Fifty-Four Year

World News In Brief

London, Feb. 27.—(P)—A British trade mission left today for Buenos Aires in a new bid to break the deadlock in Anglo-Argentine meat negotiations. The price squabble between the two countries has cut Britain's fresh-meat ration to its lowest level.

Meat shipments from Argentina, Britain's major supplier, stopped last July after the Labor government refused to stop the price asked by the Argentine. It is believed here the forthcoming talks will result in a general overhaul of the present trade agreement between the two countries.

Anchorage, Alaska, Feb. 27.—(P)—The head of the Alaska defense command yesterday said his organization is well prepared to defend all of the territory against any country that may "step in and try to take it." Lt. Gen. W. E. Kepner said in an interview that "we are no pushovers and anyone who thinks he can walk in and take Alaska is in for a rude awakening."

Rutland, Vt., Feb. 27.—(P)—A 16-inch water main sprung a leak yesterday, leaving nearly half of this city's 17,000 population without water for more than six hours. About 20 downtown hotels and inns and all houses in the city's upper section were affected. Several industrial plants curtailed operations because of inability to run pumps.

Victoria, Feb. 27.—(P)—Wives, sweethearts, relatives and friends yesterday waved and shouted "bon voyage" as the cruiser Ontario sailed from her nearby Esquimalt base for a three-month 15,000-mile cruise to the South Pacific. Commanded by Commodore Hugh F. Pullen, the 9,000-ton flagship of the navy's Pacific command will visit Pearl Harbor, the Samoan and Fiji islands and seven principal ports in Australia and New Zealand.

Lake Success, N.Y., Feb. 27.—(P)—Russia declared yesterday that Trygve Lie, United Nations secretary-general, holds his office illegally. A. A. Soldatov, Soviet delegate in the 12-country U.N. trusteeship council, voiced the charge in a council debate over Lie's 20-year U.N. peace plan. Only Soldatov voted against the council taking note of the plan.

London, Feb. 27.—(P)—Britain has had more rain since New Year's day—a total of 7.85 inches—than in any other Jan. and Feb. since 1871. That's when the weather bureau started keeping such records. Previously the wettest January and February came in 1937—7.80 inches of rain.

Calcutta, Feb. 27.—(Reuters)—Calcutta health authorities said yesterday that 500 people died here of smallpox last week, the highest weekly toll claimed by the disease this century. In the previous week 162 deaths were reported. Nearly 4,000 people have died since the epidemic began in December.

United Church Secretary Warns Against Materialism

Toronto, Feb. 27.—(P)—A spokesman for the United Church of Canada said today North America has an unhealthy pride which creates "the seedbed for paganism."

Rev. J. R. Mutchmor, secretary of the board of evangelism and social service, said "more people should be fighting the devil in their own backyards."

In a report released today prior to presentation tomorrow to the board he heads, Dr. Mutchmor added: "The forces of materialism and the lure of the secular life continue to be strong in Canada but these false teachings lack an authentic note. The fact is that man cannot be satisfied merely by physical comforts."

"The pride that stems from North America's power to produce half of the world's goods by its 10th of the world's population is not a healthy pride. It has led to profligacy and waste. These evils in turn provide the seedbed for paganism."

"It is North American paganism that threatens the Christian church in Canada and the United States."

Dr. Mutchmor said "the witness of the Church on the moral front and particularly at the municipal level must be supported more vigorously by laymen as well as ministers."

Counter-Attacks By Chinese Are Beaten Back As Allied Advance Continues Slowly

U.K. Census Will Start On April 8

London, Feb. 27.—(P)—Overcrowded Britain, recently termed "probably the most vulnerable target in the world" in an atomic war, will have its first nose count in 20 years, starting April 8.

Defence, housing, and immigration men will have a special interest in the total, which unofficial estimates indicate may top 61,000,000.

Sixty thousand enumerators will take the census, first official count since 1931. By chance, the Republic of Ireland will take its own the same day, so figures for the entire British Isles—including the Channel Islands and remote Scottish islands—will be on hand simultaneously.

The figure for England, Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland in an unofficial estimate two years ago was 50,519,000, despite the size of migration to the Dominions and colonies.

Those figures showed that England and Wales—manufacturing and mining heart of British industry—averaged 750 persons to the square mile. France had 194 and the United States only 19.

Britain's population has been expanding steadily since the first census in 1801. That count, which took in all of Ireland, was 16,345,646. The 1931 count listed 44,790,485. The Republic of Ireland, then called the Irish Free State, wasn't included.

The 1951 census will cost British taxpayers about £1,125,000 but officials think it's worth it. They want some light on, for instance:

How many Britons still speak no English? The 1931 enumerators found that 6,700 spoke only Gaelic.

How many have piped water, fixed bathtubs, and "other arrangements?"

Prince Mdivani Returns Home

Los Angeles, Feb. 27.—(P)—Prince David Mdivani, the last of the fabulous "marrying Mdivanis," returned home yesterday. He had been reported missing since Friday.

Police, who had broadcast an all-points bulletin for the missing prince, said the matter is out of their hands.

Mdivani, 48, indicated he had been away on a short trip.

"I guess I should have told my wife I was not coming home over the week-end," he said. "It is most unfortunate."

His wife, Mrs. Virginia Sinclair Mdivani, adopted daughter of oil magnate Harry Sinclair, said her husband, a Georgian prince, left their home on a business trip and hadn't been seen since, until yesterday.

A South Korean force clashed with two Chinese companies about five miles west of Hoengsong, on the Marines' left flank.

Low clouds and poor visibility limited Fifth Air Force operations Tuesday to 113 sorties, with close support of ground forces concentrated on the east-central sector.

But four waves of B-29 Superforts rained 150 tons of fire on the Red barracks in North Korea, 85 miles northeast of Pyongyang, the Red capital. The bombers met light anti-aircraft fire.

The west-central and western sectors were relatively quiet early Tuesday.

A 24th Division patrol tangled Monday with a Red force twice its size 15 miles west of Hoengsong. Infantrymen, using their rifles for clubs after their ammunition ran out, took a hill from the Reds.

In the Seoul area, U.S. 3rd division units exchanged artillery and mortar fire with the communists. The Reds drove back attempts by allied patrols to cross the Han river east of Seoul.

Americans Hurl Back Chinese Five Times In Sharpest Fighting Of Week-Long Offensive.

Tokyo, Feb. 27.—(P)—American troops smashed five savage counter-attacks today on the windswept central Korean front. The allied battle line moved ahead steadily but cautiously.

The communist attacks were hurled back by the United States 2nd division in pre-dawn darkness 15 miles southeast of Hoengsong. The fighting lasted more than three hours. A howling wind added to the din of battle.

Field dispatches reported it as one of the sharpest actions in the week-old renewal of the United Nations drive to kill, maim or capture Chinese and Korean Reds south of parallel 38.

The drive—spearheaded by the U.S. 1st Marine division—apparently has thwarted or delayed a Chinese counter-offensive by four to six armies.

Canadians, as well as units of seven other countries, were reported serving with the Americans along the allied line. It stretches irregularly from the Yellow Sea on the west coast to the east-central front town of Pangnim, an airline distance of 100 miles. Pangnim is 40 air miles inland from the east coast.

Reuters News Agency reported that bombing and strafing inflicted heavy casualties on about 5,000 Reds entrenched around Yongdugi, 45 miles east of Seoul on the central front in the sector where the Canadians are fighting.

"Throughout the day action centered in the triangle formed by Yongdugi, Chipyong and Hoengsong where British and Canadian patrols continued to meet determined communist resistance," Reuters said.

In the Chipyong area, a rugged, hilly region, artillery failed to move communist troops who beat back with rifle and machine-gun fire repeated attempts by Commonwealth troops to take their positions. The Reuters dispatch from Eighth Army headquarters said:

A U.S. army spokesman said 100,000 Chinese had been shifted into defense positions. He added it would require several weeks for the Reds to regroup for any drive against the allies.

AP correspondent Nate Polowetzky reported "all evidence along the central front continued to point to a planned withdrawal" behind stubborn rearward actions. The disclosure that the 1st Marine Division is pacing the drive in the mid-section of the central front was the first report of them in action since the fighting withdrawal from the Changjin reservoir in December.

In Tuesday's action, they seized commanding hills south and southeast of rubble Hoengsong. The town has become a no man's land with communists dug in on hills to the north.

Later field dispatches said a Marine patrol entered the eastern outskirts of Hoengsong.

A Chinese demolition team slipped through the fire-blackened town under covering artillery fire and blew a bridge spanning the mul creek on the south side.

AP correspondent Stan Swinton, with the Marines, reported that blowing the bridge was regarded as further evidence of Chinese determination to hold firm before Hoengsong.

A South Korean force clashed with two Chinese companies about five miles west of Hoengsong, on the Marines' left flank.

Low clouds and poor visibility limited Fifth Air Force operations Tuesday to 113 sorties, with close support of ground forces concentrated on the east-central sector.

In the Seoul area, U.S. 3rd division units exchanged artillery and mortar fire with the communists. The Reds drove back attempts by allied patrols to cross the Han river east of Seoul.

There were continuing reports of Red build-ups behind Seoul and the mountainous central front.

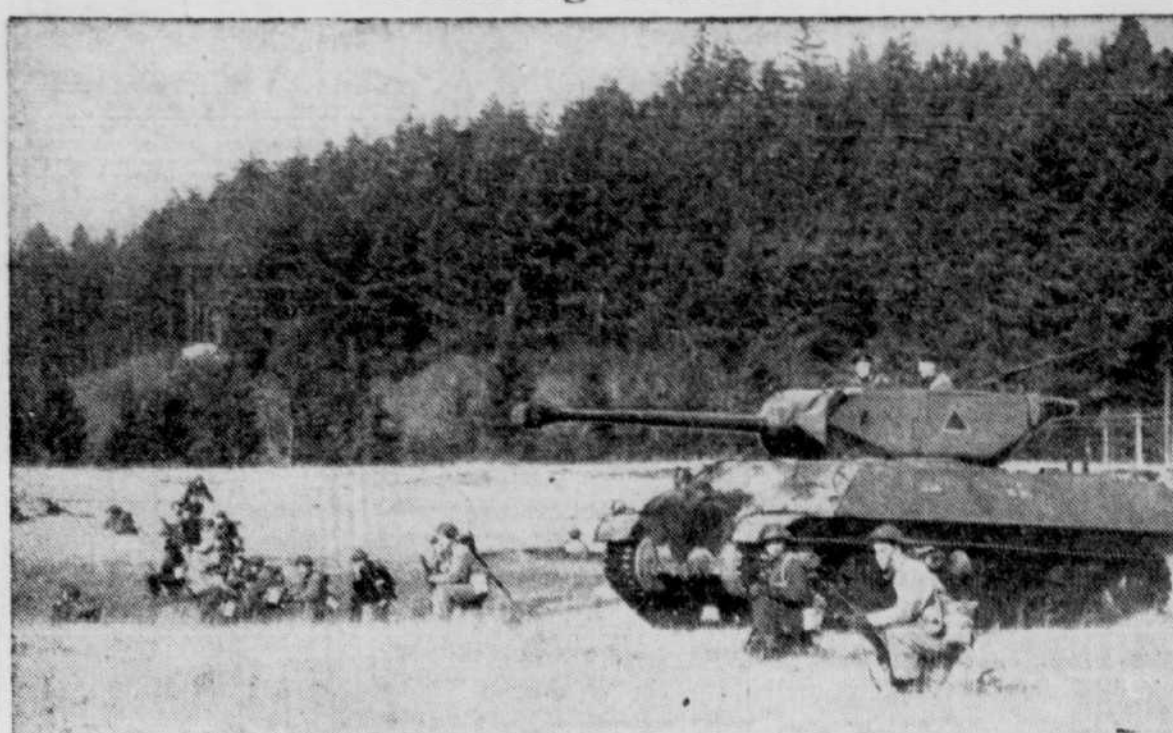

AP correspondent Tom Bradshaw reported reconnaissance estimates of 40,000 Chinese in the Uijongbu area north of Seoul. Between Seoul and the Pukhan river, north of the Han, another 10,000 Chinese were spotted.

