Reciprocity is repudiated.

The pact is paralyzed.

Canada did not sell her soul.

Canada stands by the old flag and the old land.

The farmer, instead of getting a bad turn, is saved from a bad turn-down.

The ghost of Annexation has been laid for a generation, probably for ever.

Mr. Taft and Mr. Hearst are politely, but emphatically, told that Canada is able to look after her own affairs.

In the process of repudiating Reciprocity, Canada has defeated a Government.

It is not only a defeat, but a rout.

Mr. R. L. Borden, who will organize the new Government, comes in with a majority of 48, which is likely to be increased.

The biggest factor in achieving this result was the great number of Liberals who preferred to place their country before their party, and who voted against Reciprocity because they believed it would be a bad thing for the Dominion. To this independent vote is due in a great measure the honor for the victory achieved.

The results show: 131 Conservatives, 1 Nationalist, and 84 Liberals elected, with five constituencies yet to vote.

Never was a Government more completely unhorsed.

Eight of the thirteen members of the Laurier Cabinet are swept into the oblivion of private life. These include Messrs. Fielding, and Paterson,

HEARST'S SPECIAL AGENT POSES AS AN UNINTERESTED MAN

Mr. William Hoster Spent One Month Here, But Not on Politics, Oh, No.

Mr. William Hoster, the special agent of the Hearst newspaper organization, who was sent to Montreal in a desperate effort to stampede the Canadian people into reciprocity by means of lurid articles in American papers exported by thousands to the Dominion, was in a very mild and complaisant mood this morning, and if he was disappointed at the terrific slap the Canadian public had given Mr. Hearst, he certainly concealed his feelings admirably.

"I am speaking to you for the city editor of the Star," said a Star reporter to him over the 'phone this morning.

"Yes, what can I do for you?" said Mr. Hoster, in a mild and friendly tone.

"We are interviewing a number of men on the result of the election, and we should like to know what you think about it."

"But why should you want to interview me," said Mr. Hoster. "I'm nobody in particular. I am only a visiting newspaper reporter."

"Yes, but you have been taking such a great interest in the election, and writing so much in favor of reciprocity, that we thought you would like to express your feelings now that you find reciprocity is defeated."

"Pardon me," said Mr. Hoster, "you are wrong. I have not been taking the least interest in the elections, and that being so why should I say anything about them now?"

"Not interested enough to express a single opinion?"

"Why no," replied Mr. Hoster, "I haven't got anything to say about the matter."

SIR CONAN DOYLE NOW HOME RULER.

London, September 22.—Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, who has twice contested for Parliament as a Unionist, announces his conversion to Home Rule.

BLOOD THICKER THAN SOME WATER.

"Blood is thicker than water"—though not much thicker—and not so thick as sea water. The water of the ocean contains thirty-five parts of saline material a thousand, while the vital fluid of the human body contains but seven parts a thousand or one-fifth as much. In the human body each of its myriads of cells is bathed with seven-tenths per cent. saline fluid.

THOUSANDS STAND IN RAIN AND CHEER WHEN RECIPROCITY IS BEATEN

Two scenes showing the crowds in front of the Windsor Hotel on Windsor street and The Star Building on St. James street, listening to The Star's election bulletins last night. A continuous downfall of rain failed to check the enthusiasm of the crowd which cheered lustily every bulletin showing the Government to be running behind.

LORD STRATHCONA SAILING TO-DAY.

Special to the Montreal Star.

London, September 22.—Among the Olympic passengers sailing to-day for New York, was Lord Strathcona, Canadian High Commissioner, who left on the Mauretania.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bell and Miss Grace Bell have arrived home from England.

Miss Lena Labatt, of London, Ont., sailed to-day for a trip to Europe.

Mr. R. Watson, Peel stret, sailed for England on the SS. Corsican.

MR. MACDONALD TO PROTEST VAUDREUIL.

Mr. De Lery Macdonald, Conservative candidate in Vaudreuil, intends to contest and demand the seat against Mr. G. Boyer, the Liberal candidate. The Conservative candidate put up an excellent fight against his opponent, and decreased his majority of 764 of last election to 119. Mr. Macdonald claims that Mr. Boyer, the Liberal candidate, used unfair means to capture the seat.

Mr. Macdonald states that he can have at least 120 votes thrown out, and thus win the seat.

PALL MALL GAZETTE PRAISES DECISION.

Special to The Montreal Star.

London, September 22.—Under the caption "Dead and damned," Mr. William Waldorf Astor's newspaper, the "Pall Mall Gazette," says of the Canadian vote against reciprocity:

"Canada refuses to become her neighbor's hewer of wood and drawer of water. The people have arisen to denounce the bribe and to repudiate the treachery. The decision will arouse Imperialists here."

The ultra Conservative "Globe" says:

"Imperialism has won. Despite great temptation Canada has rejected the United States' offer as decisively as the United States rejected reciprocity fifty years back. Canada does not wish to move her orbit to Washington."

CHENG TU CITY HAS BEEN RELIEVED.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Pekin, September 22.—The beleaguered town of Cheng Tu has been relieved. Fifteen hundred Chinese troops arrived from Tibet yesterday, and the town gates were opened.

DEMOCRATS SEE BLOW FOR TAFT IN ELECTION RESULT

Senator Cullom Says Pact's Defeat Will Hurt Mr. Taft's Campaign.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Washington, September 22. — The Democratic sentiment on Canadian reciprocity election result is reflected by statements made to-day by Senator Bailey, of Texas, and Representative Sims, of Tennessee.

"The United States is to be congratulated." This was the terse comment by Senator Bailey, who voted against reciprocity in the Senate and led a small Democratic band of its Senatorial opponents.

"President Taft knows to-day how it feels to be vetoed," said Sims. "The President vetoed Democratic bills at last session of Congress and now Canada has vetoed a bill to pass which he called Congress into extraordinary session.

"I think it must be admitted on all sides that the Canadian elections will hurt the President and his party and aid the Democratic party in the next campaign.

"Canadian reciprocity was held up before the country as the remedy for high cost of living. It was the only remedy proposed by the Republican party. It was only one of many remedies proposed by the Democrats. High cost of living must be brought about by reduction in the tariff all along the line, and I now make the prediction that the voters of the country will turn to the Democratic pary in 1912."

SPLENDID VINDICATION OF CANADA'S FREEDOM.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Kingston, Ont., September 22.—The Daily Standard, commenting on the election, says editorially: "The defeat of the Liberal party throughout the country is so complete and so overwhelming that there is no doubt as to its significance. The people of Canada have made up their minds that they intend to remain with the Mother Country as a part of the great British Empire, and that they do not purpose to worship false gods or to be misled by false cries. That the outstanding issue was reciprocity—Canada's freedom to control and regulate her own trade matters free from outside dictation or interference—that this was the main issue, made so by all the speakers on both sides, is beyond dispute and to it undoubtedly is due the amazing revulsion of feeling throughout the country.

Mr. R. L. Borden, with a remarkable foresight and presience, seized upon it and held fast to it, and to him more than to any man in Canada is due the glorious Conservative victory of yesterday. That Mr. Borden will make a Premier of whom we may all be proud—clean, honest, fearless and truly imperial—and that the Conservative party in power will be true to their best traditions and will serve their country, loyally and well goes without saying. This they tell us, is Canada's century. t seems destined to be the Conservative party's century also."

ANNIVERSARIES.

Alexander Dick, Montreal, died two years ago to-day.

Wilbraham—Craufurd.

The marriage of Eleanor Mary Dorothea, daughter of Sir Charles Craufurd, and the Hon. Lady Craufurd, Annbank House, Ayrshire, to Mr. Charles Wilbraham, of Satterswell, Tarperley, Cheshire, took place in St. George's church, Montreal, this afternoon at half-past two o'clock. The ceremony was performed by the rector, the Rev. Dr. Paterson Smyth. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore an exquisite gown of white Duchess satin, trimmed with old lace. Her veil of Honiton lace, which belonged to her mother, was arranged with orange blossoms, and she wore a pearl necklace, the gift of the bridegroom and carried a bouquet composed of white roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Margaret Craufurd, attended her sister as maid of honor, wearing a pale yellow satin gown with black hat and carrying pink roses. The train bearers were Mr. and Mrs. J. K. L. Ross's little son and daughter, Miss Hilda Ross, wearing a dainty white dress with pink sash, and Master Jimmie Ross in a Highland costume. W. W. S. Glover, of Montreal, was best man. Lady Craufurd wore a handsome pink gown, and black hat with pink feathers. Mrs. Walton-Wilson, sister of the bride, wore a champagne-colored gown, and hat with shaded pink feathers. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Windsor, and later Mr. and Mrs. Wilbraham left on their honeymoon Going away, the bride wore a costume of elephant brown with hat to match, trimmed with shaded feathers, and a touch of old rose.

Kinsella—Pepper.

At Grace Church, Point St. Charles, last evening, Miss Harriet Gladys Pepper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Pepper, was married to Mr. Nicholas Kinsella, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kinsella. The ceremony was performed by the Ven. Archdeacon Ker. The bride, gowned in ivory Duchess satin, embroidered with pearls carrying a shower of orchids and lilies of the valley, was given away by her father. The bridesmaid, Miss Olive Lewis, cousin of the bride, wore maize colored crepe de chine and satin and carried tea roses. Mr. Frank Kinsella, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man. After the ceremony, supper was served at the home of the bride's parents, where the bride and bridegroom received, under a floral bell. The bridegroom gave the bride a gold watch, the bridesmaid a pearl and peridot pendant, and the best man cuff links. Mr. and Mrs. Kinsella sailed this morning on the Corsican to spend the honeymoon in Europe, and on their return will reside in Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Miss Isabella McKinnon Garland, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Garland, was married to Mr. George Cunningham Graves, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred. P. Graves at the residence of the bride's parents, Ottawa, Wednesday evening. The Rev. J. H. Turnbull officiated.

A garden party will be given tomorrow afternoon, at the Melville Church summer convalescent home, 55 Belvedere Road, in aid of the work, and to give the public an opportunity to visit the home, which will be closed at the end of this month.

Mrs. A. J. Christie entertained Wednesday evening at a dinner at the Golf Club, Ottawa, in honor of her niece, Miss Gwynneth Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lansing Lewis of Montreal, who is her guest.

Mrs. F. Windsor Forster, who has been a patient at the Royal Victoria Hospital for the last month, is now convalescent. Mr. and Mrs. Forster expect to move into their new residence, 619 Belmont avenue, Westmount, early next month.

Mrs. E. Munson Hill and Miss Lois Hill, have returned from Lake Manitoba, Principal Hill who has been spending a fortnight there, returns with the rest of the family at the end of the week.

Miss Caverhill and her niece Miss J. Caverhill Cameron are expected home early in October from Germany, where Miss J. Caverhill Cameron has been studying music during the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Turner, of Vinegar Bend and Mobile, Alabama, are the guests of Mrs. Theodore Langlois, Grosvenor avenue, Westmount, while visiting Montreal this week.

Mrs. Charles Shepherd, Hutchison street, is entertaining informally for her guests, Mr. F. L. Kay and Mrs. Kay (May Powers), who are in town on their wedding trip.

The marriage of Miss Irene Bate, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Cameron Bate, Ottawa, to Dr. William Meechum, of Chicago, will take place in November.

Mrs. R. W. Reford sailed to-day by the Empress of Ireland for England, accompanied by her sons, Masters Eric and Bruce Reford, who are returning to school.

Miss Skaife is entertaining informally at "bridge" this evening in honor of Miss Hilda Lockhart, of Berthier, who is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Skaife.

ONTARIO GENERAL ELECTION RUMOR FROM TORONTO

Six Provincial Seats Made Vacant by Removals to Federal Parliament.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Toronto, Ont., September 22.—That an Ontario Provincial election will be on in a very few weeks is almost certain. Six Ontario seats are made vacant by the election of their representatives to the Dominion Parliament. The men who go are Mr. Fripp, in Ottawa, Nickle, from Kingston, Clark from Centre Bruce, Fisher from North Brant, Paul from Lennox, and Addington and Wilson from the Wentworth seat.

These vacancies could be filled by bye-elections, but it is more likely that a general election will be held. The last Ontario election was in June, 1908.

A CLEAR ISSUE AND A STRAIGHT ANSWER.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Winnipeg, September 22.—The Winnipeg Telegram, Conservative, under the caption; "The vindication of Canada," says:

"Canada has vindicated her position her common sense, and her Imperial spirit. The country has suffered from misgovernment and it has sent the chief authors of maladministration back to the obscurity from which they should never have emerged.

"To cover its maladministration of our affairs, this Government introduced an unpatriotic policy, which had a false appearance of benefiting the people and endeavoring to use it to deceive them. This policy had its effect for a time, and every art was used to cover the deception. These arts have failed. The Canadian people have unmistakably declared that they desire statesmen of honesty, integrity, and capacity to be their leaders, not quack doctors, fortune tellers or thimble riggers.

"Reciprocity is dead. Save for men elected for some individual excellence or local considerations, or those returned from constituencies in which reciprocity was not an issue. Sir Wilfrid Laurier returns to parliament with no support at all. A Government denuded of its leaders upon a policy forced upon their followers by those leaders would be a farce and even enjoying a temporary lease of power could do nothing to advance that policy. They have had their referendum on reciprocity, and now they have the result.

The Manitoba Free Press (Liberal) says: "This is a country where majorities rule. The majority may be right or wrong. It may be influenced in reaching its decision by arguments that are not sound or by means that are not admirable; nevertheless when a clear decision is rendered, sensible people will submit to it philosophically, even though they may disagree with it. A straight clear issue was put up to the Canadian people in the elections settled yesterday. They were asked to say whether they desired reciprocity in natural products with the United States. They have decided by a substantial majority that they do not. Incidental to this decision the Liberal Government, headed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, has been defeated. The Government has literally been shot to pieces, about half its members having failed of re-election in their constituency. The verdict is decisive, and is to be accepted without question. Liberals should accept the situation with good nature. They have been in power for more than fifteen years—a very long period.

The time has come for them to go into opposition, where it will still be possible for them to render the state valuable services. The public has no use for a party which, when beaten after holding office, sulks in its tent and gives itself the airs of a disposed heir. The Conservatives made that mistake in 1896, and it had something to do with their long stay in the shades of opposition. The reins of power and the responsibilitijes of office have passed by the judgment of the people to the Conservatives.

BOGROF'S TRIAL BEGINS BEFORE MILITARY COURT

Several High Russian Officials Have Disappeared—Death Penalty is Probable.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Kief, September 22.—A military court has commenced the trial of Dimitry Bogroff, who shot Premier Stolypin. The proceedings are secret, the matter having been taken out of the hands of the police, sensational discoveries concerning their complicity in the plot to remove the Premier are expected.

Several high officials of the department are said to have fled. The death penalty for Bogroff seems certain.

Will Prevent Massacres.

London, September 22.—The Jewish Chronicle states authoritatively that the Russian Government has intimated its determination to prevent pogroms, or massacres of Jews, because the assassin of Stolypin happened to be a member of that faith.

Acting Premier Kokovtzeff has ordered a large force of troops to Kief to preserve order and prevent disturbances.

PLEADED NOT GUILTY TO IMPERSONATION.

Trial Set for Man Arrested in St. James.

Wilfrid Deladurantaye, who was arrested yesterday in a poll in Jacques Cartier square, in St. James division at the instigation of the representative of Mr. Oliver Asselin, was arraigned before Magistrate Leet in the Police Court yesterday afternoon. He pleaded not guilty to the charge of attempting to personate. The trial was fixed for September 27.

H. Laviolette, who was arrested in a polling booth in Villary, Jacques Cartier division, yesterday morning, charged with attempting to personate a voter, was brought before the Magistrate yesterday afternoon, and pleaded not guilty. His trial was fixed for September 27.

THE WEATHER

Probabilities: Light winds, fine; Saturday, easterly winds, fair and moderately warm.

A FAMOUS PIPE.

The queen of pipes belongs to the Shah of Persia. Why is the great chieftain of pipes a queen? Probably because pipe is the feminine noun in French. The little Shah's pipe was smoked by his father before him, and by his uncle, and by his grandfather, and how many more of the rulers of Darius's kingdom we know not. The pipe is adorned with all kinds of precious stones, and is said to be worth $50,000. It is constantly guarded by a high court functionary. This is how his office was created: Once a Grand Vizier was found trying to prise out a stone from the pipe with his poignard. Then the office of guardian of the imperial pipe was created. What became of the Grand Vizier is not recorded.

CANADA'S NEW PREMIER

SIR WILFRID ACCEPTS RESULT WITH EQUANIMITY; UNDECIDED AS TO HIS FUTURE COURSE

Says He Would Go Into the Fight Again if He Were Only Twenty Years Younger—Hopes Consequences Will Not Be What He Fears—Will Leave With Posterity the Proper Appreciation of His Work.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Quebec, September 22.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier received the returns at St. Peter's Market, St. Sauveur, surrounded by his own electors. When sufficient returns had been received to make it positive that the government was defeated, the Premier addressed his friends, telling them that their defeat had been effected by appeals to passions of one kind in Ontario and of another kind in Quebec.

He thanked the electors of Quebec East for the support they had given him during the last 34 years. He urged them not to lose heart, but to go to work to-morrow for the future success of their party and their principles just as if they were the victors of to-day, instead of the vanquished.

For himself, his mind as to his future course was not yet made up. If he were 20 years younger he would not have a moment's hesitation in going into the fight again.

He had nothing to regret of his conduct of public affairs, and he believed his name would go down to posterity as the promoter of safe and sane legislation. He had always believed that it was desirable to cultivate friendly feelings with our neighboring nation, and hoped that the effect of rejecting a proposition that in his opinion was fair and beneficial to both countries alike, would not be what he feared it might be.

STRONG GOVERNMENT COMING, SAYS SIFTON.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, September 22.—Hon. Clifford Sifton has given out the following statement:

"This has been the greatest fight on the greatest issue ever realized in Canada. The decisive victory is a supreme tribute to the common sense side of the loyalty of the Canadian people. I have no doubt that Mr. Borden will form a strong and progressive government which shall prove worthy of the trust reposed in him."

PATERSON ASTONISHED AT MINISTERS' DEFEAT.

Brantford, Ont., September 22.—Hon. William Paterson was confined to his room at the residence of his son here to-day after his strenuous campaign in Brant. He received the returns here last night over the telephone and was surprised at the defeat of his fellow-Cabinet Ministers, particularly that of Mr. Fielding.

"The loyal cry has had its effect on the people's mind, and this, backed up by a bitter opposition from the manufacturing interests, was sufficient to overwhelm the Government," was Mr. Paterson's comment.

His own defeat by a majority of 133 in Brant was unexpected in spite of the Conservative confidence.

A CLEAR MANDATE, SAYS FRANK OLIVER.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Edmonton, Alta., September 22. — Speaking to a gathering of his supporters, Hon. Frank Oliver said:

"The returns indicate that the West has done its duty in this fight. If we are to accept defeat, then for my own part—and I think I may speak for all the Liberals here—we would rather be defeated than hold power under circumstances which would not permit us to work for the benefit and welfare of the country.

"For myself, if the results mean that the Government is retired from office and I cease to occupy the position which I do, I am proud of having occupied that position and believe I have done good work for my country. I have at any rate nothing to regret, nothing to apologize for, and nothing but a defeat to be proud of.

"The 'interests' have won. Reciprocity has been rejected, in a manner which leaves no room for doubt or misunderstanding, and the Government who staked their lives on its endorsation have suffered a decisive defeat.

"But, making allowance for the part played by the protected interests in determining the verdict, that verdict is none the less a clear declaration for high tariff. There is nothing to be gained in denying or shirking the fact. The people had the issue put squarely before them—reduction or no reduction. They have declared for no reduction. Therefore, they are for the tariff as it stands or for a higher one.

"The Government who succeeds to power, will do so, therefore, with a clear mandate from the people to continue their tariff at its present level and with a perfect right to raise it where they deem this necessary, wise or expedient. Having won on the ground that the tariff should not be reduced, this is the only logical interpretation to put upon the decision of the voters."

THE VICTORY.

Canadians, you have spoken; you have said
The path of old betrodden by our dead
Will be traversed by us; and we will not Turn from that path for us by ours begot.
We know this way; we know where it doth lead;
And others knowing not, we've taken heed.
Oh! Canada! thy voice is heard at last!
Thy sons will follow the path of the glorious past.

Question of Territory

To the Editor of The Montreal Star:

Sir,—The first thing this morning I must tell you,—the city and country are ringing with the praises of The Star. We, on 'Change, are discussing the territory covered by your papers. Will you kindly enlighten the public in regard to your Weekly Star as well as your Daily in this respect.

Yours truly,

F. M.

Montreal, Sept. 22, 1911.

Note: The Daily Star circulation table shows 77,800 a day. Thousands of subscriptions are pouring in from Liberals all over Canada. The figures will be over 80,000 in a few days. The Weekly Star is distributed as under:

Ontario	50,312
Manitoba and West	61,740
Nova Scotia	20,148
New Brunswick	13,594
Other places	14,161
	159,955
Daily Star	80,000
	239,955

The Weekly Star is handed from family to family, and has an enormous circulation. It was in the fight in downright earnest.—Editor Star.

CANADA KEEPS TO THE "OLD WAY"

Canada will remain on the map.

The "light and almost imperceptible bond," will not be broken.

Canadians have come to "the parting of the ways," and have made their choice.

Reciprocity has been rejected—it has been smashed, finally and forever—it has been buried, face downward.

The utter collapse of the powerful and well-entrenched Laurier Administration under its intolerable weight will forever warn all other Canadian Governments away from an attempt to carry through these Canadian Provinces this impossible burden.

Twice now has Reciprocity fallen upon the Liberal leaders and buried them beneath its ruins; and even a political party should learn a lesson, twice-taught.

✿ ✿ ✿ ✿ ✿

We hasten to say, however, that yesterday's splendid victory was not a triumph over any political party. It was not won by the Conservatives nor lost by the Liberals. It was won by a patriotic coalition of Conservatives and Liberals—none the less a "coalition" because it was a combination of voters rather than of leaders—who were determined that the dream of a great imperishable Canada should not be dispelled to help the political fortunes of a Taft or to add a new domain to the empire of the American Trusts.

But the leaders of the Liberal party made one of the gigantic blunders of history. Rumor says that for this blunder Sir Wilfrid Laurier was not to blame. However, that may be, Sir Wilfrid fought a gallant fight against a flowing tide. If he fought to save his Government from engulfment by a "tide" whose resistless sweep he had no part in inviting, he presented the country with one of its most heroic, unselfish and appealing spectacles. But that he should have succeeded was morally impossible. He was battling against the march of destiny.

✿ ✿ ✿ ✿ ✿

For we feel to-day a fresh confidence when we assert that it is the destiny of the Dominion of Canada to preserve her integrity, to keep her place among the nations, and to establish herself as one of the great peoples of the world.

There is nothing too good for Canada.

We have here a half-continent, rich in minerals, in forests, in arable land, in water powers, in an industrious, an indomitable and progressive people. Our climate transmutes itself into vigor; and our blood is clean—a "blend" from the best stocks in Europe. We have only to maintain our national identity to inherit the full prestige of the British Empire, and to show forth to the world in our own national development the finest flower of the devout chivalry of the France of the Louis' and the stubborn and invincible courage of the Britain of Elizabeth.

That we have had the faith and pluck to choose such a future was the meaning of yesterday's election. That was the one question before our people; and that was the question which they answered so emphatically.

It is only necessary to read the returns in detail to see how entirely the economic argument collapsed. The so-called "barley-counties" in Ontario voted against buying the American brewery market at the cost of risking our national independence. The St. Lawrence river counties were solid against Reciprocity west of Glengarry. The Ontario "Peninsula" went for the flag and not for the markets of Buffalo, Cleveland, Toledo and Detroit. Farming districts in Quebec laughed at "the market of ninety millions"; while the fishermen of the Maritime Provinces, and even the Grain Growers of the West showed anti-Reciprocity gains.

The issue was lifted right out of the market-place and flung forth to the breeze beside the meteor flag. It was the patriotic and not the "pocket" nerve that vibrated yesterday. It was the appeal to the essential loyalty of our people that won the election.

We asked the Canadian people to say that Canada was not for sale—be the price good or bad—and they said it.

We asked them to say that they believed in the sure future of this nation and that they no longer needed the American market, as so many of us thought we did, not so long ago; and they said it.

We asked them to say that the sacrifices which had been made in our glorious past by the men who founded Canada, who built up Canada, who "stayed with Canada" and who equipped Canada with internal transportation and industrial machinery, plainly intended to make Canada self-sufficient, were not suffered in vain; and they said it.

We asked them to clear the reputation of the United Empire Loyalists for good judgment; and they cleared it.

We asked them to permit us to continue to look on the monuments raised to the men who died to keep Canada "British" without blushing; and they did it.

We asked them to serve notice on all American demagogues from "Champ" Clark to William Randolph Hearst that the Stars and Stripes would never be carried over our territory to the North Pole; and they served that notice with emphasis.

We asked them to nail the Old Flag to the National mast-head; and they nailed it—and the echoes of their hammers so disturbed the editorial offices of certain disappointed New York papers that they allowed themselves to assist international amity by saying that "the Canadian election is a triumph of reaction and ignorance" and that our people "responded to narrowness, prejudice and graft."

✿ ✿ ✿ ✿ ✿

But, in spite of this, we desire to say with the utmost sincerity that there is no enmity in the breasts of our people for their American neighbors. The Toronto Globe, which has no more national feeling than a bank note, can only see "dislike, of the Yankees" in this decision to keep Canada out of the American Republic. But there is no "dislike of the Yankees" in Canada. We admire the Americans: we enjoy their company; and we had rather have them for neighbors than anybody else of whom we can think. Thousands of families live on both sides of the border. It is nonsense to talk of "dislike" between two such peoples. The Americans, being human, covet us and our country; but that does not arouse our "dislike," so long as their covetousness is impotent. But it does deepen our determination to keep our identity.

