

An ocean boat travelling toward the west on the St. Lawrence Seaway ran aground on a gravel bank opposite River Beaudette on Thursday morning, May 21st. There was a heavy fog at the time and this may have caused the boat to go off course. The gravel bank is about 12 to 15 feet deep. The boat is of American registry, but is from a foreign country, on the side is the word 'ISBRANDTSEN', but this is not the name of the boat. In the photograph above, 2 tug's will be seen pulling the boat off the bank. It was finally freed about 12.15 on Saturday. It remained for several hours after, apparently while a check was made to see if there was any damage, and it sailed west at 5 p.m. under its own steam. Port Lewis is on the south shore, but the channel is near the north shore. There have been several accidents on the seaway since it was opened a few weeks ago. It is quite likely that these waters are new to many of those now sailing them and they have not become accustomed to this route.

Canon Hatcher Honored By Dinner And Presentations From Members Of St. Paul's And St. John's Churches

Members of the congregations of St. Paul's, Herdman, and St. John's, Huntingdon, Anglican Churches, under the charge of Canon W. S. Hatcher, gathered at St. John's Church, on Thursday evening for a dinner and presentation. There was a very representative gathering from both congregations and several invited guests were also present. The occasion was one of doing honor to the minister following his being made a Canon of Christ Church in Montreal, a few weeks ago.

The dinner was served cafeteria style and the tables were all filled and with some overflow. Guests at the head table were: Rev. R. S. Beal, Huntingdon United Church and Mrs. Beal; Rev. W. New, Valleyfield Anglican Church; Canon W. S. Hatcher and Mrs. Hatcher; Rev. J. Hall, Anglican Church, Ormsworth and Mrs. Hall; Mrs. Payne of Ormsworth. Rev. J. Grant, St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Huntingdon, and Mrs. Grant, Huntingdon, and Mrs. Grant, Mr. A. Warden, President of Huntingdon Branch of the Canadian Legion of which Canon Hatcher is the Chaplain, and Mrs. Warden; Messrs. R. Tinker and C. Pace, wardens of St. John's.

Following completion of the dinner, Mr. Tinker, who acted as chairman for the evening, called the gathering to order and explained the reason for the occasion. He said that the members of both churches of the Parish were honored by their minister being made a Canon and wanted to do something to show their appreciation of the honor which not only belonged to Mr. Hatcher but to all in the parish and in Huntingdon. As a further indication of their feelings, a set of vestments including a cape, were presented to Canon Hatcher as a joint presentation from both congregations.

Canon Hatcher thanked everyone for their kindness and thoughtfulness both in tendering the dinner in his honor and for the splendid gift. It was one, he said, which would be cherished and always bring memories of the occasion. He said he had been minister of the parish for 27 years and it had not all been smooth sailing during that time, but he had enjoyed serving the people at all times. It was a pleasure to him to have received the honor of being made Canon and he gladly shared this with the people of both churches gathered together at this dinner. There were not too many occasions when the congregations got together for a joint gathering and he was pleased that it had been made possible at this time. He would remember this occasion for all time. He had known about the appointment of the Bishop when the Bishop had called him to tell him he was "fired" as Rural Dean, but that he was going to make him a Canon.

Mr. Tinker called Little Diane Duke forward and she presented a bouquet of carnations to Mrs. Hatcher, in a very charming manner. Mrs. Graham of St. Paul's was then called upon to make a presentation of an upholstered easy chair. She presented this to Canon Hatcher on behalf of the Ladies' Guild of St. Paul's Church. Herdman and hoped he would obtain many hours of leisure from its use. Canon Hatcher made appropriate remarks in thanks for this gift.

The various guests at the head table were then called upon to make a few remarks, starting with Rev. W. New. He spoke of the honor that had been brought to Huntingdon and the people of the parish and said that perhaps one day there may be a bishop from this part. Rev. Beal spoke on the co-operation enjoyed from Mr. Hatcher since he came to Huntingdon and how if advice were needed, Rev. Hatcher was the one sought after. Rev. Hall spoke a few words of congratulation, as did Mr. Warden on behalf of the Canadian Legion, Huntingdon Branch. Rev. J. Grant had to leave on account of another engagement, right after the dinner.

The gathering was then thrown open to a general social time with the people enjoying the time in conversation with their minister and other friends. Previous to this gathering, Canon Hatcher had received the recipient of another gift in recognition of the honor bestowed upon him. This was a gift from St. John's Choir and took the form of two volumes of Archbishop Carrington's "History of the Early Christian Church".

J. G. Dunn Colorful Figure Of Chateaugay Valley Dies

The name James Gordon Dunn, to the rising generation is not widely known, but to those of us who have lived in the Chateaugay Valley for a considerable period of time, his name was very much in the news, for even when a boy in his teens, he was in the public eye. Gordon Dunn's home was in St. Etienne de Beauharnois, where his father operated a sizeable grist mill and enjoyed an extensive trade. Dunn's Oat Meal, made from kiln dried grain at this mill, was the much favored oatmeal.

When Gordon Dunn was but 17 years of age he set up an electric lighting plant at the Dunn mill in St. Etienne and their property was electrically illuminated. Only ten days ago the writer interviewed Mr. Dunn with a view to gathering some data about his various hydro electrical business interests in this area. Mr. Dunn set up a 5 k.w. machine on March 5, 1905. Shortly after that he started to canvass Howick with a view to supplying that area with electricity. It was in 1909 that electric light service was extended to Howick, the electricity being turned on when the late Rev. Dr. Williams was in the midst of conducting a wedding ceremony. The electric light was quite a surprise and took away much of the conversation that might ordinarily have been extended to the charming bride, who was a Miss Peddie, a sister of the late Mrs. Robert Ness.

Mr. Dunn supplied an electric light service to St. Louis Village in 1911. It was on May 28, 1914, that he started work on the developing of a hydro electric plant at Powerscourt, which was to supply electric light and power to Athelstan and Huntingdon. Previous to this era Huntingdon received light that was generated mostly by a steam plant, and for a short time by the Hunters from power developed from the mill dam in Huntingdon. The Dunn plant at Powerscourt came into action in the fall of 1915. Mr. Dunn sold his Powerscourt and Huntingdon interests to the Shawinigan Water and Power Co. in 1926. By this time he had acquired a water power at Ste-Martine and from it he supplied Ste-Martine with its electric light and power until 1954 when he completed a transaction with the Shawinigan Water and Power Co.

Mr. Dunn, throughout his lifetime was continually acquiring property and likewise machinery. He told the writer that he owned approximately 2,000 acres of land in this district and had interest in a sizeable apartment house in Montreal. On the occasion of my recent visit with him he told me he intended to give the Boy Scouts the piece of land that has been used as a camp on his Powerscourt property. Let's hope the Boy Scouts receive this gift from Mr. Dunn as it will mean much toward the building of moral fibre in boys, for Mr. Dunn was certainly always interested in seeing boys take a keen interest in out-of-door life.

There is so many living that know more about the Chateaugay River from its source to its outlet than the late Gordon Dunn. He has long contended that money has been wastefully spent at Chateaugay Basin through breaking up ice jams each spring. He contended that some dredging of the Chateaugay River and the breaking up of a ledge of rock near the Chateaugay bridge would eliminate the ice jamming and flooding. He also contended that it is good Lake St. Francis water were fed into the Chateaugay River it could be done and without an excessive amount of money being spent on creating

Fire Damages House At Franklin Centre

A fire of unknown origin broke out at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hull, Franklin Centre, last Monday, about 5.30 p.m.

Smoke was noticed coming out of the garage by their nearest neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Blair and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Blair, who rushed to the garage with fire extinguishers, but had to call for help when they could not get into the garage for heat and smoke but could see no fire. Messrs. Floyd Stevenson, Gerald Goldie and Andre Lussier each arrived with their sprayers, which eventually brought the fire under control and partly saved the house.

The garage and breezeway were entirely destroyed and the kitchen badly burned. The house was smoked and badly water soaked on the inside.

Most of the contents of the house were saved by the many helping hands who arrived as soon as possible after the call for help got round.

This was practically a new house as Mr. Hull had just finished altering it and building a garage a year ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Hull had just returned to the city after spending part of their week-end holiday at their home here, when they received word of their misfortune and returned at once.

Hemmingford Beagles Win Canadian Championships

Beagle Trials were held in Hemmingford, on Saturday and Sunday, May 23rd and 24th, under the auspices of the T.A.-O Beagle Club of Hemmingford, 96 dogs were entered on both days in the events which made this the largest entry for any part of the Province of Quebec.

In the Licensed Trial held on Saturday, May 23rd, for 13 inch dogs, Hamilton's Caesar, won second place, which finished his Canadian Championship. He is owned by Leo Roy of Hemmingford. This dog also took Best of Show, on Sunday, May 24th, in the competition for 15 inch dogs. Slow Line Brownie took third place, also finishing his Canadian Championship. He is owned by Lucien Delisle.

These are the first two beagles of Quebec members to make the championship.

Blood Donors Needed June 8

Canvassers in all areas are giving generously and freely of their time in order to complete their lists of volunteer blood-donors for the Huntingdon Clinic, to be held at the Legion Hall, on Monday, June 8th, from 2-5 P.M. It is quite true that it is a busy time for everyone, (it being also the week of the Ormsworth Fair), but we must all surely realize that nothing must, nor should, interfere with the important work of supplying life-giving blood or blood plasma to needy patients in our hospitals by our Red Cross Society.

This service is only made possible by the success of the Clinics set up by the Red Cross. The people of this district are only asked to be blood-donors once each year. Let us strive to make this Clinic on June 8th, as large and successful as have been all our previous ones.

Please remember the following: 1. Every drop of blood is needed. The need for blood is constantly increasing and there is no substitute.

2. Every drop of blood is donated. The only source is voluntary donations by folks like yourself.

3. Every drop of blood is used, either through transfusions or by being made into plasma or blood products. Blood is never wasted.

4. Giving blood is easy. A blood donation takes only a few minutes; doesn't hurt a bit.

5. PLEASE GIVE BLOOD. Please be ready to have your name placed on the list when your canvasser calls on you. Or, if you are not contacted, a call to GO 4-3476 will have your name listed. If possible, transportation to the Clinic will be arranged for any who might not be able to attend otherwise.

Much Preparation Needed For Muck Soils Rotarians Told At Meeting

Mr. John T. Klassen was the speaker at the regular Rotary Club meeting at the Huntingdon Chateau, on Monday. Mr. Klassen has acquired considerable acreage of the muck soil lands known as the tea fields near Huntingdon. It is the intention to develop this land into vegetable growing areas and in his talk he explains the work involved in the process.

We hear and read a lot today about vertical integration, corporation farming and what is sometimes described merely as the new look in Agriculture.

While it is only fairly recently that a lot of publicity has been given to these trends, they are by no means new. Marketing cooperatives, farm mechanization and even contract farming have been factors in our agricultural economy for some time, particularly in dairy and grain farming.

With the average size of the vegetable or market gardening farm in Canada being only 10 to 15 acres, it was only a matter of time until the trend to larger operations extended to this type of farming as well.

Since the production of quality vegetables requires a large degree of mechanization, it is necessary to bring down the per acre cost of production, which can only be done by increasing the acreage farmed.

Because the deep muck areas of the St. Lawrence Valley provided sufficient acreage close to the major markets, they have and are being developed for market gardening purposes.

While it is somewhat disconcerting to hear farmers in the area, when comparing your land to theirs refer to the clay and loam soils as good land, leaving you to draw your own conclusions as to what they think of muck soil, this is (not much more) inaccurate than the idea that just because the soil is black, it will grow anything.

However (muck) or organic soil due to the fact that it is more flexible than most mineral soils, can through the proper use of drainage and water control and varied fertilization programs provide an almost perfect medium for growing vegetables.

This means that instead of growing a number of crops on one basic type of soil, you create through control of water levels and specific fertilization programs the ideal conditions for each crop you grow.

And perhaps I should mention at this point that this is much easier to talk about than to actually do. One of the major problems is of course the control of water. Undrained organic soils of the type we are developing are 92% water. However even with no drainage we have found shallow rooted plants growing above the water level, which one would normally find growing only in desert areas. Once an area is drained it then becomes equally important to see that it doesn't get too dry because the market for cactus is somewhat limited.

In spite of the fact that organic farming has been going on for over 20 years in the country there is not too much known about what constitutes effective drainage. Until very recently it has been on a trial and error basis, which can prove to be pretty expensive.

In order to achieve some basic rules to go by, we looked at most of the major developments in Eastern half of Canada and the United States and while a great many of them were achieving some degree of effective drainage no one could really say why the same system worked better in one area than in another.

At the same time, during the last two years we measured the monthly fluctuations in water levels and row percolation tests in the area here. Basically this consists of digging a large number of holes and then sitting down and watching what happens. We eventually came to the conclusion that the problem was similar to trying to cure a sore by sticking your leg up until this time most of the drainage of organic soils has been according to the rules set down for draining mineral soils.

This would be fine except that water just doesn't move through organic soils in the same way it does through mineral soils. And even more important we found that the way water moves through organic soils changes at different levels.

While there is still a great deal we do not know, we feel certain that the method we are using to drain our bog will soon become prevalent in draining organic soils areas.

However, our main business is that of vegetable growers and we are interested in water control to the extent that it will enable us to grow better vegetables. It is interesting to note that almost half of the fruits and vegetables consumed in Montreal are imported, and with the estimated growth in population there is no doubt about the potential being there. Our company, in fact, was organized two years ago, largely as a result of a survey of the potential market that could be serviced by an operation in this

Hotel St. Agnes Sold To Leo Kreivys

A property sale involving what was known as The Leblanc Hotel, or Hotel St. Agnes, in St. Agnes, took place recently when this hotel was sold to Mr. Leo Kreivys, on May 15th.

