World News In Brief

Grand Bank, Nfld., Nov. 21.—Power company officials said today that damage to lines in this week's storm was the worst in 25 years. Hundreds of poles were blown down and the power and telephone system paralyzed.

Montreal, Nov. 21.—An armed bandit robbed an east-end restaurant last night and escaped with $200 after firing two shots at would-be pursuers. By-standers began to give chase when Sam Wise, the owner, ran out into the street shouting "stop thief!"

Zurich, Nov. 21.—Swiss and Italian police working with United States agents have arrested 10 persons in connection with an international counterfeit ring, police disclosed last night. Six were arrested in Zurich and four in Italy. Approximately $25,000 in counterfeit U.S. bills and travellers cheques were confiscated.

Hanoi, Indo-China, Nov. 21.—The communist-led Vietnamese swept furiously ahead south of the Black River today in their campaign to knock the French out of northwest Indo-China. Their first aim was to wipe out the 12,000 French troops at the big base of Sonla, 120 miles west of Hanoi, or to force their withdrawal.

Lae, New Guinea, Nov. 21.—Divers today brought to the surface the last of $70,000 in gold which lay in 100 feet of water off the New Guinea coast for a year.

The gold, mostly owned by a Canadian firm, Bulolo Gold Dredging, Ltd., of Vancouver, was part of the cargo of an Australian three-engine plane which crashed into the sea, killing the pilot and six passengers.

London, Nov. 21.—Reuters—Four per cent of the 100,000 government seats along the coronation route will go to overseas visitors and they will sell for as much as five times the price of seats for Britons, it was announced today.

Works Minister David Eccles, in charge of physical arrangements for the June 2 coronation, said the 4,000 overseas seats will be sold by tourist agencies at prices ranging from $28 to $84.

Seats for Britons would cost $11.20 in the open and $16.80 if covered. Montreal, Nov. 21.—The seventh annual convention of the Quebec Federation of Fish and Game Associations opened here today with more than 250 delegates attending the two-day meeting. The federation includes 305 associations grouping approximately 65,000 hunters and fishermen in the province. In his annual report, Federation president, Omer Gauthier, said the objectives of the federation are to bring about proper use of fish, game, forests, waters and other natural resources in the province.

Busy Session Looms For Members Of Parliament

(Text of throne speech will be found on page 13.)

Ottawa, Nov. 21.—A busy session confronts members of Canada's 21st Parliament.

The Speech from the Throne, read yesterday at the opening of the Parliament's seventh session, forecast more than 30 government measures. In addition, members will be asked to approve votes for a series of public works projects.

More than a dozen bills mentioned in the 2,000-word throne speech are understood to be ready for introduction Monday.

The introduction, with a brief explanation of each bill, would come shortly before the leaders of the four political parties in the Commons launch the debate on the motion for adoption of an Address in Reply to the Speech from the Throne.

The motion will be moved today in the Commons by J. Desjardins (L.-Brome-Missisquoi) and seconded by Norman Schneider (L.-Waterloo North). Both were elected in by-elections May 25th.

A hint of possible tax reductions was contained in the Speech from the Throne, read in the Senate amid customary pomp and ceremony by Governor-General Vincent Massey.

"There are signs of a lessening of the danger of an outbreak of war on a global scale," said the Speech.

Prime Minister St. Laurent has said that there could be no tax reductions until the danger of war lessened.

Nehru Asks All Countries To Accept Indian Plan For Prisoners In Korea

TV Policy Is Assailed By Allard

Ottawa, Nov. 21.—T. J. Allard, general manager of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters, said yesterday the Canadian government's new policy on television will set back "for years" the general development of the television industry.

In the Speech from the Throne at the opening of a new session of Parliament, the government announced that private interests will be granted licences for television stations in cities where the CBC now has no stations or no immediate plans for stations.

The CBC has stations in Toronto and Montreal and plans stations in Ottawa, Halifax, Winnipeg and Vancouver.

In a prepared statement, Mr. Allard said:

"The announced policy will solidify the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's huge commercial monopoly. It shows clearly that the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation is not a purely public service body, and that it pays no more than lip service to the development of Canadian culture and Canadian talent."

"The announced policy permits CBC to establish by its own choice a monopoly on television in the commercially attractive areas; leaving remote and outlying areas to be served by non-government capital."

"Monopolies are undesirable, and, moreover, experience in Toronto has shown that the CBC's monopoly is driving the majority of Canadian viewers to United States programs. As the CBC's monopoly in other cities sets the same pattern, Canadian television owners will be increasingly subjected to United States programs and influence, establishing habits that will be difficult to break when and if the CBC ever permits non-government television in these cities."

"This policy places staggering power in the hands of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, permitting it not only to maintain its present regulatory powers but to decide for itself in what area it will have a complete television monopoly."

"This policy will set back by years the provision of television programs that Canadians will look at; and the general development of the Canadian television industry. It also means that taxpayers in all parts of Canada will be subsidizing development of the CBC monopoly in large metropolitan areas carefully selected by the CBC itself for their commercial value."

"That the CBC will not permit competition with its present or proposed television stations indicates the value it places itself on its own programming service and finally defines clearly its real aim of establishing a powerful commercial monopoly in large population centres, backed by tremendous powers of control."

Acceptance Might Lighten "Tremendous Burden That Is Oppressing Humanity"

New Delhi, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Prime Minister Nehru appealed today to all countries—including communist China—to accept Indian proposals for settling the Korean war prisoners dispute as a step which "might well lead to lightening the tremendous burden that is oppressing humanity."

In a special statement to the Indian parliament, Nehru asked the United Nations "as well as those nations which are not present there but which are so intimately concerned with world peace to justify the hopes the peoples of the world place on them."

Neither North Korea nor Red China is a member of the U.N. China's seat is held by Chiang Kai-Shek's nationalists on the island of Formosa. The U.N.-sponsored republic of South Korea is represented in the world organization by observers.

The Indian Prime Minister said the Indian resolution put forward at the U.N. "does not settle everything."

"We have endeavored to the utmost of our ability to suggest an honorable way out of the difficulties that have thus far come in the way of settlement."

Sources close to the Indian government said Red China's attitude toward the Indian resolution remains watchful and apparently receptive.

The sources denied speculative reports from London that the Peiping government has told New Delhi the Indian proposals are not acceptable.

United Nations, N.Y., Nov. 21.—(AP)—The western allies moved closer to agreement today on changes they hoped would bring full support—including that of the United States—behind India's compromise plan for ending the Korean war prisoner deadlock.

An eight-country group headed by the U.S., Britain, Canada and France planned to meet behind closed doors this morning to work over amendments to a plan submitted Wednesday by India's V. K. Krishna Menon. Other countries in the group are Australia, Turkey, Denmark and Colombia.

They have as a working basis changes suggested yesterday by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Britain, who said the Indian plan brings the U.N. nearer agreement on the one outstanding issue holding up an armistice in Korea—the prisoner-of-war problem.

But the incoming U.S. leaders of foreign policy—President-elect Eisenhower and his choice for Secretary of State, John Foster Dulles—are reported by the New York Times as being skeptical that the plan will be accepted by the Assembly which could produce a Korean armistice.

The Times says Dulles' skepticism was based on the "unending difficulties" the U.S., Britain and France had encountered in trying to negotiate an independence treaty for Austria with the Soviet Union.

"After the western powers gave way on the points previously in disagreement, the Soviet Union brought up the issue of Trieste, and it is understood that Mr. Dulles feels that the communists would find something else if the Korea prisoner issue were settled," the Times says.

Strong U.S. objections to the original Indian resolution—that it was ambiguous and would not work—had threatened a serious split among the U.S. allies backing the U.S.-drafted Korean resolution which the Soviet bloc in the U.N. already has rejected.

The Americans are reported to insist that Menon's resolution be clarified before they can accept it. The resolution embodies a Canadian suggestion calling for a four-country commission to handle the repatriation of all war prisoners and take care of those who don't want to return to Red-ruled homes until a political conference decides their fate. An umpire would settle deadlocks.

Eden's endorsement in the General Assembly's political committee yesterday of the plan's general outline, and his suggestions for alterations to clarify its main points brought the American comment that "we are moving closer and closer to a settlement."

The first communist country to speak since Menon introduced his resolution was Czechoslovakia, whose delegate was listed to appear before the political committee this afternoon.

In his speech yesterday delivered after he had a luncheon conference with Eisenhower, Eden asked Menon to revise two main points of his resolution.

He suggested the commission's umpire should be a full member of the group, which Menon had proposed be made up of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Sweden and Switzerland.

The Briton suggested that more definite provision be made for caring for those prisoners who still have not been repatriated 90 days after the armistice.

The Indian resolution says only that their destination will be decided after that time by a political conference. The Americans claim this would make the POW's pawns in the overall political haggling on the whole problem of a Korean peace and unification.

Phone Slugs Trap U.S. Triggerman

Los Angeles, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Leonard (The Lip) Mocerri, tabbed as the most-wanted triggerman in the country, was in custody today because he tried to use slugs in a telephone booth although he had $1,800 in his wallet and a Cadillac waiting outside.

With his arrest, police the country over sought answers from the deadpan mobster to unsolved gangland killings in Toledo, O., dating from 1931 to 1933. Officers think there might be some recent chapters such as the Bugsy Siegel murder, the killing of Mickey Cohen's lawyer, Sammy Rummel, and the double slaying of Tony Brancato and Tony Trombino in Hollywood a couple of years back.

Mocerri was arrested by telephone company officers after he dropped slugs into a phone for a long-distance call to Las Vegas, Nev. The phone company had been plagued for some time by someone using slugs in that particular phone.

Through fingerprints police discovered just whom they had in custody, and also found some papers with names, addresses and telephone numbers.

From there the list of those brought in for questioning reads like an underworld's Who's Who. Among them were Tom Dragna, James (The Weasel) Frattino, Mike Rizzo and Salvatore Pinelli. Officers said all were local "associates" of Mafia, the notorious crime society. They were released after the questioning session.

In Las Vegas, Nev., officers arrested John Battaglia, brother of Charlie (The Bat) Battaglia, another mobster wanted for questioning in the Hollywood slayings of Brancato and Trombino. John was on the other end of the slug phone call.

John Foster Dulles is the next Secretary of State.

Like President-elect Eisenhower who named him to the post yesterday, Dulles has made it clear his first major goal in foreign policy will be to wrest the initiative in the global conflict from Russia.

Dulles has said that one way to go about this is to set up a cabinet council including regular cabinet members.

Top Cabinet Jobs Assigned As Ike Plans Korean Trip

New York, Nov. 21.—(AP)—President-elect Eisenhower called in four Republican Senators today—possibly for discussions about his cabinet—and appeared to be hastening his plans to leave for Korea.

He announced three cabinet appointments yesterday, two of them for offices that deal directly with the Korean problem.

They were John Foster Dulles, veteran foreign policy adviser, for secretary of state, and Charles E. Wilson, president of General Motors, for secretary of defense.

Oregon's Governor Douglas McKay was named interior secretary. At the same time, Eisenhower's office and the defense department announced there will be no news reports about his Korean trip while he is outside the United States—and only one newspaper man will go with him.

