

RECORD GATE RECEIPTS AT ORMSTOWN SHOW

Greater Number of Exhibits This Season.
Total Receipts $6659.50.
Distinguished Visitors—A fine Donation—Arena Well Decorated.

Ormstown Show is over. This season the efforts of the officials of the Show have met with unbounded success. Truly, it must be gratifying for them to see that their labor has not been in vain. Despite the fact that the first two days of the show were not as nice as might be hoped, the large attendance on Thursday balanced the lesser attendance on the two previous days. Wednesday, although the weather was bad showed only 45 behind the record attendance for the same day in previous years. Thursday, it is estimated that over 8000 people were present, a record crowd.

The gate receipts at the Ormstown Show this year were the largest in the history of the Association, 2000.00 being taken in at the main gate, this included $770.00 of advance sale tickets sold previous to show at reduced prices, the racing grand stand at 20c, and an additional $275.50, and the reserved seats in the arena $327.25, making total receipts of $6659.50, the total receipts from the same sources last year were $5108., the largest returns in previous years was in 1921 when $6457. was taken in, so that the year 1927 beats all records by $202.00.

Ormstown show this year has been favored with the presence of many distinguished visitors, among them being: Hon. James A. Robb, Minister of Finance, Senator Smeaton White, Hon. Honore Mercier, Minister of Lands and Forests, Quebec, Senator Foster, Mr. E. A. Robert of the Montreal Light, Heat and Power, Andrew Phillips, M. L. A., Huntingdon, and Col. Sydney Francis, Secretary Sherbrooke Exhibition. After Mr. Robert had been shown about the grounds he made a donation of $125.00 to further the interests of the Show. The officials are very much indebted to Mr. Robert for this kind and generous act and wish through the medium of this paper to express their sincere thanks to him.

"1867—Canada's Diamond Jubilee—1927" a caption in purple and white, draped with flags and bunting over the front door of the arena, reminded visitors of Canada's sixtieth birthday. The interior was brilliantly decorated with British flags and ensigns, here and there a U. S. flag, out of courtesy to them and of the cordial relations which exist between us. A unicorn, maple leaf, harp, fleur-de-lis and thistle to represent the different nationalities the maple leaf, representing and in her bosom, these descendants of different races find peace, accord and happiness.

Mr. J. D. Bicknell of Huntingdon, was the decorator and he rightly deserves praise for the efficient manner in which he beautified the arena.

Large Number of Exhibits.
We were advanced a few feet on the grounds when exhibits started on the first was that of Moore & Arthur, Huntingdon, their exhibit consisting of Nash, Hudson and Essex cars.

F. I. BATCHELLER WINS TENNIS SINGLES IN CITY

Local Bank Manager Defeated C. W. Kenwood in Final Round 8-6, 7-5, 6-3.

GAME SATURDAY.
Obtains Championship of the Westward A. A. A.

F. I. Batcheller, manager of the local branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, won the singles championship of the Westward A. A. A. Tennis Club, Montreal, for this year when he defeated C. W. Kenwood in the final set by scores of 8-6, 7-5 and 6-3. The winner played a fine brand of tennis throughout the tourney and his victory in the final was a well-deserved one.

Kenwood put up a splendid game, and there was little to choose between the two, especially in the first two sets. Batcheller showed superior steadiness in the pinches, however, and this, combined with good stroking and sound court generalship, enabled him to win the title.

Results—H. A. Martin beat D. E. McLean, 6-3, 3-6, 6-1; F. Batcheller beat W. F. McMartin, 8-6, 3-6, 6-1; G. Raper beat P. Walker, 6-3, 6-2.

Final—F. I. Batcheller beat C. W. Kenwood, 8-6, 7-5, 6-3.
To Mr. Batcheller we extend our sincere congratulations upon his well-earned victory.

CAPTURE TRIO OF BOOZE CARS

Border Patrolmen Seize Three Machines on Lost Nation Road.—Drivers Escape.

A trio of booze laden autos were knocked off by the Lost Nation Road near Chateaugay recently. The capture was made by Patrolmen L. E. Whitney and J. C. Hughes, aided by Joseph Soblosky, a U. S. immigration official.

Drivers of the three cars ditched their loads and fled through the fields and made their escape. The cars, two Cadillac touring and a Buick roadster, contained a total of eighty-four cases of Canadian ale and one case of wine.

Interviewed Monday morning, Mr. Buchanan said the lads were fairly well exhausted when he pulled them on board his yacht, and in any case a very few minutes' longer delay would have meant their death. They had lost all their money and equipment for the journey in the water when the canoe capsized, and they intend to make the return journey by boat, they decided, after a thorough rest on board Mr. Buchanan's yacht.

They were cruising around Lake St. Louis on Sunday, Mr. Buchanan said, "and I saw what appeared to be a log in the water about 300 yards away. Some guests on board the boat became interested, and after we came nearer I saw a hat floating, and then a head appear, and then a hand raised as a signal. I knew then that someone was in distress. We immediately made for the spot, where we found the two boys, one of whom had gone down for the third time."

TWO ARE RESCUED ON LAKE ST. LOUIS

American Youths in Water After Canoe Had Capsized.

Cruising in his yacht on Lake St. Louis on Sunday afternoon, A. W. P. Buchanan, K. C., effected the rescue of two young Americans, Charles Boyer and Edmond Moir, coming from Albany, N. Y., to Montreal in a canoe equipped with an auxiliary motor. A high wind and a heavy swell suddenly capsized the canoe at the junction of the Ottawa and the St. Lawrence Rivers, just opposite Ile Perrot. The distance was almost too great to swim to shore, and the two youths had been alternately clinging to the canoe and trying to float for over half an hour before they were rescued.

Interviewed Monday morning, Mr. Buchanan said the lads were fairly well exhausted when he pulled them on board his yacht, and in any case a very few minutes' longer delay would have meant their death. They had lost all their money and equipment for the journey in the water when the canoe capsized, and they intend to make the return journey by boat, they decided, after a thorough rest on board Mr. Buchanan's yacht.

AGRICULTURE DEPT. GIVES OUT REPORT

Apple Crop in This District Expected to be as Large as in Previous Years.

