

Comes to a head today

UK and Australia in ECM dispute

LONDON (CP) — The Guardian says a major policy dispute between Britain and Australia will come to a head at today's Common Market ministerial meeting in Brussels.

If the Australians win their point, the Guardian says, it "would set off a chain reaction" in the rest of the Commonwealth.

The front-page story by Patrick Keatley, the Guardian's Commonwealth correspondent, says the Australians, as a result of a British slipup over the tariff proposals on tinned fruit, "feel that no other country can be "an effective watchdog for issues keenly affecting their interests."

DEMAND EXTRA SEAT
The Australians, the story says, are demanding an eighth seat at the conference table and have formally requested that Edward Heath, lord privy seal who is handling Britain's negotiations, put their request to today's meeting. It adds:

"All the other Commonwealth countries are keenly awaiting the outcome of today's bargaining behind closed doors. Their representatives on the spot will be standing by for Mr. Heath's briefing afterwards."

"The Australians are trying to establish 'the principle of the eighth chair.' They do not suggest that it should be continuously occupied by an Australian. Australia accepts that when the items for discussion are such things as lead, zinc, aluminum, newsprint and wood-pulp which are also scheduled under the formula, the eighth chair should be occupied by Canada's representative."

The British feeling, the story says, "is that it is hard enough in Brussels now with seven nations in a room; more could be unwieldy or even disastrous."

"The Canadian government will be watching the Australian move with particular vigilance. It is reasonable to suppose that Mr. Menzies (the Australian prime minister) has one strategic eye fixed on the next general election, forecast to take place within the coming year, and Mr. Diefenbaker cannot ignore the obvious lesson since the Canadians, too, are expecting to go to the polls, perhaps as soon as the autumn."

Insurgent parliament meets

Algeria votes on new pact

CP from Reuters-AP

TRIPOLI, Libya — The Algerian insurgent parliament began a meeting here today that will be climaxed by a vote on whether to give final approval to a French-Moslem Algerian peace agreement.

The 56-member group met for an hour in the morning during which all members were given texts of the cease-fire and political agreement. The legislators arranged to meet again in the afternoon.

The parliament and cabinet members of the Algerian provisional government were expected to sit several days.

The French cabinet Wednesday night approved the cease-fire terms reached in talks with the nationalist insurgents at a secret rendezvous in the Jura Mountains, near the French-Swiss border.

French authorities expect the Algerians to approve the agreement, but no announcement was expected before next week. The announcement will be preceded by an official French-

Algerian conference at which the draft agreement will be signed.

Seven Algerian insurgent ministers were taking part in discussions here. Five others, including key leader Mohammed Ben Bella, now are being held in France.

APPROVE AGREEMENT
President Charles de Gaulle's government approved the draft agreement after nearly four hours of discussion in one of the longest cabinet meetings since de Gaulle became president in 1958.

The tentative accord, more than 100 pages long, spells out provisions for the cease-fire and steps for a referendum on self-determination that de Gaulle fully expects will favor independence.

It also provides for future economic, cultural and other co-operation between France and the new Algerian state and for guarantees for the European minority — a key factor in the Algerian settlers' attitude toward any settlement.

Nationalists seen winners in Malta

VALLETTA (Reuters) — The moderate Nationalist party today appeared certain to form the first government under Malta's new self-governing constitution as final returns were tabulated in the British island colony's turbulent three-day election that ended Monday.

Victory was conceded to the nationalists Wednesday night by Labor party leader Dom Mintoff after early returns indicated they would win at least 24 seats in the 50-seat legislature of the Mediterranean island. The Labor party was expected to win at least 16 seats.

Four smaller parties were expected to receive only nominal representation.

Mintoff, in conceding the election, issued a bitter statement denouncing the election as "the most unfair in the history of the island."

He accused the Roman Catholic Church, which came out strongly against the Labor party, of the "most barefaced moral pressure on an all-Catholic population" with its proclamation that to vote Labor was "a mortal sin."

The weather office said in a storm warning at 2:30 a.m. AST that the disturbance would move across New England from the Great Lakes region today and pass south of Nova Scotia. "The disturbance is expected to pick up considerable energy and moisture over the Atlantic," the advisory said.

Snow was expected to start falling in the western sections of Nova Scotia late this morning and in all other sections of the Maritimes during the afternoon. Up to 10 inches was expected.

Strong winds were expected to accompany the snow. These could cause serious drifting.

Quebec, BC incidents

Provincial legislatures upset by demonstrations in galleries

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Public galleries in provincial legislatures are seldom full these days. But when they are, chances are the government members end up wishing they were empty.

Last week, near-riot conditions prevailed in the Quebec legislature when students from Laval University, protesting against slow delivery of their government loans, showered leaflets from the gallery on the members below.

Victoria's traditional calm was shattered Wednesday night when 500 jobless descended on the British Columbia legislature. Shouts from the galleries interrupted legislative proceedings three times.

The demonstrators were members of a group of unemployed who marched to the legislature before noon. The demonstration was organized by the B.C. Federation of Labor.

TWO HOUSES OPEN
The Saskatchewan and Prince Edward Island legislatures were to open today, bringing the number of houses in session to eight. New Brunswick legislature opens Feb. 27 and the Nova Scotia House Feb. 28.

Highlight of Wednesday's sitting of the Ontario legislature was Premier John Robarts' announcement of proposed changes in the province's Liquor Control Act. Most important change will be the dropping April 1 of liquor permits, required for liquor purchases since 1927. To compensate for the loss of $1,300,000 in fees for the permits, liquor prices will be raised slightly.

Most of the Quebec legislature's time was spent in committee study of the government's proposed electoral reform law. Frank Hanley, lone independent member of the House, said the practice of the two major political parties appointing election enumerators is tantamount to a bribe. He said enumerators should be hired by the government and not obligated to any party.

In the Alberta legislature, Municipal Affairs Minister A. J. Hooke defended plans to introduce the county system of government to urban areas of the province. Under the system, introduced 12 years ago for rural areas, all municipal and school functions are transferred to county councils.

Those who couldn't find seats in the galleries stood in the corridors outside the House for nearly 30 minutes keeping up the chants: "We want jobs," and "We want Bennett." Premier W. A. C. Bennett decided against a meeting.

About 30 minutes after the afternoon sitting began the demonstrators left the building in orderly fashion.

Squawks flying as Tony scoops other papers

LONDON (AP) — A squawk went up in Fleet Street today that Lord Snowdon is scooping other news photographers because of his royal connections.

Princess Margaret's husband, now working for The Sunday Times, is getting privileged treatment over competing lensmen. The Daily Mirror complained.

It said Snowdon, formerly commoner Antony Armstrong-Jones, was allowed a solo session with his camera at a Covent Garden rehearsal before other photographers were allowed in.

The pictures he took then were published in The Sunday Times this week. They showed Margot Fonteyn and Rudolph Nureyev rehearsing for Wednesday night's performance of Giselle.

The Mirror editorial recalled that the newspaper didn't join in complaints from other sections of the press when Snowdon started his job with The Sunday Times, published by Canadian Roy Thomson, Feb. 1.

"Good luck to the young man," it said. "Good luck—but no privileges."

The newspaper claimed that by a "curious arrangement," other press photographers were called into the Covent Garden rehearsal only after Snowdon had finished.

Glenn helps in rescue of skindiver

GRAND TURK ISLAND (AP)

Astronaut John H. Glenn backed up his backup pilot in a sea rescue a day after Glenn himself was pulled from the ocean.

Glenn, brought to this U.S. Air Force tracking station in the Bahamas for a physical examination and interviews about his 17,500-mile-an-hour flight around the globe, took part in the rescue of a skin diver Wednesday.

His backup pilot, M. Scott Carpenter, had been swimming with two skin divers who live on the island. One had dived to see how deep he could go without a supply of air.

Carpenter accompanied him down and said the man apparently became unconscious at the 80-foot depth, on his way up from 110 feet. Carpenter could not succeed in giving him his mouthpiece for air and pulled him to the surface, where Glenn, sitting in a boat, helped pull the man aboard.

Glenn was taking time out from physical examinations and giving details of his orbital flight to space administration officials. During the afternoon he went swimming in the Atlantic, accompanied by two physician friends.

Glenn today started the last half of interviews based on several hundred pre-set questions while his memory still is fresh.

