Vast Steelworks Shutdown

BANKING OPERATIONS — Steelworkers at the Edgar Thomson works of U. S. Steel in Pittsburgh bank furnaces prior to the shutdown of steel mills at midnight last night.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The vast basic steel industry stopped production today in the grip of its sixth major strike shutdown in the United States since the Second World War.

There was no sign of when it might get rolling again as 500,000 steelworkers, heeding the call of union leaders, walked out promptly at midnight after two months of contract negotiations that got nowhere.

The union gave no indication of retreating from its demand for higher wages and improved fringe benefits. Just as steadfastly, the industry stuck to its position that it could not increase production costs and must be able to institute some economies.

The walkout shut off 90 per cent of the American steelmaking capacity and threatened to slow down the entire U.S. economy, booming once more after a crippling recession.

SEPARATE MEETINGS

At the urging of President Eisenhower, director Joseph Finnegan of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service arranged separate meetings this afternoon in New York with representatives of the industry and union.

David J. McDonald, United Steelworkers president, said he would offer industry negotiators an undisclosed plan for settlement of the strike.

McDonald had proposed a one-, two- or three-year contract granting a 15-cent-hourly package pay increase annually. The basic wage is now $3.10 an hour.

The industry rejected the proposal outright. Instead, management negotiators sought continuation of present wages and benefits, plus changes to give the industry more leeway in promoting economies. The union turned down this counter-proposal.

Men at the mills greeted the strike with mixed emotions. Some left their jobs reluctantly; some militantly.

Effects of the strike were felt immediately in other segments of the economy. Many thousands of workers, mostly in the coal, railway, ore mining and Great Lakes shipping industries, have been laid off or will be soon.

STEEL ISSUE IN BRIEF

NEW YORK (AP)—These are the key issues in the steel strike:

Wages and Benefits— Union: Seeks 15 cents an hour raise in pay rates and welfare benefits each year of any new contract—an amount similar annual gains realized in expiring contracts.

Industry: Says a flat "no" to any further labor cost increases.

Work practices— Union: Refuses to agree to industry plea for more leeway in adjusting work practices and altering job duties to realize economies and obtain maximum efficiency. Union says present agreements permit such disputes to be negotiated and submitted to an umpire for decision.

Industry: Says loafing and overtime practices result in an undue cost burden. Says contracts so worded that umpires must decide such disputes on what has been past practice, rather than on what is equitable.

Newfoundland Assistance Gets Snarled In Commons

OTTAWA (CP)—Despite Prime Minister Diefenbaker's personal and vehement intervention, federal legislation on special financial aid to Newfoundland got jammed in the Commons legislative mill Tuesday.

Sharp, protracted political infighting prevented the controversial bill from receiving second reading—approval in principle—with the Liberals contending the government was guilty of a breach of faith and the Conservatives replying that their opponents were making exaggerated, unfair statements.

The bill was before the House again today with a fair chance of some progress towards passage since the members are gunning for a Saturday prorogation of the parliamentary session.

Under the bill, the government proposes to give Newfoundland $36,500,000 up to March 31, 1962, cutting off payments there and promising a subsequent review of the province's special financial needs.

The payments are in line with the recommendations of the McNair royal commission on Newfoundland except that after the 1961-62 payment the commission said the province should get $8,000,000 annually "thereafter." The government says it was never intended the payments should be for perpetuity.

Opposition Leader Pearson charged the legislation represents a repudiation of the 1949 terms of Newfoundland's union with Canada and that it will weaken that union until rescinded.

Seemingly angry, Prime Minister Diefenbaker replied that Liberal claims that the federal government is breaking terms of the 1949 Confederation agreement are "unwarranted, unfair and unjust."

Sharp, protracted political infighting prevented the controversial bill from receiving second reading—approval in principle—with the Liberals contending the government was guilty of a breach of faith and the Conservatives replying that their opponents were making exaggerated, unfair statements.

CMHC Suit Adjourned

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—A Newfoundland government suit alleging breach of contract by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, a federal government agency, was adjourned Tuesday for the second time.

Lawyer Fabian O'Dea, representing CMHC, said the Newfoundland Supreme Court didn't have jurisdiction to hear the suit. He told Mr. Justice Sir Brian Dunfield CMHC had the same power as a minister under the National Housing Act, with one exception—CMHC couldn't sign an agreement with a provincial government for the federal government.

The federal and provincial governments were the principals of the agreements and only the principals could be sued.

No date was set to continue the hearing, adjourned to sometime in August. It resumed Tuesday after being adjourned June 29.

The provincial attorney-general's department alleges that the federal government took over the administration of 192 rental units from the St. John's Housing Authority, contrary to agreements signed in 1955-56, and turned it over to CMHC.

Mr. O'Dea said the housing authority "has never been properly constituted." The provincial Slum Clearance Act allows for formation of the authority through order-in-council, but the order was never given.

Late Bulletin

NEW YORK (AP)—The Steelworkers Union today proposed the industry agree to submit strike issues to a fact-finding board to be heard by a neutral person selected by Chief Justice Warren of the United States.

Big 4 Geneva Talks Snagged As Western Powers Bicker

Claims Castro A Red

By HAROLD K. MILKS
HAVANA (AP)—What is the truth about Communist infiltration in Cuba's revolutionary regime?

The former chief of Cuba's air force told a U.S. Senate committee in Washington that Premier Fidel Castro is himself a Communist and heads a Red dictatorship.

Cuban officials from Castro down angrily scoffed at this testimony. They called Maj. Pedro Luis Diaz Lanz a liar and a deserter and traitor who sold out to interests opposing Cuba's revolutionary program.

Castro admits there are Communists in his rebel army. He says that at the time he was fighting dictator Fulgenio Batista he didn't stop to examine a man's politics if he wanted to help.

NO MAJOR PART

Castro denies emphatically, however, that Communists are playing a major part in Cuba's political life.

Royal Tour Heads For Hectic Welcome In BC

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C. (CP)—A swirl of big-city ceremony and flourish awaited the Queen and Prince Philip today as their Royal Tour carried them into the industrial heartland of Canada's westernmost province.

The day in New Westminster and adjacent Vancouver—where a third of British Columbia's population is concentrated—promised to be fast paced and jammed with public appearances.

It was a marked contrast to the almost leisurely schedule since the royal couple left Calgary six days ago.

A tunnel opening, visits to two separate parks crowded with children and their parents, a civic luncheon, a hospital stop and a formal dinner were on tap. These were to be followed by brief visits tonight to an outdoor musical comedy presentation and an indoor classical concert before the Queen and prince board a navy destroyer-escort for an overnight trip to Vancouver Island.

EASY TIME

The royal pair had a comparatively easy time Tuesday. There were brief stops and friendly crowds. The day wound up with a 12-mile drive through the cool, green Fraser Valley—the lush food bin for the populous lower mainland of B.C.

The valley was so cool, in fact, that the Queen slipped on a Canadian mink stole against the chill of the night air.

The day was a smooth resumption of the 44-day tour after three days in the quiet of a private fishing lodge at remote Pennask Lake.

At Kamloops, they met Sam Wood, 62-year-old former chauffeur to the late king, who recalled how the then Princess Elizabeth would climb into the car and ask to "toot the toot"—the car's horn.

Bismarck Hunter Dies In Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—Robert E. Foreman, who helped the Royal Navy hunt down the giant German battleship Bismarck during the Second World War, was buried here Sunday.

A long-time employee of the Canadian Marconi Company, Ltd. and one of the first ship radio operators, Mr. Foreman was officer-in-charge of the Royal Canadian Navy's Glace Bay, N.S., station throughout the war.

Its operations were credited with being partly responsible for the successful search for the Bismarck in the Atlantic.

Nowlan's Report May End CBC Monopoly

OTTAWA (CP)—Second television stations owned by private interests are likely to be in operation next year in the major cities now served by the CBC only.

An early announcement of a change in government licensing policy is expected before the end of the month, thus ending the monopoly position of CBC and private stations now enjoyed under the single-service policy.

An announcement of a change in policy could come when the Commons, now aiming for prorogation Saturday, takes up the estimates of Revenue Minister Nowlan, who reports to Parliament on broadcasting affairs.

But highly-placed informants suggested Tuesday the possibility that a change in policy, requiring only an order-in-council, could come after the end of the current session.

PINCH OF COMPETITION

The six cities now served only by the CBC: Halifax, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver. Other cities, now served by privately-owned stations, which may also feel the pinch of competition in the near future include St. John's, Nfld., Saint John, N.B., and Quebec City.

Transport department charts show there are two open channels in Vancouver and area, Montreal and Halifax.

Should the government announce before the end of July a change in policy which would permit the transport department to accept applications for second stations, it likely will take four months, or until about Dec. 1, before the board of governors will start public hearings to deal with them.

It likely would be early in the new year before second stations are licensed and another few months, possibly to mid-1960, before they are in operation.

