VOL. XXXVI No. 30 MONTREAL, THURSDAY, JULY 25, 1968 12 PAGES PRICE 5c

A POSSIBILITY

Hydro-Quebec, presently re-evaluating studies made for a Westmount substation, has produced this model, pointing out that it is only a projected design. The final appearance, if the substation should be built on the proposed Clandeboyne-Prospect site over the objections of residents, will probably be somewhat different from this model.

DESPITE THE STRIKE

We're delivered

The postal strike brought The Examiner last week to Westmount subscribers early, rather than late or, as some might have feared, not at all.

First the scheduled walkout for Thursday -- our normal publication day on which each issue goes into the mail -- then successively earlier embargoes to 5 p.m. Tuesday and to noon Tuesday, backed up to our earliest possible presstime of Tuesday afternoon.

However, with the co-operation of Director Maurice Mariasine of Westmount's Unity Boys' and Girls' Club, a plan made to go into effect this week was promptly inaugurated.

Three willing boys of the Club became impromptu Examiner carriers and, so far as we and our readers are concerned, did as good if not a better job than the struck postmen.

In fact, a good deal better than the post office with our issue of July 4 which, published as usual on Thursday, did not reach subscribers until the following week. An investigation is being made by postal officials.

Hydro Quebec reconsiders after substation protest

Hydro-Quebec has agreed to re-evaluate the studies it had made of various possible sites for a sub-station in Westmount, it was announced last week by Alderman Jean H. Richer, Westmount's commissioner of power and communications.

The decision was announced following a meeting held by Hydro-Quebec officials with representatives of the City of Westmount. Following the meeting, Westmount representatives conveyed the decision to members of a Westmount citizens' group who had come to the Hydro-Quebec offices.

The meeting had been arranged after the Westmount City Council made representations to Hydro-Quebec on behalf of the citizens' group, which had protested the selection of the Clandeboyne-Prospect site for the sub-station.

This does not necessarily imply that the site which has been chosen will be abandoned, a press release from the city points out. But all factors pertaining to the relative desirability of all the sites which Hydro-Quebec had studied will now be re-examined, the release says. The re-evaluation will be undertaken immediately.

Residential buyer's viewpoint of Westmount: hard to choose

Westmount, from the point of view of a prospective residential property buyer, offers a greater choice now than in previous years.

One result of this, reports President George E. Johnson of St. Francis Realties, is that an owner offering his home for sale may have to wait longer than he expects for a buyer to make up his mind.

Another is that there is some competition among owners for the sale of their houses.

From the real estate broker's viewpoint, the residential real estate business is up over last year, at least in his firm's experience, Mr. Johnson says. He rejects outright any suggestion that the increased number of homes offered for sale in Westmount is an indication of an outflow of English-speaking people. "Rather than an outflow, it is an exchange", he says, pointing out that many of the increased number of buyers are people coming from outside the province.

He doesn't deny that the political situation in Canada has had an effect on real estate sales; he cites an increase in sales this month which, in his opinion, shows that the result of the June federal election has given confidence to those people who may have been hesitant about buying before.

Even though last month's sales were slower than those of this month, Mr. Johnson lists some figures which show June, 1968 to be slightly ahead of June 1967. The figures are prepared by the Montreal Real Estate Board and include those properties sold under the Multiple Listing Service for the whole of Montreal Island.

Sales under the MLS plan in June, 1967, numbered 246. Sales of residential properties involving more than $50,000, which included many Westmount locations, numbered 11.

In June, 1968, there were 15 residential sales of more than $50,000 each. Total MLS sales were 255.

The percentage of sales to the number of properties listed for sale was increased slightly last month in relation to the same period last year. Again the figures are for the whole island, but Mr. Johnson says Westmount sales are in proportion. During June, 1967, 38 percent of the houses listed for sale were sold. This was increased in June, 1968, to 40 percent.

In investment, commercial and industrial properties, the increase is much more dramatic. Percentage of sales to listings went from 16 percent in June, 1967, to 26 percent in June, 1968.

NEXT WEEK'S WEATHER

By ERIC NEAL
July 27 to August 3

This is normally a hot, dry period, so it will be pleasant everywhere through the middle of the week, although an early hurricane will be making trouble in the Gulf of Mexico.

