END NAVAL BLOCKADE AROUND SPAIN

Britain And France Transfer Warships To Submarine Hunt

Non-Intervention Committee Informed That Fleets Patrolling Spanish Coast To Prevent Arms Shipments Will Be Transferred To Service Elsewhere—Negotiations With Italy On Anti-Piracy Patrol Stalemated.

London, September 17.—The naval ring around Spain is ended. Great Britain and France, acting in concert, today notified members of the Spanish Non-Intervention Committee that their warships engaged in patrolling the Spanish coast would be withdrawn. They will be employed in sweeping pirate submarines out of the Mediterranean.

The naval ring round Spain was part of the non-intervention scheme to prevent shipment of arms to Spain. The Spanish coastline was divided into sectors patrolled by Germany, Italy, France and Great Britain. Germany and Italy withdrew, leaving gaps. The withdrawal of Great Britain and France now ends the ring completely.

Under the non-intervention agreement ships of signatory powers proceeding to Spain still will be required to carry a neutral observer, who certifies that they are carrying no war material. The purpose of the naval patrol was to check up on incoming ships to see whether they had an observer on board.

Land control is now operating only along the Franco-Spanish frontier. Control along the Portuguese sector was suspended some time ago although Portuguese gave assurance of full intention to respect the non-intervention agreement.

British circles emphasize that the withdrawal from the Spanish naval patrol does not mean withdrawal from intervention. Great Britain is as firmly convinced as ever that non-intervention in Spain is the proper course.

Nyon Agreement A More Pressing Problem.

But the Nyon agreement presents a more pressing problem. Since the withdrawal of Italy and Germany from the Spanish patrol, it is felt, the British navy can be more usefully assigned to making the Mediterranean highways safe for merchant shipping.

Destroyers withdrawn from round Spain will therefore be employed in chasing pirate submarines from the Middle Sea. It is expected that about forty British destroyers will be thus employed. France holds the same views as Great Britain and takes the same course.

Now observing eyes will closely watch Premier Mussolini's next move in Spain. Will he, frequently rumored, send sufficiently large numbers of Italian "Legionnaires" to make victory for General Franco certain before winter? If he does, it is expected France will reply by throwing the Catalonia frontier open to shipments of munitions. Then the last effective non-intervention control will be brought to an end.

NEITHER SIDE WILLING TO ASSUME INITIATIVE

London, Sept. 17.—Negotiations for Italian participation in the nine-power "anti-piracy" patrol of the Mediterranean remained at a stalemate today.

Neither Italy, who formally demanded parity in the patrol system, nor Great Britain or France, whose naval forces are now watching the principal trade routes in the inland sea to prevent attacks on neutral vessels, was willing to make the first move.

British diplomatic sources said that London and Paris, never having posed the principle of Italian parity in the naval patrol of the Mediterranean, believe Rome should now state exactly how she would like to see modified the agreement signed

RIGOROUS PLANS TO GUARD MUSSOLINI DURING HIS VISIT TO HITLER

Berlin, Sept. 17.—Reich police today completed rigorous plans to guard Premier Mussolini during his visit to Chancellor Hitler.

When the Italian dictator arrives on German soil on September 25, police, secret service agents and thousands of troops will be marshalled in the most vigilant protective ring the Reich has ever organized.

Heinrich Himmler, chief of the Gestapo, has taken personal charge of the security measures. Arturo Bocchini, Italian police chief, recently visited Berlin to make preliminary arrangements with Himmler.

China Rushing Troops North In Effort To Halt Jap Drive

Nearly Seventy Thousand Central Government Forces Reported Entering Hundred-Mile Long Concrete Trench System North of Peiping as Poorly Equipped Regional Troops Fall Back After Stemming Japanese Advance for Weeks.

Peiping, Sept. 17.—Chinese Central Government divisions were reported being sent to North China today to aid poorly armed regional troops and try to stem the Japanese advance to the south.

The main body of the Japanese force of sixty thousand men effected the crossing of the Chuma river last night and pursued the Chinese rearward toward Chochow, the new Chinese advance base forty miles south of Peiping.

The Japanese were striking the retreating eight divisions of Chinese provincial troops both in the front and on their right wing. The van of the sweeping fifty-mile Japanese flanking movement was reported within eight miles of Chochow on the Peiping to Hankow railway.

The Chinese made a stand at the river but without artillery and airplanes were unable to halt the foe. Heavy toll of the two Japanese advance regiments was taken, however, by Chinese machine gun fire as the moon silhouetted the Nipponese on the river bank.

Japanese engineers advanced under protective artillery fire and strong steel pontoons across the Chuma. Emergency rafts and bridges were made by lashing together native Chinese junk and on these the main body of the Japanese crossed the stream.

Foreign military observers considered the Nanking Government was sacrificing its regional troops in North China to retard the Japanese advance until the national divisions could make the main defence line some twenty miles south of the present operations.

FRENCH POLICE DISCOVER NEW HOODED GROUP

Police Questioning Four Members in Belief that Rightist Group Sought Overthrow of Government and Creation of Fascist State.

Paris, Sept. 17.—A secret military society, the "Hooded Ones," was investigated today on the possibility it plotted to overthrow the Government.

Four suspected members of the organization were brought before an examining magistrate. Questioning was behind closed doors and is expected to last several days.

Police who confiscated machine guns, hand grenades and documents in a raid on branches of the society, said they would continue raiding hideouts of the organization, which is called in French "Les Gaguons."

Police believed the "Hooded Ones" to be a secret society organized in the summer of 1936, which has been recruiting members with the object of obtaining fifty thousand in Paris alone.

The organization was said to have headquarters in each of Paris' twenty sub-divisions, with each headquarters commanded by a "colonel" who was to have at least one thousand men at his call.

THE WEATHER

FAIR AND COOL.

Pressure is high over the Great Lakes and central states with low pressure covering northern Canada, and shallow low areas are centered over the Lower St. Lawrence Valley and east Maritime. Showers have occurred in many parts of eastern Canada but the weather has been fair throughout the West. Temperature has been below normal from Manitoba eastward to New Brunswick and has been warmer in Alberta and west Saskatchewan.

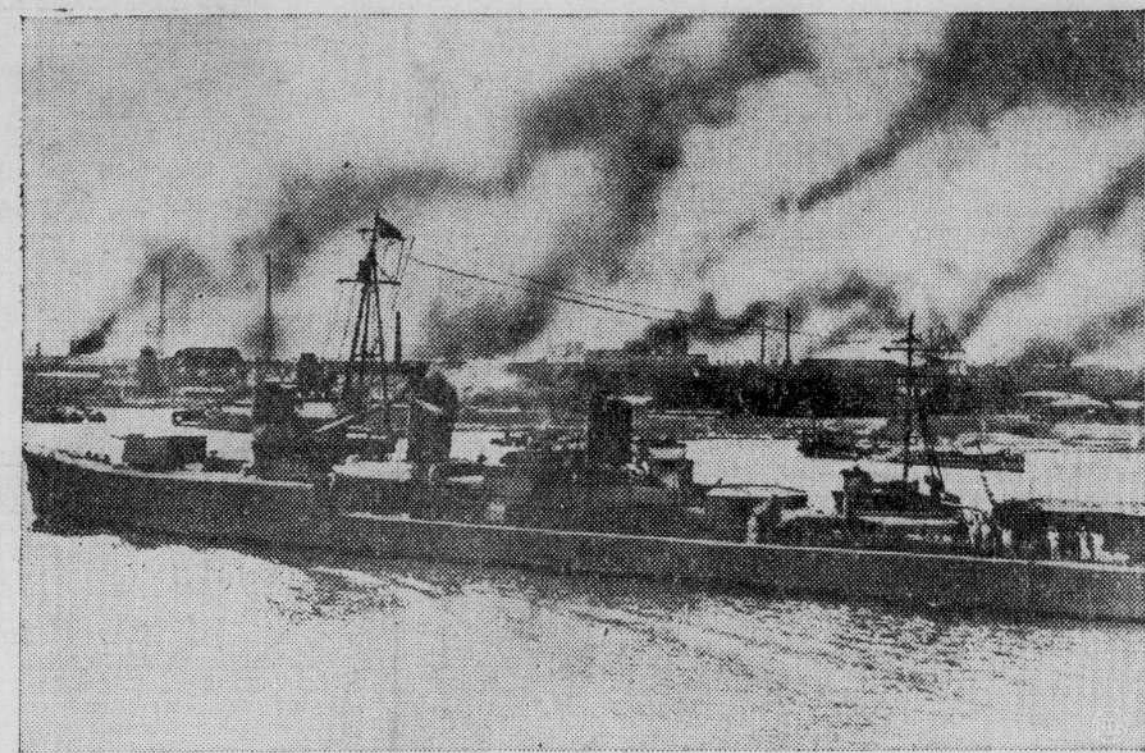

Forecast: Moderate southwest to northwest winds; fair and cool tonight, Saturday and Sunday.

Northern New England: Partly cloudy and cooler tonight, Saturday and Sunday.

Temperatures yesterday: Maximum, 69; minimum, 46.

Same day last year: Maximum, 81; minimum, 57.

Portugal Claims Disarmament Suggestions Too Idealistic

United States State Department Left Gasping at Biting Implications in 2,500-Word Philosophical Reply of Portuguese Government to State Secretary Hull's Peace Programme—Plan Met General Support of Powers.

Washington, Sept. 17.—Portugal introduced a pessimistic note today in the general approval of State Secretary Hull's peace programme by characterizing it as too idealistic.

It presented this view formally to the United States Minister at Lisbon in a 2,500-word philosophical analysis so erudite in form and yet so biting in its implications that State Department officials were left gasping.

"The nations (of the world) are attached to false ideas and have taken the habit of entrusting the solution of grave internal problems to vague formulae and inconsistent combinations," said the little republic's memorandum.

"To acknowledge by means of an impartial examination the inanity of the efforts made in that direction appears to his Government to be the first step and the indispensable preparation of the ground for any constructive work."

Secretary Hull's fourteen-point programme made public on July 16, evoked from fifty-nine nations expressions ranging from mild agreement to support in extravagant terms.

CHARGES IL DUCE HAS SOLD TWELVE SUBS TO REBEL LEADER

Paris, Sept. 17.—La Voce Degli Italiani, newspaper published here by Italian emigres, charged today that Premier Mussolini has sold twelve submarines, fully staffed with officers and crew, to General Franco.

