DUPLESSIS WINS

Small Majority Marked Up By Union Nationale In Provincial Voting

Duplessis Party Holds 45 Seats, Liberals 37, Bloc Populaire Four, and C.C.F. and Nationalist Each One—Closest Election Result in Quebec's Long Political History—Two Ridings Still to Be Heard From.

Quebec, Aug. 9.—Maurice Duplessis assumed today that he would resume the premiership of Quebec Province after five years in opposition ranks, although his Union Nationale was still one seat from an over-all majority following yesterday's general elections with two seats doubtful and one deferred.

Of 88 conceded seats, the Union Nationale held 45, Liberals 37, the young Bloc Populaire four and C.C.F. and Nationalist one each.

The closest election result in Quebec's long political history followed a hectic campaign, climaxed yesterday with two riots in one Montreal riding in which nineteen persons suffered gunshot wounds or injuries and seventy-one others were arrested by Provincial Police on charges of carrying concealed weapons.

It was reported originally that nineteen had suffered gunshot wounds but police said later that three persons were known to have been injured as the result of shots, in addition to any carried away by friends. Others received wounds from knives, blackjacks, brass knuckles, broken bottles and a variety of other weapons.

Premier Godbout, who could remain in power only by a constitutional near-miracle, was non-committal. With his Liberal following cut from 59 at dissolution to 37 or 38 seats despite a higher popular vote than the Union Nationale, he said he would "await the election result."

That result appeared to rest in the ballot boxes of two ridings, and possibly in the deferred election in Charlevoix-Saguenay where voting is set for August 24, but the edge seemed to rest with the Union Nationale.

Mr. Duplessis indicated he felt this margin would be maintained when he said at Three Rivers—the riding that gave him the first personal concession of the election—that the result was "a punishment for those who relinquished our provincial rights."

He added that the Union Nationale would "carry on a policy which will help Quebec to recover all the rights our province relinquished during the past few years"—a statement in line with his main talking point during the pre-election campaign.

Meanwhile, the immediate interest centred on two doubtful ridings, Montreal's East-end Maisonneuve and largely rural Rouville. In Maisonneuve, with three polls to come out of 221, Liberal Edmond Hamelin had an unofficial 12-vote margin on Dr. J. F. A. Gattien of the Union Nationale. In Rouville, with unofficial returns recording 24 of 40 polls, Union Nationale Laurent Barre claimed election by 25 votes while Liberal Fernand Samson claimed the honors by two votes.

Preliminary and incomplete tabulation of the popular vote gave about 448,000 votes to the Liberals, 45,000 higher than the total polled by the Union Nationale. Heavy Liberal majorities in a number of Montreal seats accounted in part for the difference.

The Bloc Populaire, with 80 candidates entered, was never in the running as far as electing any great number of candidates was concerned although the four Bloc Populaire representatives elected could still conceivably hold the balance of power in the next Legislature.

The C.C.F. ran 24 candidates and elected one—the first C.C.F. representative in the Quebec Provincial House. He was David Cote who won the nine-way fight in the newly-created Northern riding of Rouyn-Noranda. Rene Chalouit will again be the lone Nationalist Member in the House following his election in Quebec (County).

Premier Godbout won handily in his home riding of L'Islet, and seven out of ten of his Cabinet Ministers were re-elected with him. They were Provincial Treasurer J. A. Mathewson, Health Minister Groulx, Fisheries Minister Valmore Bienvenue, Attorney-General Leon Casgrain, Georges Dansereau, Minister of Roads and Public Works, Wilfrid Hamel, Minister of Lands and Forests and acting Labor Minister, and Joseph Francoeur, Minister without Portfolio.

Defeated were Henri Renault, Minister of Municipal Affairs, and Ferrault Casgrain and Maurice Gingues, Ministers without Portfolio.

Compton, Missisquoi and Arthabaska Retained by Liberal Party While Bloc Populaire Carries Off Stanstead—Impressive Majorities Registered by Union Nationale Candidates.

The Eastern Townships once again showed a sharp reversal of form in yesterday's general elections, rejecting all but three of the candidates of the Godbout administration and inflicting a personal defeat on the Godbout representative from the district, Hon. Maurice Gingues, who made a vain effort to oust Hon. Johnny S. Bourque, Union Nationale Member, who has represented Sherbrooke for the past nine years. Maurice Duplessis elected eight supporters from the Eastern Townships, while the Bloc Populaire, making its first bid for Provincial power managed to return one member, Ovila Bergeron, in Stanstead, which already is represented by a Bloc member in the Federal House. The only seats retained by the Liberals were in Compton, where William J. Duffy, the retiring Member, held a 1,735 vote lead in a three-way contest, in Missisquoi where another retiring member led in a triangular battle, and Arthabaska where P. H. Plourde was re-elected.

SOCIAL CREDIT REGIME WINS ALBERTA VOTE

Canadian Press Staff Writer—Edmonton, Aug. 9.—The Alberta Social Credit Government, which took office for the first time in 1935, today was returned to office with a majority greater than it has enjoyed since it gained power.

The government party led by 36-year-old Premier E. C. Manning, son of the Saskatchewan Prairies and trained in public speaking by the late Premier William Aberhart, led from the start of vote-counting in yesterday's election.

So fast was the accumulation of first-choice votes by Social Credit candidates that The Canadian Press conceded the Government's apparent re-election 26 minutes after the polls closed in urban ridings at 7 p. m. M.D.T. O.P.M. E.D.T., 10 p. m. A.D.T.). By that time, Social Crediters running in the 47 single-member constituencies were far ahead of opposing candidates Rural polls closed at 6 p.m.

Mr. Manning during the campaign promised the Alberta electorate that he would continue the Social Credit fight for money reform. He reiterated faith in social credit policies, which include the payment of a national dividend.

The Government party and the C.C.F. both had 7 candidates in the field, one for each of the legislature seats. In the last House, Social Crediters held 35 seats, the Independents 15, C.C.F. one, Liberals three; Labor one, and Independent Social.

QUEBEC RESULT DISHEARTENING FOR LIBERALS

Ottawa, Aug. 9.—Political strategists today studied the results of yesterday's provincial elections in Quebec and Alberta with a view to gaining a little light on how the voters will line up at the Federal general election which is due within a year.

Canadian Tanks Capture Key Point of Bretteville sur Laize, Nine Miles South of Caen—American Troops Mopping Up Breton Peninsula but Germans Still Hold Five Ports.

By GLADWIN HILL, Allied Supreme Headquarters, Aug. 9.—(AP)—The 1st Canadian Army had smashed forward nearly ten miles south of Caen in less than 36 hours of fighting, front reports said today.

Canadian tanks, attacking throughout the night, advanced more than five miles, captured the key point of Bretteville sur Laize, nine miles south of Caen, and broke through and beyond the second German defence line on the highway to Paris.

Success E.T. Candidates

Grid of portraits and names of E.T. candidates: STANSTEAD (O. Bergeron), RICHMOND (A. Goudreau), DRUMMOND (R. Bernard), MISSISQUOI (H. Gosselin), SHERBROOKE (Hon. Johnny Bourque), WOLFE (Henri Vachon), MEGANTIC (T. Labbe), FRONTENAC (P. Tardif), ARTHABASKA (J. H. Plourde), COMPTON (W. J. Duffy), BROME (Jonathan Robinson).

In the last legislature, just dissolved, the Liberals held all but three of the Eastern Townships ridings—Sherbrooke in which Hon. Johnny Bourque was returned by a substantial majority, Brome, where Jonathan Robinson was given a renewal of his mandate in one of those three-way engagements which were the rule rather than the exception in the last campaign, and Megantic which Tancred Labbe retained the seat in a straight fight with the Liberal nominee.

The final results in Sherbrooke showed that Mr. Bourque jumped his narrow margin of ninety-eight votes in 1939 to 3,823 over the Liberal Minister, while he held a margin nearly one thousand votes over the total of his opponents combined. The Sherbrooke vote was: Bourque 10,621, Gingues 6,798 and Rouleau 2,827. In this country, the Bloc Populaire nominee lost his deposit.

The earliest polls to report gave the sitting member a substantial majority and the trend continued throughout the evening.

Jonathan Robinson also obtained a clear-cut majority in Brome, polling 2,860 votes to 2,194 for his Liberal opponent, W. F. Bowles, K. C., and 592 for the Bloc candidate, Gordon Robney, who also lost his deposit.

The victory of William J. Duffy in Compton was also clear-cut, the Liberal representative obtaining 4,567 votes to 2,822 for the Union Nationale champion, F. Bellemare, and 1,644 for Aurelian Quintin, the Bloc entry. His majority over Bellemare was 1,735.

Incomplete returns from Drummond show Robert Bernard, Union Nationale, running far ahead of either of his Liberal and Bloc Populaire opponents, Dr. A. U. Rajotte and Antonio Bari, respectively, although he failed to receive a clear majority.

Frontenac, one of the two Eastern Townships ridings to provide a five-man Donnybrook, will be represented by Patrice Tardif, who sat for the constituency from 1935 to 1939. Tardif headed the field, the Liberal candidate and former member, Henri Louis Gagnon following a poor second. The other candidates in their respective orders were Gerard Leconteur, Bloc, Rebe De Hinis, Social Credit, and Jean Baptiste Mathieu, Independent.

Tancred Labbe retained Megantic for the Duplessis forces by holding a margin of more than one thousand votes over his Liberal opponent, Alphonse Olivier.

Henri F. Gosselin, the former Liberal member, found little difficulty in retaining Missisquoi, more than doubling the vote of either of the other candidates, Arthur Audette for the Union Nationale, and Paul Gingras, Bloc Populaire.

Richmond proved perhaps the closest race of any of the Eastern Townships constituencies with Albert Gaudreau nosing out the Liberal member, S. F. Desmarais, by less than two hundred votes, while the Bloc candidate trailed a poor third.

