TERRIBLE HURRICANE.

The British Isled Visited—Enormous Destruction of Life and Property.

LONDON, October 15.—The hurricane in England was the most disastrous for years. But few continental or provincial telegrams have been received. Considerable damage was done to shipping in the Mersey. The streets are strewed with timber, and many boats are aground in the Thames. Steamboat traffic is suspended. Very few places in England escaped damage by storm. Four hundred trees were blown down to the southward. Shipping casualties are numerous, but no great disaster is reported. The gale severely damaged property in all parts of the country. Several persons were killed and many injured. Houses were unroofed, and unfinished buildings collapsed. It is reported that 45 fishermen at Burnmouth and Eyemouth, Scotland, are lost. During the height of the gale yesterday the British steamer "Cyprian," from Liverpool, for Genoa, was wrecked on the Welsh coast. Only 8 of a crew of 30 were saved. The steamer "Olympia," from Glasgow, for New York, grounded in the Clyde, was run into and returned considerably damaged. The steamer "Helvetia," from Liverpool, for New York, was compelled to put back. Upwards of fifty Berwickshire smacks were at sea during the storm, and it is feared most of them have been lost. It is reported that 20 fishermen were drowned at Dunbar, and three pilots drowned in the Tyne. By the falling of a roof at Stockton-on-Tees five persons were killed. The new steamer "City of Rome," of the Inman Line, which sailed from Liverpool Thursday, October 13, for New York, and was due at Queenstown early yesterday morning, did not arrive there until four o'clock in the afternoon, owing to the storm. She shipped heavy seas, which swept away her funnels. The steamer behaved well. Her engines worked smoothly, and she is considered a good sea boat. The damage to property all over the country was enormous. Many lives were lost by the blowing down of houses and chimneys. At least twenty persons were killed in London and a large number wounded. Reports from the country mention innumerable disasters, especially on the coasts, up to the morning of Saturday. A Dundee telegram says that about fifty or sixty boats belonging to ports on the east coast of Scotland are unaccounted for. Great anxiety exists as to their fate. It is estimated that between sixty and seventy lives were lost between North Berwick and Berwick-on-Tweed. The papers are filled with harrowing details of disasters.

THE IRISH CRISIS.

Wholesale Arrests—Dillon, O'Brien, Sexton and Kelly in Prison—Serious Riots in Limerick, Dublin, Mallow and Other Places—The Authorities Prepared for an Outbreak.

DUBLIN, Oct. 16.—Dillon was arrested at 4 o'clock this afternoon on a charge of treasonable practices and lodged in Kilmainham Gaol. Little credence is given to the report that O'Connor escaped on a collier. It is stated that Sexton had a serious relapse after his arrest. An unfounded rumor was current yesterday that Herbert Gladstone, son of the Premier, had been assassinated. Sexton was arrested on a charge of being suspected of treasonable practices and inciting people not to pay rent. Quinn was charged with the latter offence.

THE ARREST OF DILLON

causes a most intense feeling. An immense crowd had assembled in Sackville street, opposite the Imperial Hotel, where members of the Land League are in the habit of staying, expecting that Biggar would make a speech. After resisting the attempt of the police to disperse them, they followed Biggar to the office of the League. This morning a further warrant was served on Parnell, charging him with being reasonably suspected of having, since September 30, being guilty of treasonable practices, as principal. O'Brien was arrested while walking along Sackville street, He was formerly well-known as a correspondent of the Freemans' Journal. Dillon was arrested at his residence, and accompanied to goal by a mounted escort. The whole affair was managed so quietly and promptly that the public were not aware of the arrests until the issuance of special editions of the evening papers announcing it. Instructions have been telegraphed to every military station in Ireland enjoining vigilance, and flying columns are held in readiness for immediate movement. The number of troops now in Dublin is 5,000. Every sentry is provided with 20 rounds of ball.

STRIKE AGAINST RENT.

Parnell at the conclusion of his interview yesterday said:—"I shall take it as evidence that the people of the country did not do their duty if I am speedily released." The officer who arrested Sexton asked if his removal would endanger his health. Sexton refused to make a statement regarding his health. At a meeting of 3,000 persons in Belfast, on Friday, twenty Catholic priests were present. A general strike against rent was advocated as long as Parnell remains in prison. A similar meeting was held at Limerick. It is stated O'Connor left Ireland in a cutter. A bomb with lighted fuse was thrown into the house of one O'Grady, a Mill street solicitor. No one was injured, but the damage was considerable. The Dublin correspondent of the Times says:—"To Parnell, personally, the arrest has not been altogether unwelcome, as it will relieve him from an embarrassing dilemma. He will be saved from the vortex toward which he might be hurried in spite of his caution, and on the other hand he will be spared the humiliation of finding that, after all his efforts to dissuade them, tenants avail themselves of the Land Act."

RIOTS IN DUBLIN.

LONDON, October 16.—In Dublin on Saturday night the police frequently charged the crowds on Castle Bridge and in Sackville street. The mob shouted "To hell with Buckshot," and cheered Parnell, Dillon and other leaders of the League. Many persons were seriously injured. The severity of the action of the police is condemned. The Irish population of Liverpool is in a state of great ferment. All officers of regiments quartered in Ireland have been ordered to return to duty immediately. The gates of Dublin Castle were closed and arms stacked in the upper yard. The city is divided into three districts, entrusted to the charge of magistrates specially appointed. Many army officers have been sworn in as magistrates.

DUBLIN, October 16.—The mob here attacked the Congregational Church on York street and smashed the windows. The service was stopped and the congregation dispersed.

A gentleman who assisted the police was attacked and fled for refuge into the office of the Irish Times where many windows were smashed. A crowd collected outside Kilmainham jail and cheered the imprisoned suspects. The rioting on Saturday night arose by the police parading in front of the Imperial Hotel and through an impromptu meeting at Nelson's Pillar, where three thousand persons had congregated listening to an inebriated demagogue. The police, exasperated at the jeers of the mob, rushed in and drove the mob off the steps. Some severe injuries were inflicted by the police while clearing the crowd in Sackville street yesterday afternoon.

INDIGNATION MEETING.

The Lord Mayor elect presided at an indignation meeting in the Rotunda last night. Twenty thousand were unable to gain admission. Dillon said he should be greatly disappointed if Parnell's arrest facilitated the payment of rent. A motion by E. Dwyer Gray, denouncing Parnell's arrest, was carried. The police dispersed a noisy crowd outside of the Rotunda after the meeting was concluded. Dr. Kennedy warned the authorities that the arrest puts Sexton's life in immediate danger. The Inspectors of County Police throughout Ireland have received orders directing that after certain hours men shall be confined to barracks, except when on duty, when they shall be armed with loaded rifles, and formed into large parties. All League papers and documents have been secreted.

General quiet prevails this evening. Disorders are exceptional. The commander of the forces has received telegrams to-night, reporting all parts of Ireland quiet.

RIOT IN LIMERICK.

LIMERICK, October 16.—Posted proclamations prohibiting a meeting here were torn down before daybreak this morning. Col. Knox, of the Scots Guards, told the Mayor that any assemblage would be forcibly suppressed. Crowds, nevertheless, assembled in Bank Place, outside the town, where the military and police forestalled them. The attempt to meet was a fiasco, but individuals in the crowd jeeringly shouted military commands. As the troops were moving away stones were thrown and the troops charged the mob. The latter closed with the soldiers, who were ordered to load. The soldiers charged several times, but subsequently entered the barracks. The Scots Greys and police afterwards charged the mob down George street, causing it to flee in all directions. The police in Denmark street fired upon the mob. Several persons were wounded. Twenty arrests were made. Numerous houses were wrecked. After the riot, the club house was attacked, windows smashed and street lamps extinguished. A man named Casey, wounded by a bullet during the riot, is dying.

REINFORCEMENTS GOING TO LIMERICK.

LONDON, October 17.—Arthur O'Connor has arrived at Carlisle. O'Connor and Healy will take charge of Land League interests in London. Large reinforcements of police and military are going to Limerick. The police authorities have issued orders to have the headquarters of the Land League in London and the offices of the various branches watched. It is stated that precautions relative to public buildings and volunteer armories in force some months ago will be renewed.

At meetings to-day at Grong, Enniskillen and Kitteshan, it was resolved to pay no rent until Parnell was released.

Andrew and Patrick Gallagher, secretaries of Ballybuttese and Killimane leagues, have been arrested on suspicion of shooting at Cartin, Maryborough, when six persons were wounded.

RIOT AT MALLOW.

CORK, October 15.—John Heffernan, of the Cork Branch of the Land League, has been re-arrested and conveyed to Limerick gaol. It is stated that other warrants are in the hands of the police against prominent members of the Cork League. A Dublin despatch says:—A riot occurred at Mallow, in consequence of an unsuccessful attempt to rescue John Heffernan, who was being conveyed to Limerick jail. The police were stoned and the head constable seriously injured.

THE TIDE OF REVOLUTION RISING.

PARIS, October 16.—In an interview Egan stated that the tide of revolution was rising high in Ireland, where there was a disciplined, merciless revolt of hungry men against the bloated rich. The prolonged incarceration of Parnell might produce general insurrection. The Land League is prepared for every sacrifice, and ready to die to the last man.

MANCHESTER, October 16.—Edinburgh, Clonmel and Clerkenwell leagues have passed resolutions denouncing Parnell's arrest. Robert Leake, Liberal M.P. for Lancashire, speaking at Dutton, said Parnell proved himself an avowed rebel.

O'DWYER TO FORD.

NEW YORK, October 15.—O'Dwyer has telegraphed to Patrick Ford from Dublin that O'Brien was arrested for writing an article denouncing Gladstone as seized with the devil and bent on driving the people into rebellion. Rev. Harold Rylett, Administrator Cartwell, of Thurles, and Jordan Walsh, of Mayo, are said to be marked for attention next. Everything is excitement and indignation at boiling heat. Don't be surprised at anything. Egan telegraph Forster that a plot to fire on the people at Limerick will be carried out at his peril. Nothing short of actual slaughter will precipitate matters, and every effort is made to avoid all pretext for such. The people obey the League proclamations nobly well, and will not be rushed into any trap.

THE SITUATION.

