WESTMOUNT, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1940

PRICE— TWO CENTS

FIRST READING IS GIVEN AMENDMENT IN TRAFFIC BY-LAW BY CITY COUNCIL

Takes Initial Step in Move to Force Motorists to Park Cars Safely On Hills — Proposed Amendment Specifies Manner in Which Unattended Cars Must Be Left — Many Vehicles Rolled Down Hills Here Last Summer

Initial step in a move to compel motorists to park their cars safely on hills was taken by the Westmount City Council Monday night when it gave first reading, by unanimous vote, to an amendment to Traffic By-Law No. 501.

The proposed amendment which went before the municipal body for the first of three readings, provides that: "No person shall cause or permit a motor vehicle to stand unattended on any street unless the vehicle is locked with the ignition turned off and the parking brake firmly set, and if the vehicle is on a perceptible grade, unless the transmission is in reverse gear and the front wheels so turned that if the vehicle moves the front wheel nearest the curb will be blocked by the curb or the wheel will swing across the street or sidewalk."

LOW SALARIES PAID TEACHERS HELD BAD SIGN

Prof. John Hughes Addresses High Schools Home and School Association

The lack of public interest in education is clearly shown by the low salaries paid teachers, Professor John Hughes of the Department of Education of McGill University, stated while addressing the Westmount High Schools Home and School Association in the Intermediate School Friday night.

Professor Hughes stated that the amount of money now paid to teachers was a belittlement of the educational system. "The school is the first line of democracy and it is to the school and to the teachers that we must go as the bulwark of democracy. The conditions in the profession should be made such that the pick of the young men and the young women of our country would be attracted into its ranks," he told the gathering.

The proportion of men to women in the teaching profession is one to six," Prof. Hughes said. "Now, I do not say that there should be more men than women, but it should be 50-50. Schools are made up of boys and girls, and there should be, therefore, teachers of both sexes. One of the faults of education in Canada and the United States is that the proportion of women to men is too great.

"But there is no inducement in the profession for young men to enter it. The teacher does not ask to make a fortune. His very choice of profession indicates that. He asks only that he should not have to deal with a highly technical task of teaching boys and girls while worried by the financial problem of maintaining a home."

In considering the teachers' demands of the parents, Prof. Hughes stressed "the absolute necessity of keeping classes down to 25" or 30, or 35 at the very outside," so that the essentially individualistic process is possible.

"During the last century an industrial technique was carried over into education—that of mass production. It works in industry, but it can never work in education," he said.

The speaker scored the old disciplinary methods which were based on the false theory that where there is stillness, there is receptiveness. "If a child is too quiet, he needs a doctor, not a teacher," he said. "A school should have noise in it—not the noise of disorder, but the noise of industry."

Seek To Place Airmen For Holidays

Due to the fact that a large number of the airmen at the No. 1 Wireless School on Queen Mary Road will be unable to visit their homes at Christmas an endeavor is being made to have them invited to homes here in the New Year.

Any local residents who are able to accommodate one or more of the boys at the school for either day should communicate with Graham Watt or Wally Clark at the wireless school AT. 7642.

MAYOR URGES ALL TO SERVE UNSTINTINGLY

Addresses Special St. Andrew's Day Luncheon in St. George Club

Canadians should cheerfully serve in uniform or civies in whatever sphere they are most needed; ungrudgingly contribute in money or in kind whatever is demanded so that the country will be amply provided with the sinews of war; combat with all subservile or that may tend to weaken the morale of the people; and have unshakable faith in the cause, and fever cease to instill that faith in those with whom they come in daily contact, Mayor Walter A. Merrill, K.C., stated at a special St. Andrew's Day luncheon at the St. George Club on Saturday.

The mayor said that if Canadians fail to live up to what is expected of them in the present conflict the results may be so disastrous that the curtain will ring down forever.

He referred to citizens who continually criticized the government war effort as "taxing your patience and mine." In nine cases out of ten "if you were to ask that type of individual what he has voluntarily given up, whether his personal comfort has in any way been affected since September 1939, the answer—if honestly given—would be in the negative."

"It is our imperative duty," Mayor Merrill continued, "to let the world know where we stand, and that there is nothing that could be asked of us that we are not prepared to give in order that this time it may be made doubly certain that those who have given and are giving their lives are not doing so in vain.

Mayor Merrill flayed the type of citizen who said: "What is the use of my working my head off to try and make money when it is probably all going to be taken from me in taxes."

"This citizen," he said, "is not only disloyal and unpatriotic but he entirely forgets that he is fortunate indeed to be in possession of an income, of which the government only takes part, whereas if he were in Belgium, Poland, Czechoslovakia or some of the other countries that have been invaded, they would not only take his income, but also his capital, his home and everything he possesses."

Prior to delivering the address Mayor Merrill was made an honorary member of the club.

Special entertainment, with baggins appropriately piped round the table, and other incidentals were added to the regular program in celebration of the patron saint of Scotland.

The speaker was thanked by Gilbert Layton. Matt Campbell was in the chair.

RECEPTION OF SODALISTS TO BE HELD HERE

On Sunday evening at the Church of the Ascension of Our Lord, twenty-five candidates will be received into the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary. On this day, with beautiful and impressive ceremony, they will dedicate themselves to the service of the Mother of God.

It will be a day of solemn significance for them as it marks the attainment of a goal which was set before them six weeks ago when the probationary period for candidates was begun. Enthusiasm, interest, devotion and love for the Blessed Virgin, faithfulness of attendance at meetings and thorough knowledge of sodality aims and organization are the qualifications they must show in order to be accepted into the Sodality.

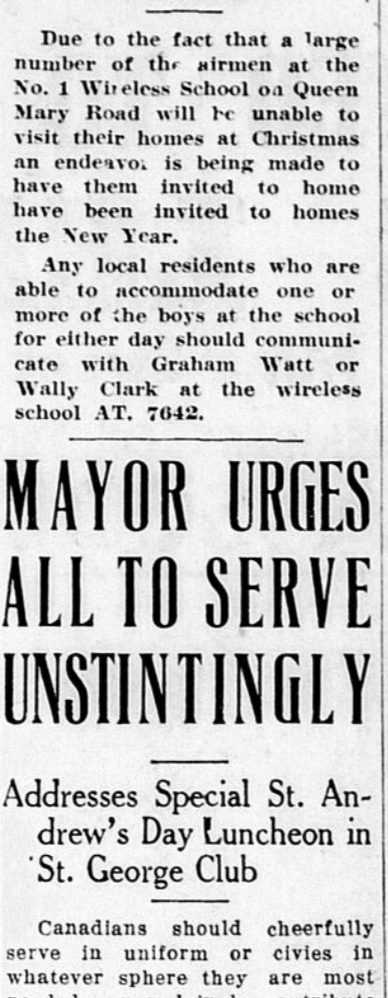

Rev. Father Raymond Cadwalader, S.J., of Loyola College, will be guest speaker and there will be special music by the men's choir augmented by the girls' choir of St. Paul's Academy. After the reception the new Sodalists will be entertained by the Sodality. There will be a short recital after which refreshments will be served. The service starts at 8 o'clock and all parishioners are invited to attend.

Group To Present Musical Pageant

A matinee performance of the musical pageant entitled "The Jewish Home Beautiful" will be presented by the Women's Auxiliary of Shaar Hashomayim on Sunday afternoon, December 8th at 3.30 o'clock.

Over 400 attended the original performance which captured the atmosphere of gaiety and devotion to home ideals inherent in Jewish Festivals, that this repeat matinee performance will answer the numerous requests of those who were unable to witness the evening presentation. The choir is again under the direction of Mr. H. Semiatin, director of the Shaar Hashomayim choir.

DOGGEDLY CARRYING ON

"Britannia defiant" might well title this tableau, posed amidst the debris of a London street after a Nazi raid. Helmeted bulldog, symbol of British determination, stands guard over the Union Jack. The dog was removed from London shop window that was blasted out by bombs.

Many Districts Are Yet To Be Covered By Scouts

The demand for the Christmas edition of the Westmount Examiner, which is being sold to aid the Overseas Parcels League and the war fund of the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club Sea Scouts, has been far in excess of expectations. So much so, in fact, that a great many residents who have not yet been solicited for a subscription have enquired at the Examiner office as to when they were going to be called on by the Sea Scouts, who are handling the sale of the paper.

For this reason it is necessary to point out that the Scouts are working entirely voluntarily and are carrying out the task in addition to their regular duties. This has made it necessary for them to do most of the canvassing either after school hours in the afternoon, or in the evenings, thus limiting the number of homes which they can call on in a single day.

It is expected that it will take the Scouts about three weeks to cover all sections of the city and as they have now been out but a third of that time there is yet a large number of homes to be called on. However, residents wishing to purchase a copy of this edition may feel assured that their home will not be missed.

In a surprisingly large number of instances persons have desired to purchase two or more copies in order that they may send them to friends here and overseas. In such cases all that is necessary is to place the number of orders with the canvasser and the publishers will see that delivery is made to the home of the purchaser.

As has been stated in two previous articles outlining the Christmas edition of the Examiner, the net proceeds derived therefrom is to be turned over to the Overseas Parcels League and the war fund of the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club Sea Scouts. It sells for ten cents per copy and of this amount five will go to the Parcels League and three to the Sea Scouts.

The publishers, as well as the Parcels League and the Scouts, take this opportunity to express their appreciation at the manner in which residents have shown their interest in this joint war aid scheme and their eagerness to cooperate by purchasing subscriptions to this special edition which will contain many more features and be far larger than any previously published.

Rev. S. B. Lindsay Is Inducted As Pastor

Reverend Sydenham B. Lindsay was inducted as rector of the Church of the Advent last evening. The ceremony was presided over by Right Reverend Arthur Carlisle, Bishop of Montreal, assisted by Ven. A. P. Gower-Rees, Archdeacon, and preacher was Rev. C. E. Combe, rector of St. Jude's.

BIG SHIPMENT OF WOOLLENS SENT OVERSEAS

Over 300 Pieces of Clothing Sent to Men on Minesweepers by Overseas Parcels League

The Overseas Parcels League sent another shipment of heavy woollens numbering more than 300 articles, including over 100 sweaters, on its way overseas where it will be distributed to seamen on British minesweepers and trawlers, on Monday.