He said he doubts whether newspapers will understand the section in a government bill, amending the Criminal Code, that deals with the subject. The bill was approved by the Senate banking committee with one minor technical change.

Senator Macdonald was told that the proposed amendment is designed to block out reporting of any confession submitted at preliminary hearings until the subsequent trial—if any—is completed or the defendant has been charged.

Berlin Settlement May Have To Be Decided In Secret Sessions

GENEVA (AP)—The Big Four conference on Berlin was badly snarled today by disagreements not only between Russia and the West but also among the Western powers themselves.

The Western foreign ministers so far were unable or unwilling to seize the offensive against Russia's Andrei A. Gromyko in an effort to get serious negotiations started on a temporary Berlin settlement.

State Secretary Christian Herter is representing the United States, Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd Britain and Maurice Couve de Murville France.

The Western ministers are convinced that if any settlement is to be negotiated with the Soviet Union, it will have to be hammered out in secret sessions.

NOT MUCH HOPE

A formal, semi-public session was scheduled for this afternoon at the Palais des Nations but Western officials discounted the possibility of achieving anything.

Western rejection of Gromyko's move to bring the Germans into the secret sessions resulted in no Big Four session Tuesday. The Western ministers took advantage of the brief recess to try to put their own policies and tactics in order for the rest of the conference. All available information indicated they didn't get very far.

The Russians have proposed that they continue their present traffic control for 18 months while a committee of East and West Germans negotiate toward German reunification and a peace settlement. If they did not agree in 18 months, the problem would go back to the Big Four.

Herter and Lloyd were reported to feel some kind of German negotiations must be accepted as part of the price for a deal. But Couve de Murville

14-Year-Old Committed For Murder

GODERICH, Ont. (CP)—Steven Truscott, 14, Tuesday was committed for trial on a charge of murder in the June 9 sex-slaying of 12-year-old Lynne Harper.

The trial, for which no date has been set, will be held in camera because of the boy's age. This is stipulated by Section 427 of the Criminal Code which says:

"Where an accused is or appears to be under the age of sixteen years, his trial shall take place without publicity, whether he is charged alone or jointly with another person."

Magistrate Dudley Holmes committed Truscott to trial in the death of the girl whose body was found in a woodlot battered and nearly nude, her blouse knotted around her neck. She and Truscott lived on the RCAF station at nearby Clinton.

RULING UPHELD

The boy was first charged June 14 as a juvenile. Magistrate Holmes ruled that the case should be taken out of juvenile court, where proceedings are held in camera, and his ruling was upheld by the Ontario Court of Appeal July 10 after an appeal by Truscott's lawyers.

Several young children appeared during the course of the two-day hearing in the grim roles of crown witnesses to murder. The key testimony was delivered by another classmate of the accused.

Alberta Manhunt Ends

BASHAW, Alta. (CP)—A 22-year-old suspected killer, exhausted and unarmed, walked out from behind a barn and surrendered to police Tuesday, bringing Alberta's greatest manhunt to a strangely quiet end.

As many as 200 troops and police, using planes, jeeps and tracking dogs, had hunted Robert Raymond Cook for four tense days. The unexpected capture came as officers were checking a routine report that Cook had been seen near this district about 70 miles south of Edmonton.

While police talked to a farmer about the sighting, Cook walked into the open. Officers took him into custody without even drawing their guns. He was later escorted to a maximum security cell in Edmonton.

Cook escaped from Ponoka mental hospital last Friday. He was being held for observation after his father, step-mother and the couple's five children were found bludgeoned to death June 28. Cook has been charged with his father's slaying.

FEAR AMONG FARMERS

Cook's escape spread fear through nearby farming areas. Some men had maintained a night watch at their homes since Cook clawed his way through the hospital's wire-mesh windows. Others moved their families to town.

The end of the youth's freedom reared when Norman Duffa, a farmer living a half-mile south of Bashaw—almost in the centre of the search area—telephoned police to say he had seen a man he thought was the suspect. He said he was near his pig pen.

The stocky youth still wore the pajamas he had on when he escaped Friday. Trousers covered his pajama bottoms. He had no top, but wore a dark jacket.

Cook was brought immediately into Bashaw but it wasn't until 6:30 p.m., two hours and 15 minutes after capture, that he was whisked into an RCMP car and taken to Edmonton.

When he left he was wearing new faded-blue denim jeans, new running shoes, and a new yellow T-shirt, apparently purchased by his captors.

New Prince For Japan?

TOKYO (AP)—Crown Prince Akihito's bride may be pregnant. A chamberlain of the imperial household announced today that the royal doctors had reported crown Princess Michiko "may be with child." He warned reporters, however, that the doctors' findings were not conclusive.

Akihito and Michiko, a commoner, were married April 10 after a storybook romance. She is 24; he is 25.

Word of Michiko's possible condition was carried to the public by radio and TV broadcasts. Hopes soared that Michiko might bear a son. Empresses have ruled in Japan but Akihito's great grandfather, Emperor Meiji, changed the law to permit only male successors.

Blasts Obscenity Bill

Rights Of Daily Papers Curbed

OTTAWA (CP)—Senator W. Rupert Davies said Tuesday night the government's proposed obscenity legislation could be used to seize a daily newspaper without the publisher being allowed to defend himself.

The Kingston, Ont., editor and publisher made the statement to the Senate banking committee during discussion of a proposed amendment to the Criminal Code defining obscenity.

Ontario Liberal senator and president of the Kingston Whig-Standard Company Limited, he said Justice Minister Fulton is "sincerely trying to clear a lot of rubbish off our newsstands. But I feel, however, that his method is very objectionable and arbitrarily takes away from Her Majesty's subjects their right to a fair trial when accused of a misdemeanor."

AFTER CHEAP TABLOIDS

David Henry of the justice department's criminal law section said the proposed amendment is not aimed at responsible daily newspapers but at cheap tabloids and magazines mostly imported into Canada.

These were weekly and monthly publications which were on the stands for some time. A daily newspaper was sold for so short a period that no action would be possible while it was on sale.

Senator Davies said any publication regarded by a judge as being obscene may be seized under a warrant. The author, the editor and the publisher were given no opportunity to defend themselves before such an order was issued.

This "is a complete negation of British justice," he said. It was proposed to give the judge "absolute unquestioned power based perhaps only on the information supplied by one man or one woman, to issue a warrant under his hand authorizing the seizure of a book, magazine or a newspaper."

SUGGEST AMENDMENT

Senator Davies proposed an amendment under which the author, editor or publisher would have an opportunity to appear before the judge to state why an order should not be issued to seize all copies of the book, magazine or newspaper.

However, he withdrew the amendment after Senator Arthur Roebuck (L—Ontario) proposed another amendment which would have much the same effect. This amendment was defeated by a vote of 9 to 3, the committee then approving the government's definition and a series of other amendments to the code.

Senator Davies said that when he read the government's amendment he could hardly believe that a Canadian minister of justice "would put such dictatorial powers into the hands of any one judge."

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Thirty years ago today, a young New York lawyer left a promising practice to join the legal staff of Paramount pictures.

Now Jack Karp is the new production chief of Paramount Studios. And his success story has been a constant climb?

No, he admits. He entered the firm at $100 a week just before the 1929 crash. Later, he found himself doing the work six men had done before—and his salary was cut twice to $85.

But he stuck it out, and now he's head man at the studio. He's the symbol of the new kind of movie boss, following in the footsteps of the fast-fading pioneers who founded the industry. He appears able to pull Paramount out of its recent lethargy because:

1. He's a lawyer.
2. He has enthusiasm.

The legal background is of Refreshments were served by the hostesses assisted by Mrs. Celon Ball and Mrs. P. Ingham. Tea was poured at the attractive lace-covered floral centered tea table by Mrs. Fred Bell and Miss E. C. Tannahill.

WEDDING RECEPTION

Some 60 relatives and friends from North Hatley, Sherbrooke, Montreal and Massachusetts were present to express their best wishes to the bride and groom, prior to their departure for Franklin Lake, N.J., where they will reside.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Bain and daughter, Carol, of Massapequa, Long Island, and their friend, Mrs. J. Monahan, of Bogota, Columbia, South America, Mr. and Mrs. Jutten Longmoore, of St. Johnsbury, Vt., Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith and daughter Peggy, of Ste. Rose, were guests of Mrs. J. W. prime importance today. Says Karp: "most of the deals we make with established talent nowadays are independent setups. We spend more time in the legal aspects than we do making the picture."

Enthusiasm is a prime factor for the best movie makers, and Karp seems to have it.

"This is still a great business," he says. "The difference is that there is no movie business as such any more. People no longer go out to see a movie; they go to see shows. Our problem is to provide shows that people want to see. To do that, we've got to have showmen, and we plan to get them both from the proven names and from new talent we'll develop ourselves."

GRAVE LOSS
Karp admitted that Paramount suffered a grave loss with the death of Hollywood's No. 1 showman, Cecil B. DeMille. (Latest estimate of The 10 Commandments' earnings: $60,000,000.)

