Fifty-sixth Year

World News In Brief

New York, April 5.—(P)—Frank Costello, who twice stalked out of a Senate crime committee hearing rather than answer questions, was convicted last night of contempt of the United States Senate.

The 61-year-old gambler and underworld figure, who four times previously beat government efforts to put him behind bars, faces a possible sentence of 10 years in prison plus $10,000 in fines. He was confined in $5,000 bail pending sentencing Tuesday.

Washington, April 5.—(P)—President Truman last night presented medals to Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard at a reception given for him by the Royal couple at the Netherlands embassy.

The President bestowed the Legion of Merit degree of chief commander on the smiling Queen and her husband.

Winnipeg, April 5.—(P)—The Free Press said in a news-story Friday that Manitoba's embargo on cattle will probably be lifted late next week, providing other provinces also end their bans.

Agriculture minister F. C. Bell will place federal government proposals, made at the two-day provincial conference which ended Thursday, before the Manitoba cabinet Monday.

Montreal, April 5.—(P)—Mayor Camille Houde said last night he chose the "most dignified method" of protesting against what he termed "the manoeuvre of the centralizers" when he did not personally receive Vincent Massey, Canada's new Governor-General, during his first official visit to the city yesterday.

Mayeur Houde said in a statement that he respected the office but that Mr. Massey has been "the most tenacious of all the centralizers" for 30 years.

Swift Current, Sask., April 5.—(P)—Army engineers were on the scene today as a huge ice jam in the South Saskatchewan river threatened to push out a $1,000,000 bridge and halted all traffic on the main highway north from here.

The year-old 1,215-foot Saskatchewan landing bridge, 35 miles north of here, was in imminent danger of being knocked out.

An ice jam built up about 12 miles east of the bridge and the pile-up extends 82 miles back under the bridge and along the river. The army engineers planned to blast the ice in the vicinity of the bridge but government officials said they doubted if blasting operations would do any good. They feared that once the water began to flow freely again the ice would begin to move with greater force.

Further Grants Unlikely For Universities In Quebec

Quebec, April 5.—(P)—Quebec universities are not likely to receive further financial aid through federal grants.

This was made clear yesterday by Premier Duplessis at his weekly press conference when he said that five Quebec universities had received federal grants under a federal-provincial agreement valid for one year only.

This did not mean that further payments would be received by the universities.

The $2,028,300 received last week by McGill, Laval, University of Montreal, Sir George Williams College and University of Bishop's College was final and full payment for the 1951-52 fiscal year.

The grants were Quebec's share of $7,100,000 voted by Parliament for universities last year following recommendations of the Massey Commission on Arts, Letters and Sciences. Normally, the grants would have gone to universities without provincial intervention—as is done in other provinces.

But Quebec disagreed with Ottawa's definition of institutions eligible for the grants and federal and provincial finance minister met to settle the matter.

"It appears to us evident and undeniable that the provinces hold exclusive rights in matters of education," said Mr. Duplessis. "If the federal government has a few thousand dollars to dispose of it is because it collects revenues which belong to the provinces."

The Quebec government is studying "formal" proposals for the opening of a $15,000,000 zinc refinery in Chicoutimi.

Premier Duplessis said that a group of Ontario mining companies represented by Andrew Robertson, an official of Barvue Mines, Ltd., want to launch the project.

He announced March 21 that Chicoutimi, 140 miles north of here, had been selected as the site for the refinery. The Premier said the Ontario group submitted "the best plans to date."

"We will do all possible for the rehabilitation of the shutdown Chicoutimi plants," he said, referring to properties of the defunct

Farmers As Ambassadors Is Proposed

Ottawa, April 5.—(P)—Gordon Graydon (PC-Peel) told Canada's diplomats yesterday they should send some farmers abroad as ambassadors and they should certainly try to do something about the disease of using initials to describe international organizations.

Mr. Graydon, the opposition's foreign affairs spokesman, unflinchingly proposed a Commons' committee buckled down to its annual job of studying the estimates for the external affairs department.

It was his argument, backed by M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, that the government is missing a good bet in failing to send some farmers abroad as heads of diplomatic missions. There are lots of qualified men available, he said, live stock breeders, wheat farmers and others who are quite capable of representing Canada.

A. D. P. Heene, departmental undersecretary, replied that Canada now has 12 agricultural attaches abroad and the farming community's interests "certainly aren't neglected." It was a question for the government to decide whether farmers should be made ambassadors.

The Graydon blast at initials came after Mr. Heene exploded a brand-new one — P.I.C.M.E., which stands for the Provincial International Committee for the Movement of Migrants from Europe.

Mr. Graydon said people first started to use initials to simplify names but the practice had spread so widely that now people were simply confused by the multitude of them.

Mr. Heene, in his summary of departmental activities, included these points:

1. The department is taking steps to implement the committee's 1951 recommendation that there should be closer liaison with the international service of the C.B.C.

One officer from the department spent part of each week at CBC headquarters and a full-time man would be assigned there later.

2. Canada is under "constant demands" to send representatives to foreign countries but she can only do so gradually.

3. Russia's share of the United Nations budget has been boosted to 9.85 from 6.98 per cent but Canada is going to press for an even higher Russian contribution.

4. Canada owns property in only 13 of 33 countries where she has representatives. She intends to keep buying properties gradually.

Result of the referendum "is eloquent and speaks for itself."

If Mayor Monroig, when he sought re-election, had made the kind of speeches he is currently making in support of the Liberal party, he "would have suffered the fate inflicted on his borrowing project."

Mr. Monroig has been speaking lately at Liberal meetings, calling for a "crusade" against Mr. Duplessis' Union Nationale party, and it is believed he will be the Liberal candidate opposing the Premier at the coming provincial elections.

A feud developed between the two men following the collapse of the $3,500,000 Duplessis bridge at Three Rivers.

The Protestant committee of the public education council had thanked the government for its "generous grants to Protestant schools in the province." Premier Duplessis said Quebec boasted of its just policy toward all minorities.

Meat restrictions, enforced after an outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in Saskatchewan, will continue until better means are found for the protection of public health and the provincial livestock industry, the government headed reiterated.

The Premier was still awaiting a report from Rene Trepanier, Quebec deputy minister of agriculture, who attended federal-provincial talks in Ottawa on problems arising from provincial embargoes and restrictions on meat imports. Quebec has a permit system for such imports.

New York, April 5.—(AP)—A cargo plane trying to land in a heavy rain crashed in thickly-populated Queens today, setting eight homes aflame and killed at least one man on the ground.

The plane, believed to be a twin-engined C-46, swooped down out of the rain-laden skies from the east, and burst into flames.

A wing cracked into a cruising police car as it hit the ground in the busy heart of the borough.

Police Inspector James Boylan, riding in the police car, was killed. His chauffeur was injured.

Location of the crash was given as 171st street and 89th avenue, in the centre of Queens. The borough lies midway between La Guardia Field and New York International Airport.

Three alarms of fire were sounded.

The scene is near a Queens terminal of the independent subway system, in a thickly built business and residential section.

La Guardia Field is on the northern edge of Queens. Idlewild is on the southern side of the borough. Jamaica is near the centre of the borough.

Police at the scene issued a call for "a large number of body bags," indicating a high death toll.

A steady rain was falling, and skies were heavily overcast.

Eight buildings were reported ablaze.

Queens is one of five New York boroughs. It is situated just across the East River to the east from Manhattan, south of the Bronx and north of Brooklyn.

Mobile, Ala., April 5.—(P)—Two United States Air Force transports collided north of Mobile last night and carried 15 crew members and passengers to flaming death.

Six of the dead were crew members aboard a giant four-engine C-124 Globemaster capable of carrying up to 200 troops.

Nine others were passengers and crew members on a C-47.

Maj. James C. Caldwell, provost marshal at Brookley Air Force base here, said pieces of the wreckage found at the crash scene indicated the two planes became locked together on impact and came to earth at the same spot.

The planes plunged to earth on top of a railway box car with a tremendous roar. A number of box cars caught fire.

Witnesses said the planes came together at a fairly low altitude. What caused the collision was not immediately determined.

Truman Says NATO Eases War Threat

Washington, April 5.—(P)—President Truman said yesterday the North Atlantic treaty alliance is steadily raising the odds against a third world war and is marshalling the strength to ward off any attack.

But State Secretary Dean Acheson warned that "danger is still with us—the hardest part of the task lies ahead."

The two presented these views at ceremonies marking the third anniversary of the signing of the original 12-country Atlantic treaty April 4, 1949. Since then, Greece and Turkey have joined the coalition of western allies in a common defence against the threat of Russian aggression.

Queen Juliana of the Netherlands, her husband, Prince Bernhard, and numerous high officials attended the ceremonies in Constitution Hall.

In London, Lord Ismay, 65, wartime chief-of-staff to Winston Churchill, took over Friday as N.A.T.O. secretary-general. Today N.A.T.O. begins moving to Paris where it hopes to be established by April 17.

(In Ottawa, External Affairs Minister Pearson, made public letters to Ismay and Charles M. Spofford, retiring chairman of the N.A.T.O. council of deputies.

Mr. Pearson said that during the last three years N.A.T.O. has advanced from an idea to a reality. He told Ismay he can "count on receiving the confident support of all of us.")

Truman hit out at advocates of the United States withdrawing from Europe's troubles. He said "peace through neutrality and isolation... never will work."

Truman also struck back at Soviet propaganda blasts accusing the western alliance of being a war-making organization and a threat to Russia.

"The North Atlantic treaty is an instrument of peace," Truman said.

"All the lies and smears of hostile propaganda cannot conceal that our nations have entered this treaty to preserve peace. The people of our countries don't want to fight another war; they want to prevent one."

Queen Juliana said in her brief remarks:

"N.A.T.O. is an alliance of free nations and therefore can never look forbidding to the outside world. The Atlantic pact must never be something negative meaning 'we want no war.' It should be something positive, meaning the allies want to create peace."

Doctors Called For Queen Mary

London, April 5.—(Reuters)—Three doctors, one an eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, were called to visit Queen Mary today.

The 84-year-old dowager Queen, who is suffering from a slight chill, was remaining indoors during the week-end at her London home as a precaution, officials stated.

She was said to be a little better today.

The doctors who visited her included her two personal physicians, Sir John Weir and Sir Horace Evans, and Dr. J. D. McLaggan, the specialist.

Labor Wins Control In London

London, April 5.—(P)—The Labor party won control of the London County Council by an overwhelming margin in election results yesterday and trimmed Conservative majorities in 10 other counties.

Labor party leaders hailed the results of the triennial balloting for council seats yesterday as an indication Britons are fed up with Churchill's national Conservative government, not yet six months old.

Conservative leaders said the results were an inevitable reaction in which Labor "exploited the difficulties of the nation for which they themselves are largely responsible."

Labor campaigners had blamed the Conservative government for boosting prices, cutting food ration and adding to charges for national health services.