Plans are under way to send another consignment in about two weeks time, when it is hoped a larger quantity of sweaters and sea stockings, both urgently needed, will have been donated. Mrs. F. W. Hammond, the wool convener, is asking those interested in the seamen to direct their energies to the making of sea stockings rather than the smaller garments, reminding them - "This cold weather makes one feel and realize how much the seamen need all the warm knitted garments we can send over. We can get out of the cold into a warm house, but they have to stay in the open for days on end, wet through to the skin, in freezing, dirty weather."

Instructions for the making of sea stockings, simple garments to knit, may be had by telephoning Mrs. Hammond at DE. 6247.

Some idea of the needs of these gallant seamen may be taken from the following figures. One depot on the East Coast gave out in six months individually to the men according to their requirements: they returned to the ships, more than 61,000 articles. Another depot re-outfitted, fed and housed 2,400 odd shipwrecked people in six months. One of the bigger depots has 4,000 seamen weekly passing through its barracks. Superintendents of these depots have notified the league that even in the summer supplies of woollens were inadequate for the needs.

"What must it be like now?" Mrs. L. S. Wallgate, president of the league, asks. "It is dreadful to think that shipwrecked men, rescued after being in the freezing water or out in open boats for long hours, even days, might be taken to a depot to be re-outfitted and cared for, and that depot be without the necessary clothing."

LAST RESPECTS ARE PAID LATE J. MATHESON

Conducted by the Rev. Dr. F. W. Kerr, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, the funeral service for John Matheson, who died suddenly in the Royal Victoria Hospital, was held over the weekend. Interment was in Mount Royal Cemetery.

A veteran of the last war, six of Mr. Matheson's pall bearers were old comrades of "C" Company of the 42nd Battalion, Black Watch. They were: James Hornsby, James Bullock, John Heron, James Stewart, John Peace, and Joseph Packham.

Mr. Matheson was born at Inverness, Scotland, and came to Canada in 1913. After the war he was employed in the paper industry in Montreal and in Cleveland, for some years. In 1923 he became associated with the lumber business of Fleming & Gibson, of Juniper, N.B., and was representative of that firm in Montreal at the time of his death.

TELEPHONE PLAYS VITAL PART IN WAR, GEO. LONG, HISTORIAN, TELLS CLUB

War-minded Despots Responsible for Instruments of Science Being Used to Cause Destruction, He Asserts at Meeting of Rotarians — Phone Has Done Much to Bring Nations Together

"The telephone was born largely out of the impulse of the inventor, Alexander Graham Bell, to relieve his mother's deafness. From a humanitarian beginning, it has developed along pathways of unexcelled human helpfulness. But war comes, and the resources of the telephone laboratories, all the fine fruits of their matchless painstaking and skill are employed in myriad phases of war-making," stated George L. Long, historian of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, in an address on "War-time Communications" at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club of Westmount yesterday.

Pointing out that the responsibility for the perversion of the benefits of science to the ends of destruction rather than of construction has lain, throughout history, with war-minded despots, Mr. Long went on to outline the use of communications in war-time from earliest times, and described many products of modern research which are being used by the armed forces of the Empire in the present conflict. He also dealt briefly with the contributions which the Bell Telephone Company and its employees are making to the national war effort.

The value of the telephone in the mobilization, organization, and direction of armed forces was recognized almost as soon as the invention was perfected. Mr. Long said. Alexander Graham Bell himself demonstrated its use at Aldershot in England with the assistance of the Royal Engineers in 1877. The first actual use of a telephone system on the field of battle took place in the Russo-Japanese War of 1905. The same tactics, only on a much larger scale, were used by both sides during the war of 1914-18. Telephone research workers produced many special inventions, including "electrical ears" for detecting enemy airplanes from afar, during that conflict.

In the present war, telephone research has produced instruments which help to promote air safety, only by means of teletype and telephoto, written messages and military maps can be transmitted over great distance by wire.

The speaker revealed some of the increases in telephone traffic that have arisen as a result of the war, and described certain projects which the Bell Company is rushing through to provide service to military camps, airports, and war industries throughout Ontario and Canada.

Overseas telephone service, now limited to official calls, is also assisting in maintaining imperial communications during the war. Mr. Long said. He pointed out that the chief reason why the overseas telephone did not fulfill expectations of peacemakers, by promoting international understanding, is that it was never given a chance in Europe. Europeans are less telephoned-minded than Canadians and Americans. The good relations between the latter peoples he attributed in part to their use of the telephone to make contacts between them more personal.

In conclusion, the speaker said: "This part of the story is one of industry's contribution in men and materials to Canada's defence of principles which are dearer than life itself. Other industries can, no doubt, match that record. With resolute determination, Canada as a whole is working to defend the last citadel of democratic freedom. In the words of Prime Minister Churchill: 'Let us, therefore, brace ourselves to our duty, and so bear ourselves that if, the British Commonwealth and Empire last for a thousand years, men will still say, "This was their finest hour."'

MEN OF FORCE PRESENT DESK TO COLLEAGUE

Captain James Broden Goes on Leave of Absence Prior to Retirement

Captain James Broden, whose retirement from the Westmount Police Department will become effective April 1, 1941, was presented with a desk by officers and men of the department at No. 1 Station Monday night. The presentation was made by Alderman W. B. Scott, Commissioner of Police and Fire, in the presence of Chief W. Gough and a large gathering of Captain Broden's colleagues.

Prior to his retirement on pension, Captain Broden commenced four months leave of absence on Sunday.

Captain Broden joined the force as a constable in November, 1907, and was appointed a detective in May, 1919. In April, 1922, he was promoted to the rank of sergeant and in December, 1925, he was made Lieutenant. In July, 1929, he was given the rank of Captain.

He was one of the most highly regarded members of the department and had received official mention on numerous occasions for outstanding police work. He was complimented, particularly, for being instrumental in the recovery of a large quantity of valuable goods taken in a robbery here in 1935.

Captain Broden was also well known by Montreal detectives as a result of his close co-operation with that department. On many occasions he discovered information of value to his Montreal colleagues and this he always passed on to them.

Members of the Police force in Westmount are due to retire after 39 years service provided they have reached the age of 55.

RESERVE CORPS IS NOW IN NEW QUARTERS HERE

New quarters have been acquired by the Women's Volunteer Reserve Corps and work is now being carried out at 14 Waverdale Park.

Capt. Jean Whittall, the adjutant, and her staff have their rooms on the ground floor. Just across the hall is the main office or orderly room, with Capt. Estelle Jean Worfolk, the quartermaster. Applications, receiving and filing of medical certificates, checking, filing and other duties are taken care of in this room. On the same floor are the canteen and two large lecture halls.

Upstairs there are the board room, the officers' mess, a general office for the company commanders, the doctor's office and other rooms.

Christmas entertainment will be provided by the various committees. At a meeting of the board of directors, it was decided to provide Christmas cheer for ten families, cost to be assumed by the officers of the Corps.

Letter Shows Work Of Parcels League

Another example of a typical letter of thanks received by the Overseas Parcels League from seamen on British minesweepers and trawlers appears below. It was from a seaman who was sent a re-outfit after being picked up from the sea when his trawler was sunk by enemy action:

Madam:

I am the lucky person to receive your parcel which was very nice and especially, I am writing to thank you for the other things which I shared with the rest of the crew.

The letter was signed by Seaman A. Smith, H.M.T. Darwin.

November 19, 1940

The Westmount Examiner
Dear Sir:

With great pleasure the members accept your kind offer to make the Overseas Parcels League part beneficiary in the forthcoming Christmas Sale Campaign for War Charities, along with the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club Sea Scouts.

The League's work to meet some of the urgent needs for heavy woollen comforts of the seamen on British minesweepers and trawlers has in the past benefitted by the Examiner's thoughtful publicity given on our behalf. We thank you for this further gesture of goodwill to these unsung "heroes of the sea," and assure you every effort is being made on our part, to steadily increase the output and to deserve the admirable and ever-growing public support we are receiving.

Sincerely yours

(Signed) THEO. WALLGATE.
(Mrs. L. S. Wallgate)

THE OVERSEAS PARCELS LEAGUE

Organized on November 27, 1939, with an original membership of 12, the Overseas Parcels League has grown in mushroom fashion and today has an enrolment of 300. It consists of six units made up for the most part of business girls, and two groups giving all or part of the articles they are making for men on service, to the League.

Its original charter, which it obtained in January, 1940, provides for an annual collection of $500, but already the League has sent over 2,000 articles overseas, including 1,000 heavy, turtle neck sweaters.

ALL ARTICLES ARE SENT TO SEAMEN OF BRITISH MINESWEEPERS AND TRAWLERS

The shipping and insurance is handled by the Canadian Red Cross and the packing is done at Red Cross House, in the league's own, separate boxes, by the wool conveners, Mrs. F. W. Hammond and Mrs. R. B. Heward. They also deliver the wool and pick up articles. The goods are shipped direct to the Women's Voluntary Service Depot, (Seamen's Red Cross) Eng.

The organization of the league is entirely voluntary and it has not paid one cent for overhead, although it maintains a headquarters in room 709 in the Dominion Square Building.

All league members buy their own wool and every cent of money donated is used to purchase other comforts for the men.

It sent its first consignment overseas last January and up until September shipped one lot of articles over each month. Since September, however, it has been able to ship over two consignments monthly, and this number will be maintained from now on. Up to the present time the league has not had a single loss in its shipments.

The officers for the current year are: President, Mrs. L. S. Wallgate, 424 Lansdowne Avenue, Westmount; Secretary, Mrs. R. S. Kennedy, 5010 Sherbrooke W.; Treasurer, Mrs. R. S. Griffith, 624 Murray Hill, Westmount.

Should City Have Military Training In Its Schools?

The following article entitled "Should Westmount have Military Training in Schools?" has been written for the Examiner by J. K. Snyder from material supplied by M.D. No. 4, and is another in the series sponsored by the Westmount High Schools Home and School Association:

The war, with all its ramifications have come to the Empire, Canada and Westmount. In its train the question of school cadets was bound to arise. Long shelved in softer days by those in charge, the movement was re-born out of the spontaneous demands of the students themselves, backed by a now quickened public opinion. A referendum at the High School last spring stressed the trend towards aviation, and this, with the prompt action of School Commissioners, brought into being this autumn the now familiar name of the Westmount Air Force Cadet Corp.

