Pembroke Bridge

Hugh Proudfoot Raises Question In Parliament

Seeking information on the reason for delay in starting the Pembroke Allumette Island bridge, two Liberal MPs from the area last week placed questions on the Commons order paper.

James M. Forgie, Liberal MP for Renfrew North, asks for information on any communication received from the Quebec Provincial Government on the bridge since November 3, 1953.

Hugh Proudfoot, Liberal MP for Pontiac-Temiscamigue, asks for capies of all correspondence since June 1, 1951, between the Department of Public Works here and the Provincial Government of both Ontario and Quebec relative to the proposed bridge.

Euella Turner

The community was saddened on Monday afternoon when word came that Miss Euella S. Turner, well known resident of Shawville, had died in the Civic hospital, Ottawa, after a brief illness. She had been taken to the city for treatment on Sunday, after being ill at her home for about a week. Everything that medical science could do was employed to help her, but she failed to rally.

Brought from Ottawa to the funeral home of George Hynes & Son, where the funeral was held Thursday afternoon to Shawvlile United church, which was filled with a capacity congregation for the service. Fitting tribute to her memory was paid by her pastor, Rev. H. G. Lester, assisted by Dr. A. F. Fokes. During the service, Miss Kathleen Woodley sang as a special number, "It is no secret what God can do". Burial followed in Maple Grove cemetery, the pallbearers being Don MacIntosh, William Fletcher, Eric Judd, Morley Wilson, Hewitt McCredie and Ken Smith.

Noticed among those form a distance were Mr. and Mrs. J. Dover, Mr. and Mrs. W.E.N. Hodgins, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Henry, Mrs. J. B. Collins, Mr. R. Deschamps, all of Ottawa, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Fraser and Mr. O. Proctor of Renfrew and Mrs. Alex Olmstead and Mrs. Chas. Dagg of Aylmer.

The late Miss Turner, who was in her 52nd year, was the daughter of the late Joseph Turner and Jennie Caldwell. She was educated in the schools of Shawville and in her early twenties started the confectionery business, with her sister on Main street near Centre street. This she had continued ever since, except for five years during the last war when she was employed with the Dominion Government. She was very active in all forms of community life and to every good cause she gave her entire support. She was particularly interested in the work of the United church here. She worked with the Woman's Association in its social gatherings, sang for a number of years in the choir, and for some years was active in the dramatic work of the young people.

Martin Adams Claims Highest Uranium Strike

Martin Adams of Portage du Fort has today received two assay reports from the Provincial Government on ore taken from his claims in the Picanoc River Area. These reports indicate a very rich uranium strike by Mr. Adams and his associates. The two reports give the following data:

Percent of U308 equivalent:

1. Beta 0.69
   Gamma 0.91
   U308 0.40
2. Beta 0.38
   Gamma 0.56
   U308 0.15

The first of these assays indicate the highest uranium content ofany strike in this area, Mr. Adams reports.

Rev. G. K. Stewart Speaks In Sixth School Religious Broadcast

This morning at nine o'clock, Rev. G. K. Stewart addressed the children of the lower grades at the High School in Shawville in the sixth of a series of fifteen minute worship periods being arranged by the Clarendon Ministerial Association for school children in this district. Using the public address system at the school, Mr. Stewart's words were broadcast to the children in their various classrooms from the principal's office. Records of Christmas hymns were played and a prayer for help in studies and at play and at all times was asked by Rev. Stewart, minister of the Bristol Pastoral Charge of the United Church in Canada. He then told the children of the legend about Jesus coming to earth at Christmas time as a little child and wandering about seeking shelter in human homes. Of course He looked just like any other little child; but if He were given shelter, men said he brought great blessing to the household which received him and great joy to their Christmas Day.

But if he were turned away, He could only wander on, and the house remained unblessed.

The essence of the story was brought to the attention of the children by Rev. Stewart as he explained that God does not make us do as He wants at Christmas or any other time. If we really want to have the blessing of Jesus, He is always ready to give it, but if we do not, He will pass on.

Next week, Rev. H. G. Lester will peak to the High School students on Thursday and Rev. M. C. Gilmer will speak to the younger classes to continue until June 4. on Friday. The series is planned

"This & That"

It was affecting everybody in a different way but now it's all gone and with this recent blanket of snow it looks as if Indian summer is really gone and done for this year. But last week was a different story. Mrs. Arthur Horner picked a bouquet of purple and light pansies in her garden, another lady reported Spring onions sprouting in her garden, a local farmer brought in a handful of bright yellow dandelions from his door yard, and Pontiac's poet laureate has written a poem about a bright little summer weed he saw on the road-side. The poem "Dandelion in December" appears on page seven of this paper.

Everybody has been glad to see Mr. Tolhurst back at the High School. Sick for the first time in fourteen years, he has made a quick recovery for which we can all thank God. Shawville High School without Mr. Tolhurst is a thing hard to imagine.

Last Sunday at the Community Hospital wasn't the usual quiet day. With the short weekend staff on duty and many visitors about, the operating room went ahead with a record number of three major operations on the one day. These were all caesarians and all the three mothers, the three Fathers, the five Doctors and the FOUR babies came out of it well and healthy.

The Ground Observers are still hunting about for a warmer lookout station. The best idea we've heard yet is to prop Gordon Alexander's new house trailer up on four stilts and build a little porch on top. Then four observers could sleep in the bunks while one watched on top. Another idea was to use the fire hall tower, but one young Schwartz was the only observer brave enough to climb all the way up it. They should recruit Hubie Dale yet.

Snow removing is too commonplace for some of the local lads who go in more for garage door removing. Anyone want their garage door removed? Call Jason Brownlee and McCredie's Model A plow. There will be no charge for this ad.

Nicest Christmas window we've seen to date is Fraser's in Shawville. Speaking of Fraser's reminds us that Clare Jacques tells us that the Rotary Dance on December 21 at the High School will be complete with refreshments and patronesses.