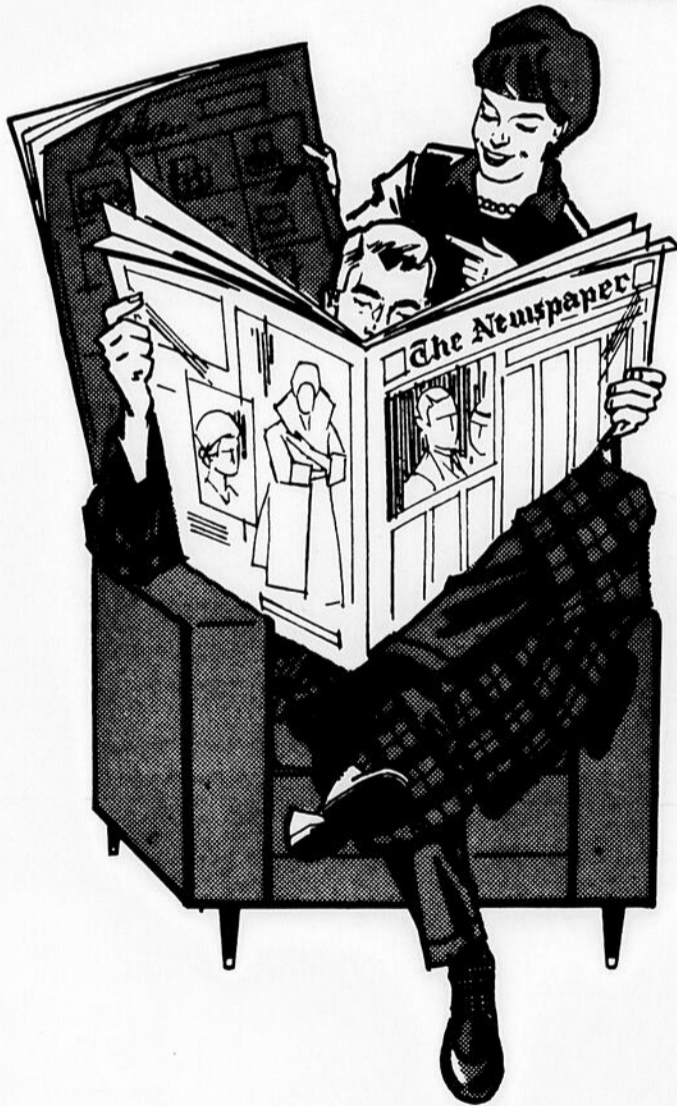

95°F. days normal, although night temperatures could drop to 40 or 45°F. after a heat thunderstorm. Fog and drizzle around the Great Lakes and in Vermont, also in the Gulf. Showers for Laurentians and southern counties. Flooded underpasses for Ottawa and Montreal regions.

Improving generally for the weekend, with morning heat fogs, widely scattered afternoon thundershowers and pleasant evenings.

POPULATION

Canada's total population in 1967 was estimated at 20,405,000, of which the largest number (7,149,000) was concentrated in Ontario and the smallest in the Yukon (15,000). The total number of males was 10,247,800, of which, the largest number was found in Ontario and the smallest in the Yukon, (3,573,200 and 8,200 respectively). Females numbered 10,157,200 with 3,575,800 reported in Ontario and 6,800 in the Yukon. The 5 to 9 age group numbered 2,320,300 highest of any age group. The age group containing the lowest population was the over 90 category, with 27,300. The highest number of both males and females fell into the 5 to 9 grouping, which contained 1,184,000 males and 1,136,300 females. The lowest number of both males and females was, in the over 90 group.

Convention controversy described to Rotarians

By E. C. GANNON

Winning golfers who participated in the annual Rotary Golf Tournament held at Beaconsfield received their prizes during a regular luncheon meeting of the club. Twenty-two members took part in the afternoon play resulting in the following: Low gross, first Bob Layton followed by Phil Everson, Hunter Wilson and Frank Starr. Low net was won by organizer Curt Ross with John Patton, Les Stuart and Tom O'Connell following in that order.

Aubrey Legge, member of the Montreal-Westward Rotary Club spoke on the 1968 International Convention which he attended in Mexico City. Mr. Legge is a nominee for the district governorship. He said that over 80 countries were represented with over 12,000 members attending which indicated, he said, the worldwide ramifications of Rotary and its influence. He described the flight from Montreal to Mexico City by air and the reception the welcoming committees gave the visitors in the city of six million souls.

Aside from the formal program, the convention was outstanding in the lavishness of entertainment offered the visitors, many of whom were taken into the homes of local members for the duration of the meet. Mr. Legge reported in his talk that the most controversial item of business was a proposal to consolidate the four types of membership and, in effect, to do away with classifications. The proposal was eventually defeated on the third day so it appears that membership by classification will be continued.

President McLuskie thanked the speaker and earlier called upon Les Stuart to introduce the visitors and guests.

The new roster of committees numbers 20, covering every phase of Rotary activity. Practically every member of the club is represented on one or more committees. Chairmen of the various groups are as follows:

Attendance, J. B. Burrows; Bulletin, R. W. Hertzler; classification, R. E. Mackay; fellowship, J. G. G. Whalen; history of club, W. B. Empey; house, T. J. Fisher; inter-club, C. E. Spence; membership, R. King; program, R. E. J. Layton; public relations, R. Ulmer; Rotary information, J. G. Cormie.

