Victory Gardeners Must Register

It has been announced by the Community Garden League of Greater Montreal, that all gardeners in Westmount who plan to operate a victory garden, must register with their organization at room 205, 1421 Atwater Avenue.

Preference will be given to gardeners who had a plot of land last year but there will be a limited number of vacant gardens which will be allotted in the order of registration—first come, first served—so that it is advisable to register at once.

Mrs. Dorise Nielsen, M.P., Speaks Here Next Week

Mrs. Dorise Nielsen, Unity member for North Battleford, will speak at Victoria Hall, Westmount, on Friday of next week.

Mrs. Nielsen, a member of the National Committee of the Labor-Progressive Party, will devote her evening's address to the problems of the post war under the title "After Victory-What?"

The meeting is being sponsored by the West-End and St. Lawrence-St. George Clubs of the Labor-Progressive Party.

Evan D. Lewis Speaks On Early Democracy

"Early Democracy" was the subject of an address given by Evan D. Lewis on Wednesday, at the Westmount Rotary Club luncheon held in Victoria Hall.

Mr. Chester McBride, the president, was in the chair, and an announcement was made to the effect that the amount of $200 had been voted by the Board of Directors in support of the project sponsored by the Montreal War Service Co-ordinating Council for the housing of wives and their families of Service Men passing through Montreal on the way to and from England; also $60 for softball sweaters to be purchased for Service men stationed at Claremont Barracks in Westmount.

Home Damaged On Claremont Avenue

Fire broke out in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Master-son, 434 Claremont Avenue, at 8 a.m. on Friday last, when the kitchen and the den were badly damaged by fire and smoke.

It was reported that Mr. Master-son, while dressing first discovered the blaze in the den near a radio and couch, and immediately turned in the alarm to the Westmount Fire Department, which arrived quickly on the scene and soon had the fire under control.

LAUDS RED CROSS

LT.-COL. C. C. MERRITT, V.C., one of the heroes of the Dieppe raid, is another who attests the value of Canadian Red Cross food parcels for prisoners of war. The colonel, now a prisoner in Germany, in a recent letter to Mrs. Merritt, declared: "Christmas has been good with special Red Cross parcels including Christmas pudding and cake. It was a real celebration. We are getting reasonable food as Red Cross parcels arrive weekly." In its current national appeal for $10,000,000 the Canadian Red Cross requires $5,500,000 to carry on its work of providing weekly food parcels for Empire prisoners of war.

HONORING THE SAINT
All over the city, St. Patrick's Day is providing an excuse to throw a few parties for the boys and girls in the services. Canteen hostesses, as above, enjoy the occasion as much as do the boys themselves.

R. S. White, Veteran Politician, Celebrates 88th Birthday Here

The years have brought their glory and exacted their tribute, and Westmount's veteran Parliamentarian of thirty-one sessions, R. S. White, of 465 Roslyn Avenue, celebrated his 88th birthday on Wednesday receiving hundreds of congratulations from friends in all walks of life throughout Canada, wishing him good health and a happy birthday.

Mr. White, who is affectionately beloved by a large circle of friends has a most remarkable memory for events and dates and holds forthright opinions on a wide range of topics. He has been a life long member of the Conservative Party, which he takes more-than-usual interest in from day to day, and he can look back on a life of service as a journalist, civil servant and a politician.

Contesting seven elections for the House of Commons, two in Ontario and five in Montreal, Mr. White was elected in six of them. Six months before the election in 1940 Mr. White submitted his resignation to the Party, but they would not accept it, and he was defeated by D. C. Abbott, Liberal candidate in the St. Antoine-Westmount division.

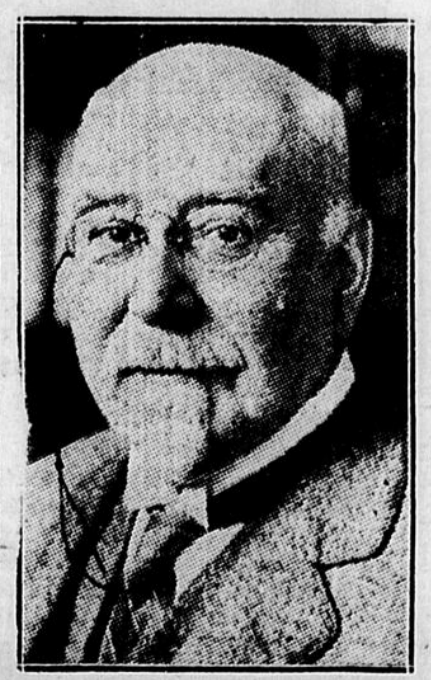

Mr. White was born in Peterborough, Ont., on March 15th, 1856, his father, the late Hon. Thomas White, being at that time publisher of the "Peterborough Review." In 1864, he went with his family to Hamilton, where his father and uncle Richard White had purchased the "Spectator." He received the best part of his education in private and public schools in Hamilton.

The family in 1870 moved to Montreal, his father and uncle having in that year purchased the Montreal Gazette. It may be stated that the roots of the White family are somewhat deep in Montreal soil, his grandfather having come to this city from West Meath, Ireland, in 1827.

The first business venture of Mr. White was with the wholesale drygoods firm of Gault Brothers and Company, which he entered in 1871, and, said Mr. White with a twinkle in his eye, "Having put that firm solidly on its feet in ten months I transferred to the Bank of Montreal where I remained for one and a half years until June

Westmount First To Go Over Top In Red Cross

The Westmount Branch of the Canadian Red Cross was the first unit of the Metropolitan Division to go over the top in collections to the Red Cross Campaign which closed here on Thursday night.

Proof of the support of Westmount citizens to the appeal is shown here by the amount of $66,027 subscribed, the goal for this district being $58,000.

Mrs. C. H. P. Moore and Mrs. John M. Bishop were the joint chairman of the Westmount Unit with 27 teams canvassing. Of this number it is reported that 24 teams went over the top, and the other three are expected to reach their objective when all returns are in by the end of the week.

It is reported from Campaign Headquarters here that citizens gave generously and among subscriptions received were $2,000 from the City of Westmount, $185 from City employees and the Red Cross Westmount Branch canteen donated the sum of $175.

Likewise school children lent their support and contributed splendidly to the campaign. A group of children in the Roslyn School took their toys to school and auctioned them off and raised the sum of $5.00 for the Red Cross. St. George's School, on Westmount Boulevard, raised the amount of $32.

Westmount Stamp Club To Meet

The Westmount Stamp Club will celebrate the holding of its 300th meeting on Thursday night, March 23rd in the Oak Room at Victoria Hall.

Special features will be held during the evening with the members of l'Union Philatelique participating in the events as guests for the night. Light refreshments will be served at the close of the evening.

Municipal Meet To Be Held On March 30th

A general meeting of the Westmount Municipal Association will be held on Thursday evening, March 30th, in Victoria Hall, as well as a reception to new members, who amount to the number of 600, joining in the last two months.

The topic for the evening will be "Know Your Westmount," and it is anticipated that the Mayor and members of the City Council will attend and will make brief addresses bringing the membership up to date in terms of city affairs, and answering questions which may be put before them by members of the association.

LAC. B. M. Reid, 21, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Reid, of 775 Upper Lansdowne Avenue, whose action in preventing a serious fire in an R.C.A.F. field hospital overseas is described in a recent issue of Wings Abroad, official R.C.A.F. newspaper published in London.

According to the item, "Reid . . . was working in the officers' mess when a container of inflammable stuff caught fire. Before the blaze could spread Reid picked up the container and rushed outside, where the flames were smothered with an extinguisher." Letters received from him by his parents reported that he was hospitalized with burns about the hands. Born in Montreal, LAC. Reid was educated at Roslyn School and Lower Canada College. He enlisted in the air force in the summer of 1941 and went overseas last May, attached to a mobile field hospital.