Our new correspondent from Quyon is a member of the C.P.S. For those who wonder what that is, it is the Canadian Philatelic Society. Rev. R. S. Smith has been a member for years and years and is an authority on certain philatelic work. The Society has a very large membership and is affiliated with the American Philatelic Society, and many local societies in Canada and the U.S.A. Altogether they have over a million members. Philately, by the way, is stamp-collecting.

The very useful traffic lights at Main Street and Centre Streets in Shawville have been out of order ever since a high load of lumber knocked one down a few weeks ago. Everybody hopes they get fixed soon because it is very dangerous the way it is now with on right of way designated, no stop signs and no lights.

In a letter from one of our readers last week we were requested to quote a speech made by Mr. Low, leader of the Social Credit Party, in the House of Commons recently. Unfortunately the speech runs to some 7,000 words and could not possibly be quoted in detail in these pages. However we have read the speech carefully, and, we hope, objectively, and have summarized it as follows:

DISPOSAL OF FOOD SURPLUSES:

1. Mr. Low advocates sale of food surpluses to other countries (apparently Great Britain and other countries in the Sterling area) accepting their currencies in exchange therefor, in the same way as is now being done by the United States.

2. Mr. Low advocates increased gifts of food to ". . . less fortunate peoples and underdeveloped countries."

3. Mr. Low advocates gifts from the food surpluses to ". . . needy people right here in Canada . . . so as to distribute as much of them as possible amongst our own people. That is exactly what Social Credit does propose and has been proposing for years."

REMEDIES FOR HIGH COSTS OF PRODUCTION

1. Mr. Low suggests that a commission should be established to enquire into costs of production both in industry and on the farm, and to make recommendations "as to ways in which these costs can be brought down".

2. Eliminate the federal sales tax now levied on road maintenance equipment and on building supplies purchased by municipalities, and on school buses purchased by school districts.

3. Eliminate corporation tax on public utilities, the burden of which, he feels, is passed on for the most part to primary producers, in the form of increased freight rates.

SHARE OF THE NATIONAL INCOME ENJOYED BY FARMERS:

Mr. Low wants to adopt "some plan or policy that will guarantee to the farmer his fair share of the national income." It appears that Mr. Low feels this would best be accomplished by large scale price support.

GENERAL POLICY:

"We believe that now is the time to make the effort to find and adopt some way of adjusting purchasing power, first to available goods and gradually to productive capacity, and then maintaining it there. It is time to give earnest thought to means by which effective purchasing power in the pockets of our people can keep pace with the productive power of our economy, means by which their fluctuations can be geared to each other so that increased production will surely carry with it sufficiently increased purchasing power so that what people have been able to produce they will also be able to buy."

"If we can succeed in doing that, and I am convinced we can, every part of our Canadian society will benefit, including the chartered banks. Under such new circumstances—and they would be new—Canada would not only help herself but much of the rest of the world besides. If Canada can offer uninterrupted work and interesting careers to all her employable manpower and supply a continuous stream of goods of the kind we are technically able to produce in such large volume, and accomplish these things without infringing in the least upon the system of free enterprise, but rather make it more free, then this nation will set an example for the rest of the world. Under such conditions there will be little or no scope or opportunity for malcontents and their propaganda. In this way one of the important steps toward world peace will have been taken, and the coming atomic age will be one of plenty and satisfaction rather than one of destruction."

It appears that Mr. Low is on two sides of the fence at the same time. He wishes to remove fluctuations in the business cycle by balancing, continuously, the purchasing power of Canadians with the supply of goods produced by the Canadian economy. He also wishes to control costs; and to control the percentage of the national income received by primary producers. At the same time Mr. Low wants "free enterprise", which he says will be made "more free" by the adoption of his policies. The objectives he cites, even if they were possible, would, in our opinion, require interference by the central government in the affairs of us all—to an extent not yet even dreamed of by many of us. How could private enterprise then be free? Our belief is that it could not, and that these policies, if pursued, would lead us eventually to a police state, the very thing we quite recently fought a war to avoid. Mr. Low's proposals imply controls on every single economic act of every single, as well as every married Canadian, and of every business corporation operating in Canada. Free enterprise made more free? Never.

The Equity is still Shawville's own weekly newspaper. But it is now also Bryson's and Bristol's and Beechgrove's own weekly newspaper. And Otter Lake's and Fort Coulonge's. In fact The Equity is gradually getting to the point where it will be reaching all the English readers in the county. The stores which sell The Equity in Portage du Fort, in Shawville, in Waltham and all the other places in Pontiac report increased sales almost each week. New subscriptions are added to our list daily. Sixteen new correspondents from all over the county have been added to our staff and direct reports of interest to everyone from the court house in Campbell's Bay are now published regularly. And this is only the beginning. Our every effort is towards giving the county the sort of weekly newspaper it should have. Business men in the outlying towns are beginning to get the idea that The Equity is a good place to advertise and before long we hope to be carrying ads from many places outside Shawville. Wherever there are goods and services available they should be advertised in The Equity with the idea in mind that money earned in Pontiac County should be spent in Pontiac County and when everyone does all their shopping right here at home it will be a very good thing for Pontiac. To help us cover the county, we are counting on local readers to a certain extent. It is you who will let your local correspondent know about all the events (past, present and future) which are of interest to you. You can mail coming events in for our MEMO column on page one. This is a free service designed to prevent unnecessary overlapping of dates so that any planned function will not need to buck competition on the same night in the same vicinity. You can list births in our NEWCOMERS column, also on page one and alse free. You can list lost, strayed and stolen articles and any business transactions you wish to make on our back page under Classified Ads at very little cost. You can write us a letter on any topic which you think should be brought before the public and we will be glad to print it as long as we can read it and it is signed. You can send in the minutes of your organization meetings and notes of its accomplishments. You can send in birthdays and anniversaries and family reunions and showers and weddings and funerals. All these things are for you to send us if you want them printed in the paper. We are now working toward getting a bigger paper and eventually we will be satisfied that you are getting complete coverage for your seven cents. Meanwhile, all we can do is keep trying, knowing that with your help we will reach our goal.

