SINN FEIN WON'T ACCEPT DOMINION STATUS

SOVIET UNABLE TO CHECK MASSACRES OF JEWS IN RUSSIA

Peasants and Deserters Carry Out Violent Pogroms

SHADOW OF FAMINE

Writer Describes Famine Conditions as Affecting Women

LONDON, Aug. 17.—(Special Star-Tribune Cable. Copyright.)—Massacres of the Jews are continuing in the towns and hamlets throughout White Russia, according to a despatch received from a correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph.

"Bands of peasants and deserters from the Red army continue to carry out violent pogroms against the Jews in the small towns and hamlets of White Russia," says the correspondent. "There are lists of dozens such pogroms, all of which were accompanied by violence, rape and murder.

"The Soviet is powerless against such excesses as its influence does not go further than to a few large towns garrisoned by strong detachments of the Red army. Refugees report that the executioners often hack their victims to pieces with great axes, starting with the hands and feet, then dismembering the body and ultimately cutting off the head. The bands commit their crimes to the accompaniment of an ironic cry 'Long live the Soviet, down with the Jews.'"

SHADOW LOOMS LARGE.

REVAL, Aug. 17.—(By Eda Treat O'Neill. Written for the United Press. Copyright.)—The shadow of famine looms large today in Russia. Every phase of life is beginning to reflect it.

Where and how to obtain food is the thought uppermost in the minds of everyone.

Values at present are reckoned according to one standard—the amount of food which a given article represents. The food situation, which is due in part to last year's poor crop and has been growing more and more critical since February, was the biggest problem in Russian life even before famine developed in the Volga region.

The re-establishment of commerce and the legalizing of trade in markets and shops, under the new regulations, has bettered the situation somewhat.

The markets are the busiest places in Moscow and Petrograd. Thousands of people go there daily to buy and barter. The latter is more common because roubles are scarce and low in value, and the peasant is as eager for city products and finery as the city dweller is for food.

At the market, the city dweller trades his cigarette lighter, made at home after factory hours, or his wife a handkerchief she has just embroidered.

TRAGIC PICTURES.

Household effects and personal belongings are still in demand but few city folk possess now much that is saleable.

One sees no jewels of value on the market—only pathetic trinkets for the most part and rubbish that seems of no value whatever. Sometimes it is a cracked mirror, perhaps a cup without a handle.

There are tragic pictures here and there. Sometimes it is a quavering old man offering for sale a ragged and disheveled doll. Quite clearly the unprepossessing toy has a hold on his heart, but he barters it for a handful of food.

I have seen a woman at the market, struggling with herself. Finally with an air of decision, she strips a wedding ring from her finger and lays it before a peasant who has food he will trade for the keepsake.

Everyone is in search of food. There is terrible distress in some regions but one hears less complaining now than two months ago. All Russia is squaring its shoulders for the new burden.

Generally speaking the much tried Russian folk is setting its face against famine and cholera with a splendid energy and solidarity.

WOMEN'S HARDSHIPS.

Few women in Russia today are having an easy time of it. "They tell me you're a teacher," a waitress in a Moscow guest house said to me the other day.

"We're all teachers waiting on table here," she continued. "We had to find work when the schools closed for the summer. Otherwise we would have lost our rations."

The incident is characteristic.

Every Russian woman is supposed to be a worker. Without a worker's card she hasn't the right to lodging, clothes, food or transport facilities.

The teacher or office employe has never been quite so well off here as the factory girl, who receives the same pay and payok (ration) as the factory workman.

The teachers and office workers receive scantier rations. And their pay ranges from six to twenty-five thousand rubles monthly—not a vast sum in a country where an egg costs 1,000 rubles.

DIMINISH FOOD RATIONS.

To add to the women's trouble there is a tendency to diminish the food rations due to the present shortage, while increasing the pay.

Such prostitution as can be said to exist in Moscow today recruits its victims chiefly from among the office employes.

The problem of the married woman and mother is less simple than that of her unmarried sister. She, too, must have a worker's card—and housework isn't considered a profession once the children are of school age.

Little sympathy is felt for the woman who objects on principle to doing her housework.

I doubt if there are many women in Russia today who haven't learned to perform, quite as a matter of course, tasks which before the revolution would have appeared difficult if not impossible. As a result, life has become less complicated. A spoon is a spoon, be it of silver or tin. Sevres and humble firestone fraternized on the table at the Moscow guest home. Sometimes the chair on which one sat was gold and lacquered, sometimes it was white pine.

Japan Would Settle Question of Shantung

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17—. Japan will renew her attempts to settle the Shantung question by direct negotiations with China before the opening of the Washington disarmament conference, it was reported in official circles here today.

TURKISH FORCES SWEPT BACK TO LAST DEFENCES

Consistent Success of Drive —Nationalists Move Seat of Government

ARMY MOVES FAST

Asserted That Turks are Evacuating Ismid, Near Constantinople

SMYRNA, Aug. 17.—(Associated Press).—King Constantine's fast moving army is now within eight miles of the last real defensive positions of the Turkish Nationalists, along the Sakaria river, 60 miles west of Angora, the Capital.

The Greek right wing is at present crossing the extensive salt desert to the south of this river with the intention of cutting off the retreat of the Turks toward Angora.

In all, there are four great columns making a thrust toward the Nationalist seat of government, and one striking to the north toward Ismid.

TURKS UNPREPARED.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 17. —(By Constantine Brown, Star-News Cable. Copyright.)—The Greek offensive which began on the morning of August 14 from Biledgik again caught the Turks unprepared because the four divisions from the Caucasus under General Kara Bekir were not due at the front before the end of the month, while the heavy artillery was not due until the end of September.

The Greeks, who attacked with eleven divisions, made remarkably quick progress, advancing sixty miles in sixty hours and occupying Sivri Hissar, the pivot of the Turkish position, where Kemal Pasha expected to make his first serious resistance.

SPEEDY ADVANCE.

On account of the speedy Greek advance the Nationalists have withdrawn behind the Dersuer river. The Hellenes are trying to force them southward toward the Salt Desert, northeast of Kenya, where they hope to annihilate the Turks. The latter will lack water while a great number of camels will carry water for the Greek army.

Taking advantage of the withdrawal of the Turkish army from the Caucasus, the Armenians attacked the Kars, Ardahan line. On August 12, three Armenian regiments assailed the weak Turkish forces in Kars and since then Angora has been unable to communicate with that fortress. The Nationalists have asked the Ninth Bolshevist army, commanded by General Skrydlov, to defend Turkish interests and have sent Remzi Pasha with a small force to the Caucasus. The Kemalists believe that the movement was instigated by the Russians.

ATHENS, August 17.—(Associated Press)—Greek forces which early this week began a new offensive against the Turkish Nationalists' east of Eski-Shehr have driven a deep wedge into the Turkish lines and have reached the Sakaria River, says an official statement issued here.

Sivri-Hissar has been taken by the Greeks, who have established a line running to the southeast from that city until it touches the Sakaria River at Tajir.

It is asserted that the Turks are evacuating Ismid, 56 miles southeast of Constantinople. Turkish occupation of that city sometime ago aroused fears that the Turks intended an advance upon Constantinople.

STEADY ADVANCE.

LONDON, August 17.—The Greeks are steadily advancing in their new offensive against the Turkish Nationalists in Asia Minor, says a despatch to the London Times from Smyrna. The Greek forces have reached the line from Mandra, on the Sakaria River, to Kaimaz and Akkopru on the Pursak River.

MOVE GOVERNMENT SITE.

CONSTANTINOPLE, August 17.—The Turkish Nationalist government has been transferred from Angora to Caesarea (Kaisariyeh), 160 miles southeast of Angora, and the civil population of the Nationalist capital is being evacuated because of the advance of the Greeks, says a dispatch from Angora today.

The Turks intend to make a stand against the Greeks at the Sagaria River and if this position is lost they will fall back on Caesarea and Yozgad, 85 miles to the northwest of Caesarea.

A Paris despatch of August 5 quoted a despatch from Constantinople as saying that the Turkish Nationalists had decided to evacuate Angora and retire on Caesarea.

McCLURE'S PUT IN RECEIVER'S HANDS

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—A receivership has been appointed for McClure's Magazine, following equity proceedings in United States district court, it was announced today. Liabilities were said to be in excess of $250,000. No statement was made regarding assets. John B. Johnston and Myles D. Walsh were named receivers.

POCOMOKE'S CAPTAIN HELD.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 17.—Captain Joseph Roy, master of the suspected rum runner Pocomoke, remained in jail today on a charge of smuggling. He was unable to furnish the $5,000 bail fixed after his arrest last night.

COALITION AND FARMER-LIBERAL PACT DISCUSSED

Parliamentary Circles Talking of Possible Election Plans

BY-ELECTIONS NEAR

Time-Limit on West York and St. Antoine Nearly Up

OTTAWA, Aug. 17.—(From Our Own Correspondent)—With the Prime Minister taking counsel of those whose opinions he values as reflecting outside sentiment the political situation today in the Capital is quiescent. A few members of Parliament are dropping in and more of them are writing and there is an abounding speculation everywhere, but only speculation. Nothing definite is available and, in point of fact nothing definite has been decided.

Mr. Meighen is sounding out opinions in parts of the country other than the Capital where the perspective is often faulty. His conclusion, in the matter may not be reached for some days yet and he will have to decide between two schools of thought, one which holds that an election now would be calamitous to the country and the other that the sooner the obscure atmosphere is cleared up the better.

WEIGHT AGAINST ELECTION.

For the moment anyway, the weight of opinion here seems to be favorable to the idea of carrying on and avoiding the turmoil of a general election. Whether in the end this view will predominate is wholly problematical till the situation is fully canvassed, meanwhile the limit for the issue of writs is nearing both in West York and St. Antoine division of Montreal and at least in the former the date will be announced soon. In the event of dissolution, a general election would supercede any by-election previously arranged for. While the statute prescribes a limit in which writs shall issue, the date of voting can be made as far off as is deemed expedient.

TALK OF NEW COALITION.

The possibility of a coalition after a general election is being quietly canvassed here in ministerial circles Any such thing before an election would not be possible but, afterwards, it is thought it may come on lines reasonably consistent with the fiscal policy of the present and arresting any tendency to radicalism. The dominant voice, it is suggested might be from a quarter where now Cabinet representation is at the minimum. If such a thing is possible, after an election it might be an influence to accelerate dissolution.

A reported alliance between MacKenzie King and Mr. Crerar for strategical purposes in the event of an election this fall has no confirmation here but it is no secret that efforts are being made to effect such a co-operative arrangement as would avoid three-cornered fights, Liberals would not be put in the field in many constituencies where the Agrarian vote is predominant and a reciprocal arrangement would be sought where the chances would favor a Liberal candidate being elected if there were no third candidate.

Mr. King himself, in New Market and elsewhere has appealed against "dividing the progressive forces." To what extent any such arrangement could be successful, only election time will disclose.

UNREST IN INDIA A HEALTHY SIGN

But Patience Needed, Says General Cory—No Unemployment Problem

TORONTO, Aug. 17—(Star Special)—A tale of strategic movements, of military engagements without number, a tale of countries, of peoples, of Governments, a tale of India, of Mesopotamia, of Persia—this was the tale which Major-General G. N. Cory, son of Charles D. Cory, of this city, told today.

General Cory has just returned from the East, where he was in command of the forces during the evacuation of Persia this spring. A year ago he was in Mesopotamia, he figured in the great war in France, in Salonika and later in Constantinople. He will return about the middle of September to India, where he will be attached to headquarters. In India, General Cory says, the unemployment problem, as we in Canada know it, practically does not exist. The food problem has not been made more serious by the war, except as in all other countries, the cost of living has gone up. If they get good rains they get good crops. The war has not necessarily affected the food problem. It is poor crops that play havoc with the natives, not so much outside influences.

"They'll have hard and anxious times in India for some time to come," said General Cory. "I expect to see conditions slowly improve, however. Lord Reading, the new viceroy is an exceedingly able man, and under his regime the fostering of British institutions will be carefully managed.

"The problem of political unrest is, I think, largely due to the growth of education, accelerated, doubtless, by the recent war. On the whole I think it is a very healthy sign. It is only dangerous when reformers attempt to go too fast. Patience and perseverance is the watchword for the future of India.

AUSTRALIA ISSUES BIG LOAN.

LONDON, Aug. 17. — (Canadian Press Cable.) —A Reuter cable from Sydney, New South Wales, reports that the State Premier, Hon. John Storey, when in London, recently arranged for State loans of £6,500,000 each year, for three years, at an interest of five and a half per cent per annum.

MOST PROSPEROUS FALL IN LONG TIME FOR U.S. FARMERS

Direct Result, Strangely, of Shortage in the Crops

OATS VERY LIGHT

Crop Will Hardly Equal Two-thirds of Last Year's

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(United Press).—American famers generally will experience the best season financially in several years, and will pass their increasing prosperity on in some measure to the rest of the country.

This is being brought about, paradoxically, by a crop shortage. The law of supply and demand will mean higher prices for farm products, and the increased income will affect greater buying power for this half of the nation's population, from which situation other industries are bound to benefit.

"I am an optimist concerning the immediate future of the agricultural industry, and the importance of this year's crop in pulling the farmers out of the most serious situation in which they have ever found themselves," Gray Silver, Washington representative of the American Farm Bureau Federation, telegraphed the United Press today.

HIGHER PRICES.

"Wheat, corn, oats, barley, rye, potatoes, tobacco, sugar beets and some fruits will have a much less yield than last year. This should mean but one thing, if domestic and foreign participating power is anything like normal—higher prices for farm products, more money in the farmers' hands, debts paid and a higher standard of living."

B. W. Snow, noted Chicago crop expert, wired that the crop shortage will be of "general benefit" to the agricultural community, adding that the increased income will be "distributed to production in all sections of the country.

"The winter wheat crop is threshing less than was expected and will turn out only about 550,000,000 bushels," he said. "Spring wheat was affected by heat and rust and probably will not exceed 200,000,000 bushels. This total of 750,000,000 bushels is sufficient to meet domestic wants and furnish an export, taking into consideration the carry-over of perhaps 2,000,000 bushels. But this is less than the world needs from America, and with the crop shortage in India and continued failure of Russia to produce, the world situation for wheat is adjusted to a very narrow market.

OAT CROP VERY POOR.

"The oat crop is the poorest in fifty years. It will not exceed one billion bushels compared with 1,500,000,000 last year. Other small grains are equally unsatisfactory.

"Corn is a debatable proposition with the chances for a very moderate yield. Another food crop of great importance is potatoes, and the failure in that is very severe. The crop will hardly equal two-thirds of last year's.

"The crop shortage is general in character, and every section is favored with something in the way of production. This will work to the benefit of the agricultural community, because the higher prices will be distributed to production in all sections of the country."

MRS. EDDY MADE GRANT TO McGILL

Sum of $200,000 for Establishment of Chair Bequeathed in Will

OTTAWA, Aug. 17. — (From Our Own Correspondent.)—An estate valued at three and a half million dollars was left by the late Mrs. E. B. Eddy, widow of the Hull paper and match manufacturer, whose will has just been entered for probate in the Hull Surrogate Court. Mrs. Eddy controlled the big industrial corporation and it now passes to her brother, R. T. Sheriff.

The Presbyterian Church of Canada, McGill University of Montreal and Dalhousie University of Halifax, figure generously in the benefactions. The will is a voluminous document with very specific directions, and apart from the larger gifts several old employes of the company receive gratuities.

The late Mrs. Eddy owned 1,507 shares of stock in the E. B. Eddy Company, which are set forth as having a par value of one hundred dollars each. The shares today, it is believed, could hardly be purchased for ten times that amount. The majority of the estate consists of personal property, bank and other stocks, bonds and real estate.

In her gift to the Presbyterian Church of Canada, Mrs Eddy did not forget the missionary funds or the aged and infirm. In all, the church is bequeathed $200,000, of which half is for missionary purposes, fifty thousand for the widows and orphans and a like amount is set aside for the aged and infirm. Two thousand dollars in addition is given to the French Presbyterian Church of Hull. A sister, Mrs. E. J. Richardson, of San Diego, Calif., is given a life estate in the interest on three hundred and fifty thousand dollars worth of bonds.

UNIVERSITY BEQUESTS.

The grant of half a million dollars to Dalhousie University, the will directs, is to be continued and the remaining unpaid instalments, amounting to around $185,000, are to be paid out of the estate. McGill University receives $200,000 for the establishment of a chair or chairs to be known as the E. B. Eddy chair or chairs.

Robert T. Sheriff, a brother, is left 1,007 shares in the E. B. Eddy Company and also the house and contents of the late Mrs Eddy on the Aylmer road, near the Royal Ottawa Golf Club. Five hundred other shares go to Mr. R. B. Bennett, K.C., of Calgary.

A hospital in Newcastle, N. B., is left $25,000 with the provision that if $25,000 is left out of the residue of the estate, that it is to receive half of the further surplus and the widows and orphans' fund of the Presbyterian Church is to get the other half.

Five thousand dollars is left to the schools of Chatham, N.B., where the late Mrs. Eddy was born 56 years ago. The five thousand dollar grant to the schools is to be known as the Jennie Sheriff fund.

The will stipulates that Mr. Sheriff and Mr. Bennett, K.C., are to be the trustees and executors of the estate. The total stock of the E. B. Eddy Company, it is understood, is about 2,000 shares, over half of which have now gone to Mr. Sheriff.

LATEST DEVELOPMENTS IN THE IRISH SITUATION

DECLARE OUTLOOK IS BRIGHT, DESPITE PRESENT DEADLOCK

Dublin Despatch Says De Valera is Not Taken Literally

EXPECT LONG WAIT

Believed Negotiations, if Favorable, May Take Several Weeks More

DUBLIN, Aug. 17.— (By Clyde C. Beals, United Press Staff Correspondent).— Prospects of Irish peace, only partly over-shadowed by de Valera's speech to the Dail demanding absolute independence, are bright. Throughout Ireland, there is continued optimism today that the Dail Eireann will not summarily end the negotiations.

The Irish themselves are not taking the Republican leader literally and the official text of his speech has a somewhat less belligerent tone than the first versions.

The general belief through the country is that negotiations over Britain's offer of a form of Dominion Home Rule will be protracted, unless a new and as yet unforeseen element is injected into the dispute.

The cancelling of military leaves by the British army command is not such an element. The move has caused little or no anxiety here. It is understood that both sides are "Playing psychology" to the utmost. Sinn Fein believes that throughout the negotiations Lloyd George has sought to give the appearance of yielding as little as possible, in order to keep the support of Conservatives in England and that this is but a move in the game of "bluff."

EXPECT MUCH TALK.

The impression gathered here from de Valera's speech at the opening of the Dail is that the negotiations will continue weeks instead of a few days.

Sinn Fein is prepared to continue its policies, regardless of whatever move the other side may make.

Today, I saw an advance copy of the official organ of the Irish Republican army, of which the editorial cautioned the Republican army to be prepared for still greater fortitude and sacrifices.

"The republic is, and will be."

Arthur Griffiths' paper today reiterates the one demand, "Independence," but does not specifically mention a republic.

The belief that Sinn Fein will eventually accept less than a republic continues, despite events of yesterday.

A possible concession on the part of Britain may be the relinquishing or mitigation of the oath of allegiance to the Crown, which is one hitch.

BRITISH OPTIMISM CONTINUES.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—(By Ed. L. Keen, United Press Staff Correspondent.) —The fiery speech of Eamonn de Valera before the Dail Eireann, demanding absolute independence for Ireland, failed to destroy British optimism that the outcome of the present negotiations will be the acceptance of the offer of Dominion Home Rule.

Officials and members of Parliament today waited some indication of the Dail's sentiments toward the British terms, instead of accepting deValera's speech as indicative of what the Sinn Fein reply will be.

The feeling here today is perhaps best described as anxiety, tempered by firm belief that the Irish people want peace, and that the Sinn Fein Parliament needs tremendous moral daring to renew war at the present stage of the negotiations.

Hugh Martin, who is in the closest touch with Sinn Fein, writing from Dublin in the Daily News today, says:

"The negotiations will probably be lengthy, if they are successful. An early reply will be a bad reply."

He gives it as his opinion that President de Valera was carried away by his own rhetoric. He points out that the Republican chieftain is emotional, never able to stick to his notes, and frequently over-reaches his mark.

Referring to de Valera's speech as "vague and verbose," Martin, who is in closest sympathy with the Republican idea, says further:

"It was my impression that many of the more responsible hearers were aghast at the Republican leader's words. De Valera may have spoken their minds, but they had no idea that their minds were to be spoken just then, or in that way."

ANOTHER HUDSON-ESSEX REDUCTION

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 17.—Officials of the Hudson-Essex Motor Company announced today a third reduction in prices this year. Reductions range from $420 to $705.

LT.-GOV. CLARKE BETTER.

TORONTO, Aug. 17. — There is marked improvement being shown in the condition of Lieut.-Governor Lionel H. Clarke, following his recent operation. Although still confined to his bed at Government House, it is expected that within a few days he will be allowed to get up for a short time.

"Excellent Progress" Is Ulster Report

BELFAST, Aug. 17.—(United News.) — The Ulster Cabinet reviewed the entire political situation in its meeting on Tuesday, discussing questions regarding the formation of the administrative department of the Government. "Excellent progress," was reported. Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, is still on his holiday in Scotland.

CHARGES UNFAIR U.S. COMMENT ON VALERA'S CLAIMS

Say His Reference to Great Nation Asking Guarantees Baseless

IRISH ADVANTAGE

Other Writers Frankly Advocate Acceptance of Terms Offered

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The New York World, referring to "Ireland's Opportunity," says:

"In his address to the Dail Eireann Mr. De Valera was unfair to the British Government when he declared its attitude to be that of a great nation demanding guarantees for its safety from a small one, when it should be a big nation guaranteeing safety to a small state.

"The guarantees defined by Premier Lloyd George as to be accorded by Ireland were based on the common concern of Great Britain and Ireland in defence of their interest by land and sea, 'for the minor military guarantees demanded of Ireland she would be more compensated by the British navy guaranteeing the protection and safety of Ireland. It is a bargain immensely to the advantage of Ireland, which, unaided, could not maintain its security in time of emergency.

"In discussing the conditions of the proposed settlement between Great Britain and Ireland, Premier Lloyd George expressly pledges that they "shall be embodied in the form of a treaty" to be approved by the British and Irish Parliaments. To none of the British dominions has ever been granted the privilege of entering into a treaty with Great Britain. It was by an Act of the British Parliament alone, in 1867, that Canada attained the status of a self-governing dominion and by the same method that the Union of South Africa was created.

SMUTS' GOOD ADVICE.

"General Smuts offered Mr. De Valera timely counsel in urging him to come to terms with the British Government. 'The full dominion status, with all that it is and implies,' he wrote, 'is yours if you will but take it. It is far more than was offered to the Transvaal and Free State, who fought for freedom one of the greatest wars in the history of Great Britain and one which reduced their own countries to ashes and their people to ruin. What they have now finally achieved after years of warfare and political evolution is now offered you, not in doles and instalments, but at once and completely.'

"With regard to the facts as they are, the case could not be stated more strongly. Ireland is offered today full dominion status, at once and completely, but the offer is made at a time when the British dominions have acquired greatly augmented powers and influence, and their right to a voice in shaping the foreign and economic policies of the British government is undisputed.

DOMINIONS ARE INDEPENDENT.

"The parts played by the premiers of Australia, Canada and New Zealand at the recent Imperial Conference in London was not that merely of representatives of overseas colonies but of active partners in the Empire prepared in any circumstances to uphold their own interest against Great Britain.

"The conference between Lloyd George and De Valera makes plain what rapid progress was made. It is offered today more by the British Government than anybody in Ireland would have demanded three years ago. More is to be gained for Ireland by processes of conciliation and orderly negotiation than Sinn Fein and all its agencies, political and military, can hope to secure by any other means."

ADVOCATES ACCEPTANCE.

The World, which in the past has always given particular prominence to the Sinn Fein arguments, frankly advocates acceptance of the British Government's offer. "Ireland is offered today full dominion status, at once and completely," the paper continues, "but the offer is made at a time when the British Dominions have acquired greatly augmented powers and influence, and their right to a voice in shaping the foreign and economic policies of the British Government is undisputed.

"The part played by the Premiers of Australia, Canada and New Zealand at the recent Imperial Conference in London was not that merely of representatives of overseas colonies, but of active partners in the Empire, prepared in any circumstances to uphold their own interests against Great Britain.

"The correspondence between Prime Minister Lloyd George and Mr. de Valera makes plain what rapid progress Ireland has made. It is offered more today by the British Government than anybody in Ireland would have demanded three years ago.

"More is to be gained for Ireland by the processes of conciliation and orderly negotiation than Sinn Fein and all its agencies, political and military, can hope to secure by any other means."

IRELAND CANNOT AND WILL NOT ACCEPT THE OFFER, SAYS PRESIDENT

De Valera, Speaking to Members of Dail Eireann, Makes Blunt Declaration Against Dominion Status — Proffers Olive Branch to Ulster Hinting at Concessions

LONDON, Aug. 17.—(United Press.) — After a lengthy discussion of the Irish situation today, the British Cabinet decided that the statement which Lloyd George was to have made in the Commons this afternoon would be deferred.

DUBLIN, August 17.—(Associated Press.)—Eamonn de Valera, Irish Republican leader, declared today that the Dail Eireann would not accept the terms offered by the British Government, extending to Ireland an offer of Dominion status.

Mr. de Valera made this declaration at the second session of the Dail Eireann, held in the Mansion House, to take up the question of the negotiations with Prime Minister Lloyd George with regard to a possible Irish settlement.

"From the reports this morning in the British and foreign press," said Mr. de Valera, "there seems to be doubt as to what our attitude is towards the British proposals. There seems to be doubt as to whether what I have said or whether our letter means acceptance or rejection.

"There ought to be no doubt in anybody's mind.

"We cannot and will not, on behalf of this nation, accept these terms.

"There is an Indian proverb reading: 'Fool me once, shame on you; fool me twice, shame on me.' The Irish people will not be fooled this time."

CHALLENGES STATEMENT THAT PROPOSALS CONTAIN REAL DOMINION STATUS OFFER

"It is said we are offered the status of Dominion Home Rule for Ireland—the status of the British Dominions. Ireland is offered no such thing. The statement that Ireland was offered a Dominion status contained two falsehoods. Where is Ireland? There is no Ireland in the terms, but two broken pieces of Ireland.

"What was offered was not even Dominion status. It was admitted the Dominions had the right to secede and could get out if they desired. We are told we must stay in whether we like it or not.

"We are not claiming the right to secede. There cannot be a question of secession, because there has never been union.

"Northern Ireland has regarded itself from its own viewpoint, and in entering negotiations they need not give up that point of view. I would be willing to suggest to the Irish people that they give up a good deal in order to have Ireland able to look into the future without anticipating distracting internal problems.

"All the time these negotiations have meant an attempt to get into touch with the people of the North and tell them we have no enmity and would make sacrifices for them which we would never think of making for Britain. We will be ready to give them every safeguard any reasonable person could say they were entitled to, and we are ready to leave the question of the North to external arbitration, or leave the whole question to external arbitration.

"England's claim is unreasonable. The claims of the minority in Ireland are unreasonable. But even unreasonable claims we would be ready to consider and I for one would be ready to go a long way to give way to them particularly to their sentiment, if we could get them to come with us and consider the interests of their own country and not be allying themselves with foreigners."

DECLARES IRELAND DOES NOT STAND BETWEEN BRITAIN AND THE REST OF WORLD

Mr. de Valera said the Irish nation did not stand between Great Britain and the world and was not shutting up the seas between the two islands.

"We have no enmity to England," he declared. "At least, if this question were settled I believe there would be none. The only enmity is to that rule which the Irish people hate to the marrow of their bones."

It was said, remarked the Irish Republican leader, that the Irish question was a problem. It was a problem, he declared,—"a problem of a powerful, selfish person wishing to encroach upon the rights, the property and the freedom of his neighbors." That was the fundamental problem to be settled. Human nature had to be taken into consideration, he pointed out, and they who were working for a complete and final settlement were to see to it that relations must be adjusted on the basis of right. Therefore, in considering the problem, they who had right on their side, he said, must count.

"We are willing to submit the question between Great Britain and Ireland to external arbitration," de Valera declared.

"The Irish people will not flinch because more arms have been ordered to this country."

The public meeting of the Dail Eireann was adjourned this afternoon to an indefinite date. Private sessions will be held in the meantime, beginning tomorrow.

ALL LEAVE FOR MEMBERS OF ROYAL IRISH CONSTABULARY CANCELLED TODAY

BELFAST, August 17.—(Associated Press)—All Royal Irish constabulary leave has been cancelled, dating from today, it was announced here this forenoon.

MOVE IS PRECAUTIONARY.

LONDON, August 17.—(Associated Press)—The measures taken to recall British troops on leave to their units in Ireland, announced yesterday, were stated in official circles here today to be purely of a precautionary nature.

It was further claimed that the steps taken were not aggressively precautionary, because the last thing the British Government would do would be to take steps to break the Irish truce. It was declared, it was realized in official quarters that the firing of the first shot on either side was likely to mean the resumption of sporadic outbursts of fighting throughout Southern Ireland.

DUBLIN, August 17.—(Associated Press) — Interest in the meeting of the Parliament or governing body of the Republican faction, continued unabated today, many people coming in from the country to witness one of the greatest events in the country's history. Dublin was as animated as it was last week, when the horse show was held, but today's visitors were of an entirely different class. Last week horsemen and society folk were here, while this week priests, farmers, small shoppkeepers from villages and Irish politicians crowd the streets.

Yesterday's rain, which lessened the enthusiasm of the people gathered about the Mansion House, ceased during the night, and throngs crowded the streets around the historic building. They appeared to be larger than ever, but they were orderly.

POINT TO ULSTER HINT.

DUBLIN, Aug. 17. — (Associated Press).—It was pointed out in political quarters here this afternoon that although Mr. de Valera, speaking for his Cabinet, had announced definitely that it would not accept the Government's offer of Dominion status, an outstanding feature of his speech was his expression of willingness to go a long way to meet Ulster, and to make sacrifices to meet her not only in her interests but in her sentiment.

Thus, it was commented, he apparently indicated that Ulster could come into the negotiations without abandoning any of her principles.

All this, it was considered, pointed to continued efforts behind the scenes to go into further communication with Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier which is generally believed here to be the cause of the long drawn out meeting of the Dail.

At today's session the various "ministers" of the Republican Cabinet submitted reports on their departments. Most of them were long and supplemented by speeches in Gaelic and English, but there was no discussion, except on the report of Michael Collins, the "Finance Minister," which gave Mr. de Valera an occasion to ask for a vote of thanks to the United States citizens who had contributed funds to the Sinn Fein. The vote was carried and Frank P. Walsh, United States legal adviser to Mr. de Valera, was asked to deliver the expression of gratitude to the United

BRITISH OPINION HOLDS IRISH WILL YET ACCEPT PLAN

Generally Thought De Valera and Lloyd George will Find Solution

EXPECT PLEBISCITE

Point to Passages in President's Speech Which Justify Forecast

LONDON, Aug. 17 — (Associated Press) — London newspapers, even those that have most warmly supported Irish aspirations, today viewed with considerable regret the statements made by Eamonn de Valera at yesterday's meeting of the Irish Republican Parliament. There was, however, reluctance to regard his speech as expressing Ireland's last word, and some editorials declared confidently that if the issue was placed before the Irish people the British terms of settlement would be accepted.

