Unity Boys' Club

The role of boys' clubs in community explained

By MAURICE MARIASINE

An agency or institution surely can only be justified on the basis of the unique contribution it can make to the life of the community.

In defining the role of the boys' club, our task is to ascertain what are its unique characteristics. When we have decided on this, we can proceed to encourage the growth of the movement along the lines that will enhance its special functions.

We say a boys' club is a character-building agency. In saying this we recognize that the family in our society carries prime responsibility for character building. No agency or institution would attempt to compete with the strength of family ties, regardless of the quality of those ties. The function of any community agency seeking to contribute to the character growth of a youngster must therefore be to assist the family to do the character building job.

PERSONAL QUALITIES

We know that character develops through personal relationship. Before character development can take place, a relationship must be established which has meaning both for the leader and for the boy or girl.

The most demanding part of character building, however, is the relationship itself since children are generally open for friendship and can be won through various program methods at our disposal. Skills and personality will help develop the relationship, but the effect of the relationship will depend entirely on the personal qualities of the leader himself.

To guide boys and girls positively, therefore, we must place with them quality people whose standards and values are those we would have them take for their own.

We in the boys' club movement must be willing to take our place among a very large company of distinguished community agencies who are undertaking the character building task. A list of these agencies is long but they surely include the churches, schools, YMCA, Boy Scouts, etc.

TYPE OF BOY OR GIRL

The real uniqueness of the boys club is defined by the boy or girl we seek to serve. We have long known that youngsters from the crowded downtown districts prefer not to identify with institutions and agencies with middle-class standards. This is merely an illustration of the fundamental fact that within every urban community there are various types of sub-communities with their own standards and modes of life which they prefer.

It has been the heritage of the boys' club movement to serve the poor boy or girl. Some will argue that the poor boy or girl is disappearing. There may be some truth in this in economic terms but in social terms we have the same kind of youngster facing us. He is a child living in the crowded downtown section of urban communities. He is a boy or girl who has learned at a very early age to take on the ways of the street or the gang. This has been forced on them because of crowded conditions at home and because of a lack of community resources in the neighborhood.

The children in the core areas of our cities still are needy children; the bonds of family life in many of the homes in these areas continue to be weak. It is the role of the boys' club to aid in the development of this type of youngster by working closely with this type of family.

Some will immediately raise the question of the open door policy. Are not our boys' clubs open to any boy or girl regardless of race, color, creed or ability to pay? Certainly this is true. The open door is a necessary feature of a boys' club if we are going to attract the boys' club or the boys' club girl. The open door policy does not mean, as some have taken it, that the boys' club should be serving everyone.

We know that the greatest important of the character of a child occurs during the early years. We know that youngsters of seven years and under need close personal relationships with a single adult or parent. Attempts to involve children at these early ages in group-based character building programs prove to be fruitless. The studies from social sciences, however, tell us that children in the age range of approximately 8-13 go through a particular stage. Some refer to this stage as the "club or gang age." At this time the youngster is experimenting with life among his peers but will continue to accept the guidance of an adult in this process.

The Unity Boys' Club of Westmount, sponsored by the Rotary Club of Westmount and operated by the Montreal Boys' Association, a Red Feather Service, serves approximately 1,000 boys and girls in the districts of Westmount and St. Henry.

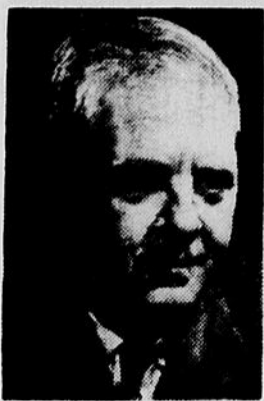

Brakes fail, three autos in collision

A three car collision Monday sent two residents of St. John's, Quebec, by police car to their family doctor for treatments to sore arms, necks and bumps on heads.

It all started when Bernard H. Brock, 6059 Wilderton, tried to stop at the intersection of Western and Academy road and crashed into an auto driven by Lucien Drapeau, 1 Blackpool, St. John's, which in turn crashed into the car of William Sorenson, 101 Southvale Drive, Toronto.

Mrs. Rossana Drapeau, 49, and Nicole Drapeau, 16, were bruised and shaken up, but refused medical aid, telling Westmount police they would have a check-up by their own family doctor.

Jewel theft suspect picked up at airport

Jewelry valued at more than $5,500 which disappeared from four apartments in a Westmount building on June 8 was identified Tuesday in Criminal Court as that found on the person of a New York man arrested that evening as he prepared to emplane at Montreal Airport, Dorval.

The evidence sent for voluntary statement 30-year-old John Eugene Urgo, accused of having entered the four locked apartments at 4300 Western avenue, in broad daylight without leaving any trace of an actual break-in.

Urgo was identified by a maid employed at the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. David Margolese as the man who greeted her there when she returned from a short visit to another part of the building.

"I'm waiting for Dave," he told her, and as she knew Mr. Margolese was expected home earlier than usual, she assumed the stranger was a social caller.

He soon advised the witness he had decided not to wait and left the apartment. Mrs. Margolese told Judge Rene Theberge that when she returned home she found three valuable pieces of jewelry missing from a drawer in a bathroom dresser.

She identified as hers a $1,400 brooch, a $1,700 ring, and a $1,000 diamond bracelet, before the court as exhibits. These items were among the seven pieces of jewelry allegedly found rolled up in a handkerchief in Urgo's back pocket in a search at the airport.

Westmount Counsel Lawrence Poitras also called three other housewives residing at "4300" to identify jewels found to be missing from their apartments on or after June 8.

Mrs. Jack Shacter recognized a $500 gold mesh bracelet watch as hers. She said it disappeared with some cash belonging to her daughter on June 8. Mrs. Louis Pinsky identified a $400 diamond brooch and a $175 bracelet, and Mrs. Alex Goldberg testified that a $225 pearl and diamond ring belonged to her.

Urgo is held without bail. His counsel, Myer Gross, QC, and Pearl Charnetsky, made no application Tuesday for his release on bond.

Hyde takes Westmount-St. George

Supporters shout:

By SHIRLEY FENTON

The Westmount-St. George Liberal candidate's committee room, plastered with posters encouraging electors to vote for Mr. Hyde, flanked by young women taking the returns by telephone on one side, and the returns board on the other, was seething with enthusiastic Liberal supporters, at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday night.

Reports came in, by radio, telephone and word of mouth. One young man strolled abstractedly about, a portable radio held to his ear, keeping the telephone secretaries and the audience in touch with the general trend. His information, thrown at intervals to anyone in earshot, was invariably greeted with loud exclamations and sometimes, a barrage of handclapping.

Both French and English were spoken, freely — sometimes conflicting reports came in over two telephones at the same time, producing a mixture of dismay and irritation. A good supply of neighborhood folk were on hand, watching the board, taking the whole show fairly calmly, in contrast to the battle-weary Liberal-ites, who, even at 7.30 were, to a voter, excited and confident of victory for Mr. Hyde.

Frequent cries for the Liberal candidate were heard. Well-turned out in a grey suit, white shirt, black town shoes and a red and blue, diagonally-striped tie, he was constantly the centre of a group. Questioned by a well-wisher as to whether his tie represented his regimental colors, the answer, plucked out of the midst of a dozen other rapid-fire replies, came back — "What regiment?" Clearly Mr. Hyde was excited.

