We parted, and in anger; With half a-ver-ted eye You gave back ev'-ry to-ken Of joy - ous hours gone by: But one long day of absence, Chased an - ger from my mind, And I remem - ber'd on - ly, How good thou wert and kind: With sadden'd heart I sought thee, Thy brow was clouded yet:— For - give, as I for-give thee, For-get, as I for-get. For - a piacere

give, as I for - give thee, For - get as I for - get.

The chain of pure af - fection, Was never snapt a - part; By thoughtless words of Anger That come not from the heart: And yet for worlds I would not Such hours of anguish live, Not