Kennedy warns it will take time
WASHINGTON (CP) — The United States is prepared to cooperate with Russia in joint peaceful exploration of outer space but President Kennedy advises against hasty conclusions that such co-operation will come quickly.

While Soviet Premier Khrushchev has expressed a desire to pool Soviet-American space efforts, Kennedy observed Wednesday that long experience has shown that when it comes to negotiations with Russia, it is easier to talk than to reach firm agreements.

With the exception of some medical data, the Russians had tried to keep all their space flight information secret. But now that John H. Glenn had successfully encircled the earth in a triple orbit, Kennedy feels "we have more chips on the table than we did some time ago."

"So perhaps the prospects are improving," he added at a press conference where he announced a reply to Khrushchev's congratulations and proposals. Kennedy said he was willing to discuss joint efforts either bilaterally or through the United Nations.

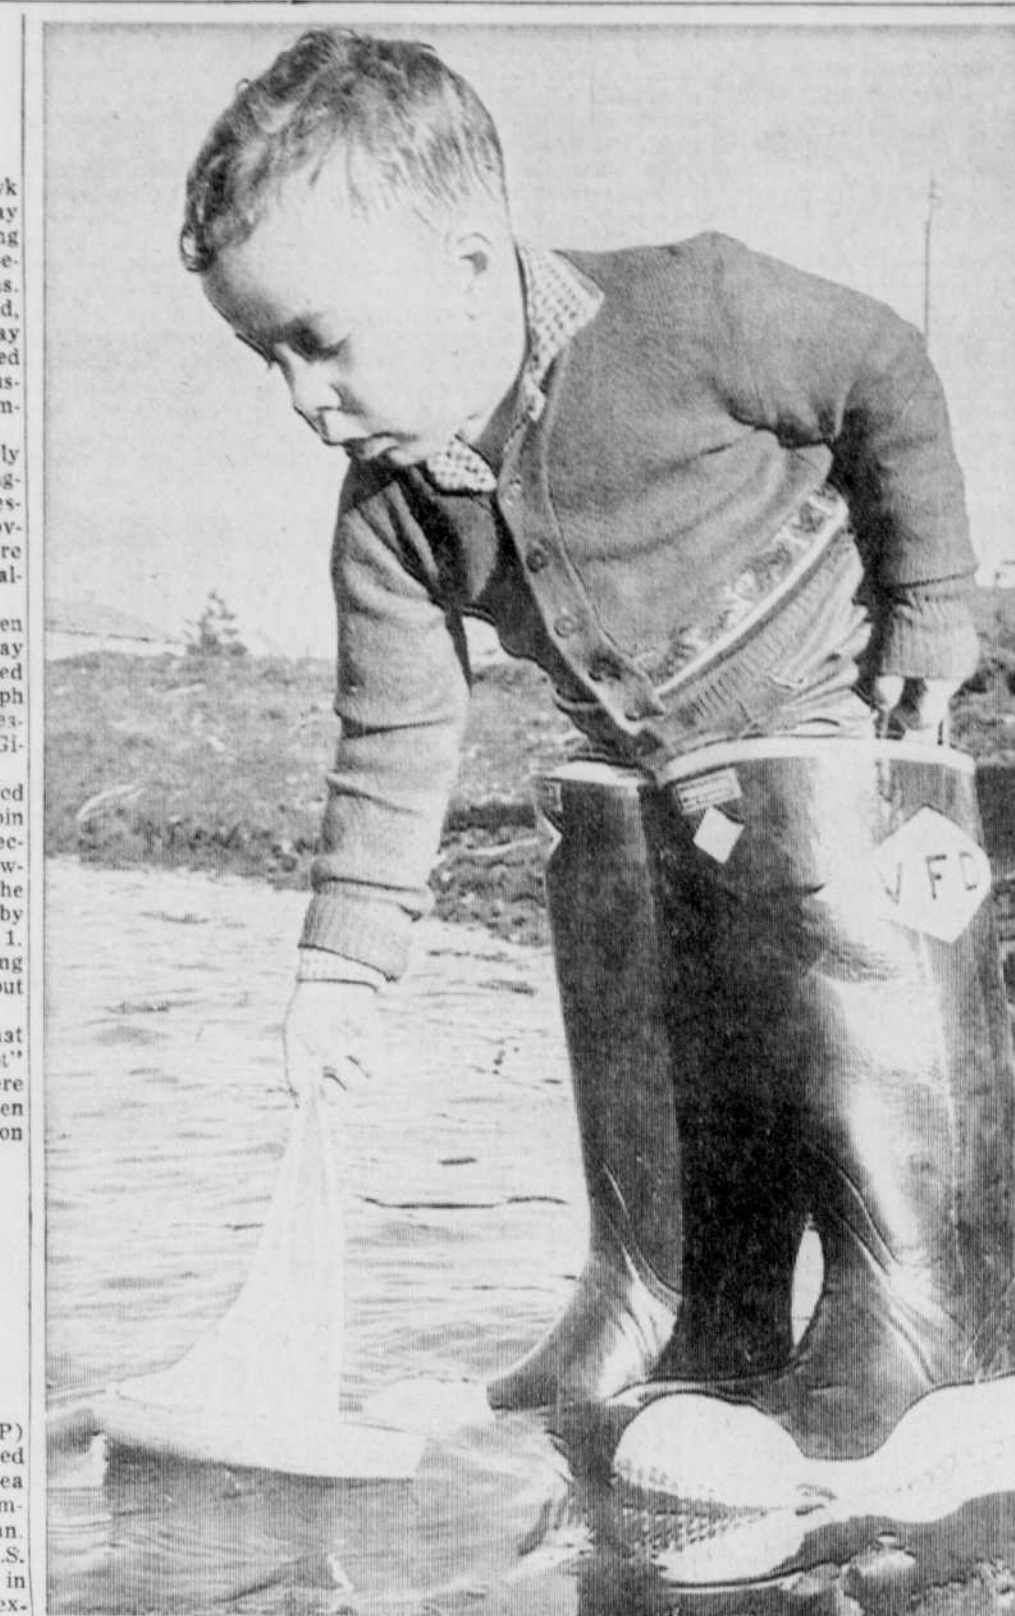

PRAISES GLENN
"We believe that when men reach beyond this planet, they should leave national differences behind them," said Kennedy as he described the Glenn flight as a "magnificent achievement" going "far beyond our own time."

He also remarked: "I think it is particularly important now, before space becomes devoted to the use of war, to have agreement on the peaceful use of space."

Prime Minister Diefenbaker of Canada previously had proposed before the United Nations General Assembly that an international organization be set up to ensure that outer space is used for peaceful purposes.

He told the Commons in Ottawa Wednesday he hoped that a rule of international law that would apply to all nations could be achieved in space "before it is too late."

Less than four hours after Kennedy's press conference the White House made public a direct reply to Khrushchev. In it Kennedy expressed hope "that in the atmosphere,

Hour-long study

American influence on Canada shows up in British TV program

LONDON (CP) — British viewers saw an hour-long television study of life and opinion in Canada, with emphasis on her relations with the United States.

Living With a Giant, produced by Associated Rediffusion, one of Britain's independent commercial companies, and narrated by Lord Boothby, concentrated on Guelph, Ont., and St. Hyacinthe, Que.

Lord Boothby described Canada as a "rugged land of potential, romance, hope and doubt." The Queen, he said, "no longer is a symbol of dependence on Britain but a sign of independence from the United States."

Much of the program was devoted to drawing picture parallels between Canadians and Americans — "they wear the same clothes, have the same haircuts, same food, same type of homes, read the same books and magazines, see the same TV shows and earn the same money, except for a few cents on the fact the Queen's head is on the Canadian dollar."

Why then, he asked, do not the two countries become one? For the answer the cameras went to the people of Guelph and St. Hyacinthe.

Much of the program was taken up with bar-room argument and teen-age logic as dispensed over the magazine stand at the local drug store, following which Lord Boothby commented:

"If all that seemed wild and confused, so is most Canadian opinion on the subject."

During the camera study of St. Hyacinthe, the commentator said the people were "obstinately French-Canadian, resentful of all the outside world."

Even the French whom they remember as letting them down to the British 10 generations ago.

Although the French-Canadians would "certainly fight against joining the United States," their basic resentment is against their English-speaking countrymen, the commentator said.

Summing up, Lord Boothby said that despite life in the shadow of the giant, "yet there is a Canadian spirit."