We cannot feel, for our part, that the last has been heard of the campaign for the capture of Canada. The Reciprocity trap has been torn to pieces. Never again will it endanger our feet. But, unless human nature changes, the motives from which it sprung will still exist and thrive in the breasts of the shrewdest and most resourceful people in the world. They still want Canada; and they will still endeavor to get it.

What the next strategic move will be, is hidden by the future. So long as the British peoples stand together, it will never be an advance in force. What we have to fear is strategy—especially commercial strategy. But so long as Canada to herself do prove but true, no strategy can avail. Yesterday's decision has put us in an impregnable position if we will but watch the possible approaches.

Yesterday was a pitched battle of supreme importance. Had we lost, we are free to say to-day that we should have feared the worst. It would have given the very citadel of our position into the hands of a people who design to lower our flag. But we did not lose. The Canadian electorate were not entrapped. The hidden soldiery within the Greek Horse made too much noise.

Patriotism won yesterday; and Patriotism has now its own destiny in its own hands. The servants of patriotism—the new Ministers—will bear a tremendous responsibility. For Ministers to make mistakes on ordinary occasions, is a party blunder; for these men to make mistakes will be a national crime.

✿ ✿ ✿ ✿ ✿

The united Patriotism of the Dominion, irrespective of party, has given the "baton" to Borden. He is called to a magnificent opportunity. The nation will expect that he give them a Ministry of the very best men to be found in the country, in Parliament and out of it. They must be men of clean hands, clean records and high ideals. They must represent the loftiest aspirations of Canadians—as yesterday's vote voiced this will. Mr. Borden has now a chance to signalize his arrival in power by the formation of a Ministry of unparalleled ability and repute.

As for his policy, the first item will surely be the complete ignoring of Reciprocity. Then we must have honest government from this Patriotic Ministry, justice to all classes, and especialy justice to the working class, who have stood so nobly by the nation in this hour of peril, and to the "embattled farmers," who were not to be bought by false promises into deserting the flag.

BRITISH PUBLIC GREATLY PLEASED

By Special Cable from Our Own Correspondent.

London, September 22.—Politics being dead here for a moment, prominent men are away, but in the Unionist Clubs the result of the Canadian elections were received with elation as an evidence that Canada has no intention of becoming an apanage of Washington. The ministerial attitude is summed up in the phrase of a prominent Radical M. P.: "Canada knows her own business best, but don't imagine you have heard the last of reciprocity. The United States will put down her tariff anyway, and you Canadians will have to put down yours before long, reciprocity or no reciprocity."

Mr. R J. Bagley, secretary of the Tariff Reform League, says: "Despite malicious statements to the contrary, the Tariff Reform League has had no part of any kind in the contest. It has been throughout, so far as we are concerned, a purely Canadian affair, financial and in every other way, and the result is an emphatic vindication of the loyalty of the Canadian people in practically every province to their own best traditions. So overwhelming a defeat of the machinations of the astute American politicians cannot fail to make a profound impression upon British public opinion. Canadians at least know their mind as to the future of their own country and the splendid possibilities of a self-respecting co-partnership among the members of the Empire family.

Mr. Shirley Benn, M.P., to whom the Star representative took the latest election news, just as the special Empress boat train was leaving Euston Station, said:

"It is almost too good to be true. I don't care who knows that I am delighted. The reciprocity deal has been squashed. We can now bind Canada and the Motherland together more closely than ever. It will be great news for Canada's best friends here, not forgetting the men whose money finances her future."

PRESIDENT TAFT IS VERY MUCH SURPRISED AT THE RESULT AND ALSO VERY SORE OVER IT

Declares He Played Fair With Fielding and Paterson and That All the Cards Were on the Table—"Takes Two to Make a Bargain and U. S. Can Still Go on Doing Business at the Old Stand," He Says.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Kalamazoo, Mich., September 22.—The bitterest blow that has fallen to the lot of President Taft since he became chief magistrate of the nation came last night when he was told that reciprocity with Canada had been defeated.

He was first told of it at a banquet given in his honor. Toward the close of his speech the President decided to say a few words about reciprocity. The audience was under the mistaken apprehension that Canada had supported the Taft-Laurier agreement, and applauded vigorously the first mention of reciprocity. But complete silence reigned when the President expressed his regret at the defeat of the measure, upon which he had set his heart.

President Taft said: "I have just been informed that reciprocity has failed for Canada. For me it is a great disappointment. I had hoped that it would be put through to prove the correctness of my judgment that it would be a good thing for both countries.

"It takes two to make a bargain and if Canada refuses we can still go on doing business at the old stand."

There was much speculation here as to what effect the result of the election will have upon the President's reception in the "insurgent" and agricultural States, which he soon will visit and where he has been bitterly opposed because of his advocacy of the reciprocity pact.

PRESIDENT WAS TAKEN TAKEN BY SURPRISE

The President unquestionably was taken completely by surprise, and this made his disappointment all the more bitter. He had confidently predicted to his friends, as late as yesterday, that reciprocity would win in Canada. He had refrained from discussing the issue in any of his public utterances, while the elections were pending in Canada, despite the pressure that had been brought to bear upon him since the beginning of his present tour.

Yesterday afternoon at Battle Creek, however, with the assurance that whatever he might say could not be misconstrued, inasmuch as the Dominion polls were about to close, Mr. Taft launched into a reciprocity speech. He spoke with the confidence of one who believed victory to be in sight.

"I know," said the President, "that some irresponsible newspapers have called me a trickster and a swindler, and say I in some way deceived or played unfairly with the Ministers of Canada to secure the treaty.

"Well, I am not conscious of it, and I do not believe they are. There was not any trick about it. The cards were laid on the table."

He qualified the annexation talk as bosh

Mr. Taft said the test of reciprocity would come in six months and that he had no fear of the result. "Let me make you a prophecy," he said. "I want to prophesy that in eighteen or fifteen months—and that will be about the time of the next general election—the effect of reciprocity, so far as the business of the farmer is concerned, will be so slight that it will form no part at all in the issues in discussion."

THE STAR FORECAST

On Tuesday, The Star said:

"The reports are now in from all the outlying districts in all the provinces except Prince Edward Island. The vote pledged against Reciprocity, giving all the doubtful constituencies to the Government, assures beyond the shadow of a doubt that Reciprocity will be defeated on Thursday. Nothing can save the Government. The farmers of many of the constituencies are coming over to the Opposition, not by fives or tens, but by hundreds. The returns on Thursday night will be filled with the greatest surprises in the history of the country."

On Wednesday, The Star said:

"That Reciprocity is doomed by to-morrow's voting, is asured beyond all question.

"As we go to press, telegrams and telephone messages are pouring into The Star Office, indicative of a huge turnover of voters.

"We feel, without being carried away, that Canada's answer is going to be decisive, and its effect permanent."

On Tuesday, one of our Montreal contemporaries predicted that the Government would be sustained by a majority of fifty-eight.

Those who are comparing the forecasts with the actual result tell us they appreciate more than ever the enormous advantage from reading a paper that has real correspondents in every nook and corner, rather than one that merely makes guesses and palms the guesses off as the real thing.

Yesterday's Election Results and History of Each Constituency Since Confederation who negotiated the pact; Graham, Fisher, King, Templeman, Bureau and Sir Frederick Borden. Dr. Beland, the new Postmaster-General, was defeated in Montmagny, but elected in Beauce. Messrs. Lemieux, Pugsley, Murphy, and Oliver were also saved from the deluge.

Every Province, save Alberta, shows a Conservative gain.

Ontario leads the roll of honor with 72 Conservatives returned, to only 13 Liberals.

Quebec shows a Liberal majority, but a big Conservative gain, there being elected 37 Liberals and 25 Conservatives, and one Nationalist, with two constituencies yet to vote.

In New Brunswick there are 8 Liberals and 5 Conservatives.

In Nova Scotia—10 Liberals and 8 Conservatives.

In Prince Edward Island the honors are divided, with a Conservative gain, each side taking two seats.

In Manitoba there is a clean sweep, 10 Conservatives being returned from that province.

In Saskatchewan, 8 Liberals were elected and 2 Conservatives were chosen.

In Alberta there was a Liberal advantage also, 6 being elected to 1 Conservative.

British Columbia selected 6 Conservatives, with one contest postponed.

In the Yukon Territory, there is one seat for which the election will take place later.

The details follow:

ONTARIO.

ALGOMA EAST.

Smythe (Cons.) elected; 215 maj.

People's Candidate Wins

Over Five Million Voters Register Their Approval of His Platform

Votes Cost on Average Over $5.00 Apiece

CONTRARY to all precedent, but rightly, the voters themselves paid for these Five Million votes.

Each man by laying down $5.00 or upwards, voted his approval of the shaving system developed and perfected by King C. Gillette, and declared his intention of following this system with the Gillette Safety Razor which he received in exchange for his cash.

The principles of personal cleanliness and comfort, made possible by the quick, efficient little Gillette Safety Razor, were first laid down by King C. Gillette in 1904. When the last General Elections were held, in 1908, over Two Million had subscribed to them. Since then they have been adopted and practised by Three Million more clear-headed voters — practical men whose time is worth money.

The Gillette Safety Razor has freed Gillette's constituents, the world over, from dependence on the barber shop — has conserved their time — preserved their tempers — and, for them, has transformed shaving from an irksome task into a pleasant incident in the morning toilet.

Let "Dick" Choose

Fill your bird's seed dish upfresh with the seed you have been giving it, and put some of Naples Report Says Twenty People Were Killed.

Naples, September 22.—A terrific storm swept the Vesuvian district today, causing loss of life and great damage to property. Twenty persons are known to have been killed, while the fate of whole families is in doubt.

WICKET DAMS FOR THE OHIO RIVER.

The largest movable wicket dam in the world and the only one built entirely of reinforced concrete is the Fernbank dam, in the Ohio River, says the October Popular Mechanics Magazine.

It cost the Government $1,500,000, but it is a beauty, and Uncle Sam is so well pleased with it that he is going to build more like it in the Ohio River until the entire stream is pooled from Pittsburg to Cairo, a distance of more than 1,000 miles.

The Fernbank dam gives Cincinnati a permanent harbor of not less than 9 ft. of water, and navigation can be carried on for a distance of 12 miles upstream and for 12 miles downstream from Cincinnati to the location of the dam.

An appalling accident occurred the other day at Bruil, in the Upper Engadine, when a bridge which was being constructed across a deep gorge, collapsed, carrying with it thirty workmen to the depths below. Fifteen of the men were taken out of the wreckage dead and the other fifteen are all probably fatally hurt.

PANAMA TO HAVE LARGEST DOCKS IN THE WORLD.

In contemplating the great engineering problem being solved in the construction of the Panama Canal, the people of the United States have almost forgotten that the plans for the big "ditch" also provide for the largest and most completely equipped harbor and dock system in the world, to be located at the Pacific end of the canal. A strip of land along the water front two miles in length has been reserved for the docks, and while but two-thirds of this will be immediately improved, the improvements thus provided for embrace construction work that will give the turning basin alone an area of 271 acres. There will be a series of piers on either side of the canal entrance, each of which will be 1,000 ft. long. The width of the canal between the pier ends will be 3,000 feet. A page illustration in the October number of Popular Mechanics Magazine gives a clear idea of the dock and harbor facilities.

The piers will be 1,000 ft. long, and the slips between them will be 300 ft. wide. The length of the piers permit the docking at any one of them of two vessels 400 ft. long or three vessels 300 ft. long on either side or both sides at once. The width of the slips between the piers will permit a vessel to lie in the slip with steam barges on either side for the transshipment of freight.

THE HOUSE OF BEAUTY

Dresses and Gowns of Real Character

Repeated and extended comparisons serve but to strengthen one's knowledge that to see Fairweather Apparel is to open up a new realm of style distinction.

And it is a fact that it costs no more, quality considered, to attain Fairweather Individuality in dress.

"Lower Prices Than Ours Mean Less Quality."

Dresses show slightly raised waist lines; also new "set-in" and kimono sleeves. In evening wraps the styles lend themselves to wonderful color effects.

THE WIDEST DIFFERENCE IN THE WORLD.

A contemporary writer says: "Though two pieces of paper may resemble each other in size and general appearance, there's a wide difference between a Decree of Divorce and a Marriage Certificate."

Though two Cigars may look alike, there's a wide difference between a

DAVIS "PERFECTION"
AND ANY OTHER 10c CIGAR ON THE MARKET.

The "PERFECTION" Cigar is an exclusive combination of the world's choicest tobaccos.

"PERFECTION" was thought out before it was brought out.

Thought out by specialists with fifty years experience, and good reputation.

IT IS MILD, YET EXQUISITELY FRAGRANT.

How the King Ash Pit Disposes of the Ash Job

THE average man simply won't sift ashes, and it's no job for a woman. It need not bother either if a King Boiler and Radiators are installed in the home. With the King Boiler you can have an ash sifter beneath the grate bars so that you can sift the ashes without removing them from the boiler. The ash-dust falls to the ash-pan below, leaving the cinders to be thrown back into the fire. This feature of the abolishes the drudgery, dirt and muss connected with ash-sifting. For all the dust raised in sifting is carried away up and out the smoke pipe by a direct draft. This, of course, saves the carpets, rugs, curtains, wall hangings and furniture, and does away with ashy foot-prints on expensive carpets, or dirty tracks on varnished or fresh cleaned floors.

KING
BOILER & RADIATORS

House on Victoria Avenue, Westmount, Roofed with Asbestos Cement Shingles

The Cheapest, Protective, Permanent, Roofing for Your Home.

Can you imagine a more durable, attractive, fire-resisting roof for any building than one composed of the best refined Portland Cement interlaced with strong Asbestos fibres?

ASBESTOS CEMENT SHINGLES

make the roof as permanent as the building. They cut out the possibility of leaks and the consequent costly repairs. Your insurance rates on the whole building will be lower. This saving alone makes the cost less than that of a cheap, inferior roof. In addition you will have an economical roof that will never need replacing—that will always offer perfect resistance to fire and weather.

The Lindman Truss

Loggieville, N. B., Jan. 18, 1909.
I have worn the Lindman Truss for about two years, and I find it a good Truss. I cannot get along without it. I am about cured of my rupture, but I would not try to do without it yet for a while. I have recommended the Lindman Truss to many as the best Truss that is made, and will be very glad to help in any way to advertise it.

Take Care of Your Teeth

Every shade of expression that passes over the face has its greatest effect on that most mobile of features—the mouth. It is important, then, that the teeth, revealed by every movement of the lips, should be white, wholesome and good to look upon. A little more care taken, in time, to keep them thoroughly clean, and free from all acids and harmful bacteria—and your teeth will remain strong and wholesome, as nature intended they should. More brushing is not sufficient. Use twice every day. A perfect cleaner, it neutralizes all acidity in the mouth. It is an effective germicide, sweetens and purifies the breath, and gives to the teeth fresh, radiant health. Do you rise with an acrid, bitter taste? It is likely the fault of your teeth. The most minute particle of food lodged between your teeth will do this. Sanitol used before retiring makes the mouth thoroughly antiseptic, sweet and clean; guards against the consequences of decay, and leaves you with a refreshed, revitalized and wholesome sensation in the mouth. Different—and better—at the same price.

SANITOL POWDER or PASTE

THINGS ORGANIZED CHARITY IS PUTTING AN END TO.

Begging was becoming an organized business. Charity organized in its own defence. In New York it was a wise woman who spoke the word. To the clear head and tender heart of Josephine Shaw Lowell her city will owe a debt of gratitude all its days. Upon her initiative the Charity Organization Society was founded in 1882, to prevent the overlapping of relief, and to "promote the general welfare of the poor by social and sanitary reforms." A single year's registration of 3,430 families that were tapping different relief sources discovered an able-bodied man hiding in three-fifths of them, hundreds living in plenty on the contributions of whole strings of societies, each of them believing the family its own particular charge. My back aches yet when I think of the Christmas Eve trip I made to an old woman who lived alone in a hut at what is now the Ninth street entrance to Prispect Park, and was reputed to be very poor. I toiled up the long slope with a sack of provisions, to encounter at her door an emissary of the St. Vincent de Paul Society, similarly burdened. Our comparing notes did not help ease our backs, for we carried the things back where they had come from, but it resulted in the discovery that the woman had $1,800 in bank and was a preposterous old fraud. And there were many such. Several winters after that I contracted a habit of contributing a nickel on my way home from the office to another old creature who sat in Chatham Square churning a wretched pocket edition of a hand-organ while she rocked a baby in her lap. It was always midnight when I came that way, and the baby appealed to me tremendously — especially when it snowed and the cold was bitter—until one night, as I dropped my nickel in her cup, the old woman lurched in the very act of mumbling her blessing upon me, and dropped the baby on the pavement. I picked it up, horrified, to find it was a rag doll. — From "A Modern St. George," by Jacob A. Riis, in the October Scribner.

HOW SOCIETY BEHAVES AT THE LONDON HORSE SHOW

As a show of fashionable people and fine clothes the Olympia show is very different from what any one familiar with the Madison Square show in early days might expect. There is no footway between the ring and the boxes, or no more room than is necessary to permit people to pass to their seats. There is, therefore, none of that staring, or that willingness to be stared at, which was characteristic of the New York show at that time. It was a very frank expression of our democratic society that one saw there in those days—a lot of people in the boxes who had gone in on a rising market, stared at by a lot of people on the floor who had gone in on a falling market. It was not nice. But that feature has long disappeared from our New York show. The London show is, so far as the attendance goes, mainly an afternoon show. There are morning and evening sessions, but these are not so well attended as the afternoon session. The newspapers mentioned a few of the fashionable people present, but there was no description of the dresses. Indeed, there was usually such a large attendance of royal personages that other people were not much noticed. The enumeration of the mere names of the Royalties who came to England to attend the Coronation filled a column of the Times. Most of these were probably at the Horse Show. There was room in the Royal box for not more than nine persons, and on one day there were fifteen of them present, so that the overflow had to be made room for elsewhere. The look of the show was never quite so brilliant as on the occasion of the visit of the King and Queen the afternoon before their coronation. There were twelve thousand people present, who rose to their feet when their Majesties entered, and the national anthem was played. — From "The Greatest Horse Show," by E. S. Nadal, in the October Scribner.

Local naturalists and bird lovers are interested in a number of white heron which are making their headquarters at Avis's Pond, Woodstown, N.J. about a mile from town. The birds were first noticed about a week ago and are supposed to be making only a temporary stop on the way to their Southern winter home. These are the birds from which aigrettes are obtained. Extinction of the species is feared because the aigrettes can be obtained only when the bird is raising its young, and its death at the hands of the hunter also means starvation of the young heron.

MONTREAL ROARED ITS WELCOME TO THE MEN WHO STOOD FOR BRITISH CONNECTION INSTEAD OF AMERICAN

Gloom Reigned at Start as Montreal City Vote Came In; Then the Tale Grew Brighter and Throats Cheered That Feared Their Election Days Were Past; And They Cheered Again As Minister After Minister Fell Not to Rise Awhile.

MONTREAL'S MESSAGE TO THE NEXT PREMIER.

The following message was sent last night from the Conservative Headquarters in this city to Mr. R. L. Borden at Halifax:—

CONSERVATIVE HEADQUARTERS.

Mr. R. L. Borden,
Halifax, N. S.

"All the boys, young and younger, send hearty greetings to the next Premier of a sane Canadian Canada. Hail to the chief who led us to victory."

Montreal became enthusiastic last night in the fullest sense of the word, and fittingly celebrated the great Conservative victory that had swept the land, had broken the power of the Laurier administration and replaced it by an assembly of men bound to repudiate the Reciprocity pact.

Those who saw the supporters of the winning cause sweep through the streets and cheer the result, will preserve a wonderful picture of a great celebration.

In the places appointed for the announcement of news, whether on the streets, in the squares, in theatres at various headquarters or in such places as men are wont to gather in, it was all the same—enthusiasm unbounded.

From the very start the tide of battle rolled in favor of the Conservative forces. First came the news that Mr. Doherty was leading in St. Ann's. That was followed by a flash that Mr. Codere was heading the Liberal nominee in Hochelaga. From this time onwards, while there were one or two reverses, the score of victory mounted higher and higher until in the end happy crowds went singing through the streets in an excess of jubilation, the more thoroughly enjoyed because it had been long delayed.

The patriotism of the many gatherings was beyond doubt. With victory in sight they broke into national song. "O Canada" was heard. Then "Rule Britannia" rolled out while the fervor with which "God Save the King" thundered from thousands of throats in mighty chorus was a clear indication that the people of Montreal are loyal to the core in sentiment and in action.

Joyous Roars Over Fallen Ministers.

And how they received the news. Mighty roars of applause greeted the news that Messrs Paterson and Fielding, the authors of the how discredited pact, had gone down in defeat. Roars that swelled as bulletin after bulletin flashed out the tidings that minister after minister was falling in defeat.

What a cheer there was when the announcement was made that Mr. Fisher had fallen in Brome. Mr. Fisher had little sympathy from the consumers of Montreal who exposed the hollowness of the argument that the farmer was to receive more for his products, while the city man was to pay less for his food.

What a cheer arose when it was given out that Mr. Louis Coderre had wrested Hochelaga from the Liberal column and had given a Montreal seat into the hands of the Conservative party. Then the news that other Conservatives had substantially increased the party vote in St. Ann's and St. Antoine.

There must be many a sore throat to-day, and if there is not many a case of severe cold it is because the physical constitution of the people is marvellous. Early in the evening rain began to fall and it was heavy, too. Despite that thousands and thousands of Montreal citizens bravely risked the rain content that they should hear and see the actual results.

Truly it was a happy crowd that cheered the glad news.

The big crowd collected at headquarters went wild when it was announced that Hon. W. S. Fielding, one of the makers of the Reciprocity pact, was defeated in Queens-Shelburne, and the omen was considered a good one.

Quebec Returns Glad Surprise.

When the reports from the province of Quebec started to come across the wires, there was cheering to raise the roof off the old building in which the central offices of the Conservative party are located on St. James street.

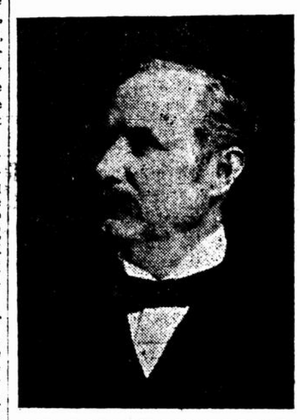

The defeat of Dr. Beland ,the new Postmaster-General, in Montmagny, caused tumultuous cheering and the downfall of five ministers of the Crown seemed to indicate that the Government is doomed to defeat. The victory of Mr. Paul Emile Lamarche, in Nicolet, was intensely popular and there were cheers to the echo for the young Montreal lawyer who had fought such a splendid battle.

The winning over of Yamaska for the Opposition by Mr. Mondeau, who defeated Mr. Oscar Gladu, the former member for the constituency, was also well received by the organizers of the party and by the crowd.

"Mondeau will have to vote against reciprocity," yelled a man in the crowd, referring to the neutral attitude of the Opposition candidate on the fiscal issue of the campaign.

"Don't worry about that," answered

ELECTED IN MONTREAL.

MR. ROBERT BICKERDIKE, Liberal, re-elected in Montreal.

Mr. C. Ernest Gault. "There will be no reciprocity for Canada."

The gain in Lotbiniere, the Liberal stronghold, was received with loud acclaim.

"When Lotbiniere goes against Laurier, it's all off," said one of the Central Conservative Committee.

Mr. J. G. H. Bergeron's defeat in Beauharnois by Mr. Papineau, while no change is effected, is a disappointment to the Conservatives, who had counted on a victory for the "Beauharnois Boy," although the odds against him were of the heaviest, owing to the influence of the Power Company at St. Timothee, one of the most important places in the division.

The gain of Kingston, the old seat of the Conservative chieftain, Sir John A. Macdonald, by Mr. W. A. Nickle, the anti-reciprocity candidate, was well received by the crowd, and seemed to many of them to presage the defeat of the Government.

Again in Pontiac.

The victory of Mr. Brabazon in Pontiac over his two Liberal opponents was another signal to those gathered at the Committee Rooms of the party and marks another gain in the Province of Quebec.

When it was announced that Hon. Frank Oliver was returned in Edmonton, the man at the board called out:

"Hon. Mr. Oliver is elected by

THE MAN WHO REDEEMED HOCHELAGA.

MR. LOUIS CODERRE, Cons,

$69.000 majority," and the crowd jeered lustily.

Following that came a great cheer when the defeat of Hon. Jacques Bureau by 200 in Three Rivers by Dr. Normand was announced.

Tired of Conservative Gain.

The defeats of ministers were taken as the order of the evening, so that nothing in the way of Waterloos surprised the crowd. The downfall of the Minister of Inland Revenue in Victoria was little of a surprise to the prediction purveyors of the election, and when it was announced that the British Columbia minister had gone the way of his confreres the applause which greeted the announcement was but perfunctory.

"Give us a Liberal gain," said a voice from the crowd. "We're tired of this everlasting 'Conservative gain.'"

"I'll do my best," answered Mr. C. Ernest Gault, who was the first to read the news from the ticker. "Here, but this is not a government gain. It's the best I can do, however. Mr. Murphy is elected in Russell County."

There followed little enthusiasm.

Pity the Poor Father.

There was joy unconfined when the man at the bulletin board announced that Hon. Sydney Fisher was defeated in Brome and from the deafening cheers which followed the announcement and the impromptu war dances pulled off by the local electorate it was surprising that the Minister of Agriculture had not met a greater defeat than the one accorded him by the young Montreal lawyer, Mr. Baker.

That Brome, that impregnable fortress of Liberalism in Quebec, should turn against the mighty Fisher, came as a thunderbolt from the political sky. But the thunderbolt was welcome.

When the final result was known and that the minister had gone down to defeat with his colleagues, one of the audience asked aloud:

"How about the price of eggs and butter, now?"

"How about Dundonald?" asked another.

And the crowd renewed its cheering, only to be called a moment or two later to renew its activity, when the operator at the keys announced that there was a "correction bulletin" in from Montmorency announcing that Mr. Rodolphe Forget had been elected over Mr. Geo. Parent.