A tall, tanned observer: "I'm really a stranger here . . . I'm from Ontario, and I don't know very much about all this yet. I've only been here nine months." Had he voted? "Sure — that's why I'm here." Would he be pleased at a Liberal victory? "Yes I'd be pleased . . . that's why I voted."

Mme. Maurice Cormier, a past vice-president of the Liberal Women's Association of Canada: "I'm very thrilled about it . . . (Hyde's victory) . . . I've just come from home and I'm keeping my fingers crossed — it's very exciting. The cleaner the campaign gets shows that women are taking a greater part and when all women become fully aware of their duties then all women will vote."

Mrs. R. Hannan: "The right man in the right place!"

John Foch: "I think it shows the electors of Westmount-St-George are not fooled by blatant and conspicuous spending of public funds and our campaign was conducted in a quiet and dignified manner that brought the real issues to the fore."

Again Mme. Cormier: "Consideration should be taken to abolish advance polls in the future — "Mrs. Cormier went on to say that scarcely any votes had been assured and the exorbitant expenses entailed were very wasteful. "In some constituencies it was nice to see baby sitters going to relieve the mother so that she might exercise her vote."

The Canadian Junior Red Cross through its Fund for International Help and Understanding, provided assistance for children in 25 nations last year.

Hayes happy he beat trend

By LARRY McINNIS

The pride and joy of the National Union Party in Westmount-St. George, Murray Hayes, like the mighty Casey, has struck out. And so, apparently, has the Party as a majority leader in the Legislature.

After the results of the first few polls were posted on the tote board at Hayes headquarters on Sherbrooke street west, it became apparent that the Liberal incumbent, Richard Hyde, was going to make it again.

Ironically, the first two polls to report, 143A and 143B, indicated 110 for Hayes, 13 for Hyde, 82-32 respectively, giving rise to a strong 11,238 Hyde and 6,919 Hayes.

DEFEAT

"It looks like another '57 Federal," Hayes said as he called his workers together to thank them for their help in his campaign.

"We fought the election fairly," he said, "but the trend is completely against us."

And with those few remarks, Mr. Hayes admitted total and final defeat. The time was 9 p.m.

THE TREND

Before going to thank his campaigners, Mr. Hayes checked the figures of the last Provincial election, in which Richard Hyde was re-elected.

Hyde polled 13,808 in the last Provincial election; Graham Gould, NU candidate got 2,938. Two independents, Frank Brenton and Norman Mergler polled a total of 503. There were 17,249 valid ballots and 229 rejected. Hyde's majority last election was 10,870. This time the majority is down to 4,319.

"Despite the trend," Hayes said, "he (Hyde) polled less votes than last time."

Surprisingly cheerful in defeat, Hayes said goodbye to his supporters and campaigners by saying, "I wouldn't say I'm happy, but I do get some satisfaction in that I beat the trend."

See Page 6

A poll-by-poll breakdown of the ballots cast in the Westmount-St. George riding appears on Page 6. There were 177 polls located throughout the riding, and the complete vote for each candidate by poll is tabulated. The voting in this election was somewhat higher than in the last Provincial election, but still near the 50 per cent, or normal, figure.

Mayor gets City of Montreal vote

Another item for the little-known, but logical, facts department came to light at Monday night's Council meeting when it was proposed that Mayor J. C. Cushing, or more properly, John Crosbie Cushing of 610 Clarke avenue, be authorized to vote for and in the name of the City of Westmount at any municipal election in the City of Montreal.

The explanation is that Westmount owns property fronting on the Montreal-St. Anne's boulevard near the Upper Lachine road, and as a property owner is entitled to a vote in Montreal.

Provision for the contingency is covered in Article 201 of the Charter of the City of Montreal, and subsequently Mayor Cushing's name will be enseribed on the voters' lists as being able to cast his vote for Westmount.

Selfish drivers to feel pressure

SUMMER'S first long holiday weekend, coinciding with the end of school, is going to put the pressure on highways in this area and all over America.

The Canadian Highway Safety Council has issued fair warning that it and its associated bodies in all provinces and states have laid elaborate plans to hit the motorist who risks his safety and that of others trying to make time in traffic.

They are taking a sensible, positive approach. Their all-out campaign is "to bring back to highway travel some of the fun and pleasure it once had."

Officials everywhere will be putting double pressure this year on the driver who calls on every wile to get to where he is going as fast as he can, regardless of the rights or safety of others. Selfish drivers are to be the target. Beware.

By the Way . . .

I HAVE always thought that if beautiful music accompanied all in wrestling matches a new and more realistic kind of ballet would become popular, with brutal strength rather than grace as its foundation. I am confirmed in this opinion by a photograph of a ballet in which one dancer appears to be butting another in the stomach. It was probably only a gentle, symbolic butt. However, the Blidstone Butcher or Mauler Gregson would soon change all that. And the ladies? They would continue to twiddle about on their toes in some safe corner of the stage.

Resident raps City for lack of clinics

Sir: As a resident of Westmount, I would like to know why we do not have our own adult anti-polio vaccination clinics, but must traverse halfway across the city in order to take advantage of those proffered by the City of Montreal or the Quebec March of Dimes Association.

Surely the City of Westmount can well afford to extend similar free clinics to its adult residents. Salk vaccine is plentiful, but now I wonder about the city's coffers. Perhaps they are void of the funds necessary to carry out the project.

How about it, City Fathers? This is a matter that calls for immediate action.

M. G. F.

Russian leader most aggressive

Sir: It takes a shrewd and perceptive political leader and statesman of the John Diefenbaker type to properly and bluntly assess the Russian dictator. As he pointed out on his return from Britain, the Soviet leader has shown a very belligerent and threatening attitude. The question quite a number are asking, is:—How long will the peace-loving peoples of the democracies tolerate an attitude of this kind on the part of the world's principal totalitarian despot? Insults have been heaped upon the leaders and peoples of the United States and sister democracies. They have not replied in kind, since they sincerely and genuinely want peace — but not peace at any price.

Of the several leaders of the enslaved Russian proletariat and the peoples of the equally enslaved satellites the present leader is the most voluble and aggressive. He has to date ignored the suggestions, recommendations and willingness of the democracies to not only participate in a peace-pact, but agree to disarmament. The present dictator holds power, as did his predecessors, because of his control of the ruling clique. Totalitarians do not believe in free elections, they seek and maintain power by intrigue, force and threats. They resort to any and all means to liquidate opposition and stifle criticism. Freedom, political and industrial, is an unknown word to them.

I think, it has become apparent that there is little likelihood of Russia and the Western Allies reaching an understanding that will assure a stable peace and a world that will not be on tenterhooks.

The belligerence of the Russian tyrant must be matched by an equal if not stronger tone on the part of the democratic leaders.

Professional associations abuse power

By CHARLES R. GRAHAM
in Saturday Night

There are two kinds of professional associations. The first is an innocuous sort of organization, mainly for interchange of knowledge, and of interest only to people in the profession. The second is a legally-constituted monopoly which can be — and often is — in restraint of liberty.

