SENSATIONAL FEATURES IN PROTESTS AGAINST ONTARIO LIBERALS NOW BEING HEARD

Remarkable Evidence of Wrong-Doing Given at the Sault St. Marie and North Grey Trials Which Opened on Tuesday—Particulars Filed in the North Norfolk Case Mention Several Prominent Politicians — A Record Number of Charges.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., September 14.—In the proceedings against C. N. Smith, Liberal, M. L.A., for Sault Ste. Marie, on Tuesday afternoon, the evidence of Nicholas Cole, formerly purser of the Algoma Central steamer Minnie M., which at by-election time last October, took twenty men from the Michigan Soo to Michipicoten to act, it is alleged as personators, was corroborated by other witnesses.

The investigation into this one charge lasted till the adjournment last night. George E. Richardson, the stewart, told of provisioning the boat for the trip of going to the Michigan side, where beer, liquor and cigars were taken aboard; of getting passengers at Algonquin above the Michigan Soo in charge of Employment Agent Galvin, and of the trip up the lake during which the men were supplied with free liquor and cigars.

Max. Hierman, a deck hand, told of the events from his point of view and corroborated the previous witnesses.

Capt. Arthur Batten also gave corroborative evidence. At a meeting held on the night previous to the boat's departure, he heard read a letter to Attorney-General Gibson, who was at present protesting against the anticipated outrage. He knew it was his boat that was referred to but he had his orders, and it was not for him to ask questions of the company's officers.

Nelson Harmon, deputy returning officer at Helen Mine, gave evidence that twenty-three votes had been polled there all for Mr. Smith. All the voters were sworn at the request of Mr. Miscampbell's agent, who suspected personation.

T. J. Kennedy, general manager of the Algoma Central Railway, gave evidence to the effect that a week previous to the election he wrote to the conductor at Michipicoten, telling him to have a train meet the Minnie M.

He got his instructions from the assistant general manager of the Consolidated Company, Mr. William Coyne.

No fares were collected from the men either on the boat or train, and although unusual none of the employes were reprimanded by superior officers for this neglect.

During the afternoon's proceedings, E. A. Duvernet, counsel for the petitioners, announced that he would get affidavits to prove that attempts were being made to spirit away witnesses from outside the court room, where they remain while trial is on.

THE NORTH GREY CASE.

Owen Sound, Ont., September 14.—The investigation into charges that A. G. Mackay, Liberal M.L.A., holds his seat in the Legislature for North Grey as the result of electoral corruption opened yesterday afternoon before Chief Justice Moss and Justice Street. About 200 witnesses have been subpoenaed to attend the trial, which probably will last for several days.

The Liberals are represented by A. B. Aylesworth, K.C., J.M. McEvoy and H. E. Sampson, while the Conservative interests are being looked after by G. T. Blackstock, James Baird, and H. G. Tucker.

Mr. Mackay was in the witness box for the greater part of yesterday afternoon. Mr. Mackay said that there were two other bye-elections at the time his was held—North Norfolk and North Perth. He admitted that the fate of the Government perhaps depended upon them "if they went wrong." He said he was not a member of the Riding Association and had not attended a meeting of it for eleven years, and could not say if committees had been formed throughout the riding. The campaign had been a short one, lasting only two weeks.

Between 5,00 0and 6,000 votes had been polled. He had looked to "the boys" to get the votes out.

"You are aware," Mr. Blackstone asked, "that there had been in previous elections secret organizations which sent strangers in the ridings?"

"No, I am not aware of that unless you refer to such constituencies as West Elgin," answered Mr. Mackay. "Well, I have read in the papers about organizations but I don't know anything about secret organizations."

ACQUAINTED WITH "CAP" SULLIVAN.

Mr. Mackay did not know how strangers got into a riding at election time, but supposed that there was some power directing them.

"Cap" Sullivan was known by the witness. He had been in Owen Sound six weeks ago, about three weeks before his (witness) examination for discovery. He had had a short conversation with Sullivan, but had not communicated with him since.

A voter named Robert Angus was known to the witness. Angus had asked him for a loan of $5, but witness had no change, and handed him $10, and after ascertaining that Angus would be in town again in a few days told him he need not get the change then but return all of the loan when he was in town again.

He had regularly entered the transaction in his books. Mr. Mackay did not know where Angus was. The money had not been returned. Mr. Mackay also testified that he knew H. M. Manders, who had asked him for money, but had been refused. He denied that he told the man to go to the Reform committee room.

STARTLING EVIDENCE.

Rather startling evidence was taken by Wm. Ferrow. Ferrow deposed that he was told by a John Schreiber that he would be "put next" to Roy McMurchy, who had money. This was shortly before the by-election. Schreiber subsequently introduced him to McMurchy, who said: "Is this the man you were speaking about?" Schreiber said it was, and later the witness and McMurchy met when the latter handed him $5.

To Mr. Aylesworth, Ferrow said he was alone with McMurchy in the Grand Central Hotel, when the money was paid over to him with the words: "I hope you voted for the right man."

It had not been suggested to him, the witness declared, that he should lay a trap for the other side. He had been subpoenaed by Mr. Boyd, the Conservative candidate. He had told the story just related to a Mr. Leonard before he told it to Mr. Boyd.

Witness also said to Mr. Aylesworth that he had received from McMurchy, money on an occasion other than the one told of, namely at the Dominion by-election.

"What was the occasion?" asked Mr. Blackstock "and what happened?"

Mr. Aylesworth objected to the question on the ground that an agency ended with an election.

Mr. Blackstock submitted that his question was perfectly proper. Mr. Aylesworth had asked the witness if he had got money from McMurchy on any other occasion, and the reply was that he had. Mr. Blackstock simply wanted to find out what that occasion was. The Judge finally reserved decision until to-day.

NORTH NORFOLK PARTICULARS

Special to the Montreal Star.

Toronto, September 14.—On Tuesday afternoon North Norfolk Conservatives, through S. H. Bradford, broke a record, filing the greatest number of charges in one case in the history of Ontario election courts. There are just 685 separate and distinct charges, and Archibald Little, Liberal M.L.A., will have to answer the more serious ones. The Speaker and Hon. Richard Harcourt also figure in several of the charges.

The sensational charge is the first. It amounts to a conspiracy to bribe, and even to abduct and deport voters. The Speaker, Hon. W. A. Charlton, is the chief name involved in this charge. Others are Hal B. Donly, publisher; License Inspector Werrett, of Simcoe; Barrister W. B. Wilkinson, of Waterford, and eight others, among them a hotel-keeper and several farmers, all said to be agents of the respondent.

These are said to have "corruptly combined, conspired and agreed upon their scheme and plan of bribery and other illegal acts," by distributing money to buy votes, by inducing the proprietors of a number of hotels in Simcoe and other places to sell liquor after prohibited hours.

Among these are the Beemer House, Watford; Queen's Hotel, Simcoe; Royal Hotel, Simcoe; the hotels at Windham Centre and at La Sallette. These, it is charged, were also furnished with bribery funds.

"GOT THE VOTERS DRUNK."

The charge then reads:

"For the purpose of more effectually carrying out the plan or scheme, that the voters or some of them should be made drunk and thereupon locked up in rooms in the hotels provided for the purpose and should be abducted and deported or by other fraudulent device or contrivance prevented from voting.

"Also that such scheme be further carried out by Geo. O. Werrett, License Inspector, prostituting his office, giving protection to the proprietors of the said hotels against penalties or other loss, harm or damage because of their infringement of the law."

In pursuance of this plan, the charge adds, the hotels were kept open during the illegal hours, particularly during polling day and the night previous, and men were made drunk and locked up in rooms and prevented from voting.

The Government figure in over 100 charges of bribery, giving money to certain electors to be used for that purpose. The representatives of the Government in this charge are Speaker Charlton and Hon. Richard Harcourt, Minister of Education.

Hon. John Charlton, M.P., and W. M. German, M.P., Geo. H. Watson, K.C., Hugh Blain and the Reform Association of Ontario are also named as well as Hal Donly and the North Norfolk Liberal Association.

Among the 100 or more who are said to have had a hand in that bribery fund are T. C. Robinette, K.C., License Inspector George O. Werrett and David Rattenbury, of Simcoe. Most of the others are farmers.

The familiar name of Captain John Sullivan, of St. Catharines, decorates a dozen pages. He is said to have given or promised money to Michael Crosby, of Buffalo or St. Catharines; Frank Scully, St. Catharines; Frank Gallagher, Buffalo, and others, "to procure the return of the respondent."

A PULLMAN MADE A FORTRESS

How Judge Bole, of British Columbia, Took Charge.

Victoria, September 14.—When Conductor Ward, of the C. P. R. train held up near Mission City, on Saturday night, entered the Pullman and told the passengers the news, Judge W. Norman Bole, of the British Columbia courts, asked if any other man in the car besides himself was armed. Everybody replied in the negative. The Judge then produced his revolver and asked all who were willing to help him defend the car against the attack of the bandits to say so. Every man present expressed willingness to assist. The Judge then sent the porter back up the line with torpedo signals to lay on the rails to warn the freight train that the express had passed west of Mission City, and which was about due, so as to avert a disastrous rear end collision. When the porter returned Bole ordered all the furniture and loose fittings in the car piled against the doors at each end so as to prevent them being opened from the corridors. The passengers then distributed themselves in hiding along the sides and at the ends of the car to escape flying bullets if a fight should take place, and Bole took his place between two big chairs in the middle of the car, revolver in hand. The porter then put out all the lights in the centre of the car, leaving only those in the corridors burning. The centre of the car was thus in pitch darkness while the corridors, by which the robbers must approach to the attack, were a blaze of light. The slatted blinds at the windows were pulled down and fastened securely. Thus prepared, all in the car awaited the coming of the robbers. The Judge kept a keen watch on the corridors, ready to kill the first man with a mask on his face that showed himself in the brilliantly lighted passages. Only when the locomotive returned from Whonnock Creek and coupled up did the people feel that the strain was over. All the passengers highly praised Judge Bole's sensible action, and his courageous determination to defend the car against assault. They say no military man could have arranged the work of defence better than the judge. The passengers also declare that had any of the robbers shown themselves in the corridors they would have been killed to a certainty, and without any chance of returning the fire. Judge Bole was once commander of a British Columbia rifle corps, and is an Irishman noted for his determination of character. He was the only man in the whole train who seriously proposed to fight the gang.

LATE PRINCIPAL GRANT REFUSED NOMINATION.

Declined Seat in Mowat Cabinet in 1885 and Later, Federal Nomination.

Kingston, Ont., September 14.—In the biography of the late Principal Grant, just issued, it is stated that the head of Queen's College was offered a portfolio in the Mowat Cabinet in Ontario. The announcement has caused surprise, as it was quite unknown here. On the resignation of Hon. Adam Crooks, in 1885, Sir Oliver offered the portfolio of Minister of Education to Principal Grant. After serious consideration, Dr. Grant declined. In later years he was asked to be a parliamentary candidate for the Federal House, but he refused to entertain the proposal.

JUDGE PARKER WILL SPEAK.

New York, September 14.—Three thousand orators are to be turned loose in the doubtful States by the Democratic campaign managers during the last week in September. The announcement was made at the national headquarters today by Daniel McConville, head of the speakers' bureau. The list is headed by Judge Parker.

PLOT TO CATCH COLONIAL BACHELORS

Anglo - American Matrimonial Agency Exposed by Truth.

London, September 14. — London Truth, in an article respecting an advertisement addressed to bachelors, which appeared in certain colonial papers, says: "The advertisers called themselves Lloyd and Duncan, Anglo-American Agents, 91 St. Mary's Road, Leyton. On enquiry at the address the Truth representative found the house had been empty some weeks. The advertisers proposed to supply men in the colonies with suitable partners from thousands of good intelligent girls around Leyton. Any colonial with a fancy for one of these damsels was asked to remit five dollars. Truth fears that the only result of the enterprise was a number of dollars transferred from the other side of the Atlantic to this side. The number of bachelors on one side and spinsters on the other remains unaltered." Truth wonders that no possibility of this result did not occur to any of the colonial papers which published the advertisement. Truth has received several enquiries from Canada about the advertisement.

GENERAL STOESSEL TO THE EMPEROR

The Commander at Port Arthur Tells of Recent Attacks.

RUSSIANS AT TIE PASS

Troops Fortifying the Heights—Russia and Germany Growing Friendly.

St. Petersburg, September 14. — The Emperor has received the following despatch from General Stoessel, commander of the Russian military forces at Port Arthur, dated August 28:

"I am happy to report to Your Majesty that at three o'clock in the morning of August 27, during a violent rain and thunder storm, the Japanese again attempted to capture our left flank positions, near number one fort and Udan mountain. Their attack was everywhere repulsed. Our losses were small—three men killed and two officers and 98 men wounded. The wounded were brought in and are being carefully tended. A number of Japanese corpses would have been picked up by us, but the enemy prevented us from so doing by opening fire on the hospital attendants who had been sent out under the Red Cross flag."

Another despatch from Gen. Stoessel to the Emperor, dated September 2, says:

"On the night of September 1 the enemy attacked Visokaya and Dilnaya mountains and the neighbouring fortifications, opening simultaneously an artillery fire on the forts and mountains. The leading files of the enemy, with the Japanese columns following them were discovered in good time, and our batteries opened on them. The leading files fortunately encountered some automatic mines, and many of the enemy were blown in the air. The attack was repulsed in an hour. Our losses were inconsiderable—one officer and seven men wounded."

ESTIMATE OF RUSSIAN LOSSES.

St. Petersburg, September 14.—Gen. Kuropatkin estimates the Russian losses from August 28 to September 5 at 4,000 killed and 12,000 wounded.

ADVICES FROM TOKIO.

Tokio, September 14—3 p.m.—Field Marshal Oyama confirms the reports that a considerable force of Russians remains south of the Hun river and says the Russians are fortifying the heights on both sides of the Liao river at Tie Pass.

Gen. Nodzu reports that the heaviest fighing at Liao Yang occurred during the evening of September 3. The 20th Regiment, having previouly lost successively two regimental and four battalion, commanders, sacrificially assaulted and dislodged the Russians from their redoubts at Yusfangmiao. There were no Japanese officers above the rank of captain. Captain Yogami, commanding the regiment, led the charge and inspirited his men. The reserves unhesitatingly filled the gaps in the assaulting line. The men, unmindful of wire entanglements and other obstructions, rushed up to the Russian works shouting "Banzai." One battalion lost all its officers in the first clash and a private subsequently commanded it. One company was reduced to fourteen or fifteen men. The regiment's losses were from twelve to thirteen hundred.

THE TRANSPORT LENA.

St. Petersburg, September 14, 1.46 p.m.—Telegraphic inquiries have elicited the information from Vladivostok that the Russian transport Lena was sent to the Pacific with the view of stopping the shipment of contraband of war. There is an intimation also, but this is not official, that several other vessels, probably merchant men, purchased in Germany and converted into armed cruisers, are in the Pacific on a similar mission. If the United States declines to permit the Lena to have ample time in which to make complete repairs, without which she could not venture to undertake a long voyage, either back to Vladivostok or home by way of Cape Horn, it seems probable that Russia will acquiesce to the decision to disarm her.

San Francisco, September 14.—Another and more thorough inspection of the Russian cruiser Lena will be made to-day by naval engineers in order to furnish the State and Navy Departments with more complete data concerning her boilers and seaworthiness. In the event that the Lena is dismantled she probably will be laid up at the Mare Island navy yard.

GERMANY AND RUSSIA.

London, September 14.—The Times, in a special article, gives the history of an alleged understanding arrived at between Germany and Russia which it believes took definite shape at the time of the commercial negotiations at Norderney in July and which will secure to Russia Germany's support in the ultimate settlement of terms of peace with Japan, and to Germany, so far as Russia is concerned, a free hand in future for the carrying out of her scheme of world politics on lines of least resistance—in China, namely, where it will come in contact only with British interests.

Emperor William, in seeking this agreement, the article says, believed Russia would be eventually victorious, and his good-will has already enabled Russia to send her finest troops from the western provinces to the Far East and to a certain extent dismantle the western fortresses of Russia of siege guns for the seat of war. Whilst, besides facilitating Russian purchases of ships and war material in Germany, it was also intended that the warships at Port Arthur and Vladivostok should be given refuge at Kai Chou in order to be available at the conclusion of the war in the hands of German diplomacy for exercising pressure upon Japan in concluding peace. The disgrace into which Prince Ouktomsky, the Russian naval commander at Port Arthur, has fallen gives the measure of the importance attached to this movement in St. Petersburg.

WILL RELEASE BRITISH SHIP.

Vladivostock, September 13 (Delayed.)—The prize court has decided to release the British steamer Calchas (captured while bound from Puget Sound ports to Japan, by the Vladivostock squadron) and also the neutral portions of the vessel's cargo. That part of the cargo consigned to Japan, consisting of flour, cotton and timber, is confiscated. The Calchas will be detained three months in order to allow its owners time for an appeal from the prize court's decision.

London, September 14.—The Globe this afternoon says that the decision of the Vladivostok prize court to confiscate that portion of the cargo of the British steamer Calchas, consisting of flour, cotton and timber, consigned to Japan, if confirmed by the Russian Supreme Court amounts to a complete ignoring of the protest lodged by Great Britain at St. Petersburg, against the inclusion of provisions in the Russian list of contraband of war.

STORY OF AN ANCIENT FIGHT.

Petropavlovsk, Kamschatka, September 13 (Delayed).—In the middle of June, Lieut. Gundusi, of the Japanese navy, with one hundred and fifty naval reserve men, landed on the west coast of Kamschatka, plundered villages, expelled inhabitants, and issued proclamations declaring the sovereignty of Japan over the Kamschatka peninsula.

A sailing vessel, with 100 Russian reserve men and a detachment of one hundred militiamen, was sent from Petropavlovsk to the west coast to eject the Japanese. The Russians defeated the latter and captured their leader. The Russian force lost one man killed and four men wounded. The Japanese lost 17 men killed. The Russian naval detachment later burned five Japanese schooners, killing seventy Japanese.

CHARGES AGAINST JAPS.

Che Foo, September 14, 4 p. m.—A communication has been received by the Russian Consul here, from General Balashoff, chief of the Red Cross at Port Arthur, requesting that he same be made public. The General charges the Japanese with gross violation of the Red Cross. He says the Japanese dead have been found carrying notes, written in Russian, requesting that their bodies be buried, but when Russian burial parties attempted to fulfil these requests, they were fired on. Such instances, General Balashoff adds, are numerous, and the Russians are now afraid to trust to the red cross flag. He states that the Japanese also protect movements of their troops by the unlawful use of the red cross flag.

BOARDED A BRITISH VESSEL.

Gibraltar, September 14.—The British steamer Ortona, from London, reports passing yesterday a Russian cruiser which was boarding the British steamer Derwen, from Liverpool.

The Spaniards reached Vera Cruz on September 5, where, owing to cabled information, the Mexican police had nothing to do but take them in. The whereabouts of the conspirators at present is not known, but is is believed by persons from whom Mr. Hawes got the information, that short work was made of them.

MUD AND RAIN MAY CAUSE A TRUCE

mies Can Do Little While Present Conditions Prevail.

THE BATTLE OF LIAO YANG

Belated Reports Show That it Was One of the Fiercest Ever Fought.

London, September 14. — The relative positions of the armies in Manchuria seem to be unaltered. No further fighting is recorded by either side. Mud and exhaustion are expected to enforce a truce. The reports from St. Petersburg that Gen. Kuropatkin has been greatly strengthened since the battle of Liao Yang is regarded as probable. It is surmised that it was the knowledge of the approach of the Russian reinforcements that determined the Japanese to attack the Liao Yang positions before their own arrangements were complete.