NEW YORK, October 16.—The Herald's Dublin special says: The free use of British bayonets for the last three days temporarily scattered and demoralized the Land League. The chiefs of the league are all in jail or their arrest momentarily expected to-night. Sackville and Grafton streets were crowded with people, cheering, hooting, yelling and whistling, and the military are under arms at the barracks. Mounted police are patroling everywhere. The ordinary force of foot and police has been doubled. O'Kelly was arrested in his bedroom early on Saturday morning. He prepared for departure with the utmost deliberation, occupying an hour and a quarter. The crowd cheered him as he entered the cab. The police refused to allow O'Brien to visit his mother, who is in feeble health and much distressed. When the detectives called on Dillon, he immediately entered a cab. Twenty mounted police who had been standing in line a few yards distant, followed all the way to the jail. While the detectives were looking for Arthur O'Connor, he was visiting Parnell, by whose request he slipped away at night in a Liverpool coal boat. No further arrests were made last night, as it would have been dangerous. Large mobs are surrounding all the haunts of the remaining members of the League. The chief clerks of the League have gone to Holyhead or Paris. Most of the books and papers of the League have been removed to England. An office will be opened in Holyhead. The central office here is completely broken up. All connection with the local Leagues is practically suspended. The League executive decided on Friday night on a general strike against the payment of any rent whatever. Dillon, Biggar and O'Kelly voted against the measure, but it was carried by the majority. Sexton was the leader of the section of the League which decided on using the final arrow in the quiver. It is an important phase of the arrests that all of the later ones were made on warrants charging treason. Parnell himself was served with a warrant for treason. It is believed that a certain member of the League, now in Kilmainham, divulged all the workings of the organization. It is on this information that treasonable practices are charged. The informer is a person previously suspected of peculating League funds. Parnell was investigating the matter when arrested. Dillon stated on Friday that if the League was broken up and their cause a failure, he would go to the United States and unite all the national Irish societies under the banner of physical force. Parnell said on Saturday morning that he was never better in his life during the short period of his imprisonment. Boynton has given up his room, which is the most comfortable one in the prison, to Parnell. Parnell says the proclamation against boycotting is merely an attempt to intimidate the Irish people. The Government were evidently striking at the executive office of the League, but by arresting the heads of the departments they were rendering impossible the carrying out of the rules passed by the National convention regarding the Land Act, which are the wishes of the nation. He was afraid, therefore, that the test cases which he intended to bring before the court could not be proceeded with except in the few cases which were completed. Parnell expected the arrival of several colleagues who were then at large. He spoke confidently of the arrival of Dillon. He had already seen O'Kelly in jail. He understood that O'Kelly refused to allow himself to be searched, and that the authorities used force in order to carry out the prison rules. In an interview all reference to politics was forbidden by the prison authorities.

The Tribune's London special says:—The arrest of Parnell has sent a thrill of satisfaction throughout Great Britain. No act of Gladstone's Government has evoked such hearty approval. Even in Ireland the industrious trading classes, as far as they are able to express an opinion, hail with satisfaction the intervention of the Government to free them from organized tyranny.

The World's London special says:—Biggar will probably take Dillon's place, but will not be allowed at large long. It is stated that over fifty warrants have been issued for leaguers, and the drag net will be cast in Cork, Limerick, Castle Bar, Wexford, Waterford, Nenagh, Clonmel, Sligo, Galway and elsewhere on Monday.

The American Press on Parnell's Arrest.

The British Government has made a mistake in the arrest of Parnell. His course has been very provoking, to be sure, but free institutions cannot be maintained by silencing critics. —Boston Herald.

We cannot but feel that Mr. Parnell has been as precipitous as the Gladstone Government has been tyrannical. Mr. Dillon's attitude toward the operations of the Land Bill was much more prudent and patriotic. To precipitate riot and revolution when a policy is on trial is not an evidence of good judgment, and we think it is in this particular that Mr. Parnell has thrown away an unusual opportunity to distinguish him as a patriot and a leader.—Boston Post.

It was foreordained that Mr. Parnell and his associates should object to the Land act, whatever shape it might finally take. But their objections, couched in language however fiery and vituperative, are not treason. Ireland is supposed to be governed by statutory law. The Coercion acts are virtually suspended. Yet, as in a tremor of apprehension, the Government arrests a speech-maker and claps him into jail. —New York Times.

There is no mistaking what it means. Wisely or unwisely, for good or for evil, Mr. Gladstone and his associates have forced upon the people of Ireland an immediate choice between submission and armed resistance. Thirty-eight years ago to-day Daniel O'Connell was arrested at the order of one of Mr. Gladstone's predecessors in office. That arrest, as all students of Irish history know, effected its purpose. We shall see whether Mr. Gladstone's experiment turns out as prosperously.—Springfield R[illegible] Oct. 14th.

The consignment of Mr. Parnell to Kilmainham jail is an act which right-minded men on both sides of the Atlantic cannot fail to strongly condemn. It can do him no harm, and it will not check for an instant the operations of the Land League, and therefore it must be counted from the point of view of policy alone a deplorable blunder on the part of the British Ministry.—N. Y. Sun.

While there will be universal expressions of regret that in a free constitutional country it has been necessary for a Liberal Minister to arrest a member of Parliament, it is difficult to see how Mr. Gladstone could have avoided the responsibility. Mr. Parnell has challenged the Crown again and again to exercise the powers vouchsafed to it by the British Parliament. The effect of this challenge has been to stimulate the disorderly classes in Ireland to outrage and revolution. An imperial government, which respects itself and which has a due regard to the dignity and safety of the Empire, cannot tolerate this system. Mr. Gladstone has been content heretofore with the arrest of subordinates. He now takes upon himself the supreme responsibility of taking prisoner the leader of an unmeaning and pernicious agitation and asserting the dignity and safety of the Crown.—N. Y. Herald.

The Premier has taken an enormous risk in ordering this arrest, for it may end in his making Mr. Parnell far more powerful than O'Connell at his best, and in prejudicing the Irish people for a whole generation, not only against the Land bill, but against every measure that may be conceived at Westminster. Yet, if the risk was great, so was the emergency. Mr. Gladstone had to choose between arresting Mr. Parnell and abandoning the Land bill outright, and confessing that the Crown could neither introduce a new law nor enforce its own authority in Ireland. It was a most melancholy alternative.—N. Y. Tribune.

The Cabinet are said to have been unanimous in ordering Parnell's arrest, which shows that even Mr. Chamberlain recognizes the impossibility for any Government which means to govern, of allowing itself to be insulted and defied by a man like Parnell. But as things now are, the Irish express their detestation of Forster by obeying Parnell. In fact, without Mr. Forster, Parnell would probably collapse. —N. Y. Post.

It must be admitted that Mr. Parnell has been arrested for exercising the right of free speech, not with discretion it may be. It does not seem to us that the enforcement of the Coercion act has done the British Government the slightest good hitherto. And we cannot see how Parnell's arrest can benefit it, unless it is followed by an Irish outbreak, which would permit Mr. Forster to put down the Land League by the military arm. A collision with the English soldiery could only result disastrously for the Irish, and a breach of the peace would certainly imperil what has been gained. —N. Y. Graphic.

The Bowmanville Railway Collision.

Although Mr. Cronshaw, the conductor of the down train which came into collision with another, above Bowmanville, in August last, has been relieved by the Attorney-General from the charge of manslaughter brought against him by the Coroner's jury at Lancaster, it yet appears that Mr. Dingwell, the Crown counsel in the case, is determined to push the matter further, and subpœnas have been served to the witnesses at the inquest to be in attendance at the session of the Court of Queen's Bench at Cornwall on Monday, the 24th instant. Defoe, the operator at Lancaster, on whom appears to hang a great deal of the blame of the accident and who escaped from custody, has not been heard of since his disappearance. Strange to say, McKie, the county constable, in whose charge the operator was given, has not had a word said to him about his disgraceful neglect of duty. McPhie, the switchman at Lancaster, has been dismissed from the employ of the company.

Heavy Suits.

Mr. F. X. Archambault, Q.C., on Saturday, on behalf of Mr. Seneeal, took an action for $100,000 against the Hon. Wilfred Laurier for an alleged libel contained in his plea of extenuation in the Electeur suit.

Messrs. Church & Co., on Saturday, took an action in the name of Sir A. Campbell for the Dominion Government, against W. P. Bartley, for $35,000 for arrears of rent for the premises occupied by him on the south side of the canal, and also to annul the lease.

Testimony of an Eminent Physican.

The proofs which authenticated the claims of Northrop & Lyman's Emulsion of Cod Liver oil and hypophosphites to be regarded as the finest pulmonic in use, emanate in many instances from physicians of eminence. Dr. J. Corlis of St. Thomas, writes as follows:—

"During ten years of active service, I have had occasion to prescribe Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites. Since your preparation came under my notice I have tried it, and take great pleasure in saying that it has given great satisfaction, and it is to be preferred to any I have ever used or recommended. I have used it in my own family during heavy colds, and in every instance a happy result has followed. I cheerfully recommend its use in all cases of debility arising from weakness of the muscular or nervous system."

What can be more convincing than this? Here is a professional man of long practice and high reputation bearing direct and positive testimony to the value of a remedy which he has thoroughly tested. Who can read and doubt? Assuredly no one of common sense.

This matchless specific for throat and lung diseases is also most serviceable in scrofulous cases. Purchasers should be careful to observe that each wrapper has a fac simile of the firm's signature upon it. Prepared only by Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Can.

How to Save the Province.

Direct taxation or retrenchment, which? That is the question the electors of Quebec are called upon to face. It must be either one or the other. There is no escape, and it is time for the people to look the issue fairly in the face. The Legislature must either cut down expenses all round or impose direct taxation in order to enable us to keep afloat at all. But why should we not have retrenchment in preference to direct taxation? Why not cut our garment according to our cloth rather than permit the Province any longer to strut about in borrowed plumes? Is there an elector in the Province of Quebec who would not rather see searching and necessary economy made the order of the day than impose direct taxation on the people? Why not lop off the Legislative Council, cut down the indemnity of the M.P.Ps., curtail the outlay now considered necessary for the support of Spencer Wood, and make a general reduction of expenditure all along the line? Instead of giving the M. P. Ps. $600 for the session, let them receive $5 a day, and here alone we can save something like $30,000. All authorities agree that the North Shore Railway can be managed more economically than it is, and that the administration of justice can be made less cumbersome. In fact, economy can be applied to all the departments of the Civil Service, and if the people take a lively interest in the financial condition of the Province, they can accomplish important economic reforms. It is not a question of party, it is a question of finance. Let the electors of every division get their candidates to pledge themselves in favor of

THE ABOLITION OF THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

REDUCTION OF THE INDEMNITY OF THE M.P.Ps. FROM $600 A SESSION TO $5 A DAY.

THE CURTAILMENT OF THE EXPENSES OF SPENCER WOOD.

GENERAL REDUCTION OF EXPENDITURE IN ALL THE DEPARTMENTS AND COMPETITIVE EXAMINATIONS AND PROMOTION BY MERIT IN THE CIVIL SERVICE.

Whoever pledges for these reforms should be supported irrespective of party. If coalition is necessary to secure these reforms, then let us have a coalition. Let us inaugurate an era of economy, prevent direct taxation, and secure administrative reforms at all hazards. Let us have more business and less politics in our local affairs; more principle and less interests by insisting [illegible] see to their own and not be led away by the shibboleth of "Conservatives" or "Reformers" fighting for themselves.

CITY ITEMS.

—About fifty people called at the Queen's Hall on Friday night to attend a concert that did not take place. They had been supplied with tickets by some wag.

—The second day's meeting of the Montreal Hunt Steeple Chases, which was to have come off Saturday, was postponed till to-day, owing to the miserable weather.

—At a meeting of the "Club Nationale," held on the 14th inst., resolutions of condolence and sympathy with the family and friends of the late Hon. E. G. Penny, were unanimously adopted.

—The members of the French Presbyterian Church, Canning street, have presented their pastor, the Rev. A. B. Cruchet, with a crayon portrait of himself, as a mark of their affection and esteem.

—Rev. Hugh Johnston is to give his new lecture, "From London to Jerusalem," next Thursday, the evening of Thanksgiving day. The lecture will be illustrated with more than a hundred of the finest magic lantern views.