From this time on, announcement after announcement that the Opposition candidates had fallen by the way was the order of the night.

A facetiously minded elector about this time mounted the hustings and announced in a serious tone of voice:

"A special Canadian edition of the Boston American, in a signed article by Mr. W. R. Hearst, announces exclusively that President Taft has been defeated in Brome."

The big crowd cheered lustily at the joker's remarks and wanted to know where Mr. Hoster was last night.

MR. ALPHONSE VERVILLE, Labor-Liberal, re-elected in Montreal.

The climax was reached, however, when Mr. Gault announced that the Toronto Globe conceded the election to the Conservatives.

By this time the tide of victory had overflown the government majority and there was but little left outside the cheering.

Outside of the Headquarters, in the pouring rain opposite and in front of the Star Office, a crowd of several thousand enthusiasts with dripping umbrellas witnessed the announcements made by the Star on the stereopticon slides announcing the Conservative victory, and the crowd was moved to the greatest enthusiasm.

When it was definitely announced that the Conservatives had killed the Reciprocity pact, the enthusiasm of the crowd knew no bounds. From along the outskirts of the crowd, which watched with intenest interest the outcome of the voting, the strains of "Rule Brittania" and "The Maple Leaf for Ever" broke out in notes that compelled the participation of the entire retinue of onlookers joined in national thanksgiving that Canada was saved from the Taft-Fielding pact.

Shortly after nine o'clock an enthusiastic citizen obtained a large Union Jack from The Star office and appeared on the platform which had been

MR. HEARST FEELS HURT.

New York, Sept. 22.—The New York American, under the caption "Trusts and Demagogues Triumph," says:

"The defeat of reciprocity in Canada is as unexpected as it is lamentable.

"Laurier is a constructive statesman — the ablest man in the Dominion. It is evident that he overestimated the intelligence and forecast of his people. Instead of rallying to progress and international fellowship they responded to narrowness, prejudice and graft."

erected before the bulletins and waved it from side to side, eliciting the approval of the dripping thousands before the bulletin boards and bringing from them the pent up energy of the past few weeks in a mighty chorus of patriotic fervor, the like of which has seldom been seen in this city.

Belated Meals.

Several hundred of those who had followed the events of the evening closely were slow to disperse and seemed to foregather in Freeman's Restaurant, where a remarkable scene was witnessed between 11 and 12 o'clock.

Everything was as usual until Mr. C. J. Doherty, the Conservative elect in St. Ann's division, entered the restaurant for his belated evening meal.

Three cheers for Mr. Doherty were immediately followed by calls of "Speech! Speech!" Mr. Doherty at first pointed significatly to his throat, as an indication that he could say no more but the calls of "Speech! Speech" recommenced, while several enthusiastic people forced him to mount a table and address the gathering.

"I have already said that I thank you and I do not think I can say any more," said Mr. Doherty.

"Sure you can," shouted the crowd.

"I don't want to talk politics," continued Mr. Doherty. "I have assured you of the happiness that I feel in this great victory. (Cheers). It is not because it is a party victory that I am happy. (Hear, hear.) It is because I honestly and sincerely believe, although I recognize the right of others to believe otherwise, that this victory means the salvation of Canadian nationality. (Tremendous cheers.) For my part, that is what I was out to fight for, and that is what I am proud to have won fighting for, and that is what I would have been as ready to have gone down to defeat fighting for. (Cheers.)

"I thank you ten thousand times for this expression of friendship and congratulation to me. You may have different political opinions, but you have the kindliness of heart that makes you congratulate a man on an occasion of great benefit and advantage to his country." (Cheers).

On the conclusion of Mr. Doherty's speech, the whole restaurant rose en masse and sang "Rule Britannia," and "The Maple Leaf," as if their very lives depended upon the proper rendition of the songs.

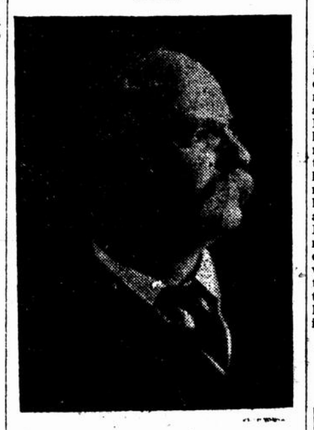

It was a remarkable scene. Men thought to be but indifferent to the ideals of Canadian nationhood, shook each other by the hands indiscriminately and without the usual formality of introduction and with clasped hands lustily sang the words and strain of the patriotic songs of the Empire. It mattered little whether one's companion was Liberal or Conservative, all that was necessary was the knowledge that a man was a Canadian, for this victory at the polls seemed to the majority of those present to be a national one.

"We Are Redeemed."

Following Mr. Doherty, Mr. Campbell Lane, K.C., spoke as follows:

"This victory is a congratulation to everyone who values this country. We have redeemed and paid for ourselves in this election. The people of this country are the most good-natured in the world, but when it comes to the point of touching the flag of this country, our people are solid. (Cheers). By your heroic work, you have this country for yourselves and you have upheld the flag for ourselves. I feel absolutely satisfied that in rendering your verdict you have put into power a government that will never discredit this country, that will see that it does everything in the best interests of the country and of the flag."

ELECTED IN MONTREAL.

MR. C. J. DOHERTY, Conservative re-elected in St. Ann's.

But, in the elation of victory, the defeated were not forgotten by the celebraters. There was another call:

"Three cheers for Johnston," called someone, "the man who made such a splendid fight against reciprocity."

The cheers that followed were of the order given a victorious candidate, and the crowd dispersed after their celebration of the great victory.

Lord John Hay, retired Admiral of the Fleet, completed his eighty-fourth year the other day. He entered the Navy in 1840, at the age of twelve, and Navy in 1840, at the age of twelve. During his fifty-seven years' service on the active list Lord John Hay saw a good deal of fighting. Before he was fifteen years old he fought in the China war of 1842, and against the Borneo pirates. He was wounded while with the Naval Brigade before Sebastopol, and two years later, in command of a squadron of gunboats, he assisted in the capture of the Peiho Forts.

CRUSHED TO DEATH UNDER HORSES' HEELS

Three-Year-Old Elizabeth Stevenson Run Over by Waggon Team.

Elizabeth Stevenson, three years of age, whose parents live at 34 Gallery Square, met a violent death yesterday afternoon by being run down by a team belonging to the Shedden Transportation Company.

The child had left her home but a few minutes before the accident, in company with her two sisters. The three children after crossing the square, decided to return home when their course was obstructed by the team in charge of driver Antoine Boileau. Elizabeth Stevenson was knocked down, but the driver says he did not see the child until she fell. Her head was crushed in by the hoofs of one of the horses, and she died a few minutes after reaching her home.

SIR FREDERIC BORDEN,

Minister of Militia, defeated in Kings, N.S., by Mr. Foster.

TWO YOUTHS SHOT.

Unknown Man Injured—Water Carriers Working on Mountain.

Two lads working as water carriers for a gang of men laying pipes on the side of the mountain were shot yesterday afternoon, but fortunately not seriously injured. Stanley Goldstone, aged 14, living at 1 Greene avenue, St. Henri, and David McKinnell, aged 12, living on Hillside avenue, Westmount, received a charge from a shotgun in the hands of a man at present unknown. Goldstone was the more seriously hurt, as shot entered his forehead. The youths were at a well in a property, known as Crescent Heights, when shot, and though the men of the Montreal Water and Power Company, for whose gang they were working, immediately gave chase to the man and the police searched the mountain for him, he has not been located. It is believed he was shooting squirrels when the boys were hit.

A BOY MISSING.

Parents Seek Francis Ruelland, Who Disappeared Last Monday.

Francis Ruelland, thirteen years of age, left his home on Monday morning, since when his parents have not been able to discover any trace of his whereabouts. He is a son of Mr. P. O. Ruelland, who lives at 353 Boulevard St. Joseph. The lad is of dark complexion, with black eyes, and when he disappeared, was wearing a white waistcoat, and brown knickerbockers.

ELECTION CROWDS ENTHUSIASTIC BUT VERY ORDERLY

Thousands Cheered the Results and Police Say They Never Enjoyed Easier Time.

The exuberance and enthusiasm displayed by the crowds on the streets last night was not of the kind that leads to the police station. When a large number of people congregate, and especially when there is such a diversity of opinion, as exists over a political election, the police are wont to expect a busy night and yesterday preparations were made accordingly. These were admirably carried out and the twelve or fifteen thousand people who stood in the driving rain in front of the Star office on St. James street, and a similar large number opposite the Windsor Hotel, on Dominion Square, were controlled in the most good-humored manner possible.

As one circulated through the large assemblance there could be heard amidst the wild cheers of victory, a note of sympathy for Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the man.

Lieutenant Dandeneault, of the City Hall Avenue police station, says the police never had a quieter night.

HAMBURG'S WONDERFUL HARBOR.

Hamburg harbor makes its appeal en masse as a pageant whose scenes are grouped with a kind of splendid prodigality. One great, indented Hafen after another opens to view, and out in the fairway are other fleets of steamers, clustered in compact flotillas, as if they could not find room to dock. And by far the greater number of them fly the German flag. The game of world politics is being played to more purpose among these wonderfully industrious docks and quays than in the chancelleries of Europe, and these weather-beaten skippers and this great navy of German merchant seamen are quietly extending the influence and power of their nation to an extent not generally understood.

To see a number of sailing ships in other ports is to mourn that their days are numbered, to feel something akin to pathos. This is not true of the Segelschiff-Hafen, of Hamburg, because the German, almost alone among sea-faring races, have refused to write the epitaph of the deep-water, square-rigged ship. They have created a modern fleet of much larger vessels than any other of their kind afloat, engaged, for the most part, in the South American trade. Of these, the Preussen attracted notice not long ago by stranding in the English Channel. Her sister ship, the Potosi, has broken all sailing records between Peru and Europe during voyage after voyage, her average speed as fast as that of most cargo steamers, and surpassing the historic achievements of the American sky-sail clippers of the last century.

Equipped with all manner of auxiliary engines for handling heavy sails, for lighting by electricity and heating by steam, these huge five-masted ships seem to have revived an almost vanished epoch. Their crews are no broken, drunken pierhead jumpers and greenhorns, swept up from the scum of the water front, but sturdy, ruddy German younkers, every man of them. They take fiddle, trombone, cornet, and accordeon to sea with them, and it does the heart good to hear one of these forecastle orchestras, perhaps twenty strong, playing lustily and with no small skill wherever these ships cast anchor. American boys forsook the sea largely because American ships were floating hells, an ugly truth too often glossed over in discussing our lost merchant marine.—From "Hamburg and Its Harbor," by Ralph D. Paine, in the October Scribner.

PRAISES MR. MONK AND MR. BOURASSA

Mr. John Boyd Comments on the Result of Yesterday's Election.

Mr. John Boyd, speaking of the result, said:—

"Every Canadian has reason to be proud of the result. It means that Canadian manhood has asserted itself and that a grave danger to our nationality and autonomy has been averted. President Taft said that Canada was at the parting of the ways. The answer of Canadians is that we do not intend to take the way to Washington, but that we propose that Canada shall be preserved as a national entity on this continent as part of the great British Empire.

"The Conservative party has been given a great mission to duty to perform, and Canadians will look with confidence to Mr. R. L. Borden and his Government to uphold the national interests of Canada. Those who as Canadians broke party ties and opposed the Government on its reciprocity pact, are deserving of the warmest appreciation, and I would wish to add a tribute of praise for Mr. Monk, and Mr. Bourassa for their campaign against the one man power in Quebec politics which has been crowned with success.

"The Star is deserving of the heartiest congratulations for the splendid fight it made on behalf of Canada's national interests."

EXPECTED HALF DOZEN CANADIAN RECORDS WILL BE BROKEN ON THE M.A.A.A. GROUNDS TO-MORROW

In the eighty-seven athletes entered for the Canadian championship meeting on the M.A.A.A. grounds on Saturday, are included practically all the title holders of the last two years. Cloughen, of the Irish Americans of New York, will be here to defend his 100-yards championship: Rosenberger his 440; Knox, of Toronto, his 880; Kiviat, of Irish Americans his mile; Cameron, of Toronto, his pole-vault; Coe, of Boston, his 16-pound shot, and Ericson of Irish Americans, his high jump title.

There will, as well, be a number of former Canadian champions, and athletes of as high a class as Martin Sheridan and Mel. Sheppard, of Irish Americans, of New York who were missing last year but had previously been big winners at Canadian championship meets. To these are to be added some of the new stars who have come to the front, like Alvah Meyer, now the star sprinter of the Irish Americans, and H. J. Grumpett, winner of the U.S. championship in the broad jump at Pittsburg this summer with a height of 6 feet 3 inches.

Up and down the list class sticks out at every point. With the exception of Frank Lukeman there is no Canadian athlete of note missing, and outside of Jones, the sensational miler of Cornell, it is hard to think up an American athlete who would add eclat to the generous entry from the United States Clubs. A dozen of them are American or Olympic champions, past or present.

Montreal clubs are well represented with twenty athletes. Most of them are young and comparatively inexperienced. Outside of Happenny none has achieved prominence in the international competition. The spirit that prompted their entry is commendable and any surprises that they will spring will be warmly greeted. Toronto, at the moment, seems to have the advantage over Montreal with a remarkably strong team, and most of Canada's hopes will rest on them—Halbaus, Tait, Cameron, Knox, Bricker and Goulding are all of international calibre, and Bobby Kerr, of Hamilton, is not to be overlooked as one of the strong cards in Ontario's hand.

Under favorable conditions it is honestly believed by many of the track experts around the M. A. A. A. clubhouse that half a dozen Canadian records will be broken on Saturday. Five went two years ago, with a less notable gathering of athletes and two of them were new world's marks.

ROCHESTER WINS EASTERN LEAGUE FOR THIRD TIME

HIGH SCHOOL GAMES WERE WELL CONTESTED

Young Dickson, who has shown up so well in the past, was one of the features of the High School games yesterday. He easily won the Rector's prize, as well as taking several other firsts and W. Antcliff's performance in the mile which he won with ease, breaking the school record by fourteen seconds, though not pressed in the least. Five minutes after he had created his new record, he started out on the mile, open to the school, and though taing 6 min: 37 4-5 secs., managed to break the tape with several yards to the good. Antcliff is only 15 years old.

Dickson won the 100 yards, the broad jump, the hop, step and jump, the 220 yards, the 440 yards and led his form to a win in the senior mile relay. There were no records with the exception of Antcliff's the nearest aproach being in the broad jump, in which Dickson cleared 18 feet or 8 inches less than the former record.

Over two hundred and fifty took part in the games, and 367 entries were handed in. The majority of the races were close the high jump which was won by Laffoley, being one of the closest events on the programme. The relay races provided some of the hardest finishes.

Summary:

Running broad jump, under 13.—1 T. Lyall; 2, Taylor; 3, Usher. Distance 12 ft. 2 in.

75 yards, under 11.—1 E. Molson; 2, J. Cornish; 3, Duckworth. Time, 11 secs.

50 yards, under 7.—1, Douglas; 2, Millen; 3, K. Courtney. Time, 9 1-5 secs.

100 yards open to schools of the Interscholastic Association — 1, W. Dickson; 2, N. Jacobs; 3, T. Laffoley. Time, 11 1-5 secs.

High Jump, under 15.—1, R. Dobson; 2, R. Hutchison; 3, T. Boyd. Height 4 ft. 4 1-2 in.

Mile intermediate relay race.—Won by Form IIIA; 2, Form IIIC; 3, Form IVC. Time, 4 min. 6 4-5 secs. Winning team: N. Henry, I. Ibbotson J. Doughan, G. Russell, P. Scott; B. Ettenberg, A. Woodward, L. Murray and H. Lipsey.

50 yards, under 8—1, J. Anderson; 2, D. Miller; 3, P. Angus. Time 9 1-5 secs.

100 yards, under 12—1 H. Lamb; 2, Taylor; 3, J. Cornish. Time, 14 1-5 secs.

Broad jump, open to school—1, W. Dickson; 2, P. Seath; 3, P. Abinovitch. Distance, 18 feet.

75 yards, under nine — 1, N. McFadgen; 2, C. Richardson; 3, T. Balkie. Time, 12 1-5 seconds.

Hop, step and jump, open to school —1, W. Dickson; 2, P. Seath; 3, W. Nesbitt. Distance, 36 ft. 7 inches.

100 yards, under 16—1, K. Forbes; 2. D. Stewart; 3, M. Sigler. Time, 11 4-5 secs.

220 yards, open to school—1, W. Dickson; 2, N. Jacobs; 3, D. McLeod. Time, 25 2-5 secs.

100 yards, under 14—1, R. Perry; 2, Frazer; 3. Oliver. Time, 13 1-5 secs.

220 yards, under fifteen—1, R. Hutchison; 2, R. Dobson; 3, T. Boyd. Time, 29 1-5 secs.

MONDAY, OCT. 9 SUGGESTED FOR MINTO CUP DATE

Special to The Montreal Star.

Toronto, September 21. — President Murphy, of the N.L.U., yesterday received a wire from the Vancouver Club suggesting that the second game with Tecumsehs be played on Monday, October 9, instead of on Saturday, the 7th, so as to avoid conflict with the New Westminster Fair.

The Tecumsehs likely will acquiesce in this respect. The first game will be played on Saturday, September 30.

Vancouver insists upon western officials, and this may cause a hitch. President Murphy was in telephonic communication, yesterday, with Sir Edward Clouston, one of the Minto Cup trustees, regarding this matter.

THIRTY-FIVE N. Y. ATHLETES BOUND HERE FOR GAMES

New York, September 22.—Thirty-five athletes, representing organizations in the metropolitan district, will leave to-night for Montreal to take part in the annual championship meeting of the Canadian Athletic Union. As in former years, the struggle for the points trophy will be between New York and Irish-American Athletic Clubs, with the Boston A.A. a strong contender with the Montreal A.A., for third honors.

Canada has always supported the indoor championship event of the A. A. U., held annually in New York, and for this reason, this year, all organizations within easy access of Montreal send representatives to the meeting.

The race, which is attracting the first interset is the half mile event, in which Melvin Sheppard, and possibly Harry Gissing, his greatest rival, will compete.

IDEAL WEATHER MARKED SEVENTH DAY AT LEXINGTON

Lexington, Ky., September 22.—The seventh day of the Kentucky Associations fall meeting was marked by ideal weather, a large crowd, a better track, and some close finishes. The feature event, the Idle Hour Handicap, was won by the favorite, Kaiser, F. R. Hitchcock's Caesarion-Elsie B colt, with Col. Cook with two lengths behind and Mack B. Eubanks in third place.

Ottilo, in the first race, paid nearly 6 to 1 to his backers and Yankee, in the second, rewarded his supporters with odds of 3 to 1. Ethelda, the heavily backed favorite in the fifth, was beaten a length by King Olympian.

PREMIER IS LEFT WITH PRACTICALLY NO LIEUTENANTS

If Sir Wilfrid Retires Choice of Party Leader May Be Somewhat Difficult.

GREAT ENTHUSIASM PREVAILED IN CAPITAL

Departure of His Excellency May Be Delayed by Change of Government.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, September 22.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier is expected to return to Ottawa to-night or to-morrow and be followed in short order by his colleagues. It will probably be a couple of weeks before business is wound up and the resignations of the cabinet ministers submitted. The change of government will very likely cause a delay in the departure of Earl Grey, whose duty it will be to call upon Mr. Borden to form a ministry. His Excellency had intended to sail for England on the 6th of October, but this will likely be cancelled unless the members of the government are quick about putting in their resignations. It will be desirable to have the new cabinet installed by the time the Duke of Connaught arrives and the suggestion is heard that possibly the coming of His Royal Highness may also be set back somewhat.

It is too early to speculate as to cabinet possibilities. There is much excellent material available at Mr. Borden's call. While it is largely speculative as to how the portfolios will be assigned, those mentioned for cabinet rank include the following:

Nova Scotia—the prospective Prime Minister.

New Brunswick—Mr. Crocket or Premier Hazen.

Quebec—Mr. Doherty, Mr. Ames, Mr. Perley, with French representation in doubt.

Ontario—Mr. Crothers Mr. Northrup, Dr. Reid, Mr. Kemp, Mr. Armstrong, Mr. Blain, and Mr. Lennox.

Manitoba, Hon. Robert Rogers or Dr. Roche.

Alberta, Senator Lougheed.

British Columbia, Premier McBride, Mr. Goodeve or Mr. Burrell.

It is believed that either Mr. Perley or Mr. Ames will be Minister of Finance; Mr. Doherty is pretty certain to be Minister of Justice, and Dr. Reid, Minister of Marine. Mr. Armstrong used to attend to all matters relating to the Post Office Department, and Mr. Lennox to the Railway Department.

It is considered extremely doubtful if Sir Wilfrid Laurier leads the Opposition. In a few weeks he will be seventy years of age. He intimated that if the country went against him he would retire to private life, and this undoubtedly will be his disposition. Upon whom the mantle will fall, however, is doubtful. Mr. Graham was mentioned, but he is defeated. So were Mr. Fielding and, by a few, Mr. King. They, too, are in the landslide. So little of the party is left that the wreck is more complete than that of the Conservatives in 1896. With Laurier retiring, as is likely, the party will be wholly at sea for a leader. This consideration may lead the defeated Prime Minister to temporarily forego his determination to quit public life if defeated.

The capital seething with excitement acclaimed last night the defeat of the Laurier Government and the sweeping and decisive victory of the Conservatives. The city itself set the ball rolling by returning Messrs. Fripp and Chabot by majorities respectively of 519 and 347, in place of 645 majority for Laurier and McGiverin in 1908.

The tremendous reversal here as throughout Canada was attributed to the strong patriotic feeling against any entangling alliance with the United States. There was no other issue. Thousands of people braved a downpour of rain and stood for hours in front of the newspaper bulletins, which from the very start indicated the defeat of the Government. When it was announced early that Mr. Fielding had gone down there was a demonstration that kept up for ten minutes. It was repeated with the report of the downfall of Mr. Paterson, this pair having negotiated the Reciprocity pact, which the people have so scathingly condemned.

Then followed rapidly the story of defeat of six other ministers and the wiping out of the Government majority. The crowds went wild. Two impromptu parades headed by bands and torch bearers marched through the streets, cheering wildly for Borden, and the city has seen no such enthusiasm since the relief of Ladysmith.

Messrs. Fripp and Chabot were escorted about town by thousands of their supporters and at every prominent corner had to deliver speeches.

What struck Ottawa with peculiar force is the practical unanimity of the popular uprising. It was the same in every province, indicating the universal extent of the popular uprising. The result is taken as pointing conclusively that thousands of Liberals have risen above party and voted aginst the pact that imperilled their country.

There was but one Cabinet Minister in Ottawa last night. It was the Secretary of State, Hon. Charles Murphy. Mr. Murphy, re-elected in Russell, has the unique distinction of being the only minister from Ontario who sought re-election at the polls and succeeded. Sir Richard Cartwright holds his portfolio through a seat in the Senate. All the other Ontario Ministers went down.

Not the least interesting topic in Ottawa is the effect upon the Civil Service, resulting from a change of Government. As a body the permanent employes who are under a commission kept out of the contest, but a great many whose jobs are of an outside character and more or less tentative were very active.

The result in the Ottawa Valley was very much as predicted. The only difference was that all the Conservatives increased their majorities, while the Liberal leads were cut down in every instance. The two seats in Ottawa along with those in Pontiac and Labelle made up the four Conservative gains in the twelve constituencies bordering on the Ottawa River. The win of Fripp and Chabot in Ottawa and Brabazon in Pontiac was anticipated.

VANIMAN'S ATTEMPT TO CROSS THE CHANNEL.

Still strong in his faith in the dirigible balloon and the possibility of crossing the Atlantic in a properly constructed lighter-than-air craft Melvin Vaniman chief engineer of the America which made a brave attempt to accomplish the feat a year ago, is now assembling a larger airship at Atlantic City, expecting to start for Europe by the air route some time in October. He believes that by applying the knowledge gained from the experiences of the America, and a new means of compnsating for the added lifting power of the gas when exposed to the heat of the sun, he will be able to make his way through the storms of the Atlantic and the uncertainties of the air lanes.

J. Q. Roberts, in the October Popular Mechanics Magazine, says:

"As a result of the experience last year, when the absence of a flywheel on the after engine put it out of commission and deprived the aeronauts of the lifting thrust of the after propellers, close attention has been paid to this feature of the Akron, as the new craft will be christened. There will be four engines, two of 100 h.p. each, one of 80 h.p. and one of 18 h.p., the first three for the three sets of propellers, and the latter for lifting purposes and for running the dynamo which will furnish electricity for the wireless apparatus. Two of these engines will be of American manufacture and two of foreign make. At least one pair of propellers will be mounted so that the thrust can be secured in any direction.

"Filled with hydrogen gas, the balloon will have a gross lifting power of 26,000 pounds. The bag is built of a strong fabric, composed of layers of cotton and rubber cemented together. The upper two-thirds of the envelope is made of four layers of rubber and three of cotton. This fabric has a tensile strength of 175 pounds per square inch. As the under side of the bag will have only the strain of the internal pressure to withstand, this part will consist of only two layers of cottton and three of rubber. The frame, which is built of steel tubing, will be attached to the envelope by loops sewed on to the side of the bag. Long light rods will be run through them, and the framework suspended from these rods. The balloon fabric is bright yellow to prevent deterioration by the ultra-violet rays of the sun."

Several other unusual features of the Akron are described and the article is well illustrated.

AUTOMOBILES TO CARRY TELEPHONE SETS.

If the efforts of a new western company prove successful, the automobilist will no longer dread a breakdown in an isolated part of the country miles away from the nearest town or settlement, for he will be able to walk to the nearest road-telephone station, plug in his portable instrument and call up the nearest telephone exchange for assistance, or even make a long-distance call should that be necessary.

The instrument that will make such a desirable consummation possible is called the autophone, and is described, with illustrations, in the October number of Popular Mechanics Magazine.