The newspapers this morning are flooded with tardy accounts of the battle, each running to some thousands of words. All relate incidents indicating that there was never a bloodier combat in the history of war. Gen. Kuroki's section of the field seems to have been the most hotly contested. The summit of Helyingtai hill, which is a quarter of a mile long, was torn into fragments by the shells. It is stated that it was impossible after the fight to take a step without treading on bullets.

Bennet Burleigh, of the Telegraph, who recently left Manchuria, disgusted with the treatment accorded correspondents by the Japanese, is still at Tien-Tsin. He says he has not permanently withdrawn from the scene of action.

Mr. Burleigh declares that the Japanese estimate of 17,000 casualties is too modest. Judging from his own observation, there were nearly 30,000. there are no evidences that the Russians are using a single dum-dum bullet. Many thousand of Japanese horses are foundered and terribly galled. The Japanese are bad horse masters. Reinforcements of men, animals and munitions are being hastened northward by way of New Chwang and Dalny.

The Japanese hold secretly but strongly all the districts to the north along the Liao river as far as Siuming. The Chunchuses or bandits in large organized bodies are mustering for important operations north of Mukden. They often fraternize with the Chinese soldiers.

KUROKI'S FORCE DID REMARKABLE WORK.

Success of the Japs at Liao Yang Due to His Heroic Army.

General Kuroki's headquarters in the field, Monday, September 5, via Tien Tsin, September 13.—The part that the Japanese force under command of General Kuroki played in the Liao Yang conflict was remarkable. From the 25th to the 30th of August, when he effected a junction with the other Japanese armies around Liao Yang, he advanced night and day over almost roadless mountains, pushing the enemy before him. He then made a rapid change of base from Anping to a point on the eastern side of the railway, with his left wing ten miles north of Liao Yang, thus leaving a wide gap between his troops and the main body of the Japanese. The purpose was to cut the railway, which was General Kuropatkin's only possible avenue of retreat, and attempting a surrounding movement. On the night of September 2 his force reached a position two or three miles from the railway, with the right division ready to strike, but Gen. Kuropatkin was able to send a superior force against him and hold him at bay while the Russian army made good its retreat. For two days it seemed possible that the Russians might assume the offensive on a large scale and, perhaps, force the Japanese right army, as the command of Gen. Kuroki is called, to abandon its position. On September 5, however, Gen. Kuroki was following Gen. Kuropatkin's read guard and a brisk action was in progress. No estimate of the casualties can be obtained at this writing, but during the 48 hours in which the right army was engaged in desperate fighting the dead and wounded doubtless totalled several thousand.

A TERRIFIC BATTLE.

During September 1 and 2 the army under Gen. Kuroki advanced westward from a line between the village and the stone fort at Kwang Tung, with the division forming the right wing extending to the north and the division on the left in a bend of the Taitse river. The right and centre of Gen. Kuroki's line were fighting with determination and gaining every foot of their advance at a great cost. On the morning of September 1, the Japanese artillery was close to Kwang Tung. It advanced several times during these two days, shifting its positions, and taking advantage of low bluffs. During this time the Russians shelled the Japanese artillery furiously. Their fire was concentrated principally upon the batteries located near Kwang Tung, but it never disturbed the Japanese gunners, who continued coolly to man their pieces.

With the advent of darkness on September 2, the right division of Gen. Kuroki's army had occupied the "Five Headed Hills." One brigade on extreme right had gained a position farther north and to the north-west of Coal Mine Hill. The Japanese centre division held a long, low hill, five miles west of Kwangtung, and above the village of Sykwantun. Between Kwantung where, from a Manchu stone fort on a bare and rocky hill, Gen. Kuroki observed the conflict for four days, exposed meanwhile to the fierce rays of the sun—and the hills which formed the Japanese advance line beyond which they gained but little ground until the night of September 4, there lies a rolling country with several low ridges of hills and many groves giving cover to both armies. The Russians had cut away the grain and the trees from in front of their entrenchments on these hills, leaving the approaches open and bare. In the advance movement over this section, the Japanese troops were under fire constantly and they could work forward only by the digging of successive rows of trenches. The suffering was great. The exhausted men were obliged to work unceasingly with their rifles or with entrenching tools. They were unable to cook rations for fear that their fires would disclose their positions to the enemy. The taking of these hills, particularly the one at Helyingtai, cost the Japanese heavily. After cannonading this hill during the day of September 1 and gradually forcing back the Russian infantry on the plain, whose being able to dislodge them the Japanese resorted to a night attack and drove the Russians out at the point of the bayonet. They also stormed the "Five Headed Hills" during September 2.

RAKED WITH SHRAPNEL.

During this engagement the left division moved against the high hills at Sykwantun, where the Russians had strong fortifications and batteries. A part of the left division, supported by the batteries on the plain, attempted to advance across the wide gravelled flats south of the river and bordering the fields. They came under a heavy fire from the Russian guns. The only possible protection was the depressions in the flats, and their ranks were raked by the enemy's shrapnel. The Japanese soldiers lay flat on their faces and were under the Russian fire until 5 o'clock that afternoon when the movement was suspended. This movement was intended to support the advance of a part of the centre division on the same hills.

One of the bloodiest affrays of the entire war developed that night on these hills. A part of the Japanese centre division in a night assault encountered an unexpected defence. The Russians had strung along the ground heavy wires, highly charged with electricity, and the Japanese soldiers received severe shocks. The Russian troops threw hand grenades, or shells, among the stormers. The effect was terrifying and many of the Japanese were wounded. The attempt to seize this hill was not successful. One Japanese battalion, which fought its way into the trenches, exhausted its ammunition. It attempted to cut its way out with the bayonet, but it was almost exterminated.

On September 3, the Russians withdrew and the Japanese occupied these positions.

FIGHTING AT NIGHT.

The fighting on the night of September 2 along the entire line was the fiercest of the battles. The Russians were determined to re-take Haiyingtai Hill, which was necessary for the protection of the railroad. All day long two or three Russian batteries had enveloped the trenches on the hill with a continuous rapid fire. The trenches were deep, and the single Japanese regiment occupying them stuck to its position, and withstood and repulsed two or three infantry assaults. Toward dusk the Russians attacked in great force, and for two hours there followed steady and hard infantry fighting.

During most of this time the combatants were so close to each other that the artillery could not be used. Throughout that night the tenure of the hill hung in the balance.

The Russians made two assaults, and once the Japanese were driven from the trenches down to the nearer slopes. They returned to the struggle, and finally drove the Russians away. The slaughter was great on both sides.

In the meantime, the Russians attempted to overwhelm the Japanese on the "Five Headed Hills," throwing a large body of infantry against them. A hard battle was waged for several hours, but the Japanese lines were not broken.

The scene at night was like a remarkable display of fireworks. The Russian bombardment of the hills increased toward sunset and when darkness fell the bursting shells over hill tops and plain resembled flashing electric lights. The summits of the hills were outlined by continuous and thin streams of fire from flashing rifles. In the nearer plain, under the protection of low hills, the camp fires of the reserves glowed like the lights of a city. In the distance great beacons of light showed where the dead were being cremated.

AN ANXIOUS PERIOD.

The morning of September 3 was an anxious time at the headquarters of General Kuroki. The Russians' bombardment of the hills was proceeding and the Japanese batteries had taken up new positions in the lowlands. It was evident that the Russians confronting Kuroki had been heavily reinforced. Little firing was heard from the direction of Liao-Yang. Whether Kuropatkin was holding his ground there and bringing further reinforcements against Kuroki, or shifting the main strength of his army against the Japanese general, who menaced his retreat, and was within striking distance of the railroad, was uncertain.

Most of the villages had been turned into hospitals, and hundreds of wounded were seen, who told fearful stories of the night fighting.

There was heavy infantry firing during the day of the 3rd. The infantry line advanced westward only a half mile during the 3rd. The night of the 3rd a great glow shone over the hills to the southwest, and it was surmised that the Russians were burning Liao-Yang.

AN OMINOUS QUIET.

The morning of September 4 was intolerably hot, and an ominous quiet reigned. Two Russian guns beyond the hills, in front of Kuroki's army, boomed at intervals. The members of the General's staff obviously were worried. It became known that Kuroki's communication with the other Japanese armies were cut. There was no knowledge as to how the tide of battle went with them, but the Russian force in front of Kuroki was said to number at least five divisions.

The situation of the brigade on Kuroki's extreme right became critical. It was thought that the Russians might attempt to cut off Kuroki by a turning movement through the gap between his and the fourth army toward Anping, where the only Japanese forces for several miles were some regiments of cavalry patrolling the valley of the Taitse River. During the afternoon a fresh brigade reinforced the right of the line. Kuroki concentrated his army by ordering in the left division to reinforce the troops then holding the front from Skywantun to the "Five Headed Hills." The left division made a forced march, crossing the Taitse River over a pontoon bridge and pushing forward to the plain. During all the 4th the firing was suspended. At five o'clock in the evening the staff became active. Couriers galloped forward and General Fujii announced that the army would begin the pursuit of the enemy. The Japanese batteries began a brisk pounding. The left wing swept toward the railroad and the entire line advanced, meeting a lively rifle fire from the Russian rear guard. To this the Japanese replied and the engagement was continued until nightfall.

SCENES AFTER BATTLE.

On Sunday morning General Kuroki rode forward to Heiyingtai Hill. He passed through the Chinese villages, deserted by their inhabitants and filled with Japanese wounded. He passed many mounds where fires burned over the dead, and hundreds of fresh and hastily dug graves. The fields had been trampled into bogs by the fighting men, and were strewn with the debris of both armies. The spectacle presented by Haiyingtai Hill has seldom been equalled in any war. It was literally honeycombed with trenches, ditches and furrows for shelter. Close to the summit of the hill were the bodies of two hundred dead Russians, who had attempted to advance in open order. The entire line had been mowed down by the Japanese fire, when it was almost upon the trenches. The bodies were bloated and black. Many other corpses strewed the fields below the hills.

WANT THE WAR STOPPED.

President Roosevelt Asked to Summons The Hague Conference.

St. Louis, September 14.—The Inter-Parliamentary Union took up yesterday the important matters before it. For the executive council, Congressman Burton, of Cleveland, presented a resolution calling for another session of The Hague conference. Le Comte Goblet D'Alviella presented the following resolution calling for intervention in the Russo-Japanese war:

The Inter-Parliamentary conference, shocked by the horrors of the war that is being waged in the Far East, between two civilized states, and, deploring that the powers signatory of the convention of The Hague have been unable to have recourse to the clauses thereof, which direct them to tender their mediation immediately upon the outbreak of hostilities, asks the powers signatory of the convention of The Hague to intervene, either jointly or separately, with the belligerents, in order to facilitate the restoration of peace, or instruct the Inter-Parliamentary Bureau to bring the present resolution to the knowledge of said powers.

Le Comte D'Alviella urged that the President of the United States was quite the proper person to tender mediation.

The new Hague conference proposition was next taken up. Congressman Burton, of Cleveland, presented the resolution and urged its adoption.

The resolution was supported enthusiastically and its adoption was unanimously voted.

By this resolution President Roosevelt is asked to call a second session of The Hague conference. The real labours of the conference were thus ended.

Lyon Canada's Representative.

Toronto, Ont., September 14. — Mr. George S. Lyon, of the Lambton Golf Club, has entered and will take part in the Olympic championship golf games, which will be held at St. Louis on Monday next. Mr. Lyon will be accompanied by President A. Austin, of the Lambton Club. Mr. Lyon is well known as one of the best and most consistent golfers in Canada, and though beaten by Mr. Taylor, of Montreal, this summer, for the Canadian championship, he is at the present time playing one of the strongest games of his life.

Hamilton's New Armouries.

Hamilton, Ont., September 14.—The military department has taken up the options on property valued at $30,000 adjoining the present Drill Hall property. The object in acquiring the new property is to enlarge the armories, which has become a necessity, owing to the organization of the new 91st Regiment of Canadian Highlanders.

NOURISHING.

Tens of thousands of physicians are constantly prescribing Angier's Emulsion, because it makes the digestion of wholesome food easy and nourishes the tired or worn-out system. It cleanses and enriches the blood, creates firm flesh, quiets the nerves, and acts as a general tonic. It is quite pleasant to take.

NEW GYMNASTIC INSTRUCTOR FOR NEW M.A.A.A. GYMNASIUM

Sergeant-Major Long, of Halifax, Has Accepted the Position—Up-to-Date Systems to Be Taught—Swimming Lessons to Be Made a Specialty—Gymnasium and Swimming Privileges for Lady Members.

There will be a revolution in the methods to be employed in future in the gymnasium work of the M.A.A.A., and when the new building is completed, the system will be ahead of any in Canada, and second to none as regards any in the world.

For some time the directors have been in search of a man to head the physical department in the new building, and after considerable search decided that Sergt.-Major Long, of Halifax, was the man they wanted.

There was considerable negotiation, and the Sergeant-Major paid a visit here, and talked matters over.

Last week he accepted by mail the offer made, subject to the ratification of the directors, and the latter ratified the deal at their last meeting.

The Sergeant-Major has a splendid record. He is a young man of 35 years of age and a competent teacher in all branches of athletics, and in addition to the regular methods, has studied and is thoroughly qualified in the "Wenger" and "Swaboda" systems of physical culture. In addition to being instructor to military gymnastic training classes, he has also been employed or closely connected with civilian gymnasiums, thus giving him ample experience in every feature of the work. He was a successful competitor in July, 1889, at the Aldershot gymnastic and fencing classes, graduating from there with honours after six months' course, with first class certificate for both. Rejoining his corps in 1890, he was appointed assistant garrison instructor at Davenport. In 1893 he was selected as second class instructor to army gymnastic class, and after completing three months' probation, was promoted to the rank of first class instructor. In 1894, he was specially selected as physical instructor at Sandhurst, while there numbered among his pupils many distinguished officers, viz., Prince Alexander of Teck, the Duke of Roxburghe, and Viscount Crighton, the latter of whom was here with the Duke of York as a member of his staff. His rank of first class instructor in the Army gymnastic class is a sufficient guarantee as to his abilities, this office being only attained after years of study and hard work. He is considered one of the best fencers in Canada, having in addition to his army instruction studied for one year under the famous Italian fencing master, Masiello. Sergeant-Major Long is at present in Halifax, where he holds the position of physical instructor for Dalhousie University, Halifax Ladies' College, Nova Scotia Hospital, Sacred Heart Convent, and Industrial School. In addition to which he has a large class of the most prominent business men in Halifax, all of whom speak most highly of his work.

He recently organized an exhibition of physical culture for charitable purposes in that city, illustrated by 50 young ladies, which was a great success, and the means of raising a large sum of money.

It is the intention of the directors of the M.A.A.A. to shortly call a meeting to amend their by-laws in order to extend the privileges which are now given to lady associate members, as well as those given to the junior members, as a result of which they expect the membership will be largely increased. The classes will commence in the old building early in October and will be transferred to the new building, which is expected to be opened in January.

BASEBALL

Toronto Awarded Game In Tenth.

The official record of yesterday's game between Montreal and Toronto was 9 to 0 in favour of the city of goodness against the happy home of the Royal rooter.

It must be confessed that the Umpire would have been a chump from chumptown had he decided otherwise.

Both teams played a strong game all through, and it was a tie at 2 to 2 until the first part of the tenth. Then Toronto got in two runs and Montreal ceased to play. They just dawdled and let runs come in and made errors in the way of wild pitches and passed balls to try and get the umpire to call the game on account of darkness without finishing the inning. This would have left the game a tie.

Finally when McCarthy deliberately hurled the ball over Clancy's head at the grand stand, when a Torontonian was going to first, Eagan recalled the old line he used to learn when attending a typewriting academy, "Now is the time when all good men and true should come to the aid of the party."

Turning to the stand he announced that the game was awarded to Toronto by a score of nine to nothing. And there was not a kick about it, either.

Falkenberg did not start off well and Montreal landed on him like a trip hammer in the first, getting in two runs, but after that he was unfathomable as the mighty deep, and only six men got hits from his delivery during the entire game.

McCarthy also did fine work and had the hits scattered so they were harmless as the kiss of a humming bird except in the fifth and tenth, and of course in the last the team were manifestly only trying to play against time instead of against Toronto.

There is a popular prejudice among the fans in favour of having a baseball team play ball instead of playing mumblypeg.

Montreal came very near to winning in the last half of the ninth, when Dyer surprised himself and everybody else by doing something. Two men were gone and Francis gamboled with the ball, allowing Dyer to get his base. Gibson drew a pass and the fans exulted in a loud voice and made merry, but McCarthy hit nothing but atmosphere and the end came.

Jersey and Newark fought for six innings to a tie yesterday. Eason and Hesterfer pitched a one and two-hit game respectively.

Laporte made his ninth home run of the season at Buffalo Tuesday in the game with the Bronchos.

McGee, of the Bisons, yesterday was put out on two different occasions on bunt strikes—something rarely seen in a game.

Gettman got back in the game at Buffalo yesterday and made two hits.

Delahanty has been writhing under a $25 fine that was imposed upon him for a breach of discipline on the last trip.

The Boston Americans have played to almost 64,000 thus far in Philadelphia. They have played to 510,546 people at home and 314,140 away, a total of 824,686.

Manager Daly, of Providence, tried a 16-year-old phenomenon from the Morris High School, borough of the Bronx, named Richard Rudolph, on Saturday in Newark. The boy was first laughed at and then cheered when one after another in the three innings in which he pitched he retired the Newark batsmen. Not a safe hit was made off his deceitful benders.

LACROSSE

A New Ottawa Spasm.

A very grave suspicion is commencing to gain a foothold about Ottawa, and in not a few other cities, not in any way interested, with regard to the course of action of the Shamrock Club in fighting shy of Capitals until as late as the law—or otherwise, the new schedule of the N. A. L. U.—will allow. The Capitals negotiated for a change which would advance the dates so as to avoid a clash with the football season, but the Shamrocks didn't respond. Now, as any one who can put two and two together knows, the Shamrocks and Caps are the teams whom everyone, both in Montreal and Ottawa, wants to see get together this season, and the result will be two of the biggest gates seen at a lacrosse game in years. Gates, of course, are the life-blood of a lacrosse club—and this, notwithstanding the fact that the N. A. L. U. has been declared amateur again — and the Shamrocks are the very people who can, without the aid of a microscope, see every opportunity of wiping up a little of the "life-blood" whenever the chance is going. So while the aforementioned "grave suspicion" may be entirely groundless, does it not look just a little bit like a yellow streak in Shamrocks' make-up, and that they have reason to fear the result of the two games with Capital. When Shamrocks fail to break the record for the hundred yard dash at every chance to garner a gate which is suffering from obesity, look out. There's a reason somewhere, and perhaps in the present case it isn't far to seek. Are they hoping to see the season end in a fizzle, allowing them to retain the Minto Cup?—Ottawa Citizen.

Brantford and Tecumseh Again.

Toronto, September 14. — Arrangements have been completed whereby the Tecumsehs and Brantford will play at the Island on Saturday of this week the match of August 27, which was ordered by the C.L.A. executive to be replayed. Fergus was scheduled to play the Chippewas on the day in question, but they have been induced to vacate the grounds in favour of Tecumsehs. A victory for the Indians will give them the C.L.A. senior championship, while a win for Brantford will keep them in the running for the Globe Shield. This will likely be the greatest game of the season.