Golden age, D. Room; municipal liaison, K. H. Wilson; public speaking, A. T. Reed; safety, L. M. Hamel; scholarship, A. W. Callard; Wm. Harold Giles; welfare, W. W. D. Whitley; youth service, G. H. Trim.

tor, A. F. Durso; international new activity committee, C. B. service director, J. N. Doidge; Ross; United Services Clubs, O. vocational service, J. W. Glen; Knebel.

We Say

Once again, public business in private

Every two or three years, City Council can be counted upon to put its foot in it.

It's that time again.

Now it's the permission to Hydro-Québec to build a power distribution station in the Clondeboye avenue-Prospect street area of lower, southeast Westmount.

The Examiner feels sorry for Mayor Tucker and our aldermen, who continue in the long Westmount tradition of treating us to the best-run and probably the most attractive urban municipality in Canada.

They provide, voluntarily, great amounts of time from their various callings and their families tending the interests of their fellow citizens. Their wealth of combined talent spells wise and effective local government.

But, as The Examiner has had good reason before to point out, the true deliberations of Westmount City Council are carried out so nearly completely "in committee" as to have all the privacy and anonymity of view of a St. James street board room.

Time well may prove that the design and location of the new Hydro station is in the best interests of Westmount as a whole.

But, in the here and now, Council has on its hands a very angry and upset group of citizens, including representatives of both the 16 expropriated property owners and of other residents who do not take kindly to a six-storey power station, with or without "best architectural principles," in the midst of their homes and dominating their prospect.

It is quite true that Hydro-Québec has expropriation rights, but it also is obvious Westmount City Council was both consulted by Hydro and gave its blessing.

It is quite true the 1967 Sunderland urban renewal report indicated the power station would come to the area, but three alternative sites were given and the one finally chosen was not nearly so extensive.

And it is quite true Council was not secretive about the project, but nothing much came out of the Council chamber either, leading up to the final arrangements.

Which is the real nub of the present explosion of anguish by those directly affected and of the seemingly injured innocence of His Worship.

The price we pay for generally excellent local government in Westmount is that, unlike most other jurisdictions, the citizens are never privy to the give-and-take discussion, the inevitable varying viewpoints, the almost-certain occasional differences which must characterize a City Council and which make it tick.

It is regarded as unseemly that Council debates should be reported; yet if the lead-up to the Hydro arrangements for Clondeboye-Prospect had been open to public and press, the violent reaction now would almost certainly have been anticipated, provided for and probably even resolved before it developed.

It must be galling for a hard-working Council to have its work questioned. But that is an essential part of democracy.

Whatever the outcome, Council should remember the row - and resulting change forced upon it - by the

Priority

Sir,

Enclosed is a copy of a letter I have written to the mayor of Westmount and others, as shown in the letter, regarding the expropriation of the Clondeboye Avenue area which has upset so many of us in this district.

Dear Sir:

The decision to construct a sub-station in the Clondeboye-Prospect residential area of Westmount would seem ill-advised and is contrary to the announcement made by the City of Westmount in its report about planning and redevelopment, as hereinafter quoted:

"These (schemes) involve rehabilitation and conservation of the residential area north of the C.P.R. tracks."

It is respectfully submitted that you urge Hydro-Québec to relocate. Priority should be given to human rights, rather than engineering convenience.

Taxpayers in this district resent not having been fully informed of civic intentions which affect their welfare, and trust that, in the future, more consideration will be demonstrated.

Yours sincerely,
H. P. Illsley.

Ear-splitting

Sir:

The cutting down of trees with an electric saw is, of course, unavoidable. But is it really necessary to prolong this ear-splitting process, by cutting the felled tree into small pieces right on the premises?

Actually, this constitutes a public nuisance. The men who do this work look far from puny, and if they sawed the cut tree into several large pieces, they could load it onto the truck and then saw it into small sections at some place where the deafening scream of the saw would not drive all the residents in the area out of their minds. It is very unpleasant, to put it mildly, and I can't see that it is unavoidable. Why do we put up with it?

I thought it would be quite useless to write to the Mayor of Westmount, or to the City, about this. Whether writing to the EXAMINER does any good will remain to be seen.

Much of the noise in the city can't be helped. This one need not be prolonged, hour after hour. Can the City justify it?

Sincerely,
R. ROLLIT

similarly quiet decision to build the artificial ice rink in Westmount Park at Sherbrooke and Melville. And the row over the high-rise-apartment permit for Stanton street. Folks simply didn't know that their aesthetic senses or their vital interests were being affected until Council, after closed deliberation, presented faits accomplis.

Whatever now is worked out, to bring the best interests of the affected residents and of the city as a whole into harmony, perhaps Westmount City Council, in its wisdom on most things, will give consideration to ending its long, outmoded tradition of conducting the public business in private.

our MP reports

Thank you all

When there are close to 2,000 people to thank, thanking them all individually is close to impossible. Especially if one already has a full-time job.