About the first, nothing need be said. About the second, it is time we had some straight thinking. Let me give an example.

Only a few months ago, in Montreal, a man was brought into court for performing surgery on birds without a license. The situation, without further detail, is enough to inspire a full-blooded social satire. But it gets worse.

The gentleman charged with this offense was, without much doubt, the best-qualified bird surgeon in Montreal. Three leading veterinary surgeons testified at his trial that he had such advanced knowledge of birds that they usually referred these cases to him. And yet this is the man who was being haled before the courts by the Quebec College of Veterinary Surgeons — the body to which his character witnesses must have belonged — after some forty years of openly practicing his specialty.

What was at stake? Professional pride, or pique? Or was this a dangerous man — a sort of bird abortionist? Not according to the local SPCA manager, who testified that for years the defendant had voluntarily performed bird surgery for the Society on request — with qualified veterinarians observing him.

The judge in this case had no alternative, under law, but to pronounce the man guilty. He imposed a fine, promptly remitted it, and called the case "unfortunate and sad" — sentiments echoed in the editorial columns of the Montreal Gazette.

The communist prototype of Hitler must not be placated. Any weakness shown by the democracies will be promptly capitalized by the astute Russian propagandists to whom truth and fair dealing is anathema.

It was Eisenhower who helped to save Russia in the last war from suffering defeat at the hands of the Nazis; far from appreciating the sacrifices made by the democracies to prevent a Hitler victory, the belligerent communists' chief spokesman talks of the coming and inevitable victory of communism over capitalism. He evidently forgets that democratic brains are in the long run far superior to the limited ones of the totalitarian states.

Whether we approve or disapprove of American diplomacy is of no particular moment. Our fate, from a military and political standpoint is bound up with that of the United States.

The presumption of the Russian leader and his commentators is almost incredible. To warn and threaten Canada, should it permit American planes to use our country as a base, demonstrates that they regard us as a nation that can be intimidated. They forget that Prime Minister Diefenbaker, speaking in the name of the Canadian people can give as good as he gets.

Since the last war the world has been on edge due entirely to the machinations of the successive Russian oligarchies. The United States, Britain and France (no one of which wants war) are more than a match for Russia, should it resort to war. The great pity is that the Russian masses are helpless and are not allowed to know the facts of the present situation. Russian troops, under orders from the Russian leader murdered thousands of freedom loving Hungarians. The Poles were likewise treated when they manifested unrest. For the to-where this account of the case was given. The Gazette did not question the law; it did, at least by implication, regret that a professional privilege had been so ruthlessly, pointlessly used.

Restrictive professional societies are created by our laws — in this country, by our provincial laws. By their creation a part of the liberty surrendered by individuals to the state — for the sake of order and good government is abrogated to small bodies of professionals.

There can be only one excuse for this procedure: the protection of the public. And in certain cases — that which springs immediately to mind is the profession of medicine — protection of the public demands that a profession be given legal status, with teeth in the law.

But when we get beyond medicine, things can get pretty silly. In most provinces, engineers have strong professional societies. And I suppose, from the public point of view, it is reassuring to know that the consulting engineer who designed our bridges was fully registered, qualified and licensed. Yet listen to this story.

A rather senior executive of a large firm, asked his profession by an enumerator, said he was a chemical engineer. Sometime after his name had appeared on the voters' rolls, so identified, he received a letter from his provincial society of professional engineers. He must either prove his qualifications and join their society, the leader said, or face legal action.

Now this man had every technical right to call himself a chemical engineer; he was a graduate of a top-ranking Canadian university in that subject. But he had no legal right to do this, since he was not registered as a professional engineer. In this case, he had not the faintest intention of advertising his services to the public; he was simply giving what he thought to be the best description of his occupation.

The outcome? My friend backed down. He wrote a letter of apology to the society, and is now careful to tell enumerators and census takers that he is a supervisor, or an executive, or something similarly meaningless. It doesn't alter the fact that he is a chemical engineer.

This, and similar cases, have occurred because of simple greed on the part of some professional totalitarian tyrants to complain of espionage is really laughable, when we are aware of its deliberate campaign in the democracies of subversion, plots and sabotage.

In challenging the power of the United States and its allies the Kremlin may bring its own destruction and the liquidation of those, who occupy its quarters. It is comforting to know that at this stage in our History the head of the national government can talk back to the Russian bully in a tone that is strong and defiant.

Liberty and democracy are being challenged as they were never before, and threats to their survival must be met by the united democracies that seek peace not only for themselves but the enslaved millions in the totalitocracies.

societies. They harass people who are qualified to join their society, but not legally compelled to do so, in the hope of scaring them into paying a fat annual fee.

But this is a picayune matter. And similarly picayune is the petty jealousy that must have inspired the suit against the bird surgeon. What is dangerous is the spread of these organizations, under the cloak of protecting the public, to the point where they can bilk the public.

Few people realize the teeth contained by laws that give professional organizations their power. For instance: if proposed legislation is passed in Quebec I would become liable to legal action if I called myself a chemist without joining the provincial professional chemists association. Suppose, from the point of view of the public safety, this is a good thing. I should be forced to prove to the association, or the courts, that I am a graduate in chemistry from a recognized university — which I am. And if this were not satisfactory, I should be forced to take and pass their qualifying examination — which I trust I could.

Then is not the public interest served? Is not the public secure? Not according to the proposed law. If I stop making my annual contributions to this society, I lose my right to call myself a chemist. And, judging from the case of my friend the engineer, I run a risk even describing myself as a chemist.

I said something about bilking the public. I don't mean to imply that doctors, or engineers, or chemists, lobby for these laws in order to bilk the public. But how would you like it if only a legally registered repair man could fix your TV set? If only a certified tax expert could make out your income tax, and you weren't allowed to do it yourself? If it became a crime to cut your children's hair at home, and the giving of a home permanent to another person became an offense under law?

We haven't yet come that far, but we'd better watch ourselves.

Bad milk found, water is better inspectors show

Statistics issued this week by the Westmount Health Department indicate that City water may be as good, if not better, to drink than some of the milk tested during May by inspectors.

The figures show 55 milk samples were collected, four of which were unsatisfactory. 16 water samples were tested, all of which were up to standard.

Sanitary inspections numbered 58: six rooming and boarding houses; three barber shops and beauty parlors; seven massage parlors; three laundries; 33 food establishments; four dwellings; one public building and one animal clinic.

Communicable diseases showed a decline with 22 cases being known this year compared with 87 last year. Last year's figure included 79 cases of measles, however.

The employees' health service reported eight pre-employment examinations, 10 occupational injuries, 25 non-occupational injuries and 33 injections given during the month.

School Board honors retiring teachers

The Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal Tuesday night paid tribute to 44 retiring teachers and principals — many of them from the West End — at a banquet in the Ritz Carlton Hotel. The seven men and 37 women representing a total of 1,100 years of service, were each presented with a certificate paying tribute from the board and the community "to long and meritorious service."

