Westmount Lookout provides a truly breathtaking view of Canada's metropolis. Thousands of residents from all parts of the city as well as out-of-towners, have sought the height of the lookout for a birds eye view of the island for many years. The lookout has been one of the most compelling tourist attractions to this city and, from the looks of this photograph, seems still to be exerting its magnetic force to visitors and residents alike.

Next week's weather

August 8 to 15

By ERIC NEAL

Morning mists or heavy dews, then some wind, moderately warm and mainly sunny. Clouding for night thundersqualls. Many years at this time we have had cloudburst type storms with flooded streets and underpasses, then cold gusty winds. Otherwise this is normally quite a pleasant week with temperature range 40-75° or higher and 45 sunny hours. Conditions a little cooler in the mountains, with local thunderstorms.

Windstorms in Ontario and along the coasts. Mainly sunny to end the week.

Bike, car collide; youth, 17, injured

Bill Poirier, 17, 3756 Laval, sustained injury to his left knee after the bike he was riding collided with an auto opposite 3055 Sherbrooke west, Friday.

The driver of the car, Maurice Goethals, 32, 4677 Barrie told police he had stopped his auto opposite 3055 Sherbrooke because of cigarette ashes in his eyes. "I heard a bang at the back of my car," he said, "so I got out and saw the boy on his hands and knees."

The youth, according to police, was apparently travelling west on Sherbrooke at the time; and as an MTC bus pulled away from the curb near 3055, he, following behind failed to see the parked auto and struck the rear of it, went over his bike and hit his knee on the trunk door.

The boy refused medical aid.

In-service Fire inspection slated to re-open Monday

Westmount will re-open its "In-Service Fire Inspection" Monday, according to City Manager Norman Dawe.

This inspection is called "in-service", Mr. Dawe explained, "because firemen, regularly employed by the city, will be making the rounds instead of the two fire inspectors."

"It will give firemen an opportunity to familiarize themselves with the homes in the area, making their job, in event of a fire, that much easier," he continued.

"Mainly," he added, "it is for the benefit of the citizens in the area. If one of the in-service inspectors discovers a fire hazard, he will point it out and suggest corrective or preventive measures."

Mr. Dawe said that the firemen would check everything from furnace pipes, storage areas to fuse boxes.

The inspecting firemen will also be equipped with a two-way radio so that they will be in contact with the station at all times.

He stated that this service, which is quite common in many cities, has been very popular with Westmount residents in the past. "They have often written or phoned in commending us on the service," he said.

Only men in official City of Westmount Fire Department uniforms will be conducting the inspection. There will be no plainclothesmen whatever, he cautioned.

The inspection, under direction of an officer, is expected to start in the eastern section of Westmount.

2 persons hurt as cars collide

Injured were Mr. Gallant's wife, 54, and 14-year-old son, Edward.

'Floating eyeballs' thrill visitors to Penny Carnival

By JOHN RAY

On Thursday, over 100 parents and children visited the gym of our "Y" on one of the hottest nights yet. The reason for this was the Day Campers' Penny Carnival where all proceeds went to "Buildings for Brotherhood".

There were many attractions as Plattsburgh beach on Wednesday each tribe tried to pull pennies from the pockets of visitors by offering games of skill and chance. One of the most popular booths was the Flying Eagles "Fun House."

As you walked in through darkness, spiderwebs brushed your face, ghosts jumped at you, an electric-eyed donkey stared at you, then blindfolded you were asked to put your hand in a bowl of worms or a bowlful of floating eyeballs. Sound scary? It was, as many visitors can tell you. The girls made this on their own ideas and it proved what could be done in a short time.

Other attractions were: a fortune teller, who for a penny would read cards and see what was in store for you; horse racing; bean bag toss; flour ducking, which left many white-faced; a kissing booth, left many red-faced; shooting gallery with darts and pistols; battle drop; fire extinguisher, where with a water gun one tried to put out three candles; a penny drop and a bottle cap toss, completed the booths.

Voyageurs are ahead on points in Voyageur-Lumberman Week which finished today and brought to an official close our Summer Fun Club. It will however, run for another two weeks until August 21 on a three-day camp basis instead of the five-day program carried on for the last six weeks. Complete results of the Voyageur-Lumberman Week will be published next week.

The program for next week will feature two all-day beach trips. On Monday, the camp will travel to Cap St. Jacques Beach, then on Wednesday they journey to Crystal Beach. On Thursday, in the morning the boys will have swim instruction, crafts and games, while the girls will plan their morning with their counsellors, which could mean anything from a movie to a visit to an industrial plant. The afternoon sees a reversal of procedure with the girls swimming and boys planning.

The final and last week will again see a return visit to Cap. St. Jacques and the BIG trip to Licensed field trials and numerous picnic trials are held almost the year round, with Beagles, Labrador and Chesapeake Retrievers, a variety of Pointers and Irish Water Spaniels most in evidence. He ended his 35 years of service with this firm on his retirement last year.

Second batch of campers off to Red Feather camps

By ROBERT PARKER

The second batch of campers left this week on Tuesday and Thursday after being 'vetted' by the nurses and doctors. About 200 youngsters had their medicals and embarked to camp — four bus loads on Tuesday morning to Camp Lewis and 2 bus loads on Friday morning for the Amy Molson Camp. I understand from Mr. Wylie, director of the Montreal Boys' Clubs Association, that once again the camps are filled to capacity.

It was interesting to see a number of lads who had completed their camp stay watching the new campers somewhat wistfully. The next medical for campers is Monday the 10th and those who still wish to join us should get in touch with the office at Red Feather building right away.

ST. HELEN'S ISLAND: At the summer day camp the bi-weekly trips to St. Helen's Island seemed even more popular and this may be because a number of the students who have been attending our Learn to Swim sessions at the 'Y' on Thursday mornings are now able to put into practice what they have learned.

WESTMOUNT FIRE DEPARTMENT: A small group of 23 members had a chance to see the inside of what is, probably, one of the most exciting of machine - the fire engine.

Although we had no emergency calls during our visit we were very impressed with Gill University (BA 1907; BCL 1910 and the Universite de Dijon, France.

In his law course at McGill University he led his class and in his senior year won the Elizabeth Torrance Gold Medal and the MacDonald Travelling Scholarship.

During the First World War he served as a lieutenant with the 148th Canadian Battalion from 1915 to 1917 and as a captain with the 42nd Battalion, Royal Highlanders of Canada (Black Watch) from 1917 to 1919. He was wounded in action and mentioned in despatches. Following the war he held the rank of major in the Royal Highlanders of Canada (Black Watch) from 1919 to 1921. During the Second World War he was actively associated with the McGill University Contingent COTC.

He is survived by his sister, Mrs. Gladys Nares, and two brothers, Ross W. Heward and Brian Heward, all of Montreal, and by nine nephews and nieces.

Does traffic get you down?

By JANE BARTLETT

Watching the regulated procession of pedestrians and drivers at a Westmount intersection during the five o'clock rush hour recently, this reporter was forced to make a comparison between what seemed the fairly orderly progression of traffic in this city to the jungle tactics that prevail in the neighboring community of Montreal, especially at the corner of Peel and St. Catherine.

Why does a chicken cross the road? He doesn't. Not at "the cross-roads of Canada". Any pedestrian who safely manoeuvres that intersection is no chicken, not if he goes it alone.

On the other hand, if he is lucky enough to become one of the five-deep mob that periodically streams down St. Catherine street, regardless of lights, policemen, whistles and automobiles, he'll make it.

In this instance, it's the driver who becomes a rat. The tired businessman wearily trying to edge the nose of his car around the corner is the object of angry glares and epithets which put him in a class with public enemy No. 1. By sheer weight of numbers, the stream of pedestrians flows in front of him, behind him, and around him; and if he's not careful, some sturdy walker will punch him in the eye for good measure.

