Absentee ballots lost

VANCOUVER (CP) — An undetermined number of absentee ballots cast in the British Columbia provincial election Dec. 11 were lost in the Greyhound bus station here until a week after the final vote count, a spokesman for the chief electoral officer said Thursday.

Recounts under way in two ridings could be affected by the ballots, but it was not certain whether they would be included in the recounts.

Bob Patterson, assistant to the electoral officer, said the ballot envelopes were sent by bus on Dec. 16 from the ridings of Alberni, Yale-Lillooet and Nelson-Creston.

When the electoral office in Vancouver sent someone to pick up the 10 parcels, Mr. Patterson said, only eight could be found. The envelopes were not found until Dec. 30, a week after the final count.

Pilots protest

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP) — Ken Maley, president of the Canadian Airline Pilots' Association (CAPA), said Thursday pilots will go on strike if the use of French in air traffic control is extended beyond five Quebec airports.

Mr. Maley said at a meeting of the Committee on Bilingual Backlash, a local group, that the association's 2,900 members will walk out even if faced with another court injunction.

Last October, the pilots threatened to withdraw services for 24 hours if the federal ministry of transport did not reconsider its proposal to permit the use of French at five Quebec airports, including busy Quebec City airport. The walkout was halted by a court injunction initiated by Air Canada.

Contract talks lengthy

MONTREAL (CP) — Contract talks between Quebec teachers and the provincial government take a long time because all teachers in the province must approve each contract clause, says Stanley Hart, who has mediated in the current Toronto teachers' dispute.

"Quebec's bargaining technique is designed to wear the other partner down with endless meetings," he said. "Quebec has always taken more than a year to settle its teacher contracts. Six months is the longest time it's taken in Ontario."

Mr. Hart, a Montreal labor lawyer, acted as mediator between 8,600 Toronto High School teachers and the Metropolitan Toronto School Board.

Cattle, sheep growth stimulant banned in US

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FDA banned DES in livestock three years ago. But a federal court upset the order on Jan. 24, 1974, when it ruled manufacturers of the drug had not been given time to respond to the ban.

Officials said the agriculture department has been detecting small traces of DES by using new highly sensitive methods in monitoring animal slaughter, which will replace older, outdated tests.

Since DES was reinstated two years ago, illegal residues have been found in 36 of 4,371 animals tested, a rate of about eight tenths of one per cent, the agency said.

"Only one of the 36 residues was at a level high enough—greater than 10 parts per billion—to be found by the 'official' detection methods," the FDA said.

Since the mid-1950s, farmers and feed-lot operators have used DES to make cattle and sheep gain weight more rapidly.

Calf's sex verified before birth

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian scientists have developed a way of determining the sex of a calf before it is born by removing the embryo from the womb of a cow, federal agriculture researchers told a news conference Thursday.

The ability to transfer embryos was developed last year and the process now is used commercially but development of a technique to store the embryo long enough for examination to determine sex allows, for example, dairy farmers to breed only cows.

On display were a cow and a two-week old Holstein heifer, christened as Eugenia Carol by Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan.

She was born Christmas Day, nine months after an embryo was transferred from her natural mother's womb to a science laboratory and then to another cow.

"It was a normal birth with one big exception. We knew her sex nine months beforehand," Mr. Whelan said.

PEKING (CP) — China today mourned the death of Premier Chou En-lai with dignity and restraint.

Black-bordered newspapers and flags at half-staff were the only signs that Chairman Mao Tse tung's right-hand man and China's leading administrator had, in the words of the Chinese saying, "met the appointment with God."

The New China news agency reported that the 78-year-old Chou died of cancer in Peking at 9:57 a.m. Thursday after a long illness.

A scholar, aristocrat and dedicated Marxist, Chou had a place in history as one of the 20th century's great revolutionaries, but in keeping with its austere tradition, the People's Republic of China reacted in low-key fashion to his death.

The official obituary notice published in all newspapers and broadcast by Peking radio almost 24 hours after he died, referred to Chou as "an outstanding, long-tested leader of the party and the state."

"His death is a gigantic loss to our party, our army and people of our country," it said.

But the authorities appeared determined it should not lead to any disruption. Normal radio programs and news services were maintained.

LIFE NORMAL

In Peking, flags were lowered to half staff at official buildings but life in the capital was otherwise unchanged.

Since illness forced his withdrawal from public in May, 1974, Chou had gradually handed over his duties to Teng Hsiao-ping, the most senior of China's 12 vice-premiers and the man most likely to succeed as premier.

But Chou's more powerful second spot in the Communist party hierarchy may go to 39-year-old Wang Hung-wen, a vice-chairman of the party and the boy wonder of Chinese politics.

The Chinese embassy in Tokyo said the funeral will be held in Peking Jan. 15. The Chinese news agency announced a 107-member funeral committee headed by Mao, the 82-year-old chairman of the Chinese Communist party and for 40 years Chou's mentor.

Japanese correspondents in Peking reported that Communist party leaders met Thursday night at the Great Hall of the People. There was speculation that the central committee of the party was deciding on Chou's successor.

Observers believed the choice was sure to be Teng, a protégé of Chou who was purged in 1967 during the Cultural Revolution, returned to power in 1973 and has been running the government since the premier became ill.

However, the funeral committee list, which presumably listed the Special Olympics tax planned?

QUEBEC (CP) — Two provincial ministers Thursday refused to comment on reports that Quebec is thinking of imposing a special tax to finance the Montreal Olympics if the federal government withholds financial support.

Finance Minister Raymond Garneau failed to return calls to his office and a spokesman for Revenue

Minister Robert Quenneville said: "This is not our concern for the moment." Mr. Garneau's office, however, issued a statement which said, in part: "...it would be a violation of my oath of office and of parliamentary tradition for me to comment on any planned tax measures."

On Thursday, the newspaper Le Soleil reported that officials of the finance department have been ordered to prepare a plan for a special income surtax to assure financing for the Summer Games in Montreal in July.

The tax would apparently be deducted from pay cheques in the same way as health-insurance or Quebec Pension Plan payments.

The tax could be as high as 0.5 per cent of an employee's weekly salary, while employers could be required to contribute 1.2 per cent of employee salaries, the paper said.

The tax could be reduced or eliminated if Ottawa consented to increase its financial contribution for the Games, the report said.

Ouellet hearing adjourned

MONTREAL (CP) — After a series of legal challenges by counsel for Consumer Affairs Minister Andre Ouellet, a hearing Thursday into a contempt-of-court citation against the minister was adjourned to Jan. 16.

Mr. Ouellet sat quietly and made no statements during the proceedings before Mr. Justice James K. Huggessen.

The minister had been ordered to appear at the Quebec Superior Court hearing to answer for remarks allegedly made by him about a Dec. 19 verdict by Mr. Justice Kenneth Mackay who acquitted three sugar refiners on charges of price-fixing.

Mr. Ouellet's remarks were described as "false, abusive, intemperate and reprehensible" in Mr. Justice Mackay's citation ordering the hearing.

A reporter and an editor from The Canadian Press, the national news-gathering co-operative, as well as a representative of the CBC, testified Thursday.

They explained the procedure by which coverage of the Dec. 19 verdict and Mr. Ouellet's subsequent reaction was disseminated.

Mr. Justice Mackay announced at the opening of the hearing he was deferring his jurisdiction in the case to Mr. Justice Huggessen, associate chief justice of the court.

With the agreement of the lawyers present, Mr. Ouellet was allowed to sit next to his lawyer rather than in the prisoner's dock in deference to what Mr. Justice Huggessen described as the minister's special role in the public eye.

Mr. Ouellet's lawyer, Gabriel Lapointe, presented a series of motions challenging the jurisdiction of the court to hear the case.

He said the case should be heard in Ontario since the remarks were said to have been made by the minister in that province, and failing that, the case properly fell under the jurisdiction of the Quebec Court of Appeal.

Mr. Justice Huggessen rejected these motions and another that said he should disqualify himself for having represented one of the three acquitted companies in a 1969 appearance before the federal government's restrictive trade practices commission.

The judge also ruled that presentation of the case by summary procedure—a special hearing which bypasses the need for a preliminary hearing—did not exceed the limits of the procedure, normally used only in exceptional cases.

He said that if the statements credited to Mr. Ouellet had been made, and if they had been made in the terms alleged, they were "susceptible of creating a serious impediment to the administration of justice by one of the judges of this court."

Says company ignored warnings on asbestos

MONTREAL (CP) — An asbestos treatment plant in a nearby community ignored Quebec government warnings more than two years ago about high concentrations of asbestos dust in the plant's air, a union official said Thursday.