Although the weather has been somewhat cool and wet during May in our province, generally speaking the blossoming period is about normal as apple trees in most districts were in full bloom from May 24th to the 28th. Trees wintered well and show no signs of injury. On the other hand, the raspberry canes are reported in some districts to be showing slight signs of winter injury in some plantations which might have the effect of slightly reducing the yield.

Apples.
Conditions reported on June 1st, show the blossom on trees in last year's heavy producing districts of Abbotford and Rougemont, to be lighter, while other localities which produced in less quantities, are generally heavier or equal to last year's production. The conditions at this date promise a winter crop of 91 per cent. of 1926, which would indicate a yield of 105,870 barrels as compared with 115,800 barrels last year. Prospects are for Abbotford to have a crop of 70 per cent. Rougemont 80 per cent., St. Hilaire 100 per cent., Chateaugay-Howick 100 per cent., Okauchewy 100 per cent., Hemmingford and Cove Hill 100 per cent. of last year. In these districts blossom indications point to Wolfe River, Alexander and McIntosh being a good crop, and Transparent, Duchess, Wealthy and Favourite a light crop, except that Favourite is reported to be heavy in the districts of St. Hilaire and St. Jos. du Lac.

Strawberries.
Plantations in most districts came through the winter in excellent condition and prospects are for a heavy crop. Last year's revised figures, as reported by the Quebec Department of Agriculture, show 1,000 acres bearing fruit, while this year 12,000 acres are reported for the province. Figuring on the average yield of 2,000 quarts per acre for the entire province, 1927 crop should reach 24,000,000 quarts. Quebec strawberries are expected to reach the market about the 10th of July, which is about one week later than the Ontario crop.

Raspberries.
Although some districts report some slight winter injury to raspberry canes, most districts report the canes coming through free from damage. However, where the canes have been affected, injury is confined to the tops, which will naturally reduce the yield.

Rich people miss one thing; they never know the joy paying the last instalment on something.

EXPANSION OF BEAUHARNOIS ELECTRIC CO. LTD.

Company Recently Purchased Electrical System in Ormstown. HEAD OFFICE HERE. 25,000 Volt Line to be Built.

In August of last year the Shawinigan Water & Power Company obtained control of the Beauharnois Electric Company and so became interested in the distribution of electric light and power in this southwestern section of the Province. Although the Shawinigan Company was serving at the time over two hundred municipalities throughout the Province of Quebec, last summer marked its first entrance into this district.

The Beauharnois Electric Company had been in business for many years with headquarters at Beauharnois, and was serving the towns and villages of Beauharnois, Melocheville, Maple Grove, Bellevue, Woodlands, Chateaugay and Chateaugay Heights. After making a study of the territory and the conditions it was decided to retain the name of the Company as the Beauharnois Electric Company Limited and extend its scope and service throughout the Counties of Beauharnois, Huntingdon and Chateaugay.

During the fall of 1926 the Company took over the distribution system in the village of St. Timothee from the Canadian Light & Power Co. and also built a new 25,000 volt line from St. Timothee to St. Louis de Gonzague. A new line operating at the same voltage was also built from Beauharnois to St. Philomee, St. Isidore and St. Isidore Junction which gave electric service to these three villages for the first time. Thus four new villages were added to the Company's lines in as many months.

Early in December negotiations with Mr. Jas. Gordon Dunn were completed and the Company took over Mr. Dunn's system with the exception of his power plant at Ste. Martine and his distribution systems in Ste. Martine and St. Urbain. This transaction added the towns of Huntingdon and Howick and the villages of St. Etienne, Howick, Beaudette and Powerscourt to the Beauharnois Electric Company and the end of the year the Beauharnois had added eleven municipalities to those originally served increasing its sphere of activity almost three-fold.

Upon taking over Mr. Dunn's system in Huntingdon the Company found itself in competition with the Eastern Canada Power Company, which Company, bringing in its power from Malone, had been in existence about sixteen months and had in that time built a first class power line and distribution system in Huntingdon and surrounding territory. The two Companies were on the best of terms but it was apparent to both that the territory could be much more economically served by a single company. Early in January 1927 the Eastern Canada Power Company decided to sell to the Beauharnois Electric Company and the transaction was completed by the middle of the month, the two systems being connected together and merged into one.

The Company then found itself in possession of a system extending from Chateaugay to Trout River on the International Border. The system was reorganized and divided into two districts with headquarters at Huntingdon and a district office at Beauharnois. During the winter plans were made for linking up the municipalities served with the source of power at St. Timothee. The first step in this direction is now nearing completion with the 25,000 volt line from St. Louis de Gonzague to Howick about ready to be energized. A short line was built to the village of St. Stanislas de Kostka in the Spring giving service to this village and forming also the route for the first time. Plans have also been completed and work will commence in July on the 25,000 volt line from St. Louis de Gonzague to Huntingdon which when completed will assure Huntingdon of reliable service with plenty of capacity to take care of the future growth of the town.

On the 10th of June, 1927, the Company purchased the electrical system owned by Mr. James B. Walsh in the Village of Ormstown and before the end of the summer this town will be connected to the main system by a 25,000 volt line to be built along the Highway from Allan's Corner to Ormstown serving Brysonville and farms located along the route.

The Shawinigan Water & Power Company in entering this territory and supplying electric service through the Beauharnois Electric Company has followed its policy of extending its lines and sphere of activity so that the district shall be given a reliable electric service at reasonable rates. Its policy is to work with the Municipalities and its customers for their mutual welfare and to maintain the record of the past twenty-five years during which it has been doing business in the Province. Extensions and maintenance of service in this district is its aim. As a public utility the Company realizes the part it takes in the daily life and growth of the district.

A Fine Show.

All those who were associated with the Ormstown Show last week deserve credit for the success of the event. The weather on Wednesday left much to be desired, but that was more than offset by the splendid crowds on Thursday and Friday. The display of stock was unusually large, many in fact coming from distant parts, thus giving the Show a greater national prestige.

