Mr. C. M. Oney Honored on Completion 35 Years Service

New Customs House Officially Opened on Anniversary Date

Mr. Chester M. Oney, Collector of Customs and Excise for the Port of Huntingdon, completed 35 years of service in that position on Wednesday, October 15, 1952. To mark the occasion in a commendable and memorable way his superiors at Ottawa stipulated that the official opening of the new Customs House at Herdman, Que., take place on October 15.

C. M. ONEY

Several officials of the Customs Department at Ottawa, were in Huntingdon for October 15, and extended words of high commendation to Mr. Oney for the efficient and capable manner in which he has performed his duties over the 35-year period and as head collector since the retirement from office of the late Mr. Saunders, of Athelstan.

The Jack Construction Company, headed by Messrs. J. R. Fox and Jack Elliott who built the new Customs House held a reception at the Chateau following the official opening of the Customs House by Donald E. Black, M.P. At that time Mr. Oney received further words of commendation for the services he had performed in his role of duty and as a public-minded citizen.

Curling Club Play Presented To Capacity Houses

General Consensus of Opinion is: "The Best Yet"

By Mrs. W. L. Carr

St. Joseph's Parish Hall was filled to capacity on Wednesday and Thursday evening when "You Can't Take It With You," (Hart & Kaufman) was presented by Huntingdon Ladies Curling Club Dramatic Group.

Under direction of Mrs. D. C. Rivett the play achieved a professional smoothness and elastic rhythm rarely obtained by amateur players. The entire play takes part in the living room of Martin Vanderhof, who placidly tolerates the most extreme in eccentric behavior on the part of members of the household. Rupert Hawley, as Grandpa Vanderhof, gave a distinguished performance, in support of idealism versus materialism throughout. His daughter, Penelope Sycamore, referred to as "Penny" played by Mrs. Sidney Smith, carried out the theme to perfection, avoiding all parental and household cares by a passionate devotion to a typewriter she hasn't mastered in eight years of writing unfinished plays. She leaves everything to Rhea, the colored maid, very well performed by Mrs. H. McCaffrey, who in turn leans on her colored friend, Donald, (David Rankin), whose behavior and uncertain status (is he on relief) provide a good many laughs.

Miss Jean Wilson, in an understanding manner, acted the part of Essie, childish daughter of the Sycamores, who takes ballet instruction from a Russian refugee, Boris Kolenkhov, (Joe Boisseau), and makes candy for her husband, Ed, Carmichael, to sell. Ed, an amateur composer of music, plays with a small printing outfit, and was well portrayed by Mons Duke.

Mr. Hugh Spencer played the part of Paul Sycamore, husband of Penny, who makes fireworks in the basement, assisted by Mr. De Pinna, (Stan Liversidge). These two frequently interrupt the family scene by rushing up to exhibit flares, bombs, etc., until a final explosion.

Rotary Club Sponsoring Show

Two Splendid Films On Program For Community Benefit

The Huntingdon Rotary Club is sponsoring a program of films at the Huntingdon Theatre, on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, October 29, 30 and 31 with a view to aiding them in their community work.

One of the films has to do with a story on textiles and should be very interesting to the people of Huntingdon. It is entitled "The Man in the White Suit." It deals with an attempt to manufacture a special type of cloth and the trials and tribulations it leads its inventor into.

The other film is entitled "White Corridors" and as the title might imply is a story of life in a large hospital. It tells of the suffering, the efforts to save lives, of lives lost, love stories of the doctors and nurses and the human fight for top honors. There is plenty in this story to hold your interest and there are moments when you are highly amused at situations.

This double program is presented for your entertainment by the Huntingdon Rotary Club in an effort to raise funds to carry on their work of helping the community. You will serve a two-fold purpose by attending the show on one of the three nights, that of giving yourself and your family a real treat, and helping a very worthy cause. You get full value for the money you spend which never way you look at it, so you can't lose and there is no reason to stay away.

New Customs House at Herdman Officially Opened By Donald E. Black, M.P.

Construction Carried Out by Jack Construction Co. Huntingdon

An event of special interest to the people of the district took place at Herdman, Que., on Wednesday afternoon, October 15th, when the new Customs and Immigration Port Building was officially opened there.

This new building will replace the old one, which has become entirely inadequate in the handling of the traffic now passing through this port. The old building will be torn down at a later date and a residence will be erected nearby to house the resident customs officer.

A few interested persons gathered at the port to witness the opening ceremony which was performed by Mr. Donald E. Black, M.P., for Chateaugay-Huntingdon-Laprairie Federal constituency, after the building had been turned over by the contractors, The Jack Construction Co. of Huntingdon, Que. Mr. Black before cutting the ribbon across the entrance, said, it was his aim to have good border facilities and Customs Houses at the border points in this country. The ports in this country and the country itself were important to the tourist business and trade. Therefore I want buildings which are especially inviting to tourists and something of which they will talk about with pride when they return home. This is the second Customs House in this constituency which is completely modern and that I have officially opened. Practically all Customs Houses in the county and along the border have been renovated and improved, but this building by means of an electrically driven pump and piped to points retained by means of a septic tank and drained through lateral pipes covering an area of approximately 2,500 square feet.

On the main floor the space is divided into two private offices for customs and immigration officers at the rear, with toilet facilities for the general public, divided by the closed staircase which goes to the attic. The attic space is to be devoted to storage of books and papers.

The outside of the building is sheathed with ten-inch cedar siding. It is fully insulated with Rockwool batts. The sheathing inside is of one-inch Ten Test, Rocklath and a 3/4 inch plaster. Finish the paint scheme outside is Gloss White with gloss black trim. Inside, the ceilings are soft yellow; the walls soft blue and grey and the trim is soft blue. The main office floors are finished in brown linoleum tile.

The whole presents a very pleasing appearance and does credit to the contractors as well as to the officials.

It is intended at a later date to have the grounds surrounding the new customs building properly laid

Event of Historic Interest To Take Place at Athelstan

Plaque to Be Unveiled to Mark First Butter Factory in Canada

An event of historic importance is to take place at Athelstan, Que., on Tuesday, October 28th, at 11.30 a.m., when a plaque will be unveiled to designate the first butter factory built in Canada. This factory was built in the year 1873 and was located on the present site of the Champlain Milk Products Co., at Athelstan, Que.

The Marker, or Plaque, is being placed at this point by the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada. It will be of great interest to all connected with, or interested in the Dairy Industry in Canada. The decision to build this factory resulted from a meeting of farmers in the vicinity of Athelstan, Que., on April 3rd, 1873. At that time a sum of $1,400 was subscribed to purchase the site and erect buildings for the factory. The factory came into operation during July of the year 1873.

Several dignitaries are to be present for the unveiling ceremony and among them will be: Hon. Justice E. Fabre-Surveyor, member of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada, who will give the dedication address; Mr. Gilbert MacMillan, President of the Dairy Farmers of Canada, will give an outline of the history of the Dairy Industry; Mr. Ross Preston, President of the Champlain Milk Products Co., of Stanbridge East; Mr. R. C. Van Horn, Vice-President of Champlain Milk Products Co., and

Mr. A. E. Riehl, Manager of the Champlain Milk Products Co. factory at Athelstan. Mr. Riehl has the honor of having won many prizes in national competitions for his butter making.