Robert Dean, Quebec director of the United Auto Workers, made the statement before a four-man Quebec government inquiry into health conditions in asbestos industry.

The union represents 165 brakelining workers at Asbeston Corp. of nearby St. Lambert, south of here.

The company was told by government investigators in 1973 that dust levels in the plant were as high as 20.7 and 24.3 asbestos fibres per cubic centimetre of air in two separate shop areas, Mr. Dean said.

The Quebec government is studying legislation that would come into effect in 1978 restricting asbestos concentrations to five fibres per cubic centimetre over an eight-hour shift, but no limit now exists.

Asbestos dust fibres inhaled during long periods of time produce lung-scarring known as asbestosis which can lead to other diseases and even cause death.

A brief presented by Mr. Dean to the inquiry suggested the creation of a specialized inspection bureau to be charged exclusively with implementation of the proposed limit of five fibres.

He said the limit should be reduced to two fibres soon and to 0.5 eventually, a level which is being recommended in Great Britain and the United States.

Recipients of embryos recipient cows and if pregnancy follows, the producer knows whether he's getting male or female cattle.

"If the commercial companies are able to incorporate this technique into their operations, it would indirectly, at least, benefit cattle producers," said Douglas Mitchell, co-ordinator of the research team.

A dairy farmer would be interested in planting mostly female embryos into recipient cows, for example.

Mr. Mitchell said the technique may make a difference to research into the import and export of calf embryos.

"Using embryos, we could send a dozen or more in a test tube in a vest pocket," he said.

Mr. Mitchell said the major problem is to ensure that the embryo does not carry a virus.

Mr. Whelan, Mr. Mitchell and others at the news conference conjured up a picture of a one-cow factory producing whatever sex of cattle farmers need and tossing out the rest.

Awarded $5,400 due to wrestler's kick

SHERBROOKE (GA) — A North Hatley man was recently awarded $5,400 in damages after being kicked in the face by a wrestler at the Sports Palace here October 7, 1972.

The injury was inflicted on Arnold McNab, a spectator, by one of the wrestlers, Maurice "Mad Dog" Vachon, who was teamed with Waldeck "Killer" Kowalski against Jos and Paul Leduc. According to the report, Mr. McNab was incapacitated for three months as a result of the blow.

Just prior to the incident Jos Leduc had knocked "Killer" Kowalski to the mat. When Mr. McNab and several other spectators approached the ring to get a closer look, "Mad Dog" Vachon delivered a kick to the face of Mr. McNab.

The decision was handed down in Sherbrooke Superior Court by Judge Gaston Desmarais. Mr. McNab was represented by Attorney Louis-Denis Bouchard.

Union ratifies Bilrite contract

SHERBROOKE (GA) — Some 450 American Bilrite (Canada) Ltd. blue collar workers have a new two year contract that was ratified by the CSD union last night, giving them at least a 58 cent per hour increase retroactive September 14, 1974.

Under the terms of the new contract the non-incentive workers will earn an increase of 58 cents per hour and the incentive workers, 68 cents per hour. Workers in the Vinyl Asbestos division on non-incentive work will also earn a 10 cent hourly bonus bringing their increases up to 68 cents.

Other benefits in the new contract include an extra holiday and increased insurance benefits. The original wage increase demand prior to the settlement was $1.25 per hour.

Robert Calder, General Manager of the Company, revealed that this was the highest settlement made in the history of the company. Mr. Calder said that he is very happy with the result of the negotiations and praises the CSD for the way they handled the negotiations. "We are lucky that we have a very good union," he said.

UPSET OVER SIGN WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Windsor city council is upset because a sign reading "Welcome to Ontario" has been erected on the highway leaving the city and suggests that Windsor is not part of the province, Mayor Bert Weeks said Tuesday. He said the placing of the sign exemplifies Premier William Davis's attitude to Windsor. City council decided to ask the province to relocate the sign.

MINISTER FIRED BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Burma's trade minister U Sannin has been forced to resign apparently over Christmas Eve dances at three Rangoon hotels, say official Rangoon news reports. One of those hotel dances was broken up by Burmese Prime Minister Ne Win, who smashed a rock band's instruments and amplifiers and then slapped a few guests before he stormed out.

Fewer now smoke

OTTAWA (CP) — The percentage of smokers has declined steadily during the last 10 years, statistics released Wednesday by the federal health department show. The department estimates that 55.3 per cent of the population 15 years of age and over does not smoke. The most significant increase in non-smokers, 12 per cent between 1965 and 1974, occurred in males 20 years of age and older.

Construction up

REGINA (CP) — The value of construction in Saskatchewan increased 79 per cent in 1975 compared with 1974, Joe Thompson, president of the Construction Association of Regina, said Tuesday. He attributed the successful year to the province's buoyant economy. In Regina building permits were issued for a record-breaking $152 million and in Saskatoon for $128.6 million.

Judge rules in favor of halfway house

GRANBY (JM) — Justice Carrier Fortin ruled in favor of a "Joins-Toi" Half way house in a written judgment handed down Wednesday. His decision overturned a municipal resolution adopted Sept. 24, 1974 which refused a permit for a halfway house in a "fashionable" part of the city.

The case was heard in mid-September, 1975.

The urban committee issued a permit for the house located at 135 Leclerc Blvd. which was requested by the forming committee Aug. 29, 1974 which was subsequently annulled by the Sept. resolution.

Judge Fortin in the 25 page document said, "The court must only decide on the obligations for both parties in this suit which is the result of zoning laws as they are applied here. No one should look for any expression of either opinions or criticism in this judgement concerning policies or thoughts put forward by authorities concerning conditional release and rehabilitation of inmates."

Following a definition of the area encompassing the former convent, Judge Fortin opined a co-operative house could be utilized there for such purposes as hospitals, educational establishments, boarding houses, etc.

"Furthermore, in the defined area there are other institutions which might create a disfavorable sociological climate with prisons, reform schools, zoos, and cemeteries." This decision effectively cancelled the plaintiff's demand the half-way house would cause an unhealthy sociological climate in that area of granby.

Granby Mayor Paul O. Trepanier had fought for the establishment of the halfway house despite strong objections from members of city council.

Yvon Robichaud who represented the city indicated he was considering an appeal on Judge Fortin's decision, however, added he wished to study the judgement in full before reaching a firm decision.

SHERBROOKE — The Women's Canadian Club of the Eastern Townships will meet at a buffet, to be held in the Holiday Inn, on Friday, January 16, at 6:30 p.m.

Albert G. Watson will be guest speaker for the evening. Mr. Watson was educated at Albert College, Victoria College, the Emmanuel Theological Seminary as well as the University of Chicago. He is a member of numerous welfare and other associations. As a Canadian he has that rare ability to be involved, yet objective about compelling issues which confront mankind today. He talks to people candidly and with ease capturing the attention and enthusiasm of audiences.

Penal reform, mental illness, environment and social conflict are some of the provocative areas Mr. Watson can speak about as an authority based on experience. He has chosen as his topic for his dinner meeting, "The Future of Democracy".

School committee holds meeting at Ayer's Cliff

AYER'S CLIFF — The Ayer's Cliff Elementary School Committee met at the school in December with nine members and one parent present.

Chairman E. Wintle welcomed all present and then introduced the speaker for the evening, Mrs. Betsy Atkin, who is the French teacher for the school in Ayer's Cliff. Mrs. Atkin spoke about the work she does in the school and then invited parents to the classroom where she showed them what the children have been doing in class. She also gave a demonstration by showing a film that she uses and some of the text books. All found it very interesting and informative.

Mr. Walls informed the committee that the LIP grant was in full progress and doing well. He wished that special mention be made concerning the proposed meeting of the Protestant Committee of the Superior Council of Education which will take place in this area during January. Watch your local newspapers for this announcement. This is a public meeting.

In Mr. Dyer's report mention was made that starting in January two students from Bishop's University will be in the school during mornings only. He also informed the committee that the children of grades three, four, five, six and Mrs. McVetty's class went on a trip to the Sherbrooke Seminary Museum where the children had an enjoyable time and saw many unusual objects. Plans were also made for the entire school to go carolling to some of the senior citizens who are shut-ins and give them some small token. To pay for the gifts the children were asked to earn the donation themselves.

Cafeteria Chairman Mrs. F. Whipple notified the committee that the Christmas Dinner would be held in the cafeteria. This is usually attended by all of the children as well as the teachers.

