City hearing on housing gets heated

Heated debate flared at times at the city's public housing meeting at Westmount Park School last Thursday evening as aldermen listened to the residents' fears and sometimes imaginative viewpoints.

One of the most far-out ideas expressed was that of a Clandeboye avenue resident that the public housing project on Hillside avenue be transferred to the Dorchester parking lot east of Atwater avenue and the twin-tower apartment project planned for the parking lot be built on Hillside.

One resident accused the council of not giving "the full story" while another accused Arthur Dirkman, the defeated candidate for aldermanic office, of "holding back" and not presenting himself.

Mr. Dirkman was late in arriving and an embarrassing moment occurred when Mayor Paul Ouimet who was chairing the meeting asked for questions and discussions and no one took the microphone.

Lengthy text

Somebody suggested that as Mr. Dirkman had sent round the petition, he should take the microphone. After he arrived Mr. Dirkman read from a lengthy prepared text which reiterated the fears he has already expressed.

To fill in the time before the

New school board situation:

GOODWIN, TILLEY FIGHT, ACCLAMATION FOR ROBB

Westmount this week is facing its second election for local public office in little more than two months.

Contenders on a Westmount School Board ballot Jan. 10 appear to be veteran school commissioner A. Reid Tilley and newcomer Harvey S. W. Goodwin.

An acclamation looms for James A. Robb, who three years ago lost by a close margin at the polls to Mr. Tilley.

All this . . . and Caron, too

Also on the agenda for Wednesday's WMA meeting is nomination of Raymond Caron, QC, as a library trustee; election of four members at large to the nominating committee; an address by Grant Clarke, director of 4424 Inc., and a period devoted to the anti-pollution movement, STOP.

The new situation emerged earlier this week when Westmount Municipal Association President Michael J. Hayes, in a circular to WMA members, announced that the association's nominating committee was recommending to its general meeting next Wednesday evening three persons for the two seats becoming vacant on the school board.

The names were those of Messrs. Goodwin, Robb and Tilley. None was designated for either particular seat. This was double departure from WMA practice by which nominations have in the past been made of one person only for each specified office.

Mr. Hayes in his letter further proposed "that no vote will be

Pair nabbed carrying drugs

Two Montreal men, ages 23 and 24, were picked up by Westmount Police for possession of drugs in Le Bonjour Restaurant in the Alexis Nihon Plaza Friday about 10:30 pm. One was found in possession of a half ounce of hashish, the other had some pep pills. They were turned over to the RCMP and charged. The Westmount Police were on a routine check when the discovery occurred.

137 students absent at WHS Amchitka day

On the afternoon of Nov. 5, when a student demonstration took place at the U.S. consulate on McGregor avenue against the impending Amchitka nuclear explosion, there were 137 pupils reported absent from their home rooms at Westmount High School.

In view of the wide "spectrum of opinion expressed in the excuses received" from parents, no punishment was meted out to those who had been absent.

This information is contained in a letter from Dr. E.R. Pounder, chairman of the Westmount School Board, published under "You Say" on page 4.

The decision not to punish was that of Noel Hamilton, the principal, Dr. Pounder says, calling it a "wise decision."

Dress theft is abortive at store door

An alleged thief was caught red-handed with two dresses valued at $45 Saturday about 2:30 pm at Bernard's Fashion Inc., Alexis Nihon Plaza.

The young woman, accompanied by a friend, was on her way out of the store when she was stopped by a sales clerk who noticed some dresses were missing. They were found in the woman's large handbag. No charges have been laid as yet.

Week's Weather

By ERIC NEAL

DECEMBER 3 to 10

Recovering from a partial thaw and general weather upset, we can count upon very cold, blue sky days until Tuesday, with maybe just a sprinkling of powder snow, and a barometer reading of 30½". Furthermore winter resort operators may well have a spectacular opening for this early season, providing their prepared base was not washed away.

Conditions will change suddenly Thursday as temperatures ease for the sleet and snow squalls which may always be expected for the December moon last quarter. A ¼" of rain and 5 to 7" of wet snow is normal for this week, but we could have much more this season.

Temperature range: south, 10 and 45 F.; north, 5 and 35 F.

questions started, Norbert Schoenauer, architect of the project, began explaining the background of the project until interrupted by a resident who claimed the council was not being impartial in the matter.

Some of the highlights of the meeting:

+ The project will have a ratio of about 30 persons per acre while the city's overall ratio is about 90 persons per acre. (But the city's overall ratio takes into account parks, streets, commercial areas, etc.) Also, in two apartment buildings recently constructed in the city, the density is 400 persons per acre;

+ Net cost of running the project to the city will be about $30,000 annually;

NEW SLANT FOR CITY COUNCIL: These are the five city council members, from a new angle, as they listened last Thursday evening in Westmount Park School to citizens' pros and cons on the proposed public housing project on Hillside avenue. Left to right: Ald. Douglas Robertson, Ald. William Wood, Mayor Paul Ouimet, Ald. Charles Aspler and Ald. Donald MacCallum.

+ While there is a law governing the proximity of buildings to railway tracks, the project does not break the law as there are dispensations made for such projects in urban areas.

+ It is the opinion of the Architectural and Planning Committee that land values in the surrounding areas of the project will go up as the present disused railway siding will be transformed into a more attractive site.

LENGTHY BRIEF: Arthur Dirkman is seen delivering his lengthy brief to the city administration Thursday night. Immediately behind him, head bowed, is Albert Fisher, president of the Selby residents' group who would be chief beneficiaries of the public housing project which Mr. Dirkman's group opposes. Far right is Michael Hayes, president of the Westmount Municipal Association, an interested observer.