Assertions were made, on the strength of Dublin advices, that the Irish, having tasted peace since the establishment of the truce, would never consent to a return to hostilities, and that, indeed, few Irishmen believed there was any probability of a resumption of warfare.

Opinions differed as to whether the Republican Parliament would, itself, vote acceptance of the British terms, or would call a referendum. The predominant view was that acceptance of the British Government's offer would probably result in any case.

CLERGY URGING PEACE.

The Daily Mail said the Catholic clergy of Ireland were using their utmost influence in favor of acceptance, and it expressed belief that the "vast proportion" of the members of the Dail Eireann were determined to accept the British terms.

The London Times took occasion to warn the extremists who oppose acceptance, "that Great Britain's mind is finally made up and nothing can shake its determination not to yield upon the cardinal point of the maintenance of a union between Great Britain and Ireland.

Considerable prominence was given extracts from editorials appearing in United States newspapers, most of them earnestly advising the Irish not to reject the Government's offer.

The Daily Telegraph, commenting upon these editorials, said: "Americans are deeply impressed with the dramatic act of generous renunciation by the British Government in the pursuit of peace.

"They perceive, if some Irishmen do not, what an immense moral sacrifice the Government has made rather than see the ruin of Ireland consummated, and they feel that some yielding should be apparent on the other side."

MAINTAIN OPTIMISM.

DUBLIN, Aug. 17. — (Associated Press.)—British civil officials in Dublin, many of whom assert that they have channels of communication with the inner workings of the Sinn Fein, are still hopeful of a settlement of the Irish problem.

These officials base their hopes on one section of de Valera's speech, in which he said:

"In the general election, which, in effect, was a plebiscite, the question was put to the Irish people what form of Government they wanted, and how they wished to live so that they might have the opportunity of working out for themselves their own national life in their own way.

"The answer the people gave was unmistakable. I do not say their answer was for a form of government, so much, because we are not Republican doctrinnaires, but it was for Irish freedom and Irish independence, and it was obvious to everybody who considered the question that Irish independence would not be realized at the present time in any other way so suitably as through a Republic.

"Hence it was that an Irish Republic, as such, was sanctioned by the representatives of the people, and that you, the representatives of the people, came here, and in public session declared the independence of the nation, and solemnly declared your determination that you would give your lives and everything you had in an endeavor to make that expression of the people effective, so that you would have not merely in your own hearts recognition of it, but that you might secure recognition of it from every nation throughout the earth."

This is taken by officials here as affording an opportunity for Mr. de Valera to accept a settlement of the controversy which does not involve a republic.

EXPECT A PLEBISCITE.

Further on in his speech Mr. de Valera quoted a statesman who had advocated the principle of self-determination, and this to the official mind in Dublin points to a recommendation by the Sinn Fein "Cabinet" to the Dail Eireann to submit the British Imperial Government's offer to a vote of the people of Ireland.

Meanwhile, according to the belief expressed here, Mr. de Valera expects the British Government to apply further pressure on Ulster to enter the proposed Irish dominion while retaining its local autonomy. Advices received in Dublin, however, seem to show that the Belfast officials are less inclined than ever to come to an agreement with Dublin. Big Belfast business men are credited in these advices as being increasingly distrustful of the capacity of the Sinn Fein in practical affairs.

A NOTABLE CEREMONY.

The proceedings of the Dail Eireann yesterday were carried out with order and discipline. Not a single uniformed man was present, if the porter of Mansion House, where the session was held, in his gold-braided suit is excluded from this category. A few youths with yellow and green badges controlled traffic in the streets. Similar squads kept order in the Chamber, subduing cheering, which was taboo, only forgetting to raise a warning hand when Eamonn de Valera and Frank P. Walsh, John J. McKeown and Michael Collins entered the hall or stood to sign the roll of membership.

John T. Kelly, who was "Speaker" in the first Dail Eireann and acted as temporary chairman, delivered the opening address and also made a speech in which he declined re-election as "Speaker." Both speeches were in Gaelic.

Mr. de Valera also spoke Gaelic in opening the session of the Dail Eireann. What the Clerk had to say was said in Irish and Professor McNeill, the new "Speaker" also used the ancient Irish tongue. In other cases while the speeches were opened in Irish they ended in English, presumably out of consideration for numerous of the auditors having no knowledge of Gaelic.

The Clerk had difficulty in announcing some English names such as that of Erskine Childers, a nephew of one of Gladstone's Chancellors whose name would not bear translation into Irish.

There were many prominent persons present in the audience and some notable absentees. Joe Devlin, who was elected a member, was in town, but he spent the day with old Nationalist friends and did not answer the roll call. With the exception of Mr. de Valera from Down and Mr. Collins, member from Armagh, all the other representatives from Ulster absented themselves.

An interested spectator was John H. Parnell, brother of the late Irish Leader, an oil painting of whom was in a place of honor over the Speaker's chair beside those of Daniel O'Connell and other famous Irish leaders. Other persons in the assemblage included men well known in Irish life, a few Unionists, among them Sir Andrew Beattie, a member of the Dublin Corporation, a scattering of Nationalists, Frank P. Walsh, who as a guest occupied a chair to the left of the Speaker, and Dr. Moore, a Canadian Methodist Minister.

DEATH ENDS SAD CAREER OF KING OF SERBIA AT 77

Had Been Ill for Long Time —Suffered from Pleurisy

MODERN KING LEAR

Had Lived Tragic Life—Educated in French School

BELGRADE, Jugo Slavia, Aug. 17. —King Peter of Serbia died yesterday at the age of 77.

Pomp and homage denied him much of his life will be paid him at his funeral.

Prince Regent Alexander immediately ordered the country into mourning.

It was planned that full royal honors be paid the King and that his body lie in state until the funeral hour.

As if by magic stories appeared of Peter's valor and sagacity. In contrast to the derision which often met him in life were the eulogies of his wisdom as a ruler and his courage as a soldier.

GRADUALLY FAILED.

King Peter, who for a long time had been ill, was reported early in June to be in a serious condition. He was then suffering from pleurisy. A short time afterwards he was said to be steadily improving in health, and his physicians declared him out of danger.

Nothing was heard of the aged monarch until a few days ago when a despatch from Belgrade said he was seriously ill with congestion of the lungs. He sank into unconsciousness Friday, remaining in that condition until the following day. His condition became worse Sunday night and he gradually failed until the end.

THIRD OF HIS HOUSE.

The founder of the Serbian dynasty was Kara-George (Black George) Petrovitch, who, in 1804, was proclaimed Commander-in-Chief in Serbia, but was murdered in 1817, leaving two sons—Alexis, born 1801, and Alexander, born 1806. In 1842 Alexander was chosen reigning Prince by the Skupshtina, and the title was confirmed by the Porte, but the dignity was not hereditary. In 1858 Alexander had to abdicate, in 1868 he was banished, and in 1885 he died in exile.

King Peter was thus the third of his house who have ruled in Serbia. He succeeded to the throne on the murder of King Alexander of the Obrenovitch dynasty and his Queen, Draga; was elected King by the Skupshtina June 2, and assumed royal rights and duties June 12, 1903.

The independence of Serbia from Turkey was established by article 34 of the Treaty of Berlin, signed July 13, 1878, and was solemnly proclaimed by Prince (afterwards King) Milan at his capital, August 22, 1878.

LEAR OF MODERN EUROPE.

The King Lear of Modern Europe, Peter had lived a tragic, disturbed life. He was born on June 29, 1844, the son of Alexander Kara-Georgevitch. He received a military education at the St. Cyr Military College in France, and entered the French army in 1870, with the rank of captain. During the Franco-Prussian war he fought with distinction and at the conclusion of the war he lived for several years in Paris, always remaining in touch with the affairs in Serbia, but without reasonable prospect of ever becoming King. He had inherited a moderate fortune from his father and it is said that Russia contributed materially to his maintenance.

Upon coming to the throne after the assassination of King Alexander and Queen Draga, in 1903, Peter's authority was at first merely nominal; the highest administrative offices being occupied by the regicides. All the Powers temporarily withdrew their representatives from Belgrade, as a protest, but at the Coronation of King Peter, in September 1904, all the European courts, except Great Britain were officially represented. It was not until May, 1906, the diplomatic relations with Serbia were resumed by Great Britain.

RE-CREATED SERBIAN ARMY.

He re-created the Serbian Army, and by his victories over the Turks and Bulgarians in 1912 and 1913, formed the traditions which enabled the nation to face the shock of Austria in the European war. Then came the onslaught of Bulgaria and the horrors of the Serbian retreat, which the old King shared. Leaning on his stick, he went on foot across the Albanian mountains through severe cold, and by paths rendered almost impassable by the frozen snow.

A tragic figure to the last, his death occurred within a few weeks of the ratification of the new constitution of the kingdom of the Serbs, Croats, and Slovenes, the realization of which was his life work.

RETURNED FROM EXILE.

After the liberation of Serbia from the Austrians in October, 1918, King Peter returned to Belgrade with his army and entered actively into the re-organization and re-construction of his shattered country. Failing health, however, compelled him soon after to seek retirement to private life. The affairs of state and court were turned over to his son, Prince Alexander, who became Prime Regent of the new state of Jugoslavia.

Early in 1919, the King was removed to a quiet retreat near Athens, Greece, where he lived for a year or more in a small six-room house overlooking the Bay of Phalerom.

To meet his long-cherished wish that he might die on his native soil, the Serbian authorities late last year brought the invalid King back to his beloved Belgrade. He avoided society and kept aloof from all court and public functions.

Peter was married on July 30, 1883, to Princess Zorka, daughter of Prince Nicholas of Montenegro. He became a widower on March 4, 1890.

The children of King Peter are: Princess Helene, born on October 23, 1884; Prince George, born on August 27, 1887. On March 27, 1909, Prince George renounced his right of succession to the throne in favor of Prince Alexander. Prince Alexander, who will succeed his father as King, was born on December 4, 1888. King Peter had one brother, Prince Arsene, born on April 4, 1859.

THIRSTY BERLINERS PLEASED.

BOARD TO ADVISE THE TREASURY UPON NATIONAL FINANCES

Sir Robert Horne Announces Committee Will Make Recommendations

CUT EXPENDITURES

Sir Eric Geddes Heads Body—Comment on Gifts of Ships to Dominions

LONDON, Aug. 17—(By Canadian Press)—In the House of Commons yesterday Sir Robert Horne, Chancellor of the Exchequer announced the formation of a committee to advise the Treasury respecting national finances, the committee to consist of Sir Eric Geddes, chairman, Lord Farrington, Lord Inchcape, Sir Joseph Paton MacLay and Sir Guy Granet. The committee, said Sir Robert, would deliberate on the treasury report to the Chancellor of the Exchequer and be charged with the duty of making recommendations to the Chancellor of the Exchequer for effecting forthwith all possible reductions in national expenditures on supply services, having regard to the present prospective conditions of the revenue.

Questions of policy would remain for the exclusive consideration of the Cabinet, it was announced, but it would be open to the committee to deal with expenditure in connection with questions of policy. The treasury organization would be employed as in the ordinary course for the purpose of committee work and some other member of the Civil Service would be seconded for the work with it.

The committee, said Sir Robert, would be provided with all information requisite to perform its task but would not necessarily take formal evidence and the question of publishing its report would remain for consideration.

COMMENT ON GIFTS OF SHIPS.

LONDON, Aug. 17—(By Canadian Press) — The Manchester Guardian publishes the following regarding the strictures by the public accounts committee upon the gifts, without the formal consent of Parliament, of warships, etc., to the dominions:

"Our Cabinet's proper relation to the dominions is not that of a wealthy uncle visiting his nephew's school and stimulating personal regard by handsome tips. The taxpayers are the uncles, and if the uncles, so deeply impoverished by the war, are to tip nephews, so much enriched by it as were some of the dominions, we might at least be allowed to know we are doing it."

The Westminster Gazette remarks that such gifts would proceed with all the more grace if given formally through Parliament.

DECIDE UPON CANADA'S LEAGUE DELEGATES

But Premier Declines to State Names at the Present Time

OTTAWA, Aug. 17—(By Canadian Press)—At the conclusion of a lengthy conference with Sir George Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce, Premier Meighen stated yesterday afternoon that a decision as to who shall represent Canada at the forthcoming meetings of the Assembly of the League of Nations in Geneva next month, had been arrived at. The Prime Minister declined, however, to state the names of Canada's representatives, saying that they must pass through Cabinet council in the form of an Order-in-Council before the announcement could be made.

It is practically certain that Hon. C. J. Doherty, Minister of Justice, will be one of Canada's representatives, and it is considered likely that Sir George Perley, Canadian Higher Commissioner in London, would be the other. Sir George Foster who was one of Canada's representatives at the last meeting of the League has been mentioned as the likely choice this year. But it is thought that the vexed political situation, and the possibility of a general election in the not distant future will necessitate his staying in Canada. It is probable that Canada's delegates will leave within a week.

About 125,000 teachers, out of a total of 650,000, leave the profession annually.

AWKWARD POINT IN LIQUOR LAW

Court to Decide Meaning of Exportation—Also Carrier's Liability

The vexed question as to whether the export of liquor from the Province of Quebec is prohibited by the new liquor law, may be threshed out as the result of a legal discussion in the liquor court this morning between Judge Bazin, presiding, and J. L. Gendron, representing a man named Choquette, charged with a breach of the Liquor Act.

Judge Bazin expressed the opinion that by exportation was meant a commercial transaction. He was also of the opinion that a man transporting liquor, even though he is a common carrier and does not know what he is carrying, is still liable under the Act.

The discussion arose out of a case where an American residing in Detroit had some liquor stored in Montreal. He sent his cousin in Montreal the key to the house in which it was stored, asking that the liquor be shipped to him. The cousin employed Choquette as a carrier, to send it. It is alleged that Choquette did not know what he was handling, and while he was loading the trucks the police arrested Choquette and all those working with him.

The contention of Mr. Gendron was that Choquette, not knowing what he was carrying, and being a carrier by trade, was not responsible; that it was no offence to export under the Quebec Act, because the exportation of liquor did not come under provincial jurisdiction, and that the Quebec Act did not apply.

Judge Bazin was of the opinion that in this particular case the question of exportation did not enter. Exportation, he stated, means a commercial transaction and there was no proof that there had been any commercial transaction in this case. So far as Choquette's responsibility was concerned, he held that a man who handled liquor, even though he did not know what he was handling, was liable under the Quebec Act.

Judge Bazin will render a decision on the various points later.

THIRSTY PILGRIMS SEEKING RELIEF IN QUEBEC

Confident in the assurance that they were on their way to blessed relief from southern drought, the members of the Wormwood Club, of Easton, Pa., blazoned the fact all along their itinerary by a streamer, spread over the back of their car, bearing the words: "From the American Desert, en route to the Land of Plenty."

They have reason to know the happy fate that awaited them in Quebec Province, for this is their third annual visit to this province in quest of the cup that cheers. They visited Quebec, Three Rivers and other towns in the province, taking in Montreal on their last lap before returning home to painful aridity lightened by pleasant memories. Much interest was aroused by their banner as their car parked in St. James street, this morning, and many were the passers-by who stopped to admire the motto inscribed thereon.

The members visiting Montreal are Sidney Kline, Herman Kline, Ralph R. Foran and A. Roob, the latter from Porterfield, Athens, Oh. The club's membership has been sadly depleted by casualties of late, Herman Kline explained, several of their members having fallen victims to feminine charms and become benedicts, which involved summary expulsion. So long as a remnant of the organization remains, however, they count on being able to continue their pilgrimage annually to the "Land of Plenty."

BANANAS TOO HIGH; SHOULD SELL FOR HALF RETAIL PRICE

"It's a crime—the price the public has to pay for bananas," Eugene Sherwin, fruit broker and representative in Montreal of the Atlantic Fruit Company, told The Star when asked the reason for the prevailing high price of the fruit. Bananas are retailing at 40 cents per dozen in the city, while in Westmount 50 and 60 cents per dozen are asked, according to size. Yet, he states, there is a glut of bananas on the market.

"Bannas should retail at not over 25c a dozen at the outside. The wholesaler could sell cheaper than that and still make money," said Mr. Sherwin. He went on to show the disparity between what the wholesale houses pay and what is paid over the counter by the consumer.

"Wholesalers," he pointed out, "are buying bananas for the low price of 90 cents to $1 a bunch of from 28 to 30 lbs. or $2.50 for a large bunch of 55 or 60 lbs. Bananas have fallen greatly in price. Last year wholesalers were paying $4 for a bunch of 55 or 60 lbs. This year they were paying in many cases less than $2.50. Small bunches for which last year they paid $2, they now obtained for $1. Prices to the consumer were maintained from week to week though bananas were selling today for half the prices they were selling for in June when the wholesale price was $5.30 a hundred pounds. "Now," said Mr. Sherwin, "the original importers cannot get $3 a hundred pounds."

MANY GOATS.

The "goats" in this case, Mr. Sherwin pointed out, were the public, the importers in the United States, who were losing thousands of dollars owing to the low prices they have to sell for the wholesalers owing to the glut in the market, and in many cases, the grocer, who is "stuck" because he is not in a position always to know the markets. Mr. Shewin gave the instance of a retailer who bought seven bunches, (about eight dozen) for $4 a bunch. The wholesaler could have sold them to him at $2 a bunch and still make 100 per cent, he declared.

The peddler, Mr. Sherwin pointed out, had the advantage over the grocer in that he was on the ground and could get to know the prices, whereas the grocer, especially in outlying districts who telephoned his orders was ignorant in many cases of the prevailing market prices. Mr. Sherwin recognized fully that the wholesale merchants had losses to make up, but he maintained that the public should have the benefit of a cheap market. If wholesalers reduced prices in proportion to what they were paying for the goods they would create a better market.

SCAFFOLD BROKE, TWO MEN INJURED

Plank, Laid on Ladders, Tilted—Men Fell to Street

Two men were injured when a scaffold which they were using to paint the walls of the assembly hall at the Montreal Technical School, 53 Sherbrooke street west, collapsed at 11 o'clock this morning and they fell 12 to 14 feet to the floor.

The two men, employes of R. E. Jones, painter, of 60a McGill College avenue, were: R. Mandeville, 25 years old, of 2232 St. Urbain street, whose ribs were broken and who sustained severe contusions in several parts of the body; and, O. Lapointe, 45 years of age, of 504 Des Erables street, who was badly shaken up and bruised. They were taken to the Montreal General Hospital, where Mandeville was admitted to a ward. Lapointe's condition was not serious and he was allowed to go home after treatment in the hospital's out-door department.

According to the account of the accident given to the men's employer, they were both on the same plank laid across ladders for work high up on the wall of the Assembly Hall. It is believed that the plank was tilted at one end and fell when one, or both, of the men were climbing down for fresh paint.

IMPRISONMENT AND HEAVY FINE

Thousand Dollar Fine and Three Months for Selling Liquor

Alfred Brown, 257 St. Martin, was fined $1,000 and sentenced to three months imprisonment this morning in the liquor court by Judge Bazin when found guilty of two charges of breaches of the Quebec Liquor Law.

According to the evidence produced by the prosecution Brown was doing a roaring trade but served a couple of liquor policemen with gin and took payment for it. Brown stated that he served them with beer and did not charge for it, but his story was not believed.

BAILIFFS' SALES SCANDAL

PROPOSALS FOR GREATER PUBLICITY AND JUSTICE

To the Editor of The Star:

Sir,—Referring to my former letter on this subject, and thanking you most heartily for the splendid publicity you gave the subject, I would like to offer a suggestion towards a remedy of the evil.

First, I would recommend that instead of a sale in the house, the sale should take place in central auction room, once a week, or fortnight, when full publicity should be given, and real competition secured.

2nd—That only sufficient goods be removed to said auction room to reasonably cover the amount of the debt. As it is, a piano worth $300 may be sold to satisfy a debt of ten dollars.

3rd—That some simple form of declaration before some officer of the law as to the goods owned, be a preliminary to any sale, and the officer could designate what should be offered for sale, and due notice be given before removal.

It is well known that bailiffs' sales rarely realize any reasonable sum, hardly ever covering the amount of the debt. It would therefore appear that the only persons who would suffer by a change of procedure would be a few second-hand dealers, mostly of alien origin and of undesirable type.

I am, sir, yours sincerely,

HAROLD J. INNS.

Executive Superintendent, Society for the Protection of Women and Children.

CAUGHT BY LIFT; SKULL FRACTURED

Head Jammed Between Elevator and Ninth Floor Door

Caught between one of the elevators and an elevator door on the ninth floor of the Salada Tea Company's building, 1 St. Lawrence Boulevard about 11 o'clock this morning, Lucien Blais, 22 years old, an employe of the company, living at 1280d De St. Valler street, had his skull fractured. He was taken in an ambulance to the Montreal General Hospital where he was admitted in a serious condition.

According to information given to The Star by officials of the Salada Tea Company, Blais was on the ninth floor of the building where he is employed as an electrician's helper. He was waiting for the operator to take him to a lower floor. Only one of the two elevators in the building was working. The other was being used by men of an elevator company who were repairing a door on the tenth floor from it. Although no one actually saw the accident, it is believed that Blais became impatient while waiting for his elevator. He could not open the automatic doors of its shaft, but part of the door of the engaged elevator on his floor had been removed to enable the men on the tenth floor to work. He is thought to have thrust his head over the top of this door and called down the shaft to the elevator in the other shaft alongside it to come for him. At this moment the men in the elevator on the tenth floor started to descend. Blais' head was caught between the floor of their car and the top of the door.

He was quickly released when the accident was discovered and an ambulance summoned.

ASKS SUPPORT FOR PRESENT COUNCIL

An appeal to the citizens of Montreal to re-elect the present aldermen at the coming municipal elections, on the grounds that they have experience of civic affairs, was made by Mayor Martin at yesterday's council meeting.

It was announced by the Mayor that the holding of the municipal elections has been postponed one day from October 17 to 18, in order not to conflict with the commencement of the Jewish Feast of Weeks, which takes place on October 17, and would thus prevent the Jewish electors from voting. The necessary change in the arrangements had been made by Premier Taschereau, to whom the situation had been explained. October 18 is also a Jewish holy day, but as the polls will be open until 10 p.m. Jewish electors will be able to vote after sunset.

NO MOTIVE FOR SHOOTING FOUND

Wounded Man Still Unconscious—Robbery Not Motive of Crime

Nicholas Melas, 43 years of age of 581 St. James street, clerk in the candy and fruit store of P. J. Demetre at that address who was shot in the head by an unknown man at 6 o'clock on Sunday morning, is lying in a state of coma at the Montreal General Hospital, and has been unable to give the detectives any clue to who shot him. The wounded man is said to have a pellet, or some other substance, pressing on his brain. Physicians in charge of the wounded man state that he will probably recover within the next few days.

While Melas has been lying in the hospital no effort has been spared to run down the man who fired the shot from the gun at him. A meagre description is all the police have to work on. What puzzles the detectives is that they can find no motive for the shooting. Robbery was apparently not the motive as the money in the cash drawer was not touched. Besides, it is pointed out, that robbers are not usually armed with single barrel shot guns.

A morning paper yesterday announced that revenge on account of the injured man being engaged in making a book on horse races was, the motive for the crime. P. H. Demetre, employer of Melas, indignantly denies this statement stating that the wounded man has been in his employ for nearly 25 years and never had anything to do with the races. Mr. Demetre called on Chief of Detectives Lepage who called in the press to hear the statement. Chief Lepage states that the statement credited to his men is not correct.

WAGES REDUCED, BUT NOT FARES

Tramway Company Declares Fares Will Not Be Cheaper

There will be no reduction of tramway fares by the Montreal Tramways Company, even with the cut in wages, which is now effective. This was stated at the office of the Tramway Commission this morning and the reason given was that the contract between the company and the City of Montreal provides for an annual payment of $500,000, before any operating surplus that there might be may be used to reduce fares.

Besides this, there are other taxes which must be met annually, and, theoretically, before the company could hope to reduce present schedules of rates, there should be $1,000,000 in the reserve fund, it was stated.

OTTAWA, Aug. 17.—Though hopeful that the difficulty may yet be adjusted by negotiation without recourse to a conciliation board the Minister of Labor has creafed such a Board in the dispute between the Montreal Tramways Company and their men. Arthur Brossard, K.C., replaces Arthur Sauve, M.L.A., as representative of the employes, while the Minister, failing a nomination by the company itself, has selected A. P. Frigon to represent it.

WHERE 35,000,000 PEOPLE FACE STARVATION

MAN "FRAMED" TO PROTECT WOMAN, JUDGE DECLARES

Captain of Moralty Squad Knew Man Prosecuted Was Not Guilty, Judge Bazin Says—Methods of Presenting Cases Criticized

In dismissing a case for a breach of the Quebec Liquor Act preferred against a man named Albert O'Bourne, Judge Bazin this morning roundly criticized Captain Sauve, chief of the morality squad. He stated that it was patent on the face of the evidence given that the police captain was trying to "frame up" on a man to save a woman from prosecution. The Quebec Liquor Law, he added, was being used to railroad O'Bourne and he was not going to stand for anything like that. The impression seemed to be, continued Judge Bazin, that the police could bring a case under the Act and leave it to the judge to prove the case and convict. That was not what he was there for.

O'Bourne was charged with selling liquor, but it appeared that a woman, not named, was the person who was responsible. Witnesses alleged that the police knew this and Judge Bazin believed them. When the case was dismissed there was some applause in the court.

BANK ROBBERS ARE STILL AT LARGE

No trace has yet been found of the men who on Friday last held up the Molson's Bank branch, corner of Bordeaux and Mount Royal avenue, covered the employes with revolvers and took the sum of $2,844 from the teller's cash box. A reward of $500 will be paid by the bonding company, for any information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of the robbers. The Broderick Detective Service has been called in on the case to assist the local police.

A number of suspects have been taken to detective headquarters but none could be identified by the two men in the bank at the time of the robbery. From information received from other sources it would appear that at least one of the men has left the city. No expense will be spared to apprehend the thieves, and although there have been no apparent results so far, the hue and cry for the robbers has spread over the country. An excellent description of the men has been secured and circulars have been sent to all police chiefs both in Canada and the United States.

ONE CENT MEAL PROVES MYTH

Searcher After Cheap Food Elysium Meets With Disappointment

R. L. Werry, secretary of the Anti-Liquor League, who said in a sermon last Sunday that there were a number of so-called restaurants which now gave meals for one cent and the price of the liquor consumed, was asked by a Star reporter today where the philanthropic places could be found. Mr. Werry mentioned one place on Craig street, and to confirm the glorious news, the Star man tarried not on his way. But he was doomed to disappointment. The place turned out to be not a restaurant, where it would be necessary to serve a meal in order to sell beer or wine, but a tavern where it is unnecessary to supply food in order to serve beer. "One cent meals!" said the proprietor of the alleged elysium, where a glass of beer, according to Mr. Werry, cost a nickel and a sandwich one cent. "Say, do I look dippy?" He went on to declare that Mr. Werry had surely been misinformed when he said that this establishment sold any such meals. He would be overjoyed, he declared with feeling, to find such a place himself.

Thinking that Mr. Werry might have been mistaken in the exact location, and with still a faint glimmer of hope left, the Star man made a tour of the vicinity. Again disappointment. Loud "haw, haws" were his only reward in each of the places he went to, and in not one had the news of such a dangerous competitor as a one cent meal man been heard.

FATALLY HURT WHEN CAR TURNED OVER

A verdict of accidental death was returned by Coroner McMahon last night at the inquest into the death of Mrs. James Quinlan of Coteau du Lac who was fatally injured by the overturning of an automobile in which she and three other persons were driving near Vaudreuil station late on Monday afternoon. Mrs. Quinlan died at the Western Hospital at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. Relatives and friends informed the Coroner last night that they were anxious to return to Coteau. An inquest was then held instead of this morning as had previously been ordered.

Evidence given by a resident near the scene of the accident showed that the roadway where the car turned turtle had been in bad condition since spring. The late Mrs. Quinlan was a sister of Mrs. B. A. Conroy, wife of Dr. Conroy of Point St. Charles. She is survived by five grown-up children. The funeral will be held at Coteau du Lac tomorrow morning.

MUNICIPALITIES MAY BORROW.

The Metropolitan Commission yesterday authorized the raising of $1,500,000 to cover the payment of debts of four municipalities falling due on September 1. The municipalities concerned are Montreal North, St. Michel, Pointe aux Trembles, and Laval de Montreal. An audit of the accounts of the four municipalities will be completed in order to determine all debts that are legally due.

COLONEL HOUSE STATES BRITAIN HAS COME BACK

Despite War Losses, Labor Troubles and Drought, is Going Ahead

LABOR DEFEAT

Industrial Contest of Long Standing, Now Temporarily Arranged

LONDON, Aug. 12.—(By Col. Edward M. House. Special Cable to Montreal Star-Philadelphia Ledger. Copyright.) — Great Britain is the home of pessimism. If credence were given to all one hears, there could be but one conclusion reached, and that would be that the Empire was in the throes of political and economic dissolution. To take them at their estimate of themselves would be to make the mistake Germany made in 1914. It is much safer to accept history for a guide and forecast from it the future. If this is done we must believe that, hard hit as they have been during these last seven terrible years, this sturdy, self reliant people will be the first of the European belligerents to regain their financial and economic equilibrium.

The British stood the financial brunt of the war up to the time the United States became a participant, and since the war this kingdom has been the seat of more domestic troubles than any of the five Allied and Associated powers. In addition to all they have gone through, a drought has come this year which has shortened the agricultural yield.

BADLY ADVISED.

It was at this period that they began to lose the sympathy of a large part of their fellow citizens who up to that point had wished them well, and without this sympathy their efforts were certain to fail.

In the meanwhile the Russian experiment did not go well. No one, not even the radical element in the ranks of labor, wished any approach to it. The events transpiring in Russia were casting their shadows over the world of labor everywhere, and it became the part of wisdom to move cautiously in order not to precipitate a struggle.

This caution labor has observed in almost every country save Great Britain. Here they were either badly advised, or were unable to visualize for themselves the conditions unfavorable to a contest at this time. In addition to the general swing to the right of sentiment, which has been prevalent throughout all countries during the last year or eighteen months, they chose to strike on a sailing market for coal, and during a world wide industrial despression. The effort was doomed to comparative failure from the start.

LABOR IS DISHEARTENED.

While something was obtained for their side in the way of profit-sharing concessions, the outcome was unsatisfactory, and has done more to dishearten labor than any happening in recent years. Somewhere along the line the plans went amiss, for it always had been the intention, when the big effort was made, that there should be the threat of a sympathetic strike of transportation workers—a threat which should become a "fait accompli" in the event it was needed to bring success.

The threat came, but nothing worse followed. It was found that if the sympathetic strike was called, not more than 40 per cent. of the men would respond and those reluctantly. The transportation workers had already been given a settlement which they regarded as being fairly satisfactory, and they were in no mood to be used by the miners.

The failure to carry off successfully the long-threatened general strike was the finishing touch, and has given labor less confidence in the future than they have yet had.

The labor situation in Great Britain and the troubles which have been long brewing, and which have recently culminated, are the essence of the economic outlook for these islands. While the settlement with the miners is not permanent, still it has disposed of some troublesome questions, and another such disturbance probably will not occur again soon. We may therefore look forward to a considerable period of industrial composure as far as labor is concerned.