Mr. Kreivys was formerly owner of the Four Corners Hotel at Canbyville, for four years, but he sold this property on December 22nd, 1958. After selling this hotel he went to Florida where he stayed for a few months and returned to purchase the Leblanc Hotel. The reported purchase price is $30,000. During the last two years of his ownership, Mr. Leblanc made extensive alterations to his hotel which places this in the class of the good hotels for service. Mr. Hubert Leblanc operated this hotel for thirteen years and in the past year he will centre his interests now on his property known as Leblanc's Point, Lake St. Francis, which he has developed as a summer resort.

Mr. Kreivys intends to run the hotel along similar lines to the past ownership and will continue to make improvements as needed from time to time.

FIRST PROM

My dreams behold a little girl Expectant eyes aglow; My hand held firm, you felt Reluctant to let go — Your first day at school!

And now a budding vision fair Another's hand you hold, My heart but bursts with silent prayer

Your dreams will all unfold — Your very first prom!

The salty brine that stings my eye Expounds from gentle joy; You're all the years that patience taught

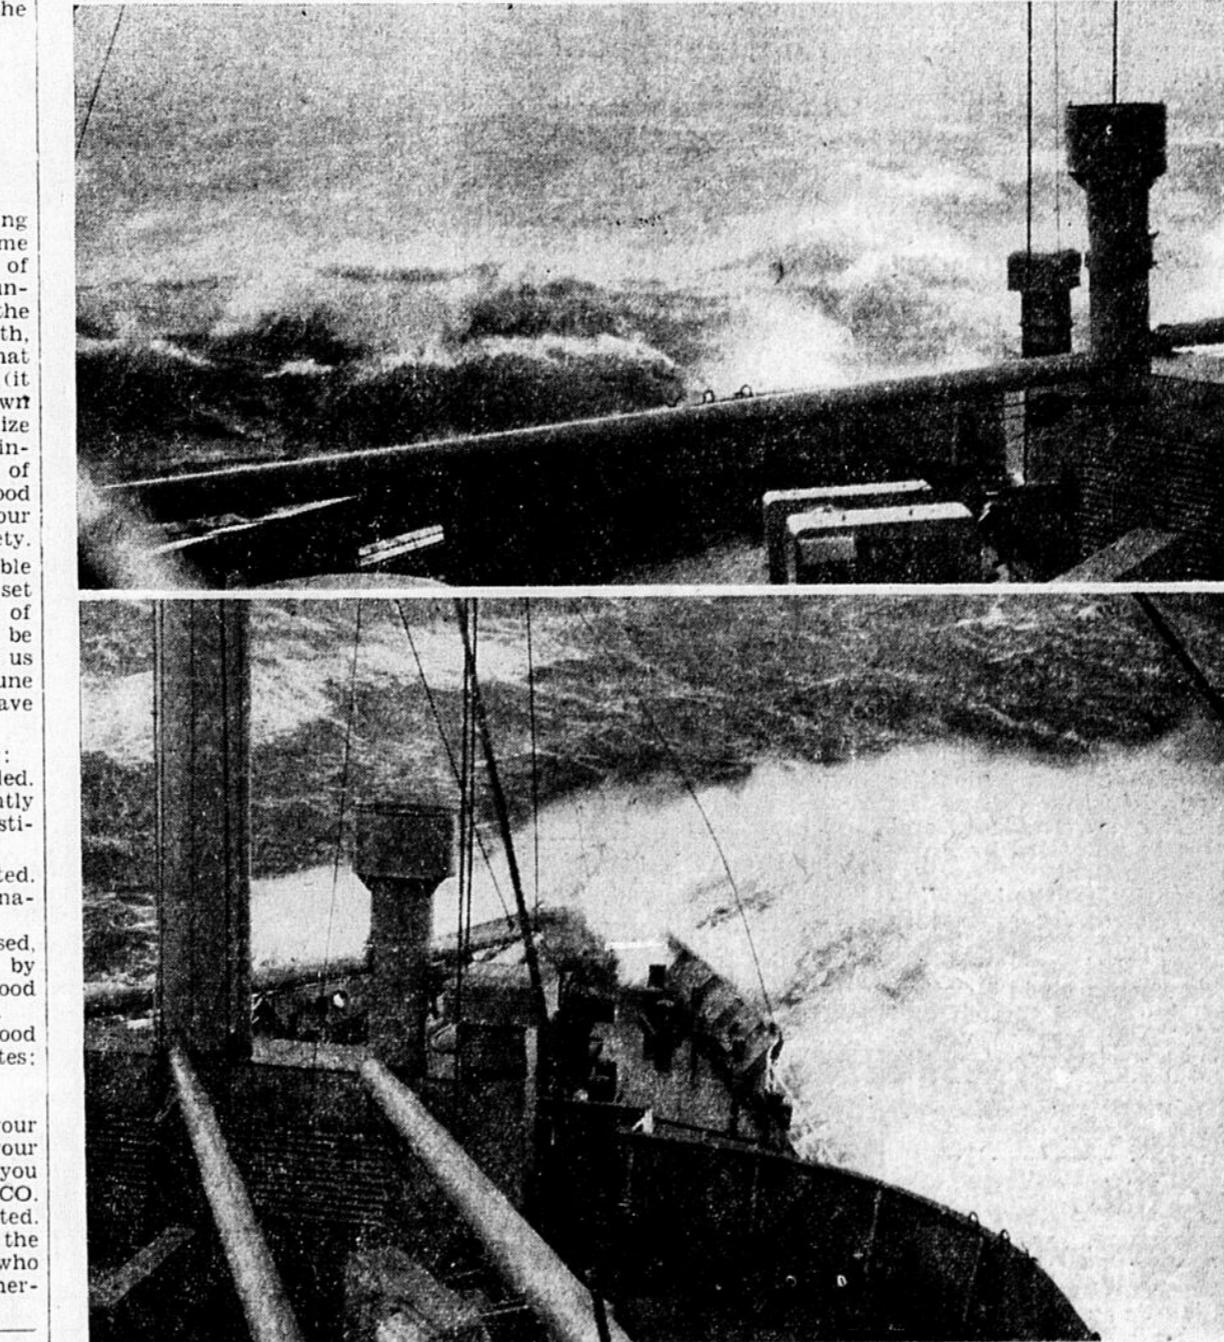

May never time destroy — Daughter's almost grown!

My fervent hope that God may spare My life for all your firsts; That I may share the harvest

When every seed outbursts — Your own devoted Mom. Ethel White area. We chose the Huntingdon area because we found what looked like an ideal bog to develop, we were close to our markets and certainly not too far from Huntingdon. We're very happy with our choice and I think we were right in all these instances. Ultimately we hope we will be able to do our part in making it possible for a consumer to walk into a store, buy a specific brand of produce, and be sure that he will get the same standard of quality time after time. This is something that has happened in most other businesses a long time ago, and is certainly long overdue in the field of vegetable merchandising.

WHAT A ROUGH SEA LOOKS LIKE

In our last issue we had a news item of the arrival of Mrs. Disch from Holland, on a visit to her children living in Huntingdon. It was reported that she had experienced a very rough crossing and to show this to be so, the above pictures will give some idea of the rough seas. To most landlubbers there is no idea of a storm at sea, but the waves become quite mountainous at times and wash right over the boat, as will be seen in the lower picture. The upper picture gives some idea of the sea and the waves and of course the ship rides these waves in an up and down motion as well as cutting through.

Foremen's Club At Valleyfield Hears Talk On Labor Unions

Mr. N. S. Dowd was the honored guest-speaker at the Annual Management Night of the Upper St. Lawrence Valley Foremen's Club (Valleyfield), held at the Chateau Hotel, Valleyfield, on May 21st, 1959.

President Omer Langlais opened the meeting and Gaetan Lachaine (Davison Chemicals) introduced the head table and other guests in attendance. Patrick Gilhooley (Nichols Chemical) introduced two new members of the Club: Lorne Lemieux and William Wallace, both from Nichols Chemical Limited.

Outgoing President Omer Langlais (Montreal Cottons Limited) submitted a yearly report on the Club's activities in the past year, thanked the Managers of the various industries represented in the Club for their support in promoting the establishment of this Club. He mentioned also how grateful he was to the past Executive Committee and the Committee Chairmen for the co-operation received during this first year of existence. The outgoing President turned the meeting over to Jules Chartier who substituted for the President of the Canadian Council of Foremen's Club, unable to be present due to illness. Mr. Chartier was quite at home, as he explained, since he had been following the progress of this Club since its creation and was glad it had such a successful first year. He said he had the very pleasant duty of inducting the new slate of officers for the 1959-60 season, he called on H. N. Riley (Davison Chemical), incoming President; Marcel Roy (Canadian Schenley Ltd.) Treasurer; The gavel was turned over to H. N. Riley, President, who took over the meeting and introduced his program for the coming season in September.

Al F. B. Canadian Arsenals Ltd.) introduced the distinguished guest-speaker and pointed out that the Foremen's Club was neither for or against unions.

Mr. Dowd, in his address, expressed great appreciation for the opportunity given to bring us up to date to some extent on the growth and development of the Canadian Labour movement, and some of its problems and policies. "You are quite familiar as I am with the amazing growth of industry in Canada, and the point that I want to make particularly at this time is that Labour has grown at a commensurate rate and has become a highly important element in our social and economic structure. As we all know, the population of Canada has been increasing both by immigration, and through an expanding birth-rate, and our industry has developed to such an extent that Canada ranks high among the trading nations of the world. It has been my good fortune to have been associated with the Labour movement for over thirty years, and I have been a close observer of the almost incredible changes that have taken place in that time. Over a million workers are now organized in Labour unions, and these unions are affiliated with central Labour bodies, such as The Canadian Labour Congress, and the Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labour, which represents various groups of organized workers in the Province of Quebec. One of the chief functions of a Labour union is to lessen the discrepancy in their situations by organizing the workers, and having them deal with the employer as an organized unit. In this way, it is possible to obtain some protection against unwarranted dismissal or discrimination generally, as well as improvements in wages and working conditions, and what are now known as fringe benefits.

Now I turn to what is undoubtedly more controversial. I have already suggested that there is a good deal of confusion among the people in Canada with regard to the status and functions of Labour unions, and this has been aggravated by the attitude of both employers and governments. Last year, we had a number of serious strikes. Perhaps the most noteworthy was that of the International Nickel Company employees at Sudbury and Port Colborne. We also had strikes in the important steel industry and among the Breweries Warehouse employees in Ontario, which led to a shut-down of breweries and considerable discomfort for a good many people. The outstanding current strike is, of course, that of the Woodworkers in Newfoundland, which began on December 31st, and which has stirred up a great deal of controversy. As you will realize, the Canadian Labour Congress strongly defends the right of workers to organize and bargain collectively, and to become members of union of their choice. It is equally strongly opposed to the domination of unions by either employers or governments. However, we have had the amazing spectacle in Newfoundland when he was asked to intervene in a strike which had already lasted for several weeks, went on the air with an official attack upon the union, couched in the most severe and demagogic terms, announcing his determination to drive the union off the Island, and proposing the setting up of a new union, which would essentially be a creature of the Government. He was urged to bring the parties together and promote a settlement of the dispute, as he had not only a duty, but an obligation to do. Instead of this he came out directly on the

Generosity Of "Husband" Stirs Bank's Suspicions

Westmounter Enoch Roskies looked like a pretty nice husband when the bank staffer looked at the cheque made out to Mrs. Roskies. Not that he isn't a pretty nice husband, but $2,500 seemed a very generous amount for his wife to carry on a brief business trip.

Trouble was—as court learned yesterday—that the lady at the wicket wasn't Malvina Roskies but the Roskies' housemaid, Rose Marie Fricke, 26, who had worked for the Roskies for three months, pleaded guilty to five counts charging forgery, uttering and attempting to obtain money by false pretences.

Sessions Judge A. John O'Meara reminded Rose Marie, who said she came to Canada eight years ago from Mannheim, Germany, to Saturday for sentence.

Westmount Det. Herbert Ward told the judge it happened this way:

When businessman Roskies, 571 Grosvenor avenue, went out of town last week he made out a cheque to his wife Malvina, signing it but leaving the amount blank.

Said the detective: "The accused found the cheque, took several of Mrs. Roskies' personal cards, such as club memberships, then filled in the cheque for $2,500 and went to a bank where she opened an account."

That was on May 14. The detective said nothing more happened until five days later when Mr. Roskies just happened to go to his own bank and learned that the $2,500 had been transferred by his "wife".

Warrant Issued Police investigated, put a stopper on the new account and obtained a warrant for Rose Marie—who by then had been dismissed.

Det. Ward was in court about the warrant Wednesday when he received a phone call and rushed out to flag a taxi and go to yet another bank. There, he told the judge, was Rose Marie. She was posing as Mrs. Roskies again and had been detained for trying to pass a $50 cheque, with forged signature Malvina Roskies. She had a pass book.

What Rose Marie didn't know was that this particular account had been closed some time ago, Det. Ward said.

Ste. Barbe Farmer Loses Home In Fire Thursday

Fire took the home of Mr. and Mrs. Camille Martel, of Ste. Barbe, on Thursday morning and the family just managed to escape with their clothes. From what can be gathered, the fire started in a refrigerator in the kitchen and the time was about 6.30 a.m. Mr. Martel was working in the barn and his wife and seven of the children were still sleeping in the house.