Soon, he said, "we shall have to learn to live with giants" — Britain with the European giant, Europe with the Afro-Asian giant.

Although Guelph's insistence on stone facings on its main street buildings sets it apart from the usual "drabness of North American cities," still the "garishness of American hard-selling swamps its individualism."

The program mentioned the imbalance of trade and the fact U.S. bankers and investors earn $500,000,000 a year in Canada.

The official U.S. word for this, Lord Boothby said, is "partnership," and indeed the U.S. and Canada are tightly linked economically, through defenses such as the DEW line and such joint projects as the St. Lawrence Seaway and Niagara hydro power.

Why then, he asked, do not the two countries become one? For the answer the cameras went to the people of Guelph and St. Hyacinthe.

at a very early date our representatives may meet to discuss our ideas and yours in a spirit of practical co-operation."

He added the United States would come up with "new and concrete proposals" for joint enterprises that could be undertaken without delay.

Kennedy flies to Cape Canaveral, Fla., today to offer his personal congratulations to Glenn. The president will also welcome the Marine hero at a big national celebration here Monday.

While the president expressed willingness to join in Russian-American peace efforts in space, he seemed to reject any suggestion that he delay or put off resumption of nuclear testing alone.

Less than four hours after Kennedy's press conference the White House made public a direct reply to Khrushchev. In it Kennedy expressed hope "that in the atmosphere,

4-day festival

Bishop's carnival opens

Bishop's eighth annual Winter Carnival will swing into action tonight at 7 p.m. when the Carnabelles, Bishop's version of the Ice Follies, take to the ice of the W. B. Scott Rink.

The four day affair has everything from log sawing to jazz on the program. Also appearing in the Icecrama show with the Carnabelles will be Dick Nutter, with a comedy skating act, and Shirley Taylor, a local figure-skater.

The fancy-skaters will be followed by a hockey game between Sir George Williams and Bishop's Gaiters. This promises to be a battle of neiminders, with Sir George's Harvey Wells and Bishop's Dave Ewart the league's hottest men between the posts. If Gaiters can come up with a victory in their last game of the season, they could finish in third place in the Ottawa-St. Lawrence circuit.

The scene shifts from the rink to the Men's Dining Room, where refreshments and entertainment with The Trade Winds, a folksinging group, are on hand.

Hopes are high for good weather Friday when celebrants take to the slopes of Hillcrest in North Hatley. Buses leave early in the morning and activities will include a ski race, log-sawing contest, snow-shoe obstacle race and a tug-of-war. Lunch will be served, along with liquid refreshments, on the hills.

Twist Band
Friday evening, a twist band will invade Hillcrest Lodge. Following a chicken dinner, dancing will last until midnight.

The spotlight will return to the rink Saturday morning when a hardy group from Norton and Pollock Halls will take on all comers in a broomball game.

A Diavland atmosphere will invade the hallowed halls of New Arts when Gene Cooper and his stalwarts appear in Bishop Williams Hall to trace the history of jazz. The show starts at 1 p.m.

Saturday evening will feature Carnival Ball, the highlight of the festivities, at the William Street Armory. Harry Tinker and his orchestra will perform until 1 a.m.

To round things off, Sunday afternoon, an alumni glee club will preside over a songfest in Memorial Gymnasium, beginning at 2 p.m.

This year the Carnival Committee have added a new feature to their program with the procurement of a Bonhomme de Carnaval, known as Luigi the Great Luigi will be present at all official functions of the winter celebrations.

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — From spine-tingling launching to folksy windup, the three major television networks concentrated on the history-making flight of Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., and the viewer who watched dawn's early light until dusk, had an exciting and exhausting experience.

The great moments of the day were, of course, the take-off and landing of the capsule. Unfortunately, after the rocket moved off its pad with a great burst of smoke and flame, there wasn't much the cameras could do in actually covering the flight. But through the five long hours when the capsule was hurtling around the world, TV teams of the three networks—ABC, CBS and NBC—kept the audience glued to their sets.

They supplemented the oral reports from the spaceman himself and Cape Canaveral headquarters with interviews and explanations. They hopped around the country to tracking stations where we heard Col. Glenn's heartbeat and saw a

Miss Aitkenhead tells students

Mechanical advances are transforming modern-day nurses to technical experts

The highly technical atmosphere that surrounds a patient is taking the nurse away from the bedside and transforming her into a technical expert, the director of nursing at the Sherbrooke hospital, Miss Clara Aitkenhead said Wednesday at a Capping Ceremony of 29 Sherbrooke Hospital student nurses.

Miss Aitkenhead was commenting on an article in a recent Canadian hospital magazine on the issue of What Has Happened to the Good Old Fashioned Nurse?

The article said that nurses of today are not what they used to be and nursing service seems to grow less and less while the cost increases.

"No, nurses aren't what they used to be and neither is medicine or nursing what it used to be," Miss Aitkenhead said.

The class of 1964 is the largest class of student nurses ever to enter the Sherbrooke Hospital for training. The capping indicates the girls are now accepted as full-fledged student nurses.

"Hospitals have changed and so have the treatments and facilities," she said. "About the only common denominator is the patient and even he has changed," she added.

"We are all familiar today with the word 'electronics,' she said. "The science of electronics has invaded the medical and nursing field. Machines that can be frightening to patients and relatives, are being used to register by remote control such vital functions as respiration, pulse, temperature and blood pressure.

"They have sometimes been referred to as the electronic nurse. It is to be hoped that the nurse will not be referred to as such for a long time yet. Long enough for patients, doctors and nurses to think—to clarify in their very protests that a nurse is just what a machine cannot be," Miss Aitkenhead said.

"Be sure when such machines are in use at the bedside, that the patient and relatives are well reassured—the sight and the constant sound can be frightening," she urged.

Valuable and time saving as electronic machines are proving to be, the patient still has personal needs—he still needs psychological support that only a nurse can give, she pointed out. "As I look and wonder at electronic machines, I cannot help but feel that the nurse needs a course in electronics," she exclaimed. The physician, carrying an increasingly heavy exacting load in his work, is delegating many of his tasks to nurses that were formerly considered purely medical.

"No machine has yet been invented to take the place of the hands of the nurse as she gives a good back rub or a bed bath or turn the patient with comfort. He still likes to see and hear the nurse at the bedside," she said. The future of nurses rests with the nurse of today. The profession of nursing will be only as good as she makes it.

Blast causes $200 damages

Fire broke out at the home of George Lemieux, 2234 King West in Sherbrooke, Wednesday night causing an estimated $200 damages. The blaze was caused by the explosion of two tanks of heating gas in the basement, firemen said this morning.

The fire which was confined to the basement broke out at 8 p.m. and the Sherbrooke firemen had the blaze under control within minutes.

Damages were confined to the walls of the basement.

Newspapers give details Y's men told

While radio and television may be able to report on the spot news faster than newspapers, they cannot match the daily press for describing in detail the "how" and "why" of day-to-day events, Sherbrooke Y's Men were told last night.

Hugh Doherty, editor in chief of the Sherbrooke Daily Record, said "reporting in depth," often including interpretation of current events, is becoming a more important factor in newspaper writing every day.

Mr. Doherty told members that a newspaper must be primarily a business, and must be run along business-like lines. If this were not so, he said, newspapers would cease to exist.

The speaker was introduced by Ted Anderson and thanked by Frank Kerridge.

Seated at the head table with the speaker were Curt Bishop, club president, Earl Caunter, Ted Anderson, and Chick Watley.

Keith Jeffrey was inducted into the club as a new member.

Delay date for music festival

There has been a postponement in the registration date for the Quebec Music Festival competition to be held in Sherbrooke at the end of April.

The original registration date of February 10 has been postponed for two weeks because of the large number of entries.

A meeting recently held by the festival committee chose the judges for the various events. Vladimir Padwa and Boris Berlin have been named as piano judges, Mrs. Rose E. Hampton as a singing judge, Wilfrid Pelletier, chorals, Ezra Schabas, wind instruments, and Daniel Guillet, a string instrument judge.

The competition is scheduled to be held on the University of Sherbrooke campus towards the end of April.

Man remanded for sentence

Passing of sentence against a 24-year old Sherbrooke man was remanded to March 6 in Sherbrooke District Court Wednesday morning.