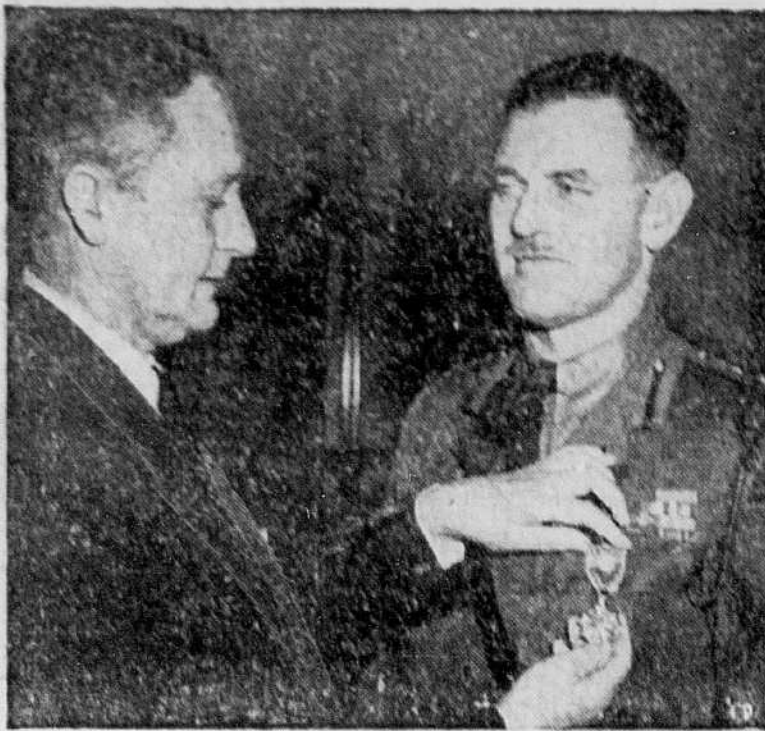

His press secretary, James C. Hagerty, said three news media representatives will be taken on the trip, a correspondent, a "still" photographer, and a newsreel cameraman.

Defense secretary Robert Lovett announced "no news reports of the President-designate's activities will be cleared through the Korean theatre of operations until after the President-designate leaves Korea."

Lovett also said there will be no polished schedule, relating to Eisenhower's departure, return, or whereabouts, at any time.

Eisenhower's aides gave no indication whether he will attempt to complete his cabinet before heading into the war zone.

He scheduled conferences today with Senators William Knowland of California, Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, H. Alexander

E.T. Members Take Lively Part In Quebec Debate

Quebec, Nov. 21.—Legislative Assembly members sat down to a business-like sitting last night and worked their way through half the government legislation tabled so far.

Mixed with good-natured quips by Premier Duplessis and opposition members, the sitting followed a turbulent debate over government farm legislation to increase the provincial loan fund from $98,900,000 to $106,000,000 and to increase from $6,000 to $7,000 limit on individual farm loans.

The debate ended by unanimous 82-0 vote called by Premier Duplessis.

The Liberals had asked for a higher limit on farm loans.

Members last night adopted bills to change the name of recorder's court to municipal court; to eliminate from the statutes the superseded reformatory prison act; to extend to 1957 provisional administration of the town of Oka-Sur-Lac by the trustees of the commercial property of St. Sulpice; to allow the provincial cabinet to give a minister conduct of more than one department; and, to give the provincial cabinet the right to fix the mode of printing the statutes.

A bill proposing increase from three to four the number of transportation board members was approved.

Government legislation to enable the fire-swept municipality of St. Urbain to borrow $125,000 to make reconstruction loans was adopted after argument over details of the bill.

With talk of a post-session by-election in a vacant riding of Montreal Outremont going the political rounds in Legislative circles, the name of Georges Lapalme, seafaring Liberal party leader, was brought into the discussion several times.

Mr. Duplessis chided Gerard Cournoyer (L.-Richelieu) and said that he did not like Mr. Lapalme, defeated by a Union Nationale candidate in the forthcoming by-elections so Mr. Cournoyer could take over leadership.

Mr. Cournoyer said he was sure Mr. Lapalme would win in the by-election.

Montreal Outremont has been vacant since the night of July 10, date of the Quebec general election—when Henri Groulx, Liberal, died suddenly after his re-election.

The House will continue study of the government's legislation program today.

Most of the important bills still remain to be studied and it is expected this work will be postponed until next week.

Some of the resentment of the 2-member Liberal opposition over adoption of the throne speech debate on a technicality yesterday, was reflected by Liberal speakers during the debate on the farm bills.

Most of Liberals, newcomers to politics, tried to refer to the debate and were promptly called to order by the government side.

Mr. Duplessis said House rules must be followed. The debate was over.

Liberals shouted back they were being called to order for speaking in a noisy fashion as Liberals charged provincial farm loans were "political" and Mr. Duplessis denied the allegation.

Canada Seeks To Regain U.K. Market For Exports

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Ottawa, Nov. 21.—Canada hopes to take steps at the Commonwealth Prime Minister's conference in London to recapture lost United Kingdom markets for Canadian foodstuffs and manufactured goods.

Prime Minister St. Laurent also is expected to stress that it is time Britain and other sterling-area countries removed restrictions and discriminations in trade with Canada and other dollar countries.

If trade barriers were removed overseas markets might be restored for Canadian bacon, cheese, eggs, apples and a wide range of manufactured goods. The United Kingdom reduced buying in Canada because of a dollar shortage.

These curbs brought about protection from Canadian producers, implanted fears of unsaleable surpluses in the minds of farmers and sharpened political criticism of the government's trade policies.

Political events in the United States also have placed increased emphasis on the Commonwealth talks, opening in London Nov. 27 and expected to last 10 days or two weeks. With the election of a Republican government for the first time in 20 years the question has arisen whether the United States will impose new barriers against foreign goods. Republican policy in the past usually included high tariffs.

The Canadian government seeks expansion rather than a retrenchment in foreign trade. A big part of Canadian prosperity depends on exports.

"As far as the government is concerned, our efforts to enlarge trade opportunities will be pushed with utmost vigor," Trade Minister Howe said recently.

As for the Commonwealth conference, he added: "I hope that useful results will emerge and that progress will be made towards the objectives we all seek—a removal of the restrictions that now surround the sterling area and the restoration of sterling to its traditional position as a world currency."

Officials feel that there has been too much stress on "crisis" in describing the sterling problem. They think that Britain's dollar shortage is not so critical that the import restrictions must be maintained.

They argue that controls on exchange and trade are doing more harm than good; splitting the world into two camps—dollar and sterling—with a widening gap between.

"We do not want to see the 'sterling divide' said an expert. "It is time to get back to normal trading. The present situation is not satisfactory and we cannot go on this way indefinitely."

Against this view is the British feeling that the sterling area still is in a precarious economic position.

Prime Minister Churchill once described Britain's dollar shortage as grave and leading the country to bankruptcy.

Britain, Australia, New Zealand and other sterling-area countries view with misgiving the area's dollar and gold reserves. They total about $1,700,000,000, even less than Canada's reserves of more than $1,800,000,000.

However, there appears to be feeling among British economists that convertibility and trade relaxation might bring some normal economic health. Such a bold step would require assurance of financial assistance in event of a mishap. Britain might ask Canada and later the United States to give assurance there would be dollar loans available to bolster sterling if the convertibility step is taken.

Canada already has hinted that she would consider extending new loans to Britain to help her to return to normal trade. A condition would be that Britain remove restrictions and curb inflation at home.

Anti-inflationary steps would include such things as curbs on consumer credit, reductions in high-cost social services, a decrease in domestic consumption and boosts in production and exports.

Studebaker Plans Plant In Ontario

Hamilton, Nov. 21. — The Studebaker Corporation of Canada,

Limited, has purchased an industrial site of 190 acres in Nelson Township, nine miles from its present Hamilton location, D. C. Gaskin, vice-president and general manager, announced here.

Plans for development of the site have not been formulated, Mr. Gaskin said, in pointing out that it will eventually be used for expansion of manufacturing and warehousing facilities. After initial installations, Studebaker "will move as fast as the situation warrants" and new units will be added from time to time as they are needed. He was unable to predict when development will begin or to indicate the type and size of plant units to be built.

"Our faith in the future of Canada is and has been unlimited," Mr. Gaskin said, "and the people of Canada have in turn expressed real faith in Studebaker as is clearly shown by the mounting acceptance of Studebaker cars and trucks. The net result is that our manufacturing facilities have proven incapable of producing enough units to fulfill consumer demand. Orderly expansion is therefore the only solution we can see."

The planned expansion is in the nature of a centennial observance, since the Studebaker Corporation, from which the Canadian Company evolved, is this year celebrating its 100th anniversary as a builder of highway transportation vehicles. Studebaker takes its names from the original five Studebaker brothers who in 1852 founded a wagon-building business at South Bend, Indiana, with capital of "$68 and two forgives."

BRITAIN'S DAVID NIVEN UN-CORKS CORNER OF BEHIND-SCENE STORY

Hollywood—The Laugh Parade: David Niven made "Bonnie Prince Charlie" several years ago but he's just getting around to telling an "I didn't know whether to laugh-or-cry" story about the British production.

One scene called for Niven, backed by 600 extras from the British armed forces, to lead a battle charge over a hill.

Sword raised, Niven began the assault, only to stumble and carry a number of extras to the ground with him. Lifting his head, he discovered to his horror that his sword had gone through the leg of one of the extras.

"I say there," he gasped, suddenly swept by waves of nausea, but at that moment the director's voice boomed over the loudspeakers, urging Niven and the extras to continue the mock battle.

The soldier arose and stumbled ahead, Niven's sword still in his leg.

"I've run my sword through your leg," Niven yelled, trotting after the extra, "You simply can't go on, old boy. You must stop for medical aid."

"Please be quiet," the wounded extra finally said, "I need this job and you're going to spoil it for me. It just happens that I'm the only soldier in the Coldstream Guard with a cork leg and you've put your blasted sword through it."

Moses Was A Piker
Of all the stories told on Tin Pan Alley this is a favorite. Fred Fisher, who wrote the hit "Dardanella," sued composer Jerome Kern for plagiarism, charging Kern stole the melody of his song.

In court at the trial, Fisher claimed his melody was a masterpiece and had earned close to $1,000,000.

"But how," asked the judge, "can you tell if it's a masterpiece?"

"Look," said Fisher, "How much did Moses get for the 10 Commandments?"

JACOBY ON CANASTA

SELF-CONTROL IS CANASTA AID

I have received a number of questions about Cut-Throat Canasta, the three-handed game in which the player who first takes the discard pile becomes a lone partner. Many of the letters ask me to give them the secret of winning at the new game.

That's easy, but advice is not enough. The secret of winning at Cut-Throat Canasta is to resist temptation. This seems to be good advice in many other fields also, but people somehow still manage to fail.

In Cut-Throat Canasta you tend to reach for the discard pile too soon. Unless you can meld out immediately, the chances are that the hand will run on until the stock pile is exhausted. By that time your opponents will score about a thousand or fifteen hundred points.

The lesson is clear: Don't pick up the discard pile unless you can see very good reason to expect a profit of at least a thousand points. Don't let yourself be lured on by a mere mixed canasta.

Even two mixed canastas are no of a coroner's jury after medico-legal evidence has been completed. For Lack of Evidence?

The Granby affair too place on the night of Saturday, Nov. 15, when at about 10 o'clock Warden Mizener was notified that jack-lighters were operating in the vicinity of St. Etienne de Bolton.

Mizener, his son and Warden Taylor drove to the locality with their informant. At first no sign of jacking was in evidence. Mizener, convinced of the soundness of his information, had his son drive back to the village leaving himself and Taylor in the bush. A few minutes after the car drove off, the warden saw lights sweeping the woods a short distance away.