+ As there are three streets leading down from St. Catherine street to the project—Abbott avenue, Metcalfe avenue and Hillside lane—residents of those streets can estimate on an increase of about 33 cars travelling on their streets over a 24-hour period;

+ As the project lies north of the highway and the prevailing winds blow south, Architect Schoenauer predicts there will be less pollution north of the highway than south;

+ Three sites were studied by the city's architectural and planning committee before settling on the Hillside avenue site;

+ The city by-law which was passed to enable single bed-roomed apartments to be built in the Hillside avenue area does not concern only public housing. Public housing can be built anywhere in Westmount.

Pilot collections of waste paper slated to encourage recycling

Under pressure from Westmount's Society to Overcome Pollution (STOP), the city government has embarked on a pilot project to recycle waste paper.

eastern city limits, Murray avenue, Cote St. Antoine and Montrose avenue, the normal city garbage truck will be followed by a dump truck which will pick up newspapers.

Jim Miller, an engineer with the public works department, said the success of the project depends on the willingness of residents to separate their newspapers from the regular garbage.

"If the residents don't feel strongly enough about the issue to bother to separate their garbage, then the project will fail," he said.

He said the newspapers should preferably be in cardboard boxes but, if this wasn't possible, they should be tied in bundles.

"But they shouldn't be left loose because that would complicate handling," he said.

Educational step

Nancy Brown, publicity agent for STOP, said the basic purpose of the project is to educate the public on the need for recycling garbage and to stimulate the city to embark on a permanent program.

"We want to emphasize that this is not a single-shot newspaper drive," said Mrs. Brown, "but an educational program aimed at producing permanent results."

She said paper formed about 20 percent of solid waste refuse and that glass and paper together form about 30 percent of solid waste.

"Both these products can be recycled," she said.

Nobody knows for sure if the waste paper program will cost money, earn money or break even.

WMA and politics

WESTMOUNT Municipal Association officers admirably seek to avoid political entanglements.

Unfortunately, they cannot. Politics comes in many brands and disguises.

While trying to avoid actively backing any candidate for public office by the seemingly innocent strategem of endorsing three, they have not given to the membership the clear guidance, to accept or reject, which is expected of the WMA.

The WMA is abdicating one of its essential functions. It is running scared following recent mistakes. It is making ad hoc policy changes which do no credit to the intelligent people in the association and discredit its long and useful history.

BY the mere act of "encouraging the candidacy of interested and qualified citizens for civic office in the City of Westmount," the WMA is by its charter quite properly involved, however thinly it is sliced, in politics. The mere act of seeking or choosing between people is political.

Indeed, the WMA is moving startlingly closer to the reality of what happens in political parties. The weighing of candidates is done in small conclaves behind closed doors, then presented to a membership for approval.

That process went badly awry in the recent aldermanic election. The leadership lost control of the situation. Their choice lost the nomination, the association's candidate lost the election and the organization, though temporarily, even lost its president!

WE don't rehash these events to embarrass anyone. But it is important for the future of the WMA that they be placed and held in perspective in view of on-going events.

These are the developments behind closed doors of the past fortnight or so, during which the WMA officers have attempted to grapple with the new problem of putting forward "interested and qualified citizens" for next month's two school board vacancies, at the same time trying to benefit from sad experience and avoid recent mistakes.

We know, too, that they have been exposed to some raw political influence, which demonstrates another way that willy-nilly the WMA can become politically involved. Let no WMA member who may turn out to next Wednesday evening's general meeting be under any illusions. Local Commissioner A. Reid Tilley is not loved by the Liberals, particularly for being chairman of the Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal which has been a severe thorn in the Liberal Government's side in its opposition to Bill 28 to restructure education on the Island of Montreal.

We happen to think that the PSBGM has carried a fight, which it was bound to lose, beyond its mandate and, in some respects, beyond propriety. But we also believe that Mr. Tilley has filled his role as chairman of that board with dignity and skill, and that local Liberal wheelhorses bringing their animosities into the non-partisan forum, or back rooms, of the Westmount Municipal Association is a highly improper subverting of the purposes of the WMA.

Any political party should have the good sense to keep its hands off the association. The local Liberals have used very poor sense indeed. There are constituents, good Liberal supporters, who profoundly resent gerrymandering within their neutral citizens' organization.

Youth in the labor force

In the course of last week's public meeting held at the Berkeley Hotel with Hon. Gerard Pelletier, I had occasion to comment briefly upon certain aspects of youth in the labor force. I would now like to amplify those observations.

Recent statistics (labor force survey, October 1971, Statistics Canada) reveal some interesting trends in the "participation rate" in the 14 - 24 - year - old group. (The participation rate of a specified group is the percentage of the group that are members of the labor force.) Since 1956, the participation rate of the 14 - 24 group has been constantly below that of the total population. This can be attributed mainly to higher levels of university enrolment than was the case in the late '40's and early '50's.

One third higher The unemployment rate in the officially, that the WMA was dumping Mr. Tilley from its slate. The only difference is that instead of forthrightly putting forward two names for the two offices, it compromised. It named three. This is no slate.

In effect, it is saying: the heat was on, we throw up our hands. The WMA abdicates its traditional role. Let the electoral machinery decide. The easy way out.

+ + +

GOOD judgment would have called for the clear retention of Mr. Tilley, in his present important role as PSBGM chairman. Restructuring of education would in due course decide his future in any event, in a honorable way.

Good judgment would have led the WMA nominators to also name Mr. James Robb OR Mr. Harvey Goodwin — but not both.

Or, if they could not decide between these two, next best would have been to put forward a third other, designating two candidates for each of the two open seats on the school board. They then would not have left the situation in a shambles for three nominees to jockey for themselves: Which one gets the acclamation for one seat and which two fight it out for the other.

THIS newspaper feels a strong kinship for the WMA. We both serve essentially the same people: the citizens who have a concern for the affairs and the welfare of Westmount.

We believe the members of the WMA who turn out Wednesday evening should, while being sympathetic to the problems with which their officers have been grappling, demand that sudden switches of policy which put the association in disarray should cease in favor of deliberation which weighs not only immediate expediency but consequences.

