Barrie Memorial Hospital Reports Fine Progress

Members of the Huntingdon Calf Club Hear A Number Of Instructive Addresses

Gilbert McMillan, W. L. Carr, Adam L. Sellar, J. L. Pelletier, William Graham Are Amongst the Speakers Heard—Some Seventy-five Attend Banquet Held at Masonic Temple

One of the finest young people's gatherings ever held in Huntingdon took place on Friday evening when the members of the local Calf Club and friends were entertained to a banquet and social evening in the Masonic Temple banquet room. The ladies of the local Women's Institute and the mothers of the Calf Club members saw to it that more than an abundance of food was provided. Some 75 boys and girls and a few adults enjoyed the banquet. The tables were appropriately decorated in Easter colors with suitable favors. It was intended to hold this assembly of young people at Easter time but the big snow storm prevented its taking place. The ladies of the W.I. were ably assisted by a number of high school girls, who in due time doubly enjoyed the dancing part of the entertainment.

David White, the Club president, acted as toastmaster in a most acceptable manner. David is one of the many bright boys of the Calf Club and is certainly accepting the good counsel he is receiving from many farmers, not the least of whom are Messrs. Douglas Ness, Gilbert McMillan and Agronomist J. L. Pelletier. David was the highest prize winner at Huntingdon Fair amongst Calf Club members. David's opening remarks were kept brief, to the point, yet nothing left unsaid or undone that ought to be taken care of. During the banquet some community singing took place and might have been more generously entered into had the songs been keyed a bit lower. However, Mrs. Louis Cappello and Mrs. Robert Anderson, with Mrs. Gordon McLean as accompanist, saw to it that the songs were sung, and that the girls could outsing the boys when it came to taking the higher notes.

Mr. Gilbert McMillan spoke in the absence of Mr. J. P. Fleury, who was detained in Montreal due to sickness. Mr. McMillan stated that in Canada we have some 30,000 young people who are club members of agricultural societies. It is estimated that 30,000 youthful agriculturists will grow up and do more for the welfare of Canada than any other group of people in Canada today. The feeding of our armies and the people in general will mean more and be of greater importance as time goes on. We are here on earth as custodians of the lands we operate and we are expected to leave these lands in a better state of cultivation than when we started working them.

In this calf club work you are taught how to perform the daily care of your animals. The better you care for the animal and market it, the more satisfactory will be the financial return.

Learn and Practice Co-operation

Exhibiting cattle provides you with a training that makes you a true sportsman. If you lose a class, lose it in a sporting manner and never try to win through making short cuts. Learn and practice co-operation with others. The greatest example of what co-operation can achieve is found in the various exhibits at the Ormstown Exhibition, one of the most outstanding livestock shows in all Canada. This achievement was brought about through the cooperative efforts of the people of the community who worked as true neighbors.

Mr. W. L. Carr, "The Boss of Brackenglade," gave a short address which was little short of a masterpiece for such a gathering of young people. "The Art of Values" calls for the learning of how to judge, not only cattle, but horses and pigs and any other line of livestock that may be found on your farm. Swearing and cursing is of particular importance and especially at this particular moment when war is on and soldiers must be fed as well as civilians.

Wealth is valued in flocks and herds, and such values are of greater importance than gold. Gold is merely taken out of the ground and stored in vaults. A cow is valuable or otherwise. Therefore, it is up to you to be able to evaluate livestock and if you can do that you can succeed in agriculture. If a farmer sees two cows, one worth $150 and another worth $500, he will know which cow is the best but will be able to say how much better the better cow is over the other. Will he appraise the good cow as worth $200 or perhaps $250? And if he were to sell that cow at less than its true worth, then he is the loser. You must be able to appreciate and judge the various parts of a cow to know her real value.

Many people are unhappy because they do not know how to value the many good things they have at their command, but look to far-away fields, believing they are more fertile. The ability of being able to value and then adjust yourself to the good things at your command is what is all important in life.

Mr. William Graham, president of Huntingdon Agricultural Society, Div. A, brought the greetings of the Society to the Calf Club members, and wished them all success in their Club work.

Agronomist J. L. Pelletier distributed the prize money, amounting to $97.75, for the classes won by club members at the fall showing of their calves, etc. Before making the presentation of awards he informed the Club members that the Holstein Club would be holding two barn demonstrations, one at J. J. Murphy's and one at Mr. Roy's at Ormstown. He urged the boys to attend these meetings. Besides judging cattle at Mr. Roy's, he has promised to give some practical hints on the judging of horses. Mr. Roy has long been noted as a breeder of good horses. He has many fine horses in his stable today and I am sure the lessons he will give you on horse judging will be of marked importance to you in years to come.

As our regular Club meetings you have attended with marked regularity, but still better attendances are possible and I hope such will be your resolve for 1940. In May the Calf Club will hold a meeting when members will be registered for 1940.

Co-operation in Government
Adam L. Sellar, of The Gleaner, followed up the remarks of Messrs. McMillan and Carr by stating that co-operation and evaluation might be carried beyond the agricultural field to that of government administration in Canada. How much better would our country be governed if we had compulsory voting in place of electing members to parliament by people being induced to vote, perhaps through the use of dollars or favors being extended by members or governments. If the voters were made to vote in Canada he believed it would be a more general endorsement of the member elected to our halls of government. Members could then act in a fearless manner, knowing that they had not the best interests of Canada to serve and not merely to cater to the whims of voters. When Canada has such members elected the speaker felt that the country would be a dollar, and that the treasury would be sufficiently well lined that the present eight per cent sales tax, "a nuisance tax," might well be eliminated, thereby allowing almost one-twelfth of the present sales tax to be put to better use than when placed in the hands of government. It is impossible to hope for tax reduction now, but we might well prepare ourselves to make changes so that savings can eventually be effected, and this is one avenue where savings can be anticipated to accrue from. Compulsory voting will tend to lead Canadians to be a more honest people. A commendation were also accorded the two winter seasons friends who made the first Calf Club social evening such a marked success. Throughout the evening games and dancing were enjoyed by all present.

VALUABLE PAPERS LOST AS PARSONAGE BURNS AT LACOLLE

Lacolle was the scene of its largest fire since the burning of the Roman Catholic church 10 years ago, when Sunday morning the residence occupied by the Rev. Ernest E. Dawson, pastor of St. Saviour's Anglican church was completely destroyed by fire with two other small buildings. The church bell was rung to call out citizens and although efforts were made to check the flames with chemicals and water the fire had gained headway that the occupants were fortunate in escaping with their lives.

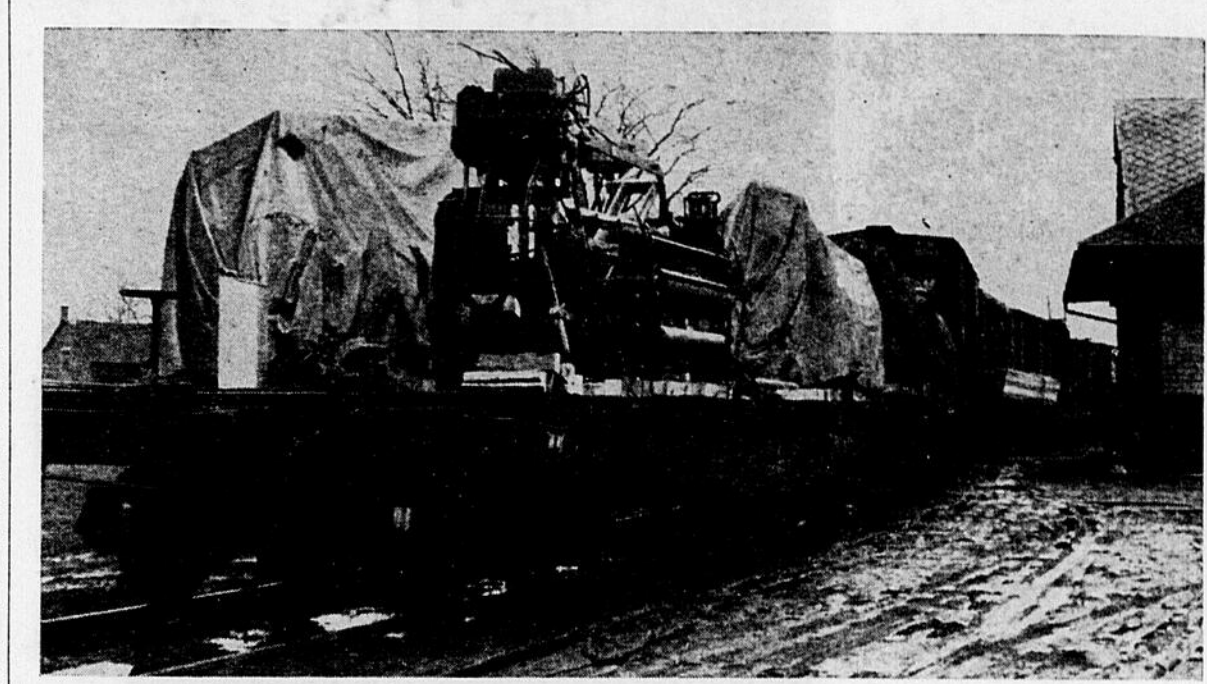

Members English River Rifle Club Are Vastly Improved

Various Members Have Improved Their Shooting Considerably During Past Two Years—Club Gives Promise of Being Heard From Often

The art of shooting at a given mark at a given distance with as near perfect precision as may be goes back in what is now British history to the days of Crescy and Agincourt, so that there is no marvel that the above club exists in Riverfield. Started on the Angell farm as a group registered with Dominion Marksmen two years ago last November, the club last year had a membership of 27, and since its inception has seen some 58 members qualify for awards by Dominion Marksmen. Five members hold the Expert Shield of that institution, and at least another is on the point of doing so. The club has also held one higher honors, and all of them sugar their tea with silver spoons. Profitable, or unprofitable sport, depending on how one looks at it, has been provided in shooting for chickens, ducks and turkeys, and the season is now approaching when anyone so minded can relax and shoot at the mark for what it is worth.

In all clubs there are those who find their ideal and are keen to attain the limit of perfection if possible. This club is no exception and it may be of interest to know what progress is being made. Apart from winning the Provincial Championship Shield and falling to secure the Dominion Championship Shield the Dominion Marksmen, team of members of this club have entered into winter competition of the D.C.R.A., the C.S.B.A. and D.M., and

Machinery for New Mills Arrives

Seven heavily-loaded cars of machinery arrived in Huntingdon on Monday morning for two of the town's newest mills, Fawcett & Grant Ltd. and the Empire Spinning Mill. Employees have been kept busy rushing the machinery to their new homes on Chateauguay Street and Lorne Avenue respectively. The machinery is of the latest type and is expected to add considerably to the industrial output.

Town Council Warns the Bicyclists

Owners of Bicycles Not Carrying Lights at Night Will Be Fined or Vehicles Temporarily Confiscated

There are too many bicycles about the streets of Huntingdon without lights, complained Ald. Lunan at the adjourned meeting of the Town Council on Monday evening. Several years ago the Town Council passed a by-law forcing bicycle owners to have lights on their vehicles for use in the evening, but this seems to have been forgotten, stated Ald. Lunan. The members of the Council should again warn these lads, as well as the parents, of the imminent danger of travelling at night without lights on bicycles. If this does not remedy the situation then a fine will be imposed or the bicycle taken away from its owner, concluded Ald. Lunan.

This action on the part of the Council was brought about following a near accident which might have occurred at the corners of Boucicault and Prince Street Monday evening. A car narrowly missed striking a lad travelling on a bicycle without lights and then came close to smashing into a tree.

Oliver Bonnevillie asked the Council if the hydrants in the Town of Huntingdon were ever cleaned, and especially the one near his residence on Cemetery Street. The Council informed Mr. Bonnevillie that all hydrants in the town were flushed once in the spring of the year and regularly throughout the summer months.

Building permits were granted to Mrs. Margaret Davis, Robert LeFevre, Henry Smith and Leo Cappello. A letter was read from the Provincial Minister of Commerce and Municipal Affairs acknowledging the Town of Huntingdon's resolution Standard Time during the summer months.

Mrs. S. Davis and Mrs. Claude St-Onge complained of the poor drainage in front of their residence on

ROADS ARE CLOSED TO HEAVY TRAFFIC FOR SEVERAL DAYS

Most of the roads in the Chateauguay Valley have been closed to heavy traffic since last Thursday. Watchmen have been placed at all intersections of roads in the County of Huntingdon so that trucks and buses will abide by the rules. This action is taken in the spring of each year when the roads start thawing. To prevent and protect our highways the Provincial government adopted this measure of safety. The Provincial Transport is a present using a much smaller autobus than usual for the transportation of their passengers to and from Montreal. The exact date on which the roads will be re-opened to heavy traffic is not yet determined but it was stated in Huntingdon over the week-end that they would be closed for at least two weeks.

Y.M.C.A. Make Appeal For War Funds

Committee to be Appointed to Make Financial Drive in Huntingdon—A. A. Lunan Chairman

Today a national appeal is launched on the part of the Canadian Y.M.C.A. for funds to meet actual needs for service to Canada's fighting forces overseas and to her defence forces in Canadian camps and barracks. To support the public is asked to subscribe to $1,038,000 which will be devoted to implement services already rendered to our soldiers, sailors and airmen, to pay off a sum of $200,000 borrowed from the banks to inaugurate the services and finance further operations at home and abroad for the ensuing year.

Every citizen will realize the great worth of this organization in doing and giving it all possible financial support. Those who listened to the overseas broadcast on Monday evening will remember having heard numerous Canadian soldiers in England paying testimony to the fine work being done over there to ensure the comfort of the Canadian soldiers.

On Monday two organizers of the Y.M.C.A. from Montreal visited Huntingdon and made plans for a financial drive to be made in this and other centres as well as Huntingdon. An objective of $1,000 has been set for Huntingdon and immediate district to be obtained in a ten-day drive. Mr. A. A. Lunan of Huntingdon has been appointed chairman of the Y.M.C.A. drive for Huntingdon and immediate territory.

