

RUSSIANS FOR TIME BEING HOLD GERMAN ARMIES IN CHECK

Enemy Struggling Hard to Cut Warsaw-Petrograd Railway. Fortress of Kovno Still Holds Out. British Experts Believe That Main Russian Army Will be Saved. Italian Artillery Active and Successful Along the Carinthian Alps. Shell Austrians Out of Trenches. Greece and Servia Remain Obdurate in Their Refusal to Concede Territory.

London, August 13.—(Special)—The Russians for the time being are holding in check the Baltic flank of the German armies which are struggling to cut the Warsaw-Petrograd railway, and are battling towards the Dvina, beyond which lie the roads to the Russian capital. This has been accomplished with the aid of reinforcements, and by virtue of one counter-attack after another.

The fortress of Kovno still holds out. German attacks towards Riga have been repulsed and the railway junction at Dvinsk remains in Russian hands.

From Ostrolonka, north of Warsaw, to Cholm in the south the Teutons claim to have made further progress, but between the Vepreza and the Bug they apparently have been thrown back with heavy loss.

It may be that Field Marshal Von Hindenburg has not exceeded his full power in the north, but is waiting events in the south before hammering his hardest towards the Dvina, near the banks of which his cavalry has been for some time.

The fact that the Germans are able to advance with comparative rapidity due east from Warsaw while being checked on the right and left flanks, has given rise to the impression in England and in Russia that the stout resistance offered by the Russian wings will insure the safe withdrawal of the main body of troops from the Warsaw salient.

Contrary to many reports, the main line of communication between the Polish capital and Petrograd has not been cut there. It would be cut if the Germans were to take Dvinsk.

The approaching meetings of both the Greek and Serbian Parliaments give promise of bringing the Balkan situation to a head.

For the moment Greece and Serbia remain obdurate in their refusal to concede territory.

FRENCH OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

Paris, August 13.—(Special)—The War Office this afternoon gave out the following statement:

"In the Artois district a German attack last night to the north of the Chateau de Carleul was easily checked.

"In the Argonne the Germans late yesterday afternoon renewed their attack in the sector between the road from Binarville to Vieme Le Chateau and the Ravine de la Houlette. They were repulsed after a very spirited fight in which hand grenades and bombs were used.

"There is nothing to report from the remainder of the front."

ACTIVE FIGHTING ON ITALIAN FRONT.

Milan, August 13.—(Special)—Austrian artillery has renewed its attempts to shell Monfalcone, but without result.

The Italian artillery has been exceedingly active and successful all along the Carinthian Alps. It has shelled the Austrians out of the trenches and enabled the Italian infantry to occupy fresh positions. An Austrian attack on the positions of Monte Modetta and an attempt to place barbed wire defences there have signally failed.

A violent attack on the Italian positions north of Goritz, near Plava, has been twice repeated, supported by heavy artillery, and twice repulsed with heavy losses to the assailants. Severe fighting has also taken place in the valley of Sexton and at the sources of the Rimbichio. Italian artillery has begun successfully to shell the fortifications in the region of Cadore.

LONDON SUMMARY OF WAR NEWS

RUSSIANS RETIRING.

The Russians continue their retreat in Poland, but all the while they are retarding the German advance, which is now regaining momentum, by repeated counter-attacks and stubborn resistance wherever the conditions are favorable. There is still considerable distance between the German armies to the southeast and northeast of Warsaw, so that seemingly the Russians will be able to make good their retreat, only, however, to be called upon to oppose a German attempt to outflank them at Kovno and further north.

The strength of the German offensive in the latter region has led to the assumption by some of the military observers here that the Germans are now aiming at Petrograd. It is pointed out, however, that there is a great stretch of marshy country between the present battlefields and the capital, which, it is asserted, would make the adventure a dangerous one. Besides, the Germans would first have to capture Vilna, Dvinsk and Riga, all of which the Russians are defending with strong forces which at times are able to take the offensive.

GERMANS CLAIM SUCCESS.

The Germans claim the capture of a group of French fortifications in the Argonne Forest in France, whereas the French say that all the German attempts were repulsed. Otherwise there have been no events of importance on the western battlefield.

HEAVY FIRING REPORTED.

The public here is prepared to hear of something of greater importance than the sinking of the British auxiliary cruiser India, which was announced last night by the Admiralty, as steamers arriving from Holland reported having heard again yesterday heavy firing to the north.

NO NEWS FROM GALLIOLI.

There was no news from the armistice on the Gallipoli Peninsula last night, but the British Admiralty reports on the operations of a British submarine in the Sea of Marmora, one of the fleet which is interfering with Turkish communications by sea. This under-water boat, which recently sank the Turkish battleship Kheyr-Ed-Din Barbarossa, also has sent to the bottom the Turkish torpedo gunboat, Berk-I-Satvet, and an empty transport. Nothing was said in the Admiralty's communication of the former German cruiser Breslau and Goeben, now owned by the Turks.

both of which are unofficially reported to have been sunk.

PRAISE FOR ITALIAN ALPINE TROOPS

Rome, August 13, via Paris.—(Special)—The effectiveness of Italian Alpine troops in repulsing two Austrian attempts to cross the frontier through passes of the Alps, at an altitude of ten thousand feet, is praised by the Italian War Office in yesterday's official statement.

SANK TURKISH BATTLESHIP

British Submarine Operating in Dardanelles Torpedoed the Berk-I-Satvet

ALLIES ELATED AT SINKING OF THE BARBAROSSA WHICH WAS A GREAT MENACE

London, August 13.—The Turkish gunboat Berk-I-Satvet and an empty transport have been torpedoed in the Dardanelles by a British submarine. It was officially announced last night. The announcement says:

"The vice-admiral in the Dardanelles reports that one of the British submarines operating in these waters sank a Turkish battleship on the morning of the 8th of August at the entrance of the Sea of Marmora."

"A Turkish gunboat, the Berk-I-Satvet and an empty transport have been torpedoed in the Dardanelles by one of the British submarines."