The local elections were the first since the general parliamentary election last October. Elections in many of the remaining 32 counties will be held later.

Printing Of Million Copies Of Revised Bible Has Started

By SHERRY BOWEN

New York, April 5.—(AP)—Almost 1,000,000 Bibles which are different by many changes of words and phrases from the older English versions will be out soon.

The revised standard version is authorized by the National Council of Churches which holds the copyright. Working with the Council are a number of denominations which do not belong to it. Included are almost all the major churches in the United States except the Roman Catholic.

A committee of Bible scholars has been working since 1937 on the version. The New Testament was completed in 1945 and published in 1946. About 2,000,000 copies have been sold. Now the Old Testament is finished.

Three sets of presses will complete printing of the new Bible about Sept. 30, when first copies will be released to the public. Thomas Nelson and Sons, the publisher, says it is the biggest first edition in history. Included are 825,000 copies of the whole Bible and 50,000 two-volume sets of the Old Testament.

Dr. Luther A. Weigle, dean emeritus of Yale Divinity school, is chairman of the committee which made the revision.

"We have sought to recover the Bible," he says. "We have sought to preserve the great values, literary and religious, of the King James version."

Weigle expects the revised version will replace the King James for most English-speaking churches, although he and other members of the committee recognize the King James has been a mighty force in religion and that millions know the Scriptures only in that version.

"For more than a century, scholars have known that a revision of the King James was needed," Weigle says.

Most new material has been found by Bible scholars in the last 75 years. Some 300 words used in the Bible have changed meaning since the King James was prepared in 1611. In some cases translations were wrong.

The King James version of the New Testament was made from a Greek text that contained more than 5,000 errors, the accumulated mistakes of 14 centuries of manuscript copying. Erasmus, whose edition of the Greek text was basic for the King James scholars, used only eight mediaeval manuscripts. Scholars now have about 4,500 manuscripts of the New Testament inscribed in Greek prior to the invention of printing.

Archaeological discoveries in the last 17 years have added greatly to the resources of scholars for understanding the meaning of the Hebrew, Aramaic and Greek in which the Bible was written.

The changed meaning of English words is simply a matter of the development of the English language.

"Allege," which formerly meant to prove, now means merely to assert. "Prevent," which formerly meant go before, now means to stop. "Conversation" in the King James meant conduct or manner of life and "communicate" meant to share.

The committee declined to give out quotations from the revised New Testament before publication.

But public interest has made that policy difficult to follow. Some portions of the text have appeared in print. Here are some comparisons of phraseology between the revised and the King James.

Revised:

Genesis 2:8 And 2:12

Serve the Lord with fear, and when they were in the field, Cain rose up against his brother Abel, and killed him.

King James

And Cain talked with Abel his brother: and it came to pass, when they were in the field, that Cain rose up against Abel his brother, and slew him.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY
PROMPTS ED WYNN'S
FIRST REMINISCING

Hollywood—Guys and Dolls: It's 50 years in show business for giggling Ed Wynn, who's finally dropping the "Iron Curtain" he's always kept around his youthful memories.

"I've never reminisced," he told me, "but I know I have to this year. Fifty years in show business is an event."

Some of Ed's reminiscing:

He ran away from home at 15 to play a mandolin for a medicine man on a buckboard wagon. On Aug. 8, 1902, he made his stage debut for $12 a week in Norwich, Conn., in a stock company presenting the play, "American Girl."

"My mother was Turkish and my father was a Bohemian Jew," he giggled. "So what role did they give me? They cast me as a 70-year-old Methodist minister!" But there was vaudeville between the acts, he said, and "That's where I got my chance to be funny. I remember it well because I'm still telling the same jokes."

Now it's the "Reissue Hairdo." Lois Collier's got one for her role of Kent Taylor's girl friend in the "Boston Blackie" films. No up-to-date poodle cut for Lois, who says:

"It's medium length—not too short and not too long. You know why? So I won't be out of style when they reissue the pictures for the next 10 years. My clothes are the same—suits and medium-length skirts. Reissue clothes."

Lois is beaming about her sophisticated role with Kent in the "Blackie" films. "It's real Myrna Loy 'Thin Man' stuff even with a dog resembling Asta"—after four years of smirking ingenues at U.I.

"The best role I ever had at Universal," says Lois, "was in 'Slave Girl.' But I can't say as much for the story. Brod Crawford bought me for $2 and spent the rest of the film trying to get rid of me."

He Keeps Them Guessing
Perfumed fan letters have been smelling up Fox's fan mail department since the release of "The Day the Earth Stood Still" and the reason is tall, craggy-faced British import Michael Rennie.

Rennie didn't even kiss Pat Neal in the science-fiction opera, but he has a good idea why distaff-siders are drooling.

"It made them wonder how I would make love," he theorized on the "Les Miserables" set. "Giving them the idea that you might do it fairly well and yet not doing it inspires romance in women. I hope I never have to play big love scenes. It's better to keep them guessing."

"Once you successfully play a love scene, it's an awful wiggle to get out of the lower class. They try to keep you looking as fresh and as young as possible up to the bitter end. How long can a man keep it up?"

Joan Crawford's free after more than 25 years as a studio movie queen and she's wide-eyed about strange sound stages and taking a hand in the production of her own movies.

Why hasn't Joan joined Loretta Young, Barbara Stanwyck, Bette Davis and Irene Dunne as a freelance lass before this?

"I don't know," she says. "It's something you work up to. It's frightening after always having had a home base. But being free is the most wonderful feeling in the world."

Joan's pictures haven't all been bell-ringers since "Mildred Pierce," but she doesn't blame her former Warner bosses.

"I did beg to play 'Humoresque' and 'Possessed.' And I chose 'Goodbye, My Fancy' because nobody in it was frustrated and there were no murders. But only half of the fans were glad for the change of pace. The others told me to go on making hard-boiled pictures."

TV Brings Back Memories
Humphrey Bogart's confessing he was a bug-eyed viewer of TV's presentation of the stage and movie hit, "The Petrified Forest." It was Bogie's role of the killer, Duke Mantee, which catapulted him to fame. He remembers:

"There were only 10 pages of dialogue but no one ever took their eyes off Duke because they weren't sure when he was going to shoot up the place. It was the greatest role I ever had."

Bette Davis and the late Leslie Howard were Bogart's co-stars in the film and it was because of Howard that Bogart is a movie star today. He told me: "I almost didn't get the movie role. Warners wanted Eddie Robinson for the part. Leslie heard about it and told Jack Warner he wouldn't do the picture if I wasn't cast as Duke. I owe my whole movie career to Howard."

She said there was a great deal of unrest in the city, with the threat of the communists taking the city and when they did come, the work of the schools and missions were taken under the communist control. The Chinese children are usually the ones the communists work on, but some students meet for religious training under the Church of Christ in China. But the work of the Christian Church will not cease even though the Imperialistic Army has closed some mission schools. They will still gather in groups, when they can for religious teaching by those of their own people, who have become proficient teachers. Waterloo Kiwanis
Club Enjoyed Talk
By Charles Slack

Waterloo, April 5. — The Waterloo Kiwanians held their weekly meeting on Tuesday night with vice-president George Dallaire presiding, in the absence of president Moe Katz, who is ill in the General Jewish Hospital, Montreal.

Two guests, Mr. Sam Marshall, of South Stukley, and Notary Louis Godbout, of Waterloo, were present along with a very good turnout of members to hear the guest speaker, Kiwanian Charlie Slack, talk on his recent trip to Trinidad.

Charlie Slack has a way of describing a trip, which is interesting, intellectual and educational. His talk on Tuesday night was no exception.

He left with his wife by plane from Toronto, Ont., and circled Niagara Falls and New York City on their way to Bermuda, where they stayed a few days.

From there they went to Trinidad, which Mr. Slack stated, is the best island in the British West Indies and is the leader in producing sugar, which is their main crop. Other produce includes cocoa, grapefruit, bananas, oranges and coconuts. There are two oil refineries with most of the crude oil coming from South America. Of course there is the famous pitch lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Slack visited other islands in the group among which was Granada, where they grow spices, including cloves, mace, cocoa and cinnamon. This too is a lovely island with fine bathing. The accommodations in these places was good but not exceptional. The flowers were beautiful, with varieties Mr. Slack did not know.

The fruit were excellent and vegetables were best out of the tin. They do not have good vegetables in the islands, the speaker went on, whether they cannot grow them, or whether they do not want to grow them, he did not know.

"The people of the island, the natives, are not too ambitious," the speaker said, "and they are satisfied with very little, their houses are poor and unattractive to say the least, but they do have music. They entertain with what they call steel bands, and the instruments are made of steel drums, cut off at different lengths to produce the tonal qualities, and then holes are drilled in them to produce the note value." "In this way," Mr. Slack stated, "they bring forth some very good music by beating on these instruments, and each town and hamlet has its steel bands."

In closing, Charlie Slack brought up the question of politics and he stated that as far as including these islands in Canada as the eleventh province has been suggested by certain Canadian politicians, he claimed that he would be very much against it. It would amount to keeping these people by means of the baby bonus and old age pension, and they would not work, and the wonderful vegetation of these islands would not only suffer but would be ultimately destroyed. He is convinced that such a move would be disastrous not only to Canada but to the islands of the West Indies as well.

Kiwanian Bob Millinchamp introduced the speaker and Kiwanian Pete Gunter warmly thanked him.

It was announced that very good progress had been made in connection with the coming date on April 18, in the High School, as well as the Horse Show for early July. The school fair is being thoroughly organized and it is hoped to have seeds and plants ready in plenty of time for summer growing.

On April 26th, the Magog Club are holding a big International Inter-Club meeting, when Waterloo is one of the clubs that would be represented.

of Sherbrooke, were week-end guests of Mrs. MacIntyre's parents Mr. and Mrs. W. Brown and her brother, Mr. Clifford Brown, Mr. and Mrs. T. Billings were evening guests at the same home.

Master Ivan Douglas was an overnight guest of Master Henry Musty.

Mr. Arthur Collins has returned to his work in Sherbrooke, after a few days confined to his home by illness. Friends of Mrs. Collins will be pleased that their is a steady improvement in her health.

Textile Workers' Syndicate At Magog Granted Petition In Superior Court

Mr. Justice William Mitchell, in Superior Court, handed out a judgment yesterday granting the Catholic Syndicate of Textile Workers of Magog, their petition for an interlocutory order of injunction against the Dominion Textile to cease imposing illegal conditions of employment in the Magog plant. He also granted the petitioner's partial inscription in law, the whole with costs against the respondent company.

The issue arose from the provisions of a collective labor agreement signed on November 22, 1950, to provide for orderly collective bargaining relations between the parties.

It was agreed that the agreement be registered in accordance with the provisions of the Professional Syndicates Act.