In about a week's time canvassers will be appointed who will make the rounds and it is to be hoped that the citizens will show the same fine support of the efforts of the Y.M.C.A. as they have done for the Salvation Army and the Canadian Legion.

C.N.R. Aubrey Line Faces Difficulties

Railway Officials Seeking To Discontinue Service—Show Small Revenue

Operating a passenger service on the Canadian National Railway system, from Coteau Junction to Aubrey, and return, a distance of 51.6 miles is served by bus service, the Board of Transport Commissioners was told Saturday when it met in Montreal to consider the application of the C.N.R. to abandon that service. The end of steel on this line is at Noyon, but there is no passenger service beyond Aubrey. The line is used mostly for freight, inbound, from Chicago to eastern Atlantic United States points.

The present service serves the municipalities of Coteau Junction, Soulanges, Valleyfield, Cecile, St. Louis, Ayrnes, and Aubrey, and there is one train a day, except Sunday, each way. The receipts including express and milk, run a little over five cents per train mile, and the operating cost 66 cents a mile.

It was pointed out by the company, represented by L. Cote, that the territory is served by bus service, though it was admitted that some places would be completely isolated in winter time if the train service was withdrawn, except that there would still be the passenger service which the mail carriers carry on as a side-line, as is done in thousands of cases in this province. The company said that there would be railway service to the territory through the Montreal to Fort-Covington service, passengers being able to get to Aubrey, for example, from Howick, and also from Ayrnes, the distance from each place being about five miles, also covered by bus service.

One Passenger a Day
Figures submitted showed that passengers are rare on the line, about one person per day from Aubrey, and passengers getting on at intermediate stations were on a similar scale. The passenger revenue for 17 days last year ran to $18.90. The fare works out at two cents a mile. Express brings a revenue of about 53 cents a day, and mail service represents $1.29 a week. Milk shipments total $1,477 a year, the volume being from 27 to 32 cans a day.

In answer to cross-examination by Maxime Raymond, K.C., M.P., representing the municipalities affected, it was testified that winter does not bring increased business.

A. A. Lunan of Aubrey said that two of the seven milk shippers from his area would have to go out of business if the train service were discontinued, since the companies in Montreal to which they sold their milk refused to take truck-delivered milk and insisted it come by train.

W. L. Best, Ottawa, representing the railway brotherhoods, said there was a "rumored" tendency on the

Acts of Vaudeville Provide Humorous Entertainment for Crowd

The first annual meeting of the Barrie Memorial Hospital, Ormstown, was held in the Ormstown High School on Wednesday, April 10. Quite a large number were present. The different reports showed that the hospital was filling a need in the district and that it was in a healthy condition at the present time.

There are at present 39 life members and 343 ordinary members in the corporation. The following governors were elected: A. A. Lunan, Geo. E. Baird, H. Beaudin, H. H. Chambers, Alfred Greig, A. A. Lunan, P. D. McArthur, W. G. McGerrigle, J. E. Ness, Dr. J. T. Quintin, Mrs. J. Redick, R. J. Roy, Mrs. L. Walsh, R. E. Walsh, H. E. Wilson.

Mr. P. D. McArthur, commenting on the different reports given of the work of the hospital, stated that the institution was in a healthy condition. It might not always be so, he added, but so far we were amply justified in going ahead with the project. The report showed that the ladies of the district were doing a great deal of work for the hospital. He moved that a hearty vote of thanks be extended to Miss Walsh and Dr. Quintin for the splendid reports they had made on the work of the hospital.

Dr. Quintin referred to the special building grant of $5,000 received from the Department of Health, Quebec, but stated the hospital would still require support from the Government in the way of an annual grant.

A motion was passed, moved by Mr. Alfred Greig, seconded by Mr. J. D. Bryson, that the thanks of the members of the Barrie Memorial Hospital be extended to the Department of Health, Quebec, for the building grant of $5,000, to Mr. Romeo Fortin, M.L.A., and Mr. J. W. Ross, M.L.A., for their assistance in obtaining this grant, coupled with the hope that an annual grant of at least $3,000 per annum will be granted to the hospital in order that it may continue to serve the interests of the district.

Board of Governors Meets
A meeting of the Board of Governors was held immediately following the members' meeting when Mr. R. E. Walsh was made chairman of the board; Mr. H. H. Chambers, treasurer; W. G. McGerrigle, secretary; and Dr. J. T. Quintin, Public Relations Committee; Dr. Stalker, Dr. Quintin, Mrs. Janet Redick, Messrs. P. D. McArthur, J. E. Ness; Finance Committee: Messrs. A. A. Lunan, A. A. Lunan, Geo. E. Baird, H. E. Walsh, Indell Waddell.

It was decided to have a tag day at Ormstown fair in aid of the hospital.

The general report of the activities at the Ormstown Barrie Memorial Hospital was presented by Dr. J. T. Quintin and is self explanatory. It reads as follows:

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen:—The report which I am about to submit covers the work of the Barrie Memorial Hospital for the period from the opening in December last to the end of March and such as may not correspond with the period covered by the report previously given by the treasurer, but is given to show you something of the work being done.

The hospital, from its opening day, has been busy. In all, 87 patients have been taken care of during this four-month period. These patients remained in the hospital for varying lengths of time. The average for their co-operation at all times and to express my appreciation, and the appreciation, I am sure, of the committees that the hospital serves, for the work of Miss Stars and her staff.

To the many people in the district who have sent gifts of various kinds to help in operating the hospital, I want to express the thanks of the institution and the hope that all departments were far from inactive and in every department an endeavour was made to give the utmost in service.

I should like to take this opportunity to thank the Board of Management for their co-operation at all times and to express my appreciation, and the appreciation, I am sure, of the committees that the hospital serves, for the work of Miss Stars and her staff.

I should like also to acknowledge the work of Miss Laura Walsh in the organizing of the Ladies' Auxiliary and the work of the Ladies' Auxiliary in every department an endeavour was made to give the utmost in service.

Financially, the hospital has been able to meet its obligations very well.

House Committee Report

The Ladies of the district have contributed more than their share in the success of the hospital during its first four months of operation. The House Committee, which is headed by Miss L. Walsh, formed in February a Women's Auxiliary which will be of great assistance to the hospital. The report of the House Committee for January, February and March, presented by Miss Walsh and reads as follows:

While the hospital was being completed, the ladies of the district were also busy. Several thousand yards of material were cut into aprons, pillow cases, mattress covers, pillow cases, towels, bandages, sterilizing bags and curtains. These were sent to a convener who had been appointed for different centres and distributed to her to ladies who made and returned them washed and ready for use. An appeal which was made for jellies, jams and pickles was liberally responded to.

Form Women's Auxiliary

On February 2nd a meeting was held in the hospital and a Women's Auxiliary formed. Twenty-five members, representing different sections, enrolled. Every second Monday from 2 until 4 p.m., one lady from each section is expected from her district are expected at the hospital, when packs, swabs and bandages are made, and any necessary sewing done.

In this way we hope to keep these supplies ahead of the demands of the hospital.

The House Committee wishes to thank all who in any way are helping to accomplish this important task.

Financial Statement

The financial statement as presented by the auditor, shows that the Barrie Memorial Hospital had a cash balance of $526.40 at the end of March, 1940, four months after it had started its operations.

Delegation Opposed to Rail Service Cut to Malone, N.Y.

New York Central Wishes to Lop Three Trains Off Schedule—$12,000 Monthly Loss—Mayor J. A. Larin, Maxime Raymond, K.C., M.P., Fight For Continuance of Service Here

From October, 1938, to April, 1939, the New York Central lost $12,000 a month on operating its line from Montreal to Malone. The Board of Transport Commissioners was told on Friday at its sitting in Montreal, when hearing an application from that company to materially reduce the service Montreal-Valleyfield-Malone, both ways. There are five trains each way now, and the company wishes to cut three of them, two daily trains and one daily except on Sunday. Hon. J. A. Cross, president.

In his summing up, W. L. Scott, K.C., of Ottawa, who with John T. Hackett, K.C., of Montreal, and W. R. Stevens of New York, represented the railway company, said the New York Central does not own the line but holds it on a 99-year lease from the St. Lawrence and Adirondack Railway Company, which lease could be terminated by his company at three months' notice. Maxime Raymond, K.C., M.P., for Beauharnois-Laprairie represented the various municipalities interested.

At one stage of the proceedings it was pointed out that the territory concerned is served by bus lines, but the answer was that this was only seasonal, and the people required the railway service as now given. Residents at Chateauguay and neighborhood as far as Valleyfield have an investment of $5,500,000 in summer and permanent homes, it was pointed out to Commissioners, and they wished to

Women Get Vote in Quebec

Of life itself and of difficult objectives it has been jestingly said, "the first hundred years are the hardest." In the case of obtaining the vote for women in the Province of Quebec it didn't take quite a hundred years, but all too long a time. It has only been after 86 years of trying that the efforts of the women have been rewarded. For on Thursday in the Quebec Legislative Assembly, after the second reading of a government bill asking the right for women of Quebec to vote and to be eligible as candidates from January 1, 1941, on it was proclaimed by a 67-9 vote that this shall be so. The third reading of the bill is regarded as a mere formality and approval of the Legislative Council is taken for granted.

For the passing of this act Premier Godbout can not help but be regarded as a Premier who kept an election promise. In these columns the Gleaner expressed the thought some time ago that the issue might be shelved. This was not the case. Premier Godbout came through and in doing so he has removed a stigma from the women of this Province who will now be able to vote at Provincial elections even as their sisters in the other provinces of Canada. The Gleaner has all down through the years advocated giving women the franchise in this Province and it therefore regards with pleasure what has just taken place.

Following are extracts from the speech of the Premier in advancing the cause, which extracts will be found of interest:

"The measure seems so popular that it needs only two words of argument from me. I suppose there will be some who will object that I have not always been in favor of women's vote and that I changed my attitude. That is true. Today I believe circumstances have changed and that the problem now presents itself in a different complexion.

"I cannot, and the Government cannot, change the universal fact that women are equal to men in all spheres. I would not want to plead only that it is a question of prerogatives of one sex, but those of my province. Any human being with the intelligence enough to know his duty has the right to vote for the welfare of his province.

"Is it known that women have half the savings in the banks of the province and of Canada at the present time? That they have about 75 per cent of insurance, taken out for their own protection and that of the families dependent upon them? If only on the economic side of the question, I can't see how we can refuse them this prerogative.

"If I ask for the women's vote, too, it is because women are a force for order, a force they exercise even without the right to vote. The right of women to sit here with us in equal authority with men cannot help but increase the interest they now have in public affairs. I am sure they will approach many questions with less narrow-mindedness than we do and that they will always be moved by the most patriotic of sentiments.

"I think women will bring here (to the Legislature) a factor of order, respect and peace. We may have forgotten in the past, perhaps, that their presence here will be a check on those who, otherwise, might be inclined to go too far.

"I claim this right for women, again, because they can best maintain what best will maintain society in this province—the home. This is the foundation stone of our society, and its best protection is afforded by women who have special devotion to it.

"Is the woman—as a human being—not as intelligent as we are? History shows that women, even on the intellectual plane, are frequently superior to men. Here in this province, actually, women are many times better educated than men."

Dispel Fear and Impatience

THE Montreal Daily Star has been running some rather enlightening editorials on the war situation since the outbreak in September. For the average individual the maze of war reports from "over there" is at times, to say the least, confusing. It is difficult to sift the chaff from the kernels, to get the facts and the reports so analyzed that a true perspective of the situation might be obtained at a glance. This, the editorials in the Star have been doing most commendably. True, the editorial writers are somewhat in the same boat as the late Will Rogers who stated, "All I know is what I read in the newspapers." But with a substantial background of knowledge as to historical facts together with a certain amount of special information as to present events, the editorial writers of the Montreal Daily Star are daily turning out material on the war situation which is a veritable wind vane as to just how things are blowing.

Editorial-Features - Press Comments - News Oddities

We were especially interested in a recent editorial entitled, "The War: A Word to Pacifists." Following a review of Great Britain's successful naval warfare off Norway recently the Star pointed out that there was too much fear displayed on the part of some people as to the first reports of Britain's losses. Following is the extract from the Star's Editorial:

"While further and more definite news of the naval fighting will be awaited with the keenest interest everywhere, it seems timely at this juncture to address a word of advice to defeatists. There is a certain type of mentality which is congenitally incapable of taking a long view of anything. This type shudders every time the Allies in fighting suffer any damage and immediately begins to count the days when the Swastika will be flown across the Atlantic and raised in the Canadian sunlight.

"It is, of course, a thousand pities that such mentalities do exist; but we have to recognize their existence and endeavour to nullify them. Nobody but a fool expects that in any fight any belligerent can come through without suffering some damage. But this war is not going to be decided either quickly or as the result of any one engagement either on sea, on land or in the air. The harder the Allies strike, the heavier our losses are expected to be; but so long as the enemy are damaged even more, the percentage of loss on our side is not so material. For instance the loss of the two British destroyers at Narvik is a mere trifle compared with the German losses of the Bluecher and the Karlsruhe.

"While nobody with a grain of horse sense proposes to underestimate the power or determination or vindictiveness of the enemy, our job is to keep ever before us the determination that we are going to help crush the enemy. That is the only spirit which should prevail on the Home Front. Moral cowards are a public pest in wartime."

A Misapprehension

IN these columns the Gleaner recently ran an extract from the Glasgow Sunday Post as follows: "Dances are run for Canadian troops over here. Girls attending must be of the nicer type. They're personally interviewed and vouched for by responsible persons. Baloney! Trust Canadians to find nice girls without the aid of busybodies."

