Construction to begin in June Plans completed for new police, fire station

After three years of study, plans for a new police and fire station on Stanton are now complete and will be considered by City Council Monday, the Examiner learned this week.

The new building will house the police, fire, and public safety departments in larger quarters and is expected to contain offices for certain departments now located in City Hall.

Architects for the project, Perry and Patch of Montreal have prepared a scale model of the proposed building which will be inspected Monday by the Council.

The new building will be located on the site of the present headquarters.

The city will call for tenders later this month.

No further details were available.

City Council is also considering the renovation of water courses in Westmount Park. Park planners have been retained for the purpose. Their main objective is to restore the ponds which have deteriorated with age and which in early days constituted a water course draining into a ravine at Western and Lansdowne and flowing down through the Glen.

Construction work in Westmount Park should begin in July.

A further project of the council is the improvement of the lighting system on some of Westmount's side streets.

Contributions 'steady'

Leja fund established

Contributions to the "Walter Leja Fund" established Monday by the Westmount Municipal Association are coming in steadily, it was learned Thursday. No figures were available, but officials at the Royal Trust Company, agents for the fund, reported that they were receiving donations at a "reasonable rate."

The fund was unofficially launched last Tuesday at the ## Pool opens tomorrow

The opening of the outdoor swimming season in Westmount takes place tomorrow with no ceremony to mark it, only splashes. At 10 a.m. recreation officials with throw the doors open and if the weather is anything like that of last weekend expect to quickly jump aside to avoid the stampede.

Construction of the bath house beside the pool was completed

Local NDPs to re-organize

The St. Antoine-Westmount NDP is planning a period of "intensive political re-organization" here.

Although the New Democratic Party was not able to make any substantial inroads in St. Antoine-Westmount, a riding that traditionally votes for the "old line parties" they did manage to obtain a small increase in the last Federal election. They are reported to be greatly encouraged by the increase.

The NDP Association this week elected Jeffery Adams, a professor at Loyola as president of the St. Antoine-Westmount party. Mr. Adams succeeds Joan Oliver.

Other officers are: Edger Assels, former candidate and Leon Lippel.

Julien Major, candidate this year will serve on the association's executive committee.

Bread price up at Westmount's Wonder Bakeries

Wonder Bakeries, 323, Prince Albert avenue, Westmount have increased the price of a loaf of bread by one cent, effective yesterday. Other bakers are expected to announce a similar increase within a few days.

Officials at the bakery said that the increase was necessary due to "a substantial rise in the cost of flour."

This is the first increase in the price of bread in the Montreal area since July 20, 1961. "While absorbing sharp advances in prices of sugar and other major ingredients and other heavier costs including higher wages and gasoline taxes, since that time, the baking industry has seen its net profit drop drastically," an official stated.

In announcing the increase in the price of bread, Wonder Bakeries cited a recent report by the Consumers Association of Canada which indicated that higher bread prices are justified.

The association said that flour costs, which account for 25% of the price of a loaf of bread, have increased 90 cents per 100 pounds since 1961.

The price of sugar — there are six pounds in 100 24-ounce loaves — has gone up $10.30 to $17.40 per 100 pounds since a year ago.

Increased costs of milk powder, shortening and other ingredients were cited.

Wonder Bakeries pointed out that wages and fringe benefits account for about one-third of the sales dollar and that these have doubled since 1949.

"Distribution costs also have gone up," they said, adding that the bread prices in Canada are 30 per cent less than prevailing levels in the United States.

Next week's weather

June 1 to 8

Mainly fair with bright, warm days. Morning fogs or mists to commence week. Some risk of night showers with thunder. High humidity with a temperature range of 40 - 80°F in the south, 30 - 70°F in the north and east. 65 hours of sunshine this typical Whit-sun Week.

Generally sunny and moderately warm through the middle of the week. Cool night showers. Some thunder activity. Heavy dews, even killing frosts for some low lying places. Gales and heavy rains around the Great Lakes, then northern States and along the border into the Maritimes.

Girls invade Boys' Clubs

What is in a name? There is a great deal, according to Vernon F. McAdam of Westmount, executive director of Boys' Clubs of Canada. Apparently, the average boy does not care to belong to any organization called a Boys' and Girls' Club. Keep the girls in the club, but remove their name from above the door and the boy is happy, Mr. McAdam said.

Mr. McAdam secretary-manager of Weredale House in Westmount was addressing the opening session in Toronto of a two-weeks training course for administrative personnel for boys' clubs. The boys club nominally deals with the boy who is at a period of life when he prefers not to be associated with what he terms a "sissy" organization. Careful observation has indicated that in the main the average boy does not object to his sister belonging to his club providing it is recognized as such.

"We strongly feel, however, that this principle is being defeated when a club is labelled a Boys' and Girls' Club," he added. "Any growth in this idea will call for considered opinion on the part of the National Board of the Boys' Clubs of Canada." Most Boys' Clubs in Canada, including Westmount's Unity Club now admit girls. United States Boys' clubs do not follow this policy.

Mr. McAdam also stressed the value of competent leadership, more important than "buildings, facilities and programs."

"A boy will be effected strongly by the qualities of leadership contact and social habit which he finds in club. The discipline in the club is a vital test of its quality, it is at once the greatest problem and the greatest opportunity. It demands the right qualities of trained and dedicated leadership at the top and the opportunity for self-government among the rank and file."

Fluorine essential, dentist tells Rotary

All Canadians, whether they like it or not do consume a significant amount of fluorine yearly in their drinking water and the chemical is essential to proper development and maintenance of healthy teeth, according to a representative of the Dental Hygiene League.

Dr. C. Aberdeen McCabe, addressing the weekly luncheon meeting of the Westmount Rotary Club stated that even with liberal use of toothpaste and consumption of the proper foods, without fluorine, tooth decay will result unless fluorine or an equivalent nutritional element is consumed.

He explained that most foods contain traces of fluorine, but usually in insufficient quantity for proper protection. "Water from deep wells, usually contain fluorine," he added. "Surface water is also known to pick up fluorine from the rocks and soil over which it flows, but when this water mixes with that of other lakes and streams it becomes diluted and lacks the proper concentration to prevent tooth decay."

Dr. McCabe, explained that Lake Ontario contains one tenth of the required concentration of fluorine and that this water, on its way to Montreal picks up a certain amount of fluorine, but not enough.

