Smile for today

The next time the weather seems too bad to tackle in an attempt to get to work, recall that the atmosphere around home is going to get pretty grim, too, by day's end.

Tax increase expected in provincial budget

QUEBEC — (CP) — Premier Daniel Johnson announced Tuesday that Finance Minister Paul Dozois will be able to make the budget address tonight when an increase in provincial taxes is expected to be announced.

The premier told the legislative assembly that Mr. Dozois, who had been in hospital recovering from fatigue arising from budget preparations, will make the speech, his second budget address since the Union Nationale came to power in 1966.

In its first budget March 16, 1967, the government introduced a Quebec program of family allowances, paid largely by increasing to eight per cent the retail sales tax, which accounted for $119,000,000 of the last fiscal year's $163,000,000 tax increases.

Premier Johnson has been preparing Quebecers for further tax increases in speeches made during the last few weeks, but has given no indication of exactly where and how the fresh tax bite will come.

Mr. Johnson rates education, economic development and social security as spending priorities. This budget, conceived with advice of financier Marcel Faribault, may stress economy - boosting measures more than the 1967-68 budget.

In discussing budget philosophy of the Union Nationale in an address forecasting further tax increases as long ago as last September, Mr. Dozois said:

"We can't ask the economy to bear more than it is capable of carrying. It's economic progress which makes social progress possible."

Mr. Dozois then speculated on how a government might seek an additional $100,000,000 in revenues, which he described as the average additional amount sought by finance ministers here on a year-to-year basis.

He forecast that a one-per-cent increase in sales taxes would add an additional $60,000,000 to the public purse and a one-per-cent progressive income tax increase would scoop up $95,000,000 more each year.

Each one of the courses he examined had its disadvantages. A one-per-cent progressive tax, he said, would represent an 18-per-cent increase in income taxes for all taxpayers and threaten to scare away capital - wielding upper income people.

He described the tax problem by saying:

"The problem is to find the spots where the additional load will least damage the economy, where there will be least chances of discouraging employment, savings and investment."

Quebec may follow the example of Ontario which, among other things, increased taxes on cigarettes, gasoline, parimutuel betting and boosted registration for automobiles in its 1968-69 budget.

But there is speculation Quebec will go further to increase income taxes, at least among the middle and upper middle income backets where Union Nationale political support is rated as slim.

The first budget under the politically astute Mr. Johnson reflected the Union Nationale's intimate concern with political impact of government decision: tax increases were neatly offset by Quebec family allowances.

SAP'S RUNNIN' — Now that warmer March days are here in earnest, the Eastern Townships sugar industry has swung into activity, and maple sap runs merrily out of tap holes into buckets. Here's the sugar camp of Clifford Curtis, Hatley. (Record photo: Gerry Lemay)

News in brief

Is concerned

PRAGUE (AP) — Alexander Dubcek, Czechoslovak Communist party chief, said today fellow Communist leaders he met with at Dresden, East Germany, last weekend expressed "a certain concern" over the Czech liberalization drive.

New critical statements against the most liberal Czech elements came Tuesday night from party ideologists in East Berlin and Budapest, Hungary.

Overhaul

OTTAWA (CP) — A massive, detailed report, calling for a comprehensive overhaul of veterans' pensions legislation, was tabled in the Commons Tuesday.

The special study, 2½ years in the making, set out 148 specific recommendations in its 1,500 pages.

The three men

BRUSSELS (CP) — A lonely-looking ex-prime minister, a brash challenger outwardly confident of power and a blunt-talking champion of Flemish rights dominate the Belgian political scene in the last campaigning days before Sunday's election.

In the country's French-speaking section, some voices press for renewed assertion of the area's language rights in the face of growing influence of the vigorous people of Dutch-speaking Flanders.

Fraud charges

TORONTO (CP) — Seventeen persons, the majority of them United States citizens, Tuesday were charged with fraud or conspiracy to defraud the public following simulatenous raids on seven Ontario discount meat stores.

Police and provincial and federal government officials made the raids following months of investigation, prompted by complaints from people who had answered advertisements for bargain beef. Some housewives said they did not get the meat they had ordered and that other cuts were substituted.

Fight for control

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. infantrymen supported by tanks, artillery and planes battled the Viet Cong today for control of a tiny hamlet northwest of Saigon in the fourth straight day of heavy fighting in the area.

The infantrymen called in artillery and napalm air strikes only to 50 - 100 years ahead of them as they advanced into the hamlet of Ap Long Muc about 30 miles northwest of Saigon near the district town of Trang Bang.

Will recess today

OTTAWA (CP) — Amid cries of nonsense, pleas for compromise and echoing "won'ts," the Commons Tuesday night reached an informal and nebulous agreement to wrap up its work today and recess until April 23.

However, Wednesday is a short sitting day in the House and the agreement could be short-circuited at the least brush of frayed nerves and tempers.

After rushing past most of the remaining items of the list of supplementary departmental spending estimates for 1967-68, the edgy Commons left two over for today with the informal agreement that they be cleaned up by 4 p.m.

The House then would deal with an interim supply motion, granting the government money to pay its day-to-day bills from April and May.

The Senate, which is to sit at 2:30 p.m. EST, the same time as the Commons, would then be expected to deal with the estimates—now in their 12th day of Commons debate—and the supply bill virtually in minutes.

Once royal assent is given, the House can begin the recess the government hoped to have last week to allow Liberal leadership candidates in the cabinet to campaign before the April 4-6 convention here.

Hopes of cleaning up business Tuesday night evaporated as opposition MPs lashed out at government policy on agriculture and Indian affairs.

Warner Jorgenson (PC—Provencher) said the policies of Agriculture Minister Greene, one of the eight leadership candidates in the cabinet, are "as barren as an Air Canada breakfast."

He said that "no amount of sneaking and snivelling" could skirt the fact that the government had allowed the International Wheat Agreement to lapse, hurting western sales this year.

Other Conservatives tore into an austerity campaign last fall that sliced price supports for cheeses and pork.

Lee Grills (PC—Hastings South) said Mr. Greene was promoting fatty bacon by cutting support prices for lean high-grade bacon.

Also criticizing the cut on support for premium cheese, he said the savings amounted to "peanuts" in the over-all federal budget.

On another front, Health Minister MacEachen, also a leadership candidate, assured MPs that there will be "no deterioriation" in health services for Indians and Eskimos.

More money would be spent on such services in the year beginning April 1. The department had taken steps to clear up misunderstandings that might have arisen from directives earlier this year.

Opposition MPs have been questioning the effect of the directives for weeks.

Want seal kill stopped

LONDON (CP) — Hundreds of Britons have called for action to stop the killing of baby seals in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, The Daily Mirror says.

The mass-circulation tabloid launched a five-page display in words and pictures on the "macabre death ritual" Tuesday and follows it up with a front-page story telling of reaction in this animal-loving country.

Under the headline Pearson Calls For Seal Harvest Probe, it also says Prime Minister Pearson in the Canadian Commons Tuesday "demanded an inquiry into The Daily Mirror's seal slaughter revelations."

A Mirror reporter and photographer visited the Gulf hunt last week. Brian Davies of Fredericton, executive secretary of the New Brunswick Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, said here Tuesday night he arranged the trip.

PLANS CAMPAIGN

Davies also said he plans to spend 10 days in Europe "to generate as much opposition as possible against this bloody, barbaric business."

The Mirror says hundreds of persons telephoned or telegraphed the newspaper Tuesday asking what they could do to stop the killing of baby seals for their pelts.

"Many offered money to assist the New Brunswick Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in its fight for Canadian government legislation to ban seal hunts."

Those sending telegrams of support included Lady Dowding, widow of the wartime Royal Air Force chief; comedian Spike Milligan, the World Federation for the Protection of Animals and the World Wildlife Fund.

The newspaper adds that many of the callers were concerned that seal slaughter also takes place off the shore of Britain, particularly on the East Coast.

Davies said Prince Philip is to be invited to the gulf to see the seals, though not the fur hunt.

"We would like the duke to see the unique beauty of the gulf, not the seal-killing," he said.

Davies said he wrote Hugh Cudlipp, chairman of The Daily Mirror and vice-chairman of Cecil King's International Publishing Corp., and asked "if he would help us put a stop to this cruelty."

Syrup season could be a poor one this year

Eastern Townships sugar farmers have had no season at all yet and one farmer, Keith Rose, of Sherbrooke, says it doesn't look very promising.

Most farmers telephoned yesterday were in the sugar bush but their wives were home to relate how the men felt about this year's production.

Mrs. Tom Ride, whose husband has tapped 2,000 trees on his Hatley farm this year, said her husband has made about 30 gallons of syrup this year so far.

She stated the quality of the syrup was not as good as the syrup produced last year. This statement was backed up by Mrs. Henri - Louis Beaulieu, of Lennoxville, whose husband taps about 2,300 trees a year. She asserted the rain last week lowered the quality of the syrup.

She reported her husband has obtained about 40 gallons of syrup since he started to operate his camp last week.

Mrs. Beaulieu said if more rain fell on the Eastern Townships this week, the effect would be hazardous to the maple industry.

Mr. Rose started gathering his buckets on his third range farm yesterday and wanted to start boiling the sap yesterday afternoon.

Last year, his wife said, Mr. Rose boiled his first sap on March 28. So the season doesn't seem any later than usual this year although the farmers do say it looks bad.

Clifford Curtis, of Hatley, started boiling his sap yesterday.

Norman Bowers, the president of Quebec Maple Products Ltd. in Lennoxville, reported yesterday the company had not received any syrup at all this year yet.

He said this was not different from other years, however since it usually began to come in around the end of March.

Rolland Boudreau, of Ascot Corner, who has tapped over 18,000 trees this year, has produced some syrup but his wife says not very much.

The farmers' wives agreed or mentioned it would take many nights of frost and days with temperatures in the high forties to really start the sap running lucratively.

The weather forecast for last night was a mild 35 degrees as the lowest temperature, eliminating the chance of a cold frost.

He said the men left in a car, but wasn't sure of the direction.

GM strike settlement reached

TORONTO (CP) — Settlement was reached early today in the strike by the United Auto Workers against General Motors of Canada.

The strike, 47 days long, affected GM and GM subsidiary plants in Oshawa, Toronto, London, Ont., Windsor, Ont., St. Catharines and St. Therese, Que.

A UAW spokesman said membership meetings will be held Thursday to ratify the agreement.

The contract expires Sept. 14, 1970.

The new agreement calls for immediate wage increases of 20 cents an hour for all employees, retroactive to Nov. 6, 1967. An additional wage increase of 30 cents an hour is provided for skilled employees, also retroactive to Nov. 6, 1967.

Wage parity with United States auto workers will be achieved in five steps, the first of which will be in June, 1968.

Complete parity will be accomplished by June, 1970.

Cost-of-living allowance increases will be made on an annual basis, once in November, 1968 and again in November, 1969.

Provision is made for a minimum and maximum increase.

The minimum rate is three cents an hour in each of the first two years of the contract. The maximum is eight cents an hour.

By diverting two cents from the cost-of-living allowance increases the new agreement will provide wage parity for 1,600 employees not covered by the Canada-U.S. automotive trade agreement and an improved drug prescription plan for all employees.

A. G. Stapleton, chairman of the GM bargaining committee, said in a statement: "Our plants will re-open just as quickly as possible following ratification. Notification of return-to-work schedules will be handled at each plant location."

In a statement, GM said the major break in the bargaining came when the company withdrew its demands for immediate changes in the existing rest and wash-up periods and the union agreed to continuing discussions on the subject during the term of the new agreement at each plant.

Negotiations were slowed by union insistence that the practice of shutting down production lines for half an hour each shift for rest and wash-up periods be retained.

Trudeau-Winters pack 'em in at Reform Club meet

By CUTHBERT JONES
(Record Staff Writer)

Breathing space was at a premium at the Reform Club last night as Liberal partizans jammed the building to hear two contenders for the national leadership of the party present their views on the issues facing Canada today and how they, if elected to the post of Prime Minister, would solve them.

ROBERT WINTERS
. . . sound economy needed

The latest in the list of leadership hopefuls to meet the party supporters in the district were Justice Minister Pierre-Elliott Trudeau and Industry Minister Robert Winters.

Mr. Trudeau, seen in many quarters as the ultimate winner at the national convention in Ottawa next week, was given the noisiest reception when he arrived at the Club shortly after the departure of Mr. Winters but significantly his welcome came largely from the younger party supporters, many of them below voting age, while the delegates to the convention who will actually vote on the selection of the leader were decidedly less enthusiastic.

In his brief address, Mr. Trudeau declared that he would take steps to see that Canadian democracy is preserved with closer exchanges being established between the governors and the governed.

Dealing with the problem of Quebec, he repeated previous declarations that he did not favor what has been called a special status for Quebec.

He said he believed that the Canadian consitution provides all the provinces with the powers they need to handle their own affairs.

During his remarks, and at a press conference earlier, Mr. Winters outlined his beliefs in the field of social benefits.

Primarily, he said, the country needs a sound basis for economic stability so that it can develop in the way it deserves.

Citizens were entitled to social services, he said, but these can only be provided to the extent the economy of the country can afford them.

Economics were also important in promoting national unity and he believed that when the economic well-being of the people is achieved all sections of the country will be prepared to work together.

Touching on his own department of Industry, Mr. Winters said that export trade had been expanding in 1968, reaching the level of $12.3 billion dollars annually during the first two months of the year.

Who's going to win?

But this rate could only be maintained by eliminating undue strains on the economy.

In discussing the attitude of his fellow ministers to his candidacy, Mr. Winters claimed he had strong silent support within the cabinet.

"But, understandably, most ministers do not want to become too openly involved," he commented, "they will have to live together as party after the leadership convention."

He declared he did not favor an early election as the new Prime Minister should have an opportunity to prove his worth.

If his bid for the leadership were defeated, he would go through with his plan to quit the cabinet.

"My resignation has been in the hands of Prime Minister Pearson for some time," he said, "and I hope to hand over my portfolio to my successor before the end of March."

He offered no magical formula for solving the racial issue but declared that the French fact in Canada must be recognized.

In other field, he favored entry of Red China into the United Nations, providing of a more dynamic and useful role to the Senate, reorganization of the cabinet along functional lines and complete revision of governmental machinery.

About television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Transition of Kiss Me, Kate from stage to television did not help the plot much, but Cole Porter's witty lyrics and catchy tunes have stood up well over the years.

The 90-minute adaptation was presented Monday night on ABC, and was an eye-filling treat, with stunning sets and gay, colorful costumes.

The problem for television was the play-within-a-play device, moving back and forth between musical comedy and Shakespeare.

Robert Goulet, former CBC television star, in hose and doublet and wearing crepe mustachios and Van Dyke beard, swashbuckled around in his character of suitor and in one out-of-place flashback made a valiant effort at some broad comedy. As usual, he seemed most comfortable when he was singing.

