THE PAPER OF THE EASTERN TOWNSHIPS

World News In Brief

United Nations, N.Y.—President Eisenhower has promised to move for complete Puerto Rican independence any time the legislature of that Caribbean American dependency asks for it.

Ottawa—(CP)—The finance department announced Friday that Harold B. Schurman, 47, of Summerside, P.E.I., has been appointed a director of the Bank of Canada.

He succeeds T. Alfred Pickard of Charlottetown, who is retiring from the board after serving since 1949. Mr. Schurman is president of the M. F. Schurman Co. Ltd., contractors, manufacturers and lumber dealers.

Ottawa—CP—The government dropped another $2,622,000 into the financially embarrassed old age pension fund during October.

The fund now owes the treasury a total of $132,112,000, representing government loans since April, 1952, the monthly treasury statement showed Friday.

In October, payments to the aged rose to $28,393,000 from $27,142,000 in the same month last year, increasing the total for the first seven months of the 1953-54 fiscal year to $196,342,000 from $186,488,000.

Winnipeg—CP—This year's polio epidemic in Manitoba which struck nearly 2,300 persons and caused 82 deaths is believed to have been the largest in world history.

An interim report to Health Minister F. C. Bell by the polio technical advisory committee said "We know of no polio epidemic in the world of similar magnitude."

The 2,300 cases were 120 per cent more than in the largest previous epidemic—1,011 in 1941.

Ottawa—(CP)—Eleven per cent of Canada's prison population of about 5,100 were under 21 years of age, says the annual report of the Canadian Penitentiaries Commission.

The report, tabled in Parliament, says 564 youths were in prison. This compared with 485 among a prison population of 4,687 in the year ended March 31, 1953.

Maj.-Gen. R. B. Gibson, penitentiaries commissioner, says in the report that it is a matter of grave concern that judges and magistrates send youngsters to prison instead of dealing with them some other way.

Neutral Nations To Judge Canada By Northern Growth

One of the elements by which the uncivilized peoples of the world will judge us is by our efforts to colonize Canada's north, Vilhjalmur Stefansson, noted Arctic explorer told the Women's Canadian Club of the Eastern Townships at its monthly meeting, held last night in the New Sherbrooke Hotel.

Canadian-born Dr. Stefansson, who now makes his home in Hanover, N.H., stated: "It is often said of the Soviets that they are fifty years behind us. But they are building their northern cities today the way we built Canada's west fifty years ago, in the same spirit which moved my parents when they came to Manitoba as pioneers."

Edmonton is Canada's most northerly city but Moscow is 150 miles north of Edmonton's latitude and there are more Russian living north of Edmonton's latitude than there are living south of it in the Soviet.

Said Dr. Stefansson: "We have in the north an Arctic Sea but in the Arctic Mediterranean, in the center of the world. Powerful nations are arranged in a circle around the Arctic. We have rivals across the Arctic Sea. If we let them succeed where we have failed, it is another argument in their favor."

"Canada cannot be a powerful country unless it is colonized from north to south as it is from east to west."

This was the second address delivered in Sherbrooke by Dr. Stefansson. The first was thirty years ago when he first came back from the Arctic. He spoke then in a more evangelical spirit, he said, telling that local audience that Canada was potentially as broad from north to south as it was from east to west, and urging Canada to do something about it.

Today, the Federal Government is doing more and only two weeks ago the Resources Department changed its name to Northern Affairs and Natural Resources Department in a move to pay more and more attention to the north country. The government could do more in the way of bulletins to show production figures in the north as the press seems more interested in northern disasters than in the good points of the hinterland.

Climate, Dr. Stefansson said, is not as important as wages and social conditions. Chicago, the windy city, is second largest in U.S. Montreal, which is very cold, is the largest city in Canada. The speaker recalled his boyhood in

United States Prepares To Counter Any Russian Move To Disrupt European Army

Tight House Support Is Given Laniel

By HARVEY HUDSON

Paris—(P)—The National Assembly voted 275 to 244 Friday to keep Premier Joseph Laniel in office so he can go to the Bermuda conference, but warned him he can't promise French approval of the European Army.

The qualified support for Laniel and his cabinet came in a vote of confidence on a weakly-worded resolution that said: "The National Assembly approves the government's statements during a foreign policy debate and asks that the policy of building a united Europe be continued." A total of 100 deputies abstained.

Laniel immediately announced that he will go to Bermuda as planned. He and Foreign Minister Georges Bidault will take a plane next Wednesday for the Dec. 4-8 meeting with Prime Minister Churchill and President Eisenhower.

Most of the talk during the two-week debate centred on the European Army, a projected unified command of six nations to include West German troops. But the resolution was interpreted both ways.

Antoine Guillon, Peasant-Independent deputy, said his group would vote for the resolution, but "my vote does not signify that I approve the policy tending to the rearmament of Germany."

Yvon Delbos, a Radical Socialist, said he would support the government and favors the European Army, but judged that the resolution "does not imply a precise promise on the treaties that would be submitted later."

A spokesman for the followers of Gen. Charles de Gaulle, who oppose the treaty, said most of them would abstain so no new crisis would be opened.

There was speculation that Russia had timed delivery of her note, proposing a four-power meeting of foreign ministers in Berlin, in an effort to influence the vote in the Assembly. If this was part of the Russian strategy, it met defeat.

Laniel, in his final plea for support, said of the Russian note: "Such news, far from surprising or troubling us, may constitute the prelude to an improvement in the international climate, for which France would be the first to rejoice."

North Dakota where the winter temperatures sank so low that he was chilled to the bone even under four pounds of clothing. He prefers the climate northwest of Great Bear Lake.

He recalled fishing through the ice way up north and said he didn't even have to clap his hands to keep warm although he was dressed in only seven pounds of caribou-skin clothing. The reason for this, Dr. Stefansson said, is because the Eskimos use engineering principles in designing their clothes and while we are aware of these principles we do not use them as far as our dress is concerned. As a result, comparing our dress to that of the Eskimo is like comparing balloons to airplanes.

The principles are, simply, these: air is a good insulator; warm air is light and cold air is heavy. Eskimos do not wear porous clothing, we do. They are moving in heavy (cold) air but are dressed in light (warm) air. They use these principles in housing too and the earth and mud that in which Dr. Stefansson stayed was as warm as sleeping at night in our modern homes. Twenty-three persons usually slept in one room, Eskimo children went about the house naked while the adults wore only breeches, hardly more than loin cloths since they were badly torn, both male and female.

Fish was the only food although on another expedition Dr. Stefansson ate only "red" meat. They got up in the morning and ate frozen fish. Then they went out and fished. At noon they had more frozen fish and twice more during the day.

"After three weeks," says Dr. Stefansson, "I began to enjoy this and looked forward to every meal. I have never been healthier than I was in those days. I have lived in the most expensive hotels in Europe, North America and Australia and while perhaps the society was better I never did enjoy the meals I got as much as I did the ones up north."

The speaker said the attitude of Canadians has changed a great deal towards those who enjoy living up north. Formerly when an R.C.M.P. man wrote back home to say he was enamored of the life, his family and superiors considered the man unbalanced—"bushy." S. T. Wood and his wife were accused of the same thing and ordered back to southern Canada.

Determined That Big Four Power Talks Proposals Will Not Interfere With Rearmament.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington—AP—The United States probably will ask Britain and France, when representatives of the Big Three meet at Bermuda, to get set to counter any Russian plan for stalling the European Army project through a four-power meeting.

Since the Russians Thursday night sprang their surprise acceptance of a four-power meeting without the hampering conditions that they had insisted on earlier, the U. S. state department has been considering a reply.

Although the U. S. publicly has taken a much dimmer view of the outlook for success of a Big Four meeting than have its allies, it seems almost certain that the session of foreign ministers will be held, if the Soviet Union means what it now says.

But informed observers say that when President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Laniel meet with their foreign ministers in Bermuda next Friday, the American spokesmen will call for tight arrangements to be made against Soviet disruptive tactics.

To date, the reactions of the three western powers have appeared more diverse than co-ordinated. A foreign office spokesman in London said Friday that Britain "welcomes the acceptance of the proposal for a four-power meeting which the western powers have reviewed several times."

Laniel was quoted in Paris saying that the Soviet note could mean the beginning of a new climate in international relations.

U. S. reaction, as expressed in a statement by the state department, differed markedly. The U. S. comment accused the Russians of manoeuvring to stall West German rearmament, said the note showed no evidence of change in Kremlin policies and branded it as a defensive effort to "gloss over the uncompromising nature of Soviet policy" in earlier dealings with the West.

By American analysis, the Soviet manoeuvre is aimed at persuading the world that Moscow is more friendly than it has recently seemed.

Diplomats believe that French fears of German rearmament are still so strong that evidence of improved relations with Russia would greatly strengthen French opposition to the European Army, whereas the U. S. and Britain consider German rearmament an essential step in the perfecting of western defences against Soviet power.

Just A Ruffle, Pearson Claims

Toronto—(P)—External Affairs Minister Pearson said Friday night that attacks on him in some sections of the American press hadn't affected his friendly feelings toward the United States.

The current controversy over whether Igor Gouzenko, one-time cipher clerk in the Russian embassy at Ottawa, should testify before a U. S. congressional committee was just "an incident" which had been "blown up far beyond its intrinsic importance."

The minister's views on the Gouzenko case were expressed in a television and radio press conference at which he was questioned by four newspaper men.

Relaxed and frequently smiling, Mr. Pearson termed the case "just a ruffle" on the surface of Canadian-U. S. relations. He didn't mind being attacked in the press although "it's pretty hard to be called a Communist sympathizer when you've been vetoed twice in the United Nations."

Mr. Pearson emphasized it would be Canada's responsibility to deal with the result of any interview between Gouzenko, now living in anonymity under RCMP protection, and American congressional officials.

A questioner said he had heard a suggestion that the Chicago Tribune, which attacked Mr. Pearson editorially, should have its supply of newsprint, obtained in Canada, cut off.

The minister said The Tribune has as much right to Canadian newsprint as anyone else.

Russia Plays It Smart

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.

Russia has played it smart for once and the Western allies are going to have a hard time sidestepping the effects of the latest note.

Early estimates that the note was timed and designed to cause the downfall of the Laniel government in France were largely washed up by the vote of confidence given him later. Many observers had failed to note that the French deputies would recognize the Moscow line and refuse to go along with it.

Delegates to the European union conference at The Hague, however, quickly put their fingers on Rus-

Conference To Debate Competition

Ottawa—(P)—Tourist promoters in Canada meet here next week to come to grips with the problem of increasing tourist competition from other countries.

The meeting Nov. 30 to Dec. 2 will be the eighth annual federal-provincial tourist conference.

Up to Oct. 31 this year, 2,329,534 tourists came to Canada, an all-time high. The figure for all of 1952 was 2,278,165.

Last year, visitors to Canada spent $275,000,000 compared to the 1949 record of $285,000,000. There is no estimate for the amount this year.

Canada's share of the American tourist dollar is decreasing. Last year, Canada took in 33 per cent of all U. S. tourist money spent outside the U. S. compared to 45 per cent in 1949. At the same time, Mexico's share of the U. S. tourist dollar rose from 19 to 22 per cent. Canadian travel officials also report increasing competition from Florida, California and South America.

The Canadian government travel bureau this year spent $943,177 for tourist promotion through newspapers, magazines, films and radio. The provincial governments spent some $650,000 and other agencies poured in more thousands. Trans-Canada Air Lines for instance, spent $650,000, Canada Steamship Lines $175,000 and Canadian Pacific Airlines $80,000.

Ontario this year spent more than any other province on tourist promotion: $221,000. Saskatchewan spent the least: $6,000. Alberta spent almost to double its appropriation for this purpose next year to $30,000.

A record total of 2,915,707 persons visited Canada's national parks and historic sites between April 1 and Oct. 31 this year, an 18-per-cent increase over the same period last year. Banff was the favorite park, Halifax Citadel the favorite historic site.

Canadians Now Hunting Rabbit

Vancouver—(P)—Canadian soldiers now shoot the "occasional rabbit or pheasant" where they used to shoot the enemy in Korea, Archbishop Maurice Roy of Quebec said Friday.

Honorary bishop to the Canadian armed forces, Archbishop Roy returned from a 20,000-mile trip to the forces in the Far East.

He said he found morale "surprisingly high" during the interim peace and men's food and quarters excellent.

"The men are kept busy and are in wonderful shape. They are in tents in the mountains but each place is kept like a little garden."

Archbishop Roy, who spent eight days in Korea, will visit nearby Esquimaux naval base before returning to the East today.

LIVES HIGH IN JAIL—"Man's gotta have a little entertainment, even if he is in the pokey," thought Oliver Stout when he was sentenced to 30 days in jail for bootlegging in dry Oklahoma. So he bought himself a nice television set and had it installed in his cell in the Hughes county jail at Holdenville. The jail's a fourth-story penthouse atop the county courthouse and Stout, shown above tuning in, says he gets better TV reception than he does on his set at home. A top-salaried chef before turning to bootlegging, Stout has Thone steaks and pork chops sent in and cooks meals and pastries for himself and Jailer Bill Johnson. Sheriff Edmit Petete says he searched the statute books, but could find nothing to prohibit Stout from importing the TV set or buying his own food.

Transport Minister Defends Policy Of Cabinet On Shipping And Air Licenses

Minister Is Under Fire For Laxness

Ottawa—(CP)—Revenue Minister McEwen has come under the fire of the tariff board for allegedly failing to define the kind of machinery that can be exempted from the 10-per-cent sales tax.

The case, which had repercussions in Parliament Friday, boiled up on an appeal by the General Supply Co. of Canada Ltd., of Ottawa, against a departmental ruling.

The company felt that under Canada's excise laws power plants used for general lighting, heating and cooking on farms and for lighting airports and tourists resorts should be exempted from the sales tax.

When the revenue department declined to grant the exemption, the company appealed to the tariff board on the grounds that a section in the Excise Tax Act called for exemptions on machinery and apparatus used in the manufacture or production of goods in Canada.

However, the section also stipulated that the machinery and apparatus had to be "defined" by the revenue minister. The board, after a hearing, said it had to dismiss the case because it could find no evidence that the minister ever had made such a definition.

It observed, in a judgment, that exemptions had been granted by departmental officials from time to time. But it questioned whether these officials had the power to grant these exemptions in view of the fact that the minister had not defined the machinery and apparatus that could get the concession.

