Vol. XXXIV, No. 13 MONTREAL 6, THURSDAY, MARCH 31, 1966 40 PAGES 5c

Choquette, from the Montreal office of Central Mortgage and Housing Corp., Mayor M. L. Tucker and Marcel Sigouin, Quebec regional director of the CMHC.

Next week's weather By ERIC NEAL

APRIL 2 TO 9

This week opens mainly sunny with some wind. White frosts and a few snow flakes each morning. Cold, clear blue sky days.

Trees are in bud. Break-up starting. Sugaring-off ending. Southern rivers overflow. Migratory birds begin to arrive, so spring is on the way.

Clouding for more freezing drizzle or light snow. We nearly always have a few flakes on Good Friday.

Cold with sunny periods to end the week.

Mayor signs:

Urban renewal now official

The City of Westmount has ruled out any "wholesale uprooting" of families living in the area between St. Catherine street and the CPR tracks in proceeding with the urban renewal scheme now in progress between Atwater avenue and the Glen, in the city's southern section.

Mayor Michael L. Tucker said Monday that the urban renewal study, scheduled to be completed June 30, will stress conservation and rehabilitation as much as re-development.

"The basic objective of the urban renewal scheme," he said, "is to improve working and living conditions in our municipality."

Mayor Tucker spoke at a ceremony marking the official signing of the agreement between the City of Westmount and Central Mortgage and Housing Corporaresidents had demonstrated "outstanding" cooperation in connection with the city's surveys, which have been virtually completed in the area between St. Antoine St. and the CPR tracks.

Now under study is the area from St. Catherine St. south to the CPR tracks, where a mail survey of 100% of the area is being carried out in addition to on-the-spot surveys. The response to the mail survey "has been nothing short of phenomenal," he said.

"In this area (between St. Catherine St. and the CPR tracks)," Mayor Tucker said, "are many people who have lived in the same home for 30, 40 or more years; some, indeed, who have lived there all their lives. We have no intention of bringing about a wholesale uprooting of these families."

In emphasizing that conservation and rehabilitation would be as much a part of the scheme as re-development, Mayor Tucker declared:

"Fundamental to the project is our desire to prevent deterioration of sound neighborhoods through the enactment and enforcement of occupancy, maintenance and zoning bylaws. This will ensure preservation of every worthwhile building in the area."

"At the same time, we intend to emphasize a program of rehabilitation under which individual owners can improve and repair their properties."

Flower show:

4,120 pots to be displayed here

This year's Spring Flower Show at the greenhouse has all the signs of being the biggest ever. There will be at least 4,150 different pots of 172 varieties on display.

The show will open to the public on April 6 and will run through to April 26.

Missing girls located in Toronto

Two Westmount girls reported missing last week in The Examiner, have been located.

The girls, Ilmi Siiman, 16, 4691 Western avenue and Gaylyn Sepetoski, 13, Burton avenue, were found in Toronto after detectives here issued descriptions of the girls to most major cities.

Local police officers went to Toronto to pick one of the girls, while the second was brought home by her parents. The two appeared in Social Welfare Court this week. One of the girls is back home while the other remains in charge of the court.

The greenhouse will be open Monday to Saturday from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sundays.

Though the show is still somewhat in the planning and construction stages, features definitely set are the traditional cross made up of Easter lilies, and a waterfall.

Highlight of the show, of course, will be the Easter lilies, but blooms grown from other bulbs and plants will gather their share of attention.

Head gardener, Eric Aho, will be in charge of the show. Assisting him will be a team of highly skilled gardeners including: Misters Percy, Sinclair, Greinke and Holmes. Mr. Griffiths and his staff will set-up the structures.

Seeing the Easter show, over the past years, has become a family habit in Westmount and attendance this year is expected to surpass the 17,000 mark set last year.

The show will be opened officially on April 6 at 5 p.m. Several city officials will be on hand at the opening.

Sprinkler due for library

In the next few weeks the long promised sprinkler system will be installed in the Westmount Public Library. Automatic Sprinklers have assured the library that the work will be done after hours so that there will be little or no inconvenience to the public.

As the years go by, the Library's collection grows in value, both because it increases in numbers, and because many of the older but useful books go out of print.

For many years librarians shuddered at the thought of sprinklers — water might accidentally damage books beyond recovery — but with the "dry head" system being installed, the risk of accidents is small, and any threat of fire is met on the spot.

The system also includes an immediate alarm to the Fire Department.

Library closes

The Westmount Public Library will be closed all day Good Friday, April 8th, and all day Easter Monday, April 11th, but will be open as usual on Saturday, April 9th, from 10 a.m. till 6 p.m.

tion under which they are sharing the $45,000 cost of the urban renewal study. The project was previously approved by the Quebec Government.

Mayor Tucker stressed "the cooperative attitude demonstrated by authorities at both Federal and Provincial levels" in helping Westmount to launch the scheme, which covers a 90-acre site.

GREAT DISPATCH

"At a time when it is popular to criticize delays supposedly occasioned by governmental red tape," he declared, "it is worth noting that both governments acted with the greatest dispatch so that the City of Westmount could cope with what we regard as a most pressing matter."

Noting that Westmount is one of the first cities in Quebec to inaugurate an urban renewal scheme, he pointed out that necessary technical and sociological surveys are making "good progress." He said Westmount's "primary concern" is the Selby Street area where many families will be forced to vacate their homes in June 1967 for construction of the east-west section of the Trans-Canada Highway.

Mayor Tucker said Selby Street

Ice rink to close

The Artificial Rink will be closed for hockey and skating on Saturday, April 2nd, at 2.00 p.m.

By closing at this time, it will speed up the removal of the ice so that the games (table tennis, shuffleboard, paddle tennis, table hockey, skateboarding, etc.) can be set up for use early in the week for the school children on Easter holidays.

St. Leo's news shorts

By RICHARD MARTIJN

Both McGill University and Loyola College held hockey games featuring the better players of the high schools of Montreal. Seven players of the St. Leo's senior team were invited to play. R. Lefebvre, Neil Fernandes, Dalton Barnoff and Bob Brault play in the McGill all-star game. Brault got one of the goals as his team went on to win 9 to 1.

In the other game Jerry Fortin, Grant Sheriffs and Marcel Lefebvre played with the latter two, scoring goals.

With the GMIAA schedule finished the team played a few exhibition games. There will be a few more practices for the team and anyone that has any intentions of playing next year.

Public Speaking

The annual school competition to establish a representative for the school in the Westmount Rotary Club Public Speaking Contest, was held. Speakers that participated were Chris Darewent, Rick McNally, Lorenzo Murphy, Rick Martijn, Dan Cere, Murray Sheriffs and Steve Udivarhely. Father Barry Jones, Mr. R. Betts and Mr. L. Lauzon were the judges. The 2nd runner-up was Rick McNally. The 3rd runner-up was Murray Sheriffs, and the grand winner was Steve Udivarhely. He spoke on Canada's relations with Red China. Congratulations must go to Steve on his fine effort and good luck to him in his attempts at the Rotary Club Luncheon on April 4th.

Dance

There will be a dance on April 1st (Friday) at St. Leo's. The dance is sponsored by the 'Christopher House'. This is a club which sends students to do Missionary Work during the summer in Mexico and Western Canada. Music will be supplied by an 'Up and Coming' Group . . . "The Weeds". All are invited to come. Tickets will be sold at the door.

YMCA 29th hobby show foresees 800 entries

During the past two weeks youngsters have been scurrying about to get their "entry forms" to the Y.M.C.A. on time — and doing the last minute work on their exhibits.

Over 350 boys and girls are expected to enter over 800 different entries. Just over half of these will be in the departments of pets, music and entertainment, games, archery, basketball and gymnastic. It is expected also, that 25 percent of the exhibits will be in the department of art.

Response to one of the new additions to the Hobby Show — Basketball is very encouraging with nine teams entered from Westmount High School, Westmount Park School, St. Leo's Academy, L.C.C., and Roslyn School. The team competition will start at 9:00 a.m. on Wednesday, April 6.

A special feature of the show will be in the opening and closing ceremony, "guest speakers." The Opening ceremony will feature Wm. Stevens, a concert pianist, known to local school students and watchers of several C.B.C.-T.V. shows. The closing speaker will be the very popular, Catherine Fraser, Westmount Children's Librarian, Miss Fraser has been a supporter of the Hobby Show and other YMCA activities for many years. She will also assist in the presentation of awards on the closing night, Saturday, April 9th at 8:00 p.m.

Youngsters are reminded that their exhibits may be brought to the Y.M.C.A. according to the following time-table: —

Thursday, March 31 (4:00-6:00 p.m.), exhibits will be accepted (except cooking and pets) from students attending Roslyn and Westmount Park Schools, Friday, April 1 (4:00-6:00 p.m.), Exhibits will be accepted (except cooking and pets) from students attending Private Schools and High Schools, Saturday, April 2 (10:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m.) is the LAST day exhibits will be accepted (except cooking and pets) from any students unable to bring in their exhibits on Thursday or Friday, and from students attending other schools and organizations in Westmount, Monday, April 4 (10:00-noon), cooking exhibits ONLY will be accepted.

HIGH-LIGHTS

A copy of the official program for the duration of the Hobby Show is available at the YMCA office, however, the following is a brief outline of the feature events of the show: —

Tuesday, April 5: 7:00 p.m. Official Opening and at 7:30 p.m. the Music Festival.

Wednesday, April 6: 9:00 a.m. the Basketball Competition starts, at 2:00 p.m. the Games Tournament gets underway, and at 7:00 p.m. the Archery Competition begins.

Thursday, April 7: the Gymnastic Competition for boys and girls starts at 5:00 p.m. with a warm-up period at 4:00 p.m.

Saturday, April 8: the Pet Show starts at 2:30 p.m. and the Closing Ceremonies will take place from: 8:00-9:00 p.m. The presentation of awards will be done at this time.

The general public is invited to view the exhibits which are open Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday from 2:00-5:00 p.m. and on Wednesday and Thursday evening from 7:00-9:00 p.m.

The program activities and exhibits will be open to the "viewing public" — admission at a cost of 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children OR a special family rate of $1.25 with at least one parent accompanying children. All exhibitors and competitors are admitted to the show free of charge and must show their "pass" when entering.

NEW SCHEDULE

Present members of the Westmount YMCA are now being notified that there will be a new program time-table starting on Monday April 4. The only changes will be in the TIMES of classes and not the activity.

The Cooking program will start a third course on Saturday, April 23 for seven weeks. Class times will be 9:30 a.m. and 10:45 a.m. Fee of $2.50 will cover the cost of materials.

The Archery program for boys and girls 9-14 years will start its (Continued on page 12)

Beware early spring hazards

April and May have worse records for drownings than do the summer months, according to the National Safety League of Canada. For this reason, the League has issued advice which, if followed by early - spring anglers, could save many lives.

First NSL said, make sure the boat, motor and safety equipment are in good condition before venturing into waters where ice may still cling to shorelines or remain in open areas. Be careful not to overload the boat.