An estimated 100,000 Chinese were dug in north of the central front in an area between and north of Yangpyong and Hoengsong.

Torrential rains have mired roads, making necessary the air-dropping of supplies to combat troops.

U.S. air force planes were joined today by carrier fighters in close-support missions. Allied warships kept up their daily bombardments of Red installations and troop assembly centres on both coasts.

Government Would Like Industry To Be Widely - Spread Throughout Dominion

Controls Can Be Harmful Liberals Told

Ottawa, Feb. 27.—(P)—Dr. J. A. Corry, professor of political science at Queen's University, said today that Canada will face in the second half of the 20th century the task of protecting individual freedom against the growing powers of the central governing authority.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the three-day annual gathering of the National Liberal Federation, he traced the development of Canada during the last 50 years—from a predominantly agricultural economy in 1900 to a predominantly urban industrial power today—and said the country's new status calls inevitably for more government controls, services and expenditures.

"I reserve judgment on the question of whether it calls for all the government activities we have undertaken," he said, "but it does call for a very wide range of positive government action."

Dr. Corry addressed a luncheon gathering of the three-day annual meeting of the federation, which determines Liberal party policy. Nearly 300 delegates from the 10 provinces are attending.

He said the discretionary powers exercised "by our government nowadays in time of peace are wide enough to cause concern. The practical certainty of cold war, if not actual shooting war, meant an increase in those powers."

This gave rise to a need for vigilance because "the wider the powers of government are over a long period, the more government attracts men who like to exercise that range of power."

"While we may feel quite secure in the hands of our rulers today, we can have no such assurance for the future. So, it is vitally important that we should have a resolution to a bill that will revise the Indian Act and give Canada's original citizens more say in the handling of their own affairs. A similar bill was introduced last year but was withdrawn to give Indians an opportunity to study the proposed changes and make recommendations."

Mr. Gillis' resolution was one of several debated during a day devoted to proposals of private members. The resolutions touched on such things as federal union of Atlantic pact powers, deductions of unions dues for income-tax purposes and changes to the bank act.

External Affairs Minister Pearson said the Canadian government supports the principle of a federal union of the free world. But the government believes that any effort to bring about a federation of the free countries at this time would lead to confusion, misunderstanding and possibly, disunity. Federation was something that would have to develop gradually.

He spoke on a resolution of Alistair Stewart (CCF—Winnipeg North) urging the government to support a convention to discuss the possibility of federal union of Atlantic pact countries. Mr. Stewart withdrew the resolution after Mr. Pearson said he hoped the matter would not be put to a vote in case there might be misinterpretation of any division of opinion.

Members voted 84 to 56 against a resolution of Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre) urging that union dues and similar fees be allowed as deductions for income-tax purposes. Mr. Knowles said the deductions should cover all fees necessary to earning the taxpayer's livelihood.

Debate was adjourned on a resolution of R. E. Anderson (L—Norfolk) aimed at giving financial protection to farmers delivering produce to plants for processing. Legislation would provide that, in the event of a failure of a processing plant after farmers had delivered crops to it, farmers would be placed among preferred creditors.

We sighted wolverine tracks as the storm abated. By some blind instinct we followed them. They led us to a deserted cabin.

There, we regained our bearings and the next day we carried on. It was then we crossed the lake. Holmes, leading the group, fell through the "rotten" ice. By this time rescues were routine. We carried him to shore and built a huge bonfire to dry his clothes.

We then gave up hope of finding Skokan and made for home. We stumbled on another of his line camps where we found his sleeping bag and some clothing. A thorough search of the area provided fruitless.

We reached home Saturday and Constable Jessop made his official report.

"James Skokan, trapper, lost, presumed dead."

We headed around Windgam, about 270 miles northeast of Vancouver. We left to search for trapper James Skokan, who didn't make his scheduled grub trip. No one had seen him for more than two months.

(Skokan came to British Columbia from Esterhazy, Sask.)

We loaded up with provisions and medical supplies. The five of us started out—J. Feyer, merchant and prospector; E. Holmes, game warden; A. Jessop, R.C.M.P. constable, and an Indian trapper.

Controls Can Be Harmful Liberals Told

Ottawa, Feb. 27.—(P)—The Canadian government believes it would be "healthier" for Canada if industry were more widely spread through all parts of the country.

Prime Minister St. Laurent told the Commons yesterday that the government explores every angle by which a greater dispersal of industry can be brought about. But he indicated that because his government believes in private enterprise it does not attempt to tell a company where to build plants or where to do business.

"We think it would be healthier for the country if there was the teeming activity in the Maritime provinces that would allow us to do away with such things, for instance, as Maritime freight subsidies. We think it would be better for the country if that could be brought about, and we do give attention to it. We do endeavor to use such influence as we have to that end."

Mr. St. Laurent spoke on a resolution sponsored by Charlie Gillis (CCF—Cape Breton South). It urged the government to consider a program for the decentralization of industry so as to make possible a more-balanced economy and for protection in the event of war.

While he was in sympathy with the decentralization objective, Mr. St. Laurent rejected the resolution on the grounds that it condemned the government for its past policies.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said the government has "tremendous powers" to suggest to industry where it should locate. He said it should try to disperse production so as to employ manpower available in various parts of the country.

Today, members will discuss a resolution to a bill that will revise the Indian Act and give Canada's original citizens more say in the handling of their own affairs. A similar bill was introduced last year but was withdrawn to give Indians an opportunity to study the proposed changes and make recommendations.

Mr. Gillis' resolution was one of several debated during a day devoted to proposals of private members. The resolutions touched on such things as federal union of Atlantic pact powers, deductions of unions dues for income-tax purposes and changes to the bank act.

N.Y. Wants To Develop Power Site

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 27.—(P)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey's administration launched a new drive today to win federal approval for New York state to develop hydro-electric power in the St. Lawrence river and at Niagara Falls.

The campaign was touched off by Dewey in a special message to the state legislature in which he:

1. Proposed that the state power authority's jurisdiction, limited now to the St. Lawrence, be expanded to promote public development of power at Niagara Falls.

2. Disclosed that the authority had drafted a bill for introduction in Congress to authorize New York to develop the St. Lawrence power project jointly with Ontario in the event Congress again blocks the combined seaway and power project.

3. Recommended "certain technical amendments (to state law) to make crystal clear the always intended right of the power authority to accept licences from the federal power commission (and) to apportion part of the power to other states."

Dewey also appealed for support of St. Lawrence power development by both parties in the state.

The bill seeking Congressional permission for the New York-Ontario power project would, in effect, by-pass the federal power commission.

Six other commissions recently rejected New York's application for a licence to develop St. Lawrence power jointly with Ontario.

Dewey said that the late President Roosevelt, Senator Herbert

Czech Foreign Minister Arrested On Spy Charge

Prague, Feb. 27.—(P)—Vlado Clementis, Czechoslovakia's former foreign minister who has been missing since Jan. 27th, today was officially reported under arrest as a spy for the west.

The announcement outlined these charges against Clementis:

He "aimed to divert Czechoslovakia from the way to socialism, to cut it off from the Soviet Union and to incorporate it into the camp of imperialism and the war-mongers with the help of the Marshall Plan."

He had been giving "spy reports to representatives of imperialist states."

He committed sabotage against the party and the government on orders from diplomatic missions of capitalist countries. He confessed that he did this "to help the effort of the class enemy to overthrow the peoples democratic regime and restore capitalism."

He signed an agreement with the French secret police in 1939 to supply intelligence and carry on subversive activities.

He was "informer agent and helper in reactionary plots" to the late President Eduard Benes, and Benes helped him become deputy foreign minister in 1945 and foreign minister in 1948.

He "took an anti-Soviet stand" on the 1939 German-Soviet pact, the Finnish-Soviet war and the Soviet liberation of the Ukraine.

Arrest of Clementis, Bastovansky said, had disclosed the "activities of a bourgeois nationalist group of the communist party of Slovakia."

The charges against Sling and Mrs. Svermova were disclosed by information minister Vlastislav Kopecky, who said they plotted to liquidate President Gottwald and swing Czechoslovakia from the Russian orbit to the western camp.

Naming Of U.S. Admiral Stirs Press

London, Feb. 27.—(P)—Despite explanations from Prime Minister Attlee, Britain's press still grumbled today over the proposed appointment of an American Admiral to command the combined North Atlantic navy.

Attlee told the House of Commons yesterday that, though American Admiral William H. Feeheler was nominated for supreme command in the North Atlantic, a Briton would be his deputy commander in eastern Atlantic waters.

Conceding that "logic and strategy have dictated this arrangement," the Liberal News Chronicle said a "British psychological reaction against it" now must be met.

The Independent Times termed Feeheler's appointment "a his angrier kind of maladroitness." It called for a "working partnership, not a maze of blueprints."

From the Conservative side, the Daily Telegraph said the United States would provide the largest naval force but British sailors would contribute "unvalued experience of naval operations in the Atlantic."

"Where the practical pros and cons are so evenly balanced there still remains, in national pride, one great, impermissible to swing the scales decisively," the telegraph said.

The Conservative Daily Mail complained that the British people were hearing of such "vastly important" Atlantic pact decisions "almost by accident." They should be "better informed and better treated, too."

The pro-Labor Daily Herald demanded that judgment be reserved until the naval setup could be viewed as a whole. "Instead," the paper added, "effort is made to work up the greatest degree of emotion. Wild and nonsensical assertions are made about giving away the British fleet and surrendering control in areas vital to our life."

Deadly Poison Lost In Leeds

Leeds, England, Feb. 27.—(Reuters)—Police today scoured the back streets of this industrial city, telling parents their children might have picked up enough potassium cyanide to wipe out their families.

They found late last night that 200 balls weighing 25 pounds of the deadly poison had been taken from a dyeworks, and immediately spread warnings to the city's 500,000 inhabitants.

The BBC broadcast warnings in its news bulletins, police radio cars went through the streets giving a description of the missing poison, and messages were flashed on screens in local movie houses.

Police thought children might have broken into the dye works during the week-end and taken the cyanide, which when mixed with water forms prussic acid. A shed door had been smashed with a crowbar.

OBITUARIES

MARK M. HOLBROOK, OF LANCASTER, N.H., FORMERLY OF ISLAND BROOK, Island Brook, Feb. 27—Mark M. Holbrook passed away at his home in Littleton, N.H., on January 29, 1951, after a long illness.

Mr. Holbrook, a son of the late Manlius and Persis (Wheeler) Holbrook, was born in Lemington, Vt., on September 19, 1870. When about a year old, the family moved to Island Brook, where he resided until 1919, when he purchased a farm in Wells River, Vt. He served as a superintendent of the Sunday School also as a deacon in the Wells River Congregational Church for many years. In 1938, he moved to Bethlehem, N.H., and had resided in Littleton for the past five years.

Survivors include his wife, Lavina (Buchanan), whom he married in 1898; a daughter, Mrs. Ernest Goodwin; two grandchildren, Mrs. Frederick Adams and Gerald Goodwin; and a great-grandchild, Nancy Adams, all of Lebanon, N.H.; a sister, Mrs. Fred Alden, of Island Brook; and a brother, Ernest Holbrook, of Bremerton, Wash.