"DeMille was the master in giving the public what they wanted," the studio chief said. "We must develop others who can do the same thing."

Karp is New York-born, 56, with a strong face and whitening hair parted just off-centre. His talk is easy and persuasive, punctuated with courtroom gestures. His sole contact with the artistic life in his youth was playing in a band.

He works a Spartan schedule at the studio—from 8:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. Nor does he quit then; he makes notes on his bedside table during the night. He eats little breakfast and no lunch, taking noontime for a work out and nap.

"Dogs eat only one meal a day," he reasons, "and they never go see doctors."

Racine Case

Granby Denies Call Given

Replying to charges by Prof. J. G. Castel, of McGill University, that he could not get action from either the Granby or Sherbrooke detachments of the provincial police or from the Richmond municipal police following an unprovoked attack on him by a gang of thugs in Racine Sunday afternoon, Sgt. Albert Dauphin, in charge of the Granby detachment, this morning declared that he had no knowledge of the incident until Monday when he received a report from Montreal.

He said there was no one in the Granby office Sunday afternoon as both officers on duty were at the scene of an automobile accident.

Therefore, no one could have promised to send a car to Racine. Furthermore, said Sgt. Dauphin, if there had been an officer on duty he could not have reached the patrolman in the area because the latter's radio was broken.

The controversy was touched off Monday with a declaration by Prof. Castel to Montreal newspapermen that there was "inadequate police protection" in the Eastern Townships. He said there had been an unprovoked attack upon him during the course of a week-end visit to the home of L. S. Wiedmar, four miles from Racine.

During the affray, he was hit in the face with a bottle. Some 15 men and women were in the gang that attacked him.

Prof. Castel said he contacted the Provincial Police in Granby who said they would send a car to the scene. But nothing was done.

He also said he contacted Provincial Police in Sherbrooke but Sgt. Eugene Morin, officer in charge, said his office knew nothing of the case until Prof. Castel came in personally to report the incident.

Actually both Granby and Sherbrooke detachments disclaim responsibility for the area which seems a sort of "No Man's Land," for law-enforcement purposes.

The Wiedmar farm is situated on the Shefford-Richmond county line. The Granby office says the fight occurred 2,000 feet inside Richmond territory which would bring it under Sherbrooke jurisdiction. The Sherbrooke police say their territory ends at Richmond.

Impressions Of European Trip Given Rotarians

Impressions of his recent trip to Europe were given to Sherbrooke Rotarians yesterday by Ed Struthers, Mayor of Stanstead and a past president of the Boundary Rotary Club.

Mr. Struthers said that the efficiency of modern air travel and the development of municipal housing impressed him very much during his trip.

He spoke highly of the hospitality accorded him by the Rotary Clubs of England, Scotland and France and told of the varying customs of the clubs in the different nations.

Mr. Struthers told of visiting war cemeteries in Britain and France and of meeting many people with friends or relatives in this section of Canada.

He expressed admiration for the manner in which England and France had rebuilt their countries.

The speaker was introduced by Rene Monty, a past president of the Boundary Club, and thanked by Don Watson.

President Lyman Tomkins invited members that the president of Rotary International would be in Montreal Thursday. Seated at the head table were President Tomkins, Mr. Struthers, Rene Monty, Archie Mitchell, Jacques Lauzon, Dan Towne, Don Watson, Fred Stegmaier, Fred Pattison, Norton Baldwin and Eugene Gingras.

Albert Couture Is Elected To Coaticook Board

COATICOOK — Albert Couture was elected over Georges Beaulieu to fill the vacancy on the Catholic School Commission. Voting took place Tuesday at the Academy on St. Jean Baptiste Street, less than 300 ratepayers taking advantage of their right to vote, a small percentage of the total eligible.

The contest for the Commission post was the first to be decided by public vote in more than 25 years. Last year four candidates were proposed to fill two vacancies, but at the last moment two withdrew.

Judge Doubts Sanity Of Junior Punks

Rejean Chainey and Armand Boisvert, both 19, pleaded guilty to a charge of having stolen a $9 automobile mirror in Asbestos recently, when they appeared before Judge Redmond Hayes yesterday.

When asked by the judge if they had ever stolen before, they both replied no.

"Because you exposed yourselves to arrest after stealing such a small object, you should have your heads examined," said the judge.

Their sentence was postponed until next Monday.

Steals Bicycle

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Alfred Guy, 21, escaped from jail Friday on the bicycle of the sheriff's daughter. On Monday, Sheriff Harold Krapp got a letter from Guy wishing him "the best of luck" and saying the bike had been left in a parking lot. They're still looking for Guy, who was serving a 180-day sentence for driving an unregistered vehicle.

Montreal Man Hurt In Crash

Raymond Murphy, 47, of 1174 Sussex st. Montreal was seriously injured last night on a road near Melbourne when the station wagon he was driving went out of control and crashed into a tree.

The vehicle, the property of his sister, Miss Gladys Murphy, of Melbourne, was a complete loss.

Mr. Murphy was unconscious when admitted to the Hotel Dieu around midnight but his consciousness and will improved by hospital authorities. He has regained consciousness and will undergo an operation on his head.

Constable Donat Sevigny, of Richmond investigated the accident.

More Arrests Expected In Car Stealing

MONTREAL — Detective-Capt. Armand Gagnon, head of the Montreal police stolen auto squad, said Tuesday he expects more arrests in Vermont and possible recoveries of stolen automobiles in connection with the current investigation of an international theft ring.

His statement followed the arrest in St. Albans, Vt., Monday night by the FBI of Urban E. Desmarais, 42, of Richmond, Vt. Reports here said he was charged with being instrumental in transporting two stolen cars from Montreal to North Ferrisburg, Vt. Both cars were recovered in North Ferrisburg last Tuesday.

Reports from St. Albans said Desmarais, operator of a garage and used car lot near the Canadian border, entered no plea on arraignment and was released on $1,000 bond.

The arrest is the fifth since July 7, when Montreal and provincial police and the FBI began a widespread investigation into the theft ring. Four Canadians, one a juvenile, have appeared in Canadian courts on charges of theft and conspiracy.

Chamber Again Urges Incinerator Project

The Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce has expressed satisfaction that the city is again considering establishment of an incinerator for garbage disposal.

Last year, the Chamber submitted a report to the city recommending establishment of an incinerator but nothing was done. Last week, Mayor Armand Nadeau said Sherbrooke would need an incinerator within five years which could serve neighboring communities as well.

At present, garbage is disposed of in a dump behind St. Michael's cemetery. The old incinerator on the Brompton Road has not been used for eight years.

The chamber report last year made the following points:

A study should be made of economic and technical aspects of incinerators with a view to constructing one to serve the whole Sherbrooke region.

The possibility of using the steam generated to heat industries and institutions should be studied as well as possible production of electricity by steam power.

Other Chamber business at the weekly director's meeting:

Delegates to accompany the city delegation to Ottawa Thursday on the airport question were named. They are president Claude Genest, Eugene Gingras, president of the airport committee, Lionel Caron, vice-president, Andre Leduc, treasurer, and Bob Belisle, secretary-manager.

President Genest will represent Sherbrooke at the Greater Portland Canadian Friendship Day sponsored by the Portland, Me., chamber.

Plans for the provincial Chamber of Commerce convention here in September are progressing.

Stabs Boy Friend With Knife, Woman Given Cooling-off Time

A one-and-a-half months jail term was imposed upon Marie-Rose Poulin yesterday by Judge Redmond Hayes, after she pleaded guilty to a charge of grievously wounding Xavier Denault earlier last week.

She was also ordered to post a bond to keep the peace for one year, after Judges Hayes told her that "When a woman takes liquor and then starts wielding a knife, it could go very far."

Testimony given yesterday indicated that the woman had been keeping Denault at her house for the past four years and when she stabbed him, claimed the woman, it was not done with the intention of hurting him.

"I took care of him when he had a swollen leg," said the woman "which goes to show that I meant him no harm."

"Did you want to operate on him with a knife?" asked Judge Hayes.

"You will not be playing with a knife for a while at least," added the judge, "I will give you a chance to let the alcohol get out of your system to give you time to think before something more serious could happen."

"A one and a half month stay in jail should calm you," added the judge.

"I don't know if I am guilty or not," said the woman, "Because we both hit each other at the same time."

Although undecided for a short while as to how she should plead, she finally decided to plead guilty.

National Organization Of Tree Farmers Announced

Formation of the Canadian Tree Farmers' Association has been announced by J. A. MacDonald, of Ottawa, one of the provisional directors, and chairman of the organizing committee of this self-help woodlot owners' association, which recently received a national charter.

Appointment of provisional officers of the Quebec Branch, the first unit organized, was completed at the tree farm of G. Alan Johnson, Argenteuil County, where many members of the new woodlot owners' Association have managed woodlots.