The guests of honor included the former director of education, three principals and 40 teachers. Retiring administrators were T. Somerville, director of education who retired in January, and Louis de Belle, Miss D. Ann Hawker and R. O. Bartlett, principals respectively of Coronation, William Trenholme and Westmount High School. Retiring teachers are:

- Mrs. C. E. Armour, Montreal East School; Miss M. E. Baker, High School for Girls; Mrs. M. J. Bell, Monklands High; Mrs. I. M. Clarke, Baron Byng High; Mrs. E. O. Cloutier, Kensington; Mr. L. D. Westmount Newsletter

City must have revenue increase

An attractive, informative newsletter issued recently by the City of Westmount, and which deals with everything from polio inoculations to the treatment of Dutch Elm disease, indicates that the cost of running the City will show an increase of three per cent over last year's for a total expenditure of $3,000,000.

The report states that the increase is equal to the general pattern of annual increases in wages and prices in Canada for the past few years. There is no mention of whether the City expects a surplus or a deficit. Last year the expenditures were $67,700 over revenues.

The 1960 budget, approved by Council, calls for an increase in spending of eight departments, amounting to $144,000, and a decrease of $50,000 in six departments, leaving a net increase in expenditures of $94,000.

Actually, total spending by departments will be $2,373,000, the report states. An additional expenditure of $611,000 will be required to meet payment of interest on the City's bonds and debentures and payments into the sinking fund — the provision for the repayment of the outstanding debt.

Administrative costs (Westmount's share) for the Montreal Metropolitan Corporation will require a further $16,000, bringing the total budget to the $3,000,000 mark.

DETAILS

The largest expenditure on the budget, accounting for 29.2 per cent of the total, will be for public works. Next in line will be the provision for debt charges, 19.8 per cent.

The report states that the revenue received by the City increased by 20 per cent for 1955 to 1959, but expenses increased 32 per cent.

"Your council is conscious of the need to control and cut down, wherever possible, expenses," the report states. "But there is a limit to the amount of money which can be saved without seriously jeopardizing the service which the citizens expect the City to provide. . . . Every attempt is made to control expenses by buying at the best price and eliminating all non-essential spending."

The Council feels that snow removal, an annual, necessary, unpredictable expense, can turn a surplus into a deficit overnight. They give as an example a 30 inch snowfall in 1957 compared with a 136 inch fall in 1958.

"The limitations which are placed on the curtailment of expenses," the report continues, "without reducing the standards of services, leaves your Council the alternative of eventually seeking increased revenues from the sources permitted by law."

FLASHBACK

At the annual general meeting of the Westmount Municipal Association early in May, Mayor J. C. Cushing said the City had reached the limit of its legal tax rate under the present valuation and that some other means of increasing revenue must be found.

The City has lost money for the past few years, covered by a reserve built up when the City showed a surplus.

"The City cannot live on its saving for very long, nor use its excellent credit rating to borrow money to meet its every-day expenses," the report states.

The other source of revenue, mentioned at the WMA meeting by the Mayor, was to change the present Westmount system of property valuation to the approved Montreal system. This would give a substantial increase in the property value within the City.

The present tax rate is 20 mills, as high as it can go. With the new valuation, Mayor Cushing said this figure could be reduced to about 16½ mills to bring in about the same amount of revenue, and leave the way open for a future increase of 3½ mills to again bring the rate up to the legal maximum.

False alarms increase May calls total

The Westmount Fire Department received 39 fire calls during May, 28 of which came through police and fire department telephones.

A break-down of the calls received indicates four false alarms, 12 minor fires and 23 miscellaneous calls.

Inspectors visited 286 premises during the month, serving 43 notices, 47 cautions, 60 recommendations.

Hyde showed confidence in victory

Richard Hyde stood in victory on a platform at 7.41 p.m. Wednesday night, and against the background of the chalk-marked returns board, spoke to his supporters in the campaign for Westmount - St. George, and to the people of the riding, and to the people of Quebec.

"Ladies and gentlemen, I don't know how to express my deep gratitude to you for the hard work and long hours you have put in. . . . I don't think any of us are too surprised at the results in Westmount - St. George. We'll have to keep our fingers crossed for another couple of hours and hope we are going to see the group win, which will take the interest of the people to heart — instead of the small gang within the ranks of the Union Nationale.

"It's going to be so close that the Union Nationale are going to have to behave like ordinary people and not like the dictators. . . . the rest was lost in tumultuous applause.

"We are going to have to wait — if the Union Nationale should gain a majority we are going to see them having to go to the people again pretty soon — (much applause) "and we may be back in business a good deal sooner than we expect."

A telephone jangling punctuated this remark, and Mr. Hyde continued — "I think that perhaps we can expect that we have won Westmount - St. George — I am confident that the Liberals are going to have a majority, if not a commanding position."

He then suggested to the audience that the committee room be cleared within a short time, and said — "There is going to be quite a show at the Reform Club" and invited any and all to join the celebration.

'Politician in answer to duty call'

Soon after the polls closed on Wednesday, night the Westmount - St. George Liberal Committee rooms at Mackay and Sherbrooke streets, filled with the renowned, the well-known and the comparatively unknown. Asked for predictions and opinions at random, the assembly gave the following views:

Gustave Meunier, president of the Westmount Liberal Association: "A man will become a politician in answer to a call to duty — I have been interested ever since I was a young man."

Karl McNamara, a former Montreal City Councillor: "Hyde is going to win. The Liberals are doing very well — not only in the city of Montreal, but in the province."

Mrs. Richard Hyde, mother of the Liberal candidate, composed and attractive, exchanging reports with a companion — "Did he concede it?" The answer came back — "Well, Florrie says he has." Mrs. Hyde looked pleased and, making a prediction of her own, said: "This will be a very great victory if he does win. The early reports have been very encouraging."

City repairs lawn damage

Building permits to the value of $71,640 were issued in Westmount during May according to the General Manager's report, announced this week. This brings the total since January to $3,385,865, of which $1,911,800 is non-taxable.

Other items on the report indicated garbage collection cost the City $12,200.35 during May, plus $3,064.76 for burning and removing residue. 72,760 collections were made totalling 1,210 tons of garbage.

Repairs to roadways and sidewalks were extensive during the month. Roadways, sidewalks and sewers required 87 tons of cold and hot mix asphalt. 477 square feet of sidewalk and ramp repairs and 1,040 square feet of sidewalk cut repairs were completed. 165 feet of new ramps were constructed. 22 catch-basins were repaired and catchbasins throughout the city were cleaned.

Residents who were victims of lawn damage during the winter snow removal program will be happy to know that the City has already provided approximately 682 square yards of sod to repair cuts in lawns damaged, and have repaired walks and stone fences similarly affected.

In preparation for the modernization of street lighting on Victoria avenue, 16 concrete lamp bases were constructed.

Tax collections, arrears both up from last year

Although tax collections as of the end of May, 1960, are up substantially over the same period in 1959, arrears are also up, with some taxes outstanding since 1957.

Figures released this week by the Finance Department indicate that total arrears so far this year amount to $345,532, compared with $317,181 at the same time last year.

Collections for May this year amounted to $211,491 compared with $129,209 for May last year.

One item of interest on the report shows that on May 31, 1959 $5,642 was owing in taxes from 1957, and this figure has only been reduced to $5,346 this year, whereas the 1958 figure, reported last year as $54,758, has been reduced to $420 outstanding. $68,902 remains outstanding from 1959.