The Chairman of Fund Raising, Mrs. Sorensen, reported that the recent dance held at the school to raise funds was successful. The committee decided that any future dances held would be chaperoned by no less than three couples.

The next meeting of the school committee will be held on Mon. Jan. 12.

CRDC sponsors symposium on border area development

ROCK ISLAND (GA) — The Conseil Regional de Developement des Cantons de L'Est (Eastern Townships Council for Regional Development) will conduct a symposium for the Border Towns of Ogden, Stanstead, Stanstead East, Rock Island and Beebe, at the Del Monte Hotel in Rock Island, Tuesday, January 13 at 4 p.m.

This symposium sponsored by the CRDC will be one of 13 such meetings in the Eastern Townships to inform the general public of plans for forthcoming social and economic developments in each respective area.

Presently similar symposiums are being planned for the Lake Megantic, La Patrie-Scotstown, Weedon-Disraeli, Wotton-Ham, East, Angus-Cookshire and Coaticook regions.

The symposium programs are designed to be of special interest to municipal government leaders, industrialists, socio-economic leaders as well as unions and other trade organizations. They will be broken down into three parts: An information meeting when representatives from the CRDC will outline various development possibilities. After supper the meeting will re-group into three workshops: Municipal, tourism and recreation and industry, forestry and agriculture. During the respective workshops a number of development proposals and possibilities will be explored for each of the five towns in the area.

The third segment of the symposium will be to correlate all information and proposals and to explore ways and means of applying and implementing the programs.

The sessions will be conducted mainly in French unless the majority present requests otherwise.

Cemetery association carries out improvements

CANTERBURY — A meeting of Lewis Cemeteries Association was held Saturday, January 3rd, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. MacLeod. Present were Mr. and Mrs. John Matheson, Mr. and Mrs. Angus Nickles, Mr. and Mrs. Willie MacLeod, Ross MacDonalld, Roderick MacLeod and Duncan MacLeod.

It was decided that the executive would look into resolving the question of a right-of-way across the Patry farm to the Tolsta cemetery, also that the right-of-way to the McIver cemetery be looked into.

It was reported that a new fence with steel posts was erected at the Whitton cemetery along the road side and the east side, and that the monuments in the small cemetery across the highway had been set up on a concrete base and the grounds partially levelled. Levelling of the land will be completed this coming summer. The executive will look into the possibility of having a sign erected at the Whitton cemetery.

The wrought iron fence at the Stornoway Winslow cemetery has been painted by Mr. and Mrs. Ross MacDonalld who are heartily thanked for accomplishing this tedious back-breaking job. It is hoped that a chain link fence will soon be erected on both sides of this cemetery.

The sum of $3,000 was voted towards the funds of several cemeteries in the area in which Lewis Cemeteries Association is interested.

The meeting adjourned followed by a delicious lunch served by Mrs. MacLeod assisted by Mrs. Angus Nickles.

Trend to Socialism

Government has become big business at both federal and provincial levels, generally to the detriment of the free enterprise system. Prime Minister Trudeau's New Year's Day speech stating Canada can no longer survive under the free enterprise system which has proved valid for the past two centuries is tacit endorsement of socialism by Ottawa.

It is not surprising the prime minister approves such a move as a study of his political past has always placed him left of center and there is little reason to believe he is about to change his prior convictions.

Canada has had a moderate socialist-democratic form of government since the days of Mackenzie King when baby bonuses came into being and ultimately led Newfoundland into the country.

Medicare in its various forms is a continuation of moderate socialism, albeit a boon to the lower income groups who can now enjoy treatment which was beyond their means a decade ago.

The prospect of a guaranteed annual income is further evidence of the socialistic trend foreseen by Ottawa.

Inception and execution of those and other programs has fostered an increase in the number of civil servants, many of whom are virtually non-productive from a functional standpoint. Persons who have had to correspond with either Ottawa or Quebec are well aware of the time-honored practise of 'passing the buck' by bureaucrats, with the Unemployment Insurance Commission heading the list of inefficiency.

Mr. Trudeau is apparently unable to equate productivity to profit, the basis of the free enterprise system.

Industry today is saddled with form-after-governmental-form which must be submitted on due dates with late filers the subjects of fiscal penalties. Larger enterprises can afford to hire the staff required to complete such paperwork. However, those same reports are sounding the death knell for small enterprises.

How can the prime minister expect the free enterprise system to flourish when governments are effectively strangling the hands that feed them?

Neither Quebec nor Ottawa have had the moral courage to enact tough labor legislation which would place equal responsibility on both parties to ensure a constant spiral of progress within bounds of sanity. The ever increasing cost of living is playing havoc with our economy as we price ourselves out of world markets.

International trade with a proper balance is essential for our national survival. Little is being done to further nurture such a path by either Quebec or Ottawa.

Hopefully leaders in industry and commerce will have sufficient time to prove free enterprise is a viable and workable system, one which will continue to provide all of us with the right to work where we please, allowing us to contribute to the growth of our great and proud country.

Tribute paid to 100-year-old Jackrabbit

Jackrabbit - His First Hundred Years: Compiled and Introduced by Brian Powell with Contributions from some 50 Friends; Collier Macmillan; 205 pages; $10.
 Herman "Jackrabbit" Smith-Johannsen is a zesty old man of 100 years whose individuality and lifestyle is celebrated by 50 of his friends in a 1975 tribute to mark his 100th birthday.

The book opens with a 15-page interview with Jackrabbit, followed by about 50 one-to-three page tributes paid him by various friends and acquaintances he has met during his century-long life.

What keeps the reader involved in the book is amazement over the feats of this man who still cross-country skis today, and who in his 80s could out do many a far younger person in stamina and energy.

The book is also of interest because of Jackrabbit's involvement in the introduction and development of cross country skiing in Canada, a sport currently experiencing a great upsurge of popularity.

How Jackrabbit came to North America from Scandinavia finally settling in the Laurentians, how he received his nickname and how he laid out the 80 mile Maple Leaf trail from Labelle to Shawbridge is all detailed. Although it is not mentioned in the book, he also set up cross country trails in the Eastern Townships about 50 years ago on the west side of Lake Massawippi.

One contributor, Scott Griffin, a Montreal businessman, captures the allure of the sport and its importance to Jackrabbit: "There is a certain beauty, a certain grace, in the slide of well-handled skis over fresh-fallen snow. This has always been his inspiration, which he still takes pleasure today in passing on to anyone eager to learn."

Jackrabbit's life is an example of the value of exercise, of working hard to be happy and of doing all things with enthusiasm and in moderation. He urges people to "Preserve your country, preserve the native way of life and preserve yourselves."

And of Canada he says: "People who live in Canada today don't realize the wonderful country they have. You have to go back north into the wilderness to really discover it and make use of that way of living particularly in January, February and March, the best time of the year. You can build a fire way back in the bush somewhere and sleep in your sleeping bag in the snow. You don't even need a tent when it's cold enough. When it gets warmer then you need a tent or you get wet. But this time of the year, most of the time the air is dry up north and you're cozy with a big fire. You take a snow bath, and you feel like a million dollars. That's the life."

The book, though worthwhile reading because of its good subject matter, is weak in two aspects. Since it is meant as a tribute to Jackrabbit, the reader is presented with only one side of him - his greatness and his strength. It leaves one wondering what his weaknesses are. The living of a full life that is based on a positive philosophy regardless of a rather cynical age is an inspiration that should be explored in all its variety, nuance and detail. Perhaps a future biography will make up for this lack.

A further weakness is the book's repetitive nature, in that several of the contributing writers tell the same story of their knowledge of Jackrabbit. The resulting over lapping and repetition slows reader interest.

The book is attractively laid out with large, varying type and numerous photographs.

How a fishing hamlet outwits wheeler-dealers

There's this spectacular Cape Breton coastal strip where an Upper Canadian mining corporation is drilling and launching a controversy involving underprivileged natives looking for an economic stir and conservationists seeking a policy of preservation or a national park. The MP for the riding, who happens to be a cabinet minister, delicately puts himself on the side of the just society.

And then a few miles away in the beautiful Margaree Valley there's a writing man looking for inspiration for his first book. So, by introducing some wild exaggerations, much trifling with the facts, some slapstick and some Keystone cops, author Ian MacNeill produces a good-humored spoof in The Battle for Saltbucket Beach telling how a fishing hamlet shrewdly outwits the wheeler-dealers from Bay Street and some perfidious politicians.