14-24 age group has, on the other hand, been an average of one-third higher than that of the total labor force over the last 15 years. This is due to a couple of unavoidable circumstances, namely the lack of experience and the low marketability of youth; and the recurring categorization of youth as "unemployed" at the beginning of each summer while they seek employment.

In 1970, the unemployment rate for the 14-24 age group rose to nearly twice as high as the national average, and this is cause for great concern on the part of the federal government.

Looking at these figures on a trend basis, as the national unemployment rates rise, the participation rates of the 14-24 age group falls. Conversely, as the national unemployment rates fall, the participation rates for the 14-24 group rises accordingly with a slight time lag in both cases).

Shelter of university

One can conclude from this that as the labor market picture brightens, one can expect more young people to seek jobs. However, when the outlook begins to look a little bleaker, one can expect a withdrawal from the labor force by many people in the 14-24 age group to the relative security of university. The 25-and-over group unfortunately does not have an option such as this, and consequently there has been a steady increase in the participation rate of this group for many years.

Current statistics indicate that the growth rates in the 14-24 group which were by far the fastest during the 1960's will decelerate considerably in the 1970's and 1980's. This slack will be taken up by the 25 - 34 age group which will in turn become the fastest growing fraction of the labor force.

It is hoped that this change in the demographic composition of Canada's labor force will contribute to a progressive reduction of the unemployment figures for youth.

Board chairman on Amchitka issue

Sir: Your issue of Nov. 18 contained a letter from Mrs. Ormos-Cernat regarding the role played by some young people from Westmount High School in the demonstration in front of the U.S. Consulate on Nov. 5 against the Amchitka nuclear test. She sent me a copy of her letter asking that I bring it to the attention of the Westmount School Board. I asked the principal of Westmount High, Mr. Hamilton, to attend the regular meeting of the board on Nov. 15 and this matter was thoroughly discussed. The board was satisfied that Mr. Hamilton had given no students permission to be absent from school to take part in the demonstration, and that his conduct of the school in

Conventions mixed blessings

Party conventions are, to my mind, mixed blessings. On the positive side, they give representatives of every area in the province a chance to gather in one place. Apart from stimulating contacts and friendships, this helps to make each person a little more aware of his neighbors' very real and probably quite dissimilar problems. The complexity of establishing an order of priority in which to tackle these is, as a result, somewhat more evident to the rank and file member. Conventions also afford the average person an opportunity to meet the ministers and others responsible for the policies and programs of the various government departments. A frank discussion either in a workshop or on a person-to-person informal basis often proves a satisfying and perhaps reassuring experience for the delegates. (Right, Westmount delegates?)

Complications

On the other hand, the very size of such gatherings leads to complications. Probably one of the greatest drawbacks is the fact that there are so many drawbacks is the fact that there are so many resolutions to be discussed and voted upon, that it is virtually impossible to do justice to any of them. When a workshop has well over a hundred proposals to deal with, some distinctly controversial, it is obvious that lack of time if nothing else will preclude a thorough debate. This, of course, is most unfortunate, as it is the cause of much frustration to those delegates who are sincerely concerned about an issue, and wish it to be carefully considered by their party.

this matter was completely correct.

I wrote to this effect to Mrs. Ormos-Cernat but felt no need to write The Examiner or otherwise issue a public statement since The Examiner reported fully and accurately in its news columns on the discussion and decision of the board.

This letter is prompted by those from J.D.H. Donnay and Barbara Henshaw Gelinas in your issue of Nov. 25. Mr. Donnay raises a number of questions, one of which I have answered already, some which I cannot answer - I do not know how the demonstration was organized, and two on which I wish to comment, namely reporting of truancy and punishment.

It is the responsibility of the home-room teacher to record and report absences. On return to school the student is supposed to bring a written "excuse" from a parent. On the afternoon of Nov. 5 about 137 pupils were absent. The spectrum of opinion expressed in the excuses received on Nov. 8 was wide: some parents were indignant that their children had left school and felt they should be punished, others supported their action in demonstrating, and many were non-committal, with statements limited to 'Johnny was absent from school with my permission' but with no reason given.

In view of the diversity in opinions Mr. Hamilton, in my view wisely, decided not to punish those who had been out of school that day. At the next school assembly he did discuss the matter, pointing out that students did not have the right individually or collectively to decide to leave the school. He also made the point to individual students that the demonstration could hardly be expected to be effective when the protest from the Canadian government was not.

The letter from Mrs. Gelinas raises a very important philosophical point about the role of the school. Students have been complaining for some time about the irrelevance of some of the school curriculum, and I hope that the implications of the Amchitka test and of similar important world events are being discussed in the schools. On the other hand, the dividing line between free, open discussion and indoctrination is a thin one. Schools have been used as a political instrument before now.

No referendum,
no permission

Sir: In concern with the letter that a certain worried parent wrote, we would like to straighten her out on the Anchitka affair.

First of all, no referendum was ever sent throughout the school, and at the time when we spoke to Mr. Hamilton he stated that he could not allow, under any circumstances, students to leave the school to attend the demonstration.

The View from the Flight Deck

by CAPT. EDWARD R. HILL Panex Travel Centers

Air Canada Flight number 625—the Connoisseur Service—lifts off from Montreal International Airport every afternoon at 5.10 pm and heads for Los Angeles. During the flight, the 16 first class passengers enjoy the experience of a leisurely gourmet dinner comparable to the offerings of a Cordon Bleu French restaurant while flying 500 miles per hour at 35,000 feet.

Just reading the menu (printed in script on a parchment paper) is a mouth-watering experience for anyone who appreciates fine food. Consomme du Marquis, Filet de Dore au Fenouil (fillet of dore with fennel), Faisan en Cocotte (pheasant) accompanied by either a Puligny Montrachet or a Liebfraumilch's Filet de Boeuf a la Bec (choice beef tenderloin), with a Clos de Vougeot 1953; garden vegetables, green salad, followed by a choice of exotic desserts accompanied by a vintage Champagne, sweets, liquors and coffee.