Rene Labonte pleaded guilty before Judge Redmond Hayes to several counts of thefts involving about $300 in goods and cash. He will remain in Winter Street Jail pending passing of sentence.

The youth admitted stealing an expensive electric guitar, a wallet with $5, and a few other minor objects from Gerard Rancourt last January 31.

WOOL PRICE SUPPORT

A deficiency payment of 22 cents a pound will be paid on the 1961 wool clip — one cent less than the payment for the previous year's wool production.

The deficiency payment is calculated as the difference between the stabilization price of 60 cents a pound and the average market price per pound f.o.b. Toronto for the basic grades, Western Range Choice, half blood staple, and Eastern Domestic, quarter blood staple, combined.

It is estimated that 1961 production of wool in Canada will be approximately 6 million pounds.

Cheques to producers for deliveries of 20 pounds or more of eligible graded wool, which have been reported to the Agricultural Stabilization Board, will be issued as soon as possible.

SEED GRAIN

The amount of grain coming from Western Canada, has been much decreased following the drought which was severe in 1961. Only the abundant spring rains can undo the bad effects of the dry autumn in the prairies. The outlook for 1962 seems dull and already the price of feed is increasing.

It is wise, said Mr. Nasaire Parent, assistant director of the field crop branch in Quebec, to make plans for the 1962 grain crop. One of the first factors of success is good seed. Registered or certified seed are the only guarantees as to the authenticity of the variety. They have been submitted to inspection to assure the purchaser that there has been no mixture in the field and in the mixture of varieties. This is not the case for Commercial No. 1 and No. 2 seed which so often comes from mixture.

Doing away with 'archaic' censorship

It is difficult not to rise up and applaud the very fine report tabled in the Quebec legislature by a special government committee this week on the subject of film censorship in the province.

In nearly every way, the lucid recommendations of the report strike a sensible, responsible note far more in keeping with social life in our times than, in the committee's words, the "archaic, Utopian, arbitrary" system of the province's Bureau of Cinema Censors.

Indeed, some portions of the report are nothing less than eloquent expressions of the fallacies of censorship in general, and it would not be surprising to find them quoted at some future time in other areas than the cinema.

"Attempting to protect adults by censorship against so-called moral and psychological harm is Utopian, arbitrary and without foundation;

"Nearly all censorship smacks of personal prejudice;

"The censor, as an individual, can easily be addicted to narrow, rigorous moralism and a fixation on details concerning sex;

"The vocation of the censor tends to recruit members among those suffering from the need to project on others their own shame of sex or violence."

These are well-aimed generalizations, which, while they may not apply in all cases, certainly hit close to the truth in most instances.

As a substitute for the ills of censorship,

A blotter is usually what people hunt for while waiting for the ink to dry.

Doukhobors still providing problems

Renewed outbreaks of violence by radical Sons of Freedom Doukhobors in the Nelson, B.C., area again draws national interest to the problem created by members of this sect for law-abiding citizens.

Refusing to obey man-made laws and observing only their own interpretation of God's laws, Freedomites periodically run wild, dynamiting buildings and railway lines, burning down school houses and staging nude parades.

Efforts to bring some sort of order into the colonies by mass arrests and convictions have failed to produce results and the imposition of a long prison term upon one of their leaders only touched off graver disorders.

From time to time there has been talk of returning the sect members to

Kenya independence a ticklish job

The granting of independence to Kenya is going to be a ticklish job for the British government.

The East African colony has a white European population of 70,000 people and Negro population of 6,300,000. White colonizers for the past sixty years have been building up agricultural and commercial holdings which may be endangered once the colony is freed.

But the winds of change which have blown with such notable effect across other parts of Africa have been blowing across Kenya as well and the strong voices of native leaders cannot be ignored.

Britain is now reaching the final stages of colonial divestment and these are likely to prove the most difficult ones of all. Kenya illustrates this. The last colonies to go are the ones which have seemed ship, the committee made a number of eminently practical suggestions. It recommended the films be classified in four categories by a new board which would be called the Quebec Film Board.

The categories suggested were:
1. Films suitable for everyone, child or adult;
2. For persons aged 14 and over;
3. For persons 18 and over;
4. For persons aged 21 and over.

The committee suggested that classification of films be posted at the entrance to theatres, and that from there, in effect, it should be the job of education systems and parents to ensure that the young are not exposed to harmful influences.

The film classification system, of course, is not new. It is found in its completeness in a number of countries overseas, notably Great Britain and New Zealand. It has its place in Quebec, although some may be of the opinion that the liberal views of the committee should be tempered somewhat.

It might be advisable, for example, to make the classifications matters of law, so that children and adolescents would not be allowed into theatres showing films for adults only.

This, however, is something for discussion. The important thing is that a breath of fresh air has finally swept through a musty, antiquated Quebec institution. It is to be hoped it will be followed by quick and appropriate government action.

Russia from whence the communities originally came. But most of the troublemakers are second or third generation Canadians—so-called—and Russia would be right and wise in refusing them re-entry. A few years ago it was announced the Sons of Freedom would migrate to Mexico, but unfortunately for some reason or another the plan fell through.

Transferring them to other parts of Canada would mean only that British Columbia's woes were transplanted to some other section of the country.

Unless, perhaps, arrangements could be made to relocate the troublemakers in some presently unsettled region, probably an island, in the Far North, where cold and isolation would force them to curb their trouble-making.

Radical change in thinking

South Africa to give self rule to 3,000,000 Transkei natives

CAPE TOWN (CP)—After 10 years of talking, South Africa's Nationalist government has decided to give self-rule by 1963 to the 3,000,000 Africans of the Transkei.

In his dramatic announcement in Parliament, Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd said he is prepared to grant the Transkei an all-black parliament and cabinet, a separate citizenship and initial autonomy in education, health services, agriculture and roads.

Defence, foreign affairs and justice would remain in the hands of South Africa's all-white parliament until the Transkei government is ready to take over.

Actually, only 1,384,000 Africans live in the Transkei, a beautiful but poverty-stricken territory about one-third the size of Newfoundland on the east coast of South Africa. But the self-rule plan would apply as well to those who have had to leave to earn a livelihood.

No one can deny this is a positive step even if it has been taken under pressure of world opinion.

The move shows a radical change in Nationalist thinking. In offering the Transkei an elective system of government, Dr. Verwoerd has made two vital concessions.

He has recognized that Africans are just as suited to exercising the vote in a democratic way as Europeans. And he has virtually admitted that it is not possible to maintain white supremacy over the whole of South Africa.

Another important aspect of the proposals is that he dare not ever go back on it. Africans have a habit of reacting violently to broken promises.

So Dr. Verwoerd, by offering the Transkei independence, has also committed the whole of white South Africa to his policy of separate territorial development for the Africans.

The implications for South Africa are tremendous. The horse Dr. Verwoerd now has mounted might easily run away with him. The remaining 10,000,000 Africans scattered over Natal, the Transvaal and Cape Province will also demand self-rule sooner or later.

If the prime minister's policy is followed to its logical conclusion there will one day be eight separate and sovereign African states within the Republic of South Africa, with 6,000,000 of their subjects earning their living in white South Africa as migrant laborers—a bedlam conception.

For the moment, however, all attention here is focused on the Transkei and the most important questions seem to be: Can this territory ever become an economically viable entity? Can it ever be really independent? It is essential to take a close look at the Transkei to realize what Dr. Verwoerd is asking its people to build on.

When the rains come it is a resplendent land of rolling green hills, tumbling down from the Drakensberg Mountains to the Indian Ocean. It lies approximately between the Great Kei River and the border of Natal and Cape Province.

When the rains don't come it is a vast brown dustbowl where man and beast struggle to survive.

The people who live in it are all of the Xhosa group comprising eight tribes who often engage in fights.

Their common enemies are ignorance, soil erosion and hunger. To them food and the means to earn money are the only realities.

That is why most of the men have migrated to the white cities and left their wives and children to look after the herds and maize crops.

It is only in the cities, working for the whites, that they can make money. This migration away from their homes has been so great that there are more Africans outside the Transkei than in it.

Soil erosion has reached critical proportions. Only 26 per cent of the land surface of the entire territory is free of erosion.

The people are so poor that only 117 earn enough each year to pay income tax.

The territory has few minerals. There are small deposits of copper, cobalt, nickel and platinum but they are not developed.

Most of the good land is devoted to mixed maize and stock farming. There are no major industries. The vast majority of industries are owned by the Transkei's 15,000 whites.