FINANCES NOT HOPELESS.

The financial situation is bad, but less so than in any of the late belligerent countries except the United States. With a steady improvement of the economic condition, which is now looked for, the financial condition will also respond.

Unlike Germany and France, Great Britain did not gamble upon winning the war and having the defeated enemy pay the costs. She paid, through heavy taxation, a large part of war expenses as it progressed. We did likewise, and the wisdom of such action now is manifest.

The war was on such a colossal scale that it has resulted in loss for all concerned. The former central empires are good for only a small part of the total cost and the victorious nations are but little less burdened than the defeated nations.

LOSS IN NATIONAL INCOME.

In 1913 Great Britain had a national income of approximately $12,000,000,000 and a national wealth of about $80,000,000,000. The national debt was then something over $3,000,000,000. The foreign investments and in the Dominions totalled nearly $18,000,000,000. It is estimated that there were some $2,000,000,000 more invested abroad privately, making a total of about $20,000,000,000.

Through the necessities of war it is estimated that $5,000,000,000 of foreign investments were liquidated, principally those held in the United States, leaving the balance now at about $15,000,000,000. In addition to this reduction in foreign investments, Great Britain owes the United States and other foreign countries, in the form of war debts about $4,000,000,000 making a difference in the national balance sheet of something under $10,000,000,000.

BRITAIN'S DIFFICULTIES.

That is but one of the misfortunes that the war brought to this country. The entire financial, industrial and social fabric was disorganized. When war came it was necessary to change production from a peace to a war basis; when the war ended it had to be changed back. In the meanwhile much had happened. The cost of living had risen to unheard-of figures, and the wages of labor went hand-in-hand with it. Then, of necessity, came inflation and afterward an attempt at deflation.

As if these were not sufficient obstacles to contend against, labor undertook to right what was considered long-time grievances. The situation was difficult enough if every class, including labor, had struggled to right things, but to have dissension and abstractions at such a critical time was almost fatal to reconstruction.

SLACKENING OF LABOR.

One of the most serious obstacles with which the country has had to contend, and with which it is still contending, is the slackening of labor. This waste is variously estimated at from 25 per cent to 50 per cent over pre-war days. It is felt in all industries—in the mines, railways, and in every activity requiring the human equation.

The Liverpool Steamship Owners' Association, assert that it takes five ships to do the work formerly done by four, and they point to the disastrous consequences. It is claimed that it is doubtful if any greater volume of imports could be passed through the ports because of the waste in carrying power.

They say that British imports cannot increase unless it is possible to quicken the rate at which traffic is passed through the ports, and that exports must decrease unless it is possible to bring from abroad a more abundant supply of food in order that wages and the cost of production may be brought down to figures which will make it possible to market the products of the factories and mills.

That is a gloomy outlook, but it presents in a telling way one of the many difficulties which must be met by this war-shattered nation. That it will conquer them all is a matter of but little doubt, for the intelligence, the courage and the determination are all here and at work.

NEED FOR ECONOMY.

One of the things needful to success is an immediate and drastic reduction of the budgets. The agitation which has been going on in this direction is bearing fruit. Upon this phase of reconstruction, the well-known economist, Edgar Crammond, said in a recent address:

"The struggle for the maintenance of world position is ceaseless, and as the populations of the European powers increase it will become more severe. For the time being the struggle has passed from the military domain to the economic domain, and it is of profound importance that we should enter upon this economic conflict under favorable conditions. The heart of the empire must be kept sound, and the first condition of this is a policy of ruthless economy."

After giving the increase in population and wealth since 1800, he also says that if there should be an equivalent increase of wealth and population in the next 100 years, as may be reasonably expected, the repayment of the war debt should not present any insuperable difficulties to the next two generations.

RAILROAD PROBLEM.

The English railway situation is not very dissimilar to that in the United States when the U. S. Government turned the railways back to the owners. On August 1st Government control here will cease and plans covering the transfer have about been completed. As compensation for all claims against the Government, such as wear and tear, etc., a grant of 60,000,000 pounds is proposed. Half of this is to be paid in December and half some time in 1922. It is as yet uncertain what the roads will do with this, but it will probably be placed on surplus account, to be used as may seem best.

Present passenger rates are about 75 per cent and freight rates 100 per cent above pre-war rates. It is asserted here, as in the United States, that the rates have reached a point greater than the traffic will bear and that some adjustments must be made. The problem is what rate will produce the maximum-paying business, and this is in process of being worked out.

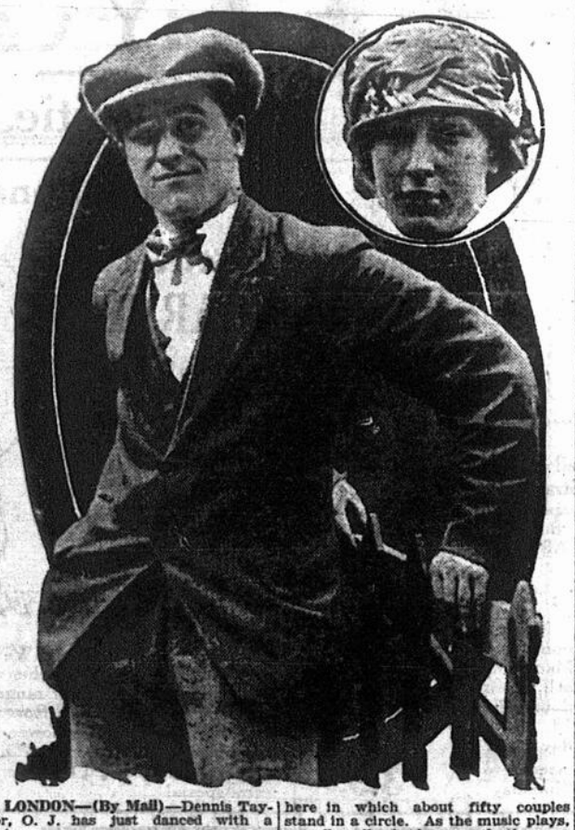
However railroad tariffs do not cut as large a figure in the life of the nation as they do in the United States. On the whole there is reason to believe that the railroad situation here is much better than with us, and if it is intelligently handled there seems to be no insurmountable obstacle in the way of making it satisfactory to the public and to the shareholder.

BRITISH LABOR IN THE VAN.

In conclusion, it will be well to emphasize one again the part British labor must play in the future, for it will probably be here and not in Russia or the United States that equitable adjustments between capital and labor will finally be made. And as these adjustments are made in Great Britain so probably will they eventually be accepted throughout the western world.

The east has different problems and may well reach different conclusions from those reached in the west. But Europe and America must in the long run solve their labor problems largely along the same lines. Therefore let us hope that British labor may be guided by wisdom and that they will act with moderation.

OUT OF WORK — DANCED WITH PRINCESS MARY



LONDON—(By Mail)—Dennis Taylor, O. J. has just danced with a princess.

O. J.?

Out of a job!

The princess?

Mary, daughter of the King.

The place?

Paddy's Goose Club, in Shadwell, one of the great dock districts of London.

Dennis, or "Gady" as he is popularly known in Shadwell, did his bit in the war, but things along the docks are slack now and "Gady's" out of work.

Princess Mary's escorts, during her visit to Shadwell, suggested that she might want to look in on the dance of the Paddy's Goose Club. She decided she not only wanted to do that, but she wanted also to dance.

But let "Gady" tell what happened.

It was the big moment of my life," he says. "We have a dance down here in which about fifty couples stand in a circle. As the music plays, we all walk slowly around, the men catching the girls' hands as they pass.

"When there is a pause in the music, each man takes as his partner the young woman opposite him.

"We were just forming the circle when the Princess came in. She became my partner and believe me there was some nervous, blushing, ex-service man.

"And to cap it all our jazz band started up with the tune 'Oh My What a Girl You've Got!

"It didn't bother the Princess. When she saw I was getting embarrassed she asked whether we were going to dance a waltz or fox trot.

"I told her it was a fox trot and she instantly changed her step. She is a fine dancer and, if I may be permitted to speak so of Her Highness, a mighty nice girl."

ALBANIA APPEALS FOR LEAGUE INTERVENTION

Fears Peace Menaced by Recent Events in Northern Albania

GENEVA, Aug. 17.— (Associated Press).— The Albanian Government, as a member of the League of Nations, has requested its intervention, under clause XI. of the League Covenant, to keep the peace between Albania and Serbia, which it considers has been menaced by recent events in northern Albania.

Viscount Ishii, president of the League Council, has ordered the request placed on the agenda of the September meeting of the council.

LLOYD GEORGE'S EXPLANATION OF EUROPE'S WORRIES

Allies Lifting Customs Barriers on Rhine—Military Control Goes Later

PLEA FOR RUSSIA

Premier Says Official Report Indicates Conditions are Terrible

LONDON, Aug. 17. — (Associated Press.)—Mr. Lloyd George, during his speech in the Commons yesterday regarding Entente relations in which he declared the Allies were closer than ever, delivered a review covering the questions still worrying the European chancelleries.

One of the troublesome questions, the Prime Minister said, was that of the sanctions, or penalties imposed on Germany for non-compliance with treaty terms. Germany was doing her best in the matter of reparations, he thought, and the Allies felt that to prolong the irksome customs barriers on the Rhine would be unfair, and it was thus agreed to terminate them.

With regard to the military sections (the occupation of Ruhr region ports, etc.,) the French felt that some clauses of the Treaty had not yet been completely carried out regarding disarmament, and these sanctions would be retained for some time longer. The matter, he said, would come up at the next meeting of the Supreme Council.

REDUCE MILITARY BURDEN.

There was a general feeling, continued the Prime Minister, that the time had come for the gradual reduction of the military burden imposed upon Germany in the matter of occupation and control, the cost of which was absorbing almost the whole of the money which ought to be available for reparations, and which were a source of constant irritation.

The sooner Europe was settled down to normal the better. Germany was now exhausted, but, as she recovered, the military occupation and the control measures became more irksome, and he feared there would be danger of episodes.

Mr. Lloyd George said he appreciated France's apprehensions of what might ensue if Germany ever renewed her attacks, but the real security of France, he declared, depended upon three things. The first was disarmament, upon which Great Britain had always insisted. Germany could not build up great armaments in secret, and the Allies would be bound to know about the attempt long before it became a menace. The second, he said, was the recollection by Germany of the ruin the war which she had inaugurated had wrought on her own country, and the third was the knowledge that whoever provoked war wantonly brought the whole world upon the aggressor and the greater the initial success the greater in the end would be the disaster for the aggressor.

FAMINE EXTENT CONFIRMED.

The Prime Minister announced that the British trade agent in Moscow had fully confirmed the gigantic nature of the famine in Russia. He emphasized that what was needed to cope with the catastrophe was some international effort, and declared the surest means through which the Soviet Government could secure outside aid would be to recognize its obligations toward the foreign countries which had sent in their goods and invested their capital to help Russia in the past.

Mr. Lloyd George said that according to despatches received from Robert M. Hodgson, the British Representative in Moscow, thirty-five million pounds sterling would be required for the relief of the masses of the people, of whom thirty per cent are children, moving about in search of food. The Premier appealed to the Commons to set aside prejudice. Nobody in Paris had tried to make political capital out of Russia's needs.

PEASANTS HIDING GRAIN.

He argued that it was imperative to induce the peasants to part with hidden stores of grain and to provide transport and commodities to exchange against the grain.

This would be possible only in case the Soviet Government recognized its obligations, not for the Russian war debt, which matter could be settled later, but for goods and money sent into Russia from abroad.

If the Bolshevik authorities desired to restore confidence and attract the trading community at this terrible juncture, said the Premier, such obligations must be recognized.

TRAWLER IS FLOATED.

HALIFAX, N.S., Aug. 17. — Trawler C. D. Number Six, which went ashore on the Hen and Chickens Shoal, off Point Pleasant, Monday night, was successfully floated at high tide last night by the combined efforts of several tugs. She will be docked for examination.

CONFERENCE TO COST STATES AT LEAST $200,000

Initial Appropriation of That Amount is Asked

HARDING APPROVES

Amount to Be Added to Deficiency Bill in Senate

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—(United News.)—On the basis of the first official estimates, it will cost the American Government at least $100,000 a month in its attempt to limit world armaments and settle problems of friction in the Far East.

This is revealed in a memorandum, prepared by Under-Secretary of State Henry P. Fletcher and submitted to Congress by President Harding, requesting an initial appropriation of $200,000 "at the earliest possible date." Fletcher, however, emphasized his inability to calculate in advance the printing costs attendant upon the arms conference and "I must also point out," he added, "that the estimate is based on the sessions of the conference covering the period of only two months. If the sessions are prolonged beyond that period, it will no doubt prove necessary to secure an additional appropriation."

REWARD FOR DELEGATES.

Fletcher's figures do not appear to include amounts which must be paid the delegates for their extraordinary expenses, nor do they stipulate the exact compensation which is to be paid the negotiators and their expert advisers. They do show, however, that the conference is to be on a scale equal to that at Paris. Among the minimum requirements this Government will have to meet is listed "the organization of secretariat-general for the conference."

The preparations contemplated therefore seem to indicate that the total expenditure eventually will necessitate a large deficiency appropriation. Fletcher, however, appears to reveal a hope, if not a belief that the Washington meet may be out of the trenches by Christmas—and officials here believe that a majority of the foreign delegates will wish to return home for the holidays.

Fletcher states that the sum set is the minimum and Harding, in submitting the estimates to Congress, declares that "in the statement of reasons set forth by the Under-Secretary of State, I concur and recommend the appropriation as being in the public interest."

ONE THOUSAND A MONTH.

Here are some of the items the appropriation is expected to provide:

Compensation of delegates or other operatives, clerks or employes including personal services in the District of Columbia;

Preparation of information and material which it actually will be necessary to have available;

Expenses of transporation and subsistence;

Printing in English and other languages, including publication of the proceedings;

Entertainment of delegates.

The fund is to be disposed under the Secretary of State's directions.

It is assumed that a basis of compensation for the negotiating comissioners and their assistance will be similar to that established at Paris.

There the commissioners were paid as high as $1.000 a month and in addition were granted compensation for entertainment and other extraordinary expenditures. Some question already has arisen as to whether United States Senators or other public officials represented on the American delegation at the forthcoming meet will receive a salary in addition to those they now draw from the Government. President Wilson, General Bliss and Secretary of State Lansing received only expense compensations at Paris.

The amount is to be added to the deficiency bill now nearing completion in committee and expected to be passed by the Senate this week.

U.S. HOUSEHOLDERS CAN MAKE OWN HOME BREW

Interpretation Placed on Willis-Campbell Beer Bill Approved

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—(Associated Press.) — Any United States householder could have his own home brew, under interpretations placed upon an amendment to the Willis-Campbell Beer Bill approved yesterday by the House.

The amendment, adopted as a substitute for a Senate provision, would require Federal agents to have warrants before entering homes in search of liquor. It provides, however, that no warrant shall be issued for search of a home "unless there is reason to believe such dwelling is used as a place in which liquor is manufactured for sale, or sold."

Representative Volstead, Republican, Minnesota, anthor of the original Prohibition Act, declared it would not change the policy of the prohibition enforcement bureau in reference to home brewing. No attempt of late has been made on orders from Washington, he said, to prohibit the home manufacture of potent beverages for personal use.

ANOTHER SUSPECT TAKEN.

WOLFVILLE, N.S., Aug. 17.—A suspect, said to closely resemble the published description of the man wanted in connection with the murder of little Sadie McAuley, at St. John, N.B., is being detained here last night pending further advices from the New Brunswick city. The suspect was taken in charge today at Berwick after the St. John authorities had telephoned that the man most closely resembled the fugitive of any yet detained.

SENIOR BRITISH TRADE COMMISSIONER RESIGNS

Official in Canada and Newfoundland Said Allowances Inadequate

LONDON, Eng., Aug. 17.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—In the House of Commons, Sir William Mitchell-Thomson, Parliamentary Secretary for Trade, announced that Senior Trade Commissioner Edwards, having charge in Canada and Newfoundland, had resigned, because the office and travelling allowances were inadequate for proper performance of the functions of the office.

The expenditure and allowances were considerably increased with the beginning of the current financial year, but a further increase could not be contemplated owing to the urgent necessity of economy. Therefore there was no option but to accept Mr. Edward's resignation, and this had been done with the greatest regret, in view of the admirable work Mr. Edwards had performed in the interest of British trade.

It is proposed to transfer the Milne Trade Commission headquarters to Montreal.

DISAPPROVE DELAY ON SILESIAN ISSUE

Polish Note to Allied Powers Fears Consequences of Postponement

WARSAW, Aug. 17.—(Associated Press.) — The Polish Government has handed a note to the representative of the Allied Powers concerning the decision of the Allied Supreme Council to submit the Upper Silesian question to the League of Nations for settlement.

The communication, which was discussed by the Polish Council of State declares that the unexpected decision of the Supreme Council has caused some feeling in Poland, and draws the attention of the Powers to the possible consequences which may attend the postponement of a settlement.

GERMANS EXPECT ATTACK FROM EAST

Ludendorff Says Will Be Forced to Defend That Border

BERLIN, Aug. 17.— (Special Star-Ledger Cable. Copyright.)—"Sooner or later Germany must defend her eastern borders. When that time comes, remember what we did at the battle of Tannenburg. The greater the need, the stronger will we be united under the black and white Prussian flag."

That was General Ludendorff's message to thousands of Monarchists, veterans of the Great War, delegations from the present army and navy and from more than 100 ex-soldier organizations assembled at Koenigsberg to observe the anniversary of Germany's famous victory over the Russians at Tannenberg.

In the same public square a few hours before, the Pacifists had staged a gigantic "no more war" demonstration. The two meetings were not held at the same time, as first planned, as this would likely have precipitated a small war which was what the Pacifists were striving to prevent.

GERMAN MARKS DROP TO 1.05 IN N.Y.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—German marks today declined to 1.05 in the local foreign exchange market, an over-night drop of 10 1-2 points or within a small fraction of the lowest price since the war.

Dealers in exchange ascribed the steady depreciation of marks to heavy selling by German interests at various European capitals.

VETERAN REFUSED ENTRY INTO U.S.

American Immigration Agent Has Stirred Up Row by Attitude

WEST VERY ANGRY

Train Agents Said to Have Overstepped Bounds of Courtesy

WINNIPEG, Aug. 17.—(Star Special.)—As the result of complaints of Canadian citizens being insulted and humiliated by U.S. immigration officers on trains crossing into the United States from prairie points, Sons of England and other patriotic societies are urging the Government to cancel the right of these aliens to travel on trains in the Dominion.

The latest cases to provoke trouble occurred en route through the Winnipeg port to Minneapolis. Miss Wallace, the bagpipe performer, of Victoria, and James Ross, of Minneapolis, the latter an American citizen, who had been visiting in Winnipeg, both were denied admission to the States and forced from the train at Emerson by U.S. officials. After being put to the expense and delay of returning to Winnipeg, they were given the necessary authority to proceed. The Ross case was so outrageous that the Minneapolis papers are calling on Washington to investigate the circumstances. He is a veteran of the Canadian army, having come from his U.S. home early in the campaign to enlist with the Canadians. He fought for two years, and proudly wore the Canadian discharge button when spied by the U.S. Immigration agent.

A prominent railway official present said the agent started the trouble by pointing to the veteran's button and saying: "If you were in the Canadian army, you can't, of course, be an American." His entire manner, the railway official asserts, was one of hostility to the military emblem. The agent spoke English with a pronounced Central European accent, it is asserted by this railway official.

It was on the point that Ross evidently was refused admission into his native land on account of his Canadian war button that the Minneapolis Tribune demands Washington's investigation.

The Winnipeg-Emerson gateway has been the scene of so many humiliating experiences for Canadians that the present movement to keep offensive U.S. immigration agents out of Canada has developed in the West. It is suggested that some of them may provoke serious physical violence from some of their victims unless measures are taken to change the system.

GOVERNMENT ACTING ON LIVESTOCK ISSUE

Premier Tells Calgary Board of Trade of Steps Taken

CALGARY, Alta., Aug. 17.—Assurance from Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Premier of Canada, that the Dominion Minister of Agriculture, Dr. Tolmie, was earnestly considering the condition of the live stock industry of Canada, and that every possible solution would be dealt with immediately and definitely, was received here yesterday by a member of the Board of Trade committee investigating the live stock conditions.

This assurance caused great satisfaction in local live stock association circles and was regarded as auguring prompt and adequate action to meet the situation.

DIRECTOR OF TECHNICAL EDUCATION RESIGNING

Dr. Gill Says Remuneration Not Commensurate with Duties

OTTAWA, Aug. 17.—(By Canadian Press).—Giving as his reasons that "the remuneration is not commensurate with the duties and responsibilities of the position, and considerable difference of opinion has arisen between the government and myself with respect to the policies to be followed in "promoting" technical education in Canada," Prof. L. W. Gill, director of technical education, attached to the Department of Labor, announced last evening that he had resigned from his position to accept that of directing head of the departments of electrical and mechanical engineering in the University of British Columbia.

In his new office Dr. Gill will have the privilege of carrying on a private practice in engineering, and for the latter purpose he will open an office in Vancouver. Dr. Gill leaves Ottawa at the end of this month.

NOT PRESSING FARMERS FOR LOAN PAYMENTS

Federal Gov't Even Making Provision for Fall Seed

CALGARY, Alta., Aug. 17—There is no foundation for the suggestion that the Federal Government is pressing farmers in Southern Alberta for full payment of their loans for seed grains or other relief granted within the past few years, according to a statement in a local paper yesterday, which is attributed to W. E. Talbot, Dominion Land Agent in Calgary, who is responsible for the distribution of the seed grain.

The statement says:

"That the Dominion Government is acting in exactly an opposite way to any thing approaching what might be termed oppressive, is instanced by the fact that Ottawa is making provisions to assist settlers on unpatented lands with fall rye seed."

ISSUE RULING UPON APPLICATION OF TAX

Where Wholesale and Retail May Keep Separate Accounts

OTTAWA, Aug. 17.—(By Canadian Press).—That traders dealing both wholesale and retail, can keep separate accounts, so that their business can come under different categories of the sales tax, involving different rates of taxation, is set forth in a ruling issued by the deputy Minister of Customs to collectors throughout the Dominion. The circular points out that "in the case of a firm selling exclusively by retail, and making goods to the order of a customer exclusively, the sales tax is not applicable.

"If a firm is selling exclusively by retail and manfactures goods to the order of each individual customer, and also manufactures goods for stock, it is held that the sales tax is applicable in respect of goods manufactured for stock only.

"If a firm is selling partially by retail, but doing a business also with the trade, the sales tax is applicable in respect of their entire business, providing, however, that the accounts of the wholesale or manufacturing branch may be segregated from the retail branch.

"The department will hold retailers responsible for the payment of the sales made on and after May 10, 1921."

COUNCIL REJECTS PAVING REPORTS

Seventeen Aldermen Present, Sixteen Vote Against Adoption of Report

AUTOMOBILE STANDS

Resolution Alleges Irregularities in Letting Stand Positions

The completion of the paving program of the Administrative Commission was blocked by the action of the City Council yesterday in rejecting 30 paving reports representing a total outlay of about $300,000, the objection of the aldermen being the levying of a special tax on property for the payment of these street improvements.

A by-law requiring dance halls to close at 1 a.m. and a recommendation for the voting of a reserve fund of $20,000 were also rejected by the council. There were 16 aldermen and the mayor present at the meeting, and as Ald. Creelman refused to vote against the reports, this left sixteen votes, the exact number required to reject the recommendations of the Administrative Commission.

Three of the reports of the Commission were left on the order of the day, these being the recommendation of an expenditure of $11,000 to renew the pumps of Rielle street pumping station, the recommendation of an outlay of $15,000 to replace the boilers of the Craig street pumping station, and a by-law regulating building in Ahuntsic-Bordeaux ward.

In connection with a motion proposed by Ald Brodeur, and adopted, relative to automobile stands, Mayor Martin said that his statements on this matter had been misunderstood, as his desire was not to blame the Bramson Company but the Administrative Commission.

AUTO STANDS.

Ald. Brodeur's motion read as follows:

"That this council is informed that the Administrative Commission has, contrary to the provisions of the by-law concerning automobile stands, granted to certain persons or companies permission to have several vehicles on the same stand;

"That it requests the said Commission, if such is really the case, to submit to the Council, at its next meeting, a report showing the stands on which the said persons or companies have more than one vehicle and giving the names of such persons or companies;

"That the Administrative Commission be further requested to let the Council know whether it is aware of the fact that certain agents of taxi-cab companies solicit customers at railway stations, contrary to the provisions of the city by-laws."

The Council adopted a suggestion by Ald Desroches that the Administrative Commission be requested to inform the Council whether it intends to see that medical attention is given a cancer patient, who, it is claimed, has been refused admission to the hospital for incurables, and who sleeps every night in the Meurling Refuge and spends the day in Viger Square, where he drinks out of public fountains, thus menacing the health of the community.

A telegram received from the town of Aylmer appealing for financial or other assistance in connection with the recent disastrous fire was referred to the Administrative Commission.

RETAKEN AFTER ESCAPING TWICE

Broke Out at Joliette, Caught Here, Escaped Again

Joseph Laroque who escaped from jail at Joliette at an early hour yesterday morning was arrested at the Canadian National Railway, Moreau street station last night by Detective Rioux and Detective Germain of the provincial police. Laroque was being held for trial at Joliette on four charges of chicken stealing.

News was received yesterday by Chief of Provincial Police D. D. Lorrain that Laroque had escaped. The wife of the prisoner was in Joliette and, late yesterday afternoon Chief Lorrain received information that a long distance call from Montreal had been transmitted to Mrs. Laroque telling her to come to Montreal. Detectives Germain and Rioux were detailed to watch the stations for the arrival of the woman. In due course she arrived at the Moreau street station and the detectives watched her.

Detective Rioux had gone to the Maisonneuve station and boarded the train. On arrival at the Moreau street station he signalled to Detective Germain that he had located the woman. When she stepped from the train, the escaped man was there to meet her. He was placed under arrest by the detectives and taken to a closed cab, which was waiting. After getting in the cab, the man jumped through the window and ran away. The two detectives gave chase and caught Laroque as he was getting under a fence. He was taken to the Provincial Police office and later to police headquarters where he was locked up.

PRINCIPALS IN SOUTHERN TRAGEDY

Rev. Edwin R. Stephenson, his daughter, Mrs. Pedro Gussman, and (below) Rev. James E. Coyle.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 17 — "I do not want to see my father. He has done a terrible thing for which there was no excuse. I care nothing about seeing him after the deed which he has committed."

This is the stand taken by Mrs. Pedro Gussman, a bride of 18, whose father, Rev. Edwin R. Stephenson, is awaiting trial for the murder of Rev. James E. Coyle.

Rev. Mr. Stephenson is a Methodist clergyman. Rev. Mr. Coyle was a Catholic priest. Mrs. Gussman had joined the Catholic church over her father's protest and then had become the wife of a Catholic.

Within a short time after Father Coyle performed the marriage ceremony, Mr. Stephenson called on him, words followed, and Mr. Stephenson shot and killed the priest. He claims self-defense, saying the priest made a motion as if to draw a revolver, but police have proved the priest was unarmed.

Stephenson has been known as the marrying parson, having supported himself largely by frequenting the marriage license office, where he performed hundreds of marriages, many for couples who were eloping.

"My father," says Mrs. Gussman, "not only wanted me to give up Mr. Gussman, but he wanted me to marry a divorced man. This I refused to do. He kept me a prisoner for days before my marriage, and brutally mistreated me."

The prosecution is expected to use Mrs. Gussman as a witness against her father at the coming murder trial.

THREE-YEAR-OLD BOY KILLED BY CAR

Knocked down by an automobile near his home at 8 o'clock last night, Reginald Woodburn, three years of age, of 21 Campbell avenue, Montreal West, was fatally injured and died at the Royal Victoria Hospital soon afterwards.

A verdict of accidental death was returned at 9.30 last night by Coroner McMahon, who investigated the affair. Evidence submitted to the Coroner showed that the child had run across the street in front of an automobile driven by T. C. Alum of Lorne Crescent street, who was accompanied by his wife. Witnesses of the accident testified that the car was going slowly and could not have avoided striking the child.

LATE DR. MAILLET LAID TO REST

Chief mourners included Roger and Roland Maillet, sons; Etienne Boudet, father- in-law; Ivanhoe and Paul Maillet, brothers; Dr. Lanoie, brother-in-law; Dr. E. Larose and A. Valiquette, uncles; and Gaston, Rene, Maurice, Demers, and Jean Maillet, nephews. The burial took place at the Cote des Neiges Cemetery.

ULSTER WILL NOT ACCEPT REPUBLIC

Unionist Speakers Maintain That There are Two Irelands

That Ulster was unalterably opposed to the idea of a republic in Ireland, and that the issue now before the people of Ireland was largely a religious one, were two points raised by Robert Little, an Ulster Unionist, speaking in the lecture room of the St. Edward's Anglican Church last night.

Referring to King George's speech at the opening of the Ulster Parliament, Mr. Little declared that in his opinion it was possible to forgive, but not to forget. Peace, he believed in, but an honorable peace.

He was not sure if Mr. de Valera really wanted an Irish Republic, but the leader had fallen into the hands of extremists, who had, he thought, lighted fires which it would be very difficult to extinguish.

Ulster, Mr. Little said, would never give in to a republic. Her motto today was "Hands off Ulster," and that was her answer to Sinn Fein.

There were two Irelands; one Orange Ulster.

Mr. Little declared that when the war had broken out, Carson had gone to his volunteers and led them, organized, into the British army.

William Galbraith, another speaker, supported Mr. Little's contention that there were two Irelands. The British Government in its present offers had gone a far way indeed to bring about peace. In fact, he believed that Lloyd George had gone so far that the British Government would not ratify what he had done.

He was an Irishman himself, said Mr. Galbraith, and he was disgusted with the whole Irish business. He felt humiliated to see the British Prime Minister sitting at the same table with de Valera, especially when all that the Government had received was a "slap in the face."

Winnipeg Musicians Are Accepting Terms Offered by Managers

WINNIPEG, Aug. 17.—(Star Special.)—Winnipeg musicians are rapidly accepting the terms offered by the theatre managers, despite the extensive reductions involved. Demands by the union that organists cease playing at local motion picture theatres have been ignored in all instances. The Allen theatre will reopen next Monday with Reginald Stewart, a Toronto pianist, and a quartette of players, where an orchestra of twenty formerly played.

THOMAS H. LOVE DIED YESTERDAY

The death occurred yesterday in the General Hospital of Thomas Henry Love, President of the Montreal Laundry Company, and owner of the Red Bank Racing Stables. He was only ill for a few hours. Early in the morning he complained of feeling unwell. His doctor was called who had him sent to hospital. An operation was performed, but he died at 1:30 o'clock.

Mr. Love, who was born in Coburg, Ont., was 70 years of age. He was well known to racing enthusiasts in both the United States and Canada, for he had long taken an interest in horse breeding, and two of the horses are now racing over the courses of the Canadian Racing Associations.

Early in life the late Mr. Love entered the services of the Pullman Company and came to live in Montreal shortly afterwards. He started the laundry business 40 years ago and has since maintained a continuous interest in it. He married Miss Marion E. Jackson, Montreal, who died five years ago. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. H. P. Fenlin, London, Ont., a brother, James Love and a sister, Mrs. Joseph Quinn, both of Montreal. A brother Mr. Robert Love died last week.