"In connection with the above, in a Turkish official communication dated the 9th of August, it was reported that the Turkish battleship Kheyr-Ed-Din Barbarossa had been torpedoed by an enemy submarine. The Kheyr-Ed-Din Barbarossa was a former German battleship purchased by Turkey in 1910."

The Turkish gunboat Berk-I-Satvet was built at the Krupp works in 1907. She was 262 feet long, 27 feet beam and 8 feet deep. She displaced 763 tons. She was fitted with 4.1 inch guns, six 6-pounders, two one-pounders and three torpedo tubes. She had a complement of 105 men. Her speed was 22 knots.

ELATED AT SUB'S FEAT

London, August 13.—After sinking the Turkish battleship Kheyr-Ed-Din Barbarossa, a gunboat and a transport, says a despatch to the Times from Smyrna, the two British submarines which accomplished the feat drew close to shore and shelled a column of Turkish troops marching towards the town of Gallipoli, inflicting heavy losses upon them.

The allies in the Dardanelles are greatly elated at the sinking of the Barbarossa, which was a thorn in their sides, because the accurate fire of its high trajectory guns more than hampered the movement of the allied ships approaching the Gulf of Saros by firing across the peninsula. All foreigners in Turkey, the Times despatch says, have been ordered to discard hats and wear fezes as a precaution against insult and ill treatment by natives.

BULGARIA WITH TURKEY

Claimed That Agreement Between Two Countries Cannot Be Disturbed

Amsterdam, August 13.—(Special)—Representations made by the Entente Powers can be regarded as doomed to failure, declares the Frankfurter Zeitung in discussing the Balkan situation.

Regarding the same subject, the Vossische Zeitung says: "The agreement between Bulgaria and Turkey now is so complete it cannot be disturbed. The active fabrication of notes suddenly begun by the Entente Powers is merely intended to throw sand in the eyes of the world, as the Entente Powers know only too well how the situation stands regarding Bulgaria. They also know that the German allies await with indifference Roumania's decision."

ATHENS HAS DIFFERENT STORY

Athens, August 13.—(Special)—The entry of Bulgaria into the war against Turkey is only a matter of time. It is officially confirmed that the attitude of Bulgaria and Serbia is highly favorable to the recent proposition of the Entente Powers, which agreed to induce Greece and Serbia to cede to Bulgaria the disputed provinces in Macedonia. Serbia will be compensated in Albania, while Greece will be compensated in Smyrna and the Asia Minor hinterland. These concessions and annexation it is hoped will materialize in the conclusion of a successful war against the Teuton alliance.

GERMAN CIVILIANS CALLED HOME

London, August 13.—(Special)—The correspondent at Amsterdam of the Central News says the German authorities in Belgium have advised all German civilians to return immediately to their country, presumably to avoid hardships during the winter in Belgium.

EXPLOSION AT WINDSOR MILLS

Workman Named Cloutier Died as Result of Injuries Received When Building Was Wrecked

DECEASED WAS ALONE IN BUILDING AT TIME, AT WORK ON MACHINE.

Windsor Mills, Aug. 13.—(Special).—An explosion occurred here this morning at 4.20 in one of the buildings belonging to the Canadian Explosives Company, and as a result one of the employees named Cloutier lost his life. The building was completely wrecked.

Cloutier was alone in the building at the time, and it was while at work on one of the machines that the explosion occurred. The force was such that Cloutier was thrown completely out of the building, but when found he was still conscious. He died a short time afterwards.

The deceased leaves a wife and family. Coroner Bachand, of Sherbrooke, was notified, and will hold an inquest to-day.

FOUR VESSELS TORPEDOED

Three British and One Norwegian Victims of German Submarine

London, August 13.—(Special)—Announcement was made to-day of the sinking of the British steamers Osprey and Summerfield and the Norwegian steamer Aura.

The chief engineer, the mate and the mate's wife, of the Summerfield, were drowned. The others on board the three vessels were landed.

WORK OF PRIVATEERS IN ONE WEEK. London, August 13.—(Special).—The Press Bureau announces that during the week ending August 11 German submarines sank two merchant ships of a total tonnage of 5,371, and seven fishing vessels totalling 1,270 tons.

During that period 1,596 vessels arrived at or sailed from British ports.

QUEBEC-BOUND SHIP SUNK. London, Aug. 13.—(Special).—The 3,000 British steamer Jacona, which was engaged in the transatlantic trade, has been sunk. Her captain and nine members of the crew were rescued.

The Jacona sailed from Middlesbrough, England, on August 11th for Quebec. She was owned by the Cairns Line, of London. She was built in 1889, was 318 feet long and of 2,969 tons gross.

WIFE MURDERER PAYS PENALTY

Accused of Killing Three Women in Order to Collect Insurance Money

London, August 13.—(Special).—George Joseph Smith, the wife murderer, was hanged to-day at Maidstone.

Smith was found guilty by a jury on July 1. He was accused of murdering three wives in order to collect insurance money on their lives. In each case the victim was found drowned in a bathtub soon after the wedding ceremony.

RETREAT WAS MASTERLY

Military Correspondent Pays High Tribute to the Russian Army

London, August 13.—(Special).—Reviewing the situation in Russia, the military correspondent of the Times first pays an enthusiastic tribute to the masterly retreat of the Russian armies.

He says the stand made by the wings protecting the army falling back from Warsaw was magnificent and undoubtedly was entirely successful, as the Warsaw army is now assured of ample time to fall back to a prepared position.

Major R. H. Fletcher has received confirmation of his appointment as commanding officer of the 35th Overseas Battery of Field Artillery, and was in Montreal yesterday completing organization arrangements with headquarters. It is the intention to make this an Eastern Township unit as far as possible, both as regards officers and men.

The strength of the unit will be approximately six officers and 175 artificers, gunners and drivers, 50 chargers and 125 draught horses.

Amongst the men required are shoeing smiths, wheelers or carriage makers, joiners, harness makers, cooks, trumpeters and signallers to whom good pay will be given, so that skilled men will now have a chance of serving their country while employed at their trade.