One railway line runs from Cape Province to Umtata, capital of the Transkei. There is no harbor except Port St. Johns which is silted and cannot be used. Even if the silt were cleared it could accommodate only flat-bottomed boats.

The weakness of the government's plan is that it aims to cut off the Transkei from the wealth of South Africa. Industries and white capital investment are essential for healthy growth of the territory. But Dr. Verwoerd will allow whites to establish industries only on its borders.

It seems, therefore, that however sincere his proposals for independence, he visualizes the Transkei as nothing but a huge labor reserve.

There is one more question. Dr. Verwoerd has not consulted the Xhosa people. Do they want self-rule?

They might take it in preference to negative apartheid. But there is no doubt most thinking educated Africans would like their destiny linked with that of the whites in a united, economically integrated South Africa with equal democratic rights for all.

Rotary marks 57th year

Service is basis of worthy enterprise

The Sherbrooke Rotary Club since its foundation in 1919 has played a leading role in fostering the ideal of service as a basis of worthy enterprise.

Rotary International, which marks its 57th anniversary tomorrow provides a medium whereby citizens may participate actively in coping with a variety of community needs. The organization of these willing citizens has become increasingly necessary in recent years because federal, provincial, and municipal governments have taken on increasing responsibilities in this regard. This along with the rise of health, welfare, social service and educational organizations seems to have left little for the volunteer to do.

However, through Rotary International these volunteers can do a great deal for their community and their country. The Sherbrooke Rotary Club is one of over 11,000 clubs in approximately 123 countries and geographical areas dedicated to the same goal of public service.

The local club was founded in 1919 and has a membership of 125. Of the 17 charter members of the organization two are still living and these are A. C. Skinner and Elmer Lunderville. The Sherbrooke branch is proud to be part of an organization which has over 500,000 members. This world fellowship is dedicated to the advancement of international understanding, goodwill and peace.

One of the most effective methods of forwarding the cause of international goodwill has been the Rotary Foundation Fellowshipships. These have allowed students of all nationalities, colours, and races to live and study in a country other than their own. In this way they become ambassadors of goodwill between their own country and the country where they do their post graduate studies.

Fundamentally, Rotary undertakes to reconcile the ever present conflict between the desire to profit for oneself and the duty and consequent impulse to serve others. This philosophy is the philosophy of service and is based on the practical ethical principle that "he profits most who serves best."

Primarily a Rotary Club is a group of representative business and professional men who have accepted the Rotary philosophy of service and are seeking to study collectively the theory of service as the true basis of success and happiness in business and in life; to give collectively practical demonstrations of it to themselves and their community; to translate its theory into practice in their business and everyday lives; and individually and collectively by active precept and example to stimulate its acceptance both in theory and practice by everyone in our society.

For only by means of translating this ideal of service into action can it be hoped to consolidate the private enterprise system and enable it to flourish and compete successfully with the Communist ideology.

The Sherbrooke Rotary Club has since its foundation been concerned with ways and means of maintaining and improving the well-being of a large number of people in this area.

The local club has been particularly active in work with crippled and underprivileged children. Other projects have included the outfitting and coaching of a Little League baseball team and the sponsoring of air cadets. The club's only appeal to the public for funds is the annual three day Rotary fair by which most of the club's projects are financed.

As each Rotary anniversary passes clubs throughout the world are striving to play an increasingly important role in rendering service to each community. Much can still be done and is still being done by Rotary to make more effective present methods of coping with the social, welfare, health and educational problems which face our increasingly complex civilization.

Six percent return given by Bell

Net income of The Bell Telephone Company of Canada for the year ended December 31, 1961, was $87,690,521, equivalent to $2.50 per share or a return of six per cent on invested capital, according to the company's 82nd annual report issued today.

The report, signed by Thomas W. Eadie, president, noted that earnings per share for the year were about the same as in 1959 and 1960. The company's net income was $53,511,907, or $2.52 per share in 1960.

Expenditures to extend, improve and merchandise service in 1961 totalled $192,600,000. New buildings or additions were constructed in 88 communities and 64 exchanges were converted to dial operation. Telephones in service at the end of 1961 totalled 3,695,107, an increase of 180,100 during the year.

This expansion was reflected in Sherbrooke by the addition of 1,557 telephones. P. W. Lesser, Bell manager for the region said, bringing the total in service here as of December 31 to 26,988.

Operating revenues for 1961 were 7.1 per cent higher than in 1960, the report states. This reflects an intensified marketing effort and an upturn in business conditions in the second half of the year. Expenses were 4.5 per cent higher. For the second year in succession there was an "encouraging drop" in operating expenses per telephone.

Taxes totalled $73,483,000 or $8,752,000 more than in 1960.

Queen elected at Richmond

RICHMOND—(Special) — Marie Paule Girardin is Richmond's Queen of Sports. She was named by Dr. Roland Bernier, organizer of the event and contest which opened a month ago. There were three candidates competing for the title won two years ago by Miss Lise Talbot, now Mrs. Marcel Plante. There was no contest held in 1961.

The other candidates were Gail Kydd and Lise Geoffrion. The winner was judged by the number of tickets she had sold on a drawing Jacques Bolvin, member of the Richmond Braves hockey club won first prize of $200.00; Pierre Boisvert of Asbestos, second prize of $50.00 and Denis Girardin, brother of Queen Marie Paule 1st, third prize of $25.00.

He made the introductions and called on Fernand Menard, president of the Richmond Hockey Association, who welcomed the guests and expressed thanks to the three candidates who worked hard the past month for the contest which will benefit the hockey club and association.

A bouquet of flowers was presented to the new Queen and Mayor Alfred Geoffroy was then called upon to congratulate the winner. He spoke briefly in both French and English noting the hard work put in by the three girls and wished all of them success in the future. He also congratulated the organizers of the contest for their effort and their fine gesture in promoting such a contest.

SOUTH HAD TWO CHANCES TO WIN

South looked at dummy and wished that he had restrained his enthusiasm and either passed at two spades or bid only three. However, he was in four and had to make the best of it. West held the first club trick and continued the suit. South ruffed the third lead and saw that if he were going to make the hand, he would have to avoid the loss of a diamond trick.

No play was likely to work, but the two best chances were to try to pick up a doubleton queen or to play East for both the queen and ten. Both plays were about equal from a mathematical standpoint but the play for the queen-ten in the East hand had an extra chance for success.

Accordingly, South took a high trump, led to dummy's ten and played the jack of diamonds from dummy. East covered with the queen.

South won, then he led a trump to dummy's queen, fine

essed the eight of diamonds, returned to dummy with the ace of hearts; led another diamond and conceded a heart trick.

What was the extra chance for success? Actually there were two. West might have a singleton ten-spot or if East held the queen and West the ten, East might make a mistake and not

Didn't Know Her Own Child

... he was so cross, cranky, sulky. When his mother told him that he was a naughty boy, he would cry and say, "I don't know my own child." This is a common complaint of many mothers. The reason is that the child is not being taught to know himself. He is not being given the opportunity to express his feelings and to learn from his mistakes. He is being told what to do and what not to do, but he is not being taught to think for himself. He is not being given the opportunity to learn from his own experiences. He is being told what to do and what not to do, but he is not being taught to think for himself. He is not being given the opportunity to learn from his own experiences.

This modern plan is insured for your protection and payments can be made in regular monthly installments spread over two years, or even longer. MY ENTHUSIASM FOR THIS WONDERFUL WINE started several months ago. That's when we first served Bright's DUBARRY SPARKLING VIN ROSE at a party... and we've been serving it on happy occasions ever since. Truly, DuBarry Sparkling Vin Rose is the life and gaiety of the party—any party. Nobody can resist the dancing bubbles and its fresh, clean taste. So next time you're planning a gathering for fun, get a bottle or two of DuBarry Sparkling Vin Rose... in the champagne-type bottle swathed in pink tissue. It even looks like a party. Yes, Bright's DuBarry Sparkling Vin Rose will set the mood for the merriest evening you've ever had.

AS BREAKFAST GOES, SO GOES THE DAY... ever noticed? That's why I make a point of starting every day right with RED RIVER CEREAL. So good to eat and so good for you! You see, Red River is a whole-some blend of cracked wheat, rye and flax. It has extra energy values for active youngsters and oldersters alike and it guards regularity. Red River is "nature's mild regulator". What's more, it's so easy... easy to prepare and easy on the budget. So why not make a real meal of the day's first meal—by breakfasting on delicious, nutritious Red River Cereal.