STAGE AND SCREEN

TO describe adequately the essentials for effective work before the motion picture camera, is a task so difficult that the longer successful artists try to accomplish it, the less successful they are in their efforts. That, however, is not necessarily a legitimate comment upon their skill as "silent" participants in visual drama.

* * *

A three-foot kiss in the film lasts but two seconds on the screen.

* * *

Marie Doro is appearing in a film adaptation of Rider Haggard's romantic story, "Beatrice."

* * *

Elaine Hammerstein's latest photoplay is "The Way of a Maid."

* * *

Lillian Gish and D. J. Griffith were slightly burned in a fire at the studio during the filming of "The Two Orphans."

* * *

Marie Prevost, an ex-bathing beauty, specified in her contract that she was to do no more "sea bathing." In her first picture under the new contract, King Baggot took advantage of a technicality and made her do a dive in a freshwater tank. The picture is "Touch Me Not." Suitable?

* * *

Marshal Neilan will soon start work on "Penrod," from the story of the same name by Booth Tarkington. Wesley Barry will play the title role.

* * *

Catherine Calvert is deserting the movies for a while to appear as Otis Skinner's leading woman in "Blood and Sand," the new play based on Ibanez' novel of the same name.

* * *

Virginia Vaill, who has resumed the honeymoon that was interrupted, after her marriage to George Lamson, by her contract to appear as leading woman for Bert Lytell in "Junk" and "A Trip to Paradise," is touring the California beaches. From Coronado Beach, she reports the perfect test of true love. Another picture actress, who wants her name withheld this time, was also honeymooning.

"Of course I always have my makeup on the beach," the other actress said, "but with all of the terrible sunshine, it just melts into molasses. And my husband looks right into all the mess of molasses and says, "How beautiful you are!"

* * *

Raymond Hatton and Herbert Standing have special parts in "Freight Prepaid," Fatty Arbuckle's latest comedy.

* * *

It is rumored that Alice Brady will appear in "Drifting," which her father, William A. Brady, will shortly bring out in New York.

* * *

William Farnum is to add flying to his other accomplishments. Word comes from Europe that he has bought a Hellcopter, one of the latest flying machines.

* * *

Judging by the title, Billie Rhodes' next picture ought to be good. It is called "The Star Reporter." Truman Van Dyke will be co-featured with Billie.

Pauline Starke's real mother plays the part of her "reel" mother in "Flower of the North," from the story by James Oliver Curwood.

* * *

After several years' absence from the screen, Cleo Ridgley will come back in "The Woman in the Case," in which Betty Compson is featured.

* * *

Jackie Coogan has had an accident! He was running across the lawn of his father's Hollywood home when he collided with a barbed wire which caught his neck and threw him to the ground. Jackie is going around with a bandaged neck.

* * *

Frederick and Fanny Hatton have been commissioned to write a screen story for Mae Murray.

* * *

The simple word "taxi" served Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle well when he was in Chicago recently filming scenes for, "Freight Prepaid," his latest picture. His director, James Cruze, wanted a scene showing Arbuckle besieged by taxi drivers, so the cameras were set and Fatty walked out into the centre of the station and yelled: "Taxi!" Taxi-drivers appeared from all directions. "They swooped down on me like a ton of bricks," said Arbuckle. "We got the scenes and they were great. And we didn't have to hire a lot of extras to get 'em either."

* * *

Edward Kimball, father of Clara Kimball Young, will have the leading role in a forthcoming film production. Mr. Kimball has been seen in many of his daughter's pictures.

You will feel disinclined to believe it, of course, but all the same it is true that Pearl White is a real human being—given to eating ice cream, peanuts, chocolates, and onion sandwiches, when she feels like it. To have to bring so remarkable a performer of miracles (on the screen) down to earth is heartrending, but healthy, all the same.

RIVAL POLICEMEN COME TO BLOWS

City Police Eject Liquor Officers—Charged with Assault

A conflict between the police of the Quebec Liquor Commission and two special constables of the city force, resulted in the arrest of Constable Rocheleau, of number 4 station, on a charge of assault. The constable appeared before Judge Cusson yesterday afternoon, and at the request of the prosecution the case was adjourned until next Thursday.

According to the evidence, Liquor Inspectors Girard and Cardinal went to a house on Dorchester street east on the afternoon of June 15, with the intention of making a case against the woman tenant. They asked for beer and were refused. The woman then went out of the house and called Constables Rocheleau and Laroche. The two city constables entered the house, and Rocheleau, in his evidence, alleges that he went upstairs and found Girard in a darkened room. He alleges he asked Girard if he was a detective, and had a badge, and received a negative answer. A heated argument followed. Constable Laroche who was downstairs guarding the other liquor inspector, Cardinal, came upstairs to see what was the trouble. The two officers were tussling. Laroche told the court he hit Girard twice, and after subduing the two liquor inspectors, they searched them. On one they found a card of the Quebec Liquor Commission. The fight ended, and the two agents of the Liquor Commission were allowed to go.

Later in the evening Cardinal was arrested by the police of No. 4 station on another charge, but was subsequently dismissed. Constables Larocche and Rocheleau testified that the two liquor inspectors were drunk on the day of the occurrence. This evidence was contradicted by Chief Chartrand of the liquor police. Lieut. Gagnon, of No. 4 station, said Cardinal was drunk when he was arrested and brought to No. 4 station.

The hearing was adjourned until Thursday.

Dorsha Returns: A New and Promising Dancer from Ottawa

THOSE who saw Dorsha in the Passing Show last season and who witnessed her solo dancing at the Venetian Gardens a few months ago will be glad to learn that she has returned for a short period with the new cabaret show which is now attracting many people to the Gardens. Dorsha is always interesting, for she manifests originality in all she does. Her dances are not stereotyped, and there is about her a certain graceful charm that invests even simple steps with added fascination. Freedom from any suggestion of mechanical motion; a singularly keen feeling for rhythmic values, and the ability to convey definite ideas through poise and pose, are combined with a mastery of line that enables her to achieve distinct success in pictorial dancing. Her form is unstudied, and her feet work in conjunction with her brain.

* * *

Another dancer, of a different type, is Miss Halleck, daughter of Colonel Halleck, of Ottawa. Miss Halleck is a graduate of the Denishawn school, and the thoroughness of that school's training is aparent in all she does. But she is a natural dancer, also, and she invests her work with considerable dramatic strength. She understands the value of flowing line and has more than an insight into the art of pantomime, and her portrayal of an Italian street girl dancing is interesting not only because it reveals what she can do as an interpretative artist, but also because it gives promise of achievement along original lines, by a dancer whose work is characterised by thoughtful attention to detail of pose and significances of gesture.

* * *

Many Montrealers have seen the delightful animal impersonation act of Woodward and Morrissey at Shanley's and other places in New York City. Col. McNeil has added them to his list of entertainers at the Gardens, and they simply hold the house. The antics of the big Polar bear and his dainty little mistress are but a trifling indication of what happens when the most intelligent mule on earth waltzes on to the floor and proceeds to set the entire audience in an uproar. There is nothing that mules does not understand, and very little it will not undertake to do, from waltzing to taking a drink, with hugely diverting results. The act is characterised by a delightful sense of fun, and has been ingeniously planned and developed.

* * *

For the rest, Miss Anna Greenway, a new and handsome young prima donna, delights her audience by her unaffected singing of attractive songs. Her voice is full and warm, of individual timbre, and always sympathetic. She knows how to lend distinction to a simple ballad.

Mr. Mansfield, a light tenor, contributes vocal and xylophone solos, and manifests considerable dexterity. Gus Hill is also among the soloists.

The cabaret is marked throughout by a freedom from any suggestion of vulgarity wholly pleasant to note, and the acts are effectively costumed. Signor Martucci's small but excellent orchestra adds the finishing touch.

MANY BUFFALOES LOOKING FOR WORK

Secretary of Antediluvian Order Declares Thirty Per Cent Idle

A general appeal to employers is to be made by the Royal Antediluvian Order of Buffaloes in an effort to relieve the unemployment situation among its members. The secretary, J. M. Derrick, states that there are 4,000 members in Montreal and that 30 per cent of these are out of work. In the Maisonneuve district, owing to the closing down of the Vickers' plant, there are 50 to 60 per cent. of the members unemployed.

A committee has been appointed to bring the men in touch with employers who need their services. The committee has on its register carpenters, mechanics, machinists, timekeepers, clerks, accountants, building operators and handy men of good physique who could take positions as watchmen or policemen.

WAGE CUTS FOR PAPER WORKERS

Board Agrees on Reductions Ranging from 10 to 25 Per Cent

TO MAY, 1922

Same Wage Scale Fixed for Both Canadian and U.S. Manufacturers

NEW YORK, August 17.—(Associated Press.)—Wage reductions ranging from 10 per cent. for skilled men to 25 per cent. for common labor yesterday were agreed upon by the board of arbitration considering the wage dispute between union paper mill workers and eleven newsprint manufacturing companies.

The award, which fixed forty cents an hour rate for outside common labor, affects about 12,000 workers and will become effective August 22. The International Paper Company was not a party to the agreement.

The agreement provides for a return to the 1919 schedule of practically all classified positions above common labor and paid below seventy cents an hour and a 10 per cent. reduction on all positions receiving sixty cents an hour and over. The average reduction over the whole list is given at 15 per cent.

A slightly lower rate, it was stated, was fixed for bag factories, craft and specialty paper mills.

The agreement will continue into effect to May 1, 1922, but is subject to re-opening by either party after December 1.

The same wage scale was fixed for both Canadian and United States manufacturers.

The following were parties to the agreement:

Labor organizations—

International Brotherhood of Paper Makers; International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers; United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America; International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers; International Association of Machinists; International Brotherhood of Stationary Firemen and Oilers.

Companies—

Abitibi Pulp and Paper Company; Spanish River Pulp and Paper Company; Union Bag and Paper Corporation; St. Maurice Paper Company, Limited; Minnesota and Ontario Power and Paper Company; Fort Frances Paper Company; Hanna Paper Cor.; Cliff Paper Co.; Tide Water Paper Mills Company; St. Regis Paper Company; Pettebone Cataract Paper Company.

The trouble between the paper makers and the manufacturers began last April, when the organized workers, by an overwhelming referendum vote, rejected proposals for a new agreement providing a thirty per cent. wage reduction, a nine hour day instead of eight hours, and elimination of overtime.

Failing to obtain any modifications of the proposals in conferences with the manufacturers, the unions called strikes in paper mills, effective May 1, and by May 15 virtually all paper production in the United States and Canada was reported at a standstill. The shut down was of short duration as some of the mills signed with the union and others began to operate with non-union workers.

During July the unions and eleven companies that participated in today's award, agreed to arbitration, and the men returned to work. Three representatives of the unions and three manufacturers' representatives, with Judge Frank Irvine of Itapaca, as a neutral member and chairman, constituted the arbitration board.

Although all plants of the International Paper Company were rendered idle by the walkout, the company declined to recognize or deal with the unions, but invited all its employes to return to work and promised not to discriminate against union workers. Non-union workers were also used and a number of plants are reported to be in operation.

ABOLISH PROHIBITION IN BOLSHEVIK RUSSIA

Country is Now on Light Wine Basis—Liquors Highly Taxed

RIGA, Lethvia, Aug. 17.—(Associated Press.) — Prohibition has been abolished in Soviet Russia and the country now is on a light wine basis.

A dispatch to the Letvian Telegraphic Agency, confirmed by the Moscow newspapers, announces the issuance of a decree permitting the manufacture and the sale of beverages containing up to 14 per cent of alcohol, which will be highly taxed.

Prohibition of the sale of vodka, once the Russian national drink, was decreed by the Government of former Emperor Nicholas in the early months of the world war. In June, 1916, the Duma, then in power, adopted a law prohibiting the sale of any beverage containing more than one and one-half per cent of alcohol. The Soviets since they came into power, have strictly enforced the prohibition decree.

LOOKING FOR CAT FIRE IS STARTED

Short Curcuits Cause Two Other Blazes—Another is Mystery

A short circuit on an automobile, the same trouble with an electric switch in a house and the dropping of a match by a small boy while looking for his sister's cat in a cupboard in which clothes were hanging are the three reasons advanced by witnesses for the cause of three different fires which were inquired into yesterday by Fire Commissioner Latulippe. The cause of another fire remains a mystery.

Louis Lavoie asked to tell what he knew of the fire which broke out in his garage, 1641 St. Catherine street east at 8.45 p.m. on August 11 said that the first he knew of any fire was when a boy came up and told him that his garage was on fire. At the time he was going home and had only left about three quarters of an before. An expert had examined the car and in his opinion he had stated the outbreak of fire was caused by a short circuit in the wiring of some part of the electrical system. He could not say how much damage had been done but it was considerable.

A fireman and the owner of Fernud's Ladies' Novelty Shop which was damaged to the extent of about $13,000 by a fire which broke out there at 5 a.m. on August 14, both agreed that it was started by a faulty electric switch under some shelves.

Mrs. Honore Brunette, 257 Manufacture street, to whose house the fire engine was summoned at 4.27 p.m. on August 12, said that she was hanging some washing out on the line when her small boy came running out to her to tell her that there was a fire in the house. She found that from a cupboard where she kept some clothes hanging up large volumes of smoke and flames were coming. The damage done was not very much. Her boy said that he did not start the fire but she thought that he must have dropped a match in the cupboard when he was looking for his sister's cat which he could not find.

No reason can be given for the outbreak of fire in the ladies' store of Mrs. Vincent Ostrofsty, 1996 Notre Dame street west, who suffered damage to the extent of about $6,000 when her stock was destroyed by a fire starting at 3.10 p.m. when she was away with her children in Lafontaine Park.

HAPPY DAYS FOR TWO CHILDREN

Family Welfare Association Receives Aid from Generous Donors

Fourteen much-appreciated offers of assistance to families whose cases of distress have been brought to the notice of the public through the press have been received by the Family Welfare Association. One of these was an offer to take two underfed children to the country for 10 days and two boys, whose father has been out of work for eight months, were able to take advantage of this opportunity. A contribution of three dollars which was received from a small boy in the city was used to pay the railway fares of the two youngsters. Other larger contributions have been received and the fourteen people who generously offered them have been responsible for the alleviation to some extent of the difficulties of a small percentage of those suffering from unemployment.

ESMONDE LEAVES.

O. Gratton Esmonde, "Envoy Extraordinary to the Irish Republic," has left the Queen's Hotel where he had been staying for some time awaiting his passport to journey to New York en route for England. He was to have left Canada shortly after he spoke at the meeting of the Irish Self-Determination League at the Monument Nationale on June 20 last, but for some reason he remained in Montreal and kept his movements secret. It is conjectured that he has gone to Ireland to be present at the meeting of Dail Eireann as early in July he said to the Star that he was awaiting instructions from his chief De Valera.

SAYS JEWELRY WAS NOT STOLEN

Sister Swears Robert Out of City at Time of Burglary

Ernest Robert, the seventeen-year-old lad who is charged with breaking into and stealing from the shop of Z. Rill, on St. Peter street, a quantity of jewelry and other articles was yesterday sent for voluntary statement on August 23. The alleged offence was committed on July 15.

Robert had previously been convicted of theft, and was released on suspended sentence by Chief Judge Decarie. He made a name for himself by escaping from the custody at Detective Headquarters, by letting himself down from his cell with his sheets.

At the Enquete yesterday W. A. Plante for defence sought to show that the jewlery found on Robert belonged to his family. His little sister swore that on July 15, he had been at Acton Vale with her, but Sergeant Lamont maintained that on that date he had seen the accused on St. Peter street.

BABY BURNED TO DEATH.

TORONTO, Aug. 17.—Allan Jardine, fourteen-months-old baby of Norman Jardine, was burned to death when the house was destroyed by fire at Trout Hill near here yesterday Mrs. Jardine lit a fire in the coal oil stove and went out to a nearby neighbor about eleven yards away to get some milk. She left the child asleep in its cot upstairs. It is thought the stove exploded and the kitchen took fire.

PAPER BARRELS GROWING INDUSTRY

Fibre Containers Supplanting Those of Lumber, States Rotarian

The making of paper barrels in Montreal is destined to become a most important industry, according to Rotarian Arthur Harris, president of the Canadian Paper Box Co. Ltd., who addressed the members of the Rotary Club at the weekly meeting yesterday. Not only was the paper barrel stronger than the wooden one, he stated, but according to experts the wood necessary for the making of the staves is becoming scarcer each year. There is an unlimited supply of paperboard, he stated and this material became the logical solution of a condition, the seriousness of which could not be exaggerated.

Mr. Harris stated that the fibre container was undoubtedly in process of displacing the wooden box for many uses. Its use had, of recent years grown by leaps and bounds.

What unquestionably had led to its general adoption as a container for commercial commodities, in place of the wooden case, was primarily the high cost of the latter, by reason of the growing shortage of the lumber supply.

It was stated, he continued, that there was not enough non-resinous wood in America for a year's supply of boxes for the Battle Creek plants alone.

The great advantage of the paper barrel, added Mr. Harris, was that it was sift proof, the shell of the barrel was built up in one solid piece and it could not develop leaks or cracks.

Rotarian Walter Aird reported on the opening meeting of the newly formed Coburg Rotary Club, stating that there was already a membership in that town of twenty-five.

SIX MONTHS HARD FOR SIX MONTHS' LOAFING

Albert Milot was sentenced to six months' hard labor by Recorder Geoffrion yesterday on the charge of vagrancy, on the accusation of his wife, who said that he had been out of work for over six months, and had made no attempt to earn enough money to keep his wife and family.

BOY IS SENT TO POLICE COURT

So serious was the offense of a boy of 15 years of age considered to be by Judge Choquet yesterday at the Juvenile Court, that he sent the boy to the Police Court to be tried. The boy, though he is only young in years, is tall and looks much older than he really is. He was charged with two offences and it is expected that there will be three or four more preferred against him in a day or two. He pleaded guilty to having stolen two bicycles. Judge Choquet said that he could do nothing with the juvenile offender and that he had already had to deal with him on four or five different occasions in the Juvenile Court.

GYMNASTIC AND DANCING DISPLAY

Lafontaine Park Children Acquit Themselves with Great Credit

A thoroughly interesting and entertaining exhibition of drill and calisthenics was given by the Park Lafontaine children on Saturday evening. It is estimated that the performance, which lasted two hours, was viewed by from ten to twelve thousand people who gave evidence of their satisfaction by unstinted applause.

The program consisted of artistic drill by the hundreds of little girls, ranging from seven to fourteen years, and feats of strength and athletic ability by the boys.

The interpretative and folk dances of the former were the subject of much comment favorable alike to the performers and their instructor, Miss Ruby Aspell. The boys' work was under the direction of Professor Vezina, instructor at Park Lafontaine, to whom much credit is due for the excellent manner in which the youths were trained. Charles Methat, general supervisor of the Park, is also responsible in great part for the success of the festivals.

Among those present were Mayor and Mrs. Martin, Aldermen Vandelac and Lamarre; Mrs. Noreen Dorrion, of the Toronto playgrounds, who came to compare the work of the Montreal parks with what has been done in her own city; and C. Glass.

At the conclusion of the program, Mayor Martin addressed the children complimenting them on their appearance and performance and congratulating the instructors and park authorities on the excellent manner in which they had acquitted themselves of their work. Prizes were then distributed to those taking part

The Little Town that Grows Big Men

It doesn't take a trolley car to cross it—

You don't need an elevator to reach its top stories—

But there's where they get up early in the morning—

The Little Town that grows Big Men

They all go to the corner drug store.

There's where good old human nature shapes the destiny of the Dominion—

There's where they elect governments—

There's where big men come from—

There's where Coca-Cola stands out in clear relief for what it is—the straight line between wholesome thirst and delicious and refreshing satisfaction—

"They also serve who only stand and wait."

The Little Canadian Town.

Coca-Cola was a favorite beverage when towns that have grown big were little towns.

Coca-Cola became a national favorite because it was created to please taste and satisfy thirst.

When "Uncle Tom" pitches—

Sweet with the natural, nutritious sweetness of pure-cane sugar—

Its distinct flavor a perfect blend of choicest savors—

Appealing to the eye with the rich, dark amber color of caramel and the lively bubbles of pure, sparkling water that come to a head at the top—

Coca-Cola is an inimitable combination of good things that nature has made good in the sunshine of nine different climes, nine different countries—a product of a Canadian industry: modern syrup factories in Winnipeg, Montreal and Toronto; model bottling plants in Brandon, Calgary, Edmonton, Hamilton, Lethbridge, Moose Jaw, Montreal, Ottawa, Regina, Saskatoon, Toronto, Vancouver, Winnipeg.

PRAISES LABOR ON ITS SANE ATTITUDE

Drury Welcomes Car Men Says Farmer-Labor Coalition Strong

TORONTO, Aug. 17. — Organized labor was congratulated on its "sane and steady attitude" and for having "steered clear of the dangers and pitfalls of the times," in a brief speech of welcome delivered by Premier E. C. Drury to the delegates attending the convention of the Railway Carmen of America here yesterday afternoon.

In welcoming the delegates from the United States, Premier Drury stated that he felt it should be a creed on both sides of the international boundary to cultivate in every possible manner goodwill between the two great nations. The future of North America, the future of the New World, lies in the cultivation and strengthening of the good feeling between the two countries.

The Premier told the meeting that the Farmer-Labor coalition of which he is the head has lasted for two years. "It is stronger now than when it was formed," he said. "It is proceeding along reasonable, sane and advanced lines, and is able to give to the province something of progressive legislation and is able, I think, to serve the needs of the citizens."

There were many who had claimed that a coalition between the Farmers and Labor was impossible, and it was true that their outlook upon many of the problems of life was different; but nevertheless they had been able to do good work because they had persistently looked at questions which came before them from the point of view of the citizens as a whole.

"We recognize," the Premier proceeded, "that the man who can be loyal to a class has made a decided advance over the man who is loyal only to himself. I think labor in America has shown its wisdom by thinking in the broader terms of citizenship. After all, we have all the means at hand for obtaining all the reforms we need in an orderly, progressive manner."

TO MAKE AGREEMENTS NATIONAL IN SCOPE

Motion Before Photo Engravers' Convention—Ask Debs Release

TORONTO, Aug. 17.—A motion to make all future agreements between photo engravers and their employers national in scope instead of local, and subject to promulgation at union conventions, was laid before the convention yesterday of the International Union of Photo Engravers.

Other suggestions were to establish an out-of-work fund, to make all agreements between unions and employers terminable on or before December 31, 1922, also to provide that the executive council should not sanction any agreement that did not provide for the 44-hour week.

A resolution, strongly supported by the Chicago delegation asked the convention to demand the release of Eugene V. Debs, the Socialist leader who was imprisoned after the United States entered the war.

FIVE MILLION OUT OF WORK IN STATES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Best estimates available at this time show that 5,735,000 persons are out of employment in the United States, Secretary of Labor Davis reported to the Senate yesterday in response to a resolution calling for figures.

UNEMPLOYMENT IN QUEBEC INCREASES

Labor Authorities Fear the Coming Winter Will Be Hard on Labor

QUEBEC, Aug. 17.—(Star Special) — Three thousand unemployed are looking for work in the city of Quebec, says Alfred Crowe, superintendent of the Provincial Employment Bureau here, and fear of unprecedented conditions of misery for the coming winter are expressed by the authorities.

Never before, according to the same source of information has local labor been so affected by the lack of employment in all trades, apart from construction, which is locally active, but dull in the outside district. Salaries have fallen down in many industries but the cost of living has not kept pace.

In the shoe industry here only one-fourth of the regular employes are working. The result is that the number of unemployed laborers has doubled. Public works carried out recently have helped during the summer but they are now practically completed.

The only means of solving the problem is by persuading the lumber interests to operate their camps during the winter, as 2,000 lumber jacks are supplied by Quebec alone. Wages, even if the lumber camps are open, will be greatly reduced.

According to the employment bureau officials the rush for work on farms in the Prairie shows the extent to which unemployment has reached. Farm hands for this province have not been in demand at all.

The calm reigning in the harbor is also responsible for unemployment and immediate steps to prevent the worst will have to be taken.

Hon. Antonin Galipeault, Minister of Public Works and Labor, says that unemployment in Quebec or even in Montreal had not reached the intensity of that existing in other sections of Canada. However, the Provincial Government would take all possible means to meet the requirements and supply work when possible.

UNEMPLOYMENT—THE PARAMOUNT ISSUE.

EVERY earnest man and woman who is in touch with unemployment conditions in our cities is looking forward to the coming winter with the deepest apprehension and something very like dismay. There is an appalling amount of unemployment at the present moment, even though the river and lake harbors are still free and the West has just absorbed successive train-loads of harvesters.

But the blockade of the winter will bring a far more tragic situation. Many lines of work now open will then be closed. Our inland shipping will lie idle at the docks, and the great seaports of Montreal and Quebec will be sealed for the season. Our leading industry, farming, will have shrunk to a rotation of "chores." Much of our building activity, sporadic and insufficient as it now is, will become impossible under the embargo of zero weather. Only our indoor industries will be able to drive ahead at full speed in the winter; and it is precisely these which are suffering today from the paralysis born of prostrate trade.

* * * * *

The problem thus presented to the Canadian people is a national and a Government problem. Private charity cannot carry one-hundredth part of the burden. It has lamentably broken down already. It will be utterly helpless when the number of applicants for the barest necessities of life are multiplied in ghastly fashion by the pressure of winter.

Municipal assistance alone will also be totally inadequate. The congestion may centre in the cities; for it is to them that the seekers after work naturally gravitate. But it is not strictly a city problem. Many of the unemployed would, in happier times, have found work elsewhere. In any case, it is not a problem, in the prospectively unprecedented and alarming proportions, with which the cities can deal.

There must be national action. Both the Federal and the Provincial Governments must take an energetic and generous part in the campaign. They should not for a moment think that their share will be met by standing ready to pitifully "contribute," say, on municipal initiative. They should immediately and loyally accept their proper responsibilities in the face of a Dominion-wide threat of disaster, and assume leadership in devising means to fight off the impending catastrophe.

It is obviously a case in which the Dominion Premier should move at once.

There are many things that a co-operation of the Dominion, Provincial and municipal authorities can do to alleviate the situation which would be totally beyond the power of private initiative. What is wanted, primarily, is not charity but WORK. The combined Governments can provide a good deal of work—work whose results will be of lasting worth to the nation.

The Dominion Premier is clearly the proper official to call the various executives together and get practical action. Road-making, for example, is a sadly neglected public task in this country; and yet few things pay better than good roads. The various Cabinets and Councils could unite on a magnificent program of road-making; and if these arteries of trade and travel radiated from the cities into the country—as they ought surely to do—then the municipal revenues could well afford to assist.

Other long-needed public works will occur to every one. We have mentioned the elevation of the G. T. R. tracks into this city. Then there is the bettering of our canal system. This is in many respects an unfinished country. We are getting along with an equipment which denies us the facility, the cheapness and the rapidity of achievement that our older rivals enjoy. An alliance of Cabinets and Councils could set our unemployed promptly to work ridding us of this serious and costly handicap.

* * * *

It may be said that this is a poor time to undertake these public works, no matter how badly we may need them, because money is scarce and labor dear. These would be perfectly good objection if it were not for the fact that it is highly probable that we must find the money in any case to avert actual starvation and great hardship in Canada this coming winter. But if we must find and expend the money, surely it is sound economy to get something for it in return, even if the return be not as large as it would be in more settled times when money and labor were both cheaper.

Then there is another factor in the situation which it would be most unfair and ungrateful to forget. Many of the unemployed are returned soldiers. It would be simply monstrous to leave them to be slain by the swift arrows of misfortune when they have escaped the bullets of the Germans. So long as they are among the sufferers, we must make extraordinary efforts to relieve an economic condition which denies them the privilege of working for a living. We cannot have it said that they ventured their lives to save a country which was so callously unmindful as to leave them without a decent opportunity of living in that country.

On all counts, it is a problem which must be met and solved. The first move should be made by Premier Meighen. He has at his hand a splendid opportunity to prove his sensitiveness to the human appeal of unemployment and his capacity for providing an adequate answer. He can take the leadership of the recuperative and humanitarian forces of the nation and wage a war whose victories will build homes and not destroy them, feed women and children and not starve them, breed contentment and not Bolshevism.

THE GERMANY OF STINNES.

"The German Government has placed a further sum of 31,000,000 gold marks to the credit of the Reparations Commission and will make shipments of raw materials and manufactured goods as the first instalment on the payment of her obligations within the next few weeks."

THE kernel of this cabled announcement that Germany is paying a portion of the debt she owes to the world is good reading for those who believe that restoration to normal conditions in Europe is contingent on the stability of German trade. We accept the payments, without questioning the motives that inspire discharge of the debt.

Germany has many debts that she can never pay. For the thousands of her manhood needlessly sacrificed to the madness of Prussia, for the tens of thousands of maimed and crippled and shattered who are left as a heritage to coming generations there can be no conceivable recompense. She has other debts also that will never be paid, because in spite of her new Government Germany still remains morally bankrupt. Only a complete change of heart could wipe out these liabilities and there is little evidence that under the commercial dictatorship of Hugo Stinnes, Walter Rathenau and the "Big Seven," the German code of honor will be very different from the ethics of the Hohenzollern days.

The debts which Germany will pay—and included in this category are the payments of gold marks made to the Reparations Commission and the promises of future shipments—are those debts which she cannot repudiate without endangering the ambitions which Stinnes, Rathenau et al have set before them. It is recorded that in one of the fateful conferences that took place just before the former Kaiser drew the sword, Herr Ballin, at that time the greatest financial power in Germany, said:

> "Why is this mad talk of war? Let the other nations fight among themselves if they will. There is a better weapon to ensure the world supremacy which you seek than by the extravagance and risk of war. In less than ten years German traders and German shippers will have conquered without bloodshed."

The mantle of Ballin has fallen upon Stinnes, who today is the dictator of Germany. The Crown and the Hohenzollern cult has been wiped out, because such appendages were unnecessary and might deflect energy that should be used for the accomplishment of the main purpose. Germany has halted and shuffled, invented excuses and subterfuges to delay due payments or to lessen her indebtedness. Germany makes payments when Stinnes thinks that such liquidations are a good advertisement. She has done nothing save what she has been forced to do by the Allies to palliate her war offences or to bring her war criminals to justice.

But Germany is concentrating all her energies on a single idea. While the world has been paying its attentions to those cunning tigers, Lenin and Trotsky, Stinnes, the beaver, has been working quietly. He is mobilising German industry, he controls 1,340 German companies, he employs nearly a million and a half of the best trained craftsmen in the world, he buys influential newspapers to disseminate his propaganda. Stinnes is worth watching.

THE HAVOC OF CARELESSNESS.

EIGHTY PER CENT of the fire waste of this country is due to carelessness. According to the heads of the Canadian firemen's associations.

They also declare "that a very considerable portion of this preventable waste is the direct result of the careless habits of smokers in handling matches, and that the destruction of Canadian forests by fire is also reported by Dominion Foresters as largely due to smoking campers and travellers in the forests." This makes depressing reading indeed. Our forests are valuable beyond all computation and their preservation is a matter of national concern.