"It is not surprising that 33% of your two year old babies and 85.9% of school age children have decayed teeth, for your water supply contains only one fifth of the recommended quantity of fluorine," he said.

Dr. McCabe stated that it has been scientifically proven that when the water supply contains the optimum amount of one part fluorine for every million parts of water, the incidence of dental caries is reduced. "By following Brentford's example, your community can improve this nutritional value of its water supply and thus reduce by about two thirds, your children's incidence of decayed teeth."

"Fluoridation is a Public Health measure which has been adopted by over 2669 American Communities supplying water to more than 45 million individuals" stated Dr. McCabe, "and, in Canada, despite the antagonistic activities of a few misinformed individuals, over 2,057,897 Canadians already drink water which is fluoridated by more than 157 communities, of which 30 are situated in the Province of Quebec."

He explained that fluoridation consists in the addition of accurately measured quantities of fluoride salts to the communal water supply to obtain the required concentration of one part fluorine for every million parts of water.

He explained that dental decay has four causative factors: bacteria contained in the mouth, sugars and starchy foods consumed, acids formed by the action of bacteria on the food and a weak enamel covering of the teeth which easily becomes the prey of the acid so formed.

"If we can totally eliminate anyone of these four causative factors" he said, "dental decay should no longer be a problem."

Oral cleanliness does eliminate some of the bacteria but those remaining soon multiply. It also eliminates remnants of food and dilutes the acid formed.

"You cannot expect your children to form sound healthy bodies and strong teeth if you do not supply them with the materials needed for this purpose," he said, "too many children are reared on diets which lack body and tooth building foods and contain excessive amounts of refined sugars and starches."

Pole change means weather change

At last someone has come up with a reason for the lack of exactness in the realm of weather forecasting — in fact it is even convincing!

According to EXAMINER weatherman Eric Neal, young meteorologist are not allowing for changing conditions in their prognostications.

As Neal observes, in olden times the brightest, or Alpha Star in the Dragon Constellation, continually guided fisherman travelling to the cod banks of Newfoundland.

Since that time, he says, the north magnetic pole has journeyed from its perch atop Hudson Bay to its present position on Bathurst Island. Since the centre of the Northern Lights is always over the magnetic pole, they and the ionization centre (these ionization variations control our weather) have now moved further north.

Important results

Neal says that this shift has produced two important results:

Until the 1960s we could always count on sunny conditions in our region all the week of the Full Moon, on a few bright days between New Moon and First Quarter, and again after the First Quarter. Now he says, the bright periods start and finish a day later.

Generally speaking, the weather conditions which belonged previously to the States of New York and Vermont have now moved north into Quebec's Eastern Townships. Now the Townships are getting less precipitation than before, while Vermont and New York summers are relatively dry.

"As a consequence of these changes," says Neal, "weather predictions are becoming less reliable because young meteorologists, very rightly working according to their textbooks, are not allowing for the changing conditions which are so evident to observers with more experience."

The answer to the problem, Neal indicates, is to base forecasts on a hundred years of Canadian and American government statistics, with allowances for the variations introduced by the known weather cycles.

Canada's first doctor was Michel Sarrazin, who came out from France in 1685 as chief surgeon to troops at Quebec.

Leja fund . . .

Association's Annual Spring meeting through a suggestion by Mrs. Phyllis Lee Peterson. Mrs. Peterson became a member of the Leja Fund Committee along with V. G. Hobbes, and Peter Kerrigan, Conservative candidate in the last Federal election.

The committee announced that contributions may be sent to V. G. Hobbes of the Royal Trust Company, 105 St. James street west or to Westmount City Hall. Cheques or money-orders should be made payable to the "Walter Leja Fund."

No Army pension

Critically injured May 17 when as he was attempting to disarm his third mailbox bomb in Westmount, the 42 year-old Sergeant Major from the Hillside Armory is not a permanent Army member and consequently not eligible for regular pension.

Sergeant-Major Leja was moved Wednesday from St. Mary's Hospital to the Montreal Neurological Institute for examination. He has regained consciousness, but is not able to speak.

Doctors believe that Leja may be paralyzed, at least temporarily on his right side. His left hand was amputated.

The City itself plans to give some aid to Leja, but exact commitments have not been disclosed.

The most dangerous time of any day in the year is during the period from 5 p.m. up until 8 p.m. in the month of December, because of the untold number of shoppers out doing their Christmas purchases. Pedestrians are asked to be doubly safe of their ability to cross a road before attempting, and motorists are asked to be sure not to cross an intersection when they see pedestrians in front of them.

Dr. J. Browne receives U of T fellowship

Dr. J. S. L. Browne, distinguished Canadian endocrinologist and a resident of Westmount for many years received this week the Charles Mickle Fellowship for 1963 from the University of Toronto.

The Fellowship, which was established in 1921, is awarded annually by the Senate of the University of Toronto on the recommendation of its Faculty of Medicine, to the person who "has done most during the preceding ten years to advance sound knowledge of a practical kind in medical art or science."

Dr. Browne was singled out this year to receive the Fellowship in recognition of his "outstanding work in the field of endocrinology" and the contribution he has made "in stimulating clinical investigation in Canada."

Dr. Browne was singled out this added to a list of 42 distinguished world scientists who have been awarded the Fellowship in the past. Among those on the list are Lord Adrian, Sir McFarlane Burnett, Dr. Charles Best, Ivan Pavlov, Sir Alexander Fleming and Selman Waksman.

Graduate of Westmount Schools

In the course of his career, Dr. Browne's scientific contributions have been principally in the study of infertility in human beings and in developing studies in the use of cortisone and ACTH in human diseases in the early days of these drugs.

The Fellowship consists of an illuminated certificate of award and a prize of approximately $1,000.

Dr. Browne, presently Professor and Chairman of the Department of Investigative Medicine, attended Argyle School and Westmount High and is a graduate of McGill University, having earned the degrees of BA (1925), MD, CM (1929), BSc. (Med.) (1929), and PhD (1932). He was a Holmes Gold Medallist and also received the Williams Prize in Medicine and the Governor General's Silver Medal.

Upon graduation in 1932, Dr. Browne was named Royal Society of Canada Travelling Fellow and he went overseas to work at the University of Göttingen, the University of Graz and at University College, London.