Yet that is the task I have attempted to do since the election of June 25: to thank each and every worker who joined my election team, some as early as April 24, some not until election day itself.

By now, individual letters have gone out to all of those supporters whose names were recorded by our Committee Room volunteers. To them, and to those whose names were omitted from our lists for some reason or other, I would now like to say publicly, how grateful I am for their assistance.

Assistance to a candidate comes in many forms. In my own case, it was provided by the central and district organizers who had the responsibility of directing the activities of a volunteer group which included people from every walk of life, from practically every age group. It was provided by those who worked on behalf of the candidate as scrutineers on election day and those who wrote and designed, proof-read, picked up and delivered our literature. It was provided by those who painted posters, ran messages, answered telephones, drove voters to the polls and fetched coffee. It was provided by those who displayed posters in the windows of their stores or business establishments, by the ladies in whose homes coffee, tea or dessert parties were held, by building owners and superintendents who permitted us to hold meetings for apartment dwellers, by poll-takers and telephone canvassers who found out what people were thinking. It was provided by the ladies who accompanied me on "walks" in NDG, by members of the press, radio, TV and advertising, whose advice was always welcome (if not always observed to their satisfaction).

Assistance came from teens and pre-teens, university students, bachelors of both sexes, young marrieds, fathers, mothers and grandparents. I did not meet them all; the nature of our respective jobs prevented that. But I did get to know enough to realize we had a team composed of some of the finest people I have ever met. It is not fair to single out one individual from all the rest for particular attention, but I am going to do so, for personal reasons. John Piper joined my ministerial staff as Executive Assistant May 1. He immediately involved himself as part-time organizer, trouble-shooter, efficiency expert, time-keeper, chauffeur and father-confessor, all of this in addition to his regular duties in Ottawa. I was looking forward to a lengthy association with him but when I was appointed President of the Treasury Board, it became apparent to both of us that his industrial development background would be misapplied in that area of government. John is returning to his former employer, Canamid of Canada. I wish him well and thank him sincerely for all he did.

GENTLEMEN OPPONENTS

I should also like to take this opportunity once again to thank my opponents for their intelligent and fair approach to the campaign. Jeff Adams and Murray Ballantyne are gentlemen in the classic sense. We are all fortunate that the constituency of Westmount was given the opportunity of voting for two such outstanding men. I am fortunate that, in this election at least, they belonged to the wrong parties!

Finally, I would like everyone to know how grateful I am to have the world's best critic, friend and supporter: my wife. Her leadership of the Drury family never ceases to amaze.

To my wife, to all of you, my thanks for your help in obtaining the biggest majority in all Canada - save one - that of Pierre-Éliott Trudeau, my leader, our Prime Minister. Mr. Trudeau led us to victory advocating what came to be called "The Politics of Participation".

More and more people across this great country of ours are realizing that our future can be guaranteed by no one. It cannot be guaranteed by any Prime Minister, it cannot be guaranteed by any government. It can be guaranteed by the people themselves, if they decide to face the problems, if they decide to elect representatives who will listen to them, who will look after their needs, who will discuss with them the way in which their needs can be met... (Harbour Grace, Newfoundland, June 1).

I hope that I can be that kind of member. A weekly column in the Westmount Examiner provides me with one way of discussing problems with you. Later on, I shall discuss the various ways you can discuss problems with me and with each other.

In the meantime, if there is something you want to say or discuss, please write to me at the House of Commons, Ottawa. I will answer each letter.

Summer program swells youth club's ranks

The month of July at the Unity Boys' and Girls' Club continues to be a most active one for the youngsters who have enrolled for the 1968 Summer 'Fun' Program. The membership continues to grow as more and more boys and girls from the St. Henry area are registering to participate throughout the summer with a variety of special events slated for them.

Next week, the Unity Summer Program goes into high gear with an extremely busy and exciting schedule of events planned.

Starting Monday, a large group of boys and girls will participate in a conducted tour of a soft drink establishment, and Tuesday the athletically-inclined will spend the day on the playground playing softball and other playground activities while the artistically-inclined will take part in an arts and crafts program. Later in the day, the entire group will cool off in the municipal swimming pool.

Wednesday, the bus will leave for the Provincial Park at Glengarry for an interesting and enjoyable day in the country.

Thursday will be hiking day with a trip to the mountains of St. Hilaire, followed up by a picnic swim and on Friday, the regular weekly trip to the Cote St. Catherine Provincial Park.

In the meanwhile, preparations are being made for the Annual Field Day scheduled to take place later in August. A big treat is in store for the club members and on this occasion, their younger brothers and sisters are invited to attend. Registration for this special event is now being taken at the club.

UNITY BOYS' and GIRLS' CLUB NEWS

By MAURICE MARIASINE

Starting early in August, the club will be open for early registrants for the 1968-69 program year with the fall and winter program season scheduled to begin at the same time as schools open for their year.

