Chateauguay Valley Historical Society To Make Immediate Start To Create Museum

There was a very good attendance at the meeting of the Chateauguay Valley Historical Society at their Allan's Corner site on Thursday evening. The meeting was held in the open which was an innovation and everyone was enthusiastic as to the project to be discussed.

President Goodfellow gave a preamble as to what had taken place at Executive meetings which brought the meeting up to date. He said that there was a feeling that the Society had not attained too much since its inauguration, but he felt that much had been accomplished as they now had the battle site and log house, although they had a debt which had to be paid off. The Society needed money and so there must be a means of raising money. But he defied anyone to say that the Society had done nothing.

After explaining this, he brought up the matter of a museum as a centennial project. He said he had taken up the matter with local Members of Parliament and with Mr. Fisher. As to getting a grant under the terms of the Centennial Fund, it looked as if this would be out. He explained that the province had been divided into a number of districts for the purpose and that Chateauguay, Huntingdon and Beauharnois Counties had been lumped together as one area. Valleyfield had made application for a cultural hall and this was what had received sanction, but Valleyfield had not gone ahead with it. If they dropped the matter, then perhaps the museum idea would be considered for the grant. He was therefore disappointed that the museum might not be rated for a grant.

Those present felt that regardless of grants or anything else, the Society should get something done and make a start to collect items for the museum, fix up the building for the purpose and have it open for the public so that people would know it was alive. They felt an immediate start on this with the idea it would be open soon should be the object.

Mr. Goodfellow explained that the Society needed money for these things and he called on Donald Watson to address the gathering on the subject. Mr. Watson said he felt that an immediate canvass should be made to obtain both funds and items for the museum and that it should be open as soon as possible.

In a very short time volunteers were coming forward to assist in the canvass and this will be under way in the very near future. Donald Watson will be in full charge of this.

The next matter was that of funds, it was suggested that memberships should be sought as well as donations from any who would be willing to help. To this end a suggestion was made that $2 each be collected from those present as a starter. This was complied with and a sum of $86 was collected right at the meeting.

It was therefore decided that the log building on the Battle Site and the Society's property be established as a museum and to be open to the public. That the money now being collected be for the sole use of the project and that Donald Watson would be in full charge of same.

There was great enthusiasm for the project, as all present felt that the Society must raise funds and get things going. The feeling of the meeting that immediate action was the thing to create greater interest in the Society which had been delaying for too long. It was felt that with this project in mind there would be renewed general public interest and that donations of articles for the museum and money for the fund would not take long to start coming in. This being the case, the museum could probably be opened this summer.

Mr. Bolter of Huntingdon, volunteered to take charge of gathering the articles for the museum and he will be asisted by others in various parts of the territory. This canvass for articles is on immediately and the Society will be glad to hear from anyone in the Chateauguay Valley, who has such articles they would be willing to donate, or loan, for the purpose of placing on exhibition at the museum. The sooner the collection can be obtained and cataloged the sooner it will be in operation.

In addition to this, funds are needed and to this end contributions of any amount are sought from the general public. If you wish to donate to this cause, let Mr. Watson know, or write to the Society your intentions. Money is needed at once in order to carry through the present plans. Now is the time for you to come forward and signify your support for a centennial project for our area. If the Government will not help, it is the desire of the citizens to do it for themselves, even if it takes several years to accomplish the goal. That was the feeling of the meeting.

A member of the Franklin Historical Society from Malone, congratulated the meeting on the enthusiasm shown and said he wished his own group would show such keen interest and eagerness to get things done.

As darkness was then falling, the meeting adjourned with a feeling of satisfaction that now things are going to be done.

More Than 800 At County War Memorial Arena Wednesday To Welcome Cariboo Indian Girls' Pipe Band

Reverend Father Hubert O'Connor, O.M.I. is shown above signing the Golden Book in the presence of Pipemaster Aucoin and the twenty young Indian girls who comprise the Cariboo Indian Girls Pipe Band. Also present, Mayor Leo Cappiello, Aldermen McGerrigle, Brisebois, Gaw and Murphy and Mr. John Cappiello, President of Huntingdon Branch No. 81 Royal Canadian Legion.

They came from far and near, particularly the O'Connors, to see and hear the Cariboo Indian Girls Pipe Band at the Huntingdon War Memorial Arena, Wednesday evening, July 7th. In the case of the O'Connors it was a sort of homecoming and honouring a distinguished member of their Clan, inasmuch as the Rev. Father Hubert O'Connor, O.M.I., Director of the Pipe Band, is a native of "The Ridge", Godmanchester County. Moreover, the O'Connor's from the Town and County of Huntingdon were joined by a considerable number of either relatives or friends from Bombay, N.Y., and its vicinity.

While they had only a few days to do so, the Organizing Committee was nevertheless able to 'blanket the area', so to speak, in a publicity way. However, most of that service should be credited to the spontaneous assistance given by various bodies and individuals. For instance, the Priests and Ministers of Huntingdon Town and County gave Yeoman service when they announced the event-to-be from their respective pulpits; several shopkeepers gave space in their windows for placards; Gerald and Mrs. Brisebois made a publicity and ticket drive among their relatives both here and Bombay, N.Y., etc. so also did several other members of the Committee. Finally, The Gleaner's front page editorial, together with the last minute advertisements in same, completed the advertising campaign in a very effective manner.

President John Proudfoot and his fellow directors generously offered the use of the Huntingdon War Memorial Arena free of charge, while Rev. Father O'Connor intimated through his Sister and Brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Brisebois (the Liaison or go-between the Pipe Band and the Legion Committee) that this would be considered as a Good-will visit, thereby without any strings, so to speak, as to gate or other receipts. However, the Executive Committee of the Legion decided that the proceeds be distributed on a three way basis — 50 per cent of the gross receipts to the Band; 25 per cent each of the balance, less expenses, to the Huntingdon War Memorial Arena and the Building Fund of Huntingdon Branch of the Legion.

And so it was that there was an attendance of over 800 adults, students and other children, not only from the Town and County of Huntingdon but from several other points, including Caughnawaga, Que.; Bombay and several other parts of New York States. All of which was, of course, most gratifying indeed to the Legion's Organizing Committee, especially so to the Chairman, John A. Thompson who was untiring in his efforts during the very few days he had to organize and supervise the many necessary arrangements, and who also acted as MCee on the night of the Show. Likewise, Gerald Brisebois, who, as already indiciated, was the Liaison between the Band and the Committee, and was also untiring in his efforts.

The Cariboo Indian Girls Pipe Band is, of course, comprised of pupils of the Cariboo Indian Residential School, Williams Lake, B.C., of which the Rev. Father Hubert O'Connor, O.M.I., is Principal. Clad, as the members are, in full Highland Pipers' costumes, including Kilts and Plaids of Royal Canadian Air Force Tartan, the Cariboo Pipers and Drummers, all teenagers, made a most spectacular appearance. Likewise so did Pipe Major Cyril Aucoin in his former

Lakeside Church Services Again This Year at Fraser's Point

(By Mrs. V. Elder)

STE. AGNES — Lakeside Services at Fraser's Point began on Sunday morning, July 11th., led by the new student minister, Mr. Charles Carpentier. Once again, the young people in the community are helping out with the singing.

These worship services, held in God's great outdoors and in close communion with Nature are a unique and inspirational experience to all who participate in them.

An old-fashioned hymn sing, led by the choir, will be held on Sunday evening, July 18th., in Zion Church. At this time it is planned to sing several of the well-loved gospel hymns which are so frequently overlooked in our formal morning services.

The Gas Strike Is Over; But The Public Pays

The gasoline retailers' strike was short-lived, but the strikers won their objective, at the expense of the public. Gas is now costlier by two to three cents per gallon in most areas.

The strike in the Chateauguay Valley was short-lived. Early Wednesday afternoon, a calvacade of about twenty vehicles each with several occupants, arrived in Ormstown. Passers-by on the highway thought the cavalcade to be part of a funeral procession as each car and truck arrived in the town with its headlights on. Stopping in front of each service station, they advised the attendants to close their pumps down. One garage owner in Ormstown, Archie McCormick, protested and someone in the group smashed the glass bulbs on the sides of the tanks that show gas is being pump while the dollars and cents are adding up on the tank. Any attempt to serve gas without the bulbs would mean the gas would shoot out from the sides of the pumps and not go into the hose at all.

Leaving Ormstown, the cavalcade headed towards Huntingdon, stopping at the Royce Ruddock General Store at Dewittville where they blocked Highway Four until the pumps there were closed.

The group then continued on to Huntingdon, arriving at Riverside Motors Reg'd. at 3 p.m. Service station attendants were all told to close down their pumps immediately. Local retailers were given to understand that if they reopened without permission, they could expect retalliation. One operator later told The Gleaner this meant cut hoses, smashed pumps or broken windows.

A Gleaner representative taking pictures was asked if they were being taken for The Gleaner. When the reply was in the affirmative, he said he was a service station proprietor from Valleyfield and he was accompanying other service station operators on a tour to request all retailers to join in the strike. He said they were not striking to have the public pay more for gas, but to have the oil companies sell to everyone at the same cost. He claimed one Valleyfield retailer was paying eleven cents less per gallon than his competitors. They also wanted the oil companies to reduce their rent to one cent per gallon. When asked who had broken the glass bulbs at the McCormick garage in Ormstown, he denied any knowledge of any form of damage or intimidation. He said he believed the legitimate group had been joined by 'a bunch of goons' who fell in the original cavalcade. The 'legitimate group' that visited Ormstown and Huntingdon Wednesday afternoon, he maintained, were owners of service stations in Valleyfield, Beauharnois and St. Zotique.

Be that as it may be, nobody from this area was asked to join the cavalcade. Furthermore, with the exception of the odd car with one or two occupants, none of the group wore uniforms or clothing that even slightly, resembled the attire of most service station attendants.

A Regional board had been previously set up in Valleyfield where it was decided that certain people would be able to obtain gas each day of the strike at predetermined stations each day of the strike. No provision was made by this board for farmers, tourists, salesmen, etc. One Huntingdon grocer was told by a Montreal meat supplier that his company could not obtain gas for their trucks and he would not be around again until the strike was over. The heads of the regional board advised Huntingdon service stations they would be in town at one p.m. Thursday when they would give orders as to who could obtain gaz and where. When they hadn't shown up by 1:15, one by one the service stations opened.

The strike is over. It caused little inconvenience to anyone in this area, but John Q. Public is getting about three cents less value for each gallon of gasoline he buys.

Local Service Stations stopped serving gasoline as Strike Promoters arrived.