He returned to Canada in 1933, when he joined the staff of McGill University as Research Fellow in the University Clinic, Royal Victoria Hospital. In 1937, he was appointed Assistant Professor and in 1940, he became assistant director of the Clinic. Dr. Browne was named Associate Professor in 1945 and two years later he became full Professor, Chairman of the University's Department of Medicine and Director of the Clinic, a position he held until 1955, when he organized and set up the department of investigative medicine.

Dr. Browne was President of the American Society for Clinical Investigation in 1948, the only Canadian to hold this position, and was also President of the Endocrine Society in 1949. He is a Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada, the Royal College of Physicians of Canada and the American College of Physicians. In 1954, Queen's University conferred on him an Honorary LL.D. degree.

Hobby Show evaluated; '64 dates set

The executive of the Westmount Hobby Show this week held an "evaluation meeting" to review the entire operation from planning stages to the follow up.

The general feelings were that the show was successful and achieved its aims.

The main goals of this year's show were:

- to attract as many youngsters as possible from the Westmount Schools, to work on the planning committees, etc.
- To give the committee chairman and members a good "group" experience.
- To promote an active interest in hobbies among the youth in Westmount.

Total participation in the Show was over three-times that of previous Shows. Enthusiasm was also high. This seems to be due in part to the "personal contacts" that were made by committee members and executive and the support given by the various Westmount school officials.

The Executive Officers elected at this meeting are: General Chairman — Miss Doreen Connors, Vice-Chairman — Chris Blair, Secretary — Miss Joanne Cohen.

Negro Centre recital set

The Negro Community Centre, a Red Feather Agency, is holding its annual ballet and tap dance recital at 8 p.m. tonight in the auditorium of Westmount High School.

Polish Science award to Dr. Wilder Penfield

Dr. Wilder Penfield of Westmount, famed neurosurgeon, was honored this week for his contribution to the development of neurosurgery in Poland, becoming the first Canadian member of the Polish Academy of Science.

In presenting the award, Z. L. Wolniak, Polish Ambassador to Canada, pointed out that two of Poland's top neurosurgeons Dr. C. Chorobski and Dr. Stempien studied under Dr. Penfield and adopted many of his techniques.

Mr. Wolniak said that Poland has often been exposed to oppression throughout his long history. "That is why the Poles know how to value and respect people such as Dr. Penfield who are dedicated to saving human lives."

Dr. Penfield said that in all fairness he should accept the honor in the name of Canadian science. He paid tribute to many of his former associates whom, he said, were responsible to a large extent for the award.

Hundreds honor late
 Brigadier-General Smart

Hundreds of political, military and business figures joined friends and relatives this week at Melville Presbyterian Church in paying final honors to the late Brigadier-General Charles Allan Smart, former member of the Quebec Legislative Council and representative of Westmount to the Legislative Assembly.

Among those attending the funeral services were Alderman C. K. McLead deputizing for His Worship Mayor Jenkins, P. E. Jarman and A. F. Bell representing the City of Westmount.

The Military District was represented by Lt.-Col. B. W. Browne, DSO, MC.

Conservative Associations representatives were: John H. Hand, Edmund Greenwood, and I. S. Wotherspoon, R. G. Hains. Hon. Martin Fisher, Hon. W. Tremblay, Hon. W. R. Bulloch, Alphonse Raymond, represented the Provincial Government. Senator C. P. Beaubien and W. Allen Walsh represented the Federal Government.

Rev. T. W. Jones
 of relief funds

Rev. T. W. Jones of Calvary Church this week flayed Montreal and Quebec administrators for cutting from the relief lists "a great number of little children, among the most helpless in the city and their mothers, among the neediest of citizens, who face the tragedy of homelessness and poverty in its starkest form."

The preacher said that these needy people were made to suffer "because of the petty antagonism and difference of opinion between Government officials in the province and those in positions of responsibility in the city."

And if that be the explanation — surely it is high time that such foolish, costly political manoeuvring came to an end. I believe I voice the feeling of the great majority of Christian people in this province when I give expression to a most urgent protest against this inhuman attitude toward those needy mothers and children... and plead for a more humane and even more generous attitude to be adopted toward these struggling people."

Westmount heads
 real estate lists

Westmount's real estate transactions for the month of May sounded perhaps the only cheerful note in an otherwise dull list of activities in Montreal suburban municipalities, according to figures released this week by the Montreal Real Estate Board.

Leading the field with more than a quarter million dollars worth of sales, Westmount's $282,358 for 29 transfers is more than double Verdun's figure and almost triple Outremont's $99,036 for 11 sales.

Ed. note — Westmount came third in total value of real estate sales for the months of January and February 1963 with $3,134,688 among 32 island municipalities.

will be transformed into a spring fair as the Junior Associates of the Montreal Museum hold their annual "Champagne and Strawberries" dance.

This year the theme of the event will be "Carousel," and will mark the fifth anniversary of JAMM. In five years the organization has grown from fifty to three hundred members, representing French, English, and various ethnic groups. Forty exhibitions and a hundred or more lectures, forums, recitals, have been presented, open to the public and free of charge.

"Champagne and Strawberries" is a fund raising event, and the proceeds of the dance will be used to finance the group's future activities. Tickets may be procured from Mrs. Andre Galipeault, 4155 Blueridge Crescent, or at the door on June 7.

Many Westmounters are contributing their time and efforts to make this occasion a success: Trevor Bishop, chairman; Mrs. Andre Galipeault, tickets; Miss Otilie Douglas, costume; Mrs. Jacqueline Ormos-Cernat, publicity; Miss Wendy Stevenson, food and drink; Miss Barbara Bruce, invitations and committee secretary; Miss Lucy Durnford, and Bruce Ledain, decorations; Mrs. William Sofin, window displays; Peter Quinlan, supply; L. McKay Smith, treasurer; Phillippe Jannes, music; George Easton, games.

The Annual Meeting of St. Antoine-Westmount Women's Liberal Association was held on Monday at the home of Mrs. R. W. Coristine, Montrose avenue.

Guest speaker Andrew Dixon, in lauding the efforts of the association members, said: "I cannot at this moment too loudly sing the praises of the work done during the past year. The spirit of friendly co-operation in this group is unique across Canada. When an election looms everyone gets to work, but keeping such a large organization together between elections is very difficult, and for this I must commend our president Mrs. R. W. Coristine."