Carol Lawrence, in her dual role of divorced wife of the star and Kate of the inner play, sang nicely and danced beautifully. While she played out the shrew scenes enthusiastically, she was not particularly convincing.

SCARCITY OF DANCE

Michael Callan, co-star of last season's Occasional Wife series, revealed some impressive song-and-dance talents when he was teamed with Jessica Walter as the second pair of star-crossed lovers. One of the disappointments of the show was the scarcity of dance numbers when there were dancers of the stature of Miss Lawrence and Callan around.

Miss Walter, as the funny naive golddigger, had the meatiest woman's part in the show and two of the most amusing songs. She gave it an innocent, girl-next-door reading and failed to make the most of it.

Marty Ingels and Jules Munshin were cast as a pair of fumbling comedy gangsters, an old device, and not particularly amusing.

Contemporary touches were injected in the 20-year-old book. Russell Nype was cast as an actor turned politician, and Goulet occasionally dropped some modern slang—he advised someone to keep his cool. None of these helped speed up the story's progress.

The Tony awards show, on NBC April 21, will honor the 1967-68 season's outstanding Broadway shows and performers and will present samples from four hits.

Pearl Bailey and the chorus of her Hello, Dolly will do a production number. Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme will sing a number from their Golden Rainbow. Robert Goulet and David Wayne will act out a scene from their Happy Time. And the ensemble of How Now. Dow Jones? will also perform.

Seeking a new life—Part 8

With the locomotive - drawn train spewing forth great clouds of black soot, Ted peered warily at the ground rushing by.

Then with a helpful foot planted against his posterior by a husky, raw - boned, scarlet-coated North West Mounted Police Officer, Ted found himself sailing through the air, not with the greatest of ease, returned to earth, and like a piece of tumbleweed rolled along the ground on Toronto's outskirts for about 50 feet.

He scrambled to his feet, dusted himself off and finding no broken bones joined up with his friend Jack who had leapt from the Winnipeg to Toronto train shortly before.

Ted Anderson and Jack Clow, two Scottish born immigrants had just completed a summer harvesting the wheat crop in Western Canada sponsored by a Canadian government project called Harvest Excursion.

The "helpful" NWMP officer on hearing that the two young men wanted to stay in Canada had suggested earlier that they might be able to save money and risk the chance of being deported as they were without a job, by "leaving the train" outside Toronto while he looked the other way.

Actually Ted and Jack, along with other immigrants had received their train fare to Montreal and their boat fare for the return trip to Scotland from the Canadian immigration in Winnipeg.

The Canadian government had also paid their way to Canada and their trip out West when they arrived in Canada in the summer of 1926.

The fellows first heard of the harvesting job from Canadian advertisements in Britain. The government guaranteed the men a job but following the harvesting season they were on their own either to remain in Canada or return to Scotland with their way paid by the Canadian government.

Ted decided to come to Canada as he had suffered mustard gas poisoning during the First World War and wanted to live in "a clearer climate."

Then too, although he had been a glass bottle blower in Scotland for 15 years, the profession was becoming mechanized and shortly before leaving for Canada he was laid off.

Both Ted and Jack got a job on the same farm owned by an American in Ponaka, Alberta.

The Glassgow - born boys, who had never set foot on a wheat farm before, soon found themselves stooking and later threshing wheat under the blazing prairie sun.

"Working from sunup to sundown was gruesome. The first night I don't think any of us slept a wink, the muscles in our arms and backs were just at the breaking point," Ted, who has been employed by the Sherbrooke Daily Record since 1935, recalls.

With a twinkle in his eye and a little chuckle Ted remembers some of their farm chores. Once their employer had them repair a leaky barn roof.

Although the word shingling meant nothing to them, Ted and Jack hastily grabbed a bundle of shingles, nails and hammer, and scampered up the ladder to the barn roof intent on the job at hand.

With great care the two "handymen" nailed down each single side by side and with the job completed they returned prodly to the farmhouse.

Accompanied by the farmer the boys trouped back to the barn where they had a splendid view of an impressive waterfalls gushing through the roof.

"Where we goofed was that we laid the shingles side by side instead of overlapping them, and the nails we drove in were making lots of holes in that roof. What our boss said is unprintable, but it was the finish of any repair job around that farm," Ted laughs.

Then there was the burned piglets affair. Twenty suckling pigs had upset acid over themselves and had to be destroyed. It was Ted and Jack's job to load the squealing pigs into a small truck.

"If you have ever tried putting piglets who have been badly burned into the back of a truck — boy, you'll find it's a real job. Jack would chase then back to the truck where I would be waiting with the tailgate open.

"But as we shoved one of the little pigs in I would forget that there already was a piglet in teh truck. So with the tailgate open he'd squirm his way out to freedom.

"This went on for about an hour, Ted says," as soon as I'd get two in the truck, two would get out." Eventually their boss came to the rescue and within ten minutes he had the little piglets safely in the truck with Ted and Jack working the tailgate.

It was on an October day in 1926 that Ted and Jack leapt from the train outside Toronto. Ted had an aunt and uncle living in Toronto and Jack had friends in Hamilton.

One day while in Toronto Ted heard there was a job opening with a taxidermist. He dropped around to the place and got a job boiling moose heads.

"If you have ever done anything in this line you would tackle anything at all. The smell alone from the boiling pots is enough to put you to sleep in a couple of minutes.

"You have to wear a mask and even this doesn't kill the fumes. Needless to say I didn't keep this job long," Ted says with a grimace.

New gold evaluation relieves the market

The free world has taken a long step towards the demonetization of gold, John Meyer, managing editor of the Montreal Gazette told members of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club, last night.

Referring to the imposition of the two level gold pricing system which took effect last week, following the gold markets' crisis, Mr. Meyer said this relieved business of "a whole lot of uncertainty."

The two-priced system means that a price of $35 an ounce will be maintained in transactions between central banks of different countries.

Prices in the private market are determined by demand and supply estimated at around $40 to $45 an ounce. The system was designed to stop wild speculative buying of gold bullion which swamped the London gold market. Now gold on the free market will sell at whatever price people are willing to pay without affecting the price of gold used for settling transactions among nations.

Mr. Meyer, former financial editor of The Gazette, said as a result of the two-priced system he did not think that there could be any possibility of the price of gold rising.

He pointed out that in the Paris market, gold prices never go beyond $40 an ounce.

"There's no reason for holding gold . . . unless you are prepared to abandon paper currency," said Mr. Meyer.

"For all practical purposes, the major countries are dealing in paper money."

Mr. Meyer said gold will continue to be a medium of exchange but its use will be limited.

He pointed out that in Paris and Zurich, gold is increasing as a commodity and decreasing as an exchange.

Since the crisis, the speaker said, he has noticed a general tone of relaxation among businessmen as opposed to the high frenzy of previous weeks.

He predicted that Canada would show growth after the midyear and gold would be demonetized within the next few years.

HISTORIAN SPEAKS ON DE GAULLE — Robert Aron, left, a French historian, has met and talked with the French president, controversial General Charles de Gaulle, spoke last night at the University of Sherbrooke on the political methods of the famous French leader. On the right is Jean Hupert, Dean of the Arts Faculty at the university, who introduced Mr. Aron.

Describes de Gaulle as man of foresight

General Charles de Gaulle was described last night by a French historian who said "we are lucky to have lived in the same years as France's famous leader."

The historian, Robert Aron, a man who has met and talked with General de Gaulle and who has written two books, one entitled The Story of Vichy and the other, the Story of the Liberation of France. Speaking at the University of Sherbrooke he described de Gaulle as a complex man.

He is a man of foresight, said Mr. Aron, who years before he came to power, knew what he wanted to do and how France should be governed.

Mr. Aron split the life of de Gaulle into two phases, the waiting stage and the years of action or accomplishments.

He has great patience, Mr. Aron stated, which he demonstrated particularly during the years of waiting.

De Gaulle was raised in the family tradition, Mr. Aron related, and he learned to respect authority and the state.

Mr. Aron said he once met de Gaulle when he was still an officer in the military, long before he became president of France, and even then his ideas on how to govern France, his political and social views, were those of the people.

The trouble occurred, however, he said, after the general became France's leader. He acted so rapidly he sometimes ignored the situation which confronted him and dealt with the problem which he hoped was there.

In other words, instead of facing the truth, he would confront a situation which he saw and which was not always the real one which was facing him.

But he could see the truth in a man he faced, said Mr. Aron, and he called you Monsieur in a fashion which might lead one to believe this address is not as complimentary as one might think.

Mr. Aron narrated how General de Gaulle handled certain situations and gave many examples of his efficiency with people.

When he was president of the provisionary government of the Republic of France in 1944, there were many Communists who had played a great role in the French resistance movement and who could not be ignored without causing internal chaos.

General de Gaulle bestowed on one man the position of Minister of the Airforce. This, to the Communist minister, was an apparently satisfactory position.

Que. confirms grant to local Y

The federal government confirmed yesterday it would allot a grant of $8,000 to the Sherbrooke Hi-Y Club and YM-YWCA to help defray the expenses of a teenage conference on bilingualism and biculturalism sponsored by the Hi-Y Club.

Ben Hannan, executive director of the local YM-YWCA said he received a letter yesterday afternoon definitely promising $8,000.

The government had previously promised a grant but had not set a final figure, mentioning it would be between $7,000 and $8,000.

Mr. Hannan said the 10 provinces would be represented at the teenage conference by student delegates.

The letter he received yesterday was signd by Rene Prefontaine, the Chief of the Travel and Exchange Division, Department of the Secretary of State, Canadian Citizenship Branch.

The first paragraph of the letter stated, "I am pleased to advise you that the Secretary of State, the Honorable Judy Lamarsh, has approved a grant in the amount of $8,000 to the Sherbrooke YM-YWCA and Hi - Y Club for its Experience and Biculturalism and Bilingualism for Teens who will attend the conference from April 15 to April 20."

The conference will cost approximately $15,000 said Mr. Hannan and the Hi-Y Club members are hoping to solicit the remaining money from local industries and businesses.

Mr. Hannan stated the club is trying to find accommodation for the visiting delegates and anyone interested may contact him at the YM-YWCA if you are interested and able to give lodging to a teenager during the conference.

Mr. Hannan said previously he would appreciate French - speaking families taking in a teenager from out of the province to give him a grass roots experience of bilingualism and biculturalism.

Fined $100 for illegal possession of liquor

A Katevale man was fined $100 by Judge Roland Dugre in Sherbrooke Sessions Court yesterday after the accused pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of illegal alcoholic beverages.

Lawrence Cote was arrested on Jan. 15 in possession of 245 ounces of illegal liquor.

The liquor was found and confiscated from his Katevale Road home.

At his arraignment Cote pleaded not guilty but at his preliminary hearing he changed his plea to guilty.

Pauline Jeanson, 23, of Sherbrooke, pleaded guilty in Sherbrooke Sessions Court yesterday to a charge of disturbing the peace.

The accused, upon arraignment, was sent to be examined by a psychiatrist, Dr. Paul Michaud, of Sherbrooke.

Appearing in Sessions Court, Dr. Michaud testified the accused was examined and that she was mentally responsible to face trial.

Judge Roland Dugre suspended sentence and ordered the homeless woman to post a $100 bond to keep the peace for one year.

The incident took place Mar. 11 in Richmond.

Gerard Cote, 50, of Berlin, New Hampshire, was fined $100 and was forbidden to drive an automobile in Canada for six months by Judge Roland Dugre in Sherbrooke Sessions Court yesterday after the accused pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving.

The incident occurred Mar. 25 in Cookshire.

Prof. wants Gov't commission

MONTREAL (CP) — Rev. Emile Bouvier, director of the department of political economy, University of Sherbrooke, Monday night called on the provincial government to set up an economic commission or "labor foundation" to establish a long-term public wages policy.

Father Bouvier, addressing a regional development society organized by communities on the south shore of the St. Lawrence River opposite Montreal, said such a policy would greatly influence private enterprise.

The commission, he said, should be composed of representatives of government, employers organizations, workers and consumers.

The organizations should be a "guide on wage increases." At the moment, there was no wage policy in the province.

Father Bouvier said the commission would assess employment opportunities and the labor market by regions

The big question in the US: Will LBJ run?

By ROD CURRIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Amid all the breathless speculation on who will contest, and win, the United States presidential nominations to be decided in summer conventions, the really big question, of course, is whether President Johnson will be in the race. He won't say.

Taking the stance of a wartime commander-in-chief concerned only about the troops in the field, and larding his speeches with quotations from Franklin D. Roosevelt and Winston Churchill, his posture is that of one above politics.

But from Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey down, assurance comes that Johnson will enter, win the Democratic nomination over Senators Robert Kennedy and Eugene McCarthy and then be re-elected in November over the probable Republican candidate, Richard M. Nixon.

THREAT FROM WITHIN

One has to go back to 1884 to find the last case in which an incumbent president—one Chester Alan Arthur—was denied the renomination he sought. But Johnson's highly regarded political antennae cannot have failed to detect the rumblings of fear and discontent within his country that could upset the traditional pattern.

Even aside from the bleak reports from the military and political fronts of Vietnam, a war claiming 500 American dead a week, the president has set before him daily a platterful of unappetizing election-year news—the budget crisis in Congress, the run on the dollar, the recent pessimistic report on U.S. race relations and the glowing progress reports from Kennedy and McCarthy bandwagons.

Still, the majority of political pundits are confident Johnson will be a candidate, not the least of his reasons being to keep Kennedy—otherwise almost certainly the party's nominee barring an unexpected McCarthy miracle—out of the White House.

Those who have observed him for years feel sure that only a strong indication he would lose, that his sense of place in history would be mortally scarred, could persuade Johnson to bow out. Even with a 50-50 chance, they feel, he would make a fight of it.

Those persons, particularly editorial writers and political observers abroad, who have the idea a man with the name of Kennedy has only to ask for the nomination, or that America's era of discontent will doom Johnson's bid, have much to learn about U.S. politics.

Johnson has not even begun to fight yet and he has behind him monumental resources for any showdown.

Aside from his power of patronage and—barring unprecedented defections—control of the party machine, he also has the unparallelled prestige and strength of the presidential office itself and its strategic ability to manoeuvre events and even create issues in any diversionary ploy.

WOULD BRING UPSET

The one thing that would certainly deflate peace candidates Kennedy and McCarthy would be some movement toward a Vietnam settlement, but there is no indication that even Johnson has that big an ace up his sleeve.

If his "non-political" speeches recently are any indication, Johnson will make his appeal to the bedrock of American patriotism, emphasizing that the country is at war and that the 500,000 men fighting it need the support of their country.

He will be persuasive, as indeed are Kennedy and McCarthy in their more sophisticated ways, but while much of the enthusiasm for these two so far has sprung from pre-voting-age America, Johnson will be aiming at the heart of the more mature, tradition-minded electorate.

Why not a neighborhood student exchange plan?

There have been a number of exchange program students visiting Sherbrooke over the past few years.