—This morning a grand bazaar was opened in the room of the Asile Nazareth, for the benefit of that institution. As it is devoted to the care of the blind and of the orphan this charitable establishment deserves to be generously encouraged.

—The Rev. A. J. Bray denies a rumor that he is about to sever his connection with Zion Church, or that he is connected with the Canadian Pacific Railway. To our reporter he said:—"I intend doing what I can to foster immigration and develop my adopted country in this way, as an individual, but only in this respect."

—Mr. James D. Anderson, merchant tailor, has through his counsel, Messrs. McMaster, Hutchinson Knapp & Weir, taken an action against the G. T. Ry. Co., for $2,500 damages for injuries, which his son, Charles Anderson, received in the accident on the Grand Trunk near Prescott, on the 13th August last. The young man was severely injured in the smash-up, and has been under the doctor's care ever since.

—The annual meeting of the Medico-Chirurgical Society was held Friday evening at the Society's Rooms, No. 14 Phillips Square. The officers elected for the ensuing year were President, Dr. George Ross; 1st Vice-President, Dr. R. Kennedy; 2nd Vice, Dr. T. Rodger; Secretary, Dr. O. C. Edwards; Treasurer, Dr. W. A. Molson; Librarian, Dr. David Gurd; Council, Drs. Roddick, F. W. Campbell and Osler.

—Messrs. Dupuis Freres, the well known dry goods merchants of St. Catherine st., East, are building a store at the corner of St. Andre st., a few yards west of their present stand. The plans have been prepared by Messrs. Poitras & Roy, and the work is carried on by Messrs. Lawrence & Frere. The new building, which is 45 x 122 and five stories high, will cost $40,000, and will be quite an ornament to the locality.

—Mr. Donald's second lecture of a course of eleven in "Chemistry of Common Things" will take place in Association Hall this evening at 8; Dr. Roddick's, on "The Skin and its Diseases," on Thursday at the same hour. In this popular medical course the Committee announce an additional lecture, "Preventible Diseases," which will include diphtheria, small-pox, typhoid fever, &c., by Dr. Bell, Superintendent of the General Hospital.

Bonsecours Church.

For some time back, there was said to be an intention of taking down the old Bonsecours Church, stone by stone, and rebuilding it in fac simile on the site of Dalhousie square, belonging to the Seminary. Since the depot of the North Shore has been fixed at that place, the plan seems to have been abandoned, as the venerable old temple is now being repainted in blue and gold.

Yorktown.

The following gentlemen compose the delegation appointed to convey an invitation to the distinguished French visitors at Yorktown, to visit Montreal and be present at a banquet at the Windsor:—Messrs. C. O. Perrault, Lieut.-Colonel Ouimet, M.P., Hon. Mr. Thibaudeau, Mr. George Hughes, Mr. Provencher, of the Minerve, and Mr. Beaugrand, of the Patrie.

THE CITY PASSENGER RAILWAY.

Its Value and Net Revenue—Cost of Building New Tracks.

At the meeting on Saturday afternoon, of the Special Committee on Street Railway locomotion, its three members, Ald. Stephens (Chairman), Beauchamp and Fairbairn were present.

The City Surveyor reported that the cost of laying new tracks would be about $5,500 a mile.

Ald. Beauchamp wished to know which would be the cheaper, macadamizing or paving with block stone.

The Chairman said the difference in cost of laying the track in either case would be but little.

The City Surveyor was instructed to draw up a list of all the streets with the total mileage of tracks, including switches on each one.

The Chairman said he had drawn up the following statement of the value of the C.P.R. property from information received from Mr. John Crawford:—

VALUATION OF THE C. P. R. BY THE PRESENT BOARD ON 31ST MARCH, 1877.

Cost of all the tracks inside and outside the city		$286,613 88
From the above must be deducted as follows:
Preliminary expenses	$929 19
Procuring amendments to the Charter at Quebec, and fighting the city delegation there, persuasion of the M. P. Ps., providing champagne, etc., etc.	13,359 85
Law fees	629 79
Relaying portions of track	1,297 61
Salaries, rents, etc	2,376 20
Interests	7,190 85
To provide a dividend	1,289 00
Arbitrary amount added by order of Directors and Shareholders in the year 1873	50,796 06
Total deduction		$77,868 55
The above deducted makes the net cost of tracks		208,745 33
From this must be deducted 22½ p.c. for depreciation, according to the report of Mr. John Crawford and his co-Directors in April, 1877		46,967 69
		$161,777 64

NET COST OF ALL.

Railway tracks in 1877 as above	$161,777 64
Lands	99,220 00
Buildings	55,550 00
Cars	27,055 00
Busses	12,325 00
Sleighs	9,306 00
Horses	17,300 00
	$382,533 64
From this must be deducted $20,000 mortgage still remaining on Cote street property	20,090 00
	$362,533 64
There was then on hand of new rails	29,000 00
	$333,533 64

The Chairman said the last amount was what the city would have had to pay, but it assumed the whole property in 1877. The C. P. R. had paid a dividend this year of 7 per cent. on $600,000, this would amount to 12½ per cent. on the actual capital. It took $4,290 a year to repair the road. The net revenue for each year was as follows:—1862, $9,660.32; 1863, $16,123.72; 1864, $27,161.58; 1865, $17,013; 1866, $19,427.16; 1867, $29,429.10; 1868, $31,784.80; 1869, $29,079.11; 1870, $42,929.87; 1871, $46,240.83; 1872, $49,849.43; 1873, $44,276.39; 1874, $32,113.04; 1875, $36,565.45; 1876, $50,464.73. The Chairman said there was a reconstruction account of $97,000 besides.

After considerable discussion, in which the question was mooted whether or not the city would have to pay the market value of the stock, and answered in the negative by the City Attorney, the Committee adjourned for a week.

PARNELL.

Action of the Irish Societies.

A meeting of the Executive of the Montreal Branch of the Land League was held Friday evening when invitations were issued to all the Irish Societies in the city to attend an indignation meeting to be held on Monday evening in the Albert Hall, to pass resolutions condemnatory of the arrest of Mr. Parnell. Our representative visited a number of prominent Irishmen on Saturday to obtain their ideas on the subject. The first gentleman, an ex-President of the Home Rule Association in this city, and a member of one of the largest wholesale houses in the city, said: "I consider it one of the greatest blunders the Imperial Government ever committed, and I feel confident that during [illegible] disloyal [illegible] sentiments much more [illegible]ment, and that by Englishmen, than ever [illegible] been used by Mr. Parnell. At the same time I fully endorse Archbishop Croke's opinion that the Land Act conferred valuable benefits on the Irish people, and I think, perhaps, it would have been more advisable on Mr. Parnell's part if he had withdrawn, for a time at least, his agitation. At the same time I believe he was afraid if he did so, he would require to begin it de novo in the event of it being necessary."

Our reporter then went in search of a Fenian, or, at all events, an advanced Nationalist, with a view of eliciting from him their views. He, however, was unsuccessful in his attempts.

To Mr. Patrick Carrol he queried, "Are there any Fenians in Montreal?"

"That's a strange question to ask."

"It's a square question and deserves a square answer."

"If there were do you think I would tell you—" after a pause and laughingly, "Every Irishman in Montreal's a Fenian, and Father Dowd's the head centre and the Bishop the next. Do you want to be initiated?"

"No, not I. I only wanted to obtain the views of the brotherhood on this subject."

Well, seriously there are no Fenians in Montreal. Irishmen are getting sensible and learning how to look after themselves like any other men, and the Land League has absorbed all other societies and associations. Irishmen desire to obtain what they ask for by constitutional means, and I don't believe there's a Fenian in Montreal.

COURT OF QUEEN'S BENCH.

Saturday Afternoon Session.

In the case of Baxter vs. Sills, Jr., the cross-examination of Col. Hickey was continued;—Witness had paid his own expenses to Montreal, but expected to have them refunded by Sills; believed the portrait of prosecutor to have been placed in the Rogues' Gallery by Chief of Police Washburne; each photograph is accompanied by an account of the person and his case; witness did not ascertain the facts of the case in which Baxter was concerned; remembered that stolen goods were found in Baxter's office; could not remember whether the latter charged anyone with placing them there.

John Fahey was next called:—Had met Baxter in Montreal in 1880; the latter had, however, come to this city the year previous; was pointed out to witness as being a confidence man; whereupon he communicated with the Chicago Chief of Police and the Superintendant of the Secret Service at Washington, concerning Baxter; these parties confirmed witness' information; he then laid the information before the Police Magistrate; believed the Silver Plume Mining Company, with which Baxter was connected, was a swindle that ought to be shown up; witness also informed the cashiers of the Savings Bank and the People's Bank about Baxter; Mr. P. A. A. Dorion had been, as a shareholder in the Silver Plume, referred to witness for information about Baxter, and had communicated his letters to Mr. Dorion in strict confidence.

Cross-examined—Had seen Bickerdike and Matthieu in Montreal twice; had the strongest reasons for believing that Baxter was correctly styled a "confidence man."

The Court then adjourned.

The Late Hon. E. G. Penny.

Rev. Canon Baldwin paid a graceful and touching tribute to the memory of the late Senator, upon the conclusion of his sermon in the Cathedral yesterday evening. The reverend gentleman dwelt at some length upon the blameless character and high personal attainments of the deceased, saying that he would be sadly missed, not only by the outside world, where his ready, facile pen and courteous language wielded such an influence, but also by the congregation and church of which he was for so many years a consistent member.

Suicide.

The young man, Henry P. Faiynaut, reported in Saturday's STAR, as having died suddenly at the residence of Dr. Lalonde, was a medical student boarding at 590 Mignonne street.

From evidence produced at the inquest it appeared the death was the result of suicide, caused by taking morphia, and a verdict to that effect was returned.

"IROQUOIS" WINS THE NEWMARKET DERBY.—LONDON, October 17.—The Newmarket second October meeting came to a close on Friday. The race for the Newmarket Derby (sweepstakes), for 3-year-old colts and fillies, distance one mile and a half, was won by Mr. P. Lorillard's brown colt "Iroquois." Mr. R. Jardine's bay colt "Ishmael" came in second, and Lord Falmouth's bay colt "Lennoxlove" third. Four ran.

THE DUBLIN RIOTS.—DUBLIN, October 17.—The police are accused of wanton conduct. The proprietor of the Imperial Hotel, while standing in a doorway, was knocked down by an officer. Mr. O'Donnel, member of Parliament, had an eye-glass smashed on his face by a policeman, though doing nothing whatever. Twenty or thirty persons are reported injured on Saturday night.

A WAR-VESSEL ORDERED TO IRELAND.—LONDON, October 17.—The double screw, armor-plated corvette "Penelope" has been ordered from Harwich to Ireland immediately.

NIHILIST ARRESTED.—ST. PETERSBURG, October 17.—The female Nihilist Lebedeff, formerly an intimate friend of Jeliboff, and known to have been implicated in two attempts on the life of the late Czar, has been arrested.

TERRIBLE CRUELTY OF MASKED DESPERADOES.—LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 17.—The residence of John Miller, a respectable planter living in Randolph county, was visited a few nights ago by ten or twelve men, who were heavily armed and wore muslin masks on their faces. They surrounded the dwelling and called loudly for Miller to come out. Mr. Miller was absent. Upon being informed of his absence the mob entered the house, and taking Mr. Miller's two boys, aged fifteen and eighteen, into the yard, whipped them in a terrible manner. The youngest boy, attempting to escape, was fired at, no less than twenty shots taking effect in his body before he fell to the ground. The desperadoes then, after threatening the lives of Mrs. Miller and daughter, rode away, remarking that on their next visit they would clean out the ranche and kill every one about it.