There's nothing serious in author MacNeill's funny yarn. While the park is the happy price for the return of a kidnapped prime minister - a thinly disguised though unflattering likeness of Pierre Elliott Trudeau - one old villager stubbornly withholds her jubilation because she wouldn't trust the PM with a Sunday school collection, though she's a hidebound Grit. And subsequently the PM is overheard to indicate that he'll leave it to the bureaucracy to stall, feasibility studies to delay and a royal commission to obstruct. And after several years perhaps the frustrated natives will be able to accept the big Toronto real estate development which he thought more politically productive in the first place.

And don't even be fooled by the author's name because Mr. MacNeill isn't one of the Cape Breton clan though there's no doubt where his sympathies lie. He's a Torontonian and a screen writer for National Film Board. With his family he now divides his time between Montreal and a home at beautiful Margaree Harbor.

It all starts when Edward Gossens, an agent of the big interests in Toronto, tries for options for the scenic littoral of Saltbucket Beach under the guise of finding a summer place.

The fun gets a little heavy and contrived when the environmental rejuvenators wage their battle to win the beach which they intend to name Domaine Nirvana.

The developers try bribery and other corruption. The natives defend their land with a stacked referendum. The PM falls under the influence of big business and he asks that his planned Cape Breton speech point out the dynamic nature of "environmental rejuvenation" as opposed to the outmoded passive concept of more conservation.

BOLTON PASS - Local marksmen have knocked off two more bobcats during the past few days, the latest kills being registered by Mayor Carl McClay, of Knowlton, and Harry Wing, his farm manager.

The two cats were first noticed on Mr. McClay's property by John Levoyn, who, with his horse, was returning from his work in the woods. He frightened the animals away with a shovel and gave the alarm. One weighed 15 pounds and the other 21 pounds.

Many of the bobcats, which prove a menace to small game as well as deer, have been seen in the district during the past few weeks.

About Books

The Woman's Side of Watergate

Capsule reviews prepared by the American Library Assn.

By E. J. Stearns

After the dozens and dozens of books on Watergate, mostly by and about men, now the women are having their say.

And what they have to say ranges from the shallow to the subtle, and from gossip to some thoughtful prose about government in crisis.

Two of the books should satisfy any lingering curiosity about the wives of the men we saw so long on television. For example, if you've been wondering what lies behind the beautiful, almost mask-like face that Mrs. John Dean displayed during her husband's testimony before the Senate Watergate hearings, a book called "Mo" will give you the answer. Not much.

Written with reporter Hays Gorey, it's an incredibly vivid tale about a self-styled shy, naive little girl from a modest California home.

Legalities didn't interest her during the Watergate period, and the ethics of hopping from coast to coast at the taxpayers' expense didn't strike her as questionable at the time. Morality in retrospect always tends to sound a bit hollow, and "Mo" is full of the empty ring of phrases such as "It never occurred to me" and "little did I realize."

About John Dean's reaction to the Watergate cover-up, we learn very little, unless you consider the recurrent description of his mood as "upright", "anguished", "worried" and "tense" as particularly revealing.

We do get some good inside

"MO": A WOMAN'S VIEW OF WATERGATE, by Maureen Dean with Hays Gorey (Simon & Schuster, 286 pages, $8.95)
 THE WOMEN OF WATERGATE, by Madeleine Edmondson and Alden Duer Cohen (Stein & Day, 228 pages, $8.95)
 WASHINGTON JOURNAL: THE EVENTS OF 1973-1974, by Elizabeth Drew (Random House, 428 pages, $12.95)

Ms. John Dean's wife, picked her wardrobe for the Watergate hearings carefully (from "Mo: A Woman's View of Watergate").

views of Air Force One, a presidential party, the inaugural events) and a sharp sense of the hotly competitive White House atmosphere that turned Nixon's aides into a band of hungry cubs vying for "perks" or special favors.
 But mostly Mo gives us a record of how many vacations they had interrupted in 1972 and 1973, how many phone calls John received (lots), how she picked her wardrobe for the Watergate hearings together for the familiar arm-in-arm portraits. "Once out of public view, however, they separated - neither touching nor speaking, wrapped in their own concerns, each walked on alone."

"Watergate Diary" by Elizabeth Drew is a beautifully orchestrated account of the final days of the Nixon administration, from the House Judiciary hearings in the fall of 1973 to Mr. Nixon's final take-off for San Clemente in the summer of 1974.

Originally commissioned by New Yorker magazine editor William Shawn, "Diary" allows us to walk side by side with one of Washington's top journalists as she visits courtrooms and hearings, talks with senators and congressmen, and ponders the developing events.

What takes "Watergate Diary" out of the ordinary is not only the quality of the prose but the juxtaposition of events. We read about the world the way it seemed to Mrs. Drew each day, the ups and downs of the stock market, the Washington weather, and how the reporters are reacting to events on the Hill.

Generous quotes from the Federalist papers not only provide helpful background on what the framers of our Constitution had in mind on impeachment but lend added historical dimension.

"Watergate Diary" is a book worth savoring for its sharp personal perspective, for its lucid overview of events, and for its musing, melancholy tone that suggests it's well we continue to ponder how all this could have happened to us.

Edmondson and Cohen write briskly, put their portraits together well, and don't hesitate to repeat unflattering comments they think are relevant. They are leery of official versions. We are told the Nixons were deliberately posed ARIES (March 21-April 19) You may have some heavy demands placed on your bank balance today. Don't make things worse by buying needlessly.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Others may find you difficult to get along with today because you persist in doing things your way. Give everyone a vote!

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Problems confronting you today are likely to be of your own making. However, if you're aware of this, you can avoid serious repercussions.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Situations with friends could become a trifle complicated today. If controversy arises you're likely to come out the villain.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Give yourself a day of rest today. Relax. Get away from the serious business of making a living.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Gauge your audience carefully today. If you see you're espousing unpopular issues, get off the subject. You won't make converts.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Let your sense of fair play be your guide today. If you are expecting more than you would give under similar circumstances, back off.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't make any decisions today out of frustration or anger. If you're disturbed, count to 10. Cool off.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) There are certain things that you can do yourself if you just exercise a little initiative today. Besides, you'll save money.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You may find yourself in a social situation you're not overly enthusiastic about today. Make the best of it. Don't spoil others' fun.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Everything won't run like a well-oiled Swiss clock at home today. Don't sweat it. The disruptions are small. You can rise above them.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're overly concerned about the opinions of others today. This will cause you to be discontented. Do things your way. Rectify small errors later.

Your social interests will be very much expanded this coming year. You are going to be more interested in having a good time, and you should — you've earned it.

For Sunday, Jan. 11, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You can manage material matters, very competently today if you set your mind to it. A good day to put your budget in order.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It's a day when others will be looking to you to establish the pace. Don't let them down.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're good at getting to the bottom of things today and finding root causes. Put your probing powers to work.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You won't want to be doing things entirely on your own today. Find an amicable companion to share them with.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) That which you attempt to do today you will do quite well. Challenges tend to bring out your best.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Manage your affairs today based upon what you've learned from experience. Keep your perspective broad. Take the long view.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) In your dealings today appreciate the fact that you have certain advantages in your favor. Use them wisely.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)

Enjoyment today will come not from quantity but quality. Be very selective regarding group activities and associates.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you're negotiating with someone today who has need of your services, don't underprice your talents.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't be too surprised today if you receive more than your share of compliments. Others find you quite appealing.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Someone working behind the scenes has your best interests at heart today. He's aiding you in a way not presently visible.

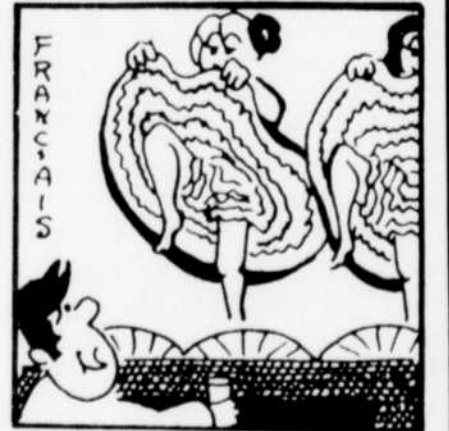

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You should be very good at creative or mental pursuits today. Why not tackle something of an artistic nature?

Ties with one you're fond of will become much stronger this coming year. From time to time each will do helpful things to bring happiness into the other's life.

Doggie bags to the rescue

By Polly Cramer

Inflation Fighter

DEAR POLLY — I suppose it is inflation that has caused many eating places to cut out giving doggie bags. Since I can seldom finish the meat I have ordered and paid for, I take along my own bag and carry the meat home for my dog and two cats. I also carry a plastic vegetable bag (the kind found in most markets) and slip the bag of scraps into it before placing in my purse. — HAZEL.