The 1960 tax figure still leaves $270,864 uncollected.

Complete Service
EXPERT PLUMBING

At Your Service . . . With A Record of Achievement

The old saying has it that "There is no substitute for experience" and, in the plumbing and heating business, this is especially true for no one can do a job better than an expert. For this reason, we are listing here some of the outstanding projects that we have handled during our 46 years in business:

At the present time, we are nearing completion of a job of installing all plumbing and heating equipment in 63 houses for the Quebec Cartier Mining Company at Lake Barbel, a few miles from the town of Gagnon which was in the news recently when threatened by forest fires. This job is scheduled to be completed by August 1st.

Two years ago we did the same job for the Iron Ore Company of Canada in 200 houses at Knob Lake.

Recently we completed work on the installation of the plumbing and heating equipment in the mechanical building at the new BP refinery at Ville d'Anjou.

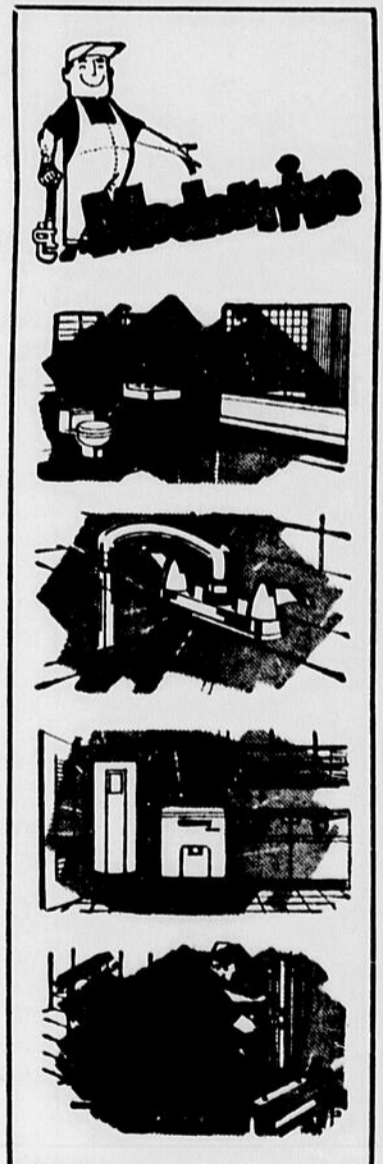

Also, we have just finished remodelling and modernizing all the bathroom facilities in the nurses' home at the Queen Mary Veterans Hospital.

And we are now busily engaged in installing new showers and toilets and a new heating system in the Montreal Badminton Club on Atwater Ave.

These achievements are not being listed here in a spirit of boastfulness but rather to show you that we are capable and experienced enough to handle your requirements, whether the job is large or small.

Installation of quality plumbing is our job and this is the time of the year to modernize the plumbing or heating system of your home. A home is only as modern as its plumbing! Whether it is a complete renovation job, installing a water heater or only fixing a faucet, our work is guaranteed to be the finest. And . . . we leave no mess behind!

Call us today and let us worry about your problems!

Light Dept. demand up, profit down

Figures released this week by the Westmount Light and Power Department about their activities during May show the maximum power demand for the month showed an increase over the same period last year by 800 kilowatts. Total purchased kilowatt hours increased by 322,000.

Net earnings by the department were $72,664, and increase of $5,921 from last year. Net expenses of $70,719 were up by $5,990.

The increases in expenditures brought the indicated surplus down to $1,945 this year as compared with $2,014 last year.

Accounts in arrears 90 days or more to the department total $848.73.

Seven circuit outages were reported, none of which remained off for any appreciable length of time.

TREATMENT OF SICK BIRDS

I want to thank sincerely all those good people who have sent letters to the newspapers and to me personally showing their indignation of the recent action against me by the Quebec College of Veterinary Medicine for treating God's Creatures, the birds, without a license from their organization.

The part I don't quite understand is why I was allowed to work side by side with the Vets for 8 years at the S.P.C.A., and that the same organization that now brings a charge against me was instrumental in bringing me to the S.P.C.A. for Sick Bird Clinic, they claiming, at that time, they (the Vets) received no training on the diseases of Cage Birds. Apparently the training has changed, if so, I am delighted to hear it as after 35 years of this class of work one begins to look for help.

The action of the Vets has relieved me of a great deal of responsibility and allows me more time to devote to my Pet Supply business.

To those Veterinarians who spoke on my behalf at the trial, all I can say is, "thank you." To those that were against me, my only hope is that they will develop in their hearts the genuine love of birds that I have. They then will receive unseen help in their diagnosis and success in their treatments.

Fortunately there is nothing in the law which prevents me from boarding your birds during your vacation. Should your bird become sick during your absence I would naturally call a Veterinarian.

Cats, take care! This could be you

By LARRY McINNIS

ALTHOUGH many people these days are concerning themselves with the international — or any other — situation, we are directing this notice not only to the masters of dogs, but to the dogs themselves in an effort to save them a lot of trouble. Any dog who reads this may feel free to call for further information.

Cats are welcome to read it also, and take warning. What is happening to the dogs may happen to you cats also.

Montreal West is cracking down on canines. An existing by-law which provides for impounding a pooch caught wandering about has been amended to also ask for a fine of two dollars a day until the hound is claimed, provided the claim is made within 48 hours — otherwise it's curtains for the pooch.

Westmount has its By-law 535 dealing with conditions under which dogs become nuisances, and the paragraphs are rather explicit.

Saint Laurent is now considering what it can do about the dog problem, besides the recently-issued warning that dogs must be kept on leashes, or else.

And the same goes for all other municipalities. Dogs, and to a lesser degree cats, have become a serious problem.

DEFENDERS OF THE PETS

On the other hand W. N. Dunlop, General Manager of the SPCA, has come to the defence of the pet kingdom by appealing to all owners of pets not to abandon them when they go off on vacations this summer.

"Pets are wholly dependent on their owners' kindness," he says, "and that makes the owners' responsibilities all the more real."

Mr. Dunlop states that many people preparing to go on their summer vacations decide their pets have become a burden and a problem.

"They try to solve this problem the easy way," he says, "by simply turning the pets outdoors."

In a soft of callous indifference, he says, they try to walk away from their problem and leave it behind.

Mr. Dunlop states that the pets who have been abandoned have not only terrible physical sufferings, but real mental sufferings similar to those of humans left under the same circumstances.

A SOLUTION

The SPCA, Mr. Dunlop announces, offers a solution to owners of pets who feel they cannot, or will not, take care of them any longer. On two or three days notice the Society will call for pets and take them, in trying to find a good home for them.

"The SPCA does not board animals," he says, "but they will try to find a good home for them."

Meanwhile, the pets who have been abandoned and are roaming the streets face only starvation, or eventually a trip to the pond for certain destruction for contravening one, or many, of the city by-laws.

It is reasonable to assume that not many cats or dogs have actually read any of the by-laws concerning their behavior.

And Mr. Dunlop offers another humane idea for those dogs who are on the loose and are avoiding the law by not turning themselves in:

"Many houses have an outside tap for a hose," he says. "If owners would only think of putting a dish for water under this, it would be a blessing for thirsty cats, dogs and birds of the city."