Cadet training whether air force, naval and army, however, carries with it the same aims, fundamentals and raison d'être.

It is axiomatic that there is no logical basis for good citizenship but the one that recognizes a man's duty to his country. It is indefensible morally that the individual should enjoy the many rights of citizenship without recognizing his responsibilities for the duties of citizenship.

There is no proper system of training in citizenship that does not make boys conscious of their duties as individual units in their country.

On the statute books of Canada there is a law which makes every man, eighteen to forty-five years of age, responsible for the defence of his country. It clearly follows then that all men should in some way be prepared to perform their duty laid upon them by their country.

What is the most effective and most economical system for giving this training? The Cadet Corps has the following merits from the national viewpoint. It is given at a time when lessons learned by operative processes are never forgotten. Drill is an operative process. Operative processes are not recorded in the memories, but in the lives of students. It costs the country less to train the coming citizens in the schools than in any other way. It interferes with the ordinary duties of men less than any possible plan to have the foundation of military drill be given in schools. It qualifies the men of the country for complete military training in much shorter time than it would take to train them out with cadet training in the schools. Men in later years will find their training in military drill to be mainly reviewing the work they did in school instead of having to learn the whole work at maturity.

The following are the general advantages of Cadet training to the Cadets themselves. It provides an excellent setting-up drill for boys physically. Boys whose teachers, parents and physicians have tried earnestly to train them to sit and to stand properly, without success. In most cases respond at once to drill and become new physical types.

Drill exercises are good for the general physical development of a boy, but they produce better effects than merely additional strength and improved health. They give a more dignified bearing, a more graceful carriage of the body and a more definite step.

It trains boys to be prompt, definitely, intelligently and cheerfully obedient. There can be no diversity in regard to training that develops prompt, definite, intelligent and cheerful obedience to regularly constituted authority. There is no other school process that develops these types of obedience in a boy's character so naturally, so effectively and so permanently as drill.

It reveals law to a boy, not as a restraining force merely but as a guiding force, by enabling him to achieve much more perfect results under law than he could possibly achieve without law. Without the laws that govern its movements, a Company or a Regiment would be an unrelated mass of individuals or a mob. Under law, it is a perfect organization, capable of executing a very complicated series of movements accurately and unitedly, not as individuals but as an organic unit.

It develops a boy's genuine patriotism; not an arrogant or offensive consciousness of national importance, but a genuine faith in himself and his country. Such a faith is one of the basic elements of a strong and balanced moral character. There is no other process by which boys can be made proud of their King, their country, their flag, and the institution it represents, so quickly and thoroughly as by wearing the King's uniform and by keeping step to patriotic British-Canadian music behind the Union Jack as part of a patriotic organization. In this way a patriotic spirit enters a boy's heart and life.

Drill does more than develop a spirit of patriotism. It reveals to the boy his value as a citizen, and, therefore, his responsibility for the performance of his duties not merely in defence of his country in all departments of national life.

Drill trains a boy to be careful of his language and manners, and to value neatness and cleanliness in his clothing and person, and thus develops a conscious personal dignity, which is an important element in character.

That our system of government is democratic quadruples the force of arguments in favour of military drill in schools; for the democratic system tends to a disregard for authority, a due res-

OBITUARY

Mrs. Percy Huggonson

Funeral service for Mrs. Percy Huggonson, 85 Coolbreeze avenue, Lakeside, was held Tuesday afternoon, conducted by the Reverend Gordon Phillips of Pointe Claire. Formerly Miss Eliza Hilda Cadman, Mrs. Huggonson died on Saturday following a long illness. She was in her 56th year.

A resident of Notre Dame de Grace for many years, Mrs. Huggonson was an ardent church and Sunday school worker, and past president of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Stephen's church. She was also Past Noble Grand of the Rebekas, and a member of the Westmount Chapter Order of the Eastern Star. She left Notre Dame de Grace about eight years ago to take up residence at Lakeside.

She is survived by her husband, Percy Huggonson, a daughter, Audrey, two sons, George and Reginald, who is on Active Service overseas, a sister Alice Cadman, and two brothers, Arthur C. and William G. Cadman.

Following the service held in the chapel of D. A. Collins, interment was made in Pointe Claire Cemetery.

VETERAN

Although Carol Adams, who makes her screen debut in Paramount's "Dancing on a Dime," is only 19 years old, she has been dancing professionally for 16 years.

pect for which is restored by a reasonable system of universal military training. The training is therefore beneficial, even desirable, in itself intrinsically and subjectively, quite apart from any wartime purpose.

A final word as to Westmount itself. The great majority of its homes provide ample comfort and security. The schools bend backward in their efforts towards painless education. Almost everything is to be had without too much trouble, and the result is, as often as not, varying degrees of languid irresponsibility. This, it is hoped, Cadet work should go a long way to help remedy.

HOW EXAMINER GETS SOME OF ITS WAR PHOTOS

To snapshot modern warfare, you've got to get right out where the bombs are exploding and the shrapnel and shell fragments hailing down. Here's H. P. Andrews, NEA Service-Acme Newspictures staff cameraman, whose war photos appear in this newspaper, in his "grandstand seat" atop the Dover cliffs. Protected by sandbags and a steel helmet, he's on the alert for an aerial dogfight.

Salvage Campaign To Be Continued For Duration

Continuation of the Red Cross salvage campaign throughout Montreal for the duration of the war was announced this morning by officials of the Quebec Provincial Division, the Canadian Red Cross Society.

The campaign which commenced the first week of November has met with a generous support from the public and the response has proved so satisfactory that it has been decided to continue the project while war work is necessary.

For salvage collection the city has been divided into four divisions. Each division is collected weekly. The first section, located in the south area of the city, is covered the first week of each month. This division extends from Amherst on the east to Moffat and Victoria avenue on the west, and from Queen Mary Road and Mount Royal Avenue on the north to the water front on the south. The second week's collections are made in the west section which extends from Upper Lachine to Decarie boulevard and from Victoria avenue to Connaught avenue. The third week's collections are made in the northern part of the city from Decarie boulevard to de Lanaudiere and from Cedar avenue to Cote de Liesse and Gremiaz. The fourth section, in the eastern part of the city, extends from the water front to Cote St. Michel and from de Lanaudiere east to Viau and 45th avenue.

Collections are being made of all types of salvage with the exception of tin cans and bottle caps. Tin tins which have contained tooth paste or cosmetic preparations, and silver paper are already being collected under a previous arrangement and are being sent direct to 770 St. Antoine street from the collection centres in schools and drug stores.

To assist the Red Cross in picking up loads of salvage the public is urgently requested to co-operate as much as possible in gathering the materials at a central point. A load of 100 pounds constitutes a pick-up by the Red Cross truck, but citizens are requested to gather their salvage in larger quantities if possible by organizing a central collection point in their community. This is already being done at various schools and in the town of Mount Royal where an old work shop has been formed into a collection centre, and by various Red Cross branches who have organized a central point among their own groups. Red Cross officials point out that because the collection is being done on a thoroughly sound business basis the cost of the truck pick-up service is a considerable item, and therefore the public is asked to co-operate fully, not only in making their collections as large as possible, but in

SINGERS WILL GIVE CONCERT TIMELY MUSIC

The Cathedral Singers, Phillips Motley, director, are planning a concert of Christmas music on Thursday December 19 at 8.30 p.m. in the Westmount Park Church. Chorus from the "Messiah" will be sung, and Parts I and II of Bach's Christmas Oratorio, probably the first time that this fine work has been heard in Montreal.

The tenor soloist will be William Morton, the young Toronto singer who made such a fine impression in the St. Matthew Passion at last June's Montreal Festival. He will be heard in the Christmas Oratorio, as well as in "Comfort ye" and "Every Valley" from the "Messiah."

The other soloists will be Dorothy Hill, soprano, Grace Cowan, contralto, and J. C. Scott, baritone. Dr. Arthur Egerton will be the organist and the continuo part will be played on the piano by Thomas Hudson.

The performance will be in aid of the Red Cross Society.

3 IMPORTANT TASKS GIVEN BY PRIMATE

Winning of War, Preparation of Just Peace and Fitting of People Into World - Vigorous Church

The winning of the war, the preparation of a just peace, and the fitting of people into the world in which that peace must work, are the three important tasks that must be faced by all right-thinking people. Rt. Rev. Arthur Carlisle told the congregation of Trinity Memorial Church Sunday night, in the final service of the week-long celebration of the parish centenary.

The Bishop praised Canada and Canadians for a readiness to do "what must be done" to win the war, and urged that one of the prime necessities after the struggle was to see that the peace left no room for injustice, poverty, distress, pride, ambition or greed.

"We must," he said, "fit ourselves for the world after the war and as much as possible prepare others to fit into the after-war picture."

"We cannot," he stressed, "make a world of gold out of men of brass."

He praised the leadership of Winston Churchill - "that great man who said our immediate task is to survive" - and referred also to the churchmen who were constantly reminding the people of the democracies that the framing of a just peace and the preparation for it were also important matters in this world of strife.

Players Meeting Held By League

The Pee Wee Hockey League held a players meeting on Tuesday evening and placed the boys on the various teams. All players who were on the Canadiens, Boston, Toronto and Detroit teams last year, will again play for those clubs this season, while the players from the defunct teams and any new players, were evenly divided among the four clubs operating. Players' certificates were also given out to the Pee Wee players who have filled out and players were also lined up for the Midget league team in the QAHA. There will be another players meeting at the shack on the Clarendon playground tonight. All players are asked to bring in their signed certificates.

FINAL TRIBUTE PAID TO LATE R. FARIBAULT

Resident was Professor of University of Montreal and Well Known Notary

Final tribute was paid this morning in St. Leo's Church to Rene Faribault, of 622 Belmont avenue. Mr. Faribault, professor of financial legislation at the University of Montreal, member of the Board of Trade, Chambre de Commerce, the Cercle Universitaire and a member of the Third Order of St. Dominic, died at his home Monday night. He was 59 years of age.