"The results of the election are well known. There were about 16,000 votes for Mr. Drury, and about 7,000 for Mr. Kerrigan, almost three times the majority recorded last June. One interesting feature was the Dial Drury system, which was used in Canada for the first time. Rockefeller used the system in New York. We had 24 telephones, with 8 different messages in French and English. This excited a lot of interest, and phone calls came in from all parts (Continued on page 6)

WE SAY YOU SAY

Stop the assault
 on our landscape

WITH Spring now well established we city types will be making more and more junkets into the countryside.

It comes as a bit of a shock, on our spring drive, to find forgotten evidence of man's inhumanity to man's first heritage, the land. Here and there, more outrages have been added.

One stretch of highway, beyond the suburbs and truly rural we shall describe — without identifying, for alas, it is to be found throughout La Belle Province.

The road meanders beside a pretty river, but you can't see much of the river because of an almost unbroken half-mile of shanty restaurants plastered with soft drink signs, and run down cabins, garages and sheds.

Just beyond, there is a once proud farmyard, now littered to the road's edge with upturned, burned-out automobiles and trucks — a roadside shrine to planned obsolescence.

This is simply criminal assault on the sense of beauty which we all to greater or lesser degrees possess.

Private property rights? We have laws against undue noise, against some forms of pollution of air and water. It should not be an infringement of human rights to go a little further.

We look to our Legislature and Parliament to enact "ground rules" which will guarantee our right to enjoy the Quebec and Canadian landscape, unspoiled by the depredations of the wanton, the avaricious, and the uncouth.

Violence not the answer

Sir: It becomes increasingly clear that events of the past few weeks in the local area involving the terrorist Front de Liberation Quebecquoise (FLQ), form an interesting contrast to the non-violent protest spearheaded by Dr. Martin Luther King in Alabama.

Admittedly, no tidy analogy can be drawn between the effects the two factions have produced because the reasons for their protest are significantly different.

Dr. King validly seeks emancipation of the negro from ludicrous white dominance, while the FLQ has strangely aligned itself with a cause that springs from the desire to secede from the Dominion of Canada.

We must, of course, admit that the FLQ has motives, and whether or not we agree with them, we must conclude that violence will not further their cause. Dr. King has enjoyed significant success in his attempt to integrate the Birmingham area. On the other hand, it is obvious that the FLQ will never make headway as long as it continues to employ tactics that have already resulted in the death of one man and critical injury to another.

If liberation from the Dominion is their immediate aim (and one would rather suspect this at this time) then the impracticality of the venture far overshadows any hope the FLQ has of accomplishing its purpose.

The wave of terrorism that has forced closing of schools in some places, that has instilled an intense dislike for employing postal services, and that has created general alarm, is certainly infuriating not only English Quebecers but also French Canadians who lean towards the politics of Separatism.

Perhaps the most frustrating aspect of the FLQ is the fact that its difficulties cannot be openly discussed, as is the case with Separatism.

Its leaders work incognito, using methods that cannot be dealt with on a rational or even human level. The FLQ it appears, can only be defeated with guns — not other ideas.

The law forces possess this commodity in superfluous degrees and the downfall of the FLQ is inevitable. Violence is not their answer.

Mechanics' Institute moves to Westmount

Atwater Library . . .

At the time of the discontinuance of night classes by the Mechanic's Institute, financial difficulties were also being experienced by other societies. Among these was the Mercantile Library Association which then proposed an amalgamation with the Institute. A committee reported favorably on the idea and a plan of union was submitted to the Association.

When no reply was received to this, the matter was dropped, and afterwards the Association disposed of its real estate. Its library was taken over by the Fraser Institute (incorporated 1870) with which in the future The Mechanics' Institute was to engage in similar but equally ineffective amalgamation discussions.

With the trend of the residential section to the uptown districts, and the building of other halls in the city, the revenue from the Institute's Lecture Hall, which had been yielding $3,000 to $4,000 yearly, seriously declined. (It is interesting to note that in 1858 the change was made from sterling to dollars.)

Several members then advocated disposing of the St. James street property, for which an offer of $105,000

The progress of the Mechanic's Institute in Westmount, now called the Atwater Library has closely paralleled that of the community which it serves, and a study of its growth provides many interesting sidelights on the development of Montreal.

This history was compiled and written by T. Miles Gordon of Montreal, who did considerable research among old records, newspaper clippings, and minute books.

This is the fourth in a series.

had been made. At a special meeting held on November 15th, 1886, it was moved that this offer be accepted and the proceeds invested in a building uptown, with the light literature and $5,000 being given to a citizen's free library, the scientific books being retained, and a technical school founded which would be affiliated with McGill.

These suggestions met with a storm of protest from the majority of the members, and it was determined to carry on as before, while developing new sources of revenue.

Point St. Charles Branch

Civic expansion did, however, result in the Institute's securing a new property at this time. The extension of the city's industrial activities indicated the desirability of an institute situated closer to the residential section of the workmen. To meet this need, the Institute opened a branch at Point St. Charles in 1887.

Property was purchased at the corner of Wellington and Bourgeois streets for $5,000 and certain movables for $900 extra. (Of this sum, $2,000 was subscribed and a mortgage given for the balance.) This new departure further illustrated the earnest determination of the members to serve Montreal in accord with the chartered objects of the Institute.

Unfortunately, after the branch had been conducted for four years, it had to be closed due to lack of support from the community. Nine years later the property was sold.

Meanwhile an increased revenue from the St. James street building had been assured. In 1887 it was decided to alter the stores on the ground floor, enlarge the reading room and library, and make the upper part of the building into first class offices. Mr. James Wright prepared plans, but before they were approved a fire broke out in the building — on October 24 — which did considerable damage, necessitating temporary repairs.

Then, the plans having been approved at a special meeting, the alterations were effected without materially disturbing the work of the Institute or interfering with the tenants on the ground floor.

Gaslight replaced

By May 1, 1888, most of the offices were rented, and the Institute had an estimated revenue of $14,500 from the remodelled building. In December of that year, the building was for the first time illuminated by electricity which replaced the gaslight by which, for 43 years, the lectures and classes of the Institute had been conducted. (The alterations had cost $45,541.00; the mortgage debt upon the Institute had been $26,000, and power was now obtained from the Legislature to borrow $50,000 to meet the cost of alterations. The result was the increase of the mortgage indebtedness to $69,000.)

By this time the membership had grown to 928, the library contained 10,000 volumes, and the Institute faced the future confident of maintaining its long record of service which had won it the goodwill of the men who had profited by its teaching and the approbation and support of the leading citizens of the city.