"Check paddles, oars and bailing bucket. Life jackets not approved by the federal government or showing signs of depreciation should be discarded.

We Say

'Israeli Rotarian' represents Canada

CANADA'S image abroad is both confused and soiled.

We returned this week from three weeks in Europe.

We proudly wore on one suit a lapel pin of the "stylized" maple leaf emblematic of Canada's centennial next year.

On another jacket we displayed the round gilt crest of Expo '67.

Both were meaningless.

The "maple leaf" pin repeatedly was taken for a Star of David. A postcard hawked outside St. Peter's in Rome peered at it and gave us a Hebrew word of greeting to the capital of Roman Catholicism.

In both Paris and London Expo's badge elicited queries as to whether we would like to attend Rotary Club meetings in those cities.

Plain truth is that neither emblem suggests Canada to a stranger, or to many Canadians either for that matter.

In these two important aspects of Canada's 1967 celebrations, we suggest the image experts have outdone themselves in trying to be clever, or "subliminal".

Against these follies, Canada certainly is not unknown in Europe in at least another and thoroughly undesirable way.

"What about the Mud-slinger case?" We were able to tell them little, even if we had wished to, that they didn't already know. Newspapers and magazines were airing Canada's dirty parliamentary linen even more vigorously than the press here at home. Gerda's picture embellished, sometimes monopolized, papers we saw. There were long, juicy stories of sordid details to be read in several languages, with big headlines on our national scandal.

The clever emblem designers of Mr. John Fisher's and Mr. Pierre Dupuy's Canadian image-building organizations — intended to make us all next year proud to be Canadians — probably did us a kindly service.

These lapel badges made it possible to pass off our blushes over the low estate of Canadian political and public life by posing simply as a ruddy-complexioned Israeli Rotarian.

Foster parents need more

Sir, I am a foster mother. We are paid 6 cents an hour. We also are underpaid, but, many like me, love their foster children so money isn't the primary feature.

However, I agree 100 per cent with your last week's letter (A mother asked, "Is she selfish in keeping her children"?)

These mothers need more financial help, they also need help in other ways. If they are completely alone they need someone to turn to in emergencies. They need a social worker to encourage them in raising their children, just the very fact that a person has someone who cares and has a friendly interest in them and their children could just make the difference.

Nothing is worse in this world than feeling nobody cares, rich and poor alike know the anguish.

Just sending us a cheque once a month is not sufficient, let us prevent these broken homes for a natural love of the mother is the very best for a child.

What do you think Mr. Rene Levesque?

Sheila Baxter,

Biography of Streets

Bruce Avenue and Clandeboye Avenue

Bruce avenue extends from 4274 Dorchester south to the CPR tracks. An extract from the Westmount Council minutes, May 4th, 1896, reads: "Moved by Councillor Bulmer, seconded by Councillor Greig and unanimously resolved, that, inasmuch as Messrs. Greene and Atwater have offered to cede the lots of land, forming Columbia and Bruce avenues in said town, that the mayor and secretary-treasurer be authorized to sign a deed of cession, so soon as the town solicitors shall have notified them that they approve of said deed."

In April 1898 the request that Bruce avenue be opened, graded and drained was approved. In 1899 electric lights were installed on the avenue and in 1900 a curb was constructed.

Plank sidewalk

In December 1902 a by-law established lines on the avenue. In 1903 it was agreed, "that a plank sidewalk be constructed opposite houses constructed by G. Gilday, at a cost not exceeding $50."

In August 1908, a concrete sidewalk was laid on the east side of the avenue from Dorchester to the CPR tracks. In August 1939, a vacant lot, taken over by the city for unpaid taxes, "was embellished at an estimated cost of $1,290." This property abuts on the right-of-way of the CPR and was afterwards used as a playground for the neighborhood children.

As no information is obtainable from old residents of the city as the local origin of the name of this avenue, presumably it was called after a famous Scotchman of that name, of whom there were several.

James Bruce (1730-1794) was an explorer in Africa, who tried to find the source of the Nile. Michael Bruce (1746-1765) showed promise as a poet, but the most eminent of all was Robert "The Bruce" (1274-1329)

Robert "The Bruce"

He was the direct descendant of a Norman baron who accompanied William I to England. He spent his youth at the court of Edward I of England. After the death of Margaret "The Maid of Norway", Bruce claimed the throne by right of descent from David I, but John de Balliol, grandson of Margaret, was preferred by Edward. Bruce and his father swore allegiance to Edward, but when William Wallace raised his standard, Bruce followed him for a time.

After the execution of Wallace, the hero of the Robert Burns poem, Edward sought to conciliate the Scotch nobles by granting a liberal constitution to Scotland. Bruce rallied his adherents and marched to Scone where he was crowned and later placed on the throne by the McDuffs, Earls of Fife, according to the ancient Celtic ceremony.

Fled to Rathlin

Then he set out to win his kingdom, but was defeated, and fled, alone, to Rathlin Island. Proclaimed an outlaw, excommunicated by the Pope, his wife and daughter in the hands of the English, his cause seemed hopeless.

When Edward I died he was succeeded by his incompetent son, Edward II so Bruce took courage, rallied his forces and defeated the English at the Battle of Bannockburn in 1314. In the reign of Edward III the Treaty of York ordained that, "Scotland should remain to Robert, King of Scots and his heirs, free and divided from England, without any subjection.

servitude or claim whatsoever."

The chief author of Scotland's independence did not survive his triumph. He spent his last years at Cardross on the Clyde, where he died of leprosy. He body was buried in Dunfermline and his heart in Melrose.

Clandeboye avenue

James Hamilton, First Lord Clandeboye, "settled" the northern half of County Down, Ireland, in the days of "Good Queen Bess." The forebears of Frederick Temple Hamilton-Temple-Blackwood, first Marquess of Dufferin and Ava, born at Florence, June 21, 1826, originally belonging to Fifeshire, Scotland, passed over into Ulster during the same reign and the coat of arms of the Blackwoods were as early displayed as the year 1400 a.d.

Lord Dufferin's father had desired in his will that his son should reside a good deal in Ireland with the result many summer holidays were spent at Clandeboye, and after leaving Eton, the greater part of following years at the same beautiful resort.

Clandeboye is situated on the southern shore of Belfast Lough, a few miles from the sea, on that part of Ulster which juts out towards the shore of Galloway on the Scottish side, about forty miles distant.

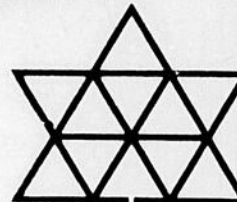

The estate of the Dufferin's lies in a bright, undulating country diversified by silvery loughs and purple hills. The smiling landscape backed by the Mourne Mountains on one side, and by broken and picturesque expanses of the North Channel on the other. The nearest town is Bangor, but probably the most interesting way of approaching the house is by a long but excellently-made private road leading from the little station at Helen's Bay, believed constructed as a relief project, at the same time as the Irish famine. The mansion itself dates from the time of James II.

Ulster Blackwoods

The Ulster Blackwoods, of which there was also a French branch which became extinct in 1837, sat in the Irish Parliament continuously throughout the best part of the eighteenth century.

They were created baronets in 1763 and were promoted to the peerage in 1800 as Barons Duffe- (Continued on page 16)

Centennial Report

1867 | 1967

by JOHN W. FISHER
 CENTENNIAL COMMISSIONER

Report No. 1

When I took over the job of organizing Canada's biggest celebration in history I ran into a number of pessimists, even a few cynics.

This is the sort of line they gave me: "Canadians aren't noisy patriots. You'll have a tough job stirring up much flag waving for 1967."

Well, some of their facts were correct but the spirit in which those few pessimists presented their views to me was not what I accept as Canadian. I have travelled long and far enough in this country to know that Canadians really have strong positive feelings about their country.

I could agree with some of the statements by my pessimistic friends if they were in a different context. Canadians are not given to wild demonstrations of patriotism in their own country. Such things can embarrass us. I believe our kind of nationalism is more thoughtful than emotional and that is why I believe so fervently that our Centennial will be a successful and meaningful event in our history.

Yes we may have difficulty at times in deciding what we are, what we are for and what we are against in the world. But we know what home is and though we may be embarrassed to express it, we love our land. Perhaps I discovered this through travel abroad when I met Canadians far from home. When we are world travelling we are more apt to open up and reveal to other people our inner thoughts about our country. One particular instance comes to my mind. I was breakfasting at a small hotel in London, England, a few years ago and became engaged in conversation with a young man across the table from me. He was a Canadian working at an airline office in London. With no prodding from me he poured out all his thoughts about home and about Canada.

"I'm not a nationalist," he said. "In fact I'm against nationalism. It causes a lot of trouble in the world. That's why I like my country. We're not aggressive nationalists. But really, mister," he said, "it's hard to describe my feelings about my country." He thought his feeling for his homeland was not just the house he was born in back in Ontario, nor was it necessarily his home town. It was the lake country where he used to go on canoe trips in the summer, the big rushing rivers and the roads that go forever.

"I always felt if I couldn't find a job in Canada I could always go to the north country and trap and hunt — something one couldn't do over here — and at least make a living," he said. He admitted it was just a "fancy of the mind" — probably he'd starve — but Canada always gave him a feeling of security, he said. "I always felt that the Rockies or the Gaspé wilderness were mine, even though I didn't go there every weekend. (I only saw the Rockies once.)"

The young man went on, exposing his mind and being very sentimental and patriotic. I thought to myself he probably would be far too inhibited and embarrassed to talk like that back home.

From now to 1967 Canadians, as individuals and in groups, large and small, are finding ways to express their true feelings about Canada. I'll tell you more about these in future reports.

Former Westmount Police Sergeant Sid Taylor is doing well in his new store in St. Laurent, Taylor's Togs.

Sid was a member of our force for 11 years until he resigned recently to open his shop.

Last Saturday's snow, which by 9 p.m. just covered the streets, caused some 15 accidents in less than an hour here. The rash of minor mishaps took place around that time, but by morning the snow was gone. There were no injuries reported in the accidents.

A police official noted this week that Westmount has not had a bank robbery for almost five years. He promptly knocked on wood.

The last bank hold up was performed by 'Singerman' who was arrested shortly after when he tried to steal a pound of butter from a milk truck in Cote St. Luc. When arrested, he had the butter and some $1,500 in cash in his pocket.

Work will be getting underway on patching up the sailing pool in Westmount Park. The pool, located at the corner of Melville avenue and Sherbrooke street, will be given a general going over and the area will be re-sodded and graded. The pool never fails to attract scores of youngsters during the summer months.

Library here gets Canadian Biography

The Dictionary of Canadian Biography, volume 1, is in the hands of a grateful Canada. This work of reference possesses a number of valuable features of unique interest.

The undertaking has been made possible because of the imaginative and public-spirited bequest of the late James Nicholson of Toronto and the whole-hearted co-operation of Mrs. Nicholson. Issued simultaneously in English and French, it acknowledges a grant of $17,000 for translation work for Vol. 1 from the Canada Council.