Treatment, History Of Osteopathy Outlined In Talk To Rotary Club

The history of osteopathy was outlined in a brief address by Dr. L. M. Bush, of Pelham, N.Y., before members of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club at their noon meeting yesterday.

Pointing out that healing is accomplished by manipulation, Dr. Bush said that osteopathic methods aid in clearing up conditions like hay fever, asthma, chest colds, sinus and other head and body ills, including certain cases of deafness.

He said that the founder of treating ailments by this system was Dr. A. T. Still, of Kansas City, who was a surgeon the U.S. Civil War.

Best relief for head colds, which are difficult in many cases to respond to treatment, was the speaker found out, was to insert a finger in his nose and put a little pressure on the outside walls of the nostril by means of manipulation.

BIRTHDAY IS CELEBRATED BY E.T. LADY

Mrs. Jane Hitchcock quietly celebrated her 95th birthday at her home on Quebec Street in London, Ont., receiving many messages of congratulation from her numerous friends.

At present, Mrs. Hitchcock is living with her granddaughter, Mrs. Allen Wright, and has two other grandchildren, Mrs. Herbert Monk, of Hickson, Ont., and Harold Goodrich, R.C.A.F., Angus, Ont.

Born ninety-five years ago near Montreal, Mrs. Hitchcock spent her childhood days in the Province of Quebec and remained in this province till after the death of her first husband, Rev. Calvin Hastings, of Montreal.

After her second marriage, she took up residence with her husband, Peter Hitchcock, in the town of Stanbridge, Ont.

Even though far advanced in years, Mrs. Hitchcock is still able to enjoy the small pleasures of life, such as moderately reading newspapers which include a Quebec publication and up until a short time ago she was able to write letters to her friends and relatives.

Best relief for head colds, which are difficult in many cases to respond to treatment, was the speaker found out, was to insert a finger in his nose and put a little pressure on the outside walls of the nostril by means of manipulation.

Dr. Bush said that he discovered that many of the varied digestive troubles were the direct result of people with head colds swallowing the mucus, which in turn infected the stomach coils.

Introduced by Rotarian Hubert Armstrong, Dr. Bush, who has written several books on health, was thanked by Rotarian J. J. Bell. The speaker also contributes to magazines dealing with his profession.

for this party. That's all I have to say." S. W. Smith, 286 Wellington St. South: "I am sorry to see the Hon. Adelaar Goulet lose, but pleased to see Col. Bourque in again owing to the fact that he is a good politician. It made me happy to learn that the Bloc Populaire finished third, after the two major parties. There should be only two parties in all future elections in Quebec."

E. Holland, 90 Durham Street: "I would like to have seen the C.C.F. party win. We have had tastes of both the other parties and it is only fair to give this new party a chance to exemplify itself."

Wesley H. Bradley, 15 Montclair Street: "The re-election of Col. Johnny Bourque is an endorsement of a long and faithful record of service to the people of Sherbrooke County. It is unfortunate that in the provincial field there was not more of a clear-cut decision for the electorate."

Roger Gauthier, 70 Gillespie St.: "The women's vote gave Col. Bourque his majority. There are no doubts about that. The elected government will not survive and it will be necessary to call another election in less than a year because of the many complications that may arise."

Paul Lamontagne, 11 Alexander Street: "Col. Johnny Bourque is a very popular man and I will be all the people and that is why he was returned to office again. I am satisfied with the provincial results."

Art Trussler, York Street: "They could not have done better in election. The result is a pretty good in the country. I figured he would get in anyway. Since there is no working majority, I guess that means there will be another election."

presented Shefford on previous occasions, was returned to the Legislature to support Maurice Duplessis, holding a 1,200-vote lead over the Liberal candidate, Luc Marchessault, who was making his first bid for Provincial honors.

The sole Bloc supporter elected from the Eastern Townships was Ovide Bergeron who headed the five-man poll in Stanstead, receiving 3,507 votes. Joachim Berube, Union Nationale, followed closely with 3,140.

Henri Vachon, Union Nationale, again turned the tables on Thomas Lapointe in Wolfe, winning 3,477 votes to 3,417 for his Liberal opponent and 345 for the Bloc candidate, Henri Louis Roberge.

The Eastern Townships once again showed a sharp reversal of form in yesterday's general elections, rejecting all but three of the candidates of the Godbout administration and inflicting a personal defeat on the Godbout representative from the district, Hon. Maurice Gingues, who made a vain effort to oust Hon. Johnny S. Bourque, Union Nationale Member who has represented Sherbrooke for the past nine years.

Electing with Mr. Duplessis were five men who were members of his Cabinet between 1936 and 1939. Onesime Gagnon, former Minister of Mines and Fisheries, was re-elected in Matane; Johnny Bourque, one-time Minister of Public Works, won in Sherbrooke; Bonu Dussan, former Minister of Agriculture, was successful in Portneuf; and former Health Minister Dr. Alby Paquette was returned in Labelle. Antonio Elie, former Minister without Portfolio, won in Yamaska.

Men who resigned their Federal seats to run in the Provincial elections were only moderately successful. Edouard Lacroix took Beauce for the Bloc Populaire and L. F. Lizotte took Kamouraska for the Liberals. Liberals Lionel Bertrand and Maurice Gingues lost out in Terrebonne and Sherbrooke respectively, and Dr. Paul Gauthier failed to take Portneuf for the Bloc.

The popular vote was well above the 1,000,000-mark for the first time in history, more than double the previous record. The great increase was due largely to extension of the franchise to women for the first time, but partly to wartime population trends.

At 32, Andre Laurendeau will be the youngest party leader in the House following his election in Montreal Laurier in a five-way battle. Other Bloc seats were Beauce, Beauharnois and Stanstead, and the Bloc record vote was cast in weather that was practically perfect in most of the province.

Mr. Duplessis fought his campaign largely on the issue of Federal-Provincial jurisdiction, claiming that the Godbout regime had "sold out" provincial rights to the Federal Government and that the Union Nationale could restore provincial autonomy.

Conscription was a factor in the voting as it has been in all provincial elections since the First Great War, but it was not a definite issue as all the main parties were opposed to conscription for overseas service.

viety in Saskatchewan in June and their own defeat in Ontario a year ago, the result was discouraging to the Liberals in that it indicated a deterioration in the hitherto solid block of support they have received from the French-speaking province.

The small group of Bloc Populaire members in the Federal Parliament were away in their constituencies when the Quebec election was observed, regarded the result as sealing the finish of that new movement as a distinctive political party. They look for a fusion of the Bloc Populaire and Union Nationale followings in Quebec into a movement which may produce considerable additional voting power at the next Federal election.

The more hopeful cherished the thought that these voters would come back to the Liberal election fought after the war.

Up-To-The-Minute Service Provided By The Record On Election Results

By FRED BENNETT. Once again all is quiet on Wellington Street, where several thousand people gathered last night to receive first-hand information on the provincial election race as it proceeded, step by step, and to witness the triumphant arrival of the Honorable Johnny Bourque, who swept Sherbrooke County seat by a majority of nearly four thousand votes, and then proceeded to the Record Office in acceptance of an invitation to address the public over the loud-speaker system that had been erected for the announcing of the results of the various polls and counties as received over Canadian Press wires.

Addresses by the three candidates had been scheduled to take place immediately following the announcement of the results from all hundred and sixteen polls in Sherbrooke, and following shortly after Mr. Bourque's triumphant appearance on the marquee of the Record Office, J. Antoine Rouleau arrived to make a short appearance, while Record Office employees were unable to contact Mr. Gingues, to ask him to add the voice of the Liberal party to those of his rivals.

Throughout the evening, starting shortly after 6 o'clock and continuing until 11.30, the broadcasting system poured out the results as received from Canadian Press wires, while Record Office employees, specially assigned to the task, chalked up the poll by poll victories of each party as received from local returning officers, and chalked up the seats taken by each party in the various counties on bulletin boards in the Record Office windows.

To explain the entire set-up in the Record Office during the entire evening, nothing was more evident than the perfect system of co-operation that kept the bulletin boards and loudspeaker announcements as messengers buzzed about the various departments carrying latest despatches to and from announcers and bulletin recorders, while four telephone lines were kept busy as the latest results were disclosed to those unable to watch the boards from the street.

During the entire evening activity within the Record Office walls remained at a high pitch, but reports poured forth in endless streams in accurate and orderly fashion.

Immediately upon receipt of a despatch over the Canadian Press wire, copies were made and messengers carried them to all parts of the office. Notifications of changes in majorities, party gains and losses from the polls and constituencies required checking and re-checking before announcements could be made public, and the rapid check-ups made were only possible through the long preparations that were made long before the results began pouring in.

Three announcements over the loud speakers drew exceptionally loud applause, these being the announcement of the clean sweep the Hon. Johnny Bourque made in the city, that of the Hon. Maurice Duplessis' win in his constituency of Three Rivers, and of the election of Major Paul Sauve, Union National candidate who was chosen in Two Mountains. Major Sauve's entire campaign in preparation for this election was carried out by his wife, he at the present time being on active service overseas with the Canadian Army.

The crowds began gathering in front of the Record Office shortly after six o'clock and were joined by the time of Mr. Bourque's arrival to address his supporters the throngs had reached figures upwards of two thousand people crowding around the front of the building while the lines extended far down both sides of the street.

By eleven o'clock the results were very nearly all received and announced and so the crowd slowly began to disperse, and once again election day was over for the majority of them, with the exception, of course, of the over-enthusiastic supporter of a losing party who had planned to direct a little easy money into his pockets through means of wagers, but must today remember his mistake and console his woes.