"The Canadian Tree Farmers' Association," said Mr. MacDonald, "is a natural outgrowth of the publicity and promotion given to tree farming during the past five years by the Canadian Forestry Association, and the provincial Forestry Associations. The Canadian Tree Farmers' Association, however, is an entirely separate body. The C.T.F.A. welcomes as members all woodlot owners. It is organized to provide information and greater practical service to owners in growing, harvesting, marketing and managing their woods for profit on a permanent basis."

Officers of the newly-formed Quebec Branch are Stuart Armstrong, Lachute, chairman; E. T. Asselin, Montreal, vice-chairman, and Keith Pitcairn, Comox, secretary-treasurer.

The purpose of a national charter is to permit other provincial branches to form, as part of the Canadian Tree Farmers' Association. Each provincial unit will have representation on the National Board of Directors.

"Across Canada, there are over 50,000,000 acres of privately-owned woodland, much of it in need of better management, more careful marketing and devotion to continuous production of wood crops, the most effective use of these lands," said Mr. Armstrong.

"Some 20,000,000 acres are located on farms and listed as farm woodlots. However, over 30,000,000 acres are woodlands of non-resident owners, industries, or other groups. All told, the wood from these 50,000,000 acres represents a substantial item in the Canadian forest economy, and is important to the income of the owners."

M. R. Wilson, resident manager of the Canadian International Paper Co., Grenville, and himself the owner of two tree farms, states that even though the privately-owned woodlots across Canada are at present growing wood far below their full reproductive capacity, they will still supply nearly 30 per cent of all the pulpwood for Canada's paper mills. This is in addition to saw logs, fence posts, fuelwood, pit props, Christmas trees, maple syrup and other products from these woodlands.

Mr. Asselin, commented on briefs presented to the Senate Committee on Land Use in Canada, which show that privately-owned woodlots need increased protection against fire, and against grazing by domestic animals; improvement cuttings, equitable taxation and better markets, before the quantity and quality of wood grown on these lands can be substantially increased. The average woodlot owner needs advice from professional foresters in government, industry or university extension services. The service of a consulting forester, working on a fee basis is also helpful toward increasing production and income from these privately-owned forest lands.

Rural Protection Inadequate

Professor J. G. Castel, of the Faculty of Law at McGill University, in protesting the inadequacy of police protection in the rural areas of the Eastern Townships, is voicing feelings which have often arisen in the minds of those residents of the district who have at any time found it necessary to deal with the law-enforcement authorities.

Fortunately, most of the complaints voiced in recent years do not concern incidents as serious as that experienced by Prof. Castel. But in almost every instance where the services of the Provincial Police are required, criticism is heard of the delay of these officers in reaching the scene of the trouble.

The root of the problem is that the force generally is underpaid and overworked. The manpower available for the many duties placed upon the force is inadequate, with the territory placed under the charge of one patrolman making it physically impossible to give adequate supervision to the area. Instances are not infrequent of traffic officers being expected to investigate accidents which occurred within a few minutes of each other sixty miles apart.

This lack of manpower also prevents the massing of enough men to handle a situation such as that last Sunday as described by Prof. Castel.

Admittedly, there is deadwood in the organization. But for the most part a small group of men are making an earnest, if rather hopeless, effort to keep control of a difficult situation.

Population Weakness Revealed

Had the West known in 1945 and the immediately following years what it now knows of Russia's internal strength, it might have acted more boldly to block the Kremlin's postwar encroachments in eastern Europe.

Astonishing facts are now coming to light, too late. According to a study by the Population Reference Bureau, at the end of World War II the Soviet Union had only about 25 million able-bodied males aged 20 to 45 out of a total population of some 170 million. This is hardly a proportion sufficient to assure a great nation a solid backbone for its vital working force.

Since that time, as Russia's newest census disclosed, the total population has climbed to 209 million. But of the added 38 million or so, fully half came from territorial annexations such as eastern Czechoslovakia, Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia.

The natural gains within Russia itself have been unimpressive. Women today outnumber men 55 to 45, and in the group 32 years and older their edge is two to one. The bureau's study says Russia actually lost 15 to 20 million males in the war, three times as many as believed earlier.

Projections suggest that without these war losses and the accompanying lower birth rate of the war period, Russia today would have 30 to 40 million more people.

One of the inevitable consequences of its war losses is a serious manpower shortage now. Whereas before, the Soviet Union was accustomed to adding two million each year to its work force, the annual increment nowadays is in the range of a mere 300,000.

And, of course, this shortage puts an immense extra burden upon the older and younger elements in the Soviet population. It helps also to explain Russia's great dependence upon women workers in many walks of life.

This is a condition no Soviet propaganda can wish away. It will exist for a long time, and will make itself felt acutely in future birth rates. Men who would have been fathers lie by the millions in soldiers' graves.

Russia is making remarkable economic strides. But unless it finds a spectacular substitute for manpower, it may find Premier Khrushchev's boast of world economic supremacy for Russia by 1970 a hollow thing.

The back muscles which produce today's gains may tire long before that goal comes within reach. And there are not enough new backs to put into the Kremlin's effort.

Silly Season Slump

This might go down as the year with no Silly Season. No Loch Ness monsters making the headlines, no flagpole sitters of note, no spectacular fakirs plying their arts on village green or city sidewalk.

World problems and domestic issues such as the steel talks seem to have made us go all-over serious, and there's precious little in the way of emollient for the sizzle of summer.

The one bright hope is a gentleman who shall be nameless, but who wears the managerial White Sox of a ball club in Chicago.

His flair for the dramatic has brought little men dressed in space suits, and a milking contest, complete with milkmaid, to the diamond, for pregame jollification of the devotees. And others will no doubt follow.

He seems to be the one bright hope of an otherwise sober-sided summer.

Wheat For Sale

(Hamilton Spectator)

It is not surprising to learn that the chairman of Canada's Wheat Board, W. C. McNamara, is worrying about wheat sales in the coming crop year. Two successive crops about 100 million bushels below the ten-year average managed to bring Canada's carry-over at the beginning of the year below the billion bushel mark. This is not a very profitable or satisfactory way of reducing surpluses and, in any event, if forecasts are fulfilled this year we will again be storing more than a billion bushels after the harvest.

Hope that the Americans might make a serious attempt to reduce acreage have been dashed by the almost certain rejection of the Eisenhower bill to lower supports. Meanwhile forecasts of a U.S. harvest of 1,200 million bushels will bring American stocks by the fall well over two billion bushels. Since the American disposal program, Canada's share of the world market has dropped from 40 to 45 per cent to between 25 and 30 per cent.

Nor is there much Mr. McNamara can do about it. Lower prices to the farmer today, even assuming the political possibility, would bring them too near the guaranteed minimum for comfort and the Canadian taxpayer would not take kindly to any further picking up of wheat board checks if it showed a loss.

Red China Today — 11

Little Hope Of Increased Trade

(James S. Duncan, Chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission, recently spent three and one-half weeks in the Chinese People's Republic at the invitation of the China Council for the Promotion of International Trade. This is one of a series of dispatches presenting a colorful cross-section of life in China today.)

By JAMES S. DUNCAN

As long as the cold war continues it would be unrealistic to expect any substantial change in China's pattern of trade, now predominantly with the Soviet Union and the Communist countries of eastern Europe.

The ideological barrier between east and west brings strength to the Communist bloc and restricts the western world's access to its markets.

In 1957, for example, Chinese imports amounted to $1,870,000,000. Exports totalled $2,100,000,000. Between 75 and 80 per cent of this trade was with other Communist countries.

China has had some disappointing experiences in the purchase of capital goods from western countries, for which, by reason of embargoes on strategic materials or for purely political reasons, she has been unable to purchase replacement parts.

Furthermore, China is short of gold and foreign reserves and Communist countries deal on a barter basis. In addition, the Communist method of bulk buying through government agencies is familiar to her, whereas the Western system of sale and purchase by individual companies against payment in cash or credit does no longer fit into the Chinese pattern of trade.

Canada's trade with China in recent years has been exceedingly small, as the following figures indicate for the years 1955-58 inclusive:

Exports to China, $1,016,000, $2,426,000, $1,391,000, $7,808,000.
Imports from China, $3,125,000, $5,721,000, $5,304,000, $5,375,000.

Our exports in 1958 were inflated by a shipment of $7,000,000 of wheat. Without this fortuitous purchase, our exports in that year would have declined to approximately $800,000. Because of China's increased agricultural production, she has shown no interest in resuming importations of wheat.

It will be seen from the above figures that our trade with China is insignificant, even in relation to countries in Western Europe, such as Western Germany, whose exports to China in 1957 amounted to $47,000,000, or Switzerland and the United Kingdom, whose exports totalled $43,000,000 and $34,000,000 respectively.

It would, in my opinion, be entirely unrealistic to look forward to any important increase in our trade with China under present conditions and political conditions.