1874, when I became a cub reporter on the Gazette, my first and last love."

Upon the appointment of his father as Minister of Interior in 1885, in Sir John A. MacDonald's Government, Mr. White became chief editor of the Gazette and remained as such to December 31st, 1895, when he became Collector of Customs for the Port of Montreal, a position he held for 21 years, when he resumed the chief-editorship of the Gazette and continued in that capacity until March 1926.

Recalling among honors received, on the occasion of Mr. White's retirement from the Customs, the merchants of Montreal presented him with a purse of $21,000 in recognition of his services to the Mercantile community during his term of office; and probably the highest honor he received during his life time was given him by the members of the House of Commons on the occasion of his 82nd birthday when tributes were paid him by Prime Minister King, Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, Hon. R. J. Manion, then the leader of the Opposition and the leaders of the C. C. F. and Social Credit parties. Mr. White was permitted to thank the members of the House on that occasion for their great kindness, the incident being without precedent.

Mr. White's wife is a daughter of the late Capt. John Barclay of the Allan S. S. Line, whom he married in 1888, the couple celebrating the 50th anniversary of their wedding in 1938 while in Ottawa.

Mr. White will tell you that since his youth when he played a little baseball and less lacrosse, he has not had time to indulge in athletic exercises, he has however, done quite a bit of lawn bowling and is still a member of the Westmount Bowling Club. He has been a member of the Montreal Curling Club and for many years of the Heather Curling Club, whose members a few weeks ago did him the honor of making him a Life Member. He is also a Life Governor of the Montreal General Hospital after being a Governor of that Institution since the summer of 1888. Mr. White enjoys chatting with old friends, he loves his pipe and also the odd game of bridge.

Prayer is our "secret weapon"; with it we shall conquer every foe.

Capt. H. Palmer Is Dead In Italy

According to word received here, Captain Harry Gilbert Palmer, 36, has passed away in a Canadian hospital in Italy, as the result of burns sustained in an explosion on January 27th, while on active service. His wife, the former Claire Barton, of Liverpool, England, lives with her six-year-old daughter Marcia, at 50 Academy Road.

Details of the accident which claimed Capt. Palmer's life are not known here. Born at St. Lambert, the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Palmer, 473 Crescent street, he received his early education there and later studied at McGill. Prior to enlisting he was on the staff of the Bell Telephone Company, plant engineering department. A member of the Royal Montreal Regiment in peacetime he mustered for service in September, 1939, and as signals officer was one of an advance party of the unit to go overseas in November of that year. He was promoted to captain in the spring of 1942 and went to Sicily in October last year, proceeding to Italy with the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps. His brother, Russell, a graduate mining engineer from McGill, is now in South Africa and his sister Marion lives here.

P/O J. D. Harvie Wins Promotion

Word has been received from overseas that Pilot Officer John D. Harvie, twenty year old son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Harvie, of Metcalfe Ave., Westmount, has been promoted to the rank of Flying Officer. F. O. Harvie received his education at Argyle School, and Westmount High School, graduating with the class of 1940. Enlisting in the R.C. A.F. in June 1942, he received his training at Lachine, Belleville, receiving his navigator's wing and commission at Portage la Prairie in June 1943, and was immediately posted overseas, where he is attached to an R.C. A.F. squadron. An older brother, F.O. Robert Harvie, lost his life in enemy action over Berlin in January, 1943.

NEW BOOKS FOR JUVENILES AT WESTMOUNT LIBRARY

A strange combination of circumstances found Rance working as a wiper in an engine room. For even seamen shunned the black tanker, "She'll blow up half-way over, and men disappear on her", they said. In "The Black Tanker", by Pease, we also meet two old friends from Mr. Pease's other books, Captain Jarvis and Tod Moran.

Out in the land of giant mesas and beyond the bright-hued desert lived Little Falcon, son of War Cloud, the chief of the tribe. In "Indian Paint," by Balch, we read of the deep affection and understanding between Little Falcon and his pony Shadow, his training of the pony and their encounters with horse hunters, hunger and wolves.

"Fog Magic," by Julia Sauer, is a sensitive story about a little girl of Nova Scotia for whom the fog blowing in from the sea had the magic to transport her into a secret and mysterious world of her own.

When Kate Summers (in "Sensible Kate," by Gates) came to live with the Tuttle as a "family helper" she had quite made up her mind that good sense was her portion. In this world, thought Kate; if you were cute and pretty nothing was expected of you but that. You might even get into the movies! But as an angular red-headed, freckle-faced orphan couldn't possibly be considered cute, sensibleness was the only alternative. Kate was VERY sensible.

"The Adventures in Black and White," by Attilio Gatti, is a jungle story in which an American boy and a pygmy boy become fast friends, and after several adventures together they solve the mystery of the German saboteur in Central Africa.

"The Story of Green Wagons," by Seidlin, is a friendly story of the children of a Swiss village solving the village mystery so that a travelling troupe will be given permission to put on their well-loved play.

ROYAL WERRY TO SPEAK

Royal Werry, K.C., will be the special speaker on Wednesday evening, March 22nd, in St. Stephen's Church Hall, Werendale Park. His subject will be "Health for Victory".

A short devotional service at 8 p.m. will precede the address.

KNOW YOUR WESTMOUNT

Q.—Are the aldermen of Westmount elected by Wards?

A.—Not nowadays. When Westmount was incorporated (8 Edward VII, 1908, Chapter 89), the city was divided into four wards with two aldermen to be elected by each ward. These wards consisted of strips running North and South through the city, the western boundaries of each being as follows: No. 1, Mountain Ave.; No. 2, Metcalfe Ave.; No. 3, Lansdowne Ave.; No. 4, the western boundary. The Mayor, then as now, was elected at large.

In 1912 this Act was changed and provision made for the election of five aldermen at large.

In 1926 under Bylaw No. 401 of the city and Section 30 (a) of the Cities and Towns Act, provision was made to have the aldermen elected to specified "seats". This is the situation today, with the seats numbered from 1 to 5 and each alderman elected to that specified "seat". Thus there is no division of the city into wards nor are the aldermen elected at large.

Dutch Paintings Draw Big Crowds

The Loan Exhibition of Great Paintings, Five Centuries of Dutch Art, which was opened on Thursday last by the Governor-General and the Princess Alice, is drawing large attendance at the Art Gallery on Sherbrooke Street West, according to a report received. The attendance on the opening night was 1,850 and on Sunday last, 3,141 persons passed through the galleries. Groups of school children are daily conducted by guide lecturers who give short talks explaining the different schools of painting, their influence and significance. The exhibition which is being held for the benefit of the children of Great Britain, the Netherlands and occupied countries of Europe, will continue until April 9th.

A venereal disease "early treatment centre" for civilian and military personnel, and staffed with military personnel, has been proposed for Winnipeg by the health committee of the council.

CIRCUS COMING TO TOWN

THE CIRCUS will be coming to town again soon—to perform in aid of the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children. The circus will raise money by entertaining thousands of fortunate, healthy youngsters to pay for medical care for other youngsters not so fortunate—to restore deformed little bodies to health.

Have you ever visited a home or a hospital for crippled children? If not, you cannot begin to realize the merciful work that is being done or can be accomplished in such an institution. Shriners' Hospitals admit only the children of parents who are too poor to pay anything for the services they render. Most Shriners are big men—big in spirit, in tolerance, in outlook—too big to bar any youngster because of race, colour, or religion. The doors are open to all. The only condition is that their parents haven't the means to provide proper care elsewhere. This condition is imposed because the admission of one who could afford to pay elsewhere might deprive a destitute youngster of perhaps its only hope of help or cure, in a Shriners' hospital.