When washing new curtains you will generally find that they are full of lime ,and take a quantity of soap, etc., to make them anything like clean. This expenditure of soap and a great deal of trouble may be saved by soaking the curtains over night in water in which a pennyworth of salt has been dissolved. The salt draws the lime out of the curtains, making them quite easy to wash.

THE LANDSLIDE.

WHILE the remarkable tidal wave of public opinion which swept everything before it, yesterday, was incidentally a great victory for the Conservative party, it was only incidentally so. A coalition created the Canadian Federation forty-four years ago; a coalition saved the Canadian Federation yesterday, and in so doing, saved Canada to the British Empire. Patriotic sentiment and intelligent self-interest united the industrial and the agricultural classes Liberal and Conservative in defence of the National Policy under which Canada has prospered so abundantly, whether that policy was carried out by Liberals or Conservatives. Until the present campaign, by maintaining Sir John's policy, the Government wisely kept the tariff out of politics. They went out of their way to make it a party issue once more; and the result is that their majority of 44 in the House of Commons is turned into a minority of 44 so far, and all the leading members of the ministry, except the Premier himself are personally defeated.

The ministerialist party was heavily handicapped by the support of the American press, and by the injudiciously offensive tone of the criticisms made by the Canadian Government organs against every prominent man, who dared to express an opinion unfavorable to Reciprocity. Our American friends will find that there is a good deal of human nature in Canadians, and that they do not take kindly to foreign interference in their politics.

There are lessons for both parties in Canada in yesterday's result. For the second time in its history, the Liberal party has come to grief through its leaders coquetting with Washington. That lesson will probably suffice for the present generation. The Liberal-Conservative party has won a tremendous victory chiefly by the negative policy of opposing the radical errors of their opponents. Yesterday's verdict was an emphatic "NO" to a scheme which threatened at once the breaking of the tie which unites Canada to the British Empire; the surrender of its fiscal and ultimately of its political, autonomy; and the economic ruin of farmers, artizans and manufacturers alike. But the Liberal-Conservative policy must and no doubt will be more than a negation of political heresies.

There are one or two other lessons. The tariff question, although the principal one was not the only one before the electorate. One thing asserted was the right of the people to be consulted upon revolutionary changes of policy. The idea of Mr. Fielding and Mr. Paterson going off to Washington and making a deal of such dimensions without consulting the electors was in itself offensive. Finally the Liberal-Conservative party will in the ordinary course of events attract to its ranks, as all parties do, a certain corrupt element. That it cannot help; but it can make it its openly declared and faithfully carried out policy, to facilitate enquiry into every corrupt act alleged against its ministers or members. The slush funds did not hurt the Government half so much as the reluctance to investigate slush fund charges. If any proof were wanted that Canada did right yesterday, it is to be found in the savage and insolent criticisms of the New York press. While this kind of thing is indulged in, no party in Canada could wish its opponents a worse handicap than the support of the New York and Boston yellow press and its "truthful" correspondents.

A ROYAL COMMISSION NEEDED.

AMONG the first acts of the new Borden Government should be the appointment of a Royal Commission to investigate exhaustively the whole matter of the use of money from sources in the United States for the purpose of corruptly influencing the verdict of the people of Canada during the election just concluded. There is, unfortunately, evidence which is only too convincing that a wholesale attempt was made by forces and organizations, alien to this country, to secure a verdict at the polls, which would advance their interests, and to do it by means which place those who practice them in the category of criminals. The time to put a stop to such customs is when they are in their incipiency. It is apart entirely from the real issue that the effort was unsuccessful; the effort itself is a sign of a great and serious danger. We are in a position to state, on the best of authority, that not a cent from the United States went into the fight to defeat Reciprocity and that the cost of the whole campaign was subscribed by Canadians who saw the welfare of the Dominion menaced, and its future put in peril. Arrayed against them was a corruption fund whose proportions, as outlined by bits of evidence secured here and there through the provinces, were enormous, and whose purpose was obvious. Counter-charges to this same effect have been made at various times during the progress of the campaign by the Reciprocity organs. A Royal Commission with power to examine under oath, and to punish those who place obstacles in the way of its investigations is the only piece of official machinery which is capable of sifting the true from the false, and discovering to the people of Canada the essential facts which lie at the root of these very serious charges. It is in the highest degree important that we should know these facts in order that we may take such action as, in their light, is shown to be necessary. And the investigation should be begun at the earliest possible moment.

WAR AND FINANCE.

GERMANY'S unwillingness to have the opinion get abroad that her decision in the Agadir matter was influenced by the pressure which her financiers were forced to bear is easily understood. It is not part of the German plan to admit that anything in the way of obligations, financial or otherwise, can mould or even largely affect the general policy of the empire. One of the disadvantages of the kind of government which the Kaiser affects is that its assumed superiority to mundane things calls, at times, for highly strained explanations. That there was a little matter of eight hundred million marks which stood in the way of the carrying out of a hostile propaganda and which could not be brushed aside by the waving of a gloved hand, or beaten into the background by the pounding of a mailed fist, is not a sufficient reason for acknowledging the existence of a something not amenable to German discipline or subsidiary to the will of the Kaiser.

Nevertheless, the incident is its own best interpretation. Nations have to pay their bills, even if it interferes with more pretentious plans. The breaking of half-a-dozen banking houses in Germany would compel the attention of the be-decorated members of the Imperial staff, no matter how reluctant they might be to give it, or how engrossing the project on which they were concentrating their attention. War without finances is a game which few nations can play successfully

MAYORALTY CANDIDATES.

TWO members of the City Council have already announced themselves as candidates for the mayoralty and a third has let it be known that he is considering the advisability of entering the ranks. As the civic elections are still four months and more in the future, there seem to be indications that the contest for the privilege of presiding over the City Council, acting as chairman of the Board of Control, and drawing a salary of ten thousand dollars a year will be an interesting one even in these days of keen desire to serve the people municipally.

From every standpoint, it is a good thing to see interest in the good-government movement developing so far in advance of an opportunity of giving expression to it. The mayoralty of Montreal is not a position which should go necessarily to the man who asks for it in the loudest voice, or who receives the enthusiastic support of one section of the City Council, or whose record shows that his past services to the city have not been altogether above the suspicion of personal profit. It is a matter in which the citizens as well as the candidates should have some voice; and there are reasons for believing that this will be the case. To aspire to be chief magistrate of the metropolis of Canada is a legitimate and an honorable ambition and no eligible aspirant can object to the close and exhaustive searching of the record which he offers as justifying his candidacy.

Nor will it be expedient to overlook the fact that, in addition to a mayor, we will also elect thirty-three aldermen next February. The aldermanic contests are not so spectacular but they are of considerable importance, as events in the present city council during the last two years have abundantly demonstrated:

"THE WOMEN'S MARSEILLAISE."

THE sacred cause of Votes for Women has not only reached the turning point in its career, but has signalized it by adopting a militant hymn, which is guaranteed to set fire to any inflammable enthusiasm, no matter how low its caloric, which remains unkindled in the breasts of worthy disciples who may hitherto have been unaware of either their own worthiness or their latent sympathy with the cause. The music we are, unfortunately, not able to reproduce, but it is safe to suppose that it is worthy of the verses, the first of which we quote at length:

"Come every matron, every maid,
That in this fair land of ours doth dwell!
Hear the clarion call
Bidding us, one and all,
Tarry no more, but haste the ranks to swell!
Our purple banners flutter in the air!
Hear our trumpets blowing, far and near!
Let your voice resound
All the earth around
Till the whole world at last shall hear!

The man who can write war-songs like that for women—for it was a man who wrote it—need not worry about making laws for them. Conversely, the women who were quick to see the unconventional majesty of the lines and to appreciate their appropriateness as "The Women's Marseillaise," or "Women's Political March"—the official title has not yet been chosen—are very likely to be better able to legislate than to write poetry. This is, indirectly, a sign of advancement and an omen of future progress. When Woman looks to mere Man for encouragement to nobler efforts, more heroic attacks on aged cabinet ministers and greater self-sacrifice in fighting with policemen, we may well believe that we are pressing close to the verge of a new order of things.

But to look at the war-song a little more closely. The first point which attracts the attention is the fact that there are five separate and distinct sentences, each containing its own inspiration, each making a different appeal and each ending with an exclamation point. How skilfully does this exemplify the whole movement! How it substitutes enthusiasm for logic, high and piercing notes for arguments, rapturous imagery for disagreeable fact! After hearing the clarion call, the unquestionable duty of every sincere suffragette is to blow some trumpets far and near, and then make her voice resound all the earth around, or as nearly around as possible, thus demonstrating at one and the same time, the solidarity of the movement, and the soundness of its foundation. The other four exclamation points which dignify the composition are mainly for the purpose of giving proper emphasis to corroborative but none the less picturesque details, having to do with hastening the ranks to swell, fluttering purple—why purple?—banners in the air and otherwise working up to the climax of a high old time. It is a real pleasure to read the words of the song; it ought to be a genuine inspiration to hear it properly and spiritedly sung.

Japanese War Preparations

Washington Evening Post—Prime Minister Saionji announces that it is Japan's intention to cultivate "the closest amity with all the powers." There is no reason for doubting the statement. Japan does not want to engage in war. The cost of the war with Russia was too great to warrant such another venture in the near future. But Japan, always cautious, always deliberate, will continue to prepare for war, even though she has no intention of engaging in one. Her naval preparations proceed steadily. Her army aeroplane experiments proceed mysteriously. There probably is no significance to this other than that Japan proposes always to be prepared.

Loyal Public Service

Toronto World—Sir Robert Hart, late inspector-general of Chinese customs, has not long survived his retirement from that responsible position. In every way a typical civil servant of the class that apparently only the English-speaking people can produce, his career was one of marked distinction in a field that few foreigners could hope to fill even with partial success. Sir Robert Hart knew China as none but the best informed Chinamen knew it, and his devoted service and high sense of honor earned him well-deserved gratitude. He has passed, but his memory will remain and his works will follow him.

A Cool Proposition.

Vancouver Daily Province—The suggestion that a free exchange of two natural products, the frozen meat of New Zealand and the frozen wheat of the prairies, be established, sounds like a cool trade proposition

A Splendid Showing.

Hamilton Times—Up to the present the new valuation of British estates has covered 800,000 properties, and from all these have come only 40 appeals. It is a splendid showing.

OLD COUNTRY BRIEFS.

After being blind for twenty years Mrs. Nicol, wife of John Nicol, a fisherman of Gardenstown, near Fraserburgh, Aberdeenshire, lately regained her eyesight without either medical or surgical treatment. Recently she astonished her husband by declaring that she could see various articles in the room. She has now regained the full sight of both eyes, and is able to attend to household duties. She is 77 years of age.

Nowhere in Scotland have the recent heavy rainfalls been more warmly welcomed than in the Fifeshire district. The break in the long spell of dry weather came just in time. Without it a serious state of matters was threatened. For weeks the towns and villages have been running on short supplies of water and the authorities have been at their wits' end even to keep up the domestic supplies. In one large private residence, the household supplies for ordinary washing purposes were measured out in tablespoonfuls. Streams dried up and it was a common sight to see the village cat preying on helpless trout in shallow pools.

The designs sent in for the prizes offered by the Australian Government for the stamps suitable to the Georgian reign have been on view in Melbourne. Some are crude, others elaborate. One competitor essayed the herculean feat of placing on the surface of the penny stamp the King's head, the Union Jack, Sydney Harbor, a primitive black man, and a map of Australia. Another preferred the head of Captain Cook, the "Australian Columbus," to that of the King; while some one else made an aeroplane the special feature of his design.

Hongkong now rejoices in the possession of a splendid new theatre, named after Queen Victoria. The building is handsomely equipped. Forty-two powerful fans will keep it cool ever in the hottest weather, and no matter in what part of the theatre anyone may happen to be, an uninterrupted view of the stage will be afforded. The theatre is lighted by electricity, the candle-power of the total lamps in the hall itself being no less than 11,000. Seating accommodation is provided for upwards of 800, and a lounge is provided decorated with palms.

Jubilee of The Ironclad

The present year marks the jubilee of the entrance of the armored ship into the sea-going fleets of the world. In 1861 the first ironclad battleship, the Warrior, was commissioned for service, and the era of naval construction thus inaugurated has proved the most progressive, the most expansive, and, incidentally, the most expensive in the whole history of shipbuilding, says the London Daily Mail.

The total number of ironclad ships launched for the British Navy since the pioneer of super-Dreadnoughts was laid down at Blackwall in 1859 is one hundred and eighty-six, and they have varied in size from the 2,750 tons of the "masted turret ships" Scorpion and Wivern, laid down at Birkenhead for the Southern States during the American Civil War and seized by the British Government, to the 26,360 tons of the Lion and Princess Royal, "super-Dreadnought cruisers" now completing for sea. The increase in size has been continuous, but by no means steady. In the first ten years of the ironclad era the thirty-four ships of this type launched for the British fleet averaged 6,403 tons; for the second period the average was 7,015 tons; and for the third, 9,230 tons, so that in the first thirty years there was an increase of only 2,800 tons in the average.

The closing decade of the nineteenth century, however, saw a very considerable advance, for the ships launched in this period averaged 13,418 tons. During the last ten years 16,247 tons has been the average. It will easily be realized, too, that the latter figure gives but an inadequate idea of the stage of progress that has been actually reached, since Dreadnoughts—the great inflators—did not appear until 1905. If the last ten years (1902 to 1911 inclusive) be divided into quinquennial periods, it will be found that the ships launched in the first five years averaged 13,420 tons, while those that will have been launched between 1907 and the end of the present year average no lesst han 23,692 tons.

Increased Fighting Power.

Great as the increase in size has been, however, it is nothing when compared with the increase in fighting power that has accompanied it For nearly twenty years after the Warrior was built our ships continued to be armed with muzzle-loading guns, bt. there was a steady increase in the size and power of these weapons. The heaviest gun mounted in the Warrior was the 9-inch 12-ton gun, firing a shell of 256 lbs. In 1868 there appeared a 10-inch 18-ton weapon, firing a 410lb. shell, and this was followed in 1870 by a 12-inch 25-ton, in 1878 by a 12.5-inch 33-ton, and in 1876 by a 16-inch 80-ton gun, the weights of the respective shells being 614 lbs., and 820 lb., and 1,700 lb. Four of these last were mounted in the old Inflexible.

When the muzzle loader thus reached the climax of its development, it was finally displaced by the breech-loader, which had been forging ahead for some years. It would be impossible to enumerate all the calibres and patterns of this gun that have been made and mounted in our ships, but if we take the principal guns alone we shall get a very good idea of the enormous strides that have been made in the manufacturge of ordnance. The earliest pattern of 12-inch breech-loader was 27 feet long, weighed 44 tons and fired a shell of 714lb. weight at an initial velocity of 1,892 feet per second. The guns gradually increased in length and weight until the latest types, such as are mounted in the Hercules and Colossus, are 51.5 feet long, weigh 66 tons, and fire a shell of 850 lb. at a velocity of 3,010 feet per second.

The Newest Guns.

This, however, does not mark the extent of our progress. The Orion, now nearly ready for her trials, will carry ten 13.5-inch guns, each of which is about 52 feet long, weighs 76 tons, and fires a 1,250lb. shell.

But gun-powder is measured principally in muzzle-energy—that is, the force with which the shell leaves the bore. In the case of the Warrior's heaviest guns, this force was 3,695 foot-tons; for the 80-ton muzzle-loaders of the Inflexible, it was 29,530 foot-tons and for the earliest 12-inch breech-loaders, 18,050 foot-tons. The old 13.5-inch guns, mounted in the ships of the Royal Sovereign class had a muzzle-energy of 35,250 tons.

For our latest 12-inch guns the energy is 53,400 foot-tons, and for the new 13.5-inch 69,000 foot-tons. At a range of 2000 yards the Warrior's guns could just penetrate nine inches of wrought iron; at 3000 yards the new 13.5 can penetrate 26 inches of Krupp steel which is equal to 78 inches of wrought iron. At a range of six miles the new gun can break through armour which the guns of fifty years ago could barely have dented at the muzzle.

Needless to say armor has improved as well as the gun, the one having urged on the other. In fact it is the competition between these two, representing the attack and the defence, which has been responsible for practically the whole of the increase in tonnage. From the Warrior to the Dreadnought the percentage of displacement accounted for by the guns increased from 3.5 to 18, and by the armor from 14.1 to 28; so that these two elements now absorb almost a half of the full displacement of the ship.

Changes in Armour.

The resisting power of armour, however, has not increased as rapidly as the attacking power of the gun. Our early ironclads were protected by wrought iron. This was succeeded in the eighties by compound armour — wrought iron with a face of hardened steel. Then came Harveyed steel, which is now almost universally used, the only notable exception being Italy. Krupp steel is equal to about three times its thickness of wrought iron; but it will have been seen from the figures already given that the power of the gun has increased considerably more than three times since the days of wrought-iron armour.

It is interesting to note that out of 186 ironclad ships that will have been launched for the Navy by the end of this year, 128 still may be found in the Navy List.

The total expenditure on the Navy in the ironclad era amounts to £950,497,504, and the total tonnage of the armored ships launched from 1860 to the end of the present year is 2,217,854.

The Firth of Forth was twice crossed in an aeroplane the other day by Mr. W. H. Ewen, who flew from near Edinburgh to Burntisland, and back a distance of fourteen miles in eleven minutes. Mr. Ewen's speed was thus over seventy miles an hour. He is the first aviator who has crossed the Firth.

Victims of Big Telepathic Hoax

Douglas Blackburn writes to the London Daily News, under the heading: "Confessions of a Telepathist—30-Year Hoax Exposed," as follows:

For nearly thirty years the telepathic experiments conducted by Mr. G A. Smith, and myself have been accepted and cited as the basic evidences of the truth of Thought Transference.

Your correspondent, "Inquirer," is one of many who have pointed to them as a conclusive reply to modern sceptics. The weight attached to those experiments was given by their publication in the first volume of the proceedings of the Society for Psychical Research, vouched for by Messrs. F. W. H. Myers, Edmund Gurney, Frank Podmore, and later and inferentially by Professor Henry Sidgewick, Professor Romanes, and others of equal intellectual eminence. They were the first scientifically conducted and attested experiments in Thought Transference, and later were imitated and reproduced by "sensitives" all the world over.

I am the sole survivor of that group of experimentalists and as no harm can be done to anyone, but possible good to the cause of truth, I, with mingled feelings of regret and satisfaction, now declare that the whole of those alleged experiments were bogies, and originated in the honest desire of two youths to show how easily men of scientific mind and training could be deceived when seeking for evidence in support of a theory they were wishful to establish.

The genesis of the matter was in this wise. In the late seventies and early eighties a wave of so-called occultism passed over England. Public interest became absorbed in the varied alleged phenomena of spiritualism, mesmerism and thought reading "professors" of the various branches abounded, and Brighton, where I was editing a weekly journal, became a happy hunting ground for mediums of every kind. I had started an exposure campaign, and had been rather successful. My great score was being the first to detect the secret of Irving Bishop's thought-reading. In 1882 I encountered Mr. G. A. Smith, a youth of 19, whom I found giving a mesmeric entertainment. Scenting a fraud, I proceeded to investigate, made his acquaintance, and very soon realized that I had discovered a genius in his line. He has since been well known as a powerful hypnotist. He was also the most ingenious conjurer I have met outside the profession. He had versatility of an Edison in devising new tricks and improving on old ones. We entered into a compact to "show up" some of the then flourishing professors of occultism, and began by practising thought-reading. Within a month we were astonishing Brighton at bazaars and kindred charity entertainments, and enjoyed a great vogue. One of our exhibitions was described very fully and enthusastically in "Light," the spiritualistic paper, and on the strength of that the Messrs. Myers, Gurney and Podmore called on us and asked for a private demonstration. As we had made a strict rule never to take payment for our exhibitions, we were accepted by the society as private unpaid demonstrators, and as such remained during the long series of seances.

A description of the codes and methods of communication invented and employed by us to establish telepathic rapport would need more space than could be spared. Suffice it that, thanks to the ingenuity of Smith, they became marvellously complete. They grew with the demands upon them.

Starting with a crude set of signals produced by the jingling of pince nez, sleeve links, long and short breathings, and even blowing, they developed to a degree little short of marvellous. To this day no conjurer has succeeded in approaching our great feat, by which Smith, scentifically blindfolded, deafened, and muffled in two blankets, reproduced in detail an irregular figure drawn by Mr. Myers, and seen only by him and me.

I say boldly that Messrs. Myers and Gurney were too anxious to get corroboration of their theories to hold the balance impartially. Again and again they gave the benefit of the doubt to experiments that were failures. They allowed us to impose our own conditions, accepted without demur our explanations of failure, and, in short, exhibited a complaisance and confidence which, however complimentary to us, was scarcely consonant with a strict investigation on behalf of the public.

Smith and I, by constant practice, became so sympathetic that we frequently brought off startling hits, which were nothing but flukes. The part that fortuitous accident plays in this business can only be believed by those who have become expert in the art of watching for and seizing an opportunity. When these hits were made, the delight of the investigators caused them to throw off their caution and accept practically anything we offered.

I am aware it may be reasonably objected that the existence of a false coin does not prove the non-existence of a good one. My suggestion as the result of years of observation is that the majority of investigators and reporters in psychical research lack that accurate observation and absence of bias which are essential to rigorous and reliable investigation. In fine, I gravely doubt not the bona fides, but the capacity, of the witnesses. I could fill columns telling how, in the course of my later investgations on behalf of the Society for Psychical Research, I have detected persons of otherwise unimpeachable rectitude touching up and redressing the weak points in their narratives of telepathic experiences.

At the risk of giving offence to some I feel bound to say that in the vast majority of cases that I have investigated the principals are either biassed in favor of belief in the supernatural or not persons whom I should regard as accurate observers and capable of estimating the rigid mathematical form of evidence. What one desires to believe requires little corroboration. I shall doubtless raise a storm of protest when I assert that the principal cause of belief in psychic phenomena is the inability of the average man to observe accurately and estimate the value of evidence, plus a bias in favor of the phenomena being real. It is an amazing fact that I have never yet, after hundreds of tests found a man who could accurately describe ten minutes afterwards a series of simple acts which I performed in his presence.

The habits of the seagulls in the Fraserburgh district of Aberdeenshire seem to be undergoing a remarkable change. This summer it has been noticed that these birds have built nests in the heather and bushes a few miles inland, a fact never observed before. A disturbing feature of this invasion is that the birds in forsaking the sea have abandoned their exclusive fish diet and have taken to eating corn.

SUCHARD'S

COCOA

Is a Perfect Breakfast Drink

Its flavor is simply delicious, and helps to make even a simple meal enjoyable.

It mildly stimulates nerves and brain—tunes them up for the day's activity.

Best of all it supplies an abundance of real strength and energy. One cup of Suchard's Cocoa is more hourishing than five cups of coffee, or a dozen cups of tea, and has none of their harmful effects.

Start the day right with a steaming, fragrant cup of Suchard's Cocoa, and finish with the same.

Whisky For Shaky Nerves

Affords Temporary Relief by Paralyzing the Nerves Into Subjection.

Permanent Restoration of Nervous System and Cure of Liquor Habit in 3 Days at the Gatlin Institute.—No Hypodermic Injections.

The Gatlin Institute has been established eleven years. More than twelve thousand cases have been treated. Each patient is treated under a plain legal contract to effect a satisfactory cure in THREE DAYS, or the fee is to be refunded the patient on leaving the Institute.

The Gatlin treatment eliminates accumulated alcoholic poison from the system, thus removing the cause of craving, desire, and continued drinking. Other methods fail to bring about many permanent cures, because EFFECT is treated instead of CAUSE.

Desire, craving, physical necessity for liquor, and nervousness are but symptoms—effects of alcoholic POISONING.

THE GATLIN HOME TREATMENT for those who cannot come to the Institute for THREE DAYS.

Call or write for books of particulars, copies of contracts and other information. THE GATLIN INSTITUTE, 148 St. Hubert Street, corner Dorchester street., Montreal. Phone East 4224.

Lightning played queer pranks recently in a home in Mansfield Centre, Conn., A flash invaded the coat pocket of Joseph Barrow, a farmer, as he was sitting in his kitchen. It entered the house by way of the stovepipe and was attracted to Barrow's pocket by an iron monkey-wrench and a big jack-knife. It passed down his leg, burning him, and then careened on the floor, upset a tub of water, and split a large chopping block. In Barrow's pocket the end of the wrench and the blade of the knife were fused into a solid piece of steel, but strange to say, the man was not severely hurt.

Rescued by the police after four days' captivity in a locked apartment that reeked with the fumes of acid with which her mother had committed suicide, Virginia Petersen, four years old, now lies critically ill in a Washington hospital. Mrs. Sarah E. Petersen, the mother, is thought to have been insane, as she had repeatedly asked the police recently to protect her from imaginary enemies. The child was seen playing at the window more than once during her captivity, and only the curiosity of a janitor saved her from starvation.

MONTREAL CANDIDATES HEAR THE ELECTION NEWS IN THEIR HEADQUARTERS

Gain of Conservative Seat in Hochelaga and Increased Majorities in St. Ann's and St. Antoine Caused Great Enthusiasm—Mr. Johnston Cool in St. Lawrence Defeat—Ald. Lapointe Declares He Will Be Democratic Member—Big Cut in Mr. Verville's Vote in Maisonneuve.

Scenes at the headquarters of candidates in Montreal were varied, but as a rule, there was great cheerfulness at the Conservative Committe rooms, for even where an individual had to admit defeat in his own constituency, he was cheered by the fact that the party was ahead throughout the country.

In other places the enthusiasm was transferred from the rooms to the outer spaces, not even the subsequent rain reducing it in volume.

The Conservative vote showed a gain by the fine victory of Mr. Louis Codere in Hochelaga and substantial gains made by Mr. C. J. Doherty, in St. Ann, and Mr. H. B. Ames, in St. Antoine. The member for St. Ann added 683 to his previous majority, while Mr Ames swelled the figure of his previous victory by 1,162.