During the years that Dr. McEachran was the guiding spirit of the fair he strongly opposed any policy which would tend to divert attention from the live stock display. He wished to model the Show after the English pattern and undoubtedly his strong stand has done much to raise it in the estimation of the true builders of the live stock industry in America. But the crowds must be entertained, and the majority find but a casual interest in watching cattle judged, for no beast, save the horse, presents a spectacular appearance in the ring, and the driving horse classes are naturally much smaller now than they were years ago. Consequently, the directors have had to broaden out their policy, and this year they reaped the profits of the expenditures made in past years, and also paved the way for still greater crowds next year.

Looking at the Show from this angle, the suggestion may quite properly be made that the directors should consider improvements in the present system for handling the automobile traffic, and so arrange exits that there will not be a continual jam in front of the arena. Unfortunately the street leading to the show grounds is narrow, and to relieve the congestion the bulk of the work will have to be done on the grounds. Considerable relief could perhaps be obtained by making a good pathway to the parking spaces and by erecting sufficient flood lights over the area enclosed by the race track so that people would not hesitate walking out to their cars and making their preparations to start there, and not in front of the main doors or around the gates.

Two Provincial Elections.

Voting will take place within the next few days in Manitoba and Prince Edward Island, where in both provinces a keen campaign is being carried on. It is one of the features of the campaigns that the liquor question should be the dominating one. In Manitoba they had had a system of Government Control which has not worked to the satisfaction of either the wets or the dries and an effort is now being made to relax the regulation. In Prince Edward Island the question is prohibition or not.

To those who believe in prohibition, the frequency with which the wet platform is made the main plank of governments going to the country is a cause of alarm, but chiefly because they allow theory to outstrip their knowledge of Canadian human nature. They accuse the political parties of being anxious to get the huge campaign funds made available by brewers and distillers, and the proceedings of the Royal Commission on Smuggling are quoted as proof, but in nine cases out of ten such is not the real reason for the adoption of such a plank. Leaders of provincial governments must keep close to popular demand and make their appeals accordingly. They know that Canadians have a dread of having our laws fall into disrepute, and the failure of the enforcement of the dry laws in each of the Provinces has caused them to lean the other way. It was the constant violation of the laws by saloon keepers that roused the people to declare for prohibition, and finding that the swing to the extreme right did not bring the desired result, they now are prepared to try a compromise. And the moment that the public become convinced that success has not crowned that system they will experiment with another scheme.

Something New in Tariff-making.

The most contentious of all the tariff schedules has been under review at Ottawa during the past week when the woolen men appeared before the Tariff Board asking for a variation in the British preference. As was to be expected there was division among the experts who appeared. The tailors objected to any increase in the duties on the materials which they use, alleging that they cannot procure goods of similar quality and diversity of patterns in Canada. The representatives of the farmers and the Consumers League fought the application on general principle, but the presence of two British experts gave the case another turn. These experts from Yorkshire came with carefully prepared arguments and represented the woolen and textile interests of the North of England. They were given a courteous hearing and were well received by the Canadian men, although the latter naturally resented the presence of others in what they considered to be a purely domestic matter.

Whether other industries will follow suit remains to be seen, but the recent experiment cannot fail to be helpful. The Canadian manufacturers have always claimed that a lower cost of production in other countries makes it necessary for them to have a larger margin of protection, and if manufacturers from other countries voluntarily come before the Board they cannot refuse the right of the Board to inspect their books and see what their profits are. It has this additional advantage, that it has the two groups, which know what they are talking about, place the facts on the public records; instead of members of the House of Commons generalizing about industries—and too often using the traditions of their parties on tariff matters as a basis—the people of the country will have the full case for each side and can thus arrive at a fairer conclusion of the merits.

OBITUARY

THE LATE MRS. J. I. HUGHES.

Four weeks ago the community was shocked to learn that the illness of the late Mrs. Hughes was discovered to be of a very serious nature. All that medical skill, and human love could do was done but without avail and she passed to her reward on the late afternoon of Sunday, June 19th, 1927. Mrs. Hughes, (nee Margaret E. Corhill), was born near Kingston over 48 years ago, the daughter of Samuel Corhill and his wife, Louisa Rea. She was educated at the Sydenham High School and the Ottawa Normal, graduating as a teacher. She followed her profession for some years. In 1904 she married the Rev. J. I. Hughes, M. A., B. D., and proved a most efficient helpmate to her husband in his ministerial work. She was actively engaged in the various fields of labor the principal of which were: Hallowell and Inverness, Que., Metcalf, Ont., Stanstead, Dunham and Huntingdon, Que. On these circuits she endeavored herself to the people by her sympathetic, lovable disposition and unselfish life. She was ever ready to help in advancing the cause of Jesus Christ. During the five years on the Huntingdon circuit she took an active part in all the Women's Organizations and was an earnest worker in the Sunday School and her class of Senior girls deeply mourn her demise. Her interest in the rebuilding of the Church after being destroyed by fire on March 15th, 1926, was wonderful and she followed the work in every detail. Not only in the United Church but in the other churches of the community, the mistress of the parsonage was held in the highest esteem. The whole community mourns with the bereaved husband, and two daughters, Edna Louisa and Margaret Anne. Also her invalid mother (whom she lovingly cared for) and one brother, Mr. Ed. Corhill, Mining Engineer, of Toronto, Ont., with whom the mother now resides. The funeral service was held in the United Church on Tuesday afternoon, June 20th, at 2 o'clock. The Rev. E. E. Mowatt, minister of the United Church, Atholstan and Kensington, conducted the service and was assisted by Rev. C. A. Haughton, of Dundee, and the Rev. J. B. Maclean, D. D., minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Huntingdon. The Rev. J. A. Waddell, of Winchester, Ont., (a warm personal friend of the family) preached a beautiful and helpful sermon from the words—"Teach me thy way, O Lord" which he paid a high tribute to the beautiful life of the late Mrs. Hughes. Relatives and friends present at the funeral were Mr. Ed. Corhill, Toronto, brother of the deceased, Mr. H. Albert Hughes, of Metcalf, Ont., brother-in-law, his wife, son John and daughter Almyra; Mr. Humphrey L. Hughes (cousin) and son, Mrs. J. A. Hughes, Rev. J. A. Waddell and wife, and Mrs. Ira Dockstader, all of Winchester, Ont.; Mr. Willard Baird and Miss Eva Sully, B. A., of Metcalf, Ont., and Mrs. S. E. Snowdon, aunt, of Watertown, N. Y.