In its editorial columns, the Times-Review of Fort Erie, Ontario, was under the misapprehension that the Gleaner itself had commented with the last two sentences, namely: "Baloney! Trust Canadians to find nice girls without the aid of busybodies." The Fort Erie paper then proceeds to say the following:

"Perhaps the Gleaner is taking the right attitude, but we think not. Speaking with a number of Fort Erie old soldiers, who went through the last war, we find that too many disagree with the attitude shown by the Gleaner. They point out that many of the so-called 'busybodies' are persons connected with the Canadian Legion educational scheme, the Y.M.C.A. and the Y.W.C.A.

"From experience, the old soldiers know that something definite must be done for the present-day soldiers in the way of entertainment. Something clean and wholesome. The old soldiers don't want to see thousands of young Canadians return home after the war as they did last time, broken physically and some mentally, not through the fighting in the line, but through the fact that they ran amuck while free from duty on leave.

"Old soldiers of Canada know the dangers facing youth, and in some ways are trying to meet the situation by devising proper forms of recreation. For this they need a boost, not a knock. They are merely endeavoring to protect our boys from the pitfalls of life."

The Glasgow Sunday Post was apparently endeavoring to pay tribute to Canadian soldiers, to their natural ability to choose a nice type of girl. We feel sure that the Glasgow Sunday Post, even as the Gleaner, would heartily approve of the movement of the various organizations such as the Canadian Legion, Y.M.C.A., etc., to help the Canadian soldiers in their entertainment. Everyone is entirely aware of the fine work these organizations are doing. The Fort Erie Times-Review just got their editorial signals mixed this time. It was the statement of the Glasgow paper and if it were interpreted correctly by the Times-Review we think this newspaper would see it as a compliment by the Glasgow newspaper and not a disparaging remark.

Gambling

GAMBLING in any of its forms is viewed with disfavour by many. All will view it with disfavour when it is carried on in such a way as to rob innocent youths of money they sorely need for other purposes. There have been repeated reports of certain newcomers, learned in the tricks of the trade of card gambling, who have been inveigling somewhat innocent youth into games and "cleaning" them of their wages. The youths themselves should have sense enough to steer clear of this sort of thing, but youths do not always see clearly what they should do. It is high time that the older men, however, take the warning to "lay off" this mean stuff and cease taking advantage of the innocent younger folks.

Do You Know Your Directions?

HAVE you ever noticed that although there is a wind vane on the top of Huntingdon's water tower there are no compass points to show the direction in which the wind is blowing. This was brought to our attention by an observant Huntingdon citizen. He claims that although there are many people who think they know where North and South and East and West are, he doubts very much if they really do. In fact, he wagers that ninety-five per cent of the population in Huntingdon would not come within 30 points of North if they were taken to the Huntingdon Water Tower and asked to point exactly North. Would you be amongst the selected five per cent?

THE THREE OF THEM

The following incident is reported by Mrs. A.M.G.: "A little five-year-old was added to my class last Sunday, and when the lady who brought her introduced her to me she said: 'She was born in Egypt.' 'I thought no more about it, and when class work began I told the little tots about Moses. The little new-comer said she had heard about Moses; and then, to interest her, I said, 'Moses was a Jew, but he was born in Egypt.' 'Yes,' exclaimed the new child, 'all three of us were born in Egypt: my sister, and I, and Moses.'—Kansas City Star.

TEST NEW ARMY RATIONS

New York, N.Y.—British Tommies in the French front line will soon be eating a new emergency ration developed by dietary experts of the United States army—and so will 65,000 American soldiers. The British Government has placed an initial order with an Indianapolis firm for a consignment of the new canned "chow," and the United States army will give the food a tryout during maneuvers in Texas in April. The ration, designed for a possible three-day emergency during fighting, is packed in twin tin cans, each with its key opener. Each man will carry one 15-ounce can of precooked meat and beans, one of beef stew, one of meat and vegetable hash, and three companion cans containing crackers, sugar, and pulverized coffee. The army is also experimenting with a super-emergency ration—a hard bar composed of chocolate, milk, soy-bean meal, cocoa butter and other ingredients. Its taste is made so that men will not be tempted to eat it as candy. In dire necessity a man taking three four-ounce bars a day could be sustained in the field for three or four days.

PAID TO BE AT PARTY

To celebrate his 100th birthday last month, Isaac Newton Wray, of Hopkins, Mo., asked for a family reunion. After his birthday dinner, the aged man gave each of his eight living children a cheque for $100. The money represented savings from his pension as a Civil War veteran.

BOSS AROUSED AT LAST

In Dallas, Texas, a truck driver pulled up beside the police car of Officers E. H. Hicks and O. H. Penner. "Give me a ticket for poor lights on this truck," the driver requested. The police examined the lights, found them bad and gave the truck man a ticket, ordering him to appear in court. "I'm going to try this on the boss," the driver explained. "I can't get him to fix the lights any other way."

Problems Arise of Ensuring the Safety of North Atlantic Islands—First Session of New Parliament to Meet May 16

The invasion of Scandinavia by the Germans has raised economic as well as great military and naval problems for the allies. On the economic side additional duties will be placed on the shoulders of Canadian agriculture and other industries. The occupation of Denmark, home of a highly developed agriculture, means that Danish bacon, milk, eggs and butter which hitherto have supplied British markets in substantial quantities will be diverted to Germany. The ruin of the Danish agriculture can be seen as an inevitable result of German occupation as a large part of the feed for the animals (such as barley and oil cake) it was imported by sea and this supply will now be cut off.

Deterioration of the herds and decline in number through slaughter for food for the German army and civilian population are considered certain. To fill the gap in butter supply hitherto received from Denmark, the United Kingdom will undoubtedly look to Austria and New Zealand, which already export very large quantities to the British market. Canada exports little butter although cheese sales will likely expand. It is however in the bacon export that Canada will have to put its shoulder to the wheel. Canada under an agreement now in force has contracted to ship from 40,000 to 50,000 hundredweight (112 pounds) of bacon weekly, but this quantity must now be considerably increased. The Canadian producer is believed equal to the task, and it is hoped that the lessons of the last war will have been learned and that the quality will be maintained and improved. The blockade of the Baltic will mean also that Swedish and Finnish timber will be received in only small quantities in Britain and Canadian exports of saw lumber and pulp and paper will un-

GLOOM HOUNDS THEN AND NOW

(Winnipeg Free Press) Nothing is any good. Modern craftsmanship is punk. They don't know how to make anything properly these days. Young people are going to the dogs. The new music is atrocious. And so on down the line. Our notions of life are abominable. And our prophecies are worse.

If frost doesn't get the wheat, the bottom will fall out of the international market. The cost of living is going to go up. And, in fact, there's nothing in store but despair, ruin, wreckage. But don't think that as pessimists we have the corner on the market of pessimism. During the last century the big guns of those days took their hand at gloomy prophecy. Listen to them. Pitt, in 1800, said: "There is scarcely anything around us but ruin and despair."

Disraeli, in 1849: "In Industry, Commerce and Agriculture there is no hope."

Wellington, in 1851: "I thank God I shall be spared from the consumption of ruin that is gathering round us."

Shaftsbury, in 1868: "Nothing can save the British Empire from shipwreck." And what happened? Why, the world went ahead to encompass the greatest degree of prosperity it had ever known.

Feminine Fancies

What's in the Wind

by PAULA DICKS

The discussion referred to in this column last week was just too tragically fresh. Small Nations Cannot Live Alone. Walter O'Hearn, commenting in the Standard on the same address by Jean Charles Harvey on April 6th, said:

"Strange to think, isn't it, that the rate of the remaining small neutrals was an academic topic for a luncheon discussion a week ago and three days later a grisly reality."

"While every army still moves upon its belly, governments know that the army at home moves faster and more satisfactorily on a belly filled with wind." John Fairfax in The Forum for April.

And a pretty cold wind it has been lately. So we have newspapers filled with propaganda and radio newscasts quoting the same source. Today "news" is used to conceal facts and motives. You need to be Sherlock Holmes to read between the lines.

Owing to censorship, commentators have to develop clairvoyance as a substitute for reporting. During the latter days of Czarist Russia censorship and oppression was so complete that the few Russians who knew how to read turned to books. News and information that would never pass the censors was passed out between the covers of novels.

The same situation exists today. This accounts for the increased popularity of private and commercial lending libraries. A modern library started in Huntingdon a few weeks ago now has three hundred subscribers. It is surprising the number of serious books in demand.

One regular customer on Wednesday and Saturday nights has worked over twenty-five years on farms but is delighted to spend his evenings looking over the book shelves.

He has taken home and read such modern classics as "Grapes of Wrath," "Gone With the Wind," "Broken Pledges," "Lost Sunrise," "Take These Hands." A recent Academy student has read nine books and another one has read "The Days of Our Years," by Pierre Van Paassen.

The Attorney-General of Ontario, Mr. Conant, recently sent a copy of Liberty containing an article by Van Paassen, to Ottawa as possibly infringing the Defence of Canada. It was found to give no cause for prosecution. "Days of Our Years" is one of the best books I have ever read. Indeed, after reading the Liberty copy, I spent $4.00 to get a copy for myself.

Van Paassen holds the reader's sympathy throughout this moving story of his adventures in Holland, his birthplace, in Canada where he studied for the ministry and enlisted to fight for democracy, his return and subsequent disillusionment as a special news correspondent in Europe between the World Wars. Published in January 1939, here is just one of his conclusions: Europe and the world will in all likelihood have to pass through a phase of Fascism. But the time will come when men will refuse to be treated as minors and semi-idiots. If war breaks out between France and Germany the armies will most likely be deadlocked from the beginning on the Maginot and German Rhineland fortifications."

Matrimonial

Genier-Leblanc

The marriage of Miss Marie-Berthe Leblanc, of Montreal, daughter of the late Damase Leblanc and Mrs. Leblanc of St. Anicet, to Mr. Avila Genier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Urbain Genier of Montreal, took place recently at Notre Dame Church, Montreal. The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Sylvio Dugas, of Montreal, wore a blue air-force suit trimmed with gray fox fur. Her hat and accessories were rose wood and she wore a shoulder bouquet of roses. Following the ceremony a reception was held. Members of the immediate families only were present. Later the couple left on a wedding trip to Quebec, Lewis and Ste-Anne de Beaupre, Mr. and Mrs. Genier will reside in Montreal.

Huntingdon

Suffers Injuries

Following an accident on Saturday morning Mr. Isidore Emmond, of Huntingdon is in the Barrie Memorial Hospital, Ormstown, with two fractured ribs and other injuries to his chest. He was standing between a truck of the Huntingdon Mills Ltd., and Cartier's Store on Chateauguay Street when the truck suddenly moved backwards and he was crushed between the two.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Boyd, Chateauguay were week-end guests of Mrs. D. Boyd.

Officials who hope the public will remain dumb, docile and misinformed regard the journalists who write books as public enemies. Van Paassen has seen and heard too much but most ex-soldiers will get a great kick out of his book.

Sometimes old papers and magazines give you ideas. In cleaning out a drawer I found a sheet from "Farmer's Sun" for October 22nd, 1932. Leading editorial on Women's Page told about Agnes Macphail, M.P., promoting the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom. A big petition was to be rolled up all around the world. She said:

"The Canadian people need to know what has led up to the disarmament Conference and they need to know how disastrous will be the result if it should fail. Trouble is, it didn't fail as far as we are concerned.

Even in defeat, Agnes Macphail stays in the news, in spite of exciting world events. In Liberty for April 13th, heading for 20 Quiz Questions by William Lyon Phelps, is a picture of our Agnes with the following:

(1) She recently exercised her woman's privilege and had the last word in a famous stormy debate. Almost twenty years ago she defied Canadian tradition and was the first woman to hold her job in this country. She is independent in thought, word and name. Who is she?"

Canadian Literary Awards
The late Lord Tweedsmuir established Annual Literary Awards for Canadian authors. The award for fiction in 1939 has been given to Franklin Delaney McDowell for his novel of the French pioneers in Canada, "The Champlain Road."

The non-fiction award was given to an account of pioneer experiences in the West, and went to Laura Goodwin Salmon for "Confessions of an Emigrant's Daughter." Arthur S. Bourinot of Ottawa received the poetry award for his book of poems, "Under the Sun."

Dahlia's Whatnots

Do you sometimes say in a slightly contemptuous tone that the army has a good deal of "riff-raff" in it—down-and-outs, unemployed and unemployable, and worse? If you do, this poem is for you. It is entitled "The British Soldier in China" and was written by Sir Francis Hastings Doyle.

First stanza—
Last night among his fellow-roughs
He jested, quaffed and swore:
A drunken private of the Buffs,
Who never looked before.

Second stanza—
Poor reckless, rude, low-born,
untaught,
Bewildered and alone.
A heart with English instinct
He brought, and he was proud.

Third stanza—
He yet could call his own,
Ay! tear his body limb from limb;
Bring cord, or axe or flame!
He only knows that not through him
Shall England come to shame.

Fourth stanza—
I was uncertain at first of the meaning of the 3rd and 4th lines of this stanza, but decided they meant that though poor in material possessions, yet he had the English-man's national pride.

Fifth stanza—
Far Kentish hopfields round him seemed
Like dreams to come and go;
Bright leagues of cherry-blossom gleamed.

Sixth stanza—
One sheet of living snow;
The smoke above his father's door
In gray soft eddyings hung—
Must he then watch it rise no more
Doomed by himself, so young?
Here he thinks of home, oh! so poignantly!

Seventh stanza—
In that part of England, hops are extensively cultivated and many hop-pickers employed. The singular form "cherry-blossom" not "blossoms" seems to agree with one sheet.
The flowers are filled with plant-life, not dead like real snow.

Eighth stanza—
You and I would probably have said "soft gray eddyings." But the poet is a painter, and as the painter does with his brush, to paint us the motion of the smoke was gray, the motion a soft, slow one.
He made no mistake.

Ninth stanza—
How doomed by himself? He had chosen a soldier's life, now he chooses to die rather than surrender.