This Was Quick Work.

Toronto, September 14. — At a meeting of the C. L. A., last night, H. Lambe and C. Querrie, of the Tecumseh club, and John White, of the Brantford club, were reinstated.

"Jim" Corbett Hero of Broadway.

New York, September 14.—James J. Corbett was the hero of a mix-up between a party of hilarious young men, a cabman and Policeman Reardon, of the Broadway squad, in front of the Hoffman House last evening, that landed Edward Norris, of No. 616 Nostrand avenue, Brooklyn, a prisoner in the Tenderloin Police Station.

Norris, with a number of friends, among whom was a handsome young fellow addressed as "Doc," came out of a Broadway cafe, and Norris, grabbing the whip from a cab, broke it. When the cabman demanded that it be paid for all he got was a merry laugh.

The party started down Broadway with the cabby following. In front of the Hoffman House Policeman Reardon was appealed to. When the officer started to arrest young Norris he received a stunning blow in the face that almost knocked him off his feet. Recovering, he shot out his right fist, landed squarely on Norris's jaw and sent him sprawling into the street.

Then "Doc" and Norris's other friends started in to whip the policeman. The row was gaining serious proportions, when a big man forced his way through the crowd and reached the belligerents.

"Here, what's all this trouble about?" he demanded, as he separated the fighters in a remarkably skilful fashion.

"What have you got to do with it?" shouted Norris and his allies in a threatening manner.

"Gee, it's 'Jim' Corbett de prize fighter," shouted a lusty-lunged newsboy, who had recognized the former heavyweight champion. This took the fight out of all hands.

Shortly after Norris was locked up on a charge of disorderly conduct and assault his friend "Doc" appeared at the station house with a bondsman. When Norris was brought out he refused to sign the bond unless a complaint was entertained against the policeman.

"It will be time enough to make that complaint to-morrow," said Sergeant Robinson.

"Well, I won't sign the bond then," answered Norris.

He spent the night in a cell.

Walsh the boxer is indignant.

"I have tried all I could do to bring Weller to time," he says, "and I can't do it.

"I have offered to box him at 143 lbs. a straight match, the winner to take all the gate receipts, and I am ready, besides, to back myself up for $300.

"Then I am ready to make another proposition.. He says that he is willing to meet me twelve pounds lighter than I am.

"Well, I am willing to meet him on a percentage of the gate at that. If he stands up for ten rounds, he gets the winner's end of the gate, but if I have the best of the match I win the side bet, and I am also prepared in this case to put up $200 a side.

"I think these are pretty fair offers, and I am ready to put up money with any responsible party to bind them."

THE TURF

Disqualified on Grand Circuit.

Providence, R.I., September 14.—Secretary Albert H. Moon, of the Grand Circuit, announced that R. A. Smith has been disqualified from racing for the balance of the season by stewards of the Grand Circuit. The action is taken for the alleged laying up of the first two heats of the Roger William trotting stake with the California mare Sweet Marie on August 31 at Narragansett Park. A. P. McDonald was substituted for Smith, and won the race, which was the fastest five heat race ever trotted. Sweet Marie is not barred. Smith was suspended at the end of the racing here, and was subsequently reinstated.

Horse Shot at Brockville.

Brockville, Ont., September 14.—The horse races at the fair were keenly contested, the card consisting of the three-year-old trot and pace, the 2.28 class, trot and pace, and a running race in half-mile heats.

In the deciding heat of the 2.28 race, Gilsie, an Iroquois horse, tripped and fell immediately after the start, throwing her driver, D. McDonald, who escaped with a few bruises.

In the running race, Dr. Raney, owned by M. Flynn, of Prescott, broke his leg and will have to be shot. Summary:

HOW TO FIND OUT

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains the linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it, or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in Canada, price 75 cents and $1.25.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery, Swamp-Root, and a book that tells all about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N.Y. When writing be sure to mention that you read this generous offer in The Montreal Daily Star. The genuineness of this offer is guaranteed.

THE THIN MAN.

CUSTOM tailors and "ready-made" manufacturers will tell you the "thin man" is the easiest physique in the world to fit.

They cut down a size larger and rig him out somehow.

With us the thin man is neither more nor less difficult than any physique.

We recognize in him a type just as the stout man or the regular man are considered as types—and tailor suits especially for his figure.

Then each Semi-ready suit is tailored to the try-on stage.

You can prejudge effect of color and design and fit before you buy, whatever may be your physique.

Suit delivered two hours after fitting.

AUTOMOBILES AND AUTOMOBULLIES.

Two boys charged with placing obstructions in the way of the Montreal and St. Lambert automobile cars have been required to give bonds for two hundred dollars each to keep out of mischief for a year. The sentence is not too severe considering the risk to human life involved in such pranks, and considering also that these cars seem to be about as harmless machines as ever perfumed the atmosphere. It is to be hoped, however, that before next summer the city of Montreal and the suburban municipalities will adopt some concerted plan of action to put an end to the reign of terror lately established by the "automobullies" who infest some of the city streets and most of the suburban roads. The law should not only be strict but should be strictly enforced. Some hideously begoggled brutes seem to take a pleasure in placing men, women and children in danger, and to regard it as an exquisite joke to frighten a horse or run over a dog. They assume absolute ownership of the roads and throw upon other people the entire responsibility of avoiding accidents. They trust to the speed of their machines to prevent them from being arrested or identified. If there is no other way of stopping the nuisance, the law should require every automobile to bear a distinctive number displayed in figures two feet long in front, on the back, and on each side. Another plan would be to erect gates at frequent intervals on the suburban roads and compel every automobile to stop at each one, giving the owner the privilege of paying a toll sufficient to pay for the cost of keeping the gates. If stringent legislation on this subject is demanded by the public, the automobilists must thank some of their number who are not fit to be trusted out with perambulators.

SCHOOLS AND CITIZENSHIP.

Vice-President Winthrop D. Sheldon, of Girard College, contributes to the "Arena" — a review which has come back to its old importance with its old editor, Mr. B. O. Fowler, in the chair—a paper dealing with certain social tendencies of the United States and the relation of the school thereto. He thinks, for instance, that the school might counteract the terrible tendency to defy law and ignore government which appears in the community if it would pay greater attention to inculcating the law-abiding spirit. Then it might do more in the way of cultivating the cardinal virtues of honesty and integrity, and generally building up a better standard of citizenship.

Theoretically, we all believe this; but practically do we not ask little of our schools, except that they crowd the memories of our children with certain facts which will enable them to pass a good examination and to finally emerge with a status which may help them in the great business of getting bread and butter? We know that certain English schools aim to leave an impress upon the character of the scholar, and we think that this is a fine thing. But do we really believe that our schools are, as a rule, so organized as to produce this effect?

One of the curses of this age is that we measure everything by its earning power. People at an art gallery will flock to see the highest priced picture. When a man puts up a house, we ask first, "What did it cost?" Our very sports are graded in many minds by their expensiveness. So it is no surprising that we measure our education by its earning capacity. We sneer at a college graduate sometimes because he cannot earn as much money as the lad who went early into a wholesale house, ignoring the fact that he can buy ten times as much pleasure with his few dollars as the uneducated man can with his many.

But we certainly should pay more attention to the effect which schools might have upon character. It is better to produce a generation of brave, truth-telling, frank and honour-loving children, than the "smartest" class that ever turned to money-making as ducks take to water. To do this, we must choose teachers who hate a sneak, who detest a coward, who would rather have a manly pupil than a miracle of memory, and to get such teachers, we must pay salaries that will command the lifelong services of real men. We are stinting our schools to the everlasting injury of our children.

THE WAR SITUATION.

Official denials are the order of the day at St. Petersburg. It is officially denied that Lt.-General Zassalitch has been wounded; that he and three thousand of his men have been captured; that dum-dum bullets were used by the Russians at Liao Yang; that General Linevitch has marched into Korea from Vladivostok, or that he has cut off Kuroki's communications with Feng Wang Cheng; and that Prince Ouktomsky has been tried by Court martial and shot for taking his ship back to Port Arthur against orders. Many reports of the battle of Liao Yang are published, but about the subsequent movements of the troops little is forthcoming. The special correspondents with the Japanese armies are evidently and naturally getting exasperated at the many restrictions imposed upon them.

From Petropavlovsk comes the belated report of a Russian victory, which has no bearing upon the result of the war. In June a hundred and fifty Japs landed on the west coast of Kamschatka, plundered the villages, expelled the inhabitants, and formally annexed the peninsula to Japan. A Russian force of two hundred men subsequently defeated the invaders and restored Russian sovereignty in Kamschatka.

QUARTERLY MEETING OF PRESBYTERY.

Rev. Dr. Scrimger Will Be Inducted Into New Office on October 5.

The quarterly meeting of the Montreal Presbytery was held in the Knox Church yesterday afternoon, Rev. Dr. Mowatt in the chair. The new principal of the Presbyterian College, Rev. Dr. Scrimger, will be inducted into his new office on the evening of October 5, the opening of the college for the session of 1904-05, and the Rev. Dr. D. J. Fraser will be inducted at the same time as Professor of New Testament, Literature and Exegesis. It was arranged that Dr. Fraser would deliver the opening lecture and Rev. Dr. Barclay the charge to the new principal and professor. The function will take place in the David Morrice Hall, and the Moderator will preside.

REV. DR. SCRIMGER.

Principal of the Presbyterian College, who will be inducted into his new office shortly.

Rev. W. R. Cruickshank submitted the Home Mission Committee's report recommending that the committee approve of all plans and estimates for churches, manses, etc., before their construction is undertaken by mission stations and augmented charges within the jurisdiction of the Presbytery.

Mr. Cruickshank explained that the committee took this step to prevent the unnecessary accumulation of debt to protect congregations, and assist them in securing buildings in keeping with their requirements.

The report was adopted.

Rev. G. C. Heine's report from the committee on French work relative to the embellishment of schools in the city was also adopted.

In connection with Rev. Dr. Ross' removal from the Presbyterian College to the pastoral charge of St. Andrew's Church, London, Ont., a resolution was recorded expressing the Presbytery's high appreciation of his personal character and of the services he had rendered to the Church and to the cause of geligian during the twelve years he had been a member of the Presbytery of Montreal, and wishing him success in his new field of labour.

Rev. Dr. Gordon, Principal of Queen's University, Kingston, addressed the meeting at some length, touching on the prosperity of the University during the last 15 years, and referring to its services to the Church and country, and the desire of the General Assembly to have closer relations with the institution. He also referred to the opportunities it offered, on the lines of the Scotch institutions, to assist any one to a higher education, and expressed the hope that an endowment fund of $500,000 would be raised so as to carry out the desire of the Assembly and not allow Queen's to be separated from the Church and endowed by the Government.

Rev. Dr. Morrison's resolution was adopted recording the Presbytery's recognition of the services rendered by the University to Church and country, and in view of the action of the General Assembly, heartily recommending the movement to the liberality of the members and supporters of the Church, etc.

Rev. E. Scott was appointed moderator of Melville Church during the vacancy.

BETTER SERVICE FOR LONGUEUIL.

At the last meeting of the council of Longueuil, Mayor Lalonde announced that the negotiations which had been going on for an improved service to Montreal had taken a very favourable turn, and he hoped to see the inauguration of a regular all-the-year-round suburban train-service before the winter sets in.

Although the details were not finally arranged, he expected that the suburban train which is now run to St. Lambert by the Grand Trunk Railway, would be continued as far as Longueuil. He adds that the corporation would not be called upon to pay towards the maintenance of the service.

Burglars at Work.

Thieves broke into the residence of Mr. James Cochrane, Hutchison St., some nights ago while the family was away. They ransacked the premises from top to bottom and carried away several things, but it is thought the loss will be very slight. The detectives have the matter in hand.

A BIT OF DAILY COMMENT.

In former days the allegiance of a subject to his sovereign was regarded as indissoluble, but modern conditions brought about by travel and interchange of commerce materially changed that sentiment. The world outgrew the period of hard and fast lines of national distinction and the resultant give-and-take of nations has reacted to its advancement and harmony.

About 1870 by conventions, treaties and home legislature in each country an international understanding was reached in regard to the exchange of citizens. By the Naturalization Act passed in that year Great Britain opened to all its subjects free exchange of nationality with foreign states. Other nations made similar enactments, for naturalization being a soverign act is not governed by the rules of international law. It is determined by the laws of each individual state concerned.

In most countries a lengthy sojourn is a condition necessary to qualification as a citizen. Canada requires a residence of three years; Great Britain, United States and Russia, five; France and Germany three. But a person resident in France or Austria for ten years is considered by that very fact a citizen with full rights.

The Naturalization Act defines clearly the position of naturalized British subjects. With the certificates of naturalization granted them are conferred all the political and other rights, powers and privileges of a British subject. By the same instruments also they are charged with the obligations to which a native-born Britisher would be subject.

An important feature of the powers of naturalization is that while it invests the new citizen with all the rights of his adopted land it does not extinguish for him the claims which are still in force in the country to which he previously owed allegiance. And when he returns to the country of his birth he forfeits the protection of the adopted state. While there he is not considered in law a British subject, unless he has in accordance with some special laws or treaties of his former country ceased also to be its subject.

The Naturalization Act of 1870 provided that the colonies should legally exercise their individual authority in legislating to confer the rights of naturalization. But the mother-country charged herself with their protection in every foreign country—not, however, in the land of their birth.

The laws of different countries are dissimilar in regard to their subjects relinquishing their citizenship. In Germany, where conscription is in force, permission to assume another nationality is refused to natives between the ages of seventeen and twenty-five, unless they can satisfy the military authorities that they are not trying to escape military duty.

It is still a subject of discussion as to whether British subjects can divest themselves of their nationality in non-civilized countries. The concensus of opinion seems to be that under the Naturalization Act they are privileged only to assume the nationality of a state governed by some definite political organization.

However entertaining such a discussion may be to legal minds it will never likely arouse the popular interest; the personal freedom and unalienable rights pertaining to "citizens of the Empire" are too valuable to the average man to be bartered for the license of a fig-leaf sovereignty.

FLASHES OF THOUGHT.

It is at least startling to hear the gold commissioner delivering his ipse dixit in the Yukon council that there is little or no rich ground suitable for placer mining within the two hundred miles of Klondike hydraulic concessions. It took ten shafts to find the pay on thirteen Eldorado, while here is a gentleman able to pass adversely as an expert upon hundreds of square miles on which a shaft has never been sunk.—Dawson (Y. T.) News.

Canada's determination to prevent the wholesale slaughter, and no doubt the practical extermination, of the musk ox, now so plentiful in the vicinity of Hudson's Bay, will meet with the approval of all peoples. The manner in which our own Government permitted the American bison to be swept away by the thousands should be remembered as a sorry lesson for all time to come.—Boston Herald.

While none of the gentlemen selected to build the $75,000,000 eastern section of the Grand Trunk Pacific have any railway experience, all are guaranteed to be first-class politicians.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

The Duke of Marlborough has been working like a hired man in the Colonial Office for months, and if he doesn't get the Governor-Generalship, he will have a suit for breach of contract against somebody.—Toronto Star.

To the Heroic Soul.

Be strong, O warring soul! For very sooth
Kings are but wraiths, republics fade like rain,
Peoples are reaped and garnered as the grain,
And only that persists which is the truth;
Be strong when all the days of life bear ruth
And fury and are hot with toil and strain;
Hold thy large faith and quell thy mighty pain;
Dream the great dream that buoys thine age with youth.

Thou art an eagle mewed in a sea-stopped cave;
He, poised in darkness with victorious wings,
Keeps night between the granite and the sea,
Until the tide has drawn the warder-wave,
Then, from the portal where the ripple sings,
He bursts into the boundless morning—free!

—Duncan Campbell Scott.

Will Leave Granby.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Granby, September 14.—Rev. Wm. S. Pritchard, B.A., for the past five years pastor of the Congregational Church at this place, has accepted a call to the Congregational Church at St. John. Rev. Mr. Pritchard will enter upon his new field of labour about November 1.

THE PASSING HOUR.

The most active of the Russian generals just now is general denial.

That Uruguay insurrection comes in handy as vaudeville between the acts.

Of course, while the Governor-General is in the saddle, the Government cannot be.

It is to be hoped that the Baltic fleet has taken its Christmas dinner along with it.

Texas papers will notice with glee that we have just been banqueting Judge Lynch in Canada.

They say the new Borden cigar has qualities which afford it adequate protection against some smokers.

It seems that we haven't got enough water such as it is, and that it is pretty bad water what there is of it.

It is pretty near time for the canoe to make up its score card and give the men who hunt in pairs a chance.

The Government has already made about as many false starts as the Baltic fleet—and for the same reason.

The street cars can now run on the high Westmount level, but mere Montrealers find it difficult to breathe up there.

A music hall artist is coming out here endorsed by an archdeacon, probably because he keeps people away from the music hall.

It seems that the "scrub lady" at the Ottawa Isolation Hospital was a gentleman; but it is charged that some of the women servants were not "ladies."

Clifford Sifton wishes that he could secure the unanimous admiration of the home press in the way that his friend, the Russian Minister of the Interior, can.

The Libs. want to bring on the elections before the snow comes, because they have an idea it will not be so difficult now for the rescue parties to dig them out.

They probably called the reverend editor of the Globe down to the Cabinet meeting to break the news to him that a close season for "barnacles" was about to open.

Lacrosse threatens to be a failure in Toronto unless the gate receipts will bring in enough money to pay the fines which the Police Court levies on the players.

It is said that Archdeacon Worrell's election to the Bishopric of Nova Scotia lacked the support of one-third of a man; and they are talking of calling another meeting of the Synod to let the third of a man who raised this objection do his voting.

There is an easy way out of the difficulty with regard to the election of Archdeacon Worrell to the Bishopric of Nova Scotia. He lacks the vote of one-third of a man; all they have to do is to add three tailors to the Synod.

Speaking of Mr. Blair, the Globe says that after his resignation he made a vigorous speech in opposition to the Government's trans-continental railway plan, and that, "in spite of this action, he was offered by the Government the Chairmanship of the Commission." Our esteemed contemporary should not say "in spite of," but "because of."

There seems to be something wrong in the following despatch from Menominee, Mich.:

"Menominee, Mich., September 12.—The young women of Menominee have organized a Silk Stocking Club. They are solemnly obligated to wear only black silk stockings and Oxford shoes. The stockings are the portentous factors, for on each, encircling the ankle of the wearer, is to be this inscription worked in white silk, 'Menominee is a good town.'"

A solemn obligation "to wear only black silk stockings and Oxford Shoes" would be unconstitutional.

THIS DATE 30 YEARS AGO.

The proceedings of the Provincial Synod were commenced in Christ Church Cathedral this morning at 10.30 o'clock. A large number of clerical and lay delegates were present, and the usual morning service was read and communion administered. In the absence of Bishop Selwyn the sermon was preached by Bishop Hellmuth, of Huron.

THE late Right Rev. George Augustus Selwyn, who d'ed in 1878, was at the time Lord Bishop of the see of Lichfield, and one of the foremost prelates in Great Britain. He was educated at Eton and Cambridge, where he graduated with high honours. On his death his son, the second Bishop of Melanesia, New Zealand, was appointed to the see of Lichfield. The late Bishop Hellmuth was the founder of the Hellmuth Colleges, London, Ont., for young ladies and gentlemen. He was a relative of Marshal von Moltke, and was a convert from the Jewish creed. He resigned the see of Huron many years ago to accept a charge in England, where he passed away after a few years of labour, and was succeeded by Canon Baldwin, rector of Christ Church Cathedral.