Volunteer workers who have offered their services during the summer months include Mrs. H. Echenberg, a Westmount resident, who is in charge of the Arts and Crafts Hobby Workshop and former club members Sharon and Bradley Syvret. Miss Linda Groth has been appointed a summer counsellor and joins the summer staff of John Mc-

Donaugh, program director; Dennis Morrice, physical director and counsellor Catherine Jones.

Boys and girls living in the districts of St. Henry and Westmount are eligible to join the club and participate in the summer fun program which is scheduled for the balance of July and the month of August.

Unity Boys' and Girls' Club was founded by the Rotary Club of Westmount, and is operated by the Montreal Boys' and Girls' Association, a United Red Feather service. Plans are currently underway to develop a program for the fall and winter Season - one that will be of interest to all youngsters six to 16 years of age and which will suit the inclination of any boy or girl.

The program will include a variety of sporting activities with basketball, volleyball and physical fitness classes the principal attractions for the athletically inclined and also a variety of arts and crafts, group clubs and special interest group classes for those interested in working with smaller groups. In addition, there will be special events and social activities.

Registration for the 1968-69 Fall and Winter Program is now taking place daily at the Club, Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. For further information, please call Mr. Mariasine at the Club, 1090 Greene Avenue or Phone 932-5506.

LIBRARIES

Unesco has just brought out another volume in its series of Unesco Manuals for Libraries. The publication is designed to help the new universities of developing countries build up their collections rapidly on soundly based principles. It is likely that for some time in the future these libraries will serve as national documentation centres. Thus they will be serving a double rôle, for the library is an indispensable part of the daily life of any university, and these institutions are expected to produce the specialists who will guide the younger countries toward social and economic progress.

This volume deals with the organization and administration of such libraries, their function as part of a university, staffing, the acquiring and organization of collections, the services offered. In addition, it contains a well illustrated chapter on the actual lay-out, spatial relationships and desirable sites for the buildings themselves. Each chapter in the 155-page publication ends with a thorough bibliography of sources and a selective reading list is appended. Of special interest to educators (even in the more developed countries), the chapter on auxiliary services deals with the possibilities for photographic and copying machines, microform projectors and audio-visual aids.

The book was written by Mr. Morris A. Golfand, librarian of the Paul Clapper library, Queen's College, New York.

The manual is the fourteenth in the Unesco series - a series that dates back to the beginning of the Organization.

NECESSARY?

Do you sometimes wonder why you can't get a certain drug directly over the drugstore counter without a prescription from a doctor?

The reason is that certain drugs are too powerful or could be harmful if used without the supervision of a medical doctor.

Your doctor takes into account several factors such as age, weight and sex before he writes a prescription for you. He knows that some drugs can change blood composition, some may cause allergic reaction in sensitive individuals and others may have undesirable side effects such as nausea or dizziness. He takes these factors into careful consideration when prescribing a drug, and then individualizes the dose to suit your particular case.

Some drugs may be obtained only on prescription because they might be dangerous from a public health standpoint if sold generally, e.g. penicillin, or they may have been shown to be susceptible to abuse and therefore a potential health hazard, e.g. barbiturates or other sleeping pills.

A personalized prescription is a safeguard to your health. That's why the food and drug directorate of the department of national health and welfare has made it a requisite for buying certain drugs.

Do not ask your druggist to sell you drugs that he says are meant to be sold only on doctor's orders. Take your druggist's word for it - and don't expect him to break the law.

Adult educator preaches Sunday

On Sunday, July 28, at Dominion-Douglas the preacher will be Rev. Fritz Schmidt, associate secretary of the Board of Christian Education responsible for adult education.

Mr. Schmidt has had wide experience in the pastorate and the church's educational work in England, South Africa and Canada.

RELIGIOUS RADIO

How a young person can do something constructive about the ills of the world will be discussed on the next Christian Science radio program in the regular weekly series "The Bible Speaks to You" broadcast over Station CKVL (dial 850) every Sunday morning at 9.45.

PHILATELY

BY
Mark Weiner

It is heartening to note the improvement in the philatelic journals now available. A major contribution to this end has been the new monthlies published by Minkus and the Gibbons-Whitman group. The May issue of the Gibbons-Whitman publication carried a most interesting article by Ted Morello, on the United Nations Postal Administration. In fact this issue was one of the finest read in a long time and I hope that the editors will keep up the good work. As to the weeklies, semi-weeklies and bi-weeklies they leave a great deal to be desired, in fact the American publications in this category would do well to concentrate more on quality and less on bulk (more articles and fewer advertisements). Actually a lesson can be had from their English cousin the "Philatelic Magazine", a bi-weekly publication, and as far as I am concerned this is one of the very few worth reading.