Don't keep the taps too tightly closed, though. The pets — particularly the birds — may have trouble turning the tap on again.

Too Tired To Love?

YOUR ACTIONS SHOW CONSEQUENCES

Whatever one's actions, the consequences resulting from them will tell whether they were good or bad. And the Provincial Highway Safety Committee, (Prudentia), cautions the motorist that if he drives recklessly, the result will surely be accident, injury and possible death. Excessive speeding, passing on curves and hills and general carelessness can be gotten away with sometimes but inevitably such actions catch up and the results are likewise.

One dismissal

You can't fix tickets here

There is an old proverb which reads that your chances of being bitten on Main street by a tiger are one in a million — but once is enough!

The report issued this week by the Westmount Police Department on the disposition of cases brought to court for tickets indicates that the chance of beating the "rap" are even smaller in this City:

Of the 1,336 cases, made up of 1,247 court tickets, 51 arrests and 38 summonses, plus 929 carried forward from April, only one case was dismissed. There were 1,478 convictions, two withdrawals, leaving 784 carried over to June.

In addition, 740 caution tickets were issued for traffic infractions, resulting in 36 summonses being issued to recipients of caution tickets for various reasons.

The statistical-type report shows 164 speeding tickets issued, three arrests and 190 brought forward from April. Of the total of 357, 155 cases were brought to court and 202 carried forward to June.

Fines ranged from $5 to $20 on the 155 cases. Total fines collected during May amounted to $7,071, of which $345 went to the Provincial Treasurer.

Tickets seem to come from everywhere. A footnote to the report shows 625 court tickets and 105 caution tickets issued by parking inspectors, plus 148 court tickets and 256 caution tickets issued through the use of radar.

ACCIDENTS

Total accidents in May numbered 74, resulting in injuries to 29 persons. Of the total, 63 accidents were traffic, four street and seven others. Of the 29 injuries, 18 were traffic, four street and seven others.

The average daily traffic accident figure for May, 1960 is 2.03, compared with 2.93 for the same period last year.

Accident sends woman driver to RV Hospital

A two-car collision last Thursday on Mount Pleasant just north of St. Sulpice left police slightly baffled as to how the accident really came about.

The driver of one car, Charles Roy, 5045 MacDonald, told police he turned north on Mount Pleasant from St. Sulpice when he saw the second car, driven by Miss Marie Malochowski, 6186 N. D. G. Avenue, coming south about four feet from the curb. Roy crossed the centre white line to avoid it, but claims Miss Malochowski then turned right, causing him to hit her car.

Miss Malochowski told police she was going to turn right when the other car hit her.

In any case, Miss Malochowski was taken by police to the Royal Vic for treatment to bruises on her left arm sustained in the collision.

The Dominion
 By
The Venerable R. Kenneth Naylor, D.D.,
 Rector, Trinity Memorial Church

SOME people dislike the name Dominion of Canada, and insist on referring to our country as Canada simply. They think that Dominion implies subservience and colonialism. I agree it does imply just that. But to whom does it imply subservience? Why to God, of course. There is a story that one of the Fathers of Confederation had read the seventy-second Psalm that morning with the words: "His dominion shall be from sea to sea;" and that he came to the crucial meeting with the proposal that the title of the new country should be "The Dominion of Canada." That surely implies that the Dominion is the Lord's, and that He is ruler among the people.
 Of course, there are sceptics who deny the story, just as there are kill-joys who would deny any good and apposite story. Be that as it may, the story expresses the literal truth, or at any rate the truth as we are under obligation to make it. Our country has assumed that obligation by using the words, "A mari usque ad mare" as its motto.
 There is a passage in the Book of Deuteronomy which describes our Dominion even better than it describes the Promised Land.

"Therefore thou shalt keep the commandments of the Lord thy God, to walk in his ways, and to fear him.
 For the LORD thy God bringeth thee into a good land, a land of brooks of water, of fountains and depths that spring out of valleys and hills; A land of wheat, and barley, and vines, and fig trees, and pomegranates; a land of oil, olive, and honey.
 A land wherein thou shalt eat bread without scarceness, thou shalt not lack anything in it; a land whose stones are iron, and out of whose hills thou mayest dig brass.
 The farther we go in our national story the truer those words become; and it is impossible to see yet how far we are to go. That passage in Scripture closes with a warning:
 "Beware that you forget not the LORD thy God . . . lest why thy herds and they flocks multiply, and they silver and thy gold is multiplied, and all that thou hast is multiplied; thine heart be lifted up, and thou forget the LORD thy God."
 Perhaps if we keep the word "Dominion" in our title we may more easily remember Who it is Who has the dominion over us.

Flew 600 miles, missed breakfast

By LARRY McINNIS
 Once upon a time, like last Sunday morning EARLY, 257 amateur pilots flew 257 aircraft to the Ontario County Flying Club fly-in breakfast at Oshawa, Ontario. To keep the story straight, it should be mentioned that this club is affiliated with the Royal Canadian Flying Clubs Association, and so these pilots fly for recreation.
 It was reported that 900 people were fed at this fly-in breakfast. There would have been 258 aircraft and 903 people fed if three individuals had made it on time. Just think! 300 miles of flying, and no breakfast. No lunch, either. And no supper, to boot! Some recreation!
 It started when the Montreal Flying Club public relations officer, Jacques Goulet, telephoned Montreal Flying Club member Larry McInnis and newsman Joe Emery suggesting the trip might make a good feature story.
 The three intrepid birdmen (that's a famous Churchillian expression for pilots) took off from Cartierville at 9:02 a.m. I know the exact time, because I navigated on the trip down. The three would have been away earlier, but they stopped in Saint Laurent for a pre-pre-breakfast breakfast.
 The first lap of the flight ended for pre-breakfast breakfast in Kingston.
 The final lap found the three in Oshawa, breaking out of the smog, to discover they were practically alone on the field. On landing, practically the only reminder of the festivities was when one of the workmen hit Goulet on the head when he threw down some bundled decorations from the roof.
 After duly resting — or was it fuming? — we took off again for Cartierville with yours truly at the wheel.
 The return trip was somewhat hampered by weather that would send a seasoned sailor below decks to hide his head under the covers.
 Eventually, the aircraft made it back and safely landed at Cartierville, taxied up to the Montreal Flying Club.
 The time? Nearly 7 p.m. Too late for supper!
 For those who are statistically inclined, the round trip was about 600 miles, took umpteen gallons of gas, one quart of oil, a lot of patience, over five hours flying time, and no meals.
 However, the hospitality of the Flying Club just about made up for the lack of meals during the day.
 I think the three birdmen made it home about 1:30 a.m.
 I am expecting a call any day now inviting me to another fly-in, and I just can't make up my mind.
 Oh, yes, I was told to plug the Ontario County Flying Club fly-in. It's the largest fly-in breakfast in Canada and is an annual event drawing people from all over Eastern Ontario and Quebec — even some from Cartierville. It is also an excellent fly-out.
 As I said, they could have increased the number by one aircraft and three people if they hadn't been in such an all-fired hurry to get back home to their own airports for lunch.