By Art. 17 of the agreement provision is made for changes concerning tasks, work assignments, piece work rates, changes of an hourly rated occupation to a piece work rated occupation or vice versa and the establishment of new rates therefore, during the course of the agreement. By this article the changes are submitted to the "Comite d'Entente Comite" and if this committee does not agree on such changes the parties agree to follow the procedure set out in the article.

The procedure provides for a period of trial of the changes after which, if there is no agreement on the change, provision is made by which the association (the petitioner) will notify the company and the Minister of Labour to this effect. The Minister then immediately appoints an arbitrator board under the provisions of the Quebec Trade Disputes Act.

Certain changes were given a trial in accordance with the procedure above mentioned, on July 10, 1951, which changes involved one man watching three machines in the finishing room (stenter frame) whereas in the past one man had been assigned to one machine.

Results of sales in the Eastern Townships were as follows: Acton Vale $335.00; Arthabaska, $720.50; Brome-Missisquoi $2,500; Drummond $1,767.44; Frontenac $1,561.19; Granby $1,866.60; Magog $663.09; Richmond $675.50; Sherbrooke, Anti-tuberculosis League of St. Francis, $7,130.46 (Sherbrooke $4,712.74; Asbestos, Danville and Wotton $1,969.26; East Angus etc., $448.46); Thetford Mines $828; Warwick $261.92; Waterloo $1,221.44; Windsor Mills $526.93.

Baptists Here And In Hatley Greet Ex-Pastor

The Baptist congregation of Sherbrooke this week-end welcomes back a former pastor, Rev. Percy G. Buck.

Mr. Buck, who came to Sherbrooke as a student pastor in 1917 and remained here for two years prior to returning to university and then embarking on foreign missions, will speak to the morning and evening congregations Sunday and in the afternoon will address the North Hatley Baptists. Sunday morning his theme will be "The Ever-Widening Stream," and will be broadcast over station CKTS, "Missions in Bolivia in Pictures" is the topic of his Sunday evening sermon at which time he will show beautiful 16-mm. films of the Baptist mission work in that South American country. There will be an informal gathering at the close of the service so friends will have the opportunity of meeting Mr. Buck.

After leaving Sherbrooke in 1919, Mr. Buck returned to McMaster University, Hamilton, Ont., and then went out to Bolivia as a missionary under the Baptist Foreign Mission Board. During their five-year period in Bolivia, Mr. and Mrs. Buck have worked in the Oruru and Cochabamba fields with much success. In the latter area, under the direction of Dr. Earl Merrick and Mr. Buck, a Baptist Bible college was established to train native Christians for service among their own people.

Just recently, in La Paz, the seat of government, the Baptists purchased a radio station and now broadcast the only Protestant religious programs in Bolivia, in four languages, morning and evening.

At present on furlough, Mr. Buck recently conducted a mission at Feller Institute, Grand Ligne, Que.

active effect given to the decision by the decision itself, the agreement or the statute.

Counsel for respondent raised the question that the petitioner was bound under Section 24 to make proof that the consent of the employees was not obtained for the changes put into effect on January 14, 1952, but Mr. Justice Mitchell stated he did not believe this to be so, saying "if the conditions are changed by the employer he can only do so with the consent of the employees and he is bound to show that he obtained the consent otherwise it is presumed not to have been obtained."

In conclusion the judgment reads: "The petition is therefore maintained and an interlocutory injunction is hereby granted by which the respondent, its officers and representatives are ordered to cease to impose upon the employees of the finishing room (stenter frame) in its mills at Magog in the District of St. Francis, the conditions of employment by which one operator operates three machines, the whole with costs against the respondent."

Carrier Fortin, of Sherbrooke, represented the petitioners, while the company was represented by Andre Forget, of Montreal.

First Meeting Of New City Council Will See Many Changes In Effect

Whether or not Monday evening's regular session of the Sherbrooke City Council produces anything in the way of excitement, it should be of interest for one reason—it will see one of the most drastic reorganizations the Council has undergone in many years.

Not only will it be presided over by a new mayor, Emile Levesque, who was elected a few days ago to succeed Senator Charles B. Howard, but two of the senior committees will have new chairmen owing to the retirement of veteran members of the body.

Former Alderman Armand Fiset, who had been chairman of the General Administration committee for many years, has been replaced by Ald. Henri Labonne, while the long-time head of the Public Works Department, ex-Ald. Oliva Desjardins, has been replaced by Ald. Sylvio Rousseau.

Just what effect these changes will have on Council procedure can only be told through experience, but there may be a curtailment in the rather extended sessions of the Committee of the Whole which in the past have delayed the start of the regular sessions for several hours.

Ex-Ald. Fiset was never too keen on extended discussion at the public sessions of the Council, preferring to carry out any arguments in the committee. Ald. Labonne, on the other hand, has never been averse to open debate and has been ever ready to present his views before the audience. Thus he may welcome the opportunity for more frequent airings of public affairs.

For some time there has been the feeling among a group of the aldermen that their work could be cut down if each committee could decide its own affairs and report to the Council for confirmation rather than by continuing the present system of having all reports cleared by the Committee of the Whole before presentation for routine approval. It is possible that some such development may result from the Council reorganization.

The Old Black Crow, who sometimes manages to get into the committee sessions, says he was there Thursday evening when the new chairmen were decided upon and that at least two aldermen are very vexed with the decisions arrived at. Both these individuals felt that they were entitled to the senior post of General Administration chairman and made it clear that they should have the position.

If this information is to be believed, tempers mounted to the fever level and as one of the dissatisfied individuals is known for the drastic nature of his outbursts the Crow is probably right in saying that fistfights were narrowly avoided.

In any case, neither of them gained their point and both were left with their former portfolios. They were both breathing threats of vengeance when the session broke up and it may be they will have something to tell the public when the Council meets on Monday.

The citizens will know better on Tuesday.

Study Of Agricultural Marketing To Be Made At Farm Forum Meeting

In view of the serious marketing situation now facing agriculture, the Sherbrooke County Farm Forum invites various farm organizations, organized labor, chambers of commerce, and other groups or individuals who may wish to take part, to study both the immediate as well as some long-term stabilization of volume of production and price structure of farm products.

The meeting will be held in the Gertrude Scott Hall, Lennoxville, on Wednesday, April 16th, and will be an all day affair — from nine o'clock in the morning until five p.m. D. McArthur, chairman of the Quebec Farm Forum Live Stock Committee, will preside at the gathering. Luncheon will be served by the Farm Forum ladies.

It is hoped that members of both the Provincial and Federal governments will be present.

Agenda will be carried out in the established Farm Forum method, the first half of the meeting devoted to the presentation of facts by all delegates, the second half devoted to small-group discussion of facts presented, and summarizing of these findings to prepare the best means of remedial action.

The County Farm Forum hopes that from this meeting will emerge a national organization, composed of people from all walks of life, who will be able to study and make available authentic information on all matters of national importance regarding marketing.

The committee planning the meeting believes that greater progress can be made at the meeting if prospective attendees and organizations will make an advance study of the vast subject of marketing farm products and price relationship and how they affect the whole economy of the nation.

Local Musicians Are Soloists At Band Concert

MARCEL MARCOTTE

At the annual spring concert by the Harmonie de Sherbrooke, to be given in the Saint Jean Baptiste Parish hall April 22nd., the solos will be shared by two prominent local musicians: Marcel Marcotte, and Florent Garant.

This will be a departure from the customary policy of past years in which a Sherbrooke player has shared the solo honours with an outside guest. The reason for the change this year is to give local audiences a greater opportunity to hear more of the many outstanding talents in the Sherbrooke Band, and from the initial response to the ticket sale, it would appear that local concert goers approve of the plan enthusiastically.

Marcel Marcotte, first clarinetist of the Band of first oboist of the Sherbrooke Orchestra, will be heard in neither of these capacities as soloist at the coming concert, but as alto saxophonist in the brilliant "Scaramouche" suite by Darius Milhaud. This music borrows much of its color and rhythms from South American folk-song, and dance music, and gives the soloist ample opportunity to demonstrate tone and technique.

Florent Garant, trumpet soloist at this concert, will play the Concerto for Trumpet and Band by the English composer Denis Wright. Written for and dedicated to the British virtuoso, Harry Mortimer, it requires an unusually wide playing range and the utmost clarity of performance. For these reasons it is infrequently heard, and the Sherbrooke Band is proud to be able to present it with one of the band members as soloist.

Harry Long will direct the balance of the program which will include music by Beethoven, von Weber, Raval, Moussorgsky, and Morton Gould.

New Elders Ordained At Trinity Church

On Sunday morning, March 30, an impressive service of worship was held in Trinity Church under the direction of the session of the church. The service was conducted by Peter Pollock, chairman of the Missionary and Maintenance Committee of the church. He was assisted by George Brault, recording steward, who read the Scripture; Charles Rublee, who led the congregation in prayer, and Robert Bell, who gave a very inspirational address. The choir of the church under the direction of Professor Havard rendered an anthem.

The service of ordination was conducted by the minister, Rev. T. D. F. Everett, who ordained three new elders in the persons of Solon Barnes, Sr., Forrest Lord, Sr., Francis Doyle.

A fourth elder-elect, Harold Planché, was unable to be present for ordination due to illness. He will be ordained at a later date.

At the morning service this Sunday, April 6, several new members will be received into full communion in the church and the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed.

During the winter, Mrs. Bell, the church organist, has been working with a Children's Choir. The Senior Choir will also be heard in a Palm Sunday anthem.

At the evening service this week Mr. Jeanne, organist of Plymouth Church, will be the guest organist in Trinity and the members of the choir of Plymouth will assist with the service of praise.

IF RUSSIA OWNED ALASKA

The recent declaration in Toronto by Vice-admiral Mainguy that Russia now possesses between 300 and 400 submarines and plans to have a total of 1,000 and his further declaration that "They can land sabotage parties on unwatched coasts. They can lay mines in approaches to harbors . . . they can also bombard shore objectives," prompts the Halifax Chronicle-Herald to comment:

And how much more effectively they could accomplish those designs in case of war had they bases on this side of the Pacific. It is an arresting coincidence that the admiral's warning should have been given within a few days of the anniversary of the U.S. purchase of Alaska from Russia. On March 30, 1867 — just 85 years ago last week-end — that vast land on Canada's northwest changed hands. Nearly 600,000 square miles were added to the domain of the United States.

The deal was far from popular below the border where it was described as "Seward's Folly" and the new possession described as an "ice-box." And Canadians themselves didn't take any too kindly to the transaction. Through the years many have wished that the long finger of Alaska did not extend so far down the coast of British Columbia.

It is different now. How thankful Canadians may be that it is the United States that owns Alaska — including that long finger of land running down the west coast of British Columbia. Imagine our feelings if the Russian submarines which Admiral Mainguy has been talking about were able to use their own bases on this continent, if Russian troops could manoeuvre within a few miles of British Columbia's cities, if Communist colonies lay near the Yukon border.