SPECIALLY FOR US CITY-FOLK... and all who live in hard-water areas... here's one of the greatest... soft-as-silk CALGON, the wonderful water-conditioner. See, with Calgon, how bright and clean your fresh-washed sheets can be! Calgon, the Water Doctor, cures "Hangover Dirt"... the film of soil, minerals and soap scum that sticks to your sheets and clothes. (It's like the ring you get in your bath-tub!) Hangover Dirt makes everything stiff and scratchy, but Calgon prevents and removes it... without bleach. With Calgon you need less soap, sheets and clothes are naturally softer, more absorbent and really clean!

I'M DELIGHTED TO BE ABLE to tell asthma sufferers about the wonderful relief they can have... simply by taking RAZ-MAH Capsules... and, for young sufferers, Raz-Mah Greys Junior Capsules. I know, when you wheeze and gasp for breath with asthma and chronic bronchitis, it's "no joke". But Raz-Mah Capsules will make life seem much brighter. They bring almost instant relief and leave no unpleasant after-effects. Do discover how effective they are! Believe me, you can rely on Raz-Mah to relieve coughing, wheezing and gasping bronchitis and asthma.

THREE EASY WAYS TO MAKE FLAVOR BLOOM! Bring out all the flavor in your favorite layer cake mix. Fold 1 teaspoon Shirriff True Vanilla Extract into cake batter before baking. A tasty flavor trick is to add ½ teaspoon Shirriff True Almond Extract to ½ cup whipping cream. Makes whipped cream a treat even more delicious. Deepen the true fruit flavor of ever-popular applesauce with ½ teaspoon of Shirriff True Lemon Extract. And for a party-pink blush on this fruit favorite, add a few drops of Shirriff Red Food Color to every 2 or 3 cups of applesauce.

YOU'RE "FLIRTING" WITH DANGER unless you use GILLET'S DRAIN CLEANER once a week. Because even though your sinks are spotless, dangerous sewer germs lurk in every drain. No liquid disinfectant can budgie the muck they breed in. It takes Gillett's special churning, boiling action to quickly scour out muck and sewer germs that collect in clogged-up sink drains. So, it's easy to see why Gillett's keeps drains fast-running and sanitary... and why it always leaves your sink a safe place in which to wash dishes. Do be sure... put 2 tablespoons of Gillett's Drain Cleaner in every drain, every week... then you'll know they are clean, clear, and sanitary!

PARTICULARLY IF THERE'S A BABY in the house, you'll need the help of versatile SUNLIGHT SOAP. Sunlight leaves baby clothes softer, fluffier, more comfortable than any packaged laundry detergent can... it cleans them beautifully, thoroughly, yet is completely kind to hands and fine fabrics. That's because Sunlight is oil soap... pure soap. And Sunlight is the greatest help in keeping baby's room spotlessly clean. Washes floors, baseboards and painted surfaces with the greatest ease and never a mar or scratch. For baby's sake and your satisfaction, buy Sunlight today—in the handy, economical twin-bar pack.

Throughout the district addresses were given on "Nursing as a Career". The increasingly larger enrollments in the school of nursing are an indication of the growing interest here.

The Wings in the surrounding area have again contributed greatly to the work of the Auxiliary and of the Hospital. The Windsor Mills Wing raised and forwarded to the Auxiliary $180, as well as supplying the shop with knitted and sewn articles. The Waterville Wing made the 500 wool golliwogs for the tag day. The Lennoxville Wing raised about $900, they not only continued their bursary, they donated $100 to the hospital campaign and helped with the canvassing in Lennoxville, gave their most generous cheque of $400 to the Physiotherapy Dept., and gave money towards the cost of Christmas decorations in the Hospital.

The Carry-On Club with an active membership of 31, raised $800 by having two teas. They donated scales to the Children's Ward, $30 to the campaign as well as other needs as they arose. They keep suitable decorative motifs painted throughout the ward.

With 1961 completed, the auxiliary are now looking forward to this new year for which they have already committed themselves to supplying an X-Ray unit for $5,500, bed-sides for $800 and an air-conditioner for the second delivery room for $250.

DID YOU KNOW THAT??? 25 Volunteers worked 1268 hours in the Shop?

In August 146 volunteer hours were put in to replace Mrs. Morrison on vacation?

That Mrs. Gale and the Waterville Wing used 50 balls of wool to make the golliwogs for the tag day?

That the Mitchell School children collected $94.40 for the Tag Day?

That 65 high school students attended Open House at the Hospital in April?

That two of our members transported a baby to a Montreal adoption home, as requested by our social worker, Miss Cornwall-Jones?

That one of our new members, Mrs. B. Wallace, gives two mornings a week to organizing art work for the children in the Children's Ward?

That donations to the Shop, including knitted and sewn articles, amounted to $900?

That active and associate membership now stands at 178? Add the Carry-On Club and Wing memberships—the total is 381!!!

World Day of Prayer March 9.

A World Day of Prayer service will be held this year on Friday, March 9. On that day Canadian women from Yellowknife, N.W.T. to the tiniest Newfoundland outpost will join women in 145 different countries to circle the world with prayer.

3,500 local church councils and committees in Canada are preparing for the World Day of Prayer service which is sponsored by the Women's Interchurch Council of Canada. The Order of Service on the theme "God's Love for the Whole World" will be used in Canadian cities, towns and rural communities; in English, French, Indian, Eskimo, Japanese and Chinese.

The 1962 service, prepared by a committee of church women in Uruguay, South America, will find its way in many languages and dialects to groups of women for services in comfortable North American churches, in historic European cathedrals, in divided Berlin, in villages under trees in chaotic Africa where newly literate women will carefully spell out the words; in mission schools in Indonesia, in refugee settlements in Hong Kong. They will begin with dawn in the South Pacific and end at sunset in Northern Canada.

On that day prayer will join together in unity the Christian women of the world. Their offering, which in 1961 broke all records, will go to help the world's refugees; to produce Christian literature for the non-English speaking people in Canada, for women and children in developing countries around the globe, and, through the John Milton Society and the Canadian National Institute for the Blind to produce more literature in Braille.

"More things are wrought by prayer Than this world dreams of." Join the women of this community—and the world—on March 9 in prayer that the love of God may fill hearts and minds and bring peace to the individual and the world.

DECORATING COMMITTEE — Members of the Sherbrooke Hospital Ladies' Auxiliary are shown here planning the floral arrangements which will be used to decorate the New Sherbrooke Hotel on the evening of the Annual Ball, taking place on March 3. Floral theme created for the annual ball

The Annual Ball under the auspices of the Sherbrooke Hospital Ladies' Auxiliary promises to be the gala event of the season.

On March 3 from 10 to 12 p.m. the New Sherbrooke Hotel will take on a spring atmosphere with fresh flowers in profusion used as decoration to create a floral theme for that evening.

Arrangements are well under way for this popular annual social event.

Dress will be formal and a buffet supper will be served at the close of the evening.

In the past the funds raised from this project were used to supply linen for the hospital. Since the Quebec hospitalization plan has come into effect this item is now covered by the government. However there is still a considerable demand from the hospital for new equipment and the proceeds from this major effort will be used to purchase equipment when required. It is hoped that this event will receive wide patronage and a pleasant evening is assured for those who by their interest and presence support this undertaking of the Ladies Auxiliary.

Ruth Millett
J. F. K.: how about public smile and pat for Jackie?

Every time I see the President and the First Lady together on television I have the feeling that somebody ought to tell him to pay a little more husbandly attention to his beautiful wife.

Usually when you see them together the President is climbing off a plane without turning to give his wife a helping hand, or he is striding ahead of her while she meekly but smilingly tags along behind, or he is shaking hands with dignitaries, while she is standing just outside the charmed circle.

No doubt the President is, in such moments, in a great hurry, or preoccupied, or maybe he just knows that somebody will look after his wife. But still such husbandly unconcern makes a very poor impression on the feminine public.

If the President doesn't realize just how off-hand his public manner toward his wife appears to be—he ought to look at some newsreels of the two of them together. And then he should look at some newsreels of President and Mrs. Eisenhower when Mrs. E. was the First Lady of the land.