Girl Dead And Three Others Narrowly Escape Drowning In Boat Mishap Near St. Anicet

One young Montreal lady lost her life as the result of a boat mishap near St. Anicet on Saturday afternoon, July 3rd., and the three other occupants of the craft nearly lost their lives by drowning. Victim was Miss Colette Bourret, age 19, of 8223 10th Ave., Ville St. Michel. Her friend, Miss Lillian Fortier, age 20, of 255 Beaumont, swam to shore after the boat was swamped by waves and summoned rescuers for the two men in the party, Serge Sauvé, 23, of 8545 Lajeunesse St. and Ronald Prevost, 21, of 2535 Des Ormeaux, all Montrealers.

The group rented a boat equipped with a 30 h.p. outboard motor at Dan's Marina, Lancaster. After water-skiing in that area, they crossed the lake to locate the brother of one of the girls who was spending the week-end at St. Anicet. About mid-afternoon they left St. Anicet to return to Lancaster.

In the channel, their boat was swamped by waves. Whether this was caused by the storm that suddenly broke or whether they were swamped by the wash of a passing ship is uncertain. All had donned life belts or had seat preservers on when the accident occurred. Miss Bourret wore a life preserver and was fully clothed. Her companions said she became panic-stricken and she fought to stay above water by clinging to the necks of the men. They strived to calm her but after less than five minutes it became evident they would drown as she kept pulling them under. Finally, the men extracted themselves from her grip.

It was then that Miss Fortier decided to swim to shore for help. The waves had carried all of them some distance from the upturned boat. The high wind helped carry Miss Fortier to land and she finally arrived at the summer home of Dr. Lalonde. Neighbors soon gathered and Dr. Lalonde, Dr. Claude St. Onge and Dr. Gerald Racey administered first aid to the exhausted, incoherent girl. When it was learned that the two men were still in the vicinity of the boat, Mr. Wilbur Jackson and three or four more men went out in their boats to rescue them. When located, they were near complete exhaustion and were unable to help themselves into the rescue boats.

Taken to shore, the men were wrapped in blankets and treated for shock. Later, given clothes by neighbors, they phoned one of the boy's aunts in Lancaster and she came by car to take them away. No further word from the survivors has been heard.

It was learned that a passing cruiser sighted a life belt shortly after the accident. Investigating, those on the cruiser reached down to lift up the preserver and saw a hand protruding from it. They took the body of Miss Bourret to Valleyfield and, to the surprise of everyone, Dr. Gauthier, district coroner, revealed after an autopsy that the victim had very little water in her lungs and had been the vicitim of a heart seizure.

Dr. Claude St. Onge and nephews Ricky and Jimmy Newman later spent several hours trying to retrieve the capsized boat. When they finally managed to bring it to shore, they found the dead girl's purse was still under the boat. Locating the purse had appeared to be of prime concern to one of the men, as the keys to the car they had travelled to Lancaster in were in the purse.

The men who went out in their boats to rescue the two men, including the doctors, say that another ten minutes in the water would have been fatal. Mr. Jackson and other rescuers deserve great credit for going out in the storm to rescue Sauvé and Prevost.

Again, this warning: storms break suddenly on Lake St. Francis and the water becomes treacherous even in squalls that seem quite harmless from land. Small craft owners would be well advised to head for shelter at the first signal of a storm. Also, if a mishap occurs, stay with the boat even if it is overturned as it will provide considerable floatation and will also help rescuers reach the scene.

Repairs To Be Made To Roof Of Huntingdon High School

Dr. J. S. Gaw, chairman of the Huntingdon Protestant School Board, called a special meeting on Monday evening to discuss the problem of repairs to a section of roof over the gymnasium of Huntingdon High School. Commissioners Jack Blake, Gordon Anderson and Dr. K. G. Cameron and Robert Baker were present, also the secretary-treasurer, Mr. Erle C. Martin.

For some time, Mr. Jake Ykema, custodian, has been reminding the board that the roof above the gymnasium was leaking. The board did not feel repairs should be undertaken until warm weather, as the roof is of the tar and gravel type. A complete re surfacing would cost several thousand dollars and the board wishes to avoid unnecessary expense, so Mr. Earl Fournier of Fournier Lumber & Construction, Inc. has been asked to locate the faulty area and patch it. Locating the leak may be tricky business as there is about 18 inches of insulation between the ceiling and roof and there has been very little rainfall so far this summer.

While the board members were examining the roof Monday evening, they were surprised to see three unusual birds. They had laid eggs right on the surface of the roof, no signs of a nest of any description. The commissioners say the birds resemble hawks, except they are smaller.

IAN WATSON, M.P. DONATES NEW FLAG

In the above photo Mr. Ian Watson, M.P., Chateauguay-Huntingdon-Laprairie and recently named chairman of the New Commons Committee on Indian Affairs, Human Rights, and Citizenship and Immigration, is seen presenting the new Canadian Flag to Miss Anne Campeau, leader of Notre Dame Stars of Huntingdon. The picture was taken Friday evening in front of St. Joseph's Presbytery.

The troupe is gaining wide acclaim and on Sunday afternoon took part in the Second Annual Venus Pageant in Valleyfield. 15 corps took part and ten trophies were awarded with the Huntingdon girls receiving one of the coveted awards. For the first time, the girls were wearing the recently acquired plumes which enhanced their already smart appearance.

The Stars of Notre Dame have been invited to participate in a pageant to be held in Beaconsfield in August.

This and That In Town

The concert presented last Wednesday evening at the Huntingdon County War Memorial Arena was an outstanding success, despite the fact that little advance publicity could be accorded the event in The Gleaner the previous week as it was uncertain when the group would arrive in Huntingdon. 690 paid admissions were recorded, an excellent turnout. The Cariboo Indian Girls' Pipe Band and their pipe major, Mr. Aucoin, are now on their way to Nova Scotia where they will take part in the Antigonish Highland Games. If possible, it would be a feather in the cap of Huntingdon to have the troupe return here on their way back to William Lake, B.C. Much credit for the success of the girls' appearance is due Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Brisebois.

Did you know sections of Highway 401 will be policed by helicopter patrols? Speeders will drive right into the hands of highway patrol cars. Take heed.

And the 1966 New York State licence plates will be blue on golden yellow instead of the present black on golden yellow. The plates will be good for six years with plastic squares designating each period of renewal.

The Chateauguay Valley Historical Society meeting at Allan's Corners Thursday evening was well attended and successful businesswise also. (see article and editorial).

COMPUTERS ELIMINATE FARM GUESSWORK — Use of computers in Saskatchewan farming operations is expected to grow significantly in the next decade as a necessary part of farm management, The Financial Post reports. Farming is no longer "small business", either in relation to capital investment or management skills. John Leier, a farmer in the Sedley district, 30 miles southeast of Regina, this spring became probably the first private farmer in Saskatchewan to have his entire farming operation measured and analyzed by a computer, an NCR 390, in Calgary. He now has confidence in the future of the computer in farming as it rather discomfitingly pinpoints his mistakes and projects an analysis of his 1,160 acre grain and cattle operation.

Leier has already revamped much of his farm financial and operational structure on the basis of his own computer data. For instance the data told Leier he can have a solid self-sustaining unit if he adds 160 acres of pasture, which would mean no increase in the size of the herd but a better-quality herd; adds 320 acres for growing grain; and switches 100 acres from grain to hay for fodder. Expandinng grain acreage by purchasing more land would bring his high depreciation costs into line.

TRY A FRUCTOSE COCKTAIL — Scientific proof is now available to support the drinker's theory that tomato juice or fruit mixed with alcohol helps keep a man sobor — and cuts a hangover, The Financial Post says. A Danish biochemist found that mixing of fructose (fruit sugar) and alcohol increased the rate at which the body converts and gets rid of alcohol. But before you start mixing fructose cocktails, there's a drawback: the mixture can cause a sour stomach and sometimes gives sharp abdominal pains.

Gleaner advertising manager has spent the past two weeks with his family at Somerville Beach, Lake St. Francis. News editor Sidney Smith left Friday with his wife, daughter Barbara and Miss Arthur on a camping trip to Prince Edward Island. Before leaving, our 'Ed' showed us a postcard he had received from his son, Mr. Brian Smith dated July 4th: "Am in Spain. Have been to Lisbon and Madrid. Very hot and humid climate. Barcelona is a lovely city, but everywhere there are beggars on the streets. Going to Rome next. Food is oily and the water unfit to drink. Staying two days, then on to Germany."

Archie S. Hayter warns people to keep an eye on their gardens. Read about what happened to his elsewhere.

The St. Lawrence Seaway Authority issued a warning on Saturday to operators of small craft and pleasure boats to stay out of the Cornwall Island area where an old bridge is being dismantled. It is the old North Channel Bridge (Roosevelt Bridge) between the island and the mainland 1½ miles north of the shipping channel. Huntingdon and Chateauguay county people will remember this as part of the old toll bridge, narrow and with a railroad running in the centre. Good riddance, but Lake St. Francis boating enthusiasts would be well advised to keep well away from the area.

The House of Seagram, conducting a survey to determine suitable soil for corn growing, recommends the Ormstown/Huntingdon district. See article.

And we note that Mr. Christopher Dyke, local Electrolux dealer, now offers a home rug shampoo service. At the moment, the service will be confined to Huntingdon, Ormstown and environs. Mr. Dyke, incidentally, is well known in Chateauguay where he delivers the Chateauguay Gleaner to route carriers every week.

The 20-odd young ladies who comprise the Cariboo Indian Girls' Pipe Band left Monday morning en route to Antigonish, N.S. During their stay in Huntingdon they were billeted at St. Joseph's Parish Hall where they slept in a dormitory. The Hall is equipped with a complete kitchen and other facilities and the girls made themselves right at home. They enjoyed a sight-seeing tour of Montreal and the Expo '67 site, had a fine day swimming and boating at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Brisebois at the lake, etc. Huntingdonians would welcome this group with open arms if they could arrange a return visit.

One of the largest horse shows in Northern New York State will be held July 18th at Keeseville, N.Y. and will undoubtedly attract entrants and spectators from this area. It will be held at Luther's Hobby Horse Farm at Finnegan's Corners in Keeseville and starts at one p.m. The show will feature 22 competitive classes and is sponsored by the Keeseville Kiwanis Club.

Russell's Island at Huntingdon, for generations a popular swimming area for youngsters, is now out-of-bounds. This decision was regretfully made by the Directors of Cleyn & Tinker Ltd. after being advised they would be held responsible for the welfare of anyone using the island.

There is still a distinct possibility that the Quebec Government will build a new highway from Trout River to the Mercier Bridge in time for it to be used for Expo '67. If so, the present scenic road would be widened and improved and completely new sections would be built at places. The fact that this highway is a main artery to the U.S.A. from Montreal has long been recognized, but everyone did not realize there is heavy traffic on it every day. Hundreds of campers traverse Highway 4 every day to and from New York State and on week-ends cars, trailers and trucks wend their way from Chateauguay and Montreal through Ste. Philomene, Ste. Martine, Howick, Ormstown and Huntingdon to camping sites at Moonlight Lake, Lake Meacham and other popular resorts. Take heart, the right people may yet realize that visitors to Expo '67 would take delight in passing through Canada's best dairy farmland, the Chateauguay Valley.