They placed themselves in position where the jacks would have to pass them. When the two jacks appeared, wearing elaborate headlights with wires connecting to batteries slung at their belts they were accosted by the warden. At first they appeared on the point of surrendering to the warden who had identified themselves as such. One of them did give himself up and became genuinely co-operative, but the other suddenly made a break and ran for it.

While Mizener remained with the former, Taylor gave chase to the other jacker and finally overhauled him. The fugitive proved a tough customer, however, and when Taylor tried to subdue him he jammed the butt of his rifle into the warden's belly with such force as to completely knock the wind out of him and permit his escape.

Ringleader's Identity Revealed
Returning a few minutes later to Mizener, and the prisoner who was not enjoying his first experience of jacking, Taylor learned the identity of the man he had been chasing, a prominent Granby storekeeper, an officeholder in trade and fraternal organizations.

This man has a camp not far from the scene and the warden was informed that six men had been hunting out of this camp. When Arthur Mizener returned with the car they all drove to the camp where only two men were found. It was assumed that at least two other men were out jacking, and again the car was driven away leaving Mizener Sr., and Taylor hidden near the camp, with Arthur Mizener to return after hiding the

"Don't You Shoot!" But He Did
At about 1 a.m., two men were heard approaching, Arthur let them pass him and when they were about half way to where his father and Taylor were hiding along the road, he stepped out and put his light on them. One of the men instantly threw up his rifle. As the young deputy shouted: "Don't you shoot!" the other two warden's stepped out and trained their lights on the pair.

Seeing himself surrounded the rifleman swung his gun first one way and then the other and fired a shot apparently at Arthur. Then he ran, but fell and Arthur right behind him, pinned him down and subdued him. This man turned out to be the son of the Granby businessman. The other young man also was having his first taste of jacking and was not happy about it.

Papa Jacker Caught In Swamp
The warden had decided to liberate their first prisoner who had offered no resistance and who had cooperated and drove the two they were holding to the Knowlton lock-up. The provincial policeman stationed there was notified and he communicated with the Montreal headquarters. A member of the homicide squad was sent out immediately and warden and police revisited the hunting camp at about 6 o'clock Sunday morning. The man who had felled Taylor and made good his escape had not returned.

Then started a long tracking job which finally traced the papa jacker to a swamp after his rifle and jacking equipment had been discovered where he had hidden it. He had taken advantage of his knowledge of the territory and had remained quite close to the camp, his arrest having taken place about a quarter miles from the camp at about 10:30 Sunday morning.

The rest of the story as far as it has gone, you already know. What comes after will mean much in one way or another to law en-

PERSIAN RUMMY IS FASCINATING

We are often surprised that the game of Persian Rummy hasn't taken on more than it has. At the present moment, and for some years past, it is played only in a few New York clubs — places where the world's best bridge players congregate. Incidentally the greatest admirers of Persian Rummy are these same bridge champions.

Persian rummy is played like 500 Rummy. There are four players, arranged in partnership, as in bridge. The deck consists of the usual 52 cards plus four jokers, and each player is dealt seven cards.

The play proceeds as in rummy for the most part. Each player in turn draws, melds (if he wishes to do so), and then discards. Eventually somebody melds out.

When you draw from the discard pile, you don't have to take the top discard. The discards are fanned out so that you can see them all, and you may take any one of them. In all the discards that are on top of it, but not those that are below it.

Jokers are a separate denomination, and are not wild. They may be melded only in groups of three jokers of four jokers.

The other cards are melded as in rummy, either in sequence or as three of four of a kind. Aces count 15 points each, picture cards count 10 points each, and other cards count their face value.

If you meld four of a kind all at once, you get double the normal scoring value of that meld. For example, three aces count 45 points; and that value goes up to 80 points if the fourth ace is added later on. If all four aces are melded at one time, however, their value is 120 points instead of only 60.

Much of the enjoyment and skill of the game consists in helping your partner and in being helped by him. You signal by discards during the early play. For example, if you discard an ace, you ask your partner to discard a joker if he has one. If you discard a picture card or a ten-spot, you ask your partner to discard an ace if he has one.

Catholic Charities Campaign Total Has Reached One-Third Of Objective

A little more than one-third of the Catholic Charities Campaign objective has been reached.

This statement was made by joint presidents for the campaign, Maurice Parsons and Dr. Lasalle Laberge, at the fifth parish supper held at the Sacred Heart Hospital last night.

A total of $10,234.16 has been collected towards the $30,000 objective. The drive got underway last Sunday and continues until Wednesday.

Parishioners from St. Patrick's, Perpetual Help and St. Charles Gernier attended.

Speakers for the evening included Archbishop Georges Cabana, Mr. Parsons, Dr. Laberge, Yvon Lancetot, Stewart Hansford and little Fernand Gregoire, an orphan at the Sacred Heart.

Archbishop Cabana thanked the canvassers for their hard work and stated that he was sure that the objective would soon be reached.

"You will probably make this the best of your 16 campaigns," he said. "Let us help the poor and the invalid."

Archbishop Cabana told of how we in Canada and our neighbors in the United States were fortunate compared with the people in Europe who have undergone many hardships.

A touching speech by Fernand Gregoire warmed the hearts of the some 200 who attended. The child,

Orient Hosiery 25-Year Club Adds Members

Ten new members last night were inducted into the Orient Hosiery Quarter Century Club at the club's fourth annual meeting held in the Magog Hotel.

New members are G. S. Cooke, E. M. Fidler, O. Metivier, A. Grandchamp, R. Langlois, A. Cameron, W. Heard, E. J. Manes, A. Chretien, A. Letendre.

In an address made by the company president and Honorary President of the Club, Lieut.-Col. A. A. Munster following a banquet, a warm welcome was extended to all members and most particularly, to those initiates of the evening.

"We are told that it is not good to look back," he said "and I frankly admit that I am a very poor prophet and would hesitate to predict the future for any of us, but I do say that we are grateful for your devoted service and I am sure that the presentation that I have to make to each employee of 25 years continuous service is a clear indication of our appreciation."

Each member was then given the club's token of appreciation $300.

Leonard L. Knott Will Address Women's Canadian Club Of E. T.

Leonard L. Knott, of Montreal, author of a continuing series of children's books about Canada and a leading Canadian public relations counsel, will address the Women's Canadian Club of the Eastern Townships, Thursday evening, November 27th. Mr. Knott will speak on the subject "Canadian Heroes or Supermen?" and will discuss the development of an interest in Canada's story as an antidote to comics.

Six books in Mr. Knott's series about Canada have been published to date, the most recent one just this month under the title "The Children's Guide to Canada's Capital," the story of Ottawa. Other titles in the series include "The Children's Guide to Calgary" which is the story of the Canadian west and books on trees, pulp and paper, the Great Lakes and The Saguenay. "The Children's Book of Roads" is also listed for publication this month.

Behind the series of children's books is a story which began in Boston, where Mr. Knott used to live. While in Boston his son, Leonard, Jr., became keenly interested in the stories of American heroes and American places and in order to prevent his son from becoming completely Americanized, Mr. Knott, on one of his trips to Canada, attempted to find

Oscar Johnson, 62, suffered a fractured right leg yesterday when he fell 10 feet to the ground from a platform while repairing an outer wall of his home at Waterville.

Mr. Johnson is a patient at the Sherbrooke Hospital where he was taken by R. L. Bishop ambulance.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted and officers were named as follows: Hon. President, A. A. Munster; president, E. W. Bryant; first vice-president, S. A. Aubé; second vice-president, A. T. Aston; secretary, L. C. Hudd; treasurer, C. Rublee; chairman of sick and visiting committee, A. Grandchamp; social and entertainment committee, L. Fournier.

General discussion brought a successful meeting to a close.

Punch Board Men Lose Deposits

Four deposits of $5 each were confiscated in Recorder's Court this morning. These were paid yesterday pending hearing of four men today on charges of selling punch board tickets, which is contrary to Municipal Law.

When the men failed to appear this morning, Recorder Redmond Hayes, Q.C., ordered the money confiscated. In each case, it is $2 fine and $3 costs.

Our Congratulations To: J. R. SANGSTER, who is today observing his birthday anniversary.

Further Action Will Be Taken In Game Warden Assault Case

Further action will be taken in the case of a Granby father and son involved in attacks last weekend on two game wardens in the vicinity of St. Etienne de Bolton, according to Isaac Hunter's "With Rod and Gun" column in the Montreal Gazette.

Mr. Hunter devoted his column yesterday to what he described as the Granby case and remarked that "law respecting people throughout the province will be pleased to learn that Hon. Camille E. Pouliot, M.D., minister of game and fisheries, has taken a personal interest in the latest episode of violence toward his game wardens in the Eastern Townships."

"With Rod and Gun" reveals many hitherto unpublished details of the St. Etienne de Bolton incident in which one warden was slugged with a gun butt and another escaped death or injury when a rifle was fired in his direction at point blank range. Eventually the pair was taken in custody and brought to Montreal.

They were released, however, almost immediately—provincial police stated for lack of evidence while other information is that their release was on account of an improperly drawn up charge.

This case was mentioned in this column in Tuesday when it was stated that political influence had been brought to bear for the dropping of charges and hushing up of the case. Perhaps the term "political" pressure may have led to misunderstanding. It was not, as a matter of fact, political pressure in the usual manner, that is efforts by an M.L.A. to protect wrongdoing electors. But pressure there undoubtedly was and is. And that it is being applied to political sources is also a fact. It even extended to district newspapers who were warned against mention of the case with the libel laws and possible effect upon advertising being stressed.

Public Indignation Aroused
 A wave of public indignation was aroused in Granby when it appeared to the law-abiding people of that city that this flagrant outrage against law and order was about to be quashed. They will be both relieved and pleased to learn that, as I heard from the office of the minister on Tuesday, Hon. Dr. Pouliot is going to stand behind his wardens to the best of his ability.

With an inquest pending in the case of one Eastern Townships game warden who died following a blow on the head delivered by a heavy jacklight wielded by a notorious game law violator near Stoke a few weeks ago, with a game warden's car having been rammed by the machine of other jacklighters in the La Patrie district, and with this latest Granby case, it is obvious that something must be done to prevent a complete breakdown of law enforcement. Dr. Pouliot should receive the support of all his fellow cabinet members in this matter as he will most certainly receive the approbation of right-minded citizens throughout the province particularly the many thousands of anglers and hunters who observe the laws.

Outstanding Wardens Involved
 Involved in this case on the side of the law was Byron Mizner, game warden for Brome and Shefford counties, Sydney Taylor of Knowlton, warden of Brome County and Mr. Mizner's son, Arthur who had been deputized by his father. Byron Mizner has long proved himself one of the most efficient wardens in this section of the province. He has won the respect of his superiors in the department and enjoys the same sentiment on the part of his fellow townsmen and the people of the counties in which he works.

This also was the case with the late Andre Rolland, of Magog who died in a Sherbrooke hospital recently following the affray at Stoke. For their part in the latter affair the brothers Guertin were each fined $100 and one of them still had to face whatever charge may eventually be laid as a result of the assault upon Rolland. This naturally hinges upon the findings

RESOURCES FOR FREEDOM

In the light of its wealth and resources and "timely capital expansion program," Canada "may reasonably hope to benefit richly over the short and middle term from the colossal appetite for materials of our neighbour to the south," the Bank of Montreal's latest Business Review comments. Published today, the report adds that, "If the trend is toward an age of scarcity that can only be averted by major technological developments, we too may be well advised to do some serious stock-taking for the longer range in the midst of our apparent plenty."