WORLD WEATHER WATCH

September 19 the United Nations will issue a new commemorative, on the theme "World Weather Watch." The new stamp in denominations of 6c and 20c was designed by George Gundersen and George Fanair of the British American Bank Note Company, Canada and will be printed by multicolor photogravure by the Government Printing Bureau, Tokyo, in quantities of 2,500,000 and 2,200,000 respectively.

World Weather Watch is a plan for a new world weather system, under the direction of the World Meteorological Organization a specialized agency of the United Nations, which will ultimately have a far-reaching beneficial influence on all mankind. It opens up tremendous new possibilities for improving scientists' knowledge of the atmosphere which will be of benefit to all countries and will serve both practical and research purposes.

Plans for three World Meteorological Centres have already begun; two of these centres are in the Northern Hemisphere, in Moscow and Washington, whilst the third is in the Southern Hemisphere at Melbourne. These centres, equipped with modern, high-speed electronic computers and telecommunications facilities, will act as clearing-houses for global weather information.

The first stamps issued in 1968 on this theme were from Australia, which were also this country's first commemoratives for the year. These stamps, issued March 20, were designed by

Bulletins from Birdland Muted songs

By WINNIFRED E. WILSON

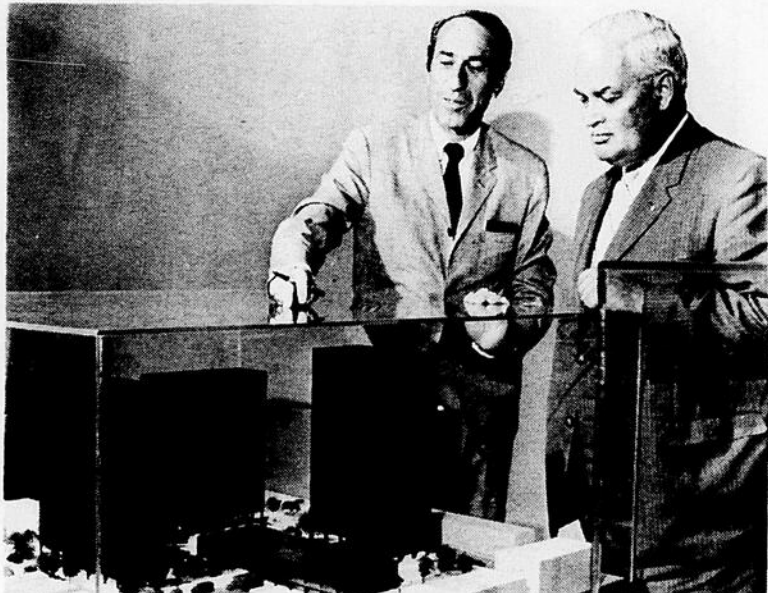

Some of the sweetest songs in Birdland are never heard by us. Just as many of our love songs and cradle songs are sung so softly that full attention is needed to catch the singer's every note, so these muted bird songs are apt to pass unnoticed. Probably far more birds than we are aware of indulge in this music. Only by chance are we ever near enough to hear the barely audible whispers.

The Rose-breasted Grosbeak is known to be one whose loud whistle is occasionally changed to a faint whisper as he sits brooding the eggs. Mr. Robin is noted for his loud, ringing song. But you may have heard him, as he perched on the side of his nest, whispering lullabies to his young family.

Father Red-eyed Vireo also likes this type of song. If he must take charge of the nestlings for a while he always announces his coming by singing softly. His wife is then all ready to change places with him. Though not overly fond of sitting on his beautifully constructed nest himself, he encourages her to do so by bringing her food when she is on duty. She may pass it on to the babies, or accept it herself while, keeping at a distance of three or four inches, he sings his "whisper song".

Unfortunately, the Catbird has made a bad name for himself on account of his harsh "meow" note, though actually he rarely indulges in this noise until both courting and nesting are over. Few people seem to know his really beautiful song of spring and early summer. In a full, mellow voice he gives bits of phrases from the songs of Thrushes, Song Sparrows, Robins, and many other good singers, all "arranged" by himself into a charming melody. But Mr. Catbird has another song, soft and sweet, composed on purpose for moonlit nights. This also is made up of short phrases interspersed with "mews" and imitations. Then, when autumn

LEASES LEVEL

Pen still in hand, I. R. Ransen, president of Mon-Dev Corporation Ltd., points out the advantages of Westmount Square to Eastern Airlines' director for Canada, N. G. Dykstra, just after Eastern had signed a $1 1/4 million lease for a minimum of 15 years for the entire plaza level of the complex's two-storey segment, which now becomes "The Eastern Airlines Building".

John Mason of Melbourne and were printed by multicolor photogravure in horizontal format at the Note Printing Branch, Reserve Bank of Australia, Melbourne. The 20c stamp portrays a world map of weather patterns indicating the three centres, with tape spools above signifying computer and teleprinter handling of data. The 5c companion stamp features a satellite in orbit around the globe, with signals emanating from it and being received in Melbourne.