The floral tributes were many and beautiful—silent tributes of esteem. The remains were taken to Kingston on Wednesday and laid in the beautiful cemetery at Catarqui, where it was her desire to be laid at rest. Mr. R. S. Pringle, and Mr. J. T. Ewart, representing the officers of the Church, accompanied the Rev. Mr. Hughes with the remains to the burial place.

RESOLUTION OF SYMPATHY TO REV. MR. HUGHES AND FAMILY. At a special meeting of the Quarterly Official Board of the United Church, Huntingdon, Que., held on the evening of June 21st, the following resolutions (re the death of Mrs. Hughes, the esteemed wife of the minister) were passed: "That we extend to the Rev. J. I. Hughes, and the daughters, Edna and Margaret, and the mother, Mrs. Corhill, our deep and heartfelt sympathy in the loss of a loving wife, a devoted mother and a self-sacrificing daughter. May we assure you, Mr. Hughes, that you have, not only the loving sympathy of all in your own congregation, but in other denominations and in the community as well. We pray that you may be richly sustained by Him who has promised to comfort and help in the hour of bereavement."

"That two of the Church Officials represent the congregation and accompany Mr. Hughes to Kingston in connection with the burial of Mrs. Hughes (The two persons appointed were Messrs. R. S. Pringle and J. T. Ewart.) That we tender Mr. Hughes a supply for next Sunday or for subsequent Sundays as required, at his pleasure."

McCord of Kazubazua were the guests of Mrs. Cordick and Mrs. J. C. Moore for a few days last week. Mrs. N. J. Goldie visited the Misses M. and R. Moe of Franklin over the week end. Mr. Chas. Poole of Montreal spent a few days with his mother, Mrs. Wm. Poole last week. Falling a ladder while painting the home of Mr. Wm. Sharp of Franklin Centre, on Tuesday last, Mr. Ernest Keunle received injuries which will lay him off work for some time. The bottom of the ladder rested on the veranda roof and appeared to be secure but slipped through Mr. Rennie to the veranda roof and from there to the ground where he landed on a cement walk. When picked up he was unconscious and remained so for time. Fortunately no bones were broken.

Canada's Great Carillon. Many are the attractions of Ottawa, but even these will be augmented by the installation of the Carillon on the House Tower. Soon, its bells will ring out the news that the finishing touch has been put to a building that vies with any of its type in the world, a building that for sheer beauty holds its own even with the Mother of Parliaments in London. Ottawa is at her best just now. The beauty of early summer has clothed the nearby hills and valleys in a mantle of green. Golf is in full swing and ample opportunity is afforded to explore all of the many interesting sights of the city itself. Convenient Canadian National train service makes travel between Montreal and Ottawa a matter of genuine pleasure. Full details may be obtained from any Canadian National Railways agent.

The commencement exercises of the Huntingdon Convent, which is under the direction of the Sisters of the Congregation of Notre Dame was given Tuesday afternoon in the music hall of the convent.

The convent this year awarded diplomas to four graduates and nine other pupils. All of the graduates attained an excellent scholastic standing and their diplomas were worthily and deservedly won.

The list of graduates follows:—1. Norah Myers, 2. Madeline Malloy, 3. Marjorie Otis, 4. Alberta Marleau, the first three with first honors and the last with honors.

The Perreault Stenographic Institute awarded diplomas to the following:—Mary L. Plante, L. Dumouchel, Anette Masse, E. Masse, G. Cusson and M. Lasalle.

The Sisters of the Convent may indeed be congratulated upon the admirable commencement program presented Tuesday under the special direction of Rev. Mother St. Francis, and also upon the high character and standing of the graduates upon whom the diplomas were conferred.

The sketch on Education is indeed a worthy one and we reprint it here below as accurately as we were able to obtain it. This sketch was ably delivered by Miss Madeline Malloy, one of the graduates.

The Higher Education of Women. It must not be inferred because I will not discuss the spiritual aspects of education that I do not place any emphasis on the spiritual element in education. I will not discuss this phase of education because it has been handled by others who can discuss it many more times better than I.

A convent graduate may become an educated person, but she is not educated on the day she graduates. Education means a development not ordinarily possessed by one just leaving convent walls. A convent education means ordinarily many years devotion to the things of the intellect, and the opening up to the mind of the student the realms of philosophy, science, and religion. If she has an intellectual interest in things, her devotion to some one or several of these fields becomes sustained, and she becomes an educated woman.

In the past, education was for the few, and the masses were ignorant. We are now rightly or wrongly putting a greater dependence on education to promote the welfare of the world than on any one other factor. Long after it was assumed that man should be educated, and it was thought that woman could remain in darkness. In the distant past she has been chattel, a slave, a drudge of man. The Church first elevated her to a place of importance and dignity in holding up before the eyes of the world the Mother of Christ as her ideal. Her right to a higher education, so long delayed, is now proclaimed everywhere. In secondary schools of high school grade, public, religious and private there are a great many girls graduating year after year.

There are those who still claim that women have not the capacity for a higher education. I have been a pupil, ever since my childhood. My convictions based upon this experience are that girls and women are very susceptible to learning. It is claimed that man is a breadwinner of the home and on this account, should have a superior education to woman because it will improve his economic efficiency. The wife and mother who presides over her home, trains her children, and makes her home everything it ought to be, is also in her sphere an important factor in society. Often we have experienced that upon the death of the father many a mother is compelled to step into the breach and perform both the functions of father and mother in producing and in maintaining home life for her children. Such a woman is at an advantage if she is educated.

We are too much in the habit of thinking of education as a means to an end in the mundane sphere. Education means the development of the personality, mentally, socially, and spiritually in order that we may live and enjoy the higher things of life.

Women need open minds and the capacity to reason from facts to definite and sound conclusions. There is too much emotionalism and unsound thinking in the world today. This emotionalism, leading to race hatreds and prejudices and religious bigotry comes from the uneducated classes. The more people are educated to see straight and think clearly, the less there will be of this sort of thing in the world. The more people are educated, the more happily will they get along together in the world.