To begin with, we are not in a position to import large quantities of the kind of goods which China has to offer, such as iron ore, coal, soya beans, etc. and, regardless of any other conditions, China will avoid if possible unfavorable trade balances with any country.

There are other conditions, however, which bedevil our trade relationship with China. Owing to low labor rates and a different costing system, many of the goods which China ships to us come under our dumping laws, which make it difficult and indeed hazardous for an importer to bring in certain categories of goods of Chinese origin.

China is strongly of the opinion that our dumping regulations are applied with special severity to her exports and quite openly states that she regards this as an act of political discrimination. China also regards our embargo policy and the fact that occasionally orders for goods which are not on our embargo list have been rejected, no doubt for reasons of solidarity with the Western point of view, as evidence of unfriendliness and unreliability as a long term supplier.

Our position has not been helped by the fact that we are not always competitive in price with some of our western allies. Fertilizer is a case in point. It has disappeared from our list of exports to China after having held the top spot for the previous three years.

The fact that we do not recognize China but do recognize Formosa is also held against us. A senior official told us quite frankly that although trade and politics are not necessarily tied together, a very close relationship between the two exists in practice.

I do not believe however that the question of recognition or non-recognition seriously influences our volume of trade for the present at least. The other factors I have mentioned are of more immediate importance.

I have returned home with the impression that far from increasing, our trade with China will decline still further this year, amounting to only hundred thousand dollars.

Although immediate prospects are unfavourable, the Chinese market is one of immense long-range potentiality and we should continue to work hard at the development of our trade relationship with that country.

To this end I would suggest: (a) That we take a hard look at some of the foodstuffs and other goods we now import from other countries which China could supply us. This would be upsetting no doubt, but might pay off in the long run.

(b) We should examine our dumping regulations. The way these operate at present does place the importer in an untenable position and does give China the impression of being discriminated against.

(c) We should continue to whittle down our embargo list and one might hope that day will come when it can be dispensed with entirely. Personally I have never believed in embargoes. Their application has done the western world much harm, in my opinion, than it has ever done to Soviet Russia or China.

(d) I would favour the inviting of China Council for the Promotion of International Trade to include Canada among the numerous countries in which they hold exhibitions of the goods they have to offer to export markets.

(e) Although I do not feel that visits to China by our business men will lead to any important increase in trade at the present time, I am strongly in favour of their going there, and I would not restrict these visits solely to business men. The more frequently the contracts the more quickly we will bring about a better understanding between our two peoples, for which the need is so very pressing.

WEST DOUBLES TWO FOR TOP

West's double of two hearts was one of those match point duplicate bids. His opponents were vulnerable and the 200 points he would get for setting them one trick looked as if it would be a top score.

All he risked against that was a bottom score if the hand made and the gamble looked good to him.

He opened his singleton club. East won with the queen and promptly shifted to the duce of diamonds. He figured that the club suit could wait awhile. West took his ace and led a spade. Dummy's nine lost to East's ace and now East cashed his two high clubs and led a fourth.

The defense had five tricks in and South had no way to avoid the loss of another one. He made a valiant try by ruffing with the

ONE-LEGGED ROBINS

(Fort William Times-Journal)

One-legged robins must be no novelty to the people of Regina. The Humane Society there reports releasing no fewer than 14 single-legged robins so far this year.

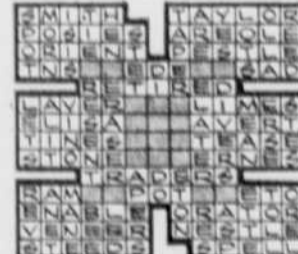

Humane Society Inspector Jack Studholme says the robins get into trouble hauling bits of string for their nests — their long spindly legs sometimes become entangled, break and have to be amputated.

It must be a real handicap when a robin gets hold of a big long worm, firmly imbedded in the ground and has to pull him out with only a single leg to balance on and use for purchase.

Renovated Gilbert IGA Store Officially Opened

Modernizations Make Shopping A Pleasure

An active man, with great administrative qualities, Jean Gilbert, of the J. Gilbert IGA store, has brought prestige to his business.

Last week, the official opening of the new J. Gilbert IGA store took place following considerable renovating and rebuilding at the 392 Alexander st., location.

The renovations include some 3,000 square feet of new floor space, representing an increase of one and a half times the original size. These renovations are the most important undertaking since the opening of the establishment, 25 years ago this fall.

The completely rebuilt front of the store permits a complete view of the interior from the street. Lighting is excellent and the aisles for shoppers are wide and roomy. The goods are attractively arranged on the counters, removing the drudgery from the housewife's shopping chores.

Self-service, a typically modern feature, is in force in all departments of this licensed, combined grocery-butcher store. Added to which, a competent staff of eight employees is on hand to assist customers. During rush hours and peak business periods, additional employees are present.

All equipment in the Gilbert IGA is modern, counters for fruits, vegetables and meats, not to mention all the freezing units so necessary for such an enterprise. All these make it certain that

Garden Party At Knowlton Nets Sizable Sum

KNOWLTON — Despite cloudy skies and intermittent showers throughout the day, the annual garden party at St. Paul's Anglican Church was a decided success with over $700 being realized. The party was sponsored by the Guilds, W.A. and other church organizations, and tables and booths were arranged inside the Church Hall, which had a festive appearance with lovely baskets of flowers arranged about the rooms.

The many guests were welcomed by Rev. and Mrs. T. E. R. Nurse. The various tables consisted of home cooking, fancywork, aprons, knitted and crocheted articles, homemade candy, and there was a nearly new table. For the children there was a dolls' table, fish pond, pony rides, hot dogs, ice cream and needless to say, in each case were well patronized.

The tea room was most attractive. Mrs. H. Seale and Mrs. Sydney Taylor poured at the lace covered table, centred with a silver bowl of summer flowers, and white tapers in silver holders. The tea tables were centred with tiny bowls of variegated pansies. Assisting in serving were members of the Girls' Auxiliary.

Colfax Rebekah Lodge No. 29 met with the Noble Grand Sister Gertrude Partridge, in the chair.

The minutes were read by the secretary, Sister Rebecca Porritt as well as the correspondence, which was given due attention. The financial secretary, Sister Mabel Tibbitts and the treasurer, Sister Nina Barnes, gave the financial reports. All outstanding bills were ordered paid.

It was reported that a member was in hospital and flowers and cards are to be sent her. We read from those who had been remembered.

The Quest Young People's Group of the United Church met at the public beach, when a wiener and marshmallow roast was the feature of the evening. Swimming was enjoyed by the group, under the supervision of Rev. David McCord and the president, Mr. Donald Cousens.

Visiting the Alderbrooke Home and School for Retarded Children were: Miss Aimee Laduke, Physiotherapist for the Association for Help for Retarded Children, Mr. Cassidy, Principal of the School for Retarded Children in Montreal, and Mrs. Tanner, Director of Vocational Guidance for the Association. These visitors were much impressed with conditions found at the Alderbrooke Home and in the schoolroom, where so much is accomplished under the guidance of Mrs. M. W. Miller.

Claudia Latest Presentation At North Hatley

For the third production of the season at the North Hatley Playhouse Rose Frankens' smash hit play, "Claudia" has been selected. "Claudia" is a story that happens somewhere every day, for it is the story of a girl becoming a woman.

Claudia is a typical young American wife, married to a promising young architect, and living "happily" in an attractive farm outside New York. Physically of age, Claudia is mentally still a little girl, with an attachment to her mother that has prevented her full emergence into womanhood.

In the space of 24 hours Claudia passes three important milestones. First, she tries to arouse jealousy in her husband by practicing her appeal on a British author who lives not far down the road. Second, she discovers that she is going to have a child, and hard on the heels of this revelation is her finding out that her mother has a very short time to live. The story of the play deals with Claudia's meeting of life and her acquiescence to the demands that living makes upon her.

Brilliantly written by Rose Frankens, it is no small wonder that "Claudia" was one of the greatest successes ever staged in the Booth Theatre in New York. In writing about the play, the Chicago Herald American said: "If ever there was a ladies' play, made to order for the female nation, her name is Claudia."

The Washington Post called "Claudia" a true exhibition of warm, human, and enormously effective entertainment. One of the finest plays of our century, "Claudia" is excellent entertainment for all the family. "Claudia" opens tonight and will run inclusively to July 18.

Scholarships Announced For Textile Study

Scholarships to enable two students to undertake courses in textile technology have been announced by Canadian Industries Limited. One of the selected students will study at the Textile Institute of the Province of Quebec, St. Hyacinthe, and the other at the Hamilton Institute of Technology, Hamilton.

At St. Hyacinthe, the C.I.L. scholarship amounts to approximately $1,000 a year and, depending on the interests of the student, it may be applied to the textile manufacturing course which is of three years' duration or to the textile chemistry and dyeing course which calls for four years of study. At the Hamilton Institute of Technology, the scholarship provides for tuition and other expenses of approximately $1,200 per year for a three-year course of studies.