Nothing to do in an evening? Then visit Man and his World, the Education Through Stamps Pavilion and enjoy a treat of a life-time. The Pope Paul Pilgrimage display which is on exhibit in the Rotunda of the Pavilion. This historical and memorabilia display is one of the most outstanding exhibits for the rebirth of EXPO.

FOR YOU TOO?

Baby shampoo is particularly suitable for women who have very fine hair or whose hair has been tinted or bleached.

comes, this versatile singer has yet another song, made up of a jumble of warbling notes, which with luck you may be able to catch.

That dweller in our northern forests, the Canada Jay, is seldom able to gather an audience, but he is reported to have been heard singing in gentle tones at his nest. And the Blue Jay, whose ordinary voice is so raucous, at certain times joins the ranks of songbirds. With head lifted in true singing style, he somehow manages to produce a series of extremely soft warbles and twitters.

Hot meals, delivered to homes, is Dominion-Douglas group's service

MEALS-ON-WHEELS

Individually prepared meals are packed into a special stay-hot container for delivery to the homes of elderly and disabled people by Mrs. N. Douglas Johnston, left, chairman of the Dominion-Douglas Meals-on-wheels group, and volunteer server Mrs. Howard Gamble.

An elderly person, living alone through preference, may suffer malnutrition, not from lack of money but from lack of energy to prepare proper food.

Or it may prove too much of an effort to obtain groceries.

At Dominion-Douglas United Church, twice each week, volunteers prepare balanced hot meals which are delivered by means of a special English-made charcoal-burning container to the homes of elderly and convalescent people.

All the work of preparing and delivering the food is done by volunteers. People receiving the service pay 50 cents a meal or less, if they are able. Otherwise, the meals are free.

The costs are underwritten by the church's Meals-on-Wheels group, under Chairman Mrs. N. Douglas Johnston.

This group, in turn, is financed through its own fund raising efforts, and by contributions from the Dominion-Douglas men's club and the United Church Women.

As an example of the meals offered, a recent main dish prepared by cooks Mrs. R. G. W. Goodall and Mrs. A. A. Schonbek included roast beef, potatoes, and a special recipe of Mrs. Schonbek's, cauliflower cooked in batter.

The Dominion-Douglas group is just one of many operating on Montreal Island.

In January, 1966, the women of St. Matthias Church undertook a pilot project which served 18 people and was whimsically entitled Stew for a Few.

Within two months, a marked improvement in the health of the patients was reported, and their morale had zoomed. Yet each had received only 16 meals costing less than 40 cents apiece.

The success of this experiment and the detailed instruction provided by the volunteers were a prime factor in the subsequent recruitment of new groups for meals-on-wheels. In less than two years, over 80 people were being served.

Eight volunteers are needed every day a meal is served. Two cook, one assists, two clean up, and a driver and two helpers do the delivery. This means 16 volunteers working once a week, plus a chairman, a treasurer, shoppers, and someone to act as a liaison between the volunteers and the Volunteer Bureau of Montreal, the agency which helps groups set up meals-on-wheels.

These volunteers should be willing to sign up for several months and replacements must be available. Continuity is essential.

Church and synagogue kitchens are usually ideal for co-operative cooking.

About half the patients are able to pay a small fee of 25c. Clients who are not indigent generally pay more. The remaining costs are underwritten by the group.

In addition, a special, charcoal-heated, aluminum unit is used for delivery. An 18-meal unit costs approximately $180 and smaller units for six or 12 meals are also available. These are light enough to be carried easily by two women; they fit into any standard car.

POISON IVY

Poison ivy is the only three-leaved plant with whitish flowers or berries. The leaves are glossy-green. The plant grows almost anywhere in wet or dry, sandy or loamy soil. It thrives equally well in sunshine or in shade.

Skin infections due to poison ivy and poison oak can be very painful and troublesome. Learn to recognize these poisonous plants and stay clear of them.

TRY BEFORE YOU BUY

Two-year-old Frances Lorraine Ryan tries out a tricycle, one of 70 bicycles and tricycles sold by the city of Westmount at public auction last Thursday. These, and four used cars had been held by the police department and were unclaimed for a year or more.

THREE! A FOUR?

Bailiff Wilson solicits bids for a bicycle, one of 70 he sold by public auction for the City of Westmount last Thursday. Standing behind Mr. Wilson is Chief Inspector A. E. Jones of the Westmount police department which had held the unclaimed bicycles and tricycles for more than a year. Four old cars also offered for auction received no bids. They will be used by the fire department for practice.

HEAP BIG CHOICE

Seventy used bicycles and tricycles make a big pile. In various states of repair, some of them near-perfect, they presented a difficult choice for a boy. They were sold by the City of Westmount at public auction last Thursday. The bikes, as well as four old cars, had been held, unclaimed by the police department for more than a year. They sold for a total of $597.