The man responsible for all these epicurean joys is Claude A. Villaudy, Air Canada's executive chef. Paris-born and trained there in the culinary arts and hotel administration, he is completely devoted to his work in creating superb meals and serving them under conditions that would phase many a chef.

After graduating from the renowned Ecole Hoteliere de Paris, Villaudy served in various capacities in the hotel industry in France as a trainee. He gained administrative experience in the front office of the Royal Splendid Hotel in Aix-les-Bains, France, as a head waiter at the Hotel Russel in Dublin and as the chef at the French and Belgian Embassies in Dublin.

He spent some time, after military service, at the Park Lane Hotel in London and in 1963, moved to Canada where he joined the Queen Elizabeth Hotel in Montreal and, Villaudy says, is the most efficiently run hotel in the whole Hilton chain. He spent three years there as Captain and Assistant Maitre D' in the Beaver Club, one of the hotel's most exclusive restaurants.

Many functions

His duties cover a wide range of functions: he has to create the menus, test the recipes, choose the right wines, supervise the purchasing of all the foods, provide the caterers with specifications for every item on the menus—there are 120 desserts alone in the manual—as well as full color photographs of every hors d'oeuvre, entree, dessert and in fact everything prepared to the executive chef's strict specifications; he has to maintain a tight cost control and make sure that movable equipment, dishes, hot plates, cutlery and such things all end up where they should and not be piled up in Los Angeles when they are needed in Toronto.

Food for the economy class is just as carefully prepared and the same top quality ingredients are used, Villaudy says. "Of course it's economically unfeasible to serve the variety of foods to economy passengers as we serve in the first class section. Nevertheless, we maintain the same quality and standards. We serve two items on the economy flight, a choice perhaps of filet mignon or breast of chicken and this menu is changed frequently. The food is excellent, but more simple, however, we do not compromise in any way. For instance, we would never serve an inferior substitute for foie gras in the economy class and pretend that it is real foie gras."

Last April, he was advised that Britain's Queen Elizabeth would be making a royal tour to British Columbia to celebrate that province's 100th anniversary. The tour started in London on May 3 and Villaudy was there for a few days before to prepare the food. The royal party travelled all the way on a chartered Air Canada DC-8.

Three menus for every meal and snack during the flight to and from Canada had to be submitted to Buckingham Palace and then the royal household made the selections. He was quite interested in the protocol involved, having picked up a fair amount of that sort of thing during his days at the French and Belgian Embassies in Dublin.

French for food

He also notes that although "English may be the international language of aviation, the British royal household has no doubts about the international language of food. All menus were requested in French."

Villaudy says that being executive chef for an airline is sometimes a lonely job. "You have to remain a little aloof. It's difficult to accept a dinner invitation from a caterer one evening and the following day reject a couple of thousand dollars worth of food in his kitchens because you don't think it's up to standard," he says.

However, he feels that there are other things that make up for this. He thoroughly enjoys seeing people eat a great meal. "To see them just satisfied with the food is not enough—it has to be a gastronomic experience."

"People are not entirely at ease sometimes when they board an aircraft and the best way to relax them, is to serve a gourmet dinner. It's also a superb form of entertainment. They will remember such a meal for a long time to come and they will come back for another memorable eating experience. You can see a movie anytime, but a gourmet dinner—tres recherche."

See you on the flight deck—Over and out!

Power cuts brought on by changes

The minor power failures Westmounters have been experiencing over the past few weeks will continue until the end of the month.

That's the word from Alex Heron, head of the city's light and power department, who explained that the cuts were caused by a rewiring of the city.

Rewiring is needed because of the construction of the new Hydro-Quebec Maisonneuve substation on Selby street near Dawson College.

The city used to be fed power from two stations, one on Guy street and one on Atwater avenue. Now it will be fed by the single new station.

The changes in wiring should be completed by the end of the month, said Mr. Heron.

Redivision

Approval was given at last week's council meeting for the redivision of lots Nos. 284-16 and 284-17 into three new lots facing on Summit Circle and Sunnyside avenue, as prepared by C.L. Mercier, QLS, for the owner of the property, Estate Gillean.

Quebec's National Assembly will join the ranks of the International French speaking Parliamentary Association and the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association.

Church and Synagogue

Street wide as ocean Kirker tells St. Andrew's

"In few places are Church and synagogue to be found in such close proximity as right here," Rev. E.A. Kirker reminded the St. Andrew's congregation last Sunday, "yet we have allowed a street to become as wide as the Atlantic ocean."

Calling for a better understanding of our co-religionists of the Jewish faith, Mr. Kirker traced the Biblical concept of the chosen people which led to Isaiah's prophecy of the suffering servant. "No people have suffered more for their faith than the Jewish people," he declared, "and this suffering is prolonged and perpetuated by the unfounded and often contradictory prejudices of others."

As well as eliminating such prejudices, the St. Andrew's minister stated, Christians need to understand the hopes and aspirations of the Jewish people. While sharing the feeling of many Jews, that the state of Israel is not beyond reproach, he said, "Christians need to view the rebirth of Jewish peoplehood in that land as a phoenix rising from the ashes of six million dead. As Auschwitz symbolizes for the Jews crucifixion, so the rebirth of Israel represents for them resurrection."

This Sunday, the second

Two services at Dominion

Sunday in Dominion-Douglas United Church there will be two services, at 9:30 and 11:00 am at which Dr. R. Douglas Smith will preach the second sermon on the meaning of the coming of Jesus. - "He Comes - in Peace."

Peace is one of to-day's greatly misunderstood words. What does Jesus mean when he says, "My Peace"? Does inner peace mean an escape from conflict and some of life's situations?

At the Music Before Service at 10:45, Gayle McAskill, soprano, will be soloist.