The publication is issued jointly by the University of Toronto Press and Les Presses de L'Université Laval. The general editor was the late George W. Brown, University of Toronto, with Marcel Trudel, Carleton University, directeur adjoint, and André Vachon, Université Laval, secrétaire general.

CONTENTS

This first volume of the set is more than a biographical dictionary, for it is prefaced by four Introductory Essays setting Canadian life of the years 1000-1700 in perspective. The biographies run from page 39 to 673 and are followed by an appendix (which gives the biographies of persons whose identity is uncertain or who never may have come to Canada — for example Saint Brendan) a list of abbreviations, general bibliography, list of contributors and index.

The index is most valuable in that it includes all references to the biographee wherever the name occurs, with the main article indicated in bold face type. It also includes numerous name references which are not included in the main text. For example, under Charnisay the index directs the reader to Menon and under Aulnay to Menon. In the text the Aulnay reference to Menon is included but not the Charnisay reference. As this governor of Acadia is commonly known in folk-tale and verse as Charnisay, and is listed under this entry usually, users of the dictionary might miss his biography unless the index is used.

The literary style of the biographies is outstanding making the volume not only valuable for research, but a pleasure to read.

The volume is printed in clear type on good quality paper with generous margins and the binding is excellent.

The Westmount Library has this volume in its reference room, recording the vigorous independent people of 1000 - 1700 A.D.

Things are never dull at our police station. Tuesday morning a woman, dressed so much like a man that she was taken for one for a few minutes by the desk officers, walked into the lobby of the station, slapped down a kit bag, a laundry bag and a guitar, marched up to the desk and said, "I am turning myself in for stealing a car. I can't live with it on my mind." The police were forced to check her story to see if there was any truth to it.

Text of mayor's speech at urban renewal signing

These are the remarks by Mayor Michael L. Tucker at a ceremony marking the official signing of the City of Westmount agreement with Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation for our urban renewal scheme. The ceremony took place on Monday at City Hall.

"It is indeed a pleasure to have with us today leading representatives of both the Provincial and Federal Governments to mark what might be described as the official start of the urban renewal scheme now under way in the southern section of the City of Westmount. It is a distinct honor to welcome here, the Hon. Richard Hyde, who is speaking for the Hon. Pierre Laporte, who was unable to be here today.

"The presence here of representatives of the two governments underlines the co-operative attitude demonstrated by authorities at both Provincial and Federal levels in helping Westmount to get this urban renewal scheme under way. At a time when it is popular to criticize delays supposedly occasioned by governmental red tape, it is worth noting that both governments acted with the greatest dispatch so that the City of Westmount could cope with what we regard as a most pressing matter.

WE'RE FIRST

"Needless to say, Westmount is proud to be one of the first cities in the province to inaugurate an urban renewal scheme with the advice and aid of the recently-announced Quebec General Housing Corporation and of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation. This scheme is being financed jointly by the City and CMHC with the approval of the Quebec Government. It covers the 90-acre site south of St. Catherine Street from Atwater Avenue to the Glen.

"In fact, the study in question has been in progress now for some time. Having had a green light from both Quebec and Ottawa, the City wasted no time in getting the study started. We have set June 30 as the deadline for the final report on the scheme and we are determined to meet it.

"I am very happy to say that the necessary technical and sociological surveys are making good progress. As you know, our primary concern is the Selby Street area where many families will be forced to vacate their homes in June 1967 for construction of the east-west section of Trans-Canada Highway. The City will give priority to the needs of residents of this area in carrying out the present urban renewal scheme. Quebec authorities deserve our genuine thanks for their decision to postpone eviction of residents for a period of more than a year, thus enabling Westmount to seek ways of helping those who will be displaced.

"In connection with our surveys, I am happy to note publicly that the co-operation shown by Selby Street residents has been outstanding. Such co-operation should enable Westmount to complete the study on schedule.

STUDYING

"Having now completed most of the surveys in the area between St. Antoine Street and the CPR tracks, we are presently studying the area between the CPR tracks and St. Catherine Street. In this area are many people who have lived in the same home for 30, 40 or more years; some, indeed, who have lived there all their lives. It should be emphasized that we have no intention of bringing about a wholesale uprooting of these families.

"The basic objective of the urban renewal scheme is to improve working and living conditions in our municipality by means of conservation, rehabilitation and redevelopment. Fundamental to the project is our desire to prevent deterioration of sound neighborhoods through the enactment and enforcement of occupancy, maintenance and zoning bylaws. This will ensure preservation of every worthwhile building in the area. At the same time, we intend to emphasize a program of rehabilitation under which individual owners can improve and repair their properties.

SUBSTANDARD

"While much of the area in question is in need of nothing more than a gradual and planned facelifting, there may be a few pockets that are substandard. It is in these pockets and in these pockets only that actual redevelopment might be envisaged. I am certain that all concerned, whether individuals or groups, tenants or property owners, business or retired people, will want to help us find ways and means of maintaining the sound characteristics of this part of the City while absorbing the changes which are bound to result from progress.

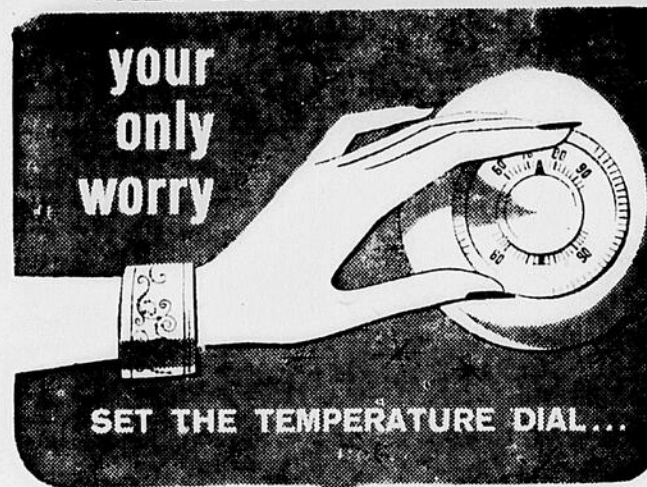

"We wish to give each and everyone an opportunity to make their views known and it is for this reason that, in addition to our on-the-spot surveys, we have been carrying out a mail survey of 100% of the area. The response to our mail survey has been nothing short of phenomenal. Members of City Council, as well as our staff and our advisers, are indebted to the people concerned for this manifestation of community spirit."

Nat Raider and his band are to appear at The Marcy at Lake Placid from April 4 through 10. Raider is well known to Montreal audiences and is to be playing during the resort's busy Passover season.

Begins at sundown on Monday:

Passover—oldest festival celebrated by the Jews

Passover, the greatest and most ancient of all the Jewish festivals will be celebrated by Jews all over the world beginning at sundown, Monday, April 4, this year. It is observed for seven days by Reform Jews, and for eight days by Conservative and Orthodox Jews.

For more than two thousand years Passover (Pesach) has been considered by Jews everywhere to be the great holiday, the festival of redemption. It is also the Jewish holiday which is richest in symbolism; for no other holiday in the Jewish calendar abounds in so many ancient and meaningful ritualistic objects, foods, and ceremonies, all of which are intimately bound up with the nomadic origins of the Jewish people and their later development as a people who, very early in human history, transformed the ancient nature festivals into holidays with deep moral and religious significance.

Passover was originally a festival at the dawn of history when Jews were still nomadic shepherds in the wilderness. As time went by, however, it became an historic and national holiday, commemorating the deliverance of the Jewish people from their bondage in Egypt. For Jews today it mirrors a hope for freedom and equality for all mankind.

DEPARTURE RE-ENACTED
This particular holiday abounds, too, in traditional ritual which is highly dramatic in content; in remote parts of the world, such

Reflections of a club director

BY CHARLES HAWES
Director, Unity Boys' Club

Boys' Club may be as active as a bee hive. A Boys' Club may be as quiet as a still lake in the late afternoon of a sultry summer day. The former is usually more apropos in describing a Boys' Club atmosphere than the latter descriptive phrase.

As I stand at the front counter of the Unity Boys' Club on a Thursday evening there are four young ladies just barely in their teens discussing a rather interesting topic, at least it is interesting enough to keep them quite oblivious of the blaring sound coming from a record player which is playing one of the "latest teen pop tunes." To add to the total attendance picture in this part of our club are a dozen young men listening to the music or playing at one of our table games.

As I continue to gaze around, the gymnasium is active with a small group of field hockey players... earlier this evening the games room was the scene of a movie theatre for thirty-five pre-teen members as a film with a message about safety rules about the home was shown.

Tomorrow will find the staff — three full time, three part time, four student staff members and a number of volunteers actively engaged in carrying out their various assignments which makes the Boys' Club operate to its fullest capacity.

An interesting picture this and one that is repeated in one form or another every afternoon and evening six days a week. Every day bring some change in members present and program. All interesting and stimulating to a Boys' Club Director.

as the Caucasus and Morocco, the departure from Egypt is actually re-enacted at one point in the ceremony.

Jews everywhere celebrate Passover with a ceremonial meal called the "Seder" (which means "Order of Service") which takes place in most homes and in some synagogues. During the Seder the story of the Exodus is recited, songs and ceremonial prayers are performed, and the symbolical foods of Passover are eaten. The most important Passover food is "Matzot," unleavened bread, called by Jews the "Bread of Affliction"; it is unleavened as a reminder of the haste with which the Jewish people fled from Egypt (there was no time to allow the bread to rise). Its thinness, too, is a reminder of the meagerness of the fare of the dispossessed, the poor, and the outcasts of society.

During the ceremony Jews also eat "bitter herbs," which recall the bitterness of the years of oppression under Paroah. A sprig of parsley on the table is a survival of the prehistoric days when Passover was a festival of spring. A roasted shank bone serves as an emblem of the paschal lamb; and the "charoset," a mixture of apples, nuts, raisins, cinnamon and wine is a symbol of the mortar from which the Israelites made bricks for the Egyptian Pharaohs (Continued on page 13)

At Unity Boys':

Club to take active part in the MBA's annual meeting

By L. WILLIS

The Montreal Boys' Association Annual Meeting will be held at the Point St. Charles Boys' and Girls' Club, 255 Ash Ave., on Tuesday evening, April the 5th.

From 6-7 p.m. groups from the four members clubs, East End Boys' and Girls' Club, The Lions Boys' and Girls' Club, Unity Boys' Club and The Point St. Charles Boys' and Girls' Club will be putting on live exhibits. Plans are being made to send out gymnastic team, Judy team and two craft exhibits or special interest to take part in this special program. Selections from the "Sound of Music", recently produced so successfully at the Unity Boys' Club will form part of the entertainment for the evening.

Spring Time — Swim Time

With the kind co-operation and courtesy of the staff of the Point St. Charles Boys' & Girls' Club, a Monday afternoon swim time in their pool has been planned. If sufficient interest is maintained, the possibility of making this swim program a weekly visit on Mondays is proposed. Anyone interested please sign up.