Shriners' hospitals maintain their own brace factories, employ their own brace-makers to make, fit, and equip these children with the proper orthopaedic apparatus which is necessary to follow up the treatment given. The cost of such equipment is usually prohibitive; Shriners' hospitals furnish it absolutely free to their little patients. School teachers are in daily attendance either to start the youngest ones in learning or to keep others up in their classes while being treated. The teaching of music is also a part of the activity in a Shriners' hospital. The atmosphere in these hospitals is like that of a nursery filled with happy children. Those who have heard it will not soon forget the laughter of crippled children ringing in the corridors, nor will they forget the tears that are sometimes shed when the time arrives for the child to depart for home.

It will be remembered that the Master said: "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me." The Master pointed out, as our greatest charge, "the least" among those children. He made "the least of these" the most important. He charges us to pause in our daily affairs and take care of the seemingly hopeless ones. That is what the Shriners' Hospitals are trying to do. They are dedicated "To the glory of God, and to all humankind, regardless of race, creed, or colour."

So the circus will be coming to town to raise funds to carry on the good work. Bring your children to see it. Give them a glorious treat, and at the same time help "the least" regain their health.

MAKING A 2-POUND SHELL

IN A SPEECH, and later in a booklet, Henry G. Weaver of General Motors, explained simply and dramatically how much thinking, planning, scheming, and time were required to bring a two-pound shot into production. This shot can penetrate armour plate and put a tank out of commission. The construction data, blueprints, factory lay-out and other essential information made a book of 600 pages. This preliminary engineering work involved 6,000 square feet of tracing paper and over 50,000 square feet of blueprint paper. Machines, cutting tools, jigs and fixtures had to be found or specially designed. One piece of equipment weighed 25 tons. Weaver's observation was that mass production is preceded by tedious preliminary work. After this work is done and the line starts moving, the operation is relatively simple.

THE ITALIAN FLEET

WAS Mr. Roosevelt really as casual as he seemed when, in answer to a press conference query, he disclosed Russia's request for one-third of the Italian fleet? Or was he carrying through a high-pressure diplomatic maneuver? In either case it is doubtful whether all the repercussions had been foreseen.

If it was diplomacy, it could have been another turn of the screw on Turkey. For it suggested that Moscow—and Washington and London—might soon be asking for passage through the Dardanelles for Italian ships going to help the Russians in the Black Sea.

Or it might have been aimed at those Americans who ask for American participation in the settlement of Russia's borders, reminding them that all Allied obligations to Russia have not been fulfilled.

Or it could have been an addendum on Mr. Churchill's recent support of the Badoglio regime, a warning that Washington was not satisfied with the results of such support. Marshall Badoglio's reaction—a threat to resign—will not trouble many people. Yet Washington might well give some heed to the feelings of Italians about their fleet. A cavalier parceling out of the ships—even if permitted by the armistice terms—will not win friends for the Allies among the hardy groups that are now carrying strikes to the point of revolt in northern Italy.—Christian Science Monitor.

THE FORUM

Conducted by HOWARD S. ROSS, K.C., D.C.L.

In Which Subjects of General Interest Are Discussed

The opinions expressed in this Forum are not necessarily those of this newspaper, and it does not accept responsibility for them.

"In Rochdale, England, in 1844, was launched an enterprise that was called 'the littlest, the most unfriended, the most disregarded, the most contemned, the least hopeful, the least likely to succeed of any system devised by'."—Joshua Bolles in The People's Business.

"This enterprise was a co-operative store started by 27 men and one woman, most of whom were weavers. The principles on which it was established now form the basis of co-operative societies all over the world. During the first year the store which began with a capital of 28 pounds, more than doubled its membership and saved 160 pounds. A dozen years later the annual volume of business reached $100,000. It continued to grow and awakened similar enterprises, until today the influence of that small shop, started by working people, touches the lives of half of England's population and more millions the world around.

"Cooperatives have provided a democratic alternative to government control and with the millions it has helped, I hope for continued growth for the cooperative movement."—George D. Aiken, U.S. Senator, Vermont.

Labor groups advocate cooperatives, have started many of them. Unanimous recommendation of consumer cooperatives as "an effective weapon directly available to wage-earners to control the prices of the things they buy" was voted by the second annual CIO convention. AFL resolutions declare that "It is important for labor to take its place in the American Cooperative Movement."

"COOPERATION supplements political economy by organizing the distribution of wealth. It touches no man's fortune, it seeks no plunder, it causes no disturbance in society, it enters into no secret associations. It contemplates no violence, it subverts no order, it envies no dignities, it asks no favor, it keeps no terms with the idle, and it will break no faith with the industrious; it means self-help, self-dependence and such share of competence as labor or thought can win, and this it intends to have."—George Jacob Holyoke, English cooperative historian.

"Today we need a great many more persons who will become as deeply motivated by the idea of a cooperative economic society as the young men of 1776 and 1787 were motivated by the idea of a democratic political society. The one is the living stream of thought for the twentieth century as the other was for the eighteenth."—Vice President Henry A. Wallace (photographed as he visited the Ida B. Well Homes, and their co-op stores, in Chicago, recently.)

Restoration of the cooperatives in Czechoslovakia will be an immediate first step of the Czechoslovak Government-in-Exile at the close of the war, according to Jan Masaryk, Foreign Minister of the Czechoslovak Republic.

"Not only will restoration of the cooperatives help solve the problem of relief and reconstruction," Mr. Masaryk points out; "it will also give the people a feeling of self-confidence—the self-confidence Hitler has been trying for ten years to destroy."

Through the purchase of their own flour mill the Swedish cooperators broke the hold of a flour milling cartel and brought reduced prices of bread to all consumers in Sweden. During the last war, private milling and baking interests in Sweden secured from the Government, the right to increase bread prices. The cooperatives kept their prices down and the entire bread industry had to drop back to their previous prices.

British cooperatives serve 9,000,000 families with more than a billion and a half dollars worth of goods and services each year. $120,000,000 is returned each year to their members in savings which otherwise would be drained off in excess profits and taken out of the purchasing power of the consumers.

At least half of Switzerland's 4,000,000 people receive a wide variety of cooperative services through over 12,000 coop societies.

There are at least a thousand housing coops in Sweden which supply beautiful modern homes to workers and their homes at low cost.

The newest move to bring about harmony between the United Nations is the announcement that Russia also has a Bing Crosby.

Industrial casualties in the U.S.A. exceed 36,000 killed 200,000 crippled and 4,500 injured since Pearl Harbor. These figures were released by the National Safety Council.

On the Sunday following the New Year Rev. Kaj Munk stood at the door of his church and denounced all Danes who are collaborating with the Nazis in their preparations to ward off the second front. Next day a wave of strikes broke out. A few days later he was murdered after a grilling by Nazi officials. Danish police began to search for the slayer of the most widely known of the present generation of Scandinavian playwrights.

The police were stopped by the Nazi authorities when they were about to close in on the assassins. Papers in Denmark were forbidden to publish an obituary but Danish institutions in Stockholm flew their flags at half mast and Swedish, radio commentators broadcast tributes to the minister's contribution to Scandinavian culture Pauline Brunius, head of the Dramatiska Teatern, said: "His death is an enormous loss to the whole of Scandinavia. He was our best contemporary dramatist." More than 3,000 persons attended the funeral in Vedersoe where Kaj Munk was pastor.

VISITORS WELCOME

Westmount Baptist

On Sunday morning the service in Westmount Baptist Church will be broadcast over Station CBM. Dr. J. A. Johnston's sermon will carry the title: "THE STRETCHER-BEARER"—A Graphic Scene on Life's Battle Field. All worshippers should endeavour to be in their places a few minutes before 11 o'clock. Under the direction of Hibbert Troop, "Westmount Choir" will function in the Ministry of Music.