In St. James there was a slight reduction of the previous Liberal majority. In St. Lawrence, Mr. Bickerdike, added 150 to his last figures. St. Mary's represented a Liberal gain of over 1,100 which was offset by a reduction of Mr. Verville's figures in Maisonneuve.

At the various Conservative headquarters, there were evidences of great pleasure, while at Liberal headquarters even individual victories did not lift the gloom, caused by the news from the country at large.

Below will be found a review of the scenes in the various constituencies of Montreal.

GREAT ENTHUSIASM IN HOCHELAGA.

The wildest enthusiasm prevailed in the St. Henri city hall, where Mr. Louis Coderre and his followers received the returns. When eight polls in Westmount were heard from, giving a majority to the popular candidate of over 1,400 there was no longer any doubt of the outcome and the cheering broke loose unrestrainedly.

"It is a victory, not only for the manufacturers, but also for the workingmen," said Mr. Coderre, in the speech made in answer to demands from the large audience. "You can see by the results that in the workingmen's district, Rivet's majority is being greatly reduced. It is not my own victory entirely, but is partly because our friends the Liberals have placed their love of flag and country before their party inclinations."

Amid deafening cries of "Hurrah for Coderre," the large hall was emptied of the tightly packed human mass and, carrying Coderre along, in an irresistible wave, they poured forth into the street and a drenching downpour.

Taking the horse from between the shafts of a waiting cab, they lifted into the cab the new member and his lieutenants and headed a procession composed of hundreds of highly pleased voters. After proceeding to Notre Dame street, and over the bridge, meeting congratulatory cries from doorsteps and windows on all sides, they doubled back and finally landed up at Mr. Coderre's home at 31 Laporte street. From the doorstep of his home, Mr. Coderre addressed a crowd standing in the pouring rain.

"Either at my home or my office, you will always find me. That will be my address," he said.

"And in Ottawa, too, before very long," shouted a member of the large crowd.

A RECORD VOTE CAST IN ST. ANTOINE

Mr. H. B. Ames' victory in St. Antoine ward was a handsome one and the polling was very heavy. Some telegraphers were warned off the course during the morning. In the case of one man who was shadowed from poll to poll in his game of telegraphing, proceedings are likely to be taken.

The appearance of Mr. Ames in the Club last night was heralded enthusiastically. He expressed his delight at his reception and the way the poll had resulted, thanks he said to the activity of his splendid workers. As the defeats of the ministers were announced the cheering was deafening.

Mr. Ames told a Star representative that he was very grateful to all his enthusiastic friends who had looked after his interests in the division during his absence from the city and to their zealous efforts he attributed his splendid victory that day. He said that the vote was a record one since Lord Strathcona's day and he was very glad to see that the constituency had come back to the majorities of the days of Lord Strathcona. He felt confident that this reciprocity bill will never come up again in the history of Canada.

"This has been a great victory all round and I feel very happy" he said.

Gloom in Liberal Quarters.

The election of Mr. H. B. Ames over Dr. Milton Hersey in St. Antoine division was conceded by Dr. Hersey's workers early in the evening. The returns from St. George's ward where it was believed Dr. Hersey would have a large majority gave the Opposition candidate a majority of 1,052. This was received with the deepest gloom, and when the returns from St. Andrew's ward increased Mr. Ames' majority to 1,774 Dr. Hersey's workers gave up all hope of overcoming the majority.

Dr. Hersey had arranged to receive the returns at his committee rooms in the Reform Club, University st., but he left before the first returns were received and did not return during the evening.

VICTORY FOR NATIONAL PROSPERITY—C. J. DOHERTY

The first returns received at Mr. J. H. Doherty's committee rooms at the home of Ald. Tom. O'Connell gave Mr. J. C. Walsh a majority, and the disappointment of the crowd was apparent. Ald. O'Connell, however, cheered them up saying, "Better things will come, just wait."

And sure enough poll after poll showed Mr. Doherty gaining. In St. Ann's Ward Mr. Doherty began to lead and West Ward and Centre Ward increased the advantage. His majority from across the bridge alone gave him over four hundred of a majority.

The immense crowd that assembled called for the new member. Finally Ald. O'Connell appeared on the upper balcony and announced that Mr. Doherty had won in each of the three wards of the constituency. Mr. Doherty on appearing received a great ovation. He said: "My friends, I am a proud man this evening; proud not of myself but of the men who have given me this great victory; I am proud of the energy and devotedness of you men; proud that this energy and devotedness has been rewarded by winning for the honor and glory of Canada, this, the grandest and the first constituency in Canada. I thank you not only for myself, but because you have given the lie to those who virtually told you that you could be bought with jobs. You have told them St. Ann's cannot be purchased. This is existence and her national prosperity."

Mr Walsh is Disappointed.

In the Liberal candidate's rooms, the disappointment at the defeat of Mr. J. C. Walsh was very apparent. At the last election West Ward went solidly for Mr. Doherty, and the verdict was repeated yesterday from the same district, and with added emphasis.

When interviewed by a representative of the Star, Mr. Walsh admitted that he was disappointed at the result. "The only thing to say now," he added, "is that we fought our best, and we must hope for success another time."

In addressing his supporters in his committee room on St. James street, Mr. Walsh said he had to thank them sincerely for the help they had given him. "I would rather be defeated," he concluded, "for having stood for reciprocity than be elected for standing against it."

MR. R. BICKERDIKE SILENT IN VICTORY

Mr. Robert Bickerdike was probably the least surprised man in the St. Lawrence constituency, when the news of his re-election by over 1,000 majority was announced. He stated last night that he had all along felt certain that his friends in the St. Louis ward would not go back on him. At the same time it was no secret that he had hoped better of St. Lawrence ward, which gave a majority of over 200 to his opponent.

Mr. Bickerdike's first appearance in public after his election last night was at the Freeman Hotel, St. James street, where he was entertained at dinner by a number of friends. In chatting with a Star representative, he said:

"I would rather not make any specific statement to-night, in view of the fact that I have not yet received the official returns. I understand that I am elected by a good majority, and I am very pleased."

Mr. Johnston is Cool.

Excitement was keen at Mr. Johnston's headquarters, 39 St. Catherine street west, just before the returns began to come in. From the very start, however, the announcements were disappointing owing to the fact that early returns from St. Louis ward gave Mr. Bickerdike large majorities.

By 6.30, the figures showed over 400 majority for Mr. Bickerdike. All this time, it was commonly remarked that Mr. Johnston was the coolest man in the crowded committee room. He stood right in the centre of the throng which surrounded the blackboard, with a handkerchief tucked under his chin, and never said a word to anybody, no matter whether the crowd cheered or groaned.

His first action was at 6.30, when he called one of his workers over to him.

"Telephone home that we've lost," was all he said, and veteran campaign workers in the room at the time declared that he took his defeat more stoically than any man they ever heard of.

Shortly after 7 o'clock, when Mr. Bickerdike's majority was calculated at over 700, Mr. Johnston mounted a table and addressed the crowd in the committee room:

"It is perfectly evident," he said, "that whether by fair or foul means, we are defeated, and if it is by fair means, I heartily congratulate Mr. Bickerdike. I want to thank every man who has helped me in this campaign. We have put up a good, stiff, loyal fight and our hands are clean. We have not spent a dollar that we should not have spent, and we have not bought a vote. That is at least a comfort. Thank you, gentlemen."

ALD. L. A. LAPOINTE STANDS FOR DEMOCRACY.

Excitement of an intense nature reigned in the Central Committee Rooms of Alderman L. A. Lapointe, Liberal candidate for St. James. As the returns came in showing that early anticipations of victory were more than realized, the cheering became continuous, and when the final result was announced, there was a great demonstration.

The successful candidate, addressing his supporters, said: "I am more than grateful for this demonstration. I shall be proud to represent this division. The fight has been won by fair means. I have no grudge against my opponent. I believe he fought honestly. This victory is due to the fact that I have consistently advocated the policy of Sir Wilfrid Laurier."

Mr. Asselin Cheerful in Defeat.

Long before the polls had been closed, a large crowd gathered in front of Mr. Asselin's headquarters, at the corner of St. Andre and St. Catherine streets. As the successive polls continued to increase the Liberal lead, they were received with groans. When twenty polls had been announced and Mr. Lapointe was leading by some five hundred, the crowd lost heart and began to leave. As the fortieth poll was being given out, there was less than two hundred people present.

Mr. Asselin was the most cheerful man of the crowd. When half the polls were in, he admitted defeat. "I have done my best," he said. "The polls that I counted on did not come. Had the Conservatives voted in the northern part of the division, I would have given Mr. Lapointe a close run. It was their abstention from voting that defeated me. The "machine" has been at work in the larger polls, while the lesser ones have been neglected. I have no cause to feel humiliated."

MR. MEREDIC MARTIN IS JUBILANT IN ST. MARY'S

"If I cannot get the bill through whereby the men employed in the big concerns, will get paid twice a month instead of monthly, I will not be a candidate at the next election," declared Mr. Mederic Martin, to over a thousand of his electors last evening after he was found to be elected by a majority of 2,140 votes.

Before the complete returns were in, Mr. Martin's majority was so great that there was no doubt of his winning by a big majority.

Mr. Martin thanked the voters for the strong support they had given him. He had great faith in his electors from the first, but hardly dreamed of such an overwhelming victory. He promised to do his utmost to help the electors of the division and especially thanked the women who aided in the campaign.

Mr. Masse is not Discouraged.

There was a large crowd of Conservative supporters in St. Mary's division committee-rooms to welcome Mr. J. A. Masse, on his arrival.

As soon as 57 returns out of the total of 79 were in, and there was a majority of over 1,500 votes for Mr. Martin, the Conservative champion acknowledged defeat, and rose to address his supporters. He thanked them for the fight they had put up. There was no reproach due to any one, he said, because they had not won, and he hoped that, on a future occasion, they would succeed in turning defeat into victory. He found consolation as a labor candidate in the fact that the first time Mr. Verville ran, he suffered an overwhelming defeat, though, on a subsequent occasion he turned that defeat into victory.

MR. VERVILLE PLEASED AT WORKERS' VOTE

"It shows that the workingmen still believe that their interests in the Parliament can be well safeguarded by one of them, and that the electors of Maisonneuve are satisfied with my past conduct," declared Mr. A. Verville. Labor member, when asked for an expression of opinion immediately after it was sure that he was elected over Mr. E. W. Villeneuve. Of his majority of 2,187, four hundred was given by Hochelaga ward, 1,200 by St. Jean Baptiste ward and four hundred by the town of Maisonneuve. The reports showed that the contest had been very uneven, as nearly every poll had a majority for Mr. Verville, and the few polls where Mr. Villeneuve had a majority gave very small figures.

Mr. Villeneuve Satisfied.

"I would rather be defeated and have my party elected, than be elected and have my party defeated," said Mr. E. W. Villeneuve, to an overflow meeting which greeted him at the St. Jean Baptiste market about seven o'clock last night.

"I wish to thank, from the bottom of my heart, all those who worked so valiantly, and so energetically in my behalf in the division of Maisonneuve. I have been beaten but I think you will all admit I made a very creditable showing, considering the fact that I had to contest the largest division in Canada, and that I entered the fight only a couple of weeks before polling day.

AMERICAN PAPERS ARE VERY ANGRY OVER THE RESULT

"Ignorance, Prejudice, Passion," and Other Things Accountable for Turndown, They Say.

PRESIDENT TAFT IS MUCH DISAPPOINTED

Some Significant and Enlightening Comments on Canada's Decision to Stand Alone.

Special to The Montreal Star.

New York, September 22.—Editorial comment upon the defeat of reciprocity at the Canadian polls is generally to the effect that the merits of the reciprocity compact were ignored and that appeals to prejudice swayed the result. Extracts from newspapers in several cities follow:

The Washington Post:

"Naturally the insurgents will try to utilize the defeat of reciprocity to embarrass President Taft, but the country is not likely to blame him for Canada's action. The presumption becomes stronger that as Canada does not approve of the pact it must have proved a good thing for the United States if carried through."

The Washington Herald:—

"From the very beginning of the campaign the opponents of reciprocity appealed directly to Canadian patriotism and prejudice, ultimate annexation and the sacrifice of Canadian independence were predicted. During the campaign the merits of the question were almost entirely ignored."

The Boston Post:—

"The overwhelming defeat of the Liberals, which means the defeat of the reciprocity agreement, is a halting of the wheels of national and international progress, which certainly Canadians themselves will yet come to regret. It is for the best interests of neither that a movement for the bringing about of a more satisfactory state of affairs has been so suddenly checked."

The Boston Journal:—

"Canada is not ready for reciprocity. The movement is too liberal for a people who are still deeply susceptible to such a false alarm as annexation. It is too advanced for a people who, as yesterday's results at the polls show, are blind to the deliberate misconstruction of friendly words spoken by the American President and tragically serious over a witless joke sprung by the Speaker of the House of Representatives at Washington."

A GREAT DISASTER SAYS THE "WORLD"

The World (Ind. Dem.) says: "The credit for the result must be variously apportioned. Part of it belongs to the manufacturing interests, which are highly protected in Canada, as they are in the United States, and resent even the slightest interference with their privilege to tax consumers.

"Part of it belongs to the Canadian Pacific Railroad, which is more concerned about its own dividends than about the welfare of the Canadian people.

"Part of it belongs to the United Empire Loyalists, who have never yet forgiven the United States for the war of the revolution.

"Part of it belongs to a super-patriotic Canadian element which foolishly feared that reciprocity might lead to annexation and the loss of Canada's national identity.

"Part of it belongs to the Conservative party, which appealed to every prejudice and passion in the campaign to divide the Laurier government.

"Part of it belongs to the American protected interests, which bitterly resisted the reciprocity bill in Congress and helped to promote the Canadian opposition as soon as they found themselves beaten in Washington.

"Popular stupidity has rarely won a more decisive victory. The time will come, we think, when intelligent Canadian opinion will regard yesterday's election as one of the greatest disasters that has ever befallen the Dominion.

RESULT SURPRISING DECLARES "HERALD"

The Herald: "The voters of Canada have spoken, and the result is as surprising as it is emphatic. This landslide means that, for the present at least, reciprocity between the United and the Dominion is an impossibility. The large majority of the victors makes them independent of the Nationalist members, and will enable them to carry out any programme they may decide upon. And the chief article on any programme will be the rejection of the agreements for freer trade relations between the two nations.

"The result is a triumph for the protected interests of Canada, and is made possible by the failure of the agricultural element to rally to the cause that would have bettered their condition through opening the great markets of the United States to their products.

"The effect of the election on the future of Canada must be watched with interest.

"As for Sir Wilfrid Laurier, he may well feel that he met defeat fighting for the best interests of the Canada he has served so long and faithfully. To him, as to President Taft, the result must be disappointment. But time will vindicate his position. Canada needs our markets more than we need hers."

PREJUDICE AND ALSO DELUSION SAYS "TIMES"

The Times says:

"Again the hands of the clock have been set back. Prejudice and delusion have triumphed in Canada, the best Government the Dominion has had in many years has been overthrown, and her ablest statesman has been deprived, temporarily at least, of his leadership. Large Conservative gains are reported from Manitoba and the Maritime Provinces, as well as from Quebec.

"The opposition to the reciprocity treaty with the United States, upon the ratification of which the Liberal Government of Sir Wilfrid Laurier staked its existence, was partly economical, but largely sentimental, and based on false sentiment at that. The imperial pride of the people was appealed to by all sorts of political trickery, and the preposterous bogey of annexation was used effectively. Lesser political complications, however, such as the Nationalist disaffection in Quebec, and the pending charges against minor officials, had their effect. The Canadian election is a triumph of reaction and ignorance.

"The darkest shadow on the election yesterday is the triumph of the American trusts in Canadian politics. The trusts won yesterday as they won so often in the United States, and by the same methods. We have routed them at last in the Republic.

"At the first invasion the Canadian voter goes down before the money and the method of the American trusts. It will be many years before they free themselves from the shameful yoke.

"To President Taft and the Republican party the disaster is immense. The President called an extra session of Congress to sit during the heat of a long summer to pass this bill. He assured Congress and the country that Canada would endorse it. Now Canada has repudiated it.

"Meanwhile the President has vetoed the Democratic tariff revision downward bills. The country has nothing whatever in the way of relief. Every Republican pledge has failed.

"The hand of the American Republic stretched in commercial friendship across the border has been rudely rejected. Perhaps Canada will stretch the next hand."

"SOME DAY," TRIBUNE THINKS CHEERFULLY

The Tribune says:—

"The Canadian voters have evidently been governed more by prejudice than by reason in rejecting a friendly trade agreement, by which both Canada and the United States would undoubtedly have profited. Yet the people of the Dominion are entitled to their own opinion as to the effects of a compact intended to bring the two countries into closer commercial relations, and if they believe that the political dangers of such an association of interests would outweigh its admitted economic advantages it is not for the people of the United States to quarrel with that decision.

"At all events this country has shown its willingness to renew the reciprocal trade arrangements of half a century ago, whose annulment by the Government at Washington, Canada long regretted. Trade across the border is bound to increase because of the natural desire of the people of the two countries to do business with each other.

"Though Canada has temporarily refused to sanction a compact intended to expand American-Canadian commerce, the United States will not alter its attitude of friendliness or cease to hope that another agreement aiming at the same results as the Taft-Laurier compact will some day be approved by both nations."

THINKS SIDE ISSUES CARRIED THE DAY

The Journal of Commerce says:—

"Side issues imported into the controversy evidently carried the day for Opposition. It is an Opposition composed of incongruous elements, and one which may, from its obvious lack of cohesion, prove unequal to the task of assuming the responsibility of Government. It is difficult to imagine a political concern of action in a sphere of legislation or constructive statesmanship between the flamboyant Loyalists of Ontario and the recalcitrant Nationalists of Quebec. It is a simple negation which has triumphed in Canada. The reins of power have been turned over to a coalition which, on certain vital issues imported into the contest, pulls both ways."

"NO PARTY VICTORY," OTTAWA JOURNAL.

The Evening Journal, commenting on the election result says:

"By one of the most overwhelming national votes in the political annals of civilization, the people of Canada yesterday declared their determination to hoe their own row as a British country.

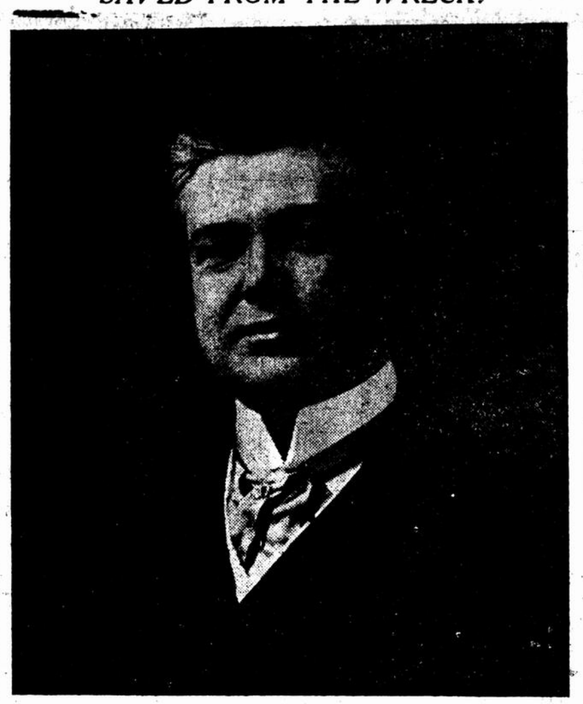

"They made their verdict so decisive that never again will the leaders of any political party dare to offend Canada's intention to pursue a national development under the British flag. This was the issue which lay in the public mind. This country accepted the view of the President of the United States that Canada stood at a parting of the ways—namely—the way of continental union versus the way of British union—and this country has given her answer.

"The victory is not to be set down as a party one. It is not to be set down as a victory of Conservatives over Liberals. The triumph of the Opposition to reciprocity, could have been gained only by the assistance of the patriotism and courage and self-sacrifice of tens of thousands of Liberals, who in this election, subordinated their party affiliations and sympathies to what they felt to be a national call."

"Toiler" Arrived at Halifax.

Word was received that the oil engined canal vessel Toiler has safely arrived at Halifax this morning, after a passage of 34 days. The Toiler has been built on the Tyne to designs and suggestions submitted by John Reid & Co., of Montreal, and is the first Diesel oil engined vessel to make an ocean voyage. The hull is of the usual Canadian canal size, and is designed to carry 100,000 bushels of wheat on 14 feet draft.

SAVED FROM THE WRECK.

Hon. Rodolph Lemieux, one of the few Ministers to be returned, who will play an important part in re-organizing the Liberal Party.

WHAT EFFECT WILL IT HAVE IN THE U. S.

Some Republicans Think it Will Benefit Taft; Others Differ.

Washington, September 22. — The question which is to-day agitating leaders of political parties and factions throughout the United States is how their fortune in the approaching national campaign will be affected by yesterday's defeat of the Laurier Government and Canadian reciprocity.

It is evident that the replies will be varied in character, as were the political views of the factions which fought over the question during the special session of Congress.

Official Washington closely followed the returns from Canada last night, but remained silent as the figures poured in, showing the Laurier party had been defeated and reciprocity rejected. The unofficial view was that as Canada had rejected the agreement, there was nothing for the Administration but to "make the best of the matter."

That the rejection of the Canadian agreement will have a strong bearing upon the campaign of President Taft for re-nomination and re-election is not doubted. Some of the "Old Guard" Republicans, who supported the agreement "against their better judgment" are saying that its defeat will strengthen the Taft administration by removing the only issue on which they were in disagreement with the President.

Most of the Insurgent Republicans opposed the agreement, and they believe their position has been made much stronger by the result of the election in Canada.

There was no one here to speak, even informally, for the Democrats. A majority of that party, in both the Senate and House, voted for the enactment of the agreement, and without their votes the Taft programme for the special session would have failed.

Some of the friends of the Canadian agreement do not hesitate to charge the Canadian defeat of the Laurier government to the "annexation bogey."

MR. UNDERWOOD IS "GREATLY SURPRISED"

Birmingham, Ala., September 22. — Congressman O. W. Underwood, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, when informed of the result of the Canadian election, said: "I am greatly surprised and disappointed to learn of the defeat of reciprocity in Canada. I believe that reciprocity would have resulted in good to both countries concerned, and that both countries, as a result of to-day's election, have suffered material losses."

Special to The Montreal Star.

New York, September 22.—A Sun Washington special says:

"Canada's rejection of reciprocity yesterday does not foreclose the establishment, in the comparatively near future, of reciprocity negotiations between the United States and Canada. The bill passed by Congress and approved by President Taft, embodying the terms of the agreement, will remain law unless repeal measures are passed, but the general impression is that no action will be taken in this direction during the life of the present adminstration at least.

"In fact, the belief prevails among the officials that the reciprocity agitation will be continued in Canada, and the hope is expressed that the issue will be fought out again at the polls within the next few years."

An exciting attack was made recently by armed brigands on a diligence making the passenger and despatch service between Constantine and Ain-Beiga, Algiers. At a lonely part of the way the driver reeled from his seat beneath a stunning blow from a club. Two of the horses were thrown to the ground, and a shower of stones rattled down upon the coach. Armed highwaymen suddenly surrounded the vehicle forcing the passengers to hand over their money, jewels, and luggage. Even a little boy who had only three cents in his pocket, was forced to do as the rest.

During the month of August, 1911, there were 119 steamers called at the port of Prince Rupert, British Columbia, and 93 departures. For a new city not yet five years old; this is somewhat remarkable.

THE RELIGION OF BERLIN.

The returns, which are just published, show that on December 1, 1905, there were in the capital of the German Empire the folowing number of religious bodies: Evangelical Christians, 1,704,612; Roman, Greek and Old Catholics, 223,948; Jews, 98,893; Dissentients and other Christians 9,780; members of other religions, principally Moslems and Buddhists, 96; men who professed no religion, 1,733. Of the total population seventeen-twentieths were Evangelical, one-ninth Catholic, and nearly one-twentieth Jewish.

In 1811 there were in Berlin only 4,161 Catholics their place in the population having risen in ninety-four years from 2.45 per cent. to 10.9 per cent., or four and a half times.

In the same period the Jewish population has grow from 3,292 to 98,893, (or from 1.94 per cent. to 4.85 per cent. The Evangelicals dropped from 95.6 per cent. to 83.54 per cent. Since 1900 the Catholics have shown the largest growth, 18.84 per cent.; the Jews in this latter period 6.72; and the Evangelical 1.25.

The Evangelicals mostly reside in northern Berlin, the Catholics in the western portion, and the Jews in the Spandau quarter. They are most numerous in the King's quarter in old Berlin and in the western portion of the suburbs.

LAWYERS' STRIKES.

Even lawyers have been known to go on strike. Three years ago the barristers in Cierra Leone were so dissatisfied with the Judge acting as substitute for the Chief Justice while the latter was on leave, that they unanimously elected to give up pleading before him. Legal business in the colony was therefore at a standstill until the Chief Justice returned. France, too, affords an instance of a legal strike. One of the Judges at St. Amand recently accused the local lawyers of deliberately promoting disputes in order to fill their pockets with fees. Thereupon all the lawyers in court departed in a body and forwarded a letter stating that they would not return until the insulting statement had been withdrawn. Eventually the Judge apologized and the lawyers returned to work.

CANADIAN PRESS COMMENT ON OVERFLOW OF THE GOVERNMENT

View is General That Chief Significance of Result is That Canadians are Determined There Must Not Be Any Weakening of the Imperial Bond or Any Dictation From Washington.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Toronto, Ont., September 22.—The Globe, the leading Government organ, under the caption, "Out on a great issue" editorially says in its petulance and disappointment:

"The Government of Sir Wilfrid Laurier goes out of power on a great issue. Believing as it did that the offer of the United States to exchange natural products with Canada on a duty free basis would prove advantageous to both countries, the Government risked its life on the issue of reciprocity and lost it. The people of Ontario do not like their neighbors to the south. That is emphatically the lesson of yesterday's election. Liberals in tens of thousands must have joined with the Conservatives in the city and country to show their objection to having any truck or trade with the Yankees. The other provinces of the Dominion taken together gave a majority for Laurier and larger markets, but by an overwhelming vote Ontario has declared that she will have nothing to do with reciprocity. The campaign orators of the Conservative party builded better than they knew when during the last two weeks of the campaign they appealed to the people of this province to save Cnaada from the Americans. They created a wave of feeling that was not observable on the surface but that nevertheless swept the voters from their political moorings in vast numbers.