It takes the advice of their four children to help Claire and John Drainie get their Christmas tree ready for Santa Claus. What he has in store for them on Christmas morning remains to be seen, but there is no doubt about what Claire and John plan for radio listeners this coming year; they will continue to combine their dramatic talents on "Jake and The Kid", "Stage 54" and "CBC Wednesday Night", among others. Claire also will be appearing on several CBC programs.

Agricultural Education In High Schools

Delegates from the Quebec Farm Forum Association, the Quebec Women's Institutes, and Macdonald College met at the College on Saturday to discuss the aims and problems of Agricultural Education in the secondary schools of Quebec. Representatives from the Farm Forums included Mrs. Gilbert Telford, who chaired the conference; and Messrs. Stuart Armstrong and P. D. McArthur. Q.W.I. delegates were Mrs. LeBaron, Provincial President and Mrs. H. G. Taylor. Macdonald College was represented by Prof. D. C. Munroe, Prof. L. Hamilton and Mr. J. Davidson.

The conference felt that the Agriculture curriculum as at present is satisfactory. There is a need for more schools to place it on their curricula, a need for a large number of qualified teachers available, and a need for more funds o fully implement the program.

It was pointed out that Agriculture is a matriculation subject, acceptable at McGill University as a subject leading to the Bachelor of Education degree.

The Macdonald College Faculty will be approached to have it accepted as a subject for those who wish to study for degrees in Agriculture and Home Economics.

Professor Munroe, reviewing his experience with the teaching of Agriculture while Principal of the Ormstown High School, said that an Advisory Committee composed of two or three farmers of the school board, two or three leading farmers in the district, the Principal and the Agriculture Teacher, is a valuable asset in a school where Agriculture is being taught. The Committee can help direct the efforts of the Agriculture teacher, and relate his work more closely to the needs of the community.

As a result of the plans formed and decisions made at the Conference, a representative delegation will meet with officials in Quebec in the near future.

The Way I See It

A Weekly Column

by Rev. Cyril Watson

There is much evidence that may be brought forward in defence of the thesis that the world is gradually becoming more humane in its treatment of the weak and depressed classes within our society. Gone are the days when children were forced to work ten, twelve and even fourteen hours a day at hard labor in the mines and factories. Gone too are the days when human beings could be bought and sold like cattle. However, there still remains the need of much thought and consideration as to the proper place in society of women. There is still need of a more widespread realization that they have not been granted their proper place in our Western civilization. We still retain many of the feudal mediaeval ideas about them, ideas which considered them as inferior beings, created by God for the main purpose of ministering to man's comforts and perpetuating the human race. They were the hewers of wood and the drawers of water in feudal times while their lord and master amused himself with his retinue at games or in attempts to burn down his neighbor's castle and carry away anything of value that he could find. Women in those days had no legal rights, they were less valuable than a good battle horse. The double standard of morality was as widely accepted as it is today. The woman caught in adultry was often killed, while her husband was expected to lose no opportunity for seduction and most men had a large number of illegitimate children who were accepted and cared for around the family hearth.

Such were conditions a few centuries ago. How great has been the change in regard to a woman's station in life? She is still expected to find greatest satisfaction as a mother in a home. When she shows sufficient independence to have a career she is discriminated against by her employers. Less pay and less chance of promotion are her lot in the professions and in the business world no matter how great her ability. She is the first to be laid off in time of work shortages. She is expected to be the model of decorum and to have an interest in things cultural while at the same time her brother attends stag parties, "smokers" and never reads anythings more elevating than the comics.

This double standard is even more prevalent in rural districts where the emancipation of women which has begun in the cities is still almost unknown. She is expected to be meek, obedient, tireless, efficient in the home and around the barns. When men are talking she is expected to say nothing. All the care of the chilren falls on her shoulders already overburdened with indoor and outdoor chores. The men need their relaxation so they attend the movies and pass time in the taverns while their wives stay home with the children. Her only relaxation and activity outside the home is apt to be centred around the church which is an inexpensive club and quite gay enough for mere women.

Do you think I have painted too bleak a picture of woman's place as seen by a large majority of those superior beings who make up the important section of society—mankind? I am sure that a little careful observation and thought will enable you to see that these conditions are common around us. Fortunately the worm has begun to turn but it takes generations if not centuries to change the thinking and customs which have prevailed for so many hundreds of years. God grant that women may soon come into their own and be given a place of equal status in the eyes of all intelligent people of both sexes. For by nature God has endowed them with great qualities which are especially needed in these dark and troublesome times.

QUEBEC W. I.

A Countrywomen's Association of the Air—a venture to fit the need. From Australia comes the story of the first such group and of the effective way it is serving women of the "Outback", wives of pioneers living on isolated farms, hundreds of miles apart.

Most Institute members everywhere know of the Flying Doctor Service of Australia and how messages are relayed to the lonely posts by transreceiver radio sets known as "Pedal Wireless", worked with the feet rather like a bicycle. Miss A. Meithke, a member of the Flying Doctor Council, conceived the idea of forming a Branch of the Air Countrywomen's Association, using these sets to bring the members "together". The plan was enthusiastically endorsed by the women concerned and the organizational meeting was held in September. The inaugural president was in the "chair", speaking from the Flying Doctor Base at Alice Springs, and 21 stations answered the rollcall, from 400 miles on the north to 300 on the south.

Plans were laid for a trial year, a topic chosen for the next monthly meeting, "What is the best type of education for outback boys and girls", and the first session of this "Branch of the Air" closed with the National Anthem, played by a member 120 miles from the base.

WINTER IS COMING

Ice and snow falling from the roof across service wires cause interruptions to a number of individual customers each winter.

Service wires should be located where snow and ice will not slide onto them from the roof.

Heavy wet snow causes branches to sag under its weight. Cut down all branches which are overhanging the wires leading to your house. It is much easier to do it now.