But let his fender touch some plump lady heaving along on pin-point heels, and he is greeted with screams, gasps, and cries of "Murderer!"

Consequently, a driver in that area assumes a grim expression—mouth in a tight line, eyes starting out of his head in a horrifying way—accompanied by the sudden conviction that one less in this endless eddy of humanity would never be noticed, and would go a long way towards soothing his rising temper.

Imagine his relief, then, when he finds himself cruising through Westmount, where red lights mean "stop", and the law of survival of the fittest gives way to the instructions set forth in a tiny eight-page pamphlet.

This Eden-like order has not been achieved without a struggle. Several years ago, when the corner of Victoria avenue and Sherbrooke street

Radiologist-in-chief of the Royal Victoria Hospital, Dr. Carleton B. Peirce, 55 Aberdeen avenue, is one of the two Montreal doctors to receive grants for research in radiology from the James Picker Foundation.

Dr. Peirce is now in Europe, where he has just completed the chairmanship of the Canadian delegation to the Ninth International Congress of Radiology in Munich, Germany. He plans to return to Montreal early in September.

Also receiving a grant from the Picker Foundation is Dr. R. A. Beique of the Montreal General Hospital. The Picker Foundation, whose headquarters are located in New York City, is administered in Canada by the National Research Council.

Dr. Peirce was appointed to the post of radiologist-in-chief at the RVH in 1938, and is at present consultant radiologist to the Montreal Neurological Institute, the Montreal Children's Hospital, the Royal Edward Laurentian Hospital and the Department of Veterans' Affairs, Montreal district.

He is professor and first chairman of the radiology department of the University of McGill, a post he has occupied since 1949. Born in Elgin, Illinois, Dr. Peirce served in the Royal Canadian Navy during World War II as a consultant radiologist. He is still on a consulting basis for the RCN, with the rank of sergeant-commander, RCN reserved (retired).

A member of the board of directors of the Canadian Cancer Society, he is a member of the executive committee of the Quebec division of the society.

Slow focussing causes accidents

Motorists can avoid two out of three driving offences by attention to problems, according to a group of researchers who have been enquiring into the situation.

"We believe that attention to these findings can prevent accidents and save many lives," says Dr. Raymond Marchand, optometrist, president of the College of Optometry who at the same time announced the appointment of Dr. Louis Vallières as national chairman of publicity for Better Vision week for Canada, to be held September 14-21.

Taking an active part in the forthcoming campaign will be Dr. Paul E. Talbot, President of the Visual Welfare League; Dr. Robert Fournier, President of the Quebec Analytical Optometry and the Canadian Association of the Optometrists.

According to tests, more than 60% of motorists lack the ability to focus their eyes quickly, and cannot judge depth and distance correctly. Such drivers do not necessarily need glasses and the type of visual problem does not show up in regular tests with a wall chart.

"Many can see perfectly well once they have taken time to focus their eyes," adds Dr. Vallières, "but have slow or lazy eye muscles. This may cause a momentary delay in focussing when changing the vision from one side of the road to the other, or in looking up from moving traffic to a road sign or traffic signal."

Driving at night in the face of oncoming headlights may cause rapid tiring of the eyes, soreness of the neck or headaches, all of which can mean danger in a fast moving car.

Visual defects of this nature are equally common among people who wear glasses and those who do not.

To bring an awareness of such visual problems to the motoring public and to find some solution of them, one complete day of Better Vision Week will be devoted to vision and motoring. It is hoped that the week, sponsored by the Canadian Association of Optometrists and Visual Welfare League of the Province Quebec, will make a vital and important contribution to the promotion of safety and better motoring on the roads of Canada.

WE SAY

Land tax hike reasonable one

WORD that tax on land in the municipality was being increased by approximately 20 per cent has been received by local residents with mixed feelings.

This is no surprise.

Nobody wants to pay increased taxes, if it can be avoided.

This increase, however, which affects virtually every taxpayer in the municipality, appears to be a reasonable one.

Municipal costs are increasing steadily, like other costs, and for basically the same reason — labor and materials.

Some who have received the news with unfavorable reaction make mention of the fact that the budget has been balanced and therefore it might be possible to get along another year without any increase.

This is like postponing a visit to the dentist. The ache is already making itself apparent in the need for additional expenditures of all kinds.

Now is the time to do something to raise the funds that will be needed. The municipality has gone about the matter fairly, it seems, and has even given notice that this is the first of more increases to come.

This is the price of progress, and though some don't want it — it is here, and there is nothing that can be done about it, except to make sure that we get good value for our tax dollar.

YOU SAY

Threatening judges not in public favor

Sir: Threatening judges of the higher or lower courts with violence or death with a view to intimidating them from carrying out their responsible duties is not likely to find favor with the public or the government. The courts exist to assist in maintaining law and order and punishing offenders against the criminal code or an order in contempt proceedings. Unions and their leaders are not entitled to any special privileges not enjoyed by the ordinary citizen.

The law abiding public expects our courts to be severe in cases where serious crimes are committed. I have heard more than one expression of opinion that if long sentences do not deter in diminishing the rash of banditry and burglary that the lash should be applied.

It is bad enough when professional criminals flaunt the law without those enjoined by a Superior Court refusing to desist from their illegal conduct.

Judging by what one reads or hears, Mr. Justice Manson is not likely to be influenced by threats. Our judges of the several jurisdictions and those associated with them are entitled to the respect and co-operation of all law abiding citizens. The rule of law is applicable to all classes without distinction or exception.

Watchdog over Metro

By CYNTHIA JONES

Montrealers can take comfort in the thought that the man at the helm of the new Montreal Metropolitan Corporation — essentially a 'spending' organization — is a chartered accountant with a reputation in business circles for administering fairly and spending wisely.

A new personality to politics and politicians, 49-year-old Roland Chagnon is finding his new job a challenge in many respects. Ironically under his jurisdiction are 14 City of Montreal councillors, 12 mayors, including Mayor Sarto Fournier, and two aldermen of other municipalities who individually are expected to fight for their rights.

Seeking useful knowledge on both Mr. Chagnon and his commission, we found him in his un-airconditioned office in the Langelier building at 506 St. Catherine street east one afternoon last week when the temperature soared to a discouraging 90 degrees. Mr. Chagnon, a suave-looking man, slim and six feet tall, seemed unperturbed about the heat or the problems facing his commission. Calm and cool, he wore a neat brown suit. Few men wear brown well but it suits Mr. Chagnon perhaps because he has greying dark brown hair and exceedingly brown eyes.

CHALLENGE

"My appointment here came as a big surprise to me and everyone else," he said. "Just before Easter when I was dropping out of many extra curricular activities, and on my way to New York for a holiday with my wife and son, I received a call from Paul Dezois, the minister of municipal affairs, who has been a personal friend of mine for 25 years, offering me this job. I was given two hours to make up my mind. I hesitated for a few minutes but it seemed a pretty big challenge, and interesting, so I took it."

Mr. Chagnon also is the very busy president and managing director of an expand-

By the way . . .

A FILM actress gave an odd reason for hesitating over a fifth marriage. She said, "I don't want to lose face." I am not ungentlemanly enough to suggest that, familiar as I am with her photographs, the loss would be no great one. But I can understand her reluctance to outrage the moral code of Hollywood. To be cut by the prigs who allow themselves no more than four husbands would be humiliating. When the dairymaid said to the lord of the manor, "My face is my fortune," he replied tartly, "You must be the poorest girl on the estate, my dear."

Returning to Corporation affairs, Mr. Chagnon said the body was set up to co-ordinate all the solutions to problems that have a metropolitan character. He reeled off examples — main traffic arteries, large parks such as the zoo and botanical gardens, tourism and industrial development, health problems such as the general control of milk supplies coming into Montreal and water pollution.

"We are carrying on the Metropolitan boulevard which was started by the defunct commission," he said. "By October it will reach from Pie IX to Decarie boulevard and will have cost $63,000,000. Ours is a spending committee you know and we must prepare people that if they want super highways we must spend money. The thing is to spend it wisely."