One group was here last week. Thirty-eight students from the Agincourt, Ont. Collegiate Institute visited the city in a program sponsored by the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews.

The schedule was typical of the student exchange programs. The English-speaking Ontario students stayed at the homes of French-speaking students, visited French-language schools and toured various points of interest in Sherbrooke. During the Easter weekend, the French-speaking students will visit the Agincourt students.

The main purpose of these programs has been to provide significant experiences in biculturalism. To a very large extent, they succeed admirably.

But shouldn't there also be some kind of program here to provide the same kind of experience for Eastern Townships students right in their own backyards?

There are many, many English-language teenagers in Sherbrooke and throughout the Townships who have never been in a French-language school, or stayed in a French Canadian home in this area. There are many more French-speaking teenagers who have little first-hand knowledge of their English-speaking neighbors.

And it is ironic that while there a number of schemes to develop mutual understanding among French and English-speaking students in different provinces, there is nothing comparable to develop the same kind of feelings among French and English-language students in the same city or town.

Teenagers of both language groups do mingle to a certain extent in the day-to-day life of any Townships community. But often, these meetings are either formalized as at sports events, or superficial as on a street.

The opportunities for French and English-language teenagers to actually sample each other's cultural values are not often promoted.

Perhaps this is a case of not being able to see the forest for the trees. But an intra-community exchange program set up along the lines of the inter-provincial ones is well worth considering.

Accident injuries are "minor" only to the fellow reading about them.

"Think the drum would be too ostentatious, Paul?"

Discontent in Poland

Student discontent, featured by parades, sit-ins and other forms of protest, apparently are not confined to the western, democratic world.

These displays of protest, which have become increasingly familiar in North America and Western Europe, now have their counterparts in Poland, where students have been engaged in a series of encounters with the college authorities and the police.

And like their counterparts in the West, the Polish uprisings seem to be based on youthful idealism coupled with impatience against the conventions, whether social or political, of their elders.

But what makes the Polish incidents significant is that they are occurring behind the Iron Curtain where assertions of independence by any segment of the population are viewed with extreme disfavor by the nation's leaders.

Unlike the Canadian, United States or British students, the Warsaw demonstrators are exposing themselves to far greater risks — for while a Western student takes his freedom to dissent for granted, a student in a Communist nation cannot.

The seeds of discontent lie deep in Poland, and 11 years ago the Communist government closed down a liberal student publication, causing three days of rioting.

Now discontent has risen again as a result of the state closing of a classic Polish play about Czarist oppression of that country.

No doubt the play was considered a potential affront to the Soviet Union, but to prohibit a drama of this particular theme was bound to have an inflammatory effect in a country with as pronounced a nationalistic consciousness as Poland.

With the return of the summer season, it is to be hoped that the flower children will prove to have been annuals rather than perennials.

TODAY in history

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
March 27, 1968 . . .

William Lyon Mackenzie was elected first mayor of Toronto, then a city of 100,000 people, 134 years ago—in 1834. Mackenzie was the leader of a reform movement, along with Robert Baldwin and Egerton Ryerson opposing the Tory "family compact" which ruled the province. Two years later, he led an unsuccessful rebellion against Lieutenant-Governor Sir Francis Bond Head.

1883—Pile o' Bones, later Regina, was made capital of the Northwest Territories which then included Albetra, Saskatchewan, Yukon and NWT.

1939—Hitler demanded Poland agree to German annexation of Danzig.

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1918—Montidier, Proyart, Morcourt and Albert were taken by German troops who advanced up the Ancre Valley to within 12 miles of Amiens; German troops were repulsed near Lassigny and Noyon; British airmen shot down 34 German planes and lost 19.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1943—RAF and RCAF bombers made a heavy attack on Berlin, dropping nearly 900 tons of bombs; nine bombers were lost, including two Canadian; Mosquito bombers attacked objectives in Holland.

The 14th such event

Open leadership conventions are a relatively new art in Canada

By BEN WARD

OTTAWA (CP) — Choosing a party's leader at an open national convention is a relatively new art among Canadian politicians.

The Liberal leadership convention here April 4-6 will be the 14th event of its kind since the Liberal party introduced the technique on a hot August day in 1919.

Since then the Liberals have held two other leadership contests, the Conservatives six, the CCF three and its successor, the New Democratic Party, one.

Until 1919 the election of a party leader was done behind closed doors by the parliamentary caucus. Usually the MPs and senators merely met to add a formal seal of approval to the outgoing leader's selection.

This wasn't always the case, though. Some bitter struggles were waged before a winner emerged from the wheeling and dealing.

The last example of this old-style method occurred in 1920 when Arthur Meighen took over as Conservative prime minister from Sir Robert Borden. Although the caucus was clearly for Meighen, most of his cabinet colleagues were opposed to him and it took several weeks to resolve the conflict.

OUTSIDER WON

Had the Liberals relied on MPs and senators to select their leader in 1919 it is doubtful whether William Lyon Mackenzie King ever would have become prime minister.

King had been defeated in the general elections of 1911 and 1917 after sitting for a term as MP for Waterloo North and serving as labor minister under Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

W. S. Fielding, the veteran finance minister under Laurier, was the favorite. Eight provincial premiers had thrown their support behind him.

But when the smoke cleared, King had won on the fourth ballot, 476 votes to 438. Then, as now, election required a simple majority of the votes cast by secret ballot.

In comparison with that first one, the Liberal leadership conventions of 1948 and 1958 were foregone conclusions. Louis St. Laurent, King's obvious choice for a successor, swept to a first-ballot victory over two opponents in 1948 and Lester B. Pearson repeated that performance in 1958.

The Conservatives adopted the convention approach in 1927 at Winnipeg when R. B. Bennett of Calgary overpowered five opponents on the second ballot.

Dr. R. J. Manion of Fort William succeeded Bennett in 1938, winning an Ottawa convention on the second ballot over four other contenders.

The Conservative convention returned to Winnipeg in 1942 when Manitoba Premier John Bracken triumphed in a five-man race. Again, it took two ballots.

George Drew, the Ontario premier, scored a first-ballot victory here in 1948 over John Diefenbaker and Donald Fleming.

Mr. Diefenbaker came back in 1956 after Mr. Drew's resignation to sweep the first ballot at an Ottawa convention. Mr. Fleming and Davie Fulton were left well behind.

Last September Premier Robert Stanfield of Nova Scotia led all the way to a fifth and final ballot on which he defeated Premier Duff Roblin of Manitoba, 1,150 to 969. The voting began with a field of 11, including Mr. Diefenbaker, Mr. Fulton and Mr. Fleming.

The CCF, founded in 1932, elected as its first leader J. S. Woodsworth. He was succeeded in 1942 by M. J. Coldwell, deputy leader and longtime heir apparent.

The Prayer for Today from The Upper Room

By grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast. (Ephesians 2:8-9).

PRAYER: Our merciful heavenly Father, we thank Thee for Thy forgiving love. Help us to accept it and rejoice in it. Give us victory over the sins of which we are painfully aware and open our eyes to those we do not see. In the name of Thy Son. Amen.

Bygone days

TEN YEARS AGO

The installation of the new executive of the Y's Men's Club took place at a meeting at the Magog Hotel. President Cliff Lamb took over from immediate past president Ken Strew.

The retiring president summarized the year's activities mentioning particularly the alterations which had been made at the summer camp. Club funds would need rebuilding he said and asked members to give their full support to the new president.

Next week's meeting will take the form of a curling party at Brae Manor, North Hatley.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

The monthly meeting of the Lennoxville and Ascot Community Association was held in the Gertrude Scott Hall.

Due to the absence of the president, W. G. MacDougall and vice-president, A. A. McKindsey, the chair was occupied by D. J. MacMillan, a member of the executive committee.

The group discussed a masquerade which was held recently and made plans for more activities during the spring and summer. The municipal committee will approach the town council regarding the zoning of the town for the election of aldermen and also to have the term of aldermen changed so that only half the number of council seats would be vacant each year.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

The award of a military medal to a sergeant from Sherbrooke and Stratford Centre, and a mention in the dispatches for a Magog staff sergeant were contained today in an army announcement of awards for 71 soldiers in Korea.

Sgt. Joseph Renaud Champoux, 26, of the 1st battalion Royal 22nd Regiment received the Military Medal for his gallantry in action. The mention in the dispatches went to Sgt. Charles Henri Vallieres, 40, also of the 1st battalion, Royal 22nd.

Leadership campaign — 8

MacEachen can come on like a tiger

By CARMAN CUMMING

OTTAWA (CP) — Health Minister MacEachen usually gives the impression of a soft-spoken intellectual, a moderate and reasonable man with an open mind.

But every now and then he comes on like a tiger.

He did so in the Commons a few weeks ago at one of the lowest points of the tax-bill crisis, when the opposition was riding Prime Minister Pearson for accusing them of trickery and of manufacturing a crisis.

Mr. MacEachen, the soft-spoken intellectual, scorched the opposing benches, repeated Mr. Pearson's accusations with trimmings and wound up: "If you don't like the heat, get out of the kitchen."

The performance was surprising, but not to those who know the 46-year-old bachelor as a tenacious man in matters close to his heart.

And Mr. MacEachen long has been a loyal follower of Mr. Pearson, the man he now hopes to succeed in the Liberal leadership race.

FIGHTS FOR MEDICARE

The performance was also in keeping with Mr. MacEachen's background in Nova Scotia politics, where infighting has been brought to a fine art and where Conservative opponents aren't hard to find.

Two of the things closest to Mr. MacEachen's heart since he entered the Liberal cabinet in 1963 have been the minimum wage and medical care insurance.

The first was embodied in the federal labor code he drafted as labor minister, and he fought for it through caucus, cabinet and Commons.

He also had to cope with two major labor crises in his first year in office—the St. Lawrence longshoremen's strike and the federal trusteeship of the Seafarers' International Union.

Mr. MacEachen raised the medical-care flag after being promoted to the health and welfare portfolio late in 1965. Since then his name has been almost synonomous with the plan and his tiger claws have shown more than once as it came under opposition.

When the plan's start was postponed in the fall of 1965, Mr. MacEachen was reported to be on the verge of breaking out of the cabinet. He wrote his resignation but did not submit it.

HE'S 'TRUE LIBERAL'

And when another postponement was debated this year, it was again Mr. MacEachen who anchored the go-ahead team.

The health minister also sponsored legislation on the Canada Assistance Plan, the Health Resources Fund and the guaranteed income supplement for the elderly.

He is known as a leader of the cabinet's left wing and he does not reject the designation, although he prefers to refer to himself as a "true Liberal."

He has sought the Liberal leadership on the platform that the party needs a man who will stand in clear contrast to the "classical conservatism" of Conservative Leader Stanfield.

He has defined liberalism as "the wholehearted willingness to meet every new age, every new society, with new outlooks and new policies."

He says the Conservatives have opted for caution and conformity, and implies that some of his colleagues have edged in the same direction.

WORKED FOR LBP

Mr. MacEachen's left-wing views are rooted deeply in the tough Cape Breton coal country, where his father was a miner.

Along with five of his fellow candidates for the leadership, he was educated partly abroad, at the University of Chicago and Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

He was a professor of economics at his alma mater, St. Francis Xavier University in Antigonish, N.S., at the riding of Inverness-Richmond in a federal election, and he ran successfully.

But in 1958 he lost by 16 votes in the Conservative sweep and retired to five years of backroom work as an aide to Mr. Pearson, then Opposition leader.

At the same time he made himself an expert on Commons rules, which proved useful to the cabinet in 1963.

PAPER, PAPER EVERYWHERE—This was the scene last Friday morning as a large load of cardboard and paper tied in bales tumbled from the truck carrying them. Traffic was slowed for three hours on the main thoroughfare as police Constables Quintal and Labonte waited for a tractor from Granby to clear up the mess. The accident occurred at about 8:15 a.m. when the driver of the truck, Denis Forand, Granby, appeared to have attempted the turn too quickly from Highway 1, left onto the Warden Road. The truck is owned by Denis & Robert, Granby.

To open regional school tenders

COWANSVILLE — (Staff) — A spokesman for the district of Bedford Protestant regional school board said that tenders for the construction of the new regional school will be opened at a public meeting at the Cowansville town hall, Thursday, starting at 7 p.m.

Tenders for sewers and waterlines will be opened at 7 p.m., landscaping at 8 p.m., and the general contract at 9 p.m.

The tenders for the sewers and waterlines will be opened alternately by the chairmen of the Missisquoi regional board and the district of Bedford board with the secretary-treasurer of the Bedford board reading the tender opened by the chairman of the Missisquoi board.

Tenders opened by the chairman of the Bedford board will be read by the secretary - treasurer of the Missisquoi board. This practice will be followed for the general contract.

In the case of the landscaping tenders, the town of Cowansville will participate with the mayor opening the first tender, to be read by the secretary - treasurer of the Missisquoi board, the second by the chairman of the Bedford board, to be read by the Cowansville secretary - treasurer, and the third by the chairman of the Missisquoi board, to be read by the secretary - treasurer of the Bedford board and so on.

Forms will be provided to persons attending the meeting, allowing them to record all pertinent information, including name of bidder, amount of tender, verification of post mark, verification of bid bond and verification that a resolution authorizing signature of bid is enclosed.

There will be a slide presentation of the new school shown following opening of the tenders for the general contract, and the scale model of the school complex will be on display.

Members of both the Missisquoi and Bedford boards hope that the public will display their interest by attending the meeting.

The committee will report to a joint board meeting on April 1 on acceptance or rejection of the bids.

Sweetsburg Courts

Former Bromont Inc. treasurer gets 18 months

SWEETSBURG WARD — (Staff) — Albert Racicot, 30, Montreal, a former Bromont Incorporated treasurer was sentenced to 18 months in jail and fined $1,000 or an additional three months for having defrauded the company of $37,639.61 during 1965 and 1966.

Racicot pleaded guilty to the 29 charges in Bedford District Court, March 12.

Crown Prosecutor Claude Noiseux suggested that he be sentenced to 18 or 24 months and left the decision to Sessions court Judge Gerard Normandin.

Defence Counsel Real Gagnon, Montreal, cited a similar case where an individual was handed a suspended sentence.

Judge Normandin remarked that the case Mr. Gagnon referred to was special and had no bearing on Racicot's.

Mr. Gagnon said that Racicot had no previous record, was the father of three children and had indicated signs of rehabilitation by his having worked since he was dismissed by Bromont Inc. Mr. Gagnon asked Judge Normandin to consider the one month Racicot had spent in preventative detention before rendering his sentence.

Judge Normandin remarked prior to sentence that Racicot had perpetrated the frauds over a two year period, and that he had ample time to think of his actions during that time. Judge Normandin said that he had no intention of sending Racicot to penitentiary as it is not the best school of rehabilitation available. He recommended in his judgment that Racicot be detained in Sweetsburg pending opening of the new jail, slated for April 6.

* * *

Maurice Fortin, Quebec, who had previously pleaded guilty before Judge Gerard Normandin on 19 charges of fraud in the Granby-Waterloo area during the autumn of 1966, was sentenced in Bedford District Court March 22.