Mrs. Martel noticed the smoke and immediately awakened the children and got them out. By this time the fire was getting very good hold and there was little which could be done to save the house. By eight o'clock, it had burned to the ground and everything was lost except the few clothes that been taken as the children got out.

Mr. Martel reckons his loss at about $10,000. He says he will rebuild again this summer. This is the third fire Mr. Martel has experienced, in two other fires he lost the barn each time and this has happened in the space of about ten years.

The farm is situated one mile west of Ste. Barbe, on the Church Road. One other daughter was away at school, where she is taking a special course.

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man. (CP) — A $110,000 reservoir is being built in the city's west end to supply water to a new soup plant and residences in the area.

Trooper Slain Near N. Y. Border

A New York State police trooper is dead and another trooper and a St. Regis Reservation Indian injured following a wild melee outside the home of Justice of the Peace Leon Richards, Bombay, Saturday night.

Dead is Trooper Ronald Donohue, 23, of the Massena, N.Y. State Police Post. Injured are Trooper Charles O'Connell, 27, also of the Massena Post, and Alex Papineau 38, a reservation Indian from Hogansburg. Both are in Alice Hyde Hospital in Malone, N.Y. Papineau in critical condition with a bullet wound in the head. O'Connell's condition is described as satisfactory. He was shot in the left thigh.

Papineau was operated on at Watertown hospital and the bullet taken from his brain. He is supposed to be recovering.

According to State Police Sergeant Norman Ward, of Massena, a fracas developed while a group of four or five Indians were standing outside Peace Justice Richards' home while an unidentified Indian was being arraigned inside on a charge of public intoxication.

Troopers Donahue and O'Connell were called to put down the disturbance and became involved in the fight. As Donahue was arresting him for disturbing the peace, Papineau is claimed to have taken the trooper's revolver away from him and killed him.

ing her brother, Mr. A. L. Stewart. Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Edwards of St. Ann de Bellevue, Mrs. McGibbon, Messrs. David Cowan, John and Peter Bushey of Fowassan, Ont., were Saturday visitors at Keithburn.

In the ensuing running gun battle, Papineau was shot in the head and Trooper O'Connell in the leg.

State Police officials said no other arrests are expected in the case. A charge of first degree murder against Papineau is being held up pending his recovery.

Indians from the St. Regis Reservation said after a concclave on Sunday, they would demand ballistic proof that the troopers did not shoot each other in the darkness Saturday night.

To Build New Rectory Near St. Joseph's Church

At a meeting of all the parishioners of the Parish of St. Joseph, held last Sunday in the Parochial Hall under the presidency of Mgr. Joseph-A. David, P.D., it was decided to build a new rectory and decorate the Church after the building of a vestibule in front of it. A great number of wardens and other parishioners were present. They discussed in a very friendly manner, gave each their advice without uneasiness and when the Right Reverend Pastor had explained everything and answered all the questions, Mr. Hector Provost moved and Mr. George Collum supported that of the Fabrique and the Pastor be authorized to have all the necessary work done as long as it would not go over $100,000. The move was unanimously approved and the next day His Lordship the Bishop of Valleyfield approved and signed.

The tags that tell of good design will go on 42 new consumer items, winners of the 1959 Design Awards. Since the awards were initiated in 1953, the distinctive "design award" tags on articles have stood for good design on the basis of appearance, usefulness and good value.

This year, shoppers will find the tags on products which include a take-apart-train toy and a rug "shampooer."

Among the interesting items in this year's winners' list are light, attractive spun plastic lighting fixtures that come in various shapes.

The awards are sponsored by the National Industrial Design Council, a group of Canadian manufacturers, designers, consumers and interested citizens who work to encourage good design in Canadian products.

Canned Foods - This is the time of year there are apt to be special bargains in canned fruits and vegetables, says the consumer section of the federal agriculture department.

To make way for the new summer crop, there's a general campaign to clear warehouse and grocery store shelves of last year's cans. There is a larger quantity of canned peas, corn, peaches, and other specialties on hand than usual, and special prices will probably be featured on such products.

As for fresh fruits, apples still are the best buy.

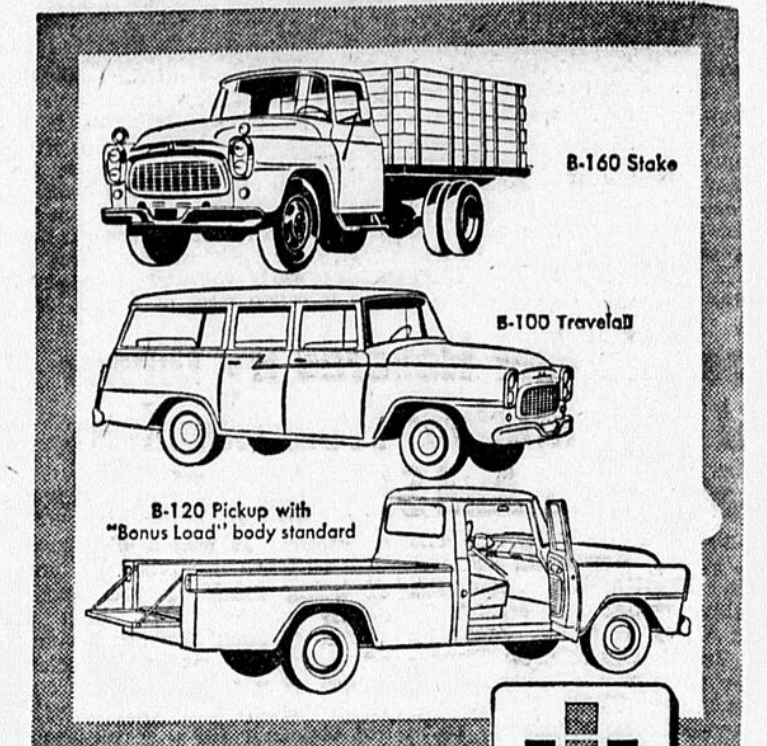

Just in case you wonder what the various grades of canned foods mean, the consumer section provides helpful guide.

The highest grade is "Canada Fancy" and is the best buy when uniformity of size and color is important.

"Canada Choice" is a grade where peas, for instance, may vary in size, color and maturity but still have a good flavor and are tender. "Canada Standard" products are prepared from fruit and vegetables of good quality, but not necessarily of the uniform size required in higher grades. This grade is a good buy when appearance is not a consideration—for use in soups or casserole dishes, for example.

The capital city of the Aztec Indians is buried beneath the present capital of Mexico. According to the World Book Encyclopedia, the Aztecs built their city, called Tenochtitlan, on islands which they enlarged by filling huge reed rafts.

Store Front Remodelled
Gradually, the shopping centre on Chateaugay Street is being brought up to date by enterprising businessmen. This week a new store front has been installed by Mr. Romeo Robidoux at his store on this street and it presents a much improved appearance. The work has not yet been completed, but the entrance is by double doors to one side and one larger display window, instead of the two smaller ones used before. The entire gives a clear view of the interior of the store and gives the whole a modernized look. These improvements all help business as well as presenting a progressive look to the street.

Huntingdon Dry Cleaners Broken Into.

Police are presently investigating a robbery which took place during the night of May 24th-25th at the Huntingdon Dry Cleaners Plant in Huntingdon. The thief or thieves gained entrance by a window at the rear and got into the manager's office. Considerable disturbance was in evidence as the files were open and the contents strewn around. Tickets Ready
The Rotary Club has distributed the Annual Rotary Sweepstake tickets among its members. The Sweepstake, as in past years, is for the benefit of the Nurse Training Fund. Fortunately the Nurse Training Fund is in a much more liquid financial position than is usually the case at this time of year. The reason why this liquid position pertains, is that the demands made upon the fund have been considerably lighter than in past years. Indications point toward a heavy demand in the years to come, starting in September as it is believed several nurse training applicants are likely to come forward wishing to receive aid from the fund. The excess revenue derived from the Sweepstake is to be set aside, thereby creating a new fund to be used at some future date for the building of a wading pool for little children and a swimming pool.

Shower For Bride-To-Be
A shower was given in honour of Anita Galipeau, on Tuesday, May 12, in St. Joseph's Parochial Hall and 51 guests were present. Later in the evening refreshments were served and a lovely cake was given to Miss Galipeau. A few words were spoken by the future bride who invited everyone to her new home.

THE BIG ONE THAT DIDN'T GET AWAY
On May 6th, Earl Blair of Ormstown, while fishing near the dam in the Chateaugay River at Ormstown, with a six pound test line, hooked onto what felt like a bag of cement.
Half an hour and a great deal of experience later, Earl with his light tackle landed a 37-lb sturgeon. The fish measured 54 inches in length and in the writer's memory is the largest one ever caught in this vicinity.

THE SANTANONI SARANAC LAKE, N.Y.

Santanoni Announcement

ARTHUR W. HAY has become the sole owner of the famous building on Church Street in Saranac Lake, where many notable people have lived. Mr. Hay has been in partnership with H. D. Humpstone and Dr. E. D. Plass since purchasing the Apartment house from William H. Scoopes in 1954. He has now bought out his partners and promises the same good service for which THE SANTANONI is famous.

Mr. Hay was born in Glenside, Quebec, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Hay. He has a brother Walter of the same address.

INDIAN FILE

Cyclists who travel along the highway in a group should always ride Indian file. School kids who drive their bikes to class, should resolve today that all during the current school year, they will not ride side by side with other cyclists.

The FTD-Interflora New Canadian Mother of the Year, Danish-born Lilian Spiess, shows her bouquet of white carnations to Cpl. L. G. Chettleborough of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police on Parliament Hill. Although she met Immigration Minister Fairclough and other high-ranking dignitaries on her visit to Ottawa, Mrs. Spiess counted her meeting with a Canadian Mountie as the highlight of her Tidetime Tour of Canada's capital. Besides her award bouquet, Mrs. Spiess will receive a Flower of the Month bouquet every month for the next year. Through Interflora, the international flowers-by-wire association, she also sent a bouquet to her mother in Denmark, and placed a telephone call to her mother who lives in Mariager (which means "Town of Roses"), Denmark.

Mrs. Spiess has been in Canada six years and became a Canadian citizen this year. Her husband is a Swiss-Canadian and they have a son, Marcel, named for a Montreal-Canadian hockey player.

The cyclist has no chance whatsoever to avoid injury or death when an accident occurs. Why take the risk of being struck down by a car or truck with the result that you could probably be crippled for the rest of your life.

The pedestrian can stop and start much more easily than the motorist. This is one advantage that the pedestrian has over the motorist but he should not abuse it. Too often the pedestrian creates a hazard for the motorist and to himself when he sidles weaving through traffic. If only the pedestrian would give full cooperation to the motorist, then how many accidents would be avoided. Prudentia asks. One of the ways a pedestrian can cooperate with the motorist is by never crossing a street except at an intersection.

Take it from the experts -

CHEVY GIVES YOU 7 BIG BESTS!

Take it, not from us, but from the published opinions of outside, independent experts and from on-the-record facts and figures: Chevrolet gives you these 7 big bests over any other car in its field!

BEST BRAKES In direct competitive tests of repeated stops from highway speeds, conducted by NASCAR*. Chevy was rated best in its class - and why not? Chevy brakes are larger for up to 66% longer lining life.
*National Association for Stock Car Advancement and Research.

BEST TRADE-IN Chevrolet's quality Fisher Body construction, smooth, more economical engines, rugged transmissions and sleek modern design hold resale value higher than others in its field... bring you more money at trade-in time.

BEST STYLE As summed up in POPULAR SCIENCE MAGAZINE: "The fact is, in its price class the Chevy establishes a new high in daring styling..." It's the car that's unmistakably '59 in every modern line.

BEST ECONOMY No doubt about this: two Chevrolet Sixes won their class in the famous Mobilgas Economy Run, got the best mileage of any full-size car.

BEST ROOM Official figures on all car dimensions make this clear. For example, Chevy front seat hiproom is unsurpassed... almost six inches wider than one of its competitors.

BEST ENGINE Every motor magazine has given Chevy's V8's unstinted praise. As SPORTS CAR ILLUSTRATED puts it: "Indeed, this device is surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price".

BEST RIDE You'll be able to tell this yourself, instantly. But MOTOR TREND magazine expresses it this way: "... the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class".

PLUS THESE TREMENDOUS TRIFLES
Who'd want to do without Chevrolet's extra luxuries? Like the protection of full wraparound bumpers, crank-operated ventipanes, the convenience of single-key locking, a real overhead curved windshield, oil-hushed hydraulic valve lifters in every standard engine for quieter running, a bigger luggage compartment with full side-wall lining.

No wonder more people are buying Chevrolets than any other car!

Visit your local authorized Chevrolet dealer, see how much more Chevy has to offer!

Toys "Sleep" In Plastic Rooster

Plastic Rooster Toy Holder trains tots to be tidy. Make of yellow fabric-backed vinyl plastic, and trim eye, beak and comb with red plastic tape.

Is picking up after Junior's playtime part of your everyday routine? If so, now's the time to mend your ways — and Junior's!

A dash of child psychology and your sewing machine may prove your allies in training Junior to be tidy.

Simply make an enchanting rooster-shaped toy holder, and convince your offspring that toys need their rest too — and wouldn't he like to put them to bed himself?

Constructed along the lines of a shoebag, toy holder may be hung on the back of a crib or on a wall. Place it low and Junior will find it fun to slip toys into holder's pockets.

Make your "rooster" toy holder of sturdy, fabric-backed vinyl plastic, with a beady triangular eye, a beak and comb, all trimmed with plastic tape. Choose child-enchanting colors, such as a gay yellow for rooster's body, and a bright red for pockets and head trim.