MAJOR R. H. FLETCHER, who will command the 35th Overseas Battery.

The Battery is to be armed with the most modern 18 pounder guns, having a range of some five to six miles, and therefore, the work is most interesting and the branch of the service a popular one.

The Major intends to mobilize and partially train the men in Sherbrooke for the next few weeks, to give all parts of the Townships a chance to furnish their quota of men and headquarters have been established at the Army on Belvidere street where a recruiting officer will always be on duty.

Arrangements are being made to receive and medically examine as far as possible, recruits in all the surrounding towns, and free transportation will be given all those accepted. Meanwhile, all inquiries as to requirements, pay, etc., will be cheerfully answered by mail.

RAISING THE EASTLAND

Expected That Inflated Vessel Will be on Even Keel Before Night

Chicago, Aug. 13.—(Special).—With most of the water pumped out of the hold of the steamer Eastland, divers fastened the hooks of four powerful cranes to the sides of the vessel to-day preparatory to the final operations of placing the ship on even keel. The boat, it was expected, would be raised before night.

Nets were stretched across the Chicago River for the purpose of catching any bodies which might be carried down stream by the current when the boat is hoisted from the river bed.

All river traffic was to be halted during the raising operations until divers ascertained that no more bodies are buried in the mud.

REDMOND WILL NOT SUPPORT PEACE APPEAL

London, August 13.—John Redmond, leader of the Irish party, in reply to a letter urging him to support the Pope's appeal for peace, says:

"I must respectfully say that to the best of my judgment the course of action you suggest would not be calculated to promote the cause of peace. Nor do I think that I would be justified in endeavoring to bring pressure to bear upon the Government to enter into any negotiations for peace at a time when the German powers, who have been the aggressors in this war, show no sign or any disposition to repair the wrong they have inflicted upon Belgium and our other Allies."

SIR WILFRID LAURIER ON "WAR AND CANADA'S DUTY"

Large Gathering in His Majesty's Theatre Listen to Splendid Address by Liberal Chief. Appeal Made to the Young Men to Join Colours to Fight For Freedom. Hon. Mr. Mackenzie-King and Others Address Meeting. Over Flow Meeting Held at the Monument National.

His Majesty's Theatre was crowded to its utmost capacity last night for the mass meeting held under the auspices of the Sherbrooke Liberal Association to hear Sir Wilfrid Laurier deliver an address on "The War and Canada's Duty."

Dr. Forest presided and amongst those on the platform were Senators Casgrain, Davis and Mitchell, Hon. Sydney Fisher, Hon. Mackenzie King, Hon. W. G. Mitchell, G. H. Boivin, M.P., E. W. Tobin, M.P., F. N. McCrea, M.P., C. H. Lovell, M.P., J. Demers, M.A., W. S. Bullock, M.L.A., C. E. Therrien, M.L.A., etc.

After the opening remarks of the chairman, Mr. F. N. McCrea was called upon. He claimed that Canada's liberty was as much in danger as Belgium or any of the allies, and in order that the Dominion should not come under the rule of Germany and its militarism, it remained for the Canadian people to do their full share in bringing the war to a successful issue. All were not of the age and the physical capacity to go to the front, but every man, woman and child could assist in some way. For himself he belonged to the older generation, but as an old man and one who had acquired much wealth, he would rather lose his wealth than his liberty. He appealed to the young men not to stand idly by and risk the loss of the liberty of a lifetime. For his part it would only have taken him a short time to make his choice. Mr. McCrea would not dictate to any man how much he should contribute, but every man should consult his own conscience, and he believed Canadians as a whole would do justice to themselves and their country. As a member of the House of Commons he would vote for any amount of money to bring the war to a successful conclusion, but was also in favor of seeing that the money was honestly and legitimately spent.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER

Sir Wilfrid Laurier was loudly cheered on rising. He said in part:

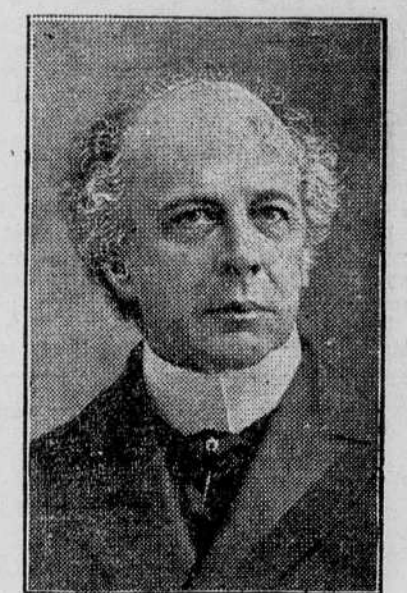

"Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen—'You have just heard from my friend, Mr. McCrea that in his opinion he has reached an age when he can and should call himself an old man. I am bound to say that I differ altogether from Mr. McCrea in this respect. He is much younger than I am and I do not want to be called or supposed to be an old man, and evidently those who are in charge of the programme this evening do not believe that I am an old man for they have laid upon me no light task. It is expected of me that I should speak to this audience in this hall, and that having delivered my speech here I should go to another hall and then deliver another speech; and it is further expected of me that I should speak here in English and again in French and in the latter hall in two languages also. This is the programme that is laid down for this young man you have before you (laughter). But, gentlemen, I will ask your indulgence for one moment. I propose upon this occasion in this hall to give my main address in English and then speak a few words in French, and in the other hall to make my main address in French and add some words in English."

SHADOW OF GREAT WAR

"Gentlemen, this is not the first time that it has been my pleasure to stand before a Sherbrooke audience. But we meet on this occasion under circumstances such as our country never had to face before this year. We meet in the shadow of a great war which at this moment is raging in the further parts of Europe and in which we have as Canadian and British subjects such a vital interest. That is not all. We meet under a further and still graver shadow of the reverses that have been met by our allies, the Russian army, and in face of those reverses perhaps you may ask me what is our feeling. Is it one of sadness and one of depression? It certainly is and should be a feeling of sadness, but certainly no feeling of depression (cheers)."