Thus, though further offers, ranging up to $240,000, were received for the property, all were refused, and the Institute entered the new century still in the old building — the well-remembered haunt of book-lovers which, during noon hours and after five o'clock, was one of the busiest spots on a busy street.

Into the new century

For Montreal the first decade of the 20th Century was an era of increasing prosperity. The city's economic development continued, stimulated by the constant application of new technical improvements and inventions to industry.

It was, therefore, only natural that the Mechanic's Institute should consider various means of extending its activities in order to play a part of greater usefulness in an increasingly industrialized world. To this end several members advocated disposing of the old building, establishing a Mechanics' Institute Technical School, and locating in a more convenient section of the city.

Simultaneously came a suggestion from the Manufacturers' Association of Montreal to aid in this project. A tentative proposition was made to that body, that if they would raise a sum of $100,000, The Mechanics' Institute would add its equipment and resources, and thereby assure its success.

The offer was reaffirmed at the annual meeting of 1902, but next year, the Manufacturers' Association having failed to show any further interest, it was rescinded. (Later, when the Montreal Technical Institute was established, The Mechanics' Institute's long service to technical education was recognized by its being accorded representation on the board of the new society.)

It was not until 1909 that any further proposals to amalgamate were made. In December of that year, at the annual meeting, the Builders Exchange (a corporate body of which many members were also members of the Institute suggested

Local doctor makes cancer research advance

A Westmount doctor has introduced new evidence showing that cancer cells are actually in the blood of many cancer patients, including those apparently cured.

Dr. Donald R. Webster, 565 Roslyn avenue, surgeon and professor of experimental surgery at McGill, heading a team of cancerologists at the Royal Victoria Hospital has created new interest in the theory that the presence of cancer in the body, and the chance of reoccurrence of the disease can be predicted by the presence of cancer cells in the body blood.

This theory has not had wide acceptance in the past because patients known to have cancer have often failed to show cancer cells circulating in the blood stream.

Unity prepares Summer program

By MAURICE MARIASINE

A trip to the Granby Zoo on Thursday, June 27, will officially open the Westmount Unity Boys' Club 1963 Summer-time Program.

Two busses have been chartered for the annual special event. Parents and their children have been invited to attend - the first 100 club members and parents to sign up will be eligible to go. Registration and reservations can now be made at the Club.

The Summer Program at Unity this year will be supervised by the Club's full-time staff - Chuck Tyler, Boys' Work Supervisor, Joan Strike, Girls' Work Supervisor, Jacques McCormack, Arts and Crafts Supervisor and Victoria Schrammel who will be in charge of the Junior Girls' Department.

The Staff is currently preparing a brochure of the summer programme and this will be distributed to the club members early in June. Some of the special events planned include a day at Belmont Park, weekly trips to places of interest in and around the Island of Montreal and also trips to either swimming pools in country areas or beaches in the country.

Some 350 boys and girls attended the Tenth Annual Unity Boys' Club Track and Field Meet last Saturday at the Westmount Athletic Grounds.

The Negro Community Centre re-captured the Rotary Club of Westmount Trophy.

Individual trophy winners were: Linda Miller of the Point St. Charles Boys' and Girls' Club, John De Lamothe of the East End Boys' and Girls' Club and Wayne Basford of the Dawson Boys' Club of Verdun. The trophies will be presented at the Annual Awards Night of the Unity Boys' Club next November.

TALENT PARADE

The Unity Boys' Club Talent Parade leave on June 2, for Lake Placid, N.Y. to entertain the Rotary International Assembly. This marks the eighth time since 1959, that Unity's talented group have been invited to entertain before International and American audiences.

Tension returns after graduation exercises

By DAVID L. SMITH

Two hundred students at Westmount High School now know that they will graduate from the school, after a fashion, but after the gaiety and celebrations of last Friday tension has again set in with provincial examinations only a few weeks away.

Prizes were awarded Friday morning to students for athletic accomplishments. The winner of the silver medal of the Girls' Athletic Association was Mary Spenser, and of the Boys' Association, Bill Abbott.

The Teachers' Memorial Prize in memory of those Westmount teachers who gave their lives during the two World Wars, is given to the boy and the girl student who best combine the qualities of scholarship, sportsmanship, and leadership. Both students and teachers vote on this award, and the winners were Susan Birnie, and Courtney Pratt.

There is a special award which is seldom given. In fact, only four students in the past have won it. Last year it went to Ron Sheel. This year the award "for the greatest contributions to the school in all areas" was presented to John Tilley. Further honor was bestowed on John Tilley and on Stephen Burke for the outstanding work that they have done for the Student's Council as Vice-President and Treasurer respectively.

Grade eleven students returned at 3.00 p.m. for the graduation exercises. The Venerable R. Kenneth Naylor, father of graduate Gillian Naylor gave the opening prayer and doxology.

Tension rose as the presentation of certificates began. These are presented "to the members of Grade Eleven who in the opinion of the majority of their teachers have maintained a satisfactory standard of effort and conduct throughout the school year."

Miss Sherman announced the winners of girls' certificates, and Mr. McRae made the presentations. Mr. Hutchison announced while Mr. Mackie presented the boys' certificates.

The highlight of the afternoon was the presentation of the Award of Honor to Elizabeth Campbell and Doug McDougall.

This award, sponsored by the Alumnae and Old Boys' Associations, goes to one boy and one girl who, according to the official citation, has "performed the greatest service to the school, and who best has combined the Qualities of Honor, Scholarship, and Sportsmanship."

The students themselves choose the recipients by secret ballot, the boys voting for the boy; the girls, for the girl. As the ballots burned in the girls' trophy, an urn.

John Godine, who has been admitted to Princeton University as a "University Scholar," an unusual honor, delivered the valedictory address; and the program ended with a prayer by the Rev. R. Douglas Smith, father of another graduate, David Arthur Smith.

At 5.30 a dinner for graduates only was held in the dining room of the Reader's Digest Building, right across the street from the school. Nearly all members of the graduating class attended.

Derek Lamb, a well known local entertainer, provided a pleasant background of folk songs and ballads. The dinner lasted until 7.30, when the graduates went home to dress for the dance at nine-o'clock.

The theme for the decorations in the gymnasium was a Japanese one; and Mr. Mayerovitch, the designer, his able assistants, and the group of grade ten students who helped to decorate merit praise for the magnificent spectacle they produced.