Hon. Justice E. Fabre-Surveyor is the responsible party for having the marker erected on the site to commemorate the building of this first butter factory.

Today, the Dairy Industry in Canada represents one of the foremost of the industries in this country and means much to farmers of the Chateaugay Valley which is considered one of the best dairying districts in Canada. It is fitting therefore, that this marker should be erected here and bestows an honor and everlasting memorial to the pioneers who met at that meeting on April 3rd, 1873, to form the foundation of butter making in Canada.

Mr. Robert Rolfe, a former butter maker, has been charred with the responsibility of compiling a list of men in the butter industry in Huntingdon County and invitations will be set to them to attend the unveiling. They will be guests of the Champlain Milk Products Co. at a luncheon to be served in Munro Hall, Athelstan, by the Athelstan Athletic Association. The public may also attend, but are requested to let Mr. Riehl know their intentions on or before Saturday, October 25.

Girl Guide Association Rally Held at Beauharnois

Miss Beverly McCracken Relates Experiences At International Camp

The first Divisional Rally of the Southwestern Division of the Girl Guides Association was held in the Beauharnois Intermediate School on Saturday, October 18th.

William J. Hyde, Provincial Commissioner, of the Quebec Council of Girl Guides Association, during the programme led the Guides on a "Lion Hunt" much to the hilarious enjoyment of all. Then continuing in a more serious vein Mrs. Hyde illustrated how a Guide need never feel lonely if she remembered the 3 "Guiding G's" around "giving" - by (1) being a Guide, a member of a large organization extending all around the world, and giving of yourself by following loyally all the Guide rules. (2) accepting help and advice from Guides, Guide and Brownie leaders and parents. (3) searching for help and guidance from God who has given us so much for which to be thankful. Mrs. Hyde was then thanked by Mrs. D. C. Currie of Beauharnois for coming out from Montreal to attend the rally and for speaking so encouragingly to the girls.

Gault Institute Defeats Selwyn House

Park Sauve was the scene on Thursday afternoon of the first soccer game, in a home and home series with Selwyn House School, for the Dr. J. A. McLeish Trophy.

The day was cold and windy, but this did not lessen the enthusiasm of either team. The game got off to a fast start with Jim Lang of Gault scoring a goal in the first four minutes of play. During the first half, most of the play was at the Selwyn end. In succession, goals were scored by Neal Lachance, Bob Dawson and Jim Lang, all of Gault, bringing the score to 4-0 for Gault at the end of the first half.

In the second half, Selwyn House invaded the Gault's end of the field more frequently, but to no avail. They showed considerable speed and skill, but were no match for the hard-kicking Gault boys. In this half, two goals were scored by David Gault, and one by Neal Lachance — bringing the game to an end with a final score of 7-0 for Gault.

Our first real snow storm of the season arrived early on Monday morning, which cast a gloom over everything, reminding us winter is fast approaching and so much fall work yet to be done. Most of the apples are picked and some fall plowing done, but other odd jobs will still keep us hustling to keep ahead of the weatherman.

Sorry to report that Mr. Henry Blair is now a patient in the Barrie Memorial Hospital, Ormstown.

World planners believe that grasslands offer a workable solution to one aspect of the problem of feeding the millions of people who inhabit the earth. They have gathered statistics on acreages and production. Out of the mass of information they acquired, these simple facts stand out with improved seeding, fertilization and management, production of grasslands on most farms can be doubled and possibly tripled.

How this can be achieved in Canada is outlined in "Farmers' Grassland Guide" by Aubrey W. Hagar, an agricultural scientist on the staff of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph. Just published by Brunswick Press Limited, Fredericton, N.B., the book describes the growth, persistence, palatability, soil and climatic preference and feeding value of common grasses and legumes. Seed mixtures are suggested with instruction on the proper time and method of seeding.

Special emphasis is placed on the importance of adding plant food in the form of commercial fertilizers and manure for high yielding, high quality pasture, and hay and grass silage. While broad recommendations are given, the author stresses the value of having soils tested and consulting local agricultural authorities. Methods of application are discussed and probable returns from fertilization set down.

In a special section, "Grassland Balance Sheet", Mr. Hagar compares costs with probable returns and suggests methods which will enable farmers to calculate their profits from each grassland acre.

With 40 acres out of 100 of Canada's agricultural land in grass this book should be of interest to a large and important segment of this country's population.

Successful School Fair

THE Huntingdon Home and School Association is to be congratulated on the success of the School Fair held at the Huntingdon High School, on Friday evening and of which it was the sponsor. There was a very large attendance of children, parents and interested parties and the atmosphere was one of enjoyment and harmony. There was truly a community spirit which spelled success from the start. This is as it should be and with such feeling, our school is going to go ahead. More interest in the school is needed and the school should be a community centre where all can meet.

The fair was quoted by the many as being the most successful event that has been held at the school in a number of years. There was a large number of exhibits of various kinds entered by the pupils of the different grades, which tended to show the keen interest on their part. In the amateur contest, much hidden talent was brought to the fore as well as providing splendid entertainment for the audience. There was much opportunity for the patrons to mix with one another and enjoy the congenial companionship of neighbours and friends while looking over the exhibits and enjoying other items on the program. Financially, we believe it was one of the best ventures yet sponsored by the Home and School and this in itself will be of great help for future programs.

The Home and School is interesting itself in re-equipping the school library and will be in need of funds for this purpose from time to time and will probably be sponsoring several events throughout the year with this purpose in mind. If the people support other efforts as well as they supported the school fair, then there will be no worry in getting a good school library. At the present time, the children are soliciting subscriptions to a number of magazines and the purpose behind this is to devote the profits to the school library. Here again is another way in which the public can help. Your help and assistance in any of these ventures will be of material benefit to your school and its ultimate success.

Helping The Community

SINCE its inauguration, perhaps there is no other society which has done so much for community benefit, than the Huntingdon Rotary Club. It is probably one of the smallest groups in the community, but its members are imbued with the idea of service to others and they practice what they preach.

During the time the Rotary Club has been in existence we can point to many projects which they have either completely carried out or have assisted in. In a number of cases the financial assistance to carry out projects is subscribed to by the membership, while in others it has been necessary to make appeals to the general public by means of sponsored community events. In every case, the entire membership works as a unit to achieve success for the undertaking. It may be this great co-operation and united effort which is mainly responsible for the smooth working of the club when it handles community benefit projects. Each member takes his assignment with good grace and is only happy when he can give a good account and successful results for his particular part in a specified project.