GETTING OUT OF HAND

If one remembers rightly, a statement by the then Prime Minister, W. L. Mackenzie King, to the effect that he would not grant a "five cent piece" to any Tory government in any province for unemployment relief did much to shoot his government out of power in 1930. A new slogan of "Who's going to stop us," may have an equal effect in arousing public resentment when the chips are down in the next general election. The Windsor Star, independent, offers this thought:

George A. Drew, Conservative leader, says that a senior member of the Canadian Government in referring to an action taken, declared: "If we wanted to get away with it, who is going to stop us?" That is Hitlerian in its attitude. The people have some say in the affairs of this nation. Mr. Drew has something when he keeps insisting that the people have some rights in the governing of Canada and it is time to restore some of the rights to Parliament.

To which the old truth, as once expressed by Lord Acton, may be added: "Power corrupts, infirmities become inevitable to all who hold office too long."

SOCIAL SECURITY

"The Colorado penitentiary budget includes an item for advertising and publicity." At least, this is what a press association report says. It might be wondered if the penitentiary runs ads along this line: "Commit a crime and gain admission to our penitentiary where you will have social security and no taxes to pay."

Washington Column

COMPOSITE PICTURE OF NATO GROWTH SHOWS VALUE OF PLAN
Washington — (NEA) — Three years old on April 4, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is suffering from growing pains. Congressional and public opinion in the United States are still sharply divided on the infant NATO's future.

Much of the difference of opinion comes from a difficulty in getting any clear picture of NATO growth. What has it cost? How much has it contributed to its own support? What is the U.S. share of that burden over the three-year period and beyond?

This composite picture is somewhat muddled by the confusion of delay between the time money is appropriated and the finished goods are delivered in Europe. This lead-time in getting the pipelines filled is 13 to 24 months on major items.

From this slowness in getting started has arisen the argument that NATO now has $10 million or more unspent. Appropriation of the $6 billion now requested for Europe is therefore said to be unnecessary. This is the case for cutting the $7.9 billion asked for all foreign aid.

The other side of the argument is based on the fact that NATO had to start from scratch. The first nine months were spent in the pregnant business of getting the treaty ratified by the member governments. American aid could not begin till January, 1950 when bilateral military assistance agreements were signed by the U.S. and European governments. That was when NATO was really born.

NATO Grew Fast As Working Reality
First U.S. arms shipments to Europe was not made till March 8, 1950. So NATO is only a little over two years old as a working reality. General Eisenhower did not assume his NATO command till January 1951. The build-up of European rearmament under his leadership is only 15 months old. In spite of these delays, the growth of Europe's own defense effort, exclusive of U.S. aid, can be shown like this, in billions of dollars:

	Expend. in Europe	European Def. Budgets	Production in Europe
1949-50	$ 4.50	$ 5.7	$1.25
1950-51	6.25	7.4	1.80
1951-52	9.25	11.0	2.50
1952-53 Estimates	12.50	14.5	3.00

Totals $32.50 $38.6 $9.15
These figures do not include defense budgets of Greece and Turkey.

The American contribution to this western European defense effort, again exclusive of Greece and Turkey, is tabulated like this, also in billions of dollars:

	Appro. Fiscal Year	Allocated Jan. 31, 1952	Expended Jan. 31, 1952	Delivered
1949-50	$ 1
1950-51	4.5			$.9
1951-52	4.3	$8.8	$1.4	2.5 Est.
1952-53	$10.3

Requested 5.9 Estimated 6.8

Total $16.2 Estimated $10.2
Undelivered military aid, on order, in production or in the pipeline will thus be about $6 billion as of July 1, 1953. The $5.9 billion requested for next year included $4.1 of direct military assistance and $1.8 billion for defense support materials.

U.S. Supplies Third Of Total NATO Defense
The total American military aid appropriated for Western Europe in the first three years of NATO — $10.3 billion — is roughly half of the $20 billion which Western Europe spent on its own defenses in this same period. Of it is a third of the combined European-American total expenditures for European defense.

Actual deliveries of $3.4 billion worth of American military aid by July 1, 1952 will be only 17 per cent of European expenditures. Deliveries up to the end of 1951 include 7000 tanks and combat vehicles, 30,000 motor transport vehicles, 9000 radios and radar, 10,000 artillery pieces, 316 naval vessels, 1300 aircraft, 670,000 small arms and 240 million rounds of ammunition.

The need for military security has prevented a breakdown on where NATO's 50 divisions are to come from. The U.S. six-division contribution is 12 per cent of this total. The 50-division figure does not include the 12 German divisions to be recruited next year.

The question of whether Europe is contributing its share is moot. It can be judged only by comparing complicated statistics on gross national product, per capita, wealth and the percentage of income going to taxes and to national defense. This year Europe is putting eight per cent of its gross national product into defense, the average American is left with $1900, the average European with only $300 to $800.

PRESS COMMENTS

MORE ON THE PRICE OF MILK

Ottawa Journal

Frequently at consumer meetings where milk costs are being discussed the suggestion has been made that if dairy farmers were more efficient the public could expect lower prices for all dairy products. At times too the argument takes in distributors, with the suggestion made that their profits are excessive. Some figures recently made public put a new light on these charges.

For instance a Macdonald College professor recently made a study of farm migration in Canada which showed that in the 10 years of the 1940's over 800,000 moved away from farms in this country, and that the net loss in farm workers in the past 20 years was 20 per cent. But with mechanization and more scientific methods total farm production in Canada in that same period increased by 20 per cent.

Along the same line Mr. J. S. Turnbull, then president of the National Dairy Council, stated recently that in the past 25 years the average production of dairy cows in Canada had risen from 3,794 pounds yearly to 4,626, an increase of almost 22 per cent which is higher by several hundred pounds yearly than the average for 22 leading dairying countries of the world.

In its recent annual report the Borden Company, one of the largest milk distributing firms in Canada, states that its profit on Canadian sales in 1951 was 14 cents on each sales dollar, compared to two cents in 1950. Reports of other large dairy firms confirm this small profit margin, so low that in a small business without large volume it could well spell bankruptcy.

Farming, especially dairy farming, has become a highly skilled and scientific business in recent years and the great advances that have been made by both dairy animals and manpower units. It is doubtful if many other skilled trades where the human factor is still important can show a better picture of over-all efficiency.

ILLICIT VOTING UNCOVERED

Windsor Star

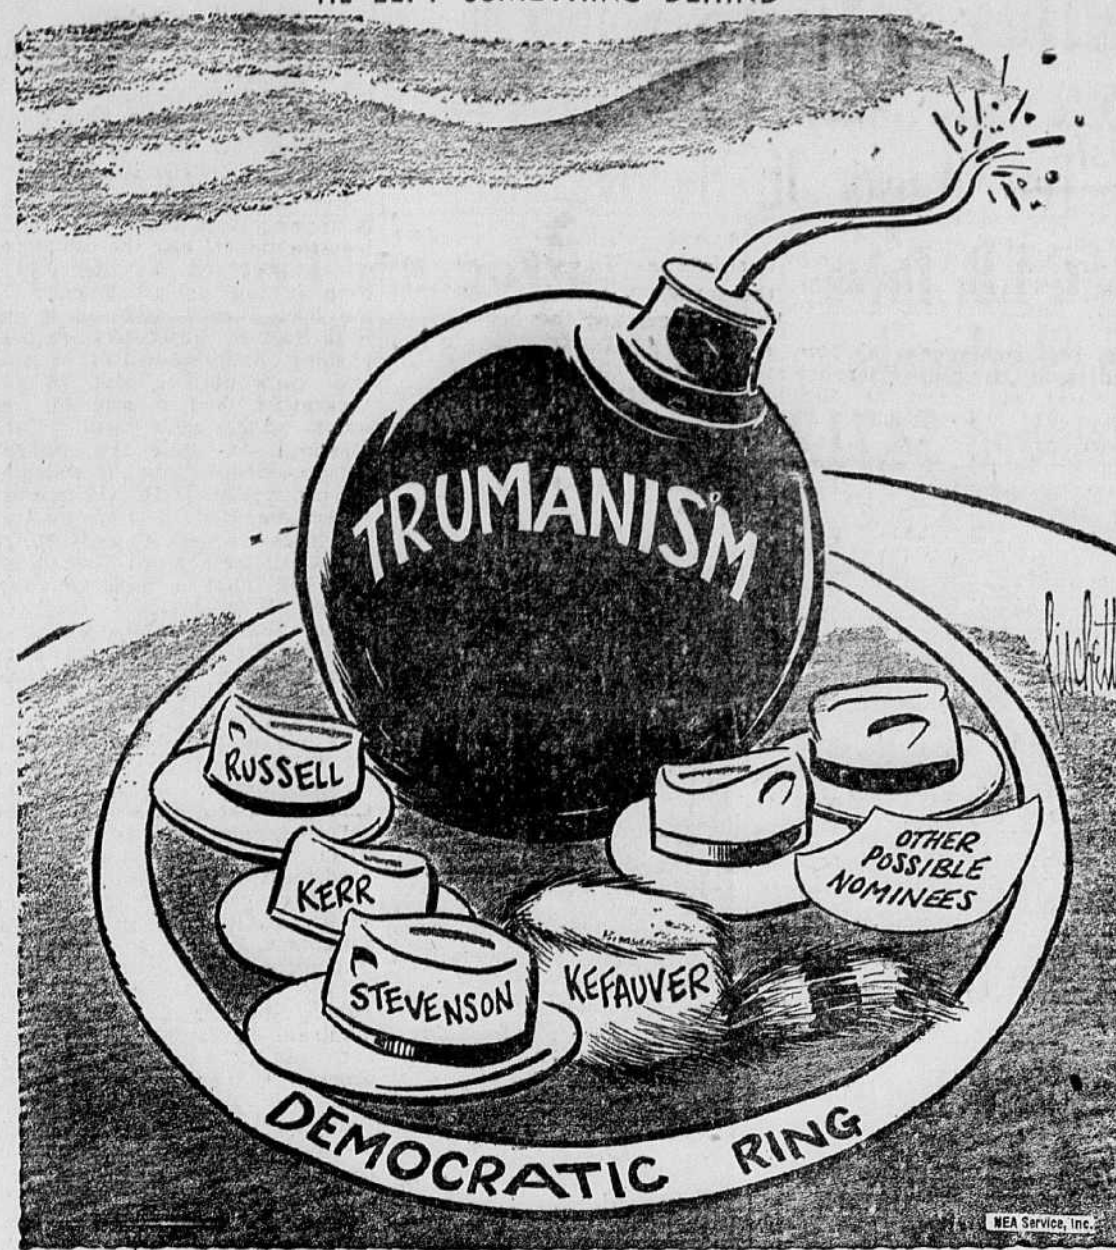

Toronto has turned up a taxi-owner who voted in Canadian elections for the past 32 years, although all that time he was an American citizen. An investigation is being made, but about all that can be done is to tell him to stop voting or become naturalized. In the meantime most persons won't consider the affair worth worrying about.