A native of L'Assomption, Mr. Faribault was the son of Joseph Edouard Faribault and Laetitia Levesque. He graduated from L'Assomption College in 1900 and received his legal education at the University of Montreal, being admitted as notary for the Province of Quebec in 1903.

In 1906 he became associated with C. E. Leclerc and remained in partnership with Mr. Leclerc until the death of the latter in 1912. At the time of his death he was associated with his son, Marcel Faribault.

He was one of the founders and the first president of the Association of Young Notaries and member for many terms of the Chamber of Notaries.

He is survived by his widow, the former Annette Puzos and three sons and three daughters: Bernard (Rev. Father Yves-Marie, professor of Holy Scriptures at the Dominican College of Ottawa), Marcel, Montreal notary, and Rev. Father Francois-Marie, also a professor at the Dominican College of Ottawa; Mrs. Andre Gagnon, Andre and Genevieve. His father also survives.

THE PERFECT WIFE

In the eyes of the average husband, the perfect wife is one who:

- Gets up first in the morning, closes the windows and turns on the heat.
- Makes sure that breakfast is on time and busies herself pouring coffee and superintending the service while he reads the newspaper.
- Spends the morning carefully planning meals for the day and going to the grocery to make a personal selection of fruits and vegetables.
- Inspects the house and, when necessary, calls in plumbers, carpenters, and electricians.
- Examines his clothes for suits in need of pressing, for shirts and collars to go to the laundry, for missing buttons and holes in socks.
- Devotes an hour or so to writing letters of thanks or of consolation and including him in them.
- Puts coal on the furnace, so that the house will be nice and warm when he gets home.
- Drives to school to bring the children home, and if possible, drops in for a call on his parents or other relatives.
- Tidies the living room, arranges her hair, and puts on a becoming dress in anticipation of his return home.
- Greets him at the door and enquires if he is tired. Retires to the background while he looks over the mail.
- Makes sure dinner will be on time, listens with rapt attention to anecdotes of his childhood, and spares him the ordeal of listening to domestic tragedies.
- And at last, when dinner is over, collects the darning and works in silence on it, looking up now and then to admire him and to congratulate herself upon having him, while he sits engrossed in the day's news.

JUST A MINUTE!

What do you mean by a minute? ... May I have a minute of your time? ... I'll just be a minute ... Wait a minute ... I'll have a table for you in a minute ... He was here a minute ago ... I expect him any minute ... I haven't a minute to spare ... I answered the minute the phone rang ... I'm only a minute late ... I'll give you just one more minute ... I must leave in a minute ... Step this way for a minute ... I'll have your change in a minute ... Give me a minute to think ... Hold the line a minute ... Can't you wait a minute? ... I'll be gone just a minute ... Hold these parcels for a minute ... Stand still for a minute ... Open the window a minute ... Take the dog out for a minute ... The curtain will go up in a minute ... Leave me alone for a minute ... The bathroom will be free in a minute ... I missed him by a minute ... He was mad for a minute ... Come in for a minute ... Dinner will be served in a minute ... Let me see the paper for a minute ... It won't take you a minute ... Shut up for a minute ...

Germany describes the withdrawal of her 8,000 nationals from Greece as "purely practical and not political." Like getting out of a burning building before the walls cave in is purely practical and not political.

"Vast Nazi armies eat their heads off from Norway's rocky northern tip to the beaches of Brittany" remarks an Associated Press commentator. And still they're no nearer to horn-ing in on the roast beef and steak-and-kidney pudding of fairly Merrie England.

Marshall Field is prominently mentioned as successor to Joe Kennedy in the post of United States Ambassador to the Court of St. James'. At any rate Mr. Field, who now spends most of his waking hours promoting Britain's cause, doesn't believe democracy is "finished" over there.

LARGE NUMBER EXPECTED AT GATHERINGS

A large number of Notre Dame de Grace and Westmount residents will take advantage again this year of a simple service of prayer and hymns which will be held throughout the advent season at St. Edward's church, Haymarket Square, at the corner of Inspector and St. Paul streets. The pastor, Rev. E. S. Ereaux, and others, will conduct the services. Last year a large number of local residents took advantage of attending the 20 minutes worship which is entirely undenominational. They commenced this week.

Left now in the midst of the bustling atmosphere of commerce, historic St. Edward's Church dates back to 1889, when for generations it served intimately the Christian home life of those lamp-lit days of Old Montreal.

While thousands pass the doors of St. Edward's every day, few realize that this fine old Anglican church is still actively in service. Here under the friendly direction of the Rev. Jim Ereaux, St. Edward's extends a warm welcome to the workers of this district to come and enjoy the fellowship of this 20-minute lunch-time service in the peaceful atmosphere of the chapel of the church.

The Examiner's Hidden Titles Contest

The Westmount Examiner's Hidden Titles Contest is run with the kind co-operation of Mr. Gadel, manager of the Westmount Theatre. Each week twelve passes are given to the six lucky winners who comply with the following requirements:

- Simply find the two "ads." in the current issue of The Westmount Examiner in which the names of the two feature pictures being shown at the Westmount Theatre during the first half of the coming week are hidden.
- Submit all answers to The Contest Editor, The Westmount Examiner, 2191 Hampton Avenue, using the special coupon provided in each issue for the purpose.
- Contestants must be over 16 years of age.
- Residents of Westmount, only, are eligible.
- All answers must be in this office not later than Wednesday, and the names of the winners will be published in Thursday's issue.
- A convenient coupon will be found elsewhere in the paper.
- The winners are drawn from among those who submit the correct answers, as, unfortunately, it would be impossible to give passes to every one submitting the right answers.

The winners of last week's contest are as follows and their passes will be received in Monday's mail:

Mrs. T. Parsons, 4556 St. Catherine W., Apt. 9; W. K. Thomas, 418 Claremont Ave., Apt. 21; Miss E. A. Johnston, 388 Wood Ave.; Mrs. S. Lawrence, 323 Selby St., Apt. 6; R. P. Harrison, 359 Victoria Ave., Apt. 10; Mrs. F. P. Kingsley, 515 Grosvenor Ave.

THE FORUM

Conducted by HOWARD S. ROSS, K.C., D.C.L.

In Which Subjects of General Interest Are Discussed

The opinions expressed in this Forum are not necessarily those of this newspaper and it does not accept responsibility for them.

The general election held in Saskatchewan in 1934 is another horrible example of the results of an archaic electoral system. The Liberals polled 206,191 votes, the Conservatives 114,973 and Farmer-Labour 103,582. The Liberals elected 50 members Farmer-Labour the balance of 5 in a house of 55 and the Conservatives no members at all. If ever there was an argument for an effective method of voting such as Proportional Representation, it is to be found in these amazing lopsided results. Though considerably less than half the population voted, the Liberal party elected 50 members of a house of 55. Surely no reasonable person will claim that either the results or the voting are at all democratic.

President Roosevelt of Harvard, breaking the unwritten rule of the university, told the students that the U.S.A. must "not only build home defenses but strengthen those fighting across the seas."

President Seymour of Yale at a banquet in Boston said that "America should nary the British fleet and nation."

A U.S. economist and traveler stated that in an American Indian tribal village or Chinese village there is practically no crime.

Mrs. Stupp is preparing to use its new electric chair, the executioner, to get $100 for each job. He said he is looking forward to his new work, as his farm has had a very poor crop this year.

In South Africa, centre of the world's fabulously rich gold and diamond mines, 40 per cent of all children of European descent have just been found suffering from malnutrition, one-third of them never seeing a mill.

New Brunswick has repealed the law which made it a jail offense—replacing it with one making it a jail offense if the debtor fails to carry out a Magistrate's order to pay his debts if the Magistrate after an examination thinks the debtor is in a position to do so.

Canadian co-operatives rank third among fifteen leading manufacturing industries in gross sales, fourth in total of capital investment. Membership 75,000.

In Donja Tropica in Bulgaria there is a cooperative sugar refinery with 22,000 members; all peasants from the environs; 7000 are producers, and 15,000 consumers.

There is a demand for educational leadership, but disagreement about the kind of leaders the universities should produce. Those who are liberals fear they will not produce young men and women who can "save the world," conservatives, fear they will!

Bible circulation more than doubled in Germany during last year, according to the British and Foreign Bible Society. The society's over-all distribution reached 11,765,668, an increase of 724,000 volumes.

THREE ROTARY CLUBS GATHER FOR MEETING

Westward, Westmount and Hawkesbury Hold Inter-City Affair—Rev. Crawford Scott Speaker

A large number of Westward, Westmount, Montreal and Hawkesbury Rotarians gathered for an inter-city meeting at the weekly meeting of the Westward Club held in their quarters at the Montreal West Town Hall. The Westward Club played host to the other clubs, having visited them on previous occasions.

President Cuthbert of the Westmount Club and President Haskin of the Hawkesbury Club both expressed their pleasure at being able to meet with the Westward Club. The former said that he saw great value in inter-club meetings and had always advocated that they be held increasingly. Mr. Haskin said that the city clubs had an advantage in being able to visit each other when they desired but his club was not so fortunate in that this was not possible due to geographical position. The visiting clubs were welcomed by President Johnston Abraham, of Westward.

Rev. Crawford Scott of the Hawkesbury Club was the speaker and gave a short discourse on "Dialects and Accents." Rev. Mr. Scott gave illustrations of both and his humorous talk was much enjoyed.

An entertainment by Cameron Grant brought much applause from the gathering Messrs. Franch and McAndrews led the singing.

The visiting Rotarians were welcomed by Thomas Haughland.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "I know that, whatsoever God doeth, it shall be for ever: nothing can be put to it, nor any thing taken from it; and God doeth it, that men should fear before him." (Ecclesiastes 3:14).

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"God The Only Cause and Creator" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist throughout the world on Sunday December 8.

British May Get Cash, Not Bomber

Neutrality laws may make it necessary for the 20,000 employees of the Lockheed and Vega Aircraft Plants to give the British the cash instead of a proposed $100,000 Hudson bomber for a Christmas present.

E. J. Morgan, employe spokesman, said the original plan was for the men to donate two hours' working time each, with the company furnishing materials.

Robert E. Gross, President of Lockheed Aircraft Corporation, said recently, however, a different plan may be necessary to meet Neutrality Law requirements.