"It would seem, therefore, that in so ruling, departmental officials must have regarded such articles as falling within a ministerial definition which in fact did exist, or alternatively, that a series of 'ad hoc' rulings to the effect that various articles are or are not 'machinery and apparatus' for the purposes of this section constituted a definition by the minister."

Observing this report Stanley Knowles (CFC—Winnipeg North Centre) asked Dr. McEwen in the Commons Friday whether he plans to correct the failure.

Dr. McEwen said he has not yet had an opportunity to discuss the matter with his officials, but will make a reply early next week.

Big Troop Movement Completed

Soest, Germany.—(CP)—The Canadian Army's largest peace-time troop movement was virtually completed Friday. The main incoming units are all here and the last big outgoing group sailed for Canada Friday night.

The next stage will be the arrival at Hamburg Dec. 2 of the first organized draft of dependents.

The movement to Germany was cleaned up Thursday night with the arrival in this 1,300-year-old town of the 2nd Regiment, Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, fresh from Camp Shilo, Man. This brought Canadian army strength in Germany close to its full projected strength, except for a few small drafts still to come.

A large crowd of German civilians gathered at Soest station to greet the last big batch of Canadians. There were appreciative chuckles for the artillery regiment's mascot—an exceptionally low-slung dachshund arriving for the first time in the country that bred his ancestors.

An honor guard of the Royal Horse Artillery, from nearby British camps, was on hand to welcome Lt.-Col. Robert Kingstone and his regiment. Brig. W. A. B. Anderson of Montreal, officer commanding the new Canadian brigade in Germany and an older gunner himself, was also present.

"Now that we have the last of the major units in our brigade group over here, we can really get down to business," said Brig. Anderson.

The rotation movement got under way last month and involved a total of some 10,000 troops. Approximately half were soldiers returning to Canada after duty with the 27th Infantry Brigade, which now disbands. The others came largely from Canada to serve a two-year hitch in the Soest area with the new outfit, called the 1st Canadian Infantry Brigade.

Involved in the shuttle movement, unofficially dubbed operation "Come and Go," were six infantry battalions, two artillery regiments, two tank squadrons, two engineering groups and smaller units.

The rotation movement to Canada entered its final stages Friday night with the sailing from Rotterdam of the liner Samaria, en route to Halifax with troops of the 79th Field Regiment, Royal Canadian Artillery, under command of Lt.-Col. John Roe, Dublin-born officer who now goes to link a desk job in Ottawa. His last Canadian post was in Brandon, Man.

The Samaria's voyage will be the last troopship movement this year. The next step will be the transfer of wives and families, with the first draft of entitled dependents scheduled to reach Hamburg next week aboard the liner Atlantic. The same week a small group of dependents, including some German wives and children, will leave for Canada.

The army's new barracks in Germany comprise four main camps, two in the Ruhr area and others near Werl and Hemer. They comprise some 300 buildings built in a fashion destined to be a model for barracks constructions in the British zone of Germany.

The single-story buildings of gleaming white stucco are dispersed in eight groups over a stretch of rolling country at the head of the Ruhr valley. Though officers are reluctant to say so in precise language, it is understood the dispersed effect was deliberate, designed to prevent a concentration of strength that would make things easy for an enemy with atomic bombs of artillery.

Boston—(P)—The American theatre today mourned the loss of one of its greatest playwrights in Eugene O'Neill, 65, who died of heart failure after a long illness. He had been in the hospital for several weeks.

He and the Queen both had a party Wednesday night at the governor's mansion, called King's House, attended by more than 3,000 persons.

The Queen wore a full-skirted taffeta gown of eau de nil, lime green, heavily embroidered with gold and silver. Both she and the duke wore the riband and star of the Order of the Garter, Britain's highest order of chivalry.

Queen And Duke Start First Sea Leg Of World-Wide Trip

By BEN F. MEYER

Kingston, Jamaica.—(AP)—Jamaicans said reluctant farewells Friday to Queen Elizabeth, the first reigning sovereign ever to visit this tropical colony in the Caribbean.

A gleaming white cargo-passenger liner, the 15,902-ton Gothic, was summoned to bear the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh on most of the rest of the journey to Commonwealth countries, possessions and protectorates that will keep them occupied until next May 15.

The first stop is Colon, Panama. The royal couple will visit Panama Sunday as guests of Panamanian and U. S. authorities and re-board the Gothic at the Pacific side of the Panama canal that night. Then they will sail on to Australia and New Zealand.

The Gothic has its hold chock full of British export goods as usual.

Elizabeth Friday received five members of a strange mountain tribe known as the Maroons. They are the descendants of Negro slaves who escaped before the abolition of slavery here in 1838 and caused so much trouble the government was forced to grant them autonomy. There now are about 600 of the tribe in the colony. Dedicating a new building at the College of the West Indies, the Queen said "political and economic progress would be incomplete without advance in things of the intellect and spirit."

A heavy tropical rain this morning washed out a polo game which would have put the Duke of Edinburgh on the field with three of Jamaica's polo players against a team headed by Governor Sir Hugh Foot.

Several thousand spectators, huddling under light mackintoshes, newspapers and umbrellas, straggled away from the sodden polo ground looking bedraggled and disappointed when the cancellation was announced.

The duke, a two-goal handicap player, hadn't shown up.

He and the Queen both had a party Wednesday night at the governor's mansion, called King's House, attended by more than 3,000 persons.

Farm Problems Debated By Forum At Mansonville

Mansonville, Nov. 28. — The Mansonville Farm Forum was held at the North Potton and Dunkin' Forums on November 23, their Fourth Night meeting, which was held in the auditorium of the Mansonville Intermediate School.

The chairman was Mr. Klopfer, Special agent of the evening was G. Rouleau, agronomist and manager of the Waterloo Co-op. Mr. Rouleau spoke about finances and operation of Co-ops, and following his address there was a question period.

After the broadcast had been listened to, a discussion followed. To the first question, "are the people in your near-by towns unsympathetic to farmers and farm problems?", it was thought that they are not unsympathetic in our small towns but the people in the larger cities cannot understand about the high prices they pay and the low prices the farmers are complaining about. They also complain about the quality of farm products but do not have much sympathy regarding the high costs of machinery and other equipment that the farmers have to buy.

To the second question, "How can the farmer help to reduce some of this misunderstanding?", they thought that the farmer can help by making the facts about farming better known and by sharing more interest in the problems of each other.

The meeting was attended by forty-five people. After the business of the evening had been attended to cards were played and a social time enjoyed. Lunch brought a pleasant evening to a close.

The next meeting is to be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Lamoureux on November 30.

Magog Auxiliary Held Mother And Daughter Night

Magog, Nov. 28.—St. Luke's Girls' Auxiliary held a mother and daughter evening recently. Previous to the social gathering a short business meeting was held. Plans were made to have a Christmas tea and sale on December 5th.

On behalf of the Girls' Auxiliary, the president, Miss Audrey Connor, then presented a farewell gift of a travelling clock, with their best wishes, to Miss Jacqueline Renaud, their leader, who is leaving Magog shortly for Burlington. Miss Renaud very graciously thanked the girls for their gift and good wishes.

Rev. John Comfort then thanked Miss Renaud for the splendid work she had done for, and the time she had devoted to the Auxiliary. All joined in singing, "For She's A Jolly Good Fellow," and three hearty cheers rang out.

It was decided that until a new leader is appointed, the mothers would take turns in supervising the meetings.

At the close of the meeting games were played, followed by the serving of refreshments.

O.S.W.A.S. William (Billy) Connor is at his home, enjoying a thirty-day leave from his duties on H.M.S. Cornwallis. He expects to return about December 24th.

Mrs. J. Skelton and Mrs. C. O. Buzzell spent Tuesday in Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pratt and Mr. and Mrs. John Pratt, of Hidden Acres, have left to spend the winter in Florida. Mr. Edward Kingsland, of Magog, is caretaker and is now staying at Hidden Acres, Georgeville Road.

JOHNVILLE

Mr. Kenneth Dawson, of Sawyerville, and Mr. Ronald Dawson, of Hatley, were calling on Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Shaughnessy.

MAPLE HILL

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Allan motored to Lake Megantic, to spend Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cruickshank and daughter, Ann, Mrs. James Cruickshank, Miss Vera Cruickshank, and Rev. E. Johnston, of Inverness, visited Mr. and Mrs. William Allan one evening.

Mr. Leonard Montgomery, of Thetford, spent a few days at "Sunnyside Farm," with the Sam Allan's, while Mr. Vachon and son were cutting wood for Mr. Allan for their chain saw.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hall, of East Angus, were Sunday visitors at the Thompson home.

WARDEN

Callers of Mr. and Mrs. V. Lewis included Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Lewis and Mr. C. Moynan, of Cowansville; Miss Lorna Lewis, of Montreal; Miss Pearl Newton and Eric and Olive Newton. Mrs. L. Murray and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Bowker and family.

Mr. Andrew Bowker accompanied by Mr. Clifford Bradford, Mr. B. Taylor and Mr. Percy Chapman, of Frost Village, spent a few days last week attending the Royal Winter Fair at Toronto, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Mairs and son, Richard, were guests at the week-end of Mr. and Mrs. A. Chamberlain and son, Arthur, at Stanstead.

Boundary K. Of C. Are Sponsoring Amateur Concert

Rock Island, Nov. 28. — The Knights of Columbus, Rock Island Council, are sponsoring an amateur variety concert at the Haskell Opera House on Sunday evening, November 29, with Arthur "Scully" Langevin as director.

Mr. Langevin announces that the program will feature Jean Paul Therberge, the winner of the seven weeks amateur hour held at the Del Monty. He also hopes Mrs. Lawrence Goodsell, the former Della Rediker, will appear at this event on the stage. Mrs. Goodsell is well known at the Boundary, having made several public appearances and sung over the radio station at Newport and Sherbrooke. Other talent will include local persons and the program manager promises a fine arrangement of musical selections, all well worth listening to. The concert commences at 8 o'clock.

CRYSTAL REBEKAH LODGE

A large attendance of members of Crystal Rebekah Lodge, No. 14, and ten members of Fidelity Lodge, Ayer's Cliff, gathered at the I.O.O.F. hall at West Park on Tuesday evening to witness the initiation of two members into Crystal Lodge and three into Fidelity Lodge.

Sister Wineta Miller, Noble Grand, was in the chair and opened the meeting in the usual form with the routine reports given and approved. The initiating team were later complimented on the excellent work they presented at this time when the five became members of the two lodges.

Final plans were made for the supper of baked beans, salads, rolls and assorted pies to take place at the I.O.O.F. hall on Saturday evening, commencing at five o'clock, November 28, which everyone is invited to attend.

The round Robin basket was passed and won by Sister Hattie Gignac. The meeting adjourned to meet again on December 8. Refreshments were served by members of Crystal Lodge.

Prized Game Fowl Being Raised Near Waterville

By ARNOLD BARON

Several years ago Al Capp, creator of the comic strip L'il Abner, really strained his cartooning imagination and produced on paper a delightful little creature called the shmoos which reproduced all the world's goodies without itself consuming anything.

A man and woman near Waterville yesterday showed us a little animal which from a distance looks a little like the shmoos and while it does eat and is not altogether gentle this little animal will certainly do until the real shmoos come along.

The man and woman are Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Fennell, proprietors of Rollacre Range, 1 1/2 miles east of Waterville. On their farm they breed White African Guineas. They are the only persons in the Province of Quebec to raise these game fowl and perhaps the first in all Canada to do so.

From the jungles of darkest west Africa, to ancient Carthage, to epicurean Rome came this famous eating bird, a true gourmet's delight. The meat of the White African Guinea hen is said to be far superior to that of any other variety of Guineas. It has graced the festive boards of connoisseurs and gourmets in Europe and America for generations. In Canada, it is a relatively new dish.

The White African Guinea which, when mature, is snow white except for the waddles and crown which are light red, is said by Mr. and Mrs. Fennell to taste better than partridge, grouse, pheasant or quail. They taste best when they are five months old and at that age weigh about 2 1/2 pounds.

The texture of their meat and eggs is finer than that of other fowl, the eggs being richer than chickens' eggs and are wonderful for making cakes. The meat of the White African Guinea is a little darker than chicken. The newly-hatched chicks are called Keets and are very pretty birds with snow-white feathers, black eyes and orange-colored beaks, legs and feet.

Aside from the fact that these birds are very good to eat, they are real watch dogs for the farmer. They will frighten away strange dogs and swoop down on foxes.