T.V. Theatre

Tori Schrammel's talented thespians are planning a T.V. Theatre Program that will be presented in the near future. Many from the cast of the recent smash hit "The Sound of Music" are involved. More details later.

Talent Parade

The Unity Boys' Club Talent Parade will be entertaining in Albany, N.Y., early in April accompanied, of course, by their producer-director Mr. Maurice Mariasine.

Basketball

An exhibition basketball game was played by the Biddy Team against the Lakeshore League "All Stars" at the Club last Friday night. On Saturday the Pointe St. Charles Biddy Team played at Unity.

The Unity Midget Basketball team downed the Snowdon Y.M.H.A. Quintet in the first game of the Community Centres Basketball League best of three game final. These teams are playing for the Cee Malinoff Trophy, emblematic of Midget Basketball supremacy.

Members of the Unity Basketball team are: Jim Hotton, Robert Follette, Brian Vaux, Maurice Tremblay, Bradley Syvret, Steve Alleyne, Richard Atherton, Lawrence Jeppesen Roger Harte.

Congratulations are in order to coach Keith Gavin for all of his time and interest and to the team players.

We note that Hudson Alleyne, a Unity Boys' Club Basketball coach and former Unity member continues to be a high scorer for the Montreal Orchids. Congratulations Hudson.

Pirates of Penzance

Tom Stephens, producer director of this show wishes to remind all the cast that the tentative dates, May 12th, 13th and 14th are quickly drawing near and urges everyone to turn out (Continued on page 11)

RICHARDSON'S BUDDY

Police get new recruit

Alert, strong, faithful, kind, almost human, these are the best words to describe 'Buddy', Westmount's newest Public Safety recruit.

'Buddy' is a dog, a German shepherd, acquired from New England where he was raised and trained by the Fidelco Breeders Foundation Inc., a group which breeds shepherds for police duty. Their aim is "a perfect shepherd."

Officials and men at our police station agree, they could not have come much closer to perfection than they did with 'Buddy.'

He loves children, does his duties well, which includes, heeling, leading, general obedience, home and car guarding and saying "no" to food from anyone but his partner, Constable Walter Richardson.

When 'Buddy' is not on duty with Richardson, he lives at home with Richardson's family.

After several months of duty in Westmount, officials are pleased with his work. 'Buddy's' shift is divided into two parts. The first half on foot and the second half in a patrol car.

Basically a tracking dog, he will be useful in the upper sections of the city where there are large open areas of grounds. If you should see him on patrol with Const. Richardson one afternoon, have a close look at him, he is truly a fine animal.

Easter Seals seek $172,000

Robert E. Meagher, president of the Quebec Easter Seal Society, recently announced the society's annual campaign, with "A vital minimum" of $172,000 being sought.

Organizations that will benefit from the proceeds of the campaign will include the Rehabilitation Institute of Montreal, the Mackay Center for Deaf and Crippled Children, the Province of Quebec Society for Crippled Children, the Occupational Therapy and Rehabilitation Centre, the Cripples Aid Committee of the Rotary Club of Montreal and Recreation for the Handicapped.

In addition, Meagher noted, hundreds of individual cases referred to the Easter Seal Society by rehabilitation centres and general hospitals throughout the province would also be helped.

The Easter Seal campaign, he said, is being held concurrently in the Greater Montreal area and in 45 other areas of the province.

Meagher said that if the campaign objective is met — or better still exceeded, the society hopes particularly to be able to increase its Home Service to bring physiotherapy treatment to an even greater number of handicapped people. The Society now has two units operating and at least two more are needed.

"The service permits the physically handicapped — victims of industrial accidents or heart attacks, for instance — to leave hospital earlier," Mr. Meagher said.

"The mere fact of being able to go home boosts a patient's morale and makes his recovery that much quicker."

During the last 17 years, the generosity of supporters of Easter Seals had permitted the Society to put more than $1,250,000 to work helping the handicapped. This did not include support from the provincial government which, when certain qualifications were met, paid 50% of the cost of essential orthopedic appliances.

Meagher said that, as is customary, there will be no canvassers for the Easter Seal Campaign. Instead, the now famous Easter Seal envelopes are being delivered to all residents of greater Montreal complete with Easter Seals and a blank cheque for a donation.

Westmount teacher wins art raffle

By JEFFREY GODINE

Around Christmas time, J. Lawley, former vice-principal of Westmount High donated one of his pictures to be raffled by the Old Boys' Association. Each ticket cost $1.00. However six could be bought for $5.00. At the 31st annual meeting and banquet of the old boys, which was attended by over four hundred, the ticket bearing the name Miss Ross was picked by Lawley out of a bowl filled with almost six hundred slips.

The next morning at an assembly in the school auditorium, Miss Ross unaware of her victory and carrying her forgotten ticket deep in her purse, was presented with her prize. Later, the painting was hung proudly in her classroom.

Also at that Friday morning assembly, Philip Johnston president of the Old Boys' Association, presented A. Bernard, retiring English teacher, with the Angus Bernard Medal for English.

This is to be given each year, to the boy who obtains the highest marks in the High School Leaving English exams. As he accepted this award, the audience gave him a standing ovation.

Red Cross Week — Starting on last Wednesday, and ending yesterday was the annual Westmount Red Cross. The goal was $700.00

This is to be divided between the Montreal Children's Hospital and the Oral School for the Deaf. Events consisted of a "boy-girl" pennyrace (one penny is placed after another in a straight line.) won by the boys with a fifty cent margin, movies, sock-hops, food sales, as well as personal donations. Miss Fini ran a fortune-telling booth. Classes throughout the whole school were competing for the moose antlers. These are presently held by room 310.

CURLING — The Westmount Curling team won second place in the section championships. During the Easter vacations, the team consisting of Peter Maclean as skip, Wong Calvin, as lead, Howie Wittenberg as second and Eliot Goldwarg as third; will compete at the Nationals in Ottawa. They will spend four days there and will hopefully return victoriously.

Obituary

Mrs. R. M. Power

Mrs. Richard M. H. Power, wife of Dr. Power, died Sunday morning after a long illness.

The former Kathleen Phelan, daughter of the late Charles A. Phelan and Chantelle Enslow of Westmount, Mrs. Power was educated at St. Paul's Academy and the Sacred Heart Convent, Sault au Recollet. She was active in church circles for many years.

Surviving are her husband, of St. Mary's Hospital; three daughters, Chappie, wife of Dr. Nelo O'Connor, of Buenos Aires, Argentina; Anita, wife of Godfrey Marin of Beaconsfield, and Rosemary, of Westmount; two sons, Dr. Hugh Power Royal Victoria Hospital, and Noble Power, of the Department of External Affairs, Ottawa; 13 grandchildren; one sister and two brothers. She was predeceased by two other brothers, Eugene D. and Thomas E. Phelan, both of Montreal.

The funeral Mass took place in the Church of the Ascension of Our Lord, Westmount, at 10 a.m. Wednesday, March 30, with burial in Cote des Neiges Cemetery.

CSPCA APPEAL

Due to the method of distribution of our campaign folders, which was most unsatisfactory it appears that the complete delivery was not made. We regret that a great number of our friends did not receive notice of our appeal for funds.

The results of the campaign to date have been most disappointing, in fact they have not met our costs.

Without the additional funds which we require we will unfortunately be unable to carry out a number of projects, and expanded services which had been planned for 1966. Public support for an organization such as ours is essential. Municipal and other revenues do not meet the need for an expanding society in a rapidly growing Province. Operating costs are rising, distances travelled greater, service calls are increasing, as is the scope of our service. We urgently need more inspectors, our kennel facilities increased in size are already in need of expansion.

For all those who did not receive our notice, we urgently need your help.

TEA AND SYMPATHY: Tuesday night's Dominion Drama Festival run-down selection Tea and Sympathy has Pauline Rathbone, Westmount resident, in the lead in this difficult psychological drama. Don Scanton is playing the role of the bewildered schoolboy. The play is a YMCA entry in the Festival and the crew hopes to go to Vancouver this summer in the finals.

Passover . . .

present must drink four cups of wine; the wine is intended to recall the four divine promises of redemption made by God to the children of Israel, and to remind Jews that, despite the bitterness of exile, there is sweetness in the word of God and His teachings. The Last Supper of the New Testament was probably a Seder meal and the Passover matzot and wine were precursors of the communion wafer and wine.

The Passover Seder ceremony follows a special Hebrew prayer-book, the "Haggadah," which retells the story of the Exodus in prayer, song and parable. Many of the beautifully illuminated Haggadahs in use today by modern Jews date back to the Middle Ages.

The ceremony is one which strongly emphasizes the participation of young children in Jewish ceremonial and communal life, for it is the youngest child who asks the Four Questions, the answers to which explain the difference between Passover night and all other nights, and the meaning of this holiday for the Jewish people.

Cubs entertain fathers

A Father and Son Banquet was held recently in St. Leo's School Hall, for St. Leo's Scout Troop and Wolf Cub Pack and their fathers.

Sponsored by the Ladies' Auxiliary, this was a most successful event. Among the guests of honor were Monsignor E. Lapointe, Pastor of The Ascension of Our Lord Parish; Reverend Father Barry Jones, Chaplain of the Troop and Pack; Mr. J. H. McMahon, School Commissioner; Scoutmaster Jeff Weisler and Assistant-Scoutmaster Barry Gordon of Shaar Hashomayim; Mrs. Eric Roberts, President of the Ladies' Auxiliary; and the following members of the Group Committee: Mesdames R. Hanley, W. J. Milne and G. Hamilton, and Messrs. Michael Ballantyne, R. E. Connolly, and John R. Gutelius.

Badges were given out to the following Wolf Cubs: TEAM-PLAYER — Charles Gutelius, Gordon Thain, Ray, Hanley, SKATER — André DeSaules, Gordon Thain, Robert Beaulieu and George Leisser, HOUSE ORDERLY — Luc Gendreau, and INTERPRETER'S (French) — Ricardo Baiz.

The most exciting moment of the evening for all present came when Scoutmaster André Robertson, after giving Ian Ferrier his AQUARIST Badge called by his much sought-after Peter Sampson to give him his QUEEN SCOUT BADGE, PATHFINDER and MODEL RAILROAD Badges, his ALL-ROUND RED CORD, and finally a few skits and some songs.

Sunday

Sunday will be Palm Sunday. It will also be Communion Sunday in St. Andrew's — with the Sacrament of Holy Communion celebrated at the Morning and Evening Worship Services. In the morning the Service will be in the Westmount High School, and in the evening in the Melville Presbyterian Church. The Services will be conducted by Rev. Dr. D.
M. Grant, assisted by Rev. Doug-

Grant's Sermon will be entitled
"PALM SUNDAY — AN ON-GO-ING PROCESSION" and at night
Mr. Mouland will speak on "THE CROSS IN CRISIS".

New members will be received and welcomed at the Morning Service. The Crib Corner and Nursery departments will care for small children to enable parents to share in the worship service.
All departments of the Church
School will meet at eleven o'clock.