Tenth stanza—
Hour calls!—with strength like steel
He put the vision by:
Let dusky Indians whine and kneel;
An English lad must die!
And thus, with eyes that would not close,

Eleventh stanza—
With knee to man unbent,
Unflinching on its dreadful brink
To his red grave he went.

Twelfth stanza—
The Indian allies with the British forces in China were of course, from India. The Punjab and other territory were annexed to Britain's Indian Empire in Victoria's reign, and the treaty with China was signed by Elgin in 1860.

Thirteenth stanza—
Vain, those all-shattering guns;
Unless proud England keep untamed,
The strong heart of her sons!
So, let his name through Europe
ring—
A man of mean estate
Who died, as firm as Sparta's king,
Because his soul was great.

Fourteenth stanza—
The king of Sparta referred to was Leonidas, who died at Thermopylae, 480 B.C. There were not baths at Thermopylae and the name of this narrow pass, like that of your thermos bottle, are both derived from the Greek word meaning
'heat'. The pass was only about 60 paces broad. Here Leonidas and a chosen band of Greeks placed themselves as a forlorn hope only to check the progress of Xerxes, king of Persia, with his enormous army. Upon some one saying that their very darts would darken the sun, a certain Spartan replied:
"Then we shall fight in the shade."
Leonidas was one of the first to fall and only two of his company escaped to tell the tale. Of the Spartan Greeks it has been said

Carrots Most Popular With The Pupils

Hinchinbrook School Gardeners Seek More Carrot Seeds Than Any Other Vegetable

The order for seeds for Hinchinbrook school gardens has been forwarded to Quebec, where the Government supplies them free of charge. It is interesting to note that carrots are still the favorites of the youthful gardeners, 115 having chosen that variety of vegetable. Beets came next in favour with 93, sweet corn 82 and beans 77. Other varieties were available but not so popular. With 99 children choosing to grow zinnias, a colourful display is to be expected at the fair this coming September. A total of 165 children in the eleven Hinchinbrook schools have asked for seeds. A small proportion, 44, have chosen those varieties constituting a plot, according to the requirements of the school fair committee. In two of the Protestant schools, boys were sufficiently interested to enter the plot competition. On the other hand, one school of 19 pupils has 14 entering the competition. Needless to say this is in the Brooklet School where good gardens are the rule, the Cup winner for the past two seasons being one of the pupils.

SUGAR SOCIAL AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

An enjoyable sugar social was put on by the Women's Guild of St. John's Anglican church in the basement of the church on Thursday evening. More than $15 was realized from the evening's entertainment. A special speaker was present in the person of Rev. Percy Powell, a missionary from Japan, who gave an interesting talk on life in that country.

A WORD TO THE WISE

"Mummy! Look what I have made!" breathes a finer spirit than "Mummy, can I have—?" One is the first step towards the sound principle of enjoying only what has been earned—the other is merely the desire to get. Most schools offer facilities for learning handicraft. It is a pity it is not a compulsory part of every child's education. But the home can supply the encouragement. Wise parents will not grudge any needful expenditure on useful hobbies. They know that fretwork machine and set of tools may save a boy from the doubtful companionship of the streets. The home that gives pride of place to first attempts at embroidery, carving or tooling leather will not be the one to complain of its daughters nor have need to mourn loss of discipline.

EXACTLY ALIKE

A rich aunt sent Sandy McPherson ten dollars and asked him to send his twin boys aged ten, for a week's visit, as she had never seen them. A few days later a note came from the home at her door and with him came a note which read: "Dear Aunt, here is young Donald, one of the twins, the other is exactly like me."

MONUMENT OF HATE

A gigantic marble hand, with two fingers eternally held aloft, has been erected at Dinant, Belgium, as a reminder through the years to keep alive hatred of Germany. It was there that 674 civilians were killed by the German army on August 23, 1914. Of the victims, 92 were women, 52 children.

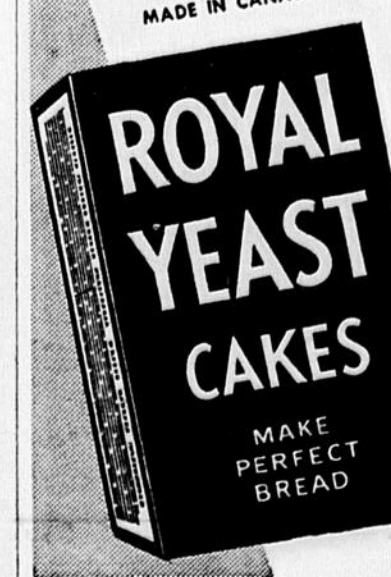

that they died leaving behind them an example of courage to which there is no parallel to be found in history. In point of pure heroism these patriots of heathen Greece were imitated by the Light Brigade at Balaklava, but the latter was a mad, if immortal, dash under mistaken orders, whereas the Greeks made a premeditated and prolonged stand.

There have always been heroes, but, alas! too often there have been traitors, and sometimes what has been as fatal to results, there have been the end was hastened by the treachery of Ephialtes, a deserter, who conducted 20,000 Persians through a by-path to the top of a mountain that overhung the straits.

The other day in Norway the perfidy of a Norwegian army colonel was responsible for the successful landing of the Nazis at Narvik. He was said to be a close friend of a German official.

The Charge of the Light Brigade in the Crimean War was the result of mistaken orders. "All the world wondered but 'somebody blundered."

Hundred Enjoy Skating Here On Saturday

Exceptionally Good Skating Weather Draws Many to Local Rink

More than one hundred skaters gathered at the Huntingdon skating rink on Saturday evening to enjoy the first time in history an "April skate."

The cold weather which prevailed on Friday and Saturday saw heavy winter garments being doffed again, which is quite unusual for this time of the year.

A comparatively heavy snowfall for April covered this district with a white blanket on Saturday morning and drifts on some side roads were not rare. The fact that the ice at the Huntingdon skating rink had remained in good shape since the rink was "officially" closed on March 28, prompted the directors to give the local skaters another chance at their favorite winter pastime.

Skating started at 8 o'clock and at 10 o'clock when the gong announced the end of skating, skates were "peeled" off for the last time this year at the skating rink, it is again thought.

The way to frighten off moths is to use a pound of paradichlorobenzene, among garments of an ordinary sized trunk, or one pound of naphthalene flakes.

Huntingdon

Mr. Ed. Myers placed a small classified advertisement in last week's Gleaner stating he had two 6-room houses to rent. By Saturday evening 26 people interviewed Mr. Myers with a view to renting them. This is tangible proof that Huntingdon is in need of many houses, due, undoubtedly, to the industrial expansion that is taking place. Private individuals who have capital to spend on such investments, as building modest homes, will find ready tenants.

New Light on Germany's Economic Weakness

By ROBERT MacKAY, the well-known writer on finance and commerce.

Though the perpetual search for Ersatz in Germany may be a testimony to German ingenuity, it is proof of the penury of German economy. There is even a shortage of the substitutes themselves, and the list of Ersatz products that may be used for making Ersatz coffee grows daily shorter and shorter.

Clothing has long since been rationed. Yet, the quantity grows scarcer and the quality steadily worse.

One of the most convincing signs of Germany's economic weakness is the condition of her export trade. The British "blockade" has shut her off from overseas markets, but certain aspects of her continental trade to countries to which she still has access reveal her internal economic entanglement.

There is, for example, the decree by which all motor cars leaving Germany have to leave their tires behind them at the frontier. This could be no clearer indication of the German shortage of rubber—a shortage which her Ersatz rubber cannot make good.

By contrast, the Allies have abundant supplies of rubber. In 1938 the British and French Empires produced some 55 per cent of the total world output, and they obtain considerable foreign exchange by selling rubber to the United States. Conditions, too, in the German steel industry are such that German steel for export may no longer be strengthened with nickel. Even for her own armaments and aircraft requirements Germany is deficient in nickel. She can neither produce it nor obtain it in any appreciable quantities. Nearly 90 per cent of the world output comes from Canada and most of the rest from Burma and French New Caledonia.

In an attempt to relieve this shortage, Germany recently called in all her nickel coins—a procedure which will have yielded some 1,500 tons, or the equivalent of Germany's normal consumption of nickel in two months of peace.

Germany's problems are further revealed when it is remembered that it is now the common German practice not to export finished articles unless the foreign buyer has supplied the raw material for them. Thus, German tinplate mills refuse to supply neutral countries with plates unless the latter provide the tin.

Once again the contrast with the Allied position is striking. In 1938, the British Empire produced 62,000 tons of tin, or nearly 40 per cent of the world total. Not only can the Allies obtain all the tin their mills require, whether for domestic or export requirements, but they are in a position to supply neutrals with large quantities of the metal itself.

In many cases Germany's shortage of raw material is such that even her foreign customers have to take Ersatz products. Thus, German "woolens" for Scandinavia are now to be made with only 70 per cent of real wool, mixed with 30 per cent of substitutes.

There is no shortage of wool in Allied countries. The British Empire includes three of the five leading wool producers of the world, and these three—Australia, New Zealand and South Africa—account for about 60 per cent of the world's exports.

The Baltic countries are perhaps the worst off among Germany's customers, since they have no option but to take what Germany chooses to supply. When they ordered cheese from France, for instance, they have to be content with the limited varieties Germany can sell.

The state of German railways has by now become well-known. The succession of accidents on them have been due entirely to the bad state of the permanent way and to defective rolling stock.

Germany's international rail traffic conditions are such that Germany's neighbours are less and less inclined to allow their wares to pass into Germany territory. They have a number of not coming from Germany, they have to be content with the limited varieties Germany can sell.

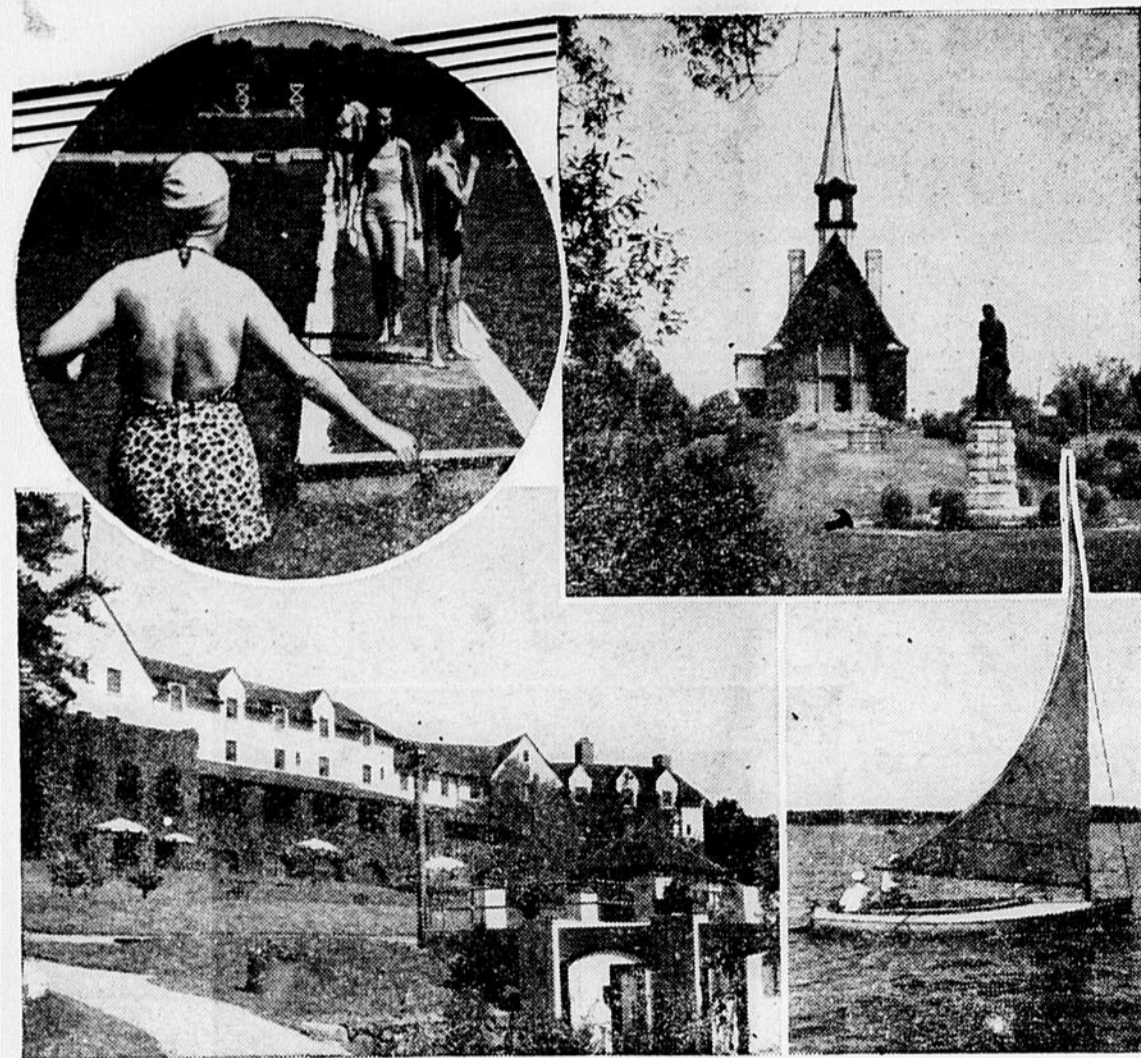

The 4,244,000 tons of German merchant shipping has thus suffered severely, and the available tonnage is today useless to Germany, except for a limited activity in the Baltic. But it is the loss caused by the almost total stoppage of German shipping services that is the severest blow to German economy.

In 1938, for instance, Germany's merchant fleet brought her 235,000,000 in foreign exchange. She no longer has this valuable economic asset at her disposal.

Germany's oil shortage is also aggravated by the enforced idleness of her whaling fleet. This whaling season it produced 100,000 tons of oil—a valuable contribution towards the normal annual consumption of 900,000 tons of whale and vegetable oils in Germany.