And so eleven o'clock provided the breaking-up time for many bulletin board followers, but once again we move behind the walls of the Record Building and here we find that election day is a long way from being finished for the inmates. Typewriters banged out their tunes way into the wee hours of the morning as reporters and writers each drew up their share of the day's newspaper, while the remaining employees returned to their respective posts long before the usual commencement hour, and through another feat of co-ordination, the Sherbrooke Daily Record will be on sale several hours before the usual time during the week.

The Record staff was present in full force and duties were set forth facilitating the entire proceedings, while the evening's overtime session was under the supervision of News Editor Don McMahon. Ivan Saunders handled local returns submitted by Frank Kenady who worked from a station in the returning office, while results from other parts of the province were received by Gushbert Jones over the wire. Paul Beaudry took charge of one telephone and issued despatches to announcers Wesley Bradley and Joachim Bachard, and also to the bulletin board marker, Don Saunders.

Tabulation of the entire results received were handled by Misses Maude Wilson, Doris Price and Fannie Williams, while Miss June Troy printed window posters announcing latest events. Main office phones were handled by the Misses Muriel Brown, Edith Edgar and Cassie Bellevue, while the efficient communications service between offices was maintained by Jimmy Coley, Mac Sanders, Willy Bennett and Gratian Callaghan.

All accounts of the evening's events were handled by the editorial staff.

JOHNNY BOURQUE CHALKS UP BIG MAJORITY

Big Parade Through City As U.N. Candidate Carries Seat

The Hon. Johnny Bourque, who retained his seat in the Quebec Legislature in the elections of 1939 by a slim majority and who yesterday gained an overwhelming majority over his opponents, said in an address to the electors last night that he could not find words strong enough to express his gratitude to the voters who had given him the vast majority over the Liberal candidate, the Hon. Maurice Gingues.

"If ever in my life I wished that I were a brilliant orator, it is now. Words fail me in my desire to express to you my gratitude."

Mr. Bourque compiled a majority of 3,797 over his Liberal opponent, having garnered 10,585 votes to 6,788 gained by the Hon. Maurice Gingues. J. Antoine Rouleau, Bloc candidate, polled the comparatively small total of 2,790 votes.

With exultation in his voice, Mr. Bourque declared that "the majority I received is frankly amazing and must be causing my opponents much distress." Continuing, the re-elected Union Nationale candidate promised the huge crowd thronging the street in front of the Record building that he would continue to serve them in the same way and with the same zeal as in the past eight years.

The population, seemingly electrified by the presence of Mr. Bourque, cheered the speaker to the echo as he spoke to them from a platform built outside the Record building. Fired by Mr. Bourque's exhortation, the throngs in front of the platform gained a new enthusiasm from the chosen candidate's words. Heretofore quiet before the arrival of Mr. Bourque, new fire swept through the crowd, plainly evidenced in the reception accorded further announcements of Union Nationale success throughout the province.

Following the speech, a mass Union Nationale parade followed a route of victory through the city streets. Party supporters swarmed in cars and trucks to take part in the celebration of the Sherbrooke U.N. candidate. Well over seventy cars and two truckloads travelled the route as cheering, almost frenzied, partymen leaped onto car running boards and onto truck rears to participate in the jubilation of the hour.

The Hon. Johnny Bourque presented a marked difference in his actions and words from the picture he presented in 1939 when, though elected in this constituency, he was a member of a weak opposition and told the electorate of the province that they had made a mistake in putting the skids beneath the ousted Duplessis administration. Last night, Mr. Bourque was a different man. Gone were the lines of defeat, the underlying expression of disappointment. In its place appeared joy and, yes, happiness. There was no mistaking Mr. Bourque's feelings last night. At the time of his speech, he bore on his person a report showing his party to be substantially ahead throughout the province and this indication of the trend of the elections was a source of great satisfaction to him.

Shortly after the cheering and excitement had subsided, the defeated Bloc Populaire candidate, J. Antoine Rouleau, appeared on the Record platform to address the populace. Although deprived of the enthusiastic reception accorded the winning candidate, Mr. Rouleau nevertheless spoke his piece to the throng, saying that the Bloc Populaire was still erect and proud and would again present its programme before the public in the near future.

He attributed the defeat of the Bloc here and throughout the province to the fact that the people did not yet fully understand the Bloc's platform. "We are new in the political field, both the party and I, and have not had ample financial support. However, we shall present ourselves again, assured that then we shall have greater success."

The defeated candidate concluded his remarks by congratulating Johnny Bourque, practically the lone point of his address that found extreme favor with the crowd, evoking applause.

Comparing the 1944 ballot-casting to the 1939 elections, citizens find this year's happenings a little tame when they consider the confusion and hectic doings of the 1939 race. The mad mix-up caused when first it was announced that Gingues had been elected and then the major upset when it was declared that Bourque was the genumost two years, having gone over with the 27th Canadian Armoured Regiment, S.F.R., in 1942. He has not been with the Sherbrooke Regiment since last January, having left the regiment on transfer to a staff position somewhere in England.

Capt. Humphrey is back in Canada for a tour of duty at Ottawa and expects to go back to the United Kingdom as soon as his duties no longer retain him here.

Captain Humphrey commented on the work being done by the boys from Sherbrooke, saying: "I am glad that the people at home appreciate the wonderful work the Sherbrooke Fusiliers are doing in Normandy and that they are getting as good a name in England as they are in the news papers at home."

Captain Humphrey will be staying with his parents on Laurier Avenue for a short time prior to his departure to assume his duties at Ottawa.

COUPLE FETES ANNIVERSARY AT LENNOXVILLE

To celebrate the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peterson, Church Street, Lennoxville, a surprise party was arranged and held at their home on August 1st.

About forty relatives and friends from North Hatley, Sherbrooke, Capleton and Lennoxville, gathered to extend their congratulations and to spend a happy social evening on the beautiful grounds surrounding their home. The weather was so ideal that tables were set up and the refreshments were served outside on the lighted lawn.

Mrs. Ernest Clarke, of North Hatley, and Mrs. Wallbridge, of Sherbrooke, poured at the beautiful covered tea-table centered with a lovely two-tier wedding cake made by Mrs. Waito, and attractively arranged with tall white tapers, silver holders. The hostesses, Mrs. J. Bellam, Mrs. C. Waite, Mrs. W. Evans and Mrs. Clarke were assisted in serving by their daughters, Lyndall Jackson, of Sherbrooke.

After Mr. and Mrs. Peterson had cut the wedding cake, Mrs. Evans, on behalf of those present, presented the guests of honor with a beautiful silver tea service. Mr. Peterson, on behalf of Mrs. Peterson and himself, expressed sincere thanks and appreciation to their friends for the lovely gift and also for making their anniversary such a happy occasion. The pleasant evening was climaxed by singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

VALID DATE FOR BUTTER COUPONS IS POSTPONED

Owing to the fact that butter supplies in Canada were down nearly two million pounds from the stocks on hand a year ago, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board has announced postponement until August 10 of butter coupons 72 and 73 which otherwise would have become valid on August 3.

This means that butter obtained on July 20 by coupons 70 and 71 must do the consumer for three weeks. Coupons 74 and 75 will be valid on August 24. A reduction has been made in quotas to hotels, restaurants and other quota users catering to transient public.

Production of creamery butter in Canada so far this year shows a decline of slightly more than five per cent, while butter consumption in Canada has increased approximately 16 per cent for the same period.

Several Thousand People Milled About Record Office For Returns

North: "My congratulations to Col. Johnny Bourque upon his re-election. He is a man worthy of the seat. I hope that the Hon. Maurice Duplessis gets a working majority."

M. L. Thompson, Quebec Central Railway: "The election of Col. Johnny Bourque proved conclusively that he is popular. Let's hope that he comes along and does as good a job as he did in the past. I know that he won't fail in this respect. But what kind of government are we going to have in the province? Anyway, I hope it will be for the best."

H. A. Shaw, 83 Laurier Avenue: "I am glad that Col. Bourque got in again. He is the logical representative for this county. As for the provincial results, I am happy that the two major parties captured the most number of seats, one way or the other."

Al Valliere, 48 Portland Avenue: "They surely picked the right man when they re-elected Mr. Bourque. He was entitled to it because he is a war veteran. The provincial results were satisfactory, but according to the results another election will be held soon."

Gaston Cloutier, 61 Frontenac Street: "I knew that Col. Bourque was going to win. There were no two ways about it. He made good in 1936-1939 and for that reason I voted for him. He was instrumental in putting through a works programme and many bridges and roads were built when he was a member of the Provincial Cabinet. The provincial results are too close and that means another election will be called in about six months' time. There were many names missing from the election lists, and one or the other of the parties made the error of omissions."

R. Stalport, 30 Wolfe Street: "I am exceptionally glad that the Bloc Populaire Party was eliminated in the running. I have no sympathy

PREPARATIONS FOR JUBILEE AT ASCOT CORNER

Final preparations are being made by the citizens of Ascot Corner to celebrate on August 28 the foundation of the Catholic Parish fifty years ago and at the same time the arrival of the English Protestants a hundred or more years ago in the region.

Ascot was first opened to colonization at about the same time that Gilbert Hyatt built his sawmill in Sherbrooke around 1800, and the first families that settled at Ascot were the Halls, the Winslows and the Lothrop.

Just where the families came from still remains to be answered. Some say that they were loyal members of the forty who arrived with Elemer Cushing in Richmond and the district in 1801. Others say that they were returned soldiers from the 1812-14 war, while they might also have been with the group of Hyatt, founder of Hyatt's Mills, the future Sherbrooke, to whom a part of Ascot County was granted. This should prove interesting enough to make some historian do some research work and find out just where these men came from and what they were doing previous to their settling in Ascot.