This month's Bank statement appraises the recent "Resources for Freedom" Report to the U. S. President, by the Materials Policy Commission. This, the bank finds, is "a well-documented and searching analysis of the possibilities for the free world in the period 1970-1980." While primarily concerned with the future of the United States, the Paley Report, as it is known, recognizes that the U.S. outlook is inextricably tied up with the fortunes of the free nations as a whole. "Consequently, it is of no little significance to other countries and to Canada in particular."

In relation to the world outside the Iron Curtain, the United States has only 9.5 per cent of the population and eight per cent of the land area, yet produces and consumes about half the free world's output. It currently uses approximately 2.7 billions tons of materials annually, about 18 tons per person. Against this backdrop, and assuming that the gross national product in real terms will continue to increase by three per cent per annum, that the population — now 157 millions — will reach a level of 193 millions by 1975, that the work week will be about 15 per cent shorter than in 1950, and that the production per man - hour will rise annually by two and a half per cent, the commission has made a series of projections of possible demand for various industrial materials in the 1970-1980 period.

It expects such an expansion program to involve an increase of not more than 50 to 60 per cent in the total use of materials, the Bank notes. But the use of minerals might rise by 90 per cent, and here, particularly, the risk of shortages must be faced. How such enormously expanded needs are to be provided without undue increases in real cost is the major concern of the commission. "Insofar as the solutions can be provided within the United States' borders, the Commission suggests that the keys are energy sources and technology; that the steering force is, or should be, the 'least cost principle'; and that the instruments include intelligent conservation rather than hoarding, avoidance of economic waste, integrated planning by private enterprise and government, intensive exploration, and topographical and geological mapping."

But it is recognized that purely internal measures are far from adequate to meet America's problem, the review states, and the Paley Report therefore recommends the enactment of permanent authority for "unilateral elimination" of import duty on any industrial material for which the U.S. is substantially dependent on imports. It also recommends repeal of the "Buy American Act" of 1933 and similar legislation.

The bank stresses that, for Canada, the moral of the whole report is clear: while it may expect rich short and middle-term benefits from predicted material shortages in the U.S., this country should take stock of the long-range threat of running short itself. "The consumption of almost all materials is expanding at compound rates and is thus pressing harder and harder against resources which, whatever else they may be doing, are not similarly expanding."

THE CONSERVATIVES AND THE SOCIAL CREDIT

In denouncing as "utter nonsense," suggestions that the Conservatives and Social Credit parties have similar philosophies, Mr. Drew made an important statement says The Windsor Star, which continues:

If Mr. Drew meant this strong language, and we believe he did, the import is there can be no alliance between the two parties in the quest for power in Ottawa. They will run against each other in the approaching federal elections just as each will also against the Liberal and C.C.F. parties.

The suggestions have been, with the Conservative Party facing rather long odds in getting a clear majority, it might enter into a deal with the Social Credit Party. Both are conservative in character and both are strong for imperial association.

This idea, of course, overlooks the very fundamental difference between the two parties. The Conservative tradition represents orthodox financial policies; has its most solid support among the believers in orthodoxy. The Social Credit Party, in principle at least, represents extremely unorthodox financial attitudes.

In recent years the Social Credit administration in Alberta has been orthodox. This has been by compulsion, as well as being good politics. Provinces haven't control over currency. But, Mr. Solon Lowe, national Social Credit leader, and other party spokesmen have made it clear if the party got power in Ottawa it would follow Social Credit principles. Whether it would be expedient to do so is beside the point. That's what they say, and that's what the Conservatives can't ignore.

If the Conservatives should be returned as the largest party in the Commons, but without a majority, Mr. Drew might have to reconsider his attitude. He might then have to try to find a working agreement. In a Commons of that nature, some arrangement would have to be made to permit the carrying on of government. But even then it would be an uneasy alliance. It would represent two parties with entirely divergent views on a major issue.

ADD "CAT AND DOG" LEGISLATION TO PRESIDENT-ELECT'S BURDENS

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — The more you look at all the $64 million questions facing the new President, the more you feel sorry for him. It isn't fair to burden any one man with all these weighty problems. The candidate who really won in this election was the man who lost.

Included in the homework which the new President will have to do while resting up from the rigors of the campaign are a vast number of legislative cats and dogs — miscellaneous issues.

Most of the matters reviewed in previous articles of this series have been grouped by departments of government, or by related activities. Here are some of the more varied matters that the New Man in the White House must make up his mind on:

The International Wheat Agreement expires July 31, 1953. There have been two preliminary meetings of the International Wheat Council in London to consider renewals. Another meeting is being scheduled for Washington in January.

Under the first wheat agreement negotiated in 1949 after 18 years of futile trying, 42 wheat importing nations and the four major exporters — the U.S., Australia, Canada and France — did get together. The importing countries were to be assured stable supplies at fair prices.

The Korean war raised world wheat prices, however, and the result is that this year the U.S. has had to subsidize the export of some 253 million bushels of wheat at 65 cents a bushel, for total of $164 million. The immediate question for the new President is whether he will recommend continuing this subsidy, or work out a new arrangement.

Consider New Sugar Agreement. Of a similar nature, a new International Sugar Agreement is being considered. The United Nations is now polling all countries to see if they wish to hold a sugar conference next spring.

The original 1937 sugar agreement to regulate production, exports and stocks was suspended in World War II. It has been in operative ever since, except as a statistical exchange agency. Its members have been 17 exporting countries and the two major importers, U.S. and U.K. The present plan is that the new international agreement would not interfere in any way with the U.S. sugar act.

Farm policy in general will be a major subject for the new administration. Farm price supports at 90 per cent of parity and soil conservation payment are now guaranteed through 1954, however, so there is more time in which to take up new policies.

If the war emergency were to end suddenly, however, and farm prices began to slip, hearings would almost certainly begin on the very controversial support of non-perishable crops.

Expansion of crop insurance, now on a limited, experimental scale, and increase of farm credit are two other likely subjects for early consideration. Farm credit agencies are now turning away customers because they don't have money to loan to meet the demand.

Veterans' affairs will present the new President with some king-sized worries. The principal one is what to do about non-service-connected disability cases. There are now nearly 20 million veterans and three million more coming from the Korean war and duty in Europe. If this keeps up, the U.S. will soon be a nation of veterans. Caring for their health becomes an increasing problem.

On the social security program, the present power given to the states to determine what constitutes "disability" for the receipt of benefits expires next year. It must be renewed, or power given to the federal government to set standard of eligibility for the receipt of disability payments.

Armed Service Powers Expire. Presidential powers to extend enlistments in the armed services for 12 months, and to order the reserves to active service for 24 months are expiring on July 1.

Because of final powers given the President over international civil aviation, he will have a number of important decisions to make in this field. Hearings on the international air freight case will reopen in January and reach the President about July 1. Extension of operating certificates for U.S. airlines serving the Far East must be considered. A number of foreign air carriers are applying for rights to fly over U.S. territory.

U.S. Maritime Administration has a bothersome problem coming up in whether to renew the tax exemption now granted on reserve funds for new ship construction. These funds are now held on deposit by U.S. shipping companies which receive government subsidies for their operations in competition with foreign lines.

Authority to draft men into the armed services under the Selective Service act expires June 30, 1955. But the authority to draft doctors and dentists expires next July 1.

A new plan for the sale of government-owned synthetic rubber plants to private industry will be submitted to the new President on March 1.

And, as a final example, there is the question of what to do about the Mexican "wetbacks" who cross the Rio Grande illegally to find work in Texas. The present law authorizing the hiring of limited numbers of legal migrant workers expires next year.

Glimpses Into The Past

By BERTHA WESTON PRICE

PHILIP GOSSE — BIOLOGIST

"Between the years 1835 and 1838 there lived at Compton Village in the Quebec Eastern Townships, a young Englishman, by name—Philip Henry Gosse, who has various claims to remembrance."

In these lines does W.O. Raymond, F.R.S.C., begin his keenly interesting article on the life of Philip Henry Gosse, who wrote the book, "A Canadian Naturalist," printed in 1840 and today practically forgotten, though an outstanding book of its day. Philip Gosse, father of Sir Edmund Gosse, a brilliant essayist and literary critic of his day, came from England to America in 1827, and lived eight years in Newfoundland, working as a shipping clerk.

As a boy he had been interested in biology and while at work in Newfoundland he began his studies that ultimately made him an outstanding biologist and entomologist.

Leaving Newfoundland he came to Compton through having received information relative to Compton in the Eastern Townships. Like many other Englishmen, filled with the spirit of adventure, he settled on a farm in Compton County, somewhere in the neighborhood of Compton Village and what is now Waterville. He was not a farmer, rather a biologist, but he tried to blend the two, but must have had lean years for he wrote to his people in England about "living, at times, on buck-wheat and pig's meat."

However, the book, "The Canadian Naturalist," was begun and mostly written while he was in Compton trying to farm, with poor results.

Dr. Raymond, in his treatise says, "It is not my intent to dwell on the unsuccessful farming experience; that can be found in one of his son's (Sir Edmund's) books, 'Father and Son', a widely known publication, but he tells of the life of the biologist who took his son with him through Nature's haunts and imbued him with the intense love for Nature's children, of which he wrote later in life. It is recorded that funds were low during his three years that he taught school three winters in Compton Township. There is no evidence that he took part in military doings when the Papineau Rebellion swept the Eastern Townships, like other places. He was a man of peace and buried in his work. His walks through forested country were nearly all in the region of Compton, though he wrote of a journey to the Village of Hatley "near the shore of Lake Massawippi," which might mean Massawippi Village, (West Hatley in early days) or East Hatley on the hills, three miles distant from the lake shore. He found—as others did later—a primeval country where were trees, flowers, butterflies and insects that were the material he desired. From these years' sojourn in the E.T. he found material that made him an influential writer of his day in kindling interest of the man of the street in the study of natural history.

Later in his career Philip Gosse invented the marine aquarium, which has provided much information in the study of marine life. Through his efforts there was set up in Regent Park a tank which was stocked by him with 200 specimens of marine animals and plants. Many of these fascinating places are seen today, but the inventor of them was a struggling farmer in Compton well over a century ago. Where are all these books today? We would like to glimpse through their pages and learn of Nature's treasures.

He tells of having seen the scarlet tanager in Compton; of the various animals of that era in our forested land; the pine grosbeak with its pink and crimson plumage. And among the animals were the puma (cougar to us), the grey and black wolf, of which he records having seen a large black wolf in captivity in Sherbrooke, his keeper a Mr. Robert Armour, Bears and deer were familiar to the student-writer; there was a moose killed near Sherbrooke, "of the flesh of which I partook." A puma (cougar) killed in Bolton was stuffed and mounted and displayed in the home of Captain Copp at Georgetown.

He refers to the otter and salmon in the St. Francis, Coaticook and Massawippi river regions. He recalls having run up against one of those small animals of black and white who are still well known

TAKE SOME CHANCES TO WIN TOURNAIS

Only a few of the West Coast bridge experts came East regularly to take part in the regular National Bridge Championships. By way of compensation, however, the West Coast runs its own championships in Los Angeles and San Francisco, thus providing the hundreds of experts in that region with first class tournament competition.