Rev. Johnson A. Haines, of the Littleton Congregational Church officiated at the funeral services, which were held in the chapel of the Meacham and Labelle Funeral Home, on Thursday afternoon. The beautiful floral tributes bore a silent testimony to the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

The bearers were Messrs. George Parker, Ernest Goodwin, Frederick Adams and Gerald Goodwin.

Interment took place in the Glenwood Cemetery, in Littleton, N.H. Friends and relatives from out of town present at the services were Mrs. Fred Alden, of Island Brook; Mr. Charles Alden, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Alden and Wayne, of Eaton Corner; Mrs. Horace Holbrook, of Sherbrooke; Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Mackay, of Sawyerville; and Mrs. Lloyd Hume, of Learned Plain; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wadleigh and Mr. and Mrs. George Parker, of St. Johnsbury, Vt.; Mrs. M. McNaughton and Mrs. Bernice Newton, of West Medford, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Orland Schoff and Arthur Schoff, of Lisbon; Mr. and Mrs. Haines Schoff, of Bath; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McGinnis and Lyle B. McGinnis, of Rumney Depot, N.H.

MR. EDMUND BROCK, OF TRENHOLM

Trenholm, Feb. 26—Many relatives, friends and neighbours attended the funeral service in the United Church here, on January 27, for Edmund Percy Brock, aged eighty-two years, who died after a long illness, on January 24, at his home.

The bearers, all grandsons of the deceased were Messrs. Everett Lariviere, Walter and Weldon Stevens, Edward Hannon, Orris Taylor and Royce Taylor.

The Rev. T. Mitchell read the committal prayers and Mrs. Moreland was at the organ, while the choir sang, "Rock of Ages," "The Old Rugged Cross," and "When Day's Labor Is Ended."

Interment was made in Trenholm Cemetery. A native of Trenholm, Mr. Brock was the youngest of four children born to Lorenzo and Eliza Brock. He married the former Edna Rowe, on October 2, 1896, and of this union, eight children were born. One daughter, Stevens, died in March, 1941.

Mr. Brock devoted his entire life to his home and family and was an active pioneer of the land in this community.

Those left to mourn his passing are his wife, the former Edna Rowe; three sons, Percy, Melvin and Alvin, all of Trenholm; four daughters, Gladys, Mrs. C. Lariviere, of Richmond, Letith, Mrs. C. Hannan, of Denison's Mills, Jessie, Mrs. H. McLeod, of Cleveland, and Effie, Mrs. R. Lampton, of Richmond; thirty-one grandchildren; and four great grandchildren.

JOHN LOVE, OF MAGOG

Magog, Feb. 27—The funeral of Mr. John Love took place at St. Luke's Church, on Wednesday, February 21, with Rev. John Comfort conducting the service.

The hymns, "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Abide With Me," were sung by the choir.

The bearers were Messrs. Roy Lowther, Bryant Patch, George Gray and Dr. C. M. Harris.

Mr. Love has spent many years in Magog, originally coming from England.

He leaves to mourn his passing, his widow, the former Myrtle Ladd, of West Brome, and several brothers-in-law.

SEEMS THAT MARILYN MAXWELL IS HOPE'S 'FAVORITE BLONDE'

Hollywood—Exclusively Yours: Paramount is drawing the blueprints for another co-starring movie for Bob Hope and Marilyn Maxwell. Marilyn is Hope's new "favorite blonde" since "The Lemon Drop Kid" preview. Errol Flynn's lawsuit over his independent movie, "Bloodline," may never get to court. Legal minds are pretty well in agreement that any court would judge Republic as a major releasing organization, the king pin of the whole suit. There's a Broadway play cooking for Edward G. Robinson—"Sunday Breakfast." Deanna Durbin's obstetrician has put her on a diet and promises that pair will say "Hi, Slim" when her baby is born.

Those love poems that Spanish bullfighter Mario Cabre penned to Ava Gardner in a published volume of sizzling verse have hit Hollywood's movie queens even harder than Sylvia Mangano wearing black stockings in the rice fields.

Ava with a poet laureate of her own is enough to turn a movie Lorelei against her own mink coat. It's clearly a desperate situation. Maybe each studio should import enough starving Greekish Village poets to insure one sonnet a day for full-blown stars and a two-line jingle for starlets.

I can't top Mario's lines to Ava that go:

"It was a dream I caught between my hands
When it came to me on a tender breeze."

Bully For Johnson

Personally it strikes me that a tender breeze could sweep Frankie boy along a lot easier than Ava, but I never argue with bullfighters. Anyhow, to cut the gloom until some official action is taken, maybe Liz Taylor and Shelley Winters will be happy with a couple of amateur rhymes.

Just call me Mario Cabre Johnson.

Command me, Liz, I'll be your slave.

A regular Keats and Milton; But ask me not to throw away, My towels marked Hotel Hilton.

Fiery Shelley, to you these lines—Let's act out "King Solomon's Mines."

I'll hide behind a banyan tree And you stampeped right over me.

Edmond O'Brien now owns 3 per cent of "711 Ocean Drive"—a bonus because of the film's big box-office hit. J. Arthur Rank is paying Lee J. Cobb for the role of King Arthur in a movie about the Knights of the Round Table.

Mike Romanoff's new Beverly Hills restaurant will open about April 15. The $500,000 showplace has Mike saying: "If I go broke this time it will be first class."

There's a film comeback in the wind for Lee Tracy—in Hal Wallis' "eking Express." Ellen Drew was introduced as a fellow Republican to the rock-ribbed Republican lawmakers at a joint session of the Kansas state legislature as part of the festivities for a film premiere. Ellen smiled, took the elephant by the trunk and announced:

"You might as well know right now I'm a Democrat. If you can't stand a Democrat I'll gladly step down."

The Republicans cheered, Ellen talked for 30 minutes and a Kansas snort: "First time this has happened in 50 years."

Overheard at the Tallyho: "If she were good looking and a little smarter she'd be beautiful but dumb."

Tremendous Rise In Costs Has Made Necessary Hospital's Funds Appeal

The extraordinary increase in the cost of building and equipment is the reason why the $2,000,000 estimate for construction and fitting out the new Sherbrooke Hospital was inadequate, states a letter which is being sent out announcing the opening of a campaign for an additional $500,000.

The letter is over the signature of J. Gordon Armitage, president of the hospital and chairman of the campaign, and follows the announcement made yesterday by Col. A. A. Munster, chairman of the building committee, that another appeal for funds will be made next month.

It points out that in 1946 the people of the Eastern Townships, with many from beyond its borders, responded magnificently to the appeal for funds for the new hospital, which was then only in the blueprint stage.

"That response," says the letter, "together with a wonderful gift from Miss Helen Norton and the late Mr. Harry Norton and generous grants from the Provincial and Federal Governments, made it possible to start building. Today the nurses are in residence in their new home and the main building is rapidly nearing completion."

The original budget on which the project was started has, it is pointed out, proved inadequate, due to the extraordinary increase in the cost, not only of building, but of equipment for the many special departments comprised in a hospital, such as operating rooms, kitchens, laundry, X-rays and laboratories. The total cost has proved to be in the neighbourhood of $2,100,000 for the hospital and $450,000 for the Nurses' Residence.

This total of over two and a half million dollars is short by $500,000 and that is the sum now being appealed for.

The Building Campaign has opened headquarters in the Canadian Bank of Commerce building on Dufferin Avenue and for the past two weeks Mr. Armitage and members of his committee have been hard at work. The campaign officially gets under way on Wednesday of this week, February 28.

The letter appealing for funds is being sent out to all who subscribed to the campaign five years ago, as well as to many new names throughout the district. A special names committee also has been set up, who will personally call on many large donors.

The general committee point out that the Sherbrooke Hospital is an institution for the whole Eastern Townships, as well over half the patients treated come from outside the city of Sherbrooke. Consequently the appeal is directed to the whole region and local committees are being established in most of the principal cities, towns and villages in the Townships.

In the letter being sent out, the vital part which the new hospital will play in the life of the Townships is stressed in these words:

"This is your Hospital: an institution which will serve the people of the Townships and stand as a great monument of mercy for the alleviation of pain and suffering. It is here your children will be born; where you and your loved ones will regain health; where young men and women will find an opportunity to study the great professions of medicine and nursing."

"This is not just another hospital, but one which will serve as a clearing station for the smaller hospitals of the district, to assist them in diagnosis, medicine and surgery. This will in turn relieve the over-burdened larger hospitals in Montreal, where many of our more serious cases are now going."

Mr. Armitage and his committee have expressed confidence that the response of the public will be generous and that the sum required, though large, will be subscribed. The amount needed, they point out, is as great as that which the general public subscribed in the original campaign of 1946. Donations, it is stressed, may be payable over two years, that is, part this year and the balance in 1952.

Mrs. Ampleman Guest Soprano At Schubert Club

Mrs. A. Ampleman, of Montreal, was guest soprano at the monthly meeting of the Schubert Club held at Rockcliffe last evening.

The former Miss Marie-Ange Blanchard, she was a resident of Sherbrooke for many years.

The conductor of the Harmony Band, Harry Long, was also a guest and entertained the members and their friends with a few notes on the Symphony Concert to be performed here next Tuesday.

He took each number separately, giving an outline of the work and describing some of the idiosyncrasies of each composer.

Prior to the musical program, a business meeting was conducted with the president, Miss Margaret Doherty, in the chair. Plans were made for the annual spring concert and a tentative date set for April. Miss Doherty also welcomed a new member in the person of J. Whitelaw, pianist.

Members taking part in last night's program were Gordon Moffatt, violinist, Keville Doherty, tenor, Mrs. L. E. Codere and Mr. Whitelaw, accompanists.

The program follows:
Soprano:
a) O Quam Je Dors, ... Liszt
b) O Don Fatale (Don Carlo) Verdi

Violin:
a) Romance in G Major Op. 40 No. 1 Beethoven
b) Mazurka in A Minor . Chopin-Kreisler

Tenor:
a) In the Time of Roses L. Reichardt
b) I Hear a Thrush at Eve Cadman

Address:
Notes on the Sherbrooke Symphony Concert . Harry Long

Soprano:
a) Le Nil Leroux
b) Wir Wandelten Brahms
c) Bird of the Wilderness Horseman

Violin:
Sonata No. 4 in D Major Handel
Adagio, Allegro, Larghetto to Allegro

Tenor:
Una Furtiva Lagrima (L'elisir d'Amore) Donizetti

Soprano:
a) Ritorno Vincitor Verdi
b) Mattinata Leoncavallo

Refreshments were served by the hostesses Mrs. Cesaire Gervais, the Misses Kathleen and Norah Leonard, and Yolande Champoux. Presiding at the table were Mrs. Wright Gibson and Miss Luce Trigance, while a number of members assisted in serving.

The next meeting will be at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. A. R. Jewitt, in Lennoxville, April 2nd.

Arriving by Trans-Canada Air Lines one day later than he had been expected, Mr. Gardiner remained overnight in Montreal to open the fourth annual Macdonald College Royal today.

He said plans were being discussed by Montreal to send a delegation to Canada by the end of the dairy year, April 30, to discuss cheese purchases.

"I judge that the British would like to buy feed and bacon from Canada but that she is not willing to pay the prices Canadian farmers require because of current domestic market prices here and in the United States," the Minister said.

He said Britain now was concentrating on restoring her former markets in the sterling area.

He said he couldn't report on the Canadian-British wheat talks, which were attended by Prime Minister Atlee, until he had made his report to the Cabinet, probably next Wednesday.

Regarding eggs, he said Canada had sent about 86,000,000 and could send more but Britain's attitude is that Canada was not her egg source before the war and, in view also of her lack of dollars, she has been trying to find eggs in such countries as Denmark and Belgium.