NOT DOWN HEARTED

"When the British army last year after the retreat from Mons arrived at the positions which had been selected by Sir John French—positions which enabled them to face the three

SIR WILFRID LAURIER, who spoke on "The War and Canada's Duty."

German armies which had been endeavoring to cope with it, one of the boys in the ranks lifted up his hat and said 'Are we down-hearted?' and the answer came instantly and it was a yell of defiance at Germany. And that is our feeling today in face of the reverses of the Russian army. If we have been having reverses, let me tell you that before the end of this war there must and will be other reverses, but there never was a war which was fought in any part of the world where the victorious party was universally successful. Reverses we must be prepared to meet and we had an anticipation of what that would be when at the beginning of the war—that great and good soldier, Lord Kitchener, told us that the war would last at least three years. We have just been through one year of it, so my fellow Canadians let us be prepared for two years more at least. This is the spirit in which we want to face the fight in which we are engaged at the present time and then we shall meet reverses that will come to us by greater exertions than before."

40 YEARS' PREPARATION

"Lord Kitchener knew exactly what he was talking about when he stated that this war would last at least three years. He had his reasons for it and what were they? He knew the German army had prepared for forty years for that conflict, that the German general staff had created the most powerful instrument of war which ever was seen in the world. He knew on the other hand that the French were only half prepared, that the Russians were still less prepared, and he knew further that the English were not prepared at all. When there are at this day men who blame the English nation because this war found them unprepared, I am not one of those. I say on the contrary it was to the eternal glory of England that this war found her unprepared. England is a nation of peace. England was not prepared for the war because the Englishman never fights until he has to fight, but when he fights he does fight indeed. (cheers). (Continued on Page 6)

PATRIOTIC WORK IN SHERBROOKE

noticed that in the recent fighting none of the big ships were brought up to support the troops. The monitors and destroyers that came to the help of the Talbot are possessed of no bigger guns than 6 and 4 inch.
Yet there seems to have been a limited amount of direct fire, as Reuter's correspondent refers to the services rendered by the captive balloon.
That nothing larger than 6-inch guns were used points to the fact that it is only the smallest naval gun, even when using half-charges, that can get a sufficiently high angle with its fire to be of service.

"This a little bit discounts the hopes some of us entertained that the battleships would very greatly facilitate the operations of the Army. But we have to recognize two limitations to naval fire. The first, which is already familiar, is that it is comparatively easy for the Turks to put their batteries where they cannot be reached by naval guns. The second is that the flatness of its trajectory carries the naval shell horizontally into its target instead of vertically.
The steeper the angle at which the shell falls, the less its velocity; and less it buries itself in the ground, the greater the destructive area when it bursts. A single big shell falling vertically into a position will radiate damage from the point of impact.
But a shell hitting horizontally, and at a high velocity, buries itself in the obstacle, and on bursting is either altogether innocuous (that is, if it goes deep enough) or destructive over a very small area. But this thing will be altogether different when the troops have advanced far enough to bring the forts of the Narrows under observation. For these will then be brought under the fire of 12-inch guns from a great distance, and consequently the shell will descend at a larger angle. Great accuracy will be obtainable, and the vast volume of fire that will be at hand will more than compensate for the minor disadvantages I have set out above."

SAVE THE MOISTURE

Never were we so convinced of the importance of conserving soil moisture as when on an extended trip through Western Canada a short time ago. In the East many of our best farmers believe that the summer fallow is an expensive means of cleaning land and a costly method of conserving soil moisture, but too many of them do not place enough emphasis on the latter point. In some of the dry belts in the west it is absolutely essential, if good crops are to be grown, that the ground be summer-fallowed the previous season.
and well worked to hold therein as large a proportion of the moisture content of the soil as possible. In riding through the country one can notice to an inch the difference in the crop on land that has been summer-fallowed and on the ordinary stubble soil. While it may be more important in the west than in the east to conserve all the moisture possible, a great deal more of the success with crops the following year even in the East depends upon moisture conservation than most of our farmers are willing to admit. The Western summer-fallow gets no manure or fertilizer of any kind. Frequent cultivation of the soil of course renders plant food more available, but the limiting factor is moisture, and it has been demonstrated beyond all possibility of a doubt that a properly worked summer-fallow saves enough extra moisture to the soil to make the difference between a heavy and a light crop. Conditions are different here in the East, but they are not so widely separated from those in the West as to render summer-fallowing, or, in other words, special soil tillage, too expensive for use on many farms in this part of Canada. We are not recommending summer-fallowing over all other means of soil improvement, but certain conditions warrant allowing a field to go idle for a season with the very best and most frequent cultivation possible.

The Eastern farmer, whose crops are harvested considerably earlier than those of the Western farmer has an excellent opportunity in the after-harvest cultivation to put his land in a condition to hold the greatest part of the moisture for the use of next year's crop. It is this point which we wish to emphasize. It has been demonstrated in the west that an early-plowed summer-fallow is a better summer-fallow so far as moisture content is concerned than one plowed later in the season. Investigators have found that June and early July is the time to get the land under good cultivation out-there. The same thing will apply in the East in after-harvest cultivation, namely, the earlier it is done, the better. As soon as the fields are harrowed the gang plow, disc harrow or cultivator should be started and kept going until all this land required for next year's crop is well cultivated and harrowed down. In no other way can the farmer so cheaply and profitably hold moisture in the soil for his next year's crop and at the same time this cultivation hastens the germination of weed seeds, and the latter deeper tillage will destroy all those which have germinated. The sooner farmers are convinced that the moisture content of the soil is of so much importance as the addition of fertility the sooner will high yields and uniformly good crops result.
There may seem to be too much moisture now, but it will surely be needed later on. Save it.—Farmers' Advocate.