Australian Highway Built Before Rains

Working day and night, teams of road-makers using the most modern plant, have won a race against time, completing the 450-mile transcontinental road connecting the rail-head to Birdum, 316 miles south of Darwin, in Central Australia, 1,340 miles north of Adelaide.

The problem was to finish the job before the tropical rains compelled suspension of work. Engineers are confident that the road will withstand the tropical downpours which hitherto have isolated Darwin during the rainy season, except by the long sea route. In addition to providing safe travel through the heart of the continent, the new road gives access to broad belts of pastoral and mineral-bearing country, and facilitates speedy transport of cattle to the southern markets.

ANOTHER CANDLE

Hollywood, Dec. 4.—There's a certain something about southern fried chicken which soothes the palate, loosens the tongue and sets the mind a-wandering.

Strange town, this Hollywood. It is lacking in that for which it's most widely famed—glamor—but it possesses other attributes of far deeper import.

And, though it's the youngest metropolis in America, it has a past—a past as dashing and romantic as the Spanish senor who once trod its trails to Mexico.

Indeed, it is a strange city, a blending of the old world with the new. A city of steel with a rose in its hair; heir to the intrigue of its Spanish ancestry, the wit of its cinema moguls, the grace of its lovely women, and a new way of life.

So we enter our second year in Hollywood—the town whose tickers tap out more news per minute than any other centre in the world. We're happy you're still with us in this corner each week. Keep a-reading, won't you?

DEANNA'S OUT.

Deanna Durbin is on her feet again—curd of the flu—and she may do one week of the Metropolitan Opera if her studio waves contractual restrictions. . . . Basil Rathbone phoned to deny he had joined the Royal Canadian Air Force. "Just so much hokey!" he chuckled. "Besides, I must admit I'll never see 21 again, or 31, or 41. . . . Rathbone offered his services to England. . . . war broke out. His son is a co-pilot at Toronto. . . . Having shown the world how to op' meat-markets in style, Hollywood proceeds to unveil its newest hat shop in super-colossal manner this week. Wayne Morris, Olympie Brndna and Bing Crosby will take the air from the store's foyer in a nationwide broadcast. . . . And they'll probably be talking through their hats.

"North West Mounted Police" is averaging 300 per cent of normal brisn.—better than "The Great Dictator". . . . Don't say you weren't warned. There's a new ditty out tagged "Slap Happy Lassie with the Streamlined Chassis." . . .

NAPILY, PLEASE NOTE.

Will we doers never cease? Yesterday, our wanderings took us over to General Service Studios, where Alexander Korda is directing Virlier Leigh and Laurence Oltie, in "Lady Hamilton".

Outside Stage Three, where the company was hard at work, hung the call-sheet for today. It read: "Thursday. . . . Battle of Trafalgar. . . . Weather Permitting."

YOUR LOCAL MERCHANTS CAN SIMPLIFY YOUR CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

The slogan "Shop in Westmount First" takes on added significance at this time of the year when residents are busy making their Christmas purchases. A large percentage of them, the Business Association of Westmount believes, will do their shopping in local stores.

Every needed commodity of the festive season is procurable right here in Westmount and residents will find that they can secure a wide assortment of gift articles, seasonable foods, Christmas decorations and special services from the firms listed in this advertisement.

Many tedious hours of shopping can often be avoided by patronizing local stores and Westmount merchants will go out of their way to help in the selection of suitable gifts.

Food stores will, of course, carry a complete line of seasonable meats and groceries and will make a specialty of preparing Christmas hampers. Christmas trees as usual, are playing a major part in creating the proper Yuletide setting this year and many stores offer a wide selection of decorative accessories that will enhance their appearance.

The merchants represented here are co-operating in a joint effort to improve business conditions in Westmount. They are sparing no effort to warrant the patronage of local residents during the Christmas-buying period and are anxious to demonstrate the efficient manner in which they are equipped to serve. Shop in Westmount now, for better selections and unhurried choice.

THE LADIES ARE TAKING THEIR HAIR DOWN—BUT NOT QUITE ALL THE WAY

Smart women are letting their hair down again, but not in casual, helter-skelter long bobs of a year or so ago. This fall's long bob is a trim, neat affair like the one above. Hair at front and sides is rolled softly upward, while long ends at the back hang in a soft turned-under roll to be worn as shown or tucked into a snood.

Last month, many a smart woman went to Paris with her hair up and came back with it down.

"What with deeper crowns and snoods galore, I simply couldn't find a hat to wear atop my up-swept coiffure," one prominent fashion writer reported.

"Four out of five of the mannequins in the most important fashion houses had their hair down," she continued. "Sometimes it was up in front, but invariably down in back."

This doesn't mean that chic women are turning again to Hollywood's version of the long bob. Hair is long, but neatly so. It has line and shape, is youthful without being frowzy.

The smartest version is brushed upward at sides with side sections rolled forward. There are two or three soft curls on top two or three. Jhdru mfwyp hnm just over the forehead, while long narrow Page Boy roll. This roll back ends are turned under in a—not to be confused with the Page Boy types of three seasons ago—stays neatly back, almost as if the hair is caught in a clip or with a ribbon bow. It isn't but it appears to be.

LITTLE BOW ON WIGS MAKES A COMEBACK
Prominent hairdressers in New York as well as in Paris, are putting cadogan ties (George Washington wore one) at the back of many a long bob. Smaller ones, too, are shown. Clips and old-fashioned barrettes are widely used to hold long black ends in chignon effect.

There are chignons in profusion. Girls who are letting their short, "baby" coiffures grow like to pin on chignons during the growing-out process.

Then, too, long ends are dressed to resemble chignons. Sometimes the back hair is parted in three sections, with each section arranged in a soft, fat curl. The curls are fastened together with a bow, large or small, or with some kind of clip or barrette.

The style committee of the Coiffure Guild lists the "Cascade Coiffure" as an important fall and winter influence. An adaptation from the coiffures of the 1880's, it shows the back of the neck, is high but not strained, and is finished with soft curls, or rolls. It's charming for evening and would be nice with a thin, shallow-crowned hat if you can find one.

Rinse has captured fashion's fancy. Several of the notables who came back from Paris recently had their hair tinted as well as down. Henna rinses are popular, giving dark brown hair a wine-colored glow and blond locks a light red cast. Among white-haired women, blue and violet rinses are gaining in popularity. The latter shade ranges from a subtle suggestion of lavender to real purple.

It is really amusing to see quivering hair ornaments rearing their heads above the coiffure and to find velvet bows, flat, but more often wired into pert little butterflies, adorning the hair. But then there they are and, if you've no previous experience with wearing them, you are probably thrilled, while if you have, you are probably depressed by the fact that a generation divides what was fashionable and what is fashionable. The Gibson girls wore these in the early 1900s.

It's amusing, too, to see women cover their arms with long crinkly gloves, but instead of preserving tradition and wearing either black or white elbow in pastels or yet lighter colors, as well as the black and white "16-button length.

One cannot escape the influence of such breathtaking vents as the ballet, ball theatre, horse show and concert hall. Even those whose lives are remote from the events the scenes come under the spell of fashions which belong to these events.

One of the fashions cultivated in these audiences include the scarf, a revival of a more romantic era. The long lace or net scarf has become rejuvenated being brought right up to the minute by those smartly dressed young women who make fashion scenery at chic night clubs. Usually these scarfs are part of the frock itself—that is, they are made of the same lace or net or both. But with the u.ge still strong for adding a touch of color, particularly in the upper part of a frock, there's every reason to consider unrelated scarfs a good possibility.

These scarfs, so obviously an outcome of the long stote fashion that made its more spectacular entrance in furs, are inseparably coupled with full evening decolletage. Now that shoulders, chests and diaphragms are getting barer and barer, a protection that is also sur-fire flattery has much to recommend it.

Another elegant gesture associated with these highly social events is the long evening gloves which, this year, are adorned with gold, silver or jeweled. Black with gold trim, gold trim on white—both are worthy of attention.

Remember that many sleeves are bracelet-length and that gloves may be wrist-bone or six button or even longer. Don't forget too, that the hand that holds the handbag also reaches for the glorified glove.

Most handbags are soft, squasy affairs distinctively dressmaker in technique. There are not only these soft bags or fabric bags, but others equally smart of fur, with or without frames.

Buch and Buddy, Gloria Jean and her sister, Lois, are starting a school paper at Universal studios.

W. C. Field's favorite reading matter is the Encyclopedia Americana.

HEALTH SERVICE NEED STRESSED

Dr. John H. Howlett was the guest speaker at the annual hospital day of the Westmount subdivision of the Catholic Women's League, held on Friday afternoon in St. Leo's School Hall, Westmount. The speaker discussed points brought out by the study of Health Services of Canada made by the National Committee for Mental Hygiene.

This investigation, the speaker said, revealed the relatively high infant and maternity mortality rate in Canada, and also showed considerable improvement made in different parts of the country. Emphasis was placed on the necessity to improve sanitation and the public health services.

The speaker pointed out that a large proportion of the population could not afford adequate medical attention. Health insurance and group medical practice were suggested as remedies. Dr. Howlett urged the effort to arouse public opinion to see that the need for health services should be met.

Members of the subdivision contributed a "shower" of articles for the sitting room of the men's ward of the Montreal Convalescent Hospital. Mrs. W. H. McCloskey, hospital convener, arranged the shower.

Mrs. W. J. Keating, the president, welcomed the members and Mrs. M. B. Bronstetter and her committee served tea. The speaker was thanked by Mrs. R. G. Hishon.

Mrs. George Whyte, vocal soloist, was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Breese Dineen. The speaker and musicians were thanked by Mrs. Wilson.

The report from the Local Council of Women informing the members of the election of Miss Elizabeth Monk to the Council of the City of Montreal was received with applause.

Mrs. John Scott reminded the members of the meeting of the W.C.T.U. Day of Prayer on January 9 at First Presbyterian Church. A number of subscrip-

White Fox Revived For Evening Wear

In keeping with the reign of furs, there is a revival of white fox for evening. It is pleasant to see it again, or nothing was ever more flattering for after dark wear, unless it is ermine. While we have always had ermine wraps, the white fox wrap has proven a leader in evening furs. It naturally followed with the tremendous success of other foxes, notably silver, in wraps and coats.