WRECK OF TWO FREIGHT TRAINS.—LANCASTER, Pa., October 17.—A serious freight wreck occurred on the Pennsylvania Railroad, near Christiana, early Saturday morning, caused by the breaking of one of the trucks on an extra freight train going east. A number of cars were destroyed and both tracks blocked for several hours. No person was injured. About the same time a similar accident occurred at Collins Station, three cars being wrecked and the track blocked for an hour.

A GIGANTIC CLAIM.—NEW YORK, October 17.—The Times says a bill against Peru for nearly one billion dollars has been fyled in the State Department on the Chilian and Peruvian Ministers, by the Peruvian Company. The claim is somewhat in the nature of a lien upon the deposits of fertilizers, nitrates and guano in Peru.

IN MEMORY OF DR. HOLLAND.—SPRINGFIELD, Mass., October 17.—There was a memorial service in memory of the late Dr. J. G. Holland at the Memorial church in this city last evening, at which brief tributes were pronounced by various speakers.

MAITLAND, Ont., Feb. 26, 1880.

Messrs. Perry Davis & Son & Lawrence, Montreal,

I have much pleasure in adding to the number of the numerous testimonials you have already received, as to the value of your renowned Pain-Killer. I have sold it, and used it in my family for twenty years or more, and have no hesitation in saying that it is the best patent medicine I have ever used for the purposes for which it is recommended; and, moreover, every person to whom I have ever sold it has been perfectly satisfied with it, and I know many persons who will not go to bed at night unless they are sure there is a bottle of "Perry Davis" in the house. All who have used it once will use it again; it makes friends and retains them.

Yours truly, JOHN DUMBRILLE, Druggist.

S. CARSLEY.

The dome of thought is the palace of the soul.—Byron.

S. CARSLEY'S Black Cashmeres are bought by experienced buyers from the best manufacturers in France. All who have seen them say they are the best value in Montreal.

Indeed, I am in the waist two yards about; but I am now about no waste; I am about thrift.—Shakespeare.

The ladies of Montreal have found by buying Black Cashmeres at S. CARSLEY'S they are saving from ten to twenty cents per yard.

It adds a great deal to the force of an opinion to know that there is a man of mark and likelihood behind it.—Emerson.

S. CARSLEY some time ago expressed the opinion that he kept the largest and best selected stock of Black Cashmeres in the city; this opinion is truly confirmed daily by the hundreds who go there to buy.

In this world a man must be either anvil or hammer.—Longfellow.

S. CARSLEY seems determined to do the Black Cashmere trade of the Dominion, and, we believe, claims to be the largest importer of these goods. New and fresh goods and extra good value must tell with the public.

To most men experience is like the stern-lights of a ship, which illumine only the track it has passed.—Coleridge.

Some Dry Goods men never profit by experience. Many of them go along in the old rut or groove, selling English-made Cashmeres for French; but the public soon discover the fraud and buy elsewhere. S. Carsley's Black Cashmeres are warranted French make, and best dyes.

"Leaves have their time to fall,
And flowers to wither at the north wind's breath."
—Hemans.

There is, indeed, a time for everything, and the public of Montreal have found out this week that now is the time to buy Black Cashmeres at S. Carsley's. Next week the Special Sale is to be continued.

Morning Session.

The Baxter-Sills case was resumed.

John Fahey's cross-examination continued—Questioned as to the letters in his office concerning Mr. Bickerdike and Mr. Matheney, witness stated he had not been able to find them, but produced his letter-book. In this, however, the copies of the letters in question were found to be torn out. Witness swore he knew nothing of the tearing out. Pages 75 and 76 were thus torn out, and were said by witness to have contained a letter to Pinkerton about Baxter.

As there was no reference in the index to such a letter on such a page, witness was closely pressed by Mr. Greenshields as to how he knew such a letter to have been on such a page. The index showed that said letter was addressed to a Mr. Warner. Witness explained that Warner was superintendent of the Pinkerton agency. Witness could not swear said letter referred to Mr. Bickerdike. Admitted he was wrong on Saturday in stating he had first seen Matheney and Bickerdike in October, 1880; that it was in June or July. His books showed that about April, 1880, Mr. Perkins pointed out to him, Baxter. Had written about Bickerdike and Matheney because of information received from Mr. Lefevre in connection with the Silver Plume Company. Matheney and Bickerdike wanted to send Mr. Lefevre to Deadwood to examine the mine; thought the affair fraudulent at the time even though an intending shareholder was being sent to examine the mine, because Baxter was connected with it; Mr. Sills had previously told witness that Bickerdike had swindled him out of $10,000; could not say for certain whether Matheney and Bickerdike were not now doing business openly in New York; did not believe it, as there was a warrant out against them; was employed by Mr. Sills to inquire about Baxter, and was paid for it over $400; never went out of town for Mr. Sills; never went to Quebec for him, but worked for him while there on other business; did not write to U. S. authorities to prefer a charge of forgery against Baxter, and that a gentleman here would bear all the expenses of it, whether bogus or otherwise; did write that if there was an indictment against Baxter, there were victims of his here ready to take means and go to expense to have him extradited; could not remember any sum of money mentioned in this connection; had not heard the Messrs. Sills say they would spend $25,000 to punish Baxter.

Witness was then ordered to read a letter to Mr. Brooks of the Washington Secret Service. The letter of June 1st, 1881, substantiated witness' evidence. Witness received an answer stating that there was a charge of fraud, conspiracy and perjury, but not of forgery. Could not produce that answer in Court.

The witness on being pressed did produce a letter which he acknowledged to be the answer to his letter of June 1st, and which did not contain the statements against Baxter as being guilty of perjury, fraud, and conspiracy. Witness could not produce such a letter. Witness then said he had received information of the three specific charges mentioned, from Chicago and other sources. Had sent a photograph of Baxter to Washington; thought also to Chicago; could not remember if to New York. Objected to answer whether he had sent a photograph of Baxter to Police News. Swore he did not say to Mr. Baxter that as long as the Sills' money lasted this war would be kept up. Objected to answer, as being indicted for libel himself by Baxter, whether he had helped to dictate the letter which appeared in the News. Had seen in the possession of the defendant copies of the number of the Police News in question. H. Phillips was in witness' employ about June last, also Jos. Callaghan Boyle. Knew John Hannon. Did not compound a felony with John Hannon in June last. Brought Hannon to his office from the store by instructions from his employer, money was got from him, and handed to his employers. Witness received about $100 for this as fees. Did not report this to the magistrate, Mr. Dugas.

In rebuttal:—The missing letters were taken from witness' office without his knowledge or consent.

Mr. Greenshields:—When did you see them last? Ans. Some time before Mr. Boyle left our employ.

Louis A. Hart, N. P., Montreal, was next examined: Was a practising notary in this city on April 17th, 1880. Produced a document styled "The constitution and by-laws of the Silver Plume Mining Company," signed by Messrs. P. A. A. Dorion, Charlebois, Matteney, Doucet. Mr. Dorion acted individually and as attorney for J. R. Bickerdike, under a power of attorney.

P. O. Doucet, Secretary of Silver Plume Mining Company, produced its books, stated there was nothing in the books to show what were the expenses of the Company or the cost of the mine. Witness produced the deed of sale of the mine; the price was $15,000 cash, paid in presence of witness. The capital was $1,000,000. Much money was spent on the mine, paid by the President and Directors. Mr. Charlebois was appointed Vice-President for a day or two in absence of Mr. McMillan, M.P. of London, Ontario.

From a deed and minutes read by witness, it appeared that Mr. W. B. Sills was elected Vice-President.

"Was the Company incorporated?"

"Yes, by the Provincial Legislature."

"Was the pamphlet now shown the witness a report of an examination made of the Silver Plume Mine by Mr. W. B. Sills in person?"

"It was."

The pamphlet was then read. After which the Court adjourned.

The Championship Lacrosse Match.

The match on Saturday was undoubtedly the most keenly contested match, which has ever taken place for the same stake, and although play was kept up for an hour and forty minutes, or until it was too dark to see the ball, neither team secured a goal. The play as a whole was much better than would have been expected, with the water a couple of inches deep all over the field. After 45 minutes play, Hart succeeded in putting the ball through the Torontos' goals, but the game was disallowed, as a second or two before it was taken, the referee had, in response to a claim of foul from Tucker, who had been having a tussle with Ross McKenzie, called time. The claim to foul was investigated by the referee, and McKenzie was ruled off the field, as Meehan, of the Shamrocks, had been previously done for the same cause. The Torontos intend challenging the Shamrocks again immediately.

Football.

The R. M. C. Cadets and the Montrealers, following the old Rugby rules—rain or sunshine—took sides on Saturday to play for the challenge cup. The result is that the Montreal men still keep the championship. A pleasant feature in the game was the fine gentlemanly good feeling which was displayed on both sides, any little discussion which arose being immediately settled without any reference to outsiders. In the evening the gentlemen Cadets were entertained at a dinner by the Montreal Club at the Windsor.

The game between the Britannias and the Torontos, which was played at Toronto on Saturday, resulted in favor of the Western men after a hard contest. After the match the teams dined at the Rossin House.

The second fifteen of the Britannias played the first and second years of McGill on Saturday, the Britannias being the victors.

Aquatic.

The sculling match between Plaisted and Trickett, for $500 a side, on Saturday, was won by Trickett, by less than a length.

Amusements.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—The Florence Company concluded a most successful—but altogether too short—engagement on Saturday evening. Despite the unpropitious state of the weather, a very large audience braved the elements to witness the performance of "Dombey and Son," and right well were they repaid for their intrepidity. As Captain Cuttle Mr. Florence was simply irresistible, his quaint sayings and still quainter antics with his "hooked hand" keeping the house in an almost continuous burst of merriment, that only subsided when he referred in the most pathetic manner to Walter Gray. "Wal'r 's drowned, aint he now?" But even then the frequency of the question, and the ludicrous manner in which he put it, caused what would otherwise have been a somewhat sad scene to be transformed into one of genuine mirth. Altogether, Mr. Florence's creation of Captain Cuttle is, without doubt, one of the best ever seen in Montreal, and the only thing to be regretted is that it if not to be seen again at present. Mrs. Florence did not appear, but the rest of the Company fully sustained their reputation in the several characters assigned them.

POLITICAL ON DITS.

The Liberals Organizing—The Montreal Senatorship.

Our reporter to-day was informed by one of the most prominent English speaking members of the Opposition from Quebec that the Liberals have at last begun to organize in view of the general elections. They feel confident of being able to carry the following constituencies with a large majority:—Drummond and Arthabaska, Megantic, the three divisions of Quebec, Beauce, Montmagny, Bellechasse, and Port Neuf. In the event of the Hon. Mr. Ross coming out for Quebec county again, they believe he can carry the seat easily. The same Hon. gentleman also states that there is no truth in the rumour of the Hon. Mr. Joly's intended visit to England with his family. He has expressed his intention of resigning the leadership of the Opposition, but he will most likely retain his seat in the House for Lotbiniere. The Hon. Mr. Langevin is looked to as the next Leader of the Liberals in the House.