A false ceiling of coloured gauze enhanced the usually uninteresting ceiling of the gym.

A Japanese bridge, lent, along with a number of other properties, by Verdun High (who recently produced The Mikado) led into the centre of the dance floor, gaily lit with colorful Japanese lanterns.

Paul West's twelve piece band, the West Winds, provided music ranging from waltz tunes to the Twist. Students tired of dancing could talk and have refreshments, including fruit punch, in small Japanese tea houses or in a larger "tea garden," where they were served by a gracious Japanese lady, in full national costume.

The boys, most of them in black tie, looked dashing, and the girls, in a variety of gowns appeared even more impressive.

As well as the large number of students, many teachers attended and made an impressive showing, dancing with their husbands, wives, or even with the students. The students really seemed to be "having a ball," and as for the teachers, they "love it."

Following the dance, the graduates attended a theatre party at the "Avenue." After the show, many were off to private parties, and many arrived home between 8.00 and 10.00 a.m. for a good day's sleep.

The planning for this one long evening began in March, when members of the Parents' and Students' Committees met to discuss plans. Co-Chairmen of the parents' committee were J. Lipson and P. Mustard. Mrs. H. M. Cowan acted as secretary; and J. R. Garland, as treasurer.

H. Mayerovitch was chairman of the decorating committee, assisted by Mrs. C. Lebovitz, Mrs. P. Mustard, Mrs. P. G. Edgell, P. R. Austin, Mrs. G. R. Forbes.

obtaining control by the election of its members to the Institute's general committee of management.

The idea was to form a joint stock company and erect a general office building with accommodation suitable for both institutions. The plan did not receive support and failed to materialize.

Then for a second time, in 1910, the amalgamation of the Institute with the Natural History Society was discussed, but without result.

Meanwhile support was growing for the idea of selling the building and locating elsewhere. Two important considerations gave weight to the argument. First, the property, purchased for a over half a century before, had increased many times in value; there had been a steady trend of the financial and banking interests to this section of the city, and many attractive offers had been made to the Institute.

It was becoming evident that the location was now unsatisfactory for an educational institution and library.

Accordingly a special meeting was called for July 18, 1911, to consider an offer made on behalf of a syndicate by Messrs. Gault & Ewing, of $350,000, the building to be transferred May 1st, 1913. Then matters became complicated when, just as the meeting came to order, several other bids were made — one of them for $355,000. Since Messrs. Gault & Ewing had been negotiating for some time, it was decided to give them an opportunity of making a second offer, and they increased their bid to $357,500.

Still the members hesitated to accept it, for reasons expressed in the motion of Col. Burland, seconded by Mr. J. W. Hughes:

"That whereas no plans for the future of the Institute after their present home formulated, that the operating expenses of the Institute were comparatively low, and that the Institute stood to lose heavily by having a large sum of money on hand that could only be invested at a low rate of interest, it would be inadvisable to sell at the present time especially as within the next few months a much higher sum might be obtainable."

Sale of the old property

After considerable discussion, the general committee was empowered to sell for a sum of not less than $400,000. On October 17th, 1911, a general meeting of the members was called for the purpose of approving, ratifying and confirming the resolution passed by the general committee at a meeting held on September 12th, 1911, and accepting an offer of $400,000 made by Messrs. Gault & Ewing as contained in their letter of September 7th.

The deed was signed and transfer made of the property to the Montreal Trust Company on October 21st, 1911.

Arrangements were made for the Institute to continue to occupy the old quarters temporarily, so that although it was now without a permanent home, its work was not interrupted.

The disposal of the property again revived interest in the advisability of combining with some other institution of like nature. At the annual meeting of December 4, 1911, a special committee was appointed "To obtain information and consider suggestions which might be useful in guiding the future policy of the Institute and especially that the committee keep in view the fact that the Institute should not be deprived of its identity."

The members of this committee were soon busy and reported as early as January 22, 1912, that they had discussed informally the possibilities of amalgamation with the Fraser Institute, the Natural History Society, and the Montreal Technical Institute. They submitted six different schemes, but without any special recommendations.

New Peugeot station wagon tested for Canadian climate.

'Over square' engine powers Peugeot

The first shipment of Peugeot station wagons is due to arrive in Montreal this month. A prototype has been in Canada all winter undergoing exhaustive tests and from the results, Peugeot is confident that the station wagon will be ideal for Canadian road and climatic conditions.

The wagon is powered by the famous Peugeot "over square," 72 h.p. engine, inclined 45° to the front, which lowers the centre of gravity and allows the use of a sloping hood for increased forward visibility.

Here are a few statistics and features of the Peugeot station wagon: Over 85 m.p.h.; 28 m.p.g.; automatic disconnectable engine fan; 4-speed, fully synchromesh transmission; powerful, 2-speed heater defroster; fresh air systems on either side of the dash; windshield washers; bucket seats in front that convert to beds; upward swinging single section rear door; ½ ton carrying capacity (excluding front passengers). Overall dimensions: length 15'; width 5' 4"; height (loaded) 4' 8½". Price will be about $3,195.

Meanwhile the famous Peugeot 403 model sedan presents a new face. The recently introduced grille design, of rustless stainless steel as are the bumpers, hub caps and other trim on all Peugeots, presents a less heavy appearance in comparison to the old, improving the overall appearance of the car, particularly from the front.

The Peugeot 403 is undoubtedly the best known of all the Peugeot models, not only in Canada but all over the world. It combines enough size, features and comfort with a reasonable selling price to make it the most popular of the Peugeot line.

The Peugeot 403 offers a compact-size car with a 65 h.p. engine quite capable of cruising speeds up to 80 m.p.h.; up to 31 m.p.g.; safety dash with anti-shock padding; children's safety locks; fully synchromesh 4-speed gearbox; fresh air and recirculating type heating and defrosting system that can be controlled in amount and direction of heat.

The front bucket seats can be quickly converted to beds, a highly useful feature for the family that goes on camping trips. West End Peugeot distributor is Desjardins Automobile at 1982 St. Catherine St. W.

just two weeks ago. It will be ready for use.

Designed by Architect Grattan D. Thompson, the bath house is 133 feet long by 22 feet wide and contains 56 coin-operated lockers for valuables and 300 clothing compartments divided among the men's and women's sections.

Also included are two private dressing rooms, dressing stalls, showers, and an office.