Office spokesman declared: "The Roosevelt munitions embargo is interpreted here as an effort by the United States Government to avoid entanglement in the Far Eastern situation and it is generally supposed here it will render invocation of the Neutrality Act unnecessary."

CHINA PROTESTS OVER ARMS EXPORT EMBARGO

Nanking, Sept. 17.—The Chinese Government was disclosed today to have protested officially to the United States against the Government embargo on arms to the Orient, charging it was unfair treatment of China.

The first specific application of the embargo to the Government-owned steamer Wanchow of the American Pioneer line, halted at San Pedro with a cargo of planes for China, was seen as forcing China to turn from the United States to Europe for the aircraft it needs.

Experts Seeking Formula To Bring Reich Back Into League Of Nations

Separation of League of Nations Covenant from Great War Peace Treaties Believed Only Basis of Any Successful Plan to Return Germany to League.

Geneva, Sept. 17.—A committee of experts studying proposed separation of the League of Nations Covenant from the Great War peace treaties was reported today virtually decided on a redraft which it was believed might bring Germany back into the League.

The "divorce" project has long been a favorite among League universality enthusiasts as a device for smoothing the way for German re-entry to the fold.

The Committee's method of meeting Germany's and other long-standing objections to Covenant references to post-war settlements included blue-pencilling of all such phrases as "Allied" and "Associated Powers."

This phase of reform was one of the planks of British policy outlined last September by Foreign Secretary Eden. His declaration was interpreted as a gesture toward Germany.

The League of Nations was created in the preamble of the Treaty of Versailles which Chancellor Hitler denounced and nullified within Germany's borders. He successively scrapped the military clauses by re-constitution of the German air force, creation of a conscript army, and finally negotiation of a naval treaty with Great Britain permitting a naval tonnage equal to one-third of Britain's.

Only last June the Earl of Plymouth, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, told the House of Lords that the British Government favored the separation of the League Covenant from the Versailles pact.

Some League leaders, however, feared the projected amendment of the Covenant would not suffice to bring about Germany's return to the League because Germany probably would like further modification, including the elimination of sanction power.

Moreover, there was the question of Germany's pre-war colonies. The Covenant established a Mandate Commission which receives reports from powers holding Germany's former colonies under mandates.

Agustin Edwards, Chilean delegate, is leading a drive to obtain consultation with states outside the League concerning League reform. Edwards and many others want a Covenant to which all nations would be willing to adhere.

BLAME HEPBURN FOR FOMENTING LABOR TROUBLE

Former Federal Minister of Railways and Canals Also Charges Ontario Premier with Stirring Up Religious Antagonism.

Windsor, Ont., Sept. 17.—Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario, fomented trouble between labor and capital and stirred religious antagonism, charged Hon. R. J. Manion last night. The former Minister of Railways and Canals spoke in support of Dr. Paul Poisson, Conservative candidate in Essex North.

"At the time of the Oshawa strike, Mr. Hepburn said he was one hundred per cent behind General Motors," Mr. Manion said. "That was not the proper position for any Government to take. The Government is considered a conciliator—an impartial umpire—to endeavor to bring about peace."

"Mr. Hepburn took an attitude on this strike which was one hundred per cent unfair to labor unions," he continued. "The labor element is the most important part of any factory and I do not understand how any workingman could vote for Mr. Hepburn."

"He stirred up race antagonism when he brought in an act to deal with the taxes of public and separate schools. He repealed the act after the Hastings East bye-election. If he was sincere in his statement that he was bringing in the act for fair dealing to the Catholic people, why didn't he amend the act instead of repealing it?"

"The separate and public schools are the same as they were before, but he has stirred up religious antagonism such as I, personally, have never seen in this country."

Mr. Hepburn called an election because he is afraid to dodge some issues which are "coming home to roost," said the former minister. He referred to the "dismissal" of David Croll and Arthur Roebuck, K.C., from the Ontario cabinet and charged no Premier in any British country "has ever before treated any of his cabinet with such contempt as Mr. Hepburn did in dismissing Roebuck and Croll."

Reasons Why Protestant Council Members Asked To Resign Are Outlined

Hon. Martin B. Fisher, Provincial Treasurer, Declared Five Protestant Members of Government Unanimous in Opinion Re-organization of Educational Board Necessary—Dr. R. H. Stevenson, of Danville, Appointed Member of New Committee.

Cootlock, September 17.—The State felt it its duty to intervene, in the interests of education, to bring about re-organization of the Council of Public Instruction. That is why the members were asked to resign. The wholesale resignations, however, do not mean that many members of the old educational committee will not be invited to form part of the new Board that is in process of being formed.

This was the declaration made here last night by Hon. Martin B. Fisher, Provincial Treasurer, in his review of the reasons for the recent shake-up of the Protestant Committee. Mr. Fisher spoke at the dinner held in the Guild Hall of St. Stephen's Church by the Provincial Association of Protestant School Boards.

At the same time, Mr. Fisher announced that Dr. R. H. Stevenson, of Danville, president of the Association, had been appointed to the Educational Council as the first step in the Committee's reorganization. The Association has long sought representation on the provincial board and had reiterated its request at the meeting held in the afternoon.

Contrary to prevailing opinion, said Mr. Fisher, the five Protestant members of the Quebec Government approved the move that resulted in the request that the Committee members hand in their resignations.

Hon. Mr. Fisher declared that the Government did not intend to bring politics into the matter of education, for education was one thing that had to be kept free of politics in regard to appointments to the Board and that the present administration seemed to have a tendency to do likewise. But the press could not know the mind of the Government in making such a statement. "The Duplessis Government will not resort to politics whatsoever and if the old regime did we will not follow in their footsteps for two wrongs cannot make a right."

Mr. Fisher recalled that five Protestant members had been elected to the Provincial Parliament in the last election. "These are your mount-pieces," he said. "They are the only ones who can bring your problems, the problems of the Protestant minority, before the Government."

These five Protestant members, he declared, had received innumerable letters complaining about the educational committee.

Changes Demanded.

"Changes in our educational system were demanded, and the five members met to discuss the matter. All were unanimous in the opinion that reformation in the Protestant Committee should take place."

Premier Maurice Duplessis, he added, had wisely refrained from interfering in Protestant educational matters, and had left the Protestant members to decide what reforms and re-organization should be made.

"But," continued Mr. Fisher, "we are not the only ones who realized that changes had to be made. Members of the Committee itself realized that. Motions calling for re-organization were made, but were voted down by a majority that desired to retain control of Protestant education in the Province of Quebec."

He explained that all the members were appointed by Order-in-Council, not for life, as some people believed, but during the pleasure of the Government. They could be removed at any time.

"A re-organization was necessary. As the members could not re-organize themselves, it was the duty of the State, in the exercise of its right to intervene, and the State did intervene."

Education, Mr. Fisher continued, was above the personal ambition of any man or of any group, and its interest came first in the Province.

Last Minute Reservations Prevent Extension Of Nyon Agreement Terms

Desire of Unnamed Powers to Reopen Negotiations with Italy Prevented Scheduled Signing of Supplementary Treaty Covering Planes and Surface Vessels.

Geneva, Sept. 17.—Scheduled signing of a supplementary agreement implementing the nine-power Nyon agreement for an "anti-piracy" patrol of the Mediterranean failed to take place here today.

Difficulties were said to have arisen when unnamed delegations expressed a desire that France and Great Britain be asked to negotiate further with Italy.

Delegates of the nine powers met at the headquarters of the French delegation under the chairmanship of French Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos. A second meeting was to be held at 6 p.m.

The supplementary accord, drawn up by British and French naval experts, extends to airplanes and surface vessels the steps agreed upon at Nyon for ending submarine attacks on merchant ships in the Mediterranean.

Vatican Demands German Press End Continued Attacks On Catholicism

Roman Catholic Nunciator in Berlin Instructed by Secretary of State to Point Out to German Government "Gravely Offensive Language" of Some Newspapers.

Vatican City, Sept. 17.—The Vatican today asked its Nunciator in Berlin to take up with the Nazi Government the attacks on Catholicism by German newspapers.

The note by the Vatican Secretary of State instructed the Nunciator to point out the "gravely offensive language" of some of the newspapers.

"Austrian paperhanger, and a poor one at that," the Nazi Government asked the Vatican to remind the Catholic. The Vatican refused to do so, and subsequent newspaper criticism grew in bitterness.

Other causes of friction are: Trial of Catholic monks and lay brothers for alleged immorality, given widespread publicity; dispute between church and state over which shall control education of Catholic youth; the Government contending the church interfered in politics and the church holding its right to teach religion has been curtailed.

At Nyon and already in effect.

Racist spokesmen have indicated that Premier Mussolini, having made his position clear in Tuesday's note refusing to join the patrol as at present organized, with Italy offered only the Tyrrhenian Sea to watch, feels that Great Britain and France should work out an acceptable change.

Prime Minister Chamberlain, in whom Rome reports said, Italy places its chief hope that a satisfactory solution will be found, will end his vacation Saturday, returning to London from Scotland.

The British charge d'affaires in Rome was understood to have been instructed to indicate to Italy, semi-officially, a British desire that the Rome Government should make concrete proposals.

At the same time, the reports said, he was to suggest that general Anglo-Italian negotiations now scheduled for the end of this month would have a better chance of succeeding if Italy adopted a conciliatory attitude with regard to the patrol.

Sch negotiations, with a view to bringing about more cordial relations between the two countries on the basis of the "gentlemen's agreement" signed in January, have been pending since a friendly exchange of letters between Chamberlain and Mussolini several weeks ago.

If Italy takes the initiative in suggesting a change in the control plan, it was said, all of the nine interested powers will be asked to approve a revision of the Nyon accord.

The oath was said to be administered over a table covered with a French flag.

Each headquarters was believed to have its own arms bureau and its men met once a week for drill. Hoods were said to be worn only by the highest officials on visits of inspection.

The four suspected members were accused of violating the law prohibiting possession of war materials by private persons.

Detectives of the Paris police force and agents of the Surete Nationale asserted the Hooded Ones were organized from dissident members of Rightist political parties.