Dr. Funk's boast of the Leipzig Fair that Germany would retain 80 per cent of her export trade needs no refutation. But a simple concrete example shows the true state of affairs. German manufacturers who require metals in order to fill foreign orders have been ordered to limit their applications to below 50 per cent of the quantities they normally used during the first four months of the war.

Seaside Holiday Has Charm and Appeal

ONE of the few remaining frontiers of undeveloped Canadian land is to be found in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick where splendidly appointed resorts dot the peaceful inland countryside and the sandy inlets and rock-bound promontories on the coastline. The Maritimes, naturally air-conditioned by cooling salt-laden sea breezes, are ideal for every type of holiday, and are rich in historic interest, and in truly beautiful and restful scenery. From Saint John, the Princess Helene takes visitors across the Bay of Fundy to Digby, picturesque gate to Nova Scotia.

The most popular way across the province is the "Evangeline Route" of the Dominion Atlantic Railway. New Brunswick's most popular resort is St. Andrews-by-the-Sea overlooking the Passamaquoddy Bay. The Algonquin Hotel there is the scene of summer fun and sports activities each year for thousands from Eastern Canada, and the United States and England. Two splendid golf courses, Katy's Cove, and the sheltered waters of the Bay, and the warm sands combine to make the ideal swimming beach; tennis courts, fishing and hunting in season and interesting country to explore are the outstanding attractions.

In Nova Scotia the historic village with the scenic for attention; energetic sports and the comfortable luxury of warm weather are found side by side, and neither of them incongruous. Cornwall's Inn at Kentville, centre of the Annapolis Valley, is an ideal spot from which to view the magnificent Apple Blossom Festival early in June or for visits to Grand Pre, home of Evangeline, at any time. Two particularly popular Canadian Pacific resorts right down by the seaside are The Pines at Digby, open from June 28 to September 7, and Lakeside Inn at Yarmouth, open from June 28 to September 6. Photographs show swimming and boating activities, "Evangeline Church" at Grand Pre and The Pines at Digby.

PRES. MISSION BAND ENTERTAINS MOTHERS AND W.M.S. MEMBERS

On Saturday afternoon the Murr Mission Band at Ormstown held their April meeting in the Church Hall, with the mothers and members of the W.M.S. as their guests. Following the opening exercises conducted the president, Verna Barrington, Rev. E. J. White took charge of the lesson story. Special music was supplied by the Misses Lyla Greer, Marion Rember, Myrtle Coulter, Jean Thompson and Mary Bryson, with Miss Ruby Rember at the piano.

Mrs. A. Hooker thanked Mr. White for his talk and extended a welcome to the guests.

An autograph quilt, embroidered by various members, had been completed and was on display.

Tea was served by the Mission Band members at the close of the meeting.

"Busy Bees" Mission Band
The "Busy Bees" Mission Band met last Friday in McDougall Hall for the regular monthly meeting. The treasurer reported $400 sent to the Presbyterian treasurer for the first quarter. Mrs. Anderson continued the story of Shera and Shanti from the study book. The Easter Thanksgiving was received. Mrs. E. Forster visited the branch and in a very interesting manner told the story of "Esther's Doing-Without Box."

W.A. Meeting
The April meeting of St. Paul's United W.A. was held Tuesday in McDougall Hall. Thirty-one members and one visitor were present. Mrs. A. K. English presided. Minutes of the last meeting and the treasurer's report were given. Three boxes were sent out by the Sunshine Committee and letters of appreciation were read. Three dollars was donated to the Sunshine Committee. The gift of a calendar from Mrs. Osmond is much appreciated.

Miss McCormick was in charge of the program. Interesting current events were read by Mrs. Carmichael and a quiz game led by Miss Lydia Bazin was very helpful and interesting. The hostesses of the afternoon served tea and a pleasant social hour was spent.

ORMSTOWN RED CROSS

The practice of thrift, always important, is imperative in wartime. The Provincial Division of the Red Cross Society is promoting a plan to conserve the metal found in empty tubes—shaving cream, tooth paste, vaseline, etc. The Ormstown branch is placing containers in the post office, schools, stores and other places. The public is asked to "lend a hand" by contributing empty tubes. In due time these will be shipped to the city. Where they have a cash value for Red Cross funds, and the tin content is used for war material.

At the last report, two shipments of supplies have been forwarded, as follows: 69 pairs socks, 28 sweaters, 80 pairs wristlets and gloves, 33 pairs mittens, 61 scarves, two pairs pyjamas, 51 bed gowns, seven sheets, 50 draw sheets, 40 pillow cases, 36 towels, 40 abdominal binders, 140 triangular bandages, 17 children's dresses, four underslips, and 21 pairs bloomers; also a donation of knitted articles (socks, gloves, etc.)

Herdman

Mrs. Emma Gamble, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Gamble, Ronald and Arthur were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Cooper on Sunday, it being Mrs. Emma Gamble's birthday.

The report from the syrup makers is that the syrup is of a very good quality, but there has not as yet been any big runs. The syrup makers would welcome some warm sunny days with frosty nights, before the season closes.

Mr. Royal Gamble spent last Thursday in Montreal.

Mr. Earl Pennell has been appointed President, and Miss Helen Levers, Secretary of the Bible Society for the Herdman-Gore division.

Eggs are ideal as the main dish item around which dinners and lunches, as well as breakfasts and lunches, may be planned.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Todd and children, also Mr. Chas. Dalgleish, of Montreal, were supper guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Todd of Huntingdon on Saturday.

Valuable as eggs are as a source of proteins and mineral salts, their richness in a number of vitamins necessary for health and growth emphasizes their high rank among the protective foods.

ANOTHER LOCAL BOY ENLISTS IN CANADIAN ARMY

Word was received at the Gleaner on Tuesday afternoon that William J. Hood, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hood, also of Huntingdon, had successfully passed his physical examination at Montreal and was admitted to the Canadian Army. Private Hood's regimental number is 77248 and he is affiliated with the Royal Montreal Regiment. He is at present stationed at Three Rivers.

Pte. Hood rushed to Montreal, when war was declared, Sept. 1939, but the medical authorities informed the lad at the time that he would have to undergo an operation before he could be enlisted. The operation proved successful and his application was acknowledged three weeks ago. He left for Montreal last week and was immediately transferred to Three Rivers.

Dundee

The executive and committee members of the newly formed Red Cross branch in Dundee held a meeting in the Community Hall on Wednesday to arrange a work program.

ART TREASURES AT PALACE

The summer palace of the Princess Reuss, at Greiz, in Thuringia, in the foothills of the Saxon Erzgebirge, contains a valuable collection of art works. Of especial interest is the collection of 6,000 copper engravings after pictures by Sir Joshua Reynolds. Counterparts of these exist only in the British museum. The collection was made by Princess Elizabeth, daughter of George III of England.

Valleyfield To Cease All Relief in June

Council Deplores Action of Certain Relief Workers

Relief will be discontinued in June, Mayor J. Armand Larin informed the members of the Valleyfield Council at its weekly meeting Wednesday evening. The unemployed were advised to find employment in the near future as relief will be discontinued for an indefinite period of time.

"Those who have jobs must keep them," cautioned Mayor Larin, "because it is very probable that relief will be discontinued permanently." This decision was brought about following a remark by Aid. Viau, who stated that certain employees on the relief list failed to report for work on a certain Saturday morning. As a result of this action they lost their jobs. These same local citizens who were being helped by the municipal council, have been replaced by men from Sorel, Que., who are more stable and punctual at their work.

The Montreal Cottons seek young men for their plant, the council disclosed in a letter from Messrs. Pitt and Poulin asking for an increase in salary. Adielard Touchette claimed damages from the St. Cecilia Street. The Municipality of Lake St. Louis asked the sum of $125 for the upkeep of the road during the Easter week-end storm. Aid. Viau objected to this last claim, stating that all the roads in the province were blocked by this storm and that Valleyfield was no exception.

Aid. Leconte regretted the council's attitude toward certain municipal employees. Some of these men, he stated, work for the city throughout the summer months and when winter comes they are more or less neglected.

The taxes at the Valleyfield Bronze Powder Works were definitely fixed at this meeting. According to the by-law passed, the company will now pay $1.55 per hundred dollars on an evaluation of $130,000 and for a period of ten years. In past years the council received the sum of $975 per annum as taxes from this company and now the treasurer will receive $2,145.

MANY AT ROYALS-KIRKLAND LAKE SERIES, THURSDAY

A great number of fans from this district attended the Kirkland Lake-Royals game at the Montreal Forum on Thursday evening last to see these crack amateur teams in action. The Royals have many supporters in this section of the county but Kirkland Lake lined up a lad who made quite a reputation for himself in the same playdowns last season with Valleyfield Braves.

Jo-Jo Graboski, one of the fastest amateur hockey players in Canada today, lined up with the northerners and played his usual good game. Only 25 years old and weighing about 180 lbs., Graboski is one of the most dangerous scorers on the Kirkland Lake squad. He carried most of the load when Valleyfield Braves eliminated Cornwall in the finals of the Provincial League last season and was one of the best players in the Royals-Valleyfield series in April, 1939.

He is sought by the best Canadian amateur teams but it would not be surprising to see him with Montreal Royals, along with his brother, Tony Graboski. A well-known Montreal sports writer says:

"One of the most colorful brother acts in amateur hockey may be seen in Montreal next year. . . The boys, Jo-Jo Graboski, the one-eyed Kirkland Lake flash, and Tony Graboski, bespectacled Sydney Millionaire defenceman."

"Gus Ogilvie, of the Royals, was spotted the other day in earnest conversation with both the Graboskis. . . Gus was doing a lot of talking and the Graboskis were merely nodding. They seemed to be in full agreement with what Gus was saying, so don't be surprised if they're with the Royals next season. . . Gus has a very persuasive way of talking and it's a cinch they weren't discussing the high price of eggs."

"Somebody was saying last week that if Royals don't win the Allan Cup this year they'll never win it, because it'll take them a long time to get such a starchy organization together again. . . But Gus has to be shown and he's out after the best in the land for next season."

One of the big advantages of the lightweight Ford tractor is—less soil packing. Ground pressure of the tires is less per square inch than that of horses' hoofs.

Because the lightweight Ford tractor with its Ferguson system of hydraulically controlled wheel-less implements is so different, you've really got to see it in operation. We'll be glad to give you a demonstration.

Ingenious Methods Used By Prisoners

Military Censors Alert in Finding Secret Messages or Received

Prisoners of war in Canadian internment camps live up to the best traditions of civilization in their attempts to receive or send messages meant to escape the watchful eye of military censors.

The well-known invisible ink method is still very much in vogue. Fat files in the office of Lieut.-Col. H. Stephens, Assistant Director of Internment Operations, testify to the fact. Lieut.-Col. Stephens double-checks all suspicious communications. With the help of powerful violet ray lamps and other chemicals, he has detected messages written between lines of apparently harmless letters or on a blank sheet of paper, immaculate, religious papers were found, upon close inspection, to be pricked here and there with pin points under key letters. When assembled consecutively, these letters were found to spell out secret messages in German.

Reverse sides of stamps and address stickers have been used often in attempts to smuggle messages into the camps. Innocent publications cloak other ingenious tricks. Religious papers were found, upon close inspection, to be pricked here and there with pin points under key letters. When assembled consecutively, these letters were found to spell out secret messages in German.

A meeting was held in the Gore United Church Monday evening in connection with the cemetery. Although the crowd was small, the usual business was transacted. The same board of officers was re-elected for another year, namely: Secretary-treasurer, N. J. Pennell; trustees, Robert Howe, G. Taylor, F. Hutchings and W. J. Graboski. George Henderson was appointed caretaker to replace Robert Howe.

Fascinating Address on Use of Paints

D. J. Courville of C-I-L Paint Division Gives Instructive Address

D. J. Courville, Supervisor of Trade Sales, Paint and Varnish Division of Canadian Industries Ltd., delivered a highly illuminating address on the paint and varnish products of this well known firm at a meeting held at the Huntingdon Chateau last night. More than 50 people were in attendance. Delma Montpetit introduced Mr. Courville who spoke on behalf of the local agent of C-I-L paints and varnishes, Rolfe and Montpetit.

Mr. Courville, a fascinating speaker, told the audience that the finish on the bodies of 90 per cent of the automobiles produced in Canada was done with C-I-L products. "If C-I-L can produce a superior car finishing paint, doesn't it sound reasonable that C-I-L can produce a superior house paint?" asked the speaker.

The C-I-L manufactures a paint for every purpose today. Twenty years ago one paint was used for every purpose. Today, amongst the numerous paints and varnishes manufactured by the firm, are: Chlux quick drying enamel, flat wall paint, semi-gloss paint, interior gloss paint, quick drying varnishes, floor and porch enamel.

Mr. Courville pointed out that there was no white lead used in C-I-L paints since the highly efficient staff of chemical engineers of the company had found other pigments to use in order to make paints of a much superior quality. He compared C-I-L paints and varnishes to paints and varnishes in which there was white lead as a 1940 model car to a 1920 model car and told how the graduate chemists of the Company were continually experimenting for a higher and higher type of paint.

Mr. Courville stated the firm was proud to have as their representative in Huntingdon the hardware firm of Rolfe and Montpetit, which firm, he felt, was one which would continue to grow in favour in Huntingdon and district.

A. Charbonneau, who is in charge of sales of paints and varnishes for the C-I-L in this district, spoke and stated he would be pleased to give advice on personal paint problems free of charge to anyone who might desire it. Mr. Allan, in charge of advertising for C-I-L paints in Ontario and Quebec, was present at the meeting.

NOT FOND OF JOKES

Lord Finlay, one of the most distinguished of law lords, is not only fond of a joke, but himself tells one of the finest stories of another man's ready wit. He was in Ireland, and got into conversation with a drover who was taking a herd of cows to market. Eight pounds a head they would average, the Irishman told him. "You should take them to England," said his lordship. "They would fetch at least fourteen pounds apiece there." The drover answered with a flash: "Shure, yer honor, they might, and if yez could take the Lakes of Killarney to purgatory they'd fetch a guinea a drop." His lordship admitted the truth of the statement.