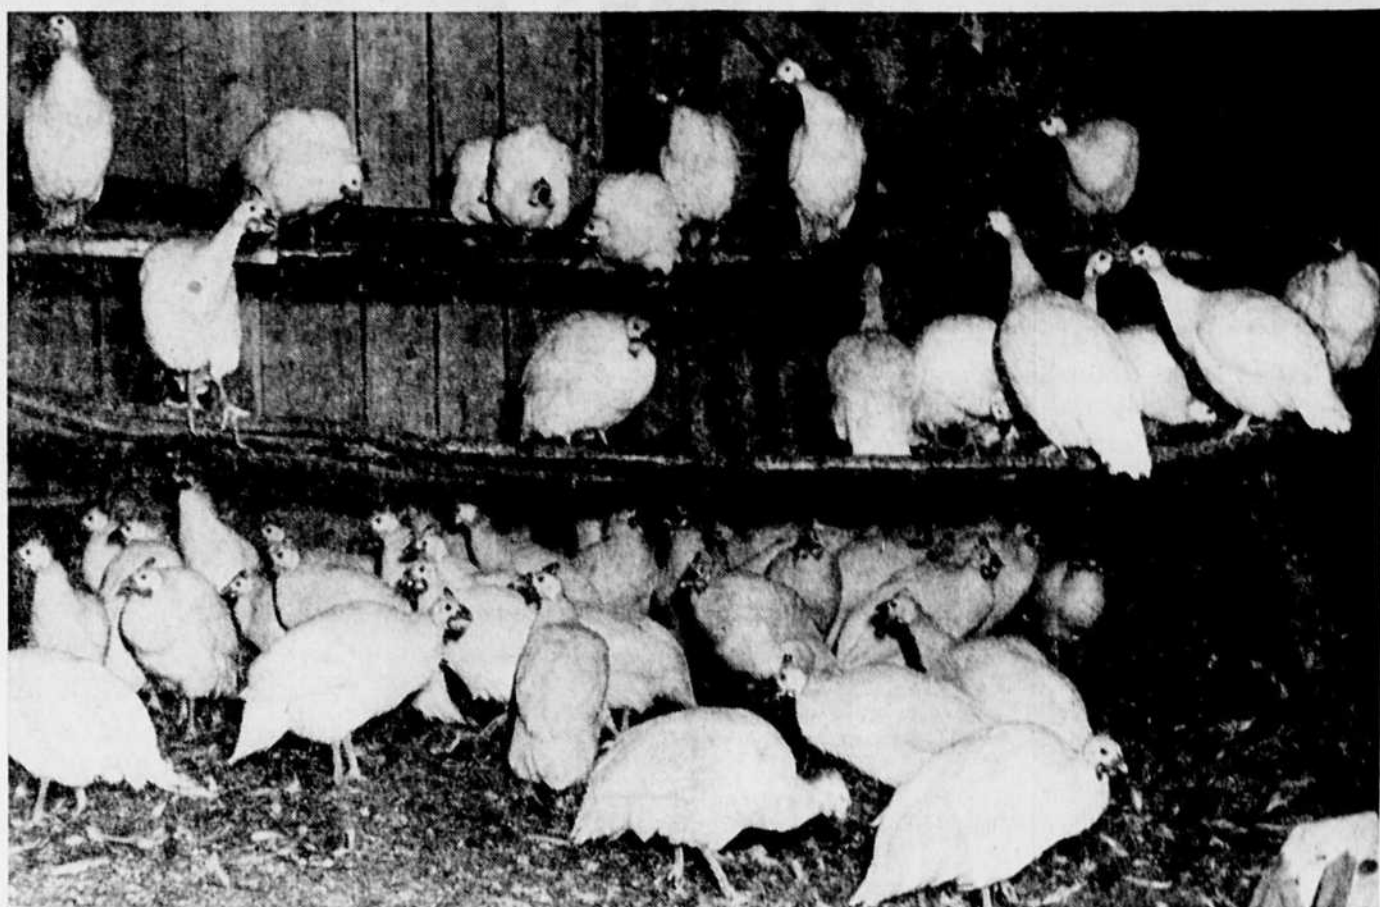

When Mr. Fennell who, with his wife, hails from Toronto, purchased Rollacre Range in 1949, foxes were numerous about the farm. Since he purchased his original batch of White African Guineas in March of 1952 he hasn't seen a trace of Reynard. The sharp beaks and long talons of these game birds do not agree with these marauders.

These natural weapons of the birds won't agree either with humans who don't know how to pick up the Guineas. They should be seized from the back and by the wings. Their legs are brittle and break easily. Clip one wing and the bird can't stray very far.

Allowing the Guineas to stray in the garden is not harmful. When they are penned, they eat regular turkey feeds, later ground grain, twice a day. When older and allowed to roam, they feed on potato bugs and all kinds of grubs. They are meat eaters and won't scratch gardens as hens do. They won't eat cabbage or leaves.

Mr. Fennell became interested in this species of game fowl in a very curious way. He read an article about them in the ante-chamber of a dentist's clinic, in one of those faded old magazines which the medical and dental professions have been known to inflict on waiting patients. For his first batch for breeding, he purchased seven hens and two cocks from a breeder of these fowl in Connecticut. That breeder, since retired, had to go to Europe to get breeding stock as little as eight or ten years ago.

From this original lot, Mr. and

All 1922 Entries Received This Week On Wrong Track

Hope springs eternal in the human breast.

At least this seems the obvious answer to the fact that the number of entries in the Record crossword puzzle competition is increasing steadily. This week, 1922 replies were received but nobody was successful in winning the forty dollars, so with the ten dollars put in for this week's puzzle, the jackpot now amounts to fifty dollars — not an untidy sum to assist in the Christmas shopping.

And the feeling of eternal hope is reflected in most of the letters received.

As one contestant writes: "Wonder how many mistakes I have this time. Just hoping I am correct. Anyhow, they are fun. Will be glad when they appear again."

Good wishes also come from Knowlton, where one aspirant says: "Just a few words to say that I'm still trying and hoping and having fun doing the puzzles each week and long may they continue."

Unfortunately, sometimes family friction seems to arise over the supposed correct answers. For instance:

"Here I am again with my solution of puzzle No. 23, along with my husband's. He tells me anyone with any mentality can do them and if he should have it correct I sure would be 'burned up'—unless he gives me the $40. Have been within one little word several times so shall keep trying—and hoping. It's fun anyway."

One was brief and pointed. "Saying 'hello' again and bye to my four cents."

This philosophy comes from a local reader:

RECORD - CROSSWORDS $50. IN CASH!

As no contestant was successful in winning last week's prize of $40, this week's prize will be $50.

WHAT TO DO

Solve the clues as you would any crossword puzzle. Clip out the puzzle after you have filled it in and mail it — or good exact-size facsimile of it — to RECORD CROSSWORDS, c/o the Sherbrooke Daily Record. All answers must be received by mail or delivery in the Record Office not later than next Thursday. If more than one contestant succeeds in answering the puzzle correctly the prize will be divided among those having the correct solution. If no one succeeds in answering the puzzle correctly the prize will be added to next week's puzzle prize money.

No household may send in more than TWO solutions. Sherbrooke Record employees and their families are not eligible for the prize money.

Study the clues carefully before you write down your answers. There is always one answer which is the best. The decision of the judges in the contest will be final and all contestants taking part agree to abide by the decision.

IMPORTANT — To be acceptable all entries must be clipped along the dotted line. This is important.

COMMENTS ON PUZZLE NO. 26

EXPLANATION OF MORE DIFFICULT CLUES:

- ACROSS:
7. MIND is best since you would not expect two people who were high of the QUARRELLING KIND for example to do so.
 9. True of POLITE. The POLICE quite often HAVE to cause annoyance in the execution of their duty.
 11. COST is best. "Has COST some men" is a natural expression. "Has LOST some men" is an awkward expression you would hardly use.
 12. YELL is best. A YELL to a boxer is usually an encouragement or exhortation of some sort, whereas the BELL is a signal to STOP fighting as well as to start it.
 19. GOWNS is best. It is certainly true of GOWNS, even the finest TOWNS however have some ugly spots, which do not spoil them since such places can be ignored.
 21. If you FAIL him — let him down — yes, but in a GAME, for instance, it might be quite understood that you must FAIL him whenever you can.
 23. The clue is right for PIP, but an understatement for PIN. The average mother would be "PINNT" not just worried, were busy to swallow a PIN.
 24. SLOPE is best because SCOPE is always an act to progress not just "sometimes". A SLOPE can sometimes be, particularly when it is downhill.
 25. SKIES is best. SKIER needs some qualification, such as "expert". You wouldn't expect an ordinary SKIER to be "particularly brilliant" at anytime. SKIES however might well be.
- DOWN:
2. POISON is best as it certainly can. This is too firm a statement to make about PRISON however which is intended to have a CORRECTIVE influence.
 3. ADDITION is best. The clue implies that whereas one naturally does NOT WANT to make any mistakes, it might matter TOO seriously if one does. This is stronger for ADDITION than an ADDITION, in which one is desperately anxious not to go wrong.
 5. PRICE is best since the key lies in the words "may be said" which allude to the well known expression "every man has his price."
 6. FELLOW is best. "If engaged" points to FELLOW, who is certainly not alarming in his normal state. A BELLOW CAN be quite alarming whether it happens to be an engaged one or not.
 9. PET is best. The clue's suggestion that time increases one's attachment to it is better justified by PET. PET tends to grow as one whereas a PEN may become abject and leaky.

Bruce Clarke Appointed President Of Sherbrooke District Scout Council

Bruce P. Clarke, of Lennoxville, was elected president of the Sherbrooke District Council of the Boy Scouts Association, succeeding Lynn E. Trussler whose term of office has expired.

Election of officers and presentation of reports were the highlights of the Council's annual meeting, held in the Oddfellows Hall and presided over by Mr. Trussler.

District Commissioner James Wark, whose continuing appointment was unanimously approved by the meeting, reported a very active Scouting year. The highlight of the season was the Eastern Townships Coronation Rally held at the beginning of June, at which the Sherbrooke District played host to over 900 Scouting friends from all over the Townships. He commented upon the excellent work done by the Christmas Toyshops in Sherbrooke and Lennoxville and noted that a record number of children had been provided with toys last Christmas. As in previous years, Scouts and Cubs had assisted with the ushering at the Sherbrooke Fair, the Horse Show and the Rotary Fair.

Steps had been taken, continued the Commissioner, to improve training standards, and to this end a Cub Leaders' training course was held in the spring and a course for lay members was held last Saturday. There was room for further courses of this nature and it was hoped that the district would continue to benefit from them.

Reports were tabled from various committees covering such activities as camping, Apple Day, Sherbrooke Fair, ushering, badge and training all of which indicated an improvement over the previous year.

Funds received from the Community Chest Campaign in 1952 had been the main source of income for the District Council, and the treasurer, J. E. Austin was able to report a slight operating surplus for the year.

A vote of thanks was tendered to the following persons and organizations for their continued aid and co-operation: The Sherbrooke Daily Record; The Sherbrooke Lodge of the I.O.O.F.; Radio Station CKTS; The Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce; The Boy Scout Toyshop and Badge Committees.

As chairman of the nominating committee, Mr. Wark presented the following slate of officers for the executive committee, adding that the appointment of sub-committee chairman would be made by the incoming executive: Honorary president, G. W. Murphy; honorary vice-president, L. E. Trussler; honorary counsel, H. E. Grundy; trustees, Lewis Rosenbloom, J. W. Blake and B. D. Lyon; president and chairman of executive committee, Bruce P. Clarke; vice-president, Ross Sturrock; treasurer, J. E. Austin; finance committee, R. M. Millar, P. M. Robins, G. Rheame, W. Sutherland and M. Parsons, District Commissioner and Les Humphries, District Cubmaster.

Following the adjournment of the meeting, a Scout documentary movie in color was shown, entitled "1953 Canadian Jamboree," which was very much enjoyed. It was announced that this movie, together with several others of both Scouting and non-Scouting subjects would be shown in Sherbrooke on December 11th for all Cubs, Scouts and their families. Further details of this film show, which was to be free of charge, would be announced shortly.

Does He Read The Papers?

There has been brought to our attention a recent issue of the Canadian Textile Journal in which the editor, Mr. William King, writes a confusing article about the difficulties of the textile industry not being brought to public attention. Mr. King says he has not read a single editorial on the current difficulties of the industry as related to labour.

This leaves us very mystified for we know, and the industry knows, and our readers know, that the Record is constantly drawing attention to the plight of the textile industry. We are disappointed that Mr. King, who seems to have no official connection with the industry but presumes to read all Canadian newspapers, has not read the Record lately.

A Widening United States Trade Policy

One of the greatest hopes for improving the trade relations between the United States and Canada rests in the fact that the Randall Commission named to inquire into the United States foreign trade policy is receiving many thoughtful proposals for a balanced solution of the rival claims of the importers and United States domestic producers.

In the view of many observers, the crux of the matter is how to prevent congressional consideration from resolving itself into bitter debate along strict low tariff-high tariff lines. The belief is that if that happens, no very constructive legislation will be forthcoming.

Clarence Randall, commission chairman, evidently understands this danger. He hopes to bring forth a report with unanimous commission backing, but his prospects are not too bright. A minority report strongly favoring high tariff walls is predicted.

The latest business leader to contribute his thinking to this issue is Juan Trippe, president of Pan American World Airways. In an address to the National Foreign Trade Council, he proposed that Congress in 1954 renew the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act for two years. At the same time, he would have it instructed the Tariff Commission to review all existing tariffs to correct inequities. These changes would take effect within the two-year period unless Congress specifically disapproved.

In this fashion, the head-on collision of low and high tariff advocates would be averted. More time would be purchased for a sane review of the subject. And foreign businessmen, continually in fear that reciprocal trade agreements are about to die and bring a reversion to the old, high-level Hawley-Smoot tariffs, could approach the American market on a more stable basis.

Trippe also indicated that a really forward-looking United States trade policy ought to deal with much more than merely tariffs. If advances can be made in a number of other fields, then the tariff question may tend to be placed in better perspective as just one element in improved trade relations.

As possible additional steps he mentioned: Repeal of the Buy American Act which compels the government to buy all its wants at home, though businessmen suffer no such restriction.

Increase of the duty exemption for returning travellers from the present $500 to $1000, which would allow much more goods to flow in than now.

Further important customs simplifications to add to those approved this year by Congress.

Tax law amendments to allow the President to make reciprocal treaties with other countries that would exempt income earned abroad from a nation's domestic taxes. Right now foreign investments are largely subjected to double taxation, at home and abroad.

Other devices to stimulate investment overseas.

Recommendations like these deserve the attention of the Randall Commission and Congress. For unless the problem is treated whole, battle lines will form over tariffs alone, with possibly great handicap to the national interest.

SAGINAW FETES HUMPHREY — MIDDLE-EAST PROBLEM EAST GERMAN AIR FORCE — GENERAL HURRY-UP

Washington — (NEA) — Secretary of Treasury George Humphrey was given a rousing, day-long celebration when he went back to Saginaw, Mich., where he had lived as a young man. It was a real "local-boy-makes-good" homecoming. The secretary took 10 hours of being greeted by old friends and being praised all over the place.

But where he broke down, he says, was when they began to show pictures of his childhood, projected on a big screen. One was a picture of young George in a cowboy hat, riding a hobbyhorse tri-cycle. The master of ceremonies said of this shot: "Notice the fit of the hat. That's what we love about George. His hats have never gotten too small for his head."

This brought tears to Humphrey's eyes and he had another tear-jerker that night during a talkie film. President Eisenhower had posed especially for the film, praising Humphrey.

Touchy Middle East Although the succession of 52-year-old Saud Ibn Abdul Aziz to the late King Ibn Saud's throne in Saudi Arabia seems to have been effected quietly, without knife-wielding or bloodshed, Middle East experts are keeping their fingers crossed.

King Ibn Saud won his throne and unified the country by the old-fashioned system of subduing all opposition on the field of battle. Since the King left 40 sons, and 100 daughters, by his 135 marriages into many different tribes, there are plenty of family and tribal rivalries under the surface. Every major tribe has its claimants to the throne. Also, there's plenty of wealth at stake from oil royalties and revenues from pilgrims to the Holy City.