All of this brings us to the point that a concerted effort is being made by the members of Rotary in sponsoring a special showing of films at the Huntingdon Theatre, next week, for the purpose of raising funds to carry on several projects of community benefit. An advertisement appears in this issue which has been subscribed to and paid for by the members of Huntingdon Rotary and the appeal is to the community to support this showing by their attendance on one of three nights of the program. One very commendable project at the present time and which is costing considerable to carry out, is the one in connection with a complete training in nursing for one girl each year. As everyone knows there is a great shortage of trained nurses and the Rotary is endeavoring to give this training to a girl who would not otherwise be able to obtain it, at the rate of one each year. At the present time two girls are receiving this benefit, but as the period of training expires and the girls graduate, they will be dropping out, but it is quite possible that three girls will be taking this training at one time.

We urge that the public give this program their best support as they have done similar projects of the past. The support will in turn help the community as a whole and thus everyone will benefit in some way.

The Increase In Sex Crimes

OFFICIALS are greatly disturbed by the large number of sex crimes that are being committed in the present day. One cannot pick up a newspaper but what there will be a news story of at least one sex crime having been committed somewhere. In the columns of this newspaper, we have had to record several cases of sex crimes in recent months, so even this district is not immune to the possibilities of such acts.

An article in the October 18th issue of "Saturday Night", written by W. C. J. Meredith, Q.C., Dean of Law, McGill University, deals with "Law and the Sex Criminal". In this article, Mr. Meredith points out that murder can be the outcome of sex crimes as the perpetrator tries to eliminate the evidence. He says there is a popular but erroneous notion that every sex criminal is a mental case incapable of controlling his actions, who should be hospitalized rather than punished. Fortunately, the law has not accepted that view, for it is reasonable to assume that if rapists and killers were assured of nursing and hospitalization instead of imprisonment and execution, there would soon be a further increase in sex crime. It would be interesting to know if any one of the sex criminals who have raised that defence would have yielded to his impulse if (to borrow the words of an English judge) a policeman had been at his elbow.

Summing up his observations on sex crime, Mr. Meredith has the following to say in the article mentioned:

Under the circumstances I suggest that the definition of a sexual psychopath should be omitted from the revised Criminal Code and that provision should be made for psychiatric examination and possible unlimited detention of every person convicted of any kind of sex crime. This would permit of a thorough screening of all sex criminals, both first offenders and repeaters, with a view to distinguishing those who should be detained indefinitely from those who may safely be released after serving their penal sentences.

Such procedure would also tend to avoid some of the practical difficulties encountered in applying sex-psychopath laws in the United States, and furthermore would meet situations not covered by the present law. For instance, the definition in the code requiring a "course of misconduct in sexual matters" as proof of the offender's condition would exclude a potentially dangerous first offender whom psychiatrists were satisfied should not be at large but against whom there was no evidence or admission of prior misconduct. Under the suggested amendment no such difficulty would arise.

I make the further suggestion that any sexual offender who, following his release from preventive detention, commits another sex crime of such a nature as to indicate that he is dangerous to the community, should be detained for life. Alternatively, he should not be released for the second time until he has been rendered harmless by sterilization.

If these suggested amendments should appear too severe, it would be well to call to mind some of the many tragic cases of sex crime: the victims of gang rapists who have been forced to submit to intercourse with several men in succession; the women who discovered too late that their companions were sadists; the children who have been kidnapped and subjected to abuse and torture; the young boys and girls who have been introduced to unnatural practices and whose lives have been ruined. If these atrocities are not to continue unabated, the courts must have the power to isolate dangerous sex criminals including first offenders, and as a deterrent to others more effect should be given to the laws relating to punishment, including the lash.

As to capital punishment, Mr. Justice Travers Humphreys, one of England's most distinguished High Court judges, minced no words when he said: "Make sure that a man charged with murder can be proved to have intentionally committed the crime, then, if the jury convict him, let him be hanged; the world will be well rid of him."

The principle underlying that statement is also applicable to cases less serious than murder. To encourage the belief that persons convicted of sex offences, knowingly and intentionally committed may expect to escape punishment on the ground of insanity would be to convey an entirely false impression of the law and almost certainly would lead to an increase in sex crime. We owe it to the women and children of Canada to see that this does not happen.

Random Glimpses of The Past Taken from Gleaner Files

October 3
Mr. Norman McCrimmon, so widely known among the farmers from his connection with the size langrove Combination, landed here Thursday evening. He was one of the party that left in February, 1898, and one of the few who reached the Klondyke. His account of the region is most interesting. He represents it as being by no means a bad place to live in. The thermometer goes low at times—68 degrees below zero last winter—but from the aid being so dry and no wind the cold is not hard to bear. In summer there is rapid vegetation and quantities of the hardier varieties of vegetables are now raised around Dawson. Before he left he saw a fine field of potatoes. As to gold, it is found in quantities along a few creeks which are rapidly becoming exhausted. Whether as rich fields will be found elsewhere nobody can say. The methods of mining have entirely changed from what they were when he arrived. Thawing the soil by wood fire is no longer resorted to. The frost is taken out by steam from large boilers and the washing of the soil is more thorough. The country is now full of machinery, and the workings of early mines are going through a second sifting. No paying quartz has yet been discovered. Dawson has undergone a complete change of solid, well built houses, inhabited by people as orderly as in any other town of its size. What will become of it should no gold field be discovered is a problem for it depends solely on the mining industry. The summer provisions have fallen 50 per cent in price, but board was still $3 a day. Of the charges against officials Mr. McCrimmon thinks little. They were preferred chiefly by agitators or Americans, who abuse everything that is Canadian. Many of these gamblers went to Nome, but were glad to get back to the Klondyke. The only man from this section who struck it rich is Mr. Picotto of St. Remi who owns a share in a fine claim. James and Robert Cowan have employment in a large establishment in Dawson, and D. W. Dalgleish also has a situation. Dr. Wells is practising as a dentist. Speaking of the members he met in Calgary Mr. McCrimmon says he would have done better on the farm. Owing to the prevalence of sickness among the scholars last winter and spring, especially the epidemic of measles, nobody expected the Academy would keep the first place it has held so long among its 23 rival institutions. Anticipating the worst, the announcement that Huntingdon Academy again leads the Province is all the more gratifying. The official figures are: Huntingdon first, Lachute second, Sherbrooke third, Waterloo fourth, Knowlton fifth, Ormstown sixth, Valleyfield twelfth. Huntingdon is entitled to a grant of $454, Ormstown $342, Valleyfield $344. Hemmingford Model School stands sixth and gets $112 grant. Principal Holliday is to be congratulated on the success of the Academy under such untoward circumstances. The attendance this fall is larger than ever. In several departments more seats had to be put in.

Living Life Over Again

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

We have all heard people wistfully remark that if they had their lives to live over again they would not do something they had done, or do something they had left undone. I have been reading a book entitled "If I Had My Time Again." It is an anthology contributed to by twenty distinguished men and women, and edited by Sir James Marchant, K.B.E. The contributors are all advanced in years and one of them is nearly ninety, so that they have a long way to look back and have little time left in which to make up for their shortcomings. They all agree that the idea of living their lives over again is an impossible one, and that if it were possible under the same circumstances they would do exactly what they did before; otherwise they would not be the same persons.