It was in December, 1926, that Rev. Charles James, Anglican Bishop of Quebec, was granted the first concession of lots which covered a territory of two thousand acres in the ranges 1 and 2. The organization of the Anglican Church, building the church and presbytery, was only done in 1875. The following are those who have been in charge of the church since 1884 to 1939: R. William Price, R. W. Colston, H. E. Wright, W. A. Adcock, E. R. Roy, Frederic Cornell, W. Cassep, Thorold Winkley, Benjamin Watson, I. A. R. MacDonald, E. K. Moffatt, Arthur Oakley, A. R. Warren, T. I. Lloyd, C. E. Bewse and W. W. Smith. The first of these pastors were from Duddswell while the others were from East Angus.

The origin of the old cemetery remains obscure as nowhere at the Anglican Archbishop's Palace in Quebec, nor at the registering office, nor in the archives of the Anglican mission, can there be found some paper giving indication of the purchase or donation of the land for the cemetery.

As it was the custom, at the death, in 1882, of the first colonist, Zaimon Hall, 82, he was buried in a corner of a small plot of land that was reserved for the school, which land became in 1875 the property of the Anglican Church.

The present Anglican cemetery was bought in 1899 from Eugene Stacey for forty dollars. This information was given by the Lord Bishop of Quebec. And from this time on that the cemetery was abandoned, thus becoming only a relic of the past although it contains all the graves of the first pioneers of Ascot.

Verbal tradition says that three men went on a fishing excursion and having a lot of luck in these parts they settled here. This is affirmed by Georges Blouin, 89, one of the first French-Canadians to arrive at Ascot, who says that he was told this by one of the sons of the fishermen, Samuel Winslow. It is certain that Ascot was inhabited by many English-speaking families around 1820 and that many died at a very advanced age as can be seen by the dates on the tombstones in the cemetery.

It is to be hoped that a suitable memorial will be erected in the near future in honor of these valiant pioneers.

According to reports received by Mr. and Mrs. Ives Whitehouse, of Dixville, their older son, twenty-five year old WO2 Iver F. Whitehouse received shrapnel wounds in the chest while serving with the Sherbrooke Fusilier Regiment in France. Prior to enlisting in the Fusiliers, WO. 2 Whitehouse was employed at the Belding-Corticelli Company in Coaticook. His brother, Sgt. Donald Whitehouse, is also serving in France, while his father, a veteran of the last Great War, is now serving with the Veterans' Guard of Canada.

Capt. George Coderre Tells Of His Experiences Serving Overseas For 3 Years, Including Italian Front

(By ELIE M. BARKET)

The biggest change found by Captain George Coderre upon his return to Sherbrooke after serving almost three years overseas was, of all things, that the young ladies he knew were married during his absence.

The 29-year-old son of Mrs. Joseph Coderre served with the famed 22nd Regiment from Quebec and fought side by side with Major Paul Triquet, V.C. winner. He was wounded in the battle of Casa Berardi on December 16, 1943.

After a brief visit home, Captain Coderre will be on a tour of duty in the Dominion for six months before rejoining his unit. Although he has been in the city for less than a week, during this time he looked up many of his old friends and acquaintances.

Prior to his leaving England for Canada, Captain Coderre had a reunion with Major Triquet in London, before the latter left there to rejoin his regiment in Italy. He had known that Major Triquet came to Sherbrooke. While in England, he said he had copies of the Sherbrooke Record on several occasions and was "so hungry" for the news from home that he read the papers line by line, including the advertisements.

Captain Coderre's regiment was with the famed British 8th Army in the Sicilian and Italian campaigns, and while in Sicily his father died last May in Sherbrooke. However, he did not learn of his father's death until September, almost four months later, because he was constantly on the move.

He warned of complacency and apathy on the home front, saying that the winning of the war will be no "push-over." He recounted the stubborn resistance offered by the Nazis and added, "Jerry will fight to the last." He based this on personal observation.

Maintaining that the robot bomb was launched too late by the Nazis, he pointed out that the "doddering" is not helping the Germans, and in spite of the damage done by them, the people there regard them as more of a nuisance than anything else.

"They will never get the people of England down with their flying bombs in my opinion. They consider them more of a nuisance than anything else. One never knows where they are going to land, though," he said.

He told of seeing some of the bombs flying overhead. "They were 1,000 to 2,000 feet overhead when I saw them, but that was close enough for me," he remarked.

"Although bombs keep coming over and over, the populace remains unperturbed even when the air raid warnings are sounded. That's the tenacity the Britishers possess and the grim determination that will win in winning the war."

While death and desolation are caused by these jet-propelled bombs, the people continue about their business and there is no let-up in traffic—just as if there were no war being fought," he added. However, air raid shelters are being used the same as in the 1940 blitz.

Captain Coderre related the "close shave" he had when he was wounded. After the objective had been attained in the battle of Casa Berardi, the regiment was counter-attacking. He and Triquet were in a little wooden house which was struck by an exploding shell and Captain Coderre received a "bad bang" as he called it. The two men made for a "fox hole" where the local soldier faintly due to the loss of blood.

When he came to, he heard German soldiers talking across the road and was afraid that he would be taken a prisoner. But he fooled the Hun and managed to crawl back into his own lines with a serious right leg injury.

Mines and booby traps were the most insidious enemy of the Canadians in Italy, he said. These were so numerous that no time could be spared to dismantle all of them and streets and houses that appeared to be mined were blasted by army engineers during the push across that country.

Admitting that the job of the engineer is tough, detecting mines and building bridges under enemy fire, Captain Coderre still believes that the infantryman, under the steps or behind the doors of Italian homes. Often, they are difficult to find. Sometimes a mine is placed beneath a mine. After one has been dismantled, engineers attempt to lift it and the one underneath goes off.

Captain Coderre saw General Montgomery twice, in Sicily and Italy; saw the King and Queen with Princess Elizabeth and her dog taking a walk in London; had a glimpse of General de Gaulle in London, and also saw King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, whom he described as "small and puny."

Boys From 67 Squadron Air Cadets Enjoying Stay At Mont Joli Camp

By J. A. Archambault, O.C.

The sturdy young lads of No. 67 Squadron (Rotary) Air Cadets of Canada are safely and happily in camp at Mont Joli under the command of Officer Commanding J. A. Archambault, Vice-President of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club, and with PO. P. D. Mathias second in command.

The Squadron arrived complete and safely at the station one hour ahead of schedule. The train was "special" for Cadets and no stops were made en route.

The lads had a 200-yard marathon on the ballast on the way up, the way up, the winner being Air Cadet Waldman and the "prize" was his mirror which he had dropped on the track.

The camp is fully organized with four flights, two with the local squadron and two with 98 Irberville Squadron of Montreal. The total strength is 126 men plus four officers.

PO. Phil Mathias was appointed O.C. of the Cadet Canteen and closed his first day of operation with the swim. Ste. Lucie is nine miles from the camp, so the Cadets had the benefit of a motor trip along the coast and were thrilled to see the tide.

The day's work begins early and ends when lights are out for everyone. The boys are having a great time. Their physical condition is perfect and they have an eye open for everything.

THE QUEBEC RESULT

While the final results of yesterday's Provincial general elections are not complete everything points that the next Government of the Province will be forced to carry on without an overall majority, something rather undesirable from the point of view of an efficient administration, especially in view of the extremist views of the small group which will hold the balance of power in the new house.

Perhaps one of the highlights of the voting was the complete reversal of traditional form in the constituencies. Districts, such as Westmount, Notre Dame de Grace and other English-speaking divisions, which had been strong supporters of the Conservative cause in the past came out in surprising strength for the Liberal candidates, while other historically Liberal centres came out for the Union Nationale candidates.

This was even evidenced in Sherbrooke, the successful candidate receiving his largest majorities in the wards noted for their allegiance to the Liberal cause.

Insofar as the result in Sherbrooke County is concerned, it can be taken as an endorsement for a popular candidate who has done much for the constituency while it is also something of a slap in the face for a man who stepped out of his Federal mandate to seek higher honors in the Provincial field.

Another interesting feature of the result is the comparatively poor showing made by the Bloc Populaire candidates, especially in those districts where they had been expected to make the strongest showing although undoubtedly their presence in the field served to create the existing unpleasant position.

HITLER'S NEXT STAND

With Hitler bent on a finish fight if he can force his armies and his home front to support him, the question naturally arises as to where he intends to make his stands against the Allied drives in the Western and Eastern theatres. To find an answer to this we must first note that his general strategy provides for delaying action while he retires as gradually as possible to the borders of Germany itself. This strategy will persist, although there will be tactical innovations to meet emergencies.

For instance, the Germans predict an invasion of Southern France through the Rhone Valley. Should that take place it would create a fresh crisis for Hitler, but it would not alter his broad programme of retirement for a last-ditch fight on his own borders. In France the Fuehrer is swinging his front in the invasion zone back to the Northeast, using the bloody Caen sector as his pivot. A despatch from Spain says he even abandoned his Atlantic defences in Southwest France, except for a light guard, and is withdrawing his troops Northward because of the Allied success in Normandy and Brittany.

The unsuccessful German counter-attack against the Americans in the Avranches sector fits into this picture perfectly. It was purely defensive and was calculated to delay the Allied advance towards Paris, thereby safeguarding the Nazi retreat.

The main German retreat will probably be Northeastward, covering both Paris and the vital English Channel coast. Hitler will defend Paris if he can but he likely will find it a hot potato to hold. He must protect the coast during his retreat in order to prevent the Allies from pouring troops and equipment into France across the narrow part of the Channel and cutting his line of withdrawal. This area is also the nesting ground for the robot bombs which he hopes will crack British morale.

The Nazi dictator presumably will continue over the old invasion route through Belgium and thence into Germany. He may try to make a stand behind the Maginot line and undoubtedly will do so back of his own Siegfried wall. The fact that he himself outflanked the Maginot line at the outset of the war does not prove that such defences are useless. Should the Germans have to defend the Rhone Valley, their ultimate course of retreat probably would be across the Southwest German border in the Belfort area.