And note the editorial in this week's Gleaner concerning The Chateauguay Valley Historical Society, also the report on last Thursday's meeting at Allan's Corners. The Society will soon be shifting into a higher gear and the support of everyone is wanted. In another section the people of Chateauguay Valley are urged to support the Museum Project by donating articles of historical interest to the Chateauguay Valley Historical Society. Articles of this nature may be sent to the Society in care of The Gleaner, Huntingdon, or to any one of the coordinators listed in the advertisement. Cash donations, also needed to make the Museum a successful project, will be welcomed. Donations will be acknowledged weekly in The Gleaner.

Now, did you know that for the first time in five years Safety Sam failed to qualify for the six-man Malone Golf Club team? Jon shot a 158 and the winners had 149, 152, 155 and four shot 157. Enough said? Well, the outcome is that Safety Sam is taking his wife and son Mark on a four-day holiday this week. To Malone. To the golf course for Jon. To - - - (shop?) with Mark and Ola 'cause he has to get his game back even if it means taking lessons. After all, the Safety Sam Golf Tournament is coming up a week from Sunday and Jon doesn't want to win his own duffer's prize.

The Ormstown Band will present a concert in the Ormstown War Memorial Community Park at 8 p.m. Saturday. On Friday evening, there's an open air dance and band concert with round and square dancing at Alvin Gruer's. (See advts.) Please help the band by attending one of these two presentations.

Starting with this issue, readers will note a new feature in The Gleaner, Ann Landers. This popular column appears in many leading daily newspapers and only last week was made available to selected weekly newspapers. Since Bill Smiley's 'Sugar And Spice' column was incorporated in The Gleaner, a few years ago, we have received hundreds of testimonials to prove the column is appreciated by our subscribers. We believe Ann Landers' column, especially written for weekly newspapers, will also appeal to readers.

Something to remember in Ourtown: A couple of weeks ago a fire on the Athelstan Road destroyed the home of Miss F. Fox. Recently, a few young women got together and gave her a shower. What a wonderful thing for these young women to do, they are to be congratulated for their kindness and thoughtfulness.

Finally, today (Wednesday) is St. Swithin's Day. Legend is that if it rains on St. Swithin's Day, it will continue to rain for 40 consecutive days and nights. Well, we admit we can use more rain, but we don't want to be building arks.

An Urgent Appeal From The Hemmingford Firemen

(By Mrs. L'Esperance)

The following is an urgent appeal from the men of the Hemmingford Fire Brigade who, every time the siren sounds, have to contend with two serious problems caused by an over-anxious, over-zealous and, perhaps, just plain curious, public. The two problems? — Telephone calls and too many sightseeing cars.

A Warning From Your Fire Department

In order to do our job more efficiently we feel it has become necessary to ask everyone's help in two ways. 1 When the siren blows, DO NOT PHONE THE FIRE NUMBER JUST TO FIND OUT THE LOCATION. This line must be kept open for fire personnel. As has often happened in the past, curious people have phoned before the first fireman has arrived at the station to receive the call. This makes it impossible for the firemen to find the location of the fire. Many precious minutes have been lost in this way. 2. Do not crowd firemen approaching the station the station answering a fire call. Many firemen have busy intersections to cross. You can help greatly by moving out of their way and by remembering that the big truck when coming out of the garage, needs much more room than a car to make the sharp right or left hand turn. Please do not follow the fire truck until you are sure both trucks are well on their way. Both trucks must arrive at the scene of the fire at the same time. This is impossible when curious people get between the trucks or hamper the firemen in any way when racing to a fire. In many communities there is a fine placed on cars, other than those of the firemen, following the fire-trucks. We hope it will not be necessary to do likewise here. Curiosity is hard to control but please — Help Us To Help You!

Hemmingford Witnesses To Attend Convention

Members of the Hemmingford congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses and surrounding area will attend their annual provincial convention which will be held in the old capital from the 12th to the 15th of August, stated Mr. Nicholas Seniuk, local representative of the witnesses. He will be one of its organizers, and will direct the local congregation.

Mrs. J.M. Brown, Regional Vice-President was the guest speaker and gave a most interesting report on the conference she attended at Iroquois, Ont. On behalf of the ladies present, Mrs. Curran expressed sincere thanks to Mrs Brown and extended an invitation to Mrs. Brown and friends to attend our meetings whenever possible.

The president then called on Mrs. Fergus Moore to conduct the devotions.

The Roll Call was responded to by a Bible verse containing the word "flower". Six guests and eight members were present. Some items of business were discussed.

The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Sample.

Mrs. Curran closed the meeting with prayer.

District Boys Attend Scout Camp At Drummondville

Alex and Lorne Templeton of Aubrey-Riverfield, have returned from a Scout Camp held at Drummondville last week. Scouts from every province in Canada except Manitoba and Prince Edward Island as well as some Americans, one representative from Korea and seventeen Eskimos from Pond Inlet were in attendance making a total of 1282 boys in all. The Eskimo boys started out on their trip down to Montreal by dog sled, then by canoe for some distance and then they boarded a plane to complete their journey.

The Chateauguay Valley boys were under the leadership of a scoutmaster from Notre Dame de Grace.

It proved to be quite an experience; meeting so many new boys, enjoying life in a tent, swapping badges, and taking part in the various sports and competitions.

There were three classes in the competitions — Pioneering, Camp Crafts and Personal Fitness which included building monkey bridges, raising a flag pole, log lifting, Roman chariot race, axing, log sawing, fire lighting, driving tent pegs, obstacle courses, tire rolling, log rolling and carrying people in arm lift on a race track. Our boys did well by winning two events and coming second in a third.

During the week five papers were published giving much information about scouting.

The camp which was opened by Lientenant Governor Paul Comtois and closed by Jean Beliveau must surely have been of great value and influence for good in the lives of all the boys who attended and a never-to-be forgotten experience.

Many families from the district will be in Quebec to attend the convention, part of a series of 31 conventions, the only one in

The convention, of which the theme is "THE WORLD OF TRUTH", is for the purpose of demonstrating the increasingly important role that the Bible is called upon to play in the life of man. Science, particularly archaeology, give overwhelming proof of the Bible's authenticity; accordingly, subjects discussed will be the Bible's place in the modern world, and how to apply its counsel in our daily lives. Conventioners will also attend sessions dealing with the education of youth and how to prevent juvenile delinquency and the breakdown of morals.

Lacolle Wants New Route 52 To Pass South Of Village

A speedy recovery to Mr. Jim Feeny who is in hospital in St. Albans, Vt. following a car accident.

Mrs. W. L. Bernhardt and Carol returned home on Thursday after a two-week stay in P.E. I. with Mr. W. L. Bernhardt.

The traffic was terrific over the week-end. On Sunday afternoon at Blackpool Customs Route No. 9, from 4 p.m. to about 8 p.m., there were 9 lanes of cars coming in from the U.S.A. The Canadian Customs and Immigration had a busy day.

On Thursday evening the Chamber of Commerce of Lacolle held a meeting concerning the new route for 52 Highway. Some of the citizens wanted the road just widened and run through the village. Others wanted to have No. 52 made south of the village. It was put to a vote. The vote was in favour of the new route south of the village. A delegation from the Chamber of Commerce will make a trip to Quebec City shortly.

Mr. Robt. Derrick of the Immigration has been transferred to Vienna, Austria for a six-month period.

Mr. Hector Dumouchel passed away on Tuesday after a heart attack. Mr. Dumouchel was a Councillor, a good neighbour, and fine citizen.

Mrs. Jas. Burt of Toronto, widow of the late Rev. Burt is renewing acquaintances with old friends this week and staying at the Elmer Robinson home.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Geddes are spending a holiday at the Masten home.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Barrington and family of Ormstown were guests at the Elmer Robinson cottage Sunday afternoon.

Two Warehouses At Sherrington Destroyed By Fire

(By Mrs. L'Esperance)

The Hemmingford firemen were called out on two occasions during the past two weeks to aid the Sherrington Brigade. The first call was to a fire at the warehouse of Mr. Jacques Michaud. This was a new building used as a storage for the vegetables which Mr. Michaud grows. He had just driven his tractor into the building after cultivating his crops when it suddenly exploded. Mr. Michaud received severe burns to his hands. The building and contents, including the various machines used to harvest the crop, was a complete loss. With great presence of mind, Mr. Michaud towed to a safe distance, the trailer in which he and his family live.

The second fire the following week occurred at the warehouse of Mr. Jean-Paul Lambert just a short distance from Mr. Michaud's location. This, too, was a new warehouse containing the crates, bags and containers used for the vegetables which Mr. Lambert grows. The building and contents were a complete loss but the house was saved, Fireman Glen Clark courageously remaining on the roof of the house with a hose, despite the intense heat, to ensure its safety. As it was impossible to save the building, the firemen turned their hoses on the black muck surrounding the buildings to make sure the fire did not spread.

P.S. The return of the truck to the station is not the end as far as the men are concerned. They still have to put in many hours, cleaning the machines and washing, drying and replacing the hoses. The excellent condition of their equipment speaks eloquently of the time and care they

Hemmingford Township And Village Councils Meet

(By Mrs. L'Esperance)

The regular meeting of the Hemmingford Township was held on Monday evening, July 5th at the Town Hall. Mayor Florian Dauphinais presided. Present were Councillors Dame, Poissant, Hadley, Brown and Barr. Councillor M. Bouchard was absent.

Mr. Joe Dauphinais asked that work be done on a ditch running south to north below his packing house in order that the water which accumulates on his property south of the Covey Hill Road might be taken off through the culvert which crosses the road at this point. If other landowners are interested and wish action taken then Council agreed to give the matter further consideration.

As no tender was received for the cutting of the grass along all roads in the municipality the matter was deferred until the next meeting. A suggestion was put forward at this time by a member of the public that as so many farmers cut their own roadside boundaries it was unfair to expect them to pay for work which would not have to be done and instances were given of various long sections of the roadside where the grass had already been cut.

Permission was given for a culvert to be installed across the Back Bush road to drain into the Bourdeau discharge.

It was reported that the road leading to the Municipal Dump on Fisher Street has now been gravelled and a gate will be installed which will be open every Saturday for convenience of those wishing to dispose of rubbish.

Mr. Arthur English presented a petition to Council signed by all businessmen and residents on the highway leading from the Border to Hemmingford Village. The petition requested Council to install at least 10 lights from Cleland's Corner to the Village. Mr. English said that with the increase in the number of business premises and houses, with the increase of traffic to the lake and the golf course, this stretch of road was becoming increasingly dangerous, especially for the youngsters who walked to the stores or the lake or used their bicycles. The number of large semi-trailers using this road seemed to be on the increase and the speed limit was 60 m.p.h. He was of the opinion that a blinker light should be installed at the intersection of Frontier Road and Fisher St. — Robson Street and that warning signs should be placed at the roadside approaches to this intersection.