Another old and reborn fashion is the stole and the new muffs. The way they are pushed up one arm instead of being carried is something that only an American woman would think of, in order to do her work and have her muff, too.

HELP GREECE NOW!

Don't—we beg you—let it be the same old story—
"TOO LITTLE - TOO LATE"

Don't let Greek heroism blind us to the fact that Greek civilians and children behind the lines need help—food, clothing, bomb shelters, medical supplies and equipment.

Don't let Greek courage smokescreen the fact that Greek cities—from the immortal Parthenon to peasant hut, are being ruthlessly bombed, women and children blown to bits.

Don't let the colossal problem of civilian care and relief become a millstone around the neck of fighting Greece.

GREEK RESISTANCE MEANS BRITISH STRENGTH!
HELP GREECE, AND YOU HELP BRITAIN'S ALLY!

Open your hearts! For the people and land where democracy saw its birth—Do it now with dollars—Greece can use tomorrow the help you send today.

This may be the turning point of the war!

Polly Ward and England's foremost comedian, George Formby appear above in a scene from the uproarious comedy of the Royal Air Force, "It's in the Air," which is now playing at the Snowdon United Theatre until Saturday night.

Camera Directors Important Men In Production

One of the leading players in every picture directed by Alfred Hitchcock never gets a mention on the screen. This player is the most versatile of the entire cast, and yet his name never tops the theatre marquee and no critic ever bothers to remark that his work even was adequate.

When one learns that this player's chief diet is film and an occasional drop of oil, you may get a hint as to his identity—you've guessed it, he's the camera. "The camera plays a most important part in every picture I make," says the famous British director who started Walter Wanger's new thrill spectacle, "Foreign Correspondent," which will open at the York United Theatre on Saturday through United Artists release.

"The camera always is a silent member of the cast, rather than merely a mechanical instrument to record the movements of human players."

A who saw "Rebecca," Hitchcock's record-shattering hit, will realize instantly what Hitchcock means. In the boat house scene when Max de Winter is telling his bride about the tragic events which led up to the death of Rebecca, the camera very definitely assumes the character of Rebecca. As Laurence Olivier speaks, the camera acts out the role of Rebecca, and one feels a definite, living presence.

Jimmy Stewart, And Roz Russell In Comedy Hit

"No Time For Comedy," which belies its title by being hilarious comedy all the way, brings together a pair of America's favorite film stars in their first co-starring film. James Stewart, that guy who went to Washington, and Rosalind Russell, that woman from "The Women," make the happy star combination in "No Time For Comedy," which is now playing at the Westmount United Theatre until Saturday night.

Adapted from the Broadway stage success by S. N. Behrman, the film is a behind-the-scenes story of theatrical folks.

When a motion picture calls for a play within a play, it takes expert handling to make it clear to the audience where the play ends and the picture begins. This double vision was demonstrated in all its complexity when Director William Keighley directed Rosalind Russell and Jimmie Stewart in the comedy.

It would all have been very simple for the average spectator on the set to follow the action if the scene had been laid in the theatre stage itself, but what gave the general air of confusion was the fact that it was backstage. People like James Stewart, Rosalind Russell and Director Keighley could, of course, maintain a firm grip on the situation, being old theatre people themselves. But an "outsider," not too familiar either with backstage life or motion picture technicalities, is liable to get all balled up when he is confronted with both things at once.

The scene portrayed the rehearsal of the play written by James Stewart. Now, Stewart, didn't really write it, because Philip and Julius Epstein did, but in their script they wrote that Stewart was supposed to write it. Rosalind Russell and Louise Feavers were reading their lines under the supervision of Allyn Joslyn, cast as the director. That is, he isn't really the director, because Keighley held that post, but in the picture — that is, in the play that is presented in the picture — he had the role of the director. Is that clear?

James Stewart lounged comfortably in a chair nearby on the stage. Actually, he was off-stage, because he wasn't in the scene but he wanted to see what was going on, just as a real playwright would. Unlike a real playwright, however, Stewart never once opened his mouth to make changes in the lines or suggest bits of "business." That's how an Outsider could tell that Stewart wasn't a real playwright, but just cast as one.

Netherlands Need: Bicycles-For Two

What this country needs is more bicycles built for two.

German authorities complain that military traffic is congested by various cycling traffic law violators, principally couples who hold hands while pedaling, moonstruck, down the road.

In addition to cash fines, one form of punishment inaugurated since the German occupation is to deflate the offenders' bicycle tires and remove the valves.

But even such deflation, beside working a hardship on love in The Lowlands, adds little to the traffic problem's solution, because there are approximately 4,000,000 bicycles in this country of 8,000,000 persons.

$60 to $13,000 Shot Comes Home, Dead

A $60 cow caused a $13,000 wreck on the Tehachap-Bakersfield highway.

Highway patrol officers said a huge gasoline truck and trailer came down a grade, struck the cow and piled up in a ditch. Forty-two hundred gallons of gasoline caught fire and destroyed the truck. The driver, Lawrence Antonini, escaped with injury. The cow died.

"They Drive By Night" Thrilling Monkland Film

Plenty of laughs, excitement and romance are in store for Monkland audiences when Warner Bros.' new film, "They Drive By Night," which is now playing at the Monkland United Theatre until Saturday night.

The cast includes an array of screen talent that is difficult to surpass. In the starring roles are George Raft, Ann Sheridan, Ida Lupino and Humphrey Bogart.

George Raft plays the part of a terse fellow who just wants to be able to get along without having to tangle with anyone—and that means women. He is not successful. Humphrey Bogart, in the role of his brother, would like to be able to appreciate his home and wife — to have some time he could call his own. Raft thinks that all that talk about home life is just so much nonsense until he meets and falls in love with a waitress, played by Ann Sheridan.

Bogart crashes over an embankment and loses his right arm. As a result Raft finds it necessary to ask an old friend of his, portrayed by Alan Hale, for a job.

Kennedy Commends British, Calls Them 'Brave And Game'

The British are a "brave, game people," and under the leadership of King George and Queen Elizabeth are putting up a magnificent front against the German aerial assaults. Joseph P. Kennedy, United States Ambassador to the Court of St. James said recently.

Mr. Kennedy told the press that "the King and Queen of England are setting a great example. There is nothing they won't do and there is nowhere they won't go. They are fine leaders," he said.

Mr. Kennedy, who said that he had experienced about 240 air raids, declared that they do not do as much to an individual as might be supposed and that the most serious probabilities apparently facing London today is the insanitary condition induced by millions of persons crowding underground.

"An Annual Balanced Budget," Says Leon Trepanier

POLITICAL PATRONAGE MUST BE ELIMINATED; "NEW MONTREAL" NEEDED

"An annual balanced budget" is the first item on the agenda for the new Council according to Leon Trepanier, mayoralty candidate, "and with the new administration made up as it is we should have the complete co-operation of all public bodies. But in balancing our budget it will mean the end of patronage abuses, political interference with the management of the City Departments and the full co-operation of the Provincial and Federal Governments," stated the candidate.

"This new administration will mean a new deal and a 'New Montreal.' We need protection for the small proprietors by the new repartition of taxes in order to induce as many people as possible to acquire a home for themselves and thus become vitally interested in the welfare of the City."

"Throughout my many years as a newspaperman and alderman, I have been interested in better government and I ment of the City Departments and the full co-operation of the and Playgrounds, and Public Health in the United States and Europe and this experience will permit me to act as adviser and liaison member between the councillors and the Government," stated Mr. Trepanier.

"Let it be well understood that unless we have a sane and honest administration and unless we do not allow patronage and undue influence, we cannot hope for a better civic government. It was to kill that plague of patronage that in 1936 I advocated and succeeded in getting a Civil Municipal Service for Montreal, which unfortunately was struck from the status later on, I will endeavour to have it included again in the charter."

"Among my pledges as a member of the Montreal Park and Playgrounds Association, and as a man who has always advocated more parks and playgrounds, I say to those who want to commercialize our playgrounds, for instance the Mountain and St. Helen's Island: 'Hands Off,'" concluded Leon Trepanier.

Lowell Carroll Speaks For Leon Trepanier

Speech by Lovell C. Carroll, advocate, in favour of Leon Trepanier, at 8.15 Dec. 3, 1940. C.F.C.F.

Ladies and Gentlemen: Next Monday we elect a new Mayor of Montreal.

Before we go to the polls, we must decide what kind of Mayor we need under the new system of government which will become effective with completion of the new administration. We all know that control over the city's finances is wholly within the hands of the Quebec Municipal Commission; that administrative routine is the task of the Executive Committee; and that deliberation, and the setting of policies, is the function of the City Council which, now, is increased from thirty-five aldermen to 99 councillors.

Before we can decide what kind of mayor we should have, we must examine the official duties of the Mayor of Montreal.

He presides over meetings of the City Council. That, according to Charter of the City of Montreal, is His Worship's main function. Very simple, you may say it? Presiding over the City Council has been no sinecure in the past, with but thirty-five aldermen seated. But now! Let us examine the new responsibilities attached to presiding over Council meetings. No longer is the Council to be made up of men elected at large. There are 33 of the 99 still chosen by what we have come to know as the people. There are 33 more elected by property owners. And 33 more nominated by public bodies

The success of this new system—and all of us will admit it has the right to trial—must depend on the smooth running, the harmony of Council deliberations.

The meetings must furnish the maximum in serious debate and deliberation. We cannot afford theatricals. Nor do we want our City Council to turn into something resembling the old pre-war parliaments on the Continent of Europe, with their Right, their Centre and their Left. Yet, with these three blocs in Council, imagine what a field day there could be in troubled times like these for the demagogue or the trouble-maker bent upon demonstrating that all there is to this new system is class distinction. Now, no Mayor could prevent any councillor from speaking, so long as he speaks within the council rules. But, I do maintain that the manner in which the sessions of the Council are governed, the knowledge which the Mayor can bring to bear on that delicate task, will, as it were, set the general atmosphere of the assembly. If the mayor is of the right temperament, dignified, and accustomed to presiding over debates, then we all hope that the new City Council will get off on the right foot. Dignity and strict attention to business are two things we have long desired in our City Hall.