Both the Dominion and Provincial authorities have adopted measures to safeguard the forests; but from such wholesale destruction it would appear that they are most inadequate. It is quite clear that more drastic enactments are called for if the forests are to get proper protection from the astoundingly careless visitors to the woods. There are countries where such reprehensible want of forethought comes under the criminal enactments. One cannot wonder at this when the danger of forest conflagrations to human life is considered, and when the immense value of forests is taken into account.

Frequently the idea has been advanced of having our forest areas patrolled by airmen, but nothing of a very tangible nature has come of it. In connection with our forests are adequate steps being taken to replant areas that have been devastated by fire? A certain amount of tree planting is undoubtedly being done, but not in proportion to what the circumstances demand.

A man who is not ashamed of himself need not be ashamed of his early condition.—D. Webster.

THE WORLD'S PRESS

A Double Risk.

Washington Post: In going to Scotland, Lenin is running a big risk; you never know how Scotchmen will take a joke.

The Jugo-Slav Bulwark.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: It is well for Americans to understand how sanely and effectively the Jugo-Slavs have stood against the red peril. And it is gratifying to know that this stand has resulted in unifying Jugo-Slavia. The effort at destruction has been constructive in that the new nation which seemed hopelessly divided has been united by the disclosure of deadly danger.

A Political Mrs. Gummidge.

Kansas City Star: It's real pathetic about Emma Goldman, pining away there in Russia because she can't come back to America. She's so homesick for this capitalistic country, according to travellers who have seen her, that she's a positive embarrassment to the Soviet authorities. She wears on them, it appears, and they don't know what to do with her. A political Mrs. Gummidge in the house would be a trifle wearing, no doubt.

The Home Memorial.

London Morning Post: In the little village of Leavesden some of those who have lost their sons in the war have adopted a very striking way of keeping their memory green. Let into the walls of several little cottages are small white stone tablets bearing, after the name of the lost one, the following arresting words: "Left this house to fight for King and country, August 29th, 1914. Killed in France, October 14th, 1914. In everlasting pride and remembrance." Few memorials speak more eloquently than these tablets on the walls of cottage homes.

Good Faith the Test.

Seattle Times: There is no question that the nations of earth should disarm, that the people of earth wish to disarm, or that, if good faith obtains at the forthcoming conference, the great and small states will disarm. Everything hinges, however, on the attitude in which they approach this momentous decision. If sincere, the powers will find a practical working plan that will safeguard national interests and international peace. The superstate idea embodied in the League covenant never may be realized; in fact, there is considerable doubt whether this arrangement would be altogether desirable even if realizable.

Mr. Meighen in London.

L'Evenement: Newspapers of every shade of political opinion in Canada have generally approved the attitude of Mr. Meighen at the London conference. Some may have asked whether his right to represent our people at the Capital was well grounded, but no discordant note was sounded which would reflect the smallest doubt upon the qualifications of the Premier to represent Canada on such an occasion, nor have they questioned his firm determination to defend the interests of Canada before everything else. In whatever way Mr. Meighen's political past may be interpreted, his sincerity, his integrity and his patriotism can never be questioned.

Selfish Picnickers.

London Daily Telegraph: There is no reason why people should be unable to enjoy themselves without leaving a mass of offensive litter behind. Wherever many people resort, there we stumble upon gruesome and dangerous relics of bottles and tins. The indictment lies against no one class of the community. In every rank are to be found those who have no shame in leaving on public ground, or on other people's, litter which they would never dream of making in their own gardens. There is no reason for such selfish folly. It is no more trouble to bury or to carry home the debris of a picnic than to leave it as a noisome and possibly a dangerous nuisance to others. We do not doubt that the offenders are, in the main, merely thoughtless.

Paying the Piper.

Adelaide Chronicle: It is high time for Parliament to resume its constitutional right of controlling the public purse, and to refuse to wait for information regarding Government expenditure until it is too late for criticism to be effective. Since the last Estimates were brought down many new Government appointments have been made; there have been large increases in departmental salaries; and new departments have been established without Parliamentary authority. Meanwhile taxation is steadily rising. In 1911 the taxes, State and Federal, amounted to £4 3s 10d per head. They rose to £4 14s in 1914, and had leaped to £10 13s 9d in 1920, while for the present year they are estimated at from £12 to £13. And yet it is as clear as noonday that unless greater economy is practised by all Australian Governments taxation must continue to rise.

Another Disaster!

London Daily Express: Lord Leconfield says that the cinema is the worst misfortune that has ever befallen England. A strong saying. As we meditate on it we instinctively remember that these islands have, from time to time, been exposed to terrific misfortunes which grave men have feared we should never survive. Caxton's first proof was one, and the Lord Leconfield of the day undoubtedly uttered his grave warning. The introduction of gunpowder, coffee, hansom cabs, trousers, Education Acts, machinery and Wagner are a very few other instances of misfortunes which have left the country staggering, but unbowed; and around the memory of each successive innovation hangs the echo of ancestral voices prophesying disaster. We are, however, strong in our faith that England will survive this last swinging blow of which Lord Leconfield speaks. Even with a cinema in every street we pin our hopes to the rugged fibre of which the British people is made. After all, we even survived the motor-car.

Perils of the Links.

New York Tribune: So the insurance companies are offering to write golf insurance—have been able to assess in dollars the risks a golfer assumes when he goes on the links. But this, perhaps, is less grotesque than scoffers will assume. Golf has its hazards, as every duffer knows. Bunkers, traps, ponds, brooks, ditches, swamps and bramble bushes — that's what up-to-date links are made of, it seems to the twenty-four-handicap man. There are other hazards. Any one who has intercepted a drive with his skull can testify that a golf ball is a dangerous missile. And the back-swing of a brassie resembles in impact the kick of a Missouri mule. A round on one of the congested public links is often a bit of trench adventure. When thousands of persons are chasing one another from tee to tee with irons and baby cannon balls somebody is likely to be hurt. But certainly life is becoming complicated when even the sport that the physicians commend for its health-giving qualities gets tangled up in the actuaries' mortality tables.

Song.

Follow a shadow, it still flies you;
Seem to fly it, it will pursue;
So court a mistress, she denies you;
Let her alone, she will court you.
Say, are not women truly, then,
Styled but the shadows of us men?

At morn and even shades are longest;
At noon they are or short or none;
So men at weakest they are strongest,
But grant us perfect, they're not known.
Say, are not women truly, then,
Styled but the shadows of us men?

Ben Jonson

THE QUICK THINKER

By DR. FRANK CRANE

It takes all sorts of people to make a world. Some think slowly but surely; they get around to a conclusion after a while, and sometimes when it is too late. Some think quickly, their mind darting like an arrow. And, of course, very many do not think at all, at least not to speak of.

Among the statesmen of Europe M. Briand ranks high as a quick thinker. He thinks, as we say, on his feet.

There are many speakers who are confused and embarrassed by an interruption, particularly by an impertinent question. But to such a mind as M Briand's that sort of thing seems to act as a stimulant.

Lloyd George has the same sort of mentality. There is no place he seems to be happier than the floor of parliament, with the opposition asking all sorts of impudent questions, or making a speech to his constituents where the heckling is lively.

Thinging on one's feet seems to be a natural gift more than accomplishment to be acquired, although doubtless here also practice makes perfect. It shows an adroit mind, not necessarily a strong one.

All argument is a sort of dextrous tight-rope walking or ground and lofty tumbling. It rarely convinces. It only shows that you cannot be cornered.

It is very needful for politicians. For it is the essence of quick adjustment, and a politicians task is not to make come to pass what ought to be, but to adapt himself to what is and do the best he can with it.

We ought not to despise this quality. It is needed. It is quite as essential that somebody see that we get along as that somebody see that our ultimate duty and ideal.

Very often the quick thinker makes his best discoveries and leaps to his most important decisions on the spur of the moment and under the excitement of debate. He needs the exhilaration of conflict to do his best work.

In war is not only careful planning necessary and long and serious preparation, but also the commander who can quickly alter his plan of campaign to meet sudden emergencies.

In all crises, whether military or forensic contest or in affairs of business, the man who can and who dares make quick decisions has the advantage over the one who hesitates. Positivity, confidence, and faith anywhere—in a prize fight, a debate, a business conference, or battle—count for more than mere mass or slow-moving force.

At least they are better for the immediate issue, and with the politician, such as Mr. Lloyd George or M. Briand, it is the immediate issue that matters. The public quickly forget, and whether the political leader is consistent does not go for so much as for him to be clever, resourceful, and ready to propose something plausible to do now.

LEGAL QUERIES

FOREIGNER'S CHILD.

Q.—Will you kindly make clear following points on nationality? 1. Does a foreigner's child take citizenship in any country in the world, not only the British Empire and United States? 2. Is an international law in existence which governs these cases? — P.J.A., North Bay, Ont.

A.—1. Each country has its special laws as regards its citizenship, as, for instance, the British law is that a child or grandchild of a British subject is a British subject, no matter where born, and secondly, the child of any foreigner, if born on British soil, is a British subject. 2. There are agreements and conventions between the different nations which affect each country's laws, as, for example, we find several modifications of the British attitude as above explained.

EXECUTOR TO WILL.

Q.—Is an executor to will of one who was himself an executor, empowered to act for him, in the two capacities?—E. M.D.

A.—As regard the person being appointed to act as the executor of a man who in his lifetime was an executor, there is no reason why he cannot do that for the deceased's own property, as the latter would have a right to appoint an executor. As regards his acting as the executor of the estate of which the deceased man was the executor, unless there is a clause in the original will empowering such executor to appoint a successor, he cannot do so, and consequently such appointment would not be binding.

LOTS IN SASKATCHEWAN.

Q.—In 1912 or 1913 I bought three lots in Saskatchewan and have been paying taxes on them ever since; some time ago I wrote all the real estate people of the town in which lots are situated, with a view to disposing of them, but did not even get a reply. I would, therefore, like to let this property go. Can I be forced by law to make my payments for taxes?—J.E.P., Montreal.

A.—Yes, you can be compelled to pay the taxes as long as the property is in your name.

MARRIAGE BY LICENSE.

Q.—Can a couple resident in Quebec be married by special license in Ontario? If so, must the license be obtained where the couple live? Is it necessary to have birth certificate to obtain a license?

A.—1. A couple resident in Quebec may be married by license in Ontario. 2. The license must be obtained by the couple where they are being married. 3. The birth certificate here constitutes a proof of identity; consequently you should have it.

TENANT'S IMPROVEMENTS.

Q.—I have a tenant who, of his own free will, has made some improvements on property he has leased from me, which are of value to me also. Can he make me pay for improvements although there is no agreement between us? 2. A roomer of this tenant has done some painting in the same way, can he demand payment?—Landlord, Montreal.

A.—1. He can either remove them, or compel you to pay for them. 2. The same applies in this case.

OBJECTS TO WINDOW.

Q.—I have a property one story high, and my neighbor's house is two storeys; I find he has a little window, 18 in. by 16 in., with a little wire frame; inside frame is a glass, covered with colored paper; window is almost at top of a room, which is eight feet high, from my roof to window is about twelve feet. Have I a right to make him block window, from securing light from my side? —S. P., Que.

A.—Yes.

TAKING TOLL OF TRAFFIC.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—I read with interest a letter signed "Scapegoat" in Wednesday's Star in reference to being fined twice for speeding.

I might also state my case, which I also considered an injustice.

After returning from a trip to Plattsburg and getting my car covered with tar, which cost me some money, to remove, I found a summons stating that on such and such a date the week before I was proceeding east on a well known street at such a time at twenty-five miles per hour. I remembered the night quite well and the "officials" who timed me were at least ten or fifteen minutes out in their time, as I had not left my office at the stated time. I saw officials of all kinds, but as I would have had to take several of my friends to court with me to prove my case I decided I had better go and pay my fine, as I was advised by everybody that I would get beaten anyway and that with added expense.

I had the satisfaction of obtaining from an official how I received the "stab in the dark," so to speak. He informed me that I was timed by two of his best men (standing on the street) over so many measured feet, I would get over so many measured yards. I informed him that it takes two very good men, men who cannot be picked up at random on the street, to do that and moreover they would have to have excellent watches and well timed together. The point is that if they made a mistake which is absolutely certain that they did and I and several can swear to it, of several minutes of the time I was supposed to do it, you can see that a person has a poor show when it comes to the time when they compare and figure out how many miles per hour I was going, taking the time I covered these yards in as a basis.

I was really afraid to take my car out for some time as I felt I would get fined anyway; you do not mind being timed by a "cop" on a motorcycle, which is quite fair, but not this stationing men who evidently have to show something for his job. I considered that I just drew the unlucky number that day. I agree with "Scapegoat," you cannot get a number, especially of a motorcycle at 47½ miles per hour. I have heard of numerous cases like mine, but as in my case they simply have no recourse whatsoever but to pay up. If the fine was going to a charitable institution or part of it, one would not kick.

"ANOTHER."

THE STAR AND BAILIFFS' SALES.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—In your issue of Thursday last I read a letter on the iniquity of bailiff's sales written by Mr. Harold Innes. This is followed by an editorial in The Star of the 15th instant. It looks like the beginning of a "campaign." Let me illustrate the case as put before the public by Mr. Innes and The Star. Alexander Smith owes a doctor $20. The law of the land requires it and the Bible commands it, the doctor should be paid. The doctor sends a bill to his patient, who neglects to pay him. He takes no notice of the request. Then the claim is handed to a lawyer for collection. A letter is written and no notice is taken of it. It is followed by a summons—a papier timbre, as the French people call it, a copy of which is left for the debtor at his domicile. No notice is taken of that either. It is followed by a judgment. Eight days after an execution is issued and only a bailiff can execute it. A seizure is made of the defendant's effects—a copy of the procès verbal is left for the defendant at his domicile with a written notice that if he does not pay his debt, his effects will be sold on a stated day. The debtor does nothing and on the day of the sale his effects are sold. No one attends these sales except second-hand dealers and the goods are adjudged to the last and highest bidder. All this is done under authority of the law. And no one can be blamed for doing what the law authorises. But who benefits in this suggested case? Not the lawyer, for in cases of this nature under $25 the Legislature deprived the lawyer of his fees to please the working man. The Government profits by the sale of law stamps, the bailiff profits because he is paid his fees according to a tariff and The Star for advertising bailiffs' sales. I read them in The Star every night. The Star complains the notice of sale is advertised in an "obscure manner." It has the remedy in its own hands, let it give more prominence to the bailiff's sales in its columns. It is improper to call a man a "ghoul" who does a thing the law commands him. It is wrong to blame the bailiff for "obscure advertising." The comments of the letter and the comments of The Star are both wrong. Mr. Innes and The Star should go to Quebec and get the law amended to suit their whims, otherwise the poor debtor will continue to suffer. I hope you will give this letter the same prominence you gave to that of Mr. Innes. HENRY TUCKER.

Montreal, Aug. 16.

(Our correspondent evidently did not read the whole of The Star's editorial. It said in part: "The Star has already offered to give the necessary advertising prominence and to turn the receipts for it over to a fund to see that these sales are held with proper publicity and that the debtors are not robbed."—Ed. Star.)

UNNECESSARY NOISE.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star:

Sir,—Allow me to congratulate you on your article in today's issue entitled "Crusade Against Noises."

Speaking as one who has travelled through many countries of four continents, I do not hesitate to say that I find Montreal more noisy than any other city I can think of. The reverberation from the street cars, combined with other traffic noises, in the business sections, the continuous shouting of children who use the streets as playgrounds in the residential sections, cause more nerve fatigue in a day spent in this city than any other that I have been in. It is indeed a blessing that we have Mount Royal Park, where one can, by some extra exertion, after a tiresome day, ascend beyond the continuous nerve-straining noises of the city below. It is a well-known fact amongst physicians that noise is one of the greatest factors in cause of nervous disorders, indirectly causing many other troubles of a far-reaching nature.

A study of acoustics reveals the fact that even otherwise solid masonry can be destroyed by noise; historic evidence of which, lies in the Biblical incident of the Walls of Jericho, which were brought tumbling to the ground by Joshua's trumpeters, who, familiar with the laws of acoustics, established such vibrations of sound and sustained them long enough to achieve their object; in a manner similar to that resorted to by some singers, when demonstrating the power of their voices, by breaking tumblers by singing into them.

Imagine then, what strain this long suffering and much abused human organism of ours is subjected to for about twenty hours of every twenty-four in Montreal. The wonder is, how do we stand it? Some will answer: We ignore it; others: We get used to it. All very true, but to do either involves the exercise of negative energy, that is, the employment, subconsciously and sometimes consciously, of part of our energy in combatting the disturbing sound vibrations and thus reducing by so much, our constructive or postive energy. You mention one city that has recognized this very important aspect of community life, namely Paris, but London, Eng., too has long since recognised it, and most of the boroughs have by-laws regulating street noises. Let us hope that the City Commission, as a parting legacy will obtain means of establishing by-laws and more particularly their enforcement, governing this very important matter. In conclusion, I would like to say that if the Montreal Tramway Co. would divert some of its otherwise splendid efficiency to reducing the noise caused by its cars, it would aid very materially in converting this city into an enviable standard of comfort for city life.

ABORITES OPPOSED TO VOLSTEAD ACT

Gompers Says Measure Unwarrantable Interference With Freedom of People

TORONTO, Aug. 17.—"We believe that the Volstead Act for the enforcement of the eighteenth emendment to the constitution of the U.S. is an unwarrantable interference with the freedom of the people of the United States," was the declaration made by President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor here in reply to a request for a pronouncement on the attitude of the American Federation of Labor regarding prohibition, made to him during the conference which he held yesterday afternoon with local labor men. The request was made by Charles O'Donnell, General organizer of the Citizen's Liberty League, who said: "the story is going around continuously that the American Federation of Labor is favorable to prohibition. I would like a statement from you as to whether that is so or not."

Mr. Gompers' reply was as follows:

"The American Federation of Labor has declared in favor of beer and light wines, not only once but repeatedly, and stands by that principle. We believe that prohibition is unjust and that the constitutional amendment is unwarranted, and we believe that the Volstead Act for the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment to the constitution is an unwarrantable interference with the freedom of the people of the United States.

"I can say to you that in my opinion there is a great revulsion of opinion and feeling coming upon the people of the United States against this constitutional amendment, or at least the Volstead Act, and its limiting provisions of one half per cent alcohol. The idea of taking away from the people the right of drinking a glass of beer with the meals, or with the workman's dry lunch when he is on a job! However I do not want to wax eloquent on beer, but you have asked me a question and I have tried to answer it in as brief a manner as I can."

PYRETHEUM POWDER.

I saw in The Star a lady asking about Pyretheum powder for bed bugs. Tell her to get Keating's powder. This powder is really Pyretheum, we used to buy it long ago at the drug store, but Keating puts it in a form much handier for use. Go to a department store and get it in tins from 10 cents up in price according to size of tin. Just use a puffer and puff it around corners of mattresses and joints of bedstead and any place where the bugs hide away. Scour floors and mop boards with strong soda water and when dry just puff some powder in cracks, etc. About two applications will clean out about the worst cases. It is a pity more people don't know this simple powder and its use. I have never failed in using it in the worst cases in moving into infested houses. Most druggists sell it.
—A. W.

SOLDIERS AND FARM HANDS.

(1) Where could I apply for enrolment in the Royal Canadian North West Mounted Police? (2) Are there any regular regiments of soldiers kept in Montreal? If so, where?

IRREVERENCE.

May I, through your columns make an appeal to the girls of Canada, not to use the name of God in their lightest conversations. I am sure it is just a thoughtless habit and that no irreverence is intended. Nevertheless it is irreverent and they cannot realise how it jars on ears unaccustomed to it. I am a great admirer of Canadian girls and I think it a pity that they spoil themselves by using phrases that in England would be called swearing. I should be very grateful, Miss Currie, if you would give this letter your personal support as I know your opinion carries great weight with your readers. —Y. F. B.

VINEGAR FOR "TANGLEFOOT."

Tell "Pet" to use table vinegar or diluted acetic acid to remove Tanglefoot from the cat's fur.

I once had an amusing experience. My boy was always standing on his head, turning somersaults, etc. One day, while cleaning a bedroom I placed the flypaper on the centre of the bed for safety? and he came in shouting, "Mum, I got a new stunt," and before I could say a word he had his head landed right on the flypaper and was over the other side of the bed on his feet again. He couldn't imagine what had got him and I could not speak for laughing. The result was his lovely pompadour had to come off and such a head. But the vinegar took all the stickiness off. That cured him of doing stunts.
—PUSSY'S FRIEND.

IT-ALIAN.

A gentleman is out walking with a lady and they meet another gentleman friend of theirs. This gentleman that they met, either didn't know enough or is too lazy or for some other reason he did not raise his hat when he met that lady and gentleman. Here is where the argument comes in: A claims that the gentleman that is with the lady should raise his hat just the same seeing he is with a lady because it makes her feel cheap when he does not do that. B claims that seeing the other gentleman does not raise his hat the gentleman that is with the lady should not raise his hat. 2.—Kindly tell me how you pronounce the word "Italian." Do you use the I like in the word island or do you use it like in the word it?
—SOMEONE WHO IS INQUISITIVE.

Ans.—1.—A is right. 2.—As in it.

A CHILD'S CAUL.

Being a "North Country" woman and having a large family who were all born with cauls or veils, I am glad to tell you that a child's caul is greatly valued by sailors; many of them wearing them tacked to their jerseys as a safeguard against shipwreck. I personally disposed of four of mine for $1.00 each, to Englishmen, and they were advertised for in the weekly English paper known as "Exchange and Mart," and I have frequently seen advertisements since then. I still keep one myself and would not travel without it. My doctor informed me that they were supposed to be lucky children who are born with cauls. It may all be "ignorance" as you state, but superstition is not altogether ignorance although some may think so and I should be sorry to class myself as ignorant in this respect, as I have come through some very near death escapes with my caul. —IGNORANCE.

Ans.—The article to which you refer appeared in Dr. Huber's column. I am not Dr. Huber and have nothing whatever to do with the medical questions.

EXCESSIVE PERSPIRATION.

1.—Would you please oblige me in telling me what system of food to follow so as to reduce flesh. 2.—Do you think it is normal to be in excessive perspiration all over my body at night when I wake? —BROWN EYES.

Ans.—1.—Foods forbidden: All foods containing sugar, such as cakes, ice cream, preserved fruits, jellies, jams, etc. All fatty substances, butter, cream, gravies, oils, sardines, etc. White bread, potatoes, and all starch foods, oatmeal, rice. Foods permitted: Clams, oysters, lobsters. Soups without flour or fat thickening. Lean meats (ham, pork and liver excepted). Fish—fresh, salt or smoked of any kind, but cooked without fat or butter. Eggs in any style. Chicken, duck, turkey, game. Vegetables—squash, stringbeans, carrots, tomatoes, turnips, cabbage, peas, onions, asparagus, cauliflower, celery, salads, watercress, pickles of all kinds. Gluten bread. Water, coffee and tea (except with meals) in any quantity. Milk very sparingly and liquors very moderately. The foods permitted may be and should be indulged in freely. When required weight is reached the rigidity of the diet may be relaxed, until the increase in weight advises that strict adherence again be observed for a time. It is well, however, for those inclined to obesity to exclude potatoes and white bread, biscuits, rolls, etc., from the menu at all times. 2.—No, it is not. There must be something wrong with you and I would advise you to consult a doctor.

Would you you kindly tell me if this is so?
JOHN DE JUNG.

(1) Ships—1st year, $70 per month; 2nd. year $80 per month; 3rd year $90 per month; 4th year $100 per month; 5th year $120 per month, plus uniform allowance $60 per annum. Coast:—$40 per month maintenance allowance in addition to above schedule.

OUR DUMB FRIENDS, THE ANIMALS.

In reference to your correspondent's letter in The Star recently signed "Member S. P. C. A.," regarding the beating of a small dog by a so-called policeman, it would be more to the said policeman's credit if he kept his eyes open for pickpockets, purse snatchers, insulters of women and murderers, not forgetting the burglars —who are so prominent just now. I myself am a member of the S.P.C.A. and although kept a great deal in the house by housewife's duties, I keep my eyes open and when I do go out, promptly telephone the S.P.C.A. of any cases of cruelty I happen to come across. His Worship the Mayor, so I believe, is a patron of the S.P.C.A., and I feel sure if an appeal were made to him by the Board of Mercy Officials, to have kindness to dumb animals taught in both the French and English schools, whether Catholic or Protestant, it would not be in vain. It would be well (if it has not already been done), to have the Band of Mercy membership cards and rules printed in French and English, so that all children could learn how to treat our dumb friends.

I remember a few years ago, at the beginning of the World War, how my young step-son came running in to me and told me a policeman was shooting a half grown cat to death in the lane. I myself had heard the shots and went out to investigate. I found about ten or twelve children standing looking on at this exhibition of marksmanship. The poor kitty was still moving and although two or three bullets were in its small body it was still alive. I remonstrated with this brave policeman, and then to end matters he promptly went and got a hammer and finished his work. I put the matter into the S.P.C.A.'s hands and then my boy came in one day and told me this said policeman had threatened him because I had reported the matter. I went to the Chief of Police and reported the whole matter and the next time I saw this brave policeman he was in a soldier's uniform, and I believe was sent overseas to help fight the Germans. Although he is back again now, I think he has left the police force and it would be a good thing if the policeman who beat up the small dog were to leave as well, for brave men are needed on our police force and not those who make war on dumb animals. I believe there are many kind-hearted and courteous policemen in the city, but there is a great shortage of guardians of the peace—otherwise there would be no need for a policeman to tell you when you call his attention to a robbery, etc., to go to the detective office, or that he will report the said complaint when he goes off duty. They are also closing up some police stations, which will make the criminals rejoice and give them a better chance to commit various crimes.

HEALTH TALKS

By JOHN B. HUBER, A.M., M.D.

THE RAT AND DISEASE.

It is a defective and unclean civilization which endures the rat. Such was the case along the Mississippi years ago, when Mark Twain so vividly pictured the experiences of Huckleberry Finn; when, in almost any house, almost anywhere along the floor, would protrude the nose of one of those dirty brown rodents. Such seems to be the case in Copenhagen, where at one time the conditions were so bad that a society was formed for the extermination of that creature which harbors in its mangy hide so many varieties of disease engendering germs. During Napoleon's time at St. Helena the rats were so rife that they walked on the dinner table; and once when he lifted his hat from the hall stand a rat jumped from it.

Besides engendering disease, the rat destroys property, causes fires and inundations by gnawing through waterpipes. Wherever living and housing conditions are unsanitary, where filth and refuse remain unmoved, where drainage is bad, where dank and darkness prevail, in regions unreachable by sunshine and fresh air—under conditions, in short, where scavengering is necessary — there is the rat to be found. There, indeed, in the scheme of things, is the rat indispensible.

The rat seems to be most entirely responsible for the propagation of bubonic plague from port to port. The germ of typhus and tyhoid fever, and no doubt also of tuberculosis, and many other infections, are disseminated by it. Investigations in Chicago have shown that the rat is in very loathsome ways related to trichinosis in man. Rats and mice are very susceptible to hydrophobia infection; they may, therefore, be responsible for many cases of canine rabies.

Poisoning, traps, ferrets, and fumigation are the means to be employed. Barium carbonate and strychnine are the most useful poisons. The "guillotine" or "break-back" trap made entirely of metal, is probably the best. Ferrets and dogs are useful, but only when their masters are experienced in rat-catching. In fumigation, a wad of cotton saturated with carbon disulphide, is pushed into the burrow and the opening closed with soil to prevent the escape of gas; this method cannot be used in dwellings, where the decaying body of the rat would create a stench.

But to end as we began, the question is one of cleanly civilization. If communities have not risen above the level where they will permit filth and putrescense to accumulate, they—lest worse befall them—must endure the rat, which is a natural scavenger of such matter.

PIN-MONEY PLANS

Making Children's Dresses

The making of children's dresses and aprons, together with the remodelling of children's clothes, from those of their elders, was the plan adopted by one woman who found it necessary to become a bread-winner. When she began this work she knew nothing about dressmaking, but was a good plain seamstress. She bought a dozen paper patterns to fit children of various ages, and put a small advertisement in a local newspaper; soon she had all the work she could do. It is not difficult to make little girls' dresses as they do not require as careful fitting as women's clothes. It soon developed that the trade all came in a rush during the spring and autumn months, while in mid-summer and mid-winter the work would be slack. But, by a little thought, she evolved a plan by which her income would be equalized. Whenever a sale of dress goods is advertised, she is on hand early, and often gets bargains in remnants which are just the right length for little girls' dresses, and shorter remnants which will make up into pinafores. She is always careful never to buy ugly patterns, and also to choose materials which, while pretty and dainty, will wash and wear well. Some of the prettiest cotton fabrics are now made in absolutely fast dyes. Odds and ends of laces, insertions and other trimmings can also be picked up at sales. When there are no orders on hand, she busies herself in making up materials into dresses and pinafores for girls from 4 to 10 years old, and they find a ready sale. She charges the same prices as those asked by the shops and makes a good profit. Remnants of gingham and other cheap weaves are made up into women's kitchen aprons and house dresses. Kitchen aprons sell readily, and can be made in less than an hour, the work being all done on a sewing machine. Dressing sacques made from muslin remnants also find ready sale.

THE WORST SPEED.

"Just fast enough," replied Mr. Chuggins, "to break the road rules, and not fast enough to keep ahead of the cop."

HOME ECONOMICS

By MRS. ELIZABETH KENT

(Copyright, 1920, by the Metropolitan Newspaper Service)

LACE IN THE SEVENTEENTH CENTURY.

Under Henry IV. and Louis XIII., in spite of numerous royal edicts designed to check extravagance, in dress and decoration, lace was used on cuffs, collars, gloves, doublets, breeches, and even boot-tops, to an exaggerated degree, not only in costumes for men and women, and for altar decoration in churches, but also on furniture, beds especially, as interior trimmings, and along the great window sashes of coaches. Henry IV. was vexed at these absurdities, yet wished to encourage the industries of France, realizing better than his ministers that the money for "the men and iron of war" comes from trade, even from lace. Louis XII., narrowly religious, did all he could to discourage lace-makers and wearers.

But it was Louis XIV. who, with the aid of Colbert, his great minister, moved the centre of the lace world from Venice to France, and under his reign the lovely French laces, de France, d'Alencon, d'Argentan, de Bruxelles, and d'Angleterre, reached their height of charm and elegance. Colbert, through the French ambassador at Venice, sent a few of the daughters of the best lace-makers of France to Venice to be taught, and some years later wrote, "I have gladly received the collar of needle-point lace in relief you sent me and I find it very beautiful. I will have it compared with those now being made by our own lace makers, although I may tell you beforehand that as good specimens are now being made in this kingdom." Colbert brought thirty teachers from Venice and two hundred from Flanders, and placed them in suitable French towns at Government expense. Modern governments might take a hint from Colbert.

LITTLE STORIES FOR BEDTIME BY THORNTON W. BURGESS

GRANDFATHER FROG JUMPS JUST IN TIME.

(Copyright by J. G. Lloyd.)

Back and forth over the Green meadows sailed Whitetail the Marshhawk. Like Longlegs the Blue Heron he was hungry. His sharp eyes peered down among the grasses looking for some thing to eat. But some good fairy seemed to have warned the very little people who lived there that Whitetail was out hunting. Perhaps it was one of Old Mother West Wind's children, the Merry Little Breezes. You know they are always flitting about trying to do some one a good turn.