INSIDE OUT

Mr. Chagnon who says he knows Montreal inside out, was born and educated here. His father is Pierre Chagnon, 83, who retired from the city police force as a policeman on the beat in 1933. His mother died three years ago. His brother, Marcel, 42, is a vice-president and director of International Electric Company.

In 1947 he returned to Montreal as a director and treasurer of Dupuis Freres, became manager of the store division and butcher shop. "I was 17 and made $5 or $6 a week," he said. "Then I went into a bank as a clerk for the summer holidays at $10. For a time I worked for an ice manufacturing company selling ice coupons at $15 a week. I graduated to a broker's office at $18 a week. In the depth of the depression I was articulated at $12 remained there until he bought his yeast company."

A family man, Mr. Chagnon lives with his wife, the former Mariette Gagne, whom he married in 1940, and son, Jean, 10, a student at Providence College Notre Dame de Grace, at 4606 Harvard avenue.

In 1957 Mr. Chagnon was president of both the Chambre de Commerce de Montreal and Le Cercle Universitaire de Montreal. A member of the Rotary, Ste. Denis and Seignory clubs, he likes reading and travelling. His business takes him to Europe on occasion.

By VALENTINA RAHR

SAM STEINBERG, Aberdeen avenue, head of the food merchandising empire, will soon control an organization second to none in the Province of Quebec and in the Toronto area. Diminutive and dynamic president of the Quebec food chain, he recently engineered the purchase of 38 stores and other properties in Ontario from Grand Union-Carroll's Ltd. Mr. Steinberg predicted that Steinberg's Ltd. will add at least 10 new stores in the Toronto area.

Though the principals in the transaction declined to say how much money was involved, they did state that it was a cash deal. When asked if the reported entry of the Loblaw chain into Quebec had anything to do with the purchase of the Grand Union's Canadian interests, Mr. Steinberg said it had. "When Loblaw's bought sites in Quebec and committed themselves to properties there, we looked around for a deal with an established chain which would get us into business in a hurry in Ontario," he stated. "We'll open our first new store here very shortly," he continued. "It is one planned by Grand Union at the corner of Bathurst and Sheppard. This will be our greatest area of growth for quite a while and we'll soon have as many stores here as in Quebec."

The Steinberg's chain in Quebec has 67 stores. It was started in 1917 by the late Mrs. Ida Steinberg with a capital of $300. Her five sons now operate a public stock company which has 110 stores with annual sales of over 170 million dollars. The Steinberg team is made up of Max, Nathan, Jack, Sam and Morris. They keep a photograph of their late mother in their office.

DR. WILDER PENFIELD, Montrose avenue, internationally acclaimed surgeon, said recently in a statement on the subject of neurological research: "Success in brain research will bring to man an understanding of the mind of man and the cause of its disorders." One of the chemicals isolated within the past three years by teams working under Dr. Elliott, has been designated GABA, and was first discovered in the brain nine years ago by Dr. N. M. van Gelder at the Montreal Neurological Institute, before its special activity was known.

GABA, created and used within the brain cells themselves, slows down or dampens activity in brain nerve cells, and maintains moderation of both voluntary and involuntary activity. Dr. van Gelder pointed out that the chemicals will enable science to regulate brain activity for investigation purposes, and perhaps lead to treatment of such disorders as epilepsy and some types of insanity. "As far as practical use of GABA is concerned right now," Dr. van Gelder continued, "nothing definite has yet been determined, though doctors in the United States are trying it in some special kinds of epilepsy."

JEANINE BEAUBIEN, Grosvenor avenue, president and general manager of La Poudriere, has made a success of her long cherished dream of having an international theatre dedicated to the theatrical arts of Montreal's several cultures. Under her enthusiastic direction, La Poudriere has proved that artistic enterprise and solvency are not necessarily contradictory. Time and again thumping full houses have been drawn to the narrow, arched playhouse set in a historic powder house erected back in 1822. A total of 3,598 people attended performances of "Gigi" in French and English (the first production); and poets, singers, pianist and plays in German, French, Italian and English have followed with success. With such a year behind her, and even though there are some deficits still to be met due to the stylish renovation of the theatre, Mme. Beaubien can look forward with pride to beginning a second year. Montreal's International Theatre on St. Helen's Island is here to stay.

Opening Festivals concert a triumph

By FRANCES GOLTMAN

IN THE OPENING EVENT of the 1959 Montreal Festivals, the first concert was a veritable triumph. One of the world's great interpreters, a master virtuoso, Wilhelm Kempff, who makes the piano speak, made his debut on this continent, Monday night in the Comedie Canadienne Theatre playing two concertos with Dr. Wilfrid Pelletier superbly conducting the Symphony of the Air.

THE KIND OF PLAYING offered by Wilhelm Kempff is what one always wishes to hear but seldom does. This marvelous musician has everything. He belongs to the list of pianistic giants... Paderewski, Cortot, Hofmann, de Pachmann, Rosenthal, Schnabel, Lhevinne... to mention a few masters who have many equal qualities that linger forever in my memory. Kempff's graduation of tone is something that all pianists strive for but his ease in this phase is astonishing. What an interpreter! Wilhelm Kempff is a virtuoso who makes the composer speak.

THE TWO CONCERTI, Beethoven's third in C minor and Schumann's piano Concerto in A minor were equally marvelous. The audience was held spell-bound for both and an ovation was accorded this great man for each number. His unostentatious manner endeared him to his listeners and it is to be hoped that serious students of the piano will avail themselves of the rare opportunity to hear him perform four Beethoven Sonatas on August 7th.

THE ORCHESTRA was an excellent unit of seasoned ensemble players who were inspired for the occasion. A Canadian (Continued on Page 13)

26th annual Craftsman's Fair opens August 4 at Gilford, New Hampshire

When vacationers and visiting craftsmen arrive next week at the 26th annual Craftsman's Fair at Gilford, New Hampshire, they will find it more than a gigantic exhibit and sale of handcrafted products.

The fair, to be held Aug. 4 through 8 at the Belknap Recreation area, will be an event in the world of art, with special displays of unusual work, demonstrations of two types, and lectures by out-of-state leaders in the handcrafts field. Fair hours are 10 a.m. to 5.30 p.m. daily, with an open evening on Wednesday.

Occupying the stage as "experts" will be a Chinese potter, a jeweler and a weaver from Stockbridge, Mass., and a silk screen designer of Gill, Mass., whose country prints are popular throughout New England and beyond its borders.

In addition to these lectures, there will be continuous demonstrations going all through the Fair, and special start-to-finish demonstrations of techniques for those interested in a closer look at craft processes.

The League of New Hampshire Arts and Crafts, which sponsors this annual fair, offers ways to learn better techniques, sounder and more satisfying design, and a glimpse of how successful craftsmen outside New Hampshire "do it themselves." While these opportunities are offered to the membership all through the year, the league plans for a wider participation at the five-day Fair, in a program which should be of interest to native and visiting artists, and to patrons of the arts.

The lecturers are Fong Chow, once of Hong Kong and now a New York City potter, instructor and assistant curator at the Metropolitan Museum; Miss Audri Tuverson of Stockbridge, a weaver; Robert Darr Wert of Gill, designer in silk screen of household linens, tiles and greeting cards, and Miss Joan Erikson of Stockbridge, a jeweler.

The schedule of special events, to which the public is invited: Tuesday, Aug. 4 at 2, a special demonstration in the art of enameling by Joseph Tripetti of Tuftonboro, league member and former instructor at the Currier Gallery, Manchester; Tuesday at 3 p.m., demonstration of pottery process by John Emery of Concord, assisted by Susan Norton Taylor of Portsmouth.

Wednesday, at 11 a.m., demonstration of textile stenciling by Mrs. Ellen Eppelsheimer of Epsom, consigning league member; Wednesday at 2 p.m., open meeting of the Handprinters Guild, with Mr. Wert speaking on "A Craftsman's Life Today."