If this sort of thing is unusual it still is by no means rare. It happens in many places. It has happened here. Enumerators will put names on voters' lists without making a citizenship check; and those who find themselves able to vote sometimes do so, with the best of intent.

Whether they vote more intelligently than accredited electors is impossible to say. But certainly they vote when many eligible persons don't.

This casting of ballots by non-citizens is reported in the United States, too, from time to time. There the offenders frequently turn out to be Canadians who assumed they were citizens, but were not. Nothing much happens, and the public worries less, when one of these occurrences is reported. It's enough for the law to shake a finger and say, "Don't let it happen again."

HE LEFT SOMETHING BEHIND

"MARKS"

By REV. B. S. MURRAY, M.A.

Each of us is different. There are no two alike. You have therefore certain characteristics that make you, you! Then, there are those enthusiastic, forceful personalities who arrest attention; these we speak of as "marked" men or women.

Now during these Lenten weeks we have been considering some of these—David, Joseph, Patrick, Mary the Mother of Jesus, Daniel and George VI. With the approach of Palm Sunday and Holy Week, I hear, across the centuries, that marked man Paul say: "God forbid that I should glory save in the Cross of our Lord Jesus Christ" (Gal 6:14).

"Christ liveth in me" (Gal 2:20) . . . I bear in my body the marks of Jesus" (Gal 6:17).

"PAUL—A MARKED MAN"
Mark? Paul had these. As a servant of Jesus Christ, he was branded so that people might know who his Master was.

Today when we speak of Brands, think of cattle on the range. In Paul's day it was a very common method of marking soldiers and slaves. So when Paul wrote to the Galatians "I bear on my body the marks of Jesus" he is simply saying in effect: "Just as the temple slaves are branded with the name of their deity to proclaim to all the world their lifelong dedication, so bear on my body the marks of scourging, stonings—the scars of a life of complete and faithful service to my Lord and Master Jesus Christ. When Paul met Jesus on the Damascus Road and was converted, he gave himself to Jesus Christ for all time and eternity. He did not paint on the sign of the cross and perpetual devotion to Jesus Christ but he branded it on. It is not a decision he could make today and change tomorrow, an allegiance he render one day and crawl out from under the next but rather a voluntary lifelong dedication to Jesus Christ that all the persecutions, hardship, opposition, sufferings, and inconveniences could not change. He gave himself to Jesus Christ for life.

STIGMATA
On all true Christians you will find marks of Jesus. Nor is this limited to the past. Today on the bodies of His followers you will find "brands." With reverence we recall that St. Francis of Assisi and St. Catherine of Siena are said to have developed the marks of the nails in their hands which we call "stigmata"—the Greek word for "marks." Christians then, in measure, bear the marks of their conflict and overcoming of Satan and sin.

THE CROSS
Of the supreme conflict of evil versus good—Love versus sin—we think during these remaining Lenten days. With dramatic beauty, the Evangelists record the Story of the Last Week—the Story of the Cross—with Jesus as the Central Figure displaying an amazing courage as He rides in lowly majesty into Jerusalem to reign as King for a day! Along the road people strewed palms, and scattered their garments. The children lustily sang, "Hosanna! Save now! And to the Cross, trod One who was named Jesus" for He shall save His people from their sins."

To Him, the Cross was a terrible experience. But it meant doing the will of God by giving up His life to make known the love of the Father for the world. To His Father's will, Jesus bowed in humble submission and holy dedication. There then, on a Tree—a tree of glory, tree most fair—Christ balanced and made the Supreme Sacrifice on Calvary which was a full, complete, and sufficient sacrifice, oblation, and satisfaction for the sins of the whole world. There was no one else good enough to pay that price and spoil and spoiler—Satan—of his prey.

Hard must be the heart that is not moved by this generous love. Those who have grasped the spiritual meaning of the Passion Story will not view sin easily. Nor will they fail to remember that the malice and deadly impiety of sin leads always to defeat. Sin then must be attacked. As a Christian you must ignore Satan resisting him steadfast in the faith (1 Peter 5:9) and daily smiting his special sin—by the merit of the holy Cross. There is strength available in "the means of grace" to accomplish this. Bear in mind through all life's changing scenes that Christ expects you to make your obedience to Him an expression, not of submission only but of a deep and abiding love reflected in a life that is "pure and holy."

THE SIGN OF THE CROSS
There is really no alternative for with the sign of the Cross implanted on your brow at your Baptism, you were dedicated permanently and enrolled in Christ's Army. There and then you were stamped—branded—His alone and your sponsors promised that you would bear Christ's banner manfully firm at your post remain till the end of the day.

This physical "mark" is not the end but only the beginning of a great adventure of daily endeavouring to cultivate, like Paul, the mind of Christ. Further, with a right spirit towards God and Righteousness, our lives will show forth a spirit of love, sympathy, kindness, tolerance, unselfishness.

The Record Short Story

PINS AND PAPER CLIPS

By NORMAN L. LOWNDES

"This is the day," Ellen, the trim little page girl, said in tone almost of pity, as she delivered a batch of late mail. Ginny Lee set at her secretarial desk in the swanky Belle-Terry Hotel, just outside of the President's office, and looked at Ellen's pert little face.

"Yes," Ginny sighed. This was probably the last day she would ever see or even hear from Tom Albright. Big things lay ahead for Tom. He was leaving his present assistant manager's job to become general manager of a new small hotel the Belle-Terry Company had just bought. It was a wonderful step for him, and he little realized how much Ginny had had to do with his getting it.

Ginny had made quite a pet of Ellen, and on that basis Ellen took the privilege of speaking her mind. "Putting in a good word for Mr. Albright every chance you got! Just sent him away from you, that's what you did." And she gave her little bolero jacket a tug as if to indicate positively that was something she wouldn't do. "Gee, Miss Lee, you must be completely cracked!"

So I'm cracked, Ginny thought. But Tom deserved it, and if she could help him she would, even if it meant losing him. Losing him! She grunted at herself. She Ellen went on, "I hear the big shots are taking him out for a farewell party, but it's to be stag. But, then, you'd know about that." Yes, Ginny knew, and it was just as well. Why prolong the agony? She would just say good-bye to him here in the office, wish him well, and that would be that. She caught a glimpse of herself in a distant wall mirror and gasped. There was the blonde hair in perfect order, the blue eyes, as usual, and the lipstick holding its own. But the expression! Good heavens, she thought, I look as though I just returned from my own funeral. This won't do. I might as well wear a sandwich sign announcing my broken heart to everyone in The Belle-Terry.

And then, as though reading her mind, Ellen let an atom bomb drop. "Everybody feels so sorry for you." "For me . . . !

"Sure, Everybody knows you're crazy about Mr. Albright." Color flushed to Ginny's face. How on earth did everyone find out? Then she realized for the first time how perfectly obvious it had all been. The many noontime hours Tom had dropped into the dining room while she was there and had his lunch with her. The times he took her to a show, and secured the tickets from the Theatre Ticket Agency in the lobby. She remembered how she had gone from office to office to get signatures for a huge birthday card for him. And she recalled the roses he had sent to her while she was out with the flu. And he had ordered them from the hotel florist, which was as good as putting it in headlines in the house paper. Of course everyone knew. She wanted to turn into a paper clip and hide forever in a dark corner in her desk.

"THE SPIRIT OF CHRIST, AND IT IS ONLY BY THE BEAUTIFUL MANIFESTATION OF THE SPIRIT OF THE CROSS WILL THE WHOLE WORLD BE WON FOR HIM WHO HUNG THERE."
In this sign thou, too, shalt conquer for Christ living with in (Gal 2:20) you, the result must be victorious living. So with "All for Jesus" as your motto we, with courage, take up our Cross and, aided by Divine grace, resolve to do God's will, ready and willing to walk in His steps—anywhere. Even to Calvary for the Way of the Cross is the only way to peace and life.

"O GOD, BRAND US . . ."
In the Cross of Christ, then, with Paul, I glory. And in the Cross of the Cross I promise a life-long dedication. That, too, is your resolve, isn't it?
O God, brand us as slaves—servants—of Christ. Grant Thy grace that in our life of discipline, renunciation and abstinence, we may be able to see the marks of Jesus, the Sign of the Cross. Enable us never to be ashamed of our Baptism indicative of, and a challenge to daily strive to become, Christ's marked men and women, who, with St. Paul, have earned the right to say "I bear branded in my body the marks of Jesus that all who see me will know whose I am and whom I serve. In the Name of Jesus and in His Spirit we pray. Amen."

Three days ago, the announcement appeared in the newspapers. Two days ago, Tom went to his new office to see that everything was in readiness. Yesterday, she helped him close all his files here. And today—it was good-bye. And he had not said one word to indicate that he would even come back to see her. If it would not be long before everyone knew that he was not interested in her, had never been interested. It would not be long before some would be pitying her for her broken heart, and others condemning her for throwing herself at a man who didn't want her. A shiver chilled through her as she realized what lay ahead.

Of course, she could resign, and get away from all of them, but it was not her nature to run away from difficulties. This is not the worst thing that could happen to you, she told herself. Being cut into ten thousand little pieces and fried in oil might be worse. A thousand years in a concentration camp, with hourly floggings might be worse. But she doubted it.
It was five o'clock. She did not want to be in Tom's office when everyone else was rushing in for a

CASHING IN TRICKS POSES PROBLEMS

When you're defending against three no-trump you're sometimes given a chance to cash defensive tricks. Just remember that it doesn't always pay to do so.

It's perfectly true that you'll never beat three no-trump unless you can somehow produce five tricks. It's equally true that you'll never get five tricks if you first let declarer make nine tricks. The point is made in the hand shown today, played originally in the recent Vanderbilt Cup Tournament.

West opened the six of spades, and dummy won with the queen. Declarer led the six of diamonds from dummy and successfully finessed the queen of diamonds from his hand.

After some thought, South led a low heart from his hand and won a finesse with dummy's ten. (East played the five of hearts without any hesitation.) Encouraged by the success of all the finesses, declarer led the nine of diamonds from the dummy.

At this point East thought for about 10 seconds about whether or not to cash his last high diamond. He finally did so—and this blew the defense.

West and dummy discarded clubs, and East won a lead. South won with the ace. It didn't matter what East had returned, however, for South was then sure of three diamonds (the queen, the ace, and the last small diamond) in addition to two spades and four hearts.

Instead of cashing the last diamond, East should have returned a spade. Now South would have only two diamonds—his ace and queen. Those two tricks together with two spades and four hearts would yield only eight tricks. Before he could develop a ninth trick, the spades would defeat the contract.

CARD SENSE
Q—The bidding has been: North East South West
1 Spade Pass 2 Clubs Pass
2 Diamonds Pass ?