The hand shown today is taken from the recent "Bridge Week" held in Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Kauder held the North-South hands and got themselves into an ambitious grand slam contract.

The Kauders are among the best players on the coast, and they knew perfectly well that they were out on a limb with their grand slam contract, but they needed an unusually good score and decided to take the risk.

It doesn't take great skill to overbid a hand and then go down, as all of us have found out at one time or another. In this case, Arnold Kauder justified his ambitious bidding by making the contract.

He won the first trick in dummy with the king of clubs and immediately finessed the eight of hearts. When this finesse held, Kauder breathed again and then ran every last one of his trumps, discarding low diamonds and low spades from the dummy.

When declarer continued by cashing dummy's top diamonds, all hands were obliged to reduce to three cards. Dummy held the ace-jack of clubs and a spade while South held three spades.

East had to save two clubs to prevent dummy's jack from winning a trick, and therefore could save only one spade. Declarer thus was able to win the last three tricks with the ace of clubs, the ace of spades and the jack of spades.

When you need a finesse and a squeeze to make a grand slam, it is clear that you have been bidding too much; but it is also clear that you have played your cards extremely well.

CARD SENSE. The bidding has been:

South West North East
1 Heart Pass 1 Spade Pass

You, South, hold: Spades 4-2, Hearts A-J-10-5-2, Diamonds A-K-J, Clubs 7-5-3. What do you do?

A—Bid two hearts. You have a minimum opening bid with 13 points in high cards and 1 point for the doubton. It would not be a serious error to make a rebid of one no-trump, but with all of your strength concentrated in two suits it is slightly better to steer away from no-trump.

TODAY'S QUESTION. The question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades 4-2, Hearts A-J-10-5-2, Diamonds K-J-7, Clubs A-5-3. What do you do?

The Record Short Story

THE YEAR'S

By PAUL ELLERBE

Nineteen, superbly well from her bare feet (she wore a gold-colored sun-suit) to her gold-brown head, carefree in a care-worn world, Clarissa Howland knelt beside the spring under the sweet gum trees on the Howland country place and saw in the looking glass, the water made, a face behind her.

"What kind of fizzy-water are you advertising, and where's your wings?"

She turned to face a scrubby, freckled, good-humored boy a little elder than herself, in levis, hob-nailed shoes and a flannel shirt.

"It doesn't fizz," she said, "but it's got a wonderful taste of wildness from the roots of the sweet gum trees."

It appeared that he was thirsty. When he had drunk he agreed with her about the water. He sat beside her, and they talked. Sweaty coarse-haired, powerful, and as unself-conscious as an animal, though he was, she liked him.

There had been too few good animals in her world of late. He said he had started on a walking tour, decided that what he really wanted was a job, and dropped out to find one.

"Know of anything?" "Well," she said and sized him up. A solid, worn-looking boy, not a playboy. She was fed up almost to the gagging point with playboys, having two things that attracted them—money and beauty.

"His name," she said to her mother up in the house in which the Howlands spent their summers, "is Bill Brady, and he's looking for a job. He could drive you now in the Buick, while I ran over to Clara Lou's in the Model A."

"Receptions at the Draytons," she added to Bill, "being maybe the stuffiest gatherings ever held outside a natural history museum."

Her mother smiled and agreed. Perhaps what turned the tide in Bill's favor was what she regarded as his obvious impossibility, socially. It freed her to like unreservedly his good grin, the pleasantness of his manner and his general air of weedy simplicity, whereunder, she felt sure, could lurk no sentimental hazards for a daughter reared as hers had been.

Which merely goes to show, of course, how little one knows when it comes to that wind which "bloweth whither it listeth" — which "by ways that no man knows blows into the heart." Bill got the job.

But he wasn't good at it. "This thing," he said, sitting beside Clarissa in the Model A, "bucks and kicks and snorts like a bad-tempered horse."

She twisted a disk on her side of the instrument board and the engine calmed itself. "The mixture was too rich," she said. It didn't matter much, though.

"The pictures you've painted since I was last here—"

"But I haven't painted anything," she said.

"I have" a voice said from the porch beyond the French doors, and Bill Brady stepped inside.

To Clarissa the world seemed to stop in its tracks. When it had got going again Bill was saying: "I never thought of trying until I stumbled on that little studio deep in the woods, with all the makings spread out and waiting, but the moment I walked through the door I felt that maybe I could. Is it—is it really any good?"

Well, some day you might stop in at the art museums in Philadelphia, Kansas City, Denver, or Santa Barbara, and see how you feel about it: he's got pictures in all of them. The best is called "The Year at the Spring" and it shows his wife in a gold-colored sun-suit, beside the spring that tastes of sweet gum roots. You'd expect it to be pretty sappy, but it isn't; it's the real McCoy. And Mrs. Howland and her son-in-law are painting along happily together. . . . His pictures sell, though, at higher and higher prices, but the only person who's bought hers so far is her husband.

THE END

BRITISH NURSES ARRIVE: Three British registered nurses arrived here last night to join the staff of the Sherbrooke Hospital. The nurses, flown to Canada from the Old Country to help alleviate the nursing shortage here, arrived in Montreal by Trans-Canada Air Lines yesterday afternoon and were met on arrival here by Miss Jean Dunning, acting director of nursing, and by Colin Campbell, chairman of the executive committee of the Sherbrooke Hospital. They brought to four the number of British nurses now at the hospital as Miss Sheila Appleton of Sussex arrived a few weeks ago. A number of other nurses will be arriving in the near future. This picture shows the nurses as they reached Montreal yesterday. From left to right are: Miss Marjorie Jannaway of Harrogate, who trained at the Harrogate General Hospital, Miss Barbara Wilson of Arbroath, Scotland, who trained at the Edinburgh Royal Infirmary, airport nurse Rita Mill, and Miss Marjorie Robinson of Harrogate, who trained at the Sheffield Royal Infirmary.

members and "ministers without portfolio" charged only with high-level cold war planning.

Word that the veteran diplomat, who drafted the Japanese peace treaty would get the No. 1 cabinet post next Jan. 20 was generally well received by State Department officials despite some bitterness toward him for his attacks on Truman foreign policies during the Presidential campaign.

These officials expect Dulles soon will open an office near that of the outgoing Secretary of State, Dean Acheson. They believe the transfer of control will be smoother than it would have been with almost any other successor.

Dulles is unlike any other man Eisenhower might have named. Not only a veteran of 45 years' work in the foreign field—he was secretary of an international conference when his grandfather was Secretary of State in 1907—he also has played an important part in the development of U.S. policies during recent years.

Dulles had a hand in the formation of the United Nations and in obtaining bipartisan backing for it.

In April, 1950, he became a consultant to Acheson but resigned last March to campaign for the Republicans. During the campaign he broadly supported efforts to unify and strengthen the allies, but sharply criticized what he considered to be the administration's failure to develop a truly offensive global strategy in the cold war.

To accomplish such an objective and put Russia on the defensive Dulles advocated not only the creation of a super cabinet council—perhaps through revision of the present national security council—but also:

1. A psychological campaign by "peaceful means" to make Russia uncertain of its hold over its satel-ite states in eastern Europe and over China.

2. Development of means to defend weak countries on a global basis, probably by threatening Russia with direct retaliation if communist forces tried to open up any more Korea.

3. Action to streamline relations between the departments of the government dealing with foreign affairs—such as state, defence and the mutual security agency.

Dulles also has advocated bipartisan consultation. The proposed new council probably would include Democratic advisers.

Aberdeen Angus Judged Best Bull

Toronto, Nov. 21.—Events at the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair yesterday proved there's black gold in eastern Canada too. Sleek, ebony-coated Aberdeen Angus cattle were suddenly pushed into prominence at the fair when a stout, black steer was named grand champion of the show. Bandsman of Agincourt, a summer yearling owned by Carr Hatch of Unionville, Ont., proved best in competition with 31 animals, 16 of them from western Canada.

Senior and grand champion Angus bull in beef cattle judging was Ellacomb of Don Head II, owned by J. S. D. Tury of King, Ont., and Don Head Farms of Richmond Hill, Ont. Reserve grand champion bull was Bandolier of Anoka 78th, owned by Edwards Brothers of Watford, Ont.

But it was at the evening sale of the Stars that the coal-black breed proved its worth. The 36 head of Angus bulls and females brought the best average price of the four sales at the show—$1,570 a head. In swine judging J. Irvine Wood of Croton, Ont., took grand champion bear and sow titles and was awarded the championship Empire challenge cup, donated by the British Berkshire Society for champion Berkshire pig of the show with his grand champion boar, Woodmere Pondet.

Deserted Dog, Ill-Fed, Beaten Found On Road

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is seeking a man who abandoned a terribly abused little dog on the Brompton road Tuesday evening.

The dog was brought to S. P. C.A. Inspector Frank J. Thompson, of Sherbrooke, by Herman Clark, who lives on the Brompton road. Mr. Clark found the deserted little animal wandering on the road.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson are now looking after the dog at their home. The dog is a male, about 1 year old, pure white with but a few brown patches about the ears. When brought to the Thompsons, he showed evidence of having been beaten and starved.

The Thompsons will keep the dog until someone drops around to adopt him. They report, however, that the dog must have been very badly abused for he is still suspicious of even the kindly.

Gossip has it that the night the dog was abandoned, persons living in the area in question saw a car pull to a stop on the road, a man getting out and placing the dog on the road.

Inspector Thompson requests that persons furnish him with the license number of that car and the name of the owner of the dog.

The Criminal Code of Canada provides stiff penalties for cruelty to animals. Under Section 542 of the Criminal Code any person who abandons in distress cattle, poultry, dogs and other animals is liable on conviction to a $500 fine and a year in jail.

Lee-on-the-Solent, Hampshire, England, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Helicopters formed a sovereign's escort for the first time in British history today when the Queen inspected headquarters of the Royal Navy air command.

Two biplanes flying at 150 feet flanked the Royal car on its four-mile trip from the railroad station to the naval reservation. Some 10,000 school children lined the streets and roads to cheer the Queen.

OBITUARIES

MR. GEORGE REGINALD SCOTT, OF WEST BROME

West Brome, Nov. 21. — Sincere sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Scott, in the sudden death of their only son, George Reginald Scott, on November 11, 1952, when he came in contact with a high tension wire while in the employ of an Edmonton, Alberta, Pipe Line Company, near Hamilton, Ont., and was instantly electrocuted.

Previously he had been employed by the same company on the pipe line from Ganoquoque, Ont., to Montreal, following a period of work in Alberta.

This fine young man was born at Granby, on January 14, 1927, and was educated at Granby High School, after which he assisted his father on the farm until he became interested in the pipe line work.

Surviving him are his sorrowing parents, and three sisters, Muriel, Mrs. Elmer Crook; the Misses Jean and Carl Scott; and a niece, Doreen Crook, all residing at "Sunnymede Farm."

The funeral was held at 2:30 o'clock, on November 15, in Emmanuel United Church, at Cowansville, with the pastor, Rev. Gerald Fee, B.A., B.C., officiating.

The bearers were Messrs. Byron Lee and Gordon Snyder, of Sherbrooke; Robert Bowles, Rodney Jenne, Marshall Shover and Jack Hurlburd, of Cowansville.

The floral tributes were very lovely and numerous, giving silent testimony to the deceased young man.