Give your Most Valuable Servant a fair chance to work for you.

Annual Bazaar Marks Opening Of Anglican Church Hall; St. Paul's Shawville Realizes Long Awaited Dream

Wednesday, December 2, was a day long awaited by the congregation of St. Paul's Anglican Church, in Shawville. No one was quite sure until a few days before, that Wednesday would be "The Day". The Annual Bazaar. The occasion of course was the first event held in their new Parish Hall.

Work began on the hall last June. Much of the preliminary construction was done before harvest, and remained at that stage until early November. Once more renewed activity was evident. Windows were put into place, doors were hung, the concrete floor was laid and dozens of men from the congregation with dozens of hammers and saws completely sheeted the interior. A tank was installed for fuel oil and cess pool completed. When these workers were finished at night fall, Donald Horner and Eric Judd took over and installed the electric wiring and fixtures. Leslie Dale and staff were on hand providing means of heating and preparatory plumbing.

In the meantime the ladies watched anxiously: "Would it be ready for December 2nd?, they whispered. On Saturday afternoon the hall was finished enough to hold the bazaar. On Monday the warden's and Messrs James Caldwell and J. D. Brown took over and with the help of a group of ladies cleaned the hall ready for the final touches. Thus was achieved what an older member of the congregation said was something "looked forward to for seventy years".

The bazaar went as scheduled, opened by the rector, Rev. R. G. Elliott at 3.00 p.m. A home cooking stall, aprons, fancy work and knitted goods were in charge of the senior guild, under the presidency of Mrs. John Ellard Horner. The Junior Guild under the presidency of Mrs. Mack Hayes, served tea and supper, also sponsored a fancy work and knitted goods stall. Miss Emily Dagg and her Girls' Auxiliary had the fish-pond, candy table, Christmas cards and wrapping.

It proved a successful venture and the grateful appreciation of St. Paul's people goes to all who helped to make it so.

Norma Telford, Pontiac Countrywoman, Combines Raising Family With Successful Public Life

Leads In Many Welfare Activities At Local, Provincial, National Levels

A number of our readers have brought to our attention an article in the Family Herald and Weekly Star about a Pontiac woman of whom we can all be justly proud. This is Mrs. Gilbert Telford and below is a reprint of part of the article by J. S. Cram.

Norma Telford of Shawville, has an unusual record of accomplishment. She's the first woman director of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture who's on the board, not because she's a woman, but as the representative of the provincial farm group. She's a director of two other national organizations —the National Farm Radio Forum and the Health and Family Welfare Division of the Canadian Welfare Council, Ottawa. And she still lists "housewife and mother" as her chief occupation and has brought up a family of six on the Radford district farm. Now she's a triple grandmother in spite of her youthful appearance.

That appearance isn't the result of any soft life. It wasn't till a couple of years ago that power reached the farm and it became unnecessary to carry lamps around the house. At the same time the president of the Quebec Farm Forum Association.

That doesn't mean that Mrs. Gilbert Telford lacks feminine interests or virtues. Far from it. Her kitchen was modernized, to lighten the house work. But even with these improvements the growing up of her family, and the improvement of her health, she has to rein in some of her housekeeping instincts to provide time for her outside activities.

"Gone are the days of home-made bread and butter," she admits. "Except for an occasional treat we buy these things now. But we still bake our cakes, cookies and pies." The "we" being Norma except during school vacation, when three of her daughters can take over.

Home-made bread and butter have disappeared from many tables for much less reason. Besides her provincial and national offices, Mrs. Telford still finds time for work closer home. She's a member of the Radford Holy Trinity Guild and the Radford Hospital Auxiliary, a Sunday School teacher and organist at Holy Trinity Anglican Church acting director of the Clarendon Credit Union, and manager-secretary of the Pontiac Co-operative Medical Services. And with her husband, Gilbert she has helped launch two short courses and one folk school in Pontiac County.

Up till 1945, Norma Telford was just another farm wife and mother —as if that weren't enough to keep most people fully occupied, until their families were pretty well grown.

Then the Telfords joined the Radford Farm Forum group, and through it Norma found outlets for unsuspected ability and energy. Within a year or so she became secretary of the local forum. The next year she was appointed a member of the publicity committee for Pontiac forums, and provincial director and secretary of a group set up to help launch co-operative medical services in the county.

By 1948 she was a member of the Quebec Farm Forum Council, from which she worked through second and first vice-presidencies to the office of president. Her record last year was so good that Quebec forum members have reelected her for a second term.

Last year she was elected director of the National Farm Radio Forum board, and last January to the board of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, taking her place beside male leaders of provincial farm groups throughout Canada. Then came her appointment to the board of the Canadian Welfare Council.

Pontiac County Teachers Local Association

The second meeting of the newly formed Pontiac County Teachers Local Association was held on Saturday, December 5th in the Onslow Intermediate School in Quyon.

There was a good attendance of teachers from schools within the district, thirty-seven in all, being present. Miss Arline Kilgour, president of the Association presided and opened the procedings by reading the 121st Psalm, after which all joined in repeating the Lord's prayer.

Mr. Gordon, principal of Onslow Intermediate School, gave an address of welcome to the teachers on behalf of the Onslow School Board.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted, and reports from several committees were received.

Mrs. F. I. Rice, Health Supervisor in the Pontiac County Schools, was present and gave an address upon "The Health Curriculum of Our Schools". In her address she urged a more practical use of the knowledge to be found in the textbooks with which all teachers are familiar.

The principal of the school, Mr. Gordon, then led in the dsicussion of a film, showing, in color, life in a small industrial Canadian town, where people had learned the benefit of co-operation in order to obtain the best possible results for themselves, and their families, from the means at hand.

Another film was shown by the Rev. F. A. Lawlor, B.A., L.Th., showing in a very graphic way, much of the conditions of life in Africa. The film pointed out how the lack of Faith in God and in His goodness and care, may bring trouble and suffering to those who cast aside their early impressions and teachings of religion.