You, South, hold: Spades 5-2, Hearts K-Q-9-3, Diamonds 8-5, Clubs A-Q-8-4-2. What do you do?
A—Bid two no-trump. There is no point in bidding the fourth suit unless you have a very strong hand and intend to suggest a slam—or unless you have a real two-suiter and intend to make a real effort to play the hand in one of your suits. With only a moderate good hand you merely suggest game in no-trump.

TODAY'S QUESTION
The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades K-5-2, Hearts A-9-3, Diamonds 8-5, Clubs A-K-J-4-2. What do you do?

48 Horses, Representing Seven Countries, To Face Starter In Grand National Over Tough Course

Aintree, Lancashire, England, April 5. — Forty-eight mature thoroughbreds, representing seven countries including Canada, meet today in a contest of sheer guts and stamina. The event brings superlatives from everybody except the Animal Protective Association.

The occasion is the 106th running of the Grand National, Britain's unpredictable killer of a race, variously billed as the greatest, toughest or most exciting steeplechase in the world.

Jumpers ranging from six to 12 years of age are slated to line up at 3:15 p.m. GMT (10:15 a.m. EST) to the four miles, 856 yards over this racetrack in suburban Liverpool. The odds are approximately 4-1 against any particular animal finishing Aintree's harp-shaped course.

Since Lottery won the first National in 1939, nearly 3,000 horses have gone to the post. Only about 800 have still been on their feet at the end.

The toughest tests of horse and rider are the 16 fences, all but two of which are jumped twice. Probably the most famous is Becher's Brook, a thorn fence nearly five feet high with a 5½ foot natural brook on the landing side.

Lack Of Speed And Punch Leaves Cincinnati As Also-Rans; Team Has Good Hurling But Lacks Power

Wilmington, N.C., April 5. — (P) — Lack of speed and punch to back up the pitching skill of Ewell Blackwell, Herm Wehmeier and Ken Raffensberger, leave Cincinnati Reds among the also-rans in the National League picture.

Pitching is the one bright spot on the club that figures no better than its sixth-place finish of last year.

Manager Luke Sewell believes he bolstered his catching by adding Andy Seminick and picked up a little extra base power in Dick Sisler. He counts on a revival by first baseman Ted Klusowski, whose 51 slump mystified the league.

"I figure we have more power in the outfield with Sisler and Hank Edwards," said Sewell. "Our catching definitely is better, our pitching about the same and our infield no worse than last year."

The infield has been a problem for Sewell, particularly after second-baseman Connie Ryan went to Philadelphia in the Seminick deal. Sewell did an overhaul job during spring training, converting third-baseman Grady Hatton into a second baseman.

Roy McMillan, a fine glove man who hit only 211 in 85 games last year as a rookie, will be the shortstop if he can hit. If McMillan fails at the plate, Virgil Stallcup can reclaim the job. Eddie Pellagrini fills in every place except first.

One of coach Ben Chapman's first jobs was to fire up big Klusowski who fell from .307 to .269 in one season. He has been showing steady improvement.

Golf Tour Is Toughest Grind In Sport; Newcomer Lasts From Six To Ten Weeks If He Is Lucky

Memphis, Tenn. — (NEA) — Bill Perry has just been involved in what he believes is one of the toughest businesses for a newcomer.

Perry took eight weeks off from his duties at Memphis' Cherokee Golf Course, and joined the touring troupe of professionals.

There are a lot of up-and-coming young golfers who work hard during the year, save their money and join the circuit," he tells the story. "They usually play six to 10 weeks before the money gives out. Some make it a little better now and then."

"They soon find that breaking into the money is about as hard a job as they ever attempted."

There are 60 to 75 excellent players who follow the circuit. There are 50 to 75 club pros who join the circuit for one or two tournaments, partly as a post-man's holiday and partly to pick up a few bucks if they're lucky.

There always is a number of local standouts. So with 85 to 100 not having to qualify and 130 places available, there's not much leeway for an outsider to slip in.

"I joined the circuit in Phoenix. There were 117 qualifying for 138 places. I shot what I call fairly well, a three-over-par 75. I missed qualifying by a stroke."

In Tucson, the non-exempted players—well above 100—qualified for the El Rio Country Club. Perry had 74. It took 73 to make the grade. One of his partners shot 90.

"I was playing good," Perry recalls, "so I went on to El Paso. Here we were to qualify on a municipal course again. It was so rough that I decided not to play. In addition, it was 12 miles from the country club course where the tournament was. It was almost impossible to practice at both places, so I figured my best bet was to go on to San Antonio."

Longest course I ever saw — better than 7200 yards," he recalls. "Here was another big field with few open places. Perry shot 77. It took 76 to qualify. He lost two strokes when he hit his ball into a lake."

In Baton Rouge, Perry found the course soggy and wet. "You got absolutely no roll," he says. He shot 80, didn't play the second day.

"I headed for home about then," Bill Perry grins. "There's just too much constant pressure on the circuit, especially among the newcomers. They're all pressing, striving with everything they've got to make the grade. I never saw anything so tough."

"You play every condition in the world on every kind of a course."

"Almost all of those who make the grade are exceptionally fine golfers. More power to them."

"Me, I'll stick around Cherokee."

Up at the Montreal Forum where his team lost a 1-0 heart breaker Thursday night, Coach Dick Irvin actually allowed a few smiles to flit across his face.

Irvin is known throughout the National Hockey League for his chronic dolefulness and tactfulness.

"The team that beats us Sunday," proclaimed Irvin, "will have to play the best game that has ever been played in the national hockey league."

"We're going to score goals. You can't always keep fellows like Rocket Richard, Boom Boom Geoffrion and Dickie Moore from scoring. We're due to break out again."

There was no moaning by Irvin over the loss of two centre players—out with injuries. He is convinced the scoring punch is still there with any one of a half-dozen players—and that's the very thing Coach Patrick was in a stew about.

Sherbrooke High School News Report

By THOMASINE MAWHOOD

Our fair institution of learning is undergoing a somewhat muddy transformation. For the past three weeks men and machinery have been laying the groundwork for the long-awaited addition to the High School. Bulldozers are busy pushing back mountains of mud and rock thrown out by the excavators, and occasionally the school shakes as a result of the blasting. At recess the windows are crowded with pupils watching the proceedings with avid interest.

When the addition is finished we will have the most up-to-date High School in the Eastern Townships.

In the midst of these activities, basketball is again a headliner. After defeating Stanstead in a total point series, our Senior Boys' team went on to the finals played March 29 at Bishop's University.

Playing against Three Rivers, our boys almost had the coveted Viscount Trophy in their hands, when, in the last few seconds of the game a basket was scored by the opposing team, making the score 50-49. Win or lose, we have a good team and we are proud of it.

Public speaking is again in the news. Ladies first, so here it is. Elizabeth Welter, a Grade 10A student, placed third in the finals of the Adolphe Alphonse Society Public Speaking Contest held in Montreal on March 11. Elizabeth and Lois Cutts represented Sherbrooke High School in the Business and Professional Women's Club Public Speaking Contest held March 31. This contest was won by Lois, who spoke on the subject, "Do Adolescents Need Parents?"

For the second year in succession the Rotary Public Speaking Contest shield finds its resting place on the walls of Sherbrooke High School. This year's winner is Arnold Eichenberg, a Grade 11A student, who, speaking on the topic "Should Immigration Be Stopped?" won over five other contestants at the Rotary Club meeting, March 25.

A stranger to the High School, looking into Room 13 on March 7, might well have wondered what we enterprising students were going to do next. A great mass of recording equipment was placed at one end of the room, and microphones bearing the letters "C.P.C." were in evidence. These well-known letters would destroy any doubt in the stranger's mind as to what we were doing. It was Sherbrooke High School's turn to record a broadcast for the "Voice of Youth" programme. Announcer Phil Goods conducted interviews with Garth Smith, our Student Council president, Mr. Brown, our athletic director, Mr. Rothfels, our dramatic director, and introduced various selections sung by the choir from Grades 8 and 9. The highlight of the broadcast was a debate presented by five girls from Grades 10 and 11, ably coached by our Senior English teacher, Mrs. Keith Beattie. The topic of the debate was "That the youth of today has an easier time making its way in the world than did its parents."

The debate was won by the negative side. All concerned enjoyed making the recording which was broadcast Sunday, March 16.

Labor gained 27 seats in London, giving it a total of 92 against only 37 for the Conservatives. In the last council, Labor and Conservatives each had 64 seats. Liberals had the balancing seat, which they lost to Labor in yesterday's voting.

Labor party candidates polled 1,899,063 votes in London, or about 55 per cent of the total. The Conservatives got 1,350,580, about 44 per cent. Liberals drew 19,723, communists 11,031 and independents 4,746. The communist vote was only about half of its 1949 total.

The London County Council is the most powerful legislative body in Britain. It administers city schools, hospitals, parks, fire department and public buildings. It has charge of town planning and building regulations, licences and local taxes. The new council is scheduled to meet April 9.

"Unreality" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, April 6th, 1952.
The Golden Text is from Ecclesiastes 5: "In the multitude of dreams and many words there are also divers vanities; but fear thou God."
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And, behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself. And when Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said unto her, Woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity. And he laid his hands on her; and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God." (Luke 13).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Eddy Baker: "To cure a bodily ailment, every broken moral law should be taken into account and the error be re-ruled. Fear, which is an element of all disease, must be cast out to readjust the balance for God. Casting out evil and fear enables truth to outweigh error. If sickness is true or the idea of Truth, you cannot destroy sickness, and it would be absurd to try. Then classify sickness and error as our Master did, when he spoke of the sick, 'whom Satan hath bound,' and find a sovereign antidote for error in the life-giving power of Truth acting on human belief, a power which opens the prison doors to such as are bound, and sets the captive free physically and morally." (Pages 392 and 495).

A violinist who claimed friendship with Brahms and Richard Strauss died in Johannesburg, South Africa this week. A native of Germany, Leopold Prenyslav once played for the Czar of Russia and settled in South Africa 14 years ago.

Music lovers will have an opportunity to hear three of the most popular operas in the current repertoire when the Metropolitan Opera Company presents Aida, Carmen and La Traviata in the Montreal Forum, May 30 and 31.

Such famous names as Rise Stevens, Leonard Warren, Licia Albanese, Giuseppe di Stefano and Zinka Milanov are among the imposing list of stars.

Aida will be performed on Friday night, Carmen in matinee on Saturday and La Traviata that same night.

A New York tenor and a Detroit baritone tied for first place in the Metropolitan Opera auditions of the air. Judges were unable to choose between Charles Anthony Caruso, who drops the Caruso in his professional name and is not related to the noted tenor, and Arthur Vincent Budny, baritone.