Pierre Place, father of Henri Place, twenty-five years old engineer who was one of the four arrested here, said "Les Gagulards" is nothing but the name given to former members of La Roque's French Social party."

He referred to the organization led by Col. Francois de La Roque which has frequently been accused by its enemies of Fascist inclination. La Roque's lieutenants denied there was any connection between the Hooded Ones and the Social party.

Value Of Vocational Training Is Stressed

trades; one school of handicraft, and forty-nine dressmaking schools. Here is a nucleus or basis of a system which should be expanded within the next few years.

"The total attendance of the technical schools in this province, according to the last government report, is 4,899.

"In Ontario, according to the latest statistics, there are sixty-one technical, commercial and composite schools within a total enrolment of 33,561. I have quoted these figures from Ontario in order to show the possibilities of extending vocational training in our own province.

Ontario and Quebec are industrial provinces. Ontario is an industrial province, probably more industrialized than the Province of Quebec. Nevertheless, Quebec has the possibilities of becoming just as great an industrial province as any other in the Dominion. In my opinion, if we are to develop the industries of this province we must first start by training our young men to fill the jobs in these industrial plants. New industries will not start in a community where there are no trained men.

"The technical schools in this province are known as neutral schools, which means that their doors are open to all young people, irrespective of race or creed. That is as it should be. We are two races in this province that must live together and work together, and why shouldn't our young men and young women be trained for occupations together, since they must work together after they leave school. Another reason for having technical schools neutral is the fact that they are expensive to build and equip, and expensive to operate, and no minority of ratepayers in any of the communities outside of the large cities could ever expect to build and operate a fully equipped technical school without very substantial assistance from outside sources.

"It is not necessary to build large well equipped technical schools in all the communities. At a comparatively small expense equipment could be installed in our present schools that would give a great deal of the preliminary training necessary for entrance to any technical school. In fact, this preliminary training might be carried on in some communities to the point where a young man would be fitted to enter one of the minor trades without further study. If our present schools were so equipped those who wish to complete their technical training might be sent to one of the larger provincial technical schools. This would mean certain changes in our course of study so that the pupils would enter technical schools with a head start in the continuity of their training.

"I believe the first step in the orientation in the course of study of the regular schools with that of the technical schools has been started in Shawinigan Falls. The School Commissioners of that city, in cooperation with the Department of Education, have authorized a change in the course of study from Grade VI on whereby pupils in the Catholic Schools may enter Industrial Grade VIII. If they are successful in these two classes they enter the First Year of the technical school where a three-year intensive course is given to fit them for many of the occupational opportunities offered in that city. This is, at the present time, in an experimental stage, but we believe it is a step in the right direction and that it will overcome the prejudice often found in the minds of some people that the learning of a trade should be confined only to those pupils who find it impossible to follow a regular academic course. In this new course we have not neglected the theoretical subjects that naturally follow the practical courses offered, and the more intelligent pupils will have the opportunity of passing from the technical school right on to the university if they so desire it.

"Similar experiment could readily be made in other communities with the desire to have vocational training. The rapid progress that is being made in Shawinigan Falls is due to a great extent more than many people imagine to the type of training that the youth have been receiving that it will overcome the prejudice often found in the minds of some people that the learning of a trade should be confined only to those pupils who find it impossible to follow a regular academic course. In this new course we have not neglected the theoretical subjects that naturally follow the practical courses offered, and the more intelligent pupils will have the opportunity of passing from the technical school right on to the university if they so desire it.

"In order to bring about any radical changes we must first have the closest co-operation between governments, departments of education, school boards, principals, teachers, parents and employers of labor. Such co-operation has been effected in many other countries and provinces, and in certain of the communities of this province, and I cannot see any real reason why we cannot all put our shoulders to the wheel and endeavor to reach that ideal state where we will have communities of happy and contented citizens."

Anything the church did was worthy of, and better for having a saint's name attached to it, he said. He liked the idea of taking the saints out of the church and right into the "every-day, healthy, normal activities of the people."

The convention welcomed Florence Boland, of Toronto, national president, who brought a message from Archbishop McGuigan, Toronto.

China Rushing Troops North In Effort To Halt Jap Drive

ly equipped, these Chinese regional divisions have held up the Japanese push for weeks, but it has never been considered possible for them to really halt the march of an army as highly mechanized as the Japanese North China expeditionary force.

But today independent foreign advisers reported two Chinese Government troops, totalling upwards of 68,000 men, were entering the one hundred mile long concrete line from Tanchow on the Tientsin to Pukow railway west of Paoingfu on the Peiping to Hankow railroad and along the banks of the Huto river.

Foreign military experts believed the central and western portions of the line were already manned by troops of Gen. Shang Chen's 32nd National Army, composed of the 108th and 112th divisions, of the line and the 5th and 18th newly organized divisions.

Troop trains were speeding Gen. Yu Hsueh-Chung's 51st army of two divisions into trenches on the eastern flank at Tanchow, sixty miles south of Peking.

The line is composed of cement blockhouses stretching all the way across Central Hopeh province from east to west. The blockhouses are connected by an elaborate system of trenches similar to those built at Shanghai under the tutelage of German Great War officers.

The present Japanese attack south of Peiping was expected to drive Chinese National troops back to this line before the end of the week, placing the Japanese face to face with an entrenched enemy of superior strength. The Chinese will be supported on this line by adequate artillery and aircraft.

Observers are convinced that the Chinese defence of Shanghai has been depleted of airplanes so that they could be distributed on the North China front for the main battle with the Japanese. All Chinese and Japanese observers agree that the war will be won or lost in North China and that the Shanghai operations, while dramatic, have little tactical importance.

HEAVY RAINS SLOWING DOWN SHANGHAI FIGHT

Shanghai, Sept. 17.—Heavy rain today soaked the fighting fronts around Shanghai, slowing down military operations on the eve of the sixth anniversary of Japan's invasion of Manchuria.

Three days of rain have bogged down the lines on both sides, grounded Japanese airplanes, and made the use of tanks impossible.

Wet weather did not stop artillery, however, and Chinese guns located in northern Chapei cannonaded Japanese positions all morning. The Japanese claimed many of the shells were falling within the Chinese lines and internal fighting was going on among the Chinese.

Japanese headquarters announced that on the northern front their forces had advanced 2,500 yards west of Lotien in the direction of Kiating, although the Chinese still asserted that Lotien, recaptured in a surprise attack at dawn yesterday, was still in their hands.

The race course at Kiangwan remained closed for some time. The Government today ordered three minutes' silence at noon tomorrow to commemorate "Humiliation Day" when six years ago Japanese troops embarked upon the conquest of Manchuria.

The people were called upon in a proclamation to support the Government and prepare for a long war with Japan.

So far the struggle for Shanghai has demonstrated the material superiority of the Japanese but it has also revealed remarkable qualities in the Chinese soldier, a foreign military observer told Havas.

Chinese troops have suffered extremely heavy losses as a result of Japanese artillery and air attacks, the resistance offered by the Chinese infantry made the advance of Japanese troops more difficult and caused heavy Japanese losses.

The new Chinese line is a strong one, especially the Kiating-Nanzhang sector. To reach it the Japanese will be compelled to move their heavy guns under most difficult conditions across flat ground ribbed by scores of creeks and canals.

The eighty thousand men Japan now has in Shanghai will be just about enough to occupy the city. If the invaders want to push the Chinese back still further and aim to secure control of the whole region between Shanghai and Soochow, they will have to bring at least three new divisions into the Yangtze delta, military observers believe.

PEIPING STREETS GIVE INSIGHT INTO BATTLE

Peiping, Sept. 17.—Scenes of war activity here today bore eloquent testimony to the scope of the offensive Japan is waging along a one hundred-mile front in North China.

On a visit to Fengtai, railroad centre of this area, six miles from Peiping, the Associated Press correspondent saw two thousands Manchoukuan coolies loading food and ammunition into ten huge trains. The war supplies came from enormous dumps the Japanese have established there.

An official said the trains were scheduled to follow the Japanese army—sixty thousand men—in its advance southward along the Peiping-Hankow railway against 100,000 Chinese defenders.

Japanese sources have been reticent about the number of casualties Japanese troops have suffered in the North China campaign.

At the Fengtai railroad station strong evidence was seen of the severity of the fighting in the recent drive. Three freight trains rolled into the station from the Chochow front about twenty miles to the south. They were packed with more than one thousand wounded Japanese soldiers.

might be a free hand for re-organization. They had not been discharged, the Provincial Treasurer said. They had not been fired. They were still members of the committee and would be allowed to assist at the meeting which has been called for September 24th.

The speaker said that he realized that some eminent men had been requested to submit their resignations. It was not the intention of the Government to accept all these resignations if they were received, and many members of the old Committee will be asked to form part of the new board.

"We knew we would be criticized," Mr. Fisher said. "We did not act hastily, but only after giving careful consideration. For my part, and I know I speak for the other Protestant members as well, we are willing to shoulder the responsibility and gladly do so as public men."

He referred to Hon. Gordon Scott, chairman of the Committee, who had tendered his resignation shortly after the matter of re-organization was first discussed. Hon. Mr. Scott had explained that he believed it his duty to resign to offer a free hand for re-organization and that he would willingly re-assume his duties if the Committee desired him to do so.

"If that same spirit of fair play had prevailed among certain other members of the committee, much unpleasantness would have been avoided," Mr. Fisher said.

The speaker declared that the Provincial Government was deeply interested in the cause of education and would do everything in its power to further it, not only for Protestants but for "the large majority" of Roman Catholics as well.

He said that substantial grants are being made towards advancing education, and the government will place these if by so doing the system of education in Quebec can be placed upon the highest level of any in Canada.

Education Must Be Progressive

Mr. Fisher added that he did not know what steps would be taken to alter the system of Protestant instruction. "If for one moment we hesitate what action is to be taken. That will be the duty of the new personnel of the committee. It will be up to them to study the question and, in their good judgment, to act accordingly to what they consider to be the best policy to advance the cause of public instruction in this province."

Education, the speaker continued, is something that must be progressive. "If we are not progressive, we are going backward, and none of us want that. If we can, by altering our methods, turn out better men and better women than we have in the past, then we will have accomplished something."

"You may rest assured," he continued, "that in re-organizing the committee we will receive and carefully consider any suggestions that may help us to build a Protestant body that it will be an honor for us to recognize."