On Friday morning (eleven o'clock) (April 8th) the Annual Good Friday Service will be held in the Melville Presbyterian Church. The Good Friday Message will be given by the Rev.
Donald M. Burns, Minister of Rosedale United Church.

The Church School meets on Sundays at 10 and 10:45 a.m. The 10 a.m. class is for seniors and the 10:45 a.m. for primary and juniors.

The mid-week meeting of the church is on Wednesday at 8 p.m.
for prayer, praise and bible study.
English classes for new Canadians are held on Monday evenings at 8 p.m.

The BYPU (ages 18-30) meets

Communion Service will be held at Westmount Baptist Church on Sunday morning, April 3rd, at which time there will be the reception of new members. The minister the Rev. Harold J.
Balsdon will preach and the topic of his sermon will be "The Word of Longing," the Fifth Word from the Cross.

At 7:30 p.m. the choir with George Berthin, Baritone and Robert Peters, Tenor, will present "The Crucifixion" by Stain-

The mid-week meeting of the church is on Wednesday at 8 p.m.
for prayer, praise and bible study.
English classes for new Canadians are held on Monday evenings at 8 p.m.

The BYPU (ages 18-30) meets on Fridays at 7:30 p.m. On April 8th the group will attend the evening presentation of "The Messiah" at St. James United Church.

Christian Science

'Unreality'

The many ways in which eternal spiritual values are contrasted in the Bible with all that is mortal, fleeting, and false, will be taken up at the services in all Christian Science churches this Sunday, in the reading of the week's Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Unreality."

Parallel passages from the Christian Science textbook will include: "Truth will at length compel us all to exchange the pleasures and pains of sense for the joys of Soul" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy).

Christian Science celebrates its 100th anniversary this year

Although Christian Science was not established in the Province of Quebec until the year 1890, when the Montreal church was organized, this world-wide religion is completing its first century this year. Plans for observance during 1966 of the centennial of Christian Science have been announced by the Directors of The Mother Church in Boston, Mass.

Organized Christian Science is represented in Quebec by churches in Montreal, Westmount, Pointe Claire and Sherbrooke, and by "informal groups" holding services in smaller centres.

Major events will include a worldwide public speaking tour by the Editor in Chief of The Christian Science Monitor, publication of a new book titled "A Century of Christian Science Healing," and the start of work on a new "Church Center" construction program.

The Centennial stems from events in 1866 which marked the turning point in the life of Mary Baker Eddy and began her pioneering of a world religious movement.

A spiritual healing which Mrs. Eddy experienced in 1866 turned her life-long study of the Bible into an intensive searching that produced the earliest manuscripts on Christian Science. She became convinced that Christianity is scientific in the deepest spiritual sense and applies to every aspect of human experience.

Later, she wrote the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," and founded a church which now includes 3,300 branches in more than 50 countries.

Centennial activity within the church will come to a focus at the Annual Meeting in Boston on June 6. Land clearance will begin that day for construction of an expanded 15-acre church center, while members gather to consider their movement's progress and spiritual mission.

Lay Monument

Throughout its century of development, Christian Science has continued to be a lay movement of people dedicated to restoring spiritual healing to Christianity.

They are convinced this can be done on a sound, permanent basis and they believe this is a necessary first step towards fulfillment of Christianity's larger purpose—spiritual transformation.

These ideas will be touched upon in some of the special public events planned for the Centennial.

One highlight will be the speaking tour of the world's major cities by Erwin D. Canham, Editor in Chief of The Christian Science Monitor. His talk on "The Spiritual Revolution" is intended to further the broadening communication among religions and also between religion and science. The tour will start in Sydney, Australia, on March 1 and will extend through most of the world during the year.

In April will come the publication of "A Century of Christian Science Healing" which is expected to be of wide interest. The book will provide a chronicle of the development of spiritual healing, based on church records. It will include an explanation of the differences between spiritual healing and current methods of psychotherapy and psychosomatic medicine.

The book is described as "a contribution to the revived interest and efforts within the traditional Christian churches to develop a spiritual healing ministry and reassert the full power of Christianity as a central force in human development." An excerpt from the book will be included in a special Centennial supplement of The Christian Science Monitor scheduled for June. The supplement will feature articles evaluating the current trends in natural sciences, philosophy, communications media, and university campuses.

New Steps

Also timed for the centennial year will be a number of new steps in the graphic design of church publications.

Officials are looking upon the Centennial observances primarily as preparation for "the second century" of Christian Science. They feel that the concepts of the religion — considered so revolutionary during its first 100 years — will be more widely and readily understood in the years ahead.

 rin and Clandeboye. The father of the first peer was Sir John Blackwood, a strong Whig, who on two occasions refused an earldom, but his eldest son was a personal friend and neighbour of Castlereagh's, and received the offer of a peerage in a more acquiescent spirit. Through his mother he was the heir-general of the Hamiltons, Viscount Clandeboye, Earls of Clanbrassil, on which account the second title of Clandeboye was conferred.

James, the first Lord Dufferin, was kind-hearted as well as brave. When commanding his regiment in the south of Ireland, a soldier, maddened by some supposed grievance, rushed at him with a pistol. He wrenched it from the man's hand and with generous presence of mind emptied the pan of its priming and then turning to his officers, said, "It is nothing, the pistol is not even loaded."

Brought Nelson Home
 A second baronetcy was conferred in 1814 on another distinguished member of the family, Admiral Sir Henry Blackwood, grand-uncle of the Marquess. He was a fine seaman and commanded Nelson's squadron of frigates at Trafalgar. It was on him that fell the sorrowful job of bringing the hero's body home. He also had the honour of escorting Louis XVIII and his family back to Paris, and of escorting the sovereigns to England.

Two exploits of his are especially memorable, one when commanding a 36-gun frigate, the Penelope, he successfully engaged and smashed the Guillaume Tell, an 80-gun line-of-battle-ship, and on a previous occasion when, in July 1798, he, though commanding a small frigate of 28-guns, the Brilliant, beat off the attack of two French 44-gun ships.

More recent representative of this Baronetcy was the late Sir Arthur Blackwood, Secretary to the General Post Office, and grandson of the old Admiral.

Reverting to the main line, Hans, Lord Dufferin, the son of James, the first peer, and three sons, the eldest killed at Waterloo, the second died of fever at Naples. These deaths made Price, the Marquess's father, heir to the title and estates, but Price had at first little else than his pay as a naval officer to live upon. He married Helen S. Sheridan when she was seventeen.

The Sheridans

Helen Selina, Baroness Dufferin and Clandeboye, was the daughter of Thomas Sheridan and the granddaughter of Right Honourable Richard Brinsley Butler-Sheridan.

The Sheridans were originally an ancient, rich and important family, possessing castles and lands in County Cavan, a tract of which is marked on the old maps as "the Sheridan County", but in Queen Elizabeth's time their property was escheated, as Thomas Sheridan bitterly complained before the Bar of the House of Commons in 1680.

They were driven from their homes and were forced during the next 200 years to fight the battle of life under desperate conditions.

Another, James, adopted the calling of schoolmaster, and was intimate with Dean Swift, people used to say that this Sheridan's wit and sweet gaiety played the part of David's harp that conjured the evil spirit out of Saul, i.e., the Dean. The two used to meet at Quilcagh, Sheridan's country house, where, "Gulliver's Travels" Son of James, Thomas Sheridan opposed the war with America, depreciated the coalition between Fox and the North, advocated the abolition of slavery, denounced the tyranny of Warren Hastings, condemned the trade restrictions on Ireland and did his best to save the French Royal Family, yet what is more remarkable, pleaded for the eight hour day.

Knew Dickens

The first Lord Dufferin in 1850 was created a peer of the United Kingdom and took his seat in the House of Lords. He was the intimate friend of Dickens, Thackeray, Carlyle, Charles Butler, Proctor and others, the chief literary men of the day.

Lord Dufferin was appointed Parliamentary Under-Secretary of the State in 1864 and was the sixth holder of that office.

In 1872 he became Governor-General of Canada. He made his first official visit to Montreal in November of that year.

jury in 1866 was, in Mrs. Eddy's own words, "the falling apple that led me to the discovery." The healing occurred as she read one of Jesus' healings, in Matthew's gospel, and the experience began to put a new light on everything she knew as a Christian. She became convinced that the Principle underlying the life and teaching of Jesus is fundamental to existence itself—"the divine Principle of all real being."

She once summarized the concept in this way: "We must learn that God is infinitely more than a person, or finite form, can contain; that God is a divine Whole, and All, an all-pervading intelligence and Love, a divine, infinite Principle; and that Christianity is a divine Science" (Miscellaneous Writings).

This is a basic premise of Christian Science. And spiritual healing is considered to be one of the natural outcomes when the individual begins to commit himself to working out his life from the standpoint of this premise.

At first, Mrs. Eddy and the early students of Christian Science had hopes that these teachings would be readily accepted into the established Christian churches of which most of them were members. But as controversy continued to surround the young movement, they voted in 1879 to organize a church of their own — "designed to commemorate the word and works of our Master, which should reinstate primitive Christianity and its lost element of healing." Over the next several decades, a structure of church organization and government was evolved that has remained permanent.

A Church Manual written by Mrs. Eddy provides the general framework, with a five-member Board of Directors in Boston to conduct the business of The Mother Church.

Within the framework of this Manual, complete local self-government is provided for each of the individual branch churches. They elect their own officers, set up their own by-laws, and make all major decisions by a vote of their own membership.

One thing that remains universal in the Church is the form of the worship services. Since the church has no ordained clergy and is a movement composed entirely of laymen, it was early established that the function of "Pastor" would be filled by the Bible (traditional Protestant version) and the denominational textbook ("Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures").

The PAPT deplores Quebec's tardiness

The Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers of Quebec has noted with mixed feelings the recent announcement of the Ministry of Education covering final examinations in the schools of the Province.

On the one hand, the Association is pleased that the Ministry had acted upon the strong representation made by PAPT against any change this year in the arrangement of marking papers and remunerating examiners. This makes probable the maintenance of the high standards and uniformity of marking of past years.

The various mechanical and organizational improvements outlined suggest that the Ministry has made a sincere effort to overcome the disastrous difficulties of 1965.

The decision to permit teachers to participate in the invigilation of High School Leaving examinations is welcomed also, as the exclusion of them from this function in the past seemed to many to be a reflection upon their integrity and competence.

However, the PAPT deplores the Ministry's tardiness in publicly announcing these changes — some of which had been rumoured for months, causing disquiet and uncertainty among students, parents and teachers. The delay has been particularly distressing for Grade XI teachers, who wished to make plans for summer school attendance, travel abroad, and similar commitments.

Also, the PAPT feels that the lack of consultation between the Minister of Education and the various teachers' associations, the universities, and other associations concerned with education, must not be allowed to continue. The technical advisers to the Ministry in many cases have had no direct or practical experience in Quebec classrooms, and must therefore rely on the counsel and experience of teachers and administrators. The PAPT is the medium through which these views should be sought, as far as Protestant schools are concerned.