IRON

If you're feeling rundown, it could be you do not have enough iron in your diet.

Although the body uses iron very efficiently, some of it is lost through body wastes, perspiration, menstruation, accidents, or the requirement for it may be increased, for instance, during growth and pregnancy.

Women and adolescents need more iron than men, says a federal health department publication.

If your body does not get enough iron to cover losses or greater needs, there is a lack of hemoglobin which is needed by the red blood cells in order for them to carry out the task of carrying oxygen to all parts of the body. Iron-deficiency anemia is the result, making you feel weakened, pale and tired.

Remember, the best way to make sure you have good red blood and good health is to include a variety of foods containing iron in your diet regularly.

Important sources of iron are: liver, kidney, heart, tongue, shellfish, beans and peas, dried fruits, green vegetables, whole grain and enriched cereals and breads, molasses and eggs.

Strike hits library, too

Westmount Library, as everywhere else in Canada, has been hit by the mail strike. New magazines and newspapers will not be arriving, and two services to the public will also be curtailed. These are notice of requested books waiting for a reader, and the regular reminder notices sent to readers with late books.

The library has asked, therefore, that anyone who has requested a book to be reserved inquire at the desk if the book is waiting. It is asked also that a phone number be supplied with all new requests, as the staff will try to phone members when available.

Due to the fact that no late notices can be sent, members must be particularly careful to check the dates on their books and cards, especially before they go away for summer holidays, the library advises.

The series is conducted by Westmount's recreation department.

BALLET FILMS

The uneasy but nonetheless vital and continuing relationship between films and ballet is underscored by two dance critics in Unesco's new publication on "Ten Years of Films on Ballet and Classical Dance", which lists 190 films produced between 1956 and 1965.

The selection, covering the important stylistic movements in the field, describes films on dance produced by twenty-three countries, listing producers and distributors as well as the choreographers, dancers and composers.

Although Isidora Duncan

danced in some of the earliest films produced, an "unresolved conflict between the choreographer, the creator of the dance, and the film director, its transmitter" is noted by critic Gerhard Brunner, which is only now beginning to be resolved by new and talented young creators of classical dance.

The enjoyment that you get out of your car depends very much on the quality of the servicing it receives.

If this quality is not of the very finest, servicing may cost you far more than is apparent - in exasperating breakdowns, in loss of time from business and social activities, perhaps, too, in reduced confidence in the driving condition of the car.

We, at Provincial Motors, have just moved into your district. We are primarily known as Jaguar dealers, but are now also providing sales and servicing for Austin and MG models. We would like to service your car and believe that the combination of trained mechanics and modern servicing machines, plus proper organization and supervision, permits us to offer you a very fine type of servicing - at no extra cost.

This is your invitation to test-out our servicing. Our location is very convenient, and we will welcome you.

ANNUAL REPORT 1967

CITY OF WESTMOUNT

The purpose of this advertisement is to draw to the attention of residents of the City of Westmount the Annual Report for the year 1967 which has been issued through the mail to all house-holders.

In the interest of wider understanding of municipal affairs, residents are urged to examine the reports of the Mayor and Members of Council and the financial data included. Additional copies are available at Westmount City Hall.

The Report of Mayor Tucker and a summary from the Financial Statement, are carried hereunder.

THE MAYOR'S REPORT

Mayor Michael L. Tucker

Canada's Centennial Year proved to be a most satisfactory year for the City of Westmount, locally as well as in the intermunicipal context.

From the internal point of view we saw the valuation roll of taxable properties rise by some $18 million to $227.5 million. All of us taxpayers have good reason to be thankful for the additional revenue attributable to new construction which in large measure will offset the effects of inflation on our operating costs.

All of the City's contracts and agreements with employees were renegotiated in 1967 and concluded within labour market indices of the metropolitan area. It was particularly gratifying that in every case negotiations were conducted in an atmosphere of goodwill and reason without any breakdown in service, slowdown, threat or violence. Westmount is fortunate in having as employees the men and women who serve our citizens.

Your council, too, is fortunate in having the co-operation and support of the Westmount Municipal Association and other organizations and the goodwill and understanding of all citizens.

An important administrative improvement was made during the year through the creation of the Board of Inspectors to deal with the issuance of all permits and licences, to co-ordinate inspections and to investigate complaints of a general nature.

In the wider sphere, relationships with the City of Montreal and other municipalities have been maintained and extended in a most satisfactory manner.

Westmount was proud to have a place in Expo and was honored in being one of the few cities in the world to be officially received at Place des Nations. Many citizens and school children, who provided much of the entertainment, are deserving of our thanks for the success of that occasion and for the ceremonies held within the City later in the day - October 17, Westmount Centennial Day.

On behalf of the Council and all citizens I wish to express our appreciation to all employees of the City whose capacity and devotion has made possible the achievements of 1967.