The funeral was very largely attended. Among those from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Whitcher, of Beauce; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lyle, Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Claude Donoway, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Swett, Mrs. George Swett, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Neil, Mrs. Norman Crook, Mr. and Mrs. George Gallagher and Miss Beulah, Mrs. Nelson Samworth and Mrs. Arthur Picard, all of Granby; Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor, of Austin, and many other relatives and friends.

Interment was made at Riverside Cemetery.

Mrs. R. P. Stafford Gives Report At Service In Coaticook United Church

Coaticook, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Roy P. Stafford, wife of Rev. R. P. Stafford, of Sangster Memorial church, Sherbrooke, was the guest speaker at the United Church in Coaticook on Sunday morning.

The service was conducted by Rev. Dr. W. B. Perry and in place of the usual sermon Mrs. Stafford gave an interesting report on the sessions of the General Council of the United Church held at Hamilton, Ont., in September.

Mrs. Stafford was one of four commissioners sent by the Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbytery to represent churches in this area at the Council conference. She gave her report in full at the recent sessions of the Presbytery held at Chalmers-Wesley church, Quebec, and was invited by Dr. Perry to give a resume of her report to the Coaticook congregation. Her interesting talk gave her listeners an insight into what took place at the conference and revealed the important work the church is doing both at home and in foreign fields.

Mrs. Stafford is well known in Coaticook. Rev. Mr. Stafford and herself having served in the work of the United church here for several years, and many former friends were present to hear her talk and to greet her following the service. While here she was the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Perry at the Manse.

The anthem, "Only Trusting," sung by the choir during the service, featured a solo by Stanley Cromwell.

BOARD MEETING

A meeting of the Official Board of the United church was held at the Manse on Monday evening with Rev. Dr. W. B. Perry in the chair.

Present were: G. Englehardt, Dr. W. L. Shurteff, Cecil Akhurst, E. Akhurst, C. E. Akhurst, J. Stein, S. Cromwell, Stanley Beerworth, A. A. Hopkins, G. McGee, Jack Turnbull and Andrew Thompson.

In the absence of the secretary, Frank Hansford, the minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mr. Englehardt, who served as secretary pro-tem.

A report was given by the treasurer, A. Thompson, revealing that a most satisfactory response to the Board of Stewards appeal for contributions, in relation to the recent installation of the oil heating system, had been obtained. A vote of thanks was given J. Stein for his kindness in making and placing the new communion receptacles in the pews of the church.

Among the various items of business it was decided to hold the congregational social on Nov. 27 and to have the annual concert by the Meridians choral group on January 28.

MEN'S CLUB

At the regular Thursday night meeting of the Anglican Men's Club, held in the Guild Hall with president Percy Bishop in charge, the guest speaker was Jack Brown.

This new idea of having talks by various speakers from time to time at the regular club meetings is expected to add a great deal of interest to the programs.

Mr. Brown, as first speaker in the series, gave an interesting talk on the organization and work of the Canadian Legion.

POLICE REPORT

The monthly police report issued by Chief G. Groleau reveals that there were 38 arrests during the month. Of these 27 were for speeding, 4 for illegal parking, 3 for passing stop lights, 1 for profanity, 1 refused to move on constable's order, 1 resisted arrest and 1 held for the police department of another town; 34 paid fines and costs, 3 suspended and 1 pending.

Six fire calls were received, 5 being for chimneys and 1 for a stovepipe fire. There were 51 police calls, 1 arrest on order of Recorder's court. There were 4 serious and 1 minor car accidents. One was injured and 1 killed, the latter being A. Binnette, hit by a car near his home.

Two stray animals were destroyed, 1 lost child returned to parents, 7 cases of protection, 6 doors found unlocked, 32 permits issued, 23 police inquiries, 1 case of complaint answered, 2 cases of theft, 1 stolen bicycle recovered. Amusement taxes collected amounted to $112.43. The patrol car has travelled 45,758 miles to date.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The Coaticook Junior Chamber of Commerce ended its observance of Provincial Week with a quiet held at the Coaticook House.

Honored guests included Mayor R. Laurence and Mrs. Laurence, Denis Gerin, M.L.A., and Mrs. Gerin, regional president, Benoit Charter and Mrs. Chartier, Lucien Bedard, provincial vice-president, Henri Brunelle and Mrs. Brunelle, honorary president Antonio Daigle and Mrs. Daigle, Counsellor Roger Bouchard and Mrs. Bouchard, past president Sylvio Roy and Mrs. Roy, Jean Lincoeur, Denis Boivin, secretary Arsene Lemieux and Mrs. Lemieux, L. Lestage, treasurer, Mr. and Mrs. Aime Fiola, Mr. and Mrs. Urbain Lebel, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Charpentier, Mr. and Mrs. S. Green, Mr. and Mrs. A. Lavoie, Robert Pivin, director, as well as the local president, Louis Abdalla, and Mrs. Abdalla.

Denis Boivin acted as master of ceremonies and introduced the various guests. Speeches were given by President Abdalla, Mayor Laurence, Denis Gerin, Mr. Chartier, regional president, Lucien Bedard, vice president, Mr. Brunelle of Sherbrooke, and Antonio Daigle.

The evening ended with an enjoyable dance to the music of the St. Pierre orchestra.

PUBLIC SPEAKING

The first in a series of evenings devoted to the instruction in public speaking, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, was held in St. John Evangelist church hall.

The course is under the direction of Andre Lavoie, instructor, and Roger Charpentier, president. The instruction is free and any interested parties are invited to contact any member of the Chamber of Commerce for further information. Classes will meet every two weeks.

ACCIDENTS

Charles Emile Drole, 38 years of age, suffered a bad accident at his home on Elm Street on Tuesday. While cutting wood in his cellar he was struck in the left eye by a piece of flying wood. He received first aid by Dr. G. LaJoie and was then taken to hospital in Sherbrooke, where he is under the care of Dr. Fortier. It is believed that medical treatment will save his sight and he is fortunate that it was not more serious.

Another accident occurred on Wednesday which might have had serious consequences. A light truck, driven by J. B. Houle, with his two children, Maurice and Denise as passengers, was forced off the highway west of the town, on the Barnston road, by a car travelling towards Coaticook and the truck ended up in the ditch just short of a fifteen foot drop. Minor injuries were received by the occupants, who required medical aid by Dr. T. Telmosse. An accident at the very same spot five years ago cost the lives of two persons.

YOUNG ATHLETE

Congratulations are extended to a young Coaticook man, Lionel Breton, who recently placed second in a national physical fitness contest held at Montreal. Mr. Breton, who trains regularly in a local gymnasium, brought honors to his home town in gaining second place among hundreds of contestants for the title of "Mr. Canada."

Windsor Mills' Students' Council Held A Dance

Windsor Mills, Nov. 21. — The Students' Council of the Windsor and Brompton Consolidated School, supervised by Miss Reid, held a most successful dance in the Canada Paper Club House, on Monday evening, November 10.

The hall was decorated with crests and pennants using the school colors—maroon and white—and this was in charge of Elizabeth Philip.

In the receiving line were Miss Reid, principal of the school, Sally McLennan, secretary of the Student Council, and Malcolm Daigneault, president.

Miss Thelma Mills, teacher, was in charge of the tickets at the door, and Mr. Harry Perkins acted as master-of-ceremonies.

The music was furnished by "The Hebert Orchestra," and mixed dances were enjoyed by everyone between 8 and 12 o'clock.

The chairman of the refreshment committee was Robert Dole and at intermission refreshments were served with the help of other students of the school. At this time Malcolm Daigneault addressed the gathering by expressing appreciation of the support of the parents and friends.

Sally McLennan was chairman of the sale of tickets. This is the second money raising effort since September, by this group. The first was the Maclean-Hunter Educational plan.

ST. ANDREW'S W.M.S.
The Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's United Church, held its Thank-Offering meeting and tea at the home of Mrs. A. Fowler and Mrs. T. Davis, on November 12.

The president, Mrs. Henry Dubuc, opened the meeting with the worship service taken from the October "Missionary Monthly." Mrs. P. Davis and Miss Marion Varney read the Scripture passages and Mrs. A. Jondreville played the piano.

The speaker, Mrs. F. A. Johnston, of Ayer's Cliff, was introduced by Mrs. A. Jondreville, and she used as her topic a poem entitled "The Rouse By The Side Of The Road," changing the words to fit the work of the Missionary Society in Canada and other lands.

Mrs. Henry Dubuc expressed the thanks of all to Mrs. Johnston for her interesting address. Mrs. P. Davis poured tea at a lace covered table and refreshments were served.

THE GREENLAW GUILD
The Greenlaw Guild of St. George's Anglican Church held a successful Salad Tea in the Odd Fellows Hall, on Friday afternoon in conjunction with the Brompton Ladies' Aid sale of home baked food and fancy work.

The tea tables were in charge of Mrs. C. Gardner; the kitchen was convoked by Mrs. I. Robinson and Mrs. C. Hess; and the salads were arranged by Mrs. F. Robinson.

Remembrance Day Observed By Scotstown People

Scotstown, Nov. 21. — Scotstown citizens honoured their war dead on November 11th, at 2 p.m., at a Remembrance Day service at the Cenotaph.

For the brief but impressive service, Mr. George Riglar, acted as chairman.

The parade from the Town Hall to the Cenotaph was well attended.

Rev. Mr. Walker gave the invocation, after which the hymn, "Abide With Me" was sung. The speakers were Mr. A. M. MacKenzie, mayor of Scotstown, Mr. P. A. Sherman, Mayor of Hampden; and Lieut. Col. W. Bishop, of Bury. Mr. J. A. Blanchette was unable to be present.

The commemoration hymn was sung, after which the names of the war dead in the first and second World Wars were read.

Wreaths were placed on the Cenotaph by Mrs. Cecil MacAulay, for the Legion; Mr. Leslie Irving, for the Legion soldiers; Lieut. Col. W. Bishop, for the Reserve Army; Mrs. Fred Buck, for the Auxiliary; Mr. W. Ladd, Mr. Claude Dumoulin, Mr. P. A. Sherman, Mr. A. M. MacKenzie, and Mr. R. Cook and Mrs. D. P. Murray.

The "Last Post" was sounded by the bugler, after which two minutes' silence was observed.

Rev. Mr. Walker pronounced the Benediction and "God Save the Queen" was sung.

ST. PAUL'S CIRCLE

The October meeting of the Circle of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church was held in the Church Hall with the president, Mrs. Clifford MacDonald, presiding. The devotion were in charge of the first vice-president, Mrs. John Nicholson. Seventeen members and seven visitors were present.

The following "thank-you" notes were received for turkey suppers sent into them on October 17: Mrs. K. N. MacDonald, Mrs. Gilbert, Mrs. MacLaughlin, Mrs. Katharine Moss, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. A. MacDonald, Mrs. A. D. Morrison, Mrs. N. D. MacIver, Miss Margaret E. Smith, and Mrs. Christie Morrison. Mrs. N. D. MacIver and Mrs. A. D. Morrison each enclosed a dollar in their notes.

The treasurer's report showed $179.60 cleared on the supper on October 17, and a $5.00 donation was received from Mrs. E. A. Johnson, of Inverness.

It was decided to have knitting and fancy work table at the December meeting.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction, after which delicious refreshments were furnished by Mrs. A. M. MacKenzie, Mrs. R. A. Campbell, Mrs. J. E. Nicholson, Mrs. K. R. MacLeod, Mrs. Clifford MacDonald and Mrs. Arnold MacKenzie.