To make this engaging rooster, cut yellow fabric in a fat, L-shape. Measurements suggested by experts are 21½" across the bottom, and 14" along the top of rooster's head. Height along side with beak is 25"; height on right side from lower edge to tail is 13".

For top row, cut strip of fabric

36 inches long and about 4 inches wide. Measure into three equal sections, and mark with transparent tape. Never use pins when sewing with plastic, as the pins will leave holes which may tear.

Use transparent tape to mark head of rooster into thirds. Match tape markers, and stitch strip to rooster. Stitch ends down. Fold pockets so middle one measures four inches across, and the two end pockets measure five inches across. Stitch on fold lines.

The two bottom rows have five pockets each, and the bottom row is bigger and deeper than the other to accommodate large teddy bears. Follow same technique for other pockets.

When stitching on plastic, remember to use a fine needle and light tension on your sewing machine. Baste and mark with transparent tape.

The eyes, beak and comb are cut from the red plastic, and straight-stitched to the head of the rooster. A double thickness of fabric-backed vinyl plastic will help keep the comb and beak from going limp.

Plastic tape makes a neat edging. This bag might be made of fabric, but plastic enables you to keep it clean with a sudsy sponge.

"The Monetary Situation — A Problem Of Timing"

Though the problems of monetary policy and debt management in the months of recession and recovery have been severe, the uncertainties of 1959 seem less formidable than those of 1958, says the current Monthly Review of The Bank of Nova Scotia.

The Government again expects a large cash deficit in this fiscal year but it will be considerably reduced from last year's. Business is improving, but there is still a substantial margin of unused plant and manpower. Demand does not threaten to press on supply; here is room for a substantial increase in real production without reaching the conditions of scarcity which might stimulate an inflationary price rise. As economic activity has picked up the demand for credit has increased, but there are grounds for believing that in some respects the monetary authorities are now in a better position than before to stem inflationary pressures should any arise.

The recovery has now been under way for a year, but its development from slow improvement to a more decisive upturn was not clear until well into 1959, says the Review. In the meantime, weighed down by the heavy Government cash deficit and worried by the fact that consumer prices did not stop rising until the end of 1958 despite substantial unemployment, the financial markets have been uneasy. In the absence of general agreement about what was really happening in the economy there has been a tendency to refer to what seemed the most comparable period of the recent past — the 1955-57 recovery and boom — and to assume that Canada was headed towards a new explosion of inflationary pressures. In these conditions, although the liquidity of both business and individuals has been at a high level in recent months, most interest rates have advanced up to or beyond the peaks recorded in the tight-money conditions of 1957.

To a considerable extent, says the Review, last year's financial difficulties were the result of problems in timing. The size of the Government's deficit, incurred in offsetting the recession, was officially announced about the time the downturn came to a stop, and the money had to be raised when the financial community had already turned away from recession pre-occupations. The improvement in liquidity which encouraged the public to take on a large quantity of Government bonds after September was also in part a delayed result of the recession as business requirements fell below receipts and consumer caution contributed to the growth of savings. With business confidence returning and prices subsiding the contrast between this period and the preceding six months was a striking one.

In the months ahead new problems of timing will arise. The Government's cash deficit for 1959-60 is estimated at $850 million, and the bulk of this money will be needed in the first half of the fiscal year. At the same time $1,050 million of the $1,350 million of Government debt maturing in this fiscal year falls due and must be refunded by October 1st. Thus the Government will have substantial cash needs in the next few months but its position is expected to improve sharply towards the end of 1959, partly because the business recovery is expected to have advanced further by then, partly because corporate tax payments will be rising, and partly because the personal income tax increases announced in the recent Budget will take effect in July.

There is still a good deal of liquidity in the economy and once the Government gets through its immediate problem of finding cash, the pressure on credit and interest rates may lessen. Private demands for short-term credit were very strong in the early months of 1959. However, inventory stocking is usually heaviest in the first quarter in anticipation of

Covering the Sports

The fourth title defence of world heavyweight boxing champion Floyd Patterson was rated by many, including his manager Gus D'Amato, as nothing more than a tuneup match.

A tuneup for his fifth defence, June 25 at Yankee Stadium, against European champ Ingemar Johansson from Sweden.

For a while before the Indianapolis bout, it looked as if the promoters needed the tuning.

First of all, it was Henry Cooper and not Brian London whom D'Amato wanted as an opponent for Patterson on May 1. Patterson was to have met the winner of an elimination bout between the pair. Cooper won and asked twice the $2,000 guarantee D'Amato was willing to put forth.

London liked the $60,000 offered him, and so the bout was set... well, almost. A site for the match was the next problem. Cities were mentioned and larger sales later in the year. Considerable inventory accumulation has already taken place and, although the trend of bank loans usually continues upward seasonally until mid-year, the rise may be less steep from now on. While monetary conditions are tighter and will probably remain so for some time, in view of the Government's financial requirements, the picture is by no means one-sided. How much further interest rates may rise is uncertain but the forces at work in the market may not be too far from a balance.

NEW APPOINTMENT

Mr. Jacques Viau, whose appointment as vice-president and general manager of the new Molson agency of Leduc, Viau & Co., has been announced by Mr. Conrad Legault, Director of Agency Sales for Molson's Brewery Limited. The new agency will have its headquarters in Valleyfield and it combines the former Valleyfield and St. Remi agencies.

And then there's the manner in which Rosensohn selected a site for the bout. At the conclusion of months of wrangling he set up a complicated chart with the 10 most likely cities. Working for each city were things like size of stadium, potential gate, parking, fight history and guarantee.

It was a lot of fog, New York had the best in all categories, and most of all was willing to put forward the biggest guarantee.

Price Supports For Dairy Products For Twelve-Month Period From May 1st

OTTAWA — The Honorable Douglas S. Harkness, Minister of Agriculture, announced in the House of Commons, price-supports for dairy products for the twelve-month period which commenced on May 1.

"A relatively small surplus in the production of milk in Canada has been going chiefly into the manufacture of skim milk powder. The result of this has been that a very considerable amount has accumulated in the hands of the Stabilization Board. During the last calendar year, 1958, production of this product totalled approximately 187 million pounds, of which 103.3 million pounds was surplus to domestic requirements and purchased by the Stabilization Board. Present Board holdings approximate 62 million pounds. The useful life of skim milk powder is limited, thus it is a product which cannot be stored and held indefinitely.

"There have been only two means of disposal open to us during the past year — sale as feed, and turning over as gifts to international relief agencies. From time to time we sold as feed our older powder as it became apparent that if we did not do so the powder would soon deteriorate and become unusable. The disposal of surplus dry skim milk powder has created very serious problems, particularly in international trade. We offered 30 million pounds of skim milk powder as gifts to international relief agencies in January of 1958. To date only 18.8 million pounds of this have been taken.

"In view of the impossibility of selling any considerable quantities of skim milk powder on foreign markets, and of the limited amount which can be disposed of as gifts, it is apparent that our production of skim milk powder must be reduced. The support program for dairy products for the dairy year commencing on May 1 has been designed to cut down production of skim milk powder and increase production and consumption of cheese and the production of other dairy products, such as casein.

"The Agricultural Stabilization Board has been authorized to support dairy products for the twelve-month period commencing May 1, 1959, on the following basis:

The support price on butter will continue at 64 cents per pound Canada First Grade basis delivered Montreal and Toronto.

The support price on cheese will be 32 cents per pound First Grade f.o.b. warehouse in Ontario, 31½ cents per pound delivered Montreal for Quebec cheese. In addition cheese producers will receive a payment of 25 cents per 100 pounds of milk delivered for the manufacture of cheese on the same basis as other milk delivered for manufacturing purposes. The support price, plus 25 cents per 100 pounds of milk, will provide an effective support price for cheese of 34 8/10 cents, that is 8/10 cents higher than the present support price.

The support price on skim milk powder will be reduced from 15 cents per pound to 10 cents per pound for the period May 1 to September 30, after which date the support price for powder will be discontinued. In lieu of the reduction in the support price for powder the Stabilization Board will make a payment to producers of 25 cents per 100 pounds of milk for all milk delivered for manufacturing purposes with the exception that no payments will be made to producers who sell a portion of their milk within the fluid bottled milk market. The net result will be to reduce producers' returns by 15 cents per 100 pounds on milk used for manufacturing purposes.

"Price support on skim milk powder is being continued for the five-month period, to the end of September, to provide the dairy industry with a period of readjustment, so that the diversion of milk now used for the manufacture of powder to the production of cheese, casein and other manufactured dairy products may go forward without serious dislocation in the dairy industry and loss to individual producers.

"The total effect of the change in the dairy price support program will be:

1. The farmer who delivers cream for butter only will get the same return as last year.
2. The farmer who delivers milk for cheese-making will receive

Canon W. S. Hatcher

THE members of two congregations, St. Paul's, Herdman and St. John's Huntingdon, gathered last week to do honor to their rector, Canon W. S. Hatcher. Each congregation made him a presentation as an appreciation and as being proud of his being made a Canon of Christ Church, Montreal. This elevation in the Anglican Ministry not only brings honor to Canon Hatcher himself, but reflects honor on the two congregations and upon Huntingdon too. As far as can be ascertained, this is the first time that a resident Anglican Minister has been made a Canon. This, in itself, is a signal honor for Huntingdon.

Canon Hatcher has served this parish for the past 27 years and the congregation has steadily grown during all of that period. There have been trials and tribulations to endure, there have been times when the parish has been in financial stress. All of these things have been surmounted and later years have been of progress in many ways. Mr. Hatcher came to this parish as the Rector, a few years ago he was appointed Rural Dean and now he has received the honor of being made a Canon. For the most part his family has been born here and received their education in our schools — they at least can be said to be true natives of Huntingdon. Not alone has Mr. Hatcher administered to his own flock. He has taken a keen interest in all things in the community regardless of religious beliefs or race. People from all parts of the community have sought his guidance and help, and still do.

Many times Canon Hatcher has had opportunities of other parishes and at times had almost considered taking them up. However, after due consideration he has decided that his place is here and has chosen to remain. In the early days, the parish was considered in light of wealth, a poor one. In those days, the salary paid to the minister was also small, but Mr. Hatcher never complained, he carried on the work he set out to do. To some extent, he is now receiving reward for these sacrifices. As time went on, the parish became more prosperous with the general prosperity which came to all. Mr. Hatcher's first thought however was for his church. Repairs were needed, a new piece of furnishing was required, and so forth. Thus, over the years as more money became available, the church has been refitted and maintained and also the rectory has been modernized. Much of this has been done before he would accept increases in his own stipend. The congregation has grown in numbers and in consequence the givings to the church have increased in volume both through this cause and because people were better able to make contributions.

Thus, since the coming of Rev. Hatcher, as the Rector until his time now as Canon, this parish has steadily progressed from the poor to the fairly well-to-do — it is still not rich in the sense of wealth, but it is rich in the Christian way of life — which after all counts most.

John Foster Dulles Is Dead

IN this day's world the big men of the various nations are known to the common people almost as well as those of their own nation. The world has become so knit together that it has been welded in most things. Except for the friction caused by Russia, the world of today could almost be one giant commonwealth of nations. Thus it is that when any one of the great men of the world pass to their last reward, the grief felt is worldwide instead of nationwide.

Such a state exists with the death of John Foster Dulles, Foreign Minister for the United States, until a short time ago, which occurred on Sunday. While his death was not unexpected, it caused profound grief to everyone in the world and even the Russians expressed their sorrow at his passing.

The late Mr. Dulles was condemned from time to time by friend and foe alike for many of the decisions he made in handling the foreign affairs of the United States. Such condemnation never seemed to bother him, for he would make similar decisions on another occasion. He was quite outspoken for one in the diplomatic service and his outspokenness earned him many angry words from his own country's allies as well as the people of his country. It is quite possible that some of his decisions made in behalf of his country, led to trouble that might otherwise have been avoided. The Suez crisis was one of these and caused a serious rift between Great Britain and the United States, as well as with France. However, as time went on, the mistake was seen, although never actually recognized, but the wound was healed. Later in the crisis in the Middle East, the United States took an entirely different stand. It had then been seen that what Great Britain and France were trying to avert, would more than likely happen. Instead of earning a degree of sincerity from Russia for siding with them against Great Britain and France, Russia has continually blasted the United States and is continually calling them warmongers. But somehow, Dulles seemed to come up with something with which to pour oil on the troubled waters and once again calm would come over the Allied camp. However, all of these events made great propaganda material for Russia and she lost no occasion toward using it.

John Foster Dulles was a much travelled man and believed in going to the scene of operations where the trouble was, for first hand information and knowledge of the subject. In this he took great risk, but he never seemed to flinch at the tasks that his important position called upon him to do. In many ways he was not a popular man and he was taken to task on numerous occasions by the press of the world. But when he became ill and was forced to take time out from his job and later resigned — the world regretted his departure from active life as the loss of a great man. His eventual passing, has caused even more comment in this direction and it is felt that it may have some effect on the forthcoming summit conference.

It seems that no matter how much men in public life are ridiculed while they are in office, when the time comes for them to pass from this world, there is deep regret and oftentimes grief. Such is the case now that John Foster Dulles has been called. Everyone is ready to recognize his great courage and determination and to forget that his decisions were not always the right ones.

John Foster Dulles belonged to the United States — but he also belonged to the world.

Dedication To A New Phase Of Life

ON Sunday next, a dedication service will be held at the United Church, Huntingdon, for the Graduates of Huntingdon High School. This should prove to be a thought provoking occasion for the young graduates, as they have, at this point, reached the end of the first phase in their lives. From this point on they will be entering upon their adult life when they will be expected to shoulder greater responsibility and usefulness as citizens.