Defence Counsel Yves Lagace told Judge Normandin that in reality there should have only been 16 charges as three cheques issued to Mr. Fortin were stopped. Mr. Lagace said that Mr. Fortin was able to pay back all but $30 of the $1,360 owed providing his $500 cash bail was released. Mr. Lagace said that he would provide the $30 to clear up the payment.

Mr. Lagace told Judge Normandin that Mr. Fortin was employed with a minimum salary and was the sole support for his children.

Crown Prosecutor Claude Noiseux said the costs in the case had been prohibitive, and asked for a $300 fine and a suspended sentence.

Mr. Lagace said that the fine was exorbitant, and suggested it be reduced and Mr. Fortin granted ample time to pay it.

Judge Normandin fined Fortin $200 on the first charge and suspended sentence on the remaining 15. Fortin was granted three months to pay the fine or in default one month.

The cases of Fortin and Racicot were the last ones left from the last term of the Bedford District Assizes, when they had requested trial before a judge.

Claudette Houde Larivee, 21, and Claude Auger, 28, of Sherbrooke, pleaded not guilty to having defrauded Mrs. Pierette Courtemanche, Granby, of $28. March 20. Trial was fixed for March 26.

MRS. GORDON BROWN, OF COBURG, ONT., Formerly of Danville

DANVILLE — Funeral services were held in Trinity United Church here on Friday, March 8, 1968, for Mrs. Gordon Brown, of Coburg, Ont., a former Danville resident.

Rev. Douglas Hawkins, who officiated at the service, spoke of the courage she had displayed, when, widowed at an early age, she had resumed her nursing career and brought up and educated her two sons.

Living in Coburg with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. F. Thorburn Brown (Bunny), Mrs. Brown had fractured a hip and was hospitalized for several weeks until the time of her death.

Mrs. Brown, widow of Dr. Gordon Brown, who had died here during the influenza epidemic of 1918, had the distinction of being the first registered nurse, to work for Canadian Johns-Manville in that capacity. Starting with a small first aid room, arrangements were made later for a small private hospital of which Mrs. Brown was the sole member of the staff for several years. As her two sons Thorburn and John, grew older, Mrs. Brown moved to the United States. Dr. John Brown is a dentist in Andover, Mass., while Thorburn returned to Coburg, Ont., where he is a student counsellor.

The remains were accompanied here by Mr. and Mrs. Thorburn Brown, of Coburg, and their son, Thorburn Brown Jr., of Montreal, while Dr. John Brown, of Andover, was accompanied by his wife and two of his three daughters, the Misses Helen and Jane Brown. Another granddaughter, of Coburg, Ont., was also unable to attend.

GEORGE MOSHER, OF AYER'S CLIFF

AYER'S CLIFF — George A. Mosher, a resident of Ayer's Cliff and Massawippi for his lifetime, died at the Grace Christian Home, Huntingville, on Thursday, Feb. 29, 1968.

Mr. Mosher was an employee of the railroad after finishing his education. He was employed by the Boston and Maine and later by the Quebec Central Railway when they purchased the B. and M. line. For many years Mr. Mosher was foreman of the steel gang working both sides of the International Border. Later he was section foreman for the Quebec Central.

On the side he did some farming for he loved the farm. He retired from the railroad 15 years ago and had been in failing health since.

For the past few years he had been hospitalized and in nursing homes. He went to the Grace Christian from Coaticook about a week prior to his death.

Mr. Mosher was mayor of the municipality of Ayer's Cliff for six years when he resigned. He was an active member of the Ayer's Cliff Fair board for numerous years and at the time of his death was an honorary member of the Association. Today we are umpires in a dispute between North and South. Playing at four spades, South had to follow while West cashed his ace and king of clubs. West shifted to a spade and South was in but he had no way to collect 10 tricks. He had lost two clubs, and now proceeded to give up a heart trick. Later on this allowed him to discard a diamond on dummy's fourth heart, but he still had to concede the setting trick to the ace of diamonds.

North felt that South's four spade call was bad. He pointed out that with 16 high card points he had shown admirable restraint in not going right to four spades himself, and for proof of his brilliance North pointed out that South did make three spades.

South felt that he would have been an abject coward if he hadn't gone on to game after North's three spade bid.

We have had trouble deciding. South was right and North was wrong. South had nine high card points, five pretty good trumps, both red kings and a doubleton club. He would have been a coward if he had stopped short of game after North bid three.

North was correct about one thing. He did have 16 high card points. What North overlooked was that he could take those three points represented by the queen and jack of clubs and give them away. They weren't worth anything to him!

A good bidder knows that point count is generally accurate, but he also knows that cards, not points, take tricks. North could see that the queen and jack of clubs had no trick value at all.

That is, he could have seen —if he had done anything but add points. West had bid a club and East had raised him. They surely held both ace and king of clubs for their bids, and that queen and jack were just so much waste paper.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Hyperinsulinism--- A Puzzling Condition

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Having received several questions about hypoglycemia or hyperinsulinism, I will try to clarify some features of this puzzling condition. Its chief characteristic is an abnormally low blood sugar level (the normal fasting level is 60 to 100). Hypoglycemia is not a single disease as several different types are recognized. In the commonest form, a person whose nervous system is high-strung secretes an overabundance of insulin two to four hours after a meal that is high in sugars and starches.

These persons must follow a diet that is low in carbohydrates. They will get plenty of sugars and starches in foods that are rich in protein. The fats in their diet will supply the needed energy.

Although hypoglycemia is the opposite of diabetes, which is characterized by an insulin deficiency, a few persons with mild diabetes produce an overabundance of insulin when their blood sugar level reaches the diabetic level (over 120). This rebound reaction pulls the blood sugar level below normal and causes the symptoms of hypoglycemia—sweating, weakness, trembling, anxiety, hunger and nausea. Hypoglycemia also occurs from time to time in diabetics who get an overdose of insulin.

Another type of hypoglycemia is caused by a tumor of the pancreas in which the amount of functioning insulin-producing tissue is increased. When such a tumor is recognized, it should be removed because, even though it is benign, it may become cancerous in time.

Still another, though rarer, cause is a hereditary condition in which the liver fails to store glycogen (a sugar reserve). This is observed chiefly in infants and children. Hyperinsulinism may also result from taking large amounts of alcohol on an empty stomach, insecticide poisoning, large doses of sulfa and other drugs. Glucagon injections are useful in the treatment of some victims. Injections of the long-acting zinc glucagon mentioned in earlier columns are still experimental.

Thus it can be seen that, although all of the diseases resulting in a low blood sugar may produce the same symptoms, all cannot be expected to respond to the same treatment.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Winner will need a simple majority

OTTAWA (CP) — While the nine major candidates for the Liberal leadership scour the country for delegate support, organizers at their campaign headquarters carefully count up the likely score.

Their often-conflicting claims indicate no candidate has a "safe" area.

It will take a simple majority of the possible 2,475 delegate votes to win the election on the final day of the April 4-6 leadership convention in the new Ottawa Civic Centre. Nobody is yet claiming to have the verdict sewed up on an early ballot.

Quebec is a good example of the uncertainty.

Manpower Minister Marchand, campaign organizer for Justice Minister Trudeau claims 80 per cent of Quebec's 627 eligible delegates will support Mr. Trudeau on the first ballot.

But workers for External Affairs Minister Martin, Transport Minister Hellyer, Finance Minister Sharp and Trade Minister Winters say his figure is far too optimistic.

SAYS TWO HAVE LEAD

An experienced aide for another minister-candidate who is not particularly strong in Quebec, and admits it, sums up the situation this way: "Trudeau and Martin are doing well there, Sharp and Hellyer are doing better than most people think, and the rest are pretty well out of it."

But a spokesman for Eric Kierans, the only major candidate outside the federal cabinet, says the former Quebec revenue minister has the declared backing of 200 to 250 of the province's delegates.

Mr. Kierans may draw some support from Quebec delegates who are members of the provincial Liberal association, of which he was president and for which he toured the province last year.

A possible tipoff to a division among Quebec delegates is the manner in which the Quebec ministers in the cabinet have distributed their support.

Mr. Trudeau is backed by Mr. Marchand and Bryce Mackasey, minister without portfolio.

Mr. Sharp has Mines Minister Pepin, Revenue Minister Chretien and Industry Minister Drury.

GETS CABINET SUPPORT

Mr. Hellyer has the support of Defence Minister Cadieux. Mr. Winters is being aided by Postmaster-General Cote and Mr. Martin has the endorsation of Forestry Minister Sauve.

Five Quebec newspapers have taken stands on the issue of Mr. Trudeau's candidacy, three in support of him and two opposed.

The Montreal Star, Quebec Le Soleil and the Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph are backing him. Montreal Le Devoir and Quebec L'Action are opposed.

Of the 43 Quebec Liberal MPs, excluding the cabinet, 24 have publicly indicated support for Mr. Trudeau. The justice minister had been hoping for a larger figure.

Jean Lesage, the provincial Liberal leader, has opted out of the leadership affair. He says none of the 26 delegate votes allocated to Liberal opposition in the legislature will be used, chopping the Quebec bloc at the convention to 601.

Only two non-Quebec cabinet ministers have given clear indications to support for any candidate. Treasury Board President Benson is helping Mr. Trudeau and State Secretary Judy LaMarsh is working for Mr. Hellyer.

That leaves eight cabinet ministers other than the prime minister still on the sidelines, although as many as four may take sides before the convention begins.

Man found guilty of indecent assault

A 12-man jury, after nearly two hours of deliberation found Richard Stickles, accused of raping an 18-year-old East Angus girl, guilty of indecent assault yesterday following the accused's five-day trial in Sherbrooke Superior Court.

Mr. Justice Evender Veilleux sentenced Stickles, 25, to six months in prison.

After rendering a verdict, the jury asked the court if it were possible to read aloud two observations made by the jury during the trial.

The jury foreman then said, "We, the members of the jury, feel in this case the parents of the victim should be on trial for allowing a young daughter to frequent hotels and dances where alcoholic beverages are sold."

The incident took place following a dance at which the accused became intoxicated along with a second accused, George Mosher.

"Secondly," continued the jury foreman, "we, the members of the jury, feel the liqour police are not doing a very good job in letting incidents like this happen by not watching more closely the visits of minors to such places."

After a short period of deliberation the jury returned to ask Judge Veilleux two questions.

The first question dealt with the exact difference between rape and indecent assault. The second question was about certain testimony given by the victim.

When the jury returned and handed down the verdict of guilty, not of rape, but of indecent assault, Crown prosecutors Stanley Steinman and Andre Langlais asked for an individual polling on the verdict of all 12 jury men.

All 12 men answered guilty of indecent assault.

Prior to deliberation, Judge Veilleux addressed the jury.

In essence he said the jury had three choices; guilty of rape, guilty of indecent assault or acquittal.

He also cautioned the jury on the credibility of an accomplice's testimony saying it was always dangerous to convict an accused on such evidence alone.

On the point of corroboration of testimony he said the victim's testimony was not corroborated but was consistent wih that given at the preliminary hearing.

The incident took place last Dec. 24 in the municipality of Sawyerville.

The trial was held in camera.

To feature choir music

STANSTEAD — The 20th annual Easter Festival of Choir music, sponsored by the Northeast Council of Churches, will be held on Palm Sunday, April 7, at 8 p.m. in Centenary Church, Stanstead. Final plans were made at a committee meeting held March 18 at the home of Mrs. Dean Laflam in Derby.

The festival will again this year feature an ecumenical presentation as both Protestant and Roman Catholic churches will participate.

Richard Croudis, of Newport, will be director and Reg. Seguin will preside at the organ for the massed choirs of between 150 and 200 voices.

The members of the planning committee this year are Mrs. Adrien Aeschliman, chairman, Craftsbury; Rev. Albert Albiston, Mansonville; Charles Barrows, Glover; Mrs. Roger Gilpin, Coventry and Mrs. Laflam, Derby.

The choirs will come from points of Vermont and the Eastern Townships. The annual event is looked forward to each year as a part of the Easter festivities and a general invitation is extended all music lovers to attend.

SPEAKING OUT — President Johnson tells a labor audience that his administration has built mighty foundations for American society "and we are not going to sit by and let them be torn down in a partisan, political election year." The President spoke at a legislative conference of the AFL-CIO building and construction trades department in a Washington hotel.

QUEBEC SCENE:

Break would start exodus

MONTREAL — (CP) — A new book Option-Canada, says the separation of Quebec from the rest of Canada would lead to a massive withdrawal of capital and an exodus of the professionally trained, both French— and English-speaking.

Option - Canada, written by Quebec economist Andre Brichant, was launched Tuesday by the Canada Committee, a Montreal based bilingual group dedicated to the preservation of Canada.

The bilingual, paperback volume "is concerned with the simple truth that no political or cultural institution can exist unless it is founded on a sound economic structure," the author says.

A withdrawal of capital from the province "would spell disaster for Quebec."

Mr. Brichant states his firm belief in the free enterprise system and adds that if a socialist government were ever installed in Ottawa, "the country would disintegrate."

The book takes its title from a book recently published by Rene Levesque, Option-Quebec, in which Mr. Levesque advocates a sovereign Quebec with economic ties with Canada.

"And we have reason to believe telephone spying exists on government lines."

Phones tapped

QUEBEC — (CP) — Quebec government officials remain convinced their telephones have been tapped even though an investigation by provincial police found no proof of alleged "telephone spying," says a spokesman for Premier Johnson's office.

"At least one minister is convinced his telephone line is tapped," the spokesman said,

Drops charge

MONTREAL — (CP) — Judge Jacques Trahan Tuesday dismissed a charge of disobeying a court order brought against a Montreal weekly newspaper and one of its reporters.

Le Petit Journal and reporter Jacques Fortin had been charged with publishing last November a photograph of a Crown witness at the trial of Georges Lemay after Judge Trahan forbade papers to use photographs of the witness.

Found alive

GODBOUT, Que. — (CP) — Three Montrealers believed lost in the bush 235 miles northeast of Quebec City near here since last Saturday were found alive and well Monday.

The men had left March 17 to build a fishing club and were scheduled to return last Thursday. When they had failed to show up by Saturday a helicopter was sent to search the area.

Planning analyst will address club members

Maurice Bourque, Planning Analyist of Alcan Design Homes Ltd., will address the Eastern Townships Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada Thursday March 28.

Mr. Bourque, who was born and raised in Sherbrooke, will speak to the members at the Social Club, 688 Prospect Street, during their dinner meeting.

Mr. Bourque graduated from the University of Sherbrooke in 1962 with a degree in electrical engineering, and joined the Canadian Marconi Company as a field support engineer in connection with navigational radar systems.

His work took him to Europe and the United States where he acted as an instructor in the theory and operation of such systems to governments and private firms.

During this period, he developed a keen interest in housing and urban planning because of the problems he saw around him.