DEAR POLLY — My inflation fighter is to mix seven parts water to one part ammonia and use this for washing windows, the refrigerator, and stove. The chrome looks beautiful after shining it and this solution also cleans most painted surfaces. I put this in an empty spray bottle, label it and use for everyday cleaning. — PAULINE.

DEAR POLLY — Save those old styrofoam ice chests when they are not good enough to hold water. They make great boxes to hold the children's small toys, since they can reach in to get what they want so easily. — JACKIE.

DEAR POLLY — Many of us prefer big old fashioned cotton dish towels so I have a way to make my own. I had many sheets that were not permanent press. Because of this I kept pushing them to the back of the closet. My daughter needed something to make in her embroidery class at school, so I asked her to make me a dish towel. They had to draw their own designs on the material. I gave her one of these sheets cut to the size towel I like and she took it to school to embroider. Now I have numerous such towels and they cost nothing. When they get too old to use for dish towels, they will be used for window rags. — MRS. H. K.

DEAR POLLY — In these days of high prices, one box of long business envelopes will go twice as far if you fold and cut one in half and tape or glue the cut end shut. Really makes two for the price of one. — B. W.

DEAR POLLY — To update my husband's shirts that have short pointed collars, I rip off the collar (not the band). Then I cut a new collar from the shirt tail, by using a recent style collar as a pattern. Rehem the shirt, clip the new collar in the band and stitch. You now have a stylish shirt. — VELMA.

DEAR POLLY — Those who have a lot of animals will find they can save money by cutting one large flea collar in half. It makes two for the price of one. Use a safety pin to fasten the one that does not have the buckle. — JEAN.

You will receive a dollar if Polly uses your favorite home-making idea, Pet Peeve, Polly's Problem or solution to a problem. Write Polly in care of this newspaper.

Ann Landers says:

Don't quit.
Stay put.

Dear Ann: I thought your column was to read, not to write to, but now I've got a doozie!

I named our baby after my boss. I've been working for him for 12 years and think the world of the man. But honestly, Ann, there was never anything but friendship and respect between us.

My problem is two-fold: (1) People around the office kid him about the baby. Typical: "Well, how is your new son today?" (2) I've been told that his wife doesn't appreciate my naming the baby after him. (He is 59 and she is 51.)

I'd hate to give up my job over this but I can't continue working here if I don't find a solution. Can you help? — Rae

Dear R.: To quit would look like an admission of guilt. Stay put.

It's too late to change the baby's name, so laugh it off. Before long the jokes will wind down and things will be back to normal again.

Dear Ann Landers: You've probably told your readers a thousand times, but once more won't hurt. Please tell them again: "If you drink, don't drive. If you drive, don't drink."

A young man of 34 was killed two days ago. He was a wonderful guy, but on occasion he drank a little too much. He apparently fell asleep at the wheel of his car, rammed into a light post and was killed instantly. His passenger was critically injured.

This man had seven children — the youngest, three years old. His wife was so despondent she tried to commit suicide. She is in the hospital now, hovering between life and death.

I overheard one of the deceased's friends say, "I was with him that night. In fact, I was going to drive him home but he insisted he could manage O.K. I didn't want him to get mad at me."

How that man wishes he had risked his friend's wrath and taken his car keys away. Had he done so, seven children would not be mourning the death of their father — and maybe their mother as well. — Sad In Illinois

Dear Sad: Yes, I have said it time and time again, but it's worth repeating, especially since tomorrow night is New Year's Eve. "If you drink, don't drive. If you drive, don't drink." A boozed-up driver behind the wheel of a car is a potential suicide and/or a murderer.

Dear Ann Landers: The reader who informed you that there is no BULL in Boston was right. The animal is rightly called a Boston Terrier. I will also go so far as to tell you there is no Toy, no Screwtail and no Bulldog either.

The Boston Terrier is known as the "American Gentleman." If you don't want to take my word for it, check with the Boston Terrier's Club of America in Mendon, Maine, or the American Kennel Club in New York. These noble animals deserve to be properly identified. Thank you. — G.C.M., Jr. Pres., Boston Terrier Club of Louisiana

Dear President: If you think a dog is man's best friend, you should have seen how many friends these dogs have. At least 100 people wrote in behalf of their mislabeled pets. Thank you — one and all.

STANSTEAD — The members of Stanstead Chapter IODE held a busy session on Monday, January 5 when they met in the afternoon at LeBaron Hall reception room at Stanstead College.

The Regent, Mrs. Agnes Myers read an inspirational article for the New Year, as IODE ends their fiscal year and begin another in February. She concluded by wishing everyone all the best in 1976.

Routine reports were heard. Mrs. J.S. McCannel reported that she had represented the Chapter to assist others to pack 27 Christmas baskets with a good Christmas dinner for needy people in the communities.

Mrs. McCannel gave a first reading of the nominations committee for the coming year. These will again be presented and voted upon at the February meeting.

A communique was received from Save the Children Foster plan containing a photo and case history of the Chapter adopted foster child in Africa. Starting in February the members will take turns writing to him each month. Education secretary, Mrs. George Carruthers read items from the National Secretary of IODE concerning Provincial anniversary projects that aid young people in various ways, especially the handicapped folk.

In the absence of the Services secretary, Mrs. Howard Aikman, Mrs. Myers reported many items taken by the Aikmans to the Butters Center at Austin prior to Christmas, also noted wool is available for knitting.

Echoes, Mrs. Frances Finlayson, read the editorial from the magazine and the article on the Prince Charles interview. She recommend all members read this last issue as there are many interesting stories in it.

Mrs. Ruby Greer, membership secretary, introduced Mrs. Elaine Wade who was later initiated as a new member of the Chapter by Mrs. Myers and warmly welcomed by all.

Citizenship secretary, Mrs. Merton Davis, read an item on Citizenship and spoke about action locally.

Mrs. Bert Renwick, convener for the marathon bridge games with proceeds for the Three Villages Swim Project, said "all is going very well".

Miss Barbara Lax, incoming Regent, was named, with Mrs. Myers, to be counsellors on the Provincial Board. A card was also signed for National counsellors to be named by Provincial Chapter.

To prepare annual reports an executive meeting will be held the afternoon of January 20 at the home of Mrs. George Carruthers at 2:00 p.m.

Mrs. Myers read about Provincial Chapter poster contest and instructed Mrs. Davis, Citizenship secretary to contact the local schools and Mrs. Ivy Hatch, the publicity, concerning this competition.

From an appeal from IODE office for T-shirts to go to Africa, each member is invited to bring one to the February meeting.

As a benefit, a card party will be held on February 12 at the Border Curling Club with dessert at 2:00 p.m. Mrs. W.B. Dustin and Mrs. Douglas Jackson to be conveners and several others volunteered to assist. There will be several door prizes awarded at the party.

Stanstead Chapter IODE meets

Reservations should be made in advance to either Mrs. Frances Finlayson, 876-7328 or Mrs. Ivy Hatch, 876-2083.

A friend had donated a gift of money to the Chapter and from this $100.00 was voted to each the Dixville Home, Butters Memorial Center at Austin and the Three Villages Swim school.

The Chapter also authorized $100. to the Border Minor Hockey Club, $100. to the Sunnyside school cafeteria for payment of needy children's noon lunches; $100. for the local Senior Citizens. Other contributions will be voted upon at the February and March meetings.

The meeting closed in the usual way, and during the social period, Mrs. W.B. Dustin, replacing Mrs. Campbell Elder and Mrs. Douglas Jackson, served delicious refreshments.

QUIET ELEGANCE — So very elegant in crescent shape styling is this new sofa with matching love seat. Both have the graceful channeled roll arms, loose pillow backs and loose, reversible seat cushions. Traditional in mood, the tailoring on sofa, love seat and companion chairs includes the popular single welt seam on seat cushions and kick pleating along the bases. Ideal to use in combination as shown, sofas and matching love seats can also be used in U or L shaped arrangements to visually expand smaller rooms.

McGill carrying out study of marriage communication

MONTREAL — McGill researchers are looking for happily married couples to help them in their study of communications in marriage.

"Couples often come to us with sexual or other marital dysfunctions," says Dr. John C. Wright, Assistant Professor in McGill's Department of Psychology, and Co-director of the Behaviour Therapy Unit in the Allan Memorial Institute. "Their problem very often boils down to poor communication."

In a troubled marriage, says Dr. Wright, marital partners sometimes insult or ignore each other during a discussion, or consistently change the subject.