MONEY AND MORTALITY

We cannot have our economic revolution until we have had a moral one. I am quite certain about this, because my acquaintance with the practical side of economics, commonly called "business," is as close as anyone need desire. Exactly how the spirit is to be moved within us is not so clear to me, because such things are not my vocation nor training. I can only testify that to me, a person of average capacity in such matters, it seems unlikely that new movements and more complicated organization are to bring it about. This is not the time for creating new ad hoc beliefs. Far more significant seems what is going on, a general gradual drawing together and moving forward, within those bodies that have never ceased to testify, in season and out of season, that our business here on earth is something more than the getting and keeping of the greatest amount of personal comfort. The idea that such was the aim of progress has been the principal stumbling-block and backsliding of the years during which the war was inevitably preparing.—London Inquirer.

REV. T. J. WATSON, formerly of Georgetown Presbyterian church but latterly of Toronto, will preach at the Georgetown Church on Sunday. He will be in charge of the Georgetown Church during the summer, commencing April 28. This fall Rev. Mr. Watson will go to Edinburgh to take a post-graduate course.

PLANT A FIELD OF CORN For Ensilage, This Year AT this time of year, when you are rationing out the roots with care, and worrying over whether the hay will last until the grass returns, wouldn't you be glad to have a big siloful of succulent, appetizing, milk-making ensilage standing beside your barn? Now is the time to plan ahead, so that NEXT March you will have it there. As every farmer knows, le ble d'Inde gives a greater yield of roughage than any other common crop — much greater than hay or roots. If only you could keep it for feeding in Winter and Spring without so much waste and so much work! But either in the field or in the barn, a great part of its feed value is gone by March. Mice and rats fiddle it, and make their nests in it — the stalks dry out — the leaves fall off. No wonder your cows leave so much in the mangers! If you have it stored inside it is hard enough to handle — if you have to chop the frozen shocks out of ice and snow it's harder still. SILAGE. Look around you for a good variety — one that yields well in your neighbourhood, and matures early enough to give you well-glazed, nearly ripe corn by cutting time. Make sure that next March you have not reason to worry over your feed supply. Do not let the fear of the cost of putting up a silo prevent you from planting a field of corn for ensilage, this season. ROSCO PORTABLE SILOS are very low-priced, and very satisfactory. They are giving good results on farms all over Quebec — perhaps you know one right near your own parish. Here is what Mr. Lucien Archambault, St. Antoine sur Richelieu, says about his ROSCO silo: "In one year, my ROSCO silo has paid for itself by the amount of corn which it has saved." For complete details and costs of ROSCO PORTABLE SILOS, fill in the coupon below and mail it in to us, or see your nearest ROSCO agent. THE ROOFERS SUPPLY CO. LTD. 712 St. Maurice St., Montreal, Que. HILLS OF DESTINY

BY AGNES LOUISE PROVOST

"Oh, no, of course not." Virginia smiled brightly. She paused, and the rest came jerkily.

"Father was going to build a new ranch house as soon as I came back. And I never came. The plans are in his desk still."

Mrs. Archer looked frightened. She had not heard that hard sound in Virginia's voice since the first days after Matt Blair's death.

"Oh, but you were practically on the way home," she said soothingly. "And I'm sure you shall be very comfortable here. Stanley has had one of his cars shipped out. Really, if you weren't going to sell, I should insist on your getting a new one."

"Virginia did not answer immediately."

"Oh yes, I suppose I shall sell," she said slowly. "It would be foolish not to. But I'd rather not talk about it, if you don't mind."

Mrs. Archer flashed an alarmed glance at her niece's face.

"Of course," she said hurriedly. "It's your property and I don't want to seem inquisitive, but if you delay too long, you may lose the opportunity. Mr. Bradish is a very generous man, but he is also very peculiar. He may get impatient and withdraw the offer."

Mrs. T. Ellison Archer's ear might have warned unpleasantly if she had known that at that particular moment the young man called Lee Hollister, whom she both disliked and feared, and the little dried up prospector whom she considered a very vulgar and obnoxious old man were discussing her affairs with considerable freedom.

"Reckon Miss Archer's aimin' to take Honey back east?" said Joey.

"I'm betting she won't," said the old man, peered at him shrewdly.

"Looks kinda serious, that young Bradish feller comin' along, like it was a family party. It's queer how life keeps turnin' folks around. There was Milt Bradish, back in the late nineties, busted and glad to eat the grub Matt gave him, and now Milt's a millionaire, and Matt's the one that's down, and Milt's boy is out here laughin' around Matt's girl. Funny ain't it?"

"Very," the voice sounded grim.

"Never did have any use for them Archers," Joey grumbled. "Too plumb full of foolishness to live. All they think of is money and how many yachts and butlers their friends has. It must have most killed 'em when Honey's ma married into the shirt sleeve set, but I took notice that when Matt was makin' a lot of money they corresponded with him pretty frequent. Can't tell me!"

The dark head turned slightly.

"They're born grubbers, Joey, if I know the breed. I'd like to see the stubs of Matt's check books for the last six years."

Joey nodded thoughtfully. Silence fell between them again.

"You're not sore with me for trailing along this way, are you?"

"Don't be silly."

Virginia laughed and half shrugged as Stanley came out to where she stood on the veranda in starlight, looking across the shadowy valley.

"Well, I just wondered, you've been so quiet. Rather withdrawn, you know."

He bent a flushed face toward her.

"You ran away from me, Vee. Don't you know that I'd follow you—anywhere?"

His voice had dropped to a whisper.

In another second he would be kissing her. Lee this afternoon, Stanley this evening. She couldn't stand it.

"That's sweet of you, Stan." She moved a little, just out of reach. "But don't let's talk about it tonight, will you?"

For Lee, and for Joey also, the serpent had entered the garden. There were no more long rides, nor quiet evenings by Joey's fire. Virginia rode with Stanley Bradish now, showing him over the range, taking him deep into the hills by trails that Lee had shown her. On the third day after his arrival he and Virginia went down to Saunders and came back with a long, rakish car, smoke-free, with his monogram in scarlet on the doors. After that they were seldom home.

At the end of the first week their guests arrived, friends who had stopped off on a coast-to-coast trip, and lights shone and music came from the ranch house until far into the night. A newer, pryer life had come to the Circle V, and with one notable exception, Lee Hollister had no part in it.

The exception was the dance while the weekend guests were there. He wore the blue serge suit and was one of the few men there not in evening clothes, but he swung Virginia into a foxtrot as easily as if he had been born to it, and later danced twice with Peggy Watrous, Peggy specialized in new men.

"I'm crazy about your handsome cowboy Vee. I'd cut you out if I could. He is part Indian, isn't he?"

"Of course not, Lee is—"

She hesitated, half angry but suddenly brought up against a blank wall. After all, who—or what—was Lee? A bit of human floss that had been born to it, and later danced with Peggy Watrous, Peggy specialized in new men.

"Who's an Indian? Hollister?"

The voice was Stanley's, breaking in just in time to save her from a lame reply. "Oh, yes, there's mixed blood there, Vee. Didn't your father pick him up on one of the reservations?" Or was it south of the border?

"This time Virginia showed her annoyance. "I don't know," she said coldly. "You'd better ask Lee."

The Late Miss Maud deMouillipied. Miss Maud deMouillipied, who had been away at the Homeopathic Hospital, Montreal, early Saturday morning, April 6th, 1940. She was the younger daughter of the late Dr. Walter and of Mrs. deMouillipied, Hemmingford. For many months Miss deMouillipied had complained of arthritis but her condition was not considered serious. Therefore, it came as a great shock to her relatives and host of friends when they learned that she had passed away.

Miss deMouillipied was born in Hemmingford in 1890, obtaining her education at the Hemmingford school after which she attended Stanstead College, graduating from there in 1910. The following year she passed her pharmacy exams in Montreal. After that, she returned to Hemmingford where she resided until her death.

"Toodles," she was known to her friends, was highly thought of by both young and old. She was a member of the Anglican church and took an active part in both the W. A. and Guild. She was always interested in sports and social life, a lover of flowers and animals, and always thinking of the welfare of others.

She leaves to mourn her loss, her mother, Mr. W. deMouillipied; one sister, Mrs. W. P. Fisher, of Hemmingford; and one brother, Reginald, of Montreal.

The largely attended funeral was conducted by Rev. W. A. Howland at the deMouillipied home on Monday, April 8th at 2 p.m.

WEEK AT OTTAWA

doubtedly grow, not only to the United Kingdom but to the United States.

Danish North Atlantic Lands. With Denmark occupied, the problem has arisen, with messengers can be taken to ensure the safety of the North Atlantic islands which owe allegiance to the Danish crown. The British navy have taken the Faroe Islands under its protection for the duration of the war. Iceland, already practically a sovereign state has invested sovereign power on its parliament, until Denmark's position is later cleared up. The British navy will undoubtedly keep a close watch on this Northern island to prevent raids under cover of mists and darkness by naval or air units from Germany. Closer to Canada is the vast territory of Greenland a Danish crown colony with a population of about 16,500 Eskimos, and about 300 Danes. Very little anxiety is felt about Germany attempting to establish an air or sub-marine base in Greenland for attack on the coast of North America, and Greenland present problems about which the Canadian Government has been in communication with the Government of Great Britain.

In the case of Greenland, Canadian interest is particularly strong because of the proximity of this land to Canada, and because of Canadian imports from Greenland of cryolite which is used in the manufacture of soda ash. The little colony along the fringe of the sea appears to have good supplies of food; the natives exist largely on the products of the chase and on supplies. If, however, additional supplies are needed, they will undoubtedly be supplied by the Nascoptic, the Canadian Government ship on its summer voyage to the Arctic.

The Prime Minister, Mr. Mackenzie King, has issued a statement that "the Canadian government has no thought of attempting to intervene, directly or indirectly, in the affairs of policies of the United States. The government wishes to make its position known because of recent public statements." The Prime Minister intends to take a trip to Virginia for a needed rest. If the visit is made he will probably be in the States, and will meet each other and express views.

New Session of Parliament. The first session of the new parliament will meet on May 16th. How long it will last is not known. It may run well into the summer. Certainly a feature of outstanding importance will be the introduction of the wartime budget, which will provide for expenses approximately double ordinary peacetime governmental outlays. Although the suggestion has previously been advanced at different times that ministers of the Cabinet might have been drawn from the ranks of parliament undersecretaries, a system in vogue in London, there is no intention of introducing a system of the kind in the Canadian parliament for the time being at least.

There is, however, a new portfolio in the Cabinet, that of Munitions and Supplies. Arrangement for this were made in parliament last September in a special session. Mr. Howe, Minister of Transport, will have this portfolio temporarily at least as well as the one he now holds. The War Supply Board is fused in the new department, and Mr. King expressed his deep appreciation of the excellent work performed by the chairman of the board, Mr. Wallace Campbell and his associates. The development of the air branch of the active service has led to the appointment of a Deputy Minister for Air. Mr. James Stuart Duncan, vice-president of the Massey Harris Company has been appointed to the post, while Col. McEachern and Col. Desrosiers, who have been associated in the conduct of the national defence Department, are confirmed as Deputy Ministers of the Navy and Land Forces respectively, the combined forces being under the direction of Hon. Norman Rogers, Minister of National Defence. The new Munitions and Supplies Department will have as its Deputy Minister, Mr. George Kingsley Shiels of Toronto.

The hiker arrived at the village in the early hours of the morning, and proceeded to the inn, set down his haversack and rang the bell loudly. After a while a window was thrown up and a head peered out. "Can I stay here for the night?" shouted the traveller. "Sure," was the reply. A moment later a pillow came hurtling down. "Take this," the voice continued, "in case you find the door step a bit hard!"

Several other prizes were awarded for some of the standing games. Rev. D. E. Flint made a few remarks on his curling events of the year. Mr. J. J. Craig also wished the members every success in the coming year. Eachre was played at thirteen tables. The prize winners were: Mrs. Robert Templeton, salad bowls; Mr. Jas. Anderson, tie; consolation, Mrs. E. Robertson and Brodie MacFarlane. After this tables were cleared away and dancing for an hour or so with music by Mr. and Mrs. Chester Orr brought the winners' activities to a close.

Covey Hill

For about a week now, Mr. Cecil Barr has been able to make his mail trip by motor. Miss Hamilton's school was closed on Monday on account of her grandmother's death and funeral at Ormsdown. Several cars have been ditched during the last few days owing to the freeze-up and slippery roads. Mr. H. Boileau's car was quite badly damaged. Mrs. W. W. Louden's friends were very sorry to hear that she had been worse in health and confined to bed, but are glad to know that she is now better. Mr. L. A. Waddell of Montreal spent the week-end here, being accompanied by Mr. R. Louden, who has obtained a position with the Victor manufacturing firm. To Study in Scotland Rev. T. J. Watson, former pastor of the Hill, has resigned his ministry in one of Toronto's large Presbyterian churches in order to take up post-graduate studies in his native Scotland. Sad to say, he has received a cablegram announcing his mother's death. We recall with what reverent affection he told of her Christian devotion and how she made her home a centre of spiritual influence. "The Record" for this month contains a beautiful tribute written by Mr. Watson's wife, who, like him, was a missionary, in memory of her fellow-teacher in British Guiana, Miss Clara Ramdeholl, who lost her life when the Simon Bolivar was torpedoed. We are glad to report that Dr. Horace Lamontagne is now sufficiently recovered to be able to enjoy a trip to the Pacific Coast.

DOG ATE MASTER'S SPEECH

Most speeches are meant to be delivered "after dinner." A French general's dog has just mistaken the idea and imagined that a speech was prepared "for his dinner." General Weygand, the famous French soldier, was recently received into fellowship by the members of the French Academy. It is customary of the new member to deliver an address to the august assembly, and this the general had carefully and laboriously prepared. He was, however, much perplexed when he rose to his feet to thank the members of the academy for the honor they had conferred upon him, for he had to confess that he was unable to deliver the address of many pages, which he had written out. "Gentlemen," he said tersely, "I am sorry, but I left it on my study table and my dog ate it."