Over on the Russo-German front the Germans are already making their last big stand before they reach their own frontier. They are trying to hold a front protecting the "sacred" East Prussian border and then Southward along the line of the great Vistula river which runs through besieged Warsaw. Once the Nazis are forced to abandon this line, there will be no strong natural defences until they finally reach the big Oder river inside the boundary of the Fatherland. True, they have prepared several lines of defence between the Vistula and the Reich, but these fortifications lack the natural features to give them strength.

The fighting at strategic points is fierce, and it may be the Nazis are getting some easement through possible Russian need to slow up momentarily to improve supply lines. But a Russian breakthrough South of Warsaw would turn the whole German flank and force wholesale withdrawal.

ANOTHER CHALLENGE TO OTTAWA

Certainly the Acting Provincial Labor Minister Wilfrid Hamel has offered the people of this Province—and the rest of Canada—a startling example of how not to respect the law in his advice to the Quebec taxi cab drivers when he told them to cease their strike, resume operations with an advanced fare and ignore the instructions of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board who had refused the increase.

Ever since the outbreak of the war the Prices Board has been endeavoring with more or less success to prevent an increase in living costs. To this end a rigid system of price controls has been established with frequent legal action being taken against those who exceed the ceilings established. The Quebec taxi drivers have demanded an increase in the starting rate from twenty-five to thirty-five cents, a demand which has been refused by the Prices Board. With this refusal, the cab drivers struck and have refused a number of compromise suggestions put forward.

Now we have the fine spectacle of a Minister of the Crown telling this substantial group of men to ignore the law, to charge the prices they were demanding, declaring that the Provincial Government would back them in their defence of the law.

The right or wrong of the demands of the Quebec drivers does not enter the question. The sole argument is whether the Minister was justified in giving advice urging law violation which would have brought the weight of authoritative ire down upon an individual. The past election has seen some rather wild statements issued challenging this or that law or edict of the various governing bodies but it is doubtful if such a strong statement has come from a man supposedly holding a position of authority.

THE FALL FAIRS OPEN

With the opening of the Shefford County Agricultural Society's annual fair at Waterloo tomorrow, the fall fair season of the Eastern Townships is formally ushered in.

The fall fairs have long been a tradition to the people of the North Eastern section of this continent and some like that at Waterloo date back for more than a century.

The fall fair provides a multiple service to the people of its community. It is a social function, one at which the residents of the district gather and often is the occasion of a pilgrimage of former citizens now living in distant parts who can with reasonable certainty be assured of meeting old friends and acquaintances. They are an important source of the competitive spirit which has done much to improve the general level of agricultural production in this district. In fact there are few phases of community activity which the county fairs do not benefit and it is satisfying to see these venerable institutions carrying on with undiminished vigor despite the many difficulties imposed upon them by wartime conditions.

HEIL HITLER!

The Waterloo Fair, 1834-1944

Rev. B. S. Murray, M.A.

For 110 years the Waterloo Fair has been a sign to those who live in Shefford and Bromo Counties that harvest days are here again. Fairs, of course, have deeper roots than that. With them we associate those merry days when country folk, after weeks and months of hard work and intense anticipation, gather together to view through this window a display of their products and observe the achievements of other farmers. Here are gathered the best of the regional crops, animals and their handiwork. With this measuring rod they evaluate their efforts. That is, they see what they have accomplished and compare it with others. Fairs are accordingly a stimulus to progressive effort. They are a direct challenge to go forward. So, with one foot in the past, we step into the future determined to make history.

That, too, was, I suspect the dream in the hearts of the fathers of the Shefford County Agricultural Society when they organized in 1834. They desired then to make ample provision for the encouragement of agriculture. So as a primary step, they decided at their first meeting on June 25th, 1834, at the home of Calvin Richardson, of Waterloo, to hold an exhibition. On August 27, 1834, graced by the presence of His Excellency the Governor-in-Chief, the first exhibition was held at Calvin Richardson's. An exhibition? Perhaps "cattle show" would be more accurate. At least the older folks today still name it thus. And when we consider that there were exhibited at this time nine bulls, twenty-nine milk cows, fifteen pair working oxen, three pair of two-year-old steers, six pairs of yearling steers, three pair fat oxen, nine fat cows and steers, thirteen two-year-old heifers, five yearling heifers, six calves, ten rams, six pens of ewes, besides hogs, three stallions, twenty-two brood mares, eleven geldings, fifteen saddle mares and eight two-year-old colts, we can readily recognize the appropriateness of the term "Cattle Show," so that faithful historian of the Eastern Townships, the late Rev. E. M. Taylor, M.A., Litt. D., wrote:

Frost Village, in 1935, took up the tale and made the second step a progressive one. The third year's cattle show was held near the Anglican Church in West Shefford on September 8th, 1836. To scan the prize list of those pioneer days we find names still live and covered in our midst among which are Allen, Ball, Blinn, Bright, Benham, Cook, Gooley, Foster, Goddard, Hunt, Knowlton, Kenney, Lawrence, Parmelee, Richardson, Stevens, Soles, Shephard, Robinson, Taylor, Williams, Wells, Wheeler and Wood.

That first fair interests me. I know I would have enjoyed its simplicity, freshness and adventurous spirit. It was a red letter day in the agricultural life of Shefford County. 1834 is a far cry to 1944 with its spacious well-appointed grounds, modern buildings, splendid race track, ideally-located overlooking Waterloo Lake, famous for its floating island. Today, in addition to cattle, there are many other features reflecting the multiple life of the modern farm. One cannot however forget the hand music—the horse racing—the parade of cattle. There is so much to see, so much to learn. Everywhere there are demonstrations coaxing people to greater achievements. No feature of farm life is neglected. Not even Canada's greatest asset—the children—overlooked. Fair days are great visiting days when old acquaintances are kept in repair. And the spirit of fun predominates. Analyse the word "Fair" and you will find it more related to amusement than to musing on farm life. In this neighborhood environment history is not only recorded, it is made.

If one could only record all the words spoken, the stories related, the good news as well as the bad, one would have an accurate picture of farm-thinking when off duty.

Proud are we who live in Shefford County of the Shefford Fair which, by the way, is twenty-one years senior to the Bromo County Fair. Through this more than a century old window we see a picture of present day farm life. Grateful are we to those of yesterday who laid foundations deep and strong and really builded better than they knew. To those who have maintained and strengthened the heritage entrusted to them, we commend and wish them "good luck in the Name of the Lord." They are window-dressers who in this way annually advertise Canada's basic industry, agriculture. To those who know not, and are critical of farming, these show windows do much to correct and remedy. Here then we sense directness, sincerity and simplicity, qualities needed to make the greatest art in life, the art of living together harmoniously, a beautiful thrilling adventure.

So, ladies and gentlemen, I give you a toast: May the Waterloo Fair function successfully, progressively, harmoniously now and, in the days ahead, continue to be an attractive, dependable, clear window of the farms of the Historic County of Shefford!

HAVE A SMILE

"Ha! ha!" laughed the recruit. "You can't fool me. I know they've got potato-peeling machines in this army."

"Yes, smart chap," replied the sergeant, "and you're the latest model."

A man called on the news editor of a local paper and announced that his uncle had been taking the paper for 55 years.

"That's fine," said the news editor. "I hope he'll continue to do so." "Oh, yes, he will. I want to tell you about him. He has always been a model of propriety. He has never touched liquor or tobacco. He has never used profanity. He has never been mixed up with women. He indulges in no vices and no excesses. And tomorrow he will celebrate his eightieth birthday."

"How?" asked the news editor.

CHAMPION ADHERES TO "STRAIGHT PLAY"

Today's hand is another example of counting tricks. This hand was played in the Adirondack open pair event, which was won by Mrs. Murray DeLew and Trudie Clark of Rochester, N.Y. The team-of-four event went to Harry J. Fishbein, Mrs. Olga Hillard and Henry Sonnenblik of New York, and Mrs. Doris Parks of Cleveland. William D. Levin of Brooklyn, N.Y., and Mrs. Paula Bacher of East Orange, N.J., won the mixed pairs.

One North player told us about the nice squeeze play he got on the East hand to make four-odd; whereupon Fishbein said, "If you count your tricks, there is no trouble making five." The opening lead, which marks East with four clubs, is won by North. The queen of diamonds is cashed and dummy entered three times so that the other three clubs can be ruffed. North discards a heart on dummy's king of diamonds, and later leads the ten of hearts. West, having nothing, declares 11 tricks.

Buttons Add A Jeweled Touch

For end-of-summer perk-up clothes, play the button game in your wardrobe. By using the jeweled flash, flower-like designs or lacy fretwork of button to dramatize clothes and accessories, you can chalk up chic a notch or two.

Have you a fabric cape or jacket that could use a lift? Give it new interest by banding each front side with scalloped facings of black velvet, satin or crepe—this will give you a tie-up with current black dresses—and then accent each top with a jeweled button, a locally shown in the photograph.

Local sewing center experts, who cooked up this and other stunts, suggest matching buttons with buckles and using these on the belt of your dress.

You can spruce up a pair of non-descript gloves by clustering floral buttons—those shown on the model are ceramic roses—at the top of each cuff.

To dramatize a fabric handbag, give it the button touch, as is shown on the attractive miniature hatbox bag. To copy the trim, decide on the number, color and size of buttons you want to use. Then measure and mark where buttons are to go at the top and bottom of the bag, and anchor with a needle and thread.

MARRIAGES

HOY-LAVALLIERE

Farnham, Aug. 9.—The marriage of Beverly Maude, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Lavalliere, of Farnham, to Mr. Clarence David Hoy, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hoy, of Laprairie, took place on Tuesday afternoon, July 25, at three o'clock, in Grace United Church, Farnham, with Rev. W. R. LeGrow officiating.

The church was prettily decorated with summer flowers and the chancel was banked with asparagus fern and vases of white hydrangea. Pastel shaded flowers with white satin ribbon bows marked off the guest pews.