A woman interested in charity work was accustomed each day to pass by the door of a Chinese laundry wherein were employed two Chinese. Each time she passed the charity worker would stop an instant and speak to the boss.
"Hello, John," she would call out, to which salutation the Celestial would reply: "Hello, lady."
One day she saw only one Chinaman where there had been two, and asked:
"Where is John?"
"Him in hospital," said the laundry-
man. "A Christian gentleman struck him in the head with a brick."

TURKEY'S NEED IS VERY ACUTE

German Diplomats Endeavouring to Persuade Roumania to Allow Munition Shipments

THREATEN TO PROHIBIT IMPOR-TATION OF MAIZE UNLESS ROUMANIA YIELDS.

London, August 13.—"German diplomats have redoubled their efforts to secure Roumania's consent to a renewal of shipments of munitions of war to Turkey," said the Daily Telegraph's Bucharest correspondent.

"This," the correspondent adds,
"indicates that Turkey's need of supplies is becoming acute."

WILL USE FORCE.
Bucharest, via London, August 13.—
According to the local newspapers, Austria and Germany have decided to endeavor to force Roumania to consent to the transit through Rumanian territory of munitions of war by prohibiting the importation of Rumanian maize unless Roumania yields within a few days.

In this way, the newspapers assert, the Germans hope to provoke a forceful protest from the influential agrarian and commercial interests, which would be hard hit by the closing of the main outlet for their harvests.
It is added that Germany probably hopes to bring further pressure to bear through the Rumanian banks, which are largely under Austro-German control and which, it is declared, could seriously hamper commercial and agrarian interests by refusing to extend credits.

NAVY GUNNER MUST SEE TARGET

Vast Difference Between Sea and Land Fighting for That Reason

Perhaps no subject is so little understood as naval gunnery, the general idea being that the effectiveness of a naval gun depends upon its extreme range, says a writer in "Navy and Army." One enquirer asks for the ranges of the 12-inch, 13.5-inch, and 15-inch guns, and adds, "I am asking this question because newspapers of late have quoted the range for 15-inch guns as between 20 and 28 miles."

Suppose this was true, of what use would be a 28-mile range be? The problems that face the naval artiller-ist are entirely different from those with which the military man has to cope. Military guns are used against fixed objects. The gunner knows exactly where the object is, and, with a map, can fix its distance almost to a yard, and so with his high-angled howitzers can drop shells on to that object, although he cannot see it, and a hill may intervene between it and the gun. His task then is a comparatively simple one.

The naval gunner fires at a moving object, so must see it before he opens fire, and that fact limits the effective range of all guns, no matter what their possible range may be. For example, to see a distance of 28 miles at sea, that is, for the horizon to be 28 miles away, one would need to be 600 feet above sea level. Obviously, no ship in existence has masts that height; 125 feet above sea level gives us an horizon of 12.84 miles; 100 feet an horizon of 11.49 miles. We may take it that the control station of the average ship is not more than 100 feet above sea level, and that, therefore, the extreme effective range of her guns is 11 miles and no more.

At Five Miles Distance
But let us take a ship firing at five miles—roughly, 10,000 yards—(nautical miles), which is the distance it was generally assumed before the war that naval actions would commence.
It would take a projectile 12 seconds to travel that distance; if the ship at which the shot was fired was travelling at 20 knots, she would have moved 120 yards in that 12 seconds, which, of course, has to be allowed for when laying the gun. If the ship from which the shot is fired is also travelling at 20 knots or more, that forward movement must also be counteracted on the sights, so that when the gunner fires his gun he does not fire at the ship he desires to hit, but at the spot at which he expects that ship to be when his shot reaches it. Unless he can actually see the ship and judge of her speed he would only throw his projectiles into the sea.

Last year, Mr. Churchill dealt with the 15-inch gun in the House of Commons, and these were the exact words used: "Its power may be measured by the fact that whereas the 13.5-inch gun hurls a projectile of 1,400 pounds, a 15-inch gun fires a projectile of nearly a ton in weight, and can hurdle this immense mass of metal ten or twelve miles, which would be from 20,000 to 24,000 yards, and it is probable that the papers have confused the thousands of yards with miles.
The real advantage that the 15-inch gun has over a 12-inch, or even 13.5-inch, is that it has a flatter trajectory, which means a tremendous lot in accuracy of shooting." Some time since, Sir Percy Scott dealt with shooting, and said: "In firing at a range of fifteen miles, which is possible, the shot would go to an altitude of 22,500 feet, which, if my geography is correct, is 7,500 feet over the summit of Mont Blanc."

Fall Directly Downwards
Leaving out the question of the different atmosphere it would pass through, it would, in the latter part of its flight, fall almost directly downwards, which very considerably reduces its chance of hitting. The deck of a ship presents a target of, say, 500 feet long by 80 feet wide, tapering off towards each end, and that would be the target that a shot falling from a great height would have to hit. But with a flatter trajectory, the target would be increased immeasurably because the danger zone increases (this really needs a diagram to make it clear). The 12-inch gun can penetrate any armor in existence at possible ranges, and can fire a projectile just as far as a 13.5-inch or 15-inch, further, in fact, so our object in increasing the size of the gun was for neither of those purposes, but because we can make much more accurate shooting with the larger guns, and their destructive power is, of course, immensely greater.

The Siege Gun of Success

THE War in Europe isn't in it with the war that exists between the English & Scotch Woollen Co. and their would-be competitors.
We opened the war by firing the Siege Gun of "Lower Price."—Our Mill-to-Man plan enables us to say: "Suit or Overcoat, $15."

Our competitors tried to stem defeat by unloading old stocks and using shells of "inferior quality."

The result is obvious—We've fought the fight to SUCCESS—our sales prove it!

Those who resort to subterfuge in imitating us, do so with the intention of deceiving the public. During the past seven years, imitators have sprung up today, only to disappear tomorrow. The English & Scotch British Submarine Reported to Have Attacked Cruiser Breslau

in Black Sea

THE GOEBEN WAS RUN AGROUND
AFTER HAVING BEEN DAMAG-ED BY A TORPEDO.