If the Ministry contemplates making any change in examination procedures in the school year 1966/1967, it must begin now the process of unhurried, thorough and frank consultation with the teachers of the province.

This Association, through a letter from its President, Mr. William Munroe, to Dr. Arthur Treblay, the Deputy Minister of Education, has already recorded its willingness to cooperate fully with the Directorate of Curriculum and Examinations in any such studies.

The PAPT will object in the future as it has in the past to being called upon to acquiesce in decisions made hastily and unilaterally, and in belated announcements.

Finally, the PAPT notes with concern that the Ministry does not appear to have considered of tabulating pupil's marks and issuing certificates be devised as a stand-by in case any delays or technical difficulties in schools at Easter 1966, and that the machine-processing of results.

The long arm of coincidence —from Westmount to England

Dunsford, Surrey, Eng.— This involves many Westmounters, NDGers, two saxophones, one clarinet, a world famous violinist, a French maid, a schoolmistress and a pawnshop.

Browsing in the trunk-room of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity house, I discovered an abandoned saxophone. I had just been initiated into the fraternity and the president, C. F. "Bill" Carsley, as flying wing on the McGill football team, had severely injured his leg in a fall consequent to an utmost concentration and mental agility of these Curbertson-keen bridge wizards transcended my simple mind and enabled them to memorize every card of previous tricks against a blatant background of Benny Goodman's Goody-Gody or Tommy Dorsey's Sandman or Duke Ellington's Daybreak Express.

Locally

Among these mighty minds—now excelling in various fields—some Westmounters were John F. Baillie, Junior and Malcolm Brodie, Curry Carmichael, Mike Chadwick, Dudley Dawson, Steve Deakin, Hugh and Dan Doheny, Vernon "Top" Emory, George and Graham Gould, Alex Hutchison, Austin Johnson, John and Richard Kerri-

I found myself working for a newspaper in New Brunswick. In quest of a feature about a girls' school, Netherwood, in Rothesay, I knocked on the front door which was open by a girl in an apron.

"I wish to see the headmistress, please."

"I'm the headmistress," she said, smiling.

Thus I met Esther Palin, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Palin of Notre Dame de Grace. Within months we were married at St. Matthias' Church, Westmount, and within a few years we were living here in England.

Thence arises the second odd coincidence. My wife's parents had been close friends of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Norris, who left N.D.G. not long ago and have also settled in England, in Hampshire, actually, about an hour's drive from here. And their son, Peter Norris, who has very naturally become a fine professional pianist, has also moved in England.

Yehudi Menuhin, the violinist, one of the greatest musical prodigies in the world, has established what is probably a (Yehudi Menuhin) School of Leatherhead, Surrey. Accepting only talented and musically precocious children under the age of ten, the School concentrates on their innate music and simultaneously gives sufficient instruction in other subjects. Peter Norris has secured a position as a teacher at this School and has married a young woman who is also teacher there. A photograph of Peter Norris teaching a class was recently in The Surrey Advertiser.

And now, only the other day,

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Norris, en route from Hampshire to visit Peter and his wife, called here to see us. After lunch, at my request, each of them caressed the piano with the enviable ease of professional fingers and instantaneous sightreading.

Then I let him have it. Into the hands of Mr. Norris I placed a mug bearing the inscription: McGill Band, Instrumental Improvement, 1936. Neither of us had seen the other since that banquet thirty years ago. He looked at me and the mug and we both burst out laughing.

by Stephen Scofield

reach for a long forward pass on the gridiron.

As president, Carsley had succeeded Rocke Robertson, a medical student who assisted initiation procedure. At one point my condition was evidently considered precarious and Robertson took my pulse. Being blindfold, I could not see him, but his deep voice was unmistakable.

"He's all right," Robertson said, "let him have it . . ."

But I digress. In the basement I found this old saxophone and Louis G. Johnston, another medical student, told me he thought it belonged to (the late) Wilson McConnell.

"Why don't you ring him up?" Johnston suggested. "He'd probably let you have it."

I telephoned Wilson McConnell and he said, "Certainly you can have it. I have a tenor now and I have no use for that old alto. Consider it yours."

Pawned

Actually it was a fine instrument, a silver-plated Conn. After thanking him profusely I took the saxophone to a pawnshop on Craig street where I pawned it and with the proceeds I bought a clarinet and joined the McGill Band, sitting beside Charlie "Spike" Gurd, a player of professional calibre who subsequently became first saxophonist for a dance orchestra conducted by Jack Bain, whose theme song was Moonglow.

In the Alpha Delt House I practiced in the basement nook, a tiny room used for storing spices and lard and so on, partially underground, in order to muffle my high Es and Fs for the sake of the bridge players upstairs. Once I played upstairs. After that I was permanently relegated to the lard room and not allowed to bring the instrument upstairs again.

The ineffable powers of con-gan, Francis and Sidney Lyman, Paul McFarlane, Ross Newman, Bill O'Brien, Rodney Patch, Richard Peck, Buddy Rawlings, Garry and Leonard Schlemm, Harry Scott, Heward Stikeman, Bob Wakefield and Stuart Webster.

Spike Gurd, who lived in Westmount around the corner from me, practiced assiduously and his long sweet notes wafted along Clark avenue to our kitchen and relieved the tedium of dishwashing for our maid, Madeleine, who considered my efforts quite the contrary, as indeed they were.

"Mousieur Gurd," she purred to me, "il joue le saxophone si douce . . . ah, si doucement!" Here her eyes closed in reverie and quickly opened to glare: "Pas comme vous! Pourquoi vous ne jouez pas comme Monsieur Gurd?"

Paperman

Gurd was a "paperman". This means he can read almost any music but without the score in front of him he is lost. To me, on the other hand, the score was a Greek menu; but I could carry a tune if I knew it well. Alas, I did not know the McGill marches which required nimble fingering on the top clef of the clarinet. Believe me the score for The Thunderer is not akin to Yankee Doodle.

"Hey Spike," I whispered at band practice, "I can't play this stuff!"

"Don't worry about that, Steve," he assuaged me gently. "Just keep your fingers moving and don't take your instrument out of your mouth!"

If he imagined that the conductor of the band could be fooled, he was wrong. For the conductor who did his utmost to create harmony, at best intermittent, between a surplus of ignoramuses such as myself and about half a dozen who could play properly, was Harry Norris, an eminent and able N.D.G. musician, perhaps best known as co-producer — with Mrs. Norris — of Gilbert & Sullivan operettas delightfully presented at Westmount's Victoria Hall and points West.

That spring there occurred an event which somewhat astonished several Alpha Deltis and utterly astonished me. Terminating a banquet for the McGill Band, to which everyone had been lured by the promise of ample quantities of free beer, Harry Norris gripped my hand and smiled warmly and presented me with a mug for the most improved musician. More incredible events may have shaken the Island of Montreal, but not me.

Now

Now comes the first long arm of coincidence. Many years later

Russian customs observed

This year the Julian and the Gregorian calendars coincide to bring Easter on the same day for both the Eastern and the Western churches. This happens once in about four years according to Mrs. Dimitry Mitianin of Irvine avenue, Westmount, whom we sought out to ask her to tell us how the people of the Russian Orthodox church celebrated their most important festival.

Lent is kept very strictly by Russian and Greek Orthodox Christians, and for all of Holy week (the week preceding Easter Sunday) no meat, eggs or milk are eaten, and only vegetables and fish are allowed, on Good Friday no food is taken until after twelve o'clock noon.

On Easter Sunday however, the joyous celebration of the resurrection begins after the early (three o'clock in the morning) service in the church, at the end of this service the bishop or priest after blessing each member of his congregation separately presents them all with an egg, traditionally dyed red.

At home the family eats a special meal for the first time after the long lenten fast, and close friends are often included on this occasion. The table is kept laden with the good dishes of Easter for all of Easter Sunday for open house is kept in all households.

This is the occasion for the special dishes for which each hostess is known to be sampled, for good conversation and for good friends to come together. Always on the table, Mrs. Mitianin told us, is the traditional saffron bread, very rich and sweet and made with raisins, cardoman seeds, and vanilla as well as saffron. This is baked in a very high pan and is round. Ham is served and a leg of veal also, and many varieties of pickles, salads, and eggs, all cold, everything must be made at home of course. Vodka is served and many variety of cakes and cookies, one dish for which Mrs. Mitianin is famous is called "Paska," and is made from cottage cheese molded in a special wooden mold which is carved on the inside of the separating sections with a design incorporating the cross. It is also like the saffron bread or "koleuch" is formed very high, and is a center of attraction on the table.

Passover Recipes

CHEESE PUDDING A Passover Dessert

5 matzos
6 tbsps. melted butter
1 lb. cottage cheese
3 eggs
 $\frac{1}{2}$  tsp. salt
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup sugar juice of half lemon
 $\frac{1}{2}$  tsp. grated lemon rind.
Dip matzos into pan of water and drain. Put half of the melted butter into an 8x8 baking dish. Place a whole matzo on bottom of dish; and fill remaining space with pieces of matzo, so that the bottom is covered. Mash cheese, add eggs and other ingredients in a bowl and stir well. Spread  $\frac{1}{2}$  of this mixture over the matzo lined dish, and cover with more matzo. Do this again, and dot top matzo with the remaining butter.

Bake at 325 until brown, (about an hour). Cut into squares and serve hot.
* * *

CNAIDLACH

To serve With Soup

2 eggs
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup Matzo meal
 $\frac{1}{4}$  cup water
1 tbsps. chicken fat
a dash of salt and pepper.
Beat eggs and add all other ingredients, mix well and allow to stand 15 minutes. Bring chicken soup or any clear broth to a boil.

Wet hands well and form matzo meal mixture into round balls, and drop singly into boiling soup. Lower flame cover soup, and cook ten minutes.

COCONUT MACAROONS FOR PASSOVER

3 egg whites
2 tbsps. sugar
 $\frac{1}{2}$  lb. grated coconut
Beat egg whites until stiff, add sugar and coconut, drop by spoon onto cookie sheet lined with wax paper bake until lightly brown, at 375°

Passover prepared for with care

This year the Jewish Passover starts with a Seder at sundown on Monday, April 4th, and lasts until Tuesday, April 12th, and the dates are the same for Jews all over the world except in Israel, where a straight week only is kept. The reason for this is to make sure that with the changes of time around the world the passover is kept at the same time by Jews everywhere.

We asked a good friend to tell us some of the household preparations that led up to this important celebration of the Jewish year, (which of course signifies the safe crossing of the people of Israel over the Red Sea to begin the long journey in the wilderness until they came at last to the promised land), and she did so very interestingly indeed. In all households she told us, a special cleansing of the house takes place sometimes far ahead of Passover. The cleaning is done very thoroughly, especially in the kitchen, where the cupboards are cleared of all everyday utensils, cleaned, and the two clean sets of special Passover dishes are placed therein and the cupboards sealed until the day comes when they will be used, the first Seder.

Special dish cloths are used for this and even special dish pans, and none of these things are used at any other time of the year.