At the official board meeting on Tuesday, Rev. Jackson Mwape, president of The United Church of Zambia, was welcomed in a Coffee Time reception after which he spoke briefly to the board.

Sunday in Advent, the topic of Mr. Kirker's sermon is "The Authority of the Bible." A number of new members will be received during the service. A social reception in their honor will take place in the church library.

At 8:45 pm, an organ recital, open to the public, will be given on the Casavant tracker-action organ by Tom Miles, youthful American organist studying with Bernard Legace in Montreal. Mr. Miles is a member of the St. Andrew's choir.

It was announced last week that the third in the series of pre-Christmas musical events at St. Andrew's will be a concert of seasonal music to be given by the Island City Singers on Dec. 12 at 8 pm. The proceeds will go to the work of the Foundation of the Friends of St. Anne in Montreal.

Spiritual healing under discussion

Spiritual healing is based on an understanding of God and His creation, according to the lesson-sermon to be read at all Christian Science Church services this Sunday.

The healing by Christ Jesus of the man "which had an infirmity thirty and eight years" is included in the Bible portion of the lesson-sermon entitled "God the Only Cause and Creator."

Commentary from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy includes: "Physical causation was put aside from first to last by this original man, Jesus. He knew that the divine Principle, Love, creates and governs all that is real."

Six churches represented

Six neighboring churches were represented among some 80 persons who attended Evensong for the Feast of Title at the Church of the Advent on Sunday—despite Grey Cup and other competition. A casserole supper was served afterward by the Fellowship.

The largest indoor tennis centre in Canada will be inaugurated on November 1, in the garden-city of Nuns' Island. Facilities will be completed at the cost of $1 million and will include ten courts.

The SHAAR HASHOMAYIM YOUTH COMMUNITY cordially invites you to attend a CHANUKAH evenings concert by Sholomo Carlebach on Wednesday, December 15 at 7:30 pm in the Metcalfe Avenue Hall, of the Shaar Hashomayim Synagogue, 450 Kensington. # Shaar marks 125th

The second oldest Jewish congregation in Canada, which has resided in Westmount since 1921, celebrates its 125th anniversary this year.

Shaar Hashomayim, 450 Kensington avenue, which was created in 1846 as a corporation of English, German and Polish Jews, constructed the Kensington avenue synagogue in 1921 with an extension being added in 1967.

At that time the synagogue boasted of only 300 families. It has mushroomed since to 1,650 families.

Rabbi Wilfred Shuchat, the senior rabbi of the congregation who is celebrating his 25th anniversary of service to Shaar Hashomayim, said that during the first half of the 20th century the synagogue produced many of the leaders of national Jewish organizations and several prominent Canadians.

The highlight of the year's celebration will be the anniversary dinner which takes place Saturday evening at 7 pm with Rabbi Bernard Mandelbaum, chancellor of the Jewish Theological College, as guest speaker. The dinner will be preceded at 6:15 pm by a cocktail encounter and art showing sponsored by the Sisterhood.

Another event which is taking place in celebration of the anniversary is Kaleidoscope '71 - a Gala Art festival next Wednesday, from 10 am to 5 pm at the synagogue.

Mr. Scott has been long associated with the appeal and was associate chairman for the 1971 campaign.

paintings ranging from classical to contemporary will be shown on Wednesday, from 10 am to 5 pm. The collection was assembled by Raizel Macklovitch. The public is invited.

Among the activities in the Hashomayim Sisterhood are French conversation courses, volunteer social work including visiting the sick and house-bound, a Gourmet (kosher) cooking course which features top chefs from leading hotels and restaurants; youth groups which run educational, social, athletic programs for children aged 6 - 18, and the Leisure Group for retired members giving dance, and bridge lessons.

There is also a committee for the series composed of young people from 20 - 40 who last year brought in a Dance Troup of Black Jewish Americans as well as well-known authors (Eli Wiesel) to speak. The sisterhood also sponsors study programs and book reviews - a far cry from the days when women went into the kitchens and cooked and baked.

In addition to the exhibition and sale of art, there will be a holiday gift show, a luncheon and afternoon tea and an original musical revue. This is the 50th year of the group; it is the oldest conservative sisterhood in Canada.

Also, the Hashomayim boy scout group is 50 years old; it may be the oldest continuous troupe in Montreal.

Poch, chairman of the school board, and Mr. Norman Yanofsky, principal, will discuss with parents the curriculum and its implementation. Following the meeting parents are invited to their child's classroom where they will observe the lesson being taught that day.

pre-school problems, and agreed that there was room for a co-operative pre-school program in Westmount.

As a result of their work, classes will begin in January for three-year-olds in the morning, and four-and five-year-olds in the afternoons, up to five days a week, in the basement of Westmount Park School.

Parental involvement, with parents taking part in "orientation" programs with the school staff prior to the full operation of the school, will be one of the main co-operative principles of the school. As a result of parent participation, fees will depend on ability to pay, allowing children and parents of families not able to afford nursery school costs to participate.

Mrs. Gabrielle Pilot and Mrs. Helen Rochester presented the school's educational philosophy, and indicated how the daily program can help achieve this idea. The main idea is for parents and children to keep in touch with one another, and parents can do this by going with the child into the schools, and learning from him and with him.

The program will be flexible, incorporating free play, physical and sensory activity, and stimulating perceptual awareness. Each child will be made to feel that the school is for him, that his rights will be respected and that the teacher is an aid to establishing an atmosphere of love and trust in the child's first educational experience.

A "workshop evening" for fathers or any interested persons will be held at Westmount Park School on Tuesday evening, Dec. 14, in order to construct needed school equipment.

Hydro-Quebec has set up a Foreign Relations service within its public relations branch, in order to organize its exchanges abroad which have become increasingly important throughout the years. The new service disseminates through the press and other media, all useful information on Hydro-Quebec liable to interest foreigners.