They love to dance and romp and play
From dawn to dusk the livelong day,
But more than this they love to find
A chance to do some favor kind.

Anyway, little Mr. Green Snake seemed to know that Whitetail was out hunting and managed to keep out of sight. Danny Meadow Mouse was not to be found. Only a few foolish grasshoppers rewarded his patient search, and these only served to make him feel hungrier than ever. But old Whitetail has a great deal of persistence, and in spite of his bad luck he kept at his hunting, back and forth, back and forth, until he had been all over the Green Meadows. At last he made up his mind that he was wasting time there.

"I'll just have a look over at the Smiling Pool and if there is nothing there I'll take a turn or two along the Big River," thought he, and straightway started for the Smiling Pool. Long before he reached it his keen eyes saw Longlegs the Blue Heron standing motionless on the edge of it, and he knew by the looks of Longlegs that he was watching something which he hoped to catch.

"If it's a fish," thought Whitetail, "it will do me no good, for I am no fisherman. But if it's a frog—well, frogs are not as good eating as fat meadow mice, but they are very filling."

With that he hurried a little faster, and then he saw what Longlegs was watching so intently. It was Grandfather Frog sitting on his big green lily-pad. Old Whitetail gave a great sigh of satisfaction. Grandfather Frog certainly would be very filling, very filling, indeed.

Now, Longlegs the Blue Heron was so intently watching Grandfather Frog that he saw nothing else, and Grandfather Frog was so busy watching Longlegs that he quite forgot that there might be other dangers. Besides, his back was to old Whitetail. Of course Whitetail saw this, and it made him almost chuckle aloud. Ever so many times he had tried to catch Grandfather Frog, but always Grandfather Frog had seen him long before he could get near him.

Now, with all his keen sight old Whitetail had failed to see some one else who was sitting right in plain sight. He had failed because his mind was so full of Grandfather Frog and Longlegs that he forgot to look around as he usually does. Just skimming the tops of the bulrushes he sailed swiftly out over the Smiling Pool and reached down with his great cruel claws to clutch Grandfather Grandfather Frog Dived Head First Into the Smiling Pool.

Frog. There he sat pretending to be asleep, but all the time watching Longlegs, and all ready to jump the minute Longlegs tried to get nearer. Just a teeny, weeny second more and the Smiling Pool would never again see Grandfather Frog.

Slap! That was the tail of Jerry Muskrat hitting the water. Grandfather Frog knew what that meant—danger. He didn't know what the danger was and he didn't wait to find out. There would be time enough for that later. When Jerry Muskrat slapped the water with his tail that way danger was very near, indeed. With a frightened "chugarum!" Grandfather Frog dived head first into the Smiling Pool, and so close was old Whitetail that the water was splashed right in his face. He clutched frantically with his great claws, but all he got was a piece of the big green lily-pad on which Grandfather Frog had been sitting, and, of course, this was of no use for an empty stomach.

With a scream of disappointment and anger he whirled in the air and made straight for Jerry Muskrat. But Jerry just laughed in the most provoking way and ducked under water.

Next Story—Longlegs and Whitetail Quarrel.

Ryder—It must be all right. Look at the lovely long face he has.

There came into a church a man who informed the sexton that he wished to be married on a certain day.

The sexton inquired the man's name and it was given him.

Then he said: "Your fiancee?"

The man shook his head.

"We are not going to have any of that," he replied. "It will be only a quiet affair."

A HUSBAND TO MARCIA

By CAROLYN BEECHER

CHAPTER LVIII.

John Aldrich felt a bit conscience-stricken when he kept the fact that he had extra work, and so extra money, from Marcia. But it was the only way he could keep his agreement to send Mrs. Doran and Muriel a certain sum each month for Kenneth's care and support. Muriel had written that it simplified matters for them in every way. They both loved the little fellow, he was company for Mrs. Doran, and the money helped them in their household expenses.

"What's the matter, John? Aren't you as clever as you used to be?" Marcia asked fretfully one morning at breakfast. "You know I have always thought you frightfully clever."

"I guess I am about the same as I always have been. Why?"

"You don't seem to get as much extra work. I want some new things for the house dreadfully. Can't you manage to let me have enough to refurnish the living room. I am really ashamed to entertain my friends at bridge. I must have a rug right away. We can't get along with this old one any longer. I'll put it in the dining room and sell that one."

"Rugs are too expensive just now, Marcia. Everything in the carpet line is almost prohibitive."

"We have got to have one if they are expensive. You must try and brace up and get some extra work. I am going to have the club, the political club, here next week to discuss 'Matters of National Importance to Women.' I have ordered some new curtains for the living room, and——"

"You have ordered them?"

"Yes."

"Can you pay for them out of your allowance?"

"No—what a question! I wasn't to furnish the house out of my allowance! What has gotten into you, John?"

"These curtains look very well. How much are the new ones?"

"Only thirty dollars a window. And they are the sweetest things—the newest pattern. It is lucky we have only two windows, isn't it?"

"I should say it was. Sixty dollars, Marcia. I can't pay it."

"But you must! They are half made by this time. They'll sue us if you don't."

"Marcia, I shall have to forbid you getting anything beyond what your allowance pays for without first consulting me. I do all I can for you—as you know. But do not buy anything more without talking it over with me." John rose. It was time to go to the office.

"Do stand straight, John! You are getting round shouldered and it makes you look old. And wait a minute, John! When will you go to look at rugs with me?"

"Never!" John fairly snapped out the word. Then as Marcia commenced to cry bitterly he hurried from the house.

As he strode along the street he passed a mirror in front of a shop. Involuntarily he glanced into it. Yes, Marcia was right. He did look stooped and old. But he didn't look half as old as he felt. He really felt a hundred.

Suddenly he remembered. It was his birthday. He was only a bit over thirty — thirty-three years old. He shouldn't look like that old, old man in the mirror. Unconsciously he straightened, flung back his shoulders and muttered:

"Get a grip on yourself, old man! This won't do."

All day at the office he wondered how he was going to keep Marcia contented, all day he worked with that thought uppermost. He was glad she had forgotten it was his birthday. She might have been tempted to buy him something.

About three o'clock his telephone rang.

"This is Marcia, John. Many happy returns, old dear. Come home very early; I have a surprise for you even if you were bad to your wifey this morning. Be sure and come early."

"Damn!" was the expletive with which John punctuated the hanging up of the receiver.

What was Marcia up to now? Her birthday and anniversary gifts had been sort of a joke ever since they married. She would buy something for the house, something she wanted, and give it to him. And she always charged it.

It was six o'clock when he left the office, although Marcia called again and asked him to get home by five. But he had work to do, and his work had gone neither as quickly nor as easily of late.

He heard voices when he put his key into the lock. The apartment, brilliantly lighted, was filled to overflowing with guests. They all pounced upon him, wishing him many happy returns, while Marcia hurried him off to his room to dress.

"Hurry, John! Isn't it lovely? I never thought of being your birthday until after you had gone. Then I kept the telephone busy for two hours geting up this party for you. I ordered the supper from a caterer, of course. We had no time to do anything but clean the rooms, and we are to have some music and dancing. Aren't you pleased, old dear!" She kissed him thirty-three times without waiting for an answer, then left him to return to her guests, cautioning him to hurry.

No. 33—"The Bump of Wit"

Humor is one of the most important things in life, and most persons have it in some degree or other. Those who haven't escaped some handicaps to the efficiency of their efforts, but on the whole they lose more than they gain, for with the ability to appreciate the humor of a situation there generally goes the ability to main one's balance judicially.

How often would we be led into the most ridiculous blunders, from which we would suffer not only embarrassment but also loss of respect, if we did not have a sense of humor to hold us back?

But what is more tragic than the mating of two persons whose capabilities to appreciate wit and humor vary greatly in degree. The witty one is condemned to the loneliness of laughing without sympathy, and the serious one is never able to understand the apparent vagaries and little conceits of the other. Many marriages have broken over just this rock of difficulty.

All persons, however, are not outwardly humorous. The faint smile of one may mean more than hearty laughter in another (and you must remember that laughter sometimes only indicates that a person "feels good.") How, then, can you gauge humor?

By the upper, outer angle of the forehead. Look at a person full in the face. Notice where the front of the forehead curves back to the side of the head above the temples. Is this curve a marked one? If so, the sense of humor is normal or more. But is there a flattened space there? If so, the person you're looking at is more than likely one who can't see a joke. But these are the exceptions. The vast majority of people have a good bump of wit.

More Truth Than Poetry

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE

THE PENALTY OF PROSPERITY.

Before the summer sun shone warm,
When fields were barely green,
And little Mr. Robin's form
Was spare and gaunt and lean,
When snow still lingered in the glade
And chilly breezes blew,
Upon a maple bough he swayed
And sang the twilight through.

And when he took himself a wife
And had two mouths to feed
And later led the hard, hard life
That fathers have to lead,
At daybreak when his voice rang out
It sounded clear and strong
And all the woodland round about
Re-echoed with his song.

But now that worms are thick as peas
And days are warm and bright,
Old Mr. Robin takes his ease
From morning until night.
At daylight or at twilight now
We never hear his call,
He sits content upon a bough
And never sings at all.

And sometimes, when the leafy limb
A passing breeze has stirred,
You see him through the shadows dim
A sleepy, dull old bird.
And, all regretfully, you say,
"Some folks are just like that."
And tell yourself it doesn't pay
To get too rich and fat.

FASHIONS FOR TODAY

Navy Tricotine Fashions This Fall Frock With Gray Broadcloth.

No Patterns Are Sold With This.

The first of September finds the summer wardrobe pretty well frayed out, and the average woman adds one or two simple tailored frocks during August in preparation for the occasional chilly days of early fall. Sometimes these dresses are discovered as special "finds" at clearance sales of spring and summer apparel in the smart shops, and again a new frock will be made or a last season one brought up to date.

The dress shown in the sketch offers a suggestion for a new fall street frock, or it may aid in making over a last season one. The dress is of navy tricotine, with vestee, collar and cuffs of pale gray broadcloth stitched in silver thread and red silk. A piping of the broadcloth edges the pockets on either side of the skirt.

This dress would be very smart made of black or navy Canton crepe and trimmed with self-fabric in contrasting color. For very early fall a silk crepe frock would perhaps give a little better service than the one of wool fabric.

Seven to nine inches from the ground continues to be the skirt length recommended by American style authorities, although French dressmakers are showing many garments that are considerably longer. Nine inches from the ground is just about to the shoe tops, while seven inches brings a skirt to ankle length.

Most of the street frocks so far shown for fall have either the normal or slightly low waist line. The silhouette is straight, little flare being in evidence except in dance frocks.

A Mother writes:—

"My little boy is a breast-fed Baby. I was advised that Glaxo could be taken by nursing Mothers. I tried it, and not only found the milk richer, but increased in quantity. I am anxious for the merits of Glaxo to be made widely known, for the benefit of other nursing Mothers, as well as their children."

Another Mother tells us:—

"About four months before my second child was born, I was advised to take Glaxo, as I was very ill. I derived much benefit from it and, when Baby came, to my great pleasure I had an abundant supply of milk, and was able to breast feed him, due, I firmly believe, to my taking Glaxo before and after Baby was born."

SHOCK OF CHANGE OF OPPONENTS UNNERVED MISS LENGLEN

SUZANNE LENGLEN, SOBBING AND ALSO COUGHING, RETIRES

Before the Greatest Gallery Ever Witnessing Women's Tennis Contest, French Marvel, After Losing First Set to Mrs. Mallory, is Forced to Default

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(Star Special.)—The tennis match of the century—like the recent pugilistic match of the century—ended in a victory for America over France on the turf courts at Forest Hills yesterday.

Before the greatest gallery that ever witnessed a women's tennis tilt in this country, Mrs. Franklin I. Mallory, flashing the game of her career, thoroughly outplayed Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, the unbeaten wonder girl of France, and won by default in the second set after taking the first set at 6—2. On the verge of a nervous collapse the French girl, after two strokes in the second set, overwhelmed by the game of her rival, stunned the gathering by walking over to the umpire's chair and announcing that she could not continue. It was a dramatic ending, that held the 8,000 spectators speechless for a long time. Early in the match it was noted that Mlle. Lenglen coughed considerably, yet it did not seem to interfere with her play to any extent. In the heat of the rallies, when her attention was concentrated on winning the point, she thrilled at times with some mighty brilliant tennis, and there were many in the gallery who, despite the fact that the first set was going against her, felt confident that Suzanne was merely biding her time, and that she would come through with the tennis pyrotechnics of which so much had been written.

SANK INTO CHAIR.

Following her default, Mlle. Lenglen, sobbing and coughing, sank into a chair on the side-line, while officials and Mrs. Mallory ran over to her. Mrs. Mallory held out her hand, and, after Suzanne had grasped it, walked off the court quietly. As she passed on to the clubhouse the crowd suddenly broke its silence and cheered her vociferously. She deserved it. She had played wonderful tennis, had played with a determination and brilliance that probably Mlle. Lenglen at her best could not have beaten.

As she followed Mrs. Mallory off the court, assisted by the officials, the French girl continued to sob. She indicated that she had had great difficulty catching her breath, and that it would have been impossible for her to have continued any longer. At a nearby hotel she was attended by a physician, who declared that her condition was not serious, but that her coughing was probably due to a recurrence of the attack of bronchitis that had delayed her start for America. If that is so, the recurrence of the attack came rather suddenly, for on Monday, in a fast practice match with Samuel Hardy, Suzanne played at top speed, never coughed once or drew anything like a long breath.

SENSATIONAL PLAY.

Aside from its dramatic climax, the match will be remembered for the sensational playing, the rugged aggressiveness, determination and remarkable getting on the part of the American queen of the courts. Mrs. Mallory rose absolutely to the height of her ability, forced a whirlwind pace that probably amazed the French girl, and had much to do with her hysterical condition. It was she, not Suzanne, who stood out as the wizard of the tennis courts. Fighting every second of the match, Mrs. Mallory fairly out-did herself. She made the most astonishing recoveries. Mlle. Lenglen was not the Lenglen the crowd expected to see, but she played mighty fine tennis, despite her mental hazard. Her strokes were placed with good judgment and Mrs. Mallory had to race from one side of the court to the other to keep pace with the ball. But the American woman was equal to the task.

Thoroughly aroused, and intent upon stoning for her defeat at the hands of the French girl in the hard court championships at St. Cloud last May, Mrs. Mallory followed the ball like a hawk, swept over the court with at times incredible speed and sent back Mlle. Lenglen's best shots. Not only sent back, but every now and then passed her cleanly with powerful forehand drives that found the side-lines, or that landed at the French girl's feet for earned points.

It must have been discouraging to see her most brilliant efforts turned back with such wonderful persistency. Suzanne is accustomed to score without question when she has time to set herself for a return, and the failure of the strokes to go through apparently had a disheartening effect for Mlle. Lenglen appeared to lose speed toward the end and played more or less lackadaisically.

FIRST GAME LOST.

The first sensation came when after a short warming-up Mlle. Lenglen opened service and dropped the game as the result of two lightning placement by Mrs. Mallory, forehand strokes that fairly sizzled as the ball struck the side-line chalk mark. The French girl also contributed two errors on drives out of court. Continuing to out-speed her opponent, the American champion took the next game as well, and the lead was hers at 2 love. Excited buzzling in the stands and remarks of "Ah's!" as Mlle. Lenglen took the third game after Mrs. Mallory had led at 4 love. Apparently Suzanne had overcome her nervousness, the crowd thought. Now for the fireworks and fireworks it was, but Mrs. Mallory, not Suzanne supplied it. Driving relentless from deep court with all the power in her brawny right arm, Mrs. Mallory quickly took four of the next five games. Some of the rallies were decidedly interesting, but as a rule they ended in Mrs. Mallory's favor.

It was fast work, but it was getting rather one-sided as the American champion gathered speed and strength with every game. Once or twice before the end of the first set, Mlle. Lenglen showed signs of being in trouble either mentally or physically, but she did not stop until after the second set had begun. She was serving. Mrs. Mallory, returning the service ball, sent it deep into the corner of the court and Suzanne drove it out of bounds. Then the French girl double-faulted, and that was the last stroke made.

AN EXPERT'S ANALYSIS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(Special to Star)—A. Wallis Myers, tennis editor of the London Field, writing in the New York, says:

"I have some qualification to write of the sensational match at Forest Hills yesterday. I have known Suzanne Lenglen since she was a young girl of 12, I played with her in mixed doubles on her first Riviere season and was her partner again at Cannes this year. Moreover, I have watched her perform in England, France and Belgium—seen every one of her successive triumphs, witnessed the genius in her develop, analyzed from very close quarters a temperament that Americans met for the first time this week. First, I would say, definitely, that on yesterday's relative form Mrs. Mallory deserved to win—she was able to deliver, and would have won in two sets if the French girl had not retired. Mrs. Mallory is a fighter to the last ditch. She goes on smilingly to the end. She played heroically in the Paris match against Suzanne in which I took a line and really deserved more than the five games she won. But in temperament she is quite different from the champion whom she defeated yesterday. She is Norwegian, with Norse persistency, cold-bloodedness, activity and shrewdness.

A BUNDLE OF NERVES.

"Suzanne is a bundle of nervous sprightliness, volatile, excitable, essentially French, yet imbued with the spirit of modern sport, which France has sought to cultivate. Suzanne was not brought out with sporting girls as American and English girls were. Bombed out of her home near Lille when the Germans invaded and ransacked her country, she has lived for the last six years in southern Nice—a place far removed in tone and temper from New York. Suzanne has been the child wonder of French tennis; flattered without precedent, she has not yet been spoiled; tended almost every hour of her life by two fond parents, she has yet displayed an independence that has given her a mind and an expression of her own.

Suzanne's father did not want her to come to America just yet. He felt, for one thing, that she was not physically strong enough this year for an exacting tour in a new country under strange conditions, and I believe M. Charles Lenglen will not be altogether surprised to hear that she has fallen to Mrs. Mallory in her first match. But it was felt by the French association that as Tilden had come to Paris under some physical difficulty so Suzanne ought to go to New York. Suzanne shared this view and was the more pleased to undertake the mission when she knew that her own devastated area would benefit from it. But she knew as soon as she landed that she would not be in form at once. How could she be? No tournament match for six weeks, the longest sea voyage of her life and a bronchial trouble that re-asserted itself under the strain of yesterday's ordeal.

As I sat by her bedside last evening in the hotel at Forest Hills, I realized that she was physically and mentally done in; that she was genuinely hors de combat. Why did she play at all?

WHAT MISS LENGLEN SAID

Here is her answer:

"I thought the American sporting public would be distressed if I did not turn out. I had promised to play. I thought I could stay the course—but I just couldn't. My chest felt like nothing on earth; I could scarcely breathe; I wonder I went on for nine games. In France my parents would not have allowed me to play at all. At Nice last year I wanted to defend my cup for the third year but they vetoed my appearance."

She gave credit to Mrs. Mallory. She admitted frankly that the present holder was better than she had anticipated; she had nothing but gratitued for the reception by the crowd, and was ever so disappointed she had to give up. But she has no intention of shortening her program in America. She hopes to partner Billy Johnston in mixed doubles at Boston next week and hopes to win with him. After that, if she is fit, as I expect she will be, her tour through the country will proceed; for Suzanne is not the kind of girl to let anybody down. She may think she is entitled to play competitive lawn tennis only when she is really well; that as an amateur she is entitled to give Mrs. Mallory the credit of a two victory without straining her own rather slender physique and endangering her health. I do not know. I only say that may be her thought.

Just one thing more, Suzanne is reported to have said on arrival that she played Mrs. Mallory in Paris and beat her easily, though she (Suzanne) had blistered feet.

"'I think' she explained to me, 'my meaning was misunderstood. I have always had the greatest respect for the American champion, especially for her pertinacity and her activity. I said that, though I was handicapped in Paris, I won in two sets but the match was closer than the score indicates. Perhaps before I leave America I shall meet Mrs. Mallory again, and then it will be after I've got more acclimatized.'

DEMONSTRATION BY FIGHT FANS AT TOR. DECISION

TORONTO, Aug. 17.—Ernie Barrieau, of Vancouver, was awarded the decision on points over Eddie Beatty, of Hamilton, in the main bout at the Veterans' "show" in the arena last night. With the declaration that Barrieau had outpointed Beatty came the most pronounced, vehement and general demonstration of disapproval seen here since the Ontario Government Athletic Commission became the supervisors of the manly art in this province.

At first the crowd accepted the verdict with certain reserve, but a scene that set the police officers amove in the purpose of coping with any possible disorder. The spectators, however, did not go to the length of requiring to be subdued, but they did continue their demonstration of dissatisfaction for several minutes and during part of the following bout.

Beatty, champion welterweight of Scotland, and Barrieau, champion of Canada in the same division, are distinctly, different types of boxers. The Scot is a shifty fellow, who has seen his best days in the ring, but who is still speedy and courageous. Barrieau, slower and more deliberate, is the kind of boxer who appears to assimilate many blows for the purpose of landing a few.

A right uppercut unsteadied Beatty early in the bout and he set himself the task of evading many another later in the mill. He blocked cleverly and most of the well directed blows started by Barrieau did find their intended mark. Beatty did most of the leading and outboxed the Vancouver man for most of the route. The judges were far apart in their awards. One of the officials scored eleven points in favor of Beatty, while the other awarded Barrieau a majority of twelve points over the Hamiltonian, thus leaving Barrieau the winner by one point.

Barrieau relied almost entirely upon his right hand, but he was slow in delivering his blows and almost every time he set himself to present Beatty with a right hander he got a piston-like straight left to the head before

"FANS WHO SAW TENNIS MATCH POOR SPORTS"

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., August 17.—By Henry L. Farrell, United Press Staff Correspondent.)—Suzanne Lenglen, the little tennis marvel of France, sat in her apartment here today, with only her mother to comfort and console her.

The American champion, Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, yesterday not only defeated the queen of the European courts and the claimant of the world's championship, but forced her to quit after losing the first set, 6—2.

The American champion, despite the manner in which her victory was accomplished, deserves full credit for her triumph. It was her day. The greatest game of her life found her in her greatest form and it is doubtful if the little French girl could have won if she had been in perfect condition. She was suffering from a severe cough.

But the spectators, a gathering of 8,000 tennis fans, supposed to represent the very highest type of American sportsmanship, can accept or claim no credit for the treatment accorded a vanquished girl.

From the time that little Suzanne weakly raised her left hand as a token of surrender and staggered to the referee with a "It is impossible for me to continue," forced out between violent coughs that had her almost in hysterics, while she was sitting collapsed on the chair, alone in the middle of the court and while she walked weavingly to a secluded corner of the clubhouse where she sat alone with her mother, there were only murmurs, asides and open accusations that she had quit in ignominy.

Someone finally called a doctor. The crowd, principally women society leaders of New York and Long Island, looked on sarcastically or with morbid curiosity while the physician gave her a hasty examination. No one lent a helping hand, no one offered a kind word. There wasn't, even in that elite gathering, the spirit of a Dempsey, who picked up the battered Carpentier from the floor of the ring and held him up in his powerful arms until his friends came. Little Lenglen had no friends there.

Revived sufficiently, the French girl went home, walking several blocks through lines and lines of automobiles. Her mother supported her on one side and her fellow countryman, A. R. De Jeannis, on the other.

The French champion, who lost was not the dashing, vivacious Suzanne of Antwerp, Wimbledon and Paris. It was a physically unfit Suzanne, who, in her own words, went out to play because she did not wish to disappoint the big crowd of Americans.

Another thing, Mlle. Lenglen came to the courts expecting to meet Miss Eleanor Goss. When she arrived she was notified that her opponent was to be Mrs. Mallory, the greatest in America.

They were veiled rumors last night around the clubhouse that Miss Goss had been asked to default in order to get Mrs. Mallory in against the French girl when she was at the top of her game and when the little visitor was not.

Of the whole gathering of tennis players around the courts there was only one to speak a kind word for the vanquished. That one was Billy Johnston, from the Pacific coast, one of the finest figures in the game.

The national championships will go on their way today through the third round but the tournament will carry a heavy load to overcome the anti-climax.

Mrs. Mallory practically has cinched the championship as she is now in her greatest game.

The third round of the singles will be played this afternoon, together with the second round of the junior and doubles championships.

SOCCER GOSSIP

BY CRAIG CAMPBELL

The P.Q.F.A. council had quite a lot to do last night, and got through the business in about an hour less than the "ordinary" sessions, members being able to reach home without extra emolument to the Street Railway.

The case of the Windsor Hotel F.C. playing a man named Riley, knowing he had been ordered from the field for some offence, cost the club four points. Riley had not been called in the matter, but upon hearing the decision, got up, and as he was leaving the room said he would never kick another ball. President Mitchell called him back, but Riley went on, and until he apologises to the board for his remark, he never will kick another ball. Secretary Doyle's version in this case was accepted without question, as the referee had not notified him that Riley was sent from the field.

Player Sommerville, of Thistles, appeared for a like offence, but as the referee had not tendered his report, the case could not be heard, so Somerville, much to his disgust, is still on the suspended list, meaning that until the report is in, he cannot play.

Sons of Scotland gained their point, that police protection in cup ties must be paid for by both clubs.

Permission was granted Blue Bonnets to allocate the proceeds of their game against Beloeil for the benefit of a player named Reid. The circumstances are rather singular. Reid had only just arrived in Canada, and was injured in his first game after fifteen minutes' play, and has been on the sick list ever since.

The Ottawa F.A. wrote asking for a renewal of the inter-city games, but in view of the congested state of league fixtures, it was not deemed advisable to entertain the idea.

Jack Kyle, Jim Phillip and Peter Gray examined five candidates for the refereeing end of the game, and all five passed, viz., Ellis, Saunders, Eccles, Tuck and Clarke. These gentlemen are eligible to officiate right away should their services be required.

Referee Wainwright complained about the insulting behaviour of a C.P.R. supporter before last night's game with Grand Trunks. C.P.R. officials were asked for this man's name, and President Mitchell assured Wainwright that as soon as it is secured the person in particular will be dealt with.

All transfers cease on September 1. Jim Flockhart notified the board that the D.F.A. have ruled for next year that a player can demand his release without question.

The secretary must acquaint clubs when any of their players are ordered off, regardless of intimation received through league channels.

Draw for the Quebec Cup, 1st round, August 24th, is:—

Lachine vs. Calvin.
Verdun City vs. Nomads.
Windsor Hotel vs. Can. Vickers.
Great War Vets. vs. C.P.R.
Thistles vs. R. Highlanders.
Locos vs. M.A.A.A.
Tetreaultville vs. St. Paul Town.
Beloeil vs. Blue Bonnets.
Byrs.—Sons of Scotland, Grenadier Guards, Grand Trunks, 5th, C.M.R., Rosemount, Sons of England, Emard and Lyalls.

Jack Kyle received the 28-year old cup, presented by Bob Benning, and says he feels sure the Junior Association will greatly appreciate the kindness of Mr. Binning, and that it will become one of the most treasured possessions of the Juniors.

Results of last night's senior league games were:—

Sons of Scotland, 5, M.A.A.A., 0.
Lyalls, 3; Calvin, 0.
Grand Trunks, 0; C.P.R., 0.
Vickers, 3; Rosemount, 0.

Next Saturday's Charity Cup semi-final between Royal Highlanders and Rosemount Rovers will be played on the McGill Stadium.

Tomorrow evening's games for the semi-final "Willis Cup" are:—

Goodwin's vs. Almy's.
Harrisons vs. Grand Trunk Offices.

On account of the Verdun City-Highlanders game tonight at Regina Park the Printers will hold their practice on Thursday evening at 6:15. All signed players are requested to be on hand.

"UNO'S" SOCCER TALK

Last night was the first occasion I had seen the new P.Q.F.A. in harness, and while I did not, could not possibly agree with one or two of their verdicts, I must say that, generally speaking, they showed a disposition to look at facts fairly, squarely, and with a view to the proper government of the game. Before I entered the Council Chamber I encountered Dick Riley, of Windsor Hotel, the player who after being sent off the field played two games, this in complete ignorance of the fact that he was automatically suspended. Dick is an out and out club man, and when he heard that the P.Q.F.A. had deducted four points from Windsor's humble total of six, he rose indignantly, and addressed the chair thus: "Gentlemen, after that, there is no use trying me. I'm finished with the game." As he walked out of the room, hat in hand, closing the door behind him he thought he heard a "life" sentence being passed upon him. It wasn't quite so bad as that, however, but, for his impetuosity, it was decided that he cannot take part in football in the Dominion of Canada until he apologizes to the council, the sweeping acreage of the P.Q.F.A.'s decision presumably being to guard against Riley having a game on the quiet should he refuse to go harvesting or indulge in some other form of light labor where he is not known.

Ignorance of the law is no excuse, but if his club were not notified from any source that the player should appear before the P.Q.F.A. how were they to be acquainted of the law? The referees in both matches in which Riley took an illegal part, reported everything O.K. How were these referees to know that Riley was committing an infringement by taking the field? How were they to know that he had been "sent off?" I tell you this, if attention had not been brought to the council's notice of the Windsor man's violation of P. Q. F.A. law, he would have played on and on for the remainder of the season. The club officials were not too well versed in official technicalities and they continued to play their captain unwittingly. It would seem that the P.Q.F.A. realized that there was a kink somewhere, for they are to instruct referees that when they send players off the field, in addition to submitting their report to the P.Q.F.A. they also notify the secretary of the league to which the players belong, which seems to me to be strictly secretarial business, and has nothing to do with the referee at all.

But tell me this. Who gave the P.Q.F.A. authority to deduct four points from Windsor? I don't suppose anyone will have the nerve to bring the fact to their notice, because when you take upon yourself to correct the P.Q.F.A. you must be jolly sure of your ground; but I tell them here that in deducting the four points from Windsor they acted entirely outside their province. Their duty was to administer the law, and if the offence was deserving of punishment, to mete out such sentence as they deemed fit, but the deductions of points by them was absolutely and positively a matter for the Third Division of the League. There is not a shadow of doubt about this, fellows: The P.Q.F.A. are not infallible, and when Riley appears at next meeting and admits the unfortunate attitude he adopted before being heard in his own defence, it would not be lowering the dignity of the council, were they to admit that they should not have deducted the four points from Windsor, but left the Third Division of the League to deal with the matter.

* * *

An interesting point was raised by Emard. They objected to pay half the expense involved by the Sons of Scotland in providing police protection in their recent cup tie. It only amounted to a couple of dollars, but there was a principle involved, and I thought the surface reasoning of Jack Kyle that "if there had been five or six policemen instead of two he would have objected" was a bit unfortunate. Tommy Mitchell was quick to seize up the point and then there fell from the lips of the secretary Josh Wilson this candid statement: "In my opinion," he said, "the time is fast approaching when policemen will be necessary on every ground." It was a calculated truism and not in the least overdrawn. The truth was always good enough for Josh when facts had to be stated. Jim Flockhart took the view that the home club was responsible for the maintenance of discipline and Dick Walker agreed with him. Jim Philip thought this new move by the S.O.S. was a step in the right direction. Jack Kyle thought it was a legitimate charge on the gate receipts and Bob Milroy was of the same opinion. It was evident, at least, according to my judgment, that Tommy Mitchell's views coincided with the minority, but with Mr. Smith an absentee, the chairman chivalrously declined to "exercise his franchise" as there would have been a deadlock, and the action of the Sons of Scotland was homologated.