Among candidates for the mayoralty is Mr. LEON TREPANIER. What are HIS qualifications for presiding successfully over the largest City Council on the North American continent, in truth a little Parliament? First, he is perfectly bilingual, speaking English as well as he does French.

Next, he was eighteen years in public life at the City Hall. He knows the charter. He knows the Rules of Procedure. He knows all the administrative routine. He goes back so far in his intimate knowledge of civic affairs that he possesses a grasp of municipal background giving him advantageous knowledge of practically all of the questions that turn up on the Order of the Day. He has studied, lectured, and written extensively about housing, town planning, unemployment and finance which are all pressing questions before us today. He is an ardent believer in trying to cooperate with the Dominion Government in preparation of works plans calculated to minimize the economic shock that will occur when peace comes and our whole industrial and economic fabric has to be reweaved in peace conditions. And this post-war question is something of which we are bound to hear more and more in the two years to come.

This brief recapitulation of Mr. LEON TREPANIER's qualifications for making the ideal president of Montreal's City Council of 1941; and my knowledge of his great native dignity and balance, persuade me, as it must you that here is the man we ought to have in the Mayor's chair after Monday next?

But the task of the Mayor of Montreal does not stop within the confines of the charter. There is one thing His Worship cannot do—he cannot, legally, interfere in the government of the city. But the charter does not forbid, on the contrary, in spirit it welcomes a Mayor of Montreal who will collaborate with all the governing bodies inside the City Hall, make suggestions, in general work alongside the Quebec Municipal Commission, the Executive Committee and the City Council, for the benefit of the city as a whole. And those activities can be carried into another field which, I venture to predict, will probably become all-important between 1940 and 1942, the term of the next Mayor of Montreal.

I refer to the field of liaison and ambassadorial work. In that field, the City Hall must link with the Canadian government, the Quebec government, public bodies and other municipalities, all of which may, curious though it seems at this time, be destined to play a big role in the ultimate progress of the city of Montreal.

Remember the situation of Montreal: its financial autonomy removed until such time as the Quebec Municipal Commission can balance the budget, stop default on loans and generally put the finances back on their feet. Remember, there is still great unemployment and Montreal alone has gone bankrupt trying to do more than its share for those unfortunate people. Remember that Montreal still needs many improvements which should not entirely be at the charge of Montreal—arterial highways, better houses for workers, large-scale public works as soon as war finances will allow. Remember, once more, that the biggest city of Canada must prepare for post-war days when war industries will go out of business and we will have to bear the brunt of the shock administered to local purchasing power and to social as well as economic conditions. Remember, too, that there is the Rowell-Sirois Commission report which is to be discussed at an inter-provincial conference in Ottawa a January 14 next; much of it relates to, and affects, municipalities—Montreal as much as the tiniest town. There are questions and problems facing the city of Montreal immediately, or in the comparatively near future. How, you may ask, will that affect the position of the Mayor of Montreal?

While the Quebec Municipal Commission is restoring our civic finances, while the Executive Committee is absorbed with administrative routine; while the City Council discharges its duty of deliberating and setting policies, who could be a better liaison officer between the City Hall and other governments, with municipalities and public bodies, than the Mayor of Montreal—provided he has the requisite knowledge, the connections, the contacts, the confidence of the people he will approach?

What are the qualities of Mr. Leon Trepanier to undertake, as Mayor of Montreal, such liaison and ambassadorial work?

For more than thirty years, Mr. Leon Trepanier has been intimately connected with public affairs in one form or another. He entered public life only after good and wholesome training. During the last war, as one of the organizing secretaries in the Province of Quebec during two Victory Loan campaigns, he set up such a record that he was awarded a special trophy. When peace was in the air, the Canadian Government delegated him to Paris and Versailles as representative of the French press in the Dominion; and when he came back Mr. Leon Trepanier was highly eulogized by the late Sir Robert Borden, as Prime Minister of Canada, for the manner in which the work had been done.

In the following winter, Mr. Leon Trepanier was named secretary for a special commission appointed to study a new method of governing the City of Montreal. It was in 1921 that he entered public life itself, as alderman for LaFontaine Ward. And he was re-elected seven times by his electors who embrace some of the largest property owners—as well as some of the smallest—in the city. During his stay in public life, Mr. Leon Trepanier made it a point to travel and to study many things that touch our life as a community—everything from slum clearance to handicrafts and festivals. Two years ago, he retired to become director-general of the Montreal Tercentenary Commission and, today, he asks your co-operation in allowing him to occupy the post where application of his knowledge and experience will be of the greatest value to us all.

But all of his experience and his wide knowledge would mean little to us if we did not know Leon Trepanier, the man.

Is there anyone in the entire municipal field today better known to us than Leon Trepanier?

His connection with public activities of all kinds, his war loan work, his social activities in hospitals, charity drives, etc., his labor in behalf of the handicapped of Quebec and of the postponed Tercentenary celebrations have brought him into direct contact with so many of us that few, if any, of our fellow-Montrealers of the French tongue, are better known to us of the English language. And that goes for all classes of the population.

Local acquaintances and local contacts may be interesting and valuable, but, with the problems of the City of Montreal before us we must be particularly interested in the worth of Mr. Leon Trepanier in the field of federal and provincial affairs, of adjoining municipalities, of public bodies and associations of all kinds. Montreal is going to need them all before Montreal is much older; for we are given to understand that, when the new City Council has taken office, there is to be action on many long-standing items of business which are longstanding because they became engulfed in politics of the now-banned wards.

Mr. LEON TREPANIER is one of those rare men who can walk up, knock on the office door, and enter, and he is welcomed in the headquarters of associations whether of business men or of working men in Ottawa, in Quebec, in our outlying municipalities.

He is welcome in government circles at Ottawa; he is equally welcome on either side of Senate or House of Commons. At Quebec, he can talk with equal ease with Prime Minister or Leader of the Opposition. It is a great thing never to have been in Parliament or in Legislature; a great thing never to have left rankings among politicians whom Montreal will certainly need if her problems are to be solved. In surrounding municipalities, too, among mayors and councils, does not know LEON TREPANIER; who has not met him when he was collaborating on some question of metropolitan aspect. Truly, Mr. LEON TREPANIER is a citizen in a wide sense applicable only to few of us who reside in the metropolis.

Do you not agree with me that Mr. LEON TREPANIER is the one man now in the electoral field fitted to preside over the next City Council; do you not agree that Mr. LEON TREPANIER is the one man who can insure us dignity and maximum service in the liaison and ambassadorial work which will constitute the principal occupation of the next Mayor of Montreal? I would challenge any of the other candidates for the mayoralty to produce a record which would even approach that of Mr. LEON TREPANIER in all-round qualification for the post of Chief Magistrate.

May I stress three things: We all want a man who has passed many years in public life, gathered its experience but avoided the pitfalls.

We all want a man who will go to the City Hall, be a dignified, earnest mayor, but mind his own business and not meddle with department officers, with high officials, with the governing units inside the City Hall.

And we all want a man who will work to preserve the magnificent unity that today exists between the great races in this metropolitan city.

Mr. LEON TREPANIER fills the bill all three items. And allow me to add, he is not one of those men who has discovered the beauty of harmony and of unity just in time for election day. For years, Mr. LEON TREPANIER has been a fervent of the true bonnet entente—from the heart, not the mouth—his work on the Tercentenary Commission pursued that line as he prepared for commemoration of British and French who built Montreal. And all through his campaign he has been telling all his meetings how vital is national unity and racial harmony in the face of a common foe. He has done that east, west, southwest—no matter the section of the city in which he has spoken.

Considering the qualifications of Mr. LEON TREPANIER—and I can assure you they have been detailed without exaggeration—I know you will agree that the only man for whom you can logically vote next Monday is Mr. LEON TREPANIER. And when you do vote for Mayor, put your cross against the FIRST TREPANIER on the ballot paper. There are three Trepaniers running for the mayoralty.

Vote for the TOP TREPANIER, and you vote for LEON TREPANIER.

LEON TREPANIER, above all, is a man who does things. Never has he flinched before any task. All his life, he has known nothing but work. For thirty years he has bent all his efforts toward being useful to his fellow-citizens.

After two years as director-general and organizer of the Tercentenary celebrations projected for 1942, he recently submitted to the Montreal Tercentenary Commission a complete programme of the festivals he proposes, should circumstances permit.

Elected mayor December 9 next, he would automatically become president of the Montreal Tercentenary Commission; thus, in even greater measure, he could support the commissioners in implementing the programme submitted to them.

LEON TREPANIER

MAYORALTY CANDIDATE

His Programme—His Pledges

MR. LEON TREPANIER is a candidate for the office of Mayor of Montreal. For the past two years, he has acted as director-general of the Montreal Tercentenary Commission, charged with preparation of the celebrations originally scheduled for 1942. At our request, Mr. LEON TREPANIER has resigned that post to offer himself for election as Mayor of Montreal on December 9 next. We asked Mr. Trepanier to take this step because we believe him to be the logical, ideal candidate for the post of Chief Magistrate under the new administrative system to take effect with installation of the administration going into office December 9.

MR. LEON TREPANIER'S PROGRAMME:

1. Preparations to reduce postwar unemployment to the minimum in Greater Montreal. Study, in collaboration with mayors of municipalities forming Greater Montreal, of works that might be undertaken when the war ends, so as to furnish work to those who leave war industries and to demobilized men of Canada's forces formerly resident in this area.
2. Effort still further to reduce unemployment in Montreal.
3. Effort to increase permanently employment and purchasing power in Montreal.
4. Creation of a Municipal Civil Service Commission.
5. A balanced budget with in view a reduction of some of the municipal taxes.
6. An intensive campaign for more tourists.
7. Continued study of the best means of celebrating Montreal's Tercentenary as soon as peace comes; together with fitting, but modest commemoration in 1942 should the war be prolonged until then. To these tasks, Mr. LEON TREPANIER would bring all the experience he has acquired in two years of preparing for the grand celebration originally scheduled for 1942. The immediate post-war period would furnish that momentum for the influx of tourist dollars then would be more valuable than ever.

8. Effort to obtain, as soon as conditions allow, improvements linked with the tercentenary. This would cover a convention and exhibition hall, complete amelioration of the city's traffic arteries, development of parks and playgrounds, embellishment of the city, and—at long last—a real start on town planning.