In my youth I received a letter from an uncle in South Africa in which he remarked that if he were offered the chance of living his life over again, he would reply in the words of an editorial rejection slip: "Declined with thanks." The oldest contributor to this book, Horace Annesley Vachell, the novelist, admits that he had been "exceptionally lucky" in having "God's best gift, high health," and he seems to have received few rejection slips from editors and publishers. He would be "willing (if not eager) to relive" his long life as he had lived it. Another contributor, Lord Teviot, says that the only reason a man could have for desiring to relive his life would be that at its second beginning he would enter upon it with full possession of all the experience that had befallen him during his first period of existence. But in the case he would have the dubious gift of pre-visibility, which his lordship thinks would "entail endless embarrassment."

I once heard Ian MacLaren preach on the subject, "Vain Regret," in which he emphasized the foolishness and the uselessness of worrying over the mistakes and ills of the past. In this connection, Lord Pethick-Lawrence tells a true story of a friend who was visiting a woman in prison and constantly moaning and repeating the words "I wish I hadn't done it!" Seeking to comfort the woman, she said at last: "Well! Make up your mind that you won't do it again." After she left the cell she asked the woman had committed, "Murdering her husband" was the reply. Omar said the last word on that: "The moving finger writes and having writ, moves on - - Nor all they tears wash out a word of it."

Air Chief Marshal Lord Dowding begins by quoting a Hollywood star who was reported to have said: "If I had my time over again I think I would marry the same man, but in a different order." His answer to the question is on similar lines. If he were set to relive this life, he believes it would turn out very much the same in outline, but he would like to think that he should be able to improve on it in detail. But the Air Marshal confesses that he has become a fatalist. "During the last eight years or so," he says, "I have come to recognize it as a fact that long before my birth I was destined to command the British Forces in the Battle of Britain." - - - I believe that before my birth I assented willingly to the pattern of my life, and although my pre-natal immersion in the Waters of Lethe was a hundred per cent effective, I have conspired throughout my life to have conspired to guide events along the prescribed channel without any conscious knowledge or volition on my part."

Obviously the Air Marshal believes in pre-existence, and he deals at length with the doctrine of reincarnation, which he says was taught by the early Christian Church. From my acquaintance with soldiers and airmen in particular who were in the war, I would judge that they were all fatalists. One young airman who was in many raids over Berlin told me that he "knew" he would come through all right, and that others knew they would not return.

Letter to the Editor

5107 Wellington Street, Verdun, P.Q., Canada, 13th October, 1952.

Dear Sir: I wonder if it would be possible to publish this letter in your valuable paper.

A year ago we started to build a house on Tateshore Road, in Ormstown. When we closed the house for the winter months, we were very confident that nothing would be disturbed until we returned. However, when spring rolled around and we reopened our house, we were disturbed to discover that our young son's coaster had been stolen in our absence.

This year we were absent from the cottage a few weeks and some loss, five in all, which a neighbor gave us to fix up for seats on the front of the house, and a small barrel which we had painted, were also removed from our property.

Now, the coaster was the only thing of any value to anyone, but I would like to inform the offender there is still another barrel and some more paint to finish the logs. If they would like to complete the job they can come and let us know - we will willingly contribute the remainder of the goods.

We have still to move our house furnishings to Ormstown when the house is completed. We have nothing of great value, except to ourselves, but the next time anything disappears I will have it thoroughly investigated, not for the value of the goods, but for the principle of the situation.

Sincerely,
Mrs. T. Ovenstone.

Dundee

Dr. and Mrs. Peter E. Kozak of Quebec City spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fraser. Mrs. Kozak and Mrs. Fraser are sisters. Mrs. Fraser's mother, Mrs. A. E. Barber of Farnham is spending a couple of weeks at the Fraser home.

Messrs. Gordon, Lester, Dan and W. D. Fraser attended the International Plowing Match which was held at Carp, Ont., last week.

Mrs. S. R. Collins was guest speaker at Zion United Church on Sunday morning. She and her husband are in charge of a Theological Training School in Chissamba, in Angola, Portuguese East Africa. Mrs. Collins is a W.M.S. Missionary and gave a very interesting talk on her work among the East African Tribes. While in Dundee she and her son Frank were guests of Rev. A. E. Hagar and Mrs. Hagar. Rev. Mr. Collins and wife are home on a year's furlough and at the end of that time both are planning to return to Africa for another five years. At present their four children are attending school in Ottawa. Mrs. Collins is on a speaking tour of Ontario and Quebec while her husband is travelling through Western Canada. They are both trying to acquaint the people of this country with their work as missionaries.

The Week At Ottawa...

OTTAWA. (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent last week increased British Columbia's representation in the cabinet from one to two, but denied he was mending political fences.

The Prime Minister announced Fisheries Minister Robert Mayhew, 72, member for Victoria, B.C., has been appointed Canada's first ambassador to Japan. Previous Canadian envoys at Tokyo have been of the status of ministers.

His successor is James Sinclair, 44, member for Coast-Caplan and parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott. At the same time Ralph Campney, 58, parliamentary assistant to Defence Minister Claxton and member for Vancouver Centre, was appointed Solicitor General, a portfolio now handled by Justice Minister Garson.

Asked if there was any connection between the increase in B.C.'s representation and the defeat of the Liberal government in that province last June, Mr. St. Laurent said there was not.

"I don't think we should show any special concern about what people do in the provincial arena," he said.

The population of the west-coast province had been increasing rapidly. Regardless of how provinces voted, "we should arrange to have them represented as well as possible in the federal arena."

Besides British Columbia, the Liberals have suffered other provincial reverses. The Liberal government of New Brunswick was defeated after 17 years in office; the party lost ground in Ontario, Alberta and Saskatchewan elections; in Quebec, the party increased membership but saw its leader—Georges Lapalme—defeated.

Nation-wide Petition
When political wheels began turning as the Nov. 20 opening of the new session of Parliament drew near.

C.C.F. leader M. J. Coldwell announced his party soon will launch one of the largest signature-collecting campaigns ever undertaken in Canada.

The party will ask as many Canadians as can be reached to sign a petition urging the federal government to inaugurate a national health insurance program by the new session. Lorne Inglis, the party's national secretary, said plans are to table the petition in the Commons early in the new year.

In a nation-wide broadcast, Mr. Coldwell said the Liberal party has been "promising" national health insurance since 1919—33 years of "procrastination and delays." The petition would call for a program to provide all citizens, irrespective of income, with full hospital, medical, dental and optical care.

Because of Commons rules, the wording of the petition must be such that there will be no obligation on the government to act, no matter how many signatures are obtained.

Pipeline Approved
Hopes were stirred in British Columbia and the Peace River country straddling the northern B.C.-Alberta border when the Board of Transport Commissioners approved construction of a natural gas pipeline down the west coast.

The authorization cleared one of the last two major obstacles to a $111,000,000 network that would bring gas from the Peace River field to the Vancouver area and the United States Northwest.

The Westcoast Transmission Company, which will build the 960-mile line, still must get approval from the U.S. Federal Power Commission to pipe its gas into the rich markets of Washington and Oregon states. The company says it must enter that market for the pipeline to pay its way.