At this time they will have to make decisions as to their future and it will depend to some extent on the result of these decisions as to how their lives will be governed from this point on. Some will seek further education to befit them for the vocations they may choose to follow. Others because of lack of funds, will have to start into various types of jobs and commence earning a living. This latter calls for deep thinking before a decision is made, as the employment should have some kind of a future if ultimate success is to be attained.

Our lives are bound to the Christian faith for our mode of living is through the Christian way of life. The powers that have been given us are of divine origin and we must therefore have faith in our Creator and seek his guidance in all things. Thus we may say that this dedication service is the opportunity to seek strength by the graduates to go forth into the examination period and put forth the very best effort to obtain the utmost in results. It is an opportunity to seek strength to meet the new obstacles which may have to be faced in the next phase of life. It is a serious moment and if given the thought necessary, can help in many ways. The graduates will be dedicating themselves to the life that lies ahead and which could prove to be the greatest adventure they have yet entered upon. Much depends upon this new adventure as to whether there will be happiness, prosperity and a life full of promise, or whether it will turn out to be hopeless and full of sorrow. With true dedication to the purpose there is every reason to believe that the road to success will be entered upon and by working with a will to succeed, the heights can be reached.

An Account Of The Battle Of Chateaugay

By W. D. Lighthall, M.A.

Sir George Prevost, with Major-General De Watteville, arrived on the ground at the close of the engagement and overlooked De Salaberry's arrangements, thanked him with great praise, and then immediately wrote an inaccurate despatch to England, in which he claimed the principal credit for himself. That evening De Salaberry wrote to his father: "I have won a victory mounted on a wooden horse".

After the battle was over the American firing did not cease, for no sooner did darkness come on than Purdy's scattered command, moving up the right bank, commenced a most destructive fire on each other, mistaking them for the British, and they continued it the greater part of the night. The final incident took place just as day dawned on the 27th, when about twenty Americans, mistaking some of the Canadian militia on the left bank for their own people, were compelled by them to surrender.

That day at dawn McDonnell came up in command of Captain Rouville's Company of Voltigeurs, Captain Levesque's Company of Grenadiers (of the 5th Battalion Incorporated Militia), and sixty men of the Beauharnois Division. De Salaberry turned over to McDonnell the defence of the abatis or obstructions in front, and the hero of Ogdensburg pushed on to two miles further than before. The day passed in expectation of a second attack, but no enemy appeared.

Meanwhile, the straggling order which the nature of the swamp and forest imposed on Purdy's retreat exposed him to rear attacks from the Indians, which were repeated after dark and caused him loss.

A large quantity of muskets, drums, knapsacks, provisions and arms were found on Purdy's shore, especially indicating the confusion just previous to their retreat. Upwards of ninety bodies and graves were found on that bank, among them two or three officers of distinction. On Hampton's field were two dead horses, and the enemy were there seen carrying off several of the wounded in carts.

The Canadian loss was only two killed, sixteen wounded, and four missing. Three missing were by mistake at first included among the killed in the returns.

Time now wore on, another night was passed, and the morning of the 28th arrived, when Captain La Mothe, with about 150 Indians, reconnoitred the enemy, who, according to the report of Captain Hughes, of the Engineers, had abandoned his camp the day before.

A party of the Beauharnois Militia, supported by Captain Debartzch, burnt and destroyed the newly-erected bridges within a mile of the enemy's camp, which was now about one and a half leagues from Piper's Road, i.e., about two leagues from his former position. On the same evening the Indians, under Captain La Mothe, proceeded through the woods and came up with the enemy's rear-guard. Here a slight skirmish ensued, in which the American lost one killed and seven wounded.

Hampton, having re-occupied his late position, called a council of war, where it was determined to fall back and occupy the former position at Four Corners, to secure their communication with the United States; from thence either to retire to winter quarters or be ready to re-enter Lower Canada.

"On that day or the day previous Captain Debartzch, of the Militia, was sent to the American headquarters with a flag. When he stated the number and description of troops by which General Hampton had been opposed, the latter, scarcely able to keep his temper, insisted that the British force amounted to 7,000 men. On being assured of the contrary, he asked: "What, then, made the woods ring so with bugles?" Captain Debartzch explained this; but it was apparently to no purpose.

The Americans retired on the 29th. "On the 30th a party of Indian Chasseurs, under Captain Ducharme, reported that the enemy had abandoned his camp at Piper's Road in the greatest disorder, and was on the road to Four Corners". The Canadians followed up and hung upon the rear and embarrassed the retreat. Canada was saved!

General Wilkinson was very severe on his fellow-general. "On the 4th of November", he complains, "the British garrison of Montreal consisted solely of 400 marines and 200 soldiers. What a golden, glorious opportunity has been lost by the caprice of Major-General Hampton!" Poor man, he was to have pretty much the same luck himself just afterwards! Wilkinson's army proceeded on its own course down the river, but was almost as ignominiously defeated at Chrysler's Farm on the 10th of November, where his 3,000 or 4,000 men were matched, partly in open field and partly with the assistance of a ruse as at Chateaugay, against 800 British and thirty Indians, under Colonel Morison, a man equally brave and able with McDonnell and De Salaberry.

Mr. Dion, of Chambly, to whom the erection of a fine bronze statue of De Salaberry is due, has related to me a number of particulars from De Salaberry's letters held by his relatives. The hero complains bitterly of Prevost and De Watteville — "those two Swiss" — and that on account of his religion he could get no higher than a Lieut.-Colonel. From the same letters it appears that the "Temoine Oculaire" was a young lawyer named O'Sullivan, later, Judge O'Sullivan, a man partly of Irish family, in person large and handsome, and a great friend of De Salaberry, who ever remained grateful to him for preserving record of his deed in his celebrated letter. It is commonly attributed to D. B. Viger. Another little fact mentioned in the correspondence of De Salaberry is that his men in the battle were barefooted.

The almost unique nature of the victory strikes one. Its keystone was De Salaberry's masterly use of illusion. Of it was the choice of a thick wood to conceal his small force, their entrenchment behind the abatis and in bush positions, the unexpected fire from the left bank upon Purdy, the Indians in the woods, and, more than anything, the ruse of the multiplied bugles. But besides illusion there was the ablest possible disposition, for there seems no doubt but that no spot could have been chosen along his projected route greater in strength when fortified and guarded just as that was. The enemy could only reach it fatigued, and far from sources of supply, the wood

The Week At Ottawa

OTTAWA, (CP) — It has been said in Parliament and elsewhere that if the Canadian forest industry could get one tooth-pick a day into the 600,000,000 mouths in Red China, the industry would be prosperous indeed. But the industry considers that prospect dim — unless Canada extends diplomatic recognition to the mainland Communist regime. Last week the Commons mines committee heard more on the subject, as well as complaints that the industry is overtaxed.

Industry spokesmen said they are sure Red China has the dollars to buy Canadian lumber. Members of a Chinese trade mission six months ago were reported as saying that Communist China would pay cash for Canadian products, if Canada reciprocated.

Without diplomatic recognition, however, the industry says it cannot hope to regain its big pre-war market in China. And to add to the troubles, the industry adds, Russian and Scandinavian competition is knitting into Canadian markets elsewhere.

Rising Production
One brief given the committee said Canadian newsprint production in the last decade increased 44 per cent, while elsewhere in the free world it climbed 95 per cent. Pulp output in Canada from 1950 to 1957 rose 35 per cent, but elsewhere there was a 57-per-cent increase.

The forest industry argued that unlike other industries — such as mining, farming, oil and gas — it received no special supports or subsidies from the federal or provincial governments. On the contrary, it had the highest tax burdens.

The committee was told that the various governments take $200,000,000 from the forest industry each year, and put back only $10,000,000 for forestry research.

"Milking a cow and not feeding it is one way to run out of milk," said President D. W. Ambrose, of Abitibi Power and Paper Company.

He said the tax rate of 55 per cent on Ontario operations is "deadly." Because of this, his firm would not spend another five-cent piece on new plant in that province. In fact, the company already has built a new $21,000,000 plant in Michigan because it's cheaper there.

He joined other spokesmen in warning that Canada is pricing itself out of its own forestry markets.

Truck Ban Lifted
The United States has bowed to Canada in the battle over whether shipments of food from Communist China to Canada should move over American highways. The U.S. is to lift its three-month ban against Canadian trucks transporting the Chinese delicacies from Vancouver to Prairie and eastern Canadian points over U.S. roads.

Canadian protests had first brought a U.S. reply that the prohibition was invoked as a protection of American national security.

Commenting on the U.S. treasury's announcement the ban would be lifted, John Magee, secretary of the Canadian Trucking Association, said the action was greatly appreciated.

"The trucking firms concerned are among those which, under great difficulties, have developed coast-to-coast highway freight service in this country," he said.

New Energy Board
When Trade Minister Churchill announced the establishment of a new national energy board, he noted there would be provision for "appropriate regulation of the returns" of oil and gas pipeline companies. Parliamentary correspondents — or at least many of them — interpreted "returns" as meaning profits.

Later that day, in the night sitting, Mr. Churchill rose in the House to announce that "returns" meant pipeline tolls — not profits. His explanation indicated that some MPs had given his phrase the same connotation.

In addition to regulating tolls, the board would be given the say over prices at which gas and electric power might be exported.

The energy-board bill now before the House would propose that the board be empowered to decide on applications for export of gas and electricity, subject to cabinet approval. But authority for issuing import or export permits for oil would remain in cabinet hands, perhaps passing to the board later.

Crownst Rates
The Commons heard a Liberal member's complaint that the royal commission on railways will have one foot shackled unless it can dig into the question of the Crownst rates — the 1900 level of low rates on export grain movement.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said in announcing the terms of reference for the McTague commission that the Crownst rates — often described by the railways themselves as "non-realistic" — will not be affected.

The criticism came from former Liberal transport minister Lionel Chevrier. He said the rates should be examined to see whether they are compensatory. If they were not, then perhaps the commission could suggest a form of subsidy for the farmer — protecting both wheat exports and getting the railways off the high-costs hook.

Hugh M. Horner (PC—Jasper-Eaton) argued that the rates are not unrealistic. He said the Hudson Bay Railways carried 78 per cent of its traffic in 1957 at the Crownst rate, yet had a $40,000,000 surplus before depreciation and interest on investment.

CBC Losses
The Commons broadcasting committee meeting for the first time in several years, demanded last week that the publicly-owned CBC supply figures on production costs and commercial revenues from certain television programs.

After an argument by CBC vice-president E. L. Bushnell, the committee settled for figures of "sample" programs — unnamed. They showed that the CBC received only $7,974 from the sponsor of one production that cost $22,100. In another unidentified case, the corporation got $12,697 for a show that cost it nearly $22,000.

When it's time to have the dentist check daughter's teeth, Mrs. Smith naturally reaches for the telephone, that helpful "member-of-the-family" with the habit of getting things done.

When you look back over your day, it's sometimes surprising to realize in just how many little ways the telephone has helped you... how it adds so much convenience and comfort to everyday living.

Again! The Frasers

We are in appreciative receipt of a letter from Mr. R. J. Fraser, 35 Broadway Avenue, Ottawa, Ont., author of "As Others See Us" — (the history of the Frasers of Dundee).

Mr. Fraser has written in part: "My attention has been drawn to your article in The Gleaner describing the Frasers and our historical and biographical book recently published. I notice from old notes that it was just about four years ago, in July 1955, that you wrote in the same column about the Frasers of Dundee and your able charge. Furthermore, recalibrating a tank which is not on a frost proof, settles the foundation serves little purpose because, even if done at short intervals it would not keep up with the changes in the level of the tank. In many cases, the only answer is to take out the tank, rebuild the foundation so it is absolutely proof against change, and recalibrate.

In some cases, cement piers under each leg of the tank going down to a firm base below frost may be worth consideration. Water under the milk house floor which is subject to freezing from the sides through the foundation walls will in most cases cause trouble. This past year's experience emphasized the fact that the lowest cost and only satisfactory way to install and operate a farm bulk tank is to make absolutely sure before installation that the foundation is permanently trouble proof.

The primary responsibility and cost for trouble proof tank foundations rests on the farmers. However, milk dealers, tank salesmen and installation men as well as public agencies have some responsibility in this matter.

Something About Farm Bulk Milk Tanks

An interested reader sent The Gleaner the following clipping from a publication put out by the Vermont Department of Agriculture, U.S. having to do with bulk milk tanks. This is a matter that is being discussed very widely in Canada at the present time and therefore anything to do with it should be of interest to milk producers.

Farm Bulk Milk Tanks
 Our great dairy industry is rapidly adopting bulk handling. We all have much to learn and much we can only learn from experience. One very serious problem which will cause much trouble and expense to farmers, handlers and tank salesmen is rapidly coming to the front. Recent checks indicate that a great many farm tanks have settled or frost heaved and consequently are no longer an acceptable means of measuring milk. A change of 3/32 of an inch in the level of a tank will, in many cases, substantially change the dip stick reading of the contents of the tank. Recalibration costs the person applying for the service $25.00 which does not cover the entire cost. This department has neither funds nor personnel to check the level on the 2200 tanks now in use without making a reason-

The Week At Ottawa

 Labor Minister Starr considers this "a feasible plan." As now conceived, the plan would allow a farmer who found hired hands refusing to work for him because they would not be covered by unemployment insurance, to be able to register as an employer if he wanted to and thereby make coverage possible.