Keeping 40 brother princes happy is considered as much of a diplomatic job as keeping the tribesmen in line. The present arrangement whereby eldest son Saud Ibn Abdul Aziz occupies the throne with second son Emir Faisal as Crown Prince and Foreign Minister provides a good partnership for top control. But suitable jobs and rewards have to be worked out for other heirs.

East German Air Force

East German intelligence reports now indicate that Soviet Russia is trying to build up a satellite air force in the Russian zone. Some 6500 Germans are being recruited this year and the plan is to double the force in the next two years. Some 800 pilots are said to have completed basic training and graduated to jets.

With the European Defense Community treaty stalled by the French government, Western Germany has no counterpart of this new Communist air force in training.

General Hurry-Up French Gen. Rene Cognat, commander of the recent Viet-Nam offensive against the Communist forces in Indo-China, at 49 is the youngest general in the French army and is known as "Le General Vitesse" — General Hurry-Up.

During World War II General Hurry-Up was twice taken prisoner by the Nazis. The first time he escaped, but the second time he was condemned to death.

Powder-Blue Car Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Oveta Culp Hobby has the fanciest car of the entire Eisenhower cabinet. Most government cars are black. Mrs. Hobby's is powder blue. When she is driven up to the White House gate, the front guards alert the door by phoning: "It's the powder blue, with you know who."

World Gold Price The world price of gold on the free market in Europe has been taking something of a beating in recent weeks due to heavy sales by the Russian government. Apparent purpose of the Communists is to get more foreign exchange with which to buy consumers' goods to bolster morale on their home fronts. With their foreign trade cut off, the Soviets have no normal channels for earning foreign exchange.

A recent Hungarian refugee reported to National Committee for Free Europe that applicants for gold wedding rings must produce documents to prove marriage before buying in state stores. In Poland, no one can leave the country with gold jewelry and repatriates must obtain special permission to take out wedding rings.

Bible Thoughts

Hath given forth upon usury, and hath taken increase; shall he then live? he shall not live: he hath done all these abominations; he shall surely die; his blood shall be upon him.—Ezekiel 18:13.

Moral conduct includes every thing in which men are active and for which they are accountable. They are active in their desires, their affections, their designs, their intentions, and in every thing they say and do of choice; and for all these things they are accountable to God.

Comical People, These Americans, What?!

Follow Christ, The King!

By Rev. B. S. Murray, M.D.

Once more the church begins another ecclesiastical year, based on the Son of Righteousness Christ. On last Sunday her clarion call was "Stir Up," this Sunday—Advent Sunday—she continues her mood of expectancy with such arresting words as "Hark! Awake. Uprose You! Be Vigilant! Work and Pray! The Lord! Watch and Pray! Repent!"

Why? ask you. Well, the Church has set apart four weeks preceding Christmas Day so that we may prepare our hearts not only for the Birth of Jesus but for an advent—the coming of God as a Babe "in great humility," and, at the same time, anticipate that last day when Christ shall come again in glorious majesty to judge both the quick and the dead. Don't you see a clue why the Church directs our attention to Death, Judgment, Hell, Heaven?

In order that we may accept Christ as Redeemer and Judge, the Church insists that we keep close to Him imitating Him in thought, word and deed. "Follow Christ," she urges and points for us the historic calling of St. Andrew (November 30) who, by the Galilean Lake, heard the call, left all and thereby became not only the first to follow Christ but also the first to lead his brother Simon Peter "the very Christ to see" (John 1:40).

Across the centuries comes the same clarion call to you and me to accept and obey Him as our Lord and Master. And, as we follow Him, we shall get to know Him for, "born from above," we recapture His Spirit and forthwith become new men in Christ "full of a new vision and a new hope" ready for any spiritual adventure, provided it is forward with Christ as Friend and Guide.

Spiritual giants shall become as we walk, breast forward with Him, showing forth not only with our lips but in our lives that the happiest people in the world are not the selfish but the unselfish; not the ambitious but the lowly of heart; not the grabbers but the givers; not those who own most but those who love most.

Now in our own strength we cannot do all this but the Holy Spirit is standing by, always available, and with Him we can do all—not some—things. He expects each of us to be a living witness for Him and His Cause at home and abroad.

Further, for the unspeakable privilege of knowing and following Jesus, Our Saviour, Master and Friend, we should feel obligated to share Him with others—everywhere. We have His specific command to "Go" (Matt. 28:18, 19) publish glad tidings, tidings of peace, tidings of Jesus, redemption and release. Isn't it in obedience to the Master's "Go ye" that men and women, yesterday and today, whose eyes have seen the King, and lured by the impulsive power of a large faith have, as heralds of His saving grace, answered the call to bring Christ to those who in their blindness bow down to wood and stone?

These missionaries know, as indeed, we all should, that the mission of the Church is to extend Christ's Kingdom until it is acknowledged by all for the Advent until Christ shall see the travail of His soul and be satisfied—shall see a redeemed world in which every knee shall bow and every tongue confess Him Lord to the glory of God the Father.

"Follow Thou Me" Doesn't Thyssen's "Follow the Christ, the King, live pure, speak true, right wrong, follow the King, else wherefore born?" remind you of the Master's "Take up thy Cross, with willing heart and humbly follow after me" (Luke 9:23)?

Notice it is "Follow ME"—a Person—the living Christ—a Command Who is to be obeyed and under whose direction we have work to do. Here is a clarion call to youth to adventure and, in following the King Who dared to die, they will find life—full and free. The same adventure awaits all who are willing to walk in the light of the Cross. These will perform deeds of love and mercy here, and hereafter, with the King of Glory, shall reign eternally.

Surely this "hope" should inspire the hero in your soul and make you determined to serve Christ your Lord and Master. Whom His ability and resourcefulness make Him incomparable, wonderful, all-sufficient, unique. He gave His "all" for you. What are you prepared to give Him? Your "all"? Remember at your baptism and later at your confirmation you promised to forsake all others and follow Him to the end of the day.

May the holy season of Advent—dedicated to self-examination as well as anticipation and contemplation—find your hearts prepared and waiting to entertain for you, such a Mighty Guest and with Him by our side we'll not fear the battle nor wander from the pathway with Him as our Guide.

To achieve this, let each of us daily pray: "O give me grace to follow, my Master and my Friend! Follow the Christ, the King!"

Jacoby On Bridge

By OSWALD JACOBY

BRIDGE AND MATH ARE DANGEROUS

A little mathematics is a dangerous thing. Most bridge players would adopt the wrong attitude towards South's grand slam bid in the hand shown today.

In the first two rounds of bidding, South discovered that his partner had some sort of diamond suit and some sort of good support for hearts. Naturally, South galloped off in the direction of a slam.

South used a Blackwood bid of four no-trump, discovering that North had one ace. This was fine, since South had the other three aces. The only question was whether North had enough kings to make the grand slam a good gamble.

South went over in his mind the responses that his partner might make. If North had two of the missing three kings, he might risk a grand slam anyway. He would make up his mind later, South decided. If North could show three kings in response to the Blackwood bid of five no-trump, South would go very happily to seven hearts.

Much to South's astonishment, however, North responded with a bid of six clubs, showing no kings at all. North was the next player to be astonished, for South jumped to seven hearts even though he had just discovered that his partner had no kings.

Was South right or wrong to bid the grand slam? Curiously enough, South was right. And I say this, knowing full well that it is usually a poor idea to bid a grand slam that depends on a finesse.

South knew that his partner had a fairly good diamond suit headed by the queen or queen-jack and the ace of hearts. No other hand containing only one ace and no kings would be worth the initial response of two diamonds. In short, South had a very clear idea of what the dummy would look like.

West would surely lead a black suit. At least one of those suits,

Maori Names Trip Up Many Broadcasters

By J. C. GRAHAM, Canadian Press Staff Writer Auckland, N. Z. — The New Zealand broadcasting service is sending to broadcasters in other countries a guide to the pronunciation of Maori names which will crop up in the news during the visit of Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

New Zealand abounds in old Maori native place-names which often trip up New Zealanders themselves. Many highly-involved names will have to be negotiated during the royal tour.

TAKE IT SLOW As a sample, one signboard in New Zealand reads: Taumatawhakaiti; Tangihanga; Atamatea; Whenuakaiti.

Koroki, the Maori king, lives at a place called Turangawaewae, which New Zealanders explain helpfully is near the town of Ngauruhia.

The big Maori reception to the Queen will be near the village of Whakarewarewa and she will pass through many towns with equally involved names.

The problem is complicated by the way most New Zealanders anglicize and abbreviate Maori names. If a New Zealander talks of the town of Coko, he means a place in the far north spelled Kokokohu. When he talks of Fenokit, he means Whenuakite, and Piecock stands for Paekakariki.

Strangers are often persuaded that the Wellington suburb of Petone is pronounced pet one, whereas in this case the full Maori pronunciation of pet-ow-nee is used.

ALL VOWELS COUNT Even short names like Oue and Oio have their pronunciation problems.

The general rule is to pronounce every vowel and give it full value, with equal emphasis on each syllable. The result is not always in line with current pronunciation in New Zealand, but is nearer the correct Maori version than those in current use.

The broadcasting service in New Zealand normally sticks to the Maori pronunciation even when local versions differ. It makes exceptions where names have been only slightly anglicized, but as soon as a name gets far from the Maori, the announcers use the native version.

The town of Paraparaumu, for instance, has nowadays been shortened in general usage to Parapara, but the radio services use the full version. This policy has resulted in many New Zealanders becoming more conscious of the liberties being taken with place name pronunciation and is tending to restore the Maori version in some cases.

Canadian Cubs Given Totem Pole By English

North Luffenham, Eng. — Wolf cubs at this RCAF fighter base now own a handcarved, five-foot totem pole depicting the Canadian beaver and the British lion sitting in a canoe.

The totem pole, the work of the English Cub pack at nearby Tixover, Gillingham, was presented recently to the North Luffenham Cubs whose 30 or so members are mainly sons of RCAF personnel here.

It was given as a symbol of friendship between Canadian and British Scouts.

This No. 1 fighter wing base has had Scouts and Cubs for more than a year and also boasts predominantly Canadian Girl Guides and Brownies. Other packs are at Metz, France, headquarters of the RCAF first air division, where the boys mingle with French children, and at two bases in Germany and one other in France.

GALLANT PEDRO

By Robert Abel

The military courtyard was as quiet as only a cemetery can be; and the firing squad at parade rest were as motionless as tombstones. Pedro Gomez and I stared at each other. I couldn't help but admire that splendid body of Pedro; so vibrant, so at ease. I noticed the arrogant tilt of his handsome head; the half smile on his lips.

I remembered the first time I had met him. Four years ago I had trailed a killer to a little saloon in Caliente. As I stepped from the blazing glare of the torrid sun into the semi-dark saloon, I was temporarily blinded. I could not see a thing; but not so the killer.

But the movement was never completed for the long black whip coiled around his arm like a boa and yanked him off his feet. I had him trussed in an eye-wink.

I turned to my rescuer, a tall, handsome laughing caballero. "Captain," he said, "I am Pedro Gomez." He said it as though Pedro Gomez meant a name to be reckoned with. It was. He was the chief lieutenant of that rebel leader Pancho Villa. His fame or infamy was only second to his chief's.

I thanked Pedro for saving my life. "I am Manuel Beuno." Two years ago I ran across him for the second time. I was leaning against the bar of the "Devil's Drink" when the doors swung open and several men entered. They spied me.

"Carranza! Let's get him!" They were on me before I could turn. I fought for my life. My breath came in gasps. My arms felt like I was holding up heavy logs. I can't recall how many times I went down and came up, or how many men I knocked sprawling.

Suddenly a loud roar pierced through the fog that engulfed my dizzy swirling brain. The world had come to a standstill. Only heavy panting and breathing disturbed the otherwise silent room.

Someone lifted me gently from the floor. I could hear his voice scream in anger. "This is my friend. Who dares kill a friend of Pedro Gomez?" He looked like a leg of dynamite about to explode. The men slunk out of the saloon.

It was Pedro, old smiles again, apologizing and asking my forgiveness for the stupidity of his men. He depreciated his deed with a wave of his hand and a shake of his head. "It is nothing."

After a few drinks he again asked me to join his army. "The government is practically in our hands, Manuel." He looked at me sadly. "I might not be able to help you a third time, my friend. Your government is always putting Villan's captured men in front of a firing squad."

He gulped his whisky down with gusto. "Pancho says he will put all of Carranza's men against the wall, too."

Another drink and then he told me to leave town. Pancho and the rest of his men would soon arrive, and he shrugged his shoulders. Pancho might not like me like he did.

That was two years ago . . . and here was our third meeting . . . Pedro and I staring at each other. Come, come, Manuel," he said to me. "Be brave. We all have to die sometime. I know you would rather die when you are young and brave; and not when you become old and feeble and are scared of death."

He was right. That is the way I would rather die.

How tall and proud Pedro looked. I slowly straightened out my body. I thrust my shoulders back and closed my eyes. I could hear a hoarse voice; it sounded as though it came from my very inners . . . Ready . . . Aim . . . Fire !!!

Five shots blended into a single echo. The unerring aim of the firing squad had found its mark.

I opened my eyes in time to see Pedro smile at me.

Slowly . . . slowly Pedro's magnificent vibrant body, so full of life a moment before, wilted like a tottering scarecrow and sagged lifeless to the ground.

BISHOP'S BULLETIN BOARD

ARCTIC EXPLORER AT BISHOP'S

Dr. Vilhjalmur Stefansson, noted explorer of the Arctic and author of many books on the subject who was guest speaker at the Women's Canadian Club last night, visited Bishop's yesterday noon to give a short but fascinating lecture to the students and faculty of the university.

Dr. Stefansson took as his subject "How Canada Can Expand Northwards" by explaining how the extreme cold of the Arctic weather can be combated successfully. He said that too many Canadians refuse to take a lesson in Arctic living from the original inhabitants of the northern regions, the Eskimos, who live both happily and comfortably in the most freezing temperatures.

Dr. Stefansson went on to outline some of the various devices employed by the Eskimos, such as overheating the houses, thawing out frostbites and eating snow instead of drinking water.

DEBATING

The first Skinner Debate of the year was held Thursday night when an Arts and Science team opposed a Divinity team on the resolution, "that the government of Canada was justified in instituting the 'Emergency Powers Act' in 1951." These series of debates are an annual affair between the Arts and Science men and the Divinity men with the winner being determined on a best two-out-of-three basis. Thursday night, the negative, Arts and Science won. The winners of the series are awarded the Skinner Trophy.