The Victoria Skating Rink has been kindly loaned to the Victoria Rifles for drill purposes. This fine corps will assemble there this evening. The rink, which will make an excellent drill shed, should lead to a large accession of strength to the regiment.

ON the 18th of February, the roof of the Drill Hall, Craig street, fell in from the weight of snow, and for over five years the city militia corps had to drill here and there all over the city. The corporation and Federal Government were at loggerheads as to the expense of re-roofing, and the party to pay up. The Government finally took the matter in hand and put on a new roof, and none too soon, as demoralization was setting in among all the regiments for want of a drill hall.

There was a turnout of the centre division of the fire brigade on Saturday for the edification of a number of insurance men, notably a recent arrived, Mr. W. W. Reed, manager of the Scottish Imperial at Glasgow. The insurance men were in charge of Mr. Alfred Perry, manager of the newly formed Royal Canadian Company. The firemen were highly praised for their alacrity by the onlookers, and the chief complimented by Mr. Reed and others on the efficiency of his men.

THE late Mr. Alfred Perry was a born firefighter, and instinctively knew where to attack a fire with success, for a great part of his life in the fire insurance business for the Royal of England, severing his connection with it in 1873. With some wealthy citizens he organized the Royal Canadian Insurance Company, which he managed for some years successfully, but keen competition with older established concerns made returns small and unprofitable, the company being forced to go out of business. Mr. Perry died many years ago. Chief Bertram has also passed away.

FACTS AND FIGURES.

Robert Sevier, the chief figure in the Bell libel suit in London, and later ruled off the track by the Jockey Club, has started a sporting paper and gives "tips." In his salutatory he said he stood "on the solid rock of experience."

Nearly a million telegrams are sent over the world's wires daily. In 1903, the total was 364,848,474. England sent 92,471,000. The United States was second with 91,391,000. Germany, Russia, Austria, Belgium and Italy follow in the order named.

A sensation has been caused in Spain by the revelation of the fact that the prisoners taken for participation in the Anarchist demonstration at Alcala-del Valle were tortured. Some died under the punishment, and others are left cripples.

Paris, like London, is deserting the theatres for the music halls. The theatres are too expensive, the runs of plays too long; the "star" system tends to make the programme a one-person affair, and, in brief, the theatres bore the people, the music halls amuse them.

For all its beauty the lily of the valley is denounced by scientists on the ground that both the stalks and the flowers contain a poison. It is risky to put the stalks into one's mouth, as if the sap happens to get into even the tiniest crack in the lips it may produce swelling, often accompanied by pain.

The "doll army" in the Paris Army Museum contains 19,000 figures of soldiers about two inches high in five great cases. The armour and uniform of every military branch are represented with the utmost exactitude. The picturesque work occupied the lifetime of an old Alsatian, who fought under the "Little Corporal."

Detective Cote Upon the Stand Gives Evidence in the Lalonde Case Before Court Room Packed With Spectators

The scene in the Recorder's Court at 12.30 this morning was one which only the pen of a Dicken's could do full justice to.

It was the closing moments of the investigation into the conduct of Detective Cote in connection with the death of Mamie Lalonde in the Jacques Cartier Hotel on the morning of August 30.

The full Police Committee will take to-day to consider the evidence taken.

Mr. Honore Gervais, M.P., acting for Cote, pressed for a vote as soon as the last witness had been heard, out an adjournment motion carried.

The half subdued excitement which had been noticeable all evening thereupon broke into a roar of loud talk, and strange scenes the moment the adjournment was formally announced. The chairman had something more to say but he might as well have tried to have stopped a cattle stampede as to get any more order out of the gathering.

The early arrival of many men who are not in the habit of attending meetings of the Police Committee justified the chairman in deciding to hold the investigation in the Recorder's Court, and there it was held.

At one time there were 160 people present and half of these were smoking, until the atmosphere was so dense that the commissioners could hardly tell who was speaking when aldermen arose and asked leave to put a few questions.

What their Honours, Judges Weir and Poirier would have said had they put their heads into their beloved court room at any time during the four hours' sitting is not hard to guess.

BATTLE BEGAN RIGHT AWAY.

For some little time after the gathering was called to order there was a battle as to whether the committee should take control of the investigation or whether the lawyers interested in the case should run it to suit themselves.

Ald. St. Denis, as chairman, put himself on record in a most emphatic manner, but Mr. Gervais was not easily downed. He declared that before they could proceed, the committee should announce what charge they had against Cote, so that his defence could be framed accordingly.

The committee held firm, however, and called for the witnesses who had been summoned. These included Cote, Judges Desnoyers and Lafontaine and Coroner MacMahon.

The audience grew noisy when the coroner declared that there was not a proficient detective in the Province of Quebec.

One could easily, at this stage of the proceedings, imagine that the whole thing was part of a comic opera, even one of the judicial witnesses getting all the fun he could out of the situation.

One witness, for instance, was asked what he thought of Cote's conduct and he replied that he had not the facts before him. He was reminded that by this time he must have heard the story, and he again said "But I have not the actual facts under oath." Then he was asked what he would think of Cote's conduct if he had all the facts.

Amidst a good deal of merriment he said: "Will your brother have a piece of cheese? I haven't any brother. Well, if you had a brother, would he like a piece of cheese."

SPIRIT OF HUMOUR PREVAILED.

To a very large extent this spirit of humour pervaded most of the proceedings, the serious aspect of the case coming to the front when Cote entered the box and took the oath to tell what he know of Mamie Lalonde's movements during the twelve hours preceding her death.

Cote made a good witness. There is no doubt that he impressed those who heard him, and though cross-questioned at great length, his story, that he spent only five minutes with the girl in the room at the hotel, went unshaken, and was corroborated by bellboys.

The report of Cote to his chief and his reference to the finding of some money in the girl's trunk demanded some explanation in view of the fact that Mr. Scroggie has declared that no money was given him. In his report Cote said:

"I found goods to the value of $47.21 and a sum of $23.50."

When pressed last night for an explanation of this, Cote declared that he had not intended to give the impression that he had actually found the money, but that the girl had confessed to him that she had stolen this amount in cash in addition to the goods she had carried off.

The uncertainty regarding what has been spoken of as a "fragment of a letter" was referred to by Coroner McMahon, who, when he heard the matter mentioned, arose from his seat in the audience and said: "There was no fragment of a letter. I am prepared to produce it," meaning the letter in its entirety.

WHOLE COMMITTEE IN CHARGE.

Contrary to general expectation, the whole committee took charge of the investigation. At the last meeting of the committee a sub-committee was appointed, but the full complement turned up last night and took their seats on the bench, occupied in the day time by Recorder's Court Clerk Lefebvre. Ald. St. Denis was in the chair, and the others were Ald. Stearns, Marchand, Walsh, Paquin, Wilson and Chausse. Mr. L. T. Marechal appeared for the Society for the Protection of Women and Children and Mr. C. Rodier for the Assistance Publique.

ASKED FOR SPECIFIC CHARGES.

As soon as the meeting was formally opened Mr. Gervais arose and asked for specific charges against his client. Ald. St. Denis, Chausse and others pointed out that they were holding a civic committee meeting, and did not propose to be dictated to.

Mr. Gervais—"This is a public tribunal, and we, as lawyers, have a right to be heard."

The Chairman—"We are not in court, and we propose to conduct the case as we please."

The witnesses were called for, and as the judges wanted to get away they were the first. Their evidence was entirely as to character. Judge Desnoyers said that he had known Cote for twelve years, and he believed him to be a careful and painstaking officer. He had every faith in him.

Judge Lafontaine's testimony was of a similar character. He was asked if he countenanced Cote's action, and his reply was: "If there was an eleventh commandment, I could better answer that question."

Silence followed the call for Cote to step into the box, and all eyes were turned towards him as he took the oath.

DETECTIVE COTE TELLS HIS STORY TO COMMITTEE.

Ald. St. Denis, chairman of the Police Committee, thereupon examined Detective Cote.

"Will you relate the circumstances which proceeded, accompanied and followed, will you relate all the incidents which bear upon the suicide of Mamie Lalonde?"

Mr. Cote answered: "On August 29 I had been sent by my chief to the store of Mr. Scroggie, and Mr. Scroggie reported that he had in his employ a young woman who had committed several thefts. He showed me a cheque for 19 cents which had been made by her for a sale of $1.19.

"Mr. Scroggie sent for Mamie Lalonde, and she came to his office and was questioned by him. When we asked her about it, she confessed to the theft, and, producing a dollar, she placed it upon the desk."

"Was this in the presence of Mr. Scroggie?" was asked.

"Yes," replied Detective Cote "and Mr. William Henry was also present. He is not here and cannot be found. Then he asked her if this was all that she had stolen from the store, and she answered that it was. I remarked, 'No, that is not all.'"

In reply to the query, "Did you know Miss Lalonde before?" Detective Cote replied that he had never seen her, but that he was convinced that she had not spoken the truth in this instance.

"I asked her," he continued, "how long she had been employed in the store, and she replied that she had been there a month and a half."

"When she said 'that is all that I have stolen,' I said to her, 'No, you did not commence on a dollar. You commenced by petty pilfering—by ten cents, twenty-five cents, sixty cents, until you finally you have reached a dollar.'

"Then Mr. Scroggie came in and said to her, 'Make a statement of what you have stolen while here.' She took a sheet of paper and was told by Mr. Scroggie to make a list of all she had pilfered since she had been in his employ. This amounted to $70.65. We then, upon her own information, and at her own request, proceeded to her room at 229 St. Urbain street, and examined her valise, and all that she had confessed to was found there."

"Was there dry goods there?" was asked.

"Yes," replied Detective Cote.

"Did you have a search warrant?"

"No sir," replied the detective, "we had her permission to make the examination."

"Did you go there in her company?"

"No sir," rejoined the detective, "not the first time. But afterwards I went there with Mr. Scroggie and with the girl herself."

"She was not there the first time?" was asked.

"No sir," replied the detective, "but the second time all three of us went to her room, she opened her valise and pulled out all its contents. Mr. Scroggie made two packages and we all three went out."

"Mr. Scroggie went off about his own affairs. I went in the opposite direction, towards St. Catherine street. The young woman followed me. I asked her where she was going and she said: 'I do not know.' I said: 'Why don't you know? It is very late, you had better go to bed.'"

HOUR WAS AT HALF-PAST NINE.

"What hour was this?" was interjected by the chairman of the committee.

"It was past nine o'clock. It was about 9.30 p.m., I think. She said: 'I am not gong home to sleep. I am not tired. I am going to walk the streets all night.'"

"Have you no parent in the city?" I asked her and she said that she had not. "Have you any friends?" and she stated that she had none. I then asked her if she had any money and she said that she had not. I then said to her, "Well, I cannot let you remain in the street all night. Where will you sleep?" She said she didn't know. I said again, 'I can't let you remain in the street all night. Have you had your supper?' She said that she had not. So then I told her to come along with me as I had not had supper myself and was going to have it then. I told her I would take her to an hotel and that she could sleep there, and that is just what I did."

"We had supper.—"

Mr. Chausse asked: "Was this with your own money?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Cote.

"Do you often spend your own money in circumstances which do not affect you?" was queried.

"It is often necessary for us to spend our own money in the way of business."

"Had you no other motive in acting thus?"

"Well, Mr. Scroggie had told the girl and myself that he wanted to see us both at his store about eleven o'clock."

WITNESS CROSS-EXAMINED.

Chairman St. Denis thereupon cross-questioned the detective.

"I understand your duties as a detective were terminated then?"

"Our duties as detectives are never terminated, because I think that our duty is to always try to discover any crimes that exist in addition to any informations which may have been laid."

"Go on," said the chairman.

"Then the young girl began to write and I was seated near the door. By the time that I returned with the writing materials she began to complain that she was suffering from the toothache and she kept saying, "If I only had some money I would go out and look for remedies."

"She had said before that she had to go out, and so I told her: 'I am going to give you the money. You can't go out to look for the medicine, but the bell boy will go. I will give him the money.'

"The bell boy went to the druggist's and he shortly returned with a little bottle of medicine and then she said that it was not the stuff she had asked for."

"What time was this?"

"It was eleven o'clock. I told her it was very late for a girl to cross the Champ de Mars; she should not go alone."

"You say, then, that this was about eleven o'clock?"

"Yes," I said to her "I am going with you, I will not let a young girl like you go out alone. So we went out together and came to the drug store. Once there, she went to the back of the store and began talking to the clerk. He gave her some medicine and she then came out. She gave him two letters to put in the box."

Mr. Couture here remarked, "There was a bell boy for that work?"

"Yes, there were bell boys, at the hotel."

"These two letters which she had given me were leters which she had sent away privately. Mr. Scroggie had elicited from her the name of her parents and the name of Mr. James Elliott and she said that she was going to write them to forewarn them of the blow because she was afraid that Mr. Scroggie would write to them himself.

"I sat down in the office and chatted with several people until about 2 a.m., and as the proprietor did not come, I went away myself.

"The next morning I went to the police court to take part in the Brunelle case. I left the police court about a quarter past eleven and went direct to the hotel. I knocked at the door. She came and opened the door for me, and then threw herself on the bed, saying that she was sick. I asked her what was the matter and she said that she was sick, and then I looked and saw a glass on the bureau and then some Paris green in the glass. I immediately summoned the hotel keeper and then I ran upstairs again. The young girl was immediately removed to Notre Dame Hospital."

"You have forgotten to say anything about the supper at the Petit Windsor," was interjected.

"Oh, yes, he did," said Ald. Lapointe, jumping up.

"I want some more details," said the chairman. "You had supper there between nine and ten o'clock?"

"After having left her room," volunteered the detective.

"Tell us what happened there."

"Well, we had to wait ten or fifteen minutes while our supper was getting ready. She had asked to be allowed to write some letters while the supper was being served. That was the first time she asked for writing materials, but I could not get her any."

"You were in a private room?"

"Upstairs in the ordinary hall, in the room at the head of the stairs."

"Was it a private dining room?"

"A room, the length of the table," rejoined Cote.

"It was a little room?"

"It was just one of the rooms where one eats."

"Was the door closed?"

"Yes, we had closed the door while some one was coming up, and then we had opened it again."

"Did she write anything there?"

"Yes, she did."

"Did she entrust you with the letter?"

"No, sir."

"What became of that letter."

"I don't know."

Mr. Lapointe hereupon rose and asked some questions.

"Did you see her writing?"

"Yes, sir, I was at the other end of the table."

"Were you facing her?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did she say anything of this letter to you?"

"No, sir, she sealed it up."

"Did you, who are a detective," asked Ald. St. Denis, "notice whether the girl displayed any signs of extreme nervousness? Did she seem nervous or excited?"

"Not at all."

"The people of the hotel noticed it."

"If they noticed it then let them say so. They have better sight than I have, then."

Mr. Gervais thereupon pointed out that there was no proof that these people had noticed any excitement, and the chairman stated that their depositions would be taken later.

Mr. Lapointe again arose from his place in the audience and interrupted the proceedings of the committee with another question. "There is another point which I would like cleared up, Mr. Cote. You say that when you had returned to the hotel you remained in the office in company with the bell boys waiting for the arrival of the proprietor of the Jacques Cartier Hotel. Is it true that you remained in the room until three o'clock in the morning?"

"No sir, I did not remain until three o'clock in the morning. I certainly did not say that, because that did not happen. I will tell why I remained as late as I did. I wanted to know the price of the room and how much he would charge me for it. The bell boy, or the night clerk, asked a dollar and a half from me for the room. I said that is was all nonsense, I will not pay that for a room for this girl. I asked for the proprietor. Here Cote repeated his story of the conversation with the night clerk on his arrival at the hotel. He added that the next day he only paid the proprietor fifty cents for the room.

"Then you remained there for two hours just to find out the cost of the room?"

"No, I wanted to have the price fixed. That's why I waited."

"But, could you not have returned the next day?"

"Well, I wanted to arrange for the price beforehand."

"But once the young woman had used the room it would make very little difference?"

Mr. Gervais remarked: "A prudent man likes to know the price of a thing before he buys it."

The president thereupon asked.

"You found some money in the valise did you not?"

"No sir."

"There was none at all?"

"No sir."

"Where did the report come from which stated that you had found some $23.64 in money and $47.21 worth of merchandise?"

"When she had made her own list of the thefts committed, it was after her own confession."

The Chairman: "Here is your report: 'I found merchandise amounting to $47.21 and I went to her lodgings at 239 St. Urbain street in company with Mr. Scroggie. I looked into the valise belonging to the young woman and I found merchandise amounting in value to $47.41, and a sum of money $23.64.'"

"That was after her confession."

"But in your report you say you found the sum of $23 and that you found the balance of $47 in merchandise?"

"There was a sum of $23."

"You are contradicting yourself now, if I know anything," said Chairman St. Denis.

ASKS FOR AN EXPLANATION.

Alderman Lapointe here interpolated. "I believe it would be of more use to ask how he explains this."

"How do you explain this?"

"Here's what I said. In a case the defendant declares that he stole goods of such a value, and I consider that that is proved because the accused himself declares the amount. That's the reason I said so much had been found in merchandise and so much in money, $23 in money."

"But if your report says anything, it says you found $23 in money?"

Mr. Honore Gervais here remarked, "That is to say, that when the accused admits he has stolen, from the point of view of the police the theft for that amount has been proved?"

"Certainly."

Chairman St. Denis continued the cross-examination.

"Then you did not find any money?"

"No, sir."

"The first time you went to search the valise you were with Mr. Scroggie?"

"The second time."

"Why did you put in your report that you had found $23?"

"Because, Mr. Chairman, when the accused said she had such and such an amount it is as if really found."

"But you say you found that on St. Urbain street, didn't you; but afterwards the interpretation you wish us to give it is that you found it when, with Mr. Scroggie, she admitted the theft?"

"The last time when she accompanied us to her room she procured the goods herself."

"While you were in the room?"

"Yes, sir."

"And that is the amount of $23.41?"

"I never said there was that amount."

"You said there was some $23 in money."

"Yes, sir."

"You took that which she had in her valise?"

"No, sir."

Here Alderman Lapointe rose from his seat in the audience and questioned Detective Cote.

"You found some merchandise there, what was the value of the effects found in the valise?"

"I do not know," replied Detective Cote, 'you will have to ask Mr. Scroggie for the value.'"

"But," continued the chairman, "according to the valuaion she herself has made she declared there was $23 in her valise?"

"She declared that she had stolen $23.41 in money and $47.61 in merchandise. The girl told Mr. Scroggie that she had stolen from him $70.65, that is the total value of the list she made in all seventy dollars and sixty-five cents."

In merchandise and in money?

"Yes, sir, the girl said she had stolen $23 and she had rendered the account to her employers. She made the list herself and gave the amount. She was asked to say what she had stolenwhile in the service of Mr. Scroggie and she said $47.21 in merchandise and in money $23.64, which formed the total amount found, viz. $70.65."

Alderman Laporte asked, "That's what you wanted to say in your report."

The Chairman then continued:

"Do you know any persons who have been mixed up in this Lalonde affair?"

"What is that, Mr. Chairman?"

Mr. Gervais interjected, "Is it in your knowledge?"

"Chairman St. Denis was rather annoyed. I have no need to be told what to say by Peter, James and John. I want to know, Mr. Cote, whether you know anything that would influence Miss Lalonde to commit suicide. I ask you if you know anything personally. Have there been any other persons mixed up in this Lalonde affair?"