Thursday, at 11 a.m., demonstration on weaving by Dorothy Peterson of Ossipee and Margaret Carter of Charlestown, both members of the league; Thursday, at 2 p.m., open meeting of Weavers guild, Miss Tuverson, "Directions and Discoveries in Designing."

Friday, Aug. 7, at 11, jewelry demonstration by League Members Winnifred Clark of the University of New Hampshire faculty and Reginald Brewer of Meredith; at 2 p.m., Jewelry and Metalcraft guild, Miss Erikson, "Jewelry - Past, Present and Future."

Saturday, Aug. 8 at 11 a.m., Potters Guild, Fong Chow, potter's wheel demonstration, and illustrated talk. The lecture programs are sponsored by the guilds, groups within the league structure which exist to foster good design and good technique in the several crafts fields.

Final event will be at 2:30, August 8, when an auction will be held. League craftsmen contribute a limited selection of products, and auction proceeds go toward defraying the expenses of the educational program. Auctioneer this year will be Robert F. Miner of Sandwich, to be assisted by Mrs. Joseph Tripetti and Mrs. Eppelsheimer.

The Church

Still in the World

By

The Venerable

R. Kenneth Naylor, D.D.,
Rector, Trinity Memorial Church

Our Lord on the last night of His earthly life prayed for His disciples, not that His Father would take them out of the world but that He would save them from the evil. That sets the scene in which the Church is to carry on its work, in the world but not of the world, and yet made up of fallible human beings, even though spirit filled. There is a curious inconsistency in our Christian lives. St. Paul addresses the Saints in Corinth and tells them what a poor lot of saints they are. They are quarrelsome, divided, unmoral, and yet saints, i.e., men and women who have been dedicated to Christ.

Perhaps that is why St. Paul used the metaphor that he did use to describe the Church. It is God's husbandry, "A vineyard," to quote Isaiah, "in a very fruitful hill," the veritable Garden of the Lord. But a garden grows weeds as well as fruit trees and flowers and vegetables; and strange to say even the Garden of the Lord is not exempt. Our Lord spoke of it in His parable of the Wheat and the Tares. He foresaw that even in the New Dispensation the Vineyard of the Beloved would lack care. He knew that the wall of love that He would build about it would not keep out the enemy who would sow tares. No, even the Garden is committed to the care of fallible human beings. They are dedicated, and should be wholly given to the care of God's vineyard; but unfortunately it still happens that the cares of this world and the deceitfulness of riches and of other things entering in choke the word and it becometh unfruitful. Watch and pray lest ye enter into temptation.

Even the figure of the building or the Temple is not too hopeful. Buildings decay if they are not kept in repair. If you doubt the statement ask my church wardens. Dust accumulates in strange places. Even the Temple of God can become unworthy of the worship of God if the worshippers are not constantly looking both to its beautifying and its renewal. We know too that the body is not free from disease; a limb or Western avenue, well known Canadian painter.

The membership of 70 is made up of professional and amateur painters. "It's a stimulating arrangement to have both in one club" says Eric Wesselow, president of the Independent Art Association.

Plans are being made for another painting picnic which will take place sometime in August, with two especially appointed instructors for the day.

a muscle that is never used becomes atrophied. A sore develops in the body and the whole body is infected if the sore is not dealt with. Certain bloodvessels harden and the life giving blood fails to reach that limb, and the limb has to be amputated. We all know that all these things happen in the Body of Christ, yet it remains His Body, and with all its imperfections and shortcomings it is the one means by which He does His work in the world. He must be grieved by our failures, for, when all is said and done the responsibilities come back to you and me individually. I may be that stone that needs resetting in the Temple of the Lord; or the clump of pigweed that has grown up among the roses. Or Apollos may be the cancer that has made it necessary to have a major operation. As St. Paul says: "These things I have in a figure transferred to myself and Apollos for your sakes: that in us ye might learn."

North American sports car fans prudent, states victorious Locke

"Canadians and Americans are more safety conscious than European sports car enthusiasts, and for this reason we enforce safety belts. The "Roll Bar" attached to the car chassis, is another precaution. It comes over the driver's head, and protects against injury in case of a turn over of the car during an accident. The Roll Bar is being considered as a permanent attachment for sports car racers, as the safest possible way to conduct races. It is a disputed thing right now, and was used for the first time in Canada at the Connor Airport Races held recently at the Canada Day Races," commented Graham Locke, St. Catherine street west, sports car racer and winner of ten trophies thus far during the 1959 sports car season.

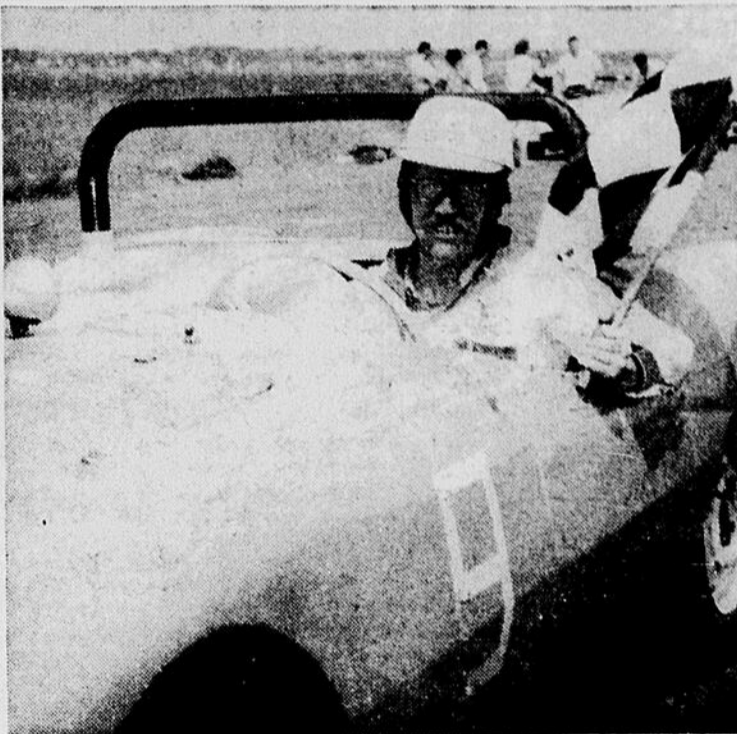

"Races are organized mainly for spectator appeal. In Europe the races are longer, and cover a greater area, sometimes one race taking several hours. In Canada, races are shorter, and more events are scheduled for one day," further said Mr. Locke.

In describing a sports car event he said: "First, at the top, there are the officials. Then come the flag marshalls, who control the race, under international rules of the Federation Internationale d'Automobiles. We are affiliated to the Canadian Automobile Sports Car Club, which is the governing body for Canada, and we work from the rules of the R.A.C. of England, the governing body for most of the Commonwealth. The R.A.C. in turn is represented at the F.I.A. Individual rules are adapted to suit the occasion. One type of adaptation of rules is the adoption of safety devices in Canada.

"Scheduled races include: family sedan race; several races for really productive sports cars; special modified sports car races; and races for specially built cars "souped up" for reaching special speeds and for attaining a certain type of manoeuvrability.

Drivers, wherever they meet, talk of sports car racing and events. "It is an expensive pastime" said Graham Locke. First of all, to become a member of the Montreal M-G Sports Car Club, and to enter competitions, it is necessary to be the owner of a sports car. This is an expensive item to own, as it takes a lot of money to keep it going. Then, if a driver enters all the events he is eligible for in one day, he can easily wear out one complete set of tires."