Our Convent education has now reached its climax. We can rejoice with the number of those who have received a moral, physical, intellectual and religious education. Religious training given to us for many short years by our kind and generous past through Christ's beaten path. We now, last but not least, our dear parents who have sacrificed themselves day and night in order to have us walk the path intended for us.

Together we unite our voices in saying in a sweet and solemn tone: "THANK YOU!"

O'NEIL'S CORNERS. The Euchre and Concert at O'Neil's School on Monday night was an entire success. The school was packed to its utmost capacity and everyone seemed to enjoy both cards and entertainment. The prizes for the best card players were awarded to Mrs. Thos. O'Connor and Mr. Ovide Duheme. The old time custom was revived by having Mr. and Mrs. John Murphy playing some of our old time selections on the violin and organ. Then old favorite songs were sung by Mr. Mike Curran and Mr. Ed. Cosgrove, which won the applause of the school. But most of all we must congratulate the teacher Miss Cosgrove, and her pupils—the teacher for her ability in training the pupils, to such a degree as to deserve the appreciation of all—and the pupils for their good-will in acting out their dialogues so well. A good amount was realized to be used for the benefit of the school.

HUNTINGDON. Mrs. M. Garner, daughter Margaret and Miss Violet E. Merrill of Lachine, Mr. W. A. Malby and son Thomas of Verdun are spending a vacation the guests of Mrs. Amy Daniel.

The concert held in O'Connor Hall last evening under the auspices of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Sunday School turned out to be one of the best entertainments staged in Huntingdon for a long time. The concert was given in Valleyfield on the King's Birthday by the same artists, all of whom came from Montreal, and as the concert was reported fully on the date we shall not repeat it in this column. The vegetable feature of the evening was that the hall was not crowded, for as it was, the expenses will eat up practically all the receipts. It is to be hoped that the Sunday School will feel rewarded by the bringing to Huntingdon such fine talent and that they will again arrange for another such concert when the receipts should be more satisfactory.

Miss Bell Marshall of Montreal, is visiting at the home of Miss Sellar for a few days.

DUNDEE. Miss E. Vass, Miss F. Fleming and Mrs. Jessie Vass motored to Montreal the latter part of last week. Miss Vass and Miss Fleming returned on Saturday. Mrs. Vass will remain a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lennon and spend with them a short vacation in the mountains.

Misses Bessie and Janet Chapman of Fort Covington visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Fraser on Tuesday. Miss May McFarlane who is attending O'Sullivan Business College in Montreal spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McFarlane.

The remains of Mr. Allan J. McDonald of Brownston, N.Y., were brought to Zion Church Cemetery on Saturday for interment there. He is the widow, formerly Miss Sarah Fraser of Dundee accompanied relatives present at the burial were his grandson, Mr. Allan McDonald, his brothers, Messrs. Jas. Angus and Alexander, his sisters, Mrs. Colby and Mrs. Kirk and son all of Manchester, N.H., Mr. Allan Fraser, and Mr. and Mrs. Lovejoy of Lowell, Mass., also Mr. David Vass of Howick. Mrs. McDonald and all others who mourn the loss of the deceased have the sympathy of their many friends in Dundee, the former home of many of them. Mrs. McDonald returned to her home on Tuesday after remaining for a few days at the home of her brother, Mr. Wm. J. Fraser, and her mother, Mrs. Janet Fraser of Fort Covington accompanied her home, having also been present with her during the recent illness and death of Mr. McDonald.

The June meeting of the Women's Auxiliary was entertained at the home of Mrs. Fleming, Sr., and was largely attended. The Vice Pres., Mrs. Wm. McNeil presided at the meeting. Very interesting reports were given by Mrs. Stewart McNeil and Mrs. Clara Ferguson on the part of the Convention which they attended in Montreal. Other items of business and the devotional exercises brought the ladies to their work hour during which they employed their time sewing and knitting. A very appetizing luncheon was served at the close.

Save odds and ends of floss and yarn and when an old silk dress wears out you can easily make an attractive pillow top at no expense whatever. Gold beads make beautiful centers for bright colored flowers on black.

COVEY HILL. On Wednesday last Miss Dowling, Miss F. Steele, Miss Marguerite Waddell and Master Edwin Waddell motored to St. Lambert. Mrs. Crooks of Montreal is spending the summer with her sister, Mrs. F. Brown.

Mr. Fred Wilson and son James of Chicago and Mr. Wm. Wilson of Duluth, Minn. were callers on Monday at the home of Mr. S. M. Simpson.

Miss Jean Edwards and niece, Miss Frances Edwards of Boston are visiting Mr. Tay Edwards.

Messrs. G. S. Walley and W. J. Brown of the Entomological Branch, Ottawa, are spending a few weeks at the home of Mr. G. B. Edwards, and are carrying on research work in relation to insect pests.

Mr. and Mrs. Magnan and daughter of Laprairie were recent visitors at Mr. Bourdon's. Mrs. Stanley Waddell motored into town with friends on Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Loudon entertained a few friends on Saturday evening.

Quite an exciting seizure of an unreported booze car took place near the Corners on Saturday afternoon. The driver failed to stop when ordered to do so, whereupon the preventive officers fired in to his oil-tank. He then took to his heels leaving his load in the hands of the officials.

Messrs. Thos. and Edw. Loudon and Mrs. H. Loudon were recent guests at Airy Knoll. The service in the Union Church next Sunday is to be in charge of Mr. Wm. Macateer, student preacher at Dundee.

Miss Isabel Dowling, Mrs. E. E. Perry and Mr. Thos. Waddell motored on Thursday to Almonte, Ont. to attend a Convention there. They were accompanied as far as Ottawa by Mrs. Steele.

The relatives from Havelock who attended the McNeice-Waddell wedding in Montreal on Saturday were Mr. C. Waddell and daughter, Mr. John Waddell, Jr., Miss Mabel Waddell, Mr. Wm. Miller, Mr. Wm. Cowan, and Mr. Indell Waddell. Mr. and Mrs. McNeice made a week end visit at the home of the bride's parents who were unable to be present at the marriage on account of the uncertain state of Mr. Waddell's health.