Council was unanimously of the opinion that this was a matter needing attention. It was pointed out that just a year ago Council asked the Road's Department to reduce the speed limit on this stretch of road to 30 m.p.h. from the village to Viau's Store but the request was turned down as there were insufficient residences on the road to warrant it. After further discussion it was decided to request the presence, at the next meeting, of Mr. Bellefeuille of Shawinigan Water and Power Company, to ascertain the cost of installing lights along this road and also the cost of a blinker light at Cleland's Corners. It was resolved to again request the Department of Roads to reduce the speed limit on this road to 30 m.p.h.

The Electoral Boundary Commission has set Tuesday August 31 as the date for the hearing of protests against the proposed new electoral boundaries.

All ratepayers will be notified by mail when the new assessment roll is deposited with the secretary and also the date of homologation.

A notice was received from the Quebec Liquor Board requesting Council to post a notice of application for a liquor license which has been made by the Hemmingford Golf and Sports Club.

Resolved that Council purchase a full page in the Havelock Fair Handbook at a cost of $20.

The secretary was instructed to pay the following bills presented: Huntingdon Gleaner, Financial Statements $76.18 and Valuation Notices $19.71, Keddy and Somerville, Public Liability Insurance $100., Secretary's salary and stamps $178.51, Rent and care of Dump $125.

Hemmingford Village

The regular meeting of the Hemmingford Village Council was held at the Town Hall on Tuesday evening, July 6th. Mayor Walter Smith presided. Present were Councillors McNaughton, Germain and Poissant. Absent were Vouncillors Keddy, Wallace and Tobin.

Authorization was given for the cleaning of the ditch from the sediment basin to the underpass culvert.

Mr. Gordon Hill requested that the road from Somerville Place to his house be paved. It was decided to discuss this matter with Mr. Somerville.

Resolved that the secretary contact Mr. Leo Fortin concerning the deed for the streets in the new developement in the village.

It was agreed that Council purchase a full page in the Havelock Fair Handbook at a cost of $20.

The date of hearing protests against the proposed new electoral boundaries has been set by the Electoral Commission for August 31st.

Councillor McNaughton gave notice of motion that he would introduce a by-law at the next regular meeting for the purpose of — 1. regulating the sale of water to residents of the village, 2. outlining the conditions under which water will be supplied to duplex or multiple tenement properties which may be built or converted in the future, 3. to set new methods of payment of water tax.

Numerous complaints having been received concerning the dirty condition of certain streets in the village, the secretary was instructed to write Mr. Henri Giroux to this effect and to request that this work be completed immediately.

It was resolved that Council purchase and erect a flagpole on the Municipal Building.

Resolved that Council have all broken sections of sidewalks repaired with asphalt, as soon as possible.

Reports have been received of various trees in the village which are dead and, or in a dangerous condition. It was decided that a survey be made and, as soon as possible, these trees will be removed.

The question of hiring a temporary, part-time policeman was discussed and further details will be obtained.

The secretary was authorized to pay the bills presented: K. Johnson, $45., Pierre Thibault $184.41, Regional Construction $96. $30.95 $6.73, W. B. Smith $13.56 $19.93, R. Hawkins $5.05, W. Keddy $432.18, Erle Martin $5., Rodriguez $15, Bell Telephone $26.73, R. Hebert $96, P. Simpson $4, Shawinigan $99.74, F. Poissant $27.50, H. Giroux $89.37.

30 Students In Huntingdon Who Failed Exams May Attend Summer School

A regular meeting of the Huntingdon Catholic School Commission was held Wednesday July 7 at St. Joseph with Mr. Gerald Crete presiding and commisioners Laurent Nadeau, Lawrence McCallum and Leonard Grenon present.

The meeting started by prayer after which Secretary Mr. Herve Tessier opened the correspondence.

A letter was read from the Dept. of Education pertaining to the sale by tender of the Herdman school; it approved the Board's refusal to accept a tender for one dollar and seconded their decision to retain the services of a real estate broker. Another letter from the Dept. was received, in connection with a trip to Quebec by the President and the Secretary, announcing grants of $36,112.24, $20,966.00 and of 25% in the fall, to the school commission.

A number of bills were passed for payment.

The question of hiring a teacher for the English grade 7 was then discussed; since no one could be found after steps had been taken to approach a number of qualified persons, it was decided to publish an advertisement in the newspapers.

Mr. Tessier announced that Mr. Stewart, official auditor at the Department of Education, will be in Huntingdon August 4 to explain to all the secretary-treasurers of the district the new regulations for their budgets.

The five contracts for the transportation of students of the primary course will be awarded for one term only this year. Public tenders will be published shortly and they will be opened at a special meeting July 28. It will be specified that the vehicles will have to meet will all the commissioners' approval.

A long discussion then took place on the subject of summer courses for the students of the primary course. It was revealed that about 30 students, who did not pass, would benefit from them and would have a chance to make the next grade. The Government allowing no grants however, and more information being needed, the board ruled to look further into this matter before coming to a final decision. It had been suggested that the commission pay half of the cost and the parents the other half.

THREE WEEK-END ACCIDENTS IN AREA

On Route No. 3 at Port Lewis about five p.m. Sunday, a 1956 Oldsmobile hard-top driven by Fernand Blanchette of Montreal ran off the road and turned over. The driver claims he was passing a truck it turned at the intersection, forcing him off the road. He was alone and escaped injury but the car was quite badly damaged.

Also on Route No. 3 four hours earlier the same day, near the intersection to St. Stanislas, Gilles Poirier of 48 Panet St., Valleyfield, lost control of his 1959 Dodge hard-top and it also rolled over off the road. Mr. Poirier was not injured.

On Saturday at 5.20 p.m. Mr. James Reynalds of Altona, N.Y. was travelling south on the Plank Rd. and at the intersection of Lake St. and Ridge Road his car was in a collision with a car driven by Gerald Poirier, 124 Sherbourne St., Toronto. Mr. Reynalds, an antique dealer from Altona, had been attending an auction sale near St. Anicet. After the accident, he seemed bewildered and was taken to the Huntingdon County Hospital by Mr. Martin Beattie, and later released. Gerald Poirier is a former resident of this area and nobody was injured in his car. Damage to the Poirier 1963 Oldsmobile amounted to about $700 and to the other car, about $600. The accident was investigated by Officer Ernest Leduc of Huntingdon Town Police.

MR. A. S. HAYTER WARNS GARDENERS

Practically everyone in Huntingdon knows Mr. Archie Hayter whose farm is on the outskirts of town on the Athelstan Road; certainly all but the younger generation remember when Mr. Hayter called on regular customers with quality fresh vegetables. In recent years, since the loss of his right hand, he has reduced some of his commercial garden area but still supplies special customers with fine squash, peas, beans, corn, etc. This year he again had a fine garden although it entailed plenty of hard work carrying water from the river to the garden because of the drought.

Saturday night, thieves ravaged his garden. His bean crop was picked clean, beats not quite ready all pulled and those not taken left lying on the ground, potatoes dug up to see if they were ready and the corn trampled. Even squash and other vines were pulled and hurled into the adjacent field.

For anyone to have produce that required hours of toil stolen is heartbreaking, but to add vandalism to theft is worse. Mr. Hayter came to the Gleaner Office Monday morning asking that a warning be printed in the newspaper so that other people will exercise more caution than he did and be spared similar loss.

Thank you, Mr. Hayter, and we hope your warning is not only heeded but will also result in the arrest of the thieves.

OBITUARY

The late Mrs. Joseph Derome

Mrs. Joseph Derome, a woman who lived a long and interesting life, died at the home of her nephew, Mr. J. P. Demers, on June 25, at 97 years of age.

The funeral service was held from the Loiselle Funeral Home, Ste. Martine to the parish church at Howick. Three priests from St. Louis de Gonzague, Ville de Lery and Howick assisted with the service. Interment was in the local cemetery.

Philomene Demers was born at the Irish Concession on Nov. 24, 1867 and for some time has been the oldest member of the parish church.

There were two schools on the Irish Concession when she was a child and no doubt she met her neighbour and only known living contemporary, Mrs. John Elliot (Martha Roy), as the two girls walked to their separate schools.

Later Philomene studied at the Ste. Martine Convent and became a teacher, holding that position at Ste. Clothilde for about 15 years. Her first salary was $75. per year.

There she met her first husband, Mr. Dolma Barbeau and they lived on the Irish Concession before moving to Burlington, Vt., where they lived for about 50 years before coming to Howick where he died.

Following her marriage to Mr. Joseph Derome of St. Jean they lived in that city, coming to Howick a few years later. Since his death Mrs. Derome has lived alone until the last few years. Her mind was clear until early this year and she loved to tell her nephew and friends stories about her life.

She is survived by two nephews, Mr. Edmond Schinck of Ville de Lery, Mr. J. P. Demers of Howick, and other nieces and nephews of the next generations.

Ormstown Corn Graded No. 1 Can. By The House of Seagram

Quebec is one of the key provinces in The House of Seagram's 1965 Corn Crop Development Program. More than 20 acres have been put under test in four regions to determine the early-maturing grain corn varieties best suited to Quebec conditions.

Grain corn was grown successfully as a cash crop in Quebec last year, with particularly good results in the Ormstown-Huntingdon region of south-western Quebec.

Test plots averaging two acres apiece have again been sown to early-maturing grain corn hybrids in the Ormstown, Brome and Beaupré areas. A new Quebec region for the test plot program is St. Hyacinthe, where four test plots have been planted with the assistance of Professors Philippe Granger and Gaetan Lussier of L'Institut de Technologie Agricole of St. Hyacinthe.

Dr. Vernon G. MacKay, co-ordinator for the Grain Development Program of The House of Seagram, is working in close co-operation with local agricultural specialists and officials. Arrangements are made directly by the distilling company with individual farmers who then grow the suggested test varieties under recommended test conditions.

General purpose of the corn crop program is to stimulate through experiment the planting of early- maturing grain corn hybrid varieties in areas with a suitable climate to the point where grain corn will be a safe and suitable commercial crop in the new corn regions of Canada, and to determine which specific varieties are best adapted for each corn area.

The requirement is for a corn hybrid which will mature in a 60-70 day period (depending on climatic conditions), and which can be planted as early as possible in the Spring and which will mature as rapidly as possible through the growing season in order to beat the early Fall frosts.

(Suitable areas for growing grain corn can in part be determined by arbitrary values called "heat units", or crop development units, based on the relationship between corn development and temperature. Generally grain corn can be safely grown in areas having a rating of more than 2500 heat units).