For Drummond and Arthabaska the present member for the Local House intends running at the next general election for the Federal House. Dr. Mignault will probably be the Conservative candidate for St. Hyacinthe. In Shefford Dr. de Grosbois is mentioned as the Liberal candidate in place of Mr. Lafontaine, the present member. For Bagot county Mr. Dupont, an ex-M.P.P., has refused the nomination in the Conservative interest. Several names are mentioned in connection with Rouville. In the Liberal interest they are the present member, Mr. Bouthillier, Mr. Robert, ex-M.P.P., Mr. Gaboury, of St. Claire, and Sir W. Johnson, of St. Mathias, whilst the Conservatives have an equally strong battalion, Dr. Poulin, an ex-M.P.P., Mr. Bruce Campbell, of St. Hilaire, and Mr. Lebeau, of St. Marie.

Mr. Prefontaine, the present member for Chambly, will not run again. Mr. Willet will probably be the Liberal candidate against Dr. Martel. For Vercheres it is said Mr. Brillon, of Beloeil will be the Conservative nomaneee, and it is expected he will carry the constituency with ease.

MONTREAL SENATORSHIP.

The regretted demise of the Hon. Mr. Penny causes a vacancy in the Senate for the division of Montreal. In conversation to-day with politicians and influential merchants the name of Mr. A. W. Ogilvie, ex M. P. P., for Montreal Centre, in the Local House, is very favorably mentioned. It is claimed on behalf of Mr. Ogilvie that he is a man of large wealth, is retired from business and has consequently ample time to attend to legislation. He is also a man of unimpeachable character, large-hearted and liberal minded; moreover that he is intimately connected with the mercantile and banking interests of the city, and that although he has always been a Conservative still there is no one who has warmer friends amongst the Opposition than he has. Mr. Ogilvie represented Montreal West in the Quebec House for two terms of Parliament.

MUD.

Why our Streets are so Filthy.

Our representative to-day waited upon the City Surveyor to obtain from him some explanation as to the disgraceful condition of our streets.

From what Mr. Ansley says it appears that the appropriations are ridiculously insufficient to keep the streets in anything like proper repair or cleanliness. The appropriations for scavenging, cleaning and watering our streets are $22,000, and last year they were $18,000, so that a great number of the streets which were left in bad order last year, on account of the appropriation being expended, had to be cleaned this year. The appropriations five or six years ago ranged from $32,000 to $36,000, while to-day, with a very greatly increased traffic, with an increased mileage of streets to keep in repair, the appropriations are much less, and the streets are consequently very much run down. A comparison between Montreal and other cities show how far we are behind as regards the amount expended per mile on streets. Boston pays $974 per mile, having two hundred miles of macadamized streets and seventy miles of pavements; the watering of the streets being a special appropriation. Manchester, England, which is claimed to be the best paved city in the world, expends $550 per mile for street cleaning and scavenging, while all other cities of any size spend even more than this. Paris employs upwards of three thousand men in street cleaning alone has 190 sweeping machines, and for watering alone £18,000 a year. The figures given above for Montreal were for scavenging, cleaning and watering, but as the scavenging now is not done by the Road Department, an average of this and last year for street cleaning and watering gives $192 per mile, which is a lower sum than that paid by Manchester for sweeping alone. Street watering in Montreal costs about $8,000, leaving about $12,000 per annum for street cleaning. Manchester being the best and Montreal the worst paved city in the world. The former being also the best organized and managed, it costs $285 per mile to sweep it, while Montreal pays $115 per mile for a similar service, or allowing one-sixth or two months for the advantage derived from the snow in Winter, and we pay $125 per mile, less than one-half the amount paid by Manchester. The number of men employed on our streets at present is also quite insufficient to keep the streets in anything like good order, and they are employed as follows:—Repairing roads, 18 section men and 20 carters; repairing sidewalks, 6 carpenters and 4 laborers and 2 carters; cleaning streets, 24 carts and 18 laborers.

THE ASSASSIN GUITEAU.

A Letter to his Counsel and a Statement to the Public.

Mr. Scoville not visiting Guiteau on Wednesday last received the following letter from him, enclosing a statement addressed to the public. It is as follows:—

MR. SCOVILLE—I had a high fever last night, the worst I have had since I was sick in July. I told Colonel Corkhill's assistant I should not be able to go into court this week any way. Did you see the President? If not, see him at once and get what time we want. He is bound to help me, and he will help me if you stick to him. Talk to him just as I would. Thirty days to plead and my book are the objects to be pressed now. Ask Mr. Merrick if we cannot compel Bailey to loan me his note book. If not, give me a man and I will go at it again. I think I can redictate it in two weeks. He ought to get possession of Bailey's book in some way. Do not waste any effort on trying to prove my actual insanity. It would disgust the court and jury. Legal insanity is all I claim, and that is just as real as actual. I want to use the leading stalwarts I met in New York last Fall in my defence. This and my own testimony is about all the defence I have, as the law is with us, the law of insanity and the law of jurisdiction. See me as soon as you can. I want to get my book out at once some way. C. G.

OCTOBER 12.

His statement is as follows:—

To the public—I wish to warn all persons to attempt no violence on me, as they will probably be shot dead if they do by the officials having me in custody. The United States government is bound to protect me and give me a fair trial, and the honor of the American people is at stake for my personal protection. I understand this bitterness is kept alive by certain friends of the late President who expected office from him. They are mad about his removal, and it is irresponsible characters of this kind that are sending silly and impertinent letters anonymously to my attorney. These people had better drop politics and go into other business. With greatest respect, CHARLES GUITEAU.

United States Jail, District of Columbia, October 12, 1881.

The New Senator.

By a strange coincidence both the Herald and Gazette advocate the claims of Mr. A. W. Ogilvie to the vacant seat of the late Mr. Penny in the Dominion Senate. On the other hand, our esteemed contemporary Le Monde puts forward Mr. Coursol. The division of Alma comprises the counties of Hochelaga and Laval. There are seven senatorships now vacant by death or resignation. The deceased are Senators Brouse, Bull, Christie and Penny. Messrs. Skead and McLelan have resigned, and the seventh has accepted a place of emolument under the Crown.

MOUNT ROYAL PARK.

I

A CHART OF THE PARK.

There is no use disguising this twofold fact—that our Mount Royal Park is not as popular as it ought to be, and that it has not been laid out according to those principles of landscape gardening which would make it, perhaps, the most magnificent pleasure ground in America. That reasons of economy can be invoked to palliate, or at least explain this neglect, we are willing to admit, but it must also be admitted that sheer ignorance and want of taste must be taken into account. It is not intended, however, to discuss these points to-day, preference being given to some remarks of Mr. Frederick Law Olmsted, the distinguished American designer, who has just put forth in New York, through the Putnams, a dainty volume embodying his plan for the embellishment of Mount Royal Park, as set by him before our City Commissioners. The whole of this volume deserves to be read, as it is written in a becoming spirit, and is replete with valuable suggestions.

Before attacking the Mountain as a whole, Mr. Olmsted takes it out in detail, mapping its principal characteristics.

I. THE CRAGS.—This is the broken, rocky declivity on the city side. It is not picturesque, and should be improved by a growth of low and compact trees. The native sumach is specially recommended on the upper ledges, and the Canadian yew—an evergreen trailer with large bright berries—in the moist, shady places.

II. THE FELLS. To all the rugged and rocky land on the north the old English term Fell is applied:—the UPPERFELL being all that above the Crags; the UNDERFELL being that below the Crags; and the BRACKENFELL, which includes all the steep, broken ground, much overgrown with bracken, south of the Crags.

III. THE GLADES.—This is a long, gentle depression, extending from the south end of the Crags westerly toward the Cote des Neiges Cemetery. The Superintendent's house stands in the midst of it, and, as Mr. Olmsted thinks, mars its natural beauty. By retaining its main meadow features, it can be made "the finest spread of turf on the continent."

IV. THE CRAGSFOOT.—The small district below the Crags, between the Brackenfell and the Underfell, containing the little reservoir and the "unfortunate" zigzag road from Drummond street. The native wood should be thickened and the sides of the road planted densely with underwood.

V. THE PIEDMONT.—The district where the small-pox hospital was placed. This charming spot could easily be reclaimed by fruit and other lowland trees.

VI. COTE PLACIDE.—A large district of gentle slopes, with little protruding rock. This requires to be raised into terraces, by the help of additional soil, so as to afford lovely views of the valleys below. The rocks should be exposed as boldly as possible, and overgrown with vines.

These divisions will be more readily understood by reference to the map accompanying Mr. Olmsted's book.

II.

HOW TO USE THE PARK.

The author gives a charming itinerary to the top of the Mountain from the high road to Cote Placide, the Piedmont, the Underfell, the Upperfell, which is too long even to summarize, but there are other directions worthy of brief enumeration.

I. Do not allow the mountain to be in all parts left open to be wandered over and used at will at all times by all comers.

II. Open the whole of the Upperfell for picnics, children's games, and plays not involving the use of missiles. Supply swings and other appliances of amusement. Furnish abundance of comfortable seats.

III. Provide a public house with as much roofing as will give abundant shelter from showers. Let it furnish gratuitously, or at a nominal price, hot water for those who want to make tea on the ground.

IV. There should be numerous places well adapted by their ledges, groves and dells for picnic parties. Provide springs or little natural rock fountains in connection with them.

V. At suitable houses, one in the Brackenfell and one in the Underfell, let desirable convenience for picnics be supplied, and at the upper one let there be sheds for vehicles and horses.

The author concludes by saying that, wisely or unwisely, Montreal has bought the property and must do something with it. Four courses lie open to the city.

I. Let it run to waste, in which case the purchase money will be wasted.

II. Make such ill-considered improvements upon it that the outlay for them will be an addition to that previously misspent.

III. Make extravagant improvements, misspending more.

IV. Make such substantial, well devised, economical improvements that the result, as a whole, shall repay the original purchase money, together with the cost of the improvements and a fair percentage of profit.

By keeping one good honest man intelligently at work for the purpose, we may find in our Park charming refinements of mountain beauty, and if we cannot afford to keep a single man so employed, there are hundreds of little places on the Mountain within which, if we can persuade ourselves to regard them as sacred places and save them from sacrilegious hands and feet, "the original Gardener of Eden would delight your (our) eyes with little pictures within greater pictures of indescribable loveliness."

We thank Mr. Olmsted for this dainty little volume, full of valuable instruction, and while recommending it to all our readers, we specially desire our City Fathers to give it their careful study.

Suppressing "Boycotting"—Father Sheehy's Views on Prison Life in Kilmainham Jail—Mr. Forster's powers—T. P. O'Connor Interviewed—The Skirmishers Active.

LONDON, October 17.—The proclamation suppressing "boycotting" says:—"Whereas, in many parts of Ireland an organized system of intimidation is practised, whereby persons are under apprehension of violence to person or property, or of deprivation of the necessaries of life, or of loss of business, and are coerced to abandon their lawful employments and become members or subscribers to the funds of an association known as the Land League, all persons are warned that such practices of intimidation are criminal, and those engaging in them are liable to arrest and imprisonment."

FATHER SHEEHY IN PARIS.