"The question has been put very directly," said Ald. Lapointe, I think that it should be answered."

"I don't know anything, or anybody, whatsoever."

Mr. Gervais asked: "Did you try to discover anything, or any circumstance, in your conversations with Miss Lalonde?"

"I had tried to find out if she knew of any other persons who were engaged in the same thefts as herself at the store."

Ald. Lapointe here asked if it was the habit of detectives to interrogate those under suspicion of a crime as to their other accomplices, and Cote replied that it depended altogether on the circumstances of the case. They were there to protect the public. In this case he was acting for Mr. Scroggie.

In reply to a question at to whether Mr. Scroggie had asked him to do this, he said that all that was required of him was to produce the girl the next morning at 11 o'clock, and that was his reason for keeping track of her.

Alderman Lariviere asked if Cote did not remember a case where the city had been mulcted in heavy damages for detaining a country merchant in the city and a discussion followed.

Finally Cote pointed out that the girl was not under arrest and it had all been done by her consent.

Alderman St. Denis asked if the actual cash stolen had been returned to Mr. Scroggie in person, and Cote stated that the girl had done so. He stated that he supplied the money to pay the druggist for his medicines and also for all the expenses of the evening in person.

In reply to a question of Alderman Lariviere, Cote stated that he had seen the Paris green in Miss Lalonde's room after she had taken it, but had not known where she had procured it. Cote, on further cross-examination, stated that Mr. J. Daigle, who gave his evidence at the Coroner's inquest, had declared that he had breakfasted with the girl and had seen her go out for some fifteen minutes, and he thought it probable she had purchased the Paris green then.

The chairman pointed out that if the girl had no money she would find it difficulty finding her the next morning."

"But you knew that there was another place where it was possible to take people in such cases to sleep?"

"Yes, sir, when they are prisoners."

"Not necessarily; you could take these people to the City Hall, to the matron, Miss Lajeunesse."

"That's if they are prisoners," put in Cote.

"Not necessarily," came the response.

"If one found a person on the street one could not bring her here if she was not a prisoner."

"Continue, if you please."

Mr. Gervais interpolated — "The chairman speaks of a rule which would oblige the detective to bring this person here. What is the rule?"

"I am not here to recount the rules to you," replied Mr. St. Denis; this one is part of the duty of a detective."

"If it is part of their duty," returned Mr. Gervais, "I would like to know where are the instructions which are given them. If when they are prisoners they ought to bring them here, they bring them here."

"Not necessarily prisoners," was the reply of the chairman.

"Then you took her to the Jacques Cartier Hotel and you asked for a room for the young girl?"

"Yes, sir; I asked the clerk to give her a room and then I asked the price, and when told that it was very high, I asked where was the proprietor, and he told me he was out.

"I said to him: "Don't you know me?' He said that he did not, and I told him that I was a detective and showed him my badge. I then told him to give her a room and said that I would see the proprietor later.

"They then gave her a room. The bell boy went up and I went with him. The girl opened the door and said that she wanted to write some letters. She asked for paper, pen and ink.

"I went downstairs to look for them."

Ald. Couture here interjected.

"There was a bell boy for that work. You are not the bell boy for the Jacques Cartier Hotel?"

"The bell boy had other duties. Anyway, I went to look for the writing materials."

"That often happens," remarked Mr. Gervais.

MISS ROSE MITCHELL

After Eight Months Vain Search She Finds That Health and Happiness are Easily and Simply Obtained.

Overwork Caused Stomach Trouble and Functional Disorders, Which Made Her Life a Misery—She Tried All Kinds of Medicines, But Nothing Seemed to Do Her Any Good, Until St. James Wafers Strengthened Her Stomach.

Women were not meant to work hard. It does not matter how determined they are to do their part in this work-a-day world, they cannot down the fact that their systems require special care. Overwork will surely lead to pain and trouble and some of the ills of women will result.

When one woman gets talking to another they are pretty certain to find out that ailments peculiar to their sex affect them both.

There never was a time when women suffered so much from female complaints, in consequence of doing work they are unfitted for, as they do now.

On this subject Miss Rose Mitchell, of 19 Sifton Terrace, Newhaven, England, has a message for Canadian women. Writing on April 14th, 1904, she says:

"The misery I have suffered during the past 18 months I shall never forget. I had to work very hard, and could get no pleasure out of my work, for I seemed to have no strength.

"I was so pale that I used to be afraid to look in the glass, and so weak that I could scarcely drag myself along. At certain times I would have severe headaches and great pain, and the drain on my energy was almost more than I could bear.

"I lost my appetite, and I had stomach trouble, with the result that my blood got poor and I got anaemic and nervous.

"I tried all kinds of medicines, but nothing seemed to do me any good. About a month ago, a friend told me how St. James Wafers had benefited her, and I determined to try them.

"I soon began to feel that my stomach was stronger. After taking St. James Wafers for a short time my appetite improved wonderfully, and with better digestion my blood got richer. Then followed a general improvement in health.

MISS ROSE MITCHELL.

"The colour returned to my cheeks, and my strength came back. I no longer have those dreadful pains, and for this great relief I have to thank St. James Wafers."
—Rose Mitchell.

"Take care of your stomach"—that is what Miss Mitchell's letter means. Her experience proves that the stomach, when strengthened by St. James Wafers, makes good blood—and the blood is the life.

A good stomach makes a woman strong and is the greatest help in overcoming illness of any kind. A good stomach fills a woman's heart with joy and with hope renewed she goes about her work smilingly and in a cheerful spirit. She worries less and her duties seem easier.

Their recent introduction into Canada has resulted in St. James Wafers making as remarkable cures in this country as they are doing in England.

Life is brighter to thousands of women because they have found for their ailments a lasting cure in St. James Wafers—the ideal stomach and nerve remedy.

The stomach regenerated by St. James Wafers exercises an influence like sunshine on the whole system, causing the warm glow of health to permeate every part of the body.

There is no alcohol in St. James Wafers, and no danger in taking them. They are in the form of small round tablets, easy to take, convenient to carry. All dealers sell them at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50; or you can send cash remittance and they will be forwarded direct by the sole Canadian agents, LYMAN SONS & CO., wholesale druggists, 380 St. Paul street, Montreal.

"For the present, we all shall. It is Mrs. Brentwood's notion to take a furnished house later on for herself and daughters, if she can find one. I'll keep in touch with you."

"Do. It may come to a bit of quick wiring when our chance arrives. You know Loring—Grantham Loring?"

"Passably well. I came across him one summer in the mountains of Peru, where he was managing a railroad. He is a mighty good sort. I had mountain fever, and he took me in and did for me."

"He is with us now," said David Kent; "the newly appointed general manager of the Western Pacific."

"Good!" said the club-man. "I think a lot of him; he is an all round dependable fellow, and plenty capable. I'm glad to know he has caught on higher up."

The locomtive whistle was droning again, and a dodging procession of red-eyed switch-lights flicked past the windows. Kent stood up and flung away the stump of his cigar.

"The capital," he announced, "I'll go back with you and help out with the shawl strap things.' And in the vestibule he added: "I spoke of Loring because he will be with us in anything we have to do in Mrs. Brentwood's behalf. Look him up when you have time—fourth floor of the Quintard."

VI.

OF THE MAKING OF LAWS.

The session, the shortest in the history of the State, and thus far the least eventful, was nearing its close; and the alarmists who had prophesied evil and evil only of the "Populist" victory were fast losing credit with the men of their own camp and with the country at large.

After the orthodox strife over the speakership of the House, and the equally orthodox wrangle over contested seats, the State Assembly had settled down to routine business, despatching it with such unheard-of celerity as to win columns of approval from the State press as a whole; though there were not wanting a few radical editors to raise the anti-election cry of reform, and to ask pointedly when it was to begin.

Notwithstanding the lack of alarms, however, the six weeks had been a period of unceasing vigilence on the part of the interests which were supposed to be in jeopardy. Every alien corporation owning property and doing business in the State had its quota of watchful defenders on the ground; men who came and went, in the lobbies of the capitol, in the visitors' galleries, at the receptions; men who said little but who saw and heard all things down to the small talk of the corridors and the clubs, and the gossip of the hotel rotundas.

David Kent was of this silent army of observation, doing watch-dog duty for the Western Pacific; thankful enough, if the truth be told, to have a thing to do which kept him from dwelling overmuch upon the wreck of his hopes. But in the closing days of the session, when a despatchful Assembly, anxious to be quit of its task, had gone into night sittings, the anodyne drug or work began to lose its effect.

The Brentwoods had taken furnished apartments in Tejon Avenue, two squares from the capitol, and Kent had called no oftener than good breeding prescribed. Yet their accessibility, and his unconquerable desire to sear his wound in the flame that had caused it, were constant temptations, and he was battling with them for the hundredth time on the Friday night when he sat in the House gallery listening to a perfunctory debate which concerned itself with a bill touching State waterways.

"Heavens! This thing is getting to be little short of deadly!" fumed Crenshawe, his right-hand neighbour, who was also a member of the corps of observation. "I'm going to the club for a game of pool. Won't you come along?"

Kent nodded and left his seat with the bored one. But in the great rotunda he changed his mind.

"You'll find plenty of better players than I am at the club," he said in extenuation. "I think I'll smoke a whiff or two here and go back. They can't hold on much longer for to-night."

Five minutes later, when he had lighted a cigar and was glancing over the evening paper, two other members of the corporation committee of safety came down from the Senate gallery and stopped opposite Kent's pillar to struggle into their overcoats.

"It's precisely as I wrote our people two weeks ago—a timidity scare, pure and simple," one of them was saying. "I've a mind to start home to-morrow. There is nothing doing here, or going to be done."

"No," said the other. "If it wasn't for House Bill Twenty-nine, I'd go to-night. They will adjourn to-morrow or Monday."

"House Bill Twenty-nine is much too dead to bury," was the re-assuring rejoinder. "The committee is ours, and the bill will not be heard of again at this session. If that is all you are holding on for—"

They passed out of earshot, and Kent folded his newspaper absently. House Bill Twenty-nine had been the one measure touching the sensitive "vested interests"; the one measure for the suppression of which the corporations' lobby felt called on to take steps. It was an omnibus bill put forth as a substitute for the existing law defining the status of foreign corporations. It had originated in the governor's office,—a fact which Kent had ferreted out within twenty-four hours of its first reading,—and for that reason he had procured a printed copy, searching it diligently for the hidden menace he was sure it embodied.

When the search proved fruitless, he had seen the bill pass the House by a safe majority, had followed it to the Senate, and in a cunningly worded amendment tacked on in the upper house had found what he was seeking. Under the existing law foreign corporations were subject to State supervision, and were dealt with as presumably unfriendly aliens. But the Senate amendment to House Bill Twenty-nine fairly swept the interstate corporations, as such, out of existence, by making it obligatory upon them to acquire the standing of local corporations. Charters were to be refiled with the secretary of State; resident directories and operating headquarters were to be established within the boundaries and jurisdiction of the State; in short, the State proposed, by the terms of the new law, to deal only with creatures of its own creation.

COTE INVESTIGATION DISCUSSED TO-DAY

Inquiry Into Miss Lalonde's Death by the Police Committee.

CORONER M'MAHON'S VIEWS

Interesting Interview on Subject of Detectives and Their Presumable Qualifications.

(See also pages 5 and 12.)

The Lalonde-Cote investigation is the subject of much discussion to-day. Everywhere the sad tragedy of the young girl was the chief topic of conversation, various opinions being expressed. Coroner McMahon, who is deeply interested in this case, pointed out to a group of newspaper men who were gathered in his office this morning, the great responsibility which rests on the shoulders of the authorities in all large cities. He expressed the opinion that more care should be taken in selecting officials charged with responsible duties to perform.

When spoken to by one of the reporters in regard to the investigation last evening he gave a characteristic laugh and said that if the inquest was a farce the investigation was a howling farce. There was no dignity. It was an informal affair. There was no regular presiding officer. Everybody was allowed to ask questions and the whole proceedings were decidedly undignified.

"But, Mr. Coroner, you declared last night before the Police Commission that there were no fully qualified detectives in the Province of Quebec," remarked a reporter.

"I did," replied the Coroner quickly, "and I repeat to-day what I said last night that there are no qualified detectives in the province. Detectives are, as a general rule, promoted from the police force and their standard of education is not of a high degree. Many of them have associated with the criminal classes and for this reason they make good 'spies,' but, as a matter of fact, these men should not be given the authority of a qualified detective. In France these men are graded, the great majority of them being only 'spies.'"

Continuing, he said: "Cote should not be on the police force. A man who cannot make a report, and state the facts as he finds them is not a fit and proper person to be a detective, and this applies to Cote. In his report to Chief Carpenter he said he searched the trunk of the deceased and found goods to the value of $47.21, and a sum of $23.54, and that Mr. Scroggie refused to have her arrested. What became of that $23.54? It was clear that Cote had taken the young girl to the Robert drug store to buy drugs. That was about the limit for a man calling himself a 'detective' to do. I say this: A man who does not know poison should not be connected with a detective department. Employ him as a 'spy' if you wish, but give him no authority."

Mr. E. S. Clouston, general manager of the Bank of Montreal, received the following despatch last evening from Sir George A. Drummond, who with Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and several other of the C.P.R. directors is making a tour of the West:

Rain fell in Winnipeg yesterday afternoon and night, but to-day is clear, bright and dry. In our trip to-day saw everywhere the wheat cut and a good deal in stacks, and consequently safe; so far as my judgment goes the damage, if any, must be quite trifling.

SECOND VICTIM OF GALLERY ACCIDENT IS DEAD.

James Power, who fell from the rear gallery of the tenement at 158 and 160 Prince street, on Monday, died in the Notre Dame Hospital at 11 o'clock today, as a result of his injuries. The mother and son will now be buried in the same grave. Mrs. Jules Deslauriers, the third victim, is expected by the surgeons of the institution to live a day or two. Life is slowly ebbing away.

Says He Was Attacked.

Mr. T. Hewett, of Ottawa, and his son Mr. J. C. Hewett, of Montreal, were walking on St. Lawrence street yesterday when the latter fell to the ground. He is subject to fainting fits, and as he fell he struck the door of a saloon. It is alleged that a bartender attacked him and seriously beat him. The police are investigating the matter.

BUILDING OF THE HARBOUR SHEDS

Board Discussed Recent Delay in Construction To-day.

CONTRACTOR'S STATEMENT

Wharf Lines Were Not Found in Accord With the Plans Submitted.

The protest which Messrs. Peter Lyall and Sons made against the Harbour Board in reference to the building of the steel sheds was the subject of an animated discussion at the weekly meeting to-day.

This protest, which was served on the 13th of last month, went on to point out that the new steel sheds could not be constructed on the lines laid down without incurring a great deal additional expense owing to the wharf lines not being in accord with the plans as handed over by the Harbour Board's chief engineer.

Commissioner Doran opened up the discussion by intimating that a good deal of valuable time had been lost in this matter as the protest was now upward of a month old and no settlement had yet been arrived at.

As the matter had been handed over to the Harbour Improvement Committee for an investigation and report, the members immediately took issue with Mr. Doran. Mr. James Crathern remarked that the committee had done its duty and it was no fault of the members if the matter had not been adjusted.

The Harbour Improvement Committee also found a strenuous advocate in Mayor Laporte. He said that they had worked like slaves over the matter; they had held meeting after meeting, and conference after conference, and he believed that now they were about to come to an agreement. The engineers, Messrs. Kennedy, of the Harbour Board, and St. George, representing the Government, had found a way of adjusting matters and with a small concession from the Lyall firm and the entire question would be straightened out for good and all.

There were matters connected with it which in his opinion it was not in the public interest to make known at the present time, and therefore he was somewhat diffident in referring to them. If a settlement was made on the matter with Mr. Lyall, a good many thousands of dollars might be saved.

After a long discussion it was decided to allow the Harbour Improvement Committee to go on with the work, reporting to the board at the earliest possible opportunity.

Senator Mackay stated that he understood that under existing conditions the contractors could not get along over half as fast as they could if the points in dispute were adjusted. This all meant delay in the completion of the work.

The Junior Conservative Club proposes to combine business with pleasure to-morrow night. The club will have a smoking concert for members and friends, in its rooms, 3 Beaver Hall square, at which, in addition to speeches and songs, some important business will be transacted. The concert begins at 8 o'clock.

RECORD YEAR FOR NEW BUILDINGS

Inspector Chausse Says Houses Going Up All Over City.

DEMAND FOR DWELLINGS

There is a Good Outlook for Activity for Some Years to Come.

Statistics prepared at the City Hall go to show that this will be a record year for the erection of new business in the city.

Last year 110 permits for the erection of buildings were issued at the Building Inspector's Department. The department reported to-day that although there are almost four months of this year to run as many permits have been issued as for the whole of 1903.

Mr. Chausse, building inspector, had some interesting information to give in regard to the building operations for the current year.

"Last year," said Mr. Chausse, "the total amount invested in buildings in the city totalled over four million of dollars. This year the amount will be about the same; at the same time the position of affairs is such that this year the expenditure of this amount means more for the city than in 1903. In 1903 a great increase was shown because the C.P.R. bought immense lands in the east end, and put up on them a number of costly buildings.

MANY NEW HOUSES.

"One would have thought the city would have made a poorer showing for the current year; such, however, is not the case. From the permits issued by my department this year it is shown that a great number of new dwelling houses have been put up, while a very large number of old houses have been remodelled and made into modern dwellings.

"The erection of all these new houses is a very important matter and shows a very healthy state of affairs in the city. It is astonishing how rapidly the city is growing in all directions."

A member of the City Council, speaking of the figures given out by the Building Inspector's Department for the current year, said that although new houses had been going up in all parts of the city there continued a very active demand for dwelling houses. People were now coming in from the country, and the demand for dwellings was keener than ever. Rents were not being lowered, and the outlook was that building operations would be very good for some years to come.

MR. CHITTY TO PROSECUTE QUERRIE AND LAMBE IN PERSON.

Mr. Charles C. Chitty, well-known through his prominence in athletic circles, and who while acting as referee during the Tecumseh-Brantford match at the Island, Toronto, was assaulted in a cowardly manner by Querrie and Lambe, has decided to take an active part in the prosecution of the two men, who were arrested upon a complaint of Crown Attorney Currie, of Toronto, who, himself is president of the Toronto Lacrosse Club.

Mr. Chitty will leave for Toronto this evening, as the case comes up to-morrow.

In speaking about his departure, Mr. Chitty said:

"At first I was inclined to merely make a sworn statement before a Commissioner here, and forward it to Toronto, but after I received the subpoena, upon thinking it over, I came to the conclusion that I owed it to the cause of clean sport to go myself, and give my testimony in person."

MR. A. G. ROSS SAID TO HAVE ACQUIRED PROPERTIES.

Mr. A. G. Ross, manager of the National Trust Company, has been in the Maritime Provinces for some days. A report from Halifax states that Mr. Ross, while there, bought the properties of the Sissiboo Pulp Company, situated near Weymouth which were sold at a foreclosure sale in Digby recently. The National Trust Company acted as plaintiffs in the suit on behalf of the bondholders and it is thought that the recent purchase was made in their behalf.

The properties comprise about 25,000 acres of good timber land, two pulp mills, a large dam, a long wharf at Weymouth Bridge, with warehouse, shed, offices, stores, smithy, dwelling house, village, lots, etc., Mr. Ross intimated his intention of inviting tenders for the purchase of the properties en bloc. Local capitalists may purchase with a view to re-organization of the company.

The price at which the properties went has not been mentioned.