The roof has been railed off as a sun deck.

A staff of seven lifeguards has been retained; three will be on duty at all times.

Superintendent of Recreation B. A. Rothwell, stresses the fact that participants in pool activities must carry the Recreation Department Identification Card, obtainable at the Ice Rink.

Friendship Club visits Ottawa

The Westmount Friendship Club for older citizens is closing another very happy and successful year of weekly meetings. For their annual spring drive. The members went to Ottawa on May 22 to see the Tulip Show and were entertained most hospitably by St. Thomas' Church in Altavista.

The Club, whose membership this year reached 69, has demonstrated the scope and need for such facilities in this area. Many older people become isolated and "shut-in" as their social circle narrows over the years, but, coming to a Friendship Club, their interests and contacts can once more be extended and their loneliness decreased.

The club believes there are many more lonely people in Westmount and we would like to extend an invitation to them to visit the Club when it reopens in the fall.

The activities of the Friendship Club owe a great deal to the Westmount Rotary Club's Golden Age Committee. At Christmas this committee put on a wonderful party and dinner for the Club, and the drive to Ottawa was financed entirely by them.

The smooth running of the Club, week by week, is undertaken by a devoted group of volunteers headed by Mrs. Frank Binmore.

JGH to present musical revue

An original musical revue, written and directed by Mrs. R. Karpman, will be presented at the open meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Jewish General Hospital, to be held Wednesday, afternoon June 5, at 2 o'clock, in the Auditorium of the Nurses' Residence, Cote des Neiges road. Entitled "Frankly Feminine," and presented by the Department of Volunteers of the Hospital, with Mrs. H. Blanshay as producer, with sets designed by Estelle Leiter and choreography by Leba Benjamin, this presentation depicts many gay and thought-provoking situations in the life of a social-service volunteer as a contribution to the welfare of a hospital.

Playing leading roles are Mrs. L. Mindel and Mrs. R. Ostroff. Others in the cast are: Mrs. H. Blanshay, Mrs. J. Caplan, Mrs. M. Cheifetz, Mrs. B. Gross, Mrs. N. Gross, Mrs. E. Greenblatt, Mrs. A. Kaplan, Mrs. M. Lober, Mrs. A. Lobelson, Mrs. H. Mendelson, Mrs. S. Nowa, Mrs. M. Robinson, Mrs. S. Schiff, Mrs. E. Shykofsky, Mrs. D. Starr, Mrs. M. Thuna, Mrs. I. Wiseberg, Mr. B. Schwartz plays the only male role in the production.

By popular demand "Frankly Feminine" will also be presented at 8 o'clock in the evening of Wednesday, June 5, to accommodate hospital medical staff and personnel, nurses, friends and the general public. There is no admission fee.

PRESENTATION: Mrs. M. C. Hopkins and Mrs. George Wilkinson, on behalf of the residents of the Griffith-McConnell Home, present a silver tea service and tray to Mrs. Gerald H. Dixon, chairman of the Handicrafts committee of the auxiliary. Looking on is Mrs. Ronald W. Robertson, president of the Auxiliary of the United Church Homes. The gift was made possible by funds raised by the Residents at 'talent table' sales.

Cancer Research Unit Conference

The First Unit Conference of The Cancer Research Society will be held at 12:30 p.m. at Herzl Hall on Wednesday, June 5, for an informal get-together and free exchange of ideas among the Council, presidents of the separate units and unit members of the Society in an effort to devise new ways and means of raising money in the cause of cancer research. It is expected that the conference will be a spirited and stimulating affair with members vying with one another to produce feasible and workable plans for future projects.

The conference will take the form of round table discussions conducted in separate groups with a chairman in charge of each; followed by a general discussion including all in attendance.

Mrs. L. Shuster is chairman of the conference, and she will be assisted by Mrs. E. H. Ordell, Mrs. David Ornstein, Mrs. A. Cudas and Mrs. J. E. Weiser.

The conference will close with an address by Mr. Monty Berger, well known public relations official, who will speak on "Leadership."

WESTMOUNT WOMAN TO EXECUTIVE: Miss Isabel Frith, 223 Melville avenue, newly-elected Hobbies Chairman of the Laurentian Council, Telephone Pioneers of America, will take up her duties in July. A supervisor with the Bell Telephone Company, Miss Frith has been a Westmount resident since 1936. The 2,400-member Laurentian Council is the Montreal-area branch of the Telephone Pioneers, a North American organization comprising some 225,000 men and women who have served 21 or more years in the telephone industry.

Baby tooth — roundup

West End residents are hard at work preparing forms and boxes for Montreal Baby Tooth Survey Spring Tooth Roundup. Mrs. Ethel Kesler, Mrs. Tina Bellerdine and Mrs. Clara West of Cote St. Luc, and Mrs. Kay Lines, of Clarke avenue, Westmount, make up boxes now on display at all Steinberg's and Paul's Service Stores in Greater Montreal. The Survey collects baby teeth for shipment to University of Toronto, where radiation studies are taking place on the absorption of strontium-90 in the bones and teeth of children. Each tooth must be accompanied by a form which is filled out by a parent. In return the child receives a button proclaiming "I Gave My Tooth to Science". In its three years of existence the Montreal Baby Tooth Survey has sent over 8,000 teeth for testing purposes, to the University of Toronto.

Women's Liberal Assn. plans autumn events

At a meeting recently at the home of the president, Mrs. Fraser Beaton, the executive of the N.D.G. Women's Liberal Association discussed plans for the organization's fall activities.

It hopes to present, in September, a well-known speaker to discuss the laws in Quebec Province governing the rights of women, followed by open discussion.

On October 23, a fashion show is to be presented in Loyola Auditorium, ticket arrangements to be discussed at a later date.

Attending the meeting were vice-presidents, Mme. G. P. McKeogh, Mrs. M. DiMichele, Mrs. G. Tustin, Mrs. D. Schnaiberg; secretaries, Mrs. W. G. Macdonald, Mme. B. Martin; treasurer, Mrs. R. Cornforth; and publicity officers, Mrs. J. A. Burns, Mrs. J. C. Wood and Mrs. J. J. McConomy. Mrs. Beaton presided.

St. Ann's Baby Clinic elects new officers

The annual meeting of St. Ann's Baby Clinic Associates was held recently at the Windsor Hotel. The President, Miss Florence Hackett, reported that following the successful fund-raising fashion show last September all requests for layettes and cod liver oil received through the Child Health Association of Montreal were filled.