Always, Ike was looking after Mamie—helping her in and out of cars, making sure she was seated before he began an address, leaning over to hear the words she addressed to him, smiling at her as the two chatted.

That kind of husbandly concern really got the women. It gave Ike a warmth of personality that women loved. There's some feeling that President Kennedy's public image is a little lacking in warmth. One way for him to change that—at least so far

Rangers stage comeback to down Bruins 4-2, Johnny Wilson gets clincher in hard-fought battle

NEW YORK (AP)—New York Rangers unleashed a brilliant third period comeback with a three goal barrage and shipped Boston 4-2 Wednesday night to extend Bruins' National Hockey League winless streak to 12.

A Madison Square Garden turnout of 13,708 saw Andy Hebenton produce the equalizer on a picture play goal midway in the final stanza. Defenseman Harry Howell then put Rangers ahead 3-2 on a long screened shot at 16:57.

Johnny Wilson provided the clincher with 23 seconds left, scoring into an empty net for his second goal of the night.

The wild game was marred by a stick swinging duel in the final period between Ted Green of Bruins and Guy Gendron of Rangers. Both players were given match penalties for deliberate intent to injure and were automatically ejected from the contest by referee Dalton McCarthy. Each is subject to an $100 fine.

USE SUB GOALIE
Rangers used sub goalie Marcel Paille who was filling in for Lorne (Gump) Worsley. The regular netminder was sidelined with the flu. Worsley had reported to the Garden but the club doctor would not permit him to dress.

In Bruins' last 12 games, they have lost 10 and tied two. The defeat was their fourth in a row and they have not won since Jan. 27 when they beat Chicago 5-3.

Richmond Pee Wee Aces to compete in International Hockey tourney to be held in Quebec on Saturday

RICHMOND — The Richmond Pee Wee Aces will jump on the ice of the Quebec Coliseum Saturday afternoon at 5:30 to meet their first opponents in the International Pee Wee Hockey Tournament. They will meet Blenville in their first game.

The sixteen youngsters who comprise the team will hop a special train at 9:30 Saturday morning. Most of the players will be accompanied by their parents and a good crowd of well-wishers are also expected to go along.

Lucien Cormier, a Richmond alderman, who developed the idea last November has devoted a lot of his time to the team this year and is hoping that the boys will give a good account of themselves in the tournament. He will accompany the youngsters to Quebec.

The Pee Wee Aces have acquired quite a bit of fanfare in their town during the past year and recently received brand

Snell runs mile in three minutes and 56.8 seconds

AUCKLAND (Reuters)—New Zealand's Peter Snell won a mile race here tonight in three minutes and 56.8 seconds—2.4 seconds slower than his own world record, but still among the half-dozen best mile times ever recorded.

Snell, who also holds the world records for 800 yards and 800 metres, was followed home by fellow-New Zealanders Murray Halberg and Bill Baillie, both timed at four minutes, 2.2 seconds.

San Antonio, Tex.—Humberto (Lefty) Barrera, 117, Robstown, Tex., outpointed Luis Leija, 117, San Antonio, 10.

WORLD'S ONLY SPOTTED HARNESS HORSE — Now going through his training steps at Ben White Raceway in Orlando, Fla., is Snow Time, the only spotted horse currently in harness racing. The rare four-year-old pacer was recently imported from New Zealand by prominent owner-driver-trainer Del Miller. Snow Time is one of four horses acquired "down under" by Miller. Driving the horse is assistant trainer Aime Choquette while Del Miller is the other driver teaming Belle Sampson in the workout.

Beavers Indians meet in junior final tonight

Hockey finals that will decide the Sherbrooke junior hockey champions, begin tonight at the Sherbrooke Arena with Jean-Guy Beauregard's Indians clashing with Pat Murphy's junior Beavers.

Both teams have advanced to the finals of the Sherbrooke Junior Hockey League by knocking over their opponents in semi-final series A and B. The Junior Beavers realized no trouble in disposing of St. Francis 9-2 and 4-0 to take the best of three series two games to none.

The Indians pulled an unexpected upset in their semi-final series. They disposed of the league champions, Tech, two games to none. They took victories of 6-5 and 5-4.

Anything can happen in a best-of-three series as was shown by the Indian-Tech meetings and both the Beavers and Indians will be looking for the victory tonight. A win in the first game gives any team a big jump in a short series.

Beavers took the best of the Indians in regular season play.

Gametime tonight is 8:00 o'clock.

Kingston team loses third consecutive game

Kingston Frontenacs are still in first place in the Eastern Professional Hockey League, but won't be for long if they don't perk up.

The Frontenacs lost their third consecutive game, a 3-2 squeaker to Hull-Ottawa Canadiens Wednesday night, Kitchener - Waterloo Beavers were idle and Kingston kept ahead of them by one point.

Playing-coach Bob Armstrong, Gary Roberts and Billy Carter scored for the Canadiens while playing - coach Orval Tessier and Jerry Quenneville were the Kingston marksmen.

Roberts got the winner at 1:32 of the third period when he banged Fred Hill's rebound under Kingston goaltender Ed Chadwick's pads.

Hull-Ottawa, three points behind Kitchener-Waterloo, gets a chance to tighten the race to night against the last place North Bay Trappers. Sudbury Wolves, in fourth spot, visit the fifth place Sault Ste. Marie Thunderbirds.

LA Angels ride bicycles to daily practice

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (CP) Gene Autry wanted horses but Fred Haney had his way and now 25 Los Angeles Angels hope will bike to practice at the Polo Grounds here each day.

General Manager Haney this morning ordered the squad staying at a nearby hotel to pedal rented bicycles two miles to the Polo Grounds and back.

Autry, Angel co-owner, preferred to see his players on horses. But Haney pointed out it's the players legs which must be built up, not their seats.

Haney hit upon the bicycle idea when he managed Milwaukee Braves.

"Mel Roach broke his leg and Wes Covington had a bad knee one spring. Bicycling helped to speed their recovery. Ever since then, I've toyed with the thought of making an entire team use bikes to toughen their legs during spring training," he said.

N.H.L. BIG SEVEN

Bobby Hull, Chicago Black Hawks jet bomber, scored two goals—his 36th and 37th of the season—and also drew two assists Wednesday night to take over second place in the National Hockey League individual scoring race.

Supreme Court rules golfers are liable

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Supreme Court of Georgia has ruled a negligent golfer is liable for injuries he causes to others.

The decision Wednesday allowed golfer J. K. Thomas of Albany, Ga., to bring a $25,000 negligence suit against golfer R. W. Shaw.

Thomas claimed Shaw teed off and hooked his ball into Thomas' eye, causing permanent loss of 96 per cent of his vision.

Thomas said Shaw was negligent in not shouting "fore."

Thomas also claimed, Shaw was so inexpert a golfer "that he was and is not able to control the direction his golf ball travels after being driven by him, it not being unusual for him to either slice or hook the ball."

The Georgia Court of Appeals threw out the suit in a previous ruling. It commented: "We are constrained to say that, as fondly as they may desire it, even expert golfers are unable to control the direction of the ball once it is in flight."

Finding a golfer negligent because his ball does not travel in a straight line, the appeal court said, "would be imposing upon him a greater duty of care than the Creator endowed him with the faculties to carry out."

Supreme Court Justice T. S. Candler said golfers "assume the risk of dangers ordinarily incident to the game." But, he added, "that rule does not apply or extend to a negligent act of a fellow player."

Beavers to ice same lineup while Rockets hope to do same, Vics will be seeking first home victory

Two important games are on the agenda this evening in the semi-finals of the Eastern Townships Intermediate Hockey League playoffs. Sherbrooke travels to Drummondville and Montreal is at Granby.

The Beavers hold a 2-0 edge in their best-of-four Series "B" over the Rockets while in Series "A" the Vics and Olympics are deadlocked at one game each. Following tonight's tilts the teams will move back to Sherbrooke and Montreal for the fourth games of the playdowns.

Coach Dube's squad hold 5-2 and 6-3 victories over the Rockets and are confident they can post their third straight win over Drummondville. Coach Lou Poliquin was dissatisfied with the showing of his club in their first two games and will no doubt have his squad up for the big one.

A loss tonight for the Rockets would certainly put them behind the "old dead ball" with the next tilt in Sherbrooke Sunday. Coach Poliquin is looking for better performances from certain players. Following Tuesday's defeat in Sherbrooke the Drummondville pilot declared that some of his men were not giving their best and that he was looking for an improvement Thursday.