GILLES DUBE TALLIES WINNER IN OVERTIME TO NIP ACES 3-2

Locals Salvage Fifth Position In Loop By Edging Aces 3-2; Meet Cats In Week-End Twin Bill; Here Sunday

Gilles Dube tallied just after the start of the overtime last night to give the Sherbrooke Saints a 3-2 victory over the Quebec Aces at the Arena before 2,657 fans, in a loosely played fixture of the Senior Group.

The outcome of the game did not affect the standing of the teams. Sherbrooke is in fifth position with a total of 17 points while the Aces are sixth with thirteen. In the other tilt played the Sags of Chicoutimi chalked up a win over Shawinigan to remain one point ahead of the locals.

Tomorrow evening the Saints travel to Shawinigan to tangle with the Cats, and their new coach, in the first tilt of a double week-end bill. The clubs will get together Sunday afternoon at the Arena in the second fixture of the bill.

Last night's game was a spotty affair with both teams giving only mediocre performances. They blew hot and cold at different opportunities and it was only towards the end of the tilt that the locals came to life and gave their best spurts of the evening.

Gilles Dube registered the winning tally just after the overtime had commenced. Jacques Locas and Dewar Thompson accounted for the others. Herbie Carnegie and Jean Beliveau were the Quebec marksmen.

Carnegie, who was with the Aces for the second game since his tour in Toronto, was by far the top performer for the Quebec club. He was all over the place and time after time he kept Bessette hopping to keep his net clear. He opened the scoring when he beat Bessette from close range on a hard drive.

This was the sign for the Saints to get organized and Locas, Pruneau and Tremblay moved in on Marois but he came up with some nice saves to ease the situation. Pruneau came very close but just failed by inches to nick the corner of the net.

Jacques Locas snared a pass-out from Pruneau and rifled the disc by Marois from close range. Tremblay was in on the play. It completed the scoring for the opening frame. In the middle session Jean Beliveau put the Aces out in front again just after the opening when he caught the locals napping.

The Saints moved back to the attack as they drove all out against Jean Marois and company but the little agile Quebec net boy kept kicking everything aside. St. Hilaire, Campeau and Tremblay all had good chances but failed to click. The Aces were moving in on Bessette and he had a few busy moments as they were nipping away.

The squads were playing in spurts as each club came up with a combined attack but when the let down, the Aces, with their one goal, seemed to be content to do just this and the Saints came very close at different times.

At the start of the final frame play was loose on both sides. The locals began to apply their usual third-period pressure and the Aces were willing under it. Tremblay drove a hard shot, Thompson snared the rebound, and when Marois threw himself at full length, he gently lifted the disc over him into the open meshings to even the count 2-2 just before the half-way mark in the frame.

This was the sign for the teams to open up and from then until the end the fans had their best hockey of the evening. Both sides came close but the goalies were on their jobs and made the saves. In the overtime the Saints kept the pressure on, but the Aces seemed lost in their own zone. Finally Draineville and St. Hilaire were right in but Marois made some outstanding saves to ease the situation. The locals kept driving and the Aces were bottled up in their own zone. Pete Wyrost started the play when he dropped the disc back to Locas and when he rifled his shot Dube was on Marois' doorstep to snare the rebound and slap it into the net for the winning tally.

Quebec—goal, Marois; defence—Crozier, Hudson, Nixon, Craigier, forwards—Beliveau, Wiseman, Tremblay, Mackay, Carnegie, Robert, Brilliant, Pawlyshyn, Smith, Bouchard.

Sedgman-McGregor Upset In Doubles By Junior Combination

Sydney, Australia, Nov. 21.—(P)—Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor, rated Australia's top stars, were beaten in the final of the men's doubles championship today by two of their younger countrymen, Mervyn Rose and Don Candy, 9-7, 2-6, 6-4, 8-10, 6-3.

Maureen Connolly and Julie Sampson of the United States cleaned up in the women's competition.

Maureen, the U. S. champion, and Miss Sampson teamed to win the doubles title and made it an all-American final in the singles by taking their semi-final matches.

The American girls won the doubles by whipping the No. 1 and No. 2 ranking Australian women, Mary Hawton and Beryl Penrose, 4-6, 6-2, 6-2.

In the singles Miss Connolly beat Miss Penrose 6-4, 6-4 and Miss Sampson defeated Miss Hawton 6-2, 6-2.

McGregor, Sedgman To Meet In Finals

Sydney, Australia, Nov. 21.—(P)—Frank Sedgman turned up with a blistered right hand today while sweeping into the finals of the New South Wales tennis tournament with a straight-set victory over a young fellow Australian, Ken Rosewall.

The blister didn't seem to cause the world's No. 1 ranking amateur much trouble, as he polished off young Rosewall, 6-4, 6-3, 6-3.

Sedgman will meet Ken McGregor, his Australian Davis Cup teammate, for the championship today. McGregor won over left-handed Mervyn Rose, 6-2, 6-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Take Your Choice On Teams But The Weatherman Is The Only Certain Winner Now In Deciding Big Four

Toronto, Nov. 21.—(CP)—Take your choice on the third-game sudden-death Big Four football final Saturday but the only guy who shapes up as a winner is the weatherman.

The football experts will tell you that Hamilton Tiger-Cats are the mudders and that Toronto Argonauts are the "Money Club" of Canadian football but whichever way you look at it, the condition of the field may determine which club is to advance into next Wednesday's sudden-death Eastern final. And the forecaster isn't optimistic that the 27,000 or more fans will see a game under ideal conditions.

Varsity Stadium now is a 110-yard-field of mud and it is doubtful that the $12,000 Canadian Rugby Union tarpaulin would be much help in an effort to assure almost-ideal football conditions. The elements, according to the weather forecasts, are against laying the precious tarp.

"Cloudy, with intermittent rains" is the forecast for today and the field, already saturated with two days of rain, isn't in shape to take a covering. Stadium officials can only hope for a change in the weather, such as dry winds, to clear off the muck. But, come rain or sunshine, the gate receipts may hit the peak for a game in Canada. Hundreds thronged around ticket agency Thursday and the 27,000-seat Stadium was nearly sold out early last night.

Few will wager on the outcome after Argonauts' 22-6 first-game victory and Tiger-Cats' tremendous 27-11 triumph that tied the home-and-home total-points series at 33-33. The bettors are convinced after a season of in-and-out play that anything can happen in 60 minutes.

Both coaches predict victories.

Chicago Black Hawks Extend N. H. L. Lead With 3-1 Victory Over Bruins

The amazing Chicago Black Hawks not only are leading the National Hockey League but are beginning to show their heels to the other five clubs.

The Hawks, who finished in the cellar in the last five out of six seasons, were rebuilt this season with castoffs from Toronto and Detroit. Early this season they took over first place but slipped back for a few weeks. Then last week with victories over second-place Toronto and third-place Montreal they climbed back on top of the heap.

Last night they extended their lead to three points with a 3-1 victory over Boston Bruins, centre in fifth spot, seven points off the pace. It was Chicago's fourth straight victory.

The game, only one of the night, was scoreless for the first two periods. Then past the half-way mark of the final stanza Cal Gardner scored from close in after Bill Mosienko passed the puck to the former Leafman from behind the nets.

No games are scheduled for tonight.

Diminutive Negro Rollie Miles One Of Stars In Edmonton's March To Grey Cup Final; Run-Backs Specialty

Edmonton, Nov. 21.—(P)—An American Negro who came to Canada as a baseball player in 1951 but whose football talents almost went begging was one of Edmonton Eskimos' top stars in their march to the Grey Cup final this season.

Roland (Rollie) Miles became the idol of Edmonton fans as soon as he was given a chance to strut his stuff. And he made the rest of the Western Football Conference sit up and take notice, particularly Saskatchewan Roughriders who left him slip through their hands.

He was voted Eskimos' most valuable player by Edmonton fans in each of the two years he has played here. He made the Conference's first All-Star team this season.

The moustached seat-back is a little man as football players go, standing only five-foot-ten and weighing 170 pounds, but he's a "fancy-dan" on the field, elusive as a cat and twice as fast.

Miles excels in kick runbacks, at running from the half, forward passing off the wide lateral and knocking down or intercepting enemy passes. He is the key man in the Edmonton pass defence.

After four years with St. Augustine College at Raleigh, N.C., during which he was selected to the first-string, All-American Negro Conference team, Rollie came to Regina to play baseball.

The Roughriders were aware he was around but showed no interest in his football abilities. Miles visited Edmonton for an exhibition baseball game and went to an Eskimo workout. Annis Stukus, then coach, lost no time signing him as an import.

During the regular season he averaged 4.8 yards each time he carried the ball and completed six of 14 passes for 183 yards and two touchdowns. He also scored 22 of 30 passes thrown to him for 342 yards.

In his specialty, he ran back 41 punts for 384 yards, second only to Winnipeg's brilliant rookie Gerry James. He ran back 17 kickoffs for 475 yards, fourth best mark in the league.

Dugre's New Pacer, Harold Abbe, Cops Feature Event

Toronto, Nov. 21.—(P)—Harold Abbe, owned by L. Dugre, of Sherbrooke, Que., and driven by Jimmy Larente, out-paced an excellent field when he captured both heats of the open race at Dufferin Park yesterday.

In the first heat Harold Abbe quickly assumed the lead, continued on nicely when threatened by Mac Bingen through the home lane and won in handy fashion. The latter pressed the top one for most of the trip and took second honors. Williamsburg made up distance in the final quarter to be third.

Alouettes' Coach To Be Decided After Cup Final

Montreal, Nov. 21.—(P)—Decision on which will coach Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four next year was postponed yesterday until after the Grey Cup final at Toronto Nov. 29.

Present coach Doug (Pethead) Walker was believed to be still a top contender for the job.

N.B.A. Gives O.K. To Bassett-Franchise

Washington, Nov. 21.—(P)—The National Boxing Association said yesterday Ray Farnoch, France, and Percy Bassett, Philadelphia, have signed to meet for the "interim" world's featherweight championship.

The bout will be held Dec. 15th in Paris.

The NBA said it will continue to recognize Sandy Saddler, now in the Army, as world champion "but the winner of the Farnoch-Bassett bout will stand ready to box Saddler as soon as the latter leaves the service."

Olson Puts Lee Sala Away In Second Round

San Francisco, Nov. 21.—(P)—Bobo Olson of Honolulu established himself as the outstanding contender of the middleweight division last night when he knocked out Lee Sala, Donora, Penn., in the second of a 10-round bout.

The Honolulu boy dropped his rival for a nine-count in the same round and he floored him for keeps with a right to the jaw.

The knockout came in two minutes and 12 seconds. Both weighed 163 pounds.

Footling Squishy But Runners Go At Bowie

Bowie, Nov. 21.—(P)—The footling still is squishy on Bowie's new racing strip but the Maryland Racing Commission and the jockeys yesterday gave their go-ahead for the track to start running again Saturday.

Bowie's fall meeting was interrupted by its first day last Monday. Some of the jockeys refused to accept mounts and there was a spill in the mire as the horses pulled up after the second race.

Larry McPhail, former baseball magnate who now heads the syndicate which bought Bowie last winter, had spent many thousands putting in a new racing surface.

Coast Not Ready For Majors, Says Frick

Washington, Nov. 21.—(P)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said yesterday he's convinced the Pacific Coast will have major league ball some day, but he let it be known he doesn't want any changes executed in a "hit-and-run" manner.