The Provincial Treasurer referred to the women of Quebec and lauded them for the interest they were taking in educational matters and in the re-organization of the committee. He promised that should teachers ask for representation upon the new committee he would sanction the appointment.

Referring to Dr. Stevenson's appointment, Mr. Fisher pointed out that rural school boards had little authority, up to now, in educational matters outside of the management of schools, the engagement of teachers and the collection of taxes.

"It is therefore only natural," he said, "that these gentlemen, elected by the people because they are interested in education, should have a greater responsibility in directing the educational affairs of the province."

Change In Examination System Imperative

Some change in the examination system was felt as imperative by the Provincial Treasurer, who pointed out that frequently only one or two marks represented the difference between success or failure for a pupil. And the brand of failure was discouraging to the student, who often abandoned further school training, and humiliating and disheartening for parents, who not infrequently deprived themselves of conveniences and endured sacrifices so that their children might obtain an education.

"Some progress has been made in recent years, it is true, and today teachers are allowed to promote pupils in spite of the fact that the Department at Quebec has branded them as failures. But if we have given teachers power to promote scholars upon the strength of their

DIVER SEEKS OTHER VICTIMS IN HARBOR

Quebec, Sept. 17.—While police prepared to search Quebec's muddy harbor for other possible victims, a coroner's jury today opened an inquiry into the deaths of a man and woman who died after yesterday when an automobile shot off a highway into the harbor.

Dock police, fearing there might have been others in the car, were to send a diver down into the thirty-five feet of water where the machine was found yesterday with bodies of Ovila Turcotte, twenty-eight-year-old father of five children, and Marguerite Fortier, twenty-two, acquaintance of only a few weeks.

The pair were trapped in Turcotte's auto when it skidded on a slippery stretch of waterfront road, hurled a parapet and dived down a sheer embankment into the basin. The bodies were found yesterday by a diver.

The accident occurred five hours after Miss Fortier had left her home in Limoilou ward to mail a letter to her boy friend in Senneterre, Que. She told her mother she would not be long.

eratic primary was one of the surprising features of the election. His name was not on the ballot and the thousands of votes he obtained were the result of a last minute write-in campaign.

An early appraisal of the effect of the Mahoney victory indicated the New Deal forces led by James A. Farley, frequently mentioned as a possible candidate for governor, will share, if they do not dominate, the future policies of Tammany.

Ousted from the City Hall four years ago by Laguardia and beneficiary of little patronage from the New Deal administration with which it had been at odds most of the time, Tammany had hoped it would gain a new lease on life in yesterday's primary.

As Mahoney and his supporters quickly hailed the result as a victory for President Roosevelt, who years ago as a young senator fought Tammany, Copeland and Smith, who took the stump for Copeland, remained silent.

Mahoney, sixty-two-year-old former State Supreme Court justice and president of the United States Amateur Athletic Union, said "a victory for Franklin D. Roosevelt, our great President, and the progressive policies which have characterized all his administrative activities."

Laguardia, former representative in Congress who conducted a "front porch" campaign marked by only one political speech, left the initial statement to Kenneth F. Simpson, the Republican county leader.

"I am very pleased with the result," said Simpson. "It shows that Mayor Laguardia and the Republican ticket will carry the city overwhelmingly in November."

year's work why have any examinations at all? Mr. Fisher emphasized that in this he was speaking as a private individual, and not as a representative of the Government, or even on behalf of the Protestant members.

Greater Instruction In Conversational French

Greater instruction in conversational French was recommended by the speaker as another improvement that might be made in the system of education in Quebec.

He remarked that upon leaving school (7th and 9th grades in rural institutions), ninety-nine per cent. of scholars could not converse in French.

He believed that too much time was devoted to learning grammar and too little to the conversational angle. As a result, he said, English-speaking boys and girls were at a disadvantage when competing in the business world with their French-speaking compatriots.

Pavson Sherman, M.L.A. for Compton, assured the meeting that the political "color" of members recommended to the new Protestant Committee would not be considered and that no discrimination in this respect would be made in selecting the representatives.

Dr. Percival spoke briefly concerning the educational system of the province. Although he admitted that it was not perfect, he declared that it possessed all the fundamentals of the best English-speaking systems. "There is room for improvement and development," he said, "and all of us should help in that improvement."

Quebec Women Desire Representation

That the women of the Province of Quebec are anxious to secure representation on the Provincial Board of Education was emphasized by receipt at yesterday's meeting of a telegram from eleven women's organizations which met at the Windsor Hotel in Montreal on Wednesday. The telegram urged the Association to support the request for representation of rural and urban women on the Board. Dr. Stevenson stated that he had been advised that the women's organizations were prepared to send a large delegation to the Council meeting but he had advised them that no advantage would be derived from such action, and had assured them of careful consideration of their request when the matter came up for discussion.

In referring to his appointment to the council, Dr. Stevenson said that he considered it not as a compliment or an honor to himself, but as a tribute to the work of the organization.

Educational Problems Given Consideration

Advantages to Be Derived from Visual Instruction Stressed by Dr. W. P. Percival, Director of Protestant Education, at Provincial Association of School Boards Convention in Coaticook—Dr. R. H. Stevenson, of Danville, Re-elected President.

Coaticook, Sept. 17.—The election of officers for the ensuing year and suggestions designed to advance the cause of education featured the annual meeting of the Provincial Association of Protestant School Boards held here yesterday.

Two advantages to be derived from visual instruction were stressed by Dr. W. P. Percival, Director of Protestant Education, and C. N. Crutchfield, B.A., principal of the Shawinigan Technical Institute, discussed vocational training.

up on the Protestant Committee was left to Hon. Martin B. Fisher, Provincial Treasurer, who addressed the banquet held in the Guild Hall of St. Stephen's Church last evening. Discussion of this development was tactfully evaded by Dr. R. H. Stevenson, the president, at the 10:00 p. m. session when he suggested a brief prayer and benediction. The business of the meeting had been cleared up rapidly and as the session was ahead of schedule, Norman Clouston, of the text book committee reported progress, but in view of the recent developments it was decided to postpone any definite program announcement at the present time. Tribute was paid by Dr. Stevenson to the valuable services rendered him by T. S. Allan, formerly of Phillipsburg, who was obliged to resign from the Smith, of Richmond, who objected upon the grounds that the time was not opportune for such discussion, and stated that the explanation should be left to H. G. Grant, who was slated to address the evening session. Then Dr. Stevenson tactfully proposed that a recess be called until eleven o'clock and the matter was dropped.

Visual Education

Dr. Percival described visual education as "the next great movement in the cause of education." "We must all be converted to it," he said, "and I feel sure that in five or ten years we will wonder why we have not done so before."

Encouraging Figures.

Canada's progress toward prosperity is vividly shown by a chart issued by the well-known advertising firm of J. J. Gibbons, Limited, of Toronto. By taking the first four months of 1933 as the low of the depression, and the years 1926-29 as that of average prosperity and comparing these with the six months ending June 30th, 1937, Gibbons is able to give the distance travelled by each factor from the low of the depression towards a point of average prosperity. The figures, taken from the chart, speak for themselves:

	Percentage Advanced
Exports	108.7
Exports to Empire countries	78.9
Imports	81.2
Imports from Empire countries	83.9
Physical volume of business	118.2
Industrial production	121.3
Manufacturing production	125.0
Iron and steel production	90.8
Automobile production	85.8
Electric power production	232.9
Newspaper production	310.1
Mineral production	306.3
Construction	41.7
Car loadings	42.9
Employment	106.0
Farm products prices	77.0
Wholesale prices	61.4
Retail sales	49.1
Common stock prices	94.2
Preferred stock prices	93.3
Bank deposits	90.3
Per capita purchasing power	66.0
Basic factors combined	95.2

The laggards, it will be seen, are construction, car loadings, wholesale prices and retail sales and farm prices, but as all of these depend upon the advances made by other factors, it is not unreasonable to expect that they will during the next few months make more rapid progress towards the goal of average prosperity.

The Bible In One Thousand Languages.

Observance has recently been taken of the fact that the Bible is now printed in one thousand languages. In this great task, which is a marvel of printing, most of the typesetting having to be done by hand by men who do not understand the characters they are picking up and have to exercise the most meticulous care lest they make a mistake, the British and Foreign Bible Society has played the largest part, having issued the Book, or parts of it, in seven hundred and twelve tongues.

There are some two thousand languages spoken, so that the Society is about half-way through its task after one hundred and thirty-three years. New languages in which the complete Bible or parts of it were issued last year, were Suk, Ngambai, Mbun, Aladian, Ntomba, Nuba, Lughara, Mellu, Munchi, Venda and Lur, most of which few white people never heard of.

Last year 11,000,000 volumes of Holy Writ were put in circulation, contributing to the staggering total of 487,000,000 since the organization started its wonderful work. A gratifying feature of the year's work is that of the 11,000,000 copies, 7,604,000 went to China and Manchukuo, where unknown millions have never read the Word.

To this great work the people of Canada and Newfoundland contributed $31,000 after expenses were paid. Considering the number of Christians in the Dominion, this country should do better. These remarkable figures are a challenge to the Christian people of Canada.

The Matter Of Money.

Grenville Kleiser.

Most men can make money; few know how to keep it.

How pitiful it is for a person to lose the savings of a life-time in a worthless investment. Instead of acquiring a gold mine they inherit loss, disappointment and years of remorse.

Promoters, tipsters and money-racketeers are constantly alert to entrap the unwary.

Doctors, dentists and school teachers are said to be the easiest victims of ubiquitous money-filters.

Greed is often the cause of money being swept away over-night.

A man inherited shares in a great industrial corporation, the original cost of the stock being $30,000. An opportunity came to sell it for $250,000. His broker advised him to hold it for $300,000. He held it. He's still holding it. Today the stock is practically worthless.

Greed is the common cause of financial disaster. There is a saying in Wall Street: "You will never go broke if you take a small profit."

Merely saving money does not produce great riches.

It is wise investment that builds a fortune, or a competence for old age.

In what should a prudent person invest his money? That is a question that bankers or brokers cannot satisfactorily answer today. All alike are befuddled.

But when business booms again—as it surely will—on every street-corner will be men who will tell you precisely what to do with your money.