Dundee

DUNDEE — Rev. R. Beal officiated at Holy Communion at Zion Church Sunday morning. Miss Jean Fraser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Fraser and Mr. Edward Waterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lisle Waterson were received into the church. A christening ceremony also took place at this service when the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith McPherson received the names Deborah Ann, and the twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Suther were christened Allan Walter and Robert George.
 Women's Institute
 Rev. A. E. Hagar was guest speaker at the Dundee W. I. May 6, held in the home of Mrs. E. J. Cameron. He spoke on citizenship stating that it is a duty of every citizen to register their child soon after birth, to see that it is baptized and to teach the child to prize the privileges of his life and to guard his birth certificate as a valuable document. As the child grows he has duties to his community. He must learn to live with other citizens. He must learn to take his part in the social welfare of his community. It is the duty and privilege of every adult citizen to vote, especially women who are not always able to. A closing prayer was said and we were all facing the greatest venture of our lives when we leave the responsibilities of citizenship and pass it on to our children, hoping we have helped make our country a better place in which to live.

Several letters of appreciation were read including one from the Canadian Cancer Society for the parcel of used cotton which had been sent.
 Convener reports included articles on African Violets, White Shoes, Horse Radish Relish.
 The citizenship report told about a $10,000.00 Federal Grant that Agricultural Minister Harkness is giving to all Federated Women's Institutes of Canada. This is the first time a Federal Grant has been given the Institute. Mr. H. W. Herdridge of B.C. told the Commons that the Institutes have done more work with less money than any other group for the benefit of Canada.
 Mrs. A. H. Fraser told of an interview she had seen on TV between Anna Cameron and Helen Fitzgerald Bacon of Toronto, the designer of the type ACWV stamp. It is the first Canadian stamp to be designed by a woman. The design symbolizes growth from a local organization into world association represented by the globe. The kneeling man symbolizes service and help and the grain, country living. At the close of the meeting a delicious supper was served by Mrs. E. J. Cameron and Mrs. Franklin Cameron.
 Mrs. Harold Kerr and her son, Mr. Fred Kerr of Montreal, were guests of Mrs. Elizabeth Fleming on Victoria Day. Callers at the same house on Monday were Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Brown of Fankleek Hill, Ont. and Mrs. Charles Grant of Westmount. Mr. Ronald Fleming returned to Montreal the same day to resume his work in the bank after an absence of several months following a car accident.
 Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Burbank were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Fraser and family.
 Mrs. Donald Fraser, Barbara and Billy returned home last Wednesday, after spending a few days in Farnham with Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Barber.
 Mr. and Mrs. Henry Redman of Regina, Sask., are spending a few days with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Steven.

article helped 'spark' the idea of a comprehensive history of this branch of the Clan.

A Challenge
 In another paragraph Mr. Fraser makes a comment which might quite well be construed as a challenge to younger members of the Fraser Clan of Dundee. He wrote in part:
 "Perhaps your suggestion that there be a Fraser Clan organization may some day bear fruit. Were I younger and more imaginative, I might be tempted to consider it. I think, however, it is something for a younger member."

To Mr. Fraser we might say: "Why not provide the 'spark' and the initial leadership. To the other Frasers there is surely one or more of you who could and should co-operate with him in lighting the 'torch', leading to the formation of a clan."
B.C. Ayrshireman
 One day last week we had a brief visit from an old acquaintance in William McPaul, who recently assumed the position of Agriculture Manager "Boys Town, B.C." which is located near Hope, B.C. An Ayrshire herd has been established on the estate which has been named as above, and about which more next week. In order to complete the foundation of that herd, Mr. McPaul came east and purchased a number of animals in Ontario, after which he came to Quebec where he purchased some 7 or 8 animals, including several around Howick. However, full details of these purchases are not yet available, but we hope to give same next week.

H-H Calf Sale
 Twenty-three members of the Howick-Huntingdon Ayrshire Breeders' Club presented 33 calves for auction at that Club's sale held at Ormstown Exhibition grounds on Friday, May 22. A select group of calves that were a credit to their consignors both as regards appearance, fitting and preparation for the sale. Bruce Cairncross made a very capable Leadsman in the sale ring.
 The consignors were: Garnet J. Barrington; Cameron Bryson; J. Bruce Cairncross; W. O. Carcaud; Newton Elliott; W. Ross Elliott; D. A. Finlayson; Andrew Glen; Russell Logan; Robert W. McFarlane; Donald McKell; J. Earle Ness & Sons; R. Bruce Ness & Sons; R. R. Ness & Sons; Reg'd. Gerald A. Roy & Son; A. R. Santoro; Clarence Stark; Oscar Vallancourt; Henry Wallace; M. J. Wallace; Robert C. Whyte & Son; Allan H. Wilson; J. G. Wilson.

Almost up to the delayed opening time of the sale prospects looked rather bleak because of the number of people in attendance. However, when the sale opened there was a fairly good crowd of people around the sale ring. Also, surprisingly so, a remarkably good lot of bidders which resulted in a measurably successful sale which, we understand, was considered to be quite satisfactory to those connected with the sale.
 As already mentioned the calves as a whole were individually a very good lot. Unfortunately, however, a considerable number were from herds which are not O.P.F., while several of them were practically baby calves, both of which factors meant that the calves concerned mostly went at lower prices than their appearance warranted. On the other hand several of the others with record backing also went at quite reasonable prices. Nevertheless, the thirty-three head which were capably and expeditiously sold by H. P. Higgins, as auctioneer, and Douglas A. Ness on pedigrees, and as the Sale Manager, netted a total of $3,435.00 or a general average of approximately $105.00.

 Nineteen head were sold at prices ranging from $100.00 to $230.00; 6 went at from $85.00 to $90.00; 5 at from $60.00 to $75.00 while three of the baby calves went at $50 (2) and $55.00.
 The sale clerks were J. Earle Ness, and Rowland R. Ness, Secretary of the Club.
 The top priced animal of the sale was Alderwood Supreme Luna 2nd, a November, 1958 daughter of Cherry Bank Royal Marquis 2nd and of Alderwood Supreme Luna, consigned by J. G. Wilson, Alderwood Farms. She went at $230.00 to W. O. Carcaud, St. Chrysostome.
 Two calves tied for place, as the second high seller, at $155.00 each. One of them was Clear Brook Gift, August, 1958, by Balquhider Robbie Burns and from Clear Brook Dignity's Gift. With a 3 year old, 305 day record of 10,065 lbs. M., 421 lbs. F., 4.18%. Consigned by Allan H. Wilson, Franklin Centre, she was purchased by Henry Wallace, Athelstan.
 The other was Balquhider Burton's Letitia, October 1958, by Glenarry Fashion Plate. Consigned by Archie Roy, Howick, she was purchased by Allan H. Wilson.
 Next high, at $150.00, was a December, 1958, calf consigned by Gerald A. Roy & Son, Howick and purchased by R. R. Ness & Sons. Incidentally, during the course of the selling Douglas A. Ness announced that the calf's sire Burnside New Score, had been leased to the Eastern Ontario Cattle Breeding Association, Kemptville, Ont. R. R. Ness & Sons also paid $130.00 for Ridgehaugh Fascination 2, July 1958, sired by Carmel True Art (Howick Cattle Breeding Club), and consigned by D. A. Finlayson, Ormstown.

Garnet Barrington, Howick, paid $145.00 to Henry Wallace, Athelstan, for Fairview Red Pride, August 1958, by Melody Lane Parnell, Garry Barrington, youthful son of Garnet, was also a purchaser at $125.00 of Sunny-side Bluebell, a January 1959 daughter of Meadowcroft, Triumphant, consigned by Russell Logan, Howick.
 Archie Roy, Howick, paid $135.00 to Andrew Glen, Brysonville, for Bonnie Glen Oida, by Cherry Bank Royal Vanguard. (Continued on page 9)

There were only two outside the district buyers, both of them consistent bidders on a considerable number of the animals. One of them was Alex Wallace, Smiths Falls, Ont., who purchased three head — 2 at $115.00 each and 1 at $80.00. The other was Paul W. Calkins, well-known auctioneer of Peru, N.Y., who finally purchased a calf at $90.00.

Another consistent bidder was R. Legault, Ste-Martine, who finished up with 5 head. We understand that Mr. Legault has a grade Ayrshire herd and that the calves purchased at Ormstown are his first purebred, registered Ayrshires.

Also in the newcomers list were Everett Mason, Ormstown, with 4 head and Dr. J. R. Whitehead, V.S., Ormstown, with 2 head.

Other purchasers included: two head, M. J. Wallace, Athelstan; one calf each Aaron

The following item, from a Department of Agriculture News Release makes interesting reading:

Another four areas have been declared brucellosis-certified, as a nation-wide drive against the cattle disease gains momentum.

Health of Animals Division, Canada Department of Agriculture, recently announced that the Kings County, N.S.; Chateauguay County, Que.; and the Rural Municipalities of Flett's Springs No. 429 and Sarnia No. 221, Sask., have been certified until May 1, 1962.

About 58,300 cattle are involved in the four areas, bringing to 658,300 the number in 36 areas that have been certified since the national eradication program was launched in mid 1957.

To date, 288 areas have been accepted for testing and work has been completed in 48 areas. There are another 68 under test at the present time.

The number of cattle now under supervision approaches the 2,000,000 mark.

side of the employer, and advised the members of the I.W.A. to leave it and join his new creation.

Mr. Smallwood justified his attitude by claiming that rather than accept the unanimous recommendations of a Conciliation Board appointed by his government, the companies would simply go out of business. This, of course, is the standard reply of managements when they are faced with a demand for wage-increases, but Premier Smallwood claims he believed the Company meant it. This Board had recommended an increase of five cents per hour over a two-year period and the reduction of the work-week from sixty to fifty-four, in the second year, without loss of pay. This would have established a basic rate of $1.22 per hour. The union accepted the recommendations although they were far less than had been asked for, but the Anglo-Newfoundland Development Company flatly rejected them. In addition, however, to setting up the new union, Premier Smallwood introduced a special bill decertifying the International Woodworkers of America, and essentially outlawing it, and levying heavy fines for almost any form of picketing.

Mr. Smallwood's new union has signed an agreement providing for an increase in the hourly rate from $1.05 to $1.10 per hour. Although this increase cost the Company $120,000 each year, this was considerably less than the Conciliation Board's proposals would have involved, but the present situation rests with Premier Smallwood. Both Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Fulton have taken the position that Mr. Smallwood exceeded the proper role of government by taking sides in a Labour-Management dispute. Mr. Fulton refused to permit further RCMP reinforcement to be sent to Newfoundland, as he claimed that their function would be to assist in extinguishing a union and not to assist in the normal function of maintaining law and order.

Our Congress feels that the legislation should be disallowed by the Federal Government, and that there should be an official inquiry into the part played by the police in recent incidents in Newfoundland.

HOWICK — The Georgetown W.M.S. held their May Meeting at the Church on Wednesday afternoon, with Mrs. Logan in the chair. Mrs. D. Piskin had a special item from the Glad Tidings and Miss Helen Wilson had the study period. Plans were completed for the tea and plant sale to be held the following day.

Miss Mary Ferguson of Montreal, spent the week-end with the Rev. and Mrs. W.M. Brown and Sheila at the Manse.

The Ladies of the Georgetown W.M.S. are most grateful to all the Ladies who came to their tea and plant sale, on Thursday afternoon and made it such a success.

Mrs. Logan was in charge of the devotional part of the service. Mrs. W.M. Brown introduced the speaker, who was Mrs. Roland Rowat from Montreal. She gave a most interesting talk, the subject which came to her one day when she was cleaning her kitchen cupboard, and entitled it her "Spiritual Pantry", and was indeed a most inspiring talk. She was thanked by Mrs. Wallace Elliot.

Mrs. P. Peddie and Mrs. M. McCarty with Mrs. John W. Holmes at the organ sang special music. After the closing prayer, Mrs. Logan invited all the Ladies to the Church Hall, where Mrs. B. Chagnon and her committee of Ladies served a cup of tea, sandwiches and squares, with Mrs. P. McCarty and Mrs. J. Whyte pouring tea.

After the refreshments, Mrs. T. Kerr, Miss F. Hunter and Mrs. Haddon Kerr, who were in charge of the plant sale, had a busy half hour disposing of their plants. The Ladies all declared it a most successful afternoon.

The Gore

Gore W.M.S. and W.A. Notes

THE GORE — The Gore W.M.S. and W.A. met at the home of Mrs. Mervyn Graham on May 19, with a good attendance. Mrs. Willard Anderson had charge of the meeting. This being the first meeting after "Mother's Day", Mrs. Anderson read a poem entitled, "My Mother," and the Hymn "When Mothers of Salem", was sung. Psalm 23 was read responsively. Mrs. F. Mason reported on the recent W.A. food sale. Nearly $60.00 was realized from his sale. Mrs. Carl Anderson, President of the W.M.S., gave an interesting report on the afternoon tea held that afternoon at Dundee, which six of the Gore ladies had attended. Mrs. Anderson also reported that she had secured a speaker, namely Mrs. Errey, for the W.M.S. tea in July. Refreshments were served by the hostess and a social hour spent.

Guests of the long week-end of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Graham were Mr. and Mrs. Mike Andrews, Debbie and David of Montreal, and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Garner of Ottawa. Mrs. Jas. McCaig and Debbie have been guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Matt Gilligan. Sorry to report that Mr. McCaig is a patient in the Barrie Memorial Hospital at present, suffering from severe burns which he received at work.

Powerscourt

POWERSCOURT — Mr. and Mrs. Henry Walker and Jamie enjoyed the week-end with friends in Ottawa.

Mr. Alex Wallace of Streetsville, Ont., spent a few days with his mother last week.

On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Koski attended the funeral of the late Mr. Clinton Cook in Malone. As Mr. Cook had been in the airforce for 19 years he was given a funeral with full military honors.

Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor spent the week-end in Montreal, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Scriver.

Dundee

W.M.S. Tea

A very successful tea was held in Zion United Church under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society. Mr. Albert Armstrong, the president, presided. Mrs. K. Williams of Kensington rendered a beautiful solo, accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Charles Fraser. Because of illness, Mrs. E. D. Errey, Presbyterian President, was unable to be present. Mrs. Van Duzer.

Another aspect of Labour policy should perhaps be mentioned at our Convention in Winnipeg, last year, the Canadian Labour Congress adopted a resolution calling for the establishment of what is essentially a new political party in Canada. This would bring together representatives of Labour, farmers, co-operatives and liberal-minded people generally into a party which would be distinctly different from either of the old political parties and which would give us a closer approximation of democratic government than we now have. Discussions have been taking place between committees representing the Congress and the CCF, as well as farmers' organizations, and it is anticipated that a draft Constitution will be available for presentation at the next Convention of the Congress in April 1960. As you might anticipate, while there are some individual workers and some groups which are not yet ready to give full support to a political party, the anti-Labour legislation which has appeared in Newfoundland and British Columbia is likely to bring about a change in their attitude.

Patrick Gilhooley (Nichols Chemical Limited) thanked the speaker for the most informative talk on Labour organization and newly appointed President Riley closed the meeting with appropriate words.

MORE AND MORE TASTES APPROVE OF O'KEEFE ALE

People with a discriminating taste are creating a trend. Every day more and more people are discovering mild O'Keefe Ale. Next time you're thinking of refreshment try O'Keefe — your taste is sure to approve of its natural mild flavour.

THE O'KEEFE MILDNESS SECRET

Ever bitten into a grape seed? It's bitter, unpleasant. Grape growers found by experiment that they could develop seedless grapes with nothing to spoil the delicate flavour. It's the same with hops. Ordinary hops contain seeds which give an unpleasant bitterness to ale. However, O'Keefe master brewers insist on costlier "seedless hops", result — there's no unpleasant bitterness, just the right, natural mild flavour.

Passing Of The Locomotive

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

On the front page of a recent issue of The Truro Daily News, just to hand, there is a large reproduction of a photograph of a locomotive with the caption: "Steam Locomotive Makes Last Run." The giant engine takes up the whole picture, and standing in front are four members of the train's crew. Bound for Windsor, they left the locomotive there and made the return run with a diesel engine.

That is a brief matter-of-fact record of the passing of a powerful Titan of the age of steam. Its history goes back to the beginning of the nineteenth century and, modestly enough, in little Wales when a Cornish man, named Trevithick, built and operated a steam engine for hauling cars on a track. George Stephenson's first locomotive, the Blucher, was built in 1814, and in 1829 he demonstrated with his famous Rocket the practicability of the steam engine for transportation. His engine had four wheels, one pair being drivers, and a boiler six feet long. When running light it attained the terrific speed of 29 miles per hour!

Canadian Garden Service

No More Back Aches

Suitable tools in good condition take all the drudgery out of gardening. Today, with modern equipment, one person can easily look after a half acre of vegetable garden, plus a big lawn and flower garden, and in about one fifth of the time his father would have needed. And moreover he can do it with about one tenth the fatigue. The important point is to have the right tool for the job and to have that tool clean and sharp.

There are all sorts of special hand cultivators, narrow and wide, and mostly with long

The first locomotive to run in the United States was the English-built Stourbridge Lion in the same year. It was not a commercial success, owing, it is said, to the failure of the track rather than of the engine. The year later the Tom Thumb was built by Peter Cooper for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and was "an outstanding success" at about the same speed as the Rocket.

Meanwhile Canada was still in the backwoods, so far as transportation was concerned. The chief means of land travel were the stage coach and the lumber wagon over corduroy roads; but a macadamized and plank state route had been established from Montreal to Kingston, and later from Kingston to York (Toronto), and from thence to Niagara and Detroit. These roads were built and maintained by public funds, partly from toll-gates. But much of the passenger and freight traffic in those days was by boat on the lakes, rivers and canals. Thousand of immigrants were pouring into Canada. "Often," says one writer, "more than a hundred men, women and children would be crowded into a single thirty-foot bateau, huddled together as close as captives in a slave trader, exposed to the sun's rays by day, and the river damp by night, without protection." With the coming of the steamboat, water travel was greatly improved.

It was the locomotive that, by speeding up land transportation, opened a new era of progress for Canada. It began with the arrival at Saint John, New Brunswick, of an English locomotive, named the Kitten, in 1837. The new engine was run on wooden rails and at the first trial "wouldn't (no pun intended) budge an inch." But we are told that it eventually "gambolled along at twenty miles an hour." The rest of the story is told in a book by Oscar D. Skelton, The Railway Builders, published in 1930, which should be a "must" text book for every student of Canadian history. That little Kitten was the pioneer of rapid transportation which linked the Atlantic to the Pacific, peopled the empty Prairies and changed the whole face of Canadian life. The locomotive transformed Canada from a colony into a confederated Dominion under the British Crown. That last run from Truro to Windsor was an historic event, not only for the Dominion Atlantic Railway (CPR subsidiary) but because it marks the transfer from steam to diesel power and the ultimate passing of the giant locomotive that has pushed back the boundaries of civilization around the world. And it all started with that spluttering contraption which was slightly dubbed "Puffing Billy."

handles so that there is no strain on the back. They will get in under trailing vines, make thinning a simple operation and will speed the weekly job of cultivation. One is well advised to visit the nearest seed store and look over the tools that are specially designed to make life easier.

Then there is power. Hardly anyone with a fair sized lawn thinks of pushing a mower nowadays. There are all sorts of power mowers on the market that only cost slightly more than a first quality hand machine and which will cut a lawn in half the time and with no work at all. There are also small tractors that will do a quarter acre of vegetable garden in less time than the average man needs to cultivate a plot 20 by 30 by hand. And while one is looking these labor savers over it is a good plan also to invest in the ricklers, dusters, sprayers and other gadgets that have come on the market in recent years to make gardening easier and more interesting.

Special Flowers for Special Places

Flowers like most people are individualists. They have very real preferences in regard to soil, shade and moisture. For slopes, for instance, there are a score of special plants, mostly tiny, that thrive in such a location. These are listed in the seed catalogue usually under "the general heading of 'Rock Garden' plants. They need very little soil or moisture and they will add colour and cover to any bit of steep ground.

Then there are flowers that do best in shade, things like begonias, violets, pansies, lily of the valley and so on. These are just the right sort for planting on the north side of house or wall, or other places where the ground is heavily shaded. Here too is the right place for the wild flower garden. There is even special grass for shady locations.

At the opposite end of the scale are those flowers which will not do well unless they get lots of sun, things like poppies, nasturtiums, portulaca and many others. Most of them are not very particular about soil or moisture but they do love the hot sun.

Does It Like Canada

No one will deny that we have a distinct climate in Canada. In fact, we have several climates. For that reason the flower and vegetable seeds we sow and the nursery stock we plant must be especially selected for Canada. Something that may give wonderful result in England or Virginia or the South Seas could be a terrible flop here. When one selects seeds from a Canadian seed catalogue, one can be sure that that seed is suited to Canada, that, in most cases, it has been field tested under actual Canadian conditions.

Lots of Bouquets

There is no good reason why we should not have all sorts of cut flowers to fill every vase in the house and give bouquets away by the armful from summer to fall. But many gardeners do not like to snip too many blooms in the regular flower gardens for fear of lessening the display outside. The remedy is simple. In a few rows in the vegetable garden we can easily grow an abundance of cut flowers and snip them to our heart's content. When grown in rows in this way, they are easier to thin and cultivate. In some cases, too, flowers that are excellent for cutting and bouquets are not particularly ornamental as plants and the vegetable garden is the proper place to grow them. Sweet peas are an example and gladiolus and some of the lilies.

Strontium 90 May Be Beyond Safety Limit

The strontium 90 content of milk may even now be beyond the safety limit, in the opinion of Dr. F. H. Knelman, Montreal food research engineer.

Mentioning milk as being particularly dangerous from radiation particles, he stated that he and an increasing number of other scientists are far from satisfied that the fall-out menace is not already at the danger point "despite assurances and statistics to the contrary."

In an interview during the annual meeting of the Montreal branch of the Canadian Institute of Food Technology — of which he is past chairman — Dr. Knelman said radiation-contaminated milk is especially bad because of the biological function of strontium 90. He explained that its action is similar to milk's calcium content and consequently attacked the bones.

Dr. Knelman was confident that agreement could be reached on banning hydrogen weapons but action will have to be taken soon — while the secrets are still held by the United States, Russia and Great Britain.

"But in all probability smaller nations will soon have H-weapons and then the problem of control will become ever so much more difficult."

The doctor said radiation effects have been minimized up to now but governments are beginning to worry as public feeling is aroused.

"Everyone agrees there is a great risk in radiation and the magnitude of the problem has not yet been determined." But he added that nations are becoming increasingly aware of what they face if H-weapon explosions are continued.

While admitting he was not an expert in nuclear matters, Dr. Knelman said he has done a good deal of private research on radiation and that everyone is in agreement that even a minute amount is bad.

He added that he could not subscribe to the view that the strontium 90 level of the atmosphere is below safety limits.

"But if we wait until people begin to die from radiation effects, then we are guilty of a tremendous public immorality."

Also speaking at the food conference was Dr. E. W. McHenry, professor of nutrition at the University of Toronto, who said medical schools should give more instruction on nutrition. He said the subject is an extra-curricular one for most physicians.

He claimed a good deal of the knowledge they do have of nutrition came from articles and advertisements and not necessarily from medical journals. The result is that few doctors have any real interest in nutrition and in general have difficulty in giving practical advice on food to their patients.

Small Balloons Mark Bush Fires

WINNIPEG, (CP) — Manitoba forest protection officials are experimenting with meteorological balloons as guides to ground crews fighting small forest fires. Resources Minister Gurney Evans says the four-foot, colored balloons may prove the answer to saving hundreds of acres of Manitoba forest from destruction.

One of the major problems facing forest rangers in heavily-wooded areas is finding small fires, Mr. Evans says. Lightning strikes are particularly difficult to find from the ground. However, these small fires usually are visible to aircraft doing patrol work.

Even when flown to nearby lakes by the pontoon-equipped planes, the firefighters often have difficulty finding the blaze. A delay sometimes means the small fire becomes a big one.

Now, tests are being conducted whereby the patrol planes drop the inflated balloons, tied to an anchor by a length of cord, over a small fire. The weight on the cord pulls the balloon slowly down without it drifting away from the fire scene. The anchor tangles with the tree tops, securing the balloon near the fire site.

Sandbags are being used as weights in the tests because it is easy to regulate the amount of sand necessary for prevailing wind conditions.

Officials have tried both red and white balloons for visibility. The red type has proved better

The County Fair held by the Girl's Auxiliary on Saturday, May 23rd proved very successful. $114.55 was realized. The "Gail and Lois" Home Bakery was quite an attraction for the mothers with the many delicacies on sale. The White Elephant table attracted the kiddies with pennies, as did the fishpond and candy counter. Hunger was stilled with hot dogs, and thirst quenched with ice cold orange and cokes. Mrs. Sawyer G. A. Leader from Beauharnois was a visitor with her daughter Sue. Mrs. Giffin came in from Ville LaSalle and assisted at the Hot Dog Stand. Sincere thanks go out from the girls and leaders to all who gave their time and efforts in helping to make this affair the great success it was. Namely those who baked, made candy, donated for the fish pond, gave transportation when needed. Also the Girl's Auxiliary are deeply grateful to the many companies, both local and in Montreal, who so generously donated door prizes. The Door Prize winners were as follows: Mrs. F. Generally, the balloons will be used for fires which are so small that the flames will not affect the balloon floating about 50 to 60 feet above the tree tops. When the fires are bigger, there is enough smoke to serve as a guide.

The Police Blotter

Caught in the act of siphoning gas from a car in the garage of Mr. James Lang, 62 Salaberry Blvd., a youth from the Heights was taken into Custody by Chief of Police Roland Lussier. Upon questioning by Judge Fortin at Valleyfield the boy revealed the names of his four companions who had managed to get away. All five will appear in the Valleyfield Court, on June 30th.

Answering a trouble call at the Plaza Hotel on Saturday night, Chief Lussier arrested a young man who had broken the Plate Glass Door on the front of the Hotel. A former resident of the Heights now living in Verdun, the youth will face charges being pressed by Mr. Landrieau, owner of the Hotel.

Mr. Harry Spencer has been sworn in as a Special Police Constable for the Colonia Development by Judge Maurice Trudeau.

A motor boat owned by Mr. Turner of Riverside Drive which had been reported as stolen a short while ago has been found. The Lachine Police reported recovery of the boat to Chief Lussier who in turn notified Provincial Police. It is felt by the Police that the boat was taken only to cross the Lake and then

Mrs. Ulric Bourdon reported a fire in the Railway Ties by the side of her house, on Monday, May 17th. Fire Chief Roland Lussier and two volunteer firemen arrived with the pumping truck and in a short while had the fire under control. A spark or a live cigarette could have ignited the tar on the ties.

Residents of the island near Victoria will travel back and forth in their own boats. A road around the island is nearly finished and landing floats in a sheltered bay on the north side are already in place.

In 1933 a grim period in the Piers Island history began when 600 Sons of Freedom Doukhobors were detained there. During the three years they were kept in the island prison there were storms of protest against the concentration camp. The federal government expropriated the island for the Doukhobor camp and later returned it to its owner. Last year it was sold to Gulf Resorts Limited which is developing it.