When lunch was over, David presented his young visitors with gaily-wrapped packages containing little books which were also decorated with snowflakes. Then David opened his presents and thanked his guests. As soon as the balloons were cut down and given to the children, the Snowtime Party was over.

The favours were placed inside the cardboard houses and the guests, Gerald Holt, Peter Lang, Boyd Richardson, Mary Sugars, Linda Styan and Gary Whitaker, were driven home. Assisting the hostess during the morning were Mrs. C. S. Harris, Mrs. Alan Scott and Mrs. Clarence Styan.

City Council Agrees To Construct New Plant For National Thread Co.

An agreement for the erection of a new plant for the National Thread Company, Ltd., a local concern which has been in operation here for nearly fifteen years, was approved at a special session of the Sherbrooke City Council last evening.

Under the terms of the agreement, the City will construct a building on company-owned land in East Sherbrooke at an approximate cost of $200,000 and lease it to the firm for a factory at an annual rent sufficient to pay the interest and sinking fund on the money borrowed by the city to finance the undertaking. When the debentures are finally paid off, the title to the building will revert to the company. In the meantime, the company will pay both municipal and school taxes.

In the event of the building costing in excess of $200,000 the additional expenditure will be met by the company.

In addition to the machinery now in the leased premises on Laurier Avenue which will be transferred to the new plant, new equipment will be purchased to extend the lines manufactured by the company and permit it to increase the number of its employees from the present thirty-five to the eighty guaranteed in the contract with the city and possibly to 125.

Construction will begin within a few days and it is planned to occupy the plant October 1.

The city is authorized to construct this and similar buildings for industrial purposes under the terms of a civic charter amendment approved by the Provincial Legislature last year.

The president of the company is J. E. Genest of Sherbrooke.

Reopening Of Windsor Airport Is Requested

The reopening of the Windsor Mills airport was asked by the Sherbrooke City Council at a special session held last evening.

The resolution, addressed to the federal government, stated that in view of the intensified defence program the reopening of this airport, which was operated during the Second World War as a flying training school, was vital to the interests of the district.

The resolution was moved by Ald. Eugene Thibault and seconded by Ald. Henri Labonne and passed without debate.

Todd Home Guttled In Bulwer Blaze

Bulwer, Feb. 27.—A late afternoon fire yesterday destroyed the residence of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Todd in this Compton County town, approximately seven miles south west of Cookshire.

Volunteer firemen from Cookshire, Birchton and Johnville, as well as neighbors, joined in to battle the blaze but the flames had made too much headway and the frame structure, part of which was an old log house, was completely gutted. Damage has not been estimated.

The fire started in the chimney of the house at about four o'clock in the afternoon when only Mrs. Todd and one of her four children were in the house. Mr. Todd was at work in Lennoxville when the fire occurred.

With the help of their neighbors, the Todds were able to save a good number of household articles. At the moment the family is staying with Mr. Todd's father, A. N. Todd, at the farm in Bulwer.

Death Claims F. C. Baker At Lennoxville

Frank Clark Baker, husband of Gladys McKenna, died suddenly at his home in Lennoxville last evening. He was in his 64th year.

Prayers will be held on Thursday, March 1, at 2:15 p.m. at his late residence, 89 Main Street Lennoxville followed by services in St. George's Church at 2:30 p.m. Rev. Archdeacon Jones will officiate.

At the time of his death Mr. Baker was head of Frank C. Baker Incorporated, lumber dealers.

Mr. Baker was a past director of the Brompton Pulp and Paper Company, a director of the St. George's Club, a director of the Lennoxville Curling Club and a director of the Weedon Fish and Game Club.

In addition to his wife he is survived by three daughters, Andrea Baker, Lennoxville; Judith Ann Baker, Lennoxville; and Mrs. John Lunderville, Red Rock, Ontario; one son, Robert D. Baker, of Matheson, Ontario; and six brothers-in-law, P. W. McCrea, Sherbrooke; James E. McCrea, North Hatley; H. K. Starnes, Montreal; W. S. McCutcheon, Montreal; E. G. Lawrence, Montreal and George G. McCrea, Algonquin Park, Ont.

Interment will be made in Malvern Cemetery.

Sweeps Start Work March 4

Chimney sweeping will get under way here on March 4 and this year the rates have been increased. Each flue cleaned will cost the owner $1.25.

The chimney sweepers will start working on Dufferin, Wellington, King, Depot, Frontenac, Big Forks, Marquette, Lansdowne, Alexander and Belvidere streets. This was reported this morning by Andre Aube, secretary of the local fire department.

Chimney sweeping is essential and if a plumber or the landlord has not cleaned your chimney then it is required that you hire the sweeps.

Optimists Hold Business Meet

Business matters were discussed at last night's weekly dinner meeting of the Optimist Club.

It was decided to hold a dinner dance at Hillcrest Lodge on March 31st. Eric Marquardt was named chairman of the organizing committee.

Advertising was allotted for the "Sports Guide" and this book is expected to be out within a month.

An ash tray, donated by Ivan Dugre, was raffled and was won by Henry Blais.

Those seated at the head table were: Clovis Buzzell, Don Clowery, Jacques Laliberté, vice-president who acted as chairman for the evening, Darrell Bloomfield, Henry Blais and Casey Vincent.

Prominent Citizen Passes On in Compton

Compton, Feb. 27.—Miss Gertrude Hooper of Sunny Braes, Hillhurst, Que., passed away in the Sherbrooke Hospital on Jan. 29 after suffering a heart attack.

Born in England and coming to this country with her parents when a small girl, Miss Hooper lived the remaining years of her life in the Eastern Townships.

She dearly loved the farm and up to the time of her death kept the old homestead. Three years ago, her brother Edward, who was a prominent Shorthorn breeder, was taken away. The severe shock was almost too much for Miss Hooper, although she regained her courage and carried on with the Shorthorns.

Despite the bad condition of the roads, the family were all present at her funeral except one sister, Mrs. H. G. Lennox, of Granada, Colorado.

Surrounded by beautiful flowers, she was laid to rest in St. James' Cemetery on Jan. 31.

Those of the family attending from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. A. Hooper, of Sherbrooke; Mrs. E. A. McKee, of Sawyerville; a sister, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Whitehead, of Shawinigan Falls, nephew and niece; Mr. and Mrs. I. Mayhew, of Victoriaville, nephew and niece; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Reid, of Thetford Mines, nephew and niece; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Wells, of Sherbrooke, nephew and niece; Mr. R. McKee, of Richmond; Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Edwards, of Hillhurst, sister and brother-in-law; Ross Hooper Edwards, Hillhurst, nephew, who was with her at the last.

Also present were many friends from the little village of Compton.

The service was conducted by Rev. H. P. Absalon and a choir composed of friends, with Miss McDonald at the organ, sang during the service.

As the sun was setting the procession slowly moved away, committing a very worthy person to her rest, dearly loved by all who knew her.

Licence Term Is Extended

Quebec, Feb. 27.—(U)—The Quebec government yesterday announced one month's extension of the term of the province's 1950 automobile licences and driving permits.

Licences and permits normally are valid until the end of February. Last year's licences and permits will be valid until March 31.

Reason for the extension is the government's abandonment of a mail-order system of distributing licences, which was tried experimentally this year.

The government has decided to go back to distribution of the bulk of the licences and permits from local motor vehicle bureaus.

Renaud Cote Tells Of Experiences At Hong Kong In Lions Club Address

Renaud Cote, a prisoner of the Japanese during the last war, told of his experiences in a Hong Kong prison camp in an address before the Sherbrooke Lions Club last night.

Mr. Cote was a sergeant in the Dental Corps, attached to the Royal Rifles of Canada, and was taken prisoner with many other Canadians when Hong Kong fell to the Japanese.

Originally there were 5,000 persons in the prison camp where he was held. Some of these later were transferred to Japan but sickness brought on by undernourishment and brutality of the guards took away far more, reducing the number by the end of the war to 1,500.

Mr. Cote told of one diphtheria epidemic that one day claimed eight lives and took an average of three or four lives a day. There was no medicine to treat the victims but the Japanese claimed the death toll was due to the fact that the Canadian medical men were not doing their duty.

When the Canadians insisted that the deaths were due to lack of supplies, the Japanese struck them on the face with rubber truncheons.

One Japanese officer, told that the camp was too crowded, said that "if there is not enough room, there are always rifles."

Cote himself became so ill during his prison camp stay that he spent 7½ months in hospital. His weight dropped to 95 pounds.

He spoke of the rumors that preceded the end of the war and then of the joy of the liberation. The day he reached Canadian soil was his birthday, and, he said, "I have never had a more wonderful birthday present."

Introduced by Hugh Rose, Mr. Cote was thanked by Narcisse Amiraault.

The club's liars' contest was resumed, with Alex Allard, Armand Crepeau, Paul-Emile Genest and Maurice McMahon the participants. Mr. Genest was declared winner for the night in a close vote and will go into the next round of the elimination contest.

In the absence of Club President Ossie Goyette, Alberic Julien presided. With him at the head table were Edgar Stracchino, who, as chairman of the current March of Dimes campaign, spoke briefly about this drive, Georges Lemire, Mr. Rose, Mr. Cote, Mr. Amiraault, Neil Tracy and Maurice McMahon.

Mr. Tracy, E. T. secretary of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, urged members to complete their canvassing in the current C.N.I.B. campaign which, he said, is going well.

Two Persons Injured In Accidents Here

Two persons were injured in two accidents which occurred in this city yesterday.

Those injured were Armand Poulin, 43, of Rock Forest, and Mrs. E. Lavoie, 48, of 32 Camirand street. Both victims were struck by a motor vehicle while crossing the street.

Mr. Poulin was crossing King street west when he was struck by a car driven by John Graham, 36, of Montreal. Mrs. Lavoie was crossing at the road at the intersection of Wellington south and King west when she was struck by a truck driven by Robert Choquette, 39, of 156 Belvidere street.

Mr. Poulin suffered a fractured arm and lacerations to the face. He is a patient in St. Vincent de Paul Hospital this morning.

Mrs. Lavoie was taken to her home with an injured hip.

SHERBROOKE PURE MILK CO. LTD.
SHERBROOKE, QUE.

CREAMED COTTAGE CHEESE

THE NUTRITIONAL VALUE OF COTTAGE CHEESE IS WORTH REMEMBERING!

An average serving of creamed cheese (½ cup) contains: 11.86 gr. protein, 3.00 gr. fat, 3.15 gr. carbohydrates, 960 gr. calcium, 0.173 gr. phosphorus, 126 I.U. vitamin A, .015 mg. thiamine, 0.18 mg. riboflavin, 0.116 mg. niacin, and 1 I.U. vitamin D.

All this, and economy too, can be found in cottage cheese! For cottage cheese can replace beef steak pound-for-pound as a source of protein at approximately one-fourth the cost, and this without waste. (The only thing you throw away in a pound of cottage cheese is the empty package.) And in addition, the cottage cheese will supply more minerals and vitamins.

PEACE MACHINE

The Communist "peace" machine is gathering momentum since Stalin's policy statement recently to the Moscow Newspaper Pravda. The key to that statement was contained in one brief sentence which proclaimed: "The wide campaign for the maintenance of peace as a means of exposing the criminal machinations of the war-mongers is of first importance."

This was a proclamation which could be mistaken by the unwary as a call to all countries for peace. Students of Stalin's methods, however, recognized it as primarily intended for a directive to communist leaders throughout the world. It was an order to intensify the peace crusade in an effort to hamstring the defensive rearmament campaign of the democracies. The western powers were piling up too much strength for Russia's comfort. This long has been Stalin's method of giving orders direct to his workers in the field, without going through the Muscovite captains. It gives an added punch of authority to the directive, and puts the Red parties in foreign countries on their toes.