A correspondent has interviewed Father Sheehy and Mr. Egan in Paris. Both gentlemen protested indignantly against what they regard as the wilful neglect of most ordinary care in the sanitary arrangements of Kilmainham prison. Father Sheehy described the prisoner's recreation ground as "a filthy and foul smelling yard, about as large as a good sized room." Mr. Egan, who was in the prison a few days ago, assured the correspondent that Mr. Boynton cannot live through the Winter if he is not moved very soon. He is suffering from abscess in the liver, and has become a mere shadow of his former self. Father Sheehy has been a prisoner in Kilmainham himself. To look at him, however, you would scarcely believe it. He seems in excellent health and is as lively as any young ecclesiastic you could meet on a day's journey. Father Sheehy visited the Irish College, and had an enthusiastic reception from the students.

MR. FORSTER'S POWERS.

The World's London special says:—The powers vested in the Chief Secretary by the Coercion Act are much more extensive than is commonly supposed. The Act empowers him to arrest any person who is declared by the Lord Lieutenant to be reasonably suspected of having, either before or after the passing of this Act, to have been guilty as principal or accessory of high treason, or treasonable practices, or of any crime punishable by law, being an act of violence or intimidation. It follows, therefore, that the Chief Secretary can arrest every member of the League who happens to live in proclaimed districts, and it may be said that Leinster, Munster and Connaught are all proclaimed districts under the Act, and the suspects in those districts may be recommitted at the end of every three months by an order from the Chief Secretary, or rather from the Lords Justices who act for him, and their imprisonment without trial prolonged for two years.

MR. T. P. O'CONNOR'S VIEWS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Mr. T. P. O'Connor, M.P., delegate of the Land League to America, who arrived at New York, on Friday, was immediately interviewed concerning Mr. Parnell's arrest. He said: "From the short reflection I have had, I would say that it is the last desperate card of a baffled gamester, to save his stakes, which in this case are represented by that miserable botch called the Land Bill. Seeing the utter disregard of the Irish people for his miserable attempt to prolong the life of landlordism, he takes this step to force it down their throats by shutting up every votary of opposition to it. But he has undertaken a task too big for him. He can neither obstruct thought nor bind up the minds of men, and the Irish people have gotten too far ahead to be cowed into the acceptance of any mere pittance thrown to them in charity. Another view I take of it is that the arrest was made with the deliberate design of driving the Irish people into premature rebellion; that what has proved so obnoxious and so discomfitting to them in the line of argument, reason, and law would be wiped away in blood. I repeat, this arrest of Parnell has been done with the deliberate purpose of driving the unarmed people of Ireland into open conflict with the power of the British Government. It is a cowardly piece of business."

THE SKIRMISHERS ACTIVE.

O'Donovan Rossa said to a Sun reporter that the arrest of Parnell is a trick of the English Government to hide their real intentions. They know that by arresting Parnell they give a great impetus to the Land League movement. They hope by this to concentrate the energies of the Irish on the Land League to the detriment of the skirmishers, who are the only enemies they fear. The fight will go on. The English fear these determined Irishmen who plan to burn them up. The Land League cannot accomplish its object without fighting, and the skirmishers are behind it, and will provide for that, whether Parnell likes it or not." Rossa said he did not expect arrest, but that it was strange the Government should have arrested all the small fry first before catching the big ones.

The Sun says it is reported President Arthur was anxious to have Mr. Conkling accept the Treasury. Mr. Conkling, while not absolutely declining, convinced the President it would be better to appoint somebody else. It is reported the President has been approached upon the subject of a tight money market in Wall street. He said the condition of affairs on Wall street in no way concerned the Administration. Wall street transactions were merely betting transactions.

A man named Beck, from the Turtle Mountain district, the other day eloped with the wife of a farmer named Bolton. The lady took all her husband's money and one child, leaving the two eldest with the robbed and deserted father.

The St. Paul Pioneer Press says that, on the Canadian Pacific, between Portage la Prairie and Brandon, trains have begun running. Work has been so well pushed on the Canadian Pacific Air Line that, with good weather, fifteen days are expected to suffice to complete grading between Winnipeg and Portage la Prairie.

An individual whose name could not be ascertained hired a horse and buggy from a Winnipeg livery stable and, after driving the poor beast until it could go no further, jumped out and clubbed it to death. He then coolly walked away, leaving the contents of the rig—some pots and pans—as reimbursement for the owner.

Advices from the interior of British Columbia state that in some of the valleys the barley and oats are safe, and the other grain of all kinds is destroyed. The disaster is a serious one for the country, as all the grain required for the railway works must now be imported from California and Oregon. Rain and snow fell alternately till the rain completed the damage. The district affected extends from the boundary line to the Thompson River.

The prospects of Portage La Prairie are looking up in a gratifying manner. It is the centre of a magnificent agricultural region, and its railway facilities are likely to be much better than at one time could have been reasonably dreamt of. A year ago it was believed that even the C. P. R. would not touch the town. Now the C. P. R. passing through it is an assured fact, it is the terminus of the Portage, Westbourne, and North-Western Railway, and it has the prospect of several lines running into it from the south-east.

Two items of importance come from Winnipeg. The first is that Professor Macoun has returned to Winnipeg after another of his North-West explorations. His reports still more strongly than ever assure the people of Canada that in the North-West they have a patrimony the value of which they are scarcely yet beginning to appreciate. Professor Macoun reports the land about Fort Pelly to be the best in the North-West. It is an undulating prairie, exceedingly fertile and easy of drainage. The other item is that an easy means of increasing the outflow from Lake Manitoba has been ascertained, which will prevent the encroachment of the water upon the land.

The first thing that strikes the visitor before he has been six hours in Winnipeg is the tremendous rage going on for speculation in land. This rage is almost equal to the gold or diamond fevers, and though the prospects of the city are at present good, it is feared they may be injured by these speculations, which are very cleverly manipulated by designing speculators. Large sums of money are made, and one man, by no means one of the largest speculators, has, without doubt, realized $20,000 since the Spring. Go where you will, there is nothing but land talked, and if you cannot talk land, you had better "step down and out," for people will think you a fool. Knots cluster around the hotels and in every public place, and with all the one absorbing topic is—Land! Auction sales go on every evening, and lots are sold, not only in Winnipeg, but all over the country.

CITY COUNCIL.

The C. P. R. Question.

At the meeting of the City Council this afternoon, there were present Mayor Beaudry, Ald. Brown, Stephens, Robert, Fairbairn, Proctor, Donovan, Tansey, Mooney, Beauchamps, Grenier, Gauthier, Dubuc, Gilman and Hagar.

The Park Commissioners reported saying that they had incurred $1,100 more expenses on the Park Ranger's house than they expected, that they had made $600 of this amount up by taking $450 from the appropriation for footpaths and $150 from that for the wind-mill, but yet asked the Council for a grant of $500 to make up the balance.

Ald. Gilman gave notice of motion that the city notify the C. P. R. Company that they would not proceed further on their notice of assumption of the road.

The Mayor asked if the notice of last meeting would be let fall to the ground.

Ald. Gilman—Oh, no; certainly not. Let them both stand.

Ald. Stephens—They will both fall to the ground, Mr. Mayor.

Meeting in progress.

The Bourne Defalcation.

The Bourne defalcation, it is now stated, will not be so great as at first supposed, although upwards of $12,000 deficit has been discovered. The books have been kept in a very loose manner, more especially since the illness of Mr. Dakers, and considerable difficulty has been experienced in auditing them. No clue has been obtained to Mr. Bourne's whereabouts, and it is believed he has left New York.

Gold Mining.

Mr. Paul Juneken, C. E., a member of the Civil Engineer Institute of Paris, arrived from France on Saturday and proceeded at once to the property of the Quebec Gold Mining Company at Beauce to inspect the mines and report thereon to a number of French capitalists, who intend, should his report be satisfactory, to invest a large amount of capital in working them.

Obit.

We regret to announce the death of Mrs. Andrew Allan, which took place yesterday in London, England. The deceased lady, who had been unwell for a considerable time, was in London for the purpose of consulting the most eminent physicians.

CITY ITEMS.

—The Toronto Lacrosse team left for home by the 10 o'clock train on Saturday night.

—The Montefiore Social and Dramatic Club gave a very successful entertainment last evening in their hall, Latour street, which was attended by upwards of two hundred of our Hebrew fellow citizens.

—Mr. J. J. Graham, of 162 Upper St. Urbain street, and Mr. S. Jones, were savagely assaulted last night on Bleury street by a rowdy, who afterwards made off. Mr. Graham was knocked senseless by a blow on the head.

—This afternoon, in the Senecal-Laurier libel suit, the Court ruled that Mr. Archambault's motion and demurrer to Mr. Laurier's plea of justification, must be dismissed, both as to the ground taken that the plea contains irrelevant matter and as to its constituting a new libel.

—To-morrow being the fete nationale of the Montreal School of Medicine and Surgery, a solemn mass will be sung at Notre Dame de Lourdes at half-past nine, at which the students will be present. On account of the dangerous illness of Dr. Bibaud, professor of anatomy, the literary and musical portion of the programme of the fete will not be carried out.

Suburban.

Dr. Lewis, of St. Henri, has a little lad named Talton under treatment who is suffering terribly from skin poisoning by wild parsley, and fears are entertained for his recovery.

A mass meeting of the property owners of Hochelaga has been called by the Mayor for Wednesday to discuss the question of an amalgamation between their village and Montreal.

The Hochelaga police caught a man named Joseph Laurier while in the act of breaking into the Hudon Cotton Mill, Saturday night, and he was sentenced to one month's imprisonment by the local police magistrate this morning.

An American firm is pushing forward a scheme for illuminating St. Henri, Ste. Cunegonde and St. Gabriel with gas. At the last meeting of the St. Henri Council the scheme was discussed and a decision unfavorable to its adoption was passed.

Shipping Notes.

The Allan's mail SS. "Moravian," from Quebec arrived at Liverpool, Monday.

The Inman Line SS. "City of Montreal," from New York, October 6th, for Liverpool, via Queenstown, arrived at 4 a.m. yesterday.

Personal.

M. Godfroi Laviolette, warden of St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary, is going to spend some months at the Kingston penitentiary to post himself in his duties, and Mr. Benson, warden of the Manitoba penitentiary, will take charge of St. Vincent in the meantime.

A RAILWAY THROUGH A DESERT.

By the completion of the line of railway from Krasnovodsk to Kizit Arvat the Russian government have finished the first section of the Transcaspian railway, which is intended to bring the territory recently conquered from the Turcomans into direct communication with both the Caucasus and the interior of Russia. The port of Kizil Arvat has long been one of some importance, and during the eventful period of the last ten years it has played a considerable part in Russian operations in this quarter, and now, as the actual terminal point of this railway, it is not likely to sink into insignificance. From Krasnovodsk, which, after the suggestion of several alternative places, seems destined to remain the principal Russian harbor on the eastern side of the Caspian, to Kizil Arvat, the distance is about 200 miles. The country through which the line passes is mostly desert, lying between the two Balkan ranges, and completely waterless, save at the few spots where wells are to be found. Of these, the principal are those at Mollah Karl, Tageer and Kayandjik. Although the scarcity of water has hitherto constituted an obstacle in the path of an army or of a caravan, it is probable that the Russian engineers are right in saying that a sufficient supply can always be procured en route for the engines, while the naptha springs of the Caspian provide a cheap and easily obtainable fuel.