VALUABLE FACTS. I almost invariably make cake frosting after the "seven minute" rule, using the double boiler for the cooking. Then I utilize any leftover bit of frosting by next cooking chocolate, to be served at dinner, in the double boiler, the egg and flavoring of the frosting (and additional pep to the beverage. It is a pleasing variation to add a little favoring when preparing chocolate or cocoa at any time. And be sure to drop a marshmallow in the cup first and then add the hot drink.

Because loaf cakes would burn in my pans, I have learned that tea paper folded to four thicknesses and just the size of the bottom of the pans, prevents not only burning on the bottom but the forming of a heavy crust as well. Grease the upper layer of paper well, also the sides of the pan; the cake is easily removed from the pan and the paper can be peeled off in a twinkling.

CONFERS ON LENROOT BILL INSPECTION

To discuss ways and means to meet the regulations required by the Lenroot Bill, on milk and cream exported from Canada to the United States, Dr. J. H. Grisdale, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, met a number of interested representative men in his office at Ottawa on June 14th. There were present Dr. George Hilton, Veterinary Director General, Dr. J. A. Riddick, Dairy Commissioner, Mr. E. S. Archibald, Director of Experimental Farms, Mr. Geo. B. Rothwell, Dominion Animal Husbandman, Dr. J. A. Grenier, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, and Mr. S. E. Chagnon, Department of Agriculture. Also present were H. Barr, Dairy Commissioner, Toronto, Harry C. Taylor of New York, Alp. Trudel, Quebec Dairies of Montreal, R. Smith, Exporter and J. W. Duval, Newington, Ont., F. E. M. Robinson of Richmond, Que. and Mr. W. F. Stephen, Secretary of the National Dairy Council of Canada. It was agreed that the Canadian authorities would be required to make the necessary inspection of pasteurization plants, of which there were several hundred, dairies, stables and herds. Representatives of Ontario and Quebec thought the Federal Department could use their creamery inspectors for this work at little extra cost. As regards inspection of dairy cows several of the States regulation is now in effect require that this be done by accredited veterinarians and the same would apply in this case. It was thought there should be a small charge to be paid by the dairymen. In regard to this inspection of dairies and stables, this could be done by well qualified dairymen, or by the inspectors of large plants accustomed to such work. The Federal Department would be responsible to the Federal Department of Agriculture. It was the opinion of those present that the cost of this inspection should be paid by the owners of the plants. Application must be made by the dairymen for such inspection and for forms to be provided for that purpose. It is estimated that there are 15,000 to 17,000 farmers in Quebec and Ontario, besides several thousands in Western Canada, that now produce milk and cream for the United States market. It is expected that the regulations on this Bill will be issued shortly which will enable this inspection to be made before late fall months. The early issuing of these regulations will allow Canadian dairymen to fix over stables, erect milking machines to meet the regulations. The regulations will require all cattle to be healthy, and stables and dairies to score fifty points. Many dairies in Canada can now meet the requirements of the regulations, but there may be some that cannot do so and they will have to be renovated and clean up before the winter months. The regulations, it is expected, will not be more severe than those now imposed by our Canadian cities. Sent by the National Dairy Council of Canada, Journal Bldg., Ottawa

The dairy cow is mature in regard to milk production. Between this point and the age of 10 to 12 years, age exerts no particular effect upon the amount of milk to be expected. Another factor having an important relation to the value of the cow in the herd is the relation of age to breeding. After the age of 10 years difficulties of this kind increase rapidly. The market price of the grade dairy cow is usually the highest when she is three or four old. At this time her first milking period, or possibly the first two, are complete and it is possible to judge as well as at any time in her lifetime as to her dairy qualities. She still has the best part of her productive life ahead. After the age of eight years is reached, her market value begins to decline even though she may be at her best in milk production. A 30% decrease in value is clearly justified since her period of future usefulness is short on account of the decline in milk production that will come within three or four years, and the knowledge that fully one-third of all high-class dairy cows fail to breed when past ten years of age. On the average, in the grade herds of the country, a cow is milking between five and six years, although in every herd of any size a few will be found that have been in use for ten years. This rapid replacement is due in part to a considerable number being eliminated as unprofitable producers; others have udder troubles, and some develop difficulties in breeding. In order to have a base for decision as to when a cow is no longer profitable, records of milk production and of breeding should be kept. The inferior producers will be sold regardless of age. The high-producing cows, however, if they continue to breed, should be kept until at least between ten and twelve years of age.—(Eekles.)

THE BLUE LAGOON.

Staspoole's "Blue Lagoon" had all the tropical lure and romance of the South Sea Islands. Its charm, however, is rivalled in our own Province of Nova Scotia—at Pictou—where a beautiful freshwater lagoon laughs gaily at the sea, separated from it only by a narrow bar of sand. And there stands Pictou Lodge of rustic and modern design, calling to vacation seekers to enjoy the most relaxing and satisfying holiday of all their experience. Freshwater and salt water bathing at will; boating, deep sea fishing, rambles in the nearby woods of sweet-scented pine and balsam. Motor drives, games and a joyous, carefree social life in one of the snugest and most companionable colonies imaginable. Full particulars of Pictou Lodge, the vacation spot unusual, may be obtained from any Canadian National Railways Agent.

The dairy cow is mature in regard to milk production. Between this point and the age of 10 to 12 years, age exerts no particular effect upon the amount of milk to be expected. Another factor having an important relation to the value of the cow in the herd is the relation of age to breeding. After the age of 10 years difficulties of this kind increase rapidly. The market price of the grade dairy cow is usually the highest when she is three or four old. At this time her first milking period, or possibly the first two, are complete and it is possible to judge as well as at any time in her lifetime as to her dairy qualities. She still has the best part of her productive life ahead. After the age of eight years is reached, her market value begins to decline even though she may be at her best in milk production. A 30% decrease in value is clearly justified since her period of future usefulness is short on account of the decline in milk production that will come within three or four years, and the knowledge that fully one-third of all high-class dairy cows fail to breed when past ten years of age. On the average, in the grade herds of the country, a cow is milking between five and six years, although in every herd of any size a few will be found that have been in use for ten years. This rapid replacement is due in part to a considerable number being eliminated as unprofitable producers; others have udder troubles, and some develop difficulties in breeding. In order to have a base for decision as to when a cow is no longer profitable, records of milk production and of breeding should be kept. The inferior producers will be sold regardless of age. The high-producing cows, however, if they continue to breed, should be kept until at least between ten and twelve years of age.—(Eekles.)