The Community Concert Association, after a brilliant close to its 16th season—with the little Orchestra Society—went on to a highly successful campaign week and the Granada is sold out for the 17th series.

ity Concerts has become synonymous with the best in fine entertainment and this year will be no exception. Because of the enthusiastic response of the public there is a sufficient budget to guarantee an outstanding series.

The Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo is definitely booked for October 14, and as soon as New York representative Albert de Lorimier receives confirmation on booking dates, choice of the other two concerts will be released.

Under the auspices of the Canadian College of Organists a rather unusual program for brass and organ will be presented on April 15, in St. Peter's Church. The program will be conducted by Harry Long and local organists heard will be John Codere, Pauline Roy, Jack Lenaghan and Morris Austin.

It is to be hoped that the public will encourage this concert which is a new venture and should prove most interesting. Scores for the performance are rare and rather expensive and a generous response to the silver collection would be much appreciated. There is no admission charge.

The public is invited to a musical program which will be presented in Gertrude Scott Hall on Wednesday, April 16, following a general meeting of the Lennoxville and Ascot Community Association.

A few members of the Schubert Club have been invited to take part and the recital will include both vocal and instrumental selections.

Soloists are Luce Triggane, Margaret Doherty and Frederick Sangster, with Mildred Lorie Sampson and Lorette Codere as accompanists. An instrumental quartet is composed of Mrs. Sampson, Mrs. Guy Blanchette, Gordon Moffatt and Francis Smith. There will be no charge for this concert.

April is certainly a prolific month—musically speaking. April 18—Recital at Bishop's University featuring Grant Sampson, pianist, George Morgan Jr., tenor, and H. Hebert, violinist.

April 19—Under the auspices of the St. Agnes Choir, in St. Jean Baptiste Hall, the Trio des Petits, stars of radio and concert, will present a varied program.

This trio is composed of three Montreal youngsters, Jean Guy Monette, Louise and Micheline Bedard, who, with Mr. Bedard as accompanist, have become a regular feature on stations CKAC and CBF. They also were enthusiastically received when they appeared as guest singers with Les Concerts Symphoniques recently. Admission price—25 cents for the matinee, 75 cents for the evening performance.

April 22—Annual public concert of l'Harmonie de Sherbrooke, under the direction of Harry Long, and also in St. Jean Baptiste Hall. Tickets are available at H. C. Wilson and Sons.

These dates should keep us all well supplied with a varied musical fare for the next few weeks.

Radar Report

No. 2450 AC & WU

The Air Force is getting more and more "ink" in the daily newspapers. It seems that the members refuse to stand still. They have to keep going from "Record" to "Record." A lot of interest has been created and is being maintained at a high level by recent events.

The Blip was very pleased to learn of F/O Bruce Fleming's recent conquest in the sky over Korea. Bruce is a Canadian who was a pilot during World War II. He re-enlisted in the Regular Force and found himself in Korea flying the highly-touted F-86 Jet, attached to the American Forces. He is one of the very few Canadian Pilots who have had the opportunity to fly these F-86 Jets in combat and as far as the Blip knows, the record to shoot down a MIG 15. Recently, Bruce was a visitor at our Unit and so this news will be well received by the several people who met him on that occasion.

The Blip read recently that the Department of National Defence has decided upon a plan to establish a more equal "split" in the money allotted to the wife of a member of the Regular Force.

During the war there were rigid regulations governing the amount of money that the husband was obliged to allot to his wife—it consisted of a percentage of his pay. But now, each wife will receive the same amount, the only difference being affected is that between Officers' and Men's wives' cheques. There was a lot of beefing of this and after a long investigation, it is pleasing to know that all is again "under control."

There is a new Officers' Messing Committee, following nominations during the regular Mess meeting on Wednesday evening after classes. The outgoing committee of F/O Tony Timmoun as President, F/O Howard Brooks as secretary and F/O J. Bell as vice-president, is to be congratulated on its fine tenure of office. The Blip would like to point out that their session of "Management" was during the period of mourning that was observed in the Sherbrooke Radar Unit as well as all other Regular and Reserve Units, in remembrance of the late King. No one regrets this period; however, it did have a limiting effect as far as the outgoing committee is concerned, in that there were very few Mess functions.

However, a darts tournament was organized and the first official function of the new president, F/O Jim Bell, was to present a very handsome lighter, to be suitably engraved, to the winner of the finals—F/O Jim Burton.

The other members of the new Messing committee are F/O Jean Pearson, who will be the secretary for the next three months; and F/O MacDonald who is to be vice-president. As was true with the latest committee, the Blip is of the opinion that this too is a fine state of officers' to handle the affairs of our Mess. So, many and sincere thanks to the "old" and best wishes to the "new" from the Blip!

Several of the members of our Unit are anxiously looking forward to the possibility of attending summer camp this year. Evidently word of last year's camp travelled "fast and far." The Blip attended last summer's outing and can testify that it is something invaluable from the point of training. More on that later.

Have you found out about disposing of your old officer's uniform yet? We need several more—so if you are interested, please call 2-8473.

And so the Blip fades for this week.

last-minute good-bye. So she could postpone it no longer.

She went down the hall. Tom was putting some papers in a portfolio. He looked up distractedly. "I have a feeling I've forgotten everything that's really important."

"We went through everything very carefully yesterday," she assured him, the efficient secretary. "Well, if I have, I can always come back. I'm not going to Europe."

She was afraid he might as well be.

They looked at each other across the desk. Tom fumbled with the portfolio. Ginny picked up a little tray of paper clips and began to run her fingers through them.

"You've been a wonderful help to me," Tom said. "I want you to know I appreciate it."

"I've been only too glad to help," she said. Then there was another long silence while her fingers ran nervously through the paper clips. But why go through all these polite formalities? She held out her hand. "I just want to say good-bye and good luck."

He shook her hand, then dropped it. "Thanks—thanks."

She started to walk to the door with the clips when she gave a sudden little gasp, and dropped the tray.

Tom jumped to her side.

"Just a pin," she said, "mixed in with the clips."

Tom pulled out his pocket handkerchief, took her hand, and dabbed at the bleeding finger. Then he continued to hold her hand, and there was a caress in the very touch of his fingers, and his eyes

SPRING'S HERE, WE CAN'T DENY

Ah! it's no secret. Spring is here. You say: "how do I know it. While banks of snow all round appear?" — There's one sure sign to show it.

No need to scan the almanac To tell us Spring is here; Now, every home is nigh a wreck, Spring-cleaning time is near.

Though banks of snow may still appear And lakes be locked in ice, Most womenfolk "swing in high gear" They want homes looking nice.

The menfolk wish they could clear out And catch a month of fishing; — There's furniture to push about So what's the use of wishing!

There's not an idle minute now Long as the sun may shine; Rugs, curtains, and the like I vow Are swinging on the line.

Men hunt for everything they use And give up in despair. — Just everything (except their shoes) Are on the line, to air.

No tasty eats in ice-box now Just scraps of this, and that; The wife is cleaning house, AND HOW! All streamline, none grow fat.

When robins wake us up at morn Somehow we feel 'tis Spring, And house-cleaning sure as you are born Will staunch conviction bring.

— Though we're driven to distraction Results are grand, I vow, And we all reap satisfaction SPRING-CLEANING'S ON, RIGHT NOW!

A ROBIN'S WARNING

I heard a robin this morning up in an old maple tree And I opened the door to listen and here's

What he said to me. They say spring is just round the corner but don't let them fool you that way There'll be snow banks around the corner from now till the middle of May.

I've just come up from the southland where everything's cosy and bright. I landed here in a blizzard and spent a terrible night.

My toes are chilled my feathers are rough from trying to keep from freezing. My voice is gone, I've a cold in my head And I can't seem to keep from sneezing.

So carry on with your winter coat and watch your step when you walk For Spring isn't here by a long shot my dear

Regardless of all the talk.

TV Eye Joins Fight Against Blood Cancer

New Brunswick, N. J. — Television's eye has joined the search to win control over leukemia, cancer of the blood.

A TV microscope is being used to study blood cells, living and dead, in leukemia research at the bureau of biological research at Rutgers University.

The magnifying microscope is trained upon the cells. The TV camera looks into the microscope and throws the magnified image upon a seven-inch TV screen. The microscope can magnify cells 12,000 times. It is usually used practically at 1,000 times.

A main advantage is that only a minimum of light has to be used to illuminate the cells. That means less heat, which frequently may kill living cells while they're being examined.

In leukemia, there are too many white cells in the blood. The disease comes in two main forms, acute or rapid, and chronic or longer lasting. As yet, there's no cure for either form, though X-rays and some drugs can slow the disease or bring temporary improvement.

Dr. Charles F. Church, research specialist at the bureau, began the leukemia studies several years ago. The TV-microscope has become one of the useful new tools in looking for clues to the cause or control of the disease. It is being used in industry as an eye to watch industrial processes, and now is spreading into some lines of medical research.

Part of the study here is of tiny bodies, called mitochondria, found inside cells.

Cells can be studied alive or dead, or with or without use of dyes that stain parts of the cells and make them more easily visible.

FAMOUS "C" FORM ON HOCKEY CARPET

"The National Hockey League conducts a slave market," stated Bona Arsenault, Liberal Member from Bonaventure, in the House of Commons this week and once again the famous old question was back in the headlines.

Mr. Arsenault was referring to the renowned "C" form, used by all major hockey clubs in signing up young players, and also the high-handed methods used in placing youngsters on the negotiation list. He is the latest person to blast the N.H.L. as several outstanding personalities have let go with both barrels during the years.

He gave notice that he would place a bill before the Commons with changes to the criminal code which would make it an indictable offence for clubs, individuals and sporting associations to use any of the present methods. Individuals guilty of the offence would be subject to heavy fines.

Now just to keep the ball rolling President Clarence Campbell, of the N.H.L., comes out and says he is right behind Mr. Arsenault and agrees with him. The N.H.L. does not force anyone to go anywhere against their will but when they sign a form they are then forced to complete their part of the deal. So gentlemen there it is.

We have never agreed on the idea of the three forms, used by the professional clubs, but on the other hand if a player is foolish enough to sign one then he should live up to his bargain. We don't know how many times we have told young players not to sign these things but the $100 offered by the clubs look big to them. A youngster must realize that any time he affixes his signature to paper he must live up to his end of the deal. It is too late to cry after it is done.

In referring to the negotiation list Mr. Arsenault said this has led to "certain dictatorial practices" and his bill would prevent these. On this point we agree 100% and we know of certain cases where this has happened. Any scout can place a youngster on the list, and during the period his name is there no other club can talk to him without permission or it will cost them a fine, but the kid himself has nothing to say about it.

This is the method which we say is not correct. If a boy wants to play with a certain organization we don't see why he should be prevented from doing so just because a certain scout happened to see him first. We say let the boy decide for himself. After all he should be entitled to certain privileges in this world of ours. It is his life and he should have the final say in it.