Mrs. R. Peron, organist of Jeanne Manes Street Baptist Church, Montreal, and a friend of the bridal couple, presided at the organ, and Mrs. Herbert Smith, of St. Johns, sang "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white floral organza over taffeta, with sweetheart neckline and sleeves coming to points over the hands, the full skirt being gathered to a fitted bodice. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was held by a crown of orange blossoms. She carried a cascade bouquet of pale pink Tullamore roses and bouvardia. She wore a gold pendant set with pearls and zircon, the gift of the groom.

The matron-of-honor, Mrs. George Rimmer, of Farnham, wore a floor-length gown of delphinium blue mousseline de soie over taffeta, a half-hat of delphinium blue trimmed with small matching flowers and white accessories, and carried a Colonial bouquet of yellow and white roses encircled with blue and mauve sweet peas tied with mauve ribbon with streamers.

The bridesmaid, Miss Bernice Grant, of Huntingdon, wore a floor-length gown of mauve-yellow mousseline de soie over taffeta and a half-hat of mauve-yellow trimmed with yellow roses, and white accessories. She carried a Colonial bouquet of blue gladioli, shaded blue and mauve sweet peas encircled with white and yellow roses tied with blue and mauve ribbon with streamers.

Both attendants' gowns were made alike on simple lines, with low, round neck-line, short sleeves and with a full gathered skirt. They both wore sterling silver lockets and chains, gifts from the bride.

Mrs. Lavalliere, the bride's mother, wore a street-length Deja model dress of delf blue floral sheer, a small white hat with delf blue trimming and veil, white accessories and a corsage of Better Time roses.

Mrs. Hoy, the groom's mother, wore a street-length dress in African violet sheer, with a small hat of flowers to match. Her accessories were black, with white gloves and she wore a corsage of yellow Gloria roses.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Hoy acted as best man for his brother, The usher, Cpl. John Paradis, R.C.A.F., of Montreal, and Mr. George Gibson, Jr., of Laprairie, acted as proxies for L.A.C. Douglas Gibson, R.C.A.F., of Rockville, Ont., and L. S. Douglas McArthur, of the R.C.N.V.R., whose duties prevented them from attending the wedding.

A reception was held in Grace United Church Hall, the hall having been prettily decorated with numerous vases of summer flowers, white streamers and silver bells.

The bridal couple, with their parents and attendants, received the guests while standing beneath a shower of silver bells and white streamers.

The wedding supper was served at tables arranged in a half-square with the bridal couple, their parents and Rev. and Mrs. LeGrow seated at the center table. The wedding cake, adorned with pastel shaded corn flowers and white zephyr, was cut by the bride, assisted by the bridegroom. Mrs. Herbert Smith sang "Because," with Mrs. Rene Peron, of Montreal, at the piano. The toast to the bride was given by Rev. W. R. LeGrow, and responded to by the bridegroom.

Later the bridal couple left for a motor trip to Lac des Loups and other points in Northern Quebec. The bride travelled in a lime green silk jersey dress, a demi-hat of lime green veiling and corded ribbon, white accessories and a corsage of white carnations, and carried a Munro tweed coat in mulberry shade.

The bride, who is a graduate of Macdonald College School for Teachers, St. Anne de Bellevue, is on the staff of St. Johns High School.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hoy, parents of the bridegroom, of Laprairie; Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Moussette, Charles Roland and Vivian Moussette, Cpl. John Paradis, R.C.A.F., and Mrs. Paradis, brothers-in-law, sisters, nephews and niece of the bridegroom, of Laprairie; Miss Gertrude Bean, of Sherbrooke, Miss Blanche Bean, of Hamilton, Ont., Mrs. Alton Lavalliere and son, Stewart, of Smith's Falls, Ont., aunts and cousins of the bride; Mr. J. B. Lavalliere, of Lake Megantic, Pte. D. A. Lavalliere and T. S. Coy, of Farnham, uncles of the bride; Miss Esther Peron, Mr. Robert Chodat and Mrs. Norman Pattullo, of Montreal, Mrs. Eileen Daigneault, of Laprairie, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Beckus, of Fullford; Mrs. Robert Bowker and Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Hase, of Farnham.

Hoy-Lavalliere Wedding

MR. AND MRS. CLARENCE DAVID HOY, who were recently married at Farnham. The bride was the former Miss Beverly Maude Lavalliere, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Lavalliere, of Farnham, and the bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hoy, is from Laprairie.

Two men on a cargo steamer were comparing notes as to their occupations before the war. One had been a porter and the other had been a magician.

The porter said to the magician: "What can you do?"

"I can make things disappear, I'll show you," replied the magician.

Just then a torpedo hit the ship and sunk her. The two men were flung into the water. The magician looked around with disgust, and seeing no sign of the ship, he said to the magician: "I suppose you think that's funny?"

Walking through the wood, the artillery officer was very surprised to see a number of men climbing trees and crawling through bushes.

"What's the great idea?" he snapped. "What do you think you are doing?"

"Well, sir," said the sergeant, "we've camouflaged the gun so well that we can't find it."

Union Nationale Captured Eight Seats In Eastern Townships In Yesterday's Election

The political history of the Eastern Townships is one of general sweeps, first one party holding control of the district and then the other, although at intervals an odd seat or two resisted the trend. Until the turn of the century, the Eastern Townships was essentially Conservative. Then the Liberal Government swept into power at Quebec and the Eastern Townships followed suit. From then to 1935, the counties remained under the Liberal banner, returning a solid delegation except for the period of 1923 to 1930 when the County of Sherbrooke voted against the administration of that day.

With the rising tide of indignation against the Taschereau administration, the majority of the seats switched over in 1935 and in the 1936 elections, an entire Union Nationale bloc was returned. In 1939, the Townships switched back to the Liberal party, Sherbrooke and Brome alone sticking by the Union Nationale. Yesterday Union Nationale took eight seats, Liberals two and the Bloc Populaire one.

Have a Coca-Cola=Here's to old times

... or welcoming home a sailor son

There is real welcome in a snack shared in the kitchen. With ice-cold Coca-Cola to add refreshment, you have all the makings for a good time. As our men in camp and overseas so often tell, there's no more cordial invitation than Have a "Coke". At your ice box, the same as in Canteens around the globe, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes—has become the global symbol of Canadian hospitality.

OBITUARIES

MR. ARGYLE M. TAYLOR, NAMUR.

South Belton, Aug. 9.—Word has been received here of the death of Mr. A. M. Taylor, which occurred on July 5 in the Buckingham Hospital, which he entered on July 2.

He had been a sufferer from heart trouble for several months, but was able to come here to his old home town of South Belton this summer, where much of his life was spent with his parents and brothers and sisters.

He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Taylor, and is survived by three brothers, Arthur, of California, and Ernest and Daniel, of South Belton, and two sisters, Mrs. O'Reilly, of Montreal, and Mrs. Farnsworth, of California.

Two sisters and two brothers predeceased him.

While visiting here this summer, he attended the semi-annual meeting of the S.D.A. Church in Stukely.

He was a faithful member and a generous supporter of this church.

As a young man he travelled over much of Eastern Canada, selling books and literature for the Advent Church in his desire to spread "The Present Truth." He went to England for the same purpose, and when he came home he brought back his first wife as a bride. Some years after her death he married again and is survived by the present Mrs. Taylor and two adopted children, at their home in Namur, where his last years have been spent.

He acted as a colporteur for the Montreal Branch of the British and Foreign Bible Society for several years, doing his work for them in a faithful and efficient manner. He had a gift for composing poetry, which he often recited for the enjoyment of his friends. He earned the respect of young and old for his faithful Christian life of over seventy years. The memory of his life and character will linger long in the minds of relatives and old friends here, who will miss his usual yearly visits.

Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock on Monday, August 14, at the St. John's Church, with Rev. G. G. Connelly as officiating pastor of the United Church, of Dunham and Stanbridge, on July 30, by Rev. Mr. Stewart, of Stanstead. The doxology was followed by the hymn, "The Church's One Foundation." Rev. Mr. Levesque, of Beebe, offered the prayer; Rev. Mr. Mitchell, of Knowlton, read the lesson; Rev. Mr. Methams, of Maroon, gave the charge to the minister to be inducted, and Rev. Maureen O'Hara, John Garfield Star In Exciting Kiss-and-Kill Story

Maureen O'Hara and John Garfield in "The Fallen Sparrow," beginning today at the Granada Theatre.

Co-starring John Garfield and Maureen O'Hara, "The Fallen Sparrow," which opens today at the Granada, is one of the finest vehicles in which either of these favorites has appeared. It is the first in which they are seen together. The action - crammed story of enemy intrigue against an American adventurer and his friends takes place in New York City shortly before our armed entry into World War II. This action is a result of the hero's earlier participation in the struggle against Fascism, as a soldier in the Spanish civil war.

As the picture opens Garfield, recovered from two years of prison and torture, returns to his circle of well-to-do folk in New York City. He is bent on avenging the murder of a friend who was killed, he suspects, for making an attempt to get him out of the Fascist prison. His friends have taken to their heels before the advance of European refugees, some of whom he suspects as enemy agents. Among them is a beautiful girl, played by Miss O'Hara. There is an elderly wheelchair invalid played by Walter Szlezak, a young, handsome blond named Hugh Beaumont, Aliz, and many others, qualify as enemy agent suspects.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Doherty, assisted by some of the members of the club. A sing-song, ending with the singing of "For He is a Jolly Good Fellow," brought an enjoyable evening to a close.

MIXED DOUBLES STARTED AT MT. PLEASANT

Raymonde Laporte and Robert Down Rivals In Close Match

The first match of the mixed doubles in the Mount Pleasant tennis tournament was played last night on the club courts. Raymonde Laporte and Robert Down emerged victors in the first match by defeating Pauline Foucher and Andre Trotter in a match that required three sets to settle.