Athens, August 12.—British submarines have succeeded in entering the Black Sea and have torpedoed the cruiser Breslau. They also torpedoed one transport and a gunboat.

When the war began the German battleship Goeben and the protected cruiser Breslau were on the Mediterranean. They bombarded the French coast of Algeria and then, pursued by a British squadron, sought shelter in a Sicilian port, whence they escaped to the Dardanelles on August 11, when they were purchased by Turkey. Since then the Breslau has been active in bombarding Russian Black Sea ports.

GOEBEN OUT OF ACTION.

Athens, Aug. 12.—The Goeben has been torpedoed. She was run aground in a narrow creek in the Bosphorus. Here she is lying alongside the shore in default of a dry or floating dock in Turkey sufficiently large enough to accommodate a vessel of her size. A dyke has been built around her in which the Turks are engaged in pumping out the water. All approaches to the creek are severely guarded and no one is allowed to pass.

VICTORIAS 1; BOY SCOUTS 0 The return game between the Boy Scouts and Victorias was played on the Parade Grounds on Wednesday evening and resulted in a victory for the Victorias by 1 to 0.

The game was more evenly contested than the last and there was no scoring for three quarters of the time. Vics then scored their goal with a lucky shot.

There was less handling of the ball and an improvement in the passing, but the shooting of the teams is still weak.

The defenses of both teams were strong.

The teams were as follows:—Victorias—Goal, Wright; backs, Cotton and Haight; half backs, Scott, Giovetto, Sullivan; forwards, J. Sullivan, Saunders, Milnes, Robertson, Carter; reserves, Hole, Jones, Thomson.

Boy Scouts—Goal, Webb; backs, Cross and Wallace; half backs, Perry, Breckenridge and Phillips; forwards, Wapole, Wiggett, Prinn, Allanson, Rees.

A POINT OF THE LAW. The professor of jurisprudence in a Western university was lecturing to a hundred embryo lawyers. He asked whether any one in America could own property. One fellow answered, "No, a criminal can't own property."

But the professor said, "Suppose a man owns a ranch, gets into trouble with his neighbor, assaults him, and is put into the penitentiary, does he still own the ranch?"

The class was unanimous that he did. "If he did not continue to own it," went on the professor, "What would become of it?"

That was supposed to settle the discussion, but one boy called out, "The lawyer would get it."

There was a hearty laugh, of course, and the professor added:

"We learn two things from that apt remark—be a lawyer, or don't be a criminal."—Youth's Companion.

"I don't see why you call your place a bungalow," said Smith to his neighbor.

GREAT BRITAIN'S SEA POWER

BUT FOR NAVY GERMANY TODAY

WOULD BE MASTER OF THE WORLD

(New York World)

Had Admiral Mahan lived to see the beginning of the second year in the events of the first year the most striking vindication yet recorded of the influence of sea power upon history.

Except for the British navy Germany today would be master of the world. Germany's marvellous preparedness, combined with her unparalleled military resources, gave the Teutonic alliance a commanding advantage that all the rest of Europe could not have withstood had land warfare alone been able to determine the result. But for British domination of the seas the war would be over and civilization prostrate before triumphant German militarism.

What has been accomplished by British sea power has been carried through without a single conspicuous achievement. There has been no decisive naval battle. There has been no engagement between warships of the first class. Not a single dreadnought has been in action except against land defenses or has sighted a hostile flag at sea. None the less, the work of the British navy as a whole is the one decisive factor of the war.

German commerce has disappeared from the ocean and hundreds of thousands of tons of German ships are rusting at their piers. Except in a clandestine fashion Germany is cut off from all trade with the outside world and compelled to manufacture for herself whatever she needs for military or civil purposes. Only her Baltic ports are open. One by one her colonies have dropped away, and month by month her isolation is more complete. The military consequences of that isolation will become more and more important as the war proceeds.

Since the battle cruiser engagement in the North Sea in which the Blucher was destroyed, British sea power is no longer openly challenged by Germany, which is satisfied to wage a furtive submarine warfare against unarmed merchant ships and keep Von Tirpitz's navy snugly hidden in the Kiel Canal beyond the range of British guns. In the midst of this sniping the British navy continues to do its main work without interruption, while the losses sustained by British shipping through submarine warfare are without real importance as affecting the outcome of the war.

British and French commerce continues because the Germans cannot command the sea. The allies have the manufacturing resources of the world to draw upon. More than a million soldiers have been landed in France under naval convoy without the loss of a single transport. British colonial troops are transported from every quarter of the globe as freely as in time of peace. The operations at the Dardanelles have been made possible only by the British navy, and but for the British navy Russia would not be able to obtain the supplies of ammunition and guns without which no further resistance could be made to the German advance. Most of the splendid courage and devotion of the French people in this conflict would have been futile had not the British navy enabled the French Government to supply the equipment in which the army was so fatally deficient at the beginning of the war.

Such has been made by cautious criticism of the failure of the British fleet to "capture or destroy" the German fleet as it was ordered to do when the war began. But the German fleet might as well have been captured or destroyed for all the service it has been able to render to the empire and to German arms. A fleet which is so completely overmatched that to invite battle is to invite destruction is practically non-existent for all the purposes to which sea power can be put in time of war.

Whether the British naval officers have done all they should or less than they should, the fact remains that British sea power has saved the allies from defeat, and that if Germany is finally crushed it is British sea power that will have determined the issue.

RUSSIA'S WOMAN V. C. Some time ago, travelling on the same train to Warsaw, were a man and a woman—the man a young undergraduate who had followed the Russian army as a volunteer, and the woman the daughter of a princely landowner in the Caucasus, who bore one of the noblest names in the history of Russia.

The man, who was going to join his regiment, and during the two days' railway journey the two young people, who had fallen in love at first sight, became engaged. On arriving at Warsaw they went to the nearby Orthodox Greek Church, where a kindly priest married them.

The girl then refused to leave her husband, and, managing to obtain a soldier's kit and assuming the name of Laurence, followed him to the firing line. She soon obtained her baptism of fire, for the position where she and her husband were stationed was one of the most critical on the River Rawa, and subjected to continual German attacks.