There is one proper procedure. Thoroughly investigate the condition and prospects of any corporation in which you think of investing your money.

Be your own counsellor, take ample time to be well-informed, carefully weigh the risk and the possibilities and do nothing rashly.

In the highest sense, good fortune in money matters, like happiness, should be a by-product. To aim directly at accumulating a large sum of money is almost always disastrous.

"Better is little with the fear of the Lord than great treasure and trouble therewith."

DRIFTING ON A RIVER.

Gliding along in my little green boat
Silently down the St. Francis I float,
Idly dreaming the moments away
At peace with the world on this calm summer day.

Viewing the scenes so serene on the shore
Musing on times in the dim days of yore;
The harvest is ripening—I note with a sigh
How all plant-life matures, then withers to die.

King Sol's golden orb sinks slowly to rest
With crimson and gold bedecking the west;
The herds are contentedly grazing their fill—
From the woodlands I list to the night-birds' hushed trill.

The waters are lapping on yon distant shore
And gently my craft on their surface skims o'er;
The depths of St. Francis reflect the blue sky
Where myriads of stars now gleam from on high.

Amid scenery so enchanting is there anyone who "mows
A pleasure more diverting where the old St. Francis flows,
Than drifting care-free on her breast with a chart or guide secure
And inhaling all the fragrance of the country air so pure?

Just who would choose the city's roar with all its dust and heat,
In lieu of nature's peaceful scenes so perfect and complete?
Give me country-life in spring-time, in summer or in fall,
(Perhaps when winter intervenes I'll then pay town a call.)

—Ah, lucky, indeed, is the one who can float,
Down the river of time, in as calm a life-boat!

PRESS COMMENTS

PUT HAY FEVER ON THE MEDICAL MAP.

(New York Times)

When Oliver Wendell Holmes was asked how hay fever could be cured he replied, "Gravel is an effective remedy; it should be taken eight feet deep."

There are better recipes now, though it is false to pretend that an affliction which makes life miserable for at least two million at this season of the year has been vanquished. For a blessed hour or two a sneezer, cougher and weeper may find relief in an air-conditioned motion-picture theatre or restaurant. Or a living-room may be sealed and one of half a dozen air-filters fitted to the windows. But who would spend the day of his misery contemplating Hollywood's interpretation of life, ruining his digestion, or inflicting a prison sentence on himself, though home is the jail? One immediately effective remedy is ignominious flight to the pollen-free mountain and sea.

There are patients enough in hospitals who boast of their ulcers and pride themselves on the major operations to which livers and kidneys have been subjected. But there is no disease like hay fever to breed conversation and make pathetic brothers of men. Victims gather on porches to discuss symptoms and cures and to utter maledictions on the ragweed pollen. There are even hay fever societies here and abroad. When "The Last Rose of Summer" is sung their members cheer. To them the red tides of Autumn are the banners of salvation.

It was John Bostock, an English physician, who put hay fever on the medical map, and this because he was afflicted himself. He wrote of his symptoms in such detail in 1819 that he became in a sense the discoverer of hay fever. To be sure man had sneezed, coughed and wept in the pollen season centuries and centuries before him. But they had also withstood with pain of swollen appendices and of arthritis or distal of typhoid without knowing exactly what it was that ailed them.

In a word, Bostock was a scientist who described hay fever so scientifically that hereafter any medical could recognize it. Yet he was only a doctor and medical reporter. He wrote of "Summer catarrh" much as others wrote vaguely of "distempers" or "humors." It was a contemporary of his, inquiring John Elliotson, who traced the cause of hay fever to grass pollen. The first allergist was he, though he did not know the word. He discovered the difference between kinds (dandruff and particles of rabbits' fur) made some people sneeze and cry. Now scores of idiosyncrasies are classed as allergic and traced to such widely separated agencies as lobsters and feathers, pollen and silk, to the relief of ten million sufferers.

The man who pushes a dish of oatmeal away from him or must bathe only in tepid water is no longer just an unobjectionable eccentric. Medicine turns an understanding eye upon him, recognizes him as an allergic and proceeds to make his life pleasanter for him with the aid of one of a hundred different serums, made from pollen and other allergic agents. Nose sprays and emulsiom have given way to science, with success recorded in about half the cases. The discovery of the pollen of life commencing a faceted burial under eight feet of gravel.

PATIENCE, MEN, PATIENCE.

(Rotarian Magazine)

It would be a great and valuable experience if every man, once during his life-time, could sit over there on Mars for half an hour and get perspective on this world's workaday affairs. But probably that will be impossible. The next best thing is to sit at the feet of Sir James Jeans, the English scientist.

He suggests in "The Universe Around Us" as you may recall, that to see ourselves and our generation in proper relation to the past and the future, we should lick a postage stamp and stick it on a penny. Then climb either of Cleopatra's Needles (one stands on the Thames Embankment in London, the other in Central Park, New York City, and each is about 70 feet high) and place thereon the penny, stamp side up. If the height of the whole structure be taken as a scale to represent the time elapsed since the earth became the earth, the wholeness of the penny and the stamp represents the time that man has lived on the earth, and the thickness of the stamp the time that man has been civilized.

Now, suggests Sir James, stick on another stamp; it corresponds to 5,000 years. Then another stamp, another, and another, until you have a stamp column as high as Mont Blanc, France, which is 15,782 feet high. "Even now," Sir James will tell you, "the pile forms an inadequate representation of the length of the future which, so far as astronomy can see, probably stretches before civilized humanity unless an accident cuts us short. The first postage stamp was the past of civilization. The column higher than Mont Blanc is the future. The first stamp represents what man has already achieved—the pile which outtops Mont Blanc represents what he may achieve if his future achievement is proportional to his time on earth."

NOT YET AMERICANIZED.

(Ottawa Citizen)

British newspapers and British films make it fairly clear that the people of the United Kingdom are now talking much "American" in their everyday speech. "O.K." as a substitute for "yes" or "all right" is universal, and reports have it that Cockney archness is presently used "seram" and "skip it" and "pipe down" as to the manner born (although there must be something intrinsically funny in hearing American idioms in rich Cockney accents).

The adoption of many North American expressions by the general public of Britain is to be expected and it adds to the force and flavor of a forceful and flavorful language. But it makes the colonials in the clubs and the duchesses in the duk-eries excessively miserable. So they write letters to the Times deploring the "Americanization" of Britain and propose preposterous means to combat the process. And people believe that Britain is Americanized.

But Britain is not Americanized in its essentials, and a telling blow is landed on the myth that she is by Herbert W. Seaman in the current American Mercury. Mr. Seaman examines the fabric of the Americanization of the English and his verdict is, "Americanized my eye!" And he cites some interesting facts to support his claim.

For instance, he says, there are no funnies and no motion picture comedies in the newspapers, no steam heating in homes, no "ice cold" soft drinks, no electric refrigerators to speak of, no window screens, no automatic toasters, and no civilized bathrooms. Mr. Seaman's conclusion is as follows:

There are 40,000,000 people here who have never tasted sweet corn, have never seen a cider squeezed from the press, have never ridden in a buggy, heard a whip-poor-will or pitched a baseball. Americanization has not yet scratched the surface of England. In all that matters—eating, drinking, shelter, and ways of living and working—the English are as they were.

True Americanization would make English life about the best to be had, but it will be seen that the English are proof against its inroads in any radical sense. It is fortunate for Canada that we have such opportunities to combine the best features of American and English ways.

PEOPLE WILL TALK YOU KNOW

(Buffalo Courier-Express)

The gossips are at it again. They have it that the Duke and Duchess of Kent have snubbed the Duke and Duchess of Windsor. The snub consists in failure of plans whereby it was expected that the first of the aforesaid couples were to pay a visit to the second of the aforesaid couples while on a bit of a holiday journey. And of course, there is no entente cordiale in those places where chatter is considered a fine art as to the whys and the wherefores.

"They do say" that the British government has again stepped in to make the former king realize how much of a persona non grata he really is and how little he is cut. The government is said to have advised the Duke and Duchess of Kent that they were to be received at Windsor as the Duke's brother when Windsor was King Edward, that he would better not make that call. And when the British government advises the royal family, its members usually do as they are advised. Windsor is an example of what may happen when they don't.

The shoulder which the government rate as Windsor's favorite brother when Windsor was King Edward, that he would better not make that call. And when the British government advises the royal family, its members usually do as they are advised. Windsor is an example of what may happen when they don't.

Out of all of which comes speculation as to the future of the Windsors. There has been recent talk that they are contemplating a rather early return to the Duke's privately owned country estate just outside London. It is a lovely retreat known as Fort Belvedere. There, it has been said, he would take up the life of a country gentleman. But once more "they do say"; and what they say about all that is that the government does not purpose that Edward shall return to his native land until the popularity of King George is such that the presence of his elder brother, the former king, can in no sense lessen it. And that may be a matter of ten years, which, by the way, is a long period of exile for one who is homesick.

We don't suppose all this is really anyone's business certainly not ours, but you know, people will talk.

THE CO-OPERATIVE SPIRIT

A Century Of Service To God And Man

On an evening in the late fall of 1835 a pioneer bishop of the Church of England, accompanied by a half-pay officer of the navy, sought shelter for the night at a solitary public house by the roadside leading to what is today the Village of Bury.

It was a lonely road. There were a few scattered homes but the minister of God had put up with the little comforts or accommodations available as he made his way over the rough road.

Installed by the thought of greater service to the Master, the Bishop faced difficulties and disappointments with the heart of a great Christian. He knew his labors would bear fruit. He was convinced his work would be blessed. He found confidence and encouragement in the knowledge that he was serving God and helping to make the lives of men better spiritually.

The Bishop was Bishop G. J. Mountain, third Anglican Bishop of Quebec and founder of Bishop's College, Lennoxville. Bishop Mountain had gone to Eaton and Bury to see what could be done to provide a church and a minister for the people of his communion living in that district.

Records show that Bishop Mountain was in Bury again in 1837 and that he held the first Confirmation there in 1840.

Such was the beginning of the Anglican communion in Bury. Now a hundred years have passed. Bishops and ministers have come and gone. Congregation after congregation have labored to keep alive the torch which was handed down by Bishop Mountain.