U.S. Official Opposed to Quebec Plan

Super-Highway Would "Eliminate" Smaller Cities and Towns Along The Route Opposition to the proposed super-highway linking Montreal and New York was voiced on Monday by Assemblyman Leslie J. Ryan, representative of Clinton County in the New York State Legislature at a good-will dinner tendered officials and directors of the Rouses Point, N.Y. Chamber of Commerce by the St. Johns Board of Trade. The dinner was held in the National Hotel in St. Johns with Leon Frith, chairman of the board's tourist committee, presiding. A super-highway, such as proposed by the Quebec Government with assurance of co-operation from New York State, would "eliminate" smaller cities and towns along the route, Assemblyman Ryan held in outlining his opposition. Further, the principal speaker at the dinner stated, a super-highway would prevent tourists from enjoying the countryside through which they travel. He maintained, however, that steps should be taken to provide good highways between big centres. Recalling the recent re-organization of the Rouses Point Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Ryan referred to the friendly relations between Canadians and Americans, adding that "lines of automobiles" ever traveling between both countries, replace the Maginot, Siegfried and Mannerheim lines in Europe.

On Saturday afternoon, April 13, at the home of Mrs. Mary Anderson, the members of Kensington Y.W.A. were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Hilda Woodside, whose marriage takes place shortly. The bride-to-be was escorted, to the strains of the Wedding March played by Mrs. C. H. Brown of Huntingdon, to a nicely decorated chair in the living-room which was decorated with white wedding bells and Easter Lilies, and where a large number of friends had assembled to greet her. After she was seated, little Miss Gwendolyn Campbell and Master Morgan Badger, dressed as bride and groom, drew in a well-filled wagon of linen, silver, china and pyrex gifts and presented them to her. After some time was spent in opening and admiring the gifts, she cordially thanked the donors and expressed the wish that they would all come to see her wedding in Kensington Church. A very delightful lunch was served by the members assisted by Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. C. A. Gavin. Miss Woodside was also the recipient of a 3-storey birthday cake made by Mrs. Gavin, Saturday also being her birthday. Miss Irene Lindsay spent a few days recently at her home in Ormsdown. Mr. W. S. McKinnon and Victor, Montreal, were Wednesday night guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Crawford. Mr. and Mrs. Kerr and son Jimmie, Montreal, are spending some time at the Dancy home. Mrs. H. J. The Howick Ayrshire Calf Club

Wallace Gruer Elected President of This Club on Saturday

Howick Ayrshire Calf Club has long maintained a record for its successful achievements. It has sent Chateaugay Valley sons to judging competitions at Oka, Sherbrooke and the Royal Winter Fair, Toronto, where they have won laurels for successful judging. The successful work done by the boys has been practised on the farms of their fathers with such satisfying results that these farmers have better herds of cattle today than ever before; and are able to market more purebred cattle year in and year out than ever before. Their livestock sales have so materially improved that many farmers are operating with a comfortable margin of profit compared with what they did years ago. Were we able to speak of certain farmers, the figures quoted would be little short of dumbfounding to farmers who have sons who did not take up with this Calf Club work when the opportunity was open to their boys and girls of 'teen age.

Many of the Howick Calf Club boys have attained this 21st birthday which means that they automatically must sever their Calf Club membership. These boys never lose interest in the Calf Club and are found ever ready to help the rising generation of club members. The Howick Ayrshire Calf Club has a membership of 14 boys.

On Saturday these boys met at Burnside, where Professor Alex Ness of Macdonald College gave them a wonderful talk and practical demonstration as to what to look for in a cow; how to segregate the sections of a cow and value it. Following his appreciated talk, the boys were privileged to do some judging of Burnside animals.

Prize money won by the Calf Club members at the fall show held at Chester Orr's was distributed. This amounted to $109.85 and was awarded to the following boys:

Earl Templeton, $12.25; Allan Goudrey, $11.25; Wallace Gruer, $8.25; Donald Templeton, $11.75; Orr, $9.75; Douglas Templeton, $9.50; Wilbur Anderson, $8.25; Wilbur Gruer, $9.75; Wilbur Orr, $4.50; Donald McKell, $9.60; Clifford Craig, $4.75; Caverhill Irving, $4.00; Stewart Kerr, $8.25; and Edwin Brown, $3.00.

It will be noted that the junior members received less prize money than the older boys. This is perhaps largely due to the fact that they had fewer animals to enter the various classes. The club will have five new members for 1940.

Officers for 1940 are as follows: Wallace Gruer, president; Murray Templeton, vice-president; Wilbur Anderson, secretary-treasurer; directors, Wallace Templeton, Mervyn Craig and J. E. Ness; club leader, R. J. Roy.

Mr. Berthiaume, Canadian Ayrshire Breeders' Association chairman, was present and lent further encouragement to the boys to persevere and become prominent breeders of Ayrshire cattle.

Ormstown W.I. News
On Wednesday afternoon, April 10, the Ormstown W.I. met at the home of Miss Maud Welch, when 35 ladies were present. The invitation extended the institute by Mr. Adam Sellar was read and unanimously accepted.

Mrs. A. Marshall, convener of agriculture, reported the receipt of a letter from Mrs. Clayland of Huntingdon, suggesting that the Ormstown W.I. give a prize at the Ormstown Fair. After full discussion it was decided that this matter be left until next year since the prize lists were already made up for 1940. Mrs. George Murphy gave a short paper on "Care of Children's Feet." Mrs. Ken Pearce of Dewittville gave a splendid paper on "Rural Education," mentioning the benefits of a Central Board. Mrs. Cecil Bryson, convener of Home Economics, then gave the principal feature of the meeting, an excellent address on "Meats, Their Value and Danger in the Diet." Miss Jessie McCormick gave a demonstration of rugs made from discarded silk hosiery, explaining various other uses

'Y' KEEPS SPIRITS HIGH, AT HOME AND ABROAD

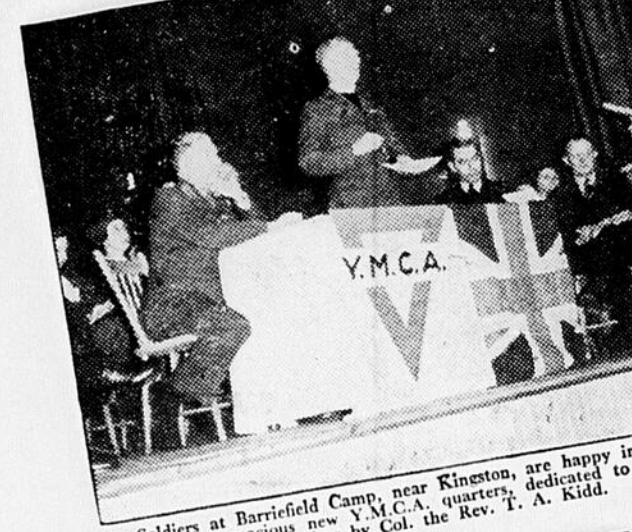

Sunday afternoon tea at a Toronto branch of the Y.M.C.A. is a happy occasion, when girls volunteer to serve refreshments.

Despite the heavy demands made by soldiers in training in Canada and overseas, the "Y" does not neglect its peace time job as witness these happy faces.

It's nice to be able to leave barracks behind and step into the Y.M.C.A. Centre in Montreal, where are all the comforts of home and a girl opponent at Chinese Checkers.

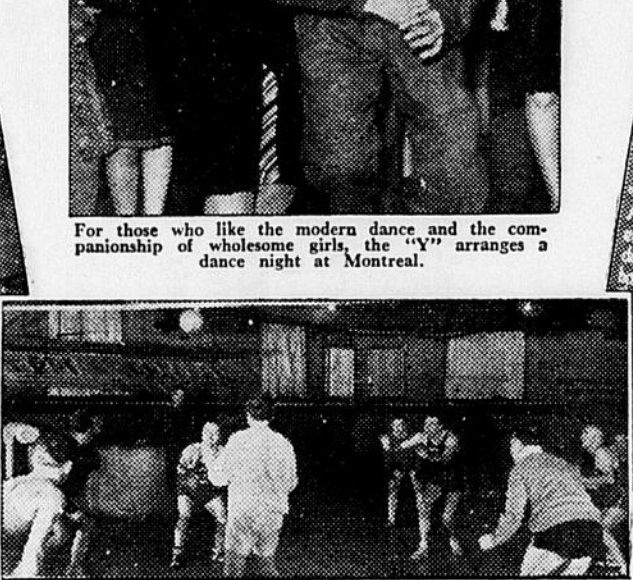

Soldiers at Barrfield Camp, near Kingston, are happy in possession of their new Y.M.C.A. quarters, dedicated to their spiritual welfare by Col. the Rev. T. A. Kidd.

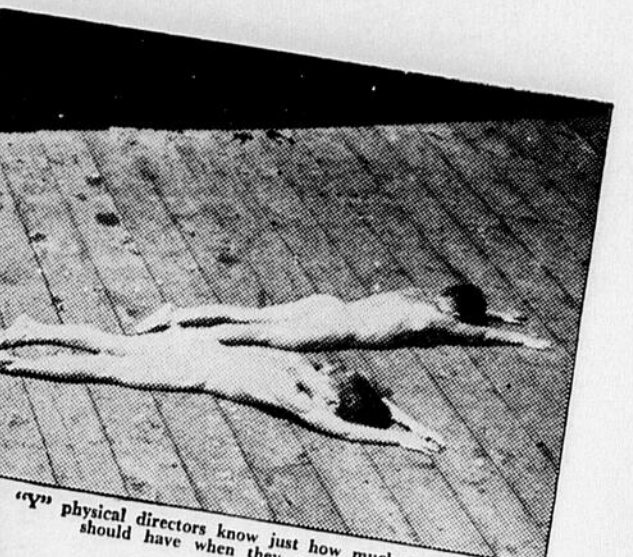

For those who like the modern dance and the companionship of wholesome girls, the "Y" arranges a dance night at Montreal.

"Never reach!" their mothers taught them when they were young. But they're in the army now and the Y.M.C.A. workers are treating.

Those too old for the army can still absorb Y.M.C.A. fellowship in the gymnasium, as part of the regular program still kept up in spite of war demands.

Physical directors know just how much sun the boys should have when they are out at camp.

Youthful piper and dancer entertain fellow soldiers at "Y" Centre in Montreal.

Being in the army, this soldier shouldn't laugh at an order, even though it be "One girl to one soldier." But all the fun tempers Y.M.C.A. discipline.

Cars With Old Licenses to Be Seized Here

Provincial Police Plan Drastic Steps to Have Motorists Renew Old License Plates—Owners To be Summoned

The City of Montreal fixed Tuesday as the last day for the use of 1939 automobile license plates in this Province. The Provincial Police are carefully watching the motorists; outsiders will have to abide by the Montreal rules if they visit that city.

Dan. Faubert, motor vehicle license issuer for Huntingdon, informed the Gleaner on Tuesday afternoon that this same law will come into force here by the end of next week at the latest. Motorists are advised to purchase their 1940 automobile license plates within the next few days, or otherwise they may be subject to the penalties imposed.

Starting Monday, Provincial traffic police staged a concerted drive on automobile owners who have failed to obtain their 1940 plates on the Island of Montreal. The offenders will be deprived of the use of their vehicles until the license has been renewed, the Montreal traffic department of the Provincial Police announced on Monday.

The declaration was brought about as many car owners continued to ignore the warnings given three weeks ago. It was a generous delay that the Department granted after March 1, on which date 1940 license plates were required. Provincial officers say they will not allow any further delay, now that most of the roads in the Province of Quebec are opened.

The traffic department also declared that the drive would continue throughout this week, and will cover automobiles both in and outside the Montreal limits. Cars will be taken to the nearest garage, their owners will receive summonses and the machines will be impounded until new permits have been procured. By the end of the week, it is expected that all cars without 1940 plates will have been caught in the net.

Traffic constables have been ordered to be more severe this year as far as operators' permits are concerned. Owners are also warned to have their brakes and lights in perfect condition as the police will not tolerate any laxity in these particulars during the coming season.

Playing Host to 20 Million Visitors to Canada This Year

In the next few months Canada hopes to play host to the largest number of people that ever went visiting anywhere in the world, at any time.

If present expectations are realized there will come to visit us this year between 15 and 20 million Americans. Some of them will find their way to the farthest nooks and corners of the Dominion. They will be friendly, perhaps curious. They will be interested in Canada At War as much as they will be in visiting and revisiting our lakes, mountains and playgrounds.

For two reasons this unique phenomenon of tourism is of greater importance to Canada this year than ever before.

1. Canada needs American tourist dollars to help win this war.

2. Canada must this year be interpreted as well as host to those visitors from a friendly but neutral democracy.

First we must make sure that this hoped-for flood of tourist visitors really gets here.

Just recently the Winnipeg Tribune drew attention to the fact that we spend $2 millions a year in our fisheries department in order to market about $40 millions of fish.

In the business of tourism we spend $300,000 and hope to get $300,000,000 of trade.

While we think it good business to spend $5 of federal funds for $100 worth of fish we spend only 10 cents to get $100 of tourist business.

So long as we are war, the Am-Terican dollars these visitors will bring are an essential war sinew.

We should not hesitate to spend at least a million dollars to merchandise Canada's tourist attractions in the U.S.A.

Even a little state like Illinois with not a fraction of the tourist opportunities that Canada possesses is spending a quarter of a million this year. Equal or larger expenditures are being made by state and tourist authorities all over the U.S.A. They know the value of merchandising their assets so as to gain a share of the record expenditure that is expected to be made by tourists on this continent in 1940.

Canada has an excellent Travel Bureau which has been doing splendid work within its limited resources. It is greatly handicapped because it lacks the money to "follow through."