Dr. V. G. MacKay notes that "partly because of the lack of the right early-maturing varieties the supply of Canadian grown grain corn to meet Canadian needs has been limited with more than a third of the annual Canadian requirement of around 75 million bushels coming from other countries. This presents a great potential for greater grain corn production by Candian farmers. With the recent development of the early-maturing corn hybrid varieties by university, government and industrial corn breeders it is likely that many other areas may soon be considered for grain corn production".

Grain corn is an important element in the production of high quality Canadian whiskies, in addition to many other food and industrial products. Its most extensive use, however, is as a prime cattle, hog and poultry feed. In the case of Seagram, it is hoped that as a result of the experimental program into suitable corn hybrids the quality and volume of Canadian grain corn production will be sufficiently developed to meet the area requirements of the company's six Canadian distilleries.

"The 1965 program", Dr. MacKay says, "is the third year the corn tests have been held on a multi-regional basis. Only by conducting these tests over several years can we determine which regions can successfully and regularly grow the high quality corn we need. The test plots have already demonstrated that several Quebec regions can produce excellent grain corn,, while fringe areas are suitable to the production of silage".

Even though, as in other provinces, the 1964 crop year in Quebec was plagued by wet, cold weather (holding several of the maturing varieties to an average 50 bushels to the acre), the maturing grain corn itself was top quality. Some 3500 bushels of the grain corn from one Ormstown dryer graded No. 1 Canadian at the LaSalle Distillery of The House of Seagram. Indicative of the Quebec potential, the grain corn kept the distillery going only for part of one day.

The two Seagram Quebec distilleries, at LaSalle and Beaupre, alone require some 1½ million bushels of top quality grain corn annually. At the present time almost all of this grain corn is purchased in the Southern Ontario corn belt, since, until the present time, very little corn has been grown in commercial quantities in Quebec and Eastern Ontario.

A total of 14 early-maturing grain corn hybrids are under test on 11 Quebec plots this crop year as part of the distilling company's program. Four test plots, averaging four test varieties each, have been planted in the Ormstown area, four in the St. Hyacinthe area, one each in the Mansonville and Sherrington areas, and one at The House of Seagram's Beaupré farm. The plots at this latter North Shore location are being grown primarily for silage test purposes.

OBITUARY

The Late William T. McEwen

The community was saddened on Sunday last, when it learned of the sudden passing of a lifetime resident in the person of William T. McEwen.

Born at Ormstown, he was the son of the late Duncan McEwen and Janet McClintock.

In 1922 he married Catherine Cairns. They resided on the farm until less than a year ago when they moved to Ormstown.

Mr. McEwen was keenly interested in community affairs. He was a faithful member of the St. Paul's United Church and served as a member of the St. Paul's United Church Session for several years. He was elected in 1945 and retired in 1961 due to ill health. He was an exhibitor of Jersey cattle at the Ormstown Exhibition and was the assistant Chairman of the Cattle Committee. Worthy of note was his keen interest in the work of the I.O.O.F. and his membership of forty-seven years, dated back to February 12th, 1918. At the time of his sudden passing he was attending the I.O.O.F. Decoration Day Service at the Ormstown Union Cemetery.

Mr. McEwen lived for his family, and through the years, many young friends enjoyed the hospitality of the McEwen home.

He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, three sons and three daughters, Murray of Bedford, Shirley (Mrs. Archie Borland) of Ormstown, Ross of Toronto, Jean of Schefferville, Que., Anne of Montreal and Alton of Macdonald College. He also leaves seven grandchildren, one sister Elizabeth (Mrs. Stewart Todd) Huntingdon, one brother George of Grindrod, B.C., and a host of friends.

Tuesday evening, members of the I.O.O.F. from Ormstown, Huntingdon, Valleyfield and Montreal Lodges conducted a service at the McGerrigle Funeral Home.

Wednesday afternoon, a funeral service was conducted in the St. Paul's United Church by the deceased's Minister and neighbour, Rev. A. E. Loree. Rev. Howard Fraser of the Chateauguay United Church, a family friend for many years, assisted with prayers at the Funeral Home and at the Ormstown Union Cemetery.

Members of the St. Paul's United Church Session attended the funeral service in a body as honorary pallbearers.

The pallbearers were Archie Finlayson, Harold McCaig, William McClintock, Ewen McDougall, James Rodger and John Rodger.

Floral tributes were numerous.

Mariage David-Beaulieu

Samedi le 17 juillet à 10.30 hres a.m., en l'église St-Malachie d'Ormstown, sera béni le mariage de Mlle Huguette Beaulieu, fille de M. et Mme Rosario Beaulieu (Adélina Bolduc) et de M. Michel David de Ste-Barbe, fils de M. et Mme Hormidas David (Lucienne Caron).

STUCK? TRY TAPING IT!

Prevent scratches — Protect painted walls and prevent scratches on furniture by applying a strip of self-adhesive foam tape under lamps, ash trays and picture frames. Also apply the tape around vacuum cleaners, floor polishers and other appliances.

Use Durable Coatings

One of the nicest things about outdoor lawn furniture is that it's always there when you're ready to use it. But, says the Paint Industry Council, it should be protected against the weather, wear and tear by application of a durable coating.

Boat Painting Hint

When painting your boat, use marine paints on all surfaces, whether they actually come in contact with water or not. Marine paints are designed to withstand real punishment from sun, waves, marine growth, rain and abrasion, points out the Paint Industry Council.

Chateauguay News Notes

By Fergus Horsburgh

Not much has been heard about Seigniory Park's rat problem recently. There is another area in which rats have been seen many times, by many residents. I refer to Royal Avenue in the newer part of Prudential Development. Situated within about two blocks of Chateauguay High School in the swampy creek area just off Maple, the rats are to be seen at most times of the day or night; bold as brass and hungry for anything the householder might have lying about. Several of the residents have paid for an exterminator to come and plug up the holes in a stone wall at the rear of their properties with rat poison. No doubt this will kill off a few of them, but the resulting odor is — to say the least — also undesirable. We will try to follow this up and let the readers know what has been done this week.

Both Police Chiefs of the area attended the convention last week in St. Hyacinthe. Chiefs Roma Gervais and R. Spenard both report an interesting meeting.

Also both Police Depts. tells us that there were only minor accidents during the past week and no 'earth shaking' news of any sort.

Town of Chateauguay Police have been authorized by Council to purchase RADAR equipment. After reading it here, don't say you were not warned!

Approval of the tender by Marcel Reid for the addition to Maple School on McLeod Avenue has finally arrived from Quebec. Construction is to start in the near future. I know this has been printed in this column before, more than once, that start on the extension would be very soon. However there was still a little more red tape left on the roll and it just had to be used up!

Also on schools: the renovation of the Mary Gardner School cafeteria has commenced this week. This will accommodate the newly innovated Kindergarten classes due to start in Sept.

We also hear that there will be an English Catholic School erected in the Seigniory Park area. More information in future columns.

Visitors to the Chateauguay area last week were former residents, Rev. and Mrs. John Buck and four boys, now of Calgary, Alta. Rev. Buck was Rector of St. George's Anglican Church for seven years, before leaving here to take up duties in Christ Church, Calgary.

The light poles in Laberge Park are almost ready for operation. Work was continuing as of early Monday, July 12.

With all the assorted strikes we have been experiencing in recent months, are we all ready for th proposed Postman's strike? All very well to say, "At least, there won't be any of those nasty bills arriving, "but what about some of us who receive our bread and butter cheque by mail? Awful thought!

Next three paragraphs are from the Town of Chateauguay:

(1) An order has been given to the Secretary-Treasurer to sell all properties on which taxes are overdue.

(2) The Parks Commission are authorized to meet with the Town legal advisers to discuss the possibilities of obtaining subventions of the parks by-law.

(3) A contract has been granted to Desco, Inc. (in principle) for the installation of sixteen-inch water main across the river to connect to Chateauguay Heights system . . . On the advice of Town engineers it was decided to use the sixteen-inch size, instead of ten-inch. The Town accepts in principle to absorb the difference in cost between the ten and sixteen-inch size.

From Chateauguay Centre the following twelve paragraphs:

A notice of motion has been given concerning the amendment of two previous by-laws relevant to the dor by-law.

Council awarded contract (not definite) for installation of underground wiring for the amount of $189,248.20 to Pierre Brossard. Ltee. for completion of the works on said wiring Few of the places are already completed, and they will install lamp posts in these places.

At the last Council meeting: Approved payment of $94,113.31 on the Administration account, also salaries for June $25,755.95 and for expenditures on by-laws the amount of $172,785.81.

A contract has been awarded to Marier & Fils, Ltee. with the respect to by-laws 483, 484, 485, 486 and 492. In the amount of $169,646.55, the work is for domestic sewers surface drains and water on d'Anjou Blvd., Maple, St. Albar St. and Salaberry Blvd.

The Centre has spent approximately $400,000.00 for parks for the benefit of the community's young people. In return some of the young people have wilfully destroyed beyond repair, some of the equipment. A Chalet in Primeau Park costing $9,000. has had all the glass broken, all locks smashed, and some children were seen breaking holes in the roof with an axe! Apparently the damage has been so extensive and the children out so late at night, doing their nefarious deeds, that it has become necessary to post constables on guard. Now the park benches are ready to be installed, but work can hardly be started until something drastic has been done to safeguard the equipment in the parks. A curfew has been suggested to the writer, and this just might work, but how long does it take for this to come into effect?

At Reid Park a back-stop was installed recently, but neighbours bordering on the park are complaining to Centre Town Hall that the balls are landing on their property.

Tenders have been asked to install a fence all around Reid Park. The following are prices quoted:

Jean Crepin Builders' Supply:	$1,055.73
Guy Desparois:	$1,158.79
Francois Laberge:	$1,225.92

Letter received from Municipal Commission that by-laws 466, 471, 433, and 452 have been approved.

Council has also granted a sum of $175. to Les Majorettes for their picnic and also as a reward to Miss Gardner, their instructor. A sum of $75. was also awarded to the corps for day at the Chateauguay Swimming Pool; this to include their refreshments. The corps works very hard all year long, and this is in recognition of this.

A letter was received from the Vetville Men's Club asking for traffic lights at the corner of Bell Street and d'Anjou Blvd. However this is a Provincial Highway, and Centre has no authority to place lights at such an intersection. At present during the holidays, many of the police force are on vacation; but it is possible that during rush hours a constable may be posted here. Writer was unable to remember whether this applied to week-ends i.e. Friday and Saturday. More next week on this subject.

Council has approved a pension plan for all employees of the Centre to be enforced probably by July 15th. The police force has this plan already in operation.

A resolution from Council on the subject of Chateauguay River, to dig at the entrance of the river to eliminate some of the debris left by the seaway construction. Many small boats have been damaged by the pile of rocks and rubble; it also interferes with the flow of water, and in spring the channel is too narrow to permit the ice to flow into Lake St. Louis. Mr. Sarto Blais plans to work in this problem with the Federal Government. No doubt we shall hear more on this in the future.