The F.P.C. is expected to decide that question shortly. The Canadian Board's decision—indicating enough Peace River reserves to meet market requirements for 25 years or more—may have some bearing on the U.S. decision.

The pipeline would be the first to take Alberta natural gas into a Canadian market outside that province. It is also held out as the only feasible outlet for the Peace

River's huge gas supplies.

A-Bomb Information
Dr. O. M. Solandt, one of five Canadian scientists who took part in Britain's recent atomic tests north of Australia, returned to Ottawa and said that Britain will continue to let Canada share in her atomic weapons program as she did in Australia.

Canada, whose own atomic energy program is aimed at peaceful purposes, is barred from learning secrets of U.S. atomic weapons. She has been trying to keep informed on the growth of the world's No. 1 weapon largely by what her officials could read in books and reports.

Dr. Solandt, chairman of the Defence Research Board, and the four other Canadians brought back the first direct information Canada has had in six years.

Dr. Solandt said Canada wants the information for two reasons—she must be prepared for atomic attacks on Canadian cities and for warfare in which Canadian troops would be fighting with the support of atomic weapons welded by allies.

What Prospects
Canada faces the prospect of a big pile-up of unsold wheat at the end of the current crop year.

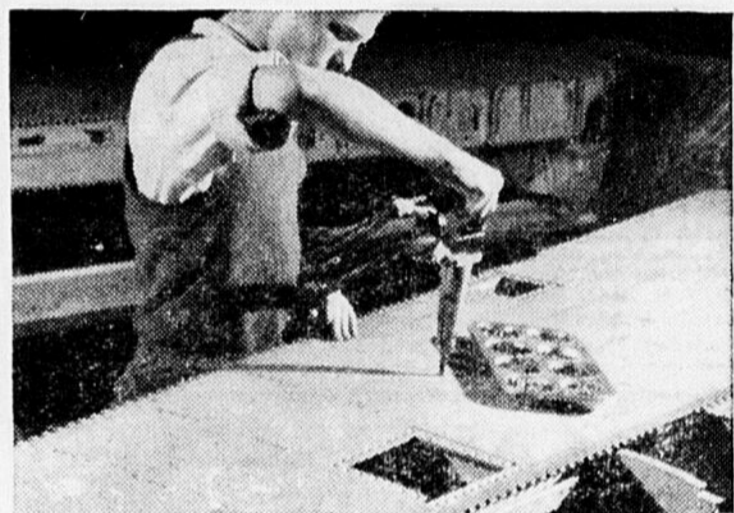

A government report placed Canadian wheat available for export and carryover this year at about 728,100,000 bushels—highest in peacetime history and well above last year's 569,400,000 bushels.

It noted that while Canada is harvesting a record crop, world wheat production is unusually high this year and this may trim imports by western European countries, where near-record harvests are reported.

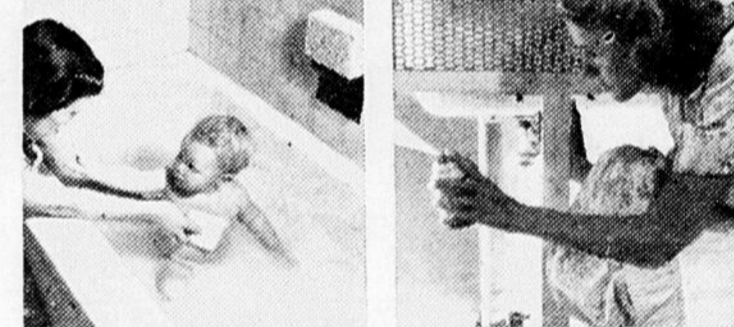

The picture in Canada shows a record 675,000,000-bushels wheat harvest plus a carryover from the last crop year of 213,100,000 bushels.

Every effort is being made to boost export sales. But the experts agreed that getting this year's harvest moving will be one of the major obstacles in the way of turning sales prospects into dollars.

EXPLOSION IN MINIATURE! It happens frequently these days in the Montreal plant where Sabre jets are made. Worker is using explosive rivets on a wing section. Developed by the chemical industry to speed up riveting operations, especially in hard-to-get-at places, they contain a tiny explosive charge which fastens the rivet when fired.

SUPER-SOFTNESS is a "must" in everything that touches baby's tender skin. For bath-time, mothers find that C-I-L Cellulose Sponges are just the thing—wonderfully soft and absorbent. Available in smart colours—blue, green, coral, yellow and natural.

Did you know?
C-I-L products are making mighty contributions to Canada's air defence. In addition to explosive rivets for the F-86E Sabre, chemicals, nylon, "Cellophane", play a vital role.

Round Byre A_ND Ring

By Frank Napier NEW CANADIAN JERSEY CHAMPION

man, Wye Banks Farm (owner); Malcolm Duncan, Manager of Wye Banks Farm, Brantford, Ont. NEW JERSEY RECORD James Bremner, Secretary of The Canadian Jersey Cattle Club recently announced that there is a new Canadian Jersey milk record champion in the mature class, 305 day division of the R.O.P., on two milkings-a-day. The new Canadian Jersey Champion is Pinnacle's Basil Norah with a total production of 15,231 lbs. milk, 890 lbs. of butterfat. She has therefore been awarded a Gold Medal certificate by the Canadian Jersey Cattle Club.

Table with 2 columns: Category, Value. Includes 'THE QUEBEC HOLSTEIN SALE' with entries for total average, 28 milking females, and 38 bred heifers.

3 bulls 1.855 618 69 head $35,965 $521 VERY FINE AVERAGE The second annual Quebec Holstein Sale was held at St. Hyacinthe, Que., on October first. The general average was perhaps not so high as it was last year but a general average price this year of $521.00 per head, or a total of $35,965.00 for 69 head, should be considered as very good indeed. It is of course true that since this was in the main a breed promotional sale there was a considerable number of top animals, both as regards conformation and record breeding. However, the U.S. embargo is still in effect, without any immediate signs of same being lifted. Therefore none of the animals were sold to the United States and apparently all of them went to Quebec buyers, scattered over a wide radius.

THE MANAGEMENT The Sale was managed by W. A. Hodge of Raymondale Farms, Verdun, Que., with Lorne E. Franklin, Brantford, Ont., as Auctioneer and Hermas Lajoie, Secretary Quebec Holstein Association, on Pedigrees. Paul St. Marie assisted Mr. Hodge in the ring while the animals were efficiently led by James Houston and Maurice Proulx.

GLEN AYERST TOPPED SALE The Glen Ayerst Farm, Ormstown, entry—Glen Ayerst Rag Apple Ballerina—topped the sale at $2,000.00, her purchaser being W. K. MacLeod, Lake Aylmer Farm, Theford Mines. The Lake Aylmer stud is a comparatively new herd but it has been figuring quite prominently in this year's show rings. Glen Ayerst Rag Apple Ballerina is a third-year and her sire is Egan's Rag Apple General, grand champion at Ormstown for four consecutive years. Her dam is Mount Blow Bell Pabst, classified 'Excellent' and with a yearly record of 22,850 lbs. M., 853 lbs. F., average test 3.73%.