During one encounter her husband, who Bishop's Crossing, Aug. 13.—(Special)—Major F. C. Bishop has received a letter from his brother, G. D. Bishop, of the 5th Mounted Rifles, written July 27, on the steamer Hesperian, saying that they had had a pleasant trip, there being no sickness among the men. They were stopped two days at Newfoundland by fog, and at the time of writing they were in the danger zone and the men were sleeping on deck with their life-belts as pillows, but expected to land safely in port the next evening.

GRANBY MAN LIBERATED

Court Held That Commitment by Justice of Peace Was Irregular and Illegal

HABEAS CORPUS PROCEEDINGS GRANTED BY MR. JUSTICE LYNCH AT SWEETSBURG.

Sweetsburg, Aug. 13.—(Special).—Philbert Larivee, laborer, of Granby, committed to jail here by a warrant of commitment issued by Justices of the Peace Louis Pare and Pierre Phoenix, of Granby, was yesterday released by Hon. Judge Lynch, of the Superior Court, under a writ of habeas corpus, granted at the request of counsel for the prisoner, Mr. O. L. Boulanger.

The application for the writ was founded on the irregularity and illegality of the commitment. The defects, it appeared, were not few. No conviction was alleged in the commitment. It stated that a charge of "disturbing the peace" was laid against the prisoner, but did not show whether the man was tried and convicted on that charge. The name of the complainant was not even disclosed. The charge itself was not an offence under criminal law of the country. Disturbing the peace is only a species of vagrancy and vagrancy must be charged against a disturber of the King's peaceful subjects. It is also necessary to indicate how the offender disturbed the peace, as you might as well charge a man generally with being a thief as charge him of disturbing the peace without specifying the means whereby such disturbance was caused. All those requirements were lacking in the commitment of Philbert Larivee to jail. In a marginal note of said commitment the prisoner was adjudged to pay $5.00, without indicating whether it was fine or not; and, moreover, this marginal note was not properly certified nor initialed. It was stated in the commitment that the prisoner could be released by paying into the hands of the jailer several sums of money, "including the costs and charges of the commitment and the costs of conveying the prisoner to the common goal," without indicating the amount of those charges and costs in order to enable the prisoner and the jailer to ascertain what would the total amount to be paid by the prisoner to obtain his release.

Mr. Justice Lynch held that any of those grounds was sufficient to make commitment bad, and he had no alternative but to quash it and discharge the prisoner. Consequently, Larivee being brought before His Lordship with the return of the habeas corpus by Mr. R. M. Hall, the jailer, he was given his liberty.

FARMERS' DAY AT LENNOXVILLE

About 500 Agriculturists Paid Visit to Government Experimental Farm

MUCH INTEREST MANIFESTED IN WORK BEING CARRIED ON.—LADIES INTERESTED IN HORTICULTURE.

Favored by glorious weather, Farmers' Day at the Experimental Farm, Lennoxville, yesterday, attracted one of the largest gatherings of the agricultural community ever held in the Eastern Townships. The attendance was over five hundred, and included farmers, business men and citizens, from Sherbrooke, Lennoxville, Richmond, Coaticook, St. Camille, St. Edwidge, La Patrie, Sawyerville, Martinville, Ayer's Cliff and other places.

Two prominent features of the gathering were, first, the almost equal representation of the two races, giving proof of the popularity of Mr. J. A. McClary, the superintendent, with both the French and English sections, and the general confidence reposed in him, and, second, the large number of ladies present, who showed a very keen interest in the horticultural division. The meeting yesterday was to celebrate the completion of the first season's work at the Experimental Farm. Everything was in fine condition, and as the visitors were conducted by the staff over the various departments they unanimously expressed their pleasure and satisfaction with the results already achieved, and they complimented the officials on their successful management to date, which all present felt gave promise of even better things in the future. The wonderful benefit which individual farmers might receive from visiting the farm may well be summed up in the remark of one of those present: "It is a fine thing to have an experimental farm like this, where one can get plenty of hints he would never think of." The flowers and vegetables were specially attractive and were much admired.

Luncheon was served under the pine trees by the staff in the noon hour, and was followed by several short speeches.

PLEASED WITH ATTENDANCE.

Mr. J. A. McClary, in welcoming the guests, expressed his gratification at such a numerous attendance at the first meeting at the farm. He was particularly pleased at the number of ladies present, which showed their interest and was an evidence of their desire to assist in the work. He hoped everyone would come often, as he and the staff were there for the purpose of assisting them in their work, to discuss matters with the farmers and make and receive suggestions.

CONGRATULATED SUPERINTENDENT.

Mr. John Firter, of the Illustration Farm, Ottawa, congratulated Mr. McClary and staff on the splendid turnout. He impressed upon the company the importance of feeling it was their farm, and said it was principally due to Mr. Cromwell, the former member of Parliament, that the district possessed it. Mr. Firter urged everyone to make full use of the facilities provided, and specially begged the ladies to take an interest in the work.

Mr. J. Begla, superintendent of the branch experimental farm at Ste. Anne de la Pocatiere, also offered his congratulations on the successful start, and hoped the people of the district would take full advantage of the farm, which would mean much in the way of progress and prosperity. He commended Mr. McClary to the French-speaking section of the community, as, having been brought up amongst them, he understood their needs and would render them all possible assistance.

INSTRUCTIVE TALK ON FEEDING.

Mr. E. H. Archibald, chief of the Live Stock Branch at Ottawa, followed with a very instructive talk on feeding, breeding and cow-testing. He advocated the keeping of more animals, saying that the live stock situation in the Eastern Townships was improving and prices were never more favorable than they promised to be at the present time. Mr. Archibald emphasized the necessity of maintaining a good standard of stock.

Mr. A. A. MacMillan, sheep expert of Macdonald College, added a few words upon the advantage to be gained by practical demonstrations at the farm.

DEMONSTRATION PLOTS.