The two C.I.L. scholarships are open to recent high school graduates who have covered the necessary science subjects. The students will be sponsored for the full duration of their course, provided their progress is satisfactory.

Applications will be received until July 31 and should be addressed to the Personnel Department, Canadian Industries Limited, Postal Bag 2800, Kingston, Ont. Selection will be made by the company and the heads of the textile institutes and awards will be announced as soon as possible after August 1. Classes begin the middle of September.

Race Tension In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—Race tension in Manhattan's dense Negro quarter — Harlem — is on the rise, a Negro leader says.

Manhattan borough president Hulan E. Jack — a Negro himself — reports that "the people of Harlem are in an angry mood, and the city's got to do something about it."

Jack made his comments after a stormy two-hour meeting between city officials and Harlem leaders at city hall. The meeting resulted from a near-riot in Harlem Monday in which two policemen were shot and a woman allegedly beaten by police.

Police commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy assigned 88 extra police to the section where the incident took place.

"We are not going to stand for mob violence anywhere in the city," he said.

Jack said the incident was an outgrowth of "rising race tension" in Harlem. It was caused, he said, by residents' resentment over "inadequate housing, poor schools, unsanitary conditions and low-paying jobs."

"I am blaming no official and no administration," he added. "I say more has to be done to meet and work with the people on the community level, to make them feel as though they're part of the city."

rewriting the textbooks for Cuba's schools is Communist tinged and that its political beliefs are reflected in the new texts.

The regime's defenders have a ready answer for most of this criticism. Their program is progressive, they assert, not Communist. Much of what Castro is doing, they say, merely puts into effect old programs which never were implemented by former governments.

There are many Cubans high in business and the professions who agree in part with Diaz Lantz told the Senate committee. They are the persons most likely to be hurt by Castro's plans to change the old order.

They point to Argentine-born Maj. Ernesto (Che) Guevara, No. 3 man in Castro's government, who long has been linked with the Communists. There are reports that Castro, who sent Guevara on a long tour of the Middle and Far East, plans to find another assignment abroad for him. CASTRO'S BROTHER, TOO?

Critics also claim Castro's brother and heir apparent, Raul, commander-in-chief of the armed forces, is at least friendly to the Communists.

There also have been complaints that a special commission

Memo to Women, Lest You Forget Fundamentals

If you want to keep a man entranced for the rest of your lives: Don't turn yourself into a doormat. He'll find you far more fascinating if you have just a touch of the prima donna in your make-up.

Don't believe he wants you to be as sensible as he says he does. Men pride themselves on being sensible, but you rarely hear a man brag about how sensible his wife is. A man finds a little feminine inconsistency amusing as well as exasperating.

Don't let him ever feel that he knows exactly how you'll react to any given situation. Surprise him now and then.

Have some real, absorbing interests of your own so that you can be happy alone. That makes anyone more fascinating.

Hang on to your femininity. The more a woman of any age emphasizes her feminine traits the more attractive she is to a man.

Be enthusiastic instead of dead pan. A woman who lives life with enthusiasm makes it more exciting for those around her.

Back your husband's ideas instead of always throwing a wet blanket on his plans. A wife who is too fearful of taking a chance can hold a man back and if she does her husband is sure to resent her lack of faith in him. Stay as young as you can through the years—not just in appearance, but in your ability to have fun, our anticipation of the future, your happiness in the moment at hand.

Marriages Of Local Interest

PETERSEN—MOSS

BEEBE — Wesley United church, was the scene of a lovely summer wedding on Saturday, July 4, at four o'clock, when Miss Rita Georganna Moss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmore F. Moss of Beebe, and William Barry Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William N. Peterson of Beaconsfield, Que. were united in marriage. Rev. Frank Stanton officiated at the double ring ceremony. Miss Evelyn Purcell presided at the organ and Mrs. Gordon Laberee sang "O Promise Me" during the signing of the register.

The church was beautifully decorated with baskets of mock orange and fern and the pews were marked with white satin bows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was in a floor length gown of white organza accented with Alencon lace. The fitted bodice of lace over satin was fashioned with scalloped neckline and long tapered sleeves. The full skirt, over hoops, was accented at the waist by folds of organza and lace that dipped to a V at the back, and was caught by a large self fabric rose and bow. Her elbow length veil of tulle was fashioned with a shoulder-length over veil attached to a crown of pearls and rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and baby's breath, with white satin streamers and rose buds.

Miss Ruby Wilson, cousin of the bride, as maid of honor, was in a dress of turquoise chiffon over net and taffeta, fashioned with shoulder panels of chiffon. She wore matching hat and mitts and carried a fan of yellow carnations.

Pigs And Pop Bottles Need Woman's Attention

THE SMILE could be deceptive

By WARD CANNEL
 NEW YORK—(NEA)—Now that the ladies have gained control of the nation's purchasing power, family living standard and vote, would it be all right for a nervous baritone to point out a few things that need some fixing?

I'd round up the fellows to do it, but their wives and daughters won't let them out of the kitchen.

1. There are at least 350,000 new cases of trichinosis in the U.S. yearly—the greatest incidence of this incurable disease anywhere in the world—according to the Journal of the American Medical Assn.

One out of every six autopsies conducted in the U.S. reveals residue trichinosis. But the total is probably higher as the disease is often hard to diagnose.

In any event, it is a growing problem, feeding on ignorance, laxity and pigs.

The actual cause is a worm which hibernates in the muscles of some hogs. Infested pork cooked at too-low temperatures awakes ens the worm. Eating the pork brings the worm into our bodies where it multiplies and attacks our muscles and nerves.

It can be fatal. It is always debilitating. But neither U.S. inspectors nor the meat packers check microscopically for the worm. And you can make a fortune in your neighborhood betting the cooks that they don't know the safe cooking temperature. (One hour at 212 degrees Fahrenheit per pound—interior temperature.)

2. The most frequent home-injury claim in the courts today involve exploding bottles of carbonated beverages, according to the National Association of Claimants' Compensation Attorneys.

In the words of NACCA president Alfred S. Julien:

"A full bottle of carbonated drink is far more dangerous than a full bottle of whisky. Bubbling beverages exert an outward pressure of 50 pounds per square inch on the bottle—and more when they're warm and the gas in the liquid expands."

"But the use of bottles—handling, dropping, cleaning, etc.—weakens them. And although they are tested scientifically when they are made, they are seldom inspected that closely before re-use. Too often they don't withstand the pressure again. An explosion sends flying glass everywhere."

One bottler, the lawyers say, has more cases in the courts today than he has in his warehouse.

Homemaking

To prevent honey from running off bread when being used as a spread, mix the honey with butter or margarine.

Some housewives apply coats of wax on linoleum without removing the old base. Loosen an accumulation of wax by spreading a coating of suds on it for about 10 minutes. Rinse and dry. Then re-wax.

Nylon lingerie can be kept from being dingy or yellow in g. From the first laundering use a detergent each time you hand launder your dainty garments. Also, remember not to soak nylon too long.

Fashion

The straw sachel with leather binding and handles is a hand-bag style many women cherish for summer. It looks well and wears well, too.

If you're fond of flowered hats, keep them small. The large flowered hat tends to overwhelm any woman, even a tall one.

JACQUES PAQUET

Residents of Sherbrooke and vicinity will be pleased to hear that the services of a professional decorator are now available. Decoration, of course, is becoming increasingly important.

A graduate decorator, Jacques Paquet, B.A., G.I.A.A., has opened an office at 155 Wellington North, Suite 177. Those interested in decoration are invited to visit him.

Mr. Paquet has recently completed studies which put him in a position to plan and execute all types of work and projects submitted to him. A Bachelor of Arts from Laval University, he also followed courses at l'Ecole des Beaux Arts, Montreal, where he specialized in decoration, painting and drawing. To bring this knowledge into the field of decoration, he then enrolled with l'Institut des Arts Appliques in Montreal and completed his studies with great distinction. He holds diplomas in cabinet making, furniture designing and interior decoration. In May of 1959, Mr. Paquet was the first Canadian to place in an international contest in decoration, organized by the American Institute of Interior Decorators. This contest covered North America. He qualified for an honorary diploma in New York.

These qualifications make it evident that Mr. Paquet is able to give expert advice on decoration and design problems. As well as producing drawings to illustrate his ideas, he is in a position to supply furniture, carpets, draperies, lamps and knick-knacks, as he maintains contacts with leading Canadian, American and European manufacturers. Persons looking for something out of the ordinary or those restricted by budget limitations, will certainly find what they are looking for if they deal with Mr. Paquet.

Mr. Paquet is at the service of the public in his office at 155 Wellington North, His Majesty's Building, Suite 177, Sherbrooke. The telephone number is L.O. 2-5342 or L.O. 9-4386.