Council has authorized the official opening of the Parks for August. Originally to be held July 15th, the event had to be postponed for various reasons. Centre is purchasing 3,000 crests and a few trophies for the young people.

The writer tried to obtain some progress news concerning the new Post Office building on Vanier, corner of Marquette. However the foreman on the job was not available, the writer was running short of time, so made the following observations: cement work, foundation and first floor seem to be completed. A few men were shovelling gravel in through the basement windows, and one surmises that the cellar floor would soon be poured. Other than that, there is NO wickets open yet to purchase stamps.

Learned the other day that Chief Roma Gervais of Town of Chateauguay Police is an avid hunter and fisherman. He is president of the Rivière Rouge Fishing and Hunting Club, and one does not need to guess where his vacations are spent! The Club's membership card is cleverly designed; A head of a moose, and for the eye — a trout!

16 HOWICK SCOUTS ATTEND CAMPOREE AT POWERSCOURT

(By Mrs. Crawford)

1st. Howick Troop of Boy Scouts attended the Chateauguay Valley District Camporee held at Dunn Memorial Camp Powerscourt, on June 25 - 27. Approximately 200 Scouts and leaders were there.

16 went from Howick with Scout Master Bert Champ and assistants Roy Younie and Leslie Champ. Falcon Patrol: P. L. Bob Cole, D. Angell, K. Wright, C. Gruer, R. Templeton, D. Allen, D. Chisholm, C. Champ; Fox Patrol: P. L. Frank Reddick, A. Reddick, A. McKell, M. Peddie, G. McArthur, P. Wright, R. Scoble, L. Champ.

They took part in all the camp activities and placed second by the point system. They are especially good at first aid and compass reading.

Howick and all other centres have their own camping area and meals were cooked and served there. Each troop drew up its own menus and for each meal there was one cook and assistant, one dishwasher and assistant, and one waterboy.

The dinner menus read: 1 pea soup, grilled hamburgers, apple pie, cheese, milk. 2 cold cuts, salads, pie, milk. Not one word about good old bread and butter, but if the boys were hungry the menu may have been, bread and butter with the above. The cost for the week-end was $2.75 per Scout. They carried their own sleeping and personal equipment. Waggles were presented to each as a memento of the occasion.

They had a grand week-end thanks to the generousity of a man — the late Mr. Gordon Dunn — who knew boys needed such a camp; and leaders who are happy to give time to scouting.

The Scout Master and assistants are most appreciative of the backing they received from the group committee in Howick of which Mr. John Fingland is chairman.

Alex and Lorne Templeton spent one week at First Quebec Jamboree - Drummondville.

Lorne Templton has earned the Poultryman and Healthy Man proficiency badges.

The children and parents in our area are no doubt happy to see our long awaited park being furnished. The younger set are thrilled with the swings, slides, horses and monkey bars.

A word of caution, however. Parents, please warn children to exercise caution and remember the safety rules. I understand one youngster received a bad bang and had a severe nose bleed and the police were called to administer first aid. Also some of the children, I understand, abuse the privileges by destroying or trying to destroy the playground equipment. This equipment is paid for by you, the taxpayer, so please urge your children not to destroy but rather to look after your interest in the park.

A special thank you to the powers that be for the park. It was long awaited and really needed in our area and when you see the number of children assembled in it it is hard to believe that they all live around here. It's a wonderful summer and no doubt many happy events are being planned for our youngsters so let's hope they enjoy themselves.

Happy anniversary to Mr. and Mrs. Ken Moody of Ethier Street who on Monday, July 12th celebrated their 12th wedding anniversary.

And though it seems a bit out of order I'll wish myself a happy anniversary on Saturday, July 17th. Faust and Ann Landers...

Answers your problems

Dear Ann Landers: Six months ago I thought I was losing my hearing. It all began when my husband complained that I never answered him when he spoke to me. I went to three specialists. They all said my hearing was fine. One doctor said I probably had "post-menopausal nerves" and he prescribed some pills.

Several weeks ago Norville became so annoyed with me that I went to a department store and bought a hearing aid. I wore the aid only in Norville's presence because I seemed to hear everyone else all right.

Last night I had the aid on my ear but it was turned off. I looked at my husband and his lips were moving but I couldn't hear a word he was saying. The radio was on and I could hear the announcer clearly. Finally I said, "Norville, speak up." I read his lips and he replied, "I'm shouting, Henrietta".

Well, Ann, he was NOT shouting. In fact, he wasn't making a sound. In a flash it all came clear. He had been playing this trick on me just to get me upset.

Of course I'm too ashamed to tell anyone but I just had to get it off my chest. Thank you for listening, Ann Landers. I feel better already. Mortified Wife.

Dear Wife: Tell Norville he's my personal candidate for "The Skunk Award of 1965".

Dear Ann Landers: Last week-end I took my sons (aged 10 and 12) to the hardware store. The neighbor boy (he's 13) asked if he could ride along.

I noticed the boys handling some combination locks which were out on the counter but I didn't pay much attention. Last night I saw my younger son playing with one of the locks. I asked him where he got it. He answered, "Jimmie (the neighbor boy) took some locks and gave one to Bob and one to me."

I asked if Jimmie had paid for the locks and he replied, "No." I then asked if he knew that was stealing. He said, "Bob and I didn't steal them, Jimmie did."

I called Bob in and announced that I was taking them both to the hardware store so they could give the locks to the manager — or pay for them — the choice was theirs.

I telephoned Jimmie's mother and asked if she'd like to bring her son along. She said, "No. It would damage him psychologically." She then gave me a lecture on "Traumas in children" and added, "Apparently you are not up on the latest."

May I hear from you — Behind The Times?

Dear B.T.T.: A child caught stealing is in for a far more serious trauma than if he is made to take the merchandise back to the store and pay for it.

A mother who allows her son to keep stolen goods is not protecting him. She is inviting a long list of undesirable characteristics. The decline of morals in today's society is due to the failure of parents to teach their children respect for truth, integrity, decency, and other so-called "old-fashioned" virtues.

Dear Ann Landers: Usually your advice hits the nail on the head. In this case, I think my advice is better. I'm talking about that wife whose husband takes his lunches apart every morning to see if she included everything, then leaves the whole mess for her to repack. If that happened to me I'd say: "Look, Dad, after three weeks of tearing lunches apart you must have a fairly good idea of how they go together. So put the lunch back the way it was or you can go you-know-where." Grace from Bakersfield.

Dear Grace: I don't know if they serve lunch you-know-where, but if they do, rest assured it will be a hot lunch.

I will have been married eleven years on that date. The symbol for an 11th anniversary is steel. So can't imagine what surprise I might be looking for — a new toaster, perhaps.

Another couple in Crown Homes celebrating their anniversary this week are the Randles of Maisonneuve St. who were 10 years married on July 15th.

Handy Hints

Left over egg yolks will keep up to three days if kept in cold water in the refrigerator.

Try baking apples, tomatoes or stuffed peppers in well greased muffin tins to keep their shape and make them more attractive to serve.

When washing shoelaces try stringing them through the button hole of a garment and tie the ends. Laces become really clean and will not get lost.

LETTER FROM

SEIGNIORY PARK

(by FERGUS HORSBURGH)

Route Boys:
ALLAN LUSSIER
373 St. Francis 691-0787
CHRIS DULLEGE
398 Montmorency 691-1683

This issue completes the first three years of "Letter From Seigniory Park," and once again I start Letter thinking that, for sure, it's going to be a short one this week. I think I could count on one hand the number of times I've started the local column with any assurance that I was going to write more than fifty words. It has been a lot of fun, though — not only because I like writing, but because of the many good friends I would not otherwise have made, but for the Chateauguay Gleaner.

As news is snort this week, I'll reminisce for a few inches of column I remember so well the evening, a few weeks after settling in Seigniory Park, when we were having a housewarming party. Allan Lussier came to the door for his money for the Gleaner. "Would you like to write a local column?" asked Allan. Little did he or I know what he was starting! Remember the night at the Club when Noella Joffries collected a few of us together and started the Home Owners Association story? And the stormy first year of the H.O.A. — Home-made traffic signs, with radio and TV coverage from coast to coast. How the late Ellen Blahuta used to berate us all because we wouldn't get up and go, go, go? Traffic lights on St. Francis — the leak in the water main on Seigniory Drive that took four months to fix — or was it six? The opening up of Montmorency — the sad cutting down of the lovely trees at the entrance to St. Francis — the coming of the Supermarket — the start of the Nursery School, the Sports Association, the Big 12. Those great days when the roads were paved, when we got the street signs, the overhead lights. Mail delivery, door to door — how nice it was to be so civilized. The first daffodils in the first Spring — AH - life was good! Saturday morning art classes, and the first annual Art Class Exhibit — and there we were on Channel 12 News that evening. How did Ellen Blahuta do it? How would some of my readers like to help me continue these reminiscences? Contact me at home, please, with news, etc.

The noisy outdoors music at Woodbine and Montgomery apparently wasn't quite so noisy last week-end in fact it was reduced to almost a tolerable level. The Town of Chateauguay Police inform me that they are quite prepared to take action when a public nuisance is reported to them.

As I write, the gas strike has just been officially called off, after a day when one by one gas stations on and off the Island returned to service. I understand that dealers in Chateauguay joined the strike for a variety of reasons. Some sympathized with the Gasoline Retailers Fraternity — some were indeed members of the Fraternity — some were reported as under pressure of threats of violence. It is reported that service stations in Caughnawaga continued to sell gas throughout the strike until their supplies ran out.

Mrs. Agnes Goebel from Cologne, Germany is now visiting her daughter, Mrs. Kay Birtz of 375 St. Francis. Four generations will be together for the first time — Mrs. Goebel and Mrs. Birtz, Mrs. Harry Wontka and Cantella Wontka. Mrs. Goebel will also be seeing her great grandsons Terry and Roger for the first time.

Seigniory Park Soccer

An exciting, close, hard-fought Pee-Wee game was played Tuesday, July 6th, between our boys and Parkview Colts, the Colts winning the game 1-0 against the run of the play. Our boys have been extremely unlucky to have lost all their games this season because in at least 3 games they have had most of the play. Coach Glyn Fletcher was proud of his team's performance against the strong Colts team, every boy played well; they were ably assisted by strong vocal support from Les Stone on the touch line. It is a pity we get far too little of this type of support. Coaches and other Club officials are not permitted to coach during a game. The defence consisting of Kevin and Terry Murphy, Grant Wilson and Sheldan Seale deserve a special mention. Grant Wilson was tried on defence for the first time and he appears to be a natural for that position.

Most areas consider the Seigniory Park Soccer team easy meat but they will have second thoughts before the season is over.

A printer's devil got among last week's item on Rita and Gdyn Fletcher's new baby. What I meant to say was that the Fletchers had had a baby boy. Rita and new baby are now home again and in great spirits. Rita is not at all overwhelmed by the 4 to 1 male majority in the household.