Following a unanimous vote by its governors, the University of Quebec will have a constituent university in the Ottawa region, in the western part of the province. Under an agreement to take place between the University and the Department of Education, Hull Teachers' College will join the network, and will offer programs leading to university degrees.

The forgotten saint

Monday, Nov. 22, 1971, passed as any other day locally although there used to be celebrations in some centres to commemorate its significance. Tributes, at least, were written about St. Cecilia, the Patron Saint of Music.

are even familiar with her name. I have written about St. Cecilia several times prior to this but unless something happens annually, the Saint is gradually forgotten and new generations are thus uneducated.

There is a wonderful painting of St. Cecilia by the celebrated Italian genius, Raphael, 1483-1520. (His real name was Raffaello Sanzio and his biography is thrilling even though his life span was only 37 years.) In many art galleries, other great painters have contributed to her memory.

The Patron Saint of Music was martyred 176 AD when she was beheaded for refusing to marry a pagan. In the Fifteenth Century, St. Cecilia was made the Patron Saint of Music. Remember the date, Nov. 22.

Christmas records

Just make your rounds in the gaily decorated stores and you know that Christmas is hailed with fanfare and gusto more than usual this year.

A few weeks ago I was looking for a specific record and was amazed at all the Christmas music already placed in individual sections — vocal, orchestral, children's, sacred and oratorio, carols — on display the beginning of November!

Three grand discs that should be added to record collectors' libraries are "Chanson Noel" by our own Canadian tenor, Richard Verreault, with choir and orchestra, recorded when he was at his very best. (RCA - LM 2390) It includes many familiar Christmas songs — just beautiful — recording fine.

The second is titled "Noel", 12 of the best-loved carols and Christmas songs played by the famous Canadian organist, Lucien Hetu. (RCA - CGPS 343) You will enjoy some of Walt Disney's music, classical and popular music that is ever welcome at Christmas. To name a few: Adeste Fideles, Jesus of Nazareth, Symphonie de Noel, Little Drummer Boy, Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer, Santa Claus Is Coming to Town, Silver Bells, and Tourbillon de Noel by Hetu himself.

A third recommended record is "Songs of Faith and Inspiration" by the Robert Shaw Chorale with Symphony Orchestra and Organ (RCA - LSC 2760) This super disc (content and recording) contains music of the Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths. The two celebrated "Ave Marias" by Schubert and Bach-Gounod, Kol Nidre, Nearer My God to Thee, (Adams-Mason) Sleepers, Wake from Bach's Cantata 140 — probably the most famous cantata composed by the German master. Panis Angelicus is a great example of Cesar Franck's religious learnings. The recording quality is superb.

As Christmas gifts, I singled out these three because they are grand to receive and wonderful to give.

Kidnapping key witnesses in car crash

A car crash involving two key witnesses in a $1,000 ransom kidnapping case caused the postponement of the court case in which the two were to give testimony Tuesday.

The victim of the kidnapping, H. Gregory Chandler, 23, of Powell avenue, Town of Mount Royal, and his father Howard, were injured in the car crash on Cote des Neiges road. They were to testify at the preliminary hearing of Oscar Chaimovics, 22.

The accident took place during the noon hour break. In the morning Gregory Chandler had testified that his kidnapping on Oct. 7 was caused by his involvement in a hashish deal.

He said that Chaimovics and five other persons had kidnapped him in an attempt to obtain $1,000 which they claimed he owed them for undelivered hashish.

Westmount Police became involved in the crime because Mr. Chandler was in Westmount when the phone call demanding the $1,000 was made to him.

Westmount and TMR police teamed up in the raid on the Queen Mary Road apartment where Gregory Chandler was held captive for six hours. The raid resulted in the arrest of four persons, including Chaimovics, and the release of Chandler.

Parizeau up

Two are injured in collision at Wood lights

A 1969 Volvo collided with a 1968 Plymouth on Saturday at 8 pm causing injuries to two persons and almost $1,000 damage.

The Plymouth, driven by Joseph Mantell of Venter, N.J., was heading north on Wood avenue and the Volvo, driven by Alan Golden, 32, of Montreal, was going west on Sherbrooke street.

It has not been determined which car went through the red light at the intersection.

Mrs. Joseph Mantell, 23, a passenger in the Plymouth, complained of head pains and was taken to Reddy Memorial Hospital by Westmount Police patrol car. Mr. Golden suffered cuts to the scalp but declined treatment.

reside in the project.

If the applicants change their minds about moving in, it is doubtful that any penalties would be applicable.

The basic rent of a dwelling in the project is determined by the income of the head of the household and his or her spouse if the spouse earns over $1,250. But the number and ages of children also affect the amount of rent paid.

The basic rent is as follows:

Monthly Income	Basic Rent
$230	$41
$252	$47
$274	$52
$296	$58
$318	$64
$340	$70
$362	$75
$384	$81
$406	$87
$428	$93
$450	$99
$472	$104
$494	$110
$516	$116
$538	$125
$560	$134
$584	$145
$585 and over	$145

or 25 percent of income

The maximum rate of basic rent cannot be more than 25 percent of the total gross income.

But the basic rent can be adjusted according to the size of the household. Two dollars is subtracted from the monthly rent for each of the first two dependants, $3 per month for the third and fourth dependants, $5 per month for the fifth and six, and $6 per month for the seventh, eighth, and more dependants.

Older children increase the rent. For each independent child over 21 and under 25 living in the project, $8 per month is added or 25 percent of the average monthly cost of a room rented in the neighborhood. For each independent child over 25 and for an other independent member of the household, $16 per month is added or 50 percent of the average monthly cost of a room rented in the area.

No reduction or increase is applied for non-dependant children in the household under 21.

held" at the "fall" meeting next week, though this has been traditional WMA practice upon receipt by membership of the nominating committee's slates. However, he pointed out that the association's by-laws provide that additional nominations may be made in prescribed form prior to or at the general meeting.