9. Active collaboration in all youth-aid projects, instituted by governments, religious authorities and other organizations striving toward a finer future for the young people of the metropolis.

MR. LEON TREPANIER'S PLEDGES:

1. "A new order is about to be installed at the City Hall. I consider it devolves upon all loyally to give this new system a fair trial. Because, for the first time in our history, we shall enjoy reunion inside our governing body of both elected representatives of the people and of delegates from public bodies. I pledge myself to all the co-operation necessary with City Council and Executive Committee to give the system the fair trial."

2. "I do not intend to make war upon any government. I believe it to be very bad policy to alienate the goodwill and sympathy we wish to enjoy—and which we vitally need—among higher governmental authorities. I have greater faith in amicable conversations, mutual collaboration and common effort."

It is unnecessary for us to stress to the electors of Montreal the wide experience Mr. LEON TREPANIER has acquired in municipal, provincial and federal affairs; nor to dwell upon the invaluable contacts he enjoys with men in public life regardless of political affiliation.

The good name and the prestige of the City of Montreal demand that the forthcoming City Council of one hundred members should be presided over by a citizen who, by his intimate knowledge of civic affairs and his innate dignity, can be counted upon to afford his colleagues active and precious collaboration.

McDonald will have Jack Martin, Doug McGillis and John Drury in the pivot position, with Charlie Lovett, Brian Shea, Richard Ciceri, Kevin Reynolds, David Bussler and John O'Meara on the wing.

The Hurricanes, a new club this year, will be managed by Bill Drayden. Manager Drayden has lined up Ronnie Morrow for goals, Kenzie Nichol and himself on the defence and plenty of good offensive material in Roy Howard, Jack McKissock, Jack Patterson, Jack Goo'ellow, Peter Taylor, John Wisner and Harold McCoy.

Warren Chippendale's Aces in the Bantam section has beaten all the other teams to the barrier in the matter of getting team sweaters, as his players have been noted strutting around with their blue sweaters with the big white "A" on the front.

Dec. 7 Deadline For Entry Of Teams

Saturday is the deadline for applications of teams into the Westmount Municipal Hockey League, so that any other teams wishing to operate this year should get application forms from Jimmie McCormick, recreation supervisor, at the Greenhouse.

Present indications show that at least three clubs will operate "farm" teams. Bert Dalzell's Canadiens will have a team in the Midget section with Kevin Tolan master-minding. The Pee Wee League will have representatives in both the Juvenile and Midget groups. Pierre Rodier's Argos will have a "little brother" team in the Bantam loop, with Logue McDonald at the helm.

The Argos entry in the Midget section, have lined up a strong club. Herbie Kert net-minded extra-ordinary, will bein goals. Harmon Liebman and Peter Ross will give him protection on the rear-guard, while the brunt of the offensive will be carried by Jim DeLalanne, Jim Robinson, and Richard Coultter. The club has a few more prospects in view and will have them signed on the dotted line within the next few days.

DALZELL PICKS STRONG GROUP OF PLAYERS

The line-ups of the teams in the Juvenile section of the Municipal Hockey League, as released by their managers, follow:

Bert Dalzell, mentor of the Canadiens in the Juvenile section, has lined up a small but select band of players, he has Jim Langston in goals, Peter Boxer, Boyd Ketterson and Sonny Prevost on the defence, with John Redpath and John Chenier two wingmen among many of the forwards who will be out with this popular club.

Argos will sponsor two teams in the league. The Juvenile team will be managed by Bill McCarthy and the Bantam team by Logue McDonald. Manager McCarthy has signed up Kevin Kennedy as goal-keeper, Dick Beattie, Adrian Luny and Mike Asselin for defence. For the forward line the Argos have Charlie Laurendeau, Bernie Phelan, Kevin Shea, Pierre Rodier, Shannon and the two Langton twins, Eddie and Freddie.

Manager Doug Alexander of the Golden Eagles has been losing sleep these nights wondering what section of the league to enter his "gilded birds" in. Manager Alexander planned entering his team in the Juvenile section, but a check-up of his players showed them to be mostly of Midget age, so a strong Midget team was planned. This idea didn't suit many of the players and so the Golden Eagles are back in the Juvenile section of the league at this writing.

John O'Connell's Grads is another club that is short on defencemen, with only Teddy Bulger lined up for duty. The Grads have five good forwards in Vic Latimer, Bob O'Connell, Moe Shea, Jimmie Swift and Bob Brennan. They shouldn't be weak in the nets as they have Roger Aumais for that position.

The Golden Eagles who are Juveniles right now have Eddie Clark in the nets but are short-handed in defencemen, having only Bob Munro and a chap named Beery. At center they have Donnie Mann and Toots Prevost, while the wings include Noel Romney, Stu Beaulne, Charlie Laurendeau, Bob Brennan, Bill Black, Moe Sawyer, Bernie Phelan and possibly Sonny Prevost. Manager Alexander is also counting on Sam Tate and Mike Munro, but so are other teams.

Footwork In Badminton

By JOAN MacMILLAN

You are a badminton minded person, you have reached your darkest moments, your game is at a stand still, it simply does not seem to improve.

Within everyone lies that ambition to play the game to the best of one's ability. You know how to hold your racket, you have mastered the fundamental strokes but perhaps you have neglected your footwork?

The ability to move quickly on the court, to be ready for a shot, and then another, and another is solely depended on as fast and accurate footwork.

It is of primary importance to have a "home position" usually it is in the center of the court. It is from here that there is the quickest access to all points in the court. It is to here also that you return immediately following a shot.

It is important too to adopt an "active waiting position", with the left foot in front of the right, the knees slightly bent, and the weight of the body evenly distributed on the balls of the feet, the racket held in one hand in front of the body. Now you are ready to step forward, or in any direction to strike.

In the service the right foot is in front of the left; here you concentrate on accuracy rather than on power maintained from body motion.

In the forehand the left foot is in advance of the right and the body faces the side lines. In the backhand the right foot is ahead of the left and the body faces the side lines. In both these strokes there is scope for a full arm swing and an allowance is made for the shifting of body weight so necessary for well coordinated timing.

MIDGET LOOP CONSISTS OF FOUR SQUADS

In the Midget section of the Municipal Hockey League the line-ups are as follows:

Andre Couture doesn't expect any difficulty in lining up players for his All-Star team in the Midget section. Manager Couture has five experienced players as a nucleus for his squad in Cornell Strachan, flashy center man; John Tyler, Raymond Fabe and Billy Keating, forwards, while one of the rear-guards will be Leonard Brooks. Manager Couture has other prospects in view including three goal-keepers, but is taking his time in signing up men in an effort to build up a contending team.

The Bulldogs in the Midget league are all set with the exception of some good defencemen. Manager Bill Storer has only Doug Woods available for defense work, but has no lack of forwards as he has two complete forward lines in Andre Langier, Raymond Fabe and himself on one of them, while the other one will consist of Paul Simard, Phil MacDonald and Charlie Booth. Percy Turner, Manager Storer's assistant, will play goals.

David Harvie's Beavers, entrants in the Midget section, will have most of last year's players back on the roster, the only new men this season being Eric Swayne, a defenceman, and Jimmie Donald, a forward. Amongst the old stand-bys back this year will be George Smith, Ian Fraser, Jimmie MacCaulley, John Pierson, Ken Lindsay, Jack Wright and playing manager Dave Harvie. Ross Miller will be in the nets again. The Beavers need only a defenceman or two with a little weight to go places in their group.

Panthers, last season's title-holders in the Midget section will be back after the laurels again this year. Shorty Fairhead has taken over the leadership of the team, and has an imposing array of material lined up. Ken Holduc will be goal-keeper, Eric Wrigglesworth, Sinclair Dixon and Manager Fairhead will take care of the defensive duties. No less than three forward lines will see duty for the champions, Bruce Marshall, Buddy Lyons and Kyle Prescott will act as pivots for various combinations made up of Dunc Patterson, Mike Munro, Bob Lord, Jim Knowlton, Sam Tate, Peter Reid, and John Kerr. This club should be well up in the standing throughout the year.

INTER-CITY HOCKEY MEET IS ARRANGED

Final arrangements have been made for the formation of an Inter-municipal Hockey Conference. This conference which is modeled on the lines of the United States College Football Conference is a new departure, and will bring together teams from Westmount and N.D.G. in a series of games during the coming winter.

Nucleus for the new organization will be two teams from the Boys Brigade Grads and the NDG Wolverines, who are replacing Stanley and will have a number of the latter's players on their roster. A fourth team has been entered under the Westmount Banner, but has yet to select a name. These teams will provide a definite series of games, but by operating under a conference system other games may be played during the course of the season.

It is emphasized that this being the first year the I.H.C., as it is called, intends to remain on a small scale, caution is the keyword, although considerable expansion is looked for next year. It is hoped that other areas in the city will adopt the system in coming seasons, and use it among teams that are not affiliated with the Q.A.H.A.

So far as the present teams are concerned, N.D.G. will produce a strong entry with many players who are well known. Grads "B" received a set-back by losing two players under the Q.A.H.A. regulations against their players wishing outside hockey. So far as the "A" team is concerned only one good left winger is needed to round out the squad. Little is known of the new Westmount entry, but it is thought N.D.G. and Grade "A" will be the class of the league.

Dates have yet to be announced, but the Conference will get underway during the first week of January. Some time is still available however for interested teams to make inquiries, as the elastic organization of the conference system permits late changes.

Information on the I.H.C. may be obtained from Tom Mulligan, Sports director for Grads Association, at WE. 5233.

YMCA To Enter Cage Team In M.B.L.

For the first time in many years the Westmount Y.M.C.A. will enter a team in the senior division of the M.B.L. The team, coached by Hugh Purdy, has been practicing religiously for the past three weeks and it is expected that on the opening game this Saturday the spectators will see a flashy Westmount outfit. As well as the regulars of last year, Eaves, Hall, Grindley, and Eakin the team will be substantially boosted by the addition of Joe Richman, captain of last year's Y.M.H.A. team, Hugh Purdy, Holdridge, and Mishlap from McGill, as well as Bill Davidson, Des. Chowan and John Crombie.

Judging from the work outs that have been going on in the High School and at the 'Y' the Westmount will offer a real threat to the opposition.