OBSERVATION CAR ARGUED IN COURT TO-DAY.

An interesting argument took place on the certiorari brought against a conviction of the Recorder's Court in the case of W. Pang, agent of the "Seeing Montreal Cars." Wm. Pang was condemned to pay a fine of $3.00 or be imprisoned for a period of fifteen days, for having sold on Peel street a "Seeing Montreal" car ticket, without a license.

The proceedings on the certiorari were argued in the Practice Division of the Superior Court, which some three weeks ago, allowed the writ to issue.

Mr. Archambault, the city attorney, argued that the judgment of Recorder Weir was well founded.

Mr. Thomas E. Walsh, appeared for the petitioner, Wm. Pang.

He raised the point that the section of the city by-law, under which proceedings were taken against Pang, does not apply to the present case, as the sale of a ticket is not a sale in the legal sense of the word. The case was taken en delibere.

OPENING OF NEW CAR ROUTE

Formal Run Over the Line Was Made Yesterday.

SATISFIED WITH CONTRACT

Mayor Cross, of Westmount, States it Was the Best That Could Be Made.

The formal opening of the new street railway line, which traverses the upper level of Westmount between Guy stret and Lansdowne avenue, which took place yesterday afternoon, proved an enjoyable function, participated in by the officials of the Montreal Street Railway, the Mayor and the Westmount Town Council, and a number of journalists.

The party left the Cote St. car barns at noon and proceeded by the regular route up Beaver Hall Hill and along St. Catherine street, up Guy, and thence along the new route.

At the St. George's Club House the party alighted and here a luncheon was served, after which there were a number of speeches. Senator L. J. Forget, president of the Montreal Street Railway, presided. In his remarks the Senator referred to the natural park through which they had traversed, and he thought it a great pity that the city of Montreal did not join with Westmount, and thus between them preserve the beautiful mountain side as a permanent park. After referring to what Westmount had done to make the most of its park preserve, he said that in his opinion not enough money was spent for breathing places. Westmount and Montreal would both be benefitted by joining hands in this matter.

SATISFIED WITH CONTRACT.

Mayor Cross, of Westmount, who was the next speaker, stated that he was delighted to see the line open. He felt satisfied that the contract made between Westmount and the Montreal Street Railway was the best possible, and he felt sure that with the co-operation of the Montreal Street Railway the upper level of Westmount would have as handsome houses as the lower portion of the municipality had for some years past. All present could remember when the present town of Westmount was still a matter of the future and how it had grown within the past few years.

Mr. W. G. Ross, managing director of the M. S. R., referred to the contract between the M.S.R. and the municipality of Westmount. Westmounters, he thought, should feel pleased, as the bargain which its Council had made, whereby one could ride from any portion of the city of Montreal to the furthermost point in Westmount for a single ticket, represented all the way from 2 1-2 to 3 1-8 cents.

Councillor Duclos in his remarks, stated that he could not allow the occasion to pass without referring to the fact that the line was opened two months before the time stipulated in the contract. When the personality of the executive of the M. S. R. was considered, however, it would have indeed been surprising if they had not done more than had been promised.

The fact that the company would introduce a ten minute in place of a fifteen minute service, as the contract with Westmount called for, was also favourably commented on.

Among those who also spoke were Messrs. D. McDonald, Kenneth W. Blackwell, John Ward, ex-Mayor of Westmount; James Simpson, president of St. George's Snowshoe Club and N. J. Little.

Among the others present and not heretofore mentioned were Mr. Patrick Dubee, secretary of the M.S.R., Mr. L. Trudeau, superintendent; Councillors R. Cunningham, W. Galbraith, J. W. Knox, W. L. Lee, P. W. McLagan, and G. S. Plow; Mr. Robertson, of the M. S. R.; Mr. H. R. Lockhart, chief electrician; Mr. R. H. Hanniford, chief engineer; Mr. N. Neilson, consulting engineer, and Mr. W. S. Fellows, engineer of the municipality of Westmount.

After the luncheon a run was made to the end of the line at Lansdowne avenue. To-day the service is being operated on a regular ten minute schedule.

A Party of Germans.

A party of sixty tourists from Germany who have been visiting the Exposition at St. Louis, will arrive in the city this evening. They will remain for a day.

BROUGHT IN CANADIAN CRUISER

Officers and Men of Pathfinder Make on Salvage.

NO NEWS OF MISSING CREW

The Theta Was Evidently Abandoned After Being in a Serious Collision.

Special to The Montreal Star.

New York, September 14. — The steamer Pathfinder from Norfolk arrived yesterday with the abandoned Canadian schooner Theta in tow. A prize crew of seven men from the steamship manned derelict and brought their prize loaded with pine lumber into harbour. The steamship picked the schooner up at sea on Sunday near Fi.. Fathom Bank Lightship. The schooner was drifting along with all sails set and with not a person aboard.

All signs pointed to her having been hastily abandoned after collision with an unknown vessel. Her starboard quarter was stove in, but no other damage could be found about her. Some of her seams had started and her hold was almost filled, but she was kept afloat by her cargo. No report of any collision has been received recently from the quarter in which the vessel was picked up, and what has become of the crew is a mystery, since no ship has yet reported them. Officers and sailors on Pathfinder will make a good thing out of salvage on vessel; she is almost new and can be repaired at small cost.

SUCCESSFUL ADVERTISERS.

MR. J. BEVANS GILES,
Of the Radnor Water Co.

SUCCESS CREATED THROUGH JUDICIOUS ADVERTISING.

"We found the Radnor Spring about nine years ago, in the heart of the Laurentian Mountains," said Mr. J. B. Giles. "Since then we have created, through advertising, a demand for it in all the principal cities of Canada, the United States and Great Britain.

"The business is large and steadily increasing. We have installed a new bottling plant at the spring, employing 75 people.

"Our advertising has undoubtedly been the great force that has brought the merits of the water to public appreciation.

"We use only the largest and best newspapers, like the Star, figuring that we get our space cheaper and that our advertisements are more far-reaching and effective in papers of that class.

"We use more advertising in the Star than in any of the other papers. That tells the whole story of our appreciation of the value of the Star as a medium of publicity.

"The Star always furnishes to advertisers ample proof of its circulation claims, so that we know absolutely what we are getting for our money, and our experience has been that the Star is without doubt the newspaper with the greatest pulling power, and brings the greatest results."

Russians are Putting Defences on West Side of Liao River in Shape.

Special Cable from a Montreal Star Correspondent.

Tokio, September 14. — Latest reports from the front state that the Russian troops south of the Hun River are keeping in touch with the Japanese troops.

Kuropatkin's various divisions are posted in scattered fragments between Sinmintin, Mukden and Tie Pass. They are preparing defences to the west of the Liao River. Deep secrecy is being impressed among the highest circles in this city with reference to the resentment manifested by foreign correspondents at the front on account of the restrictions placed on them by Japanese military regulations. The case is said to be a pure misunderstanding and it is believed it will be cleared up immediately.

Radical Papers Gladly Say Imperial Reciprocity Nothing to Hope From Laurier.

By Special Cable from our London Correspondent.

London, September 14.—Despite all Fielding and the other ministers say the Radical papers continue to claim the Laurier Government as violently anti-Chamberlainite. The Daily News to-day bluntly declares the cause of Imperial reciprocity has nothing to hope from the Liberal party of Canada. It says Laurier made recently an outspoken criticism of what it calls the shams of Chamberlainism and hollow scheme for establishing the British Empire on a ten per cent. basis. Meanwhile the Chamberlainite journals are preaching the risks of keeping Canada hanging for ever on the skirts of British indecision.

CASE AGAINST GAMEY HAS BEEN CALLED OFF.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Toronto, September 14. — The McEvoy-Gamey suit is off. The libel action was one in which the London lawyer, J. E. McEvoy claimed $10,000 from the member for Manitoulin for alleged libellous statements regarding the missing sheets in the Crossin Piano Company's cash book, which figured so prominently in the Gamey-Stratton investigation a year ago. To-day Mr. Gamey had intended asking the court to have the trial at Bracebridge instead of London. But the motion was not heard. All that could be learned was that the plaintiff had discontinued the suit. The case was originally against A. W. Wright, Conservative organizer, as well as Mr. Gamey, but the court directed the plaintiff to proceed against one first.

STOCK MARKET SHOWED RECOVERY

More Active Trading and Prices Generally Higher.

DOMINION COAL STRONGER

Canadian Pacific Active and Firmer—Other Stocks Showed Little Change.

The stock market showed considerably more activity this forenoon than for some days past. The decline of yesterday carried prices to a point, which made a slight recovery an almost foregone conclusion, and the market showed evidence of improvement right from the opening.

Canadian Pacific was one of the features, both in the matter of the number of shares traded in and in the improvement in tone. Yesterday's decline carried prices off in the afternoon to 124¼. The opening transaction of 150 shares this morning took place at an advance of 1¼ points on this price at 125½. During the session 375 shares were disposed of, and the price closed ¼ higher than the opening at 125⅝.

Nova Scotia was the most active stock on the list again. About 550 shares changed hands during the morning. They sold at prices ranging around 66¾ to 66⅝, the closing sale being, however, 66⅞. Although the price remained fairly steady all morning at a level with yesterday's closing, it was lower than yesterday's opening by a good half point.

Coal Common gave further evidence of a return to public favour. Some 200 shares of it were taken on a rising market. The opening sale was made at 58, which was ½ point over the last previous transaction. From this the price advanced to 59¼, where it closed.

Power was a little easier, at 77, and dull. Twins being rather firmer at 97⅛ to 97⅝, and Toronto Rails a shade lower at 103½. Mackay common was dull, but it held around yesterday's figures, 25 selling at 25⅜.

There was a greater variety of bonds traded in this forenoon than for some time past, though the total quantity was light. Iron bonds were steady at 72½ for $5,000. Montreal Light, Heat and Power bonds selling at par, for $2,000, and Montreal Street Railway selling at 104⅜ for $,200.

During the morning about 1,350 shares changed hands, this being an increase on recent business. Summing up the conditions on the New York Exchange, the N. Y. Post says: "It is reasonable to suppose that these two days of Stock Exchange liquidation have released enough of the speculative Wall Street loans to check the violence of the decline in surplus bank reserves. On the other hand, outflow of currency continues large, and Tuesday half a million more gold was taken for Argentina. Little notice was given to these incidents, however, in comparison with the wheat market's wild performances yesterday."

GOSSIP OVER WIRES FROM NEW YORK.

Charles Head & Co.—The reappearance of heavy buying in Union Pacific and Southern Pacific had a good effect. In the industrial group the United States Steel issues were strong and higher, with other Steel issues advancing sympathetically. The speculation generally shows a return of confidence, and the opinion seems to prevail that, barring unfavourable weather changes in the corn belt, higher prices will be witnessed. The sub-treasury transferred $200,000 to New Orleans. The Boston market has been active in spots to-day, and those active spots were generally very strong. In the Coppers, Range was a leader, advancing one to 69⅜. Utah was also very strong, gaining to 41½. Amalgamated was also active and strong. Steel stocks were the feature in the general list, preferred rising to 66¼ in this market. Telephone quiet at 139. Coal sold at 57¾ here. No sales of Iron. At noon the market is rather quiet at near the top prices.

Laidlaw & Co.—The report of only a light frost in the northerly part of Kansas last night and the dawning realisation that the great bulk of the corn crop is practically immune from damage from this source, created a more cheerful sentiment on the Stock Exchange this morning, and this, together with a stronger technical position of the market, caused a pronounced improvement throughout the list. The grangers and trunk lines and certain industrials attracted particular attention. General business continues to show gradual improvement, and if the present prospects for the corn and cotton crops are even approximately realized, it is hard to foresee anything but a revival of prosperity this fall, and a consequent substantial enhancement of security values.

Edmund & Charles Randolph.—American stocks in London were firmer at ⅛ to ¼ per cent. above parity. Five thousand coke ovens have opened up in Connellsville district in the past fortnight. Pittsburg speculative pool reported realizing on Reading. Bond issue of $10,000,000 by Republic Steel rumoured. Steel business in Pittsburg district shows improvement. Banks lost to sub-treasury since Friday $3,687,000. Increase in D. and H. dividend rate improbable. Wabash buys the stock of Pittsburg Terminal and Coal Company.

Burnett & Co.—London advanced ⅛ to ¾, latter in Erie first, which is a feature along with Steel stocks.

Stated Wabash gained entrance to McKeesport.

Billet pool will meet at Pittsburg tomorrow to re-organize and adjust the prices.

Lackawanna strike is considered unlikely.

Reported that Pressed Car Steel Co. has entered into trade arrangements with G. T. R.

Rumours revived of purchase of Met. Sec. Co. by Interboro' interests.

Earnings Detroit United first week of Sept., decrease $1,509. From 1st Jan., increase $69,593.

Subway will open for traffic first or second week in October.

St. Paul considered likely to build to the coast.

Several large roads ready to order rails on a price guarantee.

Thirty-four roads for first week of September show average gross increase of 5.86 per cent.

J. B. Picken & Co.—Steady buying of Penna. which reached 130⅝, influenced the entire list. London started buying, and in all stocks where shorts had been put out there was an anxiety to cover. Prices moved fast on account of the small amount of stock that pressed, and many of them showed signs of buying of the best character. Traders jump to bear side, occasionally causing temporary reactions, but not receiving encouragement from outside, quickly cover their engagements with small profits. The steel stocks are strong, and look like advancing further. London bought a considerable quantity of both classes of steels.

According to despatches received by the Ogilvie Flour Mills Company from their western representatives, the reported frost damage to Manitoba wheat is absolutely false. They state that on Saturday last over 85 per cent. of the crop was in good shape, and that the remainder is now too far advanced to be materially harmed by any frost which might occur. Following is a telegram received by Mr. F. W. Thompson, general manager of the Ogilvie Company, from Mr. C. R. Hosmer, president of the same company, who is one of Sir Thomas Shaughnessy's party now travelling in the west: "Brandon, Man., September 13.—We are all pleased to-day to see on both sides of the railway good crops. Wheat is all cut and in stook, with fair proportion stacked. Some threshing already done, and should be general within a few days. very pretty sight and most encouraging."

The story of opposition to the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company has again been revived in Toronto. For years past this story of opposition to the R. and O. in the St. Lawrence has bobbed up regularly, but up to the present has always failed to materialize. Among well-informed steamboat men, it is claimed that there is not sufficient business for two lines, either above or below Montreal, and that it would be a loging proposition for any syndicate of capitalists to make the attempt, particularly in view of the fact that the R. and O. has in its many years of service not only become widely known, but has also become too firmly established to be easily ousted.

The information from Toronto states that the new company is largely composed of Americans, and that the intention is to place steamers in service equal to the Fall River line, which, by the way, is accounted the finest line of inland craft in the world. The vessels, it is said, will be constructed in the United States and will ply between Toronto and Montreal.

The R. and O. officials, when spoken to regarding the story of a rival line, stated that regularly each year rumours of this sort were set afloat, chiefly, they thought, for stock jobbing purposes. Until more definite information was at hand they did not propose to stay awake nights.

In New York City it is said that the United States Steel Corporation and the other rail mills which have on their books unfilled orders for steel rails for Canadian roads are rushing them to completion in an effort to beat the new tariff law, which imposes a tax of $7.00 per ton on all rails imported from the United States. There is a clause in the law which provides that all rails which were purchased in the United States by Dominion roads before August 27 may enter free of duty if landed in Canada before November 30, and laid before February 28th next.

This is the clause which the steel corporation and the Pennsylvania Steel Co. notably are trying to take advantage of. The Steel Corporation, through the Carnegie Company, has about 7,000 tons of its original contract for 40,000 tons with the Mackenzie and Mann Company to deliver, and the utmost haste is being made to get the entire contract filled within the time limit specified by the new law. The Mackenzie and Mann rails which the corporation is trying to deliver in time are for the use of the Canada Northern, and are part of the orders for 71,000 tons given early last spring. About 70 per cent of the entire amount is now in the company's possession, and, of course, no duty will be levied.

At the annual meeting of the Cornwall Furniture Company, Ltd., held yesterday, a dividend of seven per cent. was declared. The business has been so prosperous and the demand for the company's products so greatly in excess of the supply that the management are seriously considering enlarging the factory so as to double its output. This industry received a small bonus from the town, and quite a lot of the stock is held by Cornwall people.

The following board of directors were re-elected: President, T. S. Aspinall, Cornwall; first vice-president, J. E. Wilder, Montreal; second vice-president, R. J. Pitt; secretary-treasurer, A. Edwards, and Richard Larmour, all of Cornwall.

Cotton Market Stronger To-day.

E. and C. Randolph quote the New York cotton market as follows:

Must Obey the Act.

Special to The Montreal Star.

St. Catharines, Ont., September 14.—Magistrate Comport found four persons guilty of refusing to obey the San Jose scale inspector's orders to either destroy or properly spray fruit trees on their premises infected with the dead scale. He let them off on suspended sentence, but gave warning that the next person he finds guilty will be severely dealt with.

Chicago Flour Man's Troubles.

Chicago, September 14.—Creditors of Henry B. Smith, a flour exporter, and member of the Board of Trade, have filed a petition in bankruptcy against him in the United States District Court to recover losses which thus far aggregate $30,000. Mr. Smith has not been at his office since last Friday.

NEW YORK MARKET ACTIVE AND STRONG.

Special to The Montreal Star.

New York, September 14.—Notwithstanding that this morning's reports set forth that light frosts occurred last nigh, in Kansas and Nebraska, and also in Minnesota and the Dakotas, the stock market opened active and exceedingly strong. The weakness in yesterday's market had been chiefly based upon fears that killing frosts would be reported over night, but the view was apparently taken that the actual temperatures reported were much less frigid than had been anticipated. In addition the market was helped by generally higher prices quoted for American stocks in the London, market, and these were succeeded by buying operations in this market upon a very liberal scale. There was no other news over night save that relating to weather conditions in the grain belt of either general or particular importance. Trading to-day showed no special features of interest except in so far as certain stocks advanced more rapidly than others. The most conspicuous features were Pennsylvania, Southern Railway, United States Steel, referred and Metropolitan Street Railway. The last named advanced more than two points, while United States Steel preferred rose more than a point. In the railway list the most active features, aside from Pennsylvania, were Atchison, Southern Pacific, Erie, Southern Railway common, Reading, St. Paul, Union Pacific and Rock Island. Industrial and miscellaneous stocks showed few movements of interest. Canadian Pacific was steady. Its sales to 1 o'clock were 1,000 shares.

NOVA SCOTIA STEEL LED TORONTO MARKET.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Toronto, September 14.—Nova Scotia Steel again this morning led in the Toronto market with numerous small lots changing hands. While dealings in the general list were small and price changes unimportant, Dominion Bank made a further advance, opening 1-4 up at 235 1-4 bid and advancing steadily to 236, at which price the first lot of 50 shares changed hands. General Electric also opened firm, selling within the first hour at 152 1-4, a gain of 3-8. Twin City early sold at 97 1-2 for two 10 share lots. Nova Scotia Steel opened 3-8 up at 67, and fell to 66 1-2 and rallied to 67. An early sale of 6 shares was at 67 1-2. The morning sales were:

Dominion Bank—150 at 236.
Canadian General Electric—245 at 152 to 152¼.
Toronto Electric (new)—51 at 144.
C.P.R.—55 at 125¼ to 125½.
Twin City—20 at 97½.
Sao Paulo—5 at 105.
Bell Telephone—3 at 147⅜ to 147½.
N. S. Steel—781 at 66½ to 67½.
Dominion Coal—200 at 59 to 59¾.