The Divinity team for the affirmative was composed of Owen Evans, Don West, and Bob Calderwood who spoke in that order and were opposed by Hamish Stewart, Lewis Abbott and Peter Matthews, Chairman of the debate was Peter Tett, president of the university Literary and Debating Society.

The affirmative side based its argument on the fact that the act was essential for matters of emergency when Parliament was not in session and government was imperative. It was better than the previous War Measures Act because its powers were more limited. The affirmative side did not describe how these powers were limited.

The negative side based its attack on the fact that such an act gave the government vast potential dictatorial powers out of proportion to the importance of the act. For times of war the War Measures Act could be used without resort to any other measure. The relative unimportance of the act was illustrated by the way in which it had been used to push legislation through on several trifling matters which were not of an emergency nature.

Judges for the debate were Mr. A. D. Banfill, university librarian, Dr. W. O. Raymond, Professor Emeritus of English, and Mr. McEroy of Lennoxville High School.

SPORTS

Bishop's hockey Gators won their first league game of the season Tuesday night when they downed the St. Francis Juveniles 5-3 at the local arena. And they did it without the benefit of their new coach Ivan Dugre who was unable to attend the game. Manager of the team, Peter MacEwan took over coaching duties for the tilt and juggled his lines like a veteran.

The Gators led 4-0 at the end of the first period on goals by Ross, Whittemore and two by Hinch, but the St. Francis club added one in the second and two in the third to threaten. In the final minutes of the game, the juveniles went all out for the tying goal, yanking their goalie and putting on an extra forward, but the strategy backfired when Nick Powell got possession of the puck and parked a slow roller into the empty net.

Coach Palla Kiar's basketballers are back home this afternoon to play hosts to Macdonald College Aggies at the university gym. The team as formed now is not definite, as there are still a few positions unsettled and many aspiring hoopers still trying out for them. The Gators expect to bottle up the Aggie attack by using a combination of man-to-man defence and zone.

The girls dropped a heartbreaking loss to Lennoxville Thursday night, but showed vast improvement over their last game. With a bit more experience they will undoubtedly take the Lennoxville girls and give the Windsor crew a good battle.

CLUBS

Last meetings for 1953 were held by a number of clubs this past week. Perhaps the most fascinating meeting of the week was that of the French club which met on Wednesday night. A debate was staged in French on the resolution "Women should take care of all the finances of the household." Though several members claimed to have been completely mystified by the ensuing debate, the affirmative side won.

History Club closed off operations for this year with a discussion-provoking paper on Quebec by Ian Watson. Brief sketch of history was given and problem between French and English in Quebec raised. Debate raged far into the night.

Biology Club met Thursday night to discuss plans for the forthcoming Biology Exhibition. Films taken by Dr. Langford, professor of Biology, of snow geese were also shown at the meeting.

One of the important points in cooking White African Guinea is not to use dressing. They are not "fat" birds. One or two bacon strips should be placed over the top of the bird's breast while cooking and inside, an onion, apple or bit of celery—to point up the flavor a bit. There are many recipes and Mrs. Fennell, who has a flair for journalism, is collaborating with her husband on a book about the Guinea which will include recipes and which should be ready for printing next summer.

Mr. Fennell is a Quebec pioneer in yet another species although he insists this is only a hobby—Gold Links on his property. These are an inbred-crossbred line developed in England from the ordinary domestic hen. Sterling Gold Links are the highest-laying breed supposedly yet developed and are said to produce 23 eggs a year more than the Leghorn. Local Artist In Appearance At Montreal

The recital to be given by Lorette Codere on Monday should be of unusual interest to Sherbrooke citizens ever renowned for their support of youthful talent. Although not entirely unknown here Miss Codere is offering her first public concert in Sherbrooke, this, and her excellent program should speak for themselves.

Of her recent public recital in Montreal with a companion student violinist, Dominic Laberge, of La Patrie, writes, "One must here consider the term student in relation to the title of virtuosity—for there was much of the latter qualification to be conceded the performers, taking into special consideration their sensitive approach and intellectual comprehension of their art."

Great application is evident and a technique of promising suppleness and preparedness for all requirements of interpretation."

To Lorette Codere, he further accords assuredness and precision, and while stating that only maturity could more fully convey the massive spiritual message felt above the notes of the exacting Toccata in D Minor of J. S. Bach, he concedes her correct interpretation of it, and suggests that many older exponents of the art could well emulate the fine sentiment she conveyed in the Brahms Intermezzo in A Major, and notes the brilliance of her playing in general, particularly in the Debussy Preludes, "Bruyeres," and "Feux d'Artifice."

Junior Hockey Here Tonight

Two games are scheduled for the Arena tonight in the Sherbrooke Junior "B" Hockey League. In the opener at seven, Bishop's University clashes with Superior School. At nine, St. Francis Juveniles tangle with St. Francis Juveniles. The second game is an exhibition.

Former E.T. Man Dies In Alberta

Leeds Village, Nov. 28 — The following, from the Vermilion Standard, Vermilion, Alta., will be of interest to many in this district. Mr. William Seale being a former resident of Inverness: "Our deepest sympathy goes out to Mr. Adolph Seale, of Wainwright, on the loss of his brother, William. Both these men homesteaded in Battlevue district in the pioneer days and farmed there until a few years ago when they retired to live in Wainwright."

"Billy, as he was known to every one, lived to see many changes in that part of Alberta, from the rude homesteading days to the district having electricity and modern machinery. Mrs. Seale predeceased her husband a few years ago."

Sherbrooke High School Notes

By ALAN TRUSSLER

Next week the Sherbrooke High School will bring to light, before the eyes of the public, its young actors and actresses in the school's annual production, "Up On Old Smoky," a three-act operetta by Ellen Jane Lorenz.

For the school, this production is quite different from those of the past. It is a hillbilly story which takes place high in the Appalachian mountains. It depicts a humorous affair with those happy mountain folk.

In the role of Cindy, the young "school marm," is well known S.H.S. actress, Sally Billing who is anxiously awaiting the return of her lover William, portrayed by Don Chamberlain. Both of these budding stars have been in previous school shows. Direction is in the capable hands of Mr. Royce Gale.

From beginning to end some 10 well known songs, including "Up On Old Smoky" which reached its peak of popularity but a few years ago, will be sung. Among those having solo parts are Bob Hill, baritone, who has appeared in previous school shows and Don Chamberlain, who, it will be remembered, took the part of one of those hilarious fishermen in the "Coronation Revue."

This is a happy, carefree operetta which is packed full of music, song and even an old fashioned barn dance. It is overflowing with fun and merriment and the wide range of characters add to the general humor. An authentic hillbilly air is created by the excellent western accents by the characters.

"This is the school's effort in 'show business' for the year. The students and staff alike are spending many hours a week in it in the hope of making it one of the best entertainments yet."

So . . . why not put Thursday or Friday evening aside next week and join the many who will attend this entertainment, sit back in your seat and prepare to spend a happy evening with the hillbillies.

two air cargo carriers. In the United States, one of three national air-cargo carriers has failed within two years of being licensed and the other two had sought to merge and raise their cargo rates by 25 per cent.

If that was the position in the U.S., it was wise for Canada to look carefully before granting CPA's application. The government made it clear that the decision was for the time being, that it was not in the public interest "at this time" to grant the CPA application.

He said the air transport board did not reach any decision on the CPA application and certainly not one opposed to that of the cabinet as was claimed. The board had no authority to make a decision; it could not investigate and report to the cabinet.

Mr. Chevrier, who represents the textile-manufacturing centre of Cornwall, Ont., referred briefly to the crisis in the textile industry raised earlier in the debate by Maurice Breton (L-Joliette-L'Assomption) and Dr. William Blair (PC—Lanark).

Dr. Blair said the industry is in so precarious a position that it might not be able to reach top production in an emergency. The industry's troubles could be traced to government import regulations during the last 15 years. Volume of imported textiles had been increasing.

Mr. Chevrier said Canada is not alone in a crisis in her textile industry. The situation was much worse in the New England states of the U.S. No one wanted higher tariffs or import quotas and the government already had told the industry it is studying changes to laws against dumping goods on the Canadian market at prices lower than the domestic prices of the imported goods.

Mr. Breton said a clause should be inserted in the proposed Japanese-Canadian trade agreement to prevent low-priced Japanese textiles from causing further dislocation in the Canadian industry.

Rebel Division Moves On French

Dien Bien Phu, Indo-China. (AP)—A Vietminh division—perhaps 10,000 men—was reported moving from the east Friday upon this Thai tribal town which French Union forces captured a week ago. The French were hoping the division intended to fight.

Thousands of French and Viet Namese troops were waiting on the broad plain of Dien Bien Phu, strategically placed between the border of Laos, eight miles to the south, and the French-held Thai capital of Lai Chau, 50 miles to the north.

In the last week they have converted the plain into a base for both defensive and offensive operations against the Communist-led rebels.

The Westbound rebel division, presumably pulled out of the line menacing the French-held Red River delta, it was reported less than 50 miles from this town. Mountainous country intervenes, however, and French Gen. Rene Cogny said the division would require several days to complete the march.

Destruction of such a rebel spearhead would help remove the long-standing threat of an assault on Lai Chau or a new strike into the kingdom of Laos, which the Vietminh invaded briefly last spring.

Southward Flight Of Snow Geese Is Expected Shortly.

Last spring, Dr. A. N. Langford of the Department of Biology at Bishop's University, made a survey of the northward flight of the snow geese. Today, he tells the people of the district what they may expect and what they may look for when the geese resume their southward flight sometime within the next few days.

The month-long gathering of Greater Snow Geese from the far north (Northern Greenland and adjacent Canadian islands) had actually ended when my wife and I visited Cap Tourmente, just opposite the lower end of the Island of Orleans, on October 16th. Officials of the Quebec Department of Game and Fisheries estimated the flock to number over 70,000 birds. With the recent increases in numbers the geese have taken to settling outside the protected area controlled by the Cap Tourmente Fish and Game Club; they now settle on the Island of Orleans as well as on both shores of the St. Lawrence. From a concealed position on the Club property we watched thousands of geese flying back and forth in the area, often passing directly over our heads at a height of twenty feet or less, the unclouded sun shining through their black-tipped wings.

Today the flock still remains at Cap Tourmente, from which they will be dislodged, any day now, by the first certain taste of winter. Charles Fremont, general superintendent of the Department of Game and Fisheries, stated that the geese may be expected to start south when, at low tide, the flats freeze to such a degree that the geese cannot pluck from the soil the rootstocks of the sedges that constitute their chief food at Cap Tourmente.

The great northward flight of snow geese that occurred through this area on April 1st and 2nd of this year was reported in some detail in the April 7th issue of the Record. This flight served to draw attention to the fact that the Sherbrooke area seems to lie squarely across a direct flight line between Cap Tourmente and Delaware Bay, where many thousands of the snow geese pass the winter, and to rouse hopes that the southward flight be seen by many people under much better conditions than those of April 1st when, according to the Dominion Public Weather Office, a very broad area experience fog and drizzle.

The response of Record readers to a request for additional data regarding the northward flight was generous indeed, so generous that it did not seem possible to acknowledge the individual letters.

April 1st showed that the geese landed in large numbers and spent the night on at least nine ponds, lakes, rivers and flats and that large groups flew in confusion above at least seven communities during the greater part of the night, crying constantly. Collectively, the reports indicate that the main flight occurred along the Massawippi valley to Lennoxville and then both up and down the St. Francis valley, some geese reaching Marlette as early as 7:30 p.m. while others were still coming through North Hatley at a much later hour. Beyond Lennoxville the area with geese was at least thirty miles in width, although it seems likely that the birds were confined largely to river valleys. On the morning of April 2nd there were many irregular flights in various directions. The few flocks observed after this time were flying in formation. On April 4th the eleven birds that found the surroundings of a farmyard at Weedon congenial enough for a three day stay departed and on April 6th the low passage of a group of about 75 over Howard's Pond in Sherbrooke furnished the last known spring record for this district.

Although no reports were received from Coaticook and Magog, thus reinforcing the opinion that the main flight was along the Massawippi valley, some birds followed a course to the headwaters of the Connecticut River, flying up and down its uppermost reaches (Connecticut Lakes district) during the night. Approximately seventy birds were sighted.

Reports of other years indicate that snow geese have been passing through this area, particularly along the St. Francis-Massawippi valley, over a period of many years and thus that local residents have chance of seeing them any year, although they probably fly whenever the weather is fine. It is of interest that the northward flight of 1952 was recorded by Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Krumping of Lennoxville at 10:45 p.m. on March 30th, two days different from the 1953 date. They recorded that the geese "sounded like a pack of hounds".

Now is the time to watch for the southward flights (one large and two small flights are said to be normal) of the snow geese. They may be identified by their very light appearance, with obvious black wing tips. The young birds are somewhat dusky, and irregularly so, but still give an impression of whiteness. Blue geese, with white heads and very dark bodies, accompany the snow geese in very small numbers. The calls of the snow geese are higher pitched than those of the Canada geese. The note has been described as a "loud, nasal, resonant whouch or hee-hee" and the general impression of the calling has been likened to the yapping of small dogs. As in the spring, the writer would appreciate receiving any data (place, time, numbers, direction of flight, etc.) concerning the southward flight.

MOTORISTS PAY

Leicester, England (AP)—Progress is due to hit motorists of this Leicestershire town. The council has ordered 50 parking meters from a United States manufacturer.

Three Injured In Two Mishaps

Three persons were injured in separate accidents in the district yesterday. Patrick Goudreau, 8, son of Arthur Goudreau, received severe shock, head, abdominal injuries and a broken leg when returning to his home on the Ascot Road from school yesterday afternoon. He was struck by a car. He was operated on at the Hotel Dieu. His condition is said to be very serious.

Conrad Desfosse, 33, of St. Jean Baptiste de Drummondville, received a probable fracture of his vertebral column around 11:30 last night when he lost control of his car about a mile from Windsor Mills, on the road to Sherbrooke, and the vehicle crashed into a ditch. His condition is very serious. Attendees at the Hotel Dieu say that he is suffering from severe shock. His companion in the car, Andre Rigot, 31, received only minor injuries and was allowed to leave hospital after first aid.