Rotarian Jack Tully Tells About Indian Reserve At Cardston; Alta.

Mr. Gilbert Macmillan, Charter President and Honorary Member of the Huntingdon Rotary, attended the weekly luncheon meeting of the club at the Chateau Huntingdon on Monday. He was accompanied by Rotarian Jack Tully, a former Huntingdonian, son of Mrs. W.C. Tully and the late Mr. Tully of Ridge Road, Athelstan, who is officer-in-charge of Indian Affairs at Cardston, Alberta.

As a speaker had not been arranged for this meeting, President Cecil Brown asked the visiting Rotarian if he would give a short talk on his club. Although taken unaware, Rotarian Jack Tully gave one of the most interesting talks heard by Huntingdon Rotarians for some time. He said Cardston is located some 50 miles south of Fort McLeod, oldest town in Alberta, and about the same distance from Lethbridge from the southwest. Cardston is the seat of Mormonism in Canada and members of the Latter Day Saints have a large and imposing church there that attracts hundreds of tourists every day in the summer from both Canada and the United States. The Cardston Rotary Club was formed in 1929 and since then has provided two District Governors.

The area around Cardston is rolling prairie and apart from a new oil and gas wells, is devoted to agriculture and cattle raising. Sugar beets and grain are the main cash crops.

Jack, once officer-in-charge of Indian Affairs at St. Regis, is in charge of the 375,000-acre Indian Reserve at Cardston. 3600 Blood Indians live on the reservation in addition to a number of non-Indians who rent land from the Department of Indian Affairs, and who operate ranches there. Rent amounts to almost $500,000 per year, including rent from five gas wells at $12,000 per month. This money is used for roads, education and loans. It is a simple matter for an Indian or the reserve to borrow sufficient money to start farming and cattle raising; young Braves are encouraged to raise cattle and farm, but they may obtain money to start any legitimate business. Rotarian Jack said the Cardston Indians were a few generations behind the Indians of the St. Regis and Caughnawaga Reserves, however, mainly because neither they nor their forefathers leave the reserve as much as local Indians who work in New York, Montreal and other large centers. Jack reminded his listeners that Indians are the best steeplejacks and have been sought after in cities: those who left the Reservations of St. Regis and Caughnawaga adapted themselves to the White man's ways of living, whereas the Indians of Cardston have kept mainly to themselves.

Today, the Department of Indian Affairs is facing the problem of educating the Indians of Cardston. Children of school age are transported by bus to schools in nearby centres but the white schools aren't anxious to accept any great influx of Indians, therefore the rule of thumb for Jack and his assistants is 75% white and the remainder Indians.

The speaker said the younger generations of Indians are more ambitious than their forefathers and for the most part they are honest and industrious. Many are ranchers and they are ideal cowboys. The day before he left to come east with his family, Jack watched a group of Indian cowboys round up 500 steers and brand them. Senator Gladstone, a Blood Indian, successfully operates a large cattle ranch and his son, Fred, is also a rancher, the latter owning about 250 head. Fred is well-known wherever rodeos are held in the west and he is usually one of the top performers. The Senator is 76 years old and will therefore be retiring from political life shortly. Jack said there are over 2,000 head of cattle owned by Indians on the Cardston Reserve.

Summing up, the speaker said he was a son of la Belle Province and therefore might be a trifle reserved whereas an Albertan, akin to Texans in many ways, would go on for hours praising that province. However, with industry in the cities, agriculture and cattle raising on the prairies and great wealth from oil, Alberta is truly a rich province; moreover, when one hears westerners described as happy and friendly people, the description is not being exaggerated.

Despite his devotion to his work and the Indian people, and despite the fact that and despite the fact that Jack asys the Cardston Reserve is scenic although there aren't a dozen trees on the whole 375,000 acres and even if he can wake up in the morning and see snow-capped peaks in the Rockies 40 miles away, The Gleaner was told, off the record, that he and his family plan to move to the former Irvin farm, which they purchased a couple of years ago, on or before retirement.

Graduates From Mooers Central School

MR. PETER KLYM, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Klym of Covey Hill, who graduated with the Class of 1965 from Mooers Central School, Mooers, N.Y. Peter, who majored in Maths, Science and French, received his diploma at the Commencement Exercises held at the school on Friday evening, June 25th. Later he was the guest at a party arranged in his honour by Miss Julie Klym and was the recipient of a large number of delightful gifts from the many relatives and friends gathered there.

He is considering entering College and will take the Liberal Arts Course. The decision as to his future career is also receiving serious attention, as it is with so many of our present-day students in this rapidly changing world. And what better place to do some serious thinking than out in the fields, working with nature, on the farm, which is just what Peter is doing at present. Congratulations, Peter, on past attainments and future success.

The report of the Hospitality Shop was waived owing to the illness of the Chairman, Mrs. J. Taylor. Mrs. Barrington thanked all the volunteers who had worked in the shop, and those who had sent donations. $400 had been transferred from the Shop Committee to the General Treasury.

Mrs. Norman Simms, as president, gave the report for the Howick Aubrey-Riverfield Branch. In addition to the financial report above, she handed to the treasurer a cheque for $116.50 which had been collected by Mrs. Blais in a membership canvass in St. Chrysostome.

Miss Mildred Hay submitted the report of the Service Committee. She thanked all those who had helped in various ways on Tag Day, and especially the ladies from Ormstown and Howick who had sold the tagse. In all $405.83 was collected, a record sum in recent years. Once again Miss Hay appealed to anyone who would like to help with the operation of the Ward Cart, (Wednesday-Saturday afternoons) to volunteer their services.

Mrs. Bryce Seggie, chairman of the Membership Committee, reported on the 1965 campaign. This was not yet quite completed, eight canvassers were yet to be heard from. Two new areas have been canvassed this year. Havelock is poining forces with the Howick Aubrey-Riverfield Branch and St. Chrysostofe is forming an independent group.

Provisional totals are, for the Ormstown area: 532; Howick, Aubrey-Riverfield: 422.

In areas where there had been difficulty in obtaining canvassers, a mail campaign had been conducted with one third of the recipients of letters having replied so far.

The Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, Mrs. Ulysse Etienne, reported on their plans for another Fashion Show to be held in early fall. Fashions from Gigi Ltd. will be shown. It is also hoped to arrange a demonstration on choosing and packing clothes for an overseas flight.

In the absence of the Chairman of the Bursary Committee, Mrs. W. Fearn, her report was read for her. Two new applications for bursaries have been received and will be under review. Three students are at present in training and two bursary graduates are on the staff of the hospital.

Under new business it was noted by Mrs. Mervyn Barrington that $600 remained to be paid on the operating room table and it was moved by Mrs. U. Etienne that this be paid. Mrs. M. Gartshore moved that $200 be placed in the Bursary Fund.

Mrs. Barrington then spoke to members concerning the Auxiliary's membership in the Provincial Association of Hospital Auxiliaries. Of recent years it appears that organization within the Provincial Association leaves something to be desired, and very little assistance to individual auxiliaries has been forthcoming. Delegates to the recent meeting of the Provincial Association were appalled at the internal dissension evident. The Barrie Memorial Auxiliary at present pays membership fees to the Provincial Association of $50 annually and it has been said that these fees will be increased considerably — so that it is felt by the Executive that until the Provincial Association can be of more practical service, membership should be withdrawn and this money used to better purpose within the hospital. The matter will receive further discussion at the October meeting where a vote may be taken.

To conclude the meeting, two films were shown, the first an informative on flower arrangement, the second a beautiful observation of the passing seasons as seen in Eastern Canada. Both films were much enjoyed.

Finally, coffee and sandwiches were served by the Refreshment Committee, and members spent a conversational half-hour.

Regimental Royal Stewart Tartan Kilt. Incidentally the Pipe Major, who is also the Boys Supervisor of the School, is a French Canadian ("Acadian") native of Cape Breton, Nova Scotia. However, prior to his present avocation he was a member of the Royal Canadian Guards Pipe Band for some nine years.

Also in charge of the girls were two Registered Nurses, the Misses Agnes Dick and Mary Dorothy Harry, who are also regular members of the School Staff.

Asked if he was the originator of the Pipe Band, Father O'Connor said: "No I inherited it when I asumed the Principalship of the School, but at that time we didn't have the uniforms and equipment we now have". Asked why the Royal Air Force Tartan and the accroutements that go with same?, he replied, in effect that part of the reason annexed to same is that the School also has a Royal Canadian Air Force Cadet Squadron.

He also informed us that most of the girls in the present Band served practically a two-year apprenticeship, so to speak, on the Chanter before they became Pipers.

We also heard a considerable number of congratulatory comments by bona fide Scots, both as to the appearance as well as the performance of the Pipe Band. Such comments being worthy of mention because none of those commentators would voice any such opinion if either the appearance or the performance were below standard.

As a start-off, John A. Thompson, as Chairman, assisted by Gerald Brisebois, introduced a number of the leading guests.

A brief address of welcome was given by Mr. John J. Cappiello, as President of the Huntingdon Branch of the Legion, and he also presented the Rev. Father O'Connor with an Honorary Social Guest Membership of the Branch. Father O'Connor made an appropriate reply. A brief address was also given by Mr. Leo Cappiello as Mayor of Huntingdon.

The opening Marches were "Edinboro' Toon' etc.", and the complete March set as played at Highland Games, including a "Stathspey" and Loudens "Bonnie Woods and Braes". In closing they played "Scotland the Brave" and "Nae' Awa' Tae Bide Awa'."

In between, the numbers played included the classic 'Barren Rocks O' Aden"; the Slow March "Sheiling"; "Sheiling and Green Hills", while there was the spectacular solo dance by Piper Phyllis Bob, with Pipe Major Acoin as her accompanist. Also a Sword Dance by Piper Margaret Dick, Phyllis Bob, Sharon Pete and Agnes Harry, to the pipe music by Piper Shirley Michael.

Following the performances in the Arena, the members of the Pipe Band, etc., were served a buffet luncheon by the Refreshment Committee of the Branch. A pleasing surprise to them was the playing of a record of their programme in the Arena which had been made by Leo Leduc.

Finally ,President John J. Cappiello presented an amount of $345.00, representing 50 per cent of the gross proceeds, to Father O'Connor, who made an appropriate reply and at same time expressed his thanks for the welcome and reception given to his Pipe Band. As the girls filed out to their bus most of them individually paused to thank the members of the Refreshment Committee for making possible the pleasant time they had spent at the Legion Hall. Certainly an appreciated gesture. F.N

150th Anniversary Service At Noyan Provides Historical Data

In commemoration of the 150th. anniversary held recently in Noyan, the following are a few historical notes of interest.