"It is a matter of very great regret that so many of the leaders of the Liberal party should be among the defeated. Parliament will be greatly the poorer because of the absence of men like Fielding and Paterson and Fisher and George Graham and MacKenzie King. They were tried administrators and good Canadians."

Proud to be a Canadian.

The Mail and Empire, the Conservative organ, on "The Downfall of Laurierism," says:

"The Knox-Fielding pact has received its quietus. That menace of Canada's independence, that troubler of our politics for the last eight months has been dealt with by the sovereign people in a fashion that makes a man feel prouder than ever to call himself a Canadian of this grand country, this other Eden, "demi-paradise," the humblest must feel it an honor to be a citizen and the highest must feel it an honor to be the fellow citizen of the great majority, who yesterday tore into tatters, the convenant of treason our ministers concluded with the President of the United States. The Canadian people have proved themselves worthy of their great country. Higher praise than that they can scarcely ask to be passed upon them. The people saw through the miserable shams and with serene minds brought the Government to account for its great iniquity and passed stern sentence upon it. The Laurier Government has closed in the deepest dishonor a career of unparalleled graft and disloyalty to people.

A Political Cataclysm.

The World, (Ind.) comes out this morning with the words, "Glory Hallelujah," in two inch letters in red, across the front page. Editorially under the caption of "Canada's Red Letter Day." it says in part:

"No more discredited Government ever returned from the polls than the Laurier administration last night. The defeat of eight ministers is sufficient to make explanation or excuse unnecessary. The people were tired of their rule, and they did not want the new policy which the machine politicians had hoped would retain them in power. A number of causes contributel to the general downfall besides reciprocity, but the reciprocity question served as a nucleus around which the dissentient opinion of the country crystallized with the resultant debacle. No part of the country differed from another in the general sentiment. The gain to Canada in this respect is incalculable. One pulse throbs from the heart of Canada in all its vital members. The gains made against the Government were proportionate in the several provinces. It is only noticeable that they exceeded the most sanguine anticipation. There were some who spoke in the last few days of another 'Whitney landslide' But the Laurier defeat is a political cataclysm.

OTTAWA COMMENT.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, Ont., September 22—Commenting on the result, the Citizen (Conservative) says: "The people of Canada have risen nobly to the occasion. The grave danger was that the temptation of grain thrown before them in a specious guise might have won them from their ideals of nationhood and loyalty. But they rose above the insidious lure Even the men to whom the more immediate inducements were held out, the agricultural interests of Canada, spurned the materialistic bribe when it was once borne in upon them that for the advantages promised a price was sooner or later to be exacted which honor and fealty could not but regard with disdain. The polling returns of yesterday are the result.

"The answer has been written large so that our own and other governments may read. Canada is staunch to its ideals, staunch in its fidelity to the Empire and to the destiny which it has worked towards as an integral portion of the great galaxy of nations which go to make up the highest ideal of nationality that the world has yet seen.

"This is not the time to discuss what might have been. But had the people of Canada not risen to the occasion yesterday, the disintegration of the Empire would have been begun. It was not a mere party victory, it was a triumph of the Canadian people who put patriotism before party.

HALIFAX COMMENT.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Halifax N.S., September 22.—The Halifax Herald (Conservative) in the course of an editorial this morning, says, "Our first thought in calmly reviewing the reported results of the voting yesterday, is one of deep thankfulnes for the happy deliverance of this Dominion from the policy and power of Laurier, Fielding, Paterson, and Taft and all that that implies. Perhaps never before, certainly not for many decades, has any cabinet met with such a smashing condemnation as that administered by the people to the Laurier Government yesterday

"We congratulate Mr. Borden, we congratulate the constituency of Halifax, we congratulate the whole Dominion on its splendid victory, for in making Mr. Borden their new Prime Minister the people of Canada yesterday undoubtedly did the best day's work in their recent history.

"The people of Canada have decided against 'suicide by reciprocity;' they have decided against Taft and against annexation; they have declared emphatically for a free Canada and an united Empire; they have, in effect voted for British reciprocity; and have thus sent a message of good cheer to the Motherland which should doubly hearten those British patriots whole policy of fiscal reform is aptly designed to link all parts of the Empire in a mutually helpful and perpetual union."

The Chronicle's Comment.

The Morning Chronicle (Liberal), under the caption: "The Government's Defeat," says:—"The battle is over and the Government of Sir Wilfrid Laurier has gone down to defeat. We need not tell our readers that the result is as disappointing to us, as it is overwhelming to Liberals everywhere. The Liberal party has had to fight in the campaign not merely its natural opponents, but an unnatural combination made up of the Tories, the big interests, and the Bourassa outfit in Quebec. The whole force of the big manufacturing interests, the trusts and combines and the financial magnates of Montreal and Toronto, backed, there is abundant reason to believe, by the millions of the American trusts, was arrayed against the Government, and the combination was too formidable to overcome. Never in the political history of the country has such a desperate attack been made upon a Government, and to the eternal disgrace of the people of Canada this dastardly attack has been effectual. The Liberal party had right and justice on its side. It was led by a statesman of pure, lofty motives, who risked his political life in combatting a dangerous and confederation wrecking propaganda among his compatriots of Quebec. It went into battle as the champion of a policy for the welfare of the common people. In so doing it antagonized the money kings and magnates of the manufacturing interests who have grown rich through tariff and other favors, and who with an arrogance characteristic of their class held in contempt popular rights. Although the reciprocity measure touched them in no way, but, on the contrary, was calculated to benefit them in common with the country at large, they resenled the removal of duties on food and natural products as an invasion of their special privileges. They showed the whole weight of their money power against the Government. They filled the "war chest" of the Tory-Nationalist party. They made a dead set upon the Cabinet ministers who were struck down with ruthless hand."

QUEBEC COMMENT.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Quebec, September 22.—This morning's Chronicle (Conservative) says:—"Canadians showed yesterday that before all, their chief desire is to preserve Canada for the Canadians. The verdict of yesterday is the most momentous in our history. Had it been otherwise we should have inevitably surrendered in the course of time our fiscal and political independence. It would have been no sudden process of assimilation but day by day, year by year, we should have built up a community of interests between ourselves and the United States, that would have jeopardized our very existence as a people. It is doubtful if we fully realize the true import of the present victory. Where we might have become a by-word and a hissing among the nations, to-day confident of our future, and assured of the respect of other peoples, we march onward to the fulfilment of our destiny, slaves of no men and masters of ourselves."

La Vigie (Liberal) says editorially this morning that its first thought was for the venerated chief of its party to whom, it says, in the name of the old friends who for one-third of a century have remained faithful to him, that he can count more than ever on their devotion. It declares that more than one of them was seen to shed tears when the defeat of Sir Wilfrid's Government was brought home to them. La Vigie says its second thought was for its country and continues: "The result is due to a monstrous coalition of discordant elements including Imperialism and anti-Imperialism between which extremes the proper course was the happy middle one that has been followed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier for the last fifteen years."

St. John Comment.

Special to The Montreal Star.

St. John, N.B., September 22.—After referring to Sir Wilfrid Laurier's previous disastrous campaign for unrestricted reciprocity, the St. John Standard (Conservative) says: "Again without a mandate from the people Sir Wilfrid Laurier entered into an agreement with President Taft to hand over all the control of our trade relations with other countries to the government at Washington. He has received his answer, an answer that will not be forgotten by the people of this country for years to come; an answer that will be applauded in every section of the Empire however remote. By the wiles of his friends Sir Wilfrid Laurier was declared elected by acclamation in Quebec East, but seven of his ministers, including the two who conducted the tariff negotiations at Washington, have suffered defeat, and his party is routed.

"Mr. Borden, who adheres to the old trade policy of the Conservative party, which has led to the upbuilding of new industries, the creation of a home market, the construction of rail ways for opening up the country, by providing ways and means for the development of agriculture, by the promotion of better roads, the nationalization of our chief ports and other important measures that will insure the continued prosperity of Canada, has been returned to power by a majority of 48, according to the latest returns. Under the new government Canada will enter upon an era of greater prosperity than ever before and the grafters and middlemen will disappear from our politics."

The Times (Liberal) says: "The appeal to prejudice and passion has been successfull. The country was partially swept off its feet by appeals to loyalty which should have had no place at all in the campaign and by a cunning play upon the prejudice of the people. There were, of course, other influences, the trusts and combines subscribed heavily and the friends of high tariff fought with tremendous energy to defeat the government. Then there was Bourassa and his campaign against Sir Wilfrid in Quebec, it has pleased the majority of the people of Canada to reject a trade agreement which the Liberals believe would have added immensely to the prosperity of their country.

"This journal believes that time will vindicate the judgment of the Liberal party and that the trade restriction policy will ere many years suffer a defeat as complete as is its victory to-day."

VANCOUVER COMMENT.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Vancouver, B.C., September 22, — The Province (Conservative) says: The country has pronounced decisively against reciprocity. That is the outstanding feature of yesterday's election. The defeat of the Government is a natural and unavoidable consequence of the resolution of the Canadian people to refuse to enter into any commercial relations with the United States which would imperil our national destiny or impair the ties which bind us to Great Britain. The people recognize that under the National Policy the prosperity which we now enjoy has been created. They realize that by continuing that policy a still greater measure of prosperity awaits the country, a prosperity which they ought neither to jeopardise nor share with their neighbors, but sedulously cultivate and increase for their own benefit and that of their children. The defeat of eight members of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's cabinet, including the two who negotiated the reciprocity pact, was a signal expression of the feeling of the electorate. No government, indeed, after such a pronouncement as that just given will venture to propose commercial relations with the United States that would reverse the trade policy which confirms us in our progress and guards our national destiny. Canada has decided finally against any possibility of closer ties with the United States. She has indeed reached the parting of ways, she has chosen the path to national greatness under the British flag.

Will Not Weaken Imperial Bond.

The News-Advertiser (Cons.) says: "Laurier has been gradually losing touch with the people, flattering himself that the adulation of his more servile followers and the conduct of the majority in Parliament in dealing with public graft represented public opinion. Having suddenly changed his own position on Reciprocity he thought he could change the people too, but they never changed and Liberals who refused to turn with him contributed to his defeat."

"Canada has served notice on all concerned at home and abroad that she is not looking to Washington, and is not disposed to weaken the Imperial bond. This is the final word on the subject and it will doubtless be welcome to the Tariff Reformers in the Mother Country. We are not surprised at the result which any person with a knowledge of Canadian history or Canadian temper would have foreseen. The Government was doomed to defeat in any case, but hastened and completed its own ruin by attempting to save itself with Reciprocity."

DUST AND TUBERCULOSIS.

What shall we say of the careless men and women, who deliberately eject into the public streets, highways, and conveyances, sputum that may contain billions of germs, which, when they are dried, shall join the Kingdom of Dust, as the right hand of death? Were a man to run amuck through the crowded streets of our cities, stabbing and shooting, right and left, what would be done with him? In self-defence, one would shoot him down as though he were a beast of prey. And yet, he would be comparatively harmless, as he could wound or kill only a few people before he were stopped. Yet we permit the well dressed gentleman or lady, educated and apparently refined, to expectorate upon the streets, although we know, absolutely know, that their sputa might and probably will, cause hundreds of thousands of deaths. Such unfortunates are infinitely more dangerous to the welfare of mankind than the poor madman who runs amuck, and is shot down as a beast.

If we are to fight the great white plague, it must be through the means given to us by science. We know the cause. We know how to stamp it out. Stringent laws concerning expectoration and the disposal of excreta should be passed by every law-making body in the world, and the people made to save themselves, from the terrible, frightful punishment inflicted upon them by the bacillus tuberculosis, the gruesome right hand of death.—From "The Kingdom of Dust," by J. Gordon Ogden, in the October Popular Mechanics Magazine.

LONDON COMMENT ON OUTCOME OF THE ELECTIONS

Kindly References to Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Services to Canada and the Empire.

CANADIAN LOYALTY IS WARMLY PRAISED

Premier Might Have Continued in Power, Declares Westminster Gazette, But for Pact.

By Special Cable from Our Own Correspondent.

London, September 22.—The Radical Westminster Gazette, the most influential of the Ministerial organs in London, says this afternoon:

"All of us, irrespective of party, may join in a salute to the fallen leader, who has indeed conferred immense benefits both on Canada and the Empire. His reputation is secure and we need not pity him too much.

"For the moment he has failed, but if we judge him rightly he will keep his flag flying and be heard of on yet another battlefield.

"From an Imperial viewpoint we find many grounds for encouragement and consolation in the Canadian elections. We had rather the Canadian people voted against reciprocity in the belief that it might weaken the Imperial tie, than vote for it with the deliberate intention of producing that result.

"Mr. R. L. Borden is a man of great ability and sincere patriotism, and we have not the slightest doubt that Canada will continue to prosper under his guidance and that the relations between the Dominion Government and the Imperial Government will remain as cordial as under his predecessor.

"On the reciprocity question, as on all other questions of domestic policy, Canada will work out her own salvation, and whatever may be the fortune of that controversy, we in this country shall regard either Canadian Government as our friends and friends of the Empire."

The Star calls the Canadian Protectionists nasty names, and says:

"The unholy alliance between the Conservatives and Nationalists is bound to break up under the stress and strain of political realities."

UNIONIST PAPERS GREATLY PLEASED.

The Unionist journals are jubilant. The Pall Mall Gazette whose editor, Mr. Garvin, is supposed to be a considerable power in Unionist circles, says:

"Patriotic feeling and a sense of nationhood have triumphed despite the overtures dangled before the Canadian people." But the Pall Mall Gazette also pays a tribute to Sir Wilfrid Laurier saying:

"t would be ungenerous to pelt him with reproaches in this tragic hour. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has rendered great services to Imperialism in circumstances peculiarly difficult, and probably no one but himself could have kept the Provincialism of Quebec for so long in subjection, while issues of great importance to the destiny of the Empire were put in the way or a solution."

"He has had to make cynical concessions, but in the matter of both trade and defence he has brought Canada further along the path of solidarity than Statesmansip of any other kind mig have accomplished.

"We can affo d to thank him for his past work as an Imperialist, in this hour when his final error has been frustrated and his daring and desperate throw for office has ended in failure.

"He now sees reciprocity lying damned. He must hope that in the retrospect of his career this ill-fated chapter will be overshadowed by the memory of his more worthy and honorable achievements.

"Canada's vision of the future, and all her spirit of manliness, pride and self-reliance in her people, have arisen to denounce the American bribe and to repudiate the treachery.

"Her decision will ring like a clarion throughout the Empire."

CANADA'S LOYALTY HIGHLY EULOGIZED.

The Evening Standard says:—

"The overwhelming character of the people's dicision is more than was expected in this country. For once we have not overestimated,—we have actually underestimated, Canadian loyalty to the Empire. Canada has turned mercial theory, and has declared that as it is a part of the Empire, so it wishes to remain, and will accept nothing which militates against that proud position."

Of President Taft the paper says:

"President Taft, we are glad to see, accepted Canada's message with becoming meekness. He failed to effect the designed breach in that 'Imperial commercial band reaching from England around the world to England again,' and the importance of rupturing which he announced. Canada is not minded either to be annexed by her neighbor or to become a hewer of wood and a drawer of water."

The Liberal Westminster Gazette after a personal tribute to Premier Laurier, who, it points out, might, if he had chosen, conducted the affairs of the Government in such a way as to continue in power, made a bolder choice and showed his countrymen the way to a new policy, says:

"The Canadians, it is clear, are not yet prepared for the new departure, which threatened to, if it did not actually, make a breach in the policy in which for generations, they have been nurtured by both parties."

WINDERMERE.

RESULT WAS A GREAT SURPRISE TO ENGLAND.

London, September 22.—The overwhelming defeat of Premier Laurier and the Liberal government's policy of reciprocity with the United States, at the polls in Canada yesterday, came as a surprise to England. It had been expected that the Liberal majority would be decreased but even the strongest opponents of reciprocity had not so much as suggested such a majority against the Canadian-American agreement as the Conservative leader, Mr. Borden, obtained.

The result is generally welcomed here as Englishmen had felt that the trade arrangement presaged closer political relations between the neighbors and a consequent loosening of the Imperial ties.

There was a slight relapse in American securities on the stock exchange this morning following the Liberal defeat but prices soon recovered and later changes were credited to other causes.

The Unionist and tariff Reform papers receive the news with undisguised elation while the Liberal and Radical press remind them that the victory was obtained with the assistance of Henri Bourassa, leader of the French Nationalist group of the Opposition who left Laurier because of the Premier's attachment to the Empire.

The Unionist Globe says that while there were some side factors in the contest, "the issue was reciprocity and the Canadian people will have none of it.

"They heard the voice of President Taft declaring that reciprocity meant annexation. They heard the voice of Sir Wilfrid Laurier in indignant denial but on the whole they decided to believe the President rather than the Premier. They were right in doing so. The struggle is on between Imperialism and continentalism, as the German papers pointed out months ago and Imperialism has won. The Canadian sees the road to which reciprocity leads. He has no wish to move in the orbit of Washington."

A mysterious burglary, which carries with it an infinitely poignant note of tragedy, was perpetrated in a Paris hotel lately. A wedding party of thirty persons, consisting of the Hanon family and friends, travelled from the provinces to Paris for the wedding of Eugene Hanon. As soon as they reached their rooms they unpacked the festal garments. Then they set out for a walk along the boulevards. On their return, however, they found to their dismay that all the wedding garments had disappeared. The grandmother's black satin was gone, as well as the veteran uncle's morning coat, with the cross he had gained in the Franco-Prussian war. The bridesmaids' frocks had also vanished, and the burglars had not even compassion on the bride. Her beautiful dress had been taken, and her orange blossoms and veil. After a family council, at which the women wept copiously for their lost finery, it was decided to attend the ceremony next morning in travelling dress.

HOW RESULT WAS RECEIVED THROUGH THIS DOMINION

Not Unexpected in Quebec, Save as Regards Size of Conservative Majority.

ONTARIO MAY HAVE ELECTIONS SOON NOW

Gloucester Fishermen Greatly Relieved at Defeat of the Reciprocity Agreement.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Quebec, September 22.—In Conservative circles here the general election results caused but little surprise last night, except in regard to the size of the Conservative majority. The Opposition leaders had looked for a majority of 20 to 30. The one cause of regret here is the quite unexpected defeat of Mr. William Price in Quebec West. He was regarded as certain of a seat in Mr. Borden's Cabinet, and his services as a Minister would, it was thought, have been of incalculable benefit to this city and district. It is hinted that he may be elected for Montmorency.

Mr. Power and Mr. Lachance, the successful candidates in the West and Centre, respectively, were accompanied to their homes by their political friends and given ovations, in the course of which they made speeches thanking the electors for returning them.

Large crowds assembled in front of L'Evenement office on Fabrique Street and in the skating rink, where the Chronicle published the returns eager to know the result. In both localities each Conservative victory was loudly acclaimed.

Important speeches were delivered bw Messrs. William Price, Armand Lavergne, and Hon. L. P. Pelletier. The first mentioned that he was a defeated candidate but was proud to have been beaten in such a contest and to have fallen in so good cause. To those who had aided and supported him he returned his thanks, but for the dirty slushers who had taken all they could get and voted against him, he said he had the utmost contempt. He declared that he would not run another election in Quebec West, even for a million dollars.

MR. LAVERGNE STILL TALKING ABOUT WEST.

Mr. Armand Lavergne, speaking for the Nationalists, declared that they were ready to support Mr. Borden, providing he would do the right thing, and treat minorities in the North West and elsewhere with equal justice. The victory of the day was an ample revenge for the manner in which the minority in the Canadian West had been treated in recent years. The Nationalists, he said, also demanded that the naval question should be made the matter of a plebiscite, as their wish was that the opinion of the whole Canadian people be asked on so vital a question, and they were ready to abide by the result.

The Hon. L. P. Pelletier said that the victory meant the saving of Canada to the British flag.

ELECTIONS IN ONTARIO NEXT.

Toronto, September 22.—Banking on the Conservative sweep in the Dominion yesterday it is the talk in Conservative circles to-lay that in all probability, Sir James Whitney will bring on the elections in Ontario within the next two months, probably within six weeks.

HOW MR. CONMEE FEELS AFTER VOTE.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Port Arthur, Ont., September 22.—Mr. Conmee's position is considered by everybody hopeless. No one thinks he will run for Parliament, but will give up his claim, in which case Mr. Carrick will be elected by acclamation. Interviewed himself late last night, he said he was in the hands of his friends.

He is an Irishman, he says, and therefore at liberty to change his mind. This is taken to mean that if he decides not to continue the campaign, he will withdraw. Personally, as far as he is concerned, he continued, the fight is still on.

"RECIPROCITY KILLED FOR EVER"—MAJOR GRIESBACH.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Edmonton, Alb., September 22.—The defeat of the Laurier Government was the occasion of a celebration the like of which has never been seen in Edmonton before. Until long after midnight the Conservatives jubilated. A monster torch light procession was organized in honor of Mayor Griesbach. Parading the principal streets, headed by massed bands, the Conservative workers made a demonstration unique in the history of the city.

Addressing the crowd from the balcony of the King Edward Hotel, Mayor Griesbach declared that his own defeat was swallowed up in the great victory of the party throughout the Dominion.

"We have killed reciprocity for ever in Canada," he said. "A few days ago I declared that the passage of the pact would sound the death knell of Canadian nationality. If it was defeated, henceforward Canada will go forth under a new policy—a policy of Canada for the Canadians. She will realize her destiny as the greatest of that congeries of nations of which the British Empire is made up. It is assured that the British flag shall ever float over our Dominion from coast to coast."

GLOUCESTER'S MANY FISHERMEN PLEASED

Special to The Montreal Star.

Gloucester, Mass., September 22.—The defeat of Laurier in Canada, and the consequent defeat of the reciprocity agreement came as a great relief to Gloucester's scores of fishing vessel owners, and to her many interests allied with the fish business.

It was as if a great weight had been lifted from the city's shoulders. Although the enactment of the reciprocity pact would have spelled "doom" in capital letters to Gloucester's extensive fish industries, in the opinion of most of the men connected with the fisheries, they had expected a victory for the Government pary in Canada. To so great an extent was this their belief that thousands of dollars have already been expended, either in the actual purchase of land and the construction of buildings for new plants in the Canadian Maritime Provinces, or in the binding of options for such land; for most of the big handlers of fish were agreed that if the reciprocity measure became law their business here would be a complete failure.

Thus the news of the defeat of the Laurier Government came as a welcome surprise.

On many sides are now heard expressions as to plans for putting into extensions and improvements the money which it had been planned to expend on new plants in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Newfoundland.

ADDITIONAL COMMENT OF CANADIAN PRESS

INDEPENDENT OF MR. BOURASSA SAYS FREE PRESS

Ottawa, September 22.—The Ottawa Free Press (Liberal) says:—

"The Laurier overnment went to the country on a clear issue and has got a clear and emphatic answer from all sections of the country. The Government had banked on Canadian opinion of twenty years ago, but it lost sight of the fact that since then, largely as a result of its own splendid administration, the situation had completely changed, and with it Canadian opinion."

It says the most satisfactory feature of the result, from a national point of view, is the fact that the Conservatives have been given a majority in the next House independent of Bourassa. In that way a calamity has been averted.

The Free Press recalls its editorial the day after Mr. Fielding announced the reciprocity pact, in which it urged that at the same time the British preference should be increased. Had that been done it thinks the result would have been different because it would have eliminated the loyalty argument.

HALIFAX RECORDER IS MUCH PERTURBED

Special to the Montreal Star.

Halifax, N.S., September 22.— The Recorder (Liberal) says:—"In a moment of weakness, induced by the deluding cry of disloyalty and by the temptation of enormous supplies of money freely spent, the electors of the Dominion gave their verdict against a government which, for fifteen years, has governed the country with unparalleled success, transforming it from a by-word of stagnation to a term synonomous with supreme progress.

"Sir Wilfrid has created a new Canada, and now the task of carrying forward its destinies is transferred to Mr. Robert L. Borden. The new Premier is a gentleman of good, though not surpassing, abilities, diligent, and of personally clean character. He has as allies, however, a group of men who are a menace to the political existence of Canada as an integral portion of the Empire. We refer to Mr Bourassa and his followers.

"Conservatives obscured the issue and substituted every sort of cry intended and calculated to mislead the electors and to procure a victory on the falsest of pretences."

HALIFAX ECHO TAKES A CURIOUS VIEW.

The Echo (Liberal) says:

"There is not much comfort for the plain people of the Dominion in the returns yesterday The party of high protection and special privilege has won the day, and however brief may be its term of office, the great masses of Canadians must be content to stand still for a time. The cause of the people must eventually triumph, of course, and perhaps the victory of the Conservatives of yesterday may pave the way, as nothing else could, for their final and complete overthrow.

"It is inconceivable that a cause that is making unprecedented headway throughout the civilized world should receive such a set-back in enlightened Canada. It is quite impossible to imagine that the people of this country will long continue to bear up under the burden that the monopolists have thus loaded upon them. Otherwise we may put to-day down as a Black Friday in the history of Canada.

"The mnufacturers and middlemen have decided that Canada is too weak to do business with the United States without losing her independence. This is not a particularly courageous position for a young and lusty nation to take, and we do not believe the people of the Dominion will long be content to abide by it."

TART REMARKS FROM TORONTO TELEGRAM

Toronto, September 22.—The Telegram says in part: "The great gift of Sir Wilfrid Laurier was his nimble sixpence aptitude for taking the cue from his advisers. It was this gift that made Sir Wilfrid Laurier one of the most brilliant opposition leaders in the parliamentary annals of Anglo-Saxon countries.