At the evening service the sermon will be entitled: "The Verdict—Acquit or Condemn?" This will be the third in a series of Pre-Easter Sermons, entitled: "Life's Decisive Moments." After examining the Trial Scene before the Roman Procurator, Dr. Johnston will seek to identify the motives which constrained Pilot to condemn when the evidence demanded acquittal.

Westmount Fireside Fellowship, which is a most happy, friendly gathering of Young People, follows the evening-service. The gathering is characterized by Hymn singing from slides, testimony, prayer and discussion, in which many take part. All young people are invited to share in this interesting and profitable fellowship. Young men and women in uniform attend and participate quite freely.

The Mid-Week Service, which is an inspiring gathering of men and women who are banded together to seek God's blessing upon themselves and others, has proved itself to be a source of great inspiration to all who attend. Men and women of goodwill, who feel the need, in these crucial days, of greater dependence upon God, are earnestly invited to attend.

"Westmount" Sunday School under the direction of S. C. Simpson, supported by a staff of able and devoted teachers, meets each Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Most cordially welcomed. The annual Sunday School festival will be held on the evening of Friday, March 24th.

KANGAROOS ADMIRER

Place cards at the head table at the annual Charter Day Luncheon of the Westmount Women's Club on Friday in the ballroom of the Mount Royal Hotel, took the form of hand-made, hand-painted kangaroos which were much admired and commented upon both by Sir William Glasgow, the guest speaker, and by the Rev. F. W. Norwood, another Australian present. The charming place cards were cut out and designed by Miss Gwen Williams, daughter of the Secretary of the Westmount Women's Club, Mrs. C. W. Williams and Mr. Williams, of 4547 Sherbrooke Street West. Sir William, who, accompanied by Lady Glasgow, came from Ottawa for the occasion, remarked that he and his wife would send the little paper kangaroos home to Australia, to delight their grandchildren there.

Paulette Buys Coat In Store For Picture

Instead of having a coat designed specially for her, Paulette Goddard bought the brown wool sports coat, which she wears as a shipyard welder in Paramount's "I Love a Soldier," at a shop in San Francisco, while on location in that city. This shop caters almost exclusively to women shipyard workers. The coat Paulette selected is fashioned after a military coat and is identical with all the coats the real shipyard women wear.

Paulette will introduce nothing new in welders' off work clothes, but will really dress the part.

IN THE WOMAN'S REALM

Sir Wm. Glasgow Tells Role Of Australian Women in War

The stirring story of how Australian women responded to their country's call when the Commonwealth was under the daily threat of invasion by the Japanese and bombs were dropping on Darwin while Australian fighting forces were on active service in the middle east, was told by Sir William Glasgow, K.C.B., D.S.O., Australian High Commissioner for Canada when he was the guest speaker at the annual Charter Day Luncheon of the Westmount Women's Club held on Friday in the ballroom of the Mount Royal Hotel.

It was a grim situation that faced the country, he said, and all human and material resources had to be mobilized immediately. Nobody could have responded more nobly than did the countrywomen. About 48,000 of them now wear the uniforms of the various services.

The Australian Nursing Service, said Sir William, is similar to our own in Canada; and the women of the three armed services perform duties along the lines of those required in our own Canadian Women's Divisions. Then there is also the Australian Army Women's Medical Service, formed only recently and numbering 5,000 members, which supplies army hospitals with kitchen, clerical and non-skilled nursing staffs.

Roughly about one in three of all workers in the whole field of munitions and war supply production are women, the speaker remarked, and of the 850,000 women in overalls, doing work no less important than that performed by their sisters in uniform, very few had been in paid employment before the outbreak of the war.

The women in corduroys, otherwise the Australian Women's Land Army have been largely responsible for the production of food and raw materials not only for Australia, but for Great Britain and the U.S. forces in the south west Pacific. After being trained and suitably equipped these girls take up dairying, mixed farming, poultry raising, flax and cotton cultivation. When they first stepped in to fill the gaps left by the young men who joined up, they had to overcome a good deal of prejudice, but today they are doing a magnificent job and getting full credit for it. Many of them who are making good in this field were city-bred girls who had no previous experience of the country, but, he reported, they drive trucks and tractors and tend sheep and cattle in outlying districts often with only dogs for company.

Notwithstanding the fine records of these groups, said the speaker, the highest praise must still go to the women in aprons, the housewives of Australia, who are the backbone of the nation. They faced with valor and cheerfulness a situation of the greatest gravity when under daily threat of Japanese attack. Thousands of their children in the north of Queensland had to be sent to schools in the south. They saw their men come home from campaigns in Greece and elsewhere and leave again within a few days for the jungles of New Guinea.

In speaking of the Red Cross Sir William said "With the exception of the Christian Church, no other organization has done so much for humanity as the Red Cross", and he expressed his government's thanks for the work done in Canada in dispatching prisoner-of-war parcels to Australians interned in enemy countries. He also gave thanks to Canadian women and to service clubs here for the hospitality extended to Australian boys training under the Empire Air Training Plan. The airmen themselves, he remarked, are full of praise for the kindness extended to them in the form of dinners, teas, dances and week-ends in the country which allow them to become better acquainted with Canada and her people.

Mrs. Harold Mills, president of the club, presided. The Venerable Archdeacon A. P. Gower-Rees introduced the speaker, and the Rev. F. W. Norwood, also an Australian, gave the vote of thanks. Group Captain R. C. Hawtrey, R.C.A.F., representing Air Commodore Adelard Raymond, proposed the toast to the King. A toast to Australia was proposed by Col. Eric Kippen, D.S.O., M.C., of M.D. No. 4.

Mrs. Florian Leduc, president of the American Women's Club, spoke briefly on the importance of women's clubs as organizations for rallying women in a united effort for the welfare of humanity. She extended good wishes from sister organizations and congratulated the Westmount Women's Club on its splendid record which, she remarked, "was a challenge to us all and worthy of emulation."

Mr. Arthur Davison rendered violin selections, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Hutchins. Miss Phyllis Rowell was in charge of the musical programme.

Among the guests at the head table were Lady Glasgow, Mrs. F. W. Norwood, Mrs. T. de G. Stewart, founder of the club, Mrs. John Hyde, charter member, Mrs. E. M. Briggs, president of the Montreal Women's Club; Mrs. S. A. MacSween, president of the Notre Dame de Grace Women's Club; Mrs. Allan Smith, Mr. Harold Mills, Mrs. J. Crawford, president of the Cote des Neiges and Snowdon Women's Club; Mrs. J. Narstead, president of the Montreal West Women's Club; Mrs. A. J. Child, president of the Verdun Women's Club and E. I. Taylor, secretary, Westmount Branch Y.M.C.A.

Laraine Day Likes Cranberry Dumplings

While talking to Laraine Day on the set of Paramount's "The Story of Dr. Wassell," she told us that her family sometimes grows tired of the same old relish and stuffing with roast chicken or turkey and they have solved the problem by serving cranberry dumplings. Here is her recipe:

Cook 2 cups cranberries and ½ cup hot water for ten minutes. Strain and to this add ½ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon melted butter, ½ teaspoon salt and 1 scant cup cracker meal. Drop by spoonfuls into deep fat and cook until browned. Serve hot with either chicken or turkey.

Vanishing Vitamin!

The vanishing vitamin is "C". It's the delicate member of the family... when the heat's on it blows! Take extra special care to keep brother "C" in good shape by not exposing him to heat for long. For instance when you add canned tomatoes or tomato juice to meat soup wait till a short time before serving to do so.

Plug Electricity The Careful Way

As it is difficult to get electrical repairs done quickly these days, it is a good idea to keep cords and end pieces in shape so they won't need repairing. Here are some tips.