The winners started off in good fashion by winning the first set of the match by a score of 6-4. However, they faltered in the second set and their opponents won, 7-5 to even up the match at one set apiece.

In the last set, Miss Laporte and Robert lightened up on their play and sailed through to a decisive 6-2 triumph over their rivals to take the set and match and advance to the second round of competition in the doubles play.

Simone Chevalier made her debut in this year's tennis tournament a successful one as she disposed of Carmen Charcot in three sets in ladies' singles play. Getting by the first round on the tourney, Miss Chevalier dropped the first set by a 6-3 margin but came back strongly to tie up the match with a 6-3 triumph in the second set. Continuing to play steadily, Miss Chevalier finished off her opponent with a routine 6-2 victory in the third and deciding set.

Helen Fitzgerald was eliminated last night from the ladies' singles play after having come through a victor in the first round. Playing against Marthe Tangany, rising young tennis star, Miss Fitzgerald bowed in two straight sets. Dropping the first by a 6-3 score, she could

VOISELLE HURLS GIANTS TO 8-4 WIN OVER BUCS

Pittsburgh, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Rookie Bill Voiselle grabbed his 14th victory of the season yesterday as he pitched and batted the New York Giants to an 8-4 decision over Pittsburgh to strengthen his mates' fingertip hold on fourth place in the National League.

The Giants opened up a half-length lead on the idle Chicago Cubs by routing Max Butcher in the second frame and slugging Xavier Rescigno for a total of 15 hits while Voiselle rattled the Pirates to eight runs.

New York picked up two in each of the first two frames but Pittsburgh came back with one in first and a pair in the third. Voiselle's double touched off a game-winning three-run spurt in the Giants' sixth and final clip added one more in the eighth.

Joe Medwick and Phil Weintraub led the visitors with three hits while Jim Russell collected three for the home crew.

New York: 220 003 010—8 15 1
Pittsburgh: 102 000 010—4 8 3

Batteries: Voiselle and Lombardi; Butcher, Rescigno (2) and Lopez.

HOD LISENBEE HURLS NO-HIT, NO-RUN GAME

Hod Lisenbee, veteran Syracuse Chiefs' right-hander, last night turned in a no-hit, no-run game as the Chiefs blanked the Montreal Royals 8-0 in part of a doubleheader at Syracuse. The Royals took the nightcap 10-3.

Lisenbee gave up no bases on balls and didn't strike out any men. Only one man reached first base, Morris Aderholt, who got to first on a wild throw in the second inning. It was the first time the veteran ained a no-hit, no-run game in his twenty-year baseball career.

At Buffalo, the Bisons took a 9-6 triumph over the Jersey City Little Giants after a four-run outburst in the seventh inning by the home squad. Andy Semnick's single with the bases loaded proved to be the pay-off blow.

At Rochester, the Red Wings handed the league-leading Baltimore Orioles a double defeat. The Rochester crew won the first game 5-2 and topped it off with a close 6-5 win in the nightcap.

The Newark Bears moved to within a half game of first place last night as they swept both ends of a doubleheader from the Toronto Leafs at Toronto.

The Bears took the opener by a 5-0 score and made it seven in a row by winning the second half of the double feature 6-3.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By SYD THOMAS, Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Toronto, Aug. 9.—(C)—The current muddle in the British Columbia inter-city lacrosse loop has brought the entire service sport situation back in the limelight again, and has started up more controversy. The Army entry was barred from playing by military authorities part-way through the schedule, but the decision was reversed to allow the squad back in the league, much to the displeasure of the civilian entries.

The three city teams, New Westminster, Burrards and Richmond, refused to play the soldiers after they were reinstated, holding that they had their schedule revised and didn't want to bother changing it again. So they were suspended while league officials pondered the problem.

Ken (Vancouver Province) McConnell, viewing the scene with disapproval, suggested some hard and fast policy should be devised, so a military team would know if it would be able to play an entire season without interruption and disruption of the schedule, as happened in lacrosse, and last winter in different hockey loops.

The boys in the services want to play, and the fans want to see them. And with thousands of men in army camps in Canada, it should be possible to obtain replacements even though overseas drafts do cut down their strength.

No one would condone, or wants to see, key men kept at any camp just so they can take part in sports, but some other plan could be worked out so a team wouldn't be forcibly withdrawn right in the thick of the fight. If that isn't possible, then authorities once and for all should end the mingling of civilian and service teams—an action that none of the fans want to see taken.

Incidentally:

Dave Castiloux, the comebacking ex-R.C.A.F. fighter, has been signed to meet Saint John's Johnny Lifford in Halifax next month. The Canadian welter and lightweight titleholder is said to have been offered a hefty purse for the event. . . . Harry (Calgary Alberta) Scott says Max Bentley, former high-scoring forward with Chicago Black Hawks, is as good at baseball as he is at hockey. He's playing in the foothills ball loop in Alberta now, and Harry says if the war ends before next summer there's a good chance Max will get a chance in organized pro ball.

Size was against him, but August Bergamo fought it out to become an important item to the finest club in baseball—the St. Louis Cardinals.

Augie Bergamo—5-9, 160 pounds and left-handed all the way—is a product of Detroit sandlots, but Tiger scouts considered him too small.

Pitching as a semi-professional on week-ends, his arm went bad, so he decided to become an outfielder.

On a defense job with a roller bearing company in 1937, his boss, Norman Phillips, told him to take a week off and try out in a Cardinal camp in Flint.

"And am I glad I did!" chuckles

Next to baseball, Bergamo plays table tennis best. He won a few district titles.

His biggest thrill came in '39 at Columbus, Ga., where he manufactured his first home run of the year on the last day of the season. It came with two men on base to win the pennant by a half-game margin.

But little Augie Bergamo is getting kicks out of baseball in wholesale lots these torrid afternoons and nights.

He is thrilled every time he goes to bat for the St. Louis Cardinals.

Size Was Against Him, But Versatile Bergamo Makes Good In Cardinal Outfield

Size was against him, but August Bergamo fought it out to become an important item to the finest club in baseball—the St. Louis Cardinals.

Augie Bergamo—5-9, 160 pounds and left-handed all the way—is a product of Detroit sandlots, but Tiger scouts considered him too small.

Pitching as a semi-professional on week-ends, his arm went bad, so he decided to become an outfielder.

On a defense job with a roller bearing company in 1937, his boss, Norman Phillips, told him to take a week off and try out in a Cardinal camp in Flint.

"And am I glad I did!" chuckles

Auggie Bergamo . . . little man . . . big bat.

keen-eyed little Augie. "There were about 800 kids there. I was put under contract, and hustled to another elimination tryout camp at Pine Bluff, Ark."

Thus Bergamo became just another Cardinal seedling planted in 1938 at Paducah, where he won the batting championship of the Class D Kitty League with a sparkling .358. First baseman Ray Sanders of the Red Birds was with the club.

Bergamo kept going up. His size, or lack of it, didn't matter now. Cardinal scouts and coaches were convinced. He hit .345 for Columbus of the Class B Sally League in 1939.

Billy Southworth knew what he had when Bergamo reported to the Cardinals last spring. The boss of the blokes in the red blazers made Bergamo's acquaintance as the industrious outfielder reported to Rochester in 1942, when his batting dropped to .288 as he developed hay fever.

Bergamo spent '41 with Rochester and Columbus and was destined to crash the National League from the Cardinals' American Association farm club, for which he batted .303 in 90 games in '42.

Last season Bergamo batted .324 in 144 engagements, and was the league's No. 1 base on balls extractor with 109. And picking out good balls to hit enabled him to tie for the lead in thumping two-baggers. He packed the winning punch in the Little World Series, three hits in the deciding game and two key runs-batted-in.

Bergamo, 26 and single, wields a 33-ounce Rogers Hornsby model mace. He's been employed in left and right fields by the Cardinals, and filled in at first base for Sanders when the Reds swamped the Pirates at Forbes Field a recent afternoon.

Because he resembles the baseball comic, rampant teammates call him Al Schacht.

Ring Thrills

By RAY ARCEL, Noted Trainer

Tommy Grogan was fighting Ray Miller at the Detroit Olympia, January 11, 1929. The joint was packed. Grogan battered Miller all over the place and in the third round bounced the left-hooker on the floor 11 times. The crowd was in a frenzy, some yelling for the referee to stop it and others exhorting Grogan to knock him out.

At the beginning of the fourth round I shoved Grogan toward the centre.

"Finish it this round," I said.

A second later my eyes popped out as Ray Miller hooked a terrific left to Tommy's chin and Grogan hit the deck—out cold.

By JOE BRAUN, Former Fight Manager

Mike Schneider, member of my outfit, the 418th Motor Supply Train, in World War I, had a left hook like Charley White's. We were in Prier, Germany, with the Army of Occupation in 1919 and I had Mike fighting a pretty good professional out of Cleveland named Sammy Taylor. The bouts were staged by Billy Roche in the auditorium of a schoolhouse.

Taylor dropped my man in the first, and it looked pretty bad for him. But my eyes popped out when Schneider got up and literally stood Taylor on his head with a left hook to the jaw. The blow lifted Taylor off his feet and he dived forward, landing on the top of his head, remaining balanced in that position for several seconds before he toppled over.

Six Teams Will See Action In Tonight's Softball Fixtures

Three more games are scheduled to be played tonight as part of the Sherbrooke Industrial Softball League schedule. Two of the three fixtures will be played at Dufresne Park, while the third will be run off at Lennoxville.

At Dufresne Park at 7 o'clock, the Newsmen will take on the Kayser in a daylight game. Under the archlights at 9 o'clock, Pariseau will tackle the Sherbrooke Pneumatic Tool.

At Lennoxville, the Philip Carey squad will play host to the Canadian Silk, last year's champions.