Sales tax total down on Island

Suburban municipalities on the Island of Montreal will receive less money from net sales tax collections this year than last, it was announced this week by City Finance Director Lactance Roberge.

The money is paid annually to cities and towns under the jurisdiction of the Montreal Metropolitan Corporation. The total this year is $24,112,563.92, a drop of $521,394 compared to the 1958-59 fiscal year when total net revenues amounted to $24,633,957.

As usual, Montreal will get the lion's share, 77.45 per cent of the total, while 14 municipalities will share $5,437,160.60.

Established 25 years ago, the sales tax now has netted more than $250,000,000 to Montreal and more than $55,000,000 to its adjacent cities and towns, Mr. Roberge said.

This year Verdun will get $1,135,793.15; Westmount, $408,173.87; Montreal West, $78,735.97; Saint Laurent, $631,383.62; Hampstead, $58,604.39; LaSalle, $363,155.23.

The drop in the last year marked the second in the history of the tax. The other decline was in 1944-45 when total net receipts were $6,270,473 compared with $6,490,122 the previous year.

Westmount parks busy

The Westmount Parks Department has reported this week that 9,964 pupils of Westmount schools have used the park facilities of Westmount Park for various sports during the month of May.

The sports ranged from gym classes, softball, tennis, track and field to lacrosse.

Westmount Junior High School boys turned out 3,875; WJHS girls, 4,695; The Study, 374; Roslyn 300; Weston, 250; St. Leo's, 470.

The City's four tennis courts saw a total attendance of 2,821 during the month. The courts, Western, Adult, King George and Devon, were opened during the first week of May, the report said.

Detectives looking for hit and run

Westmount detectives are investigating a hit and run accident which occurred last Saturday morning about 2:50 a.m. in front of 4410 St. Catherine street west when a car owned by Ernest Bolduc of that address was badly damaged.

Bolduc told police he had parked there about an hour before and had gone home. He was later informed by neighbors that his car had been involved in an accident.

Two witnesses who live nearby told police they heard a loud crash and on looking out the window saw a late model Cadillac back away from Bolduc's car and speed away in an easterly direction on St. Catherine.

Westmount police have a good description of the offending car, but have not made an arrest as yet.

Boys more active than girls Parks report indicates

Boys take a more active interest in Westmount recreation facilities than girls, a Parks Department report for May indicates. 1,772 boys, 461 girls and 118 adults used the set-up at the artificial ice rink during the month.

Activities included table tennis, table hockey, checkers, shuffleboard, paddle tennis, tennis, volleyball, badminton and roller skating.

On the sports scene, 20 softball teams with a total registration of 284 played during May. Participation was 1,158.

Diamonds have been allocated in 13 evening times, and 30 single afternoon or evening reservations for practices.

Expert warns outdoor cooks about safety

It's open season for outdoor cookery now.

The date when backyard fireplaces and grills get stoked up can be pretty well fixed, says the National Fire Protection Association, simply by the reports of burn accidents the non-profit fire-safety organization receives.

Casualties among both cooks and consumers are frequent and sometimes serious. According to Miles Woodworth, NFPA flammable liquids expert, the worst accidents are likely to happen when the backyard chef "freshens" an already-started fire with kerosene, paint thinners, alcohol or the liquids sold as an aid to getting a fire going.

The moment one of these liquids hits a live coal, he says, there's a whoosh of flame which can envelop the arms and face of anyone nearby in searing fire.

"If you don't want to barbecue yourself along with the steak," says Woodworth, "play it safe. Never add any kind of a flammable liquid to an already-burning fire. Any starting liquids you use before a fire is lighted, use sparingly — and never use gasoline. Keep any containers holding these liquids far removed from the fire."

Fund shortage is VON problem

At the fifth annual meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses for the Province of Quebec was held recently. Mr. George Keeping, the President, reported that the 10 branches in this province employ 82 nurses and 2 nursing assistants.

"During the year 1959", said Mr. Keeping, "130,445 visits were made to sick people in their own homes. This is an increase of 8% over 1958, and the demands for our services are still growing. 48% of these visits were made free of charge and 38% were partially paid for by the patient. Only 14% of our visits were made to patients who could afford to pay for the service."

Total costs in the province amounted to $411,672.00. Fees from patients and other miscellaneous revenues totalled $125,869.00, municipal grants $17,310.00. The balance of $268,493.00 was raised by community chests, individual branch campaigns, and other miscellaneous forms of money raising.

"Shortage of funds continues to be our number one problem," said Mr. Keeping, pointing to increasing costs and to the many areas in the Province where visiting nurse service, we feel confident that they will support us."

Mr. George Keeping of Montreal was re-elected president and Mr. Leonce Cote, QC, of Sherbrooke, vice-president.

Mrs. Esther Auerbach wins B'nai B'rith Women's award

Mrs. Esther Auerbach was honored as Top Award Winner at the Eighth Annual Donor Dinner held on May 25 at the Sheraton-Mount Royal Hotel and attended by approximately 700 B'nai B'rith Women in Montreal. Mrs. Auerbach has ranked first for many years in the sale of ads for the "Women's Work" Book. This annual publication, which reaches about 11,000 readers annually, has many special sections which are of an invaluable aid to the women and it is the only organizational publication listed in the annual gazetteer and sociology sections. Mrs. Auerbach believes that by promoting advertising space in the "Women's Work" Book she is acquainting the public with B'nai B'rith services and philanthropies, and the advertisers, in turn, would benefit by placing ads in the publication. Her contacts have been of a binding nature since they have been renewed from year to year.

She is an active participant in UNICEF where she holds the position of vice-chairman on the Provincial Executive Committee, as well as chairman for the English

COMMUNITY SERVICE
Mrs. Auerbach's untiring efforts in the field of Community Service has given her invaluable experience and confidence. Because of her ability to deal with the public she has channelled some of her potential into the selling of real estate and at the same time has continued with her community work.

Mrs. Auerbach is a past president of the Snowdon Chapter No. 744, B'nai B'rith Women, and a past director of Camp B'nai B'rith.

Working Committee of UNICEF, and the Executive Committee of Hi Neighbour of UNICEF.

She has two sons and a daughter, and has found great solace in her community work, having lost her husband during the past year.

Mrs. Auerbach feels that any woman who finds time to help others will in turn receive courage and strength to face trying situations in her own life.

blue flower hat, matching accessories, and a corsage bouquet of feathered white carnations.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Belcourt left for the Southern United States, the bride travelling in a frock of beige silk shantung under a beige jersey coat, and wearing a hat of off-white organza petals, patent leather accessories, and a corsage bouquet of lily of the valley.