He further declared that "the association will therefore not have 'official nominees' and will simply have ensured that interested and qualified citizens are offering themselves for civic office."

When questioned by The Examiner on the significance of the procedures which the letter said have been proposed and approved by the board of directors, both Mr. Hayes and Vice-president Mel Nixon agreed that it was tantamount to saying that there should be a public election for the offices conducted by the school board.

Unless there are further nominations from the floor within the WMA, or non-WMA candidates in the seemingly inevitable election — or as, appeared unlikely, that one of the three men recommended should withdraw—there will be an acclamation for one candidate in one seat and a two-way contest by the other two persons in the other seat.

Mr. Tilley is incumbent of Seat No. 6.

Yesterday The Examiner questioned Mr. Robb and Mr. Goodwin concerning their intentions, left to them by the WMA nominating committee, as to which seats they would seek.

Mr. Robb made the following written statement:

"To clarify statements which have come to my attention, specifically that my agreeing to be a candidate in the Westmount School Board election is related to a plot to 'dump Reid Tilley', I would like to clearly set forth that I was interviewed by the Westmount Municipal Association education committee only after calling Mr. Tilley and advising him, in view of our previous experience, I intended no personal challenge to him. I have since stated on a number of occasions that it was my intention to present my nomination for the seat not now held by Mr. Tilley."

This placed Mr. Robb as a candidate for Seat No. 7—being vacated by retiring Chairman Dr. Elton Pounder.

Mr. Goodwin, apprised of Mr. Robb's statement, unhesitatingly said that this put him in the position of opposing Mr. Tilley, in Seat No. 6. Both Mr. Robb and Mr. Goodwin have supporters who are known to be against the continuance in office of Mr. Tilley.

All of which leaves Mr. Robb, for the present at least, the sole prospect for Seat No. 7 and in line for acclamation on nomination day Jan. 3, and Messrs. Goodwin and Tilley to fight it out at the polls Jan. 10.

Barring, that is, a withdrawal or further candidates.

The Westmount aldermanic election took place No. 1.

The last school board election, which was the first polling for that body in 50 years, took place in January 1969.

Last week The Examiner reported from unofficial sources within the WMA that Mr. Robb and Mr. Goodwin were to be WMA's nominees and that Mr. Tilley was being dropped. This week it has been affirmed that this was indeed the recommendation of the education committee in which a majority was adamantly opposed to Mr. Tilley, who has served five three-year terms on the local board and in that time has become chairman of the Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal, which post he still occupies.

However, it appears that the nominating committee, which is comprised of officers, committee chairmen and members at large, decided to add Mr. Tilley's name.

Mr. Hayes, letter said that the nominating committee approved the three nominees at a meeting held Tuesday of last week.

Normally the nominating committee accepts the recommendations of the education committee. Nono announcement was made until this week of the addition of Mr. Tilley's name nor were The Examiner's informants aware of the change.

Three weeks in France loom for Grade Xlers

By CASEY CAMPBELL

In its continuing search for ways to promote bilingualism, the Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal has come up with yet another "brain child." The board is attempting to work out a system of study visits to France for students of all levels. Although nothing has been settled, plans call for groups of 150 students to spend three weeks at the College de Toulon.

Classes will be conducted entirely in French. The cost for three weeks has been set at $350 and even this could be reduced provided the board can obtain a government grant.

Those fortunate souls who manage to scrape together their life's earnings will also enjoy trips in the surrounding country, not to mention two days in Paris, while the rest of us sit around and wilt under the mental strain of January exams — for the tentative departure date for the Grade 11 group is Jan. 13.

Entertainment upsurge

Entertainment, once a dying art in Westmount High, seems to be on the upsurge lately spurred on, in all probability, by Christmas spirit. Happily, ideas and plans for both the junior and senior Corn Shows know no bounds with rehearsals beginning next week. There's hope for us yet, as WHS starts to pull herself out of the doldrums.

Also in keeping with the spirit of the season, a Christmas drive is being organized headed by the prefects. This entails filling Christmas baskets with second-hand toys and clothing. This is not a terribly time consuming effort, nor does it require a lot of money, rather a scarcity in WHS; so please give. Anyone wishing to help with the organization of this project is also more than welcome.

Because of considerable time loss and constant class reshuffling, there will be no formal public speaking contest this year. However, individuals could enter the school competition by registering with our English head, Mr. B. Adams, and finals will be held in the auditorium on or about Dec. 3.

Westmount High School NEWS

Basketball win

Our esteemed senior basketball team came through for us again last Friday when they defeated Verdun High 48-41. The turnout for this game was particularly good and I think the team was genuinely pleased to see that school spirit has not completely drained out of us, and we do appreciate their efforts.

Clearance increased

The CPR railway bridge over Greene avenue just below Prospect street has claimed many a truck rooftop as drivers misjudged the height of the bridge because of the slope of Greene avenue.

But no more. Because of reconstruction needed on Greene avenue, the city is taking the opportunity to lower the road under the bridge almost one foot.

City Engineer Ed McCavour reported that the city is reconstructing the surface of Greene avenue from Staynor to the underpass and Francon Construction Co., the company working on the Trans-Canada Highway, is resurfacing Greene

Floor hockey in full swing at Weredale

By ROGER FORTIN

The floor hockey season is in full swing at Weredale.

Last Tuesday night the seniors lost a close one to Dawson Boys' Club of Verdun. It was a good, hard-hitting game for both sides, with Dawson scoring most of their goals on power plays. The final score in favour of Dawson was 9 - 7.

Meanwhile, the juniors were having more success on Thursday night against the Cote St. Luc team. After the first period Weredale was trailing 3 - 1, but with Les Clay scoring three goals in a row in the second period, the score was tied 4 - 4 going into the third period. The game ended in an all 11 - 6 victory for Weredale with four goals by Les Clay, two by D. Della Corte, and singles by J. Medly, D. Vaughan, R. Della Corte and C. Ross. With his four goals, Les Clay was the outstanding player in the game.