"The native shallowness and cowardice of Laurier would have wrecked him in the Manitoba school question if the equally native strength and courage of J. Israel Tarte had not brought Sir Wilfrid at the eleventh hour to see the wisdom of moving the six months' hoist of the Manitoba school bill.

"A government can retain office in this country on about ten per cent. of the general issue that an Opposition requires to win office.

"One true and genuine Canadian among the Cabinet Ministers from Ontario, or in the management of the Liberal press could have saved Sir Wilfrid in the final folly of his reciprocity delusion."

A cyclonic windstorm burst over Ballan, N.S.W., recently, doing extraordinary damage. It blew down several tall chimneys from buildings, in one instance carrying the iron, from one roof to the top of another. Huge gum trees were bodily uprooted in all directions, obstructing the main thoroughfares. Cyclists were blown off their bicycles, and pedestrians were carried against fences. Several persons had narrow escapes from flying iron and wreckage.

A remarkble meeting took place recently at Stuart town, in the Wellington district of West Australia, between a man named Flowers and his son, who had never seen each other, though the son is forty years of age. Mr. Flowers, senior, left America for Australia forty years ago; his wife remained behind, intending to follow later, but she died in giving birth to a son, who was cared for by an aunt.

KO-KO-BUT

THE PERFECT COOKING BUTTER

This pure vegetable butter makes your cooking more tasty—more digestible, more wholesome than either butter or lard.

You will find Ko-Ko-But more economical because 1 lb. goes as far as 1½ lbs. of butter or any other shortening.

Ask you grocer for Ko-Ko-But—he sells it—

On a farm near Brayfield-on-the-Green (Norths), there lives and works a hearty old shepherd who has probably established a record for long service. At the farm at which he has worked for sixty-four years, Henry, Gayton, aged seventy, with his faithful sheep-dog Bob, twenty years old, still minds the sheep, harvests, and does odd jobs. At the age of six he started work as a bird scarer at fifteenpence a week, and now, more than half a century later, he is still happily at work with a weekly wage of only 16s.

Prayers for rain are being said in the churches in Switzerland. At Evolene, in the Valais, the priests and people made a procession of penitence the other day. Dressed in white robes and hoods, 200 priests and peasants visited the suffering villages, chanting hymns and uttering prayers. In the Valais, where the temperature has been 100 deg. in the shade, the crops, streams and springs have been practically dried up and there have been many disastrous fires. For over a month no rain has fallen in Switzerland, with the exception of a few local thunderstorms.

As Forecasted by Star Big Boom Followed Great Defeat of Reciprocity

BIG BOOM IN LOCALS DURING DAY

In spite of panicky markets in Europe and a doleful affair in Wall Street, Canadian stocks were on the boom, as The Star predicted they would be if Reciprocity was beaten.

There was a wholesale rise in the local list, with Steel, C.P.R. and Ogilvie the leaders.

Steel closed before the elections at 52 and opened with a whoop at 58.

The milling stocks were also away up, especially Ogilvie which showed a sensational gain of about 8 points.

People about the "street" do not look for more protection from the Conservatives. What they expect is stability, and that is what they are going to get. They now know where they are at and look forward with joy and confidence to unlimited prosperity and expansion for years to come.

Textile was another stock to receive favorable effects from the Reciprocity vote, and sold up on small trading.

Power was strong, crossing 166.

U. S. Stocks Fell on Reciprocity Vote in Canada

Special to The Montreal Star.

London, September 22.—The anti-reciprocity vote in Canada yesterday depressed American stocks on the market here to-day.

United States Steel opend 6½ lower Amalgamated Copper was down 1⅜, and the Hill roads fell.

The market figured that Reciprocity would help the American roads.

G. T. R. ORDERS 25 ENGINES.

The G. T. R. has given a contract to the Canadian Locomotive Co. for 25 locomotives.

OPINIONS ON THE MARKET.

Charles Head: "The outlook is mixed, but bargain hunters will buy on a bad break for quick profits.

R. M. Bluer: C. P. R. ought to rise for sentimental reasons, but in view of the bad state of the European market and the complicated monetary situation, Europe has sold this morning in London, and I am afraid the price of C. P. R., notwithstanding its great merits, will go down with the rest of the market.

Laidlaw & Co.: While much that is unfavorable in prospect has been discounted, the market appears to have entered a new zone of liquidation and there is every prospect that a new low level of prices will be recorded.

Shearson Hammill: We must again advise being cautious in making commitments on the long side until the sun has cleared.

T.J. Drummond On Work Being Done at "Soo"

Mr. T. J. Drummond, president of the "Soo" Corporation, in the annual report, says:

"With the exception of certain small units the larger new plants are now in full operation, including No. 3 blast furnace with 450 tons of pig iron daily capacity and the new gas engine battery, comprising four blowing engines and four generators. New coke ovens are in full operation, and will not fail to give the results expected of them, and the same can be said of the merchant mills.

"The entire programme of new construction as originally planned having been carried out, we do not contemplate further capital expenditure. A sixth open hearth furnace is in progress, and mixers are being installed. Reserve power is being added, but with these installations the programme of extensions will be complete.

"Every effort has been made towards strengthening the supply of raw materials, and through the instrumentality of Lake Superior Iron & Steel Co., Ltd., we have been able to purchase the Magpie mine at a satisfactory price. A branch railway has been constructed."

BIG CROWDS IN OFFICES OF BROKERS

Wild Cheering Last Night When News of Conservative Victory Came.

The financial district was alive last night, and there were scenes of tremendous enthusiasm in brokers' offices, where the election returns were being received.

In F. B. McCurdy & Co.'s office it is needless to say that the roof was raised when the news came in that Mr. McCurdy, the head of the firm, had snowed the Minister of Finance under.

To Mcbougall & Cowans' office a big crowd gravitated by reason of the fact that several wealthy clients of the firm bluffed the Liberals to a standstill in the betting two days before the election, and seemed to be "in the know."

When the news came in that the Conservatives were undoubtedly elected, there was a cyclonic demonstration, followed by speeches.

The Conservative leaders, as well as Sir William Van Horne, the Star and members of the firm were cheered to the echo, while Mr. Cowans called for cheers for the successful brother brokers, Mr. F. B. McCurdy, M.P., and Mr. R. Forget, M.P.

As an evidence of the confidence felt in the outlook for Canada, buying orders were given for several thousand shares of stocks for execution in London and Montreal, in spite of the panic in the European markets.

E. & C. Randolph also entertained an enthusiastic party.

"Soo" Stock

"Soo," which was picked as one of the few stocks to benefit by Reciprocity, was quiet at 124¾, ex-dividend 3½ p.c.

IF YOU ARE BLUE DO NOT GO DOWN TO WALL STREET

Special to The Montreal Star.

Wall Street, September 22.—The unfortunate who happens to stray into Wall Street is apt to leave with the impression that the world is rushing toward a final smashup.

Everything everywhere is going wrong. Stability is to be found nowhere under the sun. Mankind all over the globe is dissatisfied insurgent, anarchistic.

The yoke of authority, of restraint is being thrown off. At every point of the compass something dreadful is happening. And, of course, securities likewise are making black history—the world's premier security, British consols, lets few suns set without tumbling to a new low level, yesterday affording no exception.

Nothing but ruin is seen ahead. Wall Street's mood is so frightfully pessimistic that one is inclined to give way either to despair or to laughter. No good thing is ever again going to visit this sad world. Every day brings the market nearer the turning point.

Very Erratic Day in the London Market

London, September 22.—American securities opened weak and from 1 to 4 1-2 points lower.

The early trading was active and some wide fluctuations occurred as dealers alternatively bought and sold on Wall Street and Continental orders. C. P. R. and Steel were the leaders. The former opened at 229 1-2, sold off to 228, then up to 230 3-4 and back to 228 3-4, during the first hour. U. S. Steel opened at 55 1-2 and eased off to 54 1-2.

A quick rally to 57 1-4 followed, but part of this gain was wiped out before noon. The rest of the list ranged from unchanged to 3 points below parity at midday.

In the afternoon the market was quieter. New York sold again, but turned buyer in the late trading and with Continental covering the market closed steadier. The rest of the sections started unsettled, but strengthened later, under the lead of Home Rails and Consols. The Canadian elections had little effect and the closing was cheerful.

MOST WONDERFUL IN HISTORY OF CANADA.

James Morgan, Colonial House, says:— "It was the most wonderful political victory in the history of Canada."

Under unusual circumstances a farm laborer, Frederick Carter, of Redbourn, Hants, died a few days ago. He was standing on a cart loading wheat when the horse moved and he was thrown upon a sheaf of wheat. A straw ran into his nose, which bled considerably, and this caused his death.

A BOOM IF THE CONS. WIN.

Every stockbroker agrees that there will be a boom in the stock market if Reciprocity is beaten.

—Star, Sept. 19.

TOPICS OF THE STREET

That will be about all for Reciprocity.

Losses Small.

A broker said to-day:

"Montrealers are not worried over this New York decline, nor are people here losing much money as a result of it. I never knew local people to be carrying such a small load of New York stocks."

This is one reason why the local list has held up so well.

In previous breaks, people have had to throw local stocks over to protect New York accounts.

Holds Up.

"Soo" is another of those stocks that takes bad news calmly. With a deficit for the year of some $350,000, it holds around 130.

Too Cheap.

Wall Street stocks are too cheap to attract the public.

The only thing that excites the lambs to jump in and get trimmed is a 5 to 10 point advance.

A Big Break.

Calumet & Hecla's shares sold yesterday at 360. This is the lowest quotation seen in 14 years for the world's premier copper mine, and represents a drop of $640 per share—$64,000,000 for the property—from the high price of $1,000 per share a little over four years ago.

Since the consolidation plan was announced on January 1, the shares have declined no less than 180 points, or from 540 to 360, a reduction of $18,000,000 in stock market valuation of the property.

A New Pilot.

The current quotation of 86 for the Texas Co. represents a depreciation of $13,500,000, or 37.7 p.c. from 136, at which price it sold during illness of John W. Gates, and a depreciation of $3,750,000, or 14 p.c. from 100, where it was selling at time of Mr. Gates' death in the first week of August.

The 50 p.c. reduction within a week of the dividend on the stock from a 10 p.c. to a 5 p.c. basis is further evidence of a change of pilots.

During the life of John W. Gates the Texas Co. never paid less than 6 p.c., which was in 1904-1905, and has paid as high as 17 p.c. as recently as 1908-1909.

60 Out of 60.

The other day The Star said that 59 out of 60 members of the Montreal Stock Exchange would vote against Reciprocity.

A broker said this morning that the one who was said to be for it practically admitted that he voted "against."

C. R. Hosmer.

The champion optimist on the "Street" in regard to a sweeping victory against Reciprocity has been Mr. C. R. Hosmer.

When the Conservatives were sometimes dubious over the outlook, Mr. Hosmer never wavered, and was steadfast in his belief of a landslide against a policy that would do the country enormous harm.

WANT GOVERNMENT'S DEFEAT AVENGED.

Special to The Montreal Star

Quebec, Que., September 22.—The Soleil, Liberal, says in connection with the Liberal defeat that it is one of the fortunes of war, and that no party can hope to have a monopoly of victory. It urges careful and prompt reorganization to the end that Laurier's defeat may be avenged at no distant date. It claims that its party has been defeated in a good cause.

The Daily Telegraph, Liberal, says: "It would be idle to conceal that we are both surprised and disappointed at the outcome of the general election in Canada. We evidently did not make sufficient allowance for the dense cloud of ignorance which still darkens so many parts of the province and for the power of the tremendous organization of hostile influences, against which Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Government was pitted."

A DELUGE OF SELLING IN WALL ST

Special to The Montreal Star.

Wall Street, September 22.—The stock market was again deluged with selling orders for U. S. Steel at the opening.

The first sale of the common was 45,000 shares, a block of almost unprecedented size, which sold at from 54 to 55½, an extreme loss of 4¼. On subsequent transactions the price fell to 53½. In the first ten minutes of trading, 105,400 shares were sold. The preferred stock sold at 103½, a loss of 2¼. The remainder of the market seriously upset. The defeat of the Canadian reciprocity was chiefly responsible for large losses among the U. S. railroad shares.

Great Northern pref. fell back 4¼; Northern Pacific, 2½; Erie 1st pref., 1¾; Lehigh Valley and Atchison, 1¼, and Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, St. Paul, Missouri Pacific, Reading and North-Western, 1.

The decline in General Electric continued and the stock lost four points.

C.P.R. JUMPED.

After the violent break a decided change of front occurred. Prices were pushed up even more rapidly than they declined in the early trading. U.S. Steel pfd. more than made up its loss, rising from 103 to 106, as compared with yesterday's closing price of 105⅝.

The common rallied 4 points from 53¼ to 57¼, recovering all but a fraction of its decline. Almost the entire list, with the exception of U.S. Steel common and the Hill shares, rallied above yesterday's close. C.P.R. made a net gain of five points.

The market ignored all influences other than the steel situation and the defeat of Reciprocity. The violence of the rally was due in large part to a rout of the bears. When it became evident that substantial support was being offered, the bull leaders took the market in hand. The turn in the trend was so swift that the short interests took fright, and began to bid against the bulls for stocks to cover their contracts.

Profit-taking sent prices off sharply again before midday, however. U.S. Steel reacted 1½ and C.P.R. 2 points.

Dividends

The New York Journal of Commerce estimates October interest and dividends payments at $180,034,370, compared with $172,618,996 a year ago.

Earnings of Winnipeg Ry. Very Heavy

Unofficial figures on Winnipeg Electric place the July earnings at $170,643. Winnipeg Electric stock has been strong lately, and from outside sources it is learned that the net earnings for July amounted to $170,643. Last year the July earnings were $132,260. The increase is, therefore, approximately $38,000, or well over $1,000 per day. The percentage rate of increase is 29.06. Up to the present time, that is, for seven months of the year, the total net earnings amounted to $1,096,226, as compared with $897,135 a year ago. The percentage gain for the year is 22.09 per cent.

Following is the monthly record for the first seven months of the year:

	1911.	1910.	Inc.
January	$157,795	$146,346	7.1

General strike called on railroads in Ireland.

"A MERE INCIDENT," SAYS ST. JOHN GLOBE.

Special to The Montreal Star.

St. John, N.B., September 22. — The Globe, Liberal, says it had such confidence in the force and strength of the reciprocal trade policy of the administration that it assumed too readily that the electorate of Canada would gladly accept the policy and action of the administration in regard thereto. It looked upon the Opposition cries and arguments against the acceptance of the measure as childish and certain ot be futile, and it did not properly estimate the force upon the public mind of the generally absurd and unreasonable objections advanced in opposition to it. Of course, the question was easily made a political one, and it served the Opposition well. The Globe declares it is deposed to view the check which has been imposed as a mere incident. The voters took into consideration alll the political business now before the country as well as the question of reciprocity. Apparently the country has grown tired of Liberal administration. The electorate had changed since 1896, and the new voters looked with indifference upon what a change might do, just as the men of 1896 did.

MR. CARRUTHERS SAYS LOCAL LIBS ARE IN BAD SHAPE

Mr. James Carruthers sent the following telegram to-day to Mr. Andrew Kelly, of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange:

"There was a whale of a landslide in this part of the country yesterday, and am afraid that some of our misguided reciprocity friends are buried so deep it will take weeks to dig them out. Ald. Jos. Ward and Harry Raphael were found this morning under a pile of debris, with photographs of President Taft around their necks; Joseph Quintal is thought to be under the bale; Frank Lynch escaped and has taken to the tall timbers; Dunc Campbell is on crutches, bruised and battered, but we hope his splendid constitution may pull him through. All he can say is, 'Well, we got Bickerdike in anyway.'"

To be Deepest Mine in the Cobalt Camp

Two drills have been started to sink the main shaft of the Temiskaming mine to a further depth from the 575 foot level and at the present time the shaft is now down between 590 and 600 feet. It will be continued to a depth of 650 feet, where the eighth mine level will be cut and all the veins drifted upon at this depth, which will be the deepest by over 75 feet ever attempted by a mine in the Cobalt camp.

HOW RECIPROCITY VOTE INFLUENCED WHEAT MARKETS

Chicago, September 22. — Wheat jumped up as much as 2¼c a bushel to-day as a result of the defeat of Canadian Reciprocity. That was the extreme rise for May delivery. Most of the trading took place at a much less advance, running down to 1⅜c. Considerable excitement was shown in oats, too, the latter making a gain of 1 to 1½c.

Minneapolis, September 22. — The defeat of Reciprocity in Canada yesterday made a wild opening on the floor of the Chamber of Commerce here to-day, and there was an excited rush to buy wheat, with few offerings. Prices jumped over four cents for both December and May. December opened on a range of 1½c, with $1.08 as the top price.

Duluth, September 22. — Wheat at the opening of the market here to-day made a violent jump of four cents.

WHEAT PRICES HAD RISE BUT RE-ACTED AGAIN

Winnipeg wheat was slightly lower today, with private cable bids from 1c to 1½c out of line. Spot wheat was in good demand for all grades, but options were dull. The wet weather over the North-West during the week has delayed the movement of wheat, and receipts to-day were only 356 cars compared with 591 a year ago.

CHEESE MARKET FIRM.

Receipts of cheese were 5374 boxes, as against 10,971 a year ago. The local market is firm, with finest western quoted around 15c and easterns at 14½ to 14⅝c.

BUTTER MARKET STEADY.

Receipts of butter were 6001 packages, as against 3629 a year ago. The local market is steady, cholcest Townships creamery being quoted at 25¾ to 26c, and seconds at 25½ to 25¾c.

REDDICK

This stock is talked of for a big advance. The company is now operating its property at Larder Lake, with reports of big gold finds.

SHORTS N WHEAT MADE WILD RUSH TO COVER LOSSES

From the Special Correspondent of the Montreal Star on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Chicago, September 22.—The failure of the Laurier party in Canada, and the burying of the reciprocity treaty for all time to come, was the cause of sensational price gains in wheat during the opening hour to-day.

Those who were short made a mad rush to even up their contracts, while the longs were heavy sellers in order to secure profits.

The Canadian contingent was in a position to reap a rich harvest of shekels, as their private information from Montreal as to the outcome of the election was correct in every sense.

The wheat markets of Europe were lower, Paris was unchanged to 1-2c lower for wheat, and 1-2 to 3-4 off for flour. Liverpool was 1-8 to 1-4d. higher for futures and was unchanged to 1-2d. higher for spot. Berlin and Buda Pest were each 3-4c better. Antwerp was unchanged. Manitoba wheat was reported as offering heavier at Liverpool, cargoes pressing for sale, especially distant offerings.

Shipments of wheat from India, Australia, and Argentina this week were 2,000,000 bushels, compared with 3,560,000 one year ago. Primary receipts were 1,132,000 bushels, against 1,221,000 one year ago. North-Western receipts were 666 cars, compared with 610 one year ago.

September wheat sold here at 93 to 94 3-4, and December at 96 7-8 to 98 7-8, compared with resting spots of 91 3-4 to 93 3-4 respectively at the close last night.—J. F. PRITCHARD.

WINNIPEG WHEAT CLOSING.

Winnipeg wheat closed at 99⅛c for October, 97⅜c for December, and $1.01½ for May.

ANOTHER BREAK IN N.Y. LIST

Special to The Montreal Star.

Wall Street, September 22.—Another selling movement of formidable proportions overtook the market after 1 o'clock.

It again centred around Steel, but spread to such allied issues as American Smelting and Amalgamated Copper.

Railroad shares were sympathetically affected. Union Pacific selling over two points under its earlier highest, while Canadian Pacific fell over 4.

U. S. Steel gave way from 57 1-4 to 54 1-2, but rallied above 56 again when the whole market hardened substantially.

The decline coincided with advices from Washington indicating the intention of the department of justice to bring further suit against corporations.

Sales to 2 p.m. in Wall Street were 1,180,000 shares.

At the close Steel was 56 3-8 and the preferred 106, Reading was 158 1-2, Union 159 3-8, Copper 52 1-4, Erie 31, C.P.R. 227 3-4, Atchison 102 3-8, Northern Pacific 114 1-2, Great Northern 122 5-8.

Smelters was very weak at 61 7-8.

CANADA ESCAPES A GREAT DANGER.

Sir Alexander Lacoste, speaking of the election, says: "In my opinion we have avoided a great danger. I was in fear of the ultimate result of reciprocity. We, in the Province of Quebec, are in one sense more interested than others to preserve the benefits of the British Constitution.

Recount in Beauharnois.

It was learned this afternoon that a recount would be demanded in Beauharnois where T. J. Papineau was reported as having defeated J. G. H. Bergeron by 26 votes. It was stated that one clerical error already known is sufficiently large to alter the result and elect Mr. Bergeron.

MR. BORDEN THANKS LIBERALS WHOSE VOTES HELPED

Says They Placed Great National Issue Above All Party Allegiance.

WILL NOT DISCUSS THE CABINET MAKE-UP NOW

Short Session of Parliament Likely to Vote Supply— Resignations in Order.

Halifax, September 22.—"The thanks of the country are due those strong Liberals who placed the great national issue above all considerations of party allegiance, and whose untiring efforts contributed in a marked degree to the splendid result accomplished."

This was the declaration made today by Mr. R. L. Borden, the Conservative leader, in summing up yesterday's election. "The election of 1878," added Mr. Borden, "was accomplished by the air of earnest men of both political parties, and the victory of 1911 is even more notable as it was achieved in the same way."

Mr. Borden declined to discuss in any way the probable make-up of the Conservative Cabinet. During the early hours to-day he received a flood of congratulatory telegrams from all parts of Canada.

Later he left for Grand Pre, N.S., to visit his mother. On the way to the railway station his fellow-Conservatives joined and made him the centre of an enthusiastic demonstration.

Mr. Borden plans to go to Ottawa to-morrow.

"The morning after the night before" in Ottawa found the city rather dumbfounded at the extent of the Conservative victory of yesterday. The immediate course of events is somewhat uncertain, pending the arrival home of Mr. R. L. Borden, but as most of the Government departments are without supply, it is probable that a short session of Parliament will be summoned very soon to vote supply and complete organization.

The first step will be the formal resignation of the Laurier Cabinet, and the summoning of Mr. Borden by the Governor-General. The Conservative chief will then be asked to take up the reins of government and form a Cabinet.

Great receptions are being arranged for Messrs. Borden, Foster and other big men of the new government on their return to Ottawa.

Dr. Roche, of Marquette, is mentioned for the Speakership of the House, as well as Senators Bolduc and Landry, of the Senate.

MONEY NEEDED FOR PUBLIC SERVICE

Early Session for Supply May Therefore Be Held—Offices to Be Filled.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa Ont., September 22.—The fact that supply in many departments of the Government service is exhausted suggests the probability of either an early session of Parliament or else recourse to Governor-General's warrants. It is considered as not improbable that a short session for supply and organization may be held without any constructive legislation being brought down. The fact, however, that much of the service is without money makes some steps necessary to remedy the situation.

The Conservatives of Ottawa, are already planning for a big welcome demonstration to Mr. Borden when he arrives from Halifax.

A number of postions will be in the gift of Mr. Borden from existing vacancies. Included among them are the post of High Commissioner at London. A high court and three county court judgeships in Ontario, and two senatorships, one for the Eastern Townships of Quebec and another in Nova Scotia.

Not the least interesting query of the day is as to the fate of the Canadian naval programme. While the Niobe and the Rainbow have been put in commission the contracts for the other eleven ships though ready, are not awarded and in view of the wide divergence of the present and prospective Governments, the situation is most interesting.

GREATEST OF INFANT PRODIGIES.

Perhaps the most marvellous infant prodigy on record was Christian Heinacker—born at Lubeck, February 6, 1721. At the age of ten months he could speak and repeat every word that was said to him, when twelve months old he knew by heart the principal events narrated in the Pentateuch, in his second year he knew most of the Bible by heart, and before he was three he learned to speak Latin and French. In his fourth year he employed himself in the study of religion and the history of the church, and his fame as a scholar spread so that the King of Denmark sent for him, and was amazed at his learning. But before he was five years of age he fell sick and died.

A CHAMPION OF UGLINESS.

In the reckless hard-drinking days of the eighteenth century, all kinds of wagers were made. There is a true story concerning Heidegger, Master of the Revels to George II., whose ugliness, it was said, could not be surpassed. After the slums of London had been searched from one end to another, an old woman was found who seemed to be more ugly than the Master of the Revels. The judges were reluctantly bound to admit that Heidegger had met his match, until it was suggested that he should put on the old womans bonnet. But this caused him to appear so much uglier than the old woman that he was unanimously declared to be the champion of extreme ugliness.

AIRMEN WHO ARE NERVOUS AS WELL AS FULL OF NERVE

Expert Describes Sensations of Men Who are Handling the Flying Machines.

Writing about the nerves of airmen an expert writes:

It is popularly supposed that in order to become an aviator or, to use the accepted expression—an airman, one must have nerve and not "nerves." As a matter of fact many aviators have both. I will only give you one example: Latham, for instance, one of the earliest and most daring fliers, possessed of what we might call an iron nerve, yet, a mass of "nerves." To see him befort a flight smoking cigarette after cigarette in a jerky manner would lead one to believe he would lose his head steering a rowing boat, but yet once up in the air he is as sure and as safe as any mortal could be. There is an example of a man with nerve and nerves.

Do I think that flying could give one nerves? That is a question that is difficult to answer. For myself, my experience of flight was in the very early days when engines were not as reliable as they are now and when machines were not so easy to control; one went up with the full knowledge that at any second the engine might stop (and it generally did) or that the control would not be sufficient to weather a gust, such things were always occurring; at Sheppy I nearly did a side somersault through the side control going. Those sort of things did not stimulate a belief in the lack of danger in flying, but on the other hand (I may be wrong of course) I don't believe that I became jumpy or got nerves through such conditions.