As a result, he took a two-year post graduate course in Regional Planning at the University of Montreal.

Mr. Bourque graduated with a Master's degree in 1966. Since then he has been an analyst and consultant in the housing and urban renewal fields with Planning Consultants and with Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

from a man in Windsor, Ontario who told Ted his firm, which manufactured ladies undergarments, was opening a branch plant there.

The wiry Scotsman was employed at the Sherbrooke plant but was laid off in 1934 when the plant shut down. After spending most of the winter knee deep in water as a construction worker on the Langlois Canal, Ted accepted a position as janitor at the Sherbrooke Daily Record in 1935 and has been with the company ever since.

When he looks back over his 30 years in Canada Ted says he never "regrets coming" here and adds that most of his Scottish friends who came to harvest the wheat crop back in 1926 stayed in Canada.

In Memoriam

ROBERTSON — In loving memory of our loved one Ruth Anna, who passed away on March 27, 1959.
What would we give her hand to clasp,
Her patient face to see,
To hear her voice, to see her smile,
As in the days, that used to be.
But some day we'll meet again,
Beyond the toil and strife,
And clasp each other's hand once more,
In heaven that happy life.

E.T. communities hold Day of Prayer services

COOKSHIRE

COOKSHIRE — A service of prayer and committment was held on March 1, the World Day of Prayer, in Trinity United Church Hall. The theme was Bear one another's burdens, and had been prepared by Mrs. Rathie Selvaratnam, of Ceylon, chairman of the Asian Church Women's Conference.

A short business meeting was held prior to the service, with Mrs. Louise Parry in charge. A moment of silence was observed in memory of three who had died during the year, Miss Florence French, Mrs. Gertrude Cleveland and Mr. Stanley McVetty. Mrs. Parry then gave a prayer.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. Vogell, following which the prayer service was conducted by Mrs. D. J. Macmillan.

Five hymns were interspersed throughout the service. Prayers and readings were given for adoration and thanksgiving. The Litany was read and the Lord's Prayer repeated in unison. Miss Lucy Hodge read the Scripture lesson from Galatians. Readings were given on Divine Love, Divine Love Pleads· Divine Love Stoops to Conquer, Divine Love Commissions, on Penitence, Intercession and Dedication.

Mrs. D. J. Macmillan gave the message of the theme, which dealt with the Parable of the Prodigal Son. Mrs. Vogell received the offerings and Mrs. Heatherington acted as pianist for the service. Others participating were Mrs. Darker, Mrs. Desruisseux, Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. Ross, Mrs. D. Standish and Mrs. R. B. Learned.

A similar service was conducted in the High School, with the teachers and pupils participating. The collections from both groups will be forwarded to the Inter-Church Council of Canada in Toronto, where it will be distributed for projects in Africa, Burma, Egypt, England, Ethiopia, Formosa, France, Hong Kong, India, Indonesia, Japan, Kashmir, Korea, Nepal, Pakistan, South America, Switzerland, Vietnam, West Indies· Brazil, Canada and the United States.

Twins' Kaat still bothered with elbow trouble, Chicago drop Bob Shaw, Jim O'Toole

Spring training will be a little late this year for Jim Kaat, but Bob Shaw and Jim O'Toole are wondering whether it will come at all for them.

Shaw and O'Toole, once two of baseball's top pitchers, were looking for employment today after the Chicago White Sox dropped them Tuesday. At the same time, the Sox gave veteran slugger Rocky Colavito a new chance by selling him to the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Kaat, Minnesota's ace lefthander who pitched the Twins to the 1966 pennant, started his spring training Monday by hurling 15 minutes of batting practice, and that was as far as he got.

The sore elbow that plagued him last year was back again. Kaat's next appearance is not expected until after the season begins April 8.

Jim Bunning, however, indicated he still is one of the National League's indestructible pitchers.

The new Pirate, acquired from Philadelphia last winter, hurled a two-hitter for eight innings as Pittsburgh downed Boston 2-1 on Manny Mota's two-run homer in the first.

In other games, Cincinnati belted Los Angeles 7-2, the New York Mets blanked St. Louis 1-0, Atlanta edged Baltimore 2-1, Detroit clobbered Washington 8-0, San Francisco nipped the Chicago Cubs 3-2, California bounced Cleveland 6-2, Minnesota topped the New York Yankees 4-2 and the White Sox shut-out Oakland 4-0.

FAILED TO HEAL

The 29-year-old Kaat, who won 25 games in 1966, fell to 16-13 last season. A snapped ligament in his left elbow suffered last Sept. 30 failed to heal completely during the winter.

The elbow still twinges when he throws breaking pitches and Minnesota trainer George Lentz said Kaat will do no more pitching in regular spring training. Twins' President Calvin Griffith said there is a strong possibility Kaat will be on the 15-day disabled list at the start of the season.

Shaw, 34, a 10-year veteran who pitched the White Sox to the 1959 pennant and later starred for Milwaukee and San Francisco, planned to talk to Boston and Pittsburgh for a trial.

O'Toole, 31, whose 19 victories helped Cincinnati to the 1961 pennant, had a sore shoulder most of 1967 after the Sox acquired him from the Reds. He and Shaw each started this season as free agents.

A former World Series hero, pitcher Larry Sherry, was cut by the Houston Astros, who also named outfielder Jackie Brandt a player-coach with Dallas-Fort Worth in the Texas League.

Eagles stop Tigers 3-1 for first win of series, Guy Black is injured

By LEN O'DONNELL
(Sports Editor)

VICTORIAVILLE — Drummondville Eagles, playing under severe handicaps, last evening came through with their best game of the Quebec Provincial Senior Hockey League playoffs to chalk up their first victory of current battle for the league title.

The Eagles posted a 3-1 win over the Victoriaville Tigers. In the first two games the Tigers ran away with 7-2 and 9-5 decisions to take a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven. The next game is slated in Drummondville Thursday or Friday evening.

Coach Jean Therrien was minus two of his top forwards in Bob Eastman and Rollie Leclerc. Eastman suffered a slight concussion Sunday in the second game in Drummondville while Leclerc has a slipped disc.

The game got away on time but just a few minutes after Claude Cyr, while pulling off a big save, twisted too fast and pinched a nerve in his back. The game was delayed until a doctor appeared and following quick treatment returned to his position. The Eagles had a few anxious moments since their second goalie, Yvon Houle, is in the hospital having his broken hand attended to.

Cyr, who was obliged to play in a crouch position all during the game, came up with a terrific performance in holding the fast-moving Tigers to one goal. Time after time he robbed them on their hard drives. He never gave up a single rebound all evening.

In the middle session and final period Cyr came through with the big saves. He stopped a total of 39 shots during the fray compared to 31 by Hardy. In the middle period Cyr blocked 17 shots with 14 in the final stanza.

The Eagles played their best all-around tilt. They got the jump in the first period and never during the game did they let up. They always had a man on the puck and didn't let the Tigers get organized.

The Eagles had only thirteen players in uniform and Coach Therrien was obliged to reshift his lines but this didn't stop his crew from going all-out. They looked like the club which won the Allan Cup a year ago. On the other hand the Tigers were slow in getting started, in fact they had trouble in trying to get moving.

Garneau got in but his drive nicked the post. Pierre Potvin came right back but Cyr held on to rob the fast - moving pivotman of a sure goal. Play kept moving back and forth at a terrific clip without a letup. The Eagles kept the pressure on and the Tigers just couldn't get a good play organized.

Mike Labrosse, who was a tower of strength all during the game, potted the first goal of the game after passes from Ronnie Roberts and Gordie Haworth. This gave the Eagles more drive and they kept punching. It was the only goal of the period. Cyr, who was in a crouch, had some difficulty in getting up once he would go down but he managed to keep his net clear.

In the dying minutes of the period Larry Drouin broke in alone on Cyr but the veteran netminder slid out to block him on the breakaway. It was a key save and was a terrific one for the Eagles who were caught up the ice at the time.

In the middle session the Eagles kept driving. Roger Cote was in Hardy made a save and when the disc rolled out in front he took a swipe at it but Hardy dropped on it. Mentis came back but Cyr blocked him off. Drouin came right back but again Cyr dropped on the rubber to rob him for the second time.

Jean-Claude Garneau put the Eagles out in front 2-0 when he tipped in a nice passing play with Mike Labrosse and Bob Lepage. Lagueux was in the cooler at the time serving a misconduct for voicing his opinion too strongly and his mates were doing double-duty.

Johnny Mentis got tagged but at the same time in their excitement to get the extra player on the ice the Eagles got pegged with too many on the ice. Cyr was just near the big circle when the Drummondville player jumped on the ice.

Therrien let go with a hard drive which nicked the post. Just at this period Guy Black slid into the boards and was carried off the ice. It was a tough break. He was taken to the hospital for an x-ray and his condition will be known today.

Pierre Potvin went off for slashing. The Eagles jumped to the attack. Mike Labrosse missed in front and so did Therrien. Hardy was at his best at this point. Jacques Michel potted the first tally of the Tigers when he snared a rebound in front of Cyr and lifted it into the net.

The Tigers, following this, commenced to buzz around and the Eagles were having trouble trying to get out of their own zone. They were applying the pressure but Cyr and company held the fort.

Gordie Haworth got away and when he crossed the blueline he let go with a low bouncer which Hardy misjudged and the puck rolled between his legs into the net. This took a little steam out of the Tigers but they kept driving.

The Eagles, with victory in sight, came through with some fine checking and at every opportunity dumped the puck. The last few minutes of the game was a wide-open affair with the Tigers in command but the Eagles held on till the final siren.

The Tigers were a little off color and didn't jump to the attack from the opening whistle and this cost them the game. They had two wins to their credit and may have figured they were going to back in but the Eagles surprised them with their all-out effort.

Penguins edge Kings 2-1 to upset experts, Habs visit Leafs tonight

Pittsburgh Penguins just aren't supposed to be in the National Hockey League playoffs, but apparently no one has told them yet.

But then, for that matter, neither are Los Angeles Kings and they are tied with Philadelphia Flyers for the Western Division lead.

It all started last summer when the NHL expanded to 12 teams from six. The Penguins and the Kings were picked to wind up out of the playoffs while Oakland Seals were considered a shoo-in along with Minnesoto North Stars and the Flyers.

Of course, as in most sporting endeavours, nothing ever quite works out as the pundits and arm-chair experts predict so there were the Penguins beating the Kings 2-1 Tuesday to prolong their remote playoff hopes while the Seals are not only out of the playoffs, but almost out of Oakland.

DIDN'T GIVE UP

Scrambling along in fifth place in the west three points behind St. Louis Blues with three games remaining, the Penguins just won't give up and got goals Tuesday from Ab McDonald and Earl Ingarfield while Lowell MacDonald scored for the Kings.

The loss didn't help the Kngs much either as it held them in the first-place tie when a victory or even a tie would have given them an important edge on the Flyers.

The North Stars are four points beind the leaders with the Blues another three points off the pace.

The Penguins are in a fair way to pick up a couple more important points tonight when they play the Seals in Oakland while the Blues have to tangle with the Flyers in St. Louis and the North Stars are in Los Angeles.

Montreal Canadiens are in Toronto in the Eastern Division, which Montreal leads by a growing eight points.

HAS NO EFFECT

The game can have no bearing on any standings, since the Canadiens sewed up the eastern title Saturday while the Leafs have been out of the playoffs for several days.

The Penguins shouldn't have won the game Tuesday, except for the exceptional netminding of Les Binkley.

The Owen Sound, Ont., native handled 42 shots, 12 of them in the first period and 16 in the third while Terry Sawchuk had only 17 chances in all.

But Pittsburgh problems almost pale in comparison with those of the Flyers, who still don't have any real idea of where their playoff games will be scheduled.

Morrisburg Combines, team without a league, open Allan Cup playoffs against Corner Brook Friday night

MORRISBURG, Ont. (CP) — Morrisburg Combines are a senior team without a home and a league, but they are in the hunt for the Allan Cup, emblematic of the senior hockey championship of Canada.

The Combines open a best-of-five series against Corner Brook Royals in the Newfoundland city Friday where all the series games will be played.

The Combines were forced to play exhibition games this year when the St. Lawrence Valley League changed to Intermediate from Senior.

Then a junior team moved into the Combines' home rink in this community 47 miles south of Ottawa and got a franchise in the Ontario Central Junior league.

The junior team folded in December but the Combines had signed a contract to play their exhibition games in Brockville, 30 miles west of this community of 2,000 and had to play there for the rest of the year.

FIRST STEP

The series against the Royals in the first step on the long road to the Allan Cup with power Ontario and Quebec teams still in the running.

The Combines have been in operation for five seasons under coach Ralph Hurley and manager Murray Ball. Two years ago, the Combines were eliminated in four straight games by Sherbrooke Beavers in the eastern semi-final.

Last year, the Combines won the St. Lawrence Valley senior will act as back-up netminder to rookie Bob Carkner.

MAY ADD ANOTHER

Ball said Tuesday he may also pick up Bob Fawcett from the 67s. Fawcett had four goals and five assists with the Ottawa team in its first year in the 10-team junior series.

Ball said Fawcett scored a goal and added an assist in two exhibition games with the Combines against a Syracuse, N.Y., all-star team last weekend.

Defenceman Pat Brophy was an all-star in the United States while in college and Allie Cameron, 37, has been with the club since it started.

Don Wilson and Harold Jordan rinks still undefeated in Seniors curling championship

EDMONTON (CP) — Don Wilson's Saskatoon rink and Harold Jordan's Kimberley, B.C., foursome were the rinks to beat today at the midway point in the Canadian seniors curling championships.

Wilson and Jordan entered the fifth round at 2 p.m. as the only undefeated rinks of 11 entered.

Wilson scored a three in the final end in Tuesday's fourth round to edge Ron Wright's, Hudson, Que., rink 9-8, Jordan survived a close game 6-5 over Calgary's Bev Snyder, then pulled up from a 5-2 count in the third end to slip by Lawrence Carter of Amherst, N.S., 8-7.

Behind the leaders and in a tie for third place are the Jim Duncan rink from Virden, Man., and skip Andy Grant's Unionville, Ont., rink. Both have 3-1 records.

They are followed by New Brunswick's Harold Mabey of Moncton, with 2-1; Dr. Wendell MacDonald's Charlottetown, P.E.I., rink and Wright, each with 2-2 counts. Alberta has a 1-2 record, Northern Ontario's Don MacLean of Sudbury 1-3 and both Nova Scotia and Newfoundland's Norman Rockwell of St. John's are winless in four attempts.

DRAWS P.E.I.

In the fifth round, Wilson is drawn against Prince Edward Island and Jordan drew Northern Ontario. In other encounters it is Duncan against Newfoundland, Grant against New Brunswick and Alberta against Lawrence Carter. Quebec drew the bye.

"We didn't deserve to win this one," said Wright after his 9-8 fourth-round loss to Saskatchewan.