At lunch time the group was served with a delicious hot roast beef dinner, which had been prepared by the ladies of the United Church Woman's Association. Of course there were all the trimmings.

After the dinner a very hearty vote of thanks was accorded the ladies for making such bountiful and delicious preparation for the meal.

In a brief after-dinner session a few things of routine matters were discussed and it was decided to have the next meeting in Shawville.

Farm Forum Notes

For some time there has been some expressions among the neighbors in favor of starting a Farm Forum. With that in mind, a few friends gathered in the home of Mrs. Leo Davis on Monday of last week and decided to go forward with plans to start a group. They decided that they would meet on Monday, December 14th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mohr and to make it known to as many as possible that anyone who is interested in the formation of a local Farm Forum group will be made very welcome. It is hoped that friends from all over the township will attend this meeting. It is hoped to have some out of town speakers present to give advice and guidance to the project.

It is understood that the house and property recently occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Mell Hetherington, who have removed to Sudbury, has been purchased by Mr. Lally Lusk and will be occupied immediately by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lusk and family.

Mr. J. Hetherington has moved to his new home on Bristol Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Findlay Marlennen and their twin children, Findlay and Taber were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Taber.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Moses left early Monday on a tour which they hope will permit them to make their stay for the winter in Florida. Mr. Moses operated a veneer mill for some years in Quyon and retired two years ago, and sold his business. He then acquired a property on the river front and built himself a house; and has since added two cottages. He has been active in Boy Scout work and has developed a fine troop and has been highly commended for his work. Of late he has not been in the best of health and it is the hope of his friends that his winter in Florida will give him the rest he needs; and that he will return in the spring fully recovered.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Manary were Sunday guests of Mrs. James Manary.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Steele were pleased to have their son Edward home for the weekend. Edward has recently joined up with the Airforce and returned to St. John's, Que., on Sunday. He is expecting to be transferred to Camp Borden within the next few days. Edward has the rank A. C. 2 and expects to take tuition in electronics and similar sciences.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Mohr, of Ottawa, were at their home in Quyon over the weekend.

The Rev. R. S. Smith, B.D., spent the weekend in Fort Coulonge as the guest preacher in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. C. Younger-Lewis, D.D.

Mr. and Mrs. Veldhuis of Fort Coulonge were in town on Thursday and called on a number of friends.

Mr. Art. Ross of Ottawa, was in town on Friday and was the guest of Rev. and Mrs. R. S. Smith.

Hector Howard Bronson

Mr. Hector Bronson, who was taken to the Pontiac Community Hospital, last Monday, passed away early on Tuesday and the funeral service was held in St. John's Anglican Church in Quyon on Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock.

In the absence of the rector, the Rev. F. R. Lawlor, B.A., L. Th., the service was taken by the Rev. R. G. Elliott, rector of St. Paul's Anglican church of Shawville, who gave a very comforting address on the words from Job, "The Lord hath given and the Lord hath taken away".

The church was filled to capacity with mourners and friends and neighbours who came to express their respects and sympathy.

Mr. Bronson had been ailing for several months but had been able to keep around and to attend to his business until a few days ago, when his condition became more serious.

Mr. Bronson passed away in the sixty-second year of his age and leaves to mourn, his widow and one brother, Albert of British Columbia and one sister, Florence, Mrs. George Fraser of Beechgrove and one son Kenneth, who is on the home farm in Quyon and a number of nieces and nephews.

Mr. Bronson had ben twice married; first to the late Rhena Elizabeth Lonsday, and his second wife, was the former Beatrice Ellen Zacher.

Mr. Bronson carried on the work of the farm for many years and for over twenty five years was the local representative of the Massey Harris Company, which he carried on together with his farming until a few years ago, when he acquired a property in town and opened his business here.

Among those from out of town who attended the funeral was a large delegation from the Massey Harris Office in Ottawa, and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Fraser, Campbell's Bay; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fraser, Ottawa, Mrs. Bennett, Aylmer, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Murphy and family, Mr. Dalton Fraser, Mr. and Mrs. Turriff and family of Ottawa, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Harold Devlin of Ottawa and Mrs. S. Hawes, also of Ottawa.

The Pallbearers were Messrs Fred Hutchison, W. J. Stanton, Edward Kelly, James Marks, Percy Moyle and Jack Armstrong. Interment was in the Church of England cemetery in Quyon.

The Massey Harris Company had a presentation prepared for Mr. Bronson which was to have been given to him at Christmas. The Company's represententive came to Quyon this Monday morning and presented it to Mrs. Bronson.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bronson were in Ottawa on Friday to visit their little daughter Elizabeth who is in the Ottawa General Hospital, suffering from a strange illness. Elizabeth, who is only thirteen months old has developed symptoms of lead poisoning, and X-ray examinations reveal that the disease has penetrated throughout the child's system and is even present in her bones. It is a mystery how such a young child could be the victim of such a disease unless she had swallowed some foreign substance at some time.

Annual Meeting of United Women's Association

The annual meeting of the Women's Association of the United Church was held at the United Church parsonage on Thursday, December 3, with the president, Mrs. Harvey Steele, presiding.

The report covered the work of the past year and showed a balance on hand of over two hundred dollars. At the conclusion of the ordinary business, Miss Alright was requested to preside at the election of officers, which resulted in the re-election of all the officers.

The meeting was closed by the singing of a hymn and the reading of the theme prayer, after which a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. B. Long. Mrs. Long was assisted in serving the lunch by Miss Lynn Lusk and her young son Clifford. A donation of five dollars was voted by the Association to be sent to the John Milton Society for the Blind.

Dandelion in December

Tiny flower
On the hill,
Don't you know it is December;
Do we see you smiling still
Boding not a stormy blast?
Little gem of the wold
Would a childhood heart remember
That the aspect of your brilliance
Is among the bonny best,
And your value more than gold?

As I bow,
With some mirth,
In a gesture to address you
Tiny foundling of the earth
That was never meant to moil
I possess and caress,
And within my Book I press you
For we have a common Father
Though we're sons of mother soil,
And we both could live to bless.