At Christmas, 99 pre-school age school children were given toys, clothing, candies and fruit.

The new President, Mrs. G. H. Cook, announced a fashion show will be held on September 26 through the courtesy of Jas. A. Ogilvy's Ltd.

Other officers elected are immediate past president, Miss Florence Hackett; vice-president, Miss Vera King; secretary, Mrs. Allan F. Lynch; and treasurer, Mrs. A. Brasseur.

Clubs announce '64 executive

By MARCY PELLY

Many of the clubs around the school have announced their executive for next year.

The Current Events Club has Michael Chodos as President, Gail Budd, Publicity Manager, and Lynda Rosenfeld, Secretary - Treasurer.

The newspaper, the "Purple and White" will have Susan Birnie as its new editor, and Steve Vittoratos, Assistant Editor.

The yearbook, the "Vox Dum", will be edited by Karen Stein. Other editors on the "Vox" are Bob Isenman, Assistant Editor; Peter Cummings, Business and Publicity; John Schechter, Advertising; Terri Josephson, Layout; Karen Smiley, Art; Peter Mikelsons and Elizabeth Leslie, Sports; Sandra Weber and Matthew Negru, Features; with Lynda Rosenfeld, Literary.

Speaking of the yearbook, it should be appearing any day now, and from rumors that have been circulating, it promises to be completely original and a wonderful success. Kudos to Bill Hart, this year's editor, and his staff.

Finally, gloomy though it is, I must add that final exams are only three weeks away. This prospect has half of us buried in books, and the other half vowing that they just "must" get started.

Red Cross Auction

The Red Cross Senior Auction was held Tuesday. Over $300 worth of articles to be auctioned had been donated by various companies and students brought in still more.

These items were paid for by $181 in cash, and $104 in credit.

The final item to be bid for was "Venus", the white china statue which goes to the grade ten class with the most money collected for the Red Cross.

The bidding in Chinese-style; the highest amount bid by a class, is the amount it has to pay.

In this way an additional $443 was raised, making total of approximately $700. The winning class was X12, the home room class of Miss Smith.

When the British Commonwealth Trans-Antarctic Expedition set up a scientific outpost during the International Geophysical Year in 1956, one K. V. Blaiklock and seven men remained through the howling winter to build a camp. Sea ice broke away nearby, bearing off most of their supplies. The eight men lived through much of the Antarctic winter, according to the Book of Knowledge, in one large packing crate.

O'Keefe schedules major tourneys in pro-amateur golf circuit

A BRAND-NEW format, incorporating two pro and 14 amateur tournaments and designed for greater interest to players and spectators alike, will feature the 1963 O'Keefe Golf Circuit.

Going into its ninth straight year, the province-wide circuit will offer stiffer competition for sizeable cash and merchandise awards in a tournament schedule which golf officials have already hailed as "a real shot-in-the-arm to pro and amateur golf in this province."

First pro event of the year will be the O'Keefe Quebec Professional Medal Play Championship at the Rosemere Golf Club Friday, Aug. 2.

The 36-hole competition carries a $4,000 purse and is restricted to all pros in the Quebec Zone of the Canadian Professional Golfers' Association, which includes the Ottawa Valley and parts of Eastern Ontario as well as the entire Province of Quebec. Last year's winner was Norm Hunt of Mount Bruno, who will be back to defend his title next August.

The eight low finishers in the Quebec PGA will qualify as a team for the Interprovincial Professional Championship, inaugurated by O'Keefe this year and scheduled for the Wentworth Golf Club in Montreal on Saturday, Aug. 10.

Facing the best of Quebec's shotmakers that day will be the eight low scorers in the Ontario PGA championship held at Toronto St. George's Aug. 2.

The team matches, over 18 holes of medal play, have a total of $5,400 in cash prizes at stake in addition to the O'Keefe Trophy.

Members of the winning team will get the lion's share of the purse but part of it has been set aside for individual low scores.

"We feel this competition between the best pros in Quebec and Ontario will prove exceedingly popular with golf fans and it will likely become an annual event" said Gerry Levesque, Quebec brand manager of the sponsoring company and honorary director of the CPGA of Quebec. According to John C. Costigan, honorary secretary-treasurer of the Association, the interprovincial championship will be a great boon to golf and will serve to consolidate further the pro associations of both provinces.

"We look upon these matches with great interest and the sponsor is to be commended for making them possible" said Costigan, who will again this year act as chairman of the O'Keefe Golf Circuit.

In addition to these two tournaments, Quebec pros will compete for a $1,000 purse in a Points Performance System introduced last year. Prizes of $500, $300 and $200 will be allotted to the three top pros on the points ladder, which is based on all qualified PQGA events such as the Spring Open, Quebec Open, O'Keefe Medal Play Championship, etc.

Amateur golfers throughout the province will also be shooting for something new in the 1963 O'Keefe circuit.

From June 8 to Aug. 17, a series of 18-hole medal play tournaments will be held in each of 12 zones across the province, with players eligible for participation in their own zone only.

A total of 36 champions, representing Class A-B-C winners in each zone, will thus be determined. On Saturday, Sept. 14, all will meet at the Beloeil Golf Club in 36-hole medal play tournament at which provincial champions in each class will be crowned.

Prizes for amateur champions

Immediately following this event and on the same course, the annual O'Keefe Champion of Champions Tournament will be held. This will be an 18-hole medal play, invitational event open only to Class A-B-C club champions within the Quebec Zone.

Valuable merchandise prizes and an O'Keefe Trophy will be awarded to each amateur champion.

That elusive dream to most golfers, the hole-in-one, will also come in for recognition during the O'Keefe circuit. Any pro scoring an ace during the Aug. 2 and 10 tournaments will collect a cool $500, while amateurs will receive $100 in merchandise for the same feat in any tournament on the circuit.

Recreation passes available

In order to provide the "nine-to-five workers" with an opportunity to obtain recreation department passes, offices at the Artificial Ice Rink will remain open until 12:00 noon on Saturday, June 1, and Saturday, June 8, it was announced this week.

Offices of the department will also be open from June 1 to Saturday, June 8.

Regular office hours will continue: 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekdays.

Recreation Department permits are necessary for those who wish to use Westmount facilities, including the tennis courts and the swimming pool.

Only Westmount residents are eligible for these permits.

A small photograph must be furnished.