Reality

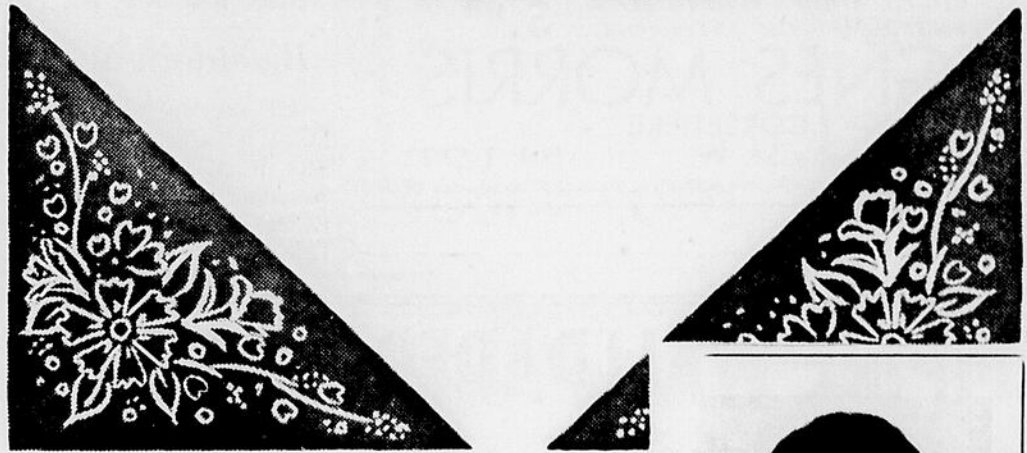

If we could only see beneath the surface,
Of all the lives, we contact day by day,
The tragedy, that none of us are free from,
Would check the hard words, we so often say.

We cannot then, judge harshly any person,
Since we, as they, are part of the great whole,
And love, will bridge the chasm we imagine,
Till we see eye to eye, and soul to soul.

Foster parents of 'smallest baby' receive Welfare Bureau award

By SHIRLEY FENTON

A stroke of genius last year ushered into the world a homeless scrap of humanity — Kathy — the smallest baby ever to survive in Canada, and an Award of Merit this week was presented to her foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Crimmins, of 4360 Girouard avenue, by Bishop Lawrence Whelan, on behalf of the Catholic Welfare Bureau. Kathy, now 11 months, looked on with interest.

Chance had tipped the scales far down on the wrong side when Kathy, sex—female, weight — 1 pound, 9 ounces, future — unlikely, appeared on the scene. Respiratory distress, inability to breathe, was overcome by Dr. Robert Usher and the staff at Royal Victoria Hospital. Three and a half months premature, this baby weighed seven ounces less than an ordinary box of salt. She had no home, no decorated nursery, no anxious parents waiting to take her in charge.

The hard-working shepherds of homeless children at the Catholic Welfare Bureau told Mr. and Mrs. Crimmins about her. The Crimmins, who for 12 years have been offering life and laughter and love to newly-born infants, finally decided to take the heavy responsibility of giving this baby her chance. A risky proposition, requiring remarkable resolution.

They had looked after something like 200 babies. They had given over 27,000 feedings, washed 27,000 diapers, got up in the night and in the early morning. Their lives had been a sort of Christian prayer wheel, a continuous offering of active good works.

Bishop Lawrence Whelan, in presenting the Award to Mr. and Mrs. Crimmins, Foster Parents, 1960, said that he had looked into the semantic meaning of the word "foster." It stemmed, he said, from "fodder," meaning "hay" or "food," but pursuing its origins farther back, he found it to mean "food not only of the mind, not only of the body, but of the soul." Foster parents, he declared, "are among the most self-sacrificing of people. The contribution which they make can only be valued in terms of eternity. More people should experience the joys of looking after children, and experience the peace of mind that comes from a job well done."

Four hundred and fifty people filled the assembly room and overflowed into the lounge. The citation presented with the award outlined the reasons for the selection of Mr. and Mrs. Crimmins . . . "the most important being that they have a deep love for children and a feeling that they are only happy when they are caring for them."

Father Patrick J. Ambrose, a director of the Catholic Welfare Bureau, commended foster parents.

"They make a contribution to the community that is beyond value in the material sense of the word. Their love, self-sacrifice and devotion to children in need is admired by social workers everywhere . . . they are the makers of good citizens who will take their rightful place in the life of society."

Miss M. Hoskin, Supervisor of the children's department of the Bureau, Mr. Gordon Sweeney, Chairman of the Board, Mr. Walsh, speaking for Mr. W. H. Wilson, and Mr. Harry Sullivan, Chairman of the sub-committee, also addressed the company, which included the Rt. Rev. Msgr. A. Lapointe, of the Church of the Ascension, Westmount, Father Michael McKenna, Father

Thomas McEntee, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Cullen, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Wickham and Mr. Dick Walsh.

Mr. and Mrs. Crimmins, who accepted the Award with modesty, were unable to control the enthusiasm of their foster daughter. She sat up in Mrs. Crimmins' arms, waved both hands at

R. Dancsak, manager of the Montreal Hungarian Soccer club, invited the players from Unity to attend a practice of his club. Then came Jimmy Adamson and Jimmy McIlroy of the Burnley team who paid a visit to the players and handed out some good advice.

The players were invited to see Nice and Cantalia play their exhibition match and with all this, Unity has added soccer to their long list of sports activities.

They won but not the trophy for these bowlers

Quebec lawn bowlers extended their winning margin over Ontario in the annual Provincial Goodwill Match here Saturday, when they won the series by an aggregate count of 131 to 92.

Playing on the Lachine club lawns, Quebec won four of the six games played.

But in this friendly, the winner does not walk off with the trophy. It goes to the visiting side, come what may.

And, next year, Quebec will automatically regain possession when the 12th renewal is played at Trenton, Ont.

John Henderson, of Westmount, president of the PQLBA, who presented the trophy and book recording the names and scores of previous matches, to W. T. Barr, president of the Ontario side, also was mainly responsible in beating the invaders.

Henderson, one of Canada's better bowlers, skipped his foursome to a 31-13 win over Ray R. Knight.

Say Seagram's and be Sure

MOST OF THE Canadian Olympic Games committee, if they have not picked their teams, are hard at work working out a system and trials. The paddlers go to Ottawa on Saturday to Mooney's Bay to conduct their trials. Since there will be only a six man team, plus two officials, the Canadians will not compete in the long distance 10,000 metres events at the Games in Rome come August. The four boat events have been taken off the Games program. That leaves kayak single and tandem and Canadian single and tandem.

Jimmy Moss, coach of the Canadian team, from Balmy Beach, has been in touch with almost 50 paddlers all winter with a mail training schedule. After Saturday he will get them down to serious business. In their own divisional meets, after they have made the team, they will paddle in their own event and will practice at this event only. In their divisional trials members of the Olympic team will not compete nor will they at the Dominion meet, come first week in August.

In 1956 Games, the team was picked a year before as the Games were held in January 'down under'. The first thought you might say is that Canadians stand a good chance as they are right in the middle of their season when the Games are held in Rome. But, there is a catch, so are the other countries, and especially in Europe, where the weather is good 12 months a year. Canadians still have a tough battle on their hands.

However, what could be said that they will be in better shape than they were four years ago.

From the East, Cartierville boys stand a good chance and are rated high, but they still have to fight for their team berth. Allan McCleery and Lou Lovanovich have the kayak tandem and Lou and Mike Brown will be the East's reps in the kayak single. At Chateaugay last Saturday they were at their best. George Bossy, has the Canadian single entry and Don Stringer, another highly rated prospect last games in 1956, is again trying for another berth. Stringer was a big disappointment four years ago, and now four years older, it may not help him against the top paddlers of the country.