Mrs. M. R. Bailey

St. Andrews W. M. S.

The December meeting of St. Andrews W. M. S. was held at the home of Mrs. M. R. Bailey. Mrs. M. Stewart presided. The lesson was the Christmas worship service taken from the Missionary Monthly. Two hymns were sung, Silent Night and Angels From the Realms of Glory. Minutes from the last meeting were read and approved and the correspondence was read.

Rev. Stewart asked to be heard on two items. First was the Christmas Eve service which he hopes to hold in St. Andrews Church to invite one and all in the community or anyone welcome who will care to come. Second was the purchase of a projector for strip films to be used in the different charges. If satisfactory each organization would help in the purchase. Mrs. W. J. Murray moved and Mrs. J. Campbell, seconded the motion that St. Andrews W. M. S. will help in this project.

The treasurers report was given and accepted. The roll call was answered with thirteen scripture verses. Seven sick visits were reported made to homes. Mrs. Campbell conducted the program from the study book and gave a wonderful description of how the church and workers have stood together through all the trials of oppression and war and are gaining steadily in Europe.

Officers were elected for 1954 as follows: President, Miss Sarah Campbell; vice pres., Mrs. S. S. McNeill; secretary, Mrs. M. Stewart; treasurer, Mrs. G. Wiggans; Associate members sec., Mrs. W. J. Murray; literature secretary, Mrs. J. N. McCredie; temperance secretary, Mrs. J. Campbell; baby band secetary, Mrs. R. Cartman; community friendship secretary, Mrs. Ruby Armstrong; press secretary, Mrs. M. Stewart.

Mrs. Stewart read the prayer and Miss Campbell read the scripture. Rev. Stewart closed the meeting with a prayer thanking God for his mercies to us in the past year and praying for his continued blessing and guidance in the year ahead. Tea was served by Mrs. J. N. McCredie, assisted by Mrs. Campbell.

We are glad to welcome home again Mr. Eric Russell and Mr. Donald McCredie. It is three months since those chaps left for the western wheat fields accompanied by Barcley Mousseau. Barcley came home when harvesting was over but Eric and Don did some exploring farther west in diamond drilling, earth testing and in working for the Government. Everything from fine crops and excellent food and good pay, the boys were well satisfied with their trip.

We were also glad to have a visit from Private George Welsh who arrived from Germany on Tuesday. Over a year ago George left the Canadian shores for Hanover, Germany. He says it was a different feeling going this time than when he left the first time. He is looking very hale and fit. He says the food was really good. George will enjoy his leave at home until he gets his further orders.

Mr. James McKnight was on the Bay for a day or so closing up his cottages as he will be at Uplands for the next few months.

Wyman Farm Forum

The Wyman Farm Forum and the Quyon Calf Club met together at Bristol Town Hall to discuss the National Farm Radio Forum Topic for the night, "Citizens of Tomorrow". Twenty one young people discussed the questions in the "Guide", under the chairmanship of Mr. L. McKeen, whilst the older members were led in their discussion by Mr. Garth Graham, in opposite corners of the Hall.

When the secretaries of both groups reported their findings, it was found that they had similar ideas on whether or not "Our farm youth programs were succeeding." It was agreed that 4H Clubs and other youth organizations in our province have been successful in some measure in producing community and farm organization leaders, but they could do much more yet. A young farmer's organization or some similar group for young people after they leave Calf Clubs etc., was thought to be very necessary to help them to develop more interest in Canadian public affairs and international relations.

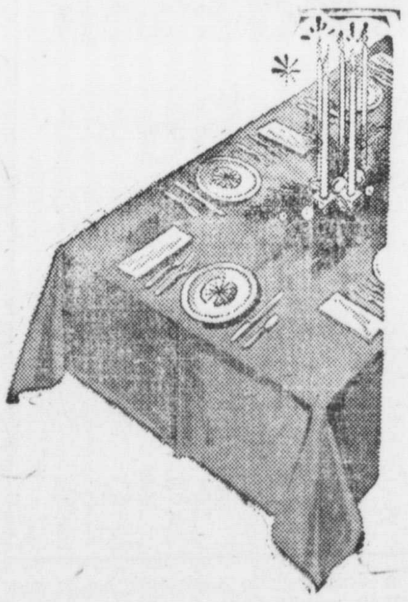

Another conclusion arrived at was that even if a young man is a good farmer he is not making sufficient contribution to the community. He should take part in farm organizations or community groups to share his knowledge and experience with others to help them to become "good farmers" too. Ellard McBane is the secretary of the Calf Club and Mrs. Hillis Graham takes the notes for the Forum.

A "pot luck" supper was served by the ladies, assisted by some of the young ladies of the Calf Club.

Special singing was rendered by Mr. Veldhuis and his wife, now pastor of Fort Coulonge, Davidson and Waltham.

A meeting of interest was held Friday evening at the home of Mayor Joseph LaFrance to decide how to best use a $200 donation contributed by the Provincial Government through Raymond Johnston, M.L.A. It was decided to build a skating rink so the old and young alike might enjoy themselves.

Salvation Army: Practical Evangelism

As Christmas approaches, busy shoppers will hear strains of music over the noise of the crowds and see the blue-coated men and women the red kettles, so traditionally a part of the holiday season—THE SALVATION ARMY.

Behind this street corner scene lies a story unknown to many and usually surprising in it's scope. For out of the gay, little kettles will come Christmas joy for many who otherwise would have no celebration at all. The aged and friendless, the underprivileged children, the sick and patients in veterans' hospitals, inmates in prisons, all will be remembered at Christmas, and this remembrance will spell the difference between happiness and misery.

This year, as a result of the kettle drive, thousands of individuals in Canada will receive assistance or gifts. Other thousands will sit down to Christmas dinners given to them by The Salvation Army, and still other thousands of children will open their eyes on Christmas morning to see that, once more Santa Claus has come.