Certain pro clubs won't have any one around unless they are on the special forms as they figure that after they train them some other club can come in and pick them up and they lose all the money and time they have spent in training them. Hence the reason why so many youngsters are on the forms. If they want to play the game they must agree to this or they will be dropped. There should be some in

See where the Sherbrooke Athletics have returned the sum of $58 to their subscribers for the $100 originally handed over to help and organize the club two years ago, which after all isn't bad.

As far as the executive resigning, well that was no news and was expected, as they had no business to carry on once the players were sold and things cleared up, hence the movement. What the future holds for local fans only time will tell as far as senior ball is concerned. Tenders have been asked for the rebuilding of a new stadium and then the question of a team will be taken up in due course.

Curling is rolling to a finish and the last event on the card at the local club is the Salls-Mooney Memorial trophy, which is being played now.

The semi-finals will take place this afternoon with the finals slated for the evening at 8:00. It is a mixed affair and from the number of rinks taking part it would seem that there is still plenty of interest in the game. Anyway regardless who wins the popular trophy the season will roll to an end next week after a very successful year.

It would seem that Albert Kouri's prediction regarding the Memorial Cup Eastern Canada finalists is working out according to his early fall prophecy.

When Al returned from the Rangers training camp he told us that the team to watch in the Memorial Cup playdowns this year was the Guelph Biltmores and from the looks of things it seems that it is so. At present the Biltmores have a game advantage over Port Huron Composites and stand a good chance of walking off with the trophy.

Our good friend Duncan Breese of the St. Maurice Valley Chronicle at Three Rivers reports that basketball is really big time in the Paper City. And, after reading that the return match of the Shawinigan Tech-Morrisburg Sailors Eastern Canada final will play to 1,500 fans at Three Rivers tonight, we can well agree with him that hoopla has made rapid strides in his territory.

The Intermediate cage final was moved to Three Rivers rather than Shawinigan because of the much larger gymnasium in Three Rivers and the great drawing power of this sport there. Members of the Sherbrooke Spartans who journeyed to Three Rivers for the Provincial Tourney, will agree about the fine basketball set-up in that city.

Dunc also reports he was up to Ottawa for the Shawinigan-Morrisburg opener which the Power City crew won by two points 58-56 even though they trailed the Ontario stars 39-19 just after half-time. Dunc broadcast the game to Three Rivers' fans over CHLN with Del Dugre (cousin of our Ivan and Lucien). He says it was the first time basketball had been aired in Canadian sports history outside of Montreal. "I'm not too sure," he writes, "if they have broadcast hoopla from Montreal, either."

Ortell Picks Seven Winners At Jamaica

New York, April 5. — (AP) — Frank Ortell, veteran racing handicapper of the New York World-Telegram and Sun, picked the first seven winners at Jamaica Thursday. He missed only on the eighth and last race.

Such picking so early in the season is phenomenal.

Ortell selected in order: Eternal Betsy ($6.70), Disjax ($6.70), Toquila ($8.60), Deflation ($6.90), Landmark ($4.20), Ted M. ($6.20), and Vigorous ($7.60). He picked Saturday in the eighth and the horse finished fourth.

A $2 parlay on the seven would have returned $8,439.25.

the series. The winners will meet Montreal Canadiens in the final.

See where Conn Smythe, the power-behind the Toronto Maple Leafs, is taking all the blame for the team's poor showing against Detroit Red Wings in the recent playoffs.

He claims that after the club's poor showing last year against the Canadiens that he should have done something, but he missed the boat. It would seem that he is certainly not going to give away any players unless the deal will benefit the Leafs.

He states that Joe Primeau did a very good job and can have the position again if he wants it. He has thirty days to give his answer and if not it won't surprise us to see King Clancy directing traffic from the bench.

Ted Williams, the heavy slugger of the Boston Red Sox, figures his baseball career is finished. Ted reports to the Maple City at the beginning of May and by the time he gets out, after his 17-month tour of duty, he will be too old. He will be 35 then.

With the loss of Joe DiMaggio and now Williams the league figures to lose many paid admissions but that is the way things go.

Our good friend Duncan Breese of the St. Maurice Valley Chronicle at Three Rivers reports that basketball is really big time in the Paper City. WINS BEST FIGHTER TROPHY: Above is BURKE EMERY, 18-year-old local boxer, who last night won a decision over Marcel Piau of Windsor Mills to win the Bunny Sabbath Perpetual Trophy as the "Best fighter of the Eastern Townships" and a berth in the Province of Quebec Golden Gloves quarter finals in Montreal Wednesday. Local Boy Wins From Windsor Boxer To Enter Golden Gloves Tournament And Capture "Best Fighter" Trophy

Burke Emery, 18-year-old Sherbrooke middleweight, last night scored a unanimous five-round decision over Marcel Piau of Windsor Mills to win the Bunny Sabbath Perpetual Trophy as the "Best fighter of the Eastern Townships" and a berth in the Province of Quebec Golden Gloves quarter-finals of the Province, to be held in Montreal Wednesday.

Emery's win, before almost two hundred fight fans in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium, was the first local slugger had scored over the rugged 20-year-old hopeful from the Paper Town in three attempts.

Last fall, Piau defeated Emery in a six-round, copping all half dozen rounds. Earlier than that the two had fought to a draw.

Scoring repeatedly with a lightning left jab, Emery won the nod of all three judges and referee Eddie Bolduc, who had it for Emery all the way.

There were no knockdowns in the fight, although Piau slipped to the canvas in the fifth round and Emery stumbled over his prostrate body.

Judge Clement Bolduc had it for Emery, 27-24 in points and three rounds for the winner, one for Piau and one even. Judge Harold Hodge had it for Emery 33-17, three for Emery with two rounds even. Judge Edgar Strachino saw it for Emery 28-25 on points, three rounds to one and one even.

Emery weighed in at 159 pounds while Piau's weight was announced as 156 pounds.

Piau was warned by the referee on five occasions on the in-fighting.

Rankin's Rink Cops Lord Calvert And Durgin's Quartet Wins Salls Trophy In East Angus Club Bonspiel

East Angus, April 5.—(Special to the Record)—Harry Rankin's rink won the Lord Calvert trophy while A. G. Durgin's foursome coped the Salls trophy in the first mixed bonspiel staged by the East Angus Curling Club played on Sherbrooke Curling Club ice.

Eight rinks took part in the event and some closely contested matches were witnessed before the winners were declared. This is the first year that the Angus Club is in operation and during the past season they have used the Sherbrooke ice to hold their weekly competitions.

In the semi-finals of the Calvert event Henry Delorme's rink won their match from L. M. Morgan's foursome 6-5 after a close game. In the other half of the draw Rankin's squad got by D. A. Ward's aggregation in another close battle 7-6. In the finals Skipper Rankin and his outfit came through with a 9-7 victory over Delorme's rink.

In the Salls section of the bonspiel A. G. Durgin guided his rink to a 6-5 win over F. E. Webb's foursome while W. F. Clifford's quartet came through with a 7-4 verdict over E. A. Jeanfave's squad. In the finals Durgin's team emerged the winner. Clifford's crew 7-6 in a close tilt.

Manager John Simpson sent a letter to the British Boxing Board of Control advising of Cockell's decision.

The Briton won the European 175-pound crown a year ago by stopping France's Albert Yvel in the sixth round. He was due to defend against Conny Rux of Germany but Simpson said the German promoter did not offer a big enough purse.

Cockell has signed to fight Randy Turpin, British middleweight champion. The winner will meet Joey Maxim, world light heavyweight king, in a title bout.

Steve Ridzik Hurls No-Hit No-Run Tilt

Savannah, Ga., April 5. —(AP)—Steve Ridzik, Philadelphia Phillies young rookie, hurled a no-hit no-run game yesterday as the Phils downed St. Louis Cardinals 3-0 in an exhibition game.

The 22-year-old right-hander walked four and hit three batters but tightened when control was needed in the pinch. In hurling his no-batter, Ridzik ran his string of Grapefruit League hitless innings to 11 and his scoreless string to 17 innings.

Intermediate Athletics Out To Raise $1,000 To Operate Club; Robert Bedard Named Coach Of Team

The Sherbrooke "Athletics" Intermediate Baseball Club held their first meeting and plans for the coming season were discussed with President Tony Pinard presiding.

Other directors attending the meeting were Charles Connor, Louis Raymond, Paul Pepin, Fern Pepin and Business Manager Billy James.

The main item on the agenda was the discussion of raising funds to help and operate the club. It was decided to open a subscription list, and this will get underway very shortly.

The Athletics are the only local club operating this summer in organized ball and the fire which destroyed the stadium left the team without any equipment and the majority of the funds will be used to replace this.

The sum of $1,000 has been set by the executive as the amount to be raised and the club will canvass local fans and business firms for money to carry on. The team is entered in the E.T. International League, which comprises Magog, Windsor, Cookshire, Asbestos and Sherbrooke. President Blais hopes to have two more teams from Scottstown and LaPatrie join the loop, but this depends upon the other clubs in the league.

Manager James is trying to obtain Les Fusiliers de Sherbrooke Armoury for pre-season training and he hopes to have the decision in the near future. Hank Delorme, Lord Caverly representative, may have a trophy which is awarded to the player judged the most popular by the fans for competition.

Robert Bedard, who coached the club last year, is expected back as well as Dollard Tessier, Jean-Guy Forgues, Roland Gagne, Stan Marcoux, Roger Gauthier, Fern Benard, Jacques Besre and Georges James.

When a player's name is placed on either of these lists by a N.H.L. club, the player may not sign contract with another professional team.

Establishment of the Society follows recent criticisms of N.H.L. "negotiation lists" and "sponsored club lists."

When a player's name is placed on either of these lists by a N.H.L. club, the player may not sign contract with another professional team.

HISTORY

YOU CAN IMAGINE our surprise in seeing men's suits advertised at $4.50 to $20.00, "made to satisfy the most critical trade". A reliable store too, well known for honest merchandising, for this particular ad was one of our own which appeared in the Sherbrooke Record on Monday, November 10th, 1902.

WE ARE GRATEFUL to Mr. H. M. Beattie of Lennoxville, who brought the newspaper in to us. Other ads were equally interesting. McKee's offered Irish frieze cloth at 75c a yard, and flannellet blankets at 68c a pair. The Record was published by L. S. Channell and V. E. Morrill, and subscriptions cost $2 a year. You could buy No. 1 shingles from D. G. Loomis and Sons at $1.25 per M. The classified ads offered a 4 room self-contained house at $4 per month.

CONDITIONS AND PRICES have changed somewhat since those days, but Rosenbloom's are still in the same location featuring clothing "made to satisfy the most critical trade", but with styling that's definitely tuned to 1952. Our prices still represent excellent value. For example, right now we're clearing out a special group of men's suits at $45, and it's mighty interesting if you're looking for a bargain. They're all made to Rosenbloom quality standards. And of course we mustn't forget to tell you that the new Spring styles are here now, ready for YOU!