The modern aviator with his reliable engine and trustworthy machine has still less reason to get nerves; he will want to get used to the new conditions—that is the crux of flying. The first time he leaves the ground, and that feeling comes over him as of sitting on a jelly in a strong wind, as I once described my first impression of flight, that is the time when he will want all his nerve. He must be cool, not lose his head, must remember exactly what movement of the control lever will do what, how to stop his engine, glide down, a hundred things. That is the trying part of flight the first moment, that is the test. After familiarity has been acquired, great nerve is not wanted.

Think of your first five yards on a bicycle alone, the thing is similar only og being asked to balance in three directions, not two.

Flight and Nerve.

"Flight and Nerves." After all I don't like the title, I should have written on "Flight and Nerve." Nerve is a quality with which one is born, which one can never acquire, however simple a life one may lead, however quiet one has got one's brain. Will such a calmness, such a lack of shall we say "jumpiness" give you the nerve to jam your accelerator pedal down on a motor car, enabling you just to get through between the tram and the standard in time, when to put your brakes on meant disaster? No, a hundred times no. Give me the man whom I know to possess nerve, though his fingers shake, though he cannot sit still, though his cry be for bromide, yet in a tight place he will do the right thing at the right moment.

I suppose "nerve" could be described technically as a "reflex action" possessed of "judgment." But if that definition be true then the acquiring of nerve must be impossible as one surely cannot train reflex action.

Of many aviators it is said that they have lost their nerve. This state of affairs is difficult to analyse. We will start, however, by trying to enumerate the reasons that give rise to its occurrence; a bad accident will often do it, a near shave to an accident, the sight of another aviator falling, and smashing. Such incidents will cause in many men what is called a "loss of nerve." But what is this loss of nerve? It is nothing more than a strong disinclination to continue flying in any form. It is not, I think, so much a fear of flying but a distaste for it. The taste, the inclination may come back or, not, in other words the aviator's nerve may return. But had it really left him? Would he have been a less efficient pilot when once up, because he did not want to go up? My answer to that is "No." The nominal loss of nerve is then a distaste for deliberately running risks which formerly were deliberately taken.

A Curious Trait.

Now this taste for taking risks in all departments of sport is what is usually meant by the word nerve in ordinary parlance. It is a curious trait, in that what one will do with pleasure another will dread, and vice versa.

I know of a man to whom a balloon voyage is a positive pleasure, who will drive a motor safely and with keen exhilaration and enjoyment at 80 miles an hour, yet at the sugestion that he should mount a horse and go over some jumps, he would turn pale with pure fear. Similarly there are many keen hunting men who would rather ride a broncho buck-jumper than go up in a balloon or motor 80 miles an hour.

How then can one get at the bottom of this difficult subject, for because "A" has lost his nerve for aeroplaning it does not follow necessarily that he has lost his nerve for riding, or the other way round. I remember in the old motor racing days before a big race, owing to private owners driving cars too fast for their capabilities there were always accidents by the dozen, usually one or two fatal. The effect of these on my imagination always made me say to myself it would be my last motor race—after it was over I would give it up. To such a pitch did it make me "lose my nerve" that I felt on starting, ill with pure fear, yet once started with the long ribbon of road slipping under me and the sight of a car in front to be overhauled the feeling was gone, nothing but keen enjoyment left, only the hope that when that particular race was over, there would soon be another in which one might have better luck.

There is another meaning of "loss of nerve" which should really be termed "losing one's head." This feeling must not be possessed by the budding aviator as if he is to fly there will be many, many occasions when cool judgment and quick decisions have to be taken and in which, should the aviator lose his head, disaster is waiting for him. Aviation is a dangerous business, and always will be, I maintain, because in no other sport, as it is now, or in no other mode of locomotion, as it will be shortly does the breakage of one unit of the machine mean so often complete and certain disaster.

It has been my privilege and also my pleasure to see and work with the pioneers of flight in Europe at work upon what ten years ago was looked upon as an impossibility and ranked with the philosopher's stone and the transmutation of metals. It does not come within the scope of the present article to analyze the characters of such men as Santos Dumont, Farman, Bleriot, Ferber, Delagrange; some of them worked at it as a sport, others from a purely scientific point of view, others with an idea of gain at a future date, but from none of them, I maintain, was the idea of danger absent; they ignored the danger, treated it lightly, but they knew they were dabbling in the solution of one of the elements which was to ask a penalty from many of them.

But from the point of nerve there stands out in my mind, foremost and with never failing clearness the figure of the Master of Flight, that of Wilbur Wright. For years, he and his brother had worked at the problem from a purely scientific point of view, laughed at by nearly everyone, yet confident themselves. Picture them to yourself as their first power driven glider runs down the rail helped by th edownward fall of a big weight and the push of the propellers. On paper the machine, theoretically, should fly; one of them gives a pull at the elevator, the machine rises—for the first time since the world began a man, by his mastery of mechanics, has achieved dynamic flight.

Is there not something grand about the first rise of that machine, the controlling of it in flight? Remember there was no tuition, the counteracting of every disturbing eddy must be made for the firs ttime; a false move and lost to the world are those whose names, when the history of aeronautics comes to be written in the future, and when achievements can be seen in the right perspective which time alone can give, must stand out as those who made flight possible, and to whom the credit of conquering the air must be given.

I can see Wilbur Wright now as he used to be at Le Mans. Calm, imperturbable, ignoring the thousands of onlookers, all his thoughts on his machine, the body of a man drilled by a brain which held that body a servant to do its smallest wish.

A telegram from America announces that Orville Wright, his brother, in flying with Lieut. Selfridge, for the United States army trial, has fallen, has been nearly killed, and that Selfridge is killed. How does such a piece of news affect this human being? Does he doubt the possibilities of his machine and of flight in general? Does he knock off for a short time? Does it affect his nerve? Let us follow him and see how he will spend his time that evening with the terrible news still dinning in his ears and with the possibility that his brother, his partner in all his experiments, is perhaps dying. He overhauls his engine, runs it for a short time, ties up the wires that hold his rudder (it was at that time believed that his brother's accident was caused by these wires fouling the propellers) and then to bed.

The next morning Wilbur Wright had mad the longest flight that had ever been made on a flying machine, remaining in the air over an hour. As an example of nerve that performance, to my mind, is one of the most extraordinary it is possible to think of. As you analyze it, you will own all the different ideas of "nerve" come in, but undisturbed, with no show or emotion, one man had shown himself superior to all forms of it; that man was Wilbur Wright.

CANADIAN RESULT THE ONE THEME IN LONDON TO-DAY

Rudyard Kipling One of the Most Pleased Men in Britain.

By Special Cable from our own Correspondent.

London, September 22.—The happiest people in London this afternoon are the newspaper boys. On every street corner they are selling their evening papers like hot cakes. The morning papers had to go to press without definite news of the result of the Canadian fight, so that the field was left clear for the evening papers, and the flaming contents of the sheets now in every newsboy's hands show how well the news editors have used their opportunity.

The Globe placard reads in huge letters: "Laurier's rout; rejoicing in Canada." A Pall Mall Gazette placard says: "Conservative landslide in Canada."

The Radical journals are mostly content to bury the news in the smallest type in the contents of the bills, thinking the Irish railway strike more important.

At the luncheon tables at the Carlton and Constitutional Clubs to-day the election was the one theme of talk, and at the City Carlton Club, which is opposite Rothschilds and where Anglo-Canadian financiers meet there were many self-congratulations upon Canada's escape from entangling associations, but perhaps the most pleased of all Englishmen was Rudyard Kipling, who celebrated the event by motoring across from his Sussex home at Burwash, to lunch with Sir William and Lady Aitken at Worpleston, Surrey.

Mr. Kipling seemed quite unaffected, except in way of smiles, by the angry attack upon him in the Radical Westminster Gazette last night, when it talked about his extremely discreditable message to the Canadian people issued through the Montreal Star.

WINDERMERE.

FEATURES OF THE AFTERMATH OF THE ELECTIONS

What Mr. Chamberlain Thinks —Sir Edmund Walker's Views.

London, September 22. — The Rt. Hon. J. Chamberlain's comment on the Canadian elections was:

"I congratulate the Canadians on their repudiation of the reciprocity agreement. The victory in favor of Imperial preference is most satisfactory."

Sir Gilbert Parker declares that reciprocity is as dead as Queen Anne, never to be revived. The Conservatives of Canada will remain in power for a decade, and before the end of that period a real Imperial union, commercial and otherwise, will be achieved.

"Canada," adds Sir Gilbert "will pursue a right course, adhering to the old policy of building up a commerce from east to west and not from the north to the south and retaining its fiscal autonomy instead of combining with a power that would submerge it."

William R. Hearst stated to-day that he was leaving for New York tomorrow and would urge a wider application of the reciprocity agreement than was embodied in the defeated reciprocity between Canada and the United States.

He says that if Canada does not want reciprocity with the United States, then the United States should offer similar reciprocity advantages to France, Germany or any other country wanting them.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Toronto, September 22. — Message from Sir Edmund Walker, president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, to the Star is as follows.

"I think that yesterday gave us the greatest assurance of the continued prosperity of Canada we have received since Confederation. I think it was the most significant day in the history of Canada. I am sure that we shall never again have to consider a proposal of reciprocity with the United States.

"The extension of our trade with the United States will be created by that country letting down its tariff walls, thereby lessening the amount of cash we have to pay them for the difference between our sales to them and their sales to us."

Special to The Montreal Star.

Beauharnois, September 22.—"The result in this constituency is accompanied by details which make one wonder. Strange things appear to have happened in some polls. These may have only been coincidences due to local or other conditions, or have other explanations."

Mr. Bergeron thinks that the details of the Beauharnois election will bear studying, and he will demand a scrutiny and a recount on declaration day.

Mr. Bergeron has a majority against him of 28, and he intends to have the rejected ballots looked over. There is a remarkably large number of rejected ballots, and his information is that a large proportion of these seem to have been of electors who thought that they had voted with him. What a scrutiny of these ballots may show will, he thinks, decide the election.

Toronto, September 22.—The Toronto Star to-day says the rejection of the businesslike proposition of the Liberal Government by the Canadian people constitutes, in the opinion of a majority of the electors of Canada, a declaration of national independence.

"We do not believe that such a declaration was necessary. We never had the slightest doubt that Canada intended to go her own way, and we believe that she would have had to go her own way, no matter what the trade relations between Canada and the United States might be. But a majority of the people thought otherwise, and their declaration at least clears the air of all doubt. And this matter being settled, we ought to be freer than ever to deal with a commercial policy, and without general relations with the United States. Having so positively declared our independence, we can afford to be more friendly than ever, and to enter with enthusiasm into all movements for the improving the relations between the two countries."

In Our Mantle Department.

The Fall showing of Dresses reveals some beautiful models in Satin, Crepe de Meteors and Broadcloth combinations, which are made after the style worn during the early part of the "Victorian" period. Two of the most striking features of these dresses are the shirred bands in double rows, also the tunic effects. Then there are models made on the more practical lines, and others with trimmings of fringe and knife pleating. The kimono sleeve still prevails, also the long sloping shoulders. The fichu and satin collars with large satin reveres are used on great many dresses which still retain the Directoire or high waist effect.

EARTH SHOCKS FELT AT WASHINGTON

Tremor of Unusual Intensity Recorded on Seismograph at Georgetown University.

Washington, September 22. — An earth shock of unusual intensity was recorded shortly after midnight by the instruments of Georgetown University. The disturbance began at 12.17 o'clock, ending at 12.51.

At 12.27 o'clock the greatest agitation was recorded, the registration being 28 millimetres. Usually two or three millimetres are registered by the needles. No estimate of the distance of the earthquake from Washington was made by the observers.

Peasant bodices remain in vogue, though their severity is relieved by braidings, tuckings and embroidery.

WARD HAS A FALL.

Fate Dogs Attempt to Start the Big Flight.

Hornell, N.Y., September 22.—James J. Ward, the aviator, resumed his flight to the Pacific coast from Addison this morning.

After flying about five miles some trouble developed in his engine and the machine dropped to the earth, a distance of about 60 feet, near Rathbone, and was badly damaged. Ward escaped serious injury and is returning to Addison on foot.

HISTORIC EGYPTIAN FIGURE DISAPPEARS

Ahmed Arabi Pasha, Leader of 1882 Insurrection, Dies at Cairo.

Cairo, Egypt, September 22.—Ahmed Arabi Pasha, the leader of the military insurrection in Egypt in 1882, died yesterday. He was convicted of rebellion, pleading guilty, and condemned to death, but the sentence was commuted by the Khedive to perpetual exile from Egypt.

With other leaders in the rebellion he was sent to Ceylon in 1883. Later he was pardoned.

Mrs. Anna Tolwarski, an Austrian woman, was run down and killed in Toronto last night.

BULLETIN SERVICE MADE A RECORD IN NEWS-GIVING

Vast Crowds Hear of the Liberal Defeat by the Star Service.

Never were newspaper bulletins received in Montreal by such huge and tremendously enthusiastic crowds as those which gathered at the two bulletin stations established by the Star for giving the public news hot from the wires as to how the fight was going.

In the uptown district the Star served the public by bulletins outside the Windsor Hotel, while in the downtown district, the facade of the Star building was the centre of interest. At each place, not only were the returns posted on the bulletin boards as the results came in, but striking features of the election were displayed by means of stereoptican views.

Outside the Windsor Hotel over ten thousand people were congregated, and there was quite as big a gathering outside the Star office. Beginning at about 5.30, and lasting till eleven o'clock, there was a continual succession of bulletins, and as the Liberal downfall and the defeat of reciprocity was foreshadowed in the bulletins, almost from the start, the crowd was cheering practically all the time, each cheer dying down only to be replaced by a new and greater one as still more striking triumphs for the Conservatives were announced.

Early in the evening it began to rain, but the steady downpour did not daunt the crowds. They were at too great a pitch of enthusiasm to be driven home by rain. The car service on St. James and Windsor streets was abandoned for the time, and the crowds, who by turns with their cheering, sang "O Canada," "The Maple Leaf For Ever," "Rule Britannia," and "God Save the King," had undisturbed possession of the streets. Not the slightest disorder prevailed, everybody appearing to be too happy even for verbal battles.

TRANS-ATLANTIC FLIGHT PLANS.

Danish Aviator Would Use Streamers as Landing Stations in Mid-Ocean.

New York, September 22. — The conquest of the most ambitious exploit yet undertaken by an aviator, is contemplated by a Danish airman, who describes his plan in a letter published in the Nord Lyset, a Danish newspaper published in Brooklyn. This aviator writes that he has enlisted the necessary finacial aid and made arrangement to fly next spring from Copenhagen to New York, resting only at London and Queenstown and upon ships stationed at intervals across the North Sea and the Atlantic Ocean.

The steamers will be equipped with landing stages and apparatus for generating a wireless current which will supplement gasolene as motive power for his engines.

The precise date for starting the flight has not yet been settled.

OLYMPIC VERY BADLY DAMAGED.

Divers Find Gaping Hole in Ship Plates Below the Water Line.

Southampton, England, September 22.—The divers who are engaged in making an examination of the White Star liner Olympic, which was rammed by the British cruiser Hawke, report that the vessel suffered extensive injuries below the water line.

They found that the hole below the water line is much bigger than that above. This was due to the shape of the Hawke's ram, which was especially designed to sink ships.

The damage done to the cruiser's hull also was found to be very serious below the water. It is estimated that 20 feet of the cruiser's bow will have to be replaced.

Mr. Matthews Honorably Acquitted.

"This arrest should never have been made," said Judge Choquet in the Court of Sessions yesterday. "The transaction was perfectly honest and legitimate."

These remarks were uttered while the court was rendering judgment in the case of Mr. Frank Matthews, accused of stealing $1,000 of bonds of the Canada Flax Fibre Co. from Mrs. Wylde, of 51 Victoria avenue, St. Lambert. Mr. Matthews had been arrested in July, 1911, the transaction in question having taken place in 1907.

"The proof shows in a most conclusive manner," commented the court, "that everything that Mrs. Wylde bought was received by her. She was to receive thirty bonds and ten shares of the Canada Flax Co. in consideration of $4,000, and she did so.

The New York Board of Estimates has been asked to advance the pay of the police in all grades.

The Skin Made Presentable

Poslam Quickly Clears the Complexion, Drives Away Pimples and Blemishes.

Our London Letter

From The Star's Special Correspondent, resident in London.

London, September 2 —Hot weather and horrors seem to go together in England. Some wise acres attribute the railway strike to the short tempers provoked by the unaccustomed heat of England during the past month or so, and now the famous scientist, Sir William Ramsay has sprung a new terror upon us. England lives industrially upon coal. She has no water power to fall back upon as Canada has; the idea of turning the power of the tides to industrial uses is still an idea only, and the vision of English factories run by the force gathered from sun-conflicting stations along the southern coast, the vision which the Canadian-born Fessenden elaborated when he was in England last year—is no nearer realization than it was. So England must still live by her coal.

Beats Other Nations.

She owes her pride of place among the commercial nations of the globe to the fact that she raises six tons of coal per head of the population to the 2 1-2 tons of Germany, and the one ton of France and Sir William Ramsay, has this week added the weight of his great authority to the alarmists who have long foretold the approaching exhaustion of English supplies. The Royal Commission of 1906 suggested 400 years as the likely limit. Sir William Ramsay is far less comforting—he predicts the end of England's coal supplies in 175 years from now. He says: "Our commercial supremacy and even our power of competing with other nations are governed by the relative price of coal and when our prices rise, owing to the approaching exhaustion, of our supplies, we may look forward to the near approach of famine and misery."

The End is Certain.

It is a rather depressing outlook for 175 years after all is as Sir William says, only a span in the life of a nation. He shows how the time may be prolonged a little by economizing coal in factories and domestic hearths and avoiding the present waste in converting it into energy but the end is certain. It is disconcerting to think of England compelled to put itself on half rations, dropping gradually behind in the march of nations and finally petering out a relic of past greatness, mere treasure house of memories of the race.

Happily there are other authoritative Englishmen who reject this scientific nightmare. Fresh coal fields are being discovered every now and again. Birmingham, for instance, is literally built on coal. Kent and Sussex are proved to hold coalfields none of them worked and some of them extending under the sea of the English Channel towards France. If the British Government were really alarmed as to the future we should soon see coal searchers sent broadcast and state workings instituted at the bidding of Mr. Asquith's allies, the Socialistically-minded Radicals. But, it is argued it is not enough to find coal, it must be coal that can be economically worked.

Science not Stationary.

To that it is replied that coal mining is not a stationary science and all industrial enterprise shows how, under the pressure of demand, the range of production at low cost may be greatly extended. The Canadian Pacific irrigated lands in Alberta which fetched $33.00 per acre last year, were only a short while ago labelled "bad lands," in the Government maps, the pressure of population and demand was enough to concentrate scientific attention upon them, with the results we know. The committee of the British Science Guild, is no doubt right in asserting that there is at present for England, no alternative source of power to coal. But is scientific discovery likely to stand still in the next 175 years? Oil has undreamed of possibilities not to speak of radium, the greater knowledge of the powers of which may as Sir William Ramsay shows, revolutionise all our present ideas. So that England will probably go comfortably to sleep again after the first shock of Sir William's blast has passed and leave the future to look after itself.

MR. F. D. MONK CARRIES JACQUES CARTIER BY 1292

That yesterday's vote was, so far as Montreal was concerned, the voice of the people, was shown by the very large vote polled in the Island constituencies.

In the ordinary election, 50 per cent. of the voters is a large poll. Yesterday, the vote went as high as 73 per cent.; all were over 50 per cent.; five were over 60 per cent.; two were 70 per cent. or over.

It was the voice of the people of the Island.

The following table shows the number who voted and the percentage of the voters to those qualified to vote:

MR. H. R. IVES DIED THIS MORNING.

Late Mr. Ives was ill but three days of pneumonia.

After an illness of only four days, Mr. H. R. Ives, the well known manufacturer, passed away at half-past eight this morning.

Last Monday morning, as justice of the peace, he condemned twenty men to pay fines for killing song birds, and this was the last public act that he performed.

Mr. Ives was born in Plainville, Conn., 78 years ago. He was educated at the New Haven, Conn., Grammar school, and soon became a business man. In 1859, he came to Montreal and after a few months in various enterprises, he established the firm of Ives & Allan, founders. To-day products from their foundry of fifty years ago are in the homes of hundreds of the older residents of Quebec and other provinces. Business changes followed and latterly the firm with which his name was connected, was best known as H. R. Ives & Co.

On Tuesday morning Mr. Ives spoke enthusiastically of the coming election and expressed himself as favoring the Conservative party, though a born United States citizen. Later in the day he complained of pains in his chest and his physicians declared that pneumonia, in its worst form, had seized him. On Wednesday it was decided that his hours were few, and at noon yesterday he became unconscious. The end came this morning.

Mr. Ives married twice. His first wife was Miss Alice Chester, daughter of Dr. Chester, of Buffalo. By this marriage there were Mrs. De Forrest, of New Haven; Mrs. C. A. Bell, of Oxford, Eng., and Mr. Walter Ives, of Montreal, all of whom survive their father and mother. Mr. Ives' second wife was Miss Jean Daniell, a daughter of Judge Daniell, of L'Orignal, Ont. Mr. Douglas Ives and the Misses Elsie and Marion Ives and their mother survive Mr. Ives.

In all kinds of legitimate sporting the late Mr. Ives was ever present. He was an enthusiastic curler, one of the founders of lawn bowling in Westmount, an officer of the Fish and Game Protection Association of the Province of Quebec.

Fellow employes recently told James Donovan, of the Dolinger Lumber Company in Bossier parish, La., that the nitroglycerine in dynamite would stop earache. It did. Donovan, who was foreman of a field gang, had been a sufferer from earache for several months, the result of a dive, and when one of the men suggested dynamite he decided to try it. Taking up a lump he began squeezing out the glycerine. Then he thought he detected

OTTAWA RUGBY CLUB TORN BY DISSENTION

Ottawa, September 22.—Dissatisfied with the way things are running, certain members of the Ottawa Football Club have issued a call for a meeting at the Ottawa Amateur Athletic club, when the question of re-organizing the club and possibly accepting the Ottawa Rowing Club's offer of affiliation will be discussed. The matter has been brewing for the past week and reached a head a day or two ago, several of the younger Stars announcing that they would retire if matters were not patched up immediately. The chief complaint is mismanagement, while another kick is that, apparently there is no manager or trainer to direct the club.

In conversation with the Journal this morning, one of the teams stated that with championship prospects, the Ottawas were letting opportunities slip by in a manner that did not meet with the views of the majority of the players. Many are now of the opinion that a strong step was taken last spring in the disposing of the old executive, and there are rumors to the effect that if the club does not go in with the Ottawa Rowing Club, Dr. Baird and a few of the other former Ottawa officers will be asked to step in and carry the club along.

The chances are, however, that President Cameron of the Ottawa Rowing Club will come forward with an offer to mould the two clubs into one, this affiliation benefiting both greatly.

Have You Noticed the New Diagonal Cheviot Suits?

We Are Selling Them To-morrow at .... $19.75.

Girls' Dresses $4.95. Girls' Coats $9.75.

The University Street Window, in which we had many colors of Diagonal Cheviot Dress Goods, was a very attractive one. Of course all the ladies wanted to see what the goods would look like made up, so we put a Diagonal Cheviot Suit in the window. It would be boastful to repeat all the nice things that were said of the diagonal cheviot garment, but the fact is such suits are really beautifully made in the latest of styles in this, one of the newest materials.

They are doing a splendid business in the Juveniles' Department, and if you have any little girls from 6 to 14 years of age, it would be interesting to run in and see what pretty and well made dresses and coats (which are mentioned below), are on sale to-morrow.

SATIN LINED DIAGONAL CHEVIOT SUITS—Everything on the suit is extra quality for the price asked, from the materials used to the tailoring. The coat is made with the new braided waist line effect, neatly trimmed with buttons. Tailored sleeves, velvet collar, lined with extra grade grey satin. Skirt is made with the popular panel back and front with 16-inch inverted pleat on the side gore. Colors, navy, black, coronation and brown. Sizes 34 to 44. Saturday.. $19.75

SEE THIS FURNITURE IN YOUR MIND'S EYE THEN COME TO GOODWINS' AND INSPECT IT.

These furniture descriptions may give you an idea what to expect to see when you come to that part of the store devoted to furniture. Of course, we were satisfied with this furniture before we bought it. Our judgment in selecting such articles as these has been upheld by a host of careful buyers. Some of the best factories on the Continent are commissioned to supply our furniture needs and yours. Whether you are actually going to buy at the present time or not come in and take a look round the department. You will always see something new, and education in the matter of furniture is sometimes as good as in any other kind.

PARLOR SUITE, $140.00

This suite is of the highest grade construction—the frame is of solid mahogany, and possesses the rich color found only in the choice parts of the wood. It is beautifully carved, and the silk upholstering shows all the traits of high grade workmanship, which characterises the frame. This suite would grace any drawing room, irrespective of the other furniture. Price..... $140.00

SOLID QUARTER CUT OAK SUITE, $305.00

Beautiful in design and with the air of solidity, we associate with oak. This dining room suite possesses all the attributes of the class to which it belongs. High grade throughout. The sideboard is massive in design, the top containing two small china cabinets and a large British bevelled plate mirror. The brass has the beautiful front which greatly enhances the general effect, and the accommodation provided is, of course, all that can be desired. The chairs are upholstered in dark green leather, and are in keeping with the remainder of the suite. The elegant china cabinet, dinner wagon and large extension table complete, a suite built for solid service. Price.. $305.00

ANOTHER PARLOR SUITE $74.50

This beautiful Parlor Suite is so massive in construction, and yet so handsome in general effect, that to those wishing to purchase a suite built for life-long use, we can thoroughly recommend this one. The backs are of genuine mahogany, and the upholstering in rich silk, is worthy of the frames. Price..... $74.50

SOLID MAHOGANY PARLOR TABLE $29.50

The purely artistic effect of this Parlor Centre Table cannot be sufficiently emphasized. The carving is so dainty, and the whole construction so in keeping with the furniture we associate with a modern drawing room, that personal inspection alone can convey an adequate idea of its beauty. Rich mahogany is always beautiful. This table has the dark shade so greatly admired. We have only this one left. Price..... $29.50