MRS. C. H. PENNOYER DIES IN BOSTON

Valle Falls, R.I., Nov. 28. — Mrs. Emma (Hindley) Pennoyer, wife of Rev. Charles Huntington Pennoyer, D.D., Little D., executive secretary of the Universal Fellowship, died suddenly recently in Deaconess Hospital, Boston. Death was attributed to natural causes.

Born in Central Falls, she was the daughter of the late Richard and Mary McHale. Her husband was originally from a prominent Eastern Township family, and upon their wedding trip toured the E.T.

Mrs. Pennoyer held the degrees of bachelor of philosophy and master of arts. She was an active helper in the work of her husband in the Universal Fellowship Church, as a leader in local, national and international religious, social and civic work.

Insanity Plea In Divorce Hearing

Ottawa — CP — The Senate divorce committee, for the first time in parliamentary history, has decided to hear a divorce petition on grounds of incurable insanity. Hitherto, the committee has heard only petitions claiming adultery.

NEUTRAL NATIONS

However, when Wood became Commissioner Wood of the Mounted Police, he remembered his own experiences and the attitude of the force towards lovers of the north changed.

He conducted a questionnaire among 13 men who were stationed at Fort McPherson. Twelve of them replied that they preferred the atmospheric climate of that northern outpost to that of Ottawa. Commissioner Wood turned over the answers to Dr. Stefansson but several days later recalled them because the Minister of Justice of that day felt that the answers in preference of the north "are considered not in the public interest."

Dr. Stefansson said that potatoes grow at Goodhope, the second coldest place in Canada, and have been shipped south for 47 years. Canada should attempt to build self-sustaining cities up north, around the mines, instead of sending down south for the supplies. The Russians are doing this and at a great rate. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. L. M. Outerbridge and thanked by Miss Bessie Milford, Mrs. N. T. Hunter, president, introduced the head table. Besides those already mentioned, others were Mrs. R. I. McCabe, Mrs. J. K. Edwards, Mrs. J. A. Donald, Mrs. John York and Mrs. Arthur Hill. The president thanked the Bury ladies for their help at the door and announced that the next meeting is tentatively scheduled for January 15 when the speaker is to be Tom Patterson, one of the principal organizers of the famous Stratford, Ont., Shakespearean Festival.

CARDS OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to relatives and friends who assisted in any way at the time of the illness and death of our father, the late P. A. Johnson. We especially thank Dr. Wells, the nurses on second floor at the Sherbrooke Hospital, Mr. T. C. French, Rev. A. Hinton, the bearers, those who sent flowers and food or assisted in any way.

THE JOHNSON FAMILY, Bulwer, Que.

OBITUARIES
WILLIAM J. SEALE, OF WAINWRIGHT, ALTA.
 FORMERLY OF INVERNESS
 Vermilion, Alta., Nov. 28. — On Monday evening, October 26, William J. Seale, 77 years of age, passed away at the Wainwright Municipal Hospital where he had been a patient for two weeks.

Mr. Seale was born at Inverness, Que., on March 26, 1876. He came West in 1904 and after spending two years in Manitoba, he homesteaded in the Battleview district, where he resided until he retired to live in Wainwright in the spring of 1937.

He was married to Miss Martha Fraser on January 6, 1915, who predeceased him in January 1951.

Mr. Seale is survived by four sisters, Lizzie, of Battleford, Sask.; Laura, of Wainwright, Emma, of Haverhill, Mass.; Sadie, of Lennoxville, Que. and three brothers, Tom, of Haverhill, Mass.; Dolph, of Wainwright, and Ben, of Inverness, Que.

The funeral service was held on Thursday at the Auburndale United Church, where relatives and friends gathered to pay their last respects to an early pioneer.

The service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Rice of Grace United Church. Hymns were "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Rock of Ages." Stanley Vallee and his daughter, Jean, sang a duet entitled "Saved by Grace." Mrs. Alf Green was organist.

F. E. McLeod and Co. were in charge of funeral arrangements and interment was made in the Mt. Auburn Cemetery, where he was laid to rest in the family plot beside his wife and three daughters.

Palbearers were Fred King, George, Ernie Squire, George Symes, George Harrison, Byron Fraser and Don Harrison.

The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful, showing the esteem in which Mr. Seale was held in the district.

OBITUARIES
WILLIAM J. SEALE, OF WAINWRIGHT, ALTA.
 FORMERLY OF INVERNESS
 Vermilion, Alta., Nov. 28. — On Monday evening, October 26, William J. Seale, 77 years of age, passed away at the Wainwright Municipal Hospital where he had been a patient for two weeks.

Mr. Seale was born at Inverness, Que., on March 26, 1876. He came West in 1904 and after spending two years in Manitoba, he homesteaded in the Battleview district, where he resided until he retired to live in Wainwright in the spring of 1937.

He was married to Miss Martha Fraser on January 6, 1915, who predeceased him in January 1951.

Mr. Seale is survived by four sisters, Lizzie, of Battleford, Sask.; Laura, of Wainwright, Emma, of Haverhill, Mass.; Sadie, of Lennoxville, Que. and three brothers, Tom, of Haverhill, Mass.; Dolph, of Wainwright, and Ben, of Inverness, Que.

The funeral service was held on Thursday at the Auburndale United Church, where relatives and friends gathered to pay their last respects to an early pioneer.

The service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Rice of Grace United Church. Hymns were "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Rock of Ages." Stanley Vallee and his daughter, Jean, sang a duet entitled "Saved by Grace." Mrs. Alf Green was organist.

F. E. McLeod and Co. were in charge of funeral arrangements and interment was made in the Mt. Auburn Cemetery, where he was laid to rest in the family plot beside his wife and three daughters.

Palbearers were Fred King, George, Ernie Squire, George Symes, George Harrison, Byron Fraser and Don Harrison.

The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful, showing the esteem in which Mr. Seale was held in the district.

THE ALE YOUR GREAT-GRANDFATHER DRANK!

The Doctor Says

CHILD'S EAR SHOULD RECEIVE PROMPT ATTENTION

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

"My three-year-old daughter," writes Mrs. S., "had a bad cold about two weeks ago, and for the last few days has had a little pus coming out of her left ear. Will this clear up by itself or is there something which should be done about it?"

Mrs. S. should take her little girl to the doctor promptly since there is danger that the child might develop a chronic running ear or even a mastoid infection.

There are doubtless thousands of people who either have or have once had an ear infection similar to that of Mrs. S.'s daughter. The reason is simple: the middle portion of the ear connects by a tube or passageway with the nose, and infections from the latter easily pass up this tube to the ear.

Children are particularly liable to such infections and quite often this produces earache. It requires a little slit be made in the drum membrane so that the pus can escape, relieving the pain-causing pressure.

But the present generations of children are luckier than we were. Many of these middle ear infections can be stopped by giving the sulfa drugs or penicillin. Furthermore, these medicines have practically wiped out mastoiditis, one of the most common and serious complications.

In mastoiditis the infection spreads to the bone lying just back of the ear and it formerly required a delicate and costly operation. Very few of these operations are done today.

Never Neglect Earache
Nevertheless it is important not to neglect an earache or a running ear. The ache usually comes first and this is the time to act by getting professional help. The development of a perforated eardrum or a chronic running ear which may be hard to cure can thus often be avoided.

Even in the long-lasting cases of ear infection more can be done now than in the past. In some of the most difficult cases an ingenious operation usually proves successful where other methods have failed. But a little care at the start is likely to save a lot of trouble later on.

Man's God-given dominion over evil of every sort will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.
"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon. Bible readings include the following from Ephesians: "Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might. Wherefore take unto you the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand."
Reading from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy includes the following passage: "There is no power apart from God. Omnipotence has all power, and to acknowledge any other power is to dishonour God."

The Golden Text is from III John: "Beloved, follow not that which is evil, but that which is good. He that doeth good is of God; but he that doeth evil hath not seen God."

Manners MAKE FRIENDS

If it is customary in your house to serve before-dinner drinks you will be a wise hostess to forego having a drink yourself. Oh, hold one in your hand if you like—but only take a few sips from it. A hostess needs to be alert to keep a party running smoothly and that's the reason for adopting a "no drinking" rule at your own parties.

Have yours after the party and enjoy it more.

"Under The Dryer"

HEAD LINES . . . Buckram—the stiff, wavy cotton net used to give hats their body—lining—will be going to our heads in another fashion this season . . . when hair stylists roll our curls around the buckram in great fat "sausages" to achieve the very newest in Spanish Renaissance hair-do's.

We watched this being done with great interest the other evening when the Helene Curtis company staged a gala premiere of 1954 hairstyling demonstrations before an audience of alert hairdressers. The buckram, which can be purchased at millinery counters, was cut in various thicknesses and lengths of sausage shapes. The model's hair was then set over these . . . with the hair rolled away from the face. The hair-do resulting is still short, but somehow gives an appearance of more length and certainly a fuller more flattering look than the tossed-salad look of the passe Italian Boy cut. The newest hair-do has a slight Pompadour appearance and promises to be as flattering on the mature woman as it will be on the younger types.

If it can be said to bear any resemblance to previous eras, it might be part of the 18th century look. And in those days a woman paid between one and two thousand dollars per year to have her hair dressed for special occasions only! We learned, too, that the earliest publication of a magazine devoted to hairdressing modes was published in the 1780's and the most conservative coiffure took from 3 to 5 hours to accomplish.

Today's fashionable hair length is 1½ to 2 inches all over the head and lends itself to a variety of styling. George Leus, the master coiffure artist who demonstrated the new Continental hair-do's, returned recently from Paris and the new cuts and curls shown the other night were fresh from the Couture Coiffure Society of France. Mr. Leus pointed out that pin-curls must be set in the direction of a patron's hair growth and when we took a close-up view of his mannequin's head and actually saw the hair growing from left to right, it was simple to see that we could never never do a proper pin-curl setting at home on our own heads . . . for the direction of growth changes all over your head!

We were happy to hear, too, that more and more women are tinting their locks—or at least, having their hairdresser perform this added touch of flattery. Tremendous strides have been made in hair-tinting chemicals and compounds, so that today's color baths are kind to hair growth and the straw-textured platinum blonde is as out of date as the bustle. All the reddish tones, from light Titian to deep auburn are high in fashion preference and these, too, have come a long way from the harsh henna dips of a decade ago. In professional hands, hair tinting is not harmful, and can be kept even in color and natural in appearance—but it is still a chancy thing in the amateur's hands at home.

And because we believe in practicing what we preach . . . didn't we go ahead and let Mr. George transform our dark brunette locks into short, copper-colored curls? You will never recognize the picture that accompanies this column and you can't believe the new lift it gives to you. Of course it meant a new light makeup and an orange-toned lipstick without a trace of blue in it, plus exchanging black mascara and eyebrow pencil for dark brown. And they do say that gentlemen prefer blondes, don't they?

4,000-Year-Old Roast Of Meat Still Intact

London — A roast of meat, still intact after 4,000 years' exposure, was uncovered during a recent archaeological expedition in Jericho.

Dr. Kathleen Kenyon, director of the British school of archaeology in Jerusalem, reported the find when she returned here with 12 large packing cases containing objects recovered from an ancient tomb.

She said the meat, found with clothing, rush mats and wooden objects in the tomb 20 feet below ground surface, was "only spongy".

Air Pioneers Blush at Early Bloopers

By GEORGE TRAINOR

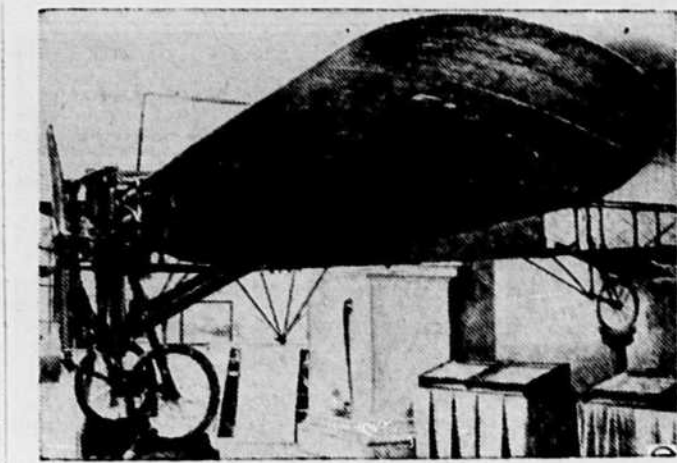

Washington. — Can pioneers make mistakes? "No," says Count Gianni Caproni of Italy, "anything a pioneer does is in the direction of progress and cannot be considered an error."

"Yes," say the rest of aviation's star-studded international cast of flight pioneers, assembled in America for the 50th anniversary of powered flight celebration.

And thus was launched one of the most multi-lingual discussions ever heard in cosmopolitan Washington. Germany's Prof. Dr. Willy Messerschmitt, Baron Wahis of Belgium, Mexico's Gen. Juan Azcarate, M. Charles Dollfus of France and Sir Allart Roe of England, were a few of the pioneers who got in their licks concerning aviation's biggest bloopers.

Some of the duds of the past that came in for appraisal by the experts included the Barling bomber of the 1920's which had six Liberty engines and a top speed of 95 miles per hour. It was abandoned when the plane's backers tried to fly it West for an exhibition and found they couldn't get it up over the mountains around Pittsburgh.

The Doernier DO-X, built by the Germans in the early 30's, was also pretty ornery. Pilots who flew it from Germany to America and back in 1931 said flying it was like trying to drive a ten-horse team with one pair of reins.

Heads were uncovered when the Bonney Gull Wing was mentioned. Its inventor felt sure a plane with wings like a sea gull could fly. He killed himself in the craft on an early test flight trying to prove it.

And on they went down the line of technological lemons—early B-17 bombers without tail turrets which made them sitting ducks for attacks from the rear, flying autos which were lousy planes and even worse road cars, all-wooden flying boats and fighters which couldn't withstand the strain of high-speed flying.

On a more personal basis the pioneers chuckled at some of their own errors. General Azcarate told how he invested his money in an aircraft plant in Mexico only to find the country couldn't support an aviation program. "I had to go into the motion picture business to get my money back," he added somewhat sadly.

Messerschmitt, the inventor of the German ME-109 of World War II fame, conceded that his biggest mistake came from being an engineer who knew too little about human nature. He feels now that others reaped the advantages from his developments while all he ever got was public censure after Germany's defeat.

In retrospect, Lt. Gen. Baron Theo Wahis, Belgium's one-armed World War I ace, shuddered when he thought of the number of four-hour recon missions he flew in planes with French engines.