1. Never remove a plug from an outlet by pulling or jerking. This strains the copper strands and may cause a short circuit. Hold the plug firmly and gently dislodge it from the outlet.
2. Care should be taken that furniture is never moved onto cords. The protective covering of the cord may be ripped and a scary shock in store for whoever touches the exposed wires.
3. Cords should never be placed where they are apt to be tripped over.
4. Tacks should not be used to hold down cord. The metal tack may break through the insulation and cause a short circuit.
5. Cords that are frayed or broken, or cords with loose plugs should be replaced immediately.

Dibs and Dabs

Know the best storage methods for your food? Keep left-overs in the refrigerator and remember to keep them covered; a saucer will do the trick just as well as the phtofilm bonnets made specially for this purpose. And don't let left-overs get pushed way to the back of the refrigerator... chances are that when they turn up they won't be very appetizing. A daily check at meal planning time is a good idea.

Hold on, Little Fella—we're coming!

Yes, babies have felt the impact of war just like the rest of us. Their big trouble has been the diaper shortage. It's been difficult for them and their Mothers, because our looms were busy making hundreds of vital military items. But we're beginning to switch gradually back to some civilian production, and diaper cloth is high on our list of urgently needed goods.

No, the stores will not be bulging with diapers next week—that won't happen till the war's all over. And you have to remember that as we produce more there will likely be a let-up in importations. The general supply picture will only change slightly. But more of those long-time favourite Canadian-made goods will be available.

Potatoes In Skins Vitamin C Source

Experiments have shown that one tablespoon of potato a day cooked in the skin and mashed in the water in which it was cooked will cure scurvy in an infant in about two weeks. In Ireland the incidence of scurvy is always high when there is a potato famine.

Of course Canada has no scurvy problem, but scurvy appears when vitamin C is lacking and scientific tests show that in the late winter and early spring months many Canadians do not get enough vitamin C, according to Nutrition Services, Ottawa.

During these months the fresh, new garden vegetables are not yet in, and the root vegetables stored late in the fall have by now lost part of their content of vitamin C. Because vitamin C cannot be stored in the body it is advisable that each day's meals should contain vitamin C in some form. This is where potatoes come into the picture. Not so rich as citrus fruits in vitamin C potatoes nonetheless are an important source because they are in most cases a food eaten regularly every day and in fair quantities.

PIE FACTORY

Calgary, Alberta, has started an unique enterprise known as the Pie Factory. News of this venture recently came to the desks of Mrs. W. E. West and Madame Paul Hamel, co-directors of the Women's Voluntary Services Division of the Department of National War Services in Ottawa.

