Montrealers expect to take the best-of-seven series in five or, at most six games. Irvin was happy to see Bruins beat Detroit to reach the finals last night and he considered it a lucky break for his Canucks.

"The boys have been travelling at a torrid pace so far and are in that victory mood; so the sooner we dig in the finals the better," the Canadiens coach said.

"Besides, the Boston aggregation which we'll face tonight will be handicapped by the fact they have just finished a harder series than we have and had not time to rest from heavy travelling while we had more than two days rest and are in the pink of condition."

Manager Art Ross of Boston was conscious of that fact too and he asked that the series start here Sunday instead of Saturday so as to allow his team more time to rest. But after long-distance telephone conversations between Ross, President Mervyn (Red) Dutton of the National Hockey League and Manager Tommy Gorman of Canadiens, it was decided to have the Montreal mentors have their way and begin the series today.

Goalie Bill Durnan injured an elbow in the last game against Chicago Black Hawks and there was some fear that he might be forced to miss the first game against Bruins but he has been responding to treatment well and will be in top shape when he takes his post in the Montreal nets tonight.

OXFORD WINS 92ND INTER-UNIVERSITY RACE

Putney-on-Thames, March 30.—(C.P.)—Oxford defeated Cambridge today in the 92nd boat race between the schools, rowed before hundreds of thousands of spectators on the Thames River.

Time for the 4 1-4-mile course was 19 minutes and 54 seconds.

Oxford's dark blues, outweighed seven pounds per man, gained a one-yard lead in the first 10 seconds and remained in front all the way.

The race marked the first time since 1939 that the crews had competed against each other over the historic course from Putney Bridge to Mortlake within the boundaries of London proper.

The race had been held over a sprint course during the war.

MAX BENTLEY of Chicago Black Hawks and leading N.H.L. scorer for the season, has been awarded the Hart Trophy as the most useful player in the league to his club.

Judged by a poll of two sports writers in each N.H.L. city to be the player most useful to his club in the entire league, the dark-haired westerner added the tall silver cup to the league scoring title he gained a few weeks previously.

Bentley, who centres a line which has his brother Doug and Bill Mosienko on the wings, came back to professional hockey after two years in the Army and picked up right where he left off.

With 70 scoring points in 1942-43, he was only three points behind brother Doug who led the league and this season, when points were harder to get all along the line, he topped the league with 61, nine more than second-place Gage Stewart of Toronto Maple Leafs. He had 30 goals and 31 assists.

Born in Delisle, Sask., Max is 26, weighs 155 pounds and is five feet ten inches tall. He has had only four seasons in the N.H.L., all of them with Chicago. Incidentally, he is one of the league's cleanest players with only 16 minutes in penalties against him in regular play during those four years.

Bentley is the first Chicago player to win the Hart Trophy, donated in 1923-24 by the late Dr. David Hart, father of the late Cecil Hart who twice guided Canadiens to the Stanley Cup. Elmer Lach, Canadiens' centre, won the trophy last season.

ST. PAT'S WIN E.T. BANTAM TITLE

St. Pat's, winding up their most successful hockey season in years, swept through B.C.S. 6-1 at the Arena Wednesday night to cap the Eastern Townships bantam championship. It was the twelfth game and the twelfth victory for the Irishmen.

The bantam performance was in keeping with that of the St. Pat's midgies, who lost only one game all season, that to the Montreal champions in a playdown for the provincial title at Lachine two weeks ago. The midgies were coached by Al Kouri, the bantams by Brother Joseph.

Claude Baillargeon, Donald Davey and Ron O'Keefe each scored a brace of goals for St. Pat's while Ashworth got the only B.C.S. marker.

Vics' Bourdon Series Top Scorer, Rand's Leblanc Leads In Assists

Ugh! It is most difficult to come out and say that Randers will win on Sunday, when they meet Victoriaville Tigers in the fifth game of their best-of-seven series for the Provincial Hockey League championship at the Arena. In fact, it is difficult to say anything at all about the local club, whose showing on Thursday night was enough to make Sherbrooke fans wake up screaming.

Vics mauled Randers so badly the night before last that they are not likely to live down the laceration even if they should win the title, which would appear extremely doubtful now.

Crowds have dropped considerably since March 3 when a mammoth congregation of 5,450 jammed the jittery jousting point. There were over 3,000 on hand for last Sunday's game, but less than 3,000 showed up Thursday night.

It is not surprising, for the series is being dragged out to such an extent that it is getting rather boring. The two clubs might have done much better in the way of crowd-pulling by playing at least three games a week. The semi-final round started nearly a month ago, on March 5. The series with Tigers got under way March 17, two weeks ago tomorrow, and only four games have been played. And the finals are going to extend over another five days at least, with what games tomorrow afternoon and next Thursday night.

Randers have had it put up to them now for fair, because large Roland Deneault, who possessed an amazing sweep check, is back in top form. He blocked ruggedly and efficiently in the last game, twirled Herbie Carnegie on one occasion so that the Randers' best centre looked like a whirling dervish.

The entire Tiger team was operating at full bore. Fellows like Pete Kalapaka and Paul Hebert, who had been carried in previous series games by Mallette and Bourdon, came into their own.

Paul Gagnon, who could be used right now and no mistake, will continue his enforced stay on the sidelines. Up, lads, and at 'em.

To date, the record: P W L F A Pt. Vicville . . . 4 2 2 17 14 4 Sherbrooke . . 4 2 2 17 14 4

Armand Bourdon leads the point-getters in the series with a total of seven, made up of four goals and three assists. Bourdon and Adjutor Cote are tied for scoring honors and Peewee Leblanc has the most assists, four.

In four games Randers have spent 56 minutes in the penalty box, Victoriaville 34. Manny McIntyre leads the offenders with 11 minutes, including one major.

3 Possibles Shot In Latest Match

Three men shot possibles in the latest match of the Sherbrooke Small Bore Rifle League when the Sherbrooke Regiment, Rand No. 1 and C.P.R. emerged victorious over three Lennoxville teams, the U.S. Plate, Marksmen and Snipers.

H. Wallace and E. Patton led the Regiment with possibles in a 23-point victory over the Lennoxville U.S. Plate team while D. Winget led a four-man team of Lennoxville Snipers who went down to defeat by 94 points before the C.P.R.

In the other game, Rand No. 1 downed the Lennoxville Marksmen by a narrow margin of nine points with W. Bell leading the Rand with a score of 99.