Another form of competition, which is much milder, is run on public roads, and therefore actual speed is not a factor — is known as a Rally, he explained. Accuracy in time keeping, ability to follow a complicated course at average speed, and loss of points for being too early or too late, are the general rules followed. The Monte Carlo Rally is probably the most well known in the world. In Canada the biggest rally is from Toronto, organized by the British Empire Motor Car Club. In most rallies, a driver is accompanied by a navigator, to tell him what speed and course to follow. The smallest type of rally may take place in one evening, from about 7 p.m. to about 10 p.m. A winter rally, on the other hand, can cover about 1500 miles, lasts a weekend, and often carries a driver, and a navigator who is also a qualified driver, to replace each other during the long hours.

Graham Locke, born and educated in England, came to Canada in 1954, and joined Canadair as an engineer. His interest in sports cars stems from a long way back, when sports car racing was his hobby. Today, he spends all his time making a living at his hobby, at Imported Cars Ltd., which was started two years ago. Sporting a handsome handle bar moustache, Mr. Locke, is one of the outstanding sports car drivers in Canada today. Winner of ten trophies during 1959, he is the proud owner of thirty more, for events in earlier races.

At St. Eugene, driving an Elva Courier for the first time in Canada, he scored as winner of the first event. Second place was won by Fred Richardson, Beaconsfield Ave., in the same race, also driving an Elva Courier.

The next sports car event taking place at St. Eugene, will be on the second Sunday in September, when both Graham Locke and Fred Richardson, expect to compete. About half a dozen racing events are scheduled for different types of cars.

It's too bad the traffic casualty lists couldn't be published just before the weekend rush starts Friday . . . It might have a sobering effect (and we mean sobering) . . . ## DAYTIME NIGHTMARE

By FRANCES GOLTMAN

TODAY'S COLUMN IS NOT about music but a dreadful experience on the train which we hope will not be duplicated by any of our readers.

AS THE "DOMINION" was returning from Vancouver, the long train made its usual stop at Moose Jaw. It was a little late and just as it began to move, in fact it was not out of the station, there was a sudden crash . . . we were all thrown, everyone was stunned into astonishment, nobody knew what happened. When people regained their wits, we realized there had been an accident.

SINCE I WAS SEATED in the last chair of the observation car at the very end of the train, I was fortunate not to have my fingers between my chair and the next seat as so many folks hold the arm of a chair in this manner. Had I done so, all my fingers would have been broken. This is the famous dome car but I think the people seated up there were not shaken as badly as the seats are immovable. One passenger near me had her arm broken. The standing ash trays, so heavy only a man could lift them, toppled over as though they were tissue paper. When everyone tried to gain composure, there was no panic, but each began to ask "What happened?"

ONLY LATER WE FOUND OUT that in order to avoid a head-on collision, because a brakesman had not turned the switch he should have, that the engineer jammed on the emergency brake. The impact had been so powerful that in some cars people were very badly hurt. A heavy woman was writing at the desk in her drawing room, her husband was seated in an easy chair . . . he was unharmed but she was thrown and also hit by the back of the sofa-like bed with the result that she has a broken leg and hand. This couple from Columbus, Ohio, were starting a holiday that included a cruise that was to last until the end of August, but alas she is in a Regina Hospital.

INSTEAD OF WAITING IN Moose Jaw for medical aid, the train sped on to Regina where doctors and ambulances were waiting for the injured.

THE BARTENDER WAS SHAKEN up and he found some of the bottled supply broken. My duplex roomette was in the second to last car and when I returned to it found my things had been replaced by the porter . . . they must have been all thrown down. The dining car which was next was a complete shambles. The head waiter had a bad concussion and was taken to hospital and a number of the waiters were noticeably shaken. A couple of the tables which are stationary in the diner could not be used because the legs were broken. This tells how bad the crash was. Naturally meals could not be served for quite some time. At Winnipeg the diner was taken off and a new one was put in its place.

AN ADJUSTOR INTERROGATED every passenger for claims and is often the case, one just does not realize when still, in a state of shock, if there is anything wrong. A charming couple from Boston thought everything was alright but later the wife began to feel pain in her neck, another gentleman, an older man, could not bend, perhaps he had some fractured ribs but did not think anything was wrong at the time he was investigated.

CONSIDERING THE FACT that there were about 22 cars on the train at that time and several hundred passengers aboard, we should all be thankful that it was not worse and hope the injured will soon be well. It will certainly be many months before those with broken hips and legs will be able to walk again. It was a dreadful experience.

Westmount Rotarians 'go underwater' in search for sunken ship, treasure

Westmount Rotarians were taken back to the days of the American Civil War, blockade runners, battling pirates and sunken treasure as Sidney R. Cook of Hiram Walker Distillery unravelled a technicolor film entitled "Secret Cargo" at the club's weekly luncheon meeting Wednesday.

The 20-minute movie unfolded a story of an American blockade runner, the Martha Towne, which was sunk in the deep, blue waters off the coast of Florida with "a valuable cargo aboard" in 1864.

A man and a woman, the two main characters, underwater explorers by profession, were caught up in the search for the lost ship and its cargo; and aside from avoiding sharks, barracuda, octopi, turbulent underwater currents and other natural elements, took Rotarians into a different and colorfully exciting world.

After consultation with a noted authority on lost treasure ships, hero and heroine discovered that a salvage attempt had been made in 1901 for the lost Martha Towne, but had been unsuccessful "because of storms."

The location of the sunken ship was pinpointed on a map and after outfitting their boat, the explorers, together with their consultant set sail for the waters off the Florida coast.

Shortly after, they arrived at their destination; and with little delay, outfitted themselves with the necessary underwater equipment.

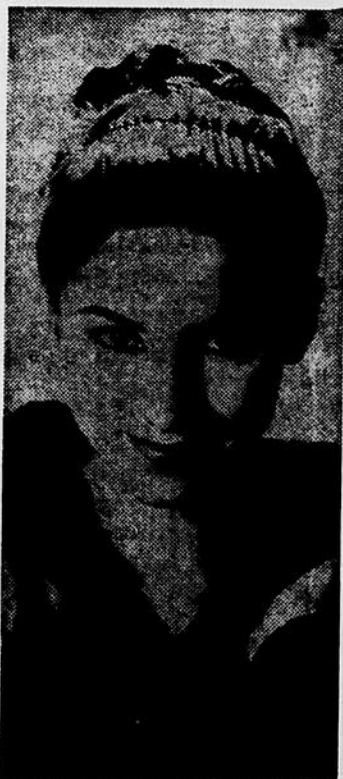

The audience witnessed beautiful underwater scenery as the explorers continued their search in the blue sea.

Suddenly the ship was discovered. Covered with decades of sea growth, coral encrusted, the skeleton of what was once a proud and mighty ship rested among the water-weeds—the entire superstructure gone.

Simpson Press work commences

Work has begun on the second floor addition to The Simpson Press building at 171 Metcalfe street, Westmount. Estimated cost of the addition is $175,000.

Plans call for reinforced concrete smooth ceiling system, tile lining and partitions and a new elevator to serve the second floor and eventual third floor.

LORAINNE SERABIAN, from New York City, plays 'Auntie Mame' in the next summer theatre production at St. Agathe. Lorraine has acted in New York and in summer stock, including the Thousand Islands Playhouse. She graduated from Hofstra College where she studied drama

After a brief ascent, the treasure-seekers returned to the waters armed with a ground-testing device.

And then a chest was discovered buried under the white sands. The hero began to pry it open. But suddenly—blue shark. His female companion was sent quickly to the surface; and the shark, losing one prey, made for the hero.

The underwater adventurer lifted his spear-gun, took careful aim and fired. But the shark was merely wounded. Quickly the hero sped to the surface and scrambled up the ship's ladder.

As the shark rose to the surface, one of the men on the boat fired a heavy rifle and killed the marauder.

Before long, hero and heroine were in the water again. They pried open the earlier discovered chest and found—iron horseshoes—articles of very great value in Civil War days.

But our hero, not having realized his childhood dream of gold doub-loons and Spanish pieces of eight, returned to the watery depths, and discovered the ship captain's private chest.