"We'll make this unanimous fellows," said Tommy invitingly, but there was a rumble in Jim Flockhart's corner like unto distant thunder and Dick Walker was not silent either, and so their dissentient voices will be re-echoed along the lobbies of football history. I see rocks immediately ahead in regard to this police business. Within one month the decision of last night's meeting will be revised. It reminds one very much of the story of the nervous lady who, when the fog came down, asked the captain of a river boat if he knew where all the sandbanks and rocks were. Just then the ship struck. "Yes, me lady," replied the skipper, "I know every rock, and that's one of them." Wait till the league clubs begin to charge up—some clubs for two policemen, some for four, some for six—and so on, and so on. Then the fat will be in the fire. You may contend that this decision of last night will not apply to league matches. Reason this matter out to its logical conclusion, boys.

* * *

There were quite a number of interesting items, one that appealed to me particularly. Blue Bonnets wished to have the sanction of the council to hand over the total proceeds of their game with Beloeil to one of their players, Reid, a young Scotsman who had "only been five minutes in the country" when he was kicked up in the air in the first match he played, and is still hors de combat.

Five new referees passed the test, including Jimmy Clarke, the well-known ex-C.P.R. player, and four of these gentlemen are to trot the line at the Charity semi-final on Saturday, "just to break them in."

Jack Kyle got to his feet. There was the report of the D.F.A. delegates to consider, and he suggested that this might be discussed at next meeting of the P.Q.F.A. "in camera." Why? Is the delegates' report not a matter of vital public concern? It is not a secret nor a State document. Its contents are known. Why then hold the meeting in camera? Is it that the observations by the members might be of a nature none too complimentary to the D.F.A., or what? Hold your meetings in camera by all means, if matters are so delicate that they cannot be heard in public, but you immediately plant the seed of suspicion when subjects of a purely legislative nature have to be discussed with closed doors.

ERROR LET IN THE WINNING RUN IN CITY LEAGUE GAME

Athletics beat Metropole, 8-6, last night at Atwater Park, quickly evening up the lead obtained by the latter in the first inning.

Both teams used two pitchers, Metropole replacing Clement by Duchesnil, and Athletics bringing in Grenier to relieve Thorpe. The double change turned the game from a swat-fest into a pitchers' battle.

The winning run crossed the plate when Lamothe hit the ball to Buell, who fumbled it before throwing it to Leveille, who dropped it, and Farrand and Lariviere scored. It was also an error by Buell that put Lariviere on base in this inning, and Farrand was lucky in getting a two-bagger out of a Texas-leaguer behind third.

Only one earned run, the tieing run, was scored off Duchesnil, in the fourth—Papineau's single, a pass to Lariviere, and Flaherty's single doing the damage.

Grenier, however, who started the fifth inning (Duchesnil went in at the fourth) demonstrated his superiority immediately, striking out Beaudin, Boston and Duchesnil in a row, and allowing Metropole only one hit, a single by Goudreau.

Metropole started off bravely enough, filling the bases with only one down: Bates singled; Goudreau arrived safely on a bunt through first being left uncovered; Doyle sacrificed; Duplessis walked; Buell doubled, scoring Bates and Goudreau; Duplessis was safe at third when Farrand dropped the ball; Beaudin took first, and Duplessis scored, on Farrand's error.

The reply was as smashing: J. Delisle got a double out of a high fly to centre-field (Doyle) who slipped; Sabourin sent a daisy-cutter to centre, scoring Delisle; Sabourin stole, Morgan walked, Thorpe was hit; Papineau singled to centre, scoring Sabourin; Morgan out at the plate: Farrand singled to centre, scoring Thorpe.

Metropole nosed ahead when Duplessis took first on Morgan's error at first, stole second, and scored on Beaudin's single; and Athletics did ditto on Flaherty's hot single through the box, a pass to Lamothe, Delisle's sacrifice, Sabourin's single, scoring Flaherty, and Goudreau's wild peg to get Lamothe at third, scoring Lamothe.

Metropole then had their last try to keep in the fight: Leveille hit a hot one through the box; Bates up; Leveille stole second; Bates walked; Goudreau up; Leveille stole third; Goudreau walked; Doyle singled, scoring Leveille and Bates. In the next inning Metropole started Duchesnil, and Athletics replied with Grenier. The subsequent history has already been related.

Tonight's game, Crescents vs. Metropole, 5.45 p.m.

Athletics	....	032,	102,	00x	8	10	5

MERCANTILES WILL REPLAY PROTESTED GAME

As it has been admitted by the officials of the Swift Canadian that the protested players, who took part in a scheduled game of the Mercantile Baseball League, against the American Railway Express team, which contest has been won by the former club, were ineligible, the executive head of the league has handled the following decision:

"As the rules of our organization only allow players who are bona-fide employes of the firms' clubs' members who are duly registered with the league, sixty days previous to the close of the playing season, and the Swift Canadian Baseball Club has failed to follow these rules, the protested game will have to be played over on neutral grounds. It is to be understood that only eligible players will be lined up in this contest.

"The reason I order this game to be played over, said the executive head of the Mercantile League, "is that the complaining club through their manager has stated in his letter when protesting the game in question, that they would like to play this protested game over. This certainly shows that the members of the American Railway Express Co. team are real good sports, and do not want to win their games on paper, but on the field. On the other hand when the officials of the Swift Canadian Co. team admitted that they had broken the league's rules in playing men, who through circumstances beyond their control, were not registered with the league, they knew that it was better for them to tell the truth."

When these clubs clash it is a sure thing that all the friends and lovers of amateur baseball in Montreal, will go and see the two splendid teams in action. This contest will take place most likely some time next week. The umpires to handle this game will be appointed by the executive head of the league.

TIGERS WILL BEGIN TRAINING MONDAY

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 17. — The training season for the Hamilton Rugby team will open on Monday, as the team will go West on September 14, and will need to work hard to get into condition by that time.

"Pepp" Leadley is likely to go to Queen's University this year, but Manager Tope hopes to have H. Manson, Crocker, McKelvey and other good material for the backfield.

Tope expects to be able to coax "Bob" Iabester out this year. "Issy" has quit the game some time, but has turned out when he was needed, and may be induced to do so again this year.

ENGLAND HAS GOOD LEAD IN TEST MATCH

LONDON, Aug. 17.—There was glorious weather for the resumption of play in the test match between the English and Australian cricket teams this morning and 12,000 witnessed the game. There was an excellent wicket. In spite of frequent bowling changes the score rose rapidly. Many good leg side and behind wicket strokes were made. Two hundred was hoisted after twenty minutes of play. Andrews was dismissed at 233, having occupied the wicket altogether for two hours. He hit eleven fours, a versatile innings, with Armstrong and Taylor following. The English fielding, while not faulty, was not particularly good, although both Sandham and Hitch at times played brilliantly. Taylor, who was seventh man out at 311, scored ten fours during his stay of two hours. The innings lasted about three-quarters of an hour after lunch. McDonald hit vigorously for forty minutes, but was rather unlucky. Scores:

England declared yesterday with a total of 403 runs for eight wickets.

England opened their second innings with Russell and Brown. The fielding was excellent, but the runs came fairly freely, Brown reaching fifty out of 91 in 74 minutes. The first wicket fell at 158, Brown being caught at deep point. During his stay of 115 minutes he scored 84. Russell gave a fine display for 165 minutes, making ten fours. Hitch set a lively pace for 36 minutes.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—The New York Americans arrived here today to play the final series of the season with the White Sox.

Babe Ruth makes his final appearance in Chicago and there is much speculation regarding his ability to come through with further circuit clouts here. This season he has succeeded in securing only one homer here and that was gained off Dick Kerr, who will probably work in one of the games if his lame arm can be coaxed into shape.

LOCAL POLO PLAYERS SWEEP ALL BEFORE THEM IN TOURNEY

Won Third Consecutive Victory in Thousand Islands Play Yesterday—A. E. Ogilvie Was Star of Game When Locals Defeated Toronto

ALEXANDRIA BAY, Aug. 17.—(Star Special.)—Yesterday's event in the Thousand Islands Polo Tournament was between the Toronto team and the first Montreal team. After a hotly contested fight the victory went to Montreal, by the score of eleven to five.

Toronto received a handicap of three. A. E. Ogilvie was the star of the Montreal team and played a swift hard game with Major H. B. MacDougall as a close second. Col. H. R. Marshall, captain of the Toronto team, did excellent work and his long strokes down the field called for prolonged applause. The first goal was made by Gordon Beardmore for his team in the first period and General Eric McCuaig rolled one goal for Montreal. The second period was a hard tussle on both sides, with no goals scored. In the third Major MacDougall scored one goal and A. E. Ogilvie two. In the fourth chupper Major MacDougall, A. E. Ogilvie and General McCuaig scored for Montreal.

The fifth period resulted in hard fighting but no goals. In the sixth A. E. Ogilvie and Major MacDougall scored and Col. Marshall rolled a goal for his team. No goals were made in the seventh and in the eighth Major MacDougall made one goal. The team work and the fast riding of the Montreal team accounted largely for their victory. The Montreal team had to work much harder for victory than in the other two matches. The teams and summary follow:—

Line-up—Montreal—1, A. E. Ogilvie; 2, Gen. Eric McCuaig; 3, H. B. MacDougall; back, G. L. Ogilvie.

Line-up—Toronto—1, C. C. Cowan; 2, Gordon Beardmore; 3, Allen Case; back, Col. K. R. Marshall.

Goals scored by A. E. Ogilvie, five; by Gen. McCuaig, two; by Major MacDougall, four; Montreal by earned runs eleven.

Toronto, by Beardmore, one; by Marshall, one; by allowed handicap, three. Total five.

Referee, Graham Miles. Score keeper, P. M. Evarots. Time-keeper, F. C. Bacon.

Today there will be a continuation of the tournament, a match between third United States Cavalry and the Thousand Islands.

M.A.A. RUGBY CLUBS TO HOLD MEETING MONDAY.

General meeting of the football players and executive of the Montreal Rugby Club will be held Monday evening Aug. 22 at 7.15 p.m. at the Westmount Club House to discuss plans and make arrangements for the coming season.

Any new players as well as the old guard will be very welcome. Coach Art. Ross and the executive are anxious to get away to an early start and owing to the change in rules this would seem a step in the right direction.

It is understood that Coach Ross has some new stunts in the way of preliminary training that he will exploit at this meeting.

LAVIOLETTE TO RACE IN MOTOR-CYCLE MEET HERE

The complete program of the motor-cycle races to be held at Delorimier Park next Saturday was finally agreed on today. The first race will start sharp at 2 p.m., and as there are a great number of entries in some of the races, some will have to be decided in heats, consequently, no time can be lost in order to run off the entire program each day, which is as follows:

The Dunlop trophy, presented by S. P. Dunlop, will be presented to the amateur rider scoring the greatest number of points in the races of that class. As already over twenty have entered in this race, the Dunlop trophy will see some keen contention.

Among the interesting entries received yesterday, was that from Jack Laviolette, Montreal's popular all-round athlete. Jack promises to make the Toronto riders go the limit in the events open for Canadian riders.

Owing to the number of telephone calls the different dealers are receiving regarding tickets, the racing committee wishes to inform the public that tickets will be on sale only at the grounds.

ST. LAWRENCE SEA SCOUTS TO START ON CRUISE

The Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club's Sea Scout Troop will leave on Saturday afternoon for their annual cruise, and this year they are going further afield than usual. In that their destination this year is Toronto, and they will cruise around on Lake Ontario for ten days or so before returning home.

Their big yawl, the "Jellicoe," will be their home during the trip, and it is possible some of them will wish they were really home or anywhere else but aboard ship when they get outside Main Duck Island and begin to feel the long green seas of Lake Ontario rolling underneath them. The "Jellicoe" will in true deep sea style keep going night and day on the way up to Toronto, watches being kept throughout the trip, as on a sea-going vessel. She will carry a crew of ten or twelve Sea Scouts, under the command of Scoutmaster Lesslie R. Thomson, under whose guidance the troop has shown remarkable progress during the last two years.

That there will be no sleeping in in the morning, and that the watches will be kept with regularity is assured by the fact that a splendid ship's bell striking clock has been presented to the troop by C. S. Allen and will be used for the first time on this voyage, while H. J. McAdie has presented the scouts with a set of log sheets, so that a complete record of the cruise will be kept.

The cockpit of the "Jellicoe" has been remodelled in order to prevent the heavy seas, which in all probability will be met with on Lake Ontario, from going below, or as some of the recruits call it, downstairs, until they are strongly reprimanded by those scouts who are more versed in nautical language.

The cruise up the St. Lawrence, around Lake Ontario, will give the boys ample opportunity to practice the laws of navigation, as they have studied them during the winter months under the able guidance of H. J. Trimingham.

The time of the cruise has been specially chosen so as to give the boys an opportunity of seeing the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto, and a special trip to Niagara Falls is also being arranged in connection with the cruise.

In addition to the chance which a cruise such as this gives the lads to improve their knowledge of seamanship, the great educational value of the trip must not be lost sight of for it gives these young Canadians an opportunity, probably the only one the majority would get, to see something of the world outside their own immediate surroundings, and in this way improve their knowledge and fit them to become better citizens of the Dominion of Canada than otherwise would be impossible.

Toronto Says Transfer Rules in Effect Now

TORONTO, August 17.—(Star Special.)—The report sent out from Montreal today regarding the new transfer rules of the D. F. A. not coming into effect until next year is incorrect. Billy Fenton of the Toronto Telegram, who attended every session of the D. F. A. annual meeting, took shorthand notes during the transfer rule discussion and part of his notes say—"All new or amended rules will become effective on January, except in the case of the transfer law, which becomes operative immediately and in the case of British Columbia, where new rules will take effect after May 1 in each year."

EDDIE TELLIER BEST OF POINTE CLAIRE JUNIOR PADDLERS—WON AGGREGATE CUP

The sixth annual paddling regatta of the Pointe Claire Junior Boating Club was held in the harbor of the senior club.

This club is entirely controlled by the youngsters themselves, and was organized in 1913 by Leo Beaudin, and has had its own regatta every year with the exception of two during the war, when the event was cancelled, as were the majority of the senior regattas.

The weather conditions were ideal for a paddling regatta, as hardly a ripple ruffled the surface of the sheltered waters where the events were run off, but even considering these favorable conditions, some idea of the skill of the competitors, both boys and girls, may be gathered from the fact that there was not one upset during the whole afternoon.

Right from the start it was seen that the competition would be very keen for in the very first event, the boys' singles, there was a dead heat and the race had to be paddled over again.

There was a large attendance of fathers, mothers, and other relatives and friends of the youngsters, and they were not backward in offering encouragement and advice to their favorites, and supporting them in their arguments as to who had actually won some of the events.

The girls' tandem race was very closely contested, while the girls' crab race was won by Miss Gertrude Tellier, who was the popular favorite in this event in the senior regatta, in which she obtained second place.

The principal event of the day was the four in a canoe race, for which the two first crews had been practicing for several weeks, and the result was that the whole membership of the club had become worked up to a fine pitch of excitement over this event.

The mixed kids race was unique from the fact that the competitors were so juvenile that some of them were barely able to grip a paddle, but nevertheless they made a good race of it.

Another event, which some of the competitors in the senior paddling regattas no doubt will wish to have included in their program next year, was the last race of the afternoon, namely the consolation race, in which all competitors who had not won a prize during the afternoon took part, the committee being fair-minded enough to give everybody a prize.

The cup for the aggregate was won by Eddie Tellier, and this young paddler, in the opinion of many of those who have watched his work this summer, will in a very few years make some of the older paddlers of the C. C. A. hustle to retain their honors.

After the regatta a supper was given by the Junior Club to the competitors, a proceeding which, from remarks made this summer at some of the senior regattas, might well be followed in some measure by the bigger clubs. This most enjoyable part of the day's program was arranged by several young ladies, including Miss M. Beaudin, Miss M. James, Miss M. Poe, Miss F. Holland and Miss E. Gahan.

As soon as supper was finished a program of games was run off, Bernard Holland, president of the Junior Club, acting as master of ceremonies.

In the evening, at a dance held by the senior Pointe Clair Boating Club, the prizes won in the afternoon's regatta were presented by Mrs. W. L. Hellwell to the successful competitors.

Messrs. Bernard Holland and John Chillas assisted Mrs. Hellwell, and the former, as a mark of appreciation from the club, called for three cheers for Mrs. Hellwell, which were given very heartily.

During the paddling regatta the sailing regatta of the senior club was being held and several of the spectators remarked that it would be a very good thing for the youngsters if they could be interested in the fourteen foot sailing dinghy class, as with their organization and enthusiasm they would soon become very efficient sailors.

The present officers of the Junior Club are: President, Bernard Holland; vice-president, Thomas Darling; secretary, John Chillas; treasurer, Willie Tellier; captain, Eddie Tellier, and the officials of the regatta were: Judges, C. Young and H. J. Tellier, jr.; starter, H. Watson; announcer, W. L. Hellwell; patrol, H. Beaudin and C. Meyers.

The results of the regatta were as follows:

Single canoe, boys— E. Tellier, W. Tellier.

Single canoe, girls—Miss A. Whittaker, Miss C. Holland.

Tandem, boys—W. Tellier and T. Darling; M. Adams and D. Sonny.

HOOVER NOW WIRES WILL BE UNABLE TO GO TO ST. JOHN MEET.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Aug. 17.—Walter Hoover, United States singles sculls champion, will not meet Hilton Belyea, Canadian champion, at the Renforth regatta here next week. He has telegraphed that he will not be able to come but that he expects to row Costello in the Middle States regatta and suggests that Belyea meet him there. It is not likely that Belyea will accept and he has not yet decided whether he will be able to make the trip to Schuylkill regatta.

Inter-City Tennis Match Ended in Tie

Westmount and Sherbrooke tennis tied in the second of their scheduled tennis fixtures this season. Each club won four matches.

A. C. Howard, Sherbrooke, won in straight sets from J. Royce, Westmount. Norman Read, Westmount, repeated his success at Sherbrooke, defeating N. Sewall 6-4.

G. Markham, Westmount, had little difficulty in winning in straight sets from H. Smith, the final score being 6-2 in each set.

D. Farish, Westmount, was beaten by M. Loomis, 6-2 and 6-4.

A. W. Reid, Sherbrooke, had a hard tussle with G. Rowe, Westmount, losing to the latter. The locals assumed a commanding lead in the first set, which they had 5-1 in their favor, but the visitors made a nice recovery only to lose the set 6-3.

The feature game of the double was the game between Lewall and Loomis of Sherbrooke and Read and Morrison, of Westmount.

There was little doubt about the second set, featured by Sewall's excellent back-hand drives, and the visitors won 6-1. The third set also fell to Sherbrooke and with the score 4-5, the locals were unable to save the game.

The other doubles both fell to Westmount.

Notes of Spalding Baseball League

In a scheduled game of the Spalding Juvenile League, played at National Bridge grounds, the Hounds easily defeated Maisonneuve by a score of 14 to 3. The feature of the contests was the all round playing of the winners. Gelfand, the star gardener of the Hounds, was put out of action in the eighth inning when he was hit below the knee by a pitched ball. Score by innings:

		R.	H.	E.
Maisonneuve	001100010—	3	4	6

POLAND SPRINGS, Maine, Aug. 17.—Geo. Duncan and Abe Mitchell, British golf experts, won two foursomes here yesterday. In the forenoon they defeated Frank Gilman, of Augusta, and L. H. Striley, of Waterville, 5 and 4, and in the afternoon won from Alex. Chisholm, of Portland, and A. H. Fenn, of Poland Springs, 6 and 4.

HINPHY'S RIDING FEATURED KING EDWARD RACES

The feature of yesterday's racing at King Edward Park, was the riding of four winners by Jockey W. Hinphy, the local rider. By winning with his four mounts yesterday, Hinphy is now fourth on the list of the leading riders of America. The four wins have seldom been equalled on a local track.

The Imperial Purse, run over a distance of one mile, was won by Sentimental, owned by W. E. Jones and ridden by Jockey Eddie Smith. Sentimental was much the best of her field and was the public choice on the mutuels. Smith got his mount well away at the start and never left the issue in doubt, winning by over three lengths.

The second victory to be scored by horses brought to King Edward last week by Trainer J. K. Frayling, occurred in the first race when Fringe, owned by the Palm Stable was returned a winner over a field of nine contenders. Walter Whittaker challenged strongly in the stretch, but was beaten out by a whisker. Circulate, the favorite with the players took show money.

Long prices were an added attraction for the players, in four events the price paid for straight tickets running into two figures.

A poor start somewhat marred the running of the fifth race. Efficient and The Portuguese were left at the post. Efficient was rated as a strong contender in this event.

It was announced yesterday that the Canadian bred, Sturdee, owned by Blair Mock had died at Delorimier Track, where the horse was resting up. Sturdee was previously owned by C. Irby and was bred by the famous racing stable of Joseph E. Seagram. While being shipped from Tia Juana, Mexico, to Wheeling, W. Va., last spring Sturdee took fever. At Wheeling the horse was bought by Blair Mock for the sum of $1,200, but never ran under his colors, owing to illness. Sturdee last season was rated as one of the best handicappers on the Canadian Racing Circuit.

It is doubtful if there will be any more races for Canadian breds on local tracks until the meet of the Quebec Hunt Club, which opens today, comes to a conclusion. The majority of the Canadian breds have been shipped to Quebec and there are not enough at present around the local tracks to fill a race.

A feature in connection with Sentimental winning the fourth race was that the mile was run in the good time of one minute and forty-two seconds. Other good time made was Military Girl running her race in 59 2-5 seconds, which is a track record.

CRICKETERS TO VISIT S. AFRICA.

LONDON, August 17.—(Canadian Press Cable)—It has been decided by Imperial Cricket Conference that the English cricketers shall accept the invitation to visit South Africa and play a series of games with local teams there during the season of 1922-23.

WALTON WINS OPEN GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP OF SASKATCHEWAN.

SASKATOON, Sask., Aug. 17.—Jackson Walton, of Calgary yesterday won the open golf championship of Saskatchewan at the annual Provincial tournament here. His score was 152. This was made up of a pair of 76's in the two rounds.

Scratch Lemonora For St. Leger Stakes

LONDON, Eng., Aug. 17.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—It is announced that J. Watson's colt Lemonora has been scratched for the St. Leger stakes, this being the last of the five "classic" races for 3-year-olds to be run over about one mile and three-quarters at Doncaster on Wednesday, September 7.—Interest lies in the fact that for some time it has been conceded that Lemonora is the only one of his age in training with a chance to beat Lord Astor's Craig An Erin in the great race, for the latter has disposed of all his contemporaries one after another in decisive fashion.

Craig An Erin was exceedingly unlucky in not winning the Derby, when he finished a neck behind J. B. Joel's Humorist, since dead, after getting away to a bad start on the extreme outside and being obliged to pace all round his field. Recently Craig An Erin started an odds favorite at 7 to 2 for the rich Eclipse stakes at Sandown Park and won with astonishing ease. He is likely to start for the St. Leger the shortest priced favorite in recent years.

Lemonora was not entered in the earlier "classic races," and since running well last season, has been somewhat of a dark horse, with quite a good following for the St. Leger.

Canadian Challenger On Field of Action

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 17.—Maple Leaf VIII., Sir Mackay Edgar's new challenger for the Harmsworth trophy, was unloaded at Windsor today and brought to the course where the international trophy races will be held September 3 and 5. Col. A. W. Tate, who will pilot the Maple Leaf, and members of his crew also have arrived here. They expect to have the challenger running in the Detroit river within a day or two.

The boat, 33 feet, 6 inches long, with a 9 foot beam, recently made 80 miles an hour in trial spins in the Solent.

CHICAGO, August 17. — Beals C. Wright, of Boston, referee of the semi-final matches between India and Japan in the Davis Cup tennis matches is expected here today when final rules will be announced. The Japanese and Indian teams are indulging in strenuous daily practice in preparation for the games Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Four thousand seats for matches are expected to be sold by Thursday.

QUEBEC'S MEETING IS UNDER WAY TODAY

QUEBEC, Que., August 17.—(Star Special.)—The summer meet of the Quebec Hunt Club gets under way this afternoon with a card of seven races, the feature of which is the Quebec City Handicap, a mile event for three year olds and up, carrying with it, in addition to the purse, the magnificent cup offered by the City of Quebec.

None of the four jockeys suspended recently in Montreal will be permitted to ride on the local track, the officials having decided to uphold the decision made in Montreal. There will be a feature race on each and every day, for which a magnificent cup is hung up for competition.

All the entrants for today's races were worked out on the track yesterday morning, and some excellent times were made.

Crocus Won the Saranac Handicap

SARATOGA SPRINGS, Aug. 17.—Harry Payne Whitney's Crocus again proved that she is among the top-notch three-year-olds of the year, when she won the Saranac Handicap at a mile, an event exclusively for horses of her age, yesterday. Behind her were the Kentucky filly, Bit of White, which gave Prudery such a battle the other day; Idle Dell and Behave Yourself, the latter a stable mate of Bit of White and winner of the Kentucky Derby.

There was no question of Crocus' superiority in this afternoon's contest, and she is certainly a fine filly, at least up to a mile. How much faster she can go in good company remains to be seen. The day was sunny and the track lightning fast. The time made by Crocus was good, the filly doing the mile in 1:37 4-5. The race enriched Mr. Whitney to the extent of $5,225.

HOMERS IN ALL MAJOR LEAGUE GAMES TUESDAY

NEW YORK, Aug. 17. — Home runs cropped out in every major league game yesterday. Ten were made in the five contests, and nearly all played a prominent part in deciding the winner.

The Brooklyn Nationals won over New York in the ninth inning, when Johnston hit a home run following a circuit clout by Olsen with one on base. A homer by Cruise, of the Boston Nationals, accounted for three runs, and aided the Braves in defeating Chicago, 8 to 6. Two home runs by King, of the Philadelphia Nationals, were responsible for the Quakers beating Pittsburgh in the first game of a double header. Two Pittsburgh players, Barnhardt and Tierney, hit homers in the second game, and the Pirates won by a two-run margin.

The St. Louis Americans lost their first game in seven when defeated by Detroit. Sisler, of the Browns and Blue of the Tigers made four base hits.

JACKS AND GREEN IN SHAPE FOR TONIGHT

Freddy Jacks, of England, and Solly Green, of Montreal, have both reported themselves to be in first class fighting condition for their ten round bout at the Arena tonight, and those who attend are surely in for a real treat.

Jacks and Green are both very anxious to win, as the winner will be matched with Frankie Fleming in the near future for the real Canadian featherweight championship. The bout tonight will no doubt be action from start to finish, Jacks and Green are about the same weight. Green is said to be the heaviest puncher, while the critics pick Jacks as the better boxer and ring general. With two fighters in the ring with entirely different styles the fans are sure to get action.

The semi-final will bring together that popular little featherweight, Oscar Deschamp, of Montreal, and Billy White of New Bedford. Deschamps is well known to every local fan, while White is one of the best featherweights in New England and is said to be a tough socker and able to take it with the best of them. He will make a good match with Deschamp.

There will be, besides the main bout between Jacks and Green, the semi-final and three preliminary bouts between local fighters on tonight's card, the first of which will start at 8:30 prompt.

President Tom Duggan, of the National Sporting Club, states that he was misquoted when it was reported that he would run pari-mutuels on local fights. Nothing is further from his mind, he says.

Swift, British Golfer, Entered for U.S. Play

NEW YORK, Aug. 17—Only one entry from outside the United States has been received thus far for the United States national amateur golf championship at the St. Louis Country Club next month. The entry is that of Raymond Swift, a British golfer, of the Oakdale Golf Club. The entry list closes September 3.

WALL STREET EASY--LOCAL STOCKS DULL--IRON AGE REPORT

UNSETTLED TONE IN LOCAL; SOME FRESH DECLINES

A rather unsettled feeling became evident on the Montreal Exchange this morning, but the market developed little that is new either in respect of condition or of trading. Prices held steady to irregular, with some small fractional gains and some losses. There was little incentive furnished traders who continued largely to stay away from the market and watch developments. The weakness in Wall street had a depressing effect on the local board.

The paper stocks did not do a great deal. Laurentide was again a point of attention, but prices, after opening at 65½, eased off to yesterday's low level at 65¼ and closed there, showing a net loss of ¾ point. Brompton, which yesterday fell to a new low price level at 17¾, this morning steadied slightly and ranged at 18¼ to 18, a net gain of ¼ point. Riordon, after some days of dullness, came out at 2, down ¼ point. Abitibi ranged easier at 25½ to ½, down a net ⅝ point. Spanish River common was unchanged at 50, and the preferred 60 to 59, down 1½ net points.

Firmness of undertone continued to be noted in Toronto Railway, but there was not a great deal of trading in the issue during the session. It changed hands at a net rally of ½ point at 72½.

Brazilian gave a better account of itself, regaining its late fractional loss and selling at 23, up ¼. Montreal Power selling at 81½, was up ¼. Quebec Ry. came out at 25½, down ½ point.

Steel of Canada came in for greater attention during the morning, and was one of the weaker features of the list. The decline in the stock was again coupled with dividend gossip, but interests close to the company claimed that the current rumors were merely guesswork. The stock opened at 45⅝, and sold off to 41¼, a net loss of 1½ points.

Other issues appearing in the trading during the session included: Can. Gen. Electric, 94, unchanged; Lyall 69, off 1; Smelters 15, unchanged, and Dom. Glass pref. 83.

ANOTHER REDUCTION IN EXPORT FREIGHT RATES

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(Star Special)—Announcement is made that the transcontinental export freight rates on thirty-four commodities moving from points situated east of the Mississippi River and north of the Ohio River to Pacific Coast ports for shipment to the Far East will be reduced more than 10 per cent on September 1. There is no agreement for a change in the rate on steel and iron, however.

The export freight rate on steel and iron moving from Pittsburgh to the Atlantic ports for export will be reduced 25 per cent Sept. 1 if this reduction, already agreed on by the eastern trunk lines, is approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission. This will bring the carrying charge down to 28½ cents per 100 pounds.

The southeastern lines would not concur in the application for reduced rates from eastern points to the Pacific Coast. Therefore, the application will be restricted so that they will apply only from points located in the official classification to territory, which comprises points north of the Ohio and east of the Mississippi River.

After discussing the breaking up of the conference arrangements between the foreign and American lines operating from the Pacific Coast ports to the Far East it was decided that the agreement should be continued. During the past few weeks the members of the conference have had reports of the participating lines not abiding by the minimum rates.

The breaking up of the conference was threatened yesterday but the sentiment of the more conservative members prevailed and the lines agreed to quote and abide by the same rates.

The conference is composed of Japanese, British, Dutch and American companies, which operate from San Francisco, Seattle and other Pacific ports to the Orient.

WALL STREET IN FURTHER DROP; WHOLE LIST OFF

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Prices were lower at the opening of the Stock Exchange today. They included: Central Leather 26¼, unchanged; American Sugar 62½, unchanged; United States Steel 73½, off ⅛; General Asphalt 42½, off ½; Sinclair 17, off ⅛; United States Rubber 47⅝, off ⅝; Studebaker 71, off ½; Southern Pacific 76⅛, off ⅛; Bethlehem B, 48¼, unchanged; Pan-American 41½, up ½; General Electric 110⅛; off ⅝; Baldwin Locomotive 72⅜, off ⅛; Reading 66⅝, unchanged; Mexican Petroleum 90¼, off ⅝.