Mr. MacLeod also purchased Meyercrest Rag Apple Brenda at $850.00 from J. A. Meyer, Lachute. This young cow, in-milk, is by Raymondale E. A. Pickup, one of the best in the Kemptville, Ont. Artificial Insemination Unit.

SECOND HIGH The second highest priced animal of the sale, the highest priced of the three bulls sold, was Brown's Abegweit Leader, consigned by Brown Corporation, La-Tuque.

Meride Cle., Stanbridge East, represented by Mr. Roberday, paid $1,000.00 for this old cow which is out of Murraydale Pabst Lassie (V.G.) with 8 records of which the average butterfat test works out at 4.45%. The dam's dam being a daughter of the XXXX Montvic 12 months Master. Brown's Abegweit Leader is by Abegweit Seion, son of Abegweit Widow (G.M.) with a lifetime production of 129,485 lbs. M., at 4.38% F. to her credit. Meride Cle also paid $725.00 top price for a bred heifer, for Frittenden Jewel consigned by Mrs. B. M. Hallward, North Hatley.

Two females were sold at $825.00 each, one of them being the 4 year old cow which was consigned by J. E. Chandler, Meadowood Farm, Hudson, Ont. The name and other details of this animal were not given in the report received. The other was a two year old heifer which was consigned by Wm. Bousquet, La Presentation.

The Laval Hospital, Ste. Foy was the largest purchaser with 7 head, while the Hospice St. Charles, Cap Rouge, paid $700.00 for a heifer and $500.00 for a son of Eglantier Emperor Triumph and of the Hundred Thousand pound Abegweit Keep-sake.

Altogether there were some 34 purchasers from widely separated parts of the Province of Quebec. Included in that list being Allan Radley, Hemmingford and A. Pinsonneault, Ormstown.

A NEW HAT Last year Hermas ("Gus") Lajoie, Secretary of the Quebec Holstein Association, made a bet with Lorne E. ("Pop") Franklin, Auctioneer, as to what the average of the St. Hyacinthe Sale would be. And, Gus won! This year a similar bet was made by the two warriors, but the tables were turned on Gus this year. In this instance the stake was a $15.00 hat. Therefore if Pop Franklin is wearing a Western "Ten Gallon" (?) hat next time you see him, you will know that Gus has so "Crowned" him.

CANADIAN-BRED CHAMPION A Canadian-bred cow was grand champion female for her U.S. owner at the recent National Holstein Show. That Show having been sponsored by the Holstein Friesian Association of America in conjunction with the Waterloo Dairy Cattle Congress (an annual livestock exhibition), Waterloo, Iowa. The grand champion is Woodziegen Queen Maizie, a seven year old cow which was bred by W. W. Thompson, Hornby, Ont. Woodziegen Queen Maizie is a daughter of Woodziegen Queen Nig which has been typed classified 'Excellent' and which has a lifetime record of 130,342 lbs. M., 4,938 lbs. F. The grand champion bull at the National Holstein Show, for the second consecutive year, was Smithland Supreme Champion. The sire of that bull being Inka Supreme Posch, a bull that was bred by James R. Henderson, Kingston, and was named All Canadian Aged Bull for 1943.

Both Champions are owned by Forsgate Farms, Jamesstown, N.J.

new hotel to replace the one destroyed by fire a few years ago is now in process of construction. In addition 22 prefabricated summer cabins are being erected to accommodate the summer tourist business. A firm in Toronto who built the prefabs will also erect them. The growth of the summer tourist trade locally has been phenomenal during the last few years, so much so that all available land along the waterfront in the parishes of St. Anicet, Ste. Barbe and the Township of Dundee has practically been taken up.

The scarcity of building sites is such that one man is even contemplating purchasing part of an unused cemetery site for erecting a summer camp thereon.

Messrs. Geo. Smelle and Geo. Hunter of Fort Covington recently purchased a beautiful summer camp site which was formerly part of George Sheard's farm in the Parish of St. Anicet. Reported price was $3,000.00. The Roads Dept. are planning an extension of the existing road which runs north from Highway No. 3. This unfinished section of nearly a mile will, when it is finished, make available to public use a long section of waterfront which has the best of open water facilities. This land is owned by three other owners, Messrs. Arthur and Paul Trepanier and Mrs. Eleanor and Mr. Earl McNicol. An initial start was made on the road before the last Provincial Election and it is expected that work is to be commenced again as soon as machinery is available from other nearby construction jobs. The Fortin Construction Co. are the contractors in charge of the work.

Work is progressing rapidly on the widening and resurfacing of about 9,000 ft. of road from Zion Church to St. Agnes de Dundee. This new road will replace the old narrow black top road which has been in use since 1915 when the Dundee Council first macadamized its roads throughout the Township. This roadway will be the full 66 ft. width from fence to fence with the regulation black top which will be laid next year after the grade which is now being made had a chance to settle. Material for fill is being drawn from the gravel pit on Mr. Lyle Currie's farm. Fortin Freres are building this section also. Work is also expected to commence as soon as possible on the new road at Dundee Lines to allow the use of the new Dundee Customs building constructed last winter.

FRONT QUARTER CUTS ARE ECONOMICAL

Now that the cooler weather has come and you're cooking roasts again, why not try cooking some cuts from the front quarter of beef? There will be plenty of beef available during the coming months and consumers can take advantage of many good buys. The home economists of the Consumer Section of the Canada Department of Agriculture say that roasts from the front quarter are economical and every bit as rich in food value as the more expensive cuts.

The front quarter of beef usually refers to the blade, cross rib, shoulder or chuck roasts. Blade roasts are next to the rib section and take their name from the blade bone. This bone may be left in the roasts or taken out and the meat rolled. Next to the blade roasts are the cross-rib roasts which are sometimes called short-rib roasts, but are not to be confused with the prime rib roasts which come from the rib section. The cross-rib roasts are taken from the meatiest part of the front quarter. The shoulder or round shoulder roasts are, as the name implies, from the shoulder section. Because they have a large proportion of bone they are usually boned and rolled. Chuck roasts which are next to the neck are less tender than the others. The one important thing to keep in mind when cooking these less tender cuts of beef is to use moist heat and long slow cooking.

Here are some directions which will ensure a mouth-watering pot roast. Buy a chuck, blade or cross-rib roast and brown it well on all sides in a heavy pan or Dutch oven in a small amount of fat, about four tablespoons. Add two tablespoons of water and cover tightly. Then cook in a moderately slow oven of 325° F., until the meat is tender, allowing 20 to 25 minutes to the pound, or cook on top of the stove allowing 15 to 20 minutes to the pound, not forgetting, of course, to brown thoroughly before covering.

For a spicy flavoured pot roast, season the meat before browning with chili powder, mustard, curry powder, or horseradish. Diluted tomato or chili sauce or catsup added during the cooking also give extra flavour.

For a complete meal in one, try cooking vegetables around the pot roast. Vegetables such as carrots, potatoes, onions and turnips may be peeled and cut in serving-size pieces and added to the pot roast about an hour before the end of the cooking time. Do not forget that the stock left in the pan makes rich brown gravy. The men folk especially, will enjoy this kind of dinner and will ask for second helpings.