Stalin's statement came at a time when communism was showing striking weakness in some key countries and growing influence in some others. He aimed to remedy the weakness and capitalize on the strength. Specifically, the press office of the Italian Catholic Action in Rome reports that a survey shows communism is losing ground throughout Europe. This decline, it is said, has damaged the major communist organizations of various European countries. The French communist party alone is cited as having lost 120,000 members during the last two years. The decrease in communist power is said to have been "most impressive" in Britain and in the Scandinavian countries.

One would assume that the Red peace crusade is specially aimed at countries which obviously are treading circumspectly in order not to antagonize Russia. Naturally the caution is most pronounced among European countries which are sitting under Russia's big guns, and among Asiatic countries which have to watch their step in dealing with Communist China.

THE REDS IN DIFFICULTY

News despatches from three European countries indicate that things are not going too well with the Communist party and its supporters.

Perhaps the most important story is the one originating in Czechoslovakia which states that Dr. Vlado Clementis, former Foreign Minister of Czechoslovakia, has been imprisoned on charges of espionage. In announcing the arrest, the government spokesmen said that a five-year-old plot had been discovered within the Communist party ranks to line Czechoslovakia up with the Western Powers.

This need occasion little surprise, for it has been long accepted by the outside world that Communism has never been accepted by the majority of the Czechs who are basically individualists and democrats. The Communist regime has been tolerated in the hope that some outside influence would come into play that would remove these minority dictators from their high posts. That they should make some move to help themselves is not unexpected, but the fact the Communists have felt compelled to charge some of their former key men with participation in these plots is important in that it belies the Red claims that they are representative of the Czech people.

In Germany, there has been a house-cleaning of the leaders of the Western Zone. Communist party following a period of soul-searching by the party high command. The chief charges against the despoiled leaders is that they failed to be vigilant against opportunism, that they failed to rally the West Germans against re-armament and failed to stop "undermining work" and "undermining work and opportunism both are terms which are applied to deviationists — Titoists."

Similarly Palmiro Togliatti, Italian Communist chief, has returned from a rest cure to Russia with orders in his pocket on how to deal with the revolt in the Italian party ranks which has seen a large number of Deputies adopt the Tito concept of national Communism rather than international Communism.

These episodes are no reason for the Western World to sit back and wait in the hope that the Communist front will break up of itself through internal dissension but they do indicate that perhaps the democracies would not face such a united front that some fear in the event of hostilities.

CONSCRIPTION IS A CONTROL, TOO.

The Ottawa Journal

Among odd current spectacles is the man who goes about damning controls with bell, book and candle, as things which restrict freedom and at the same time demanding conscription.

Most people must agree, if they think about the matter at all, that the man who is told he must give up his civilian life to serve in the army, and must go to war if necessary, is having controls applied to him at least as much as the man who is told that he must sell his goods at a certain price.

In fact, when the question of controls at this time is examined in this light, as being purely a war measure, or a threat-of-war measure, a lot of the opposition to controls adds up to nonsense.

For what we are called upon to decide is not whether controls, of themselves, or under normal conditions, are a good thing or bad; the question is whether, under existing abnormal conditions, controls, despite many penalties, might not help.

The problem approached in that way, which is the only practical, objective way, a man who ordinarily opposes controls, who objects to them as a philosophy, can logically and sensibly support them now. Support them now just as a man who would oppose conscription in peace may logically and sensibly support conscription in war.

An example of this is Charles E. Wilson, the great U.S. industrialist, who always opposed controls but who now, as head of U.S. industrial mobilization, is enforcing them. And so Eric Johnston, former president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

Actually, the only inconsistent, illogical or confused people are those who go about damning controls with one breath and espousing controls with the next.

CANADIAN BRIGADE TO BACK PRINCESS PATS IN KOREA

Toronto Telegram

The government's announcement that it will send five thousand more men to Korea has coincided, appropriately, with the news that Canada's Princess Patricia's have had their first fight. It has not come too soon, since the Korean war was exactly eight months old on Sunday. Nor is the contribution excessive for a country in the position of Canada. It indicates, what may at times have seemed doubtful to Americans, that Canada is beginning to take the conflict seriously, and to realize that as the Chinese have rejected all peace offers they must be fought. There is no longer any talk of withdrawal from the peninsula, a possibility which was apparently in the mind of the government until the UN forces drove the enemy back.

The Pats, like all good troops, have been eager for action, and their first brush with the Chinese has been successful. Their friends in Fort Lewis, in the state of Washington, are as eager as they, and have hailed with delight the news that they are going to be given the task for which they enlisted. It is not a nice war that they are going to, and there is little glamor in the muddy and mountainous Korean terrain, but the job has to be done and they are glad to have their share in doing it. That all will maintain the glorious traditions of Canada's fighting men goes without saying, and that they will be welcomed by their allies is certain. Canadians at home will feel pride in their achievements, a pride mingled with regret and anxiety. War is a miserable business but the task is one that cannot be shirked and the men themselves have no wish to shirk it. Their's is the spirit that has won fame for Canada's soldiers wherever they have fought.

CHURCHILL'S PROTEST

The Ottawa Journal

In World War II people spoke of Winston Churchill as being "a throwback to Drake." But there was more than the spirit and touch of Drake in Churchill's protest last week against an American Admiral as supreme commander of Atlantic Treaty sea forces; there was appeal to fairness as well.

Certainly no one in Britain nor in the Commonwealth, and not many we hope in the United States, will disagree with Churchill when he asks:

"How is it that when our experience is longer and wider than that of any other country . . . and when we have agreed with so much pleasure that General Eisenhower should command the army forces on land, we should resign any claim we might be thought to have to command of the sea on the Atlantic?"

"Are we to be brushed out of the way in this matter which, of all others, apart from history and tradition, is vital to us?"

"Englishmen," with the sea in their blood, people who through the centuries have (to quote a memorable line by T. S. Eliot) "left their bones on the sea floor," will re-echo that.

And in this matter it is not a case of anybody wanting the supreme commands of Atlantic-oceanic forces parcelled out on some basis of patronage for nationalism, but simply a matter of practical common sense (apart from tact, fairness and understanding) in having such appointments made on a basis of merit, seeing that Britain has the Admirals, the ships, the sailors—a long and glorious history on the sea.

The Atlantic Treaty countries, girding to meet the mightiest threat to freedom in the world's history, are going to need all the co-operation, all the unity, all the mutual understanding and forbearance they can summon. They will risk falling short of such things if all the command and direction of their forces, all the power and all the glory, are to be concentrated in one of their members, important and mighty though that member may be.

As well stated by one of the London newspapers "There exists no better friend of America than Churchill, and no one can pretend that he was motivated by anti-American feelings." Mr. Attlee was wise to promise that the government would reconsider the nomination and we can well imagine that General Eisenhower from his experience in the last war (his written tributes to the British naval commanders were unlimited) will tell Washington that he agrees with the Churchill protest.

'Drainpipe Look' London's Latest, Blame Wool Price

By MURIAL NARRAWAY

Canadian Press Staff Writer

London.—The lean look, the eagle look, the string-bean look, the drainpipe look and the young carrot look are among the phrases thought up by fashion experts to describe Britain's spring fashions.

All the names are designed to stress the extreme slenderness of the new styles. Young carrot, for instance, suggest the cleanness of lines of a young carrot.

Suits and woollen dresses are slim—so slim one wonders if the mannequin dare sit down. There are no frills. In these new creations, London's big ten—Mayfair's top-ranking designers—have undoubtedly been inspired partly by the desire to save material prompted by the rising world price of wool.

Skirt lines of most new models fall from the knees downwards in pleats or godets, achieving the trumpet or mermaid line. The only respite from severity is in skirts with a small crossover or a single, deep inverted pleat.

To balance the skirt line, jackets have a padded, curved hip-line coming from a neat waist. Shoulders are neater, revers wide and important, and many sleeves are three-quarter length. Fullness in jackets is often given by a gathered line from the shoulders, through the pockets to the hem.

Tighter jackets favor a fluted basque.

The slender, curved, tight-at-the-knees look with bottom fullness also invades evening designs, but is mostly carried out in heavy brocades and slipper satins. In tulle, net, lace, chiffon, organza and muslin, designers have really let themselves go.

One example is a ball gown by Ronald Paterson in water-lily green and grey organza over the taffeta. It has a 65-yard skirt in five layers and the strapless cut-fitted bodice and wide sash are embroidered.

A ballgown by Worth has strapless, cuffed top of white satin embroidered in pearls. Fitting tightly to the figure, the bodice comes to a low hip line from which flourishes yards of tulle skirt.

Silk coats are of full princess line with tight waists and extremely full skirts. There are also wide "tuxedo" swaggers and straight "tuxedo" coats. The tuxedo line is achieved by revers continuing to seven-eighth length and ending suddenly.

Prophets Of Doom Have Foreseen World's End Throughout Years

By The Associated Press

Since Noah took refuge in the ark to escape the great flood recorded in the book of Genesis self-styled prophets have been trying to foretell doomsday.

The latest, in British Columbia, was only one of a long series of such incidents. Mrs. Grace Agnes Carlson, grey-haired leader of the "Children of Light" who barricaded themselves in a farmhouse near Keremeos, B. C., expected the end of the world on Jan. 9. When it didn't end, they finally left to await "a manifestation from God."

Claas Epp, once leader of all the Mennonites in Russia, looked at his old wall clock one day in 1881 and noticed it had stopped with the hands pointing to eight and nine. That meant only one thing to Claas Epp, a man who had spent a lot of time thinking about the end of the world. The cataclysm, he decided, would come in 1889.

That year came and went, and the earth went on as before. Epp worried about this until he had a vision in which he was told the clock on the wall leaned to one side slightly. He straightened it and the hands pointed to nine and one. Epp announced the world would end in 1891. Again, nothing happened.

The end of the world was anticipated as early as the second century.

The Record Short Story

A MAN'S CASTLE

By HOLLIS STARNES

"I always looked down on girls who broke up other women's homes. But this case is different!"

Hannah Griffin, grey-haired woman drugstore owner in rural Silverlake, and village confidant, looked over her counter at the pretty brown-haired girl who spoke with proud assurance. "They all think that," Hannah said quietly. "They say the man loves them and not the wife—who doesn't understand him!"

"Mr. Ballard never said such things of his wife!" Janet Tenner cried hotly. "He's proved his love and loyalty through the years she's been a helpless invalid. But is it fair to deny a virile man his age a real mate who can give him companionship, vital love—children?"

She spoke the last word with such longing and reverence that Hannah's heart was touched. This girl really felt she loved her handsome employer, New York attorney Julian Ballard. She was no self-seeking adventuress; Ballard was far too astute to be trapped by that type, thought Hannah. But this young, strong, desirable woman was a far greater threat to his marriage.

The village drugstore felt like one trading on wafer-thin ice. This was only the second time she had ever met Janet Tenner. One of the newer secretaries in Julian Ballard's big New York law firm, he had brought her down for the weekend. There was nothing unusual in this. For years the lawyer had managed long with his bedridden wife, by bringing home a briefcase of work and a secretary to help dispatch it. Mary Ballard had told Hannah once, "They've always such sweet girls. Their youth, health and cheer around the house do me a world of good."

Hannah had met most of these house guests. They generally went on hikes exploring the town, and wound up at her snack bar. Often they confided their problems and dreams, but until now these had never included their love. Suddenly, by Janet Tenner was professing her love, justifying it with the mind of youth, and declaring she was going to ask his wife for Julian's freedom—since he never would.

Something had to be done and quickly, thought Hannah, or someone—perhaps all three—would be badly hurt.

Her first concern was for the invalid, maimed in a motor crash soon after her marriage. Julian was driving the car, and Mary had lost their unborn child. Through the years Julian had spent every possible hour at her side.