Hastily he pried it open. Quickly he untied the string about the little black bag sheltered from the elements in the steel chest.

Just as he opened the bag and saw the sparkling gold coins, he was suddenly doubled up by an extreme cramp in the abdomen.

His companions, who had been impatiently awaiting his return before an impending hurricane, plunged into the water, and without further ado, hauled him to the surface and onto the boat.

Home at last, hero and heroine, while sorting the underwater equipment, discovered a shining gold coin which had dropped onto the table from one of the flippers.

His adventurous spirit aroused once again, the hero vowed his return to the watery grave of the Martha Towne and her "valuable cargo."

St. Matthias Church scene Ancrum-Taggart wedding

The marriage of Susan Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McKay Taggart, of Westmount, to Mr. Charles Cameron Ancrum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Ferguson Ancrum, took place on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock in St. Matthias

Church, Westmount, the Rev. Kenneth B. Keefe officiating. Mr. Bellis played the wedding music, and Mrs. Bellis sang during the signing of the register. Baskets of garden flowers were used to decorate the church.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was gowned in white silk organza and Chantilly lace, with a fitted bodice, appliqued with lace, having a scoop neckline and short sleeves, and a bouffant skirt, appliqued with the same lace, falling into a chapel train. Her veil of tulle illusion was held by a bandeau of lilly-of-the-valley, and she carried a bouquet of mixed summer flowers.

Miss Pamela Ellis, as maid of honor, and Miss Mary Dunbar, Miss Kit Soor, Miss Leslie Loomis, and Miss Marcia Gibbs-Carsley as bridesmaids, were in frocks of yellow embroidered organdy, fashioned on princess lines, with fitted bodices having scoop necklines, short sleeves, and deeper yellow satin cummerbunds forming large bows at the back, and full skirts. They wore bandeaux of garden flowers in their hair, and carried bouquets of the same flowers.

Little Miss Meredith Loomis as flower-girl, was in a frock of yellow organdy, with a fitted bodice having a collar appliqued with flowers, and a full skirt. She wore a bandeau of garden flowers, and carried a bouquet of mixed flowers.

Mr. John Ancrum acted as best man for his brother, and the ushers were Mr. Stan English, Mr. Kenneth Copland, Mr. James Taggart, and Mr. James Hawkes. Mrs. Taggart, the bride's mo-

The flags, and bunting, once so gay,

Have now been stored, and put away,

The blue and silver Royal Yacht,

Dismantled now, — not seen again;

But still, the glamor lingers on,

Our lovely Queen, our eyes have seen,

Old England's gracious Queen;

Her Consort too, so debonnaire,

The people welcomed everywhere.

Children's bedrooms should be adequate

Child care specialists report that a bedroom currently adequate for a toddler often will fail to provide sufficient facilities for a growing youngster of school age.

The experts emphasize that there must be plenty of play space, interesting toys and equipment and easy-to-reach storage space so that the children can learn to pick up their playthings during the formative pre-teen years.

An attractive and easy-to-clean decor is a "must" for an older child's bedroom, which is designed for activity. A colorful and practical bedroom can be achieved in any home if the walls are covered with plastic-finished panelling, which is available at lumber yards in plain colors and wood-grain patterns.

Pastel colors are particularly effective in a girl's bedroom, while the boys prefer the rugged appearance of the wood-grains. Pre-decorated hardboard has a permanent plastic finish that never requires refinishing. It can be kept clean with an occasional damp wiping. Even hard-to-remove scuff marks and fingerprints can be wiped off instantly.

Many families are installing one four-by-eight foot panel of Peg-Board in a matching color or woodgrain to provide adequate space for a combination display and storage board. Children can hang school work, handcraft, pictures and other paraphernalia on this panel, which also has a smooth, easy-to-clean plastic finish. Even coats and hats can be kept on this versatile panel.

A plain white panel of pre-decorated hardboard installed on the back of the bedroom door will provide plenty of space for the children to draw, work arithmetic problems and write messages. They can use a grease pencil, and erase with a damp cloth.

An all-purpose bedroom should provide for the mental and emotional growth as well as the physical comfort of a growing child.

Many tourists are amazed at the causeway extending from Aulds Cove to Port Hastings which links Cape Breton Island and the mainland of Nova Scotia. This causeway, 7,000 feet long, is the deepest one made by man and machine in the world.

Miss Margaret Ann Riddell weds John G. Paterson

The marriage of Margaret Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merele W. Riddell, of Outremont, to Mr. John Gordon Paterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Patterson, of Westmount, took place on Saturday afternoon at half past three o'clock in the People's Church, the Rev. John F. Dempster officiating, assisted by the Rev. Dwight L. Patterson, of Grace Church, Kingston, Ont. Mr. Albert Weckes played the wedding music, and Mr. Douglas Foster sang during the signing of the register. Baskets of lilac and white gladioli arranged with greenery were used to decorate the church.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was gowned in white pointe d'esprint, with a fitted bodice having a bandeau neckline edged with shirred tulle and tiny appliqued daisies and long sleeves, and a bouffant skirt also appliqued with daisies. Her finger-length veil of tulle illusion was held by a coronet of seed pearls, and she carried a semi-cascade bouquet of pink roses, white carnations, and white feathered chrysanthemums.

Miss Barbara Smith, as maid of honor, and Miss Joan Riddell and Miss Frances Riddell, as bridesmaids for their sister, were in frocks of silk organza over taffeta with cummerbunds having large self bows at the back; Miss Smith being in pink, Miss Joan Riddell in lilac, and Miss Frances Riddell in mauve. They wore veil head-dresses and accessories to match their frocks, and carried baskets of mauve pompons, white shasta daisies, and blush pink carnations.

Little Miss Beverley Mosby, niece of the bridegroom, as flower-girl was in a frock of white organza having a pink cummerbund. She wore a pink headress, and carried a tiny basket of pink Sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

Mr. Harry Nasmith acted as best man for his cousin, and the ushers were Mr. David Paterson, brother of the bridegroom, Mr. Gerald Heeny, cousin of the bridegroom, and Mr. Robert Woodburn.

Mrs. Riddell, the bride's mother, wore a sheath gown of peacock blue silk embroidered in white, a hat of the same shade, and a corsage bouquet of pink Sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Paterson, mother of the bridegroom, was gowned in printed silk. She wore a hat to match her gown, black accessories, and a corsage bouquet of white roses.

The reception was held in the church hall, where pink, mauve, and white snapdragons arranged with greenery were used as decoration.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Paterson left for their wedding trip, the bride travelling in a green ensemble, and wearing a beige hat

CAC mobilizes resources to deal with stamp problem

The Quebec Provincial (English) Branch of the Canadian Association of Consumers is very much concerned about trading stamps. The majority of large chain stores are now using them, as well as small groceries, druggists and even large furniture stores and gas stations. CAC is making every effort to deal with the problem, both from the point of view of an educational campaign and by their contact with representatives of both Federal and Provincial Governments.

The CAC kept in touch with a large chain not using stamps, assuring them of their support; urging them to emphasize the principal "save cash" in their advertising. Sales in this chain dropped off at first (as stamps are not a policy of this company) but since then sales have been steadily increasing. One smaller chain of groceries offered a choice of stamps or a cash discount. The management of this chain now reports that, although interest of the discount was slow to appear, it has been steadily overtaking the acceptance of stamps until a rough figure may now be taken as fifty-fifty.

Members of the executive of CAC have spoken on the radio dealing with this subject of trading stamps and have appeared on TV programs. They have also spoken to many different groups and associations and nowhere have they found an enthusiastic acceptance of trading stamps. People want instead, the lowest possible price for groceries and other goods.

This is only one of the many problems CAC are working on to help the Canadian consumer. They have several new branches making 40 branches, 18 co-operating organizations, 13 groups under branch standing, other groups, Student memberships and Sustaining memberships. Mrs. E. H. S. Piper, 3375 Somerest, Cartierville, is the president of the Quebec Provincial (English) Branch.