Among the new activities beginning in the home as part of the new program is a community media group. With John, Norman and Barny involved in a workshop on community media held weekly at Dawson College, we hope to soon see a bi-weekly newspaper, internal radio and closed circuit television—all on the part of the boys.

More about other programs in the weeks to come.

from the underpass to St. Antoine street.

The city works department is also reconstructing part of the city's electrical grid to link up with the newly built hydro substation on Selby street next to Dawson College.

news from

youth centre

An evening of films and slides was held recently at 4424. The slides showed the participation of a large number of youths from Westmount who took part in the recent "Miles for Millions" march. Grant Clark, who together with the youth from 4424, has spent many hours working with the "Miles" project, also walked the total 32 miles, as did Paddy Johnston. Grant and Paddy, as co-directors, are volunteering to keep the centre open in the evenings.

Several first-year medical students from the University of Montreal are visiting the centre and the clinic as part of a five-week assignment in community studies.

Timothy Anderson, clinic coordinator, has been away ill for several weeks. Welcome back, Tim!

Grant Clark, his wife Elaine and Mrs. Marjorie Bedoukian, clinic social worker, were recent guests of several members of the Humanist Society in Westmount. Grant and Elaine discussed communal trends in an urban setting. Mrs. Bedoukian talked about intentional communities and communes in rural United States and Canada.

Mrs. Leslie Farrugia, who has just returned to Canada after spending three years in Columbia, South America, has joined the clinic staff. She works as secretary-receptionist for three days a week. Leslie lives on the Lakeshore with her husband and two young children. The children were quite excited with their first look at snow. Mom and Dad, however, are shivering after three years in a tropical climate!

In spite of the necessary cut-back in staff owing to the cut in the general grant the clinic is busier than ever. Some 300 young persons were seen for medical and counselling reasons from Oct. 1st to Nov. 20.

Drury, Pelletier in meet here

The cold wind and several inches of snow that landed on the area last Thursday did not deter a hundred or so people from visiting the Berkeley Hotel, to hear Hon. C.M. Drury, president of the Treasury Board and MP for Westmount, and his guest, Hon. Gerard Pelletier, secretary of state and member for Hochelaga.

The meeting was sponsored by the Westmount Liberal Association. Chris Brand, the president, reminded the audience in his introductory remarks that the current series of regional meetings was intended primarily to promote a dialogue between various segments of the constituency of Westmount and cabinet ministers.

Mr. Drury lauded the presence of several young people in the

Neighbor, police join in catch

A 21-year-old Montreal man was arrested by Westmount Police near 368 Elm avenue about 3:31 pm Thursday soon after a breaking and entering had taken place at 368 Elm.

A neighbor reported to police that two men had entered the back of the house. One young man was chased through laneways, but escaped. Lt. M. Spears arrested the other.

The man appeared in Court of Sessions downtown on Saturday and pleaded not guilty. The case was remanded until Dec. 3.

Driverless cab rams backward across St. Cath.

A taxi driver who stopped to make a phone call at St. Catherine street at Abbott avenue on Thursday about 6:30 pm left the phone booth to discover his car had taken off without him and backed into the Family Services Building at 4515 St. Catherine street.

The driver, Robert Bodensieck, 39, of Greenfield Park, claimed the taxi, a 1970 Dodge, must have slipped into gear during his phone conversation.

He had left his keys in the car and the motor running while he was making his call. Police ticketed the vehicle.

The car suffered only a dent in the left rear fender while a window in the Family Services building was pushed in.

audience and noted that while he did not have a particular responsibility for youth in his role as Treasury Board president, he was extremely interested in this subject.

Addressing himself to the problem of high unemployment rates in the 14-24 ages group, he suggested that Opportunities for Youth had demonstrated that young people will work effectively and enthusiastically at jobs of their own choosing. He added that the government was seriously considering a second Opportunities for Youth program.

Mr. Pelletier, also speaking without a prepared text, reviewed the evolution of the federal government's idea to create a massive make-work program for students. He said he was amazed that a machine

The municipal housing project planned for Hillside avenue will be one topic discussed at Monday night's council meeting which begins at 8 pm.

It is probable that a report of the public meeting on the project which took place last Thursday will be given.

Also on the agenda is the appointment of auditors, approval of the 1971 police contract and a by-law to levy an assessment for 1972.

If you're interested in buying a bicycle it might be a good idea to turn up at the council meeting. An announcement will probably be made as to where citizens may purchase bikes which have been unclaimed from the police.

Laura loses $273 cash in holdup

The Laura Secord Candy shop at 4847 Sherbrooke street west was held up last Thursday about 5:15 pm by a man who may have been armed. He got away with $273.

One of the women clerks had just returned to the store after changing a $20 bill at a nearby bank. She was standing at the rear of the store, turned round and saw the robber who held a coat over his arm as if concealing a pistol.

The man ordered the other woman clerk to the back of the store and then demanded that they open the safe. They did so and the thief escaped with its cash contents.

Kids raid Star box, foiled

Quick reaction of a waitress frightened two would-be thieves on Saturday about 3:10 pm and saved The Montreal Star a little money.

The waitress noticed two young boys attempting to pry open the coin box on a Star newspaper dispenser outside Westmount Station. The boys noticed the woman staring at them and took off, leaving their loot, $1.25, on the sidewalk. The Westmount Police recovered the money and checked the area but could find no sign of the culprits.

capable of running a project the size of Opportunities for Youth ($25 million) could be assembled in such a short time, and still operate very efficiently.

In answers to questions, Mr. Pelletier predicted that our present educational system would have to change radically in the not too distant future. Already, he said, the signs of restlessness on University campuses are visible nearly everywhere.

He explained that his department was thinking about a type of non-military service in which a student would perform practically any type of job for a year in return for a year's credits at college. He hastened to add that his program, which is still only an idea and is not government policy, would be completely voluntary.