Both teams came out of the tilt without any injuries and Coach Dube will ice the same lineup and will have the units going in the same manner. The Rockets will have Jacques Morin and Paul Emil Michelin in uniform. They missed Tuesday's game.

At Granby it should be a real hard battle if the first two are any indication. The series is deadlocked at 1-1 as the Olympics copped the first in Granby 2-0 but the Vics came back strong in the second to post a 5-2 victory.

Coach Bedard is hoping for a win on their home ice in order to hold a one-game edge when they return to Montreal at the Maurice Richard Arena next Sunday. In their first battle the Olympics outplayed the Vics and Coach Marcel Fillon will have his boys ready for tonight's big game.

The Vics will have their team at full strength and the league champions will be after their first win on home ice. The Olympics have always turned in fine performances in Granby and have given the Vics more trouble than any other club in the loop.

Big names are still missing from major league ranks as boys are holding out for more greenbacks

NEW YORK (AP) — Only a few major league baseball players remain unsigned for the 1962 season, but they include some big names in the business.

There's Roger Maris, Rocky Colavito and Orlando Cepeda. And John Pappas?

John Pappas? Well, he's not a major league player. Not yet, at least. And while sluggers Maris, Colavito and Cepeda are holding out for more money, Pappas isn't holding out at all.

He's a brash young man from Long Island, N.Y., who showed up at New York Mets' training camp in St. Petersburg, Fla., Wednesday with sneakers, a battered glove and a bushy hairdo. He said he wanted a tryout.

The 21-year-old Pappas told Mets' official Johnny Murphy he had never pitched an inning of high school, college or minor league ball. His last workout was throwing baseball's against a blank wall. He said he is fast.

Newspaper men at the Mets' National League camp were intrigued and prevailed on Murphy to give him a chance. He'll get it.

DOUBLE OR NOTHING
On the more serious side, Maris and New York Yankees have failed to reach agreement after several conferences. The home run king is believed to be asking $75,000, double last year's salary, and the Yankees are offering about $60,000.

Colavito, who had 45 home runs and a .290 batting average last season, apparently has reached a standstill in negotiations with Detroit Tigers.

He received an estimated $35,000 last season and is believed seeking $50,000. Other Tigers still unsigned are Norm Cash, 1961 American League batting champion, Al Kaline, Paul Foytack and Terry Fox.

Cepeda is believed to be demanding $50,000. The San Francisco Giants' slugger led the Long Beach, Calif. — Willie Bell, 183, Los Angeles, knocked out Roy Smith, 180½, San Pedro, Calif., 4.

Windsor Paper Makers meet Asbestos with second place at stake

Last scheduled game for Windsor, out to wrap up second position, three lines intact for tonight

WINDSOR — (Staff) — Windsor Paper Makers could slam the door on Rock Island Jets' chances of finishing in second place tonight when they clash with the Asbestos Miners on home ice.

As is seen by the standings, the Paper Makers own a slim one-point edge over the Rock Island Jets with each team having one game left to play. A Windsor win tonight would put an end to Border's chances of finishing in second. It would give the Bachand squad a three point lead over the Jets and would assure them of the second place finish.

In six games played against each other this season, the Paper Makers have emerged victorious five times. All their wins came by one goal margins. In the last game however the Miners rallied in the third period and defeated Windsor 4-2.

In this game the Paper Makers only had two lines working for them. They jumped to a 2-0 lead in the first period but were too tired to keep the pace up and watched the Miners surge past them. Tonight however, Coach Bachand has his regular three lines operational. They were intact Tuesday night when the Bachand squad travelled to Magog and romped to a 6-2 win. In Tuesday's win the Paper

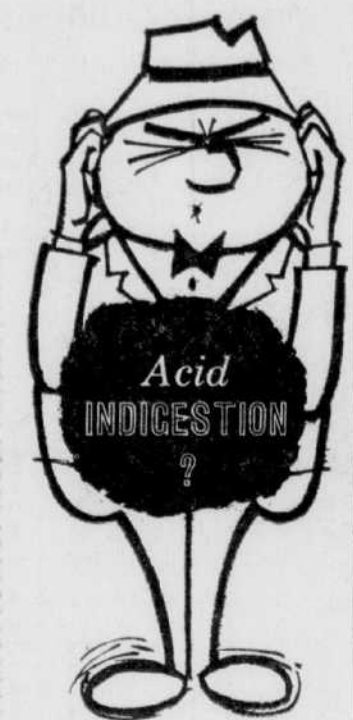

Makers looked smooth and it seems that they have finally struck their stride. They will have tough opposition tonight however when they meet the league leaders.

The Miners are already assured of winning two of the league titles. They locked up the league championship over a week ago and Larry Drouin, their top winger, appears to have won the league scoring title. He holds a 13 point lead over his nearest rival with one game left to go. They will merely by try to add to their impressive totals in tonight's contest.

The league play-offs are scheduled to start next Tuesday evening.

Canadiens edge faltering Maple Leafs 4-2

TORONTO (CP)—First-place Montreal Canadiens, showing much more finesse and know-how, defeated Toronto Maple Leafs 4-2 Wednesday night to extend their National Hockey League lead over the faltering Leafs to a healthy 13 points.

The Canadiens went ahead 1-0 with their first shot of the night on the Toronto goal and never were behind in the proceedings which were dull at times, particularly in the second period when play became ragged. Throughout most of the game the crowd of 13,750 razed the second-place Leafs for their ineffectual play.

Jean Beliveau, Dickie Moore, Ralph Backstrom and Henri Richard were the Montreal scorers while defencemen Allen Stanley and Tim Horton were the scorers for Leafs. Montreal went ahead 2-1 after the first period and put the game out of reach in the second session on Richard's 19th goal of the season.

Although Canadiens clearly outplayed Toronto, goalkeeper Johnny Bower in the Leaf nets made 19 saves against 27 for the masked Jacques Plante. But many of the Toronto shots were from far out.

Stanley was serving a charging penalty on Beliveau's goal at 2:47. It was a gift all the way.

Beliveau coasted down the right boards, slid a pass around the Toronto net intended for Gilles Tremblay and the puck, which didn't leave the ice slithered past Bower who apparently had his eye on Tremblay. That was the first Montreal shot on goal.

Stanley evened the count just 38 seconds later when his long drive from about 30 feet out eluded Plante. Bobby Pulford and Beliveau were serving roughing penalties at the time.

Canadiens went ahead to stay at 8:38 of the opening period on what appeared to be another soft goal. Richard carried the puck around the Toronto net and lobbed the puck at Bower from about a foot at the side of the Toronto goal. Moore was parked right there and the puck went in off his stick.

RICHARD HAS NIFTY — Richard scored the niftiest goal of the night at 13:50 of the second period on a play started by Tom Johnson, a bright light on the Montreal defence. Johnson laid a long pass on Moore's stick and the winger slid it ahead to Richard who roared in on Bower and let go a rising waist-high shot into the net from about eight feet out.

Black Hawks rally to stop Red Wings 6-4

CHICAGO (AP) — Last period goals by Ab McDonald, Stan Mikita, and Eric Nesterenko gave Chicago Black Hawks a 6-4 triumph over Detroit Red Wings in a wild National Hockey League game Wednesday night.

By winning, Hawks moved to within three points of second place Toronto Maple Leafs, who were beaten by Montreal. The loss dropped Red Wings into fifth place.

McDonald's goal, which tied the score at 4-4 midway in the final period came while two Red Wings were in the penalty box. One of the pair was Marc Boileau, who was serving a tripping penalty called against goalie Hank Bassen.

Chicago went ahead 5-4 at 17:03 when Mikita scored his second of the night and 22nd of the year. Bassen, who had just saved on Pierre Pilote, was flat on the ice when the puck sailed over his head into the cage.

Nesterenko's marker was sent into an empty net at 19:25 of the period after Wings had pulled Bassen in favor of a sixth skater.

Bobby Hull snatched in the opening goal for Chicago in the first period at 9:47. But Gerry Odrowski evened the count for Red Wings with a tally at 17:05.

But Mikita made it 2-1 for Chicago with his first goal of the night just 22 seconds later. And Hull widened the margin to 3-1 less than a minute later with his second counter of the night. That ran his goal total for the season to 37.

Alec Delvecchio closed the gap by one counter with a goal