In order to help them, Dr. Wright and his staff give them a simple issue to discuss for about five minutes. They record the session on videotape and then watch it with the couple, pointing out trouble spots, and instructing them on better ways of putting their thoughts across.

Dr. Wright stresses that it is happily married couples they are seeking. "We've recently stopped studying only troubled couples to see what they do wrong, and are starting to look at happily married couples to see what they do right."

The volunteer couples will be given a problem to discuss, and the researchers will observe their strategies of discussion. The idea is to try to teach these constructive habits to the disturbed couples.

"There will be some feedback to the volunteers," says Dr. Wright. "We will give them a summary of their communication patterns. But we can't use people who are looking for therapy, or give advice on marital problems."

Dr. Wright and his staff are looking for a variety of married couples, from all backgrounds and educational levels. The time involved will be only about three hours per couple (split into two sessions of an hour and a half each). Couples interested in participating in this research are invited to call Dr. Wright's secretary, at 842-1231, local 1627 (after January 12).

Further information may be obtained by calling the above number, or Betsy Hirst of the McGill Information Office, at 392-5307.

ACTIVITY CREDIT COURSES

John H. Price Sports and Recreation Centre has an ongoing programme of sporting and gymnastic activities. You are invited to join the centre and take part in those programmes that interest you. Register at the Sports Centre, Bishop's University.
French as a second language. Bishop's University and the Eastern Townships Regional School Board have cooperative arrangements for French conversation courses. A new series begins in January. Register Monday evening, Jan. 12 at the Lennoxville Elementary School.
 Aeronautics (Ground School) and other interest courses are also available. Indicate your interest by registering at Lennoxville Elementary School Monday evening, Jan. 12.

REGISTRATION

Registration for university evening courses may be completed by any of the following means:

- Registration at the Records Office, Hamilton Building.
- Registration by mail (write letter for details).
- See course instructor.

Inquiries may be made to the University. Phone 569-9551 and ask for the Division or Department Chairman in your area of interest.

CREDIT AND REGULATIONS

All evening credit courses will be recognized towards B.A., B.Sc., or B.B.A. degrees at Bishop's. Arrangements for transfer of credits to other institutions are the student's responsibility. Students must apply for, and receive, permission to register as degree students (through the Registrar). Other students will be classified as "Special Students" until such permission has been granted. Degree students' programs should be discussed periodically with the appropriate departmental and divisional chairmen. Arrangements should be made privately for such discussions.
 Sessional dates for evening courses are the same as for University day courses, i.e. Jan. 6 to April 8. Examinations will be arranged in each class by the instructor.

COURSE CANCELLATION

The University reserves the right to cancel any evening courses which do not have an enrollment of at least 8. Full-time students taking evening courses as part of their normal load will not count towards this minimum.

Annual meeting of United Church Women

LENNOXVILLE - The annual meeting of the United Church Women was held in the lounge, Douglas Hall on Monday evening, January 5 with Mrs. Noble Smith presiding. The meeting opened by repeating the Purpose.

Printed reports, both secretarial and financial were circulated and discussed. The minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. C.P. Mallalieu.

First aid equipment will be purchased for both halls and the gifts of a wheelchair and two blankets were accepted. Mrs. W.S. Aird, co-responding secretary, read several thank you notes and stated that many cards had been sent to ill and bereaved members during the past year.

The retiring president, Mrs. Noble Smith thanked the members for their loyal support and cooperation during her three years in office, after which Mrs. Douglas Hadlock, chairman of the nominating committee read the slate of officers for 1976 which was as follows:

Past President - Mrs. Noble Smith; President - Mrs. Moynan Robinson; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. Robert Sutor; Recording Secretary, Mrs. C.P. Mallalieu; Treasurer, Mrs. D.A. Baldwin; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. W.S. Aird; Supply & Welfare, Mrs. Robert Blackadder; Cradle Roll, Mrs. Rodney McKell; Flowers, Mrs. William Van Horn and Mrs. Gerald Bryant; Community Friendship & Visiting, Mrs. Noble Smith.

Representative to Manse Committee, Mrs. C.P. Mallalieu; Representative to Christian Education Committee, Mrs. Robert Sutor; Representative to board of Stewards, Mrs. Noble Smith; Publicity, Mrs. Dorothy Geddes.

The installation ceremony was conducted by Rev. Douglas C. Warren who in his remarks pointed out the importance of using one's God-given talents in striving to attain the goal set forth in the U.C.W. Purpose which is to unite all women of the congregation for the total mission of the church. The service closed with a prayer by Mrs. Moynan Robinson during which a silent tribute was observed for departed members.

Mrs. Hadlock then moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Smith, the retiring president for her untiring work during her terms of office and extended best wishes to the newly elected president Mrs. Moynan Robinson who presided for the business meeting.

Dates given for meetings and upcoming events were as follows:
 January 15 - U.C.W. event featuring the theme, "Lift Up Your Hearts" with Rev. Ron Coughlin & Dr. Ken Johns as leaders. Bring a box lunch and $1.00 to cover the cost of materials used.

Obituaries

MABEL M. CLIFFORD
 of Mansenville
 Mabel Myrtle (Major) Clifford passed away at her home in Mansenville on Friday, December 12, 1975. She was the youngest daughter of the late James Walter Major and his wife the late Ellen Page.

She was born at Dixville on October 22, 1890, in the section that was at that time, called Barford. She spent the first 19 years of her life there and moved with the family to Stanstead (Heathton), where she remained until her marriage to Clarence Edward Clifford on October 30, 1912. The Rev. J. MacIntyre Bradshaw of Christ Church, Barnston, Que., performed the marriage ceremony.

The couple lived around Barnston until the late twenties, at which time they moved to Beebe with their three children, where their fourth child was born. On April 15, 1937, they moved to Mansenville with their three youngest children where their eldest son and his wife joined them on May 11, 1937.

Mrs. Clifford was a self-sacrificing mother and was greatly loved by her children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren. She was very active in church affairs during her younger years and made donations to various faiths in her later years. She also participated in the Care of Canada program for a number of years.

She leaves to mourn her loss, her four children, Kenneth of Waterloo, Bernard, Bernice (Mrs. Winston White), both of Mansenville, Edwena (Mrs. Dennis Shannon) of Holland, Vt., 15 grandchildren, 15 great-grandchildren, sons-in-law, daughters-in-law, nieces and nephews. Her husband predeceased her on June 23, 1960, and a grandson predeceased her at the age of four. She was also predeceased by her brother George in infancy, her sister Maude Davis on August 20, 1966, and her brother Chester on October 10, 1973.

The funeral was held from the Chapel at Mansenville on December 15, 1975, with Rev.

J. David Stanway officiating. The bearers were Raymond Bedard, David Cameron, Rupert Clark, Carlton Gately, Keyworth George and Rupert Fullerton.

Interment took place in the Mansenville Protestant Cemetery.

Among those attending the funeral from out of town were her brother-in-law, Aime Carbonneau, age 92, of Beebe, his two daughters and their husbands, a nephew, Moody Davis and his wife, of Rock Island, friends and relatives from Derby and Holland, Vt., Waterloo, South Stukely, and the Townships of East Bolton and Potton.

JACK PEHLEMAN of Bury

On Monday Dec. 8, 1975, Jack Pehleman passed peacefully to rest in the Sherbrooke Hospital, after suffering a major heart attack on the night of Dec. 5.

Born on March 2, 1903 in Springfield, Mass., the eldest son of Fritz and Margaret, nee MacDonald, he was two months old when his parents brought him to the farm where he lived the greater part of his life.

In his youth he had worked some time in Springfield, in Detroit, and near Lancaster. He had also spent a season harvesting on the prairies.

A good neighbour, a quick and capable worker at anything he undertook, he will be greatly missed by his surviving brother Dan and his wife Ferne, sisters Lillian, Florence and Yvonne and many nieces and nephews, especially Marilyn and Wayne and his wife Judy. Jack was greatly interested in their infant daughter Tanya.

By request of the family, in lieu of flowers, there were many donations to the Canadian Heart Fund.

The funeral service, conducted by Rev. M. Jones was held in St. Paul's Church. The hymns sung were Lead Kindly Light, and Now the Labourer's Task is O'er.

The bearers were Glendon Morrison, Gus and Eric Olson, Elmor Bailey, George Lasenba and Allen Kelso.

Interment was in the family lot in the Bury cemetery.

He was predeceased by his parents and two brothers Carl and Hector (Dick).