Wilson traded two with Quebec in the sixth and seventh ends, then scored three more in the eighth and ninth, leaving Wright two up coming home. Wilson's three-enter was the minimum for the win.

Jordan blamed heavy ice for his 5-2 deficit after three ends. But he was two up by the final end, with Nova Scotia laying one, when skip Carter's tying last rock went through the house.

"I'm sure happy about that one," skip Mabey said of the tense fourth-round match he won 8-7 over P.E.I.

P.E.I. was one up when skip MacDonald's last shot drew three inches too far, leaving Mabey to count two for the victory.

GRANT WINS 12-4

In the other fourth-round encounters, Rockwell suffered a lop-sided 12-4 defeat by Grant and Manitoba edged MacLean 7-6. All but the Newfoundland-Ontario encounter were wide-open until the late ends.

"It's definite" says Nancy Greene bowing out of competitive skiing

ROSSLAND, B.C. (CP) — Nancy Greene is retiring from competitive skiing with some qualms and a doubting father.

"It's definite," Nancy confirmed Tuesday in a telephone interview.

"But I sure get, well, a funny feeling when I think about not . . ."

Would she turn pro?

"Well, I hadn't really thought of that because it's just for the men right now and there's no chance for the women. But yes, I guess I would consider it."

Later, the pixie-faced skier known as Canada's Ski Queen said she really wouldn't turn pro even if there was the opportunity.

"I don't really think so. I'm going to retire, period."

Her father, Bob Greene, was skeptical that his daughter, winner of the World Cup last year and leader in the competition this year, would retire.

"I would say her retirement is only fairly definite. She's talking that way now but she has talked that way before and then gone on."

HAD DEEP THOUGHTS

Miss Greene, 24, who won gold and silver medals at the 1968 Winter Olympics at Grenoble, France, admitted she had thought about retiring for almost a month before she announced it.

"I wanted to think about it for a while. Because I didn't want to announce it and then start back at it again. I wanted to be sure."

Skiing has been taking up most of Nancy's teen-aged and adult life. She has been skiing competitively for almost 11 months of each of the last 10 years.

Why is she quitting at the end of this World Cup competition, which will include the international meet here beginning Thursday and the final Cup race at Heavenly Valley, Calif.?

"I set two goals (the Olympics and the World Cup) and I reached them. I think I've gone about as far as I can go, and I knew I had to quit sometime.

"Now I've got to achieve another goal. No, I haven't set another goal yet and I have no definite plans for the future other than finishing this year at school, doing some work for the ski team—probably trying to help raise some money for them."

She is a first-year history student at Notre Dame University in Nelson. "I've missed a lot of classes this year. But I've been doing lots of reading to make up for it."

LOOKS FOR TRAVEL

After that she hopes to travel. She said there are no marriage plans in the immediate future.

"No, not for a while," she said with a laugh.

An end to international competition was a tough decision for the skier who began on the slopes of nearby Red Mountain when she was 2½ years old.

"When I was at Aspen (Colo.) the weekend before last, the thought that I might be skiing my last downhill race . . . well, it almost made me cry."

The Rossland meet will be the first World Cup race for Miss Greene since the Aspen meet. The last two meets consist of slalom and giant slalom—no downhill.

Known as Tiger—she has the name painted on her helmet—because of the aggressive manner in which she tackles a course, Nancy was the subject of near adulation in many Canadian cities after she won two medals at the Winter Olympics.

Thousands cheered her during a downtown parade in Toronto. In Vancouver, even the streets of her parade route were painted Green and the city put her name on its honor roll — alongside only half-a-dozen others.

Big and little sisters get ready for a fun-filled fashion spree

Little girls wing into spring on a fun-filled fashion spree, full of fresh colors, new styles, plus a pretty, practical point of view! Big and little sister styles combine traditional looks in coats, suits and dresses with a touch of the contemporary. Fashion moves from dress-up to school to play.

For "Sunday best," coat and dress costumes show fitted waistlines with more flare. Pretty is as pretty does, in sashed Victorian style dresses, with ruffles and lace.

How to Dress for Parading

Traditionally well-bred and suited for spring, suits now have longer jackets, just like Mom's, and are fitted and sometimes belted over a flared, gathered or box pleated skirt. Coats fit for the Easter parade — demi-fit or fitted — and self-belted are the fashion news in double or single-breasted styles. They're found in tweeds, stripes, plaids and solids.

For the real school-girl this spring, there's a bright selection of separates — shirts and skirts of all sorts. Bouncy jumpers combine with pretty-girl blouses. And the shirtwaist heads straight for the classroom. New peasant-style dresses are suited for that "little intellectual."

In the Victorian mood are dresses with full, puffed sleeves — whether short or long. Hand-smocking, crisp pleating and choir-boy or sailor collars carry out the mood.

Silhouettes go from the traditional A-line to the new dirndl shape in skirts.

They Play with Ease

Springtime is playtime. Fashions for play are pretty but must be practical. Pant-dresses, culotte and skirt combinations, see-saw shifts and smocks are the basics in sportswear. Knee-socks are a must with shorts and jacket sets for cool days.

Favorite spring flavors are hues of chocolate and vanilla in coat and dress costumes. Lip-smacking brights are lemon, lime, raspberry. Pretty pastels are peach, apricot, melon, aqua and banana.

The red, white and blue spring classic combination is stronger than ever. And, of course, pink is for girls.

The pitter-patterns of spring burst with flowers, plaids, checks (especially houndstooth), flocked or polka dots and stripes.

Fabrics, whether delicate or rugged, take the easy-care route, and frequently they're durable press. The Victorian influence is seen in floral-printed voiles, dainty lawns and deep-toned cotton batistes, sparked with white.

For playtime and school-time, fabrics such as canvas and duck get ready to skip their way through spring.

Happy-ending trimmings begin with belts and zippers for coats, suits, dresses. Braids and ribbons, for the Victorian look, are simply the very last word.

Polka dot rain or shine coat is ready for any weather. This girl's coat is double-breasted, with side slit pockets. Casual Time coat by Elkay.

Flower power for girls appears in a smock of polyester-cotton voile, with print-on-print pattern. In Eastman Kodel polyester and cotton.

Dashing stripes and giant daisies bloom for young ladies. At left, tailored striped coatdress takes high collar, three-quarter sleeves, buttons all the way down. At right, daisy A-line shift shows teacup sleeves, round collar and big red bow-tie. Both by Cinderella, in Lowenstein's Avril rayon and cotton permanent press.

Spring begins . . . and the new looks crop up. Seen at New York showings:

The Cape falls freely in black, with a Mao collar, over a striped cotton shirtdress.

Pleats give the skirt room to swing on a navy and white crepe dress, belted at the waist to go under a short white crepe jacket banded in red and navy.

Ruffles make the beige shirt feminine under a red velvet jacket and red, white, blue and gold plaid dirndl skirt.

Soft pleats ease the skirt and let it move below the tailored jacket in red, gold, brown and white plaid silk.

Sanville-Brouillett wedding

DERBY LINE — The marriage of Janet L., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Brouillett, Derby Line, to Mr. Gary Lee Sanville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rosalie Choquette took place on Saturday, March 9, at 11 a.m., at St. Mary's Church, Newport, Vt.

Father Joseph Dussault officiated for the double ring ceremony and traditional wedding music was played by the organist. White gladioli were used to decorate the church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street-length A-line dress of white lace over crepe with long lace cuffed sleeves and a high neckline. A jeweled crown held in place her chapel veil of nylon illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of red Sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Steve Keysar, as matron of honor for her sister, was in a dress of buttercup yellow linen, with white cuffs on the long sleeves and matching collar. She wore a white hat with daisy trim on back ribbon streamers of yellow Sweetheart roses and statics.

Mr. Douglas Sanville was best man for his brother and the ushers were Mr. Roger Brouillett and Mr. John Choquette, brothers of the bride and groom.

Mrs. Brouillett, mother of the bride, chose a dress of aqua blue, toning accessories and a corsage of pink Sweetheart roses.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Choquette, wore a two-piece dress of gold lame, her accessories toned and her corsage was of red Sweetheart roses.

After the ceremony the reception took place at St. Edward's Parish Hall, Derby Line, where a buffet luncheon was served. The bride's table was centered with the three-tier wedding cake in white with touches of pale blue topped with a miniature bride and groom. Flowers and candles completed the table arrangements. The cake was made and decorated by Mrs. Benoit Blais.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanville left to spend a short honeymoon in the New England States, the bride travelling in a mauve suit and a corsage of white Sweetheart roses.

Guests were from Massachusetts and points of Vermont and from Cowansville, Que.

Home Calisthenics

You can dust, sweep and scrub your way to a better figure. That's right. You can exercise right while you're doing housework in your home. When you reach up to dust a high shelf or wash the woodwork, stand on your toes and stretch your whole body upwards. This is good for your ankles, legs and posture. Scrubbing the floor is a great way to firm up your arms, shoulders, back, stomach and waistline. Even washing dishes is good for your arms and upper back.

Beautify Your Smile

A smile is nature's own beauty treatment and it's free. Speaking of smiles, you will want your teeth to look nice when you smile. So brush them when you get up, and again when you go to bed. Brush them after each meal, if you can. Use toothpaste and brush up and down, not across. This gets rid of food which can cause decay and bad breath.

Combines TV Watching With Clothes Drying

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—I am a homemaker who works, so most of my housework is done at night. One of my chores, of course, is the laundry. Since this is usually being done while I am busy with something else, I sometimes forget to take the clothes out of the dryer and they become quite wrinkled before I remember them. To help me remember, I put the clothes in the dryer at the beginning of a half-hour television program and when the program is over I remove them from the dryer.—MRS. M. B.

DEAR POLLY—When pouring steaming hot liquid from macaroni or vegetables, run cold water in the sink to prevent steam burns.—DEBORAH

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—How do you remove the glass top from a bottle of perfume without breaking it? Mine has been opened before but now it is really stuck. I would appreciate some help.—MRS. O. W.

DEAR POLLY—To save time and soap, vacuum your curtains before laundering them.—MRS. P. J. B.

DEAR POLLY—Never throw away the Orlon muffs from ear muffs. These can be easily removed from the frame and make wonderful buffers for brass, copper or silver. The polishing job can be done much faster, as you have a buffer for each hand. —MRS. R. H. S.

DEAR POLLY—I have some suggestions for helping in the care of a patient sick at home. When giving a drink, wet the straw on both ends so it will not stick to the patient's lips.

When a number of different kinds of pills must be given, some tend to dissolve in the mouth, leaving a bitter taste and making it difficult for the patient to swallow. Buy empty capsules from the druggist, according to the size of such pills, and place each pill in a capsule. Check with the doctor so as to get his permission.

Keep a daily record of pills given, so no mistakes are made and so another person will have an accurate record, should you be absent for a time.—JOSEPHINE

Teen Footwear Goes Casual and Dressy In New Season's Stepped-Up Styles

Trim, easy lines and bright colors step to the fore in teen's shoes for spring. In pumps, sandals, oxfords and other ties, low-to-mid heels and broad toes dominate.

Teens, who usually like variety in their shoe wardrobes, can find plenty of it in this spring's selections. And the fashion-without-fuss approach to styling seems due to add much to walking comfort, as well.

Important silhouettes are the high-cut tongue, the slingback, the ballet slipper, the spectator tie and the wide-strapped pump. Brass and gold continue as top trim.

Important shoe leathers include natural waxy and glove leathers — and grained, embossed, smooth and patent as well, reports Leather Industries of America.

Long-time favorite of the teen miss is the leather moccasin. The moc, a shoe classic, puts the emphasis on glove, waxed and hand-stained leather finishes.

The brushed leather moc presents a softer-looking version, moving into importance this season. In styling, the traditional loafer vies with strapped, brass-trimmed, tasseled and bootee moccasins.

To saunter sunnily through warmer weather, teens can slip into sandals with a handcrafted look. In waxy and hand-stained leathers, these sandals often have toe-rings or thongs, and may sport a spot of brass, rope or fringe.

Springtime boots and bootees — light in weight, and in color — are teen team-mates for mini-skirts and pantsuits. White, pastels and pale, clear neutrals are favored shades. Trim has been kept simple.

When the fun starts, party-and-prom footwear is ready. Smooth, aniline-dyed, lustre, embossed and patent leathers predominate here.

Flowers as a trim or an applique are a new look on dance pumps — with flat leather bows, stand-up buckles and jeweled bars as other ornaments.

The teen miss may also find graceful open-sided sandals and slings, many with high-cut frontage, very danceable.

Colors for teen shoes blossom out in an array of brights and pastels. Pinks and reds, yellows and oranges, greens appear in textures from smooth to brushed.

Bold black and white, newly important in teen fashions this spring, combine in shoes, too, and so do other neutrals and colors. All-white afoot continues its progress into spring-summer fashion.

With so many pastels on the scene, easy care finishes are doubly essential. New treatments for leathers help to assure this ease of care in teen shoes.

IN BLACK AND WHITE

For young set fashions, crisp combinations of black and white enter in plaids, checks and geometrics. White buttons, bows and belts spark all-black dresses.

FOR LITTLE GIRLS

Prettygirl looks for little girls make much of ribbons and ruffles, lace and embroidery, other romantic trims.

WHAT'S A "BODY SHIRT"?

"Body shirt," a term frequently heard in fashion this spring, refers to the revolution of the man-tailored shirt. Now it's girl-tailored, shaped to feminine contours and appropriately detailed.

SO WIDE THE RANGE — Finding a suitable price is never a problem at Au Bon Marche, Sherbrooke's thrift centre, the store renowned for its huge range of clothing, and this spring one of the city's noted rendez-vous for women shopping for dresses.

Two-piece look is fashionable illusion for this cotton-and-rayon dress, featuring a sleeveless top, striped dirndl skirt with contrasting kid sash. By Russ.

FLOWER POWER IN UNDERWORLD

If you want to make the fashion scene this spring, break into print.

You can do it without protests or marches; all you need is a vote in favor of flower power in the underworld of fashion.

Lingerie and foundations are blooming with gardens of bright flowers and you can take your pick among the daisies, camellias, and roses that will grow under cover of minis and midis come spring.

Flower power in the Gossard collection means the elegant simplicity of the Japanese inspired Japonica flower, or free floating daisies on striped grounds. Together these smashing prints make a complete bouquet for your wardrobe, whether you are tiny or tall, large or small, and whether you want petti-pants, slips, pantie girdle or bra. In fact, this is the first season that you'll be sure of breaking into print, no matter what your size.

If you are shy about showing off potent prints because they have bold designs on your figure, you can have your flowers and wear them too as your own hidden indicator of spring fashion.

Look for: supple new poplins for fluid fashions . . . the firmer hand of ducks, cords and twills in plains and coordinating prints for active sportswear . . . the much-in-demand, highly versatile piques in a flat coordinate, exciting for styles with show-off shorts and peek-a-boo panties, and high-fashion terries.

Soft cottons — for fullness without bulk — voile and dotted swiss, lawn, batiste, oxford, chambray, broadcloth.