TRENTON MAN IS VERY GRATEFUL SAYS THAT "FRUIT-A-TIVES" STOPPED NERVOUS HEADACHES

MR. R. A. BOVAY.

Mr. Roy A. Bovay of Trenton, Ontario, thinks very highly of "Fruit-a-tives" for removing the cause of nervous headaches.

"I wish I could tell every sufferer in the world what 'Fruit-a-tives' have done for me," he writes—"For years I was much troubled by bad headaches, nervous dyspepsia and liver troubles. Then I commenced taking 'Fruit-a-tives'. Thanks to these wonderful tablets I am once more entirely well."

Are you, too, afflicted with nervous headaches? Quite probably they are traceable to lazy bowels, stomach, kidneys or liver. What you need is the gentle, natural help of "Fruit-a-tives," which is made from intensified fresh fruit juices blended with tonics. "Fruit-a-tives" is nature's own ally in promoting health and happiness. Enlist its aid for yourself, to-day. 25c and 50c, everywhere.

The value of efficient machinery, Mr. J. D. Stewart, the agent, disposed of this outfit during the show to Mr. Ewart Orr of Aubrey. A Martin ditcher, grader and terracer formed part of this exhibit which attracted much attention, which it justly deserves for it is a great labor saving device and where once the fields were water-covered it changes them to land where choice crops will grow.

The International Harvester Co., represented by Mr. Howden had on display a McCormick-Deering threshing, silo filler and tractor.

There were many lunch tents, souvenir stands and try your luck games, wheels of fortune, nine pins, etc., a merry-go-round, ferris-wheel, and a fortune teller.

The attractions were well up to the standard. Jost and Tildy proved two very interesting characters. The Randow Trio in a series of acrobatic stunts provided good amusement.

The value of milk as a food was demonstrated by means of charts, and the lady in charge, Miss Leblanc, furnished any information desired regarding milk. This exhibit was put on by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister.

This display consisted of an electric refrigerator, toasters, lamps, washing machines, residence water systems, vacuum cleaners, irons, cream separator, heaters, etc., everything arranged in a very attractive manner.

CHAPTER XVI

An Evening at Mah Jong
That night we had a little Mah Jong party. This kind of simple entertainment is very popular in King's Abbot. The guests arrive in goshaws and waterproofs after dinner. They partake of coffee and later of cake, sandwiches, and tea.

On this particular night our guests were Miss Ganett and Colonel Carter, who lives near the church. A good deal of gossip is handed round at these evenings, sometimes seriously interfering with the game in progress. We used to play bridge—chiefly bridge of the worst description. We find Mah Jong much more peaceful. The irritated demand as to why on earth your partner did not lead a certain card is entirely done away with, and though they still express criticisms frankly, there is not the same acrimonious spirit.

Very odd evening, eh, sheppard? said Colonel Carter, standing with his back to the fire. Caroline had taken Miss Ganett to her own room, and was there assisting her to disentangle herself from her many wraps. "Reminds me of the eighth passage," I said politely.

"Very mysterious business this about poor Ackroyd," continued the colonel, accepting a cup of coffee. "A deuce of a lot behind it—that's what I say. Between you and me, sheppard, I've heard the word 'mischance' mentioned."

The colonel gave me the look which might be tabulated 'one man of the world to another.' "A woman in it, no doubt," he said. "Depend upon it, a woman in it."

Caroline and Miss Ganett joined us at this minute. Miss Ganett drank coffee while Caroline got out the Mah Jong box and poured out tins upon the table.

"Washing the tiles," said the colonel facetiously. "That's right—washing the tiles, as we used to say in the Shanghai Club."

It is the private opinion of both Caroline and myself that Colonel Carter has never been in the Shanghai Club in his life. More, that he has never been farther east than India, where he juggled with tins of bully beef and plum and apple jam during the Great War. But the colonel is determinedly military, and in King's Abbot he permits people to indulge their idiosyncrasies freely.

"Shall we begin?" said Caroline. We sat around the table. For some five minutes there was complete silence, owing to the fact that there is tremendous secret competition amongst us as to who can build their wall quickest.

"Go on, James," said Caroline at last. "You're East Wind." I discarded a tile. A round or two proceeded, broken by the monotonous remarks of "Three Bamboos," "Two Circles," "Pung," and frequently from Miss Ganett. "Unpung" owing to that lady's habit of too hastily claiming tiles to which she had no right.

"I saw Flora Ackroyd this morning," said Miss Ganett. "Pung—no—Unpung. I made a mistake." "Four Circles," said Caroline. "Where did you see her?" "She didn't see me," said Miss Ganett, with that tremendous significance only to be met with in small villages.

"Ah!" said Caroline interestedly. "Chow." "I believe," said Miss Ganett, temporarily diverted, "that it's the right thing nowadays to say 'Chee' not 'Chow'."

saw the deceased alive? And the person who died is regarded with suspicion. Now, Flora Ackroyd last saw her uncle alive. It might have looked very nasty for her—very nasty indeed, it's my opinion—and I give it for what it's worth, that Flora's raton is staying away on her account, to draw suspicion away from her."

"Come now," I protested mildly, "you surely can't suggest that a young girl like Flora Ackroyd is capable of stabbing her uncle in cold blood?"

"Well, I don't know," said Miss Ganett. "I've just been reading a book from the library about the underworld of Paris, and it says that some of the worst women criminals are young girls with the faces of angels."

"That's in France," said Caroline instantly. "Just so," said the colonel. "Now, I'll tell you a very curious thing—a story that was going round the bazaars in India. . . ."