Those who came from a distance were his niece Faith Guay, and nephew Wells Pehleman, both of whom had spent much of their early youth on the home farm, great-niece Janna Guay and great-nephew Mark Pehleman who had spent several summers with him, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Pehleman, Miss Marilyn Pehleman and Mr. Nick Koloshuk.

Beavers out for win to protect their lead

Sherbrooke Beavers will be making their first appearance before their home fans since their return from Finland this evening at the Sports Palace when they play hosts to the Royals of Cornwall.

The Beavers chalked up a 5-2 verdict over the Dynamos of Shawinigan Wednesday and tonight they will be gunning to make it two in a row over their closest rival, the Royals.

Cornwall is in second spot in the West Division of the QMJHL, four points behind the Beavers, and a win would help their cause to close some ground on the Delage squad. All teams in the circuit will see action this evening.

On their last visit to Sherbrooke the battling Royals rallied to pick up a 2-2 deadlock on Nov. 14. It will be the Royals' third trip to the Sports Palace. In their first trip the Beavers posted their only home win over the Cornwall crew at the Sports

Palace when they chalked up a 3-1 win before the largest crowds of the year, 5,044.

Cornwall is the only club which has given the Beavers plenty of trouble. They have managed to pick up only one win over the Royals so far and that was the 3-1 decision at the commencement of the season. The other two finished in ties, 2-2, and in Cornwall 5-5.

Coach Delage plans no new changes for tonight's game. The case of Peter Marsh, who drew a match penalty for darning at Shawinigan, is undecided regarding his suspension. Richard Sevigny, who suffered a knee problem, is a doubtful starter along with Brendan Lowe. The final green light may be given late this afternoon following the doctor's examination. Ron Carter is also out with a severe charley-horse.

The race for honors in both sections of the league is getting close as the teams are trying to gain ground on their opponents. The Beavers hold four games in hand over the Royals and one over the Montreal Juniors so it is only natural that the Delage aggregation will be out to try and protect their lead at the expense of the Royals tonight.

The fans should be in for wide-open game this evening as both clubs have good skaters and fast breakers. In the nets Coach Delage may have to use Benoit Perrault, who was in the nets against Shawinigan Wednesday and earned the victory. He handled a total of 26 shots and came up with some good saves when some of his mates were in the cooler.

Following tonight's game the Beavers hit the road for their next two games. On Sunday they clash with the Hawks in Sorel, game time 7:30, and Monday they will travel to Laval for a regular scheduled tilt with the Nationals. Their next home game will be Friday when they will play hosts to Hull Festivals.

Chuck Noll's persistence pays off for Steelers who are in Super Bowl again

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Joe Paterno, a successful university coach at Penn State, didn't want the job, so in 1969 Pittsburgh Steelers made a low-keyed, young assistant from Baltimore Colts their head coach.

Chuck Noll got the job because his organizational abilities had impressed Steeler official Dan Rooney, whose father Art bought the National Football League franchise with $2,500 in racetrack earnings in 1933, a year after Noll was born.

"We'll change history," Noll said when pressed about the Steelers reputation as perennial also-rans.

Though he didn't like the nickname, Noll was called "the Pope" as a player at Cleveland because he supposedly never made mistakes.

Noll used his first Steeler draft pick on a relatively unknown tackle, Joe Greene who was to be dubbed Mean Joe because of his savage play.

After laboring through a 1-13 season in Noll's first year, the Steelers won a coin flip with Chicago Bears for the top pick in the 1970 draft.

They chose quarterback Terry Bradshaw, who became a starter his first season. Pittsburgh finished 5-9. That winter Noll made one of the most productive drafts in National Football League history.

His 1971 choices brought him Frank Lewis, Jack Ham, Gerry Mullins, Dwight (Mad Dog) White, Larry Brown, Ernie Holmes and Mike Wagner. That same year he claimed kicker Roy Gerela on waivers from Houston and signed Glen Edwards as a free agent.

In the 1971 season, Pittsburgh moved to a new stadium and improved to 6-8. Then Noll turned to the draft for more talent, including fullback Franco Harris.

The 235-pound Harris rushed for more than 1,000 yards in his rookie year and led the Steelers to their first division title in four decades.

Noll's top draft pick after that 1972 season was cornerback J.T. Thomas, now a starter, but subsequent choices in that draft were not as productive as in previous years.

FIRE LINE COACH
In 1973, the Steelers scrambled for a wild-card berth to the playoffs, where they were crushed by Oakland. It was a winter of over-all discontent for the team, and Noll fired his offensive line coach, Bob Frye.

In that off-season, however, Noll turned to the draft for players like Lynn Swann, John Stallworth and a tall, lean linebacker from Kent State named Jack Lambert, one of 18 Steelers who will play in the Pro Bowl this winter.

With Dan Radakovich drilling the offensive line in 1974 and Bradshaw surviving a challenge from Joe Gilliam for the starting quarterback job, the Steelers put it all together, crushing Buffalo Bills and Oakland in the playoffs before whipping Minnesota Vikings in the Super Bowl.

Draft is big factor for Cowboys present situation meet Steeler in big one DALLAS (AP) — For the third time in six years Dallas Cowboys have made the National Football League championship game, thanks to the college draft and a superb scouting system.

There are 12 rookies and nine free agents on the team Dallas takes to Super Bowl. Only running back Preston Pearson, ironically obtained from Pittsburgh, and Warren Capone, a linebacker from the World Football League, weren't picked by the Cowboy computers and scouts.

"I feel like the draft is the way to go," says Dallas vice-president Gil Brandt, who oversees the Cowboy scouting. "Washington has been the only team I can remember that has been able to trade for a championship team."

"You might improve a team considerably for one or two years through trades but it will catch up with you when no new guys come in," Brandt said, adding: "You can't be a 100-percent draft team. Sometimes you get too many linebackers and have to trade. Then on some rare occasion you find a Preston Pearson."

COST NOTHING
Pittsburgh cut Pearson when the Steelers became overstocked with running backs and Dallas snapped him up even without having to pay the $100 waiver price. The free agents on the team include Drew Pearson, who caught Roger Staubach's last-second pass to defeat Minnesota, running back Doug Dennison, defensive back Benny Barnes, linebackers Dave Edwards and Capone, free safety Cliff Harris.

Leafs upset Islanders as Sabres dump Canucks 8-5

For New York Islanders, there was nowhere to go but up after a 5-3 loss to Toronto Maple Leafs on Thursday night.

"It's the worst game they've played this year by a country mile," Islander coach Al Arbour said after the National Hockey League game.

"The guys were not working," he said. "That was the problem, 19 guys not working."

In Thursday's other NHL games, Buffalo Sabres defeated Vancouver Canucks 8-5, Detroit Red Wings blanked Minnesota North Stars 5-0, Philadelphia Flyers defeated Los Angeles Kings 6-4 and St. Louis Blues stopped Washington Capitals 4-2.

In Thursday's only WHA game, Phoenix Roadrunners trounced Cincinnati Stingers 7-1.

Third-period goals by Erroll Thompson, Jack Valiquette and Dave Williams enabled the Leafs to overcome a 3-2 New York lead. Thompson's goal was his second of the game and 18th of the season.

Lanny McDonald of Toronto and Andre St. Laurent of New York were injured in separate mishaps.

FINALIZE PLANS — Dick Bean, president of the Sherbrooke Athletics Baseball Club, is discussing the final plans of the Expos O'Keefe Caravan with Vianney Tremblay, left, local representative of O'Keefe's and Bob Martinbeault, president of the Quebec Major Junior Baseball League. The O'Keefe Caravan will be in Sherbrooke Monday and at the Carrefour from 1:00 till 6:00.

members of the press at O'Keefe Brewery quarters. In the afternoon they will journey to CAP, on Park Ave, to meet the students and at 4:00 they are scheduled to be at the Carrefour de l'Estrie.

In the evening they are slated to be at the Cafeteria "B" of the University of Sherbrooke, SADA, for an evening of entertainment with dancing to Claude Dupras' orchestra.

The price of admission is $3.00 and the proceeds from this will be turned over to the Sherbrooke Athletics of the Quebec Major Junior Baseball League to help them finance their 1976 activities. Dick Bean is president of the term.

Army outplays Bruins

BOSTON (CP) — It was billed as Game Six of Super Series 76 but for Boston Bruins it was more of a case of losing at Russian roulette.

The Russian Central Army team fired just enough shots at Boston goalie Gilles Gilbert to whip the Bruins 5-2 Thursday night and clinch the series for the Soviet Union.

"I feel bad," said defenceman Brad Park of the Bruins. "We get to play these guys once... like rolling craps."