It's Girls, Girls, Girls In Spring's Style Show

Fashion for spring '67 welcomes the return of the waistline, the renaissance of the skirt and the triumph of fit and flare, in shapely, frankly curvy silhouettes. Pretty girls, romantic girls, feminine girls, even old-fashioned girls move into fashion focus.

Ruffles are rampant; so are pleats, panels, dirndl skirts. Sleeves are soft, sometimes long and flowing. Collars are simple and demure — witness the peter pan style, appearing frequently. In line with this simplicity, the bateau neckline enjoys a fashion revival.

Waistline Gets Its Marks, Many Ways

The waistline levels off almost anywhere — at the natural waist, lifted high under the bosom or lowered. Self-fabric belts and sashes, in matching or contrasting colors, may mark the waistline, or it may be leather-belted or chain belted. Wide belts, while they do not actually cinch the waistline, certainly emphasize the idea of curves.

Half-belts or half-sashes at the front of high-waisted dresses further enhance the lifted look. For coats, martingales often carry out the theme of the belt.

Curvaceous "body shirts" with more fit, more emphasis on the bosom top action-motivated skirts. The ruffled and/or tucked blouse becomes a pretty complement for the newly-important skirt or appears, in solid colors, with handsomely-patterned jackets and skirts — fitted and flared, of course.

Amid all the fit and flare, another kind of femininity in fashion displays its own flair. This is the Thirties look inspired, mostly, by the success of the movie, "Bonnie and Clyde." Here, the line is straight and soft, typified by the longer cardigan jacket, middyish blouse and slim skirt. Supple fabrics hold sway.

Many shirts grow into dresses, making the classic shirtdress one of the most important fashions for spring. There are many moods for the shirtdress, from tucked-and-tailored (but still very feminine) styles to floaty, romantic styles with dirndl skirts and soft, flowing sleeves, in sheer or semi-sheer fabrics.

Vest Is Favored as Jacket

Somewhat surprisingly, in such a feminine fashion spring, the vest enjoys great favor with designers. Partly, this stems from the trend to costume components — shirt and skirt, plus vest. Another good fashion reason for the vest comes from the fact that often it isn't really a vest, it's a sleeveless jacket for a suit.

NOTEBOOK JOTTINGS

Stripes — narrow or wide — brilliant or sober — point the way to a new kind of pattern excitement for blazers. Experts say only double-breasteds will do for spring '68. Favored is the steep twill and the newly recognized textured silk.

Color, of course, makes all the difference. Stripes, for instance, can be powerful. Rust and pale bamboo can play a plain weave silk against a twill. Stripes can be subdued, too, with the added drama of texture that can be seen and felt.

HAIL THE RETURN OF THE REAL-GIRL LOOK

Dresses and sportswear have gone soft and supple. Gone are the stiff, cardboard styles that have camouflaged the flattering curves the pretty girl delights in showing off. Close-to-body styles that define the shape are non-restrictive, with wraps that fall fluidly and gracefully to enhance the elegant and romantic look that today's movie-makers have inspired.

The influence of Hollywood and the art films is everywhere. The Zhivago belted look shows off a small waist; the long draped Tom Jones sleeve falls loose and free; the rush of a full skirt creates a rhythm of movement when in motion; the Bonnie and Clyde tailored shirt goes languid and moody.

Colors are clear and bright. Prints of varying dimensions go a little softer. Stripes are "in," from the narrowed to the big, bold block busters. Florals have grown to super dimensions in a collection of Haitian inspired prints. Pucci - like prints still zig-zag and swirl in hot colors that makes the signature unmistakably his; and solid colors in light and bright shades mix-and-match to coordinate or contrast.

The popularity of knits keeps growing. There is no limitation to their use. They are cleverly constructed, and from the standpoint of wearability, women love them.

As hems flip out, jackets shape in, and waistlines return, there'll be even broader use of soft, drapeable knits. For Spring '68 designers have snapped up a new silky knit that looks like silk matte jersey. Women will love the luster of the fabric and the luxurious feeling next to the skin. This silky new fiber, called texture-set Enkalure nylon, is from American Enka.

Designers and couturiers were inspired by the wide variety of prints on Enkalure nylon. Loomtogs created a Haitian inspired sportswear collection in exotic flower patterns of Jasmine, Frangipani, Mimosa and Orange Blossom.

HERE'S THE WRAP-UP . . .

The Spring fashion wrap-up is the Bathrobe look . . . the newest, softest shape of coats, suits and dresses.

The Bathrobe is part of a pattern that began with pants, pantsuits, ties, safari-shirts and jackets, the whole masculine look and more . . . which now has turned soft.

St. Laurent gets credit for putting the woman into man's clothes and keeping her a woman when he added velvet, lace and blousing to his original "Smoking" concept. "Bonnie and Clyde" certainly gets credit for bringing back the "Thirties" part of it.

The Bathrobe is the newest link in this stolen-from-the-boys fashion with its deep shawl collar — ready to be filled in with ruffles, tucks and turtle-necklines .

Rainwear Follows Soft, Wet Lead

Rainwear follows the soft raindrops into spring to flatter the feminine girl with fitted and shaped styles.

The belt defines the come-again waist at the natural waistline, lowered to the hipbone, sliding easily through the tabs of a belted raglan.

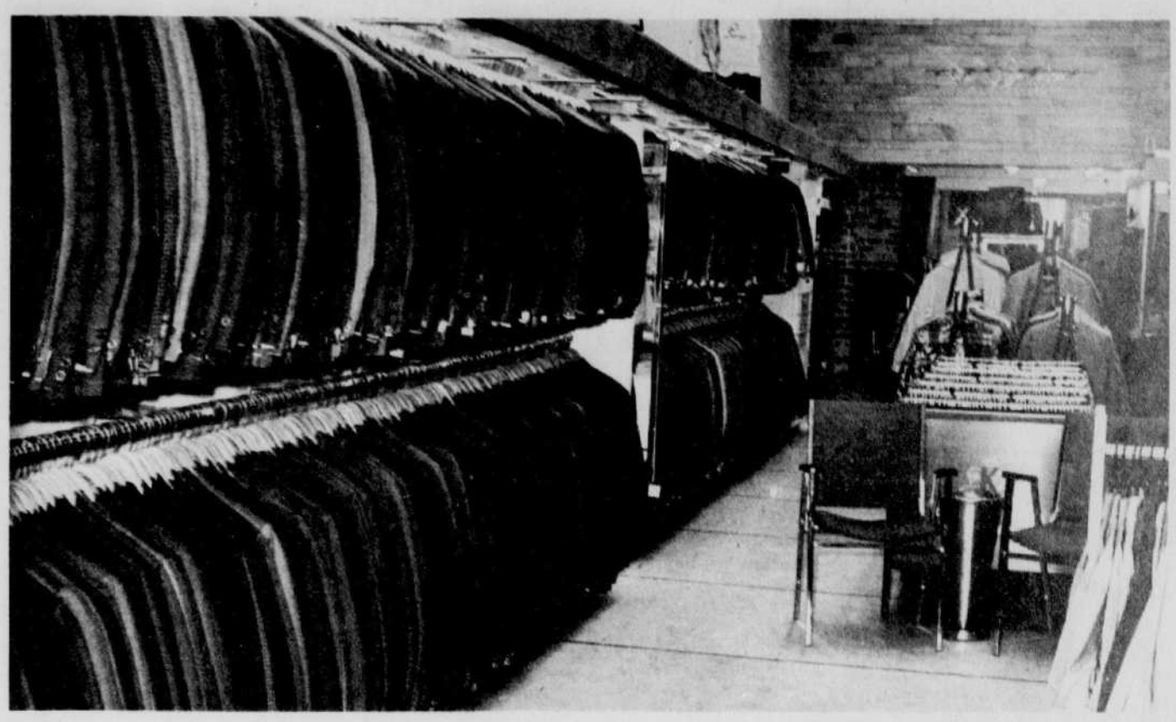
RAYFELS ALSO FEATURE GO-GO LOOK — Mr. A. Schachter, president of Rayfels is seen examining a sportswear display in his store's new "Go-Go" department, one of several specialty sections of this department store for women.

A Look at Hats and Other Items

Some of the newer hats hark back to styles from World War I. Not II, mind you, but I. The brim is wider, the crown deeper, the band wide and affirmative. It is worn with a gallant air.

Definitely out is the "old gray felt" because it does not have a freshness of quality seen in this new 1968 version of "old hat".

There's a "new all-over look" to men's fashions. It's expressed in suits that are brighter in color, fitted at the waist, and in collars that spread and in colors more intense. Hair styles and headwear, shirts and shoes have a new sophistication that plainly says today's man cares about the way he looks.



SUITS TO SUITS YOU SIR — The stories told about Leo Laliberte & Fils' impressive choice in famous makes of suits aren't at all exaggerated, in fact this photo of their 88 Wellington Street North Store helps convey this fact - Laliberte has, indeed, one of the finest selections of quality men's wear.

Colorful Shoes . . Personality

Ready for some colorful footwork? It's the newest look in footwear fashion to stride into next season. Bright ideas include a new round of buckle/straps . . . slip-ons with hardware . . . suede in non-stop colors . . . red hot sandals.

On the town: tassled wingtip slip-on in fast-moving white; the grained brown leather wingtip with buckle, strap, and elastic gores; the strap/brass buckled elegance of a grained slip-on; the smooth black strap and buckle slip-on with a perforated toe; and the three eyelet blucher in a stained brown. Catch the blunt perf toe dress shoe with the new double-breasted twill suit; and a casual wingtip with buckle and strap, suggests a team-up with a weekender relaxed suit.

Contrasting cloth band highlights a hat in new between-weight felt, said to be wearable nine months a year. It's by Dobbs.

Shaping Up Now, Newest Topcoats Look Livelier

Topcoats join with suits to set the tone for a lively, fashionable spring. Contoured body lines are definitely the shape of things to come, and more men than ever are likely to want coats that define the waistline.

The look of the newest topcoat might be defined like this: Double-breasted, somewhat shorter, with slight waist suppression, in one of the new light and bright tones, or perhaps a pattern — plaid, stripe or check.

Of course, there are plenty of classic and traditional topcoats, and plenty of single-breasted styles, for the men who prefer them.

Fabrics trend to lighter weights, with surfaces crisp or silky. Polyester-worsted hopsacks and twills bring texture into the picture. Shadow or hairline stripes and glens lead the way in patterns.

Coats ready for the rain rival topcoats in style importance. These, too, are often double-breasted, and in shorter as well as knee lengths.

Rainwear with topcoat styling makes much use of the polyester blends. Here, the colors are really light, and in some cases, actually white. There's no lack of pattern, however — witness the many glens, houndstooths and other checks.

An innovation in the rainwear category is the rain suit. Matching trousers, coat and hat of the same water-repellent material get together to really turn off spring showers, with a total look.

The strong entry for spring '68 — a grayed lilac which could be called "Ascot" lilac. On it, the crisp windowpane in royal navy. Trousers play match game.

The Walking Coat will take on European airs; look for steep twills and the look of gabardine.

Pretty Ideas Spark 'Spring-In'

Tablecloth check, snatched off the tables, walks around in fashion this spring. Here, the mini-skirted suit checks in with a big, bold pattern in fashion-important canvas cloth, of crisply textured cotton. Little-care fabric is by Cone Mills.

For total coordination is the belted raindress and scarf in matching print. By Carriage House, in HiFast printing colors.

Beat Goes On with Turned-On Colors, Return Of Feminine Shape, New-Again Waistline

Young set fashions are focused on a swinging spring-in. Junior styles shift into high gear, with a pretty-powered look. And the beat goes on with the return of the waist and more feminine shape. Color is being turned on, from soft pastels to born-free brights.

Young hang-ups begin with coats, styled with fit and flare. Most backs are belted and paneled. Some coats are belted and tied all the way around the waist, in classic double or single-breasted styles. Capes and detachable capelets drop in for a young, crisp, cool look.

Flower-power strikes dresses — the shirtdress, pantdress and coatdress, in mind-moving prints. A belt-in has happened to dresses. Big and wide or delicate and narrow, belts are in chains, leathers and fabrics.

Costumes Complete Real-Girl Look

Totally tuned-in is the costume look for spring. Young, snappy coats combine with matching or non-matching dresses to complete the real-girl look.

Sun-powered suits are styled with long or short-cut jackets. Some jackets are sleeveless to show off pretty-girl blouses beneath. The blazer suit is blazing into spring, mated with the pleated skirt. And belts are a cinch for suits.

The fun-in fashions are springy separates — shirts, skirts, blouses, tunics. The "in"-vest is the best way to add to a shirt and skirt. Skirts are powered with free moving pleats, kilt and dirndl styles, along with the classic A-line.

Skirts team up with shirts, girl-tailored styles, or blouses, with new cuffed sleeves, bows, ruffles and lace, and the tuned-in tunic. The culotte sometimes substitutes for the skirt, with more shape, more swing.

Youth power goes sporting in a big way by combining shirts with pants, walking shorts with tunics, vests or blazers. Tee-dresses, jumpsuits and pantsuits, with almost coat-length jackets, are on parade for spring.

Adding the Extra Touches

Accessories that put the "pow" into power start at the top with hats — brims, berets, tilted tams.

Spring is a box-in, with handbags in new square and rectangular shapes, in handle and shoulder bag styles. Nail-heads, leather, wood, zippers, locks and chains add the this-minute sporting look.

The "in" jewelry features earrings, rings, big watches. And juniors witness the return of the stick pin, pulling together the ascot and vest. For a fill-in, the ascot is added to the suit and dress in girl-tailored or ruffled styles.

The cut-in cutout gloves catch the sun's rays with bright and shiny buckles, discs and patent leather, to make it a young fun spring.

Separates once strictly matched feel free to wander into new arrangements, but always combine in harmony for spring. Here, a striped blazer of polyester-cotton chino pairs with solid-color culotte in the same fabric and coordinating knit shell. The complete outfit by Sportempos.

Merry Mixing of Separates Creates Friendly Go-Togethers

"Put on, play with, pair off sportswear and separates," reads the fashion maxim for spring. This sporting life calls for a relaxed approach, a mixing of shirts and skirts, vests, pants and tops, capes or jackets to create friendly go-togethers of separate-minded separates.

Little sport dresses play with the hug-the-body shape but promise plenty of active movement. Pantdresses, culottes, shirt looks, belted shapes and basic shapes lead the way.

Ruffles Are Rampant for Feminine Blouses

Blouses and shirts pair off with the shapely look of spring skirts. Styles range from the curve-fitting body shirt, the Russian cossack style, bowed and tie-added styles to the more feminine and frilled Edwardian blouses.

This spring, "feminine and frilled" most often means "ruffled." Ruffles are rampant at the neckline, on the sleeve or cascading down the front of many new blouses.

Skirts find a new importance as separates able to choose their own partners. Pleats, panels, dirndls, A-lines, circles and divided skirts shape up for the active silhouette.