The first essential of our tourist effort is to make sure we are doing a good enough sales job. Right now our national effort looks puny in relation to the opportunity that exists.

Town Council ...

Hunter Street. The road committee will make an investigation.

A letter was read from A. C. H. Picard, stating that he would collect garbage in the Town of Huntingdon for the sum of $150 per year. Another letter to the same effect was read from Wilfrid Saumier stating he would charge the town the sum of $280 per year to collect all non-perishable refuse. These letters were tabled for further study as Mayor Faubert, Ald. Lalonde and

Ald. McNair were not present at this adjourned meeting.

The following accounts were ordered paid: Fair Wage Board, $4.44; H. Daniel Transport, $0.35; John Macrow, $38; Huntingdon Mill Ltd., $4.90; A. H. Dawson, $1.20; H. Graham Co. Ltd., $13.75; O'Connor Inc., $8; Huntingdon County Farmers Co-operative, $53.26.

Are we ready to speak with clarity and conviction about fighting for the right to live our own life—an ideal which must surely be common to every citizen of this continent whether living north or south of the 49th parallel.

Let's not be penny wise and pound foolish about making 1940 a banner tourist year. And let's be prepared to talk about the issues at stake when our visitors arrive.—Financial Post.

Visits Eastern Coast Where One is Really Aware That Canada is at War — Departure of a Convoy Is Magnificent Sight — Delights in Historical Spots Of Old Halifax — Brief Review of War Situation

(Written especially for The Huntingdon Gleaner)
By DONALD C. MACDONALD

I have just returned from a visit to our Atlantic seaboard, and if there were not such a thing as censorship in Canada, a fascinating story could be told.

In the April first issue of Maclean's, there is the seventh in a series of articles on 'Canada's Fighting Forces,' describing as much of the activity along the Canadian Atlantic coast as may be divulged at this time. Interesting, indeed, is the story told of the arrangements for conveying merchant ships to British ports, a procedure devised after the almost fatal submarine campaign on the Germans in 1917, whereby ships travel in groups of twenty-five to sixty, or even more, under the protective arm of the Navy. So successful has the system proven in warding off enemy submarines that the losses to date in this war have been only one in every five hundred ships conveyed, and the odds against loss are rising all the time.

Guarding a Coast-line

But to return to my story: I bought a copy of Maclean's when leaving Montreal in the evening, and the next day from the British M.P. of the Gaspé Peninsula, while traveling through the Matapédia Valley into northern New Brunswick. Grant Knowlton's article served as an admirable introduction to that part of Canada where they are really aware that Canada is at war in the fashion that British people are aware of it. For around harbours and strategic points there was a constant drone of airplanes as they patrol the coast-line, on the constant watch for the enemy, in any manner that he might approach. It is a work that demands infinite patience, efficiency and persistence; for it is one thing to do your duty when the enemy strikes every now and then to keep you on the alert, but it is even a higher devotion to duty that is required to do these tasks when the enemy has never appeared in over six months of warfare. And yet there can be no let-up, for as sure as there is, then the blow will fall—and the damage is done.

Besides the comparatively slow-moving patrol planes, periodically one may see a bomber out for a practice flying which alone can maintain efficiency. They zoom through the skies and, when flying low, the roar of their engines reverberates through the streets in a manner that cannot but make one realize the fear that seizes civilians in war-torn Europe when these messengers of death arrive from overhead. As I watched these machines, there flashed through my mind the description of one British M.P. of the German raid on the Firth of Forth last Fall. Said he, "The planes dove with such speed and fury that it almost seemed as though they had been hurled through the sky by some giant hand."

Departure of a Convoy

But nowhere was my luck with me more than on morning when I reached an admirable vantage point to see spread before me one of the most impressive sights one could ask for. Strung out over the horizon was a line of ships, taking their position in convoy, ready to start for some British port. Boats were still quietly moving in from their anchored position to that in the line which extended out through the gate in the submarine net to the vast expanse of the open sea. In this giant pattern, each captain assumed the place assigned to him the carefully worked out plans of the convoy conference. Few things are so much a matter of perfect timing and co-ordinated effort. Soaring overhead were the planes keeping watch while the convoy arrangements were completed, and then they would accompany the flotilla some distance to sea. Out of sight—or if they were in sight, they were undetected by this land-lubber's eye—the men-of-war of the Navy whose guns were to shelter the merchant fleet, with their tens of thousands of tons of food-stuffs, fuel and war materials, thus beginning their slow march to the fields of Europe. These are some of the silences of war that Canada is providing. I was able to see, however, the tower and masts of a battleship, otherwise hidden from view; but it was at anchor waiting for the next convoy.

Life in the Maritimes

Quite apart from all this wartime activity few parts of Canada can hold more interest for the visitor than the Maritimes, with their historic places and traditions that are as old as any on this continent. There is Saint John, of which I wrote last week, so typical of that U.E.L. atmosphere. Throughout northern New Brunswick you see numerous little villages, each a cluster of homes centred by a small, high-steeped church—the typical habitant village of French-Canada. Then there is Moncton, for its size, perhaps the busiest rail-roading town in the Dominion; or St. Stephen, on the American border, one of four towns that all merge, two on each side of the line, where the people at peace, mingle with one another in a fashion that leaves so many Europeans open-eyed with wonder. Or there is Halifax, with its magnificent harbour, so large that all the British Navy could be anchored in it with ease. One afternoon I visited the old Parliament Buildings and saw the little state room so beautifully refurbished for the Royal visit; the place to one side of its door where Joseph Howe came back in the 1830's once cut a hole in the wall, through which he entered to overhear the schemings of the Council of Ten, a clique into whose hands the government of the colony had fallen; the room next door where his trial for the misdemeanor was held and where he held forth so long and eloquently in his own defence that he was acquitted to start a political career that tried on for thirty-five years; and out across the street the building where he published his paper with its scourging of political heels.

Halifax Explosion

But it is impossible to visit Halifax, especially in time of war, without recalling that disaster of the winter of 1917, whose scars are still evidence. For in the narrow neck of water that joins the harbour with Bedford Basin, with Dartmouth lying on one shore and a residential part of Halifax on the other, two steamers collided, and a cargo of four thousand tons of TNT exploded to reduce to utter ruin all the buildings on the hillside, and broke the windows throughout the whole city. One gentleman, now president of a Halifax firm, told me how he was sitting in his office at the time; when he heard the deep boom and queried "What's that?" His words were cut short by the shattering of a glass partition which fell from behind, down on his head, making many nasty cuts, among them a severed vein. "But," he remarked, "mine was only a scratch by comparison with many;" for nearer the disaster, every building tumbled as if made of paste-board, burying upwards of two thousand people in the ruins. The next day, amid the rush of rescue work, the hurrying to and fro of doctors, hospitals filled to overflowing, people unable to get medical attention, the dull December skies darkened and a blizzard howled through the city with its open windows, burying the ruins in snow that increased the death toll to a rescue work a hundredfold. As if in memory to that catastrophe, there may be seen here and there foundations covered with dried grass and ivy, even though the city has been rebuilt; or a church whose basement, mostly underground, has been roofed and used since that day without its upper stories.

Another Nazi Blitzkrieg

At the close of this week it would be impossible to forbear some remarks on the latest from Europe. We have all watched the stage being set in greater preparation; but none expected it to break when and

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. E. C. Boyce gave an excellent topical talk on "Patience." Other interesting current event readings were also given. It was decided to send the usual comfort bags to the Sailors' Institute to be given to sailors in Montreal port.

On Tuesday evening a very interesting event was held in Manor Hall under the auspices of the social evening's committee. Games were played during the evening and taffy on snow, coffee, crackers, pickles and doughnuts were served at the close, to which all present did full justice. Prizes were awarded to adults and children who played Chinese checkers.

Miss Annie McCracken celebrated her 87th birthday on Monday, April 15th. Several of her friends called to offer their congratulations. Afternoon tea was served by her sister, Mrs. H. Wilson with whom she makes her home.

where it did. In the curt, concise language of Time magazine, "Darling, rational, well-conceived and swiftly executed was Hitler's plan. Like a running torch applied to tinder it set northern Europe afire. He would take Norway to protect his ore shipments and use its fjords as bases for air, sea and submarine raids on Britain."

There has been a stop-the-war movement for some months now, supported by people who had come to misinterpret the appearance of inactivity in the struggle as a "phony war." They were to be found, perhaps in the greatest numbers in the United States, but also in most of the Allied countries. In his last radio broadcast, Winston Churchill lashed out at those who complacently asked "What's this war all about," and added that should the Allies ever stop fighting before the job was done, the world would soon find out what it was all about.

Why We Are Fighting

And now Hitler has revealed to us once again, most vividly, just why we are fighting. For six years we disregarded the Nazi threat (1933-1939). Here it is again, in all its key clarity: European and world domination, by the exclusive ranks of the "pure-blood Germans" are to be reduced to vassals of the Nazi state and victims of Hitler's insatiable lust for power. Not since the days of 1914-18 when European freedom was threatened by the ruthless Prussian militarism; not since the days of Napoleon has a nation and its people been so successfully organized to realize a diabolical scheme of domination of all other peoples; not since the days of Attila the Hun has there been such a cynical manifestation of barbarism, all the more incredible in this day of supposed twentieth century civilization—now all of these are rolled into the one thing called Nazism. It is that we face.

In this last mad escapade, Hitler has met for the first time a power as great as his own, and proving itself to be greater, for the German fleet, it appears, is being systematically annihilated. Thwarted as he is, war may break out with relentless fury, anywhere, any time.

—LOW ARMIES FIGHT—

W. F. WELCH OF HOWICK DEALS WITH AGENCIES WHICH CARRY ON A WAR

We left our Division resting for the night after an unexciting day's march into enemy country. The night has passed and all is bustle as daylight again begins; and the army is again preparing to continue its progress. Of course in a series of articles such as this it is not possible to go into the details of any operation, or series of operations, but we must content ourselves with general principles only.

We will suppose that some information has been obtained which would indicate that possibly the enemy would put up some resistance to the advance, and therefore the O.C. makes some change in his method of advancing. What may have to be termed, the non-fighting part of the force, are put definitely in the rear of the advance, and, in fact, may not leave the village where they spent the night. These are the men of the Quartermaster Services, Advanced Hospital units, Transport Services, etc., etc., and they can move forward if the way is open to them later on. The O.C. Division may also make his headquarters here, or he may move into a more advanced location depending upon circumstances. We are calling them non-fighting because to actually take part in the attack is not their first obligation to the army, but they can and do take part in the fighting when and if the occasion should so demand. Extra ammunition and extra rations are issued to the fighting units, and more or less detailed instructions, are issued to the fighting units and more or less detailed instructions are issued to the subordinate commanders, the O.C. battalions, Cavalry, Engineering units, etc. A greater degree of caution is now required both in the advanced guard and in the advance of the main body. During the night and the early hours of the morning certain troops will likely have pushed forward and occupied strategic points along the route to be followed by the main army. These units in position until other units again occupy other strategic points in advance so that the whole advance is protected by troops occupying position to defend and protect the advance.

We will suppose our armoured cars, etc., have advanced to the bank of a river like the Chateaugay, between Ste-Martine and Ormstown, and have crossed the river by the bridges with the intention of securing the approaches to the bridge from the enemy side of the river. After a few cars and cavalry have crossed, the bridges are blown up by mines which had previously been placed under them and discharged by means of buried cable. Now how shall we get across? Well, there are some shallow spots; we can perhaps ford the river, suppose we make such an attempt. (This is the advanced guard doing this.) We find we are in effective range of the enemy artillery, and to force a crossing in face of such artillery fire is too costly. Some Engineer units have come up and begin dismantling some barns, etc., for timber to construct a bridge over which to cross, but they too come under artillery fire and soon the buildings are in flames, and this attempt needs to be abandoned. Well, if we cannot cross at any of the shallow places, and the buildings from which we could obtain timber from which to build a bridge are being burnt down, and the river is too deep to cross in any other way, we might just as well go back home. Still, perhaps we can get make some other effort.

Word of the holdup has now reached the O.C. Division, and he is putting into action plans to overcome the trouble. Under real active service conditions this holdup would have been anticipated, and the plans to overcome it would immediately be brought into action.

Next week we shall see how they get out of their difficulties.

By whatever method is available. The flash from a heliograph can be read in favorable atmospheres up to a range of 65 to 70 miles. Flags can be read under favorable circumstances around 6 miles for Morse and 2 miles for semaphore. Flags, however, would most likely be used as they are the more portable, and very likely the Electric lamp at night.

BALD HEAD SAVED HIM

No part of the human anatomy suffers more from ribald jokes than bald heads, but Captain Elfer Teleferen owes his life to the fact that his head is bald. On a recent dark night, he fell overboard from his vessel in East river, New York, and rescuers were unable to find him until they brought a searchlight to play. Bobbing up and down some distance away, the light picked up a shiny white object. It was the bald head of the captain, at the point of exhaustion.

Learn To Read French

A French Canadian who once lived in St. Anicet village informed us that he learned English through reading The Gleaner weekly. He found the paper easy to read, because he had a smattering idea of what the news report was recording. Such interesting reading of matters of local concern encouraged him to persevere and he read on, thereby improving his knowledge of English.

The same opportunity is now open to Gleaner readers. If you will subscribe to The Gleaner, new or renewal subscriptions, and add one dollar, we will send you not only the Gleaner for one year, but La Gazette de Valleyfield. The columns of La Gazette de Valleyfield will give you a great deal of information about the District of Beauharnois and especially about the sporting activities centered about Valleyfield.

MAKE LIFE A BATTLE

Young people like to be doing things. A keen student of youth has said that the average young person gets a far greater thrill out of being his own pathway through the world than in rolling along in a luxurious car over a roadway that other hands have prepared. But, after all, no one can wholly remove from us all responsibility or fight all our battles for us. Nobody has a right to find life uninteresting or unrewarding who sees within the sphere of his own activity a wrong he can help to remedy, or within himself an evil he can hope to overcome.