CANADIAN LUMBER IN GREAT BRITAIN.

Farnworth and Jardine's wood circular, dated Liverpool, 1st September, reads in part as follows:

The arrivals from British North America during September were 32,024 tons register, against 35,365 in August last year, and the aggregate tonnage to this date from all places during the years 1902, 1903 and 1904 has been 314,067,305,-015, and 324,683 tons respectively.

Business has been very dull. Imports have been ample, though some timber showed a marked reduction as compared with recent years, and which is very necessary. Deliveries, with the exception of Canadian timber, have been fair, but stocks are heavy, and values difficult to maintain. Moderation in consigning is very desirable.

Canadian Woods.—Pine Timber — Of Waney there has been a very light import—on merchants' account—but demand is quiet, and deliveries disappointing; stocks ample, but little change in value. Square Pine—Arrivals only 2,000 feet, but little enquiry, and stocks sufficient; prices steady. Red Pine—Not imported, and little demand; stocks sufficient. Oak Logs—No direct imports, but demand exceedingly quiet; deliveries small, and stocks ample; little change in value. Elm—No arrivals; fair enquiry for first class wood; deliveries satisfactory, stocks moderate, values firm. Ash —Demand limited. Pine Deals—Arrivals, though less than last August, have been large; deliveries disappointing; stocks, which have further increased, are too heavy; values weaker. Red Pine Deals—Demand dull; stocks ample.

New Brunswick and Nova Scotia Spruce and Pine Deals.—Arrivals liberal, although less than August last year, viz., 13,340 stds., against 15,560 stds. In 1903, deliveries large, but business not satisfactory; stocks heavy; desirable that consignments be curtailed; prices low, but have recently shown more firmness. Pine Deals.—Demand dull, prices low, and stocks heavy.

Birch—Of logs arrivals moderate, chiefly from lower ports; deliveries fairly satisfactory, and stocks are not too large; values are easier. Planks imported moderately, stock light, but little improvement in value.

United States Oak.—Arrivals small, demand very quiet, and prices low. Of planks arrivals moderate, fair consumption; stock somewhat reduced, but still too heavy. Specks in logs of fine quality. Planks still in fair demand. Total stock, including outside depots, now amounts to 490,000 cubic feet.

United States Whitewood. — Logs, planks, boards, etc., imported on large scale, values barely maintained, inferior grades difficult to place, and stocks excessive.

Pitch Pine.—Arrivals, 6 vessels, 7,927 tons, against 3 vessels, 3,729 tons during last August. Hewn—Import consists of 74,000 feet, consumption satisfactory, and stocks, though moderate, are sufficient. Sawn mill timber in fair demand, and prices freely; stocks heavy, low prices ruling. Deals and Boards—Stocks too heavy, and low prices.

United States Staves.—Imports moderate, fair demand for better qualities, but second quality rule low. Canada butts and 6 ft. pipes are dull of sale.

British Columbian and Oregon Pine — No arrivals, deliveries fair, stocks too large, values unchanged.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Fishery exports were better by $29,000. There was, however, a decline of $2,206,467 in exports of mine products. The imports for consumption during the month of August totalled $22,479,102, as against $22,315,725 for the same period last year, while the exports of domestic produce amounted to $21,824,954, a decrease of $1,671,831.

DAILY COMMERCIAL MARKETS AND QUOTATIONS.

BUTTER MARKET WAS FIRM TO-DAY.

Demand From England Was Fair — Cheese Market Was Steady But Easy in Tone.

Campbellford, Ont., September 14.—On the cheese board to-day 1,735 boxes were offered. Seven hundred and eighty were taken by Magrath, 340 by Cook, and 225 by Brenton. All at 8 7-8c. Balance refused at 8 13-16c.

CHEESE—The market seemed a little easier again this morning, though no change in price was noted. In fact, accurate quotations are almost impossible at present owing to the difference which exists between buyers and sellers. Holders are in some cases asking pretty high figures, and buyers are offering low ones. Very few cable orders are in from England, but there is a feeling in the market that prices cannot go much lower than at present during the balance of this season. The following figures would probably bring out limited quantities of cheese: 8⅝ to 8¾c for Quebecs, 8⅞ to 9c for Townships, and 9¼ to 9⅜c for Ontarios. Many holders are asking ⅛c more than the prices mentioned.

Receipts reported on the Board of Trade this morning amounted to 14,316 boxes.

BUTTER—The market appears, if anything, firmer this morning, though there is nothing new in prices. Exporters appear to be receiving a reasonable response to their cables, and trading in the local market is fairly active. Finest Quebecs are quoted at 19 to 19¼c, and finest Townships 19¼ to 19½c. It is said to be a little difficult to obtain outside figures, but trading has certainly been done at them. Ontarios are hard to find, and might be quoted at 18½c. Medium to fine creameries range from 18¼ to 18⅜c.

Receipts reported on the Board of Trade this morning amounted to 3,108 packages.

EGGS—A seller of eggs, straight candled, to be delivered the first week in October, asked 20c at country points, paying ½c freight. He was offered 18½c for them and refused it. It is reasonably certain that few if any here feel so firm as this seller. At present, straight gathered are worth 18c here, and the quality is excellent. In the country, 17 or 17½c is about the highest paid, and selects may be had at 20 to 21c.

Receipts reported on the Board of Trade this morning amounted to 414 cases.

POTATOES—The market is steady. Dealers report purchases at 70c per bag of 90 pounds, on track, the same stock selling from store at 80c.

HONEY.—The market is very dull. One dealer has a quantity of light strained, which he is offering in 60 lb. tins at 7c per lb. without finding buyers. Light comb was sold at 9¾c, and dark strained at 6c.

POTASH.—The market is easier, and $5.65 to $5.75 will about cover the restricted enquiry for first sorts; seconds, $5.25 to $5.30; pearl ash is wanted at $8, but not a barrel is on offer.

LIVE STOCK MARKET STEADY TO-DAY.

Live stock market report at the Montreal Stock Yard Company's west end market: Export cattle, 80 cars, 4¼ to 5c; do. sheep, 6 cars, 3½c; butchers' cattle, 450 head; butchers' cattle, choice, 4 to 4¼c; do. good, 3½ to 3¾c; do. medium, 3¼ to 3c; do. common, 2 to 2¼c; do. canners, 1½c; bulls, 1½ to 2c; hogs, 1750 selects 5½c; calves, 200, $3 to $10 each; sheep, butchers, and lambs, 800; lambs, 4¼ to 4½c; sheep, 3c. The demand was very good and closed strong; all sold.

DEPUTATION AT OTTAWA REGARDING GLUCOSE.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Ottawa, Ont., September 14.—A deputation of gentlemen interested in the manufacture of starch is here to see the Minister of Inland Revenue. They object to having glucose classed as an adulterant of starch. On the contrary, they say as a percentage of glucose is actually an improvement, and they desire to persuade the department to act on this view. The deputation is headed by Dr. Reid, M.P., of Prescott.

Refined Sugar Market is Steady.

The market for refined sugar has held quite steady for some time past. Demand is reported to be very fair for this time of year. The preserving season is pretty well over, and dealers are looking forward to more or less dullness until the Christmas demand relieves the situation.

THE WEATHER

When the citizens of Montreal awoke this morning they found the city wrapped in a mantle of mist.

It was warm and humid too, and rain seemed imminent throughout the morning.

As the day advanced the weather cleared somewhat, but the moisture-laden air made things unpleasant to those whose duties took them out of doors.

The probabilities are for clearing weather and cooler during the next twenty-four hours.

Pulp Mill for Sale

Property and Works of "The St. John Sulphite Pulp Company, Limited" (In liquidation), situate at Mispec, Saint John County, New Brunswick.

The Mill property of the Company comprises over three hundred acres. Works are situate on the Mispec River, a quarter of a mile from the sea, and six miles by water from the City of Saint John, from thence pulp may be shipped to all points. There is ample wharf accommodation at the works, and schooners with coal discharge directly into the boiler-house. An unlimited supply of pulp wood is available. Works are new and substantially built of pressed brick; are fitted with modern and up-to-date appliances, including electric plant, and are capable of producing two hundred tons of pulp per week. There is room in the present building for additional plant, which, when installed, would double the output. The mill-dam is substantially built of stone, and is about fifty feet high. The water is taken to the turbine wheels in an iron flume, five feet in diameter, which gives ample supply for driving machinery and pulp-making.

Tenders for purchase of above described property will be received by the undersigned up to October first, 1904. The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Further information will be supplied on application.

MR. HAYS RETURNS TO VICTORIA, B. C.

Important Points Regarding the G. T. P. Not Yet Settled.

MATTER OF PACIFIC FLEET

If One is Decided on the Allans Will Be Early in the Field.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Toronto, September 14.—A Globe's Victoria, B.C., despatch, says: "Three vital points in which British Columbia is interested with regard to the construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific are left without illumination as the result of the visit to the Northern coast of British Columbia of Manager Hays and party, who returned to Victoria yesterday. They are not yet prepared to state where the terminus of the road will be; they cannot say whether construction will begin simultaneously at both ends, nor are they able to state whether a Trans-Pacific fleet will be called into existence as the result of the building of the road. On this latter point, however, there seems to be among the members of the party less hesitancy than regarding the others. Mr. Allan himself admits that the matter is under consideration by his company and he also acknowledges that the desirability of his company being first in the field has impressed itself upon his mind. The other members of the party do not wish to be quoted, but say that whatever else results from the trip, there is practically no doubt that the Allans will be promptly in the field. In the other two points alluded to, President Hays is distinctly non-committal."

THE OTTAWA COMMISSION.

Ottawa, September 14.—The Transcontinental Railway Commission, at the conclusion of its session yesterday afternoon, announced that it had received and accepted an offer from Mr. Corry for the use of the commission of the first and second flats of his new building, adjoining the central station. Mr. A. N. Molesworth has been officially appointed district engineer for the district extending from Clear Lake to Lake Abitibi. Mr. John Sunstrom has been engaged to superintend the transport of the supplies to the head waters of the Ottawa river and will enter upon his duties at once. Allan P. McDonald has been engaged to superintend the transport of the supplies on the Gatineau river. Purchases of supplies for the camps in the back country between Quebec and Lake Abitibi are being made, and they will be forwarded to the depots at once. The selection of engineers and formation of the various parties for the New Brunswick district is nearly completed. Selection of engineers and formation of crews for the district between New Brunswick and Clear Lake will be taken up in the course of a day or two, as well as for the district between Clear Lake and Lake Abitibi. There are a large number of applicants for positions on the surveys, between 1,500 and 2,000 being already on file. The majority of the applications are from young men, who are desirous of gaining some knowledge in engineering work.

CANADA'S LAWS ARE COMMENDED.

This Country Gives Train Officials Fairer Treatment Against Railways Than United States.

Buffalo, N.Y., September 14.—The ninth biennial convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, mingled some business with listening to several interesting adresses at its session yesterday at Convention Hall. Chief of all matters discussed in the speeches was the present law which prevents legal claim on a railroad company for injuries received through the negligence of a co-employe, this matter having been one which has long engaged the attention of the railroad brotherhoods, and is expected to be heard in the Legislature this winter in an effort to change the present law.

Among the speakers was H. J. Hall, Legislative representative of the railroad organizations of the United States and Canada, and stationed at Ottawa, Ont. He made a strong address, devoting much time to a discussion of the present law, which prevents a railroad employe securing damages for an accident, if the accident be due to the negligence of a fellow-employe. He told how, in Canada, a law had been secured which protected employes against co-employes as much as against the corporation employing them.

THE REMOVAL OF MILITIA OFFICERS.

Ottawa, September 14.—From a militia order issued yesterday it is obvious that instances have come under the notice of the department where officers have been removed from the militia on the recommendation of their commanding officers without being given an opportunity to put in a word of defence. A reform of this evil has evidently been resolved upon and the following has accordingly been issued:

"In future, no recommendation for the removal of an officer from the militia will be accepted unless it is shown that he has been notified of the proposed action, and has been called upon to show cause why the removal should not take place. The notification must be either delivered to the officer in person, or else mailed to his last known address. The officer's written reply must accompany the recommendation for his removal. If he fails to reply, a copy of the notification and a statement showing the time of its delivery or mailing must be attached to the recommendation."

Amherst, N.S.—The death occurred on Saturday, at the residence of his son-in-law, T. S. Rogers, of Amos Purdy, Sr., ex-postmaster of Amherst, and ex-M.L.A., at the age of 79. Deceased during his life took an active part in the affairs of his country.

A BROKEN-DOWN SYSTEM.

This is a condition (or disease) to which doctors give many names, but which few of them really understand. It is simply weakness—a break-down, as it were, of the vital forces that sustain the system. No matter what may be its causes (for they are almost numberless), its symptoms are much the same, the more prominent being sleeplessness, sense of prostration or weariness, depression of spirits and want of energy for all the ordinary affairs of life. Now, what alone is absolutely essential in all such cases is increased vitality—vigour—

VITAL STRENGTH & ENERGY

to throw off these morbid feelings, and experience proves that as night succeeds the day this may be more certainly secured by a course of the celebrated life-reviving tonic than by any other known combination. So surely as it is taken in accordance with the printed directions accompanying it, will the shattered health be restored,

THERAPION No. 3

THE EXPIRING LAMP OF LIFE LIGHTED UP AFRESH,

and a new existence imparted in place of what had so lately seemed worn-out, "used up," and valueless. This wonderful restorative is purely vegetable and innocuous, is agreeably to the taste—suitable for all constitutions and conditions, in either sex; and it is difficult to imagine a case of disease or derangement, whose main features are those of debility, that will not be speedily and permanently benefited by this never-failing recuperative essence, which is destined to cast into oblivion everything that had preceded it for this wide-spread and numerous class of human ailments.

THERAPION is sold by the principal Chemists throughout the world. Price in England, 2/9 and 4/6. Purchasers should see that the word "THERAPION" appears on British Government Stamp (in white letters on a red ground), affixed to every package by order of His Majesty's Hon. Commissioners, and without which it is a forgery.

THAT MISTAKEN IDENTITY CASE.

True Bill Against John Smith for Whose Crimes Another Served Long Imprisonment.

London, September 14.—At the Old Bailey yesterday the Grand Jury found a true bill against John Smith for fraud.

Smith is the man for whose crimes Adolf Beck served a five years' term of imprisonment, beginning in 1877, and in mistake for whom he was again sent to penal servitude in 1896, so strong was the personal resemblance between the two men and so indifferent were the police and other authorities to Beck's protests and his offers to establish an alibi and otherwise prove his innocence.

Last July a man was arrested for frauds similar to those alleged against Beck, and an investigation resulted in the establishment of Beck's innocence. H. was "pardoned" and the Government offered him an indemnity of $10,000, but only on condition that he would keep silence and give no countenance to an investigation or prosecution of the officers concerned in his convictions. On the advice of the persons who are now befriending him he declined the offer.

At Belleville, Ont., St. Thomas' Church, which has been closed for some time, was re-opened on Sunday. Improvements to the amount of about $5,000 have been made in the sacred edifice.

The Season for Fairs.

Brockville, September 14.—The Brockville fair opened a three days' exhibition yesterday under favourable circumstances. The weather was delightful, and upwards of 5,000 people were on the grounds. Over 3,000 entries were made in the different classes of exhibits. Horses and cattle are far beyond expectations, and the quality of the stock is attracting wide attention, particularly in horses, no better being shown outside of Toronto.

The Mail Order Store.

Come Often!

The newspapers are full of bargain prices. Suppose we take a different tack and invite you to visit the store where goods and prices can be easily understood.

We blame no one for being partial to what they own, especially if they want to sell it badly, but there's no wisdom in calling a thing worth $2.50 when it's likely sold here, without any special eclat, right along at $1.00.

Has not late experience taught you that talk and action coincide with us? And have you not thought that the way for merchants to sell goods is to have them, to be able to manage their handling, be true to buyers, advertise the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth?

We are First in New Dress Goods

The cleverest part of the Dress Goods business is to get the stuffs you like. You're the judges.

When the manufacturers catch the right idea in getting up the designs, our work is easy; when they don't, it isn't.

We've had enough encouragement already to know that they've been successful this season. Bright, cheerful patterns, that represent a quotient of pleasure for you, as well as business for us.

Allow every merchant that liberty of thinking his own stock best, and what then? You certainly wouldn't buy anything in Dress Goods without first seeing how prices run and where best values is to be got. Values such as these will help you to make comparisons:

LADIES LEAVING FOR MISSIONARY WORK.

An interesting service will be held in Erskine Church, Sherbrooke street, on Friday evening at eight o'clock, when two ladies, Isabella Little and Miss Agnes I. Dickson, B.A., will be designated for mission work at Macao, China. These ladies are being sent out to the mission field by the Woman's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Dr. Mowatt, pastor of the Church, will preside and Dr. R. P. Mackay, secretary of the missions of the church; Dr. Robert Johnston, the Rev. E. Scott, and others will take part in the service. Dr. Mackay will deliver the designation address.

The Woman's Missionary Society has already a missionary in China, Dr. Jeannie Dow, stationed at Honan, who has been in China for nine years.

Dr. Isabella Little, who goes out as a medical missionary, is a native of Ontario, having been born at White Hill Farm, Simcoe County. Her home is Toronto, where she taught for some years after having passed through the Barrie Collegiate Institute and the Toronto Normal School. Her attention, however, was turned from teaching to medicine, and she entered the Ontario Medical College for Women and graduated in 1901, afterwards receiving the degree of M.D.C.M., and passing the examination of the Medical Council, which qualified her as a member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario. She was for a year house surgeon in the Philadelphia Hospital for Women and received a special training for her future work in the mission field at Dr. White's Bible Teachers' Training College, New York City.

Miss Agnes I. Dickson, B.A., also belongs to Ontario, her family being of Scotch origin.

It is well known in professional circles that Mr. Gerhard Heintzman will not contribute in any way to the funds in order to have his piano used when great musical artists are in this country.

WELL KNOWN CAPTAIN DEAD.

Capt. P. Burns, late of the steamer Bray Head, is dead. He died at White Head Island, Scotland, on September 3rd.

The late captain was in the service of the Ulster Line, better known here as the Head Line, for eighteen years, being in command of the Dominion Head and Fair Head at different periods, and spending the last two years on the Bray Head.

When his steamer last sailed from Montreal, Capt. Burns expected to meet his wife, a Canadian lady of St. John, N.B., in Dublin, but previous to sailing he was announced to be seriously ill and Capt. Graham, who is still in command, took his place for the trip. He was never able to resume duty and it was with much regret that the crew received the news of their late commander's death. Captain Burns was well known in Montreal.

Boys Were Set Free.

The evidence was heard yesterday in the case of the five boys charged with placing obstructions on the path of the St. Lambert automobile cars. The evidence showed that only McDonald and Trotter were guilty, and on furnishing bonds for their good behavious they were allowed their liberty.

LABOUR LEADER CONDEMNS POLICY OF GOVERNMENT.

Mr. John A. Flett, of Hamilton, president of the Trades and Labour Congress of Canada, is in the city arranging the details in connection with the labour convention which is to be held in the city next week, and which he expects to be one of the most largely attended meetings of the kind in the history of the Congress. Mr. Flett is naturally deeply interested in everything pertaining to the labour movement and in the course of a conversation last evening with a number of prominent labour leaders gave expression to his views in regard to the immigration policy of the Dominion Government, which he strongly condemned.