Surplus Hair Is No Hush - Hush Problem!

By Mrs. Zenaida Prado

You have no reason to be ashamed or embarrassed when unwanted hair appears on your body. This can happen to any woman, and actually does happen to most of us some time or other.

For instance, it's quite normal for surplus hair to appear during the normal functional changes in a woman's life. Certain medicines, illnesses and operations are also linked with growth of unwanted hair. But the causes are many and too mysterious to worry about.

The point is, don't let these unsightly hairs stay long enough to cause any emotional damage.

Get rid of them, quickly and permanently.

SENSIBLE ANSWER

That's the kind of work we do in the Gregory System Hair Removal Clinics. We remove unwanted hair permanently, painlessly, and with complete safety. Our technique, the newest one developed by modern science, is so fast that we are able to remove hair faster and at less cost than was dreamed possible a few years ago.

Our Gregory technique is so painless that many women sleep through their treatments.

Our Gregory technicians are so expert that they can remove up to 500 hairs at the cost to you of a couple of tubes of standard depilatory! And these hairs are gone once and for all.

Our Gregory method, known medically as "sterilization of the papilla" through short-waves, is recommended by physicians the world over. It is equally effective in removing dark hair and the "white hair" on the side of the face that troubles some women in applying make-up.

Zenaida Prado, Technical Supervisor of the Gregory System clinics, explains the benefits of the new permanent hair removal method.

INVITATION

Won't you come in for a visit at your convenience? We'll be happy to show you through the clinic personally, to explain how everything works . . . and to remove a few of your most troublesome hairs if you wish. There'll be no obligation, of course — except our obligation to show you how sensible and easy it is to get rid of unwanted hair permanently.

Two Convenient Locations

Two, most fashionable, Gregory System Clinics are now operating in Montreal at the following locations:

west, was beginning to look like a squirrel-cage, the Westmount Police Force deployed Constable Edward James to oversee the intersection.

Constable James soon became an institution at the corner. Many a youngster, dashing through a red light to catch a bus, found the long and heavy arm of the law firmly planted on his shoulder while the constable patiently explained that it was better to go to school late than not at all.

Timid old ladies, scurrying across the wide street in the face of a yellow light, were brought up short by the impressive height of Constable James, who dealt with them in his kindly but firm way.

Just for the record, the final word on trying to beat the yellow light as set out in article nine of by-law 501 is as follows:

"When facing a yellow light, the driver or pedestrian must stop and must not enter the intersection or crosswalk until the green light appears, unless he is so near that a stop cannot be made in safety."

The right of way, however, remains in the pedestrian's favor: "When facing a green light, the driver or pedestrian may proceed but the driver must always yield the right of way to a pedestrian or vehicle lawfully within a crosswalk or intersection at the time such a signal was exhibited."

dian composer, Roger Matton, had the good fortune to have his new work "Horoscope" on this program. It is an interesting composition in five sections. Part 3, "The Flight" and the 5th movement, "The Marriage" are particularly good.

AND WHY IS THE Symphony no. 4 opus 88 by Anton Dvorak not heard more frequently? It is a superb vehicle that shows the Czech composer at his best. He is a master of orchestration. The first movement, Allegro con Brio reminds one of folk tunes, such melody! And, we suspect that Khatchaturian got some of his inspiration from the third movement. The audience really enjoyed it and gave great applause to Dr. Wilfrid Pelletier and the fine ensemble. It was indeed a memorable concert.

TO BE GOOD!

OTTAWA, Ontario: The 59th annual Canadian Canoe Association Dominion regatta was not as exciting as if the crews were running neck-and-neck with each race seeing a new leader in front. But, it did hold your interest as Cartierville, who scored 135 points for their third Dominion burgee, came up with first, seconds and other. At one time, in the juvenile event, three members of Carts placed first, second and third. Very unusual for any club who seldom have the three entries into a Dominion. This time Carts moved into the capital city with 30 entries. They not only had quantity but they also had quality. They proved that in the East by sweeping all meets.

George Bossy, who took this writer apart several weeks ago has proven his point that Carts were going to win the Dominion. They won it with ease. It was mentioned that other clubs will have to follow suit and use the larger paddle that Cartierville are using. In the war canoe events, you could see the Carts, who won all four, pull away from the rest of the pack in the final sprint to the finishing line. Their stroke is also different. It is not often that Jim Mossman, Balmy Beach goes home without a war canoe event. At one time he had Doc Whittall's, of Lachine, number but this time Mossman went home with no wins.

Padding seems to be on the mend. In Toronto where Island lost their island and their clubhouse, plans are underway to operate again. Only four paddlers competed in the 59th running here. Toronto Sailing have worked out with the West End YMCA who added paddling to their program. That brings in the juvenile paddlers. Maybe the same idea with the Verdun YMCA might work for Grand Trunk. It is at least worth a try.

The old point system, 5, 3, 2, 1 would not have seen Carts any worse off than with their 135 points. They had 11 firsts, worth 55 points under the old system. They had better second and third placings this year. They improved all around. Last year it was 89 points, they better that and dropped Lachine by 12 less. They were almost the whole Eastern Division.

They were talking of the heat in this part of the country and the lack of water. You'll find many traffic changes in Ottawa, especially along Carling which is route 17 to Northern Ontario. All new road and still more changes are being made. There'll be a by pass of Ottawa and Eastview by next spring on the Queensway. But, somehow Ottawa remains unchanged. Their light posts always seem to be out of place in this modern age.

like it is in other Big Four cities. Judging by those who have seen Ottawa, they are going to be stronger than last year. They seem to have the horses that will pull, instead of not pulling as they did last season. Ottawa could have a winner this season. The Big Four Club hooked up a deal with Cornwall. It sounds good for the Emards. Benny Steck will be the coach and Benny is remembered so well around the QRFU circles. He'll be remembered by the old boys of Rockland football clubs. Ben will have plenty to talk about when he plays in Pointe Claire and Verdun.

In 1928, Lachine placed first, second and third in the senior single blade event. The paddlers were: Jarvis, Lindsay and Whittall. The same boys also had a wonderful day in the tandem and the four. This was a big year for Lachine who have four straight burgees, from 1929 to 1932. Carts have one year to go, and the way that they are going, 1960 will be the same as 1959.

LeRiche loses junior golf title to Kennedy

The first running of the junior Dominion golf tournament is finished and the Pepsi Cola silver cup belongs to a Vancouver boy, Allan Kennedy, who played with uncanny putting form and had his game under control at all times.

Kennedy defeated Gordon LeRiche, 8 and 6 in the 36 hole final at Kanawaki in the fourth day of the junior tournament. LeRiche, a member from Quebec had already won the Dominion team prize.

The 16-year old Hampstead youngster had no regrets. He felt that he was happy to get past the other rounds. "It was really something to play Kennedy in the final," said LeRiche. He is the Quebec junior champion. Kennedy also beat out another member of the Quebec winning team, Stan Clarke of Marlborough 5 and 4.

Kennedy finished two up after nine holes and increased this margin to four at the end of 18. The steady stroking Vancouver youngster continued his superb play in the afternoon and boosted his margin to six up after 27.

The match ended on the par 4, 30th when LeRiche overshot the green on his second shot, failed to hit the carpet on his next and conceded the hole to Kennedy.

Kennedy had complete control of his game, seldom strayed with his tee shots. His approaches were sensational for the most part and his putting, especially in the afternoon round, had the gallery gasping.

The modest Vancouver Marise Drive golfer, had seven one putt greens and knocked them inches from the pin from distances of 50 and 60 feet with ease.

Ottawa winners await Quebec lawn bowlers

OTTAWA (Special) — Ottawa Lawn Bowling Club rinks skipped by D. Berry and G. Hebert easily reached the Governor-General's final against as yet unknown Quebec opponents.

They took care of Highland Park opposition, 53-20 in the double-rink area final.