It is not to be expected that the Russians will remain long content with Kizil Arvat as the terminus of their new line, especially as a brisk trade is likely to spring up with the Turcomans, and also with the towns on the northern borders of Persia. East of Kizil Arvat the difficulties of engineering are very much less than those that presented themselves west of that place, although even these were not formidable, and have now been successfully overcome. As Russia has formally annexed the region up to Ashkabad, which is about the same distance from Kizil Arvat that that place is from Krasnovodsk, there will probably be no further delay than financial considerations may impose in carrying the line to the capital of the new transcaspian province. The energy shown in improving their means of communication with this new possession is in striking contrast with the indifference or sluggishness exhibited by the Russian authorities in other parts of Asia. While Tashkend remains more remote from Moscow than our possessions at the antipodes are from London, and while the resources of Siberia are undeveloped for want of railroads and canals, the same six months have witnessed the subjection of a brave race and the connection of their subdued territory with the main lines of communication in the empire. To pretend that this exceptional energy has not a peculiar significance would be to disregard facts, nor, although we may repeat that there is nothing unreasonable in Russia desiring to bring her latest Central Asian acquisition into direct communication with Tiflis or Derbend, can the plain fact be ignored that the first section in a line of railway which must one day connect Russia with Meshed, and possibly with Herat also, has been successfully laid down and opened for traffic! It may very well be that at some future period we shall have to recognize in this peaceful triumph of human skill a circumstance not less pregnant with important consequences to the destinies of Asiatic peoples and powers than the fall of kingdoms and the destruction of dynasties.—London Times.

THE POPE AND THE ITALIAN PILGRIMS.—London, October 17.—A Rome despatch says it is impossible to describe the enthusiastic cheers after the Pope gave his benediction on the occasion of receiving the Italian pilgrims at St. Peter's on Sunday. The Pope, in his address to the pilgrims, stated that the deplorable state of affairs placed before him the alternative of enduring continual captivity, made harder daily, or going into exile. He asked Catholics to watch and pray for the liberty and independence of the Pope. The Pope looked thin and anxious. A gang of roughs pelted the pilgrims on leaving the church of St. Vitales, and shouted "Down with the Vatican."

PARNELL IN PRISON.—London, October 17.—Parnell is in the prison infirmary, with Dillon, Sexton and O'Brien. The 52nd Regiment has been ordered to Ireland.

FROM QUEBEC.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE STAR.]

PERSONAL.—Quebec, October 17.—Lieut.-Col. Strange has arrived per SS. "Polynesian."

MINING.—A meeting of the directors of the Quebec Mining Company was held in this city on Friday. Hon. P. Garneau is president of the Company, Mr. Elzear Beaudet, M.P.P., vice-president, and Mr. L. N. Carrier Secretary-Treasurer. Mr. Jean Blanchet advocate, was named director to replace Mr. Lyonnais, resigned. Mr. F. W. Larue was named notary of the Company. Mr. Juncar, a Civil Engineer from Paris, who has been invited to inspect the Company's property in Beauce, visited the other day the museum of mineralogy in Laval University, accompanied by Rev. Abbe Laflamme.

FROM OTTAWA.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE STAR.]

THE RIVER RISING.—Ottawa, Oct. 17.—Considerable rain has fallen to-day, and the water in the river is rising rapidly. Forwarders are delighted at the prospect of once more being able to load their barges with lumber something approaching their carrying capacity.

THE TURF—The entries for the Ottawa Fall meeting close to-day. The prospects for two days lively sport are good.

ORDINATION—Bishop Duhamel yesterday ordained Messrs. Burns and Chatham priests. The former was presented with a gold-headed cane by the students.

THE FOUR YOUNG MEN charged with the murder of Wetherell, and who were discharged, acted in a disgraceful manner on the Bank street road yesterday. Their narrow escape does not appear to have had the slightest effect on their conduct, for instead of leading a sober and industrious life they continue their dissipated habits.

BRAVERY REWARDED.—To-night Mayor Mackintosh will present to Mr. W. P. Lett, City Clerk, the medal of the Royal Humane Society. Mr. Lett is bordering on the sixties, but last June, at the risk of losing his own life, he plunged into the Ottawa and rescued a boy from drowning.

A LIFE WORK.—Benjamin Sulte, the poet, has just completed his "History of the French in Canada." He has been working at it for twenty-two years. It will be published in forty-two parts of thirty-five pages each, and will be illustrated.

THE DROWNING ACCIDENT.—Bastien is said to be the name of one of the men who was drowned at Aylmer. His wife, too, is missing.

OWEN SOUND.—S. J. Lane, M.P., Dr. Barnhardt, Mayor, and Mr. Creson, of Owen Sound, have waited upon the Government in connection with works in progress there. They have just returned from Montreal, where they had a satisfactory interview with the General Manager of the Grand Trunk Railway, relative to that company taking over the management of the Toronto, Grey & Bruce Railway.

MINISTERIAL MOVEMENTS. — Sir Charles Tupper goes East about the middle of the week. Sir Hector Langevin returns to the city this evening.

THE SOURIS RIVER DISTRICT.—Mr. Daubin, of Kent, is in the city negotiating with the Government for a tract of land in the Souris River district, which he intends to settle.

An Unusual Incident at the Assizes.

An amusing instance of the free and easy way in which the average United States citizen views a court of justice was given at the Wentworth Assizes. In the counterfeit money case, an expert connected with one of the Buffalo banks was brought here to testify. He was a sharp-looking young fellow and apparently understood his business. On finding the trial of the case would not come off, he interviewed Mr. Crerar, the Crown Prosecutor, and requested that his evidence be taken. Mr. Crerar said he could do nothing, and referred him to the judge, who was then on the bench. Up the throne he ran with agility, and tapping the judge on the shoulder, accosted him in a voice loud enough to be heard by counsel: "See here, my boy, I'm a witness in the counterfeit case; I have a wife and family in Buffalo; my wife doesn't know I'm here, and you know how it is yourself. I wish to get home to-night." In ordinary cases, stern British etiquette would have demanded the removal of the man by "Mr. Tipstaff;" but on this occasion Judge Morrison was so taken aback by the innovation that he seemed to enjoy the familiarity. All the same, however, he told the Buffalo expert he could not oblige even a man placed in his awkward circumstances.—Hamilton, Ont., Times.

COMMERCIAL.

To-day in Chicago, November wheat opened at $1.37¼, and December at $1.39¼. At 11:08 a.m. November wheat was easier at $1.37¼. Corn advanced to 62⅛c November, 64¼c December. Pork at 11 a.m. was quoted at $18.77½ January, and lard at $12.20 January.

Saturday, after 'Change, Red Winter wheat was offered at $1.48, and White at $1.45, with $1.42½ and $1.40 bid respectively. A small cargo of peas was sold at 95c, and two small cargoes of oats realized 40c. Rye was quiet a $1 to 1.03.

Chicago, 1.01 p.m.—Wheat, $1.36½ October; $1.37¼ November; $1.38¼ December; $1.36½ year. Corn, 61⅛c October; 62⅛c to 62⅜c November; 63¾ December; 61¼ year.

Haynes & Sanger, of New York, importers of woollen goods, have assigned. Liabilities, $150,000.

The Kingston Cotton Manufacturing Company's building is being rapidly pushed toward completion. Before the close of the year manufacturing will be commenced. Eight hundred thousand pounds of wool is held by city buyers, awaiting an advance in price.

In consequence of light supplies of coals at the yards, an unusually large demand and the firmness of the coal mining companies, a furthur advance in the price of coal has been decided upon in this market, revised prices being $6.75 for stove and $6.50 for egg and chestnut.

United States Consul Roosevelt, of Bordeaux, reports that the wheat crop of France will be about 294,000,000 bushels. The quantity necessary for consumption is about 352,000,000 bushels, and there will therefore be a deficit of about 58,000,000 bushels, to be imported from other countries. The largest portion of the importation will be from the United States. In Algeria the crop is in a deplorable condition.

A Liverpool grain circular of the 15th inst. says: "Grain contains to decline. The spot markets are dull and unchanged. For cargoes off-coast there is some continental inquiry, and they are firmly held. On the spot, since Tuesday, in wheat there was only a retail business at unchanged rates. Corn was a shade dearer. At to-day's (Friday's) market there was a small attendance, a dull feeling and an indifferent demand. Wheat receded a penny further. Flour was slow of sale. In corn the supplies exceed the requirements. Prices declined 1½d to 2d."

Montreal Cattle Market.

The steady downfall of rain to-day interfered greatly with business. Good shipping cattle found a fair demand at 4½c to 5c, the latter being paid only for the choicest beeves offered. Mr. McShane and Mr. Kennedy were the principal buyers on export account, and they reported the supply of really suitable stock as poor and inadequate. Mr. Craig sold out a load of good cattle to Mr. Price on pt. Rates of ocean freight remained at £2 to £2 10s for cattle, and at 6s for sheep. Mr. McShane bought several lots of cattle for Mr. Wiser's distillery. Fat sheep were worth 4½c to 5c. Live hogs were dull at 6½c to 7c. R. Cockrane had one load of hogs from Guelph; James Eakins, 68 from Port Hope; M. Carey, 32 from Port Hope, and James McLanaghan, 80 from Toronto. The following drovers had one load of cattle each:—J. Burrows, Ottawa; Wm. Roberts, Lennoxville; G. Dobern, ditto; T. Ryan, Eastern Townships; Jas. Eakins, Port Hope; R. Balderson, Perth; A. Elliot, Perth; T. Crawford, Toronto; M. Boland, St. Marys.

Wholesale Provision Market.

The dairy produce trade was excessively dull today, and the only business mentioned in butter were sales of medium and lower grades at poor prices for the Lower Ports trade. The shipments of butter from this port to Great Britain from May 1st (the commencement of the season) to date amount to 105,761 packages, against 136,574 packages for the same period last year, showing a decrease of 30,813 packages. The shipments of cheese for the same period were 473,265 boxes, against 454,763 boxes for the corresponding period last year, showing an increase of 18,502 boxes. We quote heavy mess pork at $22.50, lard at 15c o 15½c and eggs at 20c to 22c.

Finance and Commerce.

The circulation of Dominion notes on the 31st of September was $15,140,135. The excess of specie and debentures was $2,906,325.

The sum of £50,000 in gold was bought in the open market at London on Saturday for shipment to New York. The Times, in its financial article, says:—"We believe that the Bank of England does not intend that any more gold shall leave the Bank for America."

The statement of banks acting under charter on the 30th of September shows the total liabilities in the several Provinces to be as follows:—Ontario and Quebec, $121,618,150.18; Nova Scotia, $849,702.946; New Brunswick, $3,041,722.64; total liabilities, $133,156,902.28. The total assets are given as follows:—Ontario and Quebec, $187,046,805.82; Nova Scotia, $14,282,770.04; New Brunswick, $5,220,994.21; total assets, $206,550,570.07.

The money market was about steady. Sterling Exchange was quoted at 8 3-16 prem. for round amounts between banks, 8⅝ counter and 8¾ demand. Documentary about 7¾ prem. Drafts on New York were drawn at ¼ prem.