"Those engines," said Wahis, "had the most discouraging habit of quitting after an hour or so of flight time over enemy lines."

"That's nothing," said Charles Dollfus, the curator of the French Air Museum. "No one else has ever been able to fly the plane which my countryman, Blériot, flew across the English Channel in 1909. It is still in perfect working order but no one has the flying ability to get it off the ground."

Scotstown's Presbyterian Church Feted Rev. And Mrs. J. W. Smith On Retirement

A very pleasant social evening was held in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church Hall on November 18th, when the congregation and other friends gathered to pay tribute to their Minister, who had recently retired, Rev. J. W. Smith, who spent the past twelve years in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church as pastor and friend, and to Mrs. Smith who will be missed by each and every one.

The following program was held with Rev. Mr. Farris, as chairman. Song in English, by Mrs. Tony Lortich, Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Murray, and Mr. K. R. MacLeod, while Messrs. Alex Macdonald and Angus A. MacIver rendered songs in Gaelic.

An amusing skit, "Seasonal Recreation," was put on by Mrs. Fred Goodin, Miss Marilyn Goodin, Messrs. Russell Morrison, George Riglar, and Kenneth Campbell. Master Larry Goodin did some very good acrobatic acts with his brother, Master Peter, announcing Little Miss Carol Murray, delighted the audience with a piano solo.

Following the program, Mr. K. R. MacLeod was called upon to make a few remarks. He stressed the warm and congenial feelings which had existed in the congregation during Mr. Smith's ministry. The Church had progressed both spiritually and financially. He said that no one had ever heard either Reverend or Mrs. Smith say an unkind word about any one here or of their former congregations.

Mr. Angus MacKenzie on behalf of the congregation, in a few well-chosen words presented Mr. Smith with a purse of money and Mrs. Smith with a bouquet of flowers.

Rev. Mr. Smith very feelingly expressed his thanks and appreciation to every one for the gifts and for all the kindness shown them during their ministry in Scotstown. Delicious refreshments were served by members of the Ladies' Circle and a social hour was enjoyed.

ST. PAUL'S W.M.S.

The W.M.S. of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church met in the church hall with a very good attendance of members and visitors. Hostesses were Mrs. J. N. Mackenzie and Mrs. D. R. Macdonald. The president, Mrs. Boy, opened the meeting. Scripture was read by Mrs. A. G. Murray. Mrs. Murdo Murray and Mrs. D. R. Macdonald were appointed a nominating committee to bring in a slate of officers at the next meeting. Mrs. Boy reported that the Mission Band was meeting again in the Church Hall with Mrs. Raymond Smith assisting her as leader.

Mrs. Murdo Murray kindly consented to look after the Christmas Cheer boxes. The study, "All of Life," was read by Mrs. A. R. Macdonald. The meeting closed with a prayer.

This was followed by the Sectional Meeting of the W.M.S. of the Quebec Presbyterian, section of Scotstown and Milan. Mrs. Boy presided in the absence of Mrs. C. MacArthur, of Milan, sectional vice-president.

Mrs. George Macdonald, of Milan acted as secretary and pianist. The meeting opened with the hymn, "All Hail the Power," Scripture was read by Mrs. M. Murray, who also made a prayer. Mrs. Boy welcomed the visiting ladies and was replied to by Mrs. Willis Macdonald, of Milan. Mrs. Boy paid tribute to the memory of the late Mrs. O. R. Campbell, honorary president of Quebec Presbyterian, who spent over 60 years in W.M.S. work.

The minutes of the last meeting and auxiliary reports were read by the secretaries, Mrs. Boy gave a splendid address on "Frontiers in Mission Work." Mrs. George Macdonald thanked Mrs. Boy and also gave a most touching talk on "God's Answer to Prayer."

The meeting closed with a hymn, "Work for the Night is Coming." A bountiful tea was served by the hostesses assisted by Miss Margaret Matheson and a social hour was enjoyed.

THE LADIES' CIRCLE

The November meeting of the Ladies' Circle of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church was held in the church hall with Mrs. C. Macdonald, Mrs. K. R. MacLeod, and Mrs. B. Macdonald for the joint hostesses.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. A financial report was given. A

Saints Play Hosts To Royals At Arena Sunday Afternoon

Locals Play In Valleyfield This Evening; League Is Well Balanced

Sherbrooke Saints travel to Valleyfield tonight to take on the cellar-dwelling but always dangerous Braves.

Tomorrow afternoon the Forbes coached squad is at home to the powerful Montreal Royals. Should the locals win in Valleyfield tonight and at home here tomorrow they would stand a possible chance of taking over the league leadership or at least a second place spot. The competition is very keen this year and a victory or a defeat for any one team can alter the standings quickly.

At the present time the Quebec squad is leading the seven-team loop with 24 points. Royals and Ottawa are tied with 22 points while Chicoutimi and Sherbrooke have 21 each. Springfield with 16 and Valleyfield with 14 follow in that order.

You can be assured that Quebec, Royals, Ottawa, Chicoutimi and Sherbrooke will be battling for the top spot and try to pull away from the rest of the pack. Springfield and Valleyfield are holding down the last two positions but they are sure no push-overs. The Springfield team handed Sherbrooke their only setback on the local freeze.

Tomorrow's game at the local arena gets underway at 2:30 p.m. Sherbrooke fans will see two fine goalies in action, both they know well. Mico Perrault, Sherbrooke's goaltender last year, will be between the pipes for Royals while the popular Dave Gatherum will be at his usual spot in the nets for the Saints.

The last time the Royals and Saints clashed on the local freeze the Saints won 9-6 in a wide open game.

Sherbrooke's new forward, Earl Johnson, may be in uniform. He is replacing Marcel Bonin.

The local aggregation showed plenty of spirit in their outing against the Senators at the local arena on Thursday night and if Forbes can keep his boys "fired up" and they start getting those passing plays working they should cop both games this week-end.

SAINTS HIT STRIDE—The Sherbrooke Saints defeated Ottawa Senators 5-2 at the local arena on Thursday evening and the above photo shows Ottawa goalie Ray Frederick watching Gilles Dube's shot go into the net. It was the first Sherbrooke goal. The Saints play here Sunday afternoon against the Montreal Royals.

OPPONENTS CHAT—Gilles Dube, at the right, assistant captain of the Sherbrooke Saints, is seen talking things over with Ottawa's Len Gravel, the top scorer in the Q.H.L. In the centre is Roland Couture, a fan who has been watching the Sherbrooke teams play for a long time.

Derby Line Leads Border Darts Loop

Derby Line Darts Club are currently leading the Border Section of the Southern E.T. Darts League with 10 points. The other three teams in the section, Del Monty, Beebe and Maples, are very closely bunched with seven, six and five points respectively.

The leaders have only tasted defeat once in seven games played. The complete standing, as of November 25th, follows:

	P	W	L	T	F	A	P
Derby Line	7	4	1	2	147	133	10
Del Monty	7	3	3	1	136	144	7
Beebe	7	2	3	2	137	143	6
Maples	7	2	4	1	140	140	5

Mac Macon To Coach Royals

Montreal — (C) — Hector Racine, president of Montreal Royals of International Baseball League, today announced that Max Macon will succeed Wally Alston as manager of the club.

Macon, manager of Fort Worth in the Texas league, will be signed to a one-year contract, the same as Alston received when he was signed earlier this week to succeed Charlie Dressen as manager of Brooklyn Dodgers.

A pitcher with Royals in 1949, 41-42, Macon managed the Miami baseball club before going to Fort Worth.

Independents Play At High School

Sherbrooke Independents will be seeking their third straight win of the E.T. Basketball campaign when they are home to Richmond at the Sherbrooke High School tonight. The game begins at eight o'clock.

Independents have already conquered Ashcroft and Sherbrooke Athletics in the short season and have shown themselves to be the power of the Men's League. However, Richmond has proved itself a scrappy team and may have a few surprises up their sleeve.

The Independents, who are being handled by Ann Alston, are composed mainly of last year's

Lennoxville Girls Defeat Bishop's 27-26

Lennoxville girls cagerettes overcoming a deficit in the last quarter, defeated Bishop University's co-eds 27-26 in an unpredictable basketball game of the E.T.A.B.A. Ladies Section, at the University on Thursday night.

Leading player for the Lennoxville squad was Janowski scoring 14 points. Wark with 9 points, and Stafford who chalked up 2 points and played a very good game on the defensive as well as offensive.

In the first quarter, Lennoxville was leading 9-3, but when the whistle sounded at half time, the co-eds were in front, 17 to 16. Play saw-sawed back-and-forth once again and at three quarter time the students were still leading, this time 22 to 21. Making a last minute come back, the Lennoxville squad kept dropping the ball through the opposing teams' basket, bringing the final result to 27-26.

Next Monday night at the Lennoxville High School auditorium, the college girls will get their return engagement when they meet the Lennoxville girls in another regular league game of the E.T.A.B.A. Ladies Section.

SUMMARY
Lennoxville: Janowski 14, Wark 9, Stafford 2, Lacroix 1, MacDonald 1, Allyson, Roberts, Simpson, Hunting.

Bishop's: Woodward 9, Pike 6, Home 5, Burt 3, Magor 2, Pierson 1, Farnsworth, Davidson, Kitching, Marshwood.

35th Battery squad. This year they are without a sponsor and the boys are contributing to their own expenses for love of the cage sport.

George Beaulieu, Al Hunting, Dick Goodhue, Jim Pettis, John Turnbull, John Boland, John Evans and Norm Stafford are the hold-overs from last year's powerhouse and newcomers Palle Kiar and Mel Harvey have shown they are fit company for these veterans.

Kiar is an ex-Shawinigan Falls hooper and they grow them good for basketball in that part of the province. Harvey is a local product and has totalled 23 points in two games.

HECTIC SCRAMBLE FOR GREY CUP TICKETS THAT DON'T EXIST; HAMILTON FAVORED BY EXPERTS

TORONTO — (C) — The annual football frenzy that sends staid Toronto happily off its rocker, moved toward a climax Friday night, aided and abetted by the whoop-de-do of arriving fans and the helter-skelter scramble for tickets that don't exist.

Only one thing is certain about this 1954 East-West Grey Cup classic: Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Winnipeg Blue Bombers will battle it out in Varsity Stadium.

Outside of that, there was a near approach to bedlam while the teams stayed far from the scene of confusion. There were at least 100,000 experts on hand, about 27,400 of whom will be able to jam into the big stadium. They blathered away in hotel lobbies, on the streets, in barber shops and beer parlors.

In Hamilton, only 40 miles to the west, bug-eyed supporters of the yellow-and-black Tiger-Cats were laying 2 to 1 on their favorites. In Toronto, the gentry who make a professional business of such things put it this way: "If you're betting on the East it's a 5-to-9 lay; if you bet on the West, the odds on the Ti-Cats are 7 to 5."

COACHES CONFIDENT

The men who knew the most about the teams said little and that little was guarded confidence. Coach Carl Voyles of Tiger-Cats said his club, which polished off Montreal Alouettes last Sunday, "is at its peak now and I see no reason why we can't win."

Coach George Trafton of the Bombers stuck to the prediction he made before his blue-and-gold warriors won the Western Conference title: "We are good enough to go all the way."

In Hamilton Voyles sent his squad through a light drill Friday evening. Then he hustled them off to an unrevealed hideout before they set out for Toronto this morning.

Trafton kept his team at Aurora, 25 miles north of here. The Bombers went through a limbering-up drill Friday. They bedded down Friday night in motels.

Speculation around Toronto on the outcome always got around to the strength of the teams' lines, then to who will outpass whom. Hamilton supporters backed Vince Mazza, Vince Scott, Quincy Armstrong, Eddie Bevan and huge Bob Cross against anything that shows up in the Winnipeg line, whether it be the awesome tackles Dick Huffman and Bud Tinsley, or Dean Bandiera and Al Wiley.

The self-appointed experts leaned toward the over-all power in the Ti-Cat line but gave the nod to Indian Jack Jacobs of the Bombers over Ed Songin on passing.

ZALESKI MAY START

Those with ears close to the Bomber camp said Trafton may start Joe Black Magic Zaleski at quarterback and see what happens on a quick series of ground plays. Then he'll shoot with Jacobs and count on Indian Jack to pass the Cats dizzy, with such sure-fingered targets as Bud Grant, Neill Armstrong, Andy Sokol and Neil Korchak.

For the Ti-Cats it will be Songin as the ace fliker, but the Bombers who reckon too heavily on big Ed as the sole key man in Hamilton's aerial offensive may find themselves crossed up. The variation is a hand-off to Lou Kussow or Bernie Curtis, either of whom can be the trigger man in well-disguised passing plays.

On the ends as pass receivers Hamilton has Tip Logan and Vito Raggazzo, with Kussow, Curtis and Ralph Toohy as other potential ball-snatchers.

CUP FEVER DEVELOPS

The first positive signs of Grey Cup fever struck Toronto little more than an hour after a raw, cloudy dawn broke Friday with the arrival of special trains bearing nearly 600 Winnipeg supporters. They paraded through Union station, met by a girls' pipe band, and on to their hotels, where there was more parading.

Advance forces from Hamilton moved into Toronto throughout the day, but the bulk of the Tiger-Cat supporters, with their ribbons and ent-em-raw slogans, won't hit town until today.

Since the East-West series started Hamilton teams have won the cup four times in seven appearances in the final. Three of the wins were at the expense of Saskatchewan Roughriders. In 1943, a war year, Hamilton's Wild-cats of the Ontario Union defeated Winnipeg's RCAF Bombers.

Winnipeg has won the East-West series three times and failed nine times. Ottawa Rough Riders were the victims twice. Winnipeg's third victory was in 1935, and then it was the Blue Bombers against Hamilton Tigers, forerunners in the Big Four of the Ti-Cats.

Canadian Golf Team Gets Prize

London — (C) — A Canadian golf team, winner of the Lister Golf Society's Empire trophy last summer, attended the society banquet at the Savoy Thursday night to receive its prize.

The team, headed by Group Capt. James B. Harvey of Winnipeg and Toronto, played in a summer-long competition against teams from Australia, New Zealand, Pakistan, India and South Africa.

Canada's other players were RCN Cmdr. J. F. Osborne of Vancouver, Flt. Lt. Max Freid of Estevan, Sask., and Saskatoon, Maj. Dave Church of Saint John, N.B., and Bill Crean of Toronto.