Senators Wallop Weakened Yankees 21-7, Game Called; White Sox And Red Sox Meet Tonight At 6.30

Young George Garard and Dudley Coates toiling bravely on the mound for a weakened Yankee team did their utmost to keep the league leading Senators from adding points in a Little League game played last night at the Parade Grounds. Umpire Jim O'Connor called the game at the end of three and a half innings with Senators ahead by a 21-7 score.

Yankees were minus their stars Montgomery and Watson. Tonight Red Sox and White Sox meet at the Parade Grounds. Second spot is at stake so the game should be a close one.

Michael Patrick, with a three bagger in the top of the first inning, put the Yanks out ahead by three runs. Robert McLeod also got a hit for the Yanks in this inning. Gilles Boisse hitting a home run with two men aboard and Dickie Palmer following with a single pushed five runs across the plate for the Senators in their half of the same stanza.

LANDS $60 PIKE — Rouville Daigneault, second from the left, president of the Little Lake Fish and Game Club is seen receiving a $50 cheque from Jules Hogue and Pit Bourret, local representatives for Dow Brewery, for landing the tagged pike. The fish was dumped into Little Lake Sunday May 31 along with several other tagged specimens and is the second to be caught. Anada Meunier of Magog landed the salmon and earned $100. Gilles Begin, vice-president of the Little Lake Club, left, and Phil Routhier, secretary-treasurer, is presenting him with $10.00 which the club gives if one of their members lands any of the tagged fish. Burke Emery Stopped In Third Round

LONDON (AP) — Bleeding from cuts over both eyes, Burke Emery of Sherbrooke, Que., was defeated by Harry Dodoof of Ghana in a brief light heavy-weight boxing bout Tuesday night. The referee stopped the slaughter in the third round.

Emery's right eye was cut in the first round. His left eye was cut in the third when Dodoof floored him for a count of seven. With the Canadian bleeding freely, the referee stepped in.

Weights were not announced.

The players have so little support from, and so little confidence in Frick that they had to get their own representatives to fight for them. That lack of confidence on the part of the players would have caused me to resign—but Frick is interested only in the owners."

Coaticook Canucks Swamp Kist 12-4 In Fixture At Stadium Last Night; Win Moves Coaticook To Third Place

Coaticook Canadians last night swamped Kist 12-4 in a tilt at the local stadium. The first run of the game came in the second inning when Coupal of Coaticook crossed the plate. Coupal smashed a double, stole third, and was knocked home on a double by teammate Dupuis.

The fourth inning saw runs being scored by both clubs. Kist's first run was tallied when Jacques walked, went to second and third on singles by Palardy and Auray, and came safely across the plate on a passed ball.

The high-flying Canadians racked up four runs in this inning. Pelouquin, Letourneau, Bissonette, and Provencher were the marksmen for the Canucks. The runs scored were due mainly to Kist errors and to their inadequate infield. No less than four bases were stolen in this inning and this helped greatly in tallying runs.

Kist racked up their second and third run in the fifth inning. Guillemette walked, made second on a passed ball, and was brought across the plate on a double by Fortier. Fortier came in just after to rack up Kist's third run.

The next inning was a scoring spree for Coaticook. Seven runs were tallied. Pelouquin, Letourneau, Bissonette, Simard, A. Michaud, Provencher, and Dupuis all came home to put the Canucks ahead 12-2.

However, Kist put up a final effort to win the fixture. Labelle made first on a single, reached second on an error, stole third, and came home on a passed ball, bringing the final tally to 12-4 for Coaticook.

It has just been announced that Marie-Louis Fortier, President of the Sherbrooke Junior Baseball League, has called a meeting at the King George Hotel tonight at 7.30. Each team is asked to send a representative to the meeting.

Pulls Upset By Knocking Over Highly-Favored Stan Clarke In Tourney, Meets Stotland Today

MONTREAL (CP) — Ray Zabowski, 18-year-old defending champion of the Montreal Marlborough Club, and three 16-year-old aspirants came successfully through two rounds Tuesday in their bid for the Quebec provincial golf championship.

Joining Zabowski for today's semi-finals are Andre Maltais of Montreal Hampstead and Dave Stotland of Montreal Hillsdale.

The final is also scheduled today.

Zabowski won his matches by comfortable margins, winning 6 and 5 over Andre Gingras of Royal Quebec in the morning round and defeating Paul Davidson of Trois-Rivieres 5 and 3 in the afternoon.

Maltais has been something of a surprise. His first-round victim was Stan Clarke of Marlborough, who succumbed 3 and 2 in what was regarded as the upset match of the day. Clarke, who holds a 77.6 average, is among the leading 25 golfers of all ages in the province.

TWO-UP VICTORY
In the afternoon round Maltais pulled out a two-up win over Richard Tombs, a long hitter from Montreal Country Club. LeRiche, playing over his home course, defeated Hampstead clubmate George Lengvari 2 and 1 in the first round and then hung an 8 and 7 win over Ron Dimes, also of Hampstead. Dimes was winner of the qualifying round Monday with a two-over-par 72.

Stotland was carried to the 20th in the morning round before defeating Rod Lewis of Montreal Summerside. In the second round he won 3 and 1 over Alan Johnston, also from Summerside.

In first-round matches Davidson won 3 and 2 over Luc Brien of Country Club; Tombs won one-up over Guy Lemay of Montreal Isidore; Dimes won at the 19th over Jim Ross of Montreal Beaconsfield, and Johnston defeated Fred Drury of Marlborough 2 and 1.

Hampstead won the team championship Tuesday in a sudden-death playoff with Marlborough. The two clubs were tied at 314 aggregate medal scores among the four-man teams competing Monday, and in the playoff Hampstead was winner at the first hole with an aggregate score of 18 to Marlborough's 20.

Governor Chandler Delivers Wallop Tuesday To Frick, Giles, Trautman On Major League Baseball Leadership

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler took a full windup Tuesday and delivered a roundhouse wallop at big league baseball and some of its leading figures.

Commissioner Ford Frick, National League president Warren C. Giles, and minor league Chief George M. Trautman all drew critical comment from the Kentucky executive on his 61st birthday and the eighth anniversary of his retirement as baseball commissioner. He served from 1945 to 1951.

"So far as leadership is concerned, baseball is bankrupt," Chandler said. "Baseball liquidated the office of commissioner when it refused to renew my contract, and got just what the owners wanted when they named Frick."

"Frick knows nothing of baseball, and he spends more time in places like Toots Shors (a New York restaurant) than he does on baseball matters. He and Trautman are more interested in holding their jobs, and pleasing the major league owners, than in helping baseball, the players and the fans."

"Frick and Trautman and Giles are just time-servers, all working for big salaries and big expense accounts, and accomplishing nothing."

"The office of commissioner was set up to restore public confidence in baseball, and to protect the people and the players."

Unrated Benton Meets Holly Mims In Miami Beach

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—George Benton, an unrated but respected middleweight, gets a chance tonight to make his bid for a divisional ranking when he meets Holly Mims in the 10-round main event at Miami Beach Auditorium.

Benton, 26-year-old puncher from Philadelphia, will be making his national television debut against Mims, No. 8 middleweight contender from Washington, D.C. The fight will be carried by ABC starting at 10 p.m. EDT.

Because few of the top fighters want to take him on, Benton has managed only 41 fights in 10 years. He won 19 by knockouts and lost only four.

Not until last May 18 did Benton get his first "name" opponent. He won easily over Bobby Boyd in a Philadelphia match, four months after Boyd had beaten Mims in Chicago.

The 30-year-old Mims has never been knocked out in 60 fights, although he has willingly tackled the hardest punchers in the division. He has lost 18 decisions.

A clever boxer, Benton is unmarked after a decade of battles. He punches hardest with his right, while Mims specializes in a jolting left hook.

Trainer Charley Goldman Thinks He Has Another World Champion In Yvon Durelle; Moves To Montreal

MONCTON, N.B. (CP)—Trainer Charley Goldman, who helped guide Rocky Marciano to the heavyweight throne, thinks he has another champion in Yvon Durelle.

"Yvon had (Archie) Moore ready for the ice box in their first fight but he let him off the hook in the second round," said Goldman. "I won't happen again this time once Yvon gets him it's going to be over quick."

Durelle, the burly Canadian and British Empire light heavyweight king, meets the 42-plus Moore, the world champion, in a return title fight at Montreal's Forum July 29.

In their first scrap, rated the fight of 1958, Durelle floored the aged ruler four times — three times in the first round. Yvon was dumped four times himself, the last time for the count in the 11th round, in their hectic brawl on Dec. 10.

Durelle became cautious in the second round and Moore recovered and actually won that round.

THE BIG MISTAKE
"That was the big mistake," said Goldman. "You've got to press Moore all the way. Never let up on him. One of these days he's bound to fall apart from old age. You've gotta press him." That's what the tiny conditioner has been telling Durelle ever since he was hired on June 3 to help the fighting fisherman from Baie Ste. Anne, N.B.