"Sure, I'm all for major league ball on the Coast," Frick told newsmen. "But I don't want to run the risk of having a club fail."

Here's how the Commissioner sized up the situation: Suppose some big league club, like the St. Louis Browns, wants to move its franchise to Los Angeles. What would happen?

"The club would go broke. It just couldn't meet its expenses," Frick suggested these possibilities:

1. The major leagues could increase from 8 to 12 members, including West Coast, Texas and perhaps even Rocky Mountain cities.

2. A new major league or two might come into being.

"You'd have to reorganize the whole setup then, but I believe it could be done," Frick said. "You just can't try it on a hit-and-run basis."

MATTHEWS LANDS IN ENGLAND

Southampton, Nov. 21.—(P)—Harry (Kid) Matthews, boxing pride of Seattle, Wash., arrived here today, set for Johnny Williams, British heavyweight champion. He is scheduled to fight Williams at Harringay Arena Dec. 10.

FORTIN OUTPOINTS WILLY MAYS

Waterville, Me., Nov. 21.—(P)—Claude Fortin, 140, Montreal, out-pointed Willy Mays, 135, Boston, last night in eight rounds, the feature event of a boxing card here.

Edmonton—Harold (Baby Face) Jones, 137, Detroit, outpointed George Dunn, 134, Edmonton (10).

(Franchise, Groleau) 18:13

Penalties—Hodgson 10:30, Podolsky 6:16, L. Smrke 6:16, Lami-rand 7:41.

Eddie Stumpf, Cleveland Indians' Farm System Manager, Arrives In Town To Discuss Baseball Future

Eddie Stumpf, Business Manager of the Cleveland Indians Farm System, arrived in town yesterday afternoon to confer with the City Council regarding the baseball situation for the coming year.

Mr. Stumpf, when contacted in Mayor Emil Levesque's office late yesterday afternoon, stated that he arrived in Sherbrooke to straighten out a few minor details with Mayor Levesque and the City Fathers regarding the renting of the new baseball stadium and at the same time discuss prospects regarding the future.

The final decision will only be known after Mr. Stumpf and the City Council hold a meeting today to iron out a few small details but the fans should have the answer within the next twelve hours or so.

Cleveland is very much inter-ested in renting the stadium, and if this is arranged, they will take over and field a team in the Provincial League. Mr. Stumpf further outlined the situation and stated that the Indians would give the local fans a good class "C" ball club. The organization is looking forward to operating a club here and if the final arrangements can be completed then the fans can rest assured that they will see a good, young bunch of ball players, further added Mr. Stumpf.

Mr. Stumpf meets this afternoon with the City Council and the final decision, and signing, will take place if things are completed.

Brooklyn's Joe Black And Athletics' Harry Byrd Picked As Major League Rookies-Of-Year In Close Voting

New York, Nov. 21.—(P)—Pitchers Joe Black of Brooklyn and Harry Byrd of Philadelphia Athletics were named the major league rookies of the year today by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Black was an overwhelming choice in the National League with 19 voters from the 24-man committee.

In the American League Byrd nosed out two catchers, Clint Courtney of St. Louis Browns and Sam White of Boston Red Sox. Byrd got nine votes, Courtney eight and White seven.

Black's relief work—he appeared in 56 games—was largely responsible for Brooklyn winning the pennant.

At stretches Manager Charley Dressen had the Negro ace working every day. Black wound up with a 15-4 won-and-lost record and an earned-run average of 2.15. That earned-run mark was the best in the league but it won't be recognized because he did not pitch 10 complete games or work at least 154 innings.

Hoit Wilhelm, appearing in 71 games on relief for New York Giants, was second to Black with three votes. Wilhelm had a 15-3 record and his 2.43 earned-run mark won the E.R.A. title. Dick Groat, Pittsburgh's shortstop, tied with Ed Matthews, Boston's third baseman, with one vote each. Groat joined the Pirates from Duke University June 16 and finished with .285. Matthews hit only .242, but he slammed 25 homers.

The 1951 winners were Willie Mays of the Giants, now in the U.S. Army, and Gil McDougald of New York Yankees.

Byrd made the big jump from Savannah of the Class-A South Atlantic League to the majors. He finished with a 15-15 record, coming on strong in the late stages

New York—Carmine Fiore, 145, Brooklyn, stopped Jackie O'Brien, 146, Meriden, Conn. (7).

Text Of Throne Speech

Ottawa, Nov. 21. — (C) — Text of speech from the throne read yesterday by Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, Governor-General, at the opening of the seventh session of the 21st parliament:

Honorable members of the Senate:

Members of the House of Commons:

You resume your labors on behalf of the Canadian people at a time of continuing international tension. Nevertheless, because of the steadfast resistance of our Canadian forces and their comrades in arms to aggression in Korea and because of the increasing strength of the forces of freedom in Europe, there are signs of a lessening of the danger of an outbreak of war on a global scale.

My ministers are convinced that a lasting peace can be assured only so long as the combined strength of the free world continues to be built up and maintained.

The sacrifices of those directly involved in the United Nations police action in Korea and the anxieties of their families are an inevitable and most regrettable part of the price we are paying to prevent another world war.

To meet our nation's international responsibilities certain of my ministers are attending the seventh session of the General Assembly of the United Nations.

Because of the continued international tension you will be asked to approve legislation providing for the continuation of the emergency powers act and you will also be asked to provide for the appointment of an associate minister of national defence.

My Prime Minister and my minister of finance will attend a meeting of the Prime Ministers of the Commonwealth to open in London later this month to consider important economic and monetary problems.

Her Majesty the Queen has been pleased to set June the second next as the date of her coronation.

Arrangements will be made for Canadian representation at the ceremonies and plans are being formulated for the celebration in Canada of this historic event.

Canada has been blessed this year with a record grain crop.

Our economic conditions remain favorable and the level of external trade is high. While the dangers of inflation have not disappeared, pressures have eased and it has been possible to suspend the operation of some of the anti-inflationary measures.

Under an amendment to the income tax regulations the provisions for deferred depreciation which have been in effect since April 11, 1951, will not apply to property acquired after December 31, 1952.

You will be invited to consider a measure to provide for federal co-operation with the provincial governments in the conservation of the water resources of Canada.

To give effect to recommendations made by the standing committee on banking and commerce at the last session of parliament and to extend its scope, your approval will be sought for an amendment to the national housing act.

Provision has been made for the insertion in all federal government contracts of clauses prohibiting discrimination on the part of the contractor against any person on the ground of employment because of that person's race, national origin, color or religion.

You will be asked to consider a bill to make similar provisions in respect of employment upon or in connection with any work, undertaking or business that is within the legislative authority of the parliament of Canada.

A bill designed to provide greater educational opportunities for children whose fathers died as a result of war service will be placed before you.

You will also be asked to approve a bill to authorize the continuance of the veterans benefit act.

Much has been accomplished since the inauguration in 1948 of the five year national health grants program to strengthen and improve, in co-operation with the provincial governments, the health and hospital facilities available to our people. To ensure the continued expansion of this important work, my government proposes to ask you to give consideration to the extension, with certain changes, of this program of co-operation with the provincial governments.

You will have learned with regret that the library of parliament has been damaged by fire. The building must soon be vacated, and extensive reconstruction carried out, in order to guard against a repetition of this disaster. These circumstances have made the need for a national library more immediate and more pressing. My ministers have therefore taken steps to bring the library into existence with the least possible delay. A site for the building has been chosen, and you will be asked to make provision for the necessary planning and preliminary work.

At the time television broadcasting was started in Toronto and Montreal in September, the Prime Minister announced that parliament would be asked to provide for the establishment of three additional public television stations, one in the Maritimes, one on the Prairies and one on the Pacific coast and that active consideration was being given to the role of private enterprise in television broadcasting.

You will accordingly be asked to make provision to enable the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation to establish television stations in the Halifax, Winnipeg and Vancouver areas. My ministers have indicated to the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation that they are now prepared to consider applications for licences for private television broadcasting stations which may be recommended by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation to serve areas which could not be served at this time by public stations, with the objective of making television as widely available throughout the country as may be feasible through appropriate co-operation between the corporation and private agencies.

A measure will be submitted designed to place the crown in substantially the same position as a private person with respect to liability for acts committed by its servants, for breach of duty arising out of the ownership or occupation of property, and for salvage claims, and also to confer upon provincial courts jurisdiction concurrent with that of the exchequer court of Canada to entertain certain classes of claims.

Measures respecting the payment of rural mail carriers will be submitted for your consideration.

To meet conditions resulting from the entry of the province of Newfoundland into confederation and the introduction of new methods of fishing off the Atlantic coast, a bill to revise the customs and fisheries protection act will be placed before you. You will also be asked to consider legislation to implement the international convention for the high seas fisheries of the North Pacific Ocean.

A bill will be introduced to place the historic sites and monuments board of Canada on a statutory basis.

The measure to revise and consolidate the criminal code will be reintroduced at this session.

You will be asked to consider legislation to amend the trust companies act and the loan companies act to authorize companies incorporated thereunder to invest in bonds issued by the International Bank for reconstruction and development.

You will also be asked to consider legislation to provide for the incorporation by parliament and for federal supervision of co-operative credit societies desiring to operate in more than one province under such legislation.

You will be asked to consider revisions of the civil service superannuation act, the food and drugs act, the Yukon act, and the legislation respecting trade marks.

Other measures to be introduced will include amendments to the Trans-Canada Air Lines act, the Merchant Seamen Compensation act, the Canadian citizenship act, the statistics act, the Indian act, the farm improvement loans act, the prisons and reformatories act, the companies creditors arrangement act, the Canada evidence act, the judges act, the Canada shipping act, the civil service insurance act, the Canadian overseas telecommunication corporation act and to the territorial lands act.

Members of the House of Commons:

You will be asked to make provision for all essential services, and for national defence and the meeting of our obligations under the United Nations charter and the North Atlantic treaty, during the next fiscal year.

Honorable members of the Senate:

Members of the House of Commons:

May Divine Providence bless your deliberations.

Despite Age Griffith Has Eye On World Title

Washington, Nov. 21. — (AP) — Clark Griffith turned 83 yesterday and kept his sights set on the future. His goal: Another baseball championship for his Washington Senators.

The prospects aren't what you would call bright, but they're a lot better than they were a year ago. Senators then were generally consigned to a cellar finish in the American League, but they wound up fifth, only two games out of third.

"We could have done a lot better," Griffith observed yesterday. "A couple more played and well, who knows?"

The small talk was sandwiched in between a cascade of birthday wishes and orders from photographers to pose with this or that grandchild. There were 12 in all, and they were all good subject for the photographers.

The well-wishers included people like Chief Justice Fred Vinson and Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick.

All told, there were 180 persons on hand for the celebration, which has become an annual affair at Griffith Stadium. The old gentleman took it all in stride.

by E.T. residents. He was admiring the animal in no suspicion when the animal took offense and "played his trick." Neighbors told him to bury his clothes for two days, but to be sure he left them there a week and then they were mildewed!

This lover of the Canadian woods left Compton in 1838 and we have a glimpse of him in Alabama, but soon after he went back to England. Here he was in dire distress, but one day decided to send the manuscript of "A Canadian Naturalist" to an editor. He was sent for to confer with the editor, who said to him: "I like your book. I will give you one hundred guineas for it." One hundred guineas! The long suffering author broke down and sobbed. That was the turning point in his career—he became one of the greatest writers of the day and the world is richer for his work.