The years of labor have borne fruit in evident by the fact that on Wednesday next, September 22, the centennial of the Anglican mission at Bury will be observed in St. Paul's Church, Bury, of which Rev. W. W. Smith, M.A., L.S.T., is the present incumbent.

Since the distant year of 1835 the Anglican mission at Bury has been under fourteen ministers, the first being Rev. Jonathan Taylor, who at the time of Bishop Mountain's visit a century ago, was instructed to hold monthly services in the district. The ministers who have served God and man at Bury are:

Rev. Jonathan Taylor, 1835-1840.
Rev. W. King, 1840-1845.
Rev. Charles Forest, 1846-1847.
Rev. John Kemp, 1847-1864.
Rev. Thomas Richardson, 1864-1869.
Rev. James Boydell, 1871-1874.
Rev. Charles Thorp, 1875-1877.
Rev. A. J. Woolrych, 1879-1881.
Rev. Fred M. Webster, 1881-1884.
Rev. W. C. Bernard, 1884-1886.
Rev. H. S. Fuller, 1886-1895.
Rev. C. B. Wether, 1895-1909.
Rev. C. T. Lewis, rector, 1910-1936.

The programme drawn up for Wednesday's ceremonies include dedication of the parish room at Lennoxville, the Bishop's Mount, to be followed by a Thanksgiving Service in St. Paul's Church at eleven o'clock. At one o'clock luncheon will be served by the St. Paul's Guild in the Town Hall, and at three o'clock in the afternoon a stone will be dedicated in St. Paul's Cemetery to the memory of Rev. H. S. Fuller.

A cordial invitation is extended to all interested to attend this impressive ceremony and to rejoice with the people of Bury in the growth of St. Paul's Church and the fine record of service which this Anglican Mission has enjoyed since the days when the revered and beloved Bishop Mountain made its existence possible.

THE FRENCH PRESS

FIGHTING BUT NO WAR

(La Presse, Montreal)

It is not an uncommon thing these days to hear from all sides vigorous protests for peace, expressions of devotion to it, renunciation of the savage brutality of war. And all this at the time of a feverish race for armed superiority; when great military operations are being carried on in Spain and China.

Recently the Government of the United States distributed circulars in nearly all the capital cities of the world's nations, outlining the advantages of peaceful settlements, the advantages of peace itself; and then asked the opinions of the nations' leaders on the present-day situation.

The answers were evidently not delayed, and furthermore, all nations written to, some sixty in number, expressed themselves strongly in favour of the American policy of peace.

Apparently, then, some nations favor peace, even while they continue their rush for greater armaments, enter into war with the most destructive of modern fighting machines at their disposal. Then, like others, they are searching for an explanation to give which will explain in a plausible manner how justifiable their acts are.

INCREASE IN NUMBER OF MISSIONARIES

(Le Devoir, Montreal)

In nearly every newspaper today we read of the departure of Canadian missionaries. Men or women, priests or teaching brothers, all are travelling to distant parts of the world. Some belong to congregations which originated on Canadian soil, and some to French congregations which have been established here, and still others to congregations of non-French origin.

The total number of departures for 1937 will probably not be known until after the end of the year, but indications are that it will constitute a sort of record. Such places as the Philippines are being evangelized.

A touching incident is the notice of the departure of a young girl, bound for Basutoland to be married to her fiancé, a medical missionary. This October wedding we imagine, will mark the first Canadian marriage there.

The time is perhaps not far distant when our nurses and doctors will join our priests and nuns in distant lands to give medical aid to those who need it, and to help to lead a life of complete isolation.

RESTORATION OF PROSPERITY

(Le Droit, Ottawa)

In spite of the economic recovery which is noticed everywhere, we must be wary of shouting too soon about a permanent return to stability. It is very difficult to call a country prosperous when it is immensely rich in natural resources and in capital, but incapable of creating conditions permitting its population to gain its daily bread honestly.

The true prosperity of a country is not calculated by the number of dollars accumulated by the magnates of finance, industry, and commerce, but by the development of its human capital.

Human values, not capital, constitute the main element of true prosperity.

EASTERN STAR CELEBRATION AT RICHMOND

Over Hundred Members and Guests Enjoyed Programme
on Occasion of Order's
Twenty-Fifth Anniversary.

Richmond, Sept. 17.—The twenty-fifth anniversary of Connaught Chapter No. 4, Order of the Eastern Star, was fittingly celebrated on Saturday evening, September 11, when over a hundred guests and members met in the Oddfellows' Hall, Richmond. The hall was tastefully decorated in the colors of the Order, and a short programme of music, recitations and speeches was carried out. After the greeting and welcome to the many guests were extended by the chairman, the impressive candle-lighting ceremony arranged by Sister Ruby Boast to exemplify the continuity of leadership during the quarter-century, was beautifully carried out, with Sister Mable Jenne, P.G.M., of Pinnacle Chapter, Sutton, and Sister Frances Johnston, P.G.M., of King Edward Chapter, of Coaticook, both honorary members of Connaught Chapter, officiating, followed by a short memorial service for those officers and members of the Chapter who had passed to their reward during the period since the Chapter was instituted in 1912.

Sister Mina Findlay, first Worthy Grand Matron of the Grand Chapter of Quebec, and the one most responsible for the formation of the Chapter, being one of the original charter members, gave a concise and interesting history of Connaught Chapter since its institution twenty-five years ago, which was much enjoyed. A sing-song led by Brother Chet Fay was enthusiastically joined in by all present, while Brother Fay also rendered a vocal solo. Sister Ruby Boast and Bro. Fay sang a duet which was well received, while Sister Mable Jenne gave one of her humorous readings, which was especially enjoyed. Sister Lottie Greene acted as accompanist throughout. A musical game was played, with Sister Beatrice Watt at the piano, prizes being won by both Sister and Brother Watkins, of Drummond Chapter.

Following refreshments, short congratulatory speeches were made by Sister Mable Jenne, of Pinnacle; Sister Irene Loken, of Queen Mary Chapter, Sherbrooke; both Past Grand Matrons; Sister Clark, Worthy Matron, of Sherbrooke Chapter; Sister Rose Watkins, of Drummond Chapter; Sister Kerr, of Victoria Chapter, Quebec; Brother Arthur Lockwood, of Confederation Chapter, Danville, and by Brother Dr. Tomkins, of Sherbrooke, a charter member of Connaught Chapter. Sister Jenne proposed a toast to Connaught, wishing the local Chapter many more years of successful and fraternal endeavor. This was eloquently responded to by Brother John Watson, first Worthy Patron of the Chapter. A large three-tier birthday cake, which occupied a place of honor in the hall, was then cut by Sister Margaret Nicholson, a charter member, and one of the first Worthy Matrons of the Chapter.

An interesting coincidence of the evening was the fact that the present Worthy Patron, Brother Walter Wright and Sister Wright, as well as Brother Dan D. Nixon and Sister Nixon, both past officers of the Chapter, were celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of their respective weddings on the same date as Connaught Chapter. To commemorate this happy event, handsome gifts of silver were presented to them by Sister Ruby Boast, on behalf of the Chapter, suitable responses being made by Brother Wright and Brother Nixon. The committee in charge, who were under the generous supervision of the Worthy Matron, Sister Kathleen Armstrong, are to be congratulated on the splendid way in which they organized and carried out all details of the celebration. Brother K. G. Nourse acted as chairman for the evening, which was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

Profiles For Today

THE STRANGE DESTINY OF CHILD PRODIGES

A short time ago, we devoted this column to a discussion of the present activities of Wilbur H. Huston, dubbed the "brightest boy in America" several years ago when he won a scholarship offered by the late Thomas E. Edison. Scarcely had we written the column when another one-time prodigy bobbed up in the news—Winifred Saville Stoner, Jr.

What has become of her, we cannot tell you, for the news about her was that she was being sought. She has not done anything wrong, nor is anyone suing her. Quite the contrary. Lawyers are trying to discover her whereabouts in order to tell her that she has inherited a large estate.

Miss Stoner's period of fame dates further back than Mr. Huston's. She was the child prodigy who, at the age of four, set everyone agape by speaking Esperanto. At nine, she had published a volume of poems, could quote Virgil in the original by the yard, could play the violin with amazing skill, and had numerous other accomplishments.

The daughter of the late Dr. James Buchanan Stoner, a surgeon in the War Hospital Service in Pittsburgh, little Winifred seemed destined to go far. But, somehow, none of her talents matured when she discovered that her husband, supposedly "Count Philippe Clinton de Bruche," not only had assumed

In The Women's Sphere

Social and Personal

Mrs. A. J. Gordon and Mrs. T. Shurtleff, of Coaticook, are the guests for a few days of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Stevens, Quebec street.

Miss Hunt, "Prospect House," Melbourn street, left yesterday for Upper Melbourn, where she will be a guest for a few days of Miss Webb at "Hoste Lodge."

Mrs. W. L. Morkill and her sister, Miss Wright, are guests at the Magog House for a few days en route from Lima, Peru, where they have been visiting the former's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Morkill, for several months, for their home in Victoria, B.C.

The Misses Twose, who have just returned from Halifax, N.S., where they were guests at the Lord Nelson for two weeks, are spending a short time at the New Sherbrooke, prior to taking up residence at their home on Queen street. During their stay in Halifax, the Misses Twose, who are both life members of the Women's Auxiliary to the Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada, attended the annual meeting of the Dominion Board in conference there for ten days. They were also present during several sessions of the General Synod of the Church of England in Canada held in Halifax prior to the W. A. conference.

The opening Guild tea and bridge of the autumn season at St. Patrick's Church hall yesterday afternoon was very largely attended. The hostesses, Mrs. Thomas Flaherty, Mrs. L. E. Chamberlain, Mrs. Reed and Miss Gladys Mullins received the numerous guests in their usual charming manner.

Bridge was played at twelve tables and others enjoyed "500". The winners at auction bridge were Mrs. C. Heineich and Mrs. N. Daniel, and in contract bridge Mrs. A. McManamy, Mrs. Mason, Mrs. J. Campbell, Mrs. C. Lanctot, Mrs. G. Deloitteville and Mrs. R. Provencen. The lucky players at "500" were Mrs. Davies and Mrs. Sanders.

The tea table, at which Mrs. Mac Walshe and Mrs. James Davis presided, looked most attractive with its centerpiece of pastel shaded cosmos in a crystal vase and green candles in crystal holders.

25TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY AT JUDD'S MILLS

Friends and Relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Bliss Gave Surprise Party on Occasion of Silver Wedding Anniversary.

Judd's Mills, Sept. 17. — The silver wedding anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Bliss, which fell on August 28th, was observed at their home at Judd's Mills on Friday evening, September 3rd.

Mrs. Frank Abbott and Mrs. John Byers assisted by the son and daughter of the guests of honor, Mr. Lloyd Bliss and Miss Peggy Bliss, made the event a complete surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Bliss, who had been invited to the home of friends for the evening.

On returning they found the house in darkness. As the lights came on it was seen that the house was filled with relatives and friends who had come to offer congratulations.

The decorations were carried out with a profusion of sweet peas and other flowers.

A mock wedding was performed, the bride being Mrs. Edgar Hill, the groom B. A. Hill and officiating clergyman Mr. Earl Bryan. Miss Anne McGaffey played the wedding march.

On behalf of their numerous friends and relatives, over one hundred being present, Col. B. B. Morrill presented Mr. and Mrs. Bliss with a silver tea service, together with best wishes, for which Mr. Bliss replied in a few words.

The bride, before her marriage, was Miss Eliza Bryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Bryan, of this place, who celebrated their golden wedding last May.

Dancing and cards were indulged in then a sumptuous lunch was served, and, after a happy evening, the guests departed with many more anniversaries.

Friends and relatives were present from Hatley, Montreal, Derby, Cassville and Prescott, Ont.

that name and title, but had a police record.

It is odd, indeed, that child prodigies so frequently fade into obscurity in adulthood. Take Boris Sidis, for instance, the mathematical genius who, some twenty-five years ago, while still in knee pants, lectured to Harvard professors on the intricacies of the fourth dimension. Now, nearing forty, he is nothing more than a low-salaried clerk in Boston, and lives a frugal existence in a tiny hall bedroom. Sidis, however, chose this type of life, for he got an overdose of complex mental effort in his childhood, hated the dimlight into which he was thrust, and craved anonymity.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Goodhue are again in residence at their home on Victoria street after spending a week or so holidaying in Portland, Me.

Mr. Arthur B. Nichols, vice-president of the Boston and Maine Railroad, who was here yesterday attending the annual meeting of the Massachusetts Valley Railway, was a guest of Mr. G. D. Wadsworth at luncheon at St. George's Club.

The engagement is announced of Edna Mary, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvah H. Brown, of Compton, Que., to Mr. Clarence E. Huff, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Huff, of Compton. The marriage will take place the middle of October at St. James' Church, Compton, Que.

Miss Beryl Mandigo has returned to her home on McManamy avenue from Montreal, having just completed her course as nurse-in-training. Miss Mandigo received her diploma at the graduating exercises from the Sherbrooke Hospital School for Nurses on May 20th and has since been in Montreal to complete her hospital training.

The Past Noble Grands' Club sponsored a very successful card party in the Odd Fellows' Hall on Wednesday evening at the close of the first fall meeting after the summer holidays, at which Mrs. S. H. Bachevalier presided. Bridge was played at three tables, the prizes being won by Mrs. Fannie Wark and Mrs. Milo Lothrop. At the conclusion of the game the hostesses, Mrs. Sarah Duncan and Mrs. John McLean, served delicious refreshments.

Messrs. Gerard Gagnon and P. E. Genest, two popular young bachelors who will soon assume the roles of benefactors, were the guests of honor last evening at an informal but exceptionally jolly party given by several of their friends at Mr. C. J. Rose's home on Wellington street. During the evening Mr. E. Beaudry, on behalf of the guests, presented each groom-elect with an attractive smoking set, and voiced in a humorous vein their best wishes and congratulations. Several witty and felicitous speeches followed, the prospective benefactors replying in a happy manner to the kindly criticisms of their friends.

Miss Shirley Wright entertained delightfully last evening at her home on Bowen avenue south in honor of Miss Ruth Douglas, a bride-to-be of the month whom many friends are feting. The living room, where bridge and bingo were played, was gay with a profusion of pink and white flowers, the hostess continuing the same dainty colors in her attractive decorative scheme. Miss Eva Bean carried off the honors at bridge and the prizes at bridge were won by Miss Audrey Douglas and Miss Verna Brownlow. The hostess presented the bride-elect with a generous "shower" of silk hosiery, the prettily wrapped gifts being arranged in a pink and white Japanese parasol.

Later delicious refreshments were served in the dining room. Mrs. Gordon Wright presided at the lovely table, which was covered with an Irish linen cloth and centered with pink shaded zinnias in a crystal bowl and pink candles in crystal candlesticks. The hostess was assisted in serving by Miss Eileen Douglas.

TRINITY W.M.S. MADE PLANS FOR SECTIONAL MEETING

Under the presidency of Mrs. George C. Hall, members of the Women's Missionary Society at their meeting yesterday afternoon in Wesley Hall made plans for the sectional meeting to be held next week in Coaticook. At this conference Miss Mitchell, travelling W. M. S. secretary for the United Church of Canada, will be the special speaker. Arrangements were also made for the shipment of a bale for western relief, and several items of routine business, resultant of the summer's recess, were disposed of. Mrs. Emerson conducted the opening devotional period, her helpful talk on "Prayer" being an outstanding feature. The afternoon's programme was concluded with the study of the last chapter in the book "For the Joy of the Past." Miss Eleanor Van Vleet, who was in charge of the study-period, was assisted by Mrs. Sam McLean, Mrs. Ernest Hodge, Miss Mills and Miss Heath.

Mind Your Manners

Question: "Should neighbors, who are in the habit of meeting several times a day in the course of marketing, etc., speak whenever they meet?"—Mrs. K. J.

Answer: After the first meeting and greeting, it would be enough merely to smile in passing each other again that day.

Question: "I have been invited to an informal garden party. How shall I dress?"—B. F.

Answer: The correct attire for such a function is a spectator sports dress and hat.

Question: "When bananas are served whole, and plates and forks are provided, how should this fruit be eaten?"—P.

Answer: Strip off the skin. Place the banana on the plate and eat it with the fork as one would any other soft food.

and several interesting features were dealt with during the brief business period. These included reports that 424 quarts of milk had been distributed to needy children during the summer months, and that five books had been donated to the Sherbrooke High School to be awarded as prizes for history.

Two most gratifying bits of news were announced, the first through letters received from the Girl Guides sponsored by the Chapter to the effect that the girls very much appreciated their holidays in camp, made possible by the generous help of the chapter, and the second that the girl-student who had been awarded a bursary by the chapter had won a scholarship. This latter achievement so pleased the members that they decided to continue the bursary for another month.

MONEY VOTED FOR BOOKS FOR TEACHERS' LIBRARY

Under the convenship of Miss Bessie Bryce, nine teachers entertained the members of the Sherbrooke Protestant Teachers' Association at the tea hour yesterday afternoon after the first post-holiday meeting for the season in the Household Science room at the High School. Miss I. R. Nourse, the president, occupied the chair, and following the disposition of routine business several interesting features entertained the members prior to the tea hour.

To Miss Ina Cobleigh, library convener, a sum of money was voted for the purchase of books for the Teachers' Professional Library, and A. J. Frizzle was named convener of the schools' representatives for the coming season. Miss Muriel McHarg, M.A., was thanked by Miss Verna Hatch, principal of the Lawrence School, for her interesting talk on "Impressions of people I met on my recent southern cruise."

ENJOYABLE TEA AND FOOD SALE AT LENNOXVILLE

Highly Successful Social Event Sponsored by Ways and Means Committee of Women's Institute.

The first of the autumn teas, held yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the "Ways and Means" committee of the Lennoxville Women's Institute in their room in the Town Hall, proved highly successful in every respect. Mrs. E. L. Atto, the president of the Institute, graciously welcomed the many guests, and the room presented a most attractive appearance with its decorations of autumn flowers.

Mrs. A. E. Abercrombie, past president of the Institute, presided at the tea table, which was centered with a large bowl of varied bright blooms and the silver tea service, while slender vases of Salvia and snowdrops decorated the smaller tables.

Much credit for this successful venture is due the "Ways and Means" committee, namely, Mrs. Calvin Sterling, Mrs. Howard Dundin, Mrs. William Martin, Mrs. Grace O'Keefe and Mrs. A. Hall, who were ably assisted by other members, with Mrs. William Martin acting as cashier.

The many delicious breads and pastries to be found on the food table at the further end of the room were quickly disposed of by the ladies in charge, Mrs. Harry Webster and Mrs. John Manes.

INTERESTING ADDRESSES AT ASCOT W. I. MEETING.

Two interesting addresses featured the regular meeting of the Ascot Women's Institute held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Robert Ashe, with the president, Mrs. R. S. Lipsey, presiding. Rev. C. E. Brown, of East Angus, spoke on "Colonization," especially mentioning the New Port settlement and pointing out the sacrifices these colonists were forced to make in order to get started. Nurse Grieve, of the V.O.N., discussed "First Aid" and outlined what one should have in a medicine cabinet, which she very kindly answered the questions in the Health Question Box.

The Provincial Secretary of the Ontario Women's Institute, Mrs. Leatherdale, was a visitor, and brought greetings from her W. I. A splendid report of the Sherbrooke County Women's Institute exhibit at the Sherbrooke Fair was given by Mrs. R. E. Mosher.

Plans were made for a social evening to be held shortly when Mrs. Austin Scott will be asked to give a lecture on her recent trip to Europe.

The medical inspection of Ascot School will be held next week, it was stated, and the following ladies were named to assist the doctor in charge: Mrs. P. Herring, Mrs. F. R. Mitchell, Mrs. H. Woodward, Mrs. W. Pearson, Mrs. M. Hyatt and Mrs. W. S. Richardson.

The Women's Institute First Aid Kit at Ascot School has been replenished, it was reported. The Roll Call was answered by the members giving vegetables to the V.O.N.

Yesterday's hostesses were Mrs. Robert Ashe, Mrs. F. R. Mitchell and Mrs. Swindon, assisted by Mrs. Norman Hemming and Miss Isabel Lipsey.

General Notes.