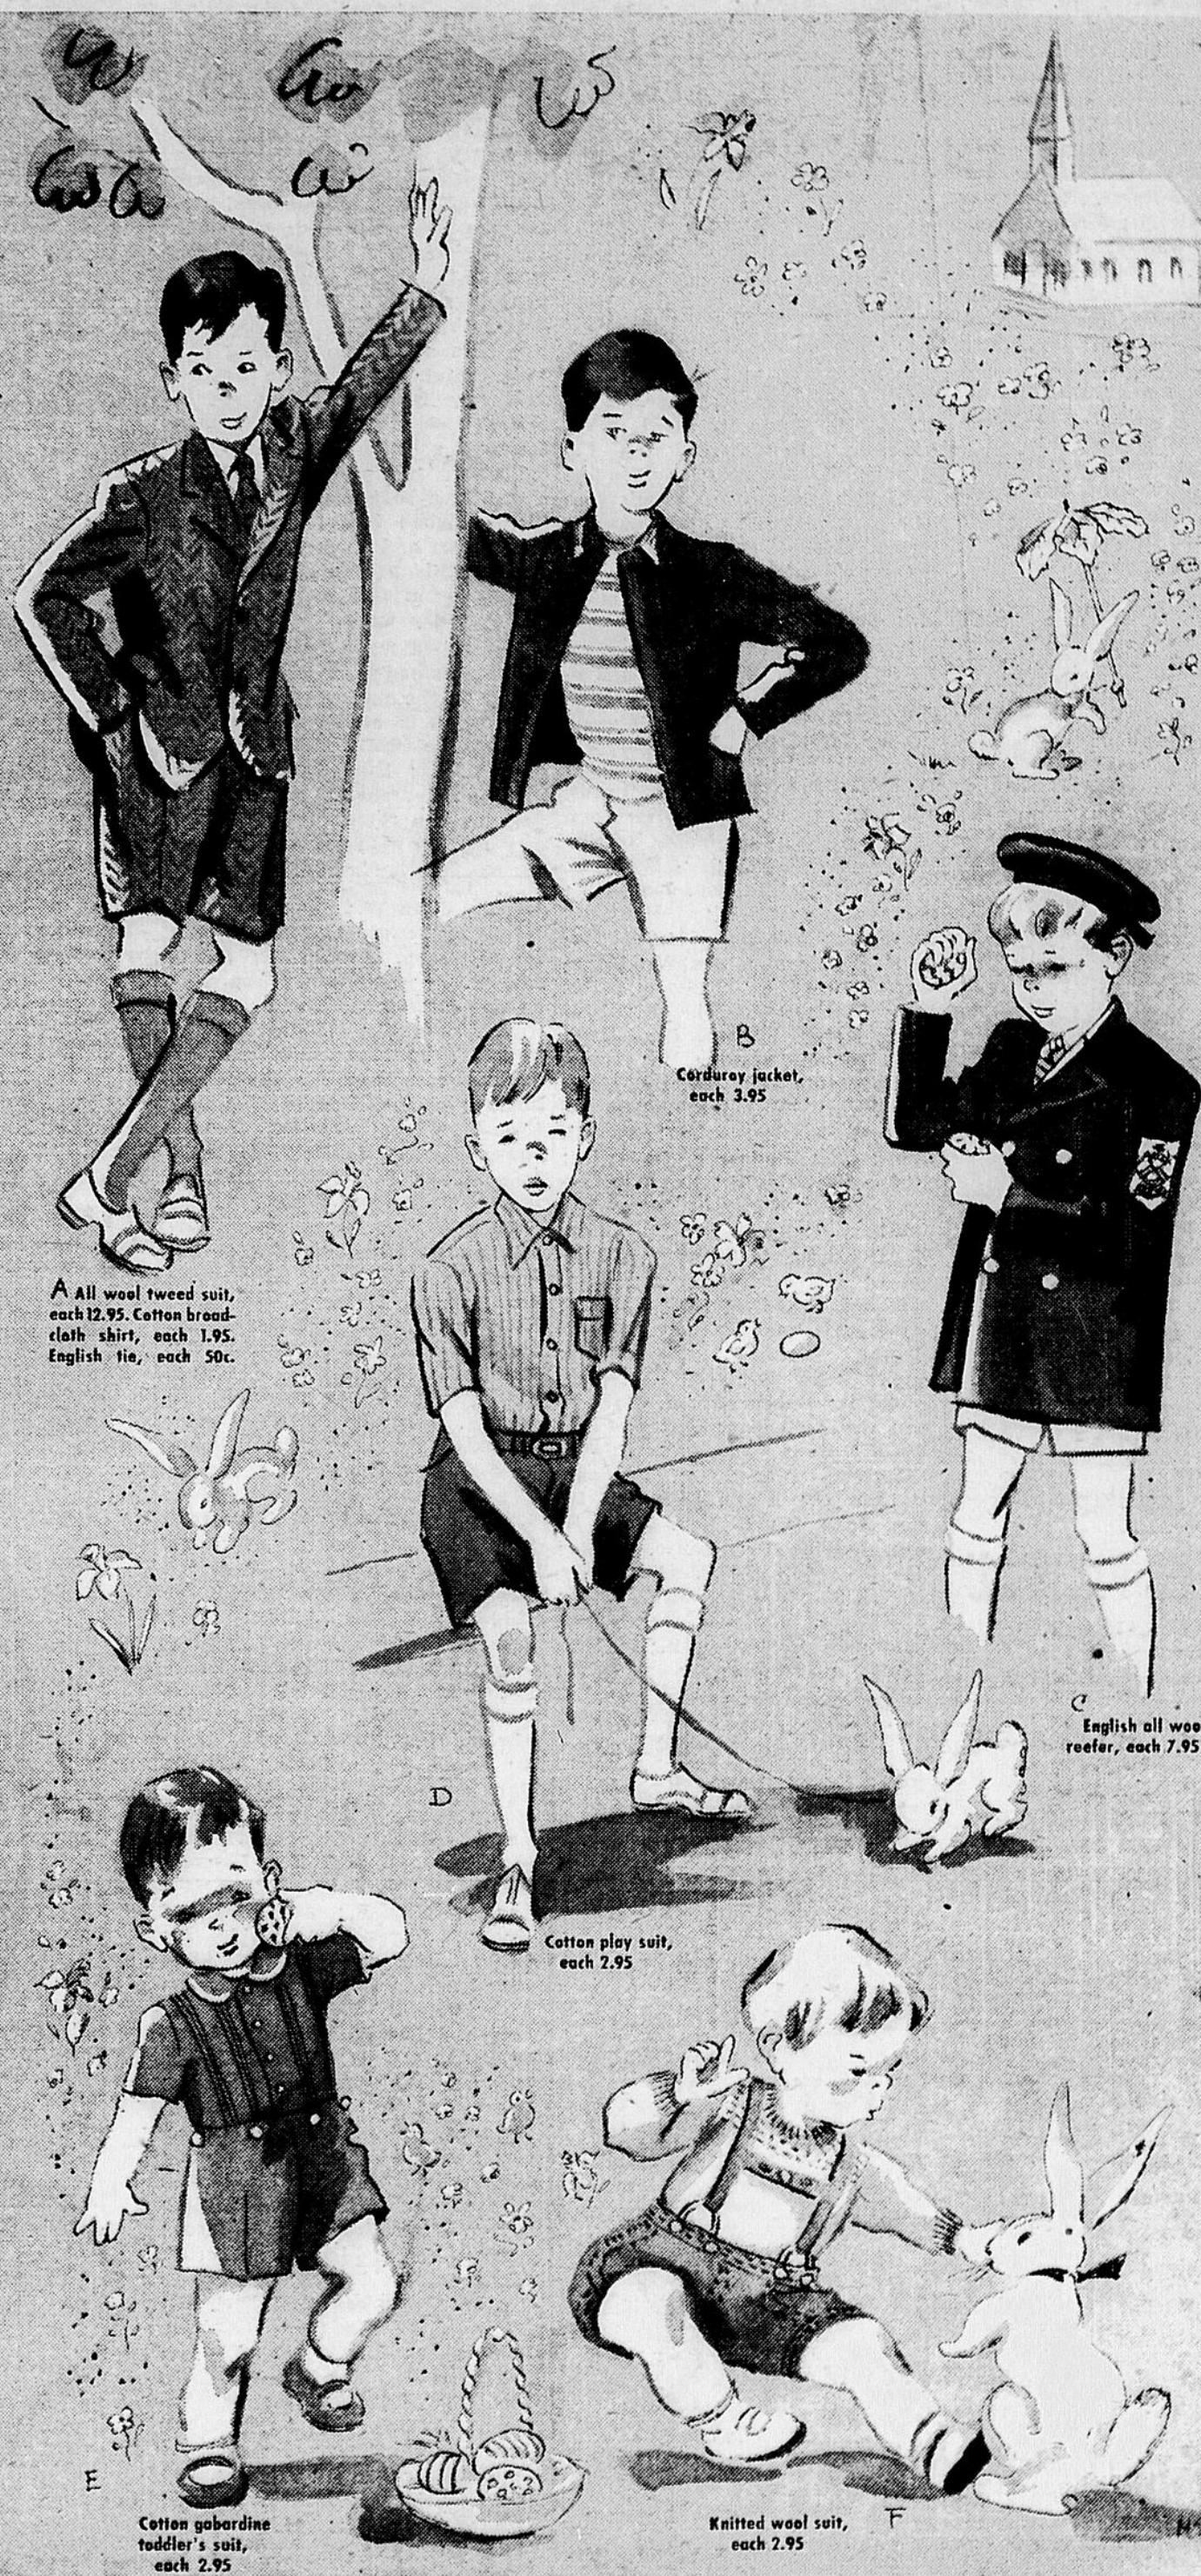

In the report from the W.V.S. Centre in Calgary, Mrs. L. C.

Porter who originated the idea said "We thought that the boys would like something really home cooked so we got busy, organized a miniature bakeshop in the basement of Knox Church and staffed it through the Women's Voluntary Services. The pies, hundreds of them, find their way to the Servicemen's Centre here in the city."

MOTHERS' CLUB INSTRUCTED IN CARE OF PAINT

The Catholic Mothers' Club of Westmount held a meeting on Tuesday afternoon in the Library of the Boy's School on Clarke Avenue, when Mr. John Davidson addressed the members on the care of paint inside and outside the house. Referring to the cleaning of paint indoors, Mr. Davidson said that there were a few really good industrial cleaners, but that the surest way to get the best results is for the home cleaner to use two separate pails and sponges or cloths, one for the cleaning agent and one for the rinsing. "The more you rinse and the more you change the water," said Mr. Davidson, "the better the results." This injunction also applies to washing any other paint work, but he warned that care must be taken not to use the cleaning fluid in too strong a solution on flat painted surfaces. "If you are washing a wall in a bedroom," he advised, "it is a good idea to start from the bottom and work towards the top, as this prevents streaks resulting from the water running down on dry walls."

For soiled marks on wallpaper he recommended a rubber compound on the market which cleans smoky parts above radiators or on outside walls. Stale bread rubbed over the wallpaper also gives good results. A stubborn spot may be removed by rubbing very lightly with very fine sandpaper. If the spot is rubbed too hard, he warned, the pattern will disappear from the wallpaper, and he advised trying the treatment on a part of the paper in a cupboard before tackling a spot in a prominent place. Mr. Davidson concluded his lecture by giving instruction in the painting of kitchen and breakfast room furniture.

Mrs. E. T. Reynolds, was chairman. Mrs. Nelson Potter thanked the speaker and Mrs. G. M. Marshall addressed the meeting on school activities.

New books bound in leather, such as the textbooks used by many readers of these columns, should not be kept in a damp place or one which is excessively dry and overheated. Don't leave them in direct sunlight — or where the pup can play with them.

No Quiet Sunday For Gail Russell

Quiet Sunday? Gail Russell is laughing... from the other side of her mouth. She's learned what can happen when you try to relax.

On a Monday morning, the star limpingly showed up on the set of Paramount's "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," looking like the model for a fidgety first aid class.

Disaster stalked Miss Russell on what was supposed to be a holiday from the pain of it all, namely movie acting. She went to the beach with Bill Edwards. During a game of catch, Bill tossed a ball that bent back Miss Russell's finger. When she went in the water, a wave threw her.

Arriving home at dusk, she fell over the dog and wrenched her ankle. The dog, in the excitement, bit her hand. While patching the damage, Gail's mother permitted the dinner to burn.

There's ROOM FOR EVERYBODY...

PRODUCTION MEN—keeping in constant touch with sources of raw materials, suppliers of parts, government and military authorities.

THE ARMED FORCES—with responsibility for training and supply, for troop movements, for operations on land, air and ocean battlefronts.

GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS—in touch with every phase of our production and military program—with foreign governments—with national and international war agencies.