"The cheapest kind of foreign labour," he said, "is being constantly brought to this country and, as a result, Canadians are forced to enter into competition for an existence with this class of people, who are many generations behind our standard of living. Rather than come down to the conditions under which these people live many Canadians go to the United States seeking a less restricted field. The United States Government expends over half a million dollars yearly restricting immigration, while the Dominion Government expends three-quarters of a million to induce immigrants to come to this country. One very peculiar feature in connection with this immigration is that the Dominion Government pays the steamship agents seven shillings per capita for British subjects, while they pay one pound for a foreigner. This is a wicked policy and should be condemned by all fair-minded men. There are as many Canadians in the United States as there are in Canada, and that is because of the unpatriotic policy of the governments."

ARRAIGNED SENATE.

Mr. Flett, during the presence of the reporter, severely arraigned the Senate for its perpetual hostility to the labour interests. He said from their past attitude it would seem that they are determinedly opposed to all measures tending to promote the welfare of the Canadian working classes. He was of the opinion that certain changes would be made very shortly.

MEETING OF THE ROMAN CATHOLIC SCHOOL BOARD.

The Roman Catholic School Board met last evening at the Commercial Academy, under the presidency of Mgr. Z. Racicot. Those present were Rev. M. Callaghan, Rev. Abbe Trole, Mayor Laporte, Mr. J. H. Semple, Ald. D. Gallery, M.P., Ald. Valliere, Mr. P. Martineau, Mr. C. Piche and Secretary Lacroix.

The attendance for the first week in the public schools for boys showed the following: Roman Catholic Commercial Academy, 409; Montcalm, 559; Champlain, 618; Sarsfield, 507; Belmont, 397; Olier, 465; Edward Murphy, 290—showing an increase of 160 over last year.

Superintendent Lacroix was instructed to visit the Meilleur School, St. Gabriel's and the Sisters of the Holy Cross, Centre street, to see if proper accommodation could be secured to open a new class in each school, so as to relieve the over-crowded classes.

The following teachers were permanently appointed at $600 per year: Mr. A. Belisle, at the Champlain; Mr. J. T. McCarthy, at the Olier, and Mr. T. F. Bangs, at the Montcalm. Mr. Beckingham is temporarily appointed at the Sarsfield school.

The special drawing and shorthand courses for the teachers every Saturday morning at the Commercial Academy will be continued.

Ald. Valieres gave notice of a motion, for the superintendent, to report on all teachers and principals engaged by the board, who teach private lessons and if those lessons interfere in any way with their duties and obligations to the board.

DETECTIVE COTE UPON THE STAND

ficult to purchase Paris green and Cote remarked that he had not searched her pockets.

Cote positively denied that he was under the influence of liquor on the evening in question. His conduct did not strike him as being at variance with his detective duties.

After Mr. Marechal had received confirmation from Cote of several points already brought out in the evidence, Cote left the box.

THE CORONER TELLS WHAT HE KNOWS OF THE CASE.

Edmund McMahon, coroner of the district of Montreal, being sworn, deposed:

By the President:

"Will you produce the letter which was handed you by Mr. Cote at the enquete which was held by you over the body of Mamie Lalonde?"

"Well, Mr. St. Denis, Mr. Cote did not hand me any letter. The letter which was produced was not given to me by Mr. Cote; it was brought to me by Dr. Fleury, and it is a letter which belongs to official judicial documents which I cannot part with, but I have no objection to showing them. There are several letters which are all attached to the brief, and I should not like to detach them, unless it is necessary to do so."

"Will you produce a copy?"

"It would not serve much. It is the third letter in the bundle of papers which was produced which would have been brought by Mr. Cote and handed to Dr. Fleury."

"Will you read it?"

"I wish to give an explanation in regard to a word in this letter. There is at the beginning of the letter a word which could replace what is generally used as "Sir" or "Dear Friend" or anything else at the head of a letter. It is written in such a manner that one could not be certain what it is.

WHAT THE WORD REALLY WAS.

"The letter which is here at the commencement of the word, I understood at the time as being the capital 'H,' and with the letters which immediately follow it I thought that it was the word 'hinder,' and to me this word in such a letter, the word 'hinder' means to prevent, it would probably mean 'look out' or take care, and I gave this explanation when I spoke of it before the jurors.

"Later, I became convinced that this letter was not the letter 'H,' but that it was the letter 'F' of the word 'finder,' that is to say, to whoever found the paper.

"I had occasion to compare the capital letter "H" with the capital "H" of the letter which was published over a photograph published in the Star, a few days ago, and I discovered in this reproduction that the manner in which this person wrote the letter "H" was not at all like the one in this word. I compared the letter "H" with the one in the cut. In that document there is the letter "H" written in the word "Hospital," and it is perfectly clear that this letter is not the letter "H". This person writes the capital "H" joined to the bottom on the following letter. I found two capital "F's" in February, and "F" in from. The "F" written by her in "from" is a "T," it is not an "F." You have an "F" and a "T," but it is a "T" formed as she formed her "F's," and then she crosses them at the bottom, and I compared this letter "F" in the letter which was written by herself, the letter which was brought to the enquete, and which had been addressed by her to Mr. Elliott, and there I saw the letter "F" written by her, and there is no doubt that it is the letter "F"; there can be no doubt that this word commences by the letter "F."

"Taking into consideration that the word 'hinder' makes no sense, that it cannot be the last word of a missing phrase, but that the word 'finder' has a meaning in this paper, and seeing that this paper was not torn, but well cut, that it is just like the paper at the Jacques Cartier Hotel, and that this paper is the same paper as that which is found in the letter to Mr. Elliott, and written by her the same day, and I insist in having this recorded in my testimony, and similarly I was enabled to compare the letter which was written to Mrs. Wiggins on the same paper, from the same hotel, I have no doubt that this word which is found at the beginning of this paper means "finder," and that corresponds with the rest of the letter, which reads as follows: (The witness reads the letter.) in which the deceased declares that what she has done she did of her own free will and requested that her body be sent to Prescott.

"I wish to remark that what has perhaps caused considerable vexation is this first letter, in the letter which allowed it to be supposed that the paper had been torn, but in comparing the paper one can see that it is the commencement of the letter, that the word is "finder," but that the young girl simply cut off the heading of the hotel from the letter to use this paper. You may compare it; here is the letter to Mrs. Wiggins and to Mr. Elliott, on similar paper."

Mr. Gervais' examination:

"You are well acquainted with Mr. Cote, are you not?"

"I have known Mr. Cote for a long time."

"Will you tell the Police Commission what you know of his integrity?"

"I knew Mr. Cote as constable, when I was myself employed in the office of the Police Magistrate, and outside of the office, and I never heard the least thing against his integrity, and I certainly always considered Mr. Cote to be a respectable man, and very careful in the discharge of his duties."

Mr. Lapointe's examination

MR. LAPOINTE'S EXAMINATION.

"Do you include in that statement his character even after what has happened in the Lalonde case?"

"Yes."

In reply to Alderman Lapointe, the Coroner said: "It has not been established that Cote has committed a single immoral act or one derogatory to his honour. The notes which I have of my inquest are not very complete, and I must supply others from memory at the time I explained affairs to the jurors. It has been proved that he entered the room of the young girl for some minutes, but he descended almost immediately afterwards to get paper, and he came back with this paper. After about ten minutes a bell boy was called and he found the girl writing and Cote seated near the door. It is proven that the young girl has written these letters and that some ten minutes afterwards the letters were finished, so that twenty minutes are properly accounted for. Nothing very much else could be done in those twenty minutes besides writing letters. It has been established that the young girl said that she intended to kill herself, and a person who really intends to kill herself does not amuse herself with a man. I say that Mr. Cote, as a detective knew the circumstances in which this young girl found herself. He ought to have seen that a young girl who wants to leave her home to stay outside and who did not want to go to sleep in her house, is not a girl whose actions are normal. There was something that was wrong, at least there was something that should have attracted his attention. I believe that when he saw the druggist refuse the poison, or the remedy—whatever it is called—it should have attracted the attention of Cote, and prudence should have told him not to let the girl have those remedies; and I have expressed the opinion that he committed a great imprudence and that if I were the Chief of Detectives I certainly would not have employed him any more."

By the chairman—

"You have said that that would be sufficient to have him dismissed?"

"Perfectly, and I told Detective Cote that his conduct should not allow him to be a detective, but simply a constable. My reasons for saying so were as follows:

I consider that when a druggist talks about a certain remedy which he will not give, which, in fact, he refuses to give, that it is sufficient for those who hear him to prick up their ears and that a detective should always have his ears open, particularly when matters are in connection with a young girl who has committed a theft, who refuses to continue her ordinary routine of life and whom he has found going out at night under abnormal circumstances, if he, Cote, had shown a little smartness, things would not have happened as they did. I believe that he didn't show any smartness."

CORONER'S OPINION OF DETECTIVES.

By Mr. Gervais:—

"Will you name a detective in the service of the Montreal police force who has sufficient smartness to exercise his profession properly."

"No, I cannot name any one."

"Can you find in the Province of Quebec a single man who possesses the qualities which you claim a detective should have?"

"I may say that in my opinion all the detectives we have in the entire province, and a little beyond, are not detectives."

Then Cote is as good a detective as any of the others in the Province?"

"I class him as the others."

By the chairman—

"Then he does not possess the necessary qualities?"

"That is what I have said. He did not exhibit the necessary smartness at the critical moment. This girl went to buy poison under his very nose, he saw the druggist refuse to sell it and he noticed nothing particular."

"Is laudanum considered a poison?"

"I consider that detectives ought to know what are poisons, and the fact is that when I spoke of the matter I said that Mr. Cote had reached the end of his career as a detective."

By Alderman Lapointe—

"You believe that Detective Cote lacked smartness. Now do you know that celebrated detectives like Vidoc, for instance, have followed clues and afterwards found out that they have followed wrong clues and have lacked smartness also?"

"I believe that every man, even the most accomplished, can lack smartness at times, but Mr. Cote lacked more smartness than the others. I believe that he has not the necessary smartness for his profession, and, as I have said before, he still may have a sufficient amount to be a policeman."

By Alderman Chausse:

"Mr. Coroner, in your address to the jury, have you not said as reported in one of the papers, amongst other things, "It is unfortunate for a detective to do what he has done; he has committed an imprudence which places him in a very unfortunate position?"

"I have told you already what I have said on the subject and I tell you the same thing. I do not exactly remember the terms of which I have made use but I say that he has endangered his position."

"The newspaper continues by saying that you exclaimed 'I consider that the conduct of Mr. Cote is reprehensible and that no officer of the police who has done what Cote has done can maintain his position.'"

"I have declared to several people and I repeat it here in my testimony that I have not the slightest doubt that he had endangered his position and that for that reason he was going to lose it."

TELLS OF THE PURCHASE OF THE LAUDANUM.

Treffle Vandeboncoeur, druggist, of the city of Montreal, was examined by Mr. Gervais.

"Have you heard all the witnesses who have just given evidence?"

"Yes, sir."

"Do you know Detective Cote?"

"Yes, sir."

"Do you remember Mamie Lalonde's visit to your pharmacy?"

"Yes, sir."

"Whilst Mr. Cote was in the drug store with Mamie Lalonde, did he speak one word to you?"

"No, sir."

"Did he make any sign to you?"

"No, sir."

"Did he hear what Mamie Lalonde said to you?"

"As to that, I have not his ears."

"Did Mr. Cote interfere or endeavour in any way to obtain the remedies for which Mamie Lalonde asked?"

"No, sir."

EXAMINED BY MR. MARECHAL.

"Were you unaware, Mr. Vandebonacoeur, that Miss Lalonde had previously sent for these remedies?"

"Yes, sir."

"Had you refused them?"

"I do not know that it was Miss Lalonde. I suppose it was she who was at the Jacques Cartier Hotel, and who had probably sent over."

"And did you refuse the remedies to her?"

"Yes, sir."

"Was it you, yourself, who refused the remedies?"

"It was I who refused them."

"When Miss Lalonde returned with Mr. Cote, if she had been alone would you have given the remedies to her?"

"Yes, sir."

"The same remedies?"

"Yes, sir."

"Had Mr. Cote's presence no influence upon your decision?"

"I can not say if Cote's presence did, but the presence of a man; if a little boy is sent it makes difficulty."

"Mr. Vandebonacoeur, I ask you if you would have given the drugs to the young girl if she had been alone?"

"Yes, sir."

"You would have given them?"

"Yes, sir."

"You are quite positive that you would have given these remedies to a young girl if she had not been accompanied by a man?"

"Yes, sir."

"Do you always do so?"

"It is done very often."

"Not always?"

"It is very often done; it is the rule."

"Do you know Mr. Cote well?"

"I did not know Mr. Cote well. I knew him by reputation, as I had occasion to meet him sometimes. I had known him about two years."

"Did you know that he was the detective Cote?"

"No, sir."

"You did not know that he was a detective?"

"No, sir."

"Did he often go to your store?

"No, sir; he came to my knowledge, however, sometime since I have had that business."

"Did you always know that he was Detective Cote?"

"I knew that he was Detective Cote when he came and I gave the bottle of remedy. He is a man whom I have seen a couple of times in this affair which occurred at my store, but necessarily I can not say that I knew him. I have been mixed in this affair with him, and I have seen him three or four times. Now, it was rather a long time since I had seen him; however, I can say that I knew him because I had already seen him previously."

"You mean to say, Mr. Vandeboncoeur, that you know him by sight?"

"Yes, sir, because I have met him sometime."

"Why did you refuse the remedies the first time?"

"Because it was a young man who came, and a young man who presented a paper like that. Poison is always refused on a written order which is not presented by a responsible person."

By the chairman—"Haven't you already said that you would refuse poison to a young girl?"

"That would depend, Mr. St. Denis."

"Well, I want to know if you would refuse it?"

"That would depend on the poison which one had to give."

"I speak of similar remedies to the ones demanded by Miss Lalonde. Is what she asked for not known as poison?"

"With laudanum, that depends upon the quantity."

"I understand that this is included amongst the poisons?"

"In a certain sense, yes; in another sense, it is not."

"Good. Now, I have asked you if it is dangerous. If it is not dangerous, why have you refused to deliver the remedies to the young man—if they were not poison?"

"The paper which he brought read to give ten cents' worth of laudanum. Ten cents' worth of laudanum might mean a grain or a tenth of a grain."

"Laudanum is poison, is it not?"

"If you take a certain dose, yes, sir."

"If I take an ounce of laudanum?"

"If you take that you will die."

"And you say that for ten cents you could give an ounce of laudanum?"

"Yes, sir."

"Why did you give the remedy, since it was poison?"

"I gave it to the young girl."

By Mr. Gervais—"From the information you had, it was the remedy for the illness?"

"That is because the person herself came for it."

By Mr. Lariviere — "In that case it was because she was accompanied by someone when she bought the laudanum?"

"Yes, sir."

"The young boy was not accompanied by any one?"

"No, sir, he was not."

"And the young girl was accompanied by a gentleman?"

"Yes, sir."

"And it is for that reason that you gave the poison?"

"Yes, sir."

(By the chairman):

"What dose did you give?"

"A quarter of a gramme."

"Is it sufficient to cause death?"

"No, sir."

By Mr. Marechal:

"Since it is not poison, why do you not give that remedy to any one who asks for it?"

"That depends on the people who come for it. If a child is sent with a paper, as I have already said, it is not given. It is not prudent."

By Mr. Lariviere:

Mr. Vandeboncoeur, as I understand it, if one sends a boy with a piece of paper asking for poison you will not give it, but if one comes accompanied by a man, be it Mr. Cote the Detective, or any one else, you give the remedy?"

"Yes, sir."

"You have said that you have had other business with Mr. Cote, was that in his capacity as Detective?"

"Yes, but that is two years ago."

"Was it Detective business?"

"Yes, sir. It was a case of theft."

By Mr. Marechal:

"The business which you had with Mr. Cote before was Detective business?"

"Yes, sir; two years ago. It was in May, 1902."

"Why did you say that you did not remember that he was a detective?"

"I had forgotten it."

"Do you remember having said at the coroner's inquest that it was because of Mr. Cote that you gave the remedy?"

"No, sir."

"Mr. Vandeboncoeur, will you swear that the dose which you have given to that young lady on that prescription which she gave to you, was laudanum, and that there were two grammes of it?"

"No, sir."

"You will not swear that?"

"No, sir."

"What dose of laudanum will kill a person not accustomed to it?"

"That is difficult to say. It depends upon the strength of the laudanum. I know that it contains poison, but it is not stated which exact dose would cause death."

By Mr. Dagenais:

"Tell us how much morphine there is in two grammes?"

"Four-fifths of a grain."

DR. FLEURY GIVES EVIDENCE.

Dr. Fleury, of Notre Dame Hospital, testified to the arrival of Miss Lalonde in the hospital. He said that it was evident that she was suffering from a dose of Paris green, and when questioned, she said: "Let me die. I am responsible for my own act." The doctor declared that there was no sign of laudanum or collodion about the girl, and that her death was caused by Paris green alone.

The bell boys of the Jacques Cartier Hotel were then called and put in a body in the box. They swore that Cote was not in Miss Lalonde's room more than five minutes. One of them said that the girl went out alone about eight o'clock in the morning and came back with a small package in her hand.

Chief Detective Carpenter repeated his statements that he had faith in Cote, and that he was an all round good officer, though he had been guilty of grave indiscretion in the case under discussion.

CHIEF OF POLICE GIVES EVIDENCE.

Chief of Police Legault spoke well of Cote as an officer.

A number of other witnesses said they had known Cote for many years and had never heard of anything whatever to his discredit.

As soon as the last witness stepped from the box Ald. St. Denis said: "Well, we'll take the matter en delibere."

There was a moment's silence and Mr. Gervais conferred with friends. A motion to adjourn was put and Mr. Gervais hurriedly announced his intention to ask for a vote on the main question. This was being privately talked over by the aldermen when a little contretemps between Mr. Gervais and Mr. Walsh took place.

"All right," said the lawyer; "let's adjourn."

And they did—till this afternoon.

"STUMPED."

Coffee Put Her in Bad Shape.

One of the worst coffee experiences is the case of a Danville, Va., lady who says:

"I have been married five years and always had good health until the spring after my second child was born, in 1901, my health began giving away. I was a coffee drinker and commenced having many pains about my heart after eating, was very nervous and kept getting worse until June.

"My physician could not help me, and I took everything I could think of, but kept getting worse; so in August I saw another doctor, who said I had nervous dyspepsia, but who did not help me any, and by that time I was so nervous it seemed I would go crazy. I did not have energy for anything and could hardly eat anything and became so weak I could hardly walk, had to stop nursing my baby, and in September I changed my physician again. The next one said I had female trouble, that I would have to be operated on, but I would not have that, so I kept changing physicians, and some would say one thing and some another, and still I got worse, until December, when I commenced with nervous convulsions and was taken down in bed.

"My husband got the very best doctors that could be found in our reach. I used stomach pump for twelve months, and was in bed three months straight, and I would get so nervous I could not speak, but I never suspected coffee. I would go for days and not touch solid food. By March, 1902, I was so nervous I could not eat anything I wanted, had fainting spells, my eyes were so weak I could not do any sewing, and I took bottle after bottle of medicine, until last Christmas, having heard so much about Postum I decided to try it.

"I commenced using Postum—made it strong and drank it three times a day, and it has made the most wonderful change you ever heard of. It was not long until I stopped using my stomach pump, was not constipated any more, and I have not bought a pill or any medicine since. It completely cured me, and not only this but we all think it a delicious drink—finest we have ever tasted." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.