A fight for third place in the league standings will be waged tonight. The Newsmen, current possessors of the third-place spot, take on the Kayser in an effort to hold their position. However, the Sherbrooke Pneumatic Tool may be inclined to say something about this. They are right behind the Newsmen, trailing by only one point and stand a good chance of overcoming their rivals.

The games tonight are also important to the Pariseau and Kayser teams. These two squads are in fifth and sixth place respectively. If the Kayser can win their game against the Newsmen, they will be on an even footing with Pariseau, in fifth place, and may forge ahead in their next game. However, if Pariseau emerge the victors in their encounter with the Sherbrooke Tool tonight, they will draw away from the Kayser with a fairly comfortable margin of four points lead.

The competition in the league is tightening up somewhat now that the playoffs are rolling within sight. The favored positions are sought by every team, and they are doing their best to win games to cop these favored spots.

With the exception of the Belvidere Service Station and the Philip Carey, all teams in the league are quite evenly matched and it will be anybody's guess until the last minute who will meet who in the finals.

However, it is generally conceded that the Belvidere Service Station will be the winners of this year's championship race. Those who have followed the games closely this season have formed an opinion that the Belvidere team can win a game any time it so desires. Some even go so far as to say that the Belvidere team can even promise a certain number of runs in a game and can come through with that number of runs. This is a little far-fetched, but it shows quite accurately who will be this season's champions.

Fans who attend the remaining games of the schedule can expect some pretty good competition with each team giving out with the best they have.

RIDDLE READY TO PITCH FOR REDS AGAIN

Elmer Riddle is ready to pitch again. Riddle, who hasn't appeared in a box score since May 7, has pitched batting practice without suffering pain, will go to the post for the Cincinnati as quickly as Bill McKeechie is convinced he is fit. Last season Riddle was one of three National League pitchers to win 21 games. Riddle started at a great clip this year, beating the Cubs, 2-1, on the second day of the campaign and lambasting Morton Cooper and the Cardinals, 10-2, in his following start. Then the Georgian came up with a sore arm.

BROOKLYN ORGANIST PLAYS THEME SONG FOR RICKETY

It was a theme song for Branch Rickey, when organist Gladys Godding signed off following the last out at Ebbets Field with a right appropriate number "Oh, You're Driving Me Crazy!" Fritz Ostermueller, whom the Brooklyn shipped, beat the Dodgers for the second time with five hits that shut them out for the third time in a week and dropped them into the National League basement as Pittsburgh prevailed, 11-0. President Rickey's bobby sock policy is driving the Flatbush flock nuts.

Roche Suggested 45-Round Game To Settle Argument Between Britt And Nelson

By BILLY ROCHE, Famous Referee

James Edward Britt and Battling Nelson were responsible for the 43-round game in California.

Few fighters stirred up so much excitement in such a short space of time as Jimmy Britt, who fought professionally no longer than eight years, engaged in no more than 23 fights.

I refereed the first scrap between Britt and Bat Nelson, a 20-rounder, in San Francisco, December 20, 1904 gave the decision to the native son, who promptly claimed the white lightweight championship because Joe Gans refused to make the class limit.

The Nelson crowd argued that the Battler would win a longer fight. It cost James W. Coffroth more money to bring them together at Colma, September 5, 1905. Sunshine Jim wanted to raise the prices. He asked me how far I thought the boys could go.

Jimmy Britt knocked out two former champions in his first year as a professional.

"The way they fight each other they can't possibly go more than 45 rounds," I replied.

Britt figured he couldn't last tried to finish Nelson. He dropped the Durable Dane early, battered the Human Sponger for 17 rounds only to collapse in the 18th.

Handsome with his long dark hair carefully parted in the middle, suave and dapper, Britt was one of the fastest, gamest and toughest of light lightweights.

Cocky and self-assured, Jimmy carried a small bamboo cane, wore a pearl gray bowler and a dinky little tan topcoat that was the rage in Piccadilly. His ultra-fashionable attire drew raucous jibes from convivial roughnecks almost twice his poundage, and because Jimmy was quick to resent a slur and would tackle anybody, he fought more battles outside the ring than in.

"I'm getting PRE-WAR MILEAGE now!.."

The new B. F. Goodrich Synthetic Rubber Tires for passenger cars are fully capable of giving you the same long mileage you enjoyed from pre-war tires.

Built with Hi-Flex Cord—formerly used only in B. F. Goodrich Truck Tires—these tires are strong, cool-running, and resistant to road bruises. Ply-weld construction moulds all the plies into an integral body giving increased protection against blow-outs.

The famous Life-Saver Tread, now made of Synthetic Rubber, tested and proved in over a billion miles of driving, gives you long wear, and protection against skidding. Its road-gripping tread design wipes wet pavements dry with its never-ending spiral bar "wind-shield wiper" action—a positive safety feature.

Today, extra tire mileage is as important to your country as it is to you. Help to conserve Canada's vital rubber supply. Drive within legal speed limits, keep your tires properly inflated, and have them checked regularly by a capable tire service man—your B. F. Goodrich dealer.

Friends will be interested to learn that Mr. and Mrs. Angus MacLver, Ditton Street, have received a letter from their son, Rfmn. Donald MacLver, R.C.E., prisoner of war in Hong Kong, stating that he is well. This is the first word received from Rfmn. MacLver, since the fall of Hong Kong in 1941. Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Nicholson have also received a letter for the second time from their son, Rfmn. Murray Nicholson, a war prisoner in Hong Kong, stating that he is in good health, and receiving letters from home. Mrs. Elwin Herring has received word from her husband, Rfmn. Elwin Herring, and word has been received from Rfmn. Malcolm Nicholson by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Nicholson.

The induction of Rev. E. C. Ward, formerly of Dixville, was held on Sunday, July 29, in St. Alban's Anglican Church, and was conducted by Venerable Archdeacon Jones, of Lennoxville. The service was largely attended by members of the congregation, as well as a good representation of St. Andrew's United and St. Paul's Presbyterian Churches. The opening, "Evensong," participated in by Rev. W. J. Rowe, of Bury, Rev. W. T. Gray, of Cookshire, and Rev. John Ford, of Sherbrooke, was followed by the induction of Rev. Cecil Ward to the parishes of Scotstown, Canterbury and Gould. The "Value of St. Paul" was the nucleus of an inspirational address by Archdeacon Jones, and was based on the text as shown in Philippians III, "Yea, doubtless, and I count all things best lost, for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord." The speaker stressed the giving up of worldly things by St. Paul and showed the understanding of the duties of a minister, beginning with baptism. At the conclusion of the service, the congregation withdrew to the Church Hall, where refreshments were served by the ladies of St. Alban's, and brief addresses were given by the various clergy. Cordial greetings were given by Archdeacon Jones to Rev. Graham Barr, B.D., of St. Andrew's Church, and to the members of the United and Presbyterian Churches, a happy augury of future co-operation.

The August meeting of St. Paul's Ladies' Circle was entertained by Mrs. Angus A. MacLver at "Rosefield," as hostess, was assisted by her sister-in-law, Miss Margaret MacLver, of Hartford, Conn. In the absence of the President, Mrs. Philip Boy, the meeting was opened by the Vice-President, Mrs. John Nicholson, who conducted the devotional exercises; Reading the Scripture lesson from Deuteronomy VIII, followed by the Lord's Prayer. After the roll call, the minutes of the previous meeting were read and the Treasurer, Mrs. D. A. Campbell, presented a very satisfactory financial report. The minutes of the meeting were read and the minutes of the previous meeting were read and the Treasurer, Mrs. D. A. Campbell, presented a very satisfactory financial report.

The pupils of St. Paul's Presbyterian Sunday School held their annual picnic at "Dunrobin," the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Cox, being conveyed there and back through the kindness of F. C. Goodin. Bathing, boating and swimming were enjoyed by many. The lunch was being prepared, and again after the races, Mrs. Rodney MacDonald, Mrs. Angus MacLver and Mrs. Harvey were in charge of the lunch arrangements and were ably assisted by the Misses Muriel, small tables were set up under the trees, and a very bountiful repast enjoyed. Mr. Angus MacLver and Mr. J. D. Cox were in charge of the sports and the winners, in the contests were as follows: Races, boys under 6 years: Richard Nicholson, Robert MacRae; girls under 6: Gail Nicholson, Judith Elger, Marilyn MacRae; boys, 6 to 9: Neil MacRae, Robert Nicholson, Donald MacAulay; girls, 6 to 9: Alberta MacLeod, Norma Nicholson, Marilyn Goodin; boys, 10 to 12: Allan MacAulay, Norman Campbell, Albyn MacAulay; girls, 10 to 12: Kay MacLeod, Miriam MacRae; girls, 12 and over: Iris MacLeod, Catherine MacDonald. Three-legged race: Marilyn Goodin and Norma Nicholson; Kay MacLeod and Albert MacLeod; Ann Goodin and Iris MacLeod. Wheelbarrow race, junior girls: Gail Nicholson and Norma Nicholson; Marilyn Goodin and Norman

Explosives—

the "accelerator" of Canada's Metal Production

CHEMISTRY SERVES CANADA

THROUGH four centuries of national history, Canada's mineral production has steadily grown. Today, in the fifth year of the war, the magnitude of this industry has assumed world-wide importance. Canada is the world's largest exporter of base metals.

Night and day, since the beginning of war, these essential metals have poured forth in ever increasing quantities. Production in Nickel, is up 17.2%, Iron ore 54%, Zinc 43.5% and Magnesium 65,000%.

Canada has played an important role in providing these metals for war. The Dominion supplies the United Nations with 15% of their copper, 16% of their lead, 18% of their zinc, 95% of their nickel and 40% of their aluminum. These figures are impressive because they indicate that for the first time in our national history, Canada has become a world power in base metal production.

Explosives to speed the production of base metals is another product of Industrial Chemistry which serves Canada in war and peace.