How long is it since you have had a good beef stew... tender and juicy and rich in flavour? A stew is the best way to use these less tender cuts from the front quarter and at the same time makes a fine tasting, one-dish meal requiring a minimum of pot and plate washing. Or, of course, meat can usually be bought cut-up as stewing meat from the butcher.

The stew family is really an international group. There is the well known Irish Stew, English Beef and Kidney Pie, French Ragout and Hungarian Goulash, to mention just a few. Many of these stews are made from beef from the shoulder section and varied indeed are the seasonings that go into them. For example, the French season the meat with salt, pepper and spice and allow it to stand several hours in vinegar or a little red wine to saturate the pieces. The Hungarian stews are highly spiced with paprika or peppercorns and often are cooked in meat stock, sour milk or sour cream.

The basis for all of these is beef cut in two inch cubes or smaller, seasoned with salt and pepper, browned in fat covered with liquid which may be tomato juice, meat stock or water and then simmered slowly until tender, about two hours. The flouring and browning of the meat makes for a rich flavour and gives that appetizing colour we all find so pleasant. Adding vegetables during cooking is also a time saver and they are at their best when added when the meat is almost tender.

Stew does not have to be monotonous—top it with dumplings, pastry or tea biscuit dough. For a change, the home economists suggest you try colourful biscuit or pastry pinwheels next time you have stew. To make them, roll out rectangles 1/4 inch thick of either tea biscuit or pastry dough. Sprinkle with chopped parsley and grated carrot, roll up as you would a jelly roll and bake on top of the stew in a 400° F. oven the last 25 to 30 minutes of cooking.

CANADA'S health

WHEN JUNIOR BITES HIS NAILS A child's nervous habits may take various forms such as biting finger nails, stuttering or twitching. There are many causes for such habits—malnutrition and fatigue may be the reason or even too strict discipline, causing the child to feel insecure in his parents' affection. Insufficient outdoor exercise and play may contribute to the cause. A child showing evidence of such habits should be given a complete medical examination. He may need a change of diet and treatment.

HELP TO PREVENT EYESTRAIN

Reading, writing or doing other close work in poor light may have a damaging effect upon the eyes, causing eyestrain and incidental headaches. Light that is either too strong or too dim should be corrected to give a clear comfortable illumination, with no harmful glare or deep shadows.

HAVE YOU A HALLUX VALGUS

People who have bunions may prefer to use the more dignified scientific name of Hallux Valgus for their foot trouble but it still won't make it any less painful or easier to endure. This trouble is and unsightly deformity usually the result of wearing ill-fitted shoes, especially during childhood. Children's footwear and that includes hosiery, should be purchased large enough in length and width to allow for the fact that the average child's foot increases a size every two months during the growing years.

TANTRUMS

When indulging in a tantrum, a youngster is liable to make some very rash statements, including threats to run away and telling his mother that he hates her. These should not be a cause for worry. Junior is just trying to get his own way and he'll use any methods to that end. If his parents lose their tempers too, the situation becomes much worse. Treating his outbursts calmly will be more likely to bring him to his senses. It is as well to let him cool off by himself for awhile but never in the dark or in a place he fears. He doesn't really hate his mother and he doesn't want to lose her love—he'll try anything at the moment to gain his ends.

PROTECTIVE TEST

Every year sees a decrease in the number of deaths from tuberculosis, even among our native Indians who are more susceptible to the disease than the white man. There is also a decrease in the number of cases and this may be credited to the methods used in discovering and treating the disease in its earliest and most curable stages. The X-ray examination has discovered hundreds of cases of tuberculosis not previously suspected which have been cured before they could become really serious. This X-ray examination is available free of charge in most parts of Canada and everyone should take advantage of the opportunity when possible.

CHILL CHASER

With chilly days just around the corner, a good hot drink in the lunch box is very welcome. Hot milk, chocolate or cream soups carried in a vacuum bottle can add much to the lunch carried by the worker or school child. Nourishing soups make a more interesting meal of what is too often cold fare.

Howick High School Notes

The Student Council sponsored a dance on Saturday, Oct. 4, when guests were present from the surrounding schools. A pleasant time was reported.

The Howick W.I. entertained the school staff at a reception on Monday evening, Oct. 6, 1952, when the new teachers, also former ones, were welcomed to the community.

An excellent film on "rayon" was shown, followed by an address on "Macbeth", given by Mr. E. King, the guest speaker.

Delicious refreshments were served, and a social time enjoyed.

Our Trip To England

For the past two weeks the Gleaner has been running a report of a trip to England and Scotland taken by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pace, Huntingdon. The following is a continuation of this trip.

We left Salisbury for Winchester stopping en route to view the group of standing stones at Stonehenge on Salisbury plain, Wiltshire, which form two circles and two ovals. The outer circle is 3 hundred feet in circumference and originally consisted of 60 stones. There were 30 uprights, 30 imposts, of which only 32 remain (17 standing). At the grand entrance 16 stones remain, the inner circle now consists of 19 stones, 6 feet in height, of which 11 are standing. The circles were probably formed in connection with the Druidical, or other Old Religions. Some of the stones stand over 21 feet high and over 8 feet in the ground. In the inner oval is one large slab, supposed to have been an altar. It was well worth the visit.

Continuing our journey through Amesbury and Avebury, we were impressed by the beauty of this latter Wiltshire village, so stopped and took pictures of its thatched cottages. On arriving at Winchester, a beautiful old Cathedral City and one-time capital of England, we visited the main points of interest including its great Cathedral, which is 556 feet in length. We left Winchester passing through Newbury, Oxford and Stratford on Avon, arriving at Smethwick late that night. After a few days' rest, we started for Scotland, proceeding Northward through busy Wolverhampton, Birmingham and Albrighton, County of Staffordshire; Newport, Market Drayton, Shropshire; on to Nantwich, Calveley and Tarparyle, Cheshire. Leaving Cheshire, we approached the extensive industrialized area of Lancashire, and saw plentiful evidence of the present busy times as we journeyed through the town of Warrington and Wigan and came to Preston, another great industrial centre, where cotton spinning on a grand scale is carried on.

Leaving Preston we arrived at Lancaster, a rural town, being led by two important roads cross, and a horseshoe has been imbedded into the pavement. Its origin is due to an alleged incident of John O'Gaunt's horse carrying his shoe to the present busy times as we journeyed through the town of Warrington and Wigan and came to Preston, another great industrial centre, where cotton spinning on a grand scale is carried on.

Milk Cows Increase

The first significant upward trend in Canadian dairy cow population in seven years was revealed by a Dominion Bureau of Statistics survey published this week. The report shows that on June 1st, 1952, milk cows and heifers increased by 3.7 per cent over a year ago.

The increase in milk cows on farms amounting to 64,000 head, reflects the embargo on Canadian cattle shipments to the U.S. imposed following the outbreak of foot and mouth disease, but, nevertheless, exceeds the total number of milk cows exported in the year prior to the ban, by some 12,900 head.