Mr. F. R. Cromwell, M.P., had a good reception. He much appreciated the privilege of being present, and expressed the hope there would be extensions from the farm in the way of demonstration plots in every township of the Eastern Townships. The Experimental Farm was only a start, for which they had been yearning for years, and when certain things were found out, such as the most useful crop to grow in this part of the country, it should be demonstrated in every locality.

Farmers, if they organized and demanded their rights, could get whatever they wanted, because each government was afraid of the farmer, and he could only blame himself if he had been neglected in the past. Mr. Cromwell also spoke of the duty of the farmer towards supplying the needs of the soldiers at the front. He gave an interesting resume of the negotiations leading to the location of the Experimental Farm, and paid a high compliment to Mr. McClary, whose work he described as a grand success.

The staff, composed of Messrs. C. Ritchie, J. A. St. Marie, G. O. Young and Jas. Robinson, were introduced to the gathering. Before and after the luncheon, Messrs. Firter, Begla and the staff gave short talks as the visitors passed along, on the methods of working, and the handling of the varieties of seeds, etc.

CHICAGO WHEAT PIT MYSTIFIED

Representatives of the Allies Cancel Grain Contracts of Over Two Million Bushels

GRAIN MEN "UP IN THE AIR" AS TO WHAT HAS BROUGHT ABOUT SUCH AN ORDER.

Chicago, August 13.—The Chicago wheat pit—the "pulse of the world's grain trade," closed yesterday in feverish excitement following the cancellation by representatives of the Allies of grain contracts aggregating over two million bushels of wheat recently bought for September shipment.

What word the European buyers received from abroad remained a mystery. It was of sufficient import, however, to cause the foreign buyers to surrender a profit around ten cents a bushel, or over $200,000, on the contracts cancelled, so that they might be relieved of them.

Not only were cancellations reported by Chicago houses, but some of the seaboard exporters claimed to have closed out all open contracts, in one instance the United Kingdom buyers re-selling at equal to 23 cents under what the same wheat would cost delivered in Liverpool. Canadian exporters also reported cancellations and three cargoes of Argentine corn were cancelled by Italy. France also resold wheat in this country.

Whether the Dardanelles was on the verge of being forced, which would release Russian grain for European consumption, or whether there had been authoritative information that the opening of the straits was only the matter of a short time, was a question much discussed by prominent grain men. They professed to be "up in the air," although intensely interested in an Associated Press cablegram early in the day from London telling of wide circulation of a rumor that the Government had received news of "military successes closely affecting Russia." The report, it was said, was based on the activity and rising prices of Russian securities on the Stock Exchange.

CREAMERY BURNED DOWN

Building Belonged to Mr. Leslie Buzzel, Cherry River, Destroyed Last Night

BUTTER WAS SAVED BUT MACHINERY AND OTHER CONTENTS DESTROYED

Cherry River, August 13.—(Special).—The creamery belonging to Mr. Leslie Buzzel was destroyed by fire last evening. The fire was discovered about nine o'clock and the alarm was immediately given.

The butter in the factory was saved but the machinery and other contents were destroyed.

Several buildings in close proximity to the creamery were in danger, but the fire fighters were assisted in no small degree in keeping the flames from spreading by the heavy rain which was falling at the time. The origin of the fire is unknown. Mr. Buzzel had been at work in the building during the evening, but had been at home for about an hour before the fire was discovered.

Insurance to the amount of $1,000 was carried on the building.

VOLCANOES ARE ACTIVE

Impossible to Get Authentic Details as to Disturbances in Southern Italy

Rome, August 13.—(Special).—The great volcanoes of Southern Italy, which have been disturbed during the last few days, are becoming increasingly active.

Thus far it has been impossible to procure detailed and authentic information from the scene of the disturbances, in which earthquakes occurred earlier in the week. It is known, however, that eruptions have taken place.

The Machine-gun Fund is well under way, and when the canvas of Richmond town and Melbourn is completed a sufficient sum will be secured to purchase a machine gun.

STAR CLOTHING HALL J. ROSENBLUM AND CO. THE STORE THAT SETS THE PACE

KAISER NOW WANTS PEACE TO COTTON PLANS

Reported in Rome That He Has Made Advances to the Vatican

PONTIFF WILL REDOUBLE EFFORTS TO BRING ABOUT END OF CONFLICT BY CHRISTMAS

Chicago, August 13.—(Special Cable to the Chicago Daily News, by Rupert MacKenzie)—Rome, Italy, August 13.—Prospects of peace, which until a fortnight ago were considered remote in well-informed Vatican circles, are now unexpectedly improved. The impression prevails in the Pope's entourage that the olive branch is about to be offered by Germany, which, unvanquished, and still sufficiently powerful to continue the war, is able to take the initiative in a peace movement without assuming the role of supplicant.

A member of the Papal household, who wishes his name withheld, though it may be said that it is not M. Gerlach, the only German Papal chamberlain now at the Vatican—asserts that, according to indirect information available a day or two ago, Germany expects to propose acceptable terms of peace to the allies.

These terms, said my informant, prove that it is Germany's intention to end the war without securing great territorial advantages or increasing its power. They will merely safeguard complete liberty and insist on equal rights with other nations. If the terms are accepted by the Allies, peace will follow as a matter of course, but possibly the main difficulty exists of the lack of sufficient guarantees by the powers, since the war unfortunately has increased the distrust among nations.

FLANDERS ARMY TOLD PEACE IS CERTAIN IN OCTOBER

London, August 13.—A significant order of the day, predicting a resumption by the Germans of a vigorous offensive in the west, has been issued to the Teutonic armies in Flanders, according to the Amsterdam Telegraph. An extract from this order, telegraphed by the Amsterdam correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company, follows:—

"Our work now is practically finished in the east and we are about to begin in the west. Peace is certain in October."

Mr. Manley—"Well, my dear, I've had my life insured for five thousand dollars."

Mrs. Manley—"How very sensible of you! Now, I shan't have to keep telling you to be so careful every place you go."