YOU—depending on your telephone for quick, essential communication at work and at home.

But telephone lines can carry this wartime load only if we all use existing facilities sparingly, and keep our calls just as short and business-like as we can.

Additional equipment is severely limited by material shortages; co-operation must take the place of construction if essential calls are to go through promptly.

Precious Gift

"What right have you Christians to come over to China and disturb these people with your religion?" John W. Foster, a United States Ambassador to China, was once asked by a man who resented the work of missionaries.

"What right?" exclaimed the great Christian statesman. "The right to give to others that which is too good to keep."

Come to think of it, the Swedes and the Swiss are about the only European peoples who are not under the Swastika.

THE "QUAKER GIRL" DIRECTORS

C. W. Pettes, musical director; Miss Marjorie Coates, dancing mistress, and Jack Wellens, stage director, who are directing the production "Quaker Girl," which is being staged at the Legion Hall in aid of Mayor Wilson's Cigarette Fund.

At The Monkland

Fun and laughter abound in "Holy Matrimony," the hilarious new 20th Century-Fox picture which is now playing at the Monkland United Theatre. Starring be-whiskered Monty Woolley and amiable Gracie Fields, the picture is aimed at your funny-bone and scores a direct hit.

Together in a rose-covered cottage, the gay blade with the roguish tongue and lovable, laughable lady of laughter and song make a grand entertainment combination. Monty and Gracie pitch wit and woo throughout every foot of the film—and the result is a new interpretation of marriage. — "Holy Matrimony" becomes howling merriment!

Based on Arnold Bennett's best seller "Buried Alive," the story casts Monty as a leading British artist who adopts the name—and life—of his recently deceased butler. To his amazement, his butler has applied to a matrimonial agency for a bride—and the bride is none other than effervescent Gracie Fields.

And from then on the picture tees off with laugh after laugh. Monty finds that despite his years as a celibate, marriage is more fun than he imagined. His painting continues, and his happily married state is pure bliss—until it is endangered by the discovery of his true identity.

The climax of the comedy comes in a hilarious court-room scene which attempts to establish the true name of artist Woolley. To divulge the details would be to spoil your fun—but this scene ranks with the funniest ever brought to the screen.

The supporting cast assembled by Producer Johnson, who also wrote the excellent screen play, is top-notch. Included are Laird Cregar, Uno O'Connor, Alan Mowbray, Melville Coope and Franklin Pangborn.

John Stahl directed the picture with a sure touch for laughs. The happiest idea to hit Hollywood in a long time, it's a wild and Woolley "Fields" day of fun!

Of the Bold Huntsman
He went to the North, all illumined with cheer,
To camp in the forest all rimy and cold
And shoot a fat buck, as he does every year.

"Get ready for venison!" So we were told,
"I'll save you a roast from the rib or the chuck."
But where is that huntsman so gallant and bold?

We hear from his pals of his usual luck
As he crouched in a thicket of bracken and fern,
But we haven't envisioned one slice of the buck.

Alas, it does seem that we never shall learn
To take hunters' promises calmly, with salt,
Lest we be disappointed what time they return.

NEWS OF THE THEATRE WORLD

AT WESTMOUNT THEATRE

Vigorous, forceful and inspired, "Action in the North Atlantic" which is now playing at the Westmount United Theatre tells the timely and glorious saga of the men of the United States Merchant Marine. Thanks to the Warner Bros., they are no longer the "unsung heroes" of the war, and never have Hollywood's klieg lights shone on a group of men more deserving of recognition and praise.

These are the men who make it possible to "hit the enemy wherever he can be found" by delivering the needed oil, munitions and supplies through sun-infested seas. The story deserves and receives a strong cast headed by Humphrey Bogart, Raymond Massey, Allan Hale, Julie Bishop and Ruth Gordon.

Tanker Torpedoed

We meet the men first on a tanker, heavy with its cargo of high-octane gasoline, plodding cautiously through a thick Atlantic fog. The terrifying crash of a torpedo launches them into an inferno of flaming oil that pursues them even on the surface of the sea. The undersea's foe comes to the surface to ram and sink the survivors' lifeboat. It is the kind of wanton injury the survivors of the crew do not forget.

Thus, when they are rescued and back in New York they are ready to leave the safety and pleasures of land to go back to danger on the next ship out. This trip, on the "Sea Witch," is in a convoy bound for Murmansk, groping through the fog, storms and ice-fields of North Atlantic waters and crawling the gauntlet of lurking subs and plodding into the range of Nazi Bombers.

The adventures of the "Sea Witch" as it splits away from the convoy are a swift succession of tense episodes high-lighted by the outstanding seamanship of Captain Jarvis (Raymond Massey) and the daring rust by which his first mate Joe Rossi (Humphrey Bogart) lures an attacking U-boat to the surface and rams it to pay off an old score.

The men are presented boldly and robustly, without gilding or glamour, and emerge as a competent and authentic ship's crew. Humphrey Bogart is convincingly at home in his assignment of first mate, turning in a strong, memorable performance. Raymond Massey measures his role capably as Captain Jarvis and Allan Hale is tough and hearty as the seaman with remarkable proclivity for woman trouble. In a thoroughly competent cast, Director Lloyd Bacon has found a proper place for Julie Bishop, who is particularly good as the girl Bogart woos, weds and

"Action in the North Atlantic" was prepared for the screen by John Howard Lawson from a story by Guy Gilpatrick, noted writer of sea tales. Ruth Gordon, Dane Clark, a new recruit from the stage; Sam Levene, Peter Whitney and Minor Watson head the strong supporting cast.

Military Diner Has Been Built

The first of a new type dining car designed for inclusion in military trains has been completed at the Grand Trunk Western-Canadian National Railways shops here. It has accommodation for 56 at one sitting in comparison with the standard dining car which seats 30 or 36, while the Canadian National has a special type, seating 40 passengers. Features of the car include the pantry facilities combined with the kitchen and an oversize steam table to provide for quick and frequent service. Seats are upholstered in leather and table tops are of linoleum. Benches are used instead of individual chairs.

The color scheme ranges from grey-blue upholstery, to black table tops, black floor covering, tomato red trim, dado in taupe, and cream ceiling.

McGill Players In "What Say They"

Several Westmount students will have important parts in the McGill Players' Club production "What Say They" which is being presented in Moyses Hall this evening and tomorrow night beginning at 8.30 p.m. The play is under the direction of John Mellor.

The feminine lead, that of an Irish janitor poet's niece, is played by Avril Kellner of 318 Cote St. Antoine Road. Another Westmount actor is Tommy Ker, 478 Mountain Ave., who plays the part of the Student Society president. Janey Dixon, 3236 The Boulevard, and Kitty Rainey, 135 Clondeboye Avenue, have important parts as women students in a Scottish university. The story of the play is a pleasant and amusing satire on universities in general and it is based on the author's experiences while a student.

"What Say They" was written by James Bridie, the author of such noted stage hits as "Storm in a Teacup," "Col. Wither-spoon" and "The Sleeping Clergyman." It has been produced only once before by a select cast at its world premiere in Glasgow. The presentation by the Players' Club will be the North American "first".

At York Theatre

One of the brightest, gayest film offerings in years is RKO Radio's "A Lady Takes a Chance," with Jean Arthur and John Wayne sharing the stellar honors. The film is now playing at the York United Theatre until Tuesday night.

The sparkling plot is built on the idea of a girl with matrimonial notions and a boy who prefers the state of single blessedness, but the delightful twists and turns which producer Frank Ross and director William Seiter have given to this straightforward theme result in an hour and a half of sheer delight for any audience.

Jean is cast as Mollie Truesdale, a New York white collar girl who has been saving her money for years to take a round-trip bus tour to the Pacific Coast, and who intends to get married—as soon as she meets the right man. Wayne portrays the hard-riding rodeo star Duke Hudkins, who enjoys his carefree life and has no intention of ever getting roped into anything as hobbling as marriage.