The colonel's story was one of interminable length, and of curiously little interest. A thing that happened in India many years ago cannot compare for a moment with an event that took place in King's Abbot the day before yesterday.

"East Wind passes," said Caroline. "I've got an idea of my own about Ralph Paton. Three Characters. But I'm keeping it to myself for the present."

"Are you dear?" said Miss Ganett. "Chow—I mean Pung." "Yes," said Caroline firmly. "Was it all right about the boots?" asked Miss Ganett. "Their being black, I mean?"

"Quite all right," said Caroline. "What was the point, do you think?" asked Miss Ganett. Caroline pursed up her lips, and shook her head with an air of knowing all about it.

"Pung," said Miss Ganett. "No—Unpung. I suppose that now the doctor's in with M. Poirot he knows all the secrets?"

"Far from it," I said. "James is so modest," said Caroline. "Ah! a concealed Kong." The colonel gave vent to a whistle. For the moment gossip was forgotten.

"Your own wind too," he said. "Are you not got two Pungs of Dragons? We must be careful, Miss Ganett, out for a big hand." We played for some minutes with no irrelevant conversation.

"This M. Poirot now," said Colonel Carter, "is he really such a great detective?"

uninterested in the servant question, remarked that in the Shanghai Club brisk play was the invariable rule. We had a round a brisk play. "That Miss Russett," said Caroline. "She came here pretending to consult James on Friday morning. It's my opinion she wanted to see where the poisons were kept. Five Characters."

"Chow," said Miss Ganett. "What an extraordinary idea? I wonder if you can be right." "Talking of poisons," said the colonel. "Eh—what? haven't I discarded? Oh! Eight Bamboos."

"Mah Jong!" said Miss Ganett. Caroline was very much annoyed. "Oh! Red Dragon," she said reproachfully, "and I should have had a hand of three doubles." "I've had two Red Dragons all the time," I mentioned.

"So exactly like you, James," said Caroline reproachfully. "You have no conception of the spirit of the game." I myself thought I had played rather cleverly. I should have had to pay Caroline an enormous amount if she had gone Mah Jong. Miss Ganett's Mah Jong was of the poorest variety possible, as Caroline did not fail to point out to her.

East Wind passed, and we started a new hand in silence. "What I was going to tell you just now was this," said Caroline. "Yes!" said Miss Ganett encouragingly. "My idea about Ralph Paton, I mean."

"Yes, dear," said Miss Ganett, still more encouragingly. "Chow." It was Caroline who brought the colonel's story to a close by fortunately going Mah Jong. After the slight unpleasantness always occasioned by my corrections of Caroline's somewhat faulty arithmetic, we started a new hand.

"East Wind passes," said Caroline. "I've got an idea of my own about Ralph Paton. Three Characters. But I'm keeping it to myself for the present."

"Are you dear?" said Miss Ganett. "Chow—I mean Pung." "Yes," said Caroline firmly. "Was it all right about the boots?" asked Miss Ganett. "Their being black, I mean?"

"Quite all right," said Caroline. "What was the point, do you think?" asked Miss Ganett. Caroline pursed up her lips, and shook her head with an air of knowing all about it.

"Pung," said Miss Ganett. "No—Unpung. I suppose that now the doctor's in with M. Poirot he knows all the secrets?"

"Far from it," I said. "James is so modest," said Caroline. "Ah! a concealed Kong." The colonel gave vent to a whistle. For the moment gossip was forgotten.

"Your own wind too," he said. "Are you not got two Pungs of Dragons? We must be careful, Miss Ganett, out for a big hand." We played for some minutes with no irrelevant conversation.

ence, but I was out for a walk this afternoon on the Cranchester road, and he passed me in a car coming from that direction. We all looked at each other. "Why, dear me," said Miss Ganett suddenly, "I'm Mah Jong all the time, and I never noticed it." Caroline's attention was distracted from her own inventive exercises. She pointed out to Miss Ganett that a hand consisting of mixed suits and too many Chows was hardly worth going Mah Jong on. Miss Ganett listened imperturbably and collected her counters.

"Yes, dear, I know what you mean," she said. "But it rather depends on what kind of a hand you have to start with, doesn't it?" "You'll never get the big hands if you don't go for them," urged Caroline.

"Well, we must all play our own way, mustn't we?" said Miss Ganett. She looked down at her counters. "After all, I'm up, so far." Caroline, who was considerably down, said nothing.

East Wind passed, and we set to once more. Annie brought in the tea things. Caroline and Miss Ganett were both slightly ruffled as is often the case during one of these festive evenings.

"If you would only play a leetle quicker, dear," said Caroline, as Miss Ganett hesitated over her discard. "The Chinese put down the tiles so quickly it sounds like little birds pattering."

For some minutes we played like the Chinese. "You haven't contributed much to the sum of information, sheppard," said Colonel Carter genially. "You're a sly dog. Hand in glove with the great detective, and not a hint as to the way things are going."

"James is an extraordinary creature," said Caroline. "He can not bring himself to part with information."

She looked at me with some disfavor. "I assure you," I said, "that I don't know anything. Poirot keeps his own counsel." "Wise man," said the colonel with a chuckle. "He doesn't give himself away. But they're wonderful fellows, these foreign detectives. Up to all sorts of dodges, I believe."

With suppressed triumph I laid my hand face upwards on the table. "As they say in the Shanghai Club," I remarked, "Tinh—the Perfect Winning!"

The colonel's eye nearly bulged out of his head. "Upon my soul," he said, "What an extraordinary thing, I never saw that happen before!"

It was then that I went on, goaded by Caroline's gibes, and rendered reckless by my triumph. "And as to anything interesting," I said, "What about a gold wedding ring with a date and 'From R.' inside?"

Who wouldn't be a small-town merchant?

Buying only small stocks enables the small-town merchant to try out the novelities and new styles people are looking for—on which the margin of profit is greater than on staple lines. Hand-to-mouth buying keeps down the capital investment, and additional quantities or odd sizes can always be ordered by Long Distance.

Thanks to this method of conducting business retailers have never been able to show as many up-to-date styles as now.

By using Long Distance a wake small-town merchant with his low overhead expense can make his store the buying headquarters for a large surrounding territory.