The Week In Quebec

Quebec (CP) — Victoria Day week-end, the traditional harbinger of summer, saw thousands of Quebecers take to the roads and beaches for their first long, warm respite from winter. It also cast a long shadow of accidental death.

While the accident toll still was being compiled, traffic safety specialists met in Quebec to inspect, review and predict.

With the knowledge that at least 21 persons in the Province lost their lives accidentally during the holiday week-end some 200 delegates at the Provincial Highway Safety Committee Convention discussed ways of reducing the traffic toll.

Specific problems: automobile registration which is outstripping highway capacity; careless pedestrians blamed for two-thirds of traffic deaths in Quebec last year; drivers who refuse to obey traffic rules.

Nearly 1,000,000 vehicles now are registered in the Province, an increase of almost 35,000 in the last six years. There were 901 traffic deaths in 1958, after which the toll dipped, but it has been edged up ever since and in 1958 there were 821 deaths.

And the first three months of this year carried a sinister portent with 117 deaths recorded against 105 during the same period a year ago.

Quebec's Deputy Attorney General, Charles Edouard Cantin, told the convention a crackdown may be necessary against drivers of trucks and buses. Too many of these drivers are failing to observe the 45-mile-an-hour speed limit, he said.

Speed limit for cars is 60 miles an hour.

Delegates to the convention recommended the motor vehicles act be clarified and that existing regulations be vigorously enforced.

A revision of the act will be made soon, replied Transportation Minister Rivard in a formal address.

"We will have a clearer, more ample, more effective code," he said. "It will be more representative of the improvements made in the last few years."

Camille Archambault of Montreal urged strict enforcement of traffic laws and suggested traffic authorities work on the application of present traffic knowledge rather than attempt to find new solutions to the problem.

Some new solutions will be sought, however. A team of medical specialists will conduct summer-long studies on drivers known to be suffering from mental illness, nutritional deficiencies, rheumatism, diabetes, eye trouble, faulty hearing and heart and circulation disorders.

One community decided to take its own steps towards reducing the death toll. Roberval will offer free safe-driving courses this summer.

Canada crowned a new featherweight boxing champion this week in Quebec City when Dave Hilton, a hustling 18-year-old hometown boy won a unanimous decision over Gerry Simpson of Montreal.

Hilton wore down Simpson with an aggressive attack. Both fighters ended the bout with cuts over the eyes. Hilton weighed 125½, Simpson 122.

National Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson said the Progressive Government in Ottawa has broken many records, "but the wrong ones."

Mr. Pearson told a rally of Young Liberals in Quebec that the Diefenbaker Government has set the following records:

A two-year budgetary deficit of $1,270,000,000 an estimated cash deficit for 1958 and 1959 of more than $2,000,000,000; an increase in one peacetime year, 1958-59, of $1,400,000,000 in the national debt; expenditures last year of $5,387,000,000.

An economist told the Forestville Chamber of Commerce the population of the St. Lawrence North Shore region will more than double in the next 10 years.

Dr. Huet Massue, General Manager of the Gulf and Lower St. Lawrence Progress Association, said the opening of an aluminum production plant at Baie Comeau and the iron ore project in Ungava are only portents of future prosperity.

"It can be anticipated," he said, "that within 10 years our population, because of present and future industrial developments, will surpass 150,000 persons, compared with the 70,000."

Apparently the Dutch find it easier to learn English than to learn French.

Daniel J. von Ballusk, Netherlands Ambassador to Canada, said of the 175,000 Dutch who have come to Canada since 1945, only 8,000 have settled in Quebec.

There is less of a language barrier in other parts of the country, he said, and as a high proportion are non-Catholic, they prefer to settle in non-Catholic Provinces.

Scholarships

There's been some buzzing among various large organizations of women in Canada about a gift for the Queen. The suggestion is a scholarship or scholarships for Canadian women.

The idea got rolling when Anne Francis, an Ottawa newspaper columnist, wrote that a British friend of hers had suggested that a good gift for the Queen would be a couple of scholarships for outstanding women equivalent to the Rhodes scholarships for men.

The idea apparently will come in for a lot of discussions — and possibly some action — before Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip arrive in Canada June 18 for their cross-country tour.

On a national basis, the Canadian Federation of University Women has proposed that Canada's gift be in the form of donations to establish a permanent fund for graduate scholarships for women. The suggestion has gone to Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

Much Support

A "what-do-you-think" poll taken in Ottawa found plenty of support for the scholarship idea from club women and other interested citizens.

Dr. A. W. Trueman, director of the Canada Council, said he thought scholarships would be a "most appropriate gift," and suggested this might be a project for the country's national women's organizations.

"A fine idea," said Davidson Dunton, Carleton University president. But he said the awards should go to men and women on an equal basis.

Then, there were reports that the Queen herself had suggested that money which might otherwise be spent on gifts might go toward establishing Queen's Scholarships.

But as Canadian Esmond Butler, assistant press secretary to the Queen, put it, the question of gifts is something that in the final analysis must be left to the giver.

Sea Romance

For newlyweds Capt. and Mrs. Pei Tao-Chow, home is the gipsy carrier Melvin H. Baker. They were married in Halifax with an Anglican chaplain conducting the service in a chapel of the Seaman's Mission. The reception was on board the Baker.

The bride, Pen Kwei Sah, niece of a Chinese Nationalist admiral, will act as pursuer on her husband's ship.

Zsa Zsa Gabor, the thrice-married Hungarian actress, took a few minutes with Montreal reporters to set the record straight on the Gabor story. Among her comments:

"All I want is a good, intelligent, wonderful man who can pay my food bills — not a millionaire."

Safety Films

In New Brunswick, more than 16,000 children and adults have been shown films on traffic safety rules for pedestrians this year. The RCMP said the drive had been stepped up since fatalities show no decrease and of 15 deaths 11 were those of children.

Met Its Match

The loose steer in a Toronto shoe shop found his match in 70-year-old Mrs. Rosalia Steedman. The animal was being led to an abattoir when it broke loose, crashed into the shop and wrecked counters, show cases and the cash register.

But when police arrived, plucky Mrs. Steedman was giving the 1,500-pound steer the scolding of its life. And when the animal caught his reflection in a mirror and stopped to lick the glass, he got a rope around his neck.

The Downsview housewives complained of a "mystery dust" that new screens and storm windows couldn't seem to keep out of their houses. It had works department officials puzzled, and made the housewives hopping mad.

One woman said she collected about a pound of dust every day. Another said she had to have a separate garbage pail for the stuff.

Modern Mothers

A Montreal pediatrician says modern mothers are overworking their profession.

Dr. Alton Goldbloom contends that nowadays mothers are overinclined to run to their doctors for advice concerning their children.

He told a women's club, however, that doctors themselves have to take some of the blame for the situation because doctor-experts are "frightening young mothers into thinking they can't live without us as authorities."

But, he said, he gets questions about whether it is all right for a baby to go barefoot, or about what kind of shoes a baby should wear. And mothers worry about how much the window should be opened in the baby's room.

"All these questions really have not much to do with pediatrics."

W.M.S.

The W. M. S. of the United Church held their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, May 19, with a good attendance. Mrs. Tolhurst presided. The devotional was in charge of Mrs. Albert Hope, who read the Parable of the Sower. Mrs. Eric Smith reported that four of our C.G.I.T. were graduating this year and were to receive a pin, viz.: Norma Tolhurst, Dorothy Ann Welburn, Vicky Wolodorsky and Janet MacFarlane. Special music by Mrs. Eric Smith was much enjoyed.

Special speaker was Mrs. Stirling, vice-president of the Montreal Presbyterian, and was introduced by Mrs. Tolhurst. She gave a very enlightening talk on the missionary work of our W. M. S. She recommended that every member should own a copy of a book named "Facts and Figures" This book contains much indispensable information. It is recommended that more women will be appointed to serve on various church boards. In making changes, she asked members to consider the greater good of the whole rather than our own local need.

The meeting closed in the usual way, after which an affiliation service was held with the C.G.I.T. Twelve girls attended. Those taking part in the service were Mrs. R. B. Tolhurst and Mrs. Melville Brown of the W.M.S. and Mrs. Eric Smith and Mrs. Clarence Kerr, C.G.I.T. leaders.

They're not getting the phenomenal pitching they got at this time last year," he says. And their defence isn't as good as it has been in the past. They've been losing games they would have won last year.

"I thought they were ready to be taken last year if somebody made a strong run for them — but nobody did. This season it looks like the Yankees have a couple of legitimate challengers in Cleveland Indians and Chicago.

No Coasting — In previous years the Yankees used second-string pitchers against teams they knew they could beat and saved their ace — Allie Reynolds, Vic Raschi and Eddie Lopat — against us. Last year it was Whitey Ford and Bob Turley. They can't do that any more. They've got to shoot everything they've got against every club to keep winning."

The Yankees themselves naturally aren't saying much. But there's no doubt that they are worried about their record — 12 wins in their first 32 games this year.

The New Yorkers are reported giving the camera men a rough time. He said he had nothing against photographers, reporters or anybody else — he just wanted his team to start winning again.

There's no doubt the Yankees have the talent to do much better. Whether they can muster a real recovery and go all the way to the top again is something else. Right now, they must face reality.

New Appointment In Valleyfield

Sturge (Canada) Ltd. announce the appointment of Dr. W. J. Seagers as General Manager with headquarters in Valleyfield, Quebec. Dr. Seagers is a graduate in chemistry of McMaster University and the Pennsylvania State College and has had eight years experience in the chemical industry in Canada.

And his knees aren't so hot. The feeling is that he could be waived out of the National League easily. The Yankees could make good use of him for a year or two — his life expectancy in the majors now.

The unaccustomed lowly spot in the league standing seemed to have given the Yankees the jitters on one recent occasion. Photographers were said to have been snubbed as the team headed into the railway station at New York to catch a train for Baltimore.

We'll get the lowdown on the New York Yankees this season. They're face to face with reality and there's nothing as real as last year.

The Yankees, who have won the American League pennant four years in a row — and 24 times since 1921 — have hit bottom for the first time in 19 years. Whether they can come back is a question. The other teams no longer choke up against the Yankees.

One fellow who figures New York can be beaten is Al Lopez, manager of Chicago White Sox. Lopez, not one for wild optimism, has emphasized that his conclusions were not drawn merely on his team's success against the Yankees this season but on the manner in which the Yankees lost.

Nothing Realistic Emerging So Far From Foreign Ministers' Meeting At Geneva

The Big Four foreign ministers at Geneva were expected to make a series of recesses in their formal talks this week, to permit secret negotiations.

A British source said Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko had advised the West he would be "agreeable" to a new phase of "restricted" exchanges provided they take place outside the Palais des Nations conference room, where delegates from East and West Germany are permitted to speak.

Russia and the West, were putting the pressure on each other to come up with concessions that could pave the way for a summer summit meeting.

The Soviet pressure came from Moscow, where Premier Nikita Khrushchev was reported to have warned the West German ambassador that he would sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany if there was no agreement at the Geneva meeting.

Pressure on Russia came in the form of a U.S. statement, saying that after two weeks of argument the time has come for Gromyko to produce proposals on German unification, the Berlin crisis and European security "which the Western powers will be glad to examine."

In effect, the statement urged Gromyko to get authority from Moscow to modify his stated position.

Both actions appeared to be manoeuvres in the war of nerves, to force a break in the stalemated debate and come to grips with the Berlin problem.

Steel Plays A Major Role In Our Lives

From tin cans and safety pins to automobiles and bridges, steel plays a major role in our lives... as indicated by the attention focused on the industry's current labor contract negotiations.

But it took a Chippewa Indian chief and "seven iron men" to point out the mineral wealth that borders Lake Superior... and to lay the foundation for the world's largest steel industry.

Michigan was a wilderness in 1845, when a merchant named Philo Everett heard rumors of possible ore deposits and went looking for copper and silver. According to research experts at The World Book Encyclopedia, Everett reportedly ran into Full Moon, niece of Chief Marjig-Gesick, who told him about a mountain of ore. The chief entertained Everett with Indian dances, passed him the ceremonial pipe, and then led him up a hill to a fallen pine tree. Under its roots lay chunks of iron ore... ready to be scooped up and fed to the furnaces in the east.

In 1810, the U.S. had made 1,000 tons of steel. In 1873, the figure topped one-million tons. But the richest deposit was still to be found.

Iron experts had ignored one range in Minnesota... convinced that nothing worthwhile lay beneath its glacial drift. One company had even built its railroad across the eastern end of the range.

The Merritt brothers, however, had grown up amid the prospecting fever and they took a chance on the range the Indians called "Mesabi"... "hidden giant". In 1890, they uncovered ore testing at 85 per cent iron. They had tapped one of the greatest concentrations of ore yet discovered in the world.

The "seven iron men" plunged into the development of the Mesabi, but the Panic of 1893 caught them with too many commitments and too little money. They were wiped out.

Men like Rockefeller, Carnegie, J. P. Morgan and Cyrus Eaton went on to give the steel industry its key role in the American economy.

One indication of the importance of steel is the fact that the first billion-dollar corporation was a steel combine. Today the industry, comprising more than 250 companies, has the capacity to produce some 120 million tons of steel a year. And almost 40 per cent of all jobs in manufacturing industries depend on the manufacture and use of steel.

A young Montreal matron stalled her car at a traffic light one winter day. She stamped on the starter, tried again, choked her engine, while behind her an impatient citizen honked his horn steadily. Finally she got out and walked back.

"I'm awfully sorry, but I don't seem to be able to start my car," she told the driver of the other car. "If you'll go up there and start it for me, I'll stay here and lean on your horn."