The pair meet informally during a rodeo in a dusty little eastern Oregon town, and romance leaps into instant bloom. By turns Mollie is intrigued, delighted, shocked, angered, repentant, and finally determined—determined that she'll marry him. Duke doesn't realize what it's all about until the rope is settling over his shoulders, and then, like one of his own fractious bronchos, he plunges in wild revolt. But this is no place to reveal the clever and hilarious conclusion; see it for yourselves, and get a real entertainment treat.

Miss Arthur turns in a superb performance, and Wayne proves that Hollywood has been overlooking a great light comedy bet in the rangy Western star.

War Express Unusual Loads

Horses and Works of Art Carried by Fast Trains

There was a war background to unusual loads carried by express and arriving within a few hours at the Central Station of the Canadian National Railways.

Horses and priceless art provided contrasting consignments. The horses came from Chicago travelling over Canadian National lines in an express car attached to a fast passenger train because the twenty-eight head were needed in a hurry at Houlton, Maine, for work in a lumber camp with rush war orders on hand. The pictures, carefully crated, also came over National lines from Detroit, Michigan, being examples of Dutch art for display in Montreal to provide funds for relief purposes. Some of the works had been shown at the World's Fair at New York prior to the outbreak of war and had been held in the United States because of the fears that they would fall into enemy hands.

Soldiers who brought their families overseas with them at the start of the war, and soldiers who married after arriving overseas and want to bring their families back to Canada, must apply to immigration authorities for proper procedure.

During any one week more than 70,000 individual meals are served on dining cars operating in trains of the Canadian National Railways.

Westmount Highlights

Tonight, is one of those rare occasions when the weaker sex pay for the privilege of being seen in the company of the males. Yes, after much planning and hard work by Joy McKay and her feminine helpers, and with the blessing of good old St. Patrick, the girls' Hi-Y Sadie Hawkins dance is being held at the Junior High School starting at nine o'clock.

Late-comers are reminded that tickets are available at the door. The Modernaires, will be on hand and will be giving out with their hottest and best. Tickets are going well and it looks as though Sadie Hawkins dance number two is going to be even more successful than number one was. All proceeds will go to enrich the girls' Hi-Y coffers.

Hockey Dance

The Modernaires will be playing at the high school on the night of March 31. That's the day of the hockey dance, which Chink Harvie and Pete King have been working hard on. Tickets went on sale this week.

Sports Front

Westmount High's Senior B basketball team journeyed out to West Hill for their last game of the season last Friday. They were nosed out 20-19 due to a last quarter spurt by the West-Hillians. The locals were missing Ken Lindsay and Don MacIntosh.

Despite Friday's defeat, Westmount ends up in second place to L.C.C. Had they won Friday they would have finished second by one point. As it is, they are three points behind the first place C.C. boys.

What friend Larry O'Brien has described as "blonde and smiling John Turner Bone" won the Junior Zone Championship at Mont Tremblant last week-end. T. Bone is a Skigull.

Eighteen-year-old James Kenneth Harold Child (better known as Jim) is the man who plays third trumpet for the Modernaires. Three years ago Jim and Geoff Merrill started the Music Makers. All the Music Makers have graduated to Modernaires and pretty soon most of the Modernaires are going to join the services. Jim is among them; he's booked for the army.

ST. LEO'S SPORTS

By BILLY HAROLD

The moving spirit behind many winning teams is in a lot of cases the team captain and in this respect our school teams have been extremely fortunate in having three boys who are gifted with the qualities of leadership, and the ability to install a team with the maximum in team spirit.

Milton Orr is the captain of the Senior B Club and his athletic prowess needs no introduction as it's well known that on many occasions his hustling spirit has aroused many a St. Leo team from the brink of defeat to victory. In the class room he is one of the class leaders and wherever he goes his sportsmanship and conduct has put him in the spotlight.

On the Bantam "A" firing line, it has been the fiery Jack Martin who has been leading his gang to many impressive wins. Jack is another of those clean cut athletes who takes every sport in season and manages to show up well in them all.

On the Bantam "B" front, it is Robert Orr who pilots his crew and has done a splendid job of doing the worrying for his team and as a matter of fact he would do the worrying for all the three teams if he was asked to.

Odds and Ends

Our Bantam "A" gang scored a smart win over a team from Mt. St. Louis College composed of Juniors, Seniors and other members of the Mt. St. Louis teams.

Reports from Notre Dame University at South Bend show Terry Rogers still at his old habit of taking top honors in the class, and our Director Brother George is proud of the fact that it takes boys of Terry's type to disprove the myth that school work and sports don't mix as Terry while at St. Leo's was one of the most active athletes here.

Through the courtesy of Lloyd McGowan, some official American League Baseball moving pictures featuring the highlights of the 1943 World Series were shown before an enthusiastic group of the high school boys last Friday.

With a lot of the boys still in there punching at hockey, the

Westmount Municipal Hockey To Wind Up Season Monday

The Westmount Municipal Hockey league will wind up its season on Monday evening, March 27th, at Victoria Hall, when the presentation of trophies and crests won during the year will be made.

While no refreshments will be served, a full evening of entertainment is assured and all the boys who played in the league this season are asked to attend. The evening's entertainment will get underway at seven-thirty p.m.

The Golden Eagles will be presented with two trophies, the "Johnny Hill Trophy," emblematic of the juvenile championship and the "Russ McConnell Memorial Trophy," emblematic of the midget title.

Audy McGillis, St. Leo's Bantams will be the recipients of the "Walter A. Merrill Trophy" as champions of that section.

The pee wees will also come in for their share of the spoils as the Staynor Beavers will receive the "Jack Rimmer Shield," emblematic of the pee wee championship in the league and they will also receive the "Jack Rimmer Trophy," denoting the championship of the Staynor pee wee section. The Panthers, champions of the Prince Albert pee wee section, will receive a trophy from the Westmount Rotary Club, put up for the championship of that section for the first time this year.

The 2nd Westmount troop will be given the "B. W. Roberts Trophy," marking the third straight year this troop has won the Inter-troop section championship.

In addition to the trophies, the players on all the championship teams, except the Inter-troop winners, will receive individual crests.

MRS. M. GALLAMAN

Funeral services were held for Mrs. M. Gallaman, on Wednesday at 2.30 p.m. at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bronfman, of 3617 Westmount Boulevard.

Mrs. Gallaman, who was in her 88th year, was born in Russia, coming to Canada many years ago.

During her active life she was prominent in the Jewish community in which she always displayed much interest and was helpful in charitable and other organizations.

Besides her daughter, Mrs. Harry Bronfman, she is survived by one son, David Gallaman, of Cincinnati; five grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Rev. Dr. A. Abramovitz conducted the service and interment was made in the Shaar Zion Cemetery.

H. G. Holly To Give Talk On Gardening

Arrangements have been completed for the March meeting of the West End Horticultural Society, which will be held on Wednesday, at 8.00 p.m.

The first part of the meeting will be taken by H. G. Holly, gardener to Mrs. N. A. Timmins, and will consist of a talk on "Practical Gardening." Mr. Holly is a well known authority in all branches of gardening and much useful information may be gained by attending this lecture. A "question period" will afford those with garden problems the opportunity to obtain the information necessary for their solution. Victory gardeners especially will derive much benefit from a talk such as this; they will learn which varieties of the various vegetables are most suited to their needs, also 'when' and 'how' to plant them. Mr. Holly will bring a quantity of earth and seeds to demonstrate proper planting.

The second part of the evening will consist of a series of coloured films entitled "Beauty spots of Canada," which will be shown by Dr. Frederick J. Tees.