The stock market, this morning, was ¾ to 3 per cent weaker. It was reported that the rate for stock loans on call was up to 6 per cent, but some of the leading brokers state they are only paying 5, though small men may have to pay more. Ontario and Commerce both fell 2 per cent, and Richelieu 3 per cent. Gas went down 1½, and Bank of Montreal, Merchants and Montreal Telegraph ½ per cent.

Morning Stock Sales—38 Montreal, 201¼; 50 do., 200¾; 50 do., 200½; 25 Ontario, 56; 50 do., 55½; 350 do., 55½; 500 do., 55; 175 do., 55½; 20 do., 55; 220 do., 55½; 50 do., 55¼; 5 do., 55; 575 do., 55½; 250 do. 55½; 125 do., 55¼; 50 do., 55; 30 do., 55¼; 425 do., 55; 70 Molsons, 117; 560 Commerce, 143; 50 do., 142½; 20 do., 142; 125 Montreal Telegraph, 127; 25 Richelieu, 43; 100 do., 42½; 125 do., 42; 125 do., 41½; 25 do., 41¼; 50 do., 41; 50 do., 40½; 75 do., 41; 25 People's, 90; 10 Merchants, 124.

This afternoon it was definitely stated that the City District Savings was refusing to loan money on call under 6 per cent. This doubtless explains the drop in stocks. As to Commerce, it is reported that the General Manager of that bank is about to sever his connection with it.

The Stock market this afternoon underwent a serious relapse. Bank of Montreal declined 3½ per cent, or a drop on the day of 4½, and Commerce fell 3½, a decline on the day of 5½ per cent. A number of orders to sell short were received from Toronto, a number of operators there having made money by selling Ontario the past few weeks.

Afternoon Sales.—150 Montreal, 199½; 140 do, 199½; 75 do, 199; 4 do, 199½; 180 do, 198; 125 do, 197½; 80 Merchants, 124½; 275 do, 124; 25 do, 123½; 100 Peoples, 89½; 125 Commerce, 142; 25 do, 141; 50 do, 140½; 175 do, 140½; 50 do, 140; 25 do, 139½; 25 do, 139½; 25 do, 139½; 450 do, 139; 420 Ontario, 55; 135 do, 55½; 65 do, 58; 125 do, 57; 50 do, 56½; 435 do, 56½; 275 Montreal Telegraph, 125¼; 20 Richelieu, 40½; 200 do, 40½; 50 do, 40; 450 do, 40½; 350 do, 40½.

MINNIGREY.

BY J. FREDERICK SMITH.

CHAPTER XXXVIII.—Continued.

Gus was approaching to address the colonel, when a heavy hand was laid upon his shoulder. He turned and saw, to his surprise, that the hand was that of an alguazil, or one of the high police of Lisbon. Starting back he demanded, in a tone of mingled anger and surprise, how the fellow dared to take such a liberty with a British officer.

"Because that officer is my prisoner," replied the fellow, with a broad grin.

"Prisoner!" repeated our astonished hero.

By this time the group of officers had closed round them; and Colonel Talbot, in a calm voice, demanded the cause of his subaltern's arrest.

"At the plaint of Senor Mendez," said the alguazil.

"The money-changer?"

"Si, senor."

"And this gentleman," continued the colonel, "is accused of having passed two forged Bank of England notes!"

"I, colonel!" exclaimed Gus indignantly; "who dares to suspect me of such a crime?"

"Not I, for one," observed the adjutant.

Several of the officers expressed the same incredulity.

"You are right, gentlemen," said Colonel Talbot, with a smile; "as the investigation, I have no doubt, will prove. In the meantime Lieutenant Manton must yield himself a prisoner."

"Prisoner!" repeated Wilton, drawing near to his friend. "Believe me, Colonel Talbot, that this is but some artful scheme to blast the honor of the lieutenant—his enemies are as relentless as they are cunning."

"Certainly, if Colonel Talbot advises it," said Gus, with difficulty repressing his passion, "I will accompany this man; but, with all the energy of my soul—with all the just indignation of an honest heart—I deny the foul imputation cast upon my honor."

Frank Wilton grasped him by the hand.

"I not only advise it, Lieutenant Manton," observed Colonel Talbot, gravely, "but, if necessary, I command it."

Gus bowed with ill-concealed mortification; for he read in the averted looks of several of his brother officers the unfavorable impression which the cold, reserved tone of their commander had produced.

"And to whom, colonel," he demanded, "am I to resign my sword? You cannot expect that I should so far dishonor myself as to consign it to the keeping of a police-officer?"

"Retain it," said Talbot, in a somewhat kinder tone, "till the investigation proves whether you are worthy or not to do so. Hickman," he added, turning towards the adjutant, "perhaps you will accompany the lieutenant to the corregidor's?"

Both Hickman and Wilton declared their intention to do so.

"Colonel," whispered the former, "one word. Can—hang it! no—it is impossible I should be so mistaken. So brave a fellow, I will not insult him by asking the question."

Despite the confident tone in which the old soldier expressed his conviction of the honor of his young friend, it was evident that he was deeply pained. Talbot, who was a close and not unkind observer of human nature, read what was passing in his heart. He was too generous not to relieve it.

"Have I not left him his sword, Hickman?" he whispered.

"I do not comprehend."

"Think you I would have permitted him to retain it for an instant," said the colonel, "had my conviction of his innocence been less firm than yours? I thought you knew me better."

"I ought to have done."

"Go with him to the corregidor's," added the colonel; "I will follow; I wish to read the young fellow a lesson. He has been on the brink of a precipice, from which the merest accident in the world alone prevented his falling."

During this hastily-whispered conversation, the eyes of the officers had been alternately turned from Gus and his friend Wilton to the countenances of the colonel and adjutant. Many of the young men had wondered secretly at the command of money which the two friends possessed; for it is needless to inform our readers that they had but one purse between them.

"What do you think, Travers?" demanded Captain Bolton.

"I am of the same opinion that I have ever been—the fellow is a gentleman."

"Ay—but about these notes?"

"I have already given you my opinion, when I said that I thought and still think him a gentleman."

"He looks very much confused," observed one.

"Sad thing for the regiment," added a second.

"What a triumph for Howard!" said a third; "he offered to bet a dinner in Cintra that within a month the gipsy adventurer, as he calls him, would disgrace himself."

"When was this?" inquired Travers, musingly.

"Only last night."

"And what was your reply?"

"Took him to be sure."

"You were right," said Travers, taking him by the hand; "rely upon it he will not belie the good opinion we have formed of him."

Several who heard what passed remained silent. The hints and slanders which Howard had so industriously spread had taken effect. Others less cautious expressed a similar opinion with the speaker's.

Never had our hero, during his chequered career, found himself placed in so painful a position. Indignation, shame, honor, and regret struggled in his heart. Conscious that he was innocent, no sense of fear disturbed him: in that was his only consolation.

"Come, boys," said Hickman, advancing to the two friends; "this affair cannot be settled in the streets of Lisbon. Let us to the corregidor's."

"And if you will permit us," observed Travers and the young ensign who had accepted the bet which Howard had so imprudently made, "we will accompany you."

"Thank you—thank you, gentlemen!" exclaimed Gus, in a voice slightly broken by emotion; "all I am happy to find, do not unheard condemn me."

As he uttered the words his eyes involuntarily glanced at the group of his brother officers who still stood aloof.

"Hang them!" said Hickman; "I would not give a spend ball for their prudent, cold, calculating hearts. Forgery!" he added, in a tone of incredulity, at the same time glancing with complacency on the soldier-like figure of his young friend. "Pooh! Vimiera is flat proof to the contrary; it is the crime of a coward, not of a brave man. But we have no time to lose—follow us, Senor Alguazil; and if you value your ears, keep at a respectful distance."

The party set forward to the town hall where the corregidor with his brother magistrates was sitting. On their way they encountered Howard who, with several of his aristocratic friends, was lounging in the Piazza Grande. It was the first time that he and Gus had met since their encounter at the Casa Giulio. A look of mutual defiance and hate passed between the young men. Wilton fancied that he detected a smile of triumph upon the lips of the despicable libertine, and felt convinced that the old enemy of our hero was no stranger to his present disgrace.

On reaching the hall of audience, they found the avaricious little magistrate seated at a table, surrounded by his officials. Mendez, with a clerk from the Bank of Lisbon, was standing opposite to him. Colonel Talbot and a large party of officers occupied the lower end of the room; their number was every instant augmented by fresh arrivals, for the news had spread in the cafes and club-rooms with extraordinary celerity; they were emptied in an instant.

As the corregidor and witnesses spoke English, the examination was conducted in that language. The money-lender was the first party examined: with an appearance of candor too forced to be genuine, he recounted how he had called upon the Senor Pascata to receive the amount of a bill—how, the lady not being provided with funds, the prisoner had paid the debt for her—that entertaining some suspicion as to the genuineness of the notes, he had taken them to the bank, where they had been pronounced forgeries.

Don't Know Half their Value.

"They cured me of ague, biliousness and kidney complaint, as recommended. I had a half bottle left which I used for my two little girls, who the doctors and neighbors said could not be cured. I would have lost both of them one night if I had not given them Hop Bitters. They did them so much good I continued their use until they were cured. That is why I say you do not know half the value of Hop Bitters, and do not recommend them high enough."—B., Rochester, N. Y. See other column.—American Rural Home.

NEW INVENTION.
Dansereau's Patent Carriage Top,
Made and Patented by
PIERRE DANSEREAU, Carriage Maker,
Nos. 219 and 221 Craig street, Montreal.

This new carriage top has been patented in Canada on the 7th May, 1881, and in the United States on the 5th July, 1881. First Prize and Diploma Montreal Exhibition, September, 1881. This patent carriage top is entirely new and possesses the following advantages over the ordinary carriage tops: It is made entirely of wood and so constructed as to open and close like those made of leather. It can be put up on any kind of Summer or Winter carriages or coaches. It is more durable than any made of leather or cloth only which after a very short time break and crack in the folds, show all the ribs and give the carriage a shabby and worn out appearance. Moreover, the cold which in Winter cracks the leather has no effect on this patent top, which can at any time be made new with a fresh coat of paint or varnish, which preserves them for almost any length of time. This patent top is also made to receive glass sashes all around, making the interior of the carriage well lighted and, which is more important, very warm in Winter. It possesses more particularly the great advantage of opening and closing at will and with great ease in the Winter as well as in the Summer carriages, without any risk of breaking any part of it as it often happens in the other kinds. This top is without doubt the cheapest most economical that can be built. It dispenses also in Winter with the use of a great part of the costly fur robes now necessary. In this respect it secures to carriage-makers and hackmen immense advantages, the economy of its construction dispensing with a costly leather and taking much less time in building. Finally, it allows the same body with its top to be used either in a sleigh with glass panels opened or closed, or in the same way in a Summer vehicle or coach. This patent top has received the approval of the principal carriage builders of Montreal, who have examined it and whose letter is appended:

P. DANSEREAU, Esq.,—We, the undersigned, after examining your patent carriage top, have much pleasure in saying that we find it a very useful, economical and durable one and we have no doubt it will advantageously replace those utilised until now. Signed, N. & A. C. LARIVIERE, BRUNO LEDOUX, F. BITCHOT, JULES LAJEUNESSE. 231