At the last regular meeting of the Amalgamated Orange Lodge, Number 1591, of Lennoxville, held in the Lennoxville I.O.O.F. Hall, four new members were initiated, assisted by members from Bulwer, Bury and Sherbrooke. Following the meeting, a delicious informal luncheon was served and interesting addresses delivered by Rev. L. O. Bunt, of Bulwer; P. Dunsmore, of Sherbrooke; E. S. Hetherington, of Cookshire, and the Provincial Grand Lecturer, F. H. Leech, of Sherbrooke. Mr. and Mrs. William Gilbert, of Concord, N.H., were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Webster.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Campbell and Miss Wilma Campbell are spending the week-end in Montreal. Mr. Wilfred Proulx and Mr. Joseph, of Montreal, were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Campbell.

MAKING MERINGUES

When preparing meringue for puddings or pie, beat the egg white with a rotary beater until it is stiff enough to stand in peaks. Granulated sugar dusted over the meringue before putting it in the oven makes a delicious, brown, crusty surface. Meringue should be baked in a slow oven for ten to twenty minutes.

Fresh bread contains more moisture than stale bread. That is why bread a day old is better for toasting than fresh bread.

GET BLANKETS LONG ENOUGH

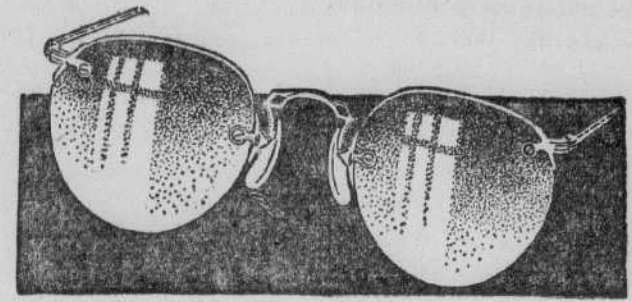

When you shop for blankets this fall, be sure that you buy them long enough to allow for "tuck in."

EXTRA BATHROOM RACKS

If the towel racks in your bathroom are always filled to overflowing, you can get extra rack space by putting up an extension towel bar. These metal bars have a seven-inch extension at either end, and are quite handy for hose and linens that are tubbed in the bathroom basin.

BULB PLANTING TIME

Narcissi and most of the smaller bulbs are best planted in September.

CONGOLEUM GOLD SEAL RUGS

Start with the floors — that's what interior decorators do. And start right . . . with one of the smart, new Congoleum Gold Seal Rugs which are now on display. Their gorgeous colourings will strike the keynote for the rest of the room and their modest cost will amaze you. Remember . . . there's no tiresome beating or sweeping with a Congoleum Gold Seal Rug — a damp mop keeps it spotless. It lies flat without fastening of any kind and gives years of trouble-free service. Visit your dealer's . . . but insist on seeing the Gold Seal which is affixed to the surface of all genuine Gold Seal Congoleum. It is your only guarantee of complete satisfaction.

The pattern illustrated is "HONG KONG" Congoleum Gold Seal Rug, No. 454. The Hall Runner is No. 159.

Congoleum Gold Seal Rugs range from the small 1 1/2 x 3 ft. mats to the large 9 x 15 ft. rugs and are surprisingly inexpensive. A 6 x 9 rug, for example, costs only $5.65.

Congoleum is also available in yard goods where complete floors have to be covered.

INVERNESS W.I. FINANCED HIGH SCHOOL REPAIR

Re-decoration of School Room
Was Sponsored by Ladies'
Group—Members Planned to Make Layette.

Inverness, Sept. 17.—The Inverness Women's Institute, which financed the re-decoration of the upper room of the Inverness High School, discussed the work at the regular monthly meeting, found it satisfactory and ordered the bill paid.

Following this a short discussion was held as to the most important subject on the modern educational curriculum. It was decided to make a layette to be completed by the December meeting, each member to be responsible for one article.

Twelve members and two visitors were present at the meeting which was held at the home of Mrs. Robert Graham and conducted by the president, Mrs. Weston Graham.

Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Alger Patterson.

FOREIGN BIBLE SOCIETY OFFICIAL GAVE LECTURE

Rev. James Adams, B.A., district secretary of the British and Foreign Bible Society, gave a splendid address with lantern slides on Sunday evening in the United Church, the subject being the Indians of Canada. The officers were all re-elected and a vote of thanks was moved by Mr. George Mooney and seconded by Mr. James Robinson, to Mr. Adams, who was pleased to accept and responded.

During Mr. Adams' visit here he was the guest of Rev. and Mrs. John Stewart.

General Notes.
Mr. Lloyd Beattie and Mr. Albert Kinnear spent Saturday in Quebec. Mrs. James Robinson and Miss Ida Lamb visited Mrs. Arthur Kinnear on Saturday afternoon.

Rev. and Mrs. Reynolds and family, accompanied by Mr. Louis Boudue motored to Quebec on Thursday.

NEW COMPOSITE PLANE TO INCREASE FLYING RADIUS

Designed to overcome the difficulty of launching a heavy-laden trans-Atlantic plane, the two component parts of the Mayo composite aircraft have made individual flights over Rochester, England, where they were built and are now nearly complete for the crucial combined test flight when the vital release mechanism will be put to test. The above picture, made from two separate photographs, shows how the composite aircraft will appear when assembled for the combined test.

POWDER CACHE

Glance Bay, N.S., Sept. 17.—Youngsters playing near an old barn found a quantity of blasting powder and fifty-eight detonators hidden under the building. Police said they believed the explosives, identified as having been stolen from the Dominion Coal Company, were to have been used by some "bootleg" coal mine operator.

REV. C. GILBERT GAVE ADDRESS

AT BISHOPTON

Interesting Slides Shown During Lecture on "Helping Honor to Understand Christian Love"—Personals and
General Notes.

Bishopton, September 17.—A very interesting lecture with slides was given by the Rev. C. C. Gilbert in the United Church, on September 12th. The subject of the address was "Helping Honor to Understand Christian Love."

The meeting opened with the singing of the hymn "The Day Is Dying in the West," followed by prayer, and a reading from the scripture taken from the seventy-second Psalm.

Fifty-nine slides were shown on the screen including the Chinese mode of living, their clothing, costumes, etc. Each picture being explained expertly by Rev. Gilbert.

The slides also showed many trades of the Chinese, such as farming, reaping the grain, a group of glenans, flour mills, spinning wheels, log sawing and many others, also their mode of eating with chop sticks. The training of the children by Mrs. McClure, was demonstrated also, the works of the doctors and nurses, which gave a very concise description of the way money sent from abroad was so well used in hospital work and other social work among the Chinese.

The meeting closed with the hymn "The Morning Light Is Breaking," followed by the benediction.

DEATHS REPORTED

REV. TELESPHORE ROY, WATERLOO
Richmond, Sept. 16. — On Thursday, September 16th, the Rev. Telesphore Roy, passed away in Waterloo, where he and Mrs. Roy had established a home for the past year or so in order to be near their daughter, Mrs. W. A. Parkes. Mr. Roy had been ill a long time, but the final passing was a sad shock to his immediate family and many friends in the Townships. He died at the age of seventy-one, greatly beloved and respected by parishioners of the several fields where he had served during his active ministry, Richmond being among them.

In early life, he became a minister in the Methodist Church and was the pastor as such in Magog, Lawrenceville, Actonville, Ormstown, Richmond, Montreal (Delisle street), Montreal (Trinity), Beloeil, St. Jovite, Ponsbury and Franklin Centre in this Province and Osnaburck Centre in Ontario, but, when Mount Royal Church in Montreal, a small organization which, by his excellent organizing ability, he built to a large cause, erecting a splendid new church and staying there seven or eight years. His health broke while he was there and he was superannuated, but continued to do light duty as pastor of the United Church of Lake Megantic, a couple of years. He had a stroke while there and had not assumed active charge of any congregation since that time. After he left Megantic, he lived for some time in Montreal and became a member of St. James United Church.

On Saturday, prayers were held at the residence of Mrs. W. A. Parkes, conducted by Rev. M. E. Wilson of that place. Rev. Thomas Scott and Charles Huxtable, of Granby, and Rev. C. B. McLaughlin, of Magog, and many friends from Waterloo, Magog and surrounding country attended.

That same afternoon the funeral took place in the Richmond United Church, (College street), and was conducted by the pastor of that church, Rev. E. W. S. Coates, assisted by Rev. Dr. Bruce Hunter, the pastor of St. James United Church in Montreal, Rev. Dr. William Munroe, the secretary of the Montreal-Ottawa Conference, and Rev. W. H. Burnett, of Montreal, a former pastor of Richmond United Church. Other United Church clergymen present at the service were Rev. Roy P. Stafford of St. James United Church, Montreal; Rev. Dr. W. S. Lennon of West Shefford; Rev. S. G. Brown, pastor of Chalmers United Church here; Rev. E. M. Taylor, M.A., of Knowlton and Rev. W. E. Johnson, of Altonville. The remarks of Dr. Hunter and of Rev. E. W. S. Coates were eloquent and appropriate. The whole service was marked by deep solemnity and was most impressive.

The principal mourners were Mrs. Roy, Mrs. Parkes, Miss Gladys Fraser, of Montreal, a niece of the deceased and Mrs. G. A. Roy, of Melbourne, a sister-in-law.

The music by the church choir under the direction of Mrs. W. J. Ewing rendered the hymns, "Still, Still With Thee, When Pure Morning Breaketh," "Peace, Perfect Peace," and "Fight the Good Fight." There were many floral tributes testifying to the respect in which the deceased was held by all.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

GAIN IN USELESS FINESSE

Suit With No Losing Cards Is Used to Set Up a Side Suit on Which to Discard Losers

By Wm. E. McKenney,
Secretary, American Bridge League.

One of the plays dear to the heart of the expert is the "unnecessary finesse," which in short means taking a finesse in a suit in which there are no losing cards.

This seemingly foolish play has sound reasons, the outstanding one being the need of an additional entry in the dummy hand. If the entry is needed for the purpose of establishing a side suit upon which a loser or losers may be discarded, the play, instead of being foolish, is the height of bridge wisdom.

Today's hand is an interesting example of the play made by Elmer J. Babin, of Cleveland, who will be one of the stars contesting in the Western States tournament of the American Bridge League at Cleveland, September 27 to October 3.

As the cards lie, East and West partners should bid four spades, which could have been defeated, at most, two tricks.