But in their mid-forties Hannah had seen many men drawn suddenly to youth. This was Janet's first "great love," though she was 24. "My life has been so lonely," she confided. "My parents died when I was little, spinster aunts brought me up. I tried hard not to fall in love with Mr. Ballard. You're the first person I've told."

This much the girl had said when she came to the drugstore the previous day, and Hannah had replied gently. "I'm glad you felt you could tell me. I've known lots of young people in love, and tried to advise them."

But Janet said quickly she wasn't seeking advice. She knew what she wanted — Julian Ballard — and intended to win him. But she wanted to "play fair" by telling his wife her intentions.

Today she said Julian had left home after lunch for a trip to the county seat, some 20 miles distant, to confer with a retired judge about one of his law cases. "He won't be back until dinner time. I'm to have tea with Mrs. Ballard at 3, and be company for her while the nurse has time out. I know exactly what I'm going to say."

As an outside, Hannah knew she could take no arbitrary stand. "Wouldn't it be wise to tell Mr. Ballard your plan? You're really sure he's in love with you?"

"He won't admit it," the girl replied.

GET GOOD CLUES FROM BIDDING

Nobody likes to lead away from an ace-queen, but sometimes the bidding calls for such an opening lead. In the hand shown today, the thoughtful lead chosen by West will probably surprise many players.

West looked soberly at his high diamonds and reflected that South had bid no-trump. Since South was both vulnerable and also a fairly conservative player, it was clear that South had the king of diamonds.

Hence East had bid diamonds on a suit headed by nothing better than the jack. It was obvious from the bidding that East had a poor hand, since the North-South bidding located most of the strength. Why had East bid on a poor hand and a jack-high suit?

The only reasonable answer was that East was extremely short in spades. He had been afraid to pass the double of one spade for fear that South would also pass (for penalties). West saw that if East were very short in spades there might be a great advantage in leading the suit and giving him ruffs.

It was on this reasoning that West opened the ace of spades. He was not discouraged when his partner played the deuce. He continued spades, allowing East to ruff. East returned a diamond, and West was able to win and give his partner a second spade ruff. Thus the contract was set.

It is interesting to note that South would have made his contract if West had made the "normal" opening lead of the ace of diamonds. Even if West had shifted to spades, he could take the ace of spades and give his partner only one ruff—but then

CARD SENSE

Q—With both sides vulnerable, your partner deals and bids one spade. The next player bids two clubs. You hold: Spades K-J-8, Hearts 7-6-2, Diamonds 9-8-4-3, Clubs 5-3-2. What do you do?

A—Pass. You have good spades, but the hand as a whole is too weak for a free bid. If your partner has a good hand, he will take further action, and you will have another chance. If he has a weak hand, you are well out of the bidding.

Natie Miller Questioned By D.A. Frank Hogan

New York, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Nathan (Natie) Miller, a former Long Island University basketball player, was questioned tonight by District Attorney Frank Hogan.

Eight players or former players—including three from L.I.U.—are accused of accepting bribes to fix big time basketball games during the last two seasons.

Hogan's office said "no inference" was to be drawn at this stage from Miller's questioning.

Miller was the first new name to crop up in the investigation since a week ago when the three L.I.U. cage stars were said to have admitted their part in the scandal.

Hogan also has said three players from City College of New York and one from New York University are mixed up in the game-fixing case.

portant to look to the safeguards of individual freedom.

While Canadians had not decided how far governments should go in organizing their lives, "we do appear to want them to go a long way in providing social security."

But recent events in the United Kingdom had suggested that "it may not be possible for the state to give comprehensive social security to all without exacting compulsory labor in return."

"There may," he suggested, "be menace for individual freedom in this particular trend."

H. Lehman (Dem. Lib. N.Y.) and President Truman had agreed that the power project should be "paid for, owned and operated by the state of New York."

But, Dewey added, it "has been disquieting to find a contrary idea persistently cropping up within the national administration."

The Governor said that because of the federal power commission's action, the "question of New York's power is again deeply entangled before the Congress with the controversial question of the St. Lawrence seaway."

"With our Ontario-New York plan, we had tried to separate these issues and at least get ahead with the power."

"But now again, New York's power is being held in ransom for the seaway."

A year ago, the state power authority proposed an $800,000,000 program for state development of hydro-electric power in the St. Lawrence and Niagara rivers.

The authority recommended Ontario-New York development of the power phase of the St. Lawrence project at a cost of about $451,600,000 and public "redevelopment" of power facilities at Niagara Falls at a cost ranging from $308,700,000 to $350,300,000.

The authority said the total cost to the state for both projects would be more than $800,000,000 dollars. Ontario and New York would share the cost of the St. Lawrence development equally.

A. C. McKim Leaves TCA

Montreal, Feb. 27.—The resignation of A. C. McKim as vice-president of the Trans-Canada Air Lines has been announced by G. R. McGregor, president of TCA. Mr. McKim's resignation will be effective March 1st, at which time he will become vice-president and director of Merck & Co. Ltd., the announcement said.

Mr. McKim joined Trans-Canada Air Lines in July, 1947, as vice-president administration and assumed the responsibility for the development of the company's traffic as vice-president in March, 1948.

Before joining TCA, Mr. McKim was the permanent Canadian delegate to the International Civil Aviation Organization. At the outbreak of war he was appointed assistant to the Rt. Hon. Arthur B. Purvis, director-general of the British Purchasing Commission and following Mr. Purvis' death went to Washington as assistant to the director-general of the Washington office. In 1942 he went overseas as deputy United Kingdom representative for the Canadian Department of Munitions and Supply.

A graduate of McGill and Harvard Universities, Mr. McKim joined Canadian Industries Limited in 1929 and was assistant general manager of cellulose products group when he left that company to join Mr. Purvis in 1939.

WCTU Convention Dates Changed

Cowansville, Feb. 27.—The Women's Christian Temperance Union's provincial convention, which will be held in the Cowansville United Church, will take place May 30, 31 and June 1.

It previously was announced that the convention would be held

The government proposed a modification—a system of state in each department (county) with a run-off retaining some features of the proportional method if no candidate receives a majority. The communists and the Catholic Movement Republican Populaire, voting together for once, had this far kept the proposal from coming to a vote.

The Markets In Summary

MONTREAL

Montreal, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Trading continued at a slow pace and securities opened in a narrowly irregular price path on the Montreal stock exchange today following Monday's late recession.

While many issues held unchanged, gains and losses generally balanced one another in a small fractional price path.

Selling higher were C.P.R., Cockshutt, Imperial Oil, International Nickel, Price and St. Lawrence Corporation, while losses included Canadian Car "A", Canadian Vickers, Desco "B", Noranda and Thrift.

TORONTO

Toronto, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Industrials were mixed following yesterday's losses at the opening on the Toronto stock exchange today. Papers and agricultures added fractions while steels and refining oils eased.

Western oils tended higher in fairly active dealings but gains and losses were fairly mixed. Golds were firm and quiet.

New York, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Spot-tinness in the price structure marked the stock market today. Quotations covered a range of a little more than $1 in either direction.

While there were comparative bursts of activity in individual issues, from time to time there was no concentration of demand in any major group. And that same characteristic held true in reverse on the selling side.

The rails for the most part maintained a very slight upside edge, and the steels sagged by an equally small margin.

Montréal, Feb. 27.—(AP)—The American dollar today opened at 4 7/16 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, unchanged from Monday's close. That is, it took $1.04 7/16 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.92 7/16, also unchanged.

COUNTRY AND DAIRY PRODUCTS PRICES

Montréal, Feb. 27.—Eggs continued to inch forward under light offerings. Demand was light. Government egg quotations were nominal for spot and future deliveries. Potato prices were unchanged. Receipts of eggs last week were under those received in the previous week and in the corresponding week in 1950, according to the Board of Trade.

Windham, N.H., Feb. 27.—(AP)—The chicken that reportedly laid the country's biggest egg—an 8 1/2 ounce—is dead.

Farm superintendent Carl McGowan said the bird expired after delivering the giant egg yesterday at the poultry farm of Dr. Henry F. Dearborn of Lawrence, Mass.

The egg measured 10 inches around the long way and 8 1/2 inches around the middle. It was delivered by a New Hampshire Red.

from falling on icy roads. There were no fractures in either case, but very severe bruises and shocks.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Griffith, of Montreal, both victims of the "flu," have now fully recovered.

Mrs. Ernest Dewing was in Sherbrooke visiting Mrs. Herman Dewing, who is now recovering from her serious illness.

Mrs. Norman Bowers is spending the week-end at St. Agathe, with her mother, Mrs. Helen Hyatt, R.N.

Miss Audrey McElrea, R.N., was a guest at her home here, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald McElrea.

PROBLEMS OF OLD AGE SHOULD BE MET WITH UNDERSTANDING

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

Growing old is a problem. It is not looked on with favor by the man or woman who is getting elderly and the vigorous relatives who must care for an aged person often find the task extremely trying.

Jordan

The facts must be squarely faced. More and more of us are living well past the age of seventy and although a surprisingly large number continue to work and enjoy pretty good health we cannot expect to do as much or feel as well as we did in the thirties or forties.

From the elderly person's point of view the problem is to adjust comfortably and sensibly to the gradually changing physical condition. The bones become more brittle and break more easily; therefore more care must be used to

1/2 AWAKE Nights 1/2 ASLEEP Days..

When you are tormented by fretful nights, never comfortable, and you feel over-tired in the daytime—your kidneys may be to blame. For healthy kidneys should do 2/3 of their work in the daytime. If they get out of order and fail, extra strain is placed upon them and they must work overtime at night. That is the time to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's Kidney Pills help relieve this cause of night discomfort and disturbed rest. Help you enjoy restful sleep and wake refreshed.

To save yourself money — here's what you should know about MASONITE BRAND PRODUCTS!

MASONITE HARDBOARDS have all the advantages of natural wood... without the disadvantages!

Through the exclusive MASONITE process, clean wood chips are actually exploded under steam pressure... then the resulting wood fibres are refined, felted, and pressed into panels. Ligno-cellulose, the same natural binding that holds wood fibres together in trees, welds the fibres of MASONITE wood fibres into stronger, more practical hardboards.

Result: a range of grainless Presdwoods that won't split, won't check, have no knots... Presdwoods you can saw and nail with no trouble at all! The surfaces of all MASONITE PRESWOODS resist scratches and scrapes... yet take any finish beautifully!

There's a money-saving MASONITE HARDBOARD for every purpose...

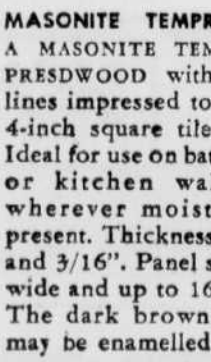

MASONITE PRESWOOD—The most popular and best-known hardboard. Recommended for walls, ceilings, doors and built-in furniture — and for general interior finishing. Available in thicknesses of 1/2" to 5/16"... panel sizes: 4' wide and up to 16' long — natural brown color.

MASONITE TEMPERED PRESWOOD — A harder, stronger, moisture-resistant board. Ideal for use as exterior siding — wherever board is to be exposed to weather. Panel sizes and thicknesses same as MASONITE PRESWOOD. Colors: dark brown or black.

MASONITE QUARTRBOARD—Economical QUARTRBOARD may be nailed directly to studding as a sturdy wall-board — or used as an underlay beneath any type of flooring. Thickness: 3/4". Panel sizes: 4' wide and up to 16' long. In light brown tone.

MASONITE TEMPTILE — A MASONITE TEMPERED PRESWOOD with score lines impressed to give a 4-inch square tile effect. Ideal for use on bathroom or kitchen walls or wherever moisture is present. Thicknesses: 3/4" and 3/16". Panel sizes: 4' wide and up to 16' long. The dark brown finish may be enamelled easily.