Crean, the only civilian, is back in Canada after serving with the Canadian government staff in London. The others are at the Canadian joint staff headquarters here.

The Lucifer Golfing Society, formed in 1921, has the Duke of Edinburgh as honorary president. South African golfer Bobby Locke won the individual championship at 19.

Schenley Award To Be Annual

Billy Vessells, of Edmonton, is the 1953 winner of the Canadian Schenley Award.

The Canadian Schenley Award was established this year by Canadian Schenley Ltd., Valleyfield, Que. as a tribute to the most outstanding senior football player in Canada.

One of the principal considerations in its establishment was the fact that although outstanding individual player awards had long existed for competition within the three senior football leagues — "Big Four" Western Conference, and O.P.F.U. — none existed for competition on a national basis.

The award, which is to be presented annually, consists of a perpetual trophy, $1,000 in cash, a permanent plaque, and a diamond-studded gold tie-bar for the winner; a Canada Savings Bond and a ruby-studded gold tie-bar for the winners-up; possession of the trophy for one year, plus a permanent plaque for the winner's team; engraved gold tie-bars for the winner's teammates and staff-members of his club.

At the onset a group of nationally recognized senior officers in organized Canadian football were asked to serve as a Board of Trustees for the Award. This Board includes Myer Insky, Arthur Chipman and Kent Phillips, former presidents of the Canadian Rugby Union; Charles C. Lawson, former president of the "Big Four" Union, and Eric Craddock, former executive of the Montreal Alouettes.

The Board of Trustees was given complete authority over the Award by virtue of a Deed of Trust dated October 1, 1953.

To aid the Board in determining the winner of the Award, a Verifying Committee was established, its members being Jack Sullivan, Sports Editor of the Canadian Press, and Dave Price, director of the C.B.C. National Sport Round-Up.

At the end of the regular league play, a representative list of sportswriters and sportscasters in cities supporting senior football clubs were asked to nominate, by secret ballot — three players in order of preference.

Every senior football city in Canada was represented in the balloting. The tabulating procedure was arranged to provide equal voting power between East and West, equal voting power among cities within each of these two sections, and equal voting power among voters in each of the cities in each respective section. A total of 27 players were nominated for the Award.

The four players receiving the most points according to this voting procedure were brought to Toronto by the Board of Trustees for presentation ceremonies at the Granite Club on the afternoon before the Grey Cup Game.

Bedford High School remains on top of the Bedford District Intermediate Basketball League with five straight wins and no losses. Last Tuesday at Knowlton they doubled the score on the home team 49-20. Good shooting coupled with fast accurate passing paid off as Bedford widened the score in the second half. Check with 11 and Falcon with 13 points were the big guns for the winners while Seaman scored seven for Knowlton.

Knowlton Seniors and Intermediates scored a double win at Cowansville on Friday, November 20th with the Seniors piling up a 67-32 score and the Intermediates winning 25-13. The Cowansville Seniors went into an early lead as they took advantage of a weak zone with baskets by Dryden and Wenkert. However Knowlton rallied and by half time had a 29-14 lead. The second half Knowlton outscored C.H.S. 38-18 to score almost at will, — however since the emphasis was on scoring the defense was lax. Phil Sykes with 19, Dave Crandall with 11, Jolley and Davidson with nine and Rogers with eight points were the high pointers for the Knowlton Seniors while Dryden hit for nine and Wenkert and Taylor each got eight points and played best for Cowansville High School.

Seaman and Hamilton scored nine and six for Knowlton Intermediates while Deblanc played a standout game on guard. For the losers, K. Farr and Spicer were high point getters with four points each.

Early Saturday morning a team from Knowlton High School journeyed to Montreal to enter the High School Pre Season Tournament in the Senior "B" section. Since the reason for going was strictly to gain experience, three members of the Intermediate squad went along with eight Seniors. They ran up against a smart club from the Town of Mount Royal High School. The Eastern Townships boys did well during the first quarter and led 12-10. However smart coaching combined with ability and height changed the picture in a hurry as Mount Royal took complete control of both backboards and proceeded to "hook" shots from all angles and pull into a lead. Their defence also tightened up and the rest of the game proved a walkover with Knowlton on the losing end of a 51-18 score.

Knowlton played their second scheduled game beating Howick High School 35-17. Howick played the same type of basketball that the other small towns of Quebec appear to do, Knowlton with better ball handling, rebounding and shooting pulled into an early lead and were never headed.

Immediately after that game an impromptu challenge was thrown by Lower Canada College (one of the better teams in the tournament).

The Knowlton boys by that time were very tired, having played in Cowansville the day before, then getting up to go to Montreal to play twice more. Lower Canada College event into an early lead and were leading by four points at half time. The Knowlton boys playing without their Captain and stellar guard, Osborne rallied in the third quarter to take a commanding 27-18 lead at three quarter time. However early in the last quarter we lost our other two regular guards (one via the foul route and the other because he was too tired to play well) and the complexion of the game changed immediately. L.C.C. scored 13 points to wrap up a 31-27 win.

The trip provided the experience needed for and it is hoped that the results will be shown in future games.

The Quebec Hockey League is well balanced. Any one of the seven teams could be considered as a contender for the title.

Although the Springfield Indians and the Valleyfield Braves are trailing the pack slightly they cannot be counted out. It is too early in the season.

Springfield, like Chicoutimi, has to do a lot of travelling.

Tomorrow afternoon the crowd-pleasing Montreal Royals clash with the Saints at the local arena. Game time is 2:30 and it should be a thriller.

Andy Bruyong was recently elected president of the Hillcrest Ski Club.

Andy was chairman of activities last year and is well groomed for the position.

Bishop's College School tangles with Superior School at the local arena tonight in the first game of a doubleheader. This is a league game and a tough battle is expected.

The second game of the doubleheader is an exhibition tilt between St. Francis Juniors and St. Francis Juveniles.

Sports Editor Len O'Donnell will be one of the many thousands watching the Grey Cup game this afternoon.

Len will be back at the helm at the beginning of the week and will resume his column on Wednesday.

The Railways have put on special coaches to handle the fans, Toronto hotels hung out the "sold out" sign months ago and ticket scalpers are having a hey-day.

Today is the day that rival coaches have been waiting for. Today will see whether the powerful Winnipeg Blue Bombers can take the Grey Cup away from the East.

Both teams have an array of stars. Winnipeg, however, has been rested and did not get the going over Hamilton did when they tangled with the injury-riddled Montreal Alouettes.

Gate receipts will total $168,000 or more today and the performers are being well-paid. This is some change from the days when only a few hundred saw the game and the players played for sport jacket and banquet.

The two teams will however battle for the same 18-inch trophy donated by Earl Grey, then governor-general of Canada, on June 4, 1909.

The two teams are champions in their own divisions. Hamilton in the East and Winnipeg in the West.

John Mize Is Made Free Agent

New York — (AP) — Johnny Mize, who hit 350 home runs during his major league baseball career, was made a free agent Friday by New York Yankees at his own request.

George Weiss, Yankee general manager, said the action was taken now to permit Mize, who has expressed the desire to coach or manage a minor league team, to find such a job at the annual baseball meetings starting in Atlanta, Ga., Monday.

The heavy-hitting first baseman will be 41 Jan. 7. He broke in with St. Louis Cardinals in 1938 and later played with New York Giants, also of the National League before he joined the Yankees in 1949.

Sports Roundup

New York. — (AP) — It is doubtful that any manager ever took over a big league ball club under more unenviable circumstances than Walter Alston, the big, unheralded minor leaguer from the mid-west who was smuggled into town Tuesday and poured into the toga shed by Charlie Dressen.

If the central figure in the latest of a long line of many managerial shifts in Brooklyn wasn't too bewildered to think clearly, he must have wondered if fate hadn't slipped him one from the bottom of the deck.

Alston, without a moment's managerial or coaching experience in the big show, is being asked to take over a collection of veteran stars, some of them highly temperamental, and at least equal Dressen's record of two pennants and a tie in the past three years. His employers admit frankly they are thinking in terms of a World Series victory.

If he doesn't get the horsepower

It should be a tough battle. Having seen only Hamilton play it is hard to make a selection. Looking at both teams on paper, but some teams play a lot better than look on paper and viceversa, we think that Hamilton will have the edge.

Winnipeg may have the advantage in the air but Ed Songin proved against the Alouettes that he can also throw the leather.

Going out on the limb we will pick Hamilton and going further out on the limb we will say 29-15.

This afternoon at U.B.C. the Bishop's hoensters tangle with Macdonald College aggies at 3:30.

New member of the basketball squad this season is Fella Kiar, a former R.M.C. hoop star.

THIS AND THAT Jerry Top-pazini, recently recalled from the minors, scored his first three goals of the season on Thursday night to lead Boston Bruins to a 5-2 victory over the New York Rangers.

The 52nd annual convention of the National Association of the Professional Baseball League is being held in Atlanta, Georgia, starting this morning.

The annual Hillcrest Darts Tournament will be held this Sunday at Hillcrest Lodge. Play will start at 2 p.m. . . . Bill Vesels, of Edmonton Eskimos, won the Canadian Schenley Award and in addition to the perpetual trophy he receives $1,000 in cash, a permanent plaque and a diamond-studded gold tie-bar.

Did you know that goals scored after removal of a goaltender from a game to add extra scoring power do not count against the net-minder's personal record. . . .

Lynn Patrick, Bruin mentor, claims that the Maple Leafs are told to hold.

An injury has cooled off Earl (Dutch) Reibel, the starry rookie with the Detroit Red Wings. Will he stay cooled off or will he return to early season form? . . . Vic Lynn has elected to retire from the game rather than be sent to the minors. . . .

The Detroit Red Wings have had trouble winning games on the road this season. Incidentally the Wings farm club, Sherbrooke Saints, have not had much luck on the road either. . . .

Gelineau To Goal For Hawks
Chicago — (AP) — The reeling Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League Friday came up with another replacement for ailing goalie Al Rollins.

Jack Gelineau, former netminder for Bruins and with Quebec Aces of the Quebec Hockey League for the last two seasons, will be in the Hawk net tonight against the Red Wings in Detroit and Sunday here, also against the Red Wings.

Gelineau replaces Jean Marois, who has been returned to Quebec after yielding 11 goals in two Hawk losses to Toronto and Montreal.

The last-place Hawks have won only three games, while losing 17 and tying three.

out of the Dodgers that Dressen did, Alston will be cooked and Charlie will become a greater martyr than ever in the eyes of the Brooklyn fans.

Can't Win
But let us suppose he is blameless personally, that he handles his athletes cautiously and well and leads them to a third straight flag. Let us even say that, with Don Newcombe back from the army and pitching, he gives Brooklyn its first world championship within the next two years. Where would that leave Alston?

Well, so far as anyone knows to the contrary, it still would leave him just back of Pee Wee Reese in the club's annual (managerial) sweepstakes.

When Reese is ready to take over, the pressure on the owners to give him his chance will remain strong, for possibly he is the most popular player ever to have worn a Dodger uniform.

Maybe a world championship would silence the Reese adherents at least temporarily, but the new Dodger boss should not make the mistake of shooting for any lesser goal.

Chalmers' Church Held Its Annual Christmas Supper In Gould Town Hall

Gould, Nov. 28. — The annual Christmas sale and supper of Chalmers' Church was held in the Gould Town Hall.

The night being fine an unusually large crowd was present to partake of the baked beans and scallop supper, which was in charge of Mrs. P. W. MacIver.

The sales tables were in charge of the following: Fancy Work, Mrs. Alex Beaton; aprons, Mrs. Mac Martin, and the food table, Miss Katie Macdonald. All articles found a ready sale and a very successful evening both socially and financially was realized.

THE W.M.S.
The monthly meeting of the W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. M. N. MacKay with the usual number present.

The meeting was in charge of the president, Mrs. K. N. MacIver. Rev. Mr. Matthews opened the meeting with a prayer, which was followed by a hymn.

The program as laid down in the "Missionary Monthly," was followed. The theme of the Worship Hour was "The Church, The Body of Christ." Mrs. Marshall Smith gave a resume of the chapter in the study book, "Where'er the Sun." Selections were read by the different members.

The minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. Ruel Annesley and were adopted as read.

A hymn was then sung, after which the meeting was closed by a benediction from Rev. Mr. Matthews.

A delicious tea was served by the hostess assisted by others.

A HOUSE WARMING PARTY
Upwards of forty young people gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Matheson to tender them a surprise house-warming in their new home.

The evening was pleasantly spent in playing cards, after which a delicious supper was served by the ladies.

During the evening a well filled purse was presented to the young couple by Mr. Roscoe Morrison, to which Mr. Matheson in a few words extended the thanks of himself and Mrs. Matheson and their appreciation of a very pleasant evening.

The party broke up by singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows." Guests from Sherbrooke, Lennoxville and Brompton, were present.

WHY YOU SHOULD BUY CHRISTMAS SEALS!

X-RAY SAVED THIS MAN'S CHILDREN!

Tom Jones thought he was healthy. His final "medical" before discharge from active service showed he had tuberculosis. Through X-Ray it was discovered that he had infected his children. Treatment for all was begun at once. Because the disease was discovered early treatment was simple, and recovery speedy . . . and sure. You can safeguard yourself and your family by participating in the community X-Ray survey.

Stamp out Tuberculosis!

St. Francis District Anti-Tuberculosis League

Sherbrooke, November 16th, 1953

B. N. HOLTHAM, president
LOUIS F. CODERE, joint president
J. M. A. BEGIN, treasurer
ANT. DESLAURIERS, secretary.

Dear Citizen:

Shortly, it will be Christmas with all its family meetings and entertainments. In many homes again this year, there will be sadness on account of a missing father, mother or child being in a Sanatorium. Even if tuberculosis is decreasing, we still find many cases that need hospitalization.

However, each case discovered is prevention of contagion. This is why we concentrate our work in finding the disease. Since August, we have our own Mobile Unit for the St. Francis District. Within three months, our Mobile Unit was visited by 18,733 persons. On the other hand, 8,988 persons were examined at the Dispensary.

Due to your generosity, 27,721 men, women and children had X-Ray examinations this year. This is more than twice the number of persons we could examine last year. Many cases of T.B. were found and have been taken care of.

As we wish to go further, we need your collaboration and financial support. We are offering you our usual Christmas Seals and we trust that your generosity will enable us to extend our work. Your donation will be very much appreciated.

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!