But if The Salvation Army is traditionally associated in the public's mind with Christmas and street corners, there are millions of men, women and children of all races and creeds, all walks of life, for whom life holds new meaning because of The Army's year-round activities.

Across Canada lies a network of nearly 500 centers, carrying on a wide welfare program. Among them are homes, hospitals, nurseries, rehabilitation centers, neighborhood centers, camps and servicemen's clubs. Accounting for the broad scope of the organization's service is the fact that, while its main purpose is evangelical, Salvationists early recognized that it is not easy to talk of spiritual matters to those in acute physical need. This led to the establishment of its welfare activities and because they began spontaneously, they developed in many different directions in response to basic human needs as those needs expressed themselves.

A tenet of The Salvation Army is the belief that self-respect is more quickly restored in a person through self-help. Perhaps one of the best examples of the practical application of this theory is found in its Men's Social Service Thrift Centres. Here, the work of repairing donated furniture, clothing and household articles, gives work to thousands of men. Then, the material they repair, is sold through outlet stores to families in low-income brackets, enabling them to furnish their home at a lower-than normal cost. In this way, the centres serve a double purpose—the salvage of men and the salvage of material. In addition, through the resale of materials, the Centre derives most of the income necessary to carry on this work.

Men cared for at the Men's Social Centres are of all ages, and from all walks of life. Some of them are physically disabled, some temporarily out of work, some alcoholic. As they work, they regain their self-respect, a sense of usefulness, and often learn a trade or skill that enables them to return to gainful employment in a regular industry.

Hand in hand with the work program for these men is the residence program. While at the Centre, they are given food, housing, medical care, recreational facilities and religious guidance. As they regain their usefulness, they also earn a small amount of pocket money each week.

Through this program, The Salvation Army has guided thousands of men back to the point where they can return to their rightful place in society.

In centres across the nation the work of The Army's corps or religious units is carried on. Through devotional services held in the corps, the Army seeks to provide a "church for those who have no church". The sidewalk meetings, which usually precede these services, are a practical means of taking the Gospel to those who need it where they are.

The work of the Family Welfare Bureaus is carried on by workers who combine understanding with training and skill. Families of all nationalities and creeds bring a delinquent child, a broken marriage, a health problem or difficulties with the budget, the worker offers the needed help and advice. Often the roots of an emotional problem are found in unresolved economic difficulties, and The Salvation Army can help to obtain the needed assistance.

Since the Boer War, the work of the Salvation Army with the armed forces has been traditional. Today's returning veterans find The Salvation Army on hand to provide them with coffee and doughnuts, or gift packages of gum, candy and useful items such as combs, handkerchiefs and postal cards. "Canada Corner" is a familiar "Red Shield rendezvous for troops stationed in Germany. Here are provided writing and reading rooms, snack bar and always a room for devotional purposes. A variety of games and music are also available.

Children and their welfare have always been of deep concern to The Salvation Army, and through its foster home placement program in cooperation with the recognized Government agencies, it seeks to give each child the birthrights of love and care which he would not otherwise have. Its camps, at the seashore or by woodland lakes, are filled, each summer, with thousands of city youngsters. As they swim, fish, hike and study the wonders of nature, their minds are made happy and their bodies to workers and firemen, hand out clothing and blankets, comfort the wounded and their families, and become strong and healthy to withstand the coming winter.

But perhaps when disaster strikes the heartwarming service of these men and women in blue is felt most poignantly. At fires, in floods, earthquakes, railroad accidents and plane wrecks, the emergency canteen is quickly on the scene. Tirelessly they serve food even help in the rescue operations.

Times have changed since The Salvation Army began as a small singing, marching band of evangelists in the East End of London. It has grown into a powerful widespread religious and welfare organization, adjusting its work to fit the problems of humanity in our troubled world of today. But it is still an army of peace, and its spiritual purpose is paramount. Its officers and soldiers, with hearts dedicated to God and hands out to mankind, carry on their services not as the doling out of alms, but as a practical expression of Christianity in action. And through these services, the erring, the bewildered and the unfortunate are restored to their proper relationship with God and fellow man. In every corner of the world where a need exists, The Salvation Army seeks to meet that need.

SCOUT NEWS
By The Cap

There were just 37 Wolf Cubs out at their last meeting and as it happened only one Scouter to look after them. Akela needs and wants another Assistant Cubmaster to help her out. A stiff practice in the opening and closing exercises, including the Grand Howl, Flag Break and Cub Silence, were repeated a few times. When the howl went up it was easy to see the stove pipes quiver. The four Wolf Cub Knots were explained as to their uses and tied, first one way and then another. After a couple of games the meeting closed with the Mouse Howl. Did you folks ever hear a mouse howl? It is done at Cub meeting and some squeak! After the finish, it was found that some chaps, who do not and could not belong to the Scout Association had played what they consider a wonderful joke by letting the air out of a couple of bicycle wheels. They are known and this is not finished by any means. One Cub passed his Tenderpad test and will be invested next week.

The Scout Troop had a treasure hunt last meeting ending up with a bit of a grub pile. The hunt was good while it lasted but unfortunately one P. L. forgot his compass and got lost and another must have become lazy because he came in to H.Q. with the job only half done and had to go out again. Anyway there was lots of fun and it ended up in the draw. A new Chum was registered as shown in the Gazette.

The Bronze Arrowhead Class finished up on Friday and all 16 received their examination papers which must be answered and returned to the D.C. in one week. It has been a good class with a great deal of interest taken in all its phases, and it should do a lot to assist the various Scoutmasters in the District in carrying out their weekly meetings. The names of the successful candidates will be published in the Scout Gazette authorizing them to wear the Bronze Arrowhead in their shoulderknot as soon as Provincial Headquarters approve.

It was nice to see some of the Rovers and Squires helping out at the Troop meeting.