AND—NOW—BRAND-NEW MASONITE LEATHERWOOD A MASONITE TEMPERED PRESWOOD with a highly distinctive surface that closely resembles a fine grain leather. Most attractive on walls, as displays or counter-fronts. 3/4" thick, 4' x 8' panels. In Morocco Red, Forest Green or Antique Beige.

REMEMBER! Only with genuine MASONITE PRESWOODS can you be sure of "the original hardboard — a product of years of experience" — and only genuine MASONITE PRESWOODS carry this well-known trade mark... look for it before you buy!

Canterbury East Women's Institute Held Meeting

Canterbury East, Feb. 27.—The Women's Institute members were entertained by Mrs. Milton Goodwin with Mrs. Leslie Macleod the joint hostess. There was a large gathering and several visitors.

The meeting was in charge of the president, who opened proceedings in the usual way. The reports of both secretary and treasurer were read and approved. The roll call subject was to "Name some qualifications of a good Home Maker."

The travelling basket returned with a nice sum to help the funds. A fine donation of material had been received from the Celanese Company for which the branch is very thankful.

A general discussion regarding raising funds took place and it was decided to hold a baked bean supper and a "hat show," February 4 in the Hall. A contest, "A supper menu for their majesties," on a two hours notice and only two canned items may be used. The prizes were won by Mrs. Everett Rudd (first); Mrs. Harley Asker (second); and Mrs. William MacLeod (third).

A debate, "Resolved that the radio has more influence than the newspaper," which resulted in a tie.

Several thank-you letters and the correspondence were read.

A contest on "Canadian Industry" was conducted by the convenor.

A very fine and instructive meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

The Guild Of St. Peter's Church, Gould, Held Annual Sugar Social And Card Party In The Town Hall

Gould, Feb. 27 — The annual sugar social and card party sponsored by the Guild members of St. Peter's Church and generously assisted by the members of the Aid, took place at the Town Hall on February 17.

The sugar, which was of excellent quality, was in charge of Mr. William Gates, who in his usual capable manner, knew just when the sugar was ready to serve on snow and as hot taffy, as the guests preferred. Other refreshments were also served. Dr. E. G. Henry acted as cashier for the evening.

Mrs. W. Gates, the president, was in charge of the sale table, as well as supervising the serving of the supper.

The Children's Corner

Jerry Runs for Office

BY OPAL LEE SHORE

TODAY I had a conference with Round-Peg-in-a-Square-Hole Riggins. Our vocational director at Homeville High is a good egg, but harping like he does on the right job for the right Joe, that nickname was a natural.

Mr. Riggins motioned me to a chair, still looking at some papers on his desk. "Well, Jerry, what do you plan to be when you grow up?"

He looked across the desk at about the height I was last year. Then he had to elevate a little to allow for what I'd grown.

"Maybe I'd better change that to when you get out of school," he chuckled. "If you grow up more you can get a job as a giant."

I couldn't answer his question about a vocation. I've been so busy holding down a forward's berth on the basketball team I haven't thought about much else. Any spare time I have to hit the books to keep up with my twin sister Betsy.

"Let's see now," Mr. Riggins shuffled my record and aptitude tests. "Average student with excellent grades in speech and government; athletic; makes friends easily; good salesman; something of a promoter. . . . Maybe you should make a career in politics, Jerry!"

"Why not?" I was half-way serious. "We could use some good politicians, couldn't we?"

"We certainly could," Mr. Riggins agreed. "Perhaps you should study law, Jerry. Law is often a stepping stone to public office."

I BELIEVE in swinging at the first pitch. So when I left Mr. Riggins for class meeting, I planned to climb on a soap box and start my career. There's too much girl in high school politics. What Homeville High needed was a strong man at the wheel. Suppose I got elected to Student Council now, then class president, get the nod for Boys' State; from there I'm chosen for the national meeting at Washington.

I could see myself stepping up to shake hands with the President of the United States. "Who is this fine looking lad?" I hear the President ask his secretary. The secretary murmurs something in his ear, then the President says, "Oh, yes, that lad we have our eye on. We expect great things from that young man."

That was why I didn't hear all the announcement. When I left my Washington daydream, the loud speaker in the main hall was finishing. ". . . in the Speech Room. Then we will meet together to elect representatives to the Student Council. Each class will elect three members. Go to your meetings at once. Go to your meetings at once."

So I loped off to the Speech Room, stopping at the library on the way. It takes a little while to get up a head of steam at any meeting so I used that time to check out a few books on parliamentary procedure and practical politics.

AS I entered the room I saw my sister Betsy standing up front. Evidently she'd been made chairman. You have to watch girls or they snatch all the offices. I slid into a front seat and dipped into Robert's "Rules of Order" to find something I could use.

When Clara Howell stood up, Betsy gave her the nod. "I nominate you, Betsy," Clara said.

Betsy wrote her own name on the blackboard. Someone nominated Candy Benson. Betsy wrote her name up, too. Then they wrangled over whether to nominate Ann Clark or Meggie Sims. See what I mean about girls hogging all the offices? Then Clara, who seldom knows what the score is, got up and seconded the nominations! That gave me my chance. I leaped out of my chair.

"Madam Chairman," I said, "I rise to a point of order. It is not necessary to second a nomination." I'd just read that. "Since I have the floor I'd like to say a few words."

This was where I climbed up on my soapbox. "The girls in Homeville High seem to believe the hand that spreads the lipstick should rule the school! I protest! What's wrong with the masculine point of view? After all, this is a man's world. So—I propose myself as a candidate. I promise I'll attend all meetings, give serious considera-sickness in the community. After the broadcast and discussion, some routine business was transacted and plans were made for several members to attend the Co-operative Convention in the Mount Royal Hotel, in Montreal. Plans for the Fourth Night meeting were not completed. Refreshments were served.

Miss Sheila Griffiths, of Montreal, was a guest of Mrs. Edmond Jess.

Mrs. Fred Cook, of Bedford, has been spending some time here with her parents.

I saw girls giggling, girls grinning, girls going into hysterics.

tion to every problem, never dodge a responsibility—"

I WAS going good, so I spared a look around to see how the class was taking the speech that marked the beginning of a brilliant career. I saw girls giggling, girls grinning, girls going into hysterics. Betsy was snickering as she wrote my name with the other candidates. What was such a howl? And where were the boys of the class? I stumbled and forgot what I was going to say.

"Madam Chairman!" That was Candy. "I move the nominations cease and the ticket be elected by acclamation."

Everybody seconded the motion. Betsy had to holler to get the vote on account of the laughing. I couldn't see what was so funny.

But the vote was unanimous so my speech must have been convincing. But where were all the fellows?

"I declare Betsy Thompson, Candy Carter and Jerry Thompson the new representatives to the Girls' Government Group," Betsy hollered.

Girls' Government Group? A strictly hen society? I couldn't believe it.

"Before we go to general class meeting—I see the boys have finished their election in Room 10—everyone be sure and come to the next meeting to hear our representatives on a vital question: 'Resolved that Gussie Moran can, too, wear lace on her tennis shorts if she wants to.' Meeting adjourned."

Now Betsy says I've gotta go to every meeting. Politics? Phooey!

Mrs. M. Taber And Mrs. D. Stevens Were Leaders Of Joint W. M. S. And W. A. Meeting At Melbourne Ridge

Melbourne Ridge, Feb. 27. — The meeting of the W.M.S. and the W.A. met at the home of Mrs. Merrill Taber. Mrs. Taber presided and opened the meeting in the usual manner.

The "Missionary Monthly" program was followed. Nineteen members responded to the roll call by a scripture verse. There were six visitors.

Mrs. Roster assisted Mrs. Taber with the program. After the minutes of the last meeting were read, a letter was read from Mrs. Elsie Smith, of Lennoxville. Mrs. Taber then thanked everyone for helping by sending donations of used and new clothing for overseas relief. The box weighed 75 pounds.

The offering was received and dedicated. Mrs. Wilfong kindly offered to be the leader for a C.G.I. T. Group. Mrs. Taber on behalf of all present, thanked Mrs. Wilfong for offering to do such a great work among the girls.

Mrs. Gordon Beers, assisted by Mrs. E. Gilchrist and Mrs. C. Taber presented more of the study book on Japan, which was very interesting.

Mrs. Taber then closed the meeting with the hymn, "In Christ There is No East or West," followed by the "Mizpah Benediction."

Mrs. D. J. Stevens then opened the W.A. meeting by the recital of the Lord's Prayer in unison. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted by nineteen members. It was decided to have the social evening which had been thought of but a food sale would be held at the next meeting, in March, at Mrs. Roster's home.

Several items of business were talked over, after which, Mrs. Stevens closed the meeting with the Benediction.

Mrs. Taber, assisted by Mrs. Rodney and one or two of the other ladies, served delicious refreshments.

Sutton High School Boys' Hockey Team Members Were Guests At A Supper Of The Home And School Association

Sutton, Feb. 27. — A hockey supper, prepared and served by the Sutton Home and School Association, was held in the Baptist Hall on February 17.

Among the guests were Mayor J. Desliere, and Mrs. Desliere, Mr. and Mrs. L. Safford, Mrs. H. E. Eastman and Mrs. J. Sheppard and Mr. and Mrs. K. Jenne, Rev. and Mrs. W. Glenn and Mr. and Mrs. D. Sweet, Mr. and Mrs. C. Bidwell, Mrs. Milmore, Mrs. H. Hooper, Miss Bates, Mr. McLure, Mrs. Holden and members of the Sutton High School boys' hockey team.

Towards the end of the supper, Bernard Greeley, on behalf of the boys' and girls' team, thanked Mr. McLure who has so ably coached them this season. Mr. McLure has voluntarily given up a great deal of his time to help the boys, with the result that they have won five out of six league games. As a token of their appreciation the boys and girls presented Mr. McLure with an engraved cigarette lighter, Jeanne Vergeylen, the youngest member of the girls' team, made the presentation.

Norman Kirby, manager of the boys' team, thanked all those who had used their cars to take the hockey teams to other towns, and those individuals and groups who had made such generous contributions to the hockey and skating rink. He then asked Mayor Desliere to say a few words.

The mayor spoke in his usual witty and entertaining manner. After congratulating the boys on their fine showing this season, Mr. Desliere referred to the good sportsmanship that has always been evident among Sutton athletic teams. He himself is much interested in all fields of sport, and he said he hoped to see the boys continue to work together as a team.

James Boule thanked Mr. Desliere for his talk and expressed the appreciation felt by all members of the school for the financial help and the co-operation given them by the mayor and the town council. He then thanked the members of the Home and School Association for the delicious supper and for their generosity in donating the entire proceeds to the Hockey Club.

The supper provided a fitting conclusion to the regular hockey season, which finished that afternoon with a 5-0 victory over Bedford High School. The lay-offs will shortly be played.

SHERBROOKE INTERMEDIATES HOSTS TO EAST ANGUS TONIGHT

Final Home Game Of Locals Takes Place This Evening; Reid Brothers Main Threat For Pirates Tonight

The final home game of the Sherbrooke Intermediates will take place this evening when the locals will be hosts to the East Angus Pirates in a regular fixture of the Quebec Senior League. Sherbrooke, who are entrenched in the cellar of the "cup," stand little hope for improving their position, as only two games remain for them to play.