From the standpoint of future milk output, dairy officials note the sharp increase of 73,000, or 8.6 per cent, in heifers kept for milk purposes, as promising relief from the declining milk production which has been in evidence since 1945.

The Provinces of Quebec and Prince Edward Island show the highest heifer increase with gains of 20.9 per cent and 18.2 per cent respectively. Ontario showed an increase of 8.6 per cent. Saskatchewan is the only Province showing a decline during the year.

In contrast to the improved Canadian outlook, the United States Department of Agriculture reports a continuation of the decline in milk cow numbers and milk production in that country.

Increased production, loss of export markets for dairy cattle and greatly restricted outlets for cheese and evaporated milk, together with butter and cheese imports during the past 12 months, have resulted in abnormally high stocks of all dairy products for this season of the year.

For You Madam

The Triennial Conference of the Queen's Women's Institutes are being asked to make plans for meeting those overseas delegates to the 7th Triennial Conference of the Associated Country Women of the World, who may be entering Canada by Montreal or Dorval. The Conference is held in Toronto, Aug. 12-23, 1953.

The provincial president, Mrs. G. E. LeBaron, who attended the last meeting of the Conference Main Planning Committee of the Federation of Women's Institutes of Canada, reports this had been discussed in some detail, as it was felt the Q.W.I. would be in a position to offer the necessary hospitality.

This recommendation was approved by the international president, Mrs. R. Sayre, Ackworth, Iowa, who was present at the meeting.

County Institutes are being asked to what extent they can co-operate and further plans will be developed from these findings, at a meeting of the Q.W.I. executive, to be held in the near future.

Local Institutes are also being asked to send in approximate number of members planning to attend "Canada Day" at the Conference. The F.W.I.C. is asking for this information from all provincial units to assist in planning the space available, as it is expected there will be many visitors at that event from constituent societies in the United States.

The campaign in Huntingdon County for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, is now underway in the country districts and canvassers are calling on the residents seeking contributions to the cause. An objective has been set of $1,000 for the town and surrounding districts.

In the 157 registered cases, with ten of them in the County of Huntingdon. All of them will need help at some time or other and we are especially interested in those in our own county. Not only are there the cases that are registered, but there are many which are not registered and some who are not actually blind according to strict definition. However, it is often possible to prevent blindness if proper treatment is obtained. The Institute is much interested in the prevention of blindness for the purpose of administering to those who have lost their sight. The funds being solicited are for this purpose and will be used in Huntingdon for residents of Huntingdon. The Institute enters to all persons regardless of nationality or religion, they are interested in saving sight or helping the sightless. They know that it means to lose one's sight and live in darkness, possibly for the rest of life. There are many ways in which a blind person can be taught to become self dependent and they prefer to be this way rather than to be a charge on any one or institution. Your gift may help some person to help himself and then will have served a most useful purpose.

Cards of Thanks

If you are willing to act as canvasser in town, kindly get in touch with Mr. W. K. Pope at the Bank of Montreal.

Shawinigan Correspondents Hold Convention Here

Visit Gleaner Plant on Friday; Convention Headquarters at Chateau

"Shawinigan Journal" is the name of the house organ for the Shawinigan Water & Power Co. The Shawinigan Water & Power Co. is a far flung organization in the Province of Quebec, having a large number of districts in which they supply electricity and in which they have chemical plants, etc. To cover the news that will be of interest to the great number of employees throughout the organization, some one person in each district is designated as the journal correspondent.

On Thursday and Friday of last week a convention was held in Huntingdon, at the Chateau, when 81 of these correspondents were present. These correspondents are appointed to this duty, for a period of three years. During their stay in Huntingdon they held business meetings with a view to having the news copy for the Shawinigan Journal prepared in better form and made into more interesting reading material for their fellow workers.

The 81 employees are primarily interested in the various works of the Shawinigan Water & Power Co. and not that of publishing or printing. Mr. John Dudgeon, who was in charge of the convention, felt that the annual meeting being held in Huntingdon this year, it presented an opportunity for the party to visit a printing plant where such publications as the Shawinigan Journal are printed and so it was that on Friday the party of 81 men and women visited the Gleaner plant.

Injured Man Taken To Montreal Hospital

On Friday morning about 10.30, a man was taken to the Huntingdon County Hospital and later removed by ambulance to the Notre Dame Hospital, Montreal, suffering from a wound in the head.

The man was Thomas Clark, age 60, of Route 4, Trout River, and he had been working for two days for Mr. Edgar Leblanc. On the morning in question, Clark came to the Leblanc house and said he was hurt. He had been working in the barn and it was thought he must have had a fall. Dr. P. Girard of Huntingdon was called and ordered his removal to the Huntingdon County Hospital. After examination there it was found advisable to move him to the hospital in Montreal. The man apparently had a bullet lodged in his head and an operation would be required to remove it.

A 22 rifle was found in the barn at the Leblanc farm and it had one empty shell in it. The rifle belonged to Mr. Leblanc. Full particulars have not been obtained as the victim has been unable to talk.

"Randlestown" Wins Grand Champion Hunter

Miss Viola Lallemand of Sonneybrook Farm, Huntingdon, entered "Randlestown" and "Quiet Please" in the recent Provincial Horse Show held at Sherbrooke, Que. "Randlestown" was awarded five firsts, one second and one fourth. But this was not the end of his winnings. He was also awarded the Grand Champion Hunter, taking the Ladies Hunter, Hack Hunter and Middleweight Hunter as well as the Second Teachers Training Program Held St. Andrews

About forty Sunday School workers from Athelstan, Beauharnois, Georgetown, Huntingdon, Ormstown, and Valleyfield met in St. Andrew's Church, Huntingdon, on Thursday of last week for the second in the series of Teachers' Training Programs. The theme, "Telling Bible Stories", was skilfully and delightfully presented by Miss Daisy MacNeill, M.A., Secretary for Girls' and Children's Work of the Quebec Christian Education Council, and Miss Mima MacDonald, office secretary of that organization. Miss MacNeill with fine insight into the reactions of child listeners, shed new light on the techniques of story-telling and the handling of difficult points of Scriptural interpretation at the child level. Miss MacDonald illustrated one of the methods of story-telling, that which makes use of the flannelgraph as a visual aid. Books already proved worthwhile. The next meeting is scheduled to take place on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the Riverfield Presbyterian Church, with the last of the series at Beauharnois on October 30th when a part of the time will be devoted to "Workshop", providing the backgrounds necessary for flannelgraph instruction.

The first program in this series was presented at Ormstown the previous week when the theme was Worship. On that occasion Miss MacNeill indicated the various elements in worship and how they are related to the life situations of a child.

This series which is sponsored by the Christian Education Committee of the Montreal presbytery of the Presbyterian Church in Canada is open to all interested and has aroused a good deal of interest and already proved worthwhile. The next meeting is scheduled to take place on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the Riverfield Presbyterian Church, with the last of the series at Beauharnois on October 30th when a part of the time will be devoted to "Workshop", providing the backgrounds necessary for flannelgraph instruction.