Berry outlasted E. P. Roy, 23-14, and Hebert stopped J. Habbishaw, 30-6, in the 21-end games.

Final is scheduled for the Saturday before Labor Day on either Elmdale or Highland Park.

Localites in national shoot

Seven Canadians, four from Montreal, are competing in the National Skeet Shooting Association world championships at Virginia Beach, Va., according to an announcement by the Montreal Skeet Club.

The shoot commenced last Monday, and winds up Saturday, August 8.

Montrealers are Norton Francis, Bill White, Dick Tobin and Stuart Molson. Molson is president of the National Skeet Shooting Association.

Shining hope of the Canadian team is RCAF Squadron Leader Barney Hartman of Ottawa, who captured both the Canadian open and closed all-gauge crown at the national skeet championships at Montreal. He is considered one of the hottest shots on the continent. Others who will attend are George Carnegie, Toronto, and Ray Ashton of Ottawa.

Approximately 400 skeet shooters from the western hemisphere are expected to compete at Virginia Beach.

England scores 2 cricket wins

England's Marylebone Cricket Club won the second game of its tour of Canada and the United States Saturday defeating a Montreal District Amateur Cricket League select side by 70 runs at Lower Canada College pitch.

Final score was MCC 145 runs all out, Montreal 75 runs all out.

The visitors' captain Denis Silk was back in action after a slight ailment kept him from playing the previous day in the MCC's first match against the local side.

MCC won the toss and batted first. As in the previous game, their first wickets fell fast, and at one point four wickets had fallen for 32 runs. A stand by John Thompson and Bob Barber rallied the side and added 53 runs before Barber was finally caught by Charlest White off Len Simpson.

Best bat at MCC was Barber, who scored 37, three runs more than Thompson's 34.

For Montreal, Simpson took four wickets for 48 runs in 17 overs, five of them maidens, and Noel Harris took four for 37, 37 in six over.

Montreal with 145 to beat had difficulty with the attacking MCC bowlers A. C. Smith and Mordaunt.

A sturdy stand by Hendy Wilkinson was ended when a sharply rising ball from Mordaunt touched his bat before he could snatch it away and he was caught in slips by Thompson.

For MCC best bowler was Mordaunt who had six for 29. Smith took two for 42 and Ian Bedford with two overs, one of them a maiden, took one for four.

Marylebone Cricket Club, playing without captain Dennis Silk, defeated a Montreal all-star club 192 all out to 106 all out Friday in the first of two exhibition cricket matches at Lower Canada College pitch.

Silk, a star player from Somerset, sustained a minor injury in practise and could not play.

The accurate, intelligent bowling of the Montreal team had MCC struggling for the greater part of their innings.

However, the last wicket partnership of Ian Bedford and Jack Bailey for 104 runs in 57 minutes saved the match for the touring team.

The lunchtime score was 65 for 7, with MCC having 27 for 5 wickets down.

Brodie's rink United winner

As skip of his Westmount rink, he was beaten out by Verdun's Jim Brodie crew, then ended in a tie for second with two other Verdun rinks.

It was another win for Brodie, his fifth since July. This time his crew, George McCracken, Art Kane and Bob Fender won the United Amusements Trophy, played on the Westmount greens.

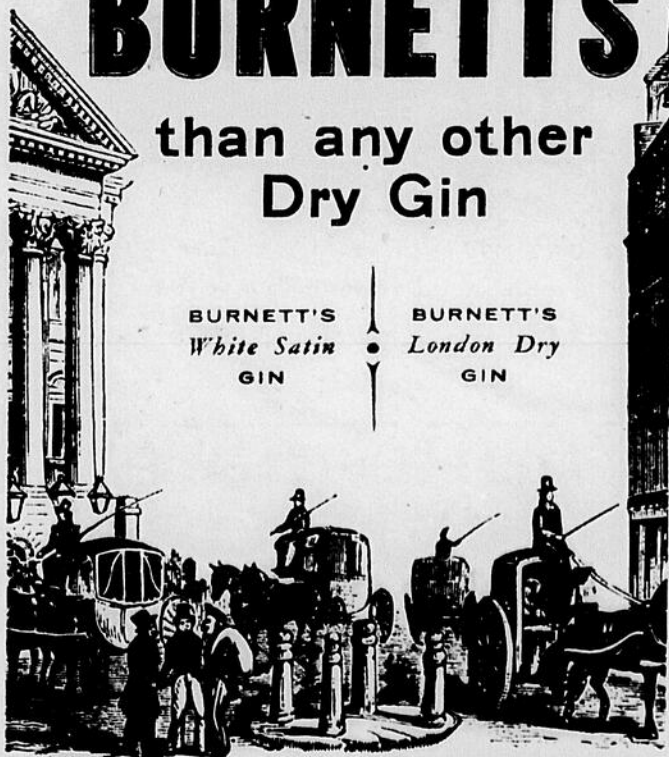

Verdun scored 13 plus in two games. Bill Burnside, skip of the provincial winning rink and Bob Porter's rink were tied with Henderson.

The 28th running of the Dupuis Shield, sponsored by the Verdun club will be held on Saturday starting at 10.30. Three ends of 12 each will be played. Teams from Ottawa, Cornwall and Valleyfield as well as city and district teams will compete.

John Henderson, president of the Province of Quebec Lawn Bowling Association was in tough company on the weekend.

Quebec 'glad' enthusiasts prepare for annual show

The silver anniversary annual exhibition of the Quebec Gladiolus Society will be held in the Armoury of the Royal Montreal Regiment in the City of Westmount on the 11th and 12th of August. This show is open to the public from 3:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. Tuesday the 11th August, and from 11:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m. Wednesday the 12th August.

The official opening will take place at 8:00 p.m. Tuesday the 11th August. Amongst the distinguished visitors who are expected to assist in this ceremony are His Worship Mayor J. C. Cushing of the City of Westmount, the former Mayor, Mr. A. S. Bruneau, His Worship Mayor Ted Wilson of the City of Verdun, Major Gen. J. M. Rockingham, C.B., C.B.E., D.S.O., E.D., General Officer Commanding Headquarters Quebec Command, Lt. Col. Taylor J. Kennedy, O.C. of the Royal Montreal Regiment and Capt. R. L. Borrer, Adjutant of the Royal Montreal Regiment.

The exhibition is expected to live up to the high reputation of former years wherein the display of fine gladiolus bloom has been beyond description. In past years the success of the gladiolus exhibition has been enhanced by contributors from outside the Province of Quebec, many of whom have come from south of the border and from our sister province of Ontario.

A very imposing list of prizes has already been assured for winning exhibitors. Rosettes and medals for the champions of the show are being awarded by the New England Gladiolus Society, The North American Gladiolus Council, The Canadian Gladiolus Society, The Green Mountain Gladiolus Society and the Quebec Gladiolus Society.

Again this year, Gordie Sinclair

the popular radio announcer has consented to M.C. the presentation of prizes, which will commence at 8:00 p.m. Wednesday evening, and also to aid in the auction of bloom at 8:30 p.m.

Receipts from the sale of bloom will again be in aid of the R.M.R. Regimental Sick Fund.

The Quebec Gladiolus Society wishes to acknowledge the generosity of the army command in permitting the use of the armoury for the staging of the gladiolus exhibition.

One Spring appeal urged for Welfare

Charles H. Young, executive director of Welfare Federation of Montreal, said yesterday the Province of Quebec today spends more money on welfare services than the more populous Province of Ontario.

In an address to the Rotary Club of Montreal, Mr. Young also called for the federation of all "health drives" in Montreal into one united appeal to be held every Spring.

Tracing the development of social services in Canada, Mr. Young said such federal developments as unemployment insurance, family allowances and the national hospital insurance plan have been accompanied by a similar development of provincial services.

In this respect the Province of Quebec tended to lag behind other provinces until recent years when "substantial advances" were made, he said.