Most of Durelle's sparring has been with Ted Poole, a New York light heavy who worked with the Canadian last year.

"He's hitting harder and is much smarter now," said Poole. "Durelle will leave today for Ste. Anne de Bellevue, near Montreal, where he will finish his training."

New Proposed North Hatley Curling Club

The top photo shows the ground floor of the new proposed curling club and will comprise the viewing room, ladies room, bar and lounge. The lower picture shows the ice surface while the recreation hall, which will be 28' by 36', will be used for dances and suppers.

It has been decided by members of the executive committee of the North Hatley Curling Club Inc. that a property on the Reedsville road, adjoining the northern limit of North Hatley, will be purchased for the erection of a new club building and curling rink.

Plans are going forward at the present for the project and an estimated $30,000 will be necessary to complete the undertaking. This amount includes payment for the installation of the artificial ice plant.

It has also been decided that the general financing will be provided by a membership qualification in the form of $100 stock certificates which each playing member or family would purchase.

Further financing will be in the form of $50 debentures which will be numbered and which will be retired by lot as the funds become available. If sufficient debentures can be sold to pay for the ice plant and, of course the construction starts, it is evident that debenture payment could start from the first funds available.

Schoendienst Making Rapid Progress After Bout With TB; Says He'll Be Back With Milwaukee In September

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Second baseman Red Schoendienst—making rapid progress after a bout with tuberculosis—said Tuesday he'll begin his "spring practice" late in August and rejoin Milwaukee Braves in September.

"Right now I feel I can play nine innings," the 36-year-old Schoendienst told newspaper men.

However, Schoendienst's personal physician, Dr. William Werner, said that it's unlikely the redhead will be able to play every day in September.

"But," Dr. Werner added, "I don't expect any restrictions on what he can do next year."

LIFT FOR TEAM
Even if Schoendienst is available for only part-time duty in September, his return should give a lift to the hard-pressed Braves.

The defending National League champions trail league-leading San Francisco by a half game, with Los Angeles and Pittsburgh both within easy striking distance.

Trying to plug the hole at second base has been a season-long headache for Braves' manager Fred Haney.

Schoendienst told Herman he will train in his hometown of St. Louis. If it weren't for the fact the Braves will be on the road during most of August, he said, he would rejoin the team in a few weeks.

The physician described Schoendienst's progress since his operation last February as excellent. The redhead was confined to a hospital last November after tests made on a guinea pig confirmed that he had tuberculosis.

Harry Fowlis Scores Ace At Massawippi

Harry Fowlis, well known golfer of Sherbrooke and professional at the Massawippi Country Club at North Hatley, has joined the ranks of the select few in golfing circles.

Fowlis playing on his home course with Dr. H. McDougall dropped his tee shot at the 162 yard third hole. He was playing into the wind and used a five iron to accomplish the feat.

Fowlis completed his nine-holes and finished with a four-under-par 31. His score was 541-334-443 for the round. Fowlis is the holder of the Eastern Townships Open Golf championship having won the crown last year at the Sherbrooke Country Club, where he was professional for several years.

Prior to joining the monied ranks Harry Fowlis was one of the top amateurs in the Townships and won the Skinner Trophy, emblematic of the amateur title, several years. His father was the professional at Lennoxville while his uncle, Dave Turnbull, was the pro at Sherbrooke. He has one brother, Jimmy, who is also a pro and held the job at Lennoxville for several years.

The minister, who reports to Parliament for the publicly-owned CBC, said the corporations has made a final offer of $50,000 for full Canadian rights with no blackouts.

Quinn Asking Too Much

OTTAWA (CP)—Revenue Minister Nowlan indicated Tuesday there is little chance of the CBC negotiating an agreement with the promoter to televise the Archie Moore-Yvon Durelle fight at Montreal July 29.

The minister, who reports to Parliament for the publicly-owned CBC, said the corporations has made a final offer of $50,000 for full Canadian rights with no blackouts.

Stops Betty Henri 8-6, 6-1 To Cop Hiram Walker Trophy; Men's Finals Slated Tonight With Junior Tilts

Marthe Tanguay last night posted a 8-6, 6-1 victory over Betty Henri to win the women's singles championship of the City of Sherbrooke tournament. She succeeds Jeannine Cote who defended the title for three years but who gave up competition tennis. Marthe Tanguay also was awarded the Hiram Walker trophy which is the emblematic of the woman championship.

The new champion won the title in 1944, '45, '46 and had at that time retired from the sport. Her victory last night was the reward for her efforts which began last year when she decided to return to the game.

The match was rather one-sided, however, Betty Henri fought all the way and was at one time leading 5-4 in the first set. She played against a more experienced person and it was due mainly to this, that she lost the match.

The single men's finals will get under way tonight when Raymond Royer and Patrick Henri will battle for the title. The match is scheduled to start at eight o'clock.

In the doubles played Betty Henri and Jeannine Levesque downed Aline Desjardins and Marilyn Hayes 6-2, 6-4 and Marthe Tanguay with Francine Clement pulled through with a 6-2, 6-2 decision over Pierette

Lennoxville Golf Club To Hold Two-Day Tourney

The annual Field Day which is slated to be held by the Lennoxville Golf Club on Sunday, July 19, will be extended over two days, announced Roger Chretien, club captain, this morning.

In past years it always has been a one-day event but this time seeing that no other club has booked Saturday it was decided to hold it over the weekend. Players can compete on Saturday or Sunday but can only register one score.

The Quebec Automobile Association Trophy, which was won last year by Ray Setlakwe of Thetford Mines, will be up for competition again and will go to the player registering the lowest gross for the two-day event.

The draw for tonight in the E.T. Junior Tournament follows:

Coaticook Playground Opens Officially; Several Citizens Tendered Farewell

COATICOOK — The official opening of the playground took place on Sunday afternoon, and the ceremony was witnessed by several hundred children, their parents and dignitaries of the town.

A parade, led by the Harmony Band, left Chartier Park at one o'clock and was made up of automobiles, bicycles and many pedestrians. Arriving at the playground site, those who had not previously visited the summer rendezvous for the youngsters, were pleasantly surprised to see what fine facilities have been provided by interested groups of the community. The swings, slides and other amusements were in constant use during the afternoon. Picnic tables have been erected and these were also put to good use by those who had brought lunches and stayed for the evening.

The Bus Company cooperated by running special bus service from North Coaticook, with children being given free riding privileges for the occasion. Warm and sunny weather favored the event and made the opportunity for a swim for the youngsters especially enjoyable. A snack bar has been opened at the beach and was well patronized.

Best wishes and congratulations were expressed to the guest of honor by several Church leaders, many of whom had formerly served in St. Marc Parish with Father Michaud and who had returned for the occasion.

MISSILE ON RR WHEELS — Here's an artist's conception of how Minuteman, a solid-fuel intercontinental ballistic missile due in 1962, could be fired from a special railway launching car. Bottom, the missile, sealed in a protective steel capsule, is loaded aboard the car. Top, the missile blasts off directly from the upright capsule which follows it from production line to firing line. The method would mean that the 5,300-mile Minuteman wouldn't be confined to fixed launching sites but might be fired from almost any point along 389,000 miles of track in the United States. The special car was designed by Bethlehem Steel and Paul Hardeman, Inc.

RUSSIA HAS LARGEST PASSENGER PLANE — Compared above are the largest passenger planes in the world, Russia's TU-114, and the biggest U.S. commercial plane, the Boeing 707. The American plane, being pure jet, is faster than the Russian turboprop. Turboprops and jet engines are internally similar, except that the turboprop harnesses most of the rearward-gushing gases to a propeller. The Soviet plane was designed by Andrei Tupolev. It dwarfs the TU-104, a twin-jet medium transport that Russia now flies into six European capitals on regular service. Larger, intercontinental versions of the Boeing 707 will be delivered to airlines shortly. But they, too, are smaller than the TU-114.

The Doctor Says

Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

OPERATIONS CAN CORRECT CHILDREN'S MOUTH DEFECTS

Many prominent and successful people have been born with a split upper lip or a gap in the structures at the roof of the mouth. The first condition is called hare lip and the latter cleft palate. The two often occur together.

These conditions fall in the group of what are called congenital defects. It seems likely that they are the result of some injury before birth rather than being truly hereditary disorders.

The studies, which show that Geman measles in the mother during the first three months of pregnancy predisposes to congenital defects, throw some light on how this kind of thing could work. Also, stress during pregnancy has come under suspicion.

Naturally it is a shock to the parents to have a child born with a hare lip or cleft palate. But they should not be too discouraged. Surgery can help not only in the appearance, but also in forestalling the speech difficulties which are a serious part of the condition.

The nature of the operation needed should be planned early. Some prefer to operate while the child is quite young, as this may avoid some of the speech and other difficulties which would be encountered by postponing treatment.

Others favor surgery at about 4 years old. Either way there are questions of postoperative care, speech training and dental adjustments to mention the two which are probably most important.