Permission has been received from the Headquarters of the St. Johns Ambulance Society to conduct a class in both Home Nursing and First Aid. A minimum of at least twenty is required in both classes and the secretary, Mrs. Melvin Armstrong, of Scout Mothers' Auxiliary is accepting names of those who wish to join. Anyone wishing to take either of these courses should give their name to the Secretary.

First year successful students receive a Certificate; 2nd year a label to the medalion. The medalion may be obtained in three ways:-By two Home Nursing and two First Aid or three First Aid Courses. In each case the third course must be a First Aid course. Those who have their medallion may add a Label by taking a further First Aid or Home Nursing course. Scouts and Rovers who receive their certificate are automatically granted their Ambulanceman's Badge and this badge must be renewed each year since it is a compulsory badge for a Queen's Scout rating. Scouts should leave their name with their Scoutmaster, if they wish to certify.

Shawville at present has 33 Certificates, 7 Vouchers and 8 Medallions or a total of 48 graduates. This is a splendid showing and is part of the Civil Defence work of Scouting. Drs. C.F.C. Powles and Frank Cowley have been the Instructors and the Examiners for these courses and on the whole the marks have been very high. Mrs. Reuben Smith, R.N., who earned her medallion last year, has been appointed an Instructor in Home Nursing and the classes will be well conducted again. Names must be in by Christmas in order that complete arrangements can be made for this year as the classes will start in the week of January 3rd to 9th on an evening suitable to most. Taking this course is well worth while and the public should take advantage of this opportunity. The cost will be your bandage, text book and membership with the Auxiliary.

There were 32 boys out to the last meeting of the Wolf Cub Pack, and after the smoke from the Red Flower had cleared away, the Green Six had taken the pennant. Akela has introduced the Patrol System which she has found works with each Sixer doing the instructing, with a Scouter supervising. This is the way it should be and each Sixer, or in his absence his Second, should be capable of doing that. As a matter of fact it is his job and he will have to keep at least one jump ahead of his Cubs to be able to teach them. One of the Wolf Cubs made a pig trough as his model for his 2nd Star, but I understand that the pig would have to eat very quickly to get a meal. Anyway it was well done and he will get credit for it as shown in the Gazette. Two chums were invested and a Cub passed his Collectors test.

At the Troop meeting the efforts of the Scouters were concentrated on 2nd Class Knots and Lashings. The teaching of these was through the Patrol System and when a Scout was considered capable he was sent to a Scouter where he was tested. S.M. Watson and A.S.Ms. Richardson and Gosnell were kept busy since in addition to the above lashings, two other Scouts passed their Kim's Game. The next meeting will be on Wednesday in order that the Field Commissioner, Jim Riddell, can see them both in action. On the following Friday the Shawville Rover Crew will meet with the Pontiac District Council at a supper meeting in the Pontiac Hotel where Jim will be the Guest Speaker. During all next week visits will be made to all Centres in Pontiac District, a full report of which will be made in the next issue of The Equity.

We are very sorry to report that the human dynamo, Mr. Eddie Rousche of Bryson is resigning as Scoutmaster of the Troop at that point. Eddie is going to the High Falls Plant of the Great Lakes Power Co., near Wawa, Ontario. There are no Scouts there at present, but they do have a Girl Guide Troop and the writer will venture to say that there will be Scouts there before next spring. In addition to being the S.M. of Bryson, he was also the leader of the Scout Bugle Band which has added a great deal to Pontiac District. The Troop is being taken over by Mr. Elmer Wall, assisted by Dr. H. R. Rabb and Earl M. Ward. Eddie will be greatly missed in Bryson and Pontiac District and every Cub, Scout and Rover Scout Scouters and members of the Group Committees and Auxiliaries wish him the very best of Good Hunting in the future.

It will be noted in the Gazette that Mr. Edgar Moses of Quyon has been granted Leave of Absence from his position as Scoutmaster of the Troop. Mr. Moses is going south in order to recuperate and as he says it, to supple up his joints so he can go to Tamaracouta next year. The Troop will be in the temporary charge of Scouter Laurie C. MacKechnie, Asst. Scoutmaster during Mr. Moses absence. We wish Mr. Moses the best of Good Hunting as well and hope he will come back full of that old ginger of his. Doubtless it will be fresh pineapples and grapefruit topped off with fresh oranges off a tree. Don't eat too much Arroz con Pollo when you go to Cuba, Edgar!

In Memoriam

Tubman—In loving memory of our little daughter and sister, Diana, who passed away, December 11, 1950.
The stars tonight are shining
Upon a lonely grave
Beneath it sleeps the one we love
The one we could not save,
We morn for her in silence
No eyes can see us weep,
Butm any a silent tear is shed
While others are asleep.
—Mummy and Daddy,
Floyd and Donna. x

Hayes—In loving memory of a dear father and father-in-law and grandfather, Samuel J. Hayes, who passed away, December 12, 1951.
Gone from us but leaving memories
Death can never take away
Memories that will always linger
While upon this earth we stay.
—Ever remembered by
Elsie, Ebert, Jean and Bert.

Woods—In loving memory of a dear husband, Samuel C. Woods, who passed away, December 14, 1951.
They say time heals all sorrow
And helps you to forget,
But time so far has only proved
How much I miss him yet.
—Wife x

Woods—In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Samuel C. Woods, who passed away December 14, 1951.
Oh for the touch of a vanished hand,
And the sound of a voice that is still.
—Flora, Roland and Stuart.

Dean—In loving memory of a dear husband, John A. Dean, who passaway, December 16, 1952.
Since you've gone first and I remain
To walk the road alone,
I live in memory's garden, dear,
With happy days we've known.
I hear your voice, I see you're smile
Though blindly I may grope,
The memory of your helping hand
Still buoys me on with hope.
We've known so much of happiness
We've had our cup of joy,
And memory is one gift of God
That death cannot destroy.
Since you've gone first and I remain
One thing I'd have you do,
Walk slowly down the path of death
For soon I'll follow you.
I want to know each step you take,
That I may walk the same,
For some day down that lonely road
You'll hear me call your name.
—Wife.