Overnight news had little bearing on prices. Mexican Petroleums was off ⅝ at 90¼. Other important stocks showed the following declines: Studebaker 71, off ½; General Electric 110⅛, off ⅝; Royal Dutch 48, off ⅝; Sinclair 17, off ⅛.

Dividend meetings were to be held during the day in Cuban-American Sugar and New York Airbrake. Adverse action was expected in both cases.

Selling of oil shares was resumed. Traders evidently based their operations on more unfavorable advices concerning that industry from Mexico. Mexican Petroleum soon fell 1½ points and General Asphalt and Royal Dutch also were heavy. Declines of 1 to 2 points were made by United Fruit, Railway Steel Spring, National Biscuit and American Agricultural Chemical. Rails were neglected, a few issues showing irregular changes.

Foreign exchange gave promise of further unsettlement, preliminary quotations on London indicating additional reactions.

Pressure continued on the general list throughout the morning, with a number of individual issues showing particular weakness.

Mexican Petroleum was especially hard hit, breaking to a new low at 89. Failure of the Mexican Petroleum interests to support this stock is causing no little surprise among the traders.

Leading shares added to their losses during the morning. Foreign oils continued heavy, Shell Transport losing almost 4 points.

New low records were made by half a score of stocks, including Houston Oil, Chandler, Industrial Alcohol and American Linseed preferred at declines of ½ to 3 points.

Rails, metals and chemicals were lower, but sugars were only slightly affected by the cut in National Sugar dividend and the suspension of the Cuban-American disbursement. Low grade oils rallied the list for a time, but prices reacted again before noon.

Call money opened at 6 per cent.

The sugar dividend cuts did not tend to help the market in the least, even though the way for them was paved by some extent by the action taken by American Sugar last week.

Further bad factors were found in the motor list. Chandler broke to a new low at 43 7-8, on the announcement of further price-cuts in Hudson and Essex cars and General Motors was also heavily sold getting to a new low on the movement at 9 7-8. Tire stocks were selling under the general pressure on the motor industry.

Around 1.30 p.m. there was little further change in the price range, some issues being fractionally better with others steady.

Canadian Pacific had again steadied to 112 1-2, the opening level, after having been off to 112. No Scotia appeared during the morning.

CANADA BACKWARD IN LIVESTOCK INDUSTRY

TORONTO, Aug. 17.—The forms of Canadian agriculture that should be given emphasis are wheat growing, pulp wood and live stock, but live stock more than anything else, says a local commentator. While we are producing more live stock than we can use, Canada is deplorably backward in this fundamental industry considering the country's natural resources. Instead of a total of 10,000,000 cattle this country could easily maintain 70,000,000 head.

The Canadian west is naturally equipped to increase its herds a hundred fold. In Ontario vast territories suitable for ranging, lie idle waiting for men of large vision and business foresight. Practically the entire area between Georgian Bay and the Ottawa River might become productive within a few years not to mention the regions farther north.

The live stock industry of the future is closely allied with the packing industry. Packers in this country have not had much encouragement to do constructive work. They have been hounded by ill-informed prejudice. The packing industry in Canada is potentially one of the country's greatest assets. The prosperity of both the Urban and Rural populations are involved in it and the sooner the whole community recognizes this the better it will be for all.

Topics of the Street

There was a falling off in business on the Montreal Stock Market this morning, trading involving 1,863 shares, as compared with 2,268 shares yesterday morning, a decrease of 405 shares.

Laurentide was again the most active issue of the session, with a total to its credit of 475 shares. Abitibi came next with 300 shares, and Spanish River third with 250 shares. Other of the more active issues of the session included: Steel of Canada, 200 shares: Brompton, 175; Spanish River Pfd., 135; Quebec Ry., 115; Brazilian, 110; Riordon, 100; Montreal Power, 85; and Can. Gen. Electric, 75.

Settlement of the pulp and paper companies' wage arbitration comes at a time when there is considerable wonderment being shown as to conditions in the industry. The wage dispute has lasted since the mill left their work last May. While it has generally been supposed that with the men back at their posts, pending the finding of the arbitrators, a wage reduction of about 20 per cent would be brought into effect, it was not thought that the schedule would be as broad in its effect as it actually is. A sharp distinction is drawn between skilled and unskilled help. The skilled worker, the backbone of the industry, has been asked to accept a wage cut of some 10 per cent, while his unskilled work-neighbor will have to face a cut of 25 per cent. It is calculated that the average reduction over the whole list of workers is 15 per cent.

A return to the 1919 schedules is provided for in the agreement, this affecting practically all classified positions above common labor and paid below 70 cents an hour, and a 10 per cent reduction on all positions receiving 60 cents an hour and over. The award fixes 40 cents an hour rate for common labor. A slightly lower rate was fixed for big factories, craft and specialty paper mills. The same wage scale was fixed for both Canadian and United States manufacturers. The agreement will continue effective until next May, but is subject to reopening by either party after December 1.

One interesting point in connection with the settlement is that the International Paper Company of the United States is not a party to the agreement, having effected an independent settlement. The major companies affected include the Spanish River Pulp and Paper Mills, Limited, the Abitibi Power & Paper Company, Limited, the Fort Frances Pulp and Power Company, and the St. Maurice Paper Company, Limited, all of which are in Canada. In the United States the companies affected include the Union Bag & Paper Company, Minnesota and Ontario Power & Paper Company, Hanna Paper Corporation, Cliff Paper Company, Tide Water Paper Mills Company, St. Regis Paper Company, and the Pettebone Cataract Paper Company.

The settlement is generally regarded as a satisfactory one, both as concerns the companies as operating entities and the securities representing them. The award removed another delicate problem, moreover, from the stock market horizon.

The activity and strength in Toronto Railway stock both in the Montreal and Toronto markets, following the issuance of the circular to shareholders, provided the markets with one of the very few items of comparative strength. The optimism shown in the remarks of Sir William Mackenzie, president of the company, was largely responsible for the display of bullishness. The Street seems to have no doubt that the settlement of the negotiations is fast approaching, and that when the time comes the matter will be presented to shareholders in a manner which will make for their entire satisfaction. It is generally believed that the road will be taken over by the city and hydro interests at a price equal to par or better on the common stock. Shareholders of the company have waited patiently enough for this to happen and it now appears that their confidence when the stock was very much lower is now in way of being justified.

Until some really tangible improvement is noted in the Wall Street stock list, it seems doubtful if the Canadian market will enter upon anything like a general advance. The number of influences which are at work in Wall Street make contrasting local market factors appear as naught. Literally, market interests in New York are at sixes and sevens. The whole industrial and economic situation at the moment is subject to contrasting opinions, and while such diverse viewpoints normally make for an interesting trading market, opinion is narrowed at the present time and is not backed by the confidence one would expect. Confidence in one's own viewpoint is necessary in stock trading, and when this is lacking indefinite results accrue.

Until some really big factors are brought into prominence as indicating a turn in conditions and world happenings, little further change, other than technical, can be looked for on the bigger board. Meantime, it is generally admitted that the one thing that would really help the market would be a revival for American basic industry, and it is the common belief that this is not now far distant. Already the steel trade is showing fair improvement, and orders are coming forward with more frequency. The movement is likely to expand and it may not be long ere a moderate degree of real improvement can be reported. A marked betterment in the United States steel industry, the major "key" industry of this continent, will be bound to have a marked effect upon other lines, and from that time on the betterment would probably be rapid.

LOWER PIGIRON PRICES CAUSE HEAVY BUYING

NEW YORK, Aug. 17. (Star Special)—The Iron Age tomorrow will say:

The recent dip in pigiron prices led to buying on a scale probably not equalled in a year, and producers of foundry iron in all districts shared in the business. A good many consumers, whose stocks had run down, sensed the possibilities of the low rate to which output had fallen and decided to buy.

In the past week furnaces at Chicago, St. Louis, Buffalo and in Ohio and Pennsylvania districts have advanced their prices by 60 cents to $2 per ton in an effort to limit the losses they have been making on raw material bought last year. While the extent of the actual rebound in the market is uncertain, the firmer stand of producers is marked and its effect will be closely watched.

The situation in finished steel differs from that in pigiron. Steel works are being run and none are dropping out of the race. Buyers do not believe that the low point has been touched and are working close on stocks. The Ford Motor Company, in keeping as far as one month ahead of the mills, is an exception.

The past week has shown continued irregularities in prices, on some products, rather more realstance to declines, but generally a willingness of producers to meet competition. The expectation of some increase in operations in the fall is general and is based on evidence that many consumers have used up their stocks and must buy on a larger scale.

Some newcomers into the automobile sheet field hace made concessions of several dollars a ton to get trial orders. Wire products are as firmly held as any finished line—more firmly than the leading heavy products. New business is coming to some important producers at up to about 30 per cent of capacity, with indications that stocks are small all along the line.

New car work and car repair are bringing further orders to the mills, but not to the extent producers have been led to expect. The railroad repair shops have plenty of steel in stock and are using it. Cars for the Kansas, Oklahoma and Gulf will require 5,000 tons of plates, shapes and bars. A Chicago district car repair shop is in the market for 2,500 tons of plates. About 10,000 tons of steel will be needed for the repair of 4,950 cars and inquiries for 450 new cars have appeared.

New structural work in excess of 20,000 tons has come on the market, including 18,350 tons for two Federal Reserve Banks. Awards probably totalled about 4,000 tons.

Some fair orders have been taken for tin plates recently, chiefly from oil companies, one large interest in this line buying over 3,000 tons.

Basic pigiron figured in the increased activity in the eastern Pennsylvania market, one steel company taking 2,000 tons and another 5,000 tons, the prices ranging from $19 to $19.50 delivered. In the central west the steel companies, which for some time have made the market by sales of basic pigiron, have advanced to $20 at Cleveland furnaces, or $1.50 to $2 above recent prices. In foundry iron radiator companies have figured in the late buying, but specific reports of heavy tonnages taken by one such interest have not been confirmed apart from a Buffalo transaction.

The action of eastern railroads in agreeing to a 25 per cent differential on steel shipments for export recognizes the low state of that trade.

Great Britain Able To Supply Europe Coal

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—"English coal production will probably run about 80 per cent of her former figures and this will easily take care of all the needs of Europe during the present industrial depression," said Charles A. Owen, president Coal Corporation and head of the Tidewater Coal Exchange, who returned last week from a six weeks' study of European conditions. "It is only upon improved conditions, coupled with public utility buying, that the United States can bank."

Gas coals stand the best chance of American fuel in Europe, in his opinion. "England has no coal which compares with our Pittsburgh seam gas coal for public utility consumption," he said. "England is cutting prices as production increases and is contemplating a reduction of her already low freight rates.

"Plans are already laid for the recapture of South American business. Before leaving London I heard of two cargoes shipped to Latin America cheaper than American shippers can land coal there. England will ship coal as ballast if necessary for return cargoes. America can remain a coal competitor only by cutting wages 25 to 30 per cent, reducing rail and ocean rates, and offering good grades at the piers at a range of $4 to $4.50 a ton.

A full board of directors will also be elected. To Derive Full Benefit from the existing era of high yields, it is advisable that long term Government and Municipal Bonds be bought.

Such bonds ensure you of to-day's substantial interest returns for many years to come, regardless of any changes in the money market that may occur from time to time.

WHEAT PRICES SCORE DECLINE AT CHICAGO

The following noon grain letter was received from Chicago, by E. C. Morris, manager for Logan & Bryan, at their Board of Trade branch office:

Wheat—Scattered commission houses sold on overnight orders at the outset and locals pressed the selling side, forcing further declines in prices. On the break, the market ran into resting orders to buy, which took the surplus out of the market. Reports of export business came dribbling through all morning, indicating that considerable wheat found lodgment with foreigners after the close yesterday. Of the amount reported worked so far 310,000 bushels was done at Chicago, and 400,000 bushels elsewhere. Of the amount here 270,000 bushels is to go to Buffalo immediately and shipper chartered vessel room for its shipment, paying 2c a bushel rate, or ½c better than recent rate.

Corn—Market ran into a lot of stop orders, shortly after the start and displayed heaviness until revived by buying by shipping interests and short. Shippers bid same basis as yesterday, but cash trade was slow to get started. Shipping sales reported were 100,000 bushels.

BETTER WEATHER AT D.R.A. TODAY

Macdonald Briar in Morning—Governor-General's This Afternoon

SOUTH MARCH RIFLE RANGE, Ont., Aug. 17.—(Star Special)—Conditions changed for the third day of D.R.A. and competitors started in an hour earlier than usual and in ideal weather conditions for good shooting. There was practically no wind, the light was good and the temperature just warm enough to be comfortable.

General Sir Allen Bertram this morning sent a telegram to Sir Sam Hughes expressing the regret of the competitors that he was not able to be present to see the finish of the great work he had begun and the hope he might be with them next year.

The kick of the competitors against starting the military matches this morning before the completion of the regular matches bore fruit and the first match fired was the Macdonald Brier match, ten shots at 300 and 600 yards, which completes the morning program.

The result of the Walker match finished at 8 o'clock last night was announced this morning, the leading man being Lieut. Blackburn, of Winnipeg, with a score of 65; Maj. Crow, Wellington Rifles, a close second with 64, and Sergt. Boa, of Montreal, third, with 63. A large number of Montreal riflemen were well up in the scoring.

This afternoon the real hard match takes place, the first stage of the Governor General's match, the first hundred of whom compete in the second stage and the big money prizes. The 300 and 600 yard scores of the Governor General's in the second stage added to the grand aggregate determine the Bisley team.

The 1st Wellington Rifles of Guelph won the Walker Cup with the 48th of Toronto in second place.

Walker team trophies: Walker Cup and $30, 1st Wellington Rifles, 359. $24, 48th Highlanders—349.

The scores for the Walker match challenge cup and team prizes, open to teams of six men at ranges of 300 and 600 yards, seven at each range, are as follows:—

$25—Lt. Blackburn, Winnipeg, R.	65
$20—Maj. C. Crow, 1st Well. R.	64
$16—Sgt. J. Boa, 3rd Vics., Montreal	63
$12—Pte. W. Jaffrey, R.G., Toronto	63
$10—Pte. Heath, R.C.O.C.	62
$10—Capt. Joncas, S.R.C.O.C.	62
$10—Capt. A. Boa, 3rd Vics.	62

The individual scores of the Hamilton cadet team yesterday were: Cadets J. Crawford, $10, 83; J. Houlton, $5, 80; V. Pickard, $5, 80; Farson, $5, 80, and Cadet Duff, 60.

INQUIRY OPENED INTO SHIPWRECK

Captain L. A. Demers the Dominion Wreck Commissioner opened the inquiry this morning into the stranding of the oil tanker Mina Brae near Sorel two weeks ago. Contrary to first reports of the incident, which stated that the tanker was beached owing to a leak, the evidence in court this morning brought out the fact that the ship had touched bottom twice on her trip from Halifax to Montreal.

The Mina Brae had a minor grounding at Matane, 25 miles below Metis, but the damage was slight. Two days later she ran aground again near Sorel and her heavy oil cargo had to be lightered before she was pulled off. The ship is now in Vickers yard here for repairs.

Well known marine lawyers were in court when the case was opened. A. R. Holden, K.C., represented Captain T. R. Owen; R. T. Heneker, K.C., appeared on behalf of chief officer Jones of the Mina Brae; W. L. Bond, K.C., represented the company, and T. Vien, K.C., M.P., appeared on behalf of Pilote Houle.

The majority of the deck hands of the Mina Brae are Japanese and this delays the taking of evidence which is being done through interpreter Kato. After Captain Owen and his chief officer had given evidence this morning, quartermaster Mulchuide was called, having been at the wheel when the ship ran ashore the second time. His evidence was still being taken when the court adjourned at 1.30 p.m.

Beyond the statement of the ship's position at the time of the groundings, which showed that she was fairly close to the shore, no evidence had been adduced today as to the cause of the accident. The first stranding happened in clear weather.

Assisting Captain Demers, as nautical assessors, are Captain R. G. Sprague and Captain P. Robertson.

STRUCK BY CART, DRIVER KILLED

A verdict of accidental death was returned by a coroner's jury this morning at the inquest into the death of Dr. L. N. Desjardins, of 94 St. Agnes street, St. Henry, who died at the Hotel Dieu hospital as a result of injuries received when an automobile in which he was riding was struck by a gasoline-propelled cart belonging to the Delaware & Hudson Railway Company, near Napierville, on July 28.

The verdict exonerated the crew of the cart from all blame in connection with the doctor's death. A rider to the verdict advises the use by all railway companies of whistles on all rail vehicles which travel under their own power, including gasolene carts.

Evidence given by several friends of Dr. Desjardins, who had been in the automobile with him when it was struck, was to the effect that no whistle had been heard from the approaching cart. The men who were in the cart testified that there was no whistle on their vehicle and that although they had seen the approaching automobile, they could only warn its occupants by shouting and waving their hands.

REVOLVER USED DURING QUARREL

Dominique Capoti is Charged with Attempted Murder

Charged with attempted murder of Louis Martino, 36 years of age, of 251 De Normanville street, Dominique Capoti, 54 years of age, of 1771 Chabot street, was arraigned before Judge Cusson this morning. Capoti was arrested by Detective Belanger and Constables Duranleau and Joly, at 5.30 last evening. It is alleged that he shot Martino in the left arm with a 32 calibre Smith & Wesson revolver.

According to the statements of eyewitnesses of the affair, Martino and Capoti met at the corner of Dandurand and Bordeaux streets yesterday afternoon. An altercation ensued. Pulling a revolver from his pocket, Capoti, it is alleged, fired point blank at Martino. The bullet passed through the left arm of Martino. A struggle for the possession of the revolver followed. The men, both stockily built and swarthy Italians, wrestled for some minutes. During the struggle the revolver was again discharged, the bullet going in the air. Startled residents of the vicinity sent a hurry-call for the police. Constables Delarneau and Joly were sent to the scene in a police motor-cycle and after separating the struggling men, placed Capoti under arrest. Martino, the wounded man, was taken to the Notre Dame Hospital where his wounds were dressed.

Detective Belanger had been despatched from headquarters when news of the shooting reached there, and decided to take the prisoner to detective headquarters. Here a charge of attempted murder was laid against Capoti and he was locked in the cells. The revolver was kept as evidence.

Judge Cusson set the date for enquete at August 24, no bail being applied for.

ALLEGED STOLE MOTOR-METERS.

Detectives Sloan and Charbonneau last night arrested John Wilson, no address, and Lester Riddell, of 8 Clarke street, on a charge of stealing motormeters from cars left standing on the street. Detective Sloan, in the witness box, informed Judge Cusson that a great number of complaints had been received from motorists of late that motormeters had been stolen. Judge Cusson remanded the two men to detective headquarters for three days, while their records are investigated.

BIG FIRE AT KANSAS CITY.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 17.—Damage estimated at approximately $500,000 was caused here early today when the large plant of the Kelley Milling Co., located in an east-side industrial district, was destroyed by fire. The plant is supposed to have been struck by lightning during a severe electric storm.

OPTIMISTIC NEWS ON WORLD'S WHEAT

Washington Says Countries Which Have Reported, Give Increase

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17. — (Associated Press)— Statistics from sixteen countries, including Canada, which normally produce about fifty per cent. of the total wheat crop of the world indicate a production this year of approximately 1,953,000,000 bushels or about seven million bushels more than last year, the Department of Agriculture announced today. The estimate is based on reports up to August 15.

In making the announcement the Department said no definite approximation can be made until after the returns from more of the remaining countries are received whether the total production of wheat in 1921 will be greater or less than in 1920.

The Canadian crop was reported as progressing favorably while in Northern, Central and Western Europe, despite the continued drought the outlook is generally spoken of in favorable terms.

The Russian agricultural situation was reported in a serious state with no exports expected from that country.

Crops in India were reported suffering from drought, but in North Africa the harvesting turned out somewhat better than last year.

In the southern hemisphere, including Australia and Argentina, conditions were reported as favorable.

KIWANIANS HOLD PICNIC TOMORROW

The Kiwanis Club is holding a picnic at Sheringham Park, Isle Perrot, tomorrow, and in consequence the usual Thursday meeting at the Queen's Hotel will not be held.

The Sports committee has arranged a program of races and other competitive sports for which prizes will be given, and altogether a very enjoyable day is expected.

The picnickers will leave the city in cars for Ste. Anne de Bellevue about 9 a.m. and from there take the boat to Isle Perrot.

WESTMOUNT LAND CHANGES HANDS

Scheme of Civic Improvement is Advanced by Sale

The estate of F. William Thompson comprising a large piece of vacant ground in Westmount amounting to 124,877 square feet, bounded by Sherbrooke street and Clarke and Mountain avenues was purchased by the Grove Park Estate Company, yesterday for $150,000. This marks a definite advance in the scheme, which has been before the Westmount City Council on several occasions in the last few months, for the sub-division of this land in a scheme of improvement involving the opening of two main streets through the property, one running north from Sherbrooke street and the other intersecting the land in another direction from Clarke to Mountain avenue. The plans were held up for some time by objections but later an agreement was reached.

Building lots on the property are now being staked out for sale and there has been a suggestion that the company may undertake the erection of a few model cottages on the property although there is no definite assurance of this. The land required for the proposed new streets will be deeded to the city and the work of constructing them will commence as soon as these formalities are completed.

In 1613 there were 42 members of the British House of Commons who were under 20.

"SCYTHIA" IS NEW CUNARD PATTERN

Is Last Word in British Marine Science, a 21,000 Ton Oil Burner

Leaving Liverpool on August 20, the new Cunard liner Scythia, known generally in British shipping circles as the "ship of the future," will make her maiden voyage to New York. She is a 21,000 tonner and the largest ship yet built on the new oil burning principle.

Vickers Limited, Yarrow, are the builders and her advent into the Atlantic traffic is regarded as a milestone in shipbuilding. The Scythia will be the first liner to have propelling machinery of the double-reduction geared turbine type and Cunard marine experts now state that she is the model for all ships to pattern after. The new liner has one funnel and passenger space sufficient to put her into the class of the Aquitania in this respect.

KINGSTON, Ont., Aug. 17. — Springing a leak ten miles south east of Point Peter or Long Point, the steam barge Jex, of the Sowards Coal Co., sank last evening about eight o'clock, the crew of eight being saved and picked up by the steamer Lehigh.

The Jex left Sodus at 11.15 o'clock Tuesday morning with five hundred tons of coal for the Public Utilities Commission, and was making good time, when it was noticed that she was leaking badly. Capt. Shaw saw that saving the boat was impossible, and the crew of eight put out in the yawl, carried with the boat. They were only in the yawl ten or fifteen minutes when the steamer Lehigh, of the George Hall Coal Co. came along and picked them up, while, at about the same time, the Jex which had been gradually sinking, went down in 180 feet of water.

OLD VET SAILOR.

"I will be seventy-five years of age in a few days," said Capt. Shaw, "and have been sailing the lakes for sixty-four years, and this is the first accident I have ever been in."

The crew of the Jex were all from Kingston with the exception of a deckhand, Charles Lamoureaux, who belongs to Toronto. The members of the crew were: Capt. M. Shaw, Anthony Rochefort, mate; Wm. McCabe, engineer; Con. Sughrue, deckhand; Charles Lamoureaux, deckhand; Henry Collins, fireman; Wm. Sullivan, fireman and Mrs. Foster, cook.

MOTOR BOAT BURNED

Owner Had Neglected to Take Out Insurance—Loss of $2,000

The "Humdinger," a costly motor boat, owned by J. Hacala was burned at its moorings at Longueuil last evening. It was valued at about $2,000 and is a complete loss, unless it is possible to have the engine repaired.

A workman had been removing varnish, using one of the highly volatile preparations. He struck a match to light a cigarette, but does not know whether the fumes caught fire or whether he touched the wood smeared with the remover. In a moment the whole boat was ablaze.

"I hope it will be a double warning to all motor boat owners," Mr. Hacala said this morning. "The first is that one can't be too careful working about a boat. The second is that one of the first essentials is to take out insurance —something I had neglected to do."

Mr. Hacala lives at Longueuil and is a well known member of the Gun Club.

DIRECT SERVICE TO ITALY OPENED

Italian Mariners from Steamer Feted in Honor of Event

In honor of the opening of a direct line of steamships between Canada and Italy, a banquet was given to the captain and officers of the S.S. "Caserta" of the Navigazione Generale Italiana, the first Italian steamer to commence the run, at the Hotel d'Italie on St. Lawrence boulevard, yesterday evening.

The dinner was a great success and wit and humor were the order of the evening, the mariners several times toasted their absent wives and sweethearts and were in turn toasted by the prominent Italians present at the function. The chairman of the evening was Charles J. Ciceri, president of the Charles Ciceri Company, Limited who made the first speech in which he stated, "This is no ordinary banquet given to visitors from Italy but an offering to honor the originators of this sound business project, and in honoring them we offer our congratulations and sincerest best wishes for great future success to Filippo Maresco ,the captain of the first ship bearing our country's flag on a regular run between Canada and Italy. Think what this means, now, instead of goods destined for this country from Italy having to come through France and England or through America they will be shipped direct. This will start keener business enterprises between Canada and Italy and through this strengthen the bond of friendship which now exists."

Captain Maresco said how honored he felt that he had been the man to bring the first Italian steamer into Montreal, and as he did not consider there was any possibility of going backward in the enterprise he would offer the toast "Forward."

A. L. Rocca, who seven years ago had commenced the work which resulted in the Navigazione Generale Italiana coming into being, spoke on the advantages of the scheme and of how proud he felt to see a project which had at one time seemed hardly possible become a fact.

Oscar T. Mollo, editor of L'Italia said he could endorse the former speaker's words and heap further congratulations and good wishes upon the pioneer mariners. He trusted that soon Montreal would have the pleasure of entertaining them again.

Among the guests present were: Charles J. Ciceri, C. Uff, R. Man-Enrico Pasquale, John P. Malagodi, P. Garbarino, L. Scango, D. Sebastiani, D. G. Acocella, Umberto Zerrillo, Ginlio Schroeder F. Roncari, proprietor of the Hotel D'Italie, Cesare Consiglio, Oscar T. Mollo, editor of the "L'Italia," Sig. Passerini of the "Araldo del Canada", Comondante G. Caprille, master of the S.S. "Adda," Commandante Filippo Maresco, master of the S. S. "Caserta," Ferrero Antonio, Ceccarelli Eusebio, Valenti Giovanni, Trevisan, Varaldo Gis Batta, S. DeGaetano Giuseppe, Soave Salvatore, La Porta Edoard, Gianotti Giuseppe, Vitali Stefano and Tudone Pietro.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Aug. 17. — The steel steamer Beaverton, of the Canada Steamship Lines which went aground on a shoal near the Sister Light on Sunday morning last, in thick weather, was released yesterday and proceeded to shipyard at Ogdensburg for repairs.

BATTLE IN LABOR RANKS SCHEDULED

War Over Revoking of Charter of C.B.R.E. to Feature Convention

OTTAWA, Aug. 17.—(Star Special)—Civil warfare in the ranks of organized labor will come to a head at the annual meeting of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress at Winnipeg on August 22. It has been simmering ever since the congress executive revoked the charter of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employes, and were made the subject of a legal injunction by the courts at the instance of Mr. A. R. Mosher, President of the Brotherhood. The whole question is thus referred to in a paragraph of the call for the convention signed by President Tom Moore and Secretary P. M. Draper.

"During the past year the power to interpret the constitution and expressions of the annual convention, has been taken away from the executive and transferred to the courts. This situation has been brought about by the injunction secured by the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employes against their suspension, and action will be necessary by this convention if the policies of the past nineteen years, making the congress primarily the legislative mouth-piece of the International Trade Union movement, are to be maintained."

The kernel of the friction arose from the fact that the C.B. of R.E. is entirely Canadian, while most of the unions represented in the congress are international and affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

President Gompers had, as one of the chief reasons for his recent visit, the desire to bring peace to the troubled camp. The war is still on, however, and President Mosher expects to take one hundred representatives of his thirteen thousand followers to Winnipeg. He won the first move by having the courts nullify the congress December decree of revocation. Against him will go half a hundred representatives of the International Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks.

Mr. Mosher expects support as well from the Nova Scotia miners, who are at odds with the congress executive.

President Tom Moore leaves for Winnipeg tonight and Secretary Draper on Thursday night.

The acute unemployment situation and the fight against the open shop will also come prominently into the debates of the congress.

NEW CUSTOMS PLAN IS EFFECTIVE DEC. 31

Requires Imported Goods to Bear Name of Country Where Made

OTTAWA, Aug. 17.—(By Canadian Press.)—The customs regulations requiring that all goods imported into Canada shall bear the name of the country where they were manufactured, will not come into effect until December 31. This was provided by an Order-in-Council made public at the Department of Customs and Excise yesterday afternoon.

The Customs Act as amended at the last session of Parliament provided for this change in the regulations becoming effective on October 1. When a deputation of importers from Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal met the Minister of Customs, however, objection was taken to the date, the importers pressing for delay on the grounds that a good deal of fall merchandise had already been purchased and some of it is packed, and that marking, in its present condition, would be impossible.

MRS. BENDER FOUND

Vanished August 1—Found Sleeping on Roof

KITCHENER, Ont., Aug. 17.—Mrs. Andrew Bender of St. Clements, missing since August 1, has been discovered sleeping on the roof of a woodshed in the rear of the house. She claims to have been away from home but three days, having returned and spent the remainder of the time hidden at home, visiting the house at night for food and supplies, while scores of neighbors searched the entire district.

Mrs. Bender who is a married woman of 36, has been suffering from nervous trouble recently and had disappeared once before.

ONTARIO SEPARATE SCHOOLS ASK AID

Delegation Appeals for Some Relaxation from Former Govt's Penalty

TORONTO, Aug. 17. — Ottawa's separate schools, which, because of their refusal some years ago to observe regulation 17 pertaining to the teaching of English, have been cut off from provincial grants, are almost at the end of their financial tether and are appealing for some relaxation of the penalty which was imposed by the former Provincial Government. A deputation from Ottawa, the members of which declined to give their names, but which included representatives of the Catholic Church, waited on Premier Drury Monday and made their petition.

The Premier gave sympathetic hearing and promised to take the matter up with the Minister of Education.

The withholding of the provincial grant, however, is not the only difficulty in which the Ottawa Separate School Board still finds itself. There is still standing against it an injunction secured years ago by the English-speaking minority which has the effect of preventing it from borrowing money on capital account until such time as the school regulations are complied with.

Premier Drury refused to comment on the Ottawa appeal for relief.

PREMIER DENIES PERRON RUMOR

QUEBEC, Aug. 17. — Interviewed here last night relative to the reports current that Hon. J. L. Perron, M.L.C., will be appointed attorney-general and will seek election to the Assembly in Vercheres County, Premier Taschereau gave them absolute denial.

The Premier seemed rather amazed at the stories and said to the Canadian Press: "You may say that there is absolutely nothing to that report. It is a rumor, pure and simple, without the slightest foundation."

WRECKED VESSEL IN DRY DOCK.

PORT ARTHUR, Aug. 17.—The steamer Widlar, 600 foot freighter, wrecked on Pancake shoals last fall, was placed in the Port Arthur dry docks yesterday for repairs which may reach $200,000. The docking of the boat was a very delicate operation because of the danger of her going to pieces after the heavy damage done by pounding on the rocks all winter.