Central Army rallied with three second-period goals, two by Valeri Kharlamov and the other by Alexandr Maltsev to keep its unbeaten record against the top prospect.

Two Russian teams, involved in an eight-game series that ends Sunday in Philadelphia, proved they can play against the National Hockey League and beat some of the top clubs. "I would like to have them in our league and play them every few days or so," Park said. "I think in the NHL, the 80-game season, the travelling, the body contact, would wear them down. I don't really know, I would like to see them there."

CLINCH SERIES
The Soviets clinched the series four games to one with one tie and two games remaining in the series.

The Central Army and the Wings of the Soviet each have one game left in their individual four-game segments against eight NHL clubs.

The Bruins outshot the Soviets 19-8 in the first period Thursday and 40-19 for the game, but the Russian goalie Vladislav Tretiak ate up the Boston shots in the scoreless first period.

Dave Forbes hit Tretiak's right elbow with a shot that trickled in for Boston's first goal, giving the Bruins a 1-0 lead early in the second period.

But on the Russian power play, Kharlamov tied the game with his first goal and then put the Army team ahead at the 11:00 mark of the period.

PASSING PAYS OFF
The Russian passing play that led to Maltsev's goal caught everyone's eye. Central Army set up one of its patented plays with Valeri Vasilyev passing to Maltsev, who had only Darryl Edestrand of the Bruins to beat.

"That pass up the middle, that killed us, that third goal," said Boston coach Don Cherry. "I've never seen that before. The guy came around the net and just zipped it right up there. It was beautiful, a lovely pass."

Bishop's Gaiters up against BU Alumni

LENNOXVILLE — Two more Bishop's University squads begin their 1976 schedules on Saturday, as the basketball Gaiterettes host Laval University and the hockey Gaiters oppose the BU Alumni squad in an exhibition match.

The Gaiterettes are looking forward to better things to come after a dismal, winless first semester. But, according to coach Bruce Stevenson, the girls are heading into the 1976 slate of encounters with high spirits, and with the addition of three new players in the second half of the season, should be able to improve in the winning category.

The Bishop's squad took 10 defeats in QUAA action, most of them being extremely one-sided counts. Coach Stevenson, though not trying to provide excuses for the poor showing of the local team, stated that this year's contingent is in the rebuilding stage, and that he has never seen so many local teams with such strength as they have this season.

Though the prospects of beating teams like UQTR and Laval, now tied for top spot in the six-team circuit, and Concordia, the third place team, are slim, Stevenson is hopeful that the remaining three games with the University of Sherbrooke and a pair of matches with McGill could provide the Gaiterettes with a more respectable final record.

The puck Gaiters, who finished off 1975 with a 2-4-2 win, loss and tie record in QUAA play, should have their hands full against the Alumni Saturday afternoon, but coach Jim Moore feels a tough exhibition game such as that would give the squad a good workout and prepare them better for the upcoming league tilts.

Following a slow start at the beginning of the season, the Gaiters went on to their fourth-place hold in league standings and were 50 per cent in exhibition games played. The Gaiters are currently tied with McGill with six points, but the Bishop's squad has three games in hand.

Goaltending will play a big part in the 1976 strategy on coach Moore's team, because in his opinion, the goalie who can come up with the big saves and big games, is a necessity for any team. Weak netminding early in the season hurt the Gaiters, because the team would become so discouraged after putting on a good offensive drive and then watching it disappear on easy goals, that everybody would let down and lose the game by a wide margin.

Coach Moore says that practices this week will hopefully prepare his high-spirited squad to a promising second half.

Several cuts have been made by coach Moore from the first semester squad and one new player has been added to the roster. Stuart MacTavish, Warren Miller and Dave Cerat have been released by the club, while a transfer student from Concordia University, defenceman Robin Andrew, has been the lone newcomer to date. Moore expects to make another cut shortly because his philosophy is to play all the players on his team. His reasoning for the cuts is that he can't play them all and he feels that letting them go gives them a chance to play in other leagues.

The Alumni club will have many recent graduates opposing the Gaiters tomorrow, many of whom were top players in the QUAA. The most additions to the Alumni squad are Paul Iggulden, Mike Bookalam, Steve Connor, Jim Moyssey and Brian Roy, all 1975 graduates, along with '74 grads Gary Chown, Jay Hansoni and Erik Iverson.

Other players from past Gaiter teams slated to play Saturday are Don Campbell, Alain Hebert, Ross Barrett, Ron Perowne, Larry Smith, Don Liesmer, Tom Allen, Doug Campbell, Rob McLernon, Steve Mitchell, Don Cleyn and Terry Loucks.

Alumni Coach Bruce Coulter will be out for revenge for last year's 6-3 victory by the Gaiters over Alumni, and the Bishop's squad will have to perform well to overcome the 1976 Alumni contingent.

Saturday's action gets underway at 1 p.m. when the Gaiterettes tackle Laval at the John H. Price Sports and Recreation Centre. The hockey game will begin at 2 p.m. in the W.B. Scott Arena, and the basketball Gaiters oppose Laval at 3:30 to complete the afternoon triple-header on the campus.

The other weekend exhibition match has the hoop Gaiters meeting St. Lawrence Community College tonight at the Sports Centre, beginning at 8 p.m.

MILAN

Mrs. R. Nicholson
Mr. Royce Carrier had the misfortune of a freak accident on Christmas Eve, causing their pick-up truck to leave the road, near Milan, hit and break a hydro pole off and overturn. The family was badly shaken up but fortunately all able to be at home. Our town was without power for nine-and-a-half hours till Hydro was able to repair power lines. Mr. Danny Waldron spent part of Christmas holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Duncan McLeod. Christmas Day guests at the same home were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Waldron, Scotstown, and Mr. Roderick McLeod, of Asbestos. Mr. and Mrs. Dale Farrell and Sean of Sherbrooke and Mr. Wesley Nicholson, Verdun, spent Christmas with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Nicholson. Christmas night supper guests, at the same home, were Mr. and Mrs. Duncan McLeod and Mr. Roderick McLeod.

On December 27, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan McLeod entertained at the supper hour. Mrs. A.W. Murray, Scotstown, Mr. Stanley Murray and Mr. Danny Waldron of Montreal, Mr. Roderick McLeod, of Asbestos, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Farrell and Sean, Sherbrooke and Mr. and Mrs. David Nicholson, of this town. Mr. and Mrs. E. Rudd, of Canterbury, were visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Sherman before Christmas. CPR trains were halted for several hours recently, near MacLeod's Crossing, due to a broken wheel. Fortunately they were not travelling fast and only one car derailed. Miss Christine MacLeod, R.N., of Lennoxville, passed away on December 27 after a long illness. The sincere sympathy of this community go to the MacLeod families.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan McLeod attended Sunday Service in St. Paul's Church, Scotstown and were dinner guests of Mrs. A.W. Murray and Mr. Stanley Murray. Later they all went to the Bury Funeral Home to pay their respects to the late Miss Christina MacLeod, R.N. They also called on Mrs. Beattie and Miss Montgomery at St. Paul's Rest Home and visited Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Buchanan.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan McLeod, Mr. Roderick McLeod and Mrs. David Nicholson were in Bury and December 29 to attend funeral services for Miss Christine MacLeod, after-wards visiting with the family at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond MacLeod, where lunch was served.

Jacoby's bridge

Entry finesse saves overbid

the dummy was a disappointment. Still, there was one slim chance and South took it. At trick two he led his five of diamonds and finessed dummy's seven. When it held he finessed a spade, entered dummy with the ace of diamonds, discarded his two little spades on the ace-king of clubs, finessed again and made his grand slam.

Jim: "It is interesting to note that if West had played his ten of diamonds on South's five spot, the extra entry to dummy would have been killed."

ASK THE GOODBYES

A Maine reader wants to know what an entry establishing finesse is. This play is sometimes called, "The extra finesse". Today's article illustrates it. South has bid too much and needs two entries to dummy in order to take two spade finesses. He provides one by the extra finesse of dummy's seven of diamonds.

(Do you have a question for the experts? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The Jacobys will answer individual questions if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are enclosed. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Jim: "It might be a good idea to show some examples of the entry finesse our Maine reader asks about."
Oswald: "Here is a simple example. South's bidding can best be explained by stating that he was an important expert trying to show off for some slow-playing tyros."
Jim: "Seven notrump was a definite overbid, yet if North held some extra values such as four hearts to the queen-jack there would be thirteen tricks available if diamonds broke."
Oswald: "Needless to say,