The dishes which are prepared for Passover contain of course no leaven of any kind, and indeed even the flour is specially grown and harvested under very careful supervision. For this reason the materials that are used to prepare the Passover dishes are very costly, and again must be baked and prepared in special pans kept only for this time of the year.

Junior Board of Trade Dance

The Junior Board of Trade will hold their annual President's dinner dance which is the social highlight of their year at the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht club on April 2nd. Rolf Calhoun, president of the Junior board will host a reception commencing at 6.30 p.m., and this will be followed by a dinner and an evening of dancing to Stan Bankley and his Orchestra. An evening of surprises and prizes is planned.

Red Cross appeal to Westmount

Area Chairwomen and Team Captains report that generous help and support has been given them by Volunteers for the Combined Health and Red Cross Appeal which opens in Westmount April 9. The Drive continues until April 25.

Westmount, for the purpose of canvassing, has been divided into twelve areas. Support in every area of the twelve has been especially gratifying this year.

The 1966 Campaign will, for the most part, be conducted on a door-to-door basis. Evidence to date indicates that the response will be generous.

The Westmount objective is $33,000 for 1966, a substantial increase over the 1965 target.

Westmount campaign headquarters are in the Reader's Digest building, 215 Redfern Avenue.

MISS ANNA STEFIK, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Stefik, of Northfield, Ont., and MR. DONALD JOYNER, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry Joyner, of Westmount, whose engagement is announced. The marriage has been arranged to take place on Saturday, April 9.

Westmount branch of Consumers elect committee

The Westmount branch of the Consumers Association of Canada held its annual meeting on Tuesday, March 22 at the Themis Club. The members elected a new executive committee composed of the following officers: Mrs. F. Lindsay, honorary president, Mrs. Michael Boyd, president, Mrs. Michael Bell, assistant secretary treasurer and Mrs. J. Clarke secretary treasurer. Chairman for Consumer problems is Mrs. J. Rochester, and past president is Mrs. W. J. Buchanan.

The guest speaker was Mrs. Ross Brander, president of CAC (Quebec), and her topic was 'What C.A.C. has accomplished in 1965 and what lies ahead for 1966'. Mrs. Brander stressed the continuing importance of the local associations in C.A.C., as "Without strong local associations there can be no provincial organization and without strong provincial associations there can be no national organization."

She also noted that though much has still to be accomplished among positive achievements, "we may now purchase packages of biscuits by weight rather than by number making it much easier to compare prices; products containing phenacetan must now carry a warning on the label, and we look forward to seeing the correct volume stated on cans of fruit juices."

She concluded by saying that "with our ever-increasing prices it is most important that all consumers get the best possible value for their dollar" and that therefore the C.A.C. must continue to help by educating and informing the public to this end.

Children help prepare Passover

Our little friend Naomi told us of the Passover custom called 'gathering the crumbs'. This charming ceremony is used to teach children the meaning of cleansing the house of all leaven cooking before Passover.

The night before the first Seder, Naomi says, the oldest person in the household breaks leaven bread into ten pieces and gives it to the children of the family to hide. Then with a lighted candle and a brush and a bag, he follows the children, who show him where they have hidden the bread. After he has gathered it all up very carefully, it is placed where the family bread is kept, and the candle is blown out. Before Passover begins it is thrown out along with all the bread made with yeast or other leaveners that has been left over.

 Auxiliary
 reports

A very successful luncheon was held again this year in the Nurses' Residence, prior to the 19th Annual Meeting.

The secretary reported a membership of 550 members in the Auxiliary, and the balance forward at the end of the year was $15,616.56.

The treasurer read the budget for 1966, which totalled $14,716. This includes continued services and new requests for the Montreal, Laurentian, and Alexandra Divisions.

Mrs. J. G. Notman, treasurer since the Auxiliary began, has retired from this office, but fortunately has agreed to be chairman of the Memorial Fund. For her long and loyal service, the Executive presented her with a cheque, to be given to the Hospital in her name, wherever she wished it to go. We all extend to her our most grateful thanks.

Dr. D. Todosijczuk, medical director of the Laurentian Chest Hospital, showed some excellent colored movies of the Activities at Ste. Agathe, such as their Christmas parties, and all their annual frolics since they began. Miss Clifford added to the fun with some appropriate music and commentary.

Dr. D. Stubbington seconded the reports and told of the great value the hospital derives from the library, which the Auxiliary has helped to establish.

Quebec Dieticians Annual Meeting
 The tenth annual meeting of the Corporation of Dietitians of Quebec was held Friday, March 25, at the Holiday Inn Hotel, Montreal.
 According to the Quebec Dietitians' Act (Elizabeth II, 1956), every Dietitian working in this Province must be a member of the Corporation of Dietitians of Quebec. Seventy one (71) new members have been accepted in the Corporation during 1965-66. The total membership is now 488.
 The Provincial Corporation has two chapters: the Quebec Chapter and the Montreal Chapter. This year geographical limits of the chapters have been defined in the following manner: South Shore: a line drawn from north to south dividing the countries of Yamaska-Nicolet; Arthabaska-Megantic; Richmond-Wolfe; Stanstead-Compton. The members working in the area west of this line belong to Montreal Chapter; the members in areas situated east of this boundary are affiliated with the Quebec Chapter. North Shore: a line drawn south to north to James Bay, dividing the Countries of Maskinonge-Saint-Maurice; Abitibi-East-Laviolette. Members in areas situated west of this boundary belong to Montreal Chapter and those situated east to Quebec Chapter.
 Other committees of the Corporation also have been very active during their term of office.
 The Profession Information Committee has set up a conference service directed toward senior students in the secondary schools. Guidance Counsellors have been contacted and invited to use this service for their students.
 The first part of the history of the Corporation has been written under the authorship of Miss Irene Carpenter. This text will be included in a book which will soon be published by the Canadian Dietetic Association on Dietetics in Canada.
 Under the chairmanship of Miss Sandra Cohen, Dietitian at the Royal Victoria Hospital, the Nutrition Committee has continued the study on income adequacy in out-patient departments of representative Montreal hospitals with Nutrition Clinics. The results show the importance of the role played by dietitians in the area of wise counsel in food budgetting. Actually, of a total number of 856 patients, 389 or 45% had incomes below that required for basic needs; of 210 patients on provincial welfare, 170 or 81% had incomes below that required for basic needs.

 For the first time in this province, a Dietetic Internship program will be offered in a French-speaking Hospital. Next June seven graduates of Laval University and the University of Montreal will be registered for the internship program offered by Sainte Justine's Hospital in collaboration with Saint Luc Hospital and the Albert Prevost Psychiatric Hospital.

MISS ELEANOR SORTOME, B.H.Ec., Director of Dietetics at the Royal Victoria Hospital was elected President of the Corporation of Dietitians of Quebec at the Tenth Annual meeting held on Friday afternoon March 25th.

Mrs. Stackhouse gives story of Westmount Women's Club

Mrs. Russel T. Stackhouse, president of what is probably the only chartered women's club in Westmount, told us this week that the Westmount Women's Club was founded in 1918. The founder was Mrs. T. de G. Stewart, and the objects of the club then as now, is to seek mutual instruction and sympathy, with increased effort toward general literary and welfare work.

These aims the Westmount Women's Club have carefully maintained during the years, contributing greatly to the common effort during two world wars, and carrying on a steady stream of help to many organizations devoted to the public welfare.

Although the club is smaller now than it has been in the past it still lists a membership of about 150 members, which is no small organization, and the ladies contribute annually to such welfare work institutions as the new Mackay School on Decarie boulevard, CARE, the Salvation Army, the Canadian Institute for the Blind, and the Friendly Home. All of these organizations being on the agenda for this year. The money for these and projects of a like nature is raised by a twice annual Dessert Bridge which take place as do the club's private meetings in Victoria Hall, Westmount.

The membership enjoys a very interesting program of events during the year. Mrs. Stackhouse told us that these usually include such events as, a fashion show, an occasional lecture, special films, demonstrations of new processes in industry, all of which take place in Victoria Hall. A matinee at the theatre and often a trip away from home to some nearby city, often in the United States is also part of the yearly activity. Once a year in February the ladies also hold a charter day luncheon for their membership.

Mrs. Stackhouse herself has been president of the club since 1959, and it is not for the first time. Since her re-election of that year the membership has given her carte-blanc to plan the interesting program they now enjoy. Affiliated with the Montreal Council of Women, Mrs. Stackhouse is the club's official representative to that body, as well as being a private member herself.

A vital lady, extremely interested in public affairs, she shows a great deal of ability in organization, and we feel that she could have made her mark in an executive capacity if she had not chosen instead the role of wife and mother. Widowed in 1952, (her husband was the late Judge Russel T. Stackhouse of the Superior Court of Montreal), she has one daughter, Helen, who is Mrs. C. W. Bryant, and now lives in Don Mills, Ontario, and is the mother of a small family of her own.

Birdland:

Early spring nesting seems uncomfortable

By WINIFRED WILSON

As we cruised slowly along the narrow dirt road, we spied a bird on a fence post a few yards ahead of our car but, naturally, it turned at our approach and fluttering low over the field landed on a large rock some 200 yards back. Patches of snow still lay here and there, but our feathered friend was seemingly undaunted. Clear, whistled notes, "tsee-you, tsee-ear," floated across the field bringing us a special, spring thrill.

Our first general impression had been of a yellow bird with a black mark on it. That was a front view. In retreat, it seemed to be streaked brown with a short tail widely bordered in white. All this information added up to a Meadowlark. The song confirmed our suspicions, and told us that this was a male.

Now the song stopped and the bird flew to the ground, walked (yes, walked) a few yards, tail jerking, then disappeared in a clump of weeds.

Clambering over the old fence, we sneaked along near the edge of the field, arrived a few paces behind the big rock, and peered around it. Yes, there was the bird, crouched down, perhaps sitting on a nest. Or was it the same bird? That clear whistle, with the notes running up, then down, came from behind us. We must be watching the mother bird now. Should we disturb her? The question was answered for us, because before we had a chance to move she was off in a Meadowlark's characteristic flight: short wings fluttering, then stiffly stretched in a downward arc.

Creeping quietly towards the clump of weeds we looked constantly at the ground, fearing that we would do damage. Could birds be really nesting between patches of snow? Yes, there it was, a nest of grasses in a slight depression, and one egg, spotted with brown and purple, lay partly concealed by more grasses that had been gracefully arranged over it. There would probably be four more eggs laid to complete the clutch.

Meadowlark young are frequently born when nights are still really cold, and their nest on the ground seems so exposed. The skimpy grass covering is no doubt designed to protect the eggs and later the babies from snow, frost, and the sharp eyes of predators. Nevertheless, the mother bird must sit pretty tight.

Not only a thrill for early spring birdwatchers, the Meadowlark is very useful. Its food is insects, injurious to crops, and when these are not available weed seeds. Surely an asset to our farmers.