The locals are the most improved team in the circuit, since the past few weeks, and if they had been able to get off to a earlier start, things might have been different now. Their latest moral victory was forcing the league-leading Waterloo Maroons into overtime, before dropping the tilt 7-6. They have been the only team

Everybody Wins But Detroit, But It Doesn't Make Any Difference To National Hockey League Standing

Montreal, Feb. 27.—(P)—Every team won a game in the National Hockey League last week except the league-leading Detroit Red Wings. But that didn't make a bit of difference to the Wings, who got two points on ties to stay three up on Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Wings have 20 points from 34 wins, 12 losses and 12 ties while Leafs, who won one and tied one last week, have 32 wins, 12 losses and 13 ties for 77 points.

Boston Bruins broke their third-place tie with New York Rangers by a win, loss and two ties, one more tie than Rangers, who played

"Cliff Goupille Day" To Be Held Sunday; Henri Delorme Elected President Of Special Committee

All indications point that the "Cliff Goupille Day" which will be held Sunday at the local Arena will be a huge success.

The committee in charge of the event met yesterday afternoon and Henri Delorme was named as president of the body and plans for the coming week were outlined.

The sorrell-topped rearguard will be honored by his many friends on Sunday, when Valleyfield Braves will be the visiting team, at the local Arena.

Goupille, who has been with the local club for five seasons, has definitely decided to retire from the game at the end of the year and hang up his skates for good. No doubt his many admirers will wish to show their admiration for his years of service.

Gilles Babin was elected treasurer of the committee and will receive donations at Coderre's Store.

Top Canadian Amateur Skiers To Battle For Places On Canadian Olympic Squad Here Next Month

Banff, Alta., Feb. 27.—(P)—Approximately 30 of Canada's top amateur skiers will invade this Rocky Mountain resort March 15-20 for ski trials which will decide the members of the 1952 Canadian Olympic Squad.

For the first week of the grueling tests, downhill and slalom stars will practise their art on the steep slopes of nearby Mount Norquay, scene of several Canadian championship meets and the only North American tournament ever held in Canada.

The second week has been tentatively set for the time trials. On those days Olympic prospects will compete in races against time for berths on the squad.

Several officials of the Canadian Amateur Ski Association will be on hand. Records of individual performances will be kept to enable the Olympic Committee to make its final selections for the team.

The Eastern and Western divisions of the C.A.S.A. will be represented by 10 skiers each, both men and women. The Maritime Division will send four candidates.

S.H.S. Junior Girls Down R.H.S. 27-5

Sherbrooke High School junior girls basketball squad walked away from the Richmond High 27-5 in an exhibition game played at the local school.

The local High quintet, paced by Goodhue, Maguire and Bishop, amassed a total of 20 points by half time as they held their opponents off the score sheet.

In the second half the visitors tried their best to reduce the big margin but although they held the maroon and white outfit to seven points the best they could do was to collect five themselves before the final whistle sounded to end the game.

S.H.S. — E. Doherty, L. Mills, S. Bishop (4), C. Wilcock (1), S. Thissen, J. Saunders, J. Maguire (10), J. Goodhue (12). Total 27.

R.H.S. — N. Pye, B. Burford, M. Pope (1), J. Coles, G. Coles, M. Husk, A. Brock (2), J. Taylor, M. Birch (2), D. Tessier. Total 5.

The presentation will be made Sunday between the first and second periods of the Valleyfield tilt which gives the committee only a week to receive the donations.

Windsor Dropped 10-1 By Waterloo Maroons

Waterloo, Feb. 27.—(Special to the Record)—Waterloo Maroons ran roughshod over the Windsor Mills Paper-Makers here last night as they chalked up a 10-1 victory to extend their lead in the E. T. Intermediate Hockey League.

The teams will meet this evening in Windsor, weather permitting, in their second encounter within two days.

St. Cyr commenced things when he tallied the lone Windsor goal just after six minutes of play. It was the only serious effort the Paper-Makers came up with.

Thompson and LaFrance came right back and registered two for the home team to finish the frame 2-1.

In the middle session Rainville and G. Blanchard came through with singletons while "Cap" Morneau banged home two goals within a minute.

In the final session Macdonald registered two tallies while John Blanchard and Dussault accounted for the others.

Eight penalties were handed out by Referee Lalonde and Robinson, including four majors for fighting.

Promoter Kyne Lines Up Sugar Ray For Bout

San Francisco, Feb. 27.—(P)—Promoter William P. Kyne said yesterday he has lined up Sugar Ray Robinson to complete one-half of a proposed title fight between the middleweight champion and Joey Maxim of Cleveland, light-heavyweight titleholder.

Kyne said Robinson's manager, whom he reached by telephone in New York yesterday, agreed to terms of a $25,000 guarantee, or the privilege of 20 per cent of the gate receipts and the proceeds from television and radio rights.

Kyne said also he was trying to reach Jack Kearns, Maxim's manager, in Chicago, to offer him a $50,000 guarantee or the privilege of 40 per cent of the receipts.

The proposed 15-round bout would be held here some time in April.

In New York, George Gainford, manager of Robinson, said he has talked to Kyne but said "either I misunderstood him or he misunderstood me."

"I didn't agree to anything like $25,000 for Robinson," said Gainford. "Closer to $50,000 would be more like it."

Branch Rickey Signs Four More Pirates

San Francisco, Feb. 27.—(P)—General Manager Branch Rickey yesterday signed four more Pittsburgh Pirates to 1951 contracts.

They are outfielders Wally Westlake and Dino Restelli and pitchers Bill Werle and Paul Pettit.

Westlake batted .255 and drove in 95 runs last year. He drew an average $20,000 last season.

Werle, a southpaw, won eight and lost 16 with the Bucs last season. Pettit, the $100,000 bonus baby, batted .255 and drove in seven runs with New Orleans, a Pirate farm club.

Restelli, optioned by the Bucs to Indianapolis and transferred to the San Francisco Seals last season, hit .341 for the Pacific Coast Club.

BATES HOCKEY CLUB TAKES IT ON CHIN

Arosa, Switzerland, Feb. 27.—(P)—The Arosa Hockey Club yesterday trounced the Bates Manufacturing Company team 14-2. The Maine sextet, which will represent the United States in the World Amateur Hockey Championships at Paris next month, trailed 9-0 at the end of two periods.

Series A—Best-of-seven between winners of Eastern and Western division pennants.

Series B—Best-of-five between second-place finishers each division.

Series C—Best-of-five between third-place finishers each division.

Series D—Best-of-five between series B and C winners.

Series E—Best-of-seven championship between winners of series A and D.

Sherbrooke And Ottawa To Meet In Best-Of-Seven Series; To Open March 7 In Capital City

Montreal, Feb. 27.—(P)—Dates of Quebec Senior Hockey League playoff games were announced last night following an executive meeting of club directors of the seven-team loop.

So far, only one quarter-final series is definitely settled, bringing together Sherbrooke and Ottawa. Ottawa is assured of third place in the league standings while Sherbrooke has sixth place sewed up. Shawinigan Falls is almost definitely out of the playoffs.

In the Sherbrooke-Ottawa series, game will be at Ottawa March 7-10-14 and 17, while games played at Sherbrooke in the best-of-seven playoffs will be March 8-11 and 15.

Tentative dates have been set for a semi-final, best-of-nine series between the teams that will place first and fourth. Valleyfield Braves are almost certain of coping first place, holding a nine-point lead over the second-place Quebec Aces.

Fourth place remains undecided with Montreal Royals and Chicoutimi Saguenays still close contenders for the spot.

By next Sunday, last day of the regular schedule, should the teams remain deadlocked for the fourth position, the winner will be decided on the basis of most victories, or goals for or goals against.

The semi-finals series will either be Valleyfield-Montreal; March 6-13-15-21 and 28 at Valleyfield and March 8-11-18 and 25 at Montreal. Or Valleyfield-Chicoutimi; March 6-8-18-25 and 29 at Valleyfield and March 11-13-22 and 27 at Chicoutimi.

Quarter-Finals (Best-of-Seven) Quebec-Chicoutimi; March 7-11-13 and 17 at Quebec and March 8-10 and 15 at Chicoutimi. Or Quebec-Montreal; March 7-10-13-17 at Quebec and March 10 and 11 at Montreal (sixth game at Montreal undecided).

The other quarter-finals series will see Ottawa Senators and Sherbrooke Aces fighting for the right to meet the winner of the first quarter-finals. The winner of a best-of-seven series between survivors of the quarter-finals will meet the semi-finalists in a best-of-nine series for the league championship.

Sugar Ray To Fight Kid Marcel In Paris And Will Donate Entire Purse To Cancer Society Of France

New York, Feb. 27.—(P)—Middleweight champion Ray Robinson, the boxing idol of Europe, yesterday announced he will defend his newly-won crown in Paris this May with his entire purse about $25,000 going to the Cancer Society of France.

The 30-year-old Harlem dandy said he will receive one franc for meeting Kid Marcel, 34-year-old French middleweight champion, in a 15-rounder in the Palace of Sports sometime between May 14 and 20.

Manager George Gainford said Sugar Ray was asked to appear by Madame Vincent Auril, wife of the French President. Madame Auril is head of the French Cancer Society.

"Ray is very happy to oblige," said Gainford. "He will get just one franc plus one way transportation for four. But that's all. We will pay our own way back. We may take several other fights over there as long as we're there."

Asked how this would affect his contracted return bout with Jake LaMotta, who lost his middleweight crown to Robinson in Chicago Feb. 14, Gainford said "Robinson will fight LaMotta any time."

"He'll get the return bout if he wants," added the manager. "We told Mr. (Jim) Norris (president of the International Boxing Club) we'll fight for him but not if Al Weill (matchmaker for the I.B.C.) is still connected with the I.B.C."

"Weill was loudly rooting for LaMotta all through the Chicago fight and that's only one of his unethical practices we object to," said Gainford.

Well, who has been feuding with Gainford and several other managers, retorted "It's a free country, ain't it? I didn't make LaMotta win or lose by rooting."

Cal Stearns Still Top Man In U.S.H.L. Race

St. Paul, Feb. 27.—(P)—Cal Stearns and Ike Hildebrand of Kansas City, continue their neck-and-neck battle for scoring honors in the United States Hockey League, figures showed today.

Stearns, for the second week, tops the standing with 79 points on 24 goals and 55 assists. Hildebrand, as was the case last week, is but one point away from him on 37 goals and 41 assists.

Lenn Hallderson, of Tulsa, in third place, has 57 assists, more than any other player in the circuit.

Hildebrand's 37 goals are the most credited to any player.

The leaders: G A Pts.
Stearns, Kansas City 24 55 79
Hildebrand, Kansas City 37 41 78
Hallderson, Tulsa 29 57 77
O'Grady, Omaha 26 42 68
Blade, Milwaukee 24 44 67
Giesbrecht, Omaha 31 35 66
Mackintosh, St. Paul 26 39 65
Agar, Denver 25 38 64

New Orleans — Lenny Alvarez, 133, New Orleans, dejected Eddie Bertolino, 134½, Galveston, Tex. (10).

Joe Louis Talks With President Jim Norris

Chicago, Feb. 27.—(P)—Joe Louis, former heavyweight champion, huddled with International Boxing Club officials yesterday, but all concerned kept mum on a reported champion Ezzard Charles-Louis title rematch April 11 at Chicago Stadium.

Louis had just returned from his San Francisco triumph over Andy Walker, the fourth straight win by the Brown Bomber in his "comeback" campaign.

Louis said he had talked yesterday by long distance telephone with I.B.C. President Jim Norris at Miami, Fla., but just to say "hello."

However, Louis will confer with Norris in Detroit March 8, the day after the Charles-Jersey Joe Walcott fight in that city, when the Charles-Louis meeting at Chicago presumably will be discussed.

Baltimore — Elmer Barksdale, 128, Baltimore, knocked out Charlie Titone, 123½, Brooklyn (4).

London — Albert Finch, 159½, dejected Don Jorgard, 177, Toronto (8).