The fresh-faced look of the country girl gives her big city cousin a chance to gambol in peasant blouses and small-waisted dirndl skirts displaying calico prints, dots, splashes of field flowers. Embroidery and smockings complete the innocent look, which may be topped by a babushka.

Vests Join Up for Fashion

Kilts depart from the traditional plaids to appear in florals, canvas and a variety of colorful solids.

The vest joins skirts and shirts to form a fashion triumvirate. Blouse vests, elongated sweater-vests and sleeveless jacket-vests take the winning line in the mix-and-match score.

Pants put on a raft of sweaters and knit tops in cardigans, pull-ons, shirt shapes and long, loose belted styles.

Knickers hitting below the knee, shorts and bermuda shorts play with the new length of the tunic top.

The longer jacket borrowed from the canvas pantsuit plays in the rain on wet spring afternoons or doubles as a quick cover-up for swimsuits.

Jackets or capes pair off with pants and tops, skirts and shirts. A cut-up combination may play with matching skirt, shirt, hat and coat all neatly packed in matching suitcase.

Leather leads in the active life with soft and supple pants, knickers, capes, jackets and skirts in unusual shades and surprise styling, as well as the classics.

Artist's Easel Is Home Showplace

Family portrait photographs — especially those in color — deserve to be displayed effectively in the home.

One idea might be:

An artist's easel, available now in new decorative styles, can provide a constantly-changing showplace. The full-length easel might be placed in a corner of the room, or in any hard-to-decorate place.

Individually framed photographs may be propped on the easel, to be changed with the seasons or whenever taste dictates a new look.

To display small or miniature framed photographs, tabletop easels are readily available.

Other works of art or favorite objects may be displayed on the easel, with pride.

BEAUTIFUL WILL BE THE BRIDE — Captivating bridal gowns and clothes for her attendants are illustriously shown at Suzy Shier's store in Place Belvedere, where the women looking for spring and Easter clothes have reason to show jubilation for the desirable fashions they'll find here.

The 'Mod' look is tamed by romance

Fashion makes a woman look like a woman this spring, and underlines the pretty look with pretty lingerie.

In both daywear and sleepwear, colors are softer, prints are subtle, shapes are beautiful, trims are lavish — and a romantic air exists that has been lacking for a long time.

The picture is quite different than it was a year ago, when the "Mod" and somewhat kooky prevailed in all areas of the fashion world. Striving for elegance rather than an electric effect, lingerie is returning to delicate colors and designer details.

Spotlights Chemise

Continuing, of course, to coordinate with outer silhouettes, lingerie continues to spotlight the chemise; however, there is developing a return to the shapely: to the slip with fitted top traced with lace, to wear under "pretty girl" blouses.

Both the body shirt and the belt are encouraging this trend to closer fit.

Slips for knits are extremely popular, as are pettipants and other items of intimate apparel related to pantsuits and mini-skirts.

Half-slips shape up for the shapelier state of things in outer fashions. For fitted waistlines and flared skirts, there's the dirndlette — first cousin to yesterday's bouffant petticoat but more restrained, more in keeping with fashion today.

Inspiring Sleepwear

Sleepwear this season derives its inspiration from movies both past and present, and is romantic as a result. Such costume dramas as "Gone With The Wind" have produced ruffled sleep shirts and long gowns sashed high beneath tiny cover-up tops.

Plunging necklines and clinging culottes are contributions of stars and films of the Thirties to the current scene, and earlier heroines like Mary Pickford are responsible for little girl lingerie adorned with buttons, flounces and bows.

The shirt is widely interpreted, in gowns and pajamas, lounge dresses and robes, long or short. Some versions are tailored, others frilly.

As colors go gently, in white and pastels, so do lingerie fabrics encourage the feminine feeling of spring. They are fluid and relatively sheer, with many variations on voiles and dainty cottons.

Eyelet, embroidery and crochet treatments, used discreetly, enhance the pretty look.

Late-Day Bag Is Small

In late-day and evening bags, the range of looks for spring is diversified. Mini-box-bags in oval, square and "hut" shapes, are clasped with jeweled flowers, butterflies and other designs or swing from bejeweled chains.

There are little envelopes, tiny totes and swaggers, and shoulder-strap bags chained in gold, silver or tortoise shell.

Leathers are smooth and lustred, saffian, embossed, suede and patent. Metallic colors are seen in grained, crushed and smooth leathers.

Girls shoes span all moods

Springtime's shoes for girls span the casual and the formal, the sweet and the snappy, in a variety of supple leathers.

For extra comfort, as well as fashion, new broader toe-lines enter in both rounded and squared-off silhouettes.

As for leathers, the list includes smooth, grained, waxy, brushed, glove, embossed, suede, lustre and patent leather, reports Leather Industries of America.

There is a light, airy look to many of the new shoes for girls. It may show up in open-sided pumps, in sling-backs or in strapped shoes with a real snap-crackle-and-pop to their cut. Straps are wider, sometimes in contrast leather, sometimes perforated.

In closed footwear, styles are as perky as the girls wearing them. Low-heeled slip-ons sport such tailored trappings as raised tongues, brass studs or bars, monk-straps or cut-steel buckles.

That wintertime winner, the oxford, also continues strong for spring. As a smart spectator, the tie is perfect with pantsuits, pantdresses, suits and shirt and skirt ensembles. As a saddle shoe, it is a classic favorite.

Moccasins and boot-shoes are sure to garner high honors with grammar school girls. Latest moc themes include high tongues, brass hardware and kilties, and heavy emphasis on squared toelines. Bootees come simply styled with little trim but lots of dash — and comfort.

In late spring and summer, small fry step into the sun in open sandals comprising leather sole and a few straps.

Girls' dress shoes add spice as well as sugar to the social scene this spring. Party goers favor pumps, sandals and slings with a tasteful touch of grown-up styling — perhaps flowers, gold nailheads or a pretty buckle. Shoes cut down at the side or opened over the vamp are other favorites.

Lots of brown, bold black and white, lively tones and tints, paint the spring color picture

SHOE FASHIONS FOR SPRING — It's walking in style this spring, when you wear shoes from H. J. Delisle where many of this year's new eye-catching creations are making their first appearance in this district.

Variety spices appearance

Color and pattern aplenty continue to power the male fashion picture for spring 1968.

From head to toe, a man can spice his appearance with a greater-than-ever variety, according to the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear.

The trend is definitely toward light and bright, and it reaches its ultimate with many versions of white with bright.

White suits are due to enter in a big way, and there are many styles powered by plaids, stripes and checks.

Patterns really come into their own in tailored sportswear. There's nothing inhibited about the pattern treatment in sport jackets this spring, and for men who don't like the pattern on top, it's equally easy to pair a solid-color blazer with a pair of patterned slacks.

Trend is toward a mixey, multi-colored look, rather than flat monotones.

All the light colors in suits, coats, hats and rainwear are perfect for the spring shirts and ties. This is where bright comes into its own.

Almost no color is banned from the dress shirt rainbow. These vivid hues are the natural foil for the lighter colors of the outer garments.

Jewelry Takes Ideas From Past, Future

Travel back in time, jet forward in space or stand fast in chains — spring jewelry shuttles through the ages to assemble a fashion array of up-to-the-minute styles.

Ascots and vests joined together in the spring spirit of romantic renaissance call for stick pins, bar pins, antique brooches, animal fair pins.

A cluster of stick pins may converge on an ascot vertically, horizontally or at different levels.

The look of antiqued gold comes out of the past to distinguish this wealth of pins for spring neckwear.

The precious stone look enters for daytime wear; jeweled looks appear for romantic evenings, in dramatic pins, rings, earrings, necklaces and pendants.

Clear plastic balls, cubes, bold geometric shapes join gold chains to fashion necklaces, chin-length earrings, pins and other fantastics in the space-age gender.

Plastic balls on a spidery gold chain swing around the neckline, hoop earrings suspended from clear balls and gold chains cater to compliments.

Rings in myriad shapes of plastic, in prism colors, count the ways to look pretty on the fingers of both hands.

Chains hold fast in the fashion forefront with earrings, necklaces, belts, rings and watchbands. Streams of delicate golden chains are tethered to a gold watch at the wrist.

For evening, many chains adopt rhinestone fittings with a special fashion flourish.

Gladiator-styled, brass-buckled, leather arm bands abound in hot fashion colors, varying widths.

Sequinned T-straps, jeweled T-straps for the hands, pearly plastic wrist bands harness the fashion spirit.

Enamel rings stack up the more the merrier.

Bold-faced fashion watches in new colors, new bandings bid for popularity with women of every fashion set.

Native intelligence (the earliest kind) counsels a woman to substitute new bamboo jewelry for basic white jewelry to brighten spring-summer pales. Hot pinks, flames and yellows in bamboo textured and polished in all its varieties, plus striped enamels, band together when two or three bangle bracelets visit the arm.

Classic pearls return as bonus accessories in big ball earrings and matching rings, pearl chokers fashioned of tiny seed pearls or jumbo pearls.

THEY'RE ADJUSTABLE

Leather-and-nailhead bags hang from adjustable-belt shoulder straps, for over-shoulder or in-hand wear.

SPRING, EASTER, THEN WEDDINGS — Whether the ladies shopping J. M. Nault's fashion department are simply dressing for spring, Easter, or planning a wedding, their choice will surely include some of the impressive domestic and imported made clothes for dress-up or a special event, and to highlight this enormous selection, Nault's have added a most enchanting assortment of gay accessories.

Leather Falls For Soft Hearted Touch

The new look of leather fashions heralds the comeback of supple feminine lines, important seam detailing, use of hardware trim. Leather is a softy for more shapely, girlwise styling.

Belted waists, softly-gathered skirts, vests and new grained and textured looks are among the season's favorite leather trends, reflecting the relaxed approach fashion takes for spring.

Whether a spring outfit comprises a coat, suit, dress or separates, latest leathers are lightweight and pliant. Finishes include not only lint-free suede and grained leathers, but brushed and embossed leathers, printed and "corduroyed" leathers, and naturally-marked "wild" leathers, reports Leather Industries of America.

Most leathers are now specially tanned for resistance to water, weather and wear, with easier cleaning built in.

Sleek leather coats are fashionably short, with prophetic mid-calf or "midi" lengths seen here and there. These coats are meant to move — whether their cut is A-line, fit-and-flare or tent.

Newest styles feature sporty brass trims such as snaps, galosh clips or big zippers, or go ladylike with shirtwaist styling, flattering yoke treatment or dressy jeweled buttons. Stand-up collars and immaculate stitch detailing are found on both types.

The leather suit enters with skirt, culottes or pants. Gathered skirts, or A-line skirts or culottes, are matched to hip-length, tunic or blazer jackets.

As for the texture story, leathers include suede, grained and embossed leathers — plus new savage or "wild" leather finishes.

Leather dresses sum up the spirit of spring '68. For afternoon wear, they're sleeveless or tiny-sleeved frocks in suede or grained textures, with either low-lying belts or defined waists. In printed leather dresses, the leather itself serves as chief attraction, while other leather styles use scrollwork and trapunto as trim.

At after-five festivities, bare-shouldered leather gowns may show off a chin-high turtleneck, jewel-paved borders or side or front slits.

FASHION TOPPERS FOR SPRING — The Easter parade will be led by the ladies in lovely new hats, and you can bet many of them will come from the intriguing collection found at the Hat Box, where a delightful choice of matching sets in hats, gloves and handbags are also being featured.

SILHOUETTES

The Dress Shape is dressy enough for a party, light enough to wear right through spring — the skirt belled, dirndled or just neatly fitted, sashed or puckered at the waist.

The Vest Shape is outlined with daisies to separate the fitted bodice from the flared skirt of Bill Blass' white pique dress.

The Shirt Shape in tucked sheer white cotton, edged with powder blue tatting. The plain white skirt is gathered at the waist under a blue taffeta ribbon.

The Peasant Blouse Shape is soft and fluid in white triacetate crepe, self-sashed. The design bands it with embroidered blue braid.

The Shirred Shape is delicious in apricot dotted swiss, shirred at the waist and at the top of the long, full sleeves.

Stockings accent spring costumes

Stockings shoot the works for spring — lace-works, flower-works and other patterns for spring excitement, in open, light patterns, often without cuffs.

Flower-works go big and bold, or offer tiny blossoms on the vine. Lace-works play it cool and open, or choose bold patterns or little prints.

Knee socks work up to spring excitement, in open, light patterns, often without cuffs.

Animal prints, turtle and feather markings and bi-colored harlequin designs are just some of spring's stocking patterns, well-planned to accompany sportswear styles.

The "tattooed lady" look appears in stockings with tattoo-like colors, prints.

Flat matte colors and opaques continue strong in spring stockings. Cool white enters now, with black, navy, brown retaining favor.

Gray stripes it up with white for a stocking pattern that recalls the Thirties pinstripe. Rich, medium gray takes to shiny, opaque or slick patterns in still other stockings.

A host of brightened colors is ready for spring, too.

STRIPES DAZZLE

Stripes strike a lively spring note, going in all directions and in all colors.

Romantic look enters, appropriately, for this spring's bride. Shown here is a gown of silk organza with yoke and sleeves of lace. Accenting the look are diamond earclips and a diamond floral pin. The engagement diamond is pear-shaped. Jewelry at Fine Jewelers Guild stores; gown by Murray Hamburger.

Softly, dresses herald in new season

Sunshine, flowers, newly-green leaves and the soft, feminine mood of dresses heralds the return of spring.

The sharp angles of winter's scenes dissolve into ruffles, movement, easy-motion skirts, fit and flare and belted silhouettes.

Fashion adopts a new approach to the classic costume look. Costumes for spring may no longer be strictly defined as a coat and dress or dress and jacket but rather a natty new way of putting together the right pieces to form the right look.

The belted jacket and swingy pleated skirt, dress and cape, vest, shirt and skirt and slim-line full-length coat appear, to name just a few.

Cropped jackets and soft, fullish skirts shape up the dress and jacket ensemble for spring. The dirndl coat over dirndl dress, fit and flare coat over fit and flare dress and smock coat over wrappy smock dress increase a woman's chances to make the most of her feminine charms.

The classic shirtwaist dress takes on new looks, with fashion entries for both day and evening wear. There are sleeveless shirtdresses, shirtdresses with peter pan collars and crisply-turned sleeves, dirndl-shaped shirtdresses, body-shaped, girl-shaped shirtdresses and a host of styles fashioned with tucks, bows, pleats and ruffles to cater to truly romantic notions.

Coatdresses, skimmers and the perenially popular A-line also move on the upbeat to scoop some exciting news for this season's silhouette story.

Belts spaced wide and handsome or slim and strappy define a natural waistline and shapes moving closer to the body. Others ride low on the hips of swingy pleated skirts, or stop just under the bosom.

Colors pale to the softened tones of peach, coral, lime — then swing to the brilliants for a dash of bright navy, lacquer red, turquoise and orange.

Black and white and brown hold their own.