AN ODD BIRD

Crepuscular. Isn't that a lovely sounding word? It is used when speaking of a Woodcock, and means that this is a bird of the twilight. A Woodcock is seldom seen because of its habit of feeding only at dawn and at dusk, at which time the mottled rich brown plumage of its back harmonizes perfectly with its surrounding as it pokes an extremely long bill into soft soil and eats earth worms found there.

Unique is another word applied to a Woodcock. Indeed, there are several unique points about its bill, about its manner of feeding, the position of its eyes, and the peculiar sound of its flight.

The Woodcock returns to Canada before most birds: as soon as snow has left the ground and the earth has thawed sufficiently. This usually happens towards the end of March or early April. Nevertheless, Woodcock eggs have several times been found in Southern Quebec before March is finished.

The tip of the bill is especially sensitive for detecting worms, and while in the ground the upper section of this tip being flexible can be moved away from the lower mandible, then closed on the worm. When we see a number of small, round holes in the ground we know a Woodcock has been at work. This plump, heavy-bodied bird may eat more than its own weight in 24 hours meaning many worms, because although a few insects and berries may be

Recreation permits available

If your recreation permit has to be renewed, do not wait until the day the swimming pool opens but do it now.

Permits are issued at the Recreation Office located in the Artificial Ice Rink. One must have proof of residence and a small picture 1½" x 1½", along with personal identification in order to obtain a permit.

Do this at your earliest convenience and avoid the rush.

'Y' campaign hits 33%

"$4,052.00 or 33.4 % of our objective on 25% of our cards, has us on target," stated Wm. Ridley, Campaign Chairman.

"Our new money is holding at approximately 16%, which will enable us to make our objective. The citizens of Westmount have been very generous in the returns to-date and we look forward to the same co-operation, as we complete our prospects."

With only one week to go of the official dates, the "Y" is urging all canvassers to complete their outstanding calls.

The following canvassers have completed their returns: Mr. Capper, Mrs. Wilson-Smith, Mrs. Scarabelli, Mrs. Gall, Mrs. De Groote, David MacRae.

Softball ages and leagues set

Residents of Westmount nine years of age and over are able to take part in the following leagues:

MOSQUITO — Under 11 as of January 1st, 1966. Games played Friday afternoons.

PEE WEE — Under 13 as of January 1st, 1966. Games played Monday, Tuesday and Thursday afternoons.

Bantam — Under fifteen as of January 1st, 1966 games played Tuesday and Thursday afternoons.

All games will start at 3.45 p.m. and will be played at Westmount Park.

used, earth worms are by far its chief dish.

On account of this method of feeding, the Woodcock is exposed to enemies. Therefore, for protection, Mother Nature has put its big, dark eyes much higher and also farther back on its head than the customary place.

Although so seldom seen, the Woodcock is sometimes heard. The three outer feathers on its wings are quite narrow and stiff. In the bird's unique courtship flight the air rushes between these feathers, making an odd whistling sound.

Instead of migrating in flocks, a Woodcock travels alone. For homes, males prefer small, flat open spaces with some grass, weeds, or brush, and a moist woodland of young trees; females like an open stand of young trees and a boggy feeding ground. A male may mate with several females. Four well camouflaged eggs are laid in a skimpily lined depression. Babies leave the nest almost immediately, and can fly when two weeks old; but if their mother wants to move them sooner she carries each one between her legs.

April 1 marks Daffodil Day

The complete yield of a 10 acre daffodil nursery on Vancouver Island will be flown to Montreal at the end of the month and on April 1 will be made available to the general public through the Daffodil Day Committee of the Canadian Cancer Society.

The shipment will contain 550,000 blooms. They are being brought here through the kindness of Air Canada, in aid of the Canadian Cancer Society's sixth annual Daffodil Day sale. Proceeds of the sale, which are expected to net nearly $50,000, will be used by the Society to finance its three-fold program of research, education and welfare.

Mrs. Garner Havers, chairman of the Daffodil Day Committee, has mobilized a team of 70 section chairmen and more than 600 volunteers to handle the sale. As a result most sections of Greater Montreal will be blanketed under a host of golden daffodils.

Well Received

Downstown stores and business firms have ordered large quantities of the blooms and will place them on sale in convenient spots so that all customers may have a chance to buy them. Every hospital in the city will also place the flowers on sale and in those hospitals which do not have ladies auxiliaries members of La Ligue de la Jeunesse Feminine, will distribute the flowers.

Shopping centers in most sections of the city and suburbs will offer another focal point for the Daffodil Day sale. Hicks

Oriental Rugs at St. Catherine and Crescent streets, have donated its entire showroom area and shipping facilities so that the flowers may be quickly delivered 'garden fresh' immediately upon arrival from the West Coast.

The Royal Bank of Canada is placing a fleet of cars at the disposal of the Daffodil Day Committee and will carry daffodils and volunteers to strategic points throughout the city.

Two radio stations, one French and one English will devote their entire daytime broadcast period on Daffodil Day to the Society's sale. They will also operate a "Dial a Daffodil" service in order that people wishing to purchase the flowers may be told the nearest depot in their neighborhood.

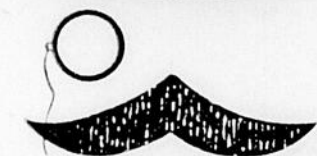

In addition the Florists' Council of Canada will supply 3,000 blooms with which to build a giant Caduceus, the sword-serpent symbol of the Canadian Cancer Society.

The Caduceus will be erected in the main foyer at Place Ville Marie a few days before the April 1 sale.

Mrs. Havers said that advance sale of the daffodils has exceeded all expectations, proving beyond doubt the popularity of Daffodil Day.

The April 1 sale will mark the sixth consecutive year that the Canadian Cancer Society has held a Daffodil Day sale.

At the first Daffodil Day only 50,000 blooms were brought in from Victoria. But the idea caught on so well that each year saw the total almost doubled until today it is well over the half-million mark.

Easter hams make history

The salting and smoking of pork to produce ham is of French origin. It was in fact the Gauls, who first became known for the curing of various cuts of pork.

At that time France was covered with immense forests in which innumerable herds of wild pigs wandered, feeding on the vegetation without cost to the Gauls for whom they were a valuable asset. The smoked meat of these animals was sent to Rome and to the whole of Italy.

So great has been, and still is today the role of ham and all forms of salt pork in the history of food, that a special Ham Fair is held regularly in Paris and some other large French cities.

The Ham Fair which in former times was held during the three days preceding Good Friday, and which was then called Foire du lard or Bacon fair was held in the square in front of Notre Dame Cathedral in Paris. (The canons of the cathedral used to lease the ground to the park butchers.) It was held on this site until 1813 when it was transferred to the Quai des Grands-Augustins, and from there it moved to many other places until the end of the second Empire, when it moved to the Boulevard Richard Lenoir where it is still held.

In Burgundy Jambon Persille de Bourgogne is always served for luncheon on Easter Day. Here is how it is prepared.

Cut thick slices of ham and trim off the fat. Boil these in a large pan with a veal knuckle as well as a very big herb bouquet which has with the addition of the usual fine herbs, tarragon and chervil and ten pepper corns all tied in muslin. Cover the meat with dry white wine and bring to a boil, reduce heat and simmer gently to obtain a very clear stock which is used to make the accompanying jelly. The ham is removed from the stock when it is well cooked and flaked with a fork into salad dish and pressed down well. The stock is then strained and added to the bowl of meat with a tablespoonful of tarragon vinegar. When the jelly begins to set chopped parley if added. This dish is served cold and is made ahead of time.

Blood was first transfused to a human in the 17th century. Animal blood was used and the patient died. As a result, the idea of blood transfusion therapy was abandoned for the next 200 years.

THE 'CHATEAU MAISONNEUVE'

WHAT A WONDERFUL WAY TO LIVE!

The Chateau Maisonneuve is the epitome of gracious living, created by architects who are celebrated for their practical and aesthetic applications of a concept of living desired by discerning apartment residents. Set in a superlative Westmount location in the heart of Canada's most exciting cosmopolitan city, the Chateau Maisonneuve soars eighteen storeys from the western slope of Mount Royal . . . the same mountain from which the famed French explorer, Sieur Chomedey de Maisonneuve, gazed three hundred and twenty years ago. His view was a dramatic panorama embracing the silent, curving St. Lawrence and the rolling Adirondacks. It was here he dreamed of a great city rising at the foot of his mountain. The dream was realized and the Chateau Maisonneuve stands as a memorial to the man; offering those who make it their home, the Maisonneuve view . . . of the city of Montreal. The fully air-conditioned Chateau Maisonneuve offers a wonderful way of living . . . Country Club living within minutes of downtown, with the convenience of both rail and bus services almost at your door. Within a few blocks you will find neighbourhood stores ranging from exclusive shops to supermarkets. Theatres, churches, schools, recreation centres . . . all the amenities of the city are close at hand. But best of all, you have your own exclusive Country Club right in your own building.

HIGH ABOVE THE ROOFTOPS

Penthouse swimming pool with women's, men's saunas adjacent.

... you'll find the Chateau Maisonneuve's private Country Club . . . two floors of rambling penthouse offering you and your guests wonderful facilities with which to enjoy your leisure hours.

A magnificent Swimming Pool with glass-walled Solarium allows you four seasons of uninterrupted swimming and sunbathing. During the warmer months you will discover the open Sun Deck and Promenade Deck where you can loaf in the summer's sun. There's a Covered Patio too for those who would rather just sit and read in the cool shade.

A view of the city from the penthouse.

SPACE FOR GRACIOUS LIVING

One of the beautiful living rooms

All Chateau Maisonneuve apartments exude an aura of spaciousness . . . sliding glass walls reveal your private Terrace In the Sky, right off your living room. Expansive picture windows in the living and dining rooms further enhance the overall room-to-live-in effect. A maximum of unbroken wall space provides for easy and creative furniture arrangement, and your dining area is large enough for a full size suite with ample walk around space for easy serving. Your pleasure-to-be-in kitchen places everything at your fingertips. You'll find, that in addition to the gleaming new range and refrigerator, we have provided a Blanchard built-in dishwasher to make light work of that constant chore. A maximum of cupboard and counter space has been provided. Superb architectural planning places you and your kitchen right in the centre of things for easy serving and immediate accessibility to all other rooms in the apartment.

AND SO TO BED!

A PERFECT RETREAT FOR SLEEPY PEOPLE...

Excellent zoning of active and quiet areas in your apartment makes every bedroom a perfect retreat for sleepy people. The complete comfort of quiet central air-conditioning ensures refreshing relaxation during the hot, sticky summer.

Deep sound-proofing, not only in walls but ceilings too, prevents the intrusion of unwanted noise. The intimacy of your very own private bedroom terrace and personal half bathroom are charming features of the master bedroom in several apartments. And there is an abundance of walk-in closet space in many bedrooms too.

Your bathroom at the Chateau Maisonneuve is a model of smartness and convenience . . . fixtured in the latest fashion (some with shower alcove), and dramatically decorated with exquisite colour combinations in ceramic tiled floors and walls. Vanities are tastefully lighted for shaving and make-up and in larger apartments bathrooms have extended vanities with twin sinks.