The Anniversary Service held on June 26th., marked the 150th Anniversary of the arrival of the Rev. Micajah Townsend as a resident missionary in Caldwell's and Christie's Manor. This ministry in the area covered a period of over 50 years.

On June 26th., services were conducted at St. Thomas by the Right Rev. Kenneth R. Maguire, Lord bishop of Montreal assisted by Rev. A. L. Cameron, Rector of St. Thomas; Rev. Peter Hannen of St. James Church, Stanbridge East; Rev. Mr. Rowe, Rector of St. Pauls, Greenfield Park; and Mr. Bernard Derick, Layreader of St. Thomas. Federal And Provincial Members Call For Water Conservation And Control Measures

(By Fergus Horsburgh)

Mr. Ian Watson, M.P., for Chateauguay - Huntingdon - Laprairie and Mr. George Kennedy, M.P.P. for Chateauguay joined forces last week-end in an attempt to alleviate the serious water pollution problems concerning waterway draining into the St. Lawrence River.

Messrs. Watson and Kennedy propose requesting the Provincial Government to create a water conservation and control authority for the Chateauguay River and its tributaries. They announced that they will call a meeting of all mayors in the district within the next few days at the County Building, Ste. Martine. Scheduled date for the meeting is July 19th., at 8.30 p.m.

Messrs. Watson and Kennedy stated that the principal objectives of the proposed Water Conservation and Control Authority would be a regional approach to the serious problems of water pollution, flood control, erosion, and insufficient water flow and water reserves, which exist on both the Chateauguay River and its tributaries. They declared that this was the first year when water from the Chateauguay River would be used in moderate quantity for irrigation purposes and they forecast an increasing use of the waters from the Chateauguay River system for agricultural purposes. As a result, the need for a Conservation and Control Authority has become absolutely essential.

Alan Nicole Chateauguay Centre Wins $500 In Contest

Quebec's 4-H Clubs got bouquets from the provincial forests minister, Lucien Cliche, July 6th, for the work in helping prevent forest fires.

The minister made his comment at the opening of the three-day 23rd annual provincial convention in the Sheraton-Mount Royal Hotel Montreal.

Mr. Cliche told some 600 boys and girls that they were members of "the ideal youth movement of the Province of Quebec".

He said: "By protecting our forests, club members are helping maintain the prosperity of the province".

The theme of the convention is "4-H, beautify your surroundings". It is part of a campaign being carried on through Quebec for the celebration of Canada's Confederation centennial.

More than 250 club members received awards and scholarships as winners of 18 contests, and $7,000 in prize money was distributed.

One of the major award-winners yesterday was 14-year-old Alan Nicole, of Chateauguay Centre, who won $500 in the Fish and Game section.

Items on the convention agenda included study sessions, luncheons, and tours of Montreal firms, organized by industries which sponsor 4-H clubs.

Vast Parks Programme For Town of Chateauguay

(By Fergus Horsburgh)

Ward 8's Alderman Phil Bonneau at last week's Town of Chateauguay Council meeting made formal notice of motion for a Parks By-Law which would make the municipality one of the best served of the suburbs in or near the Greater Montreal area.

Commissioned by the Town some months ago, a report on recreational facilities was presented to Council on June 26th, 1965. The report was prepared by Town Consultants Mr. Charles C. Laberge, B.A., B.Sc.A., Mr. Tibor Miletics, B. Eng. and Georges Boutchalzky, Lic E.P., C.D., in collaboration with Alderman Phil Bonneau and Aldor Hebert of the Parks Committee.

No precise details of the plans are available, but it is understood that the Park Committee's recommendations considerably exceed the reported $140,000 foreseen at a joint meeting of the Councils of the Town and the Centre. The understanding between the two Councils covered the approximate amounts which would be borrowed prior to amalgamation. Each Council bound itself not to exceed specified limits without consultation with the other. Some doubt now exists as to whether the Centre Council will proceed with submission of an amalgamation by-law, although the Town of Chateauguay has taken the essential preliminary steps towards amalgamation.

I understand that first reading of the Parks By-Law will be made in the weeks ahead. It is unlikely that any details of the amount to be borrowed will be made public until tenders have been called from contractors.

No difficulty is foreseen in the purchase of land for the parks programme, which will cover all existing and planned residential areas within the municipality. The relevant borrowing By-Law is planned to be "at large" for the Town of Chateauguay. Would it be "at large" in the City of Chateauguay when and if amalgamation takes place?

Mayor Joseph Laberge told The Gleaner last week-end that recreational facilities for the schools in the Town of Chateauguay would be taken into consideration when Council studied the Parks Committee's recommendation. Mayor Laberge added that he would probably issue a public statement on the matter in the near future.

Memorandum From McLeod

Correspondent:
Mrs. Edith Bate,
282 McLeod Ave., 692-9453

Route Boy:
Peter MacLean,
246 McLeod Ave., 692-9669

A certain facetious person (with tongue in cheek) told me how lovely my calendula looked. There must be about two hundred plants there, and I'll not bother to thin them out, if it looks that nice!

May I wish a happy birthday, (belated) to Mrs. Rose Young of McLeod. Rose celebrated on Tuesday, July 13.

Another belated one is that of a good friend, Mrs. Amelia Berry of Hillsdale Drive in Parkview. Mrs. Berry celebrated on July 11th and I had the pleasure of wishing her a happy birthday in person. Happy birthday to Mrs. Myra MacDonald, also of Hillsdale Drive. Myra celebrates on July 20th. And yet another — Mrs. June Harris of Lang Avenue will be having her birthday on July 20th, also. Happy birthday, June!

I had a birthday and wedding anniversary recently, too, but they're getting up in the numbers that I'd like to ignore.

What a nice surprise we had last Friday evening, with a visit from our friends Rev. John and wife Laurel Buck, and their four boys! We noticed quite a difference in Martin, especially in height. I felt I was standing in a hole, he has grown so much since last seing him in February. The Bucks visited the Terrace Pool and a few more friends before leaving for their summer home in the Gatineau Hills north of Ottawa. When they left for Calgary last February, I thought we wouldn't see them for years and years, because it is such a long distance from Chateauguay. They are happy in their new home in the West. Rev. Buck is Curate at Christ Church, Elbow Park, which is a suburb of Calgary. They were saying that they had a quick trip around Easter to Vancouver, and found it to be a fine city. In particular, they mentioned the courtesy of drivers to pedestrians in the area of Calgary.

Gas strike or not, I decided to drive up to Rawdon last week, to visit my sister, Helen Dosogne, at her retreat, just outside the town. The smell of the pines, the bird songs, (especially around 5.45 a.m.) the quietness and darkness of the nights, and the new POOL. Everything was all too enticing, but alas! duties called me back to Chateauguay, so I've left our son, Steve, up there and he is having the time of his life. After hearing by long distance telephone that he hasn't had any clothing, (except his bathing suit) on since I left, I have the feeling that he's not missing Dad and Mother very much. What a blow to our pride! He has been learning a few golf strokes also, although none of us are very sportsminded.

Because of my short absence from the local scene, and also because of the summer season, that's all for this week. Read about the success of the Daily Vacation Bible School last week elsewhere in this issue.

All those about to depart on vacation, have a happy time and green lights all the way!

Some 2000 people have visited the colourful exhibit to date, including visitors from the four corners of our continent — California, Nova Scotia, Vancouver and Florida and from many points between. It is reported that representatives from other municipalities in Quebec have visited the exhibit, apparently impressed by Chateauguay Centre's being the first area outside Montreal to stage such a show.

Closing ceremonies are scheduled for Fri. July 16 at which essay prizes will be awarded to children in the Chateauguay area. Essays have been submitted on the theme "What Chateauguay Can Do to Help Expo 67.

Post Office Thieves Net $43,000 Loot At Candiac

Thieves broke into the post office of suburban Candiac Thursday and stole $7,000 worth of stamps, and money orders worth up to $36,000.

It was the third break-in there in a week.

The burglars broke through a glass window in the front door. They stole a typewriter and about $25 in cash as well as the stamps and money orders.

A spokesman for the post office said there were 369 money orders stolen, each worth up to $100.

In the first break-in on July 1 $5,000 worth of stamps and money orders were taken. The next day it was broken-in to again but nothing stolen.

Boy Stabs Sister For Thirty Cents

A 16-year-old boy stabbed his 11-year-old half-sister at Nitro over the week-end. It is said the girl had thirty cents in her possession and that the boy wanted her to give him half the money.

When the little girl refused, her brother is alleged to have become so infuriated that he attacked her with a knife. Reports are that he stabbed her at least four times before anyone realized what was going on and came to her assistance.

The youth is being held by Valleyfield police.

CHATEAUGUAY LEGION NEWS

The regular monthly meeting of Branch 108 was held Tuesday, July 6th.

There were thirty-five members present when the meeting was called to order by Pres Norm Palmer at 8.30 p.m.

A new member, Norman Kinnear, was installed and welcomed into the branch.

The treasurer reported $24720 outstanding on the new land and $198 on the shuffleboard.

Track and Field

The summer program is now in progress and great enthusiasm is noted among the children who are making full use of the facilities provided, most of which have not been available in previous years.

As of July 6th applications have been received from 120 families registering their children and they are still being received at the rate of 10 - 15 per day. Chairman Tony Croft who has done a magnificent job, states that the average is three and a half children per application.

Regatta

The dance will be held in the Sugar Shack at Ste. Philomene. The holding of the regatta is dependent on the removal of part of the new wharf under a section of the railway bridge.

New Building

Financing for the new Legion Hall is expected to be completed in a few days.

The monthly building draw was won by branch member Jim Kieran.

The regular monthly meeting for August was cancelled. If a general meeting is necessary during the holiday season all members will be notified by mail.

Picnic

During the meeting there were many extra requests for seats on the bus because of the gas strike. These had to be turned down as it was impossible to arrange for extra transportation on such short notice. The picnic was held July 10th, and the bus left the Legion Hall at 8 a.m. and proceeded to Vetville before heading out for Malone. The weather was ideal and although this picnic is primarily for the children, it was also thoroughly enjoyed by the grown-ups.

The president thanks the six volunteers who turned up Sunday morning to fill in the deep ditch on our new grounds and he wonders what happened to the other six who volunteered but failed to put in an appearance.

GARDEN TEA HELD ON UNITED CHURCH MANSE LAWN

On Saturday afternoon, July 10th., the senior members and adherents of St. Andrew's United Church were entertained at a Garden Tea which was held on the spacious manse lawn.

The guests were welcomed as they arrived by Rev. and Mrs. H. Fraser and everyone enjoyed delicious refreshments prepared and served by Unit 2 of the United Church Women. Forty-five guests shared in this delightful time of fellowship and the day was a beautiful one for the event.

Chateauguay Ecumenical Vacation School Winds Up Week of Activity

(By Mrs. E. Bate)

The Daily Vacation Bible School leaders and teachers learned again last week that team work can be fun. St. George's Anglican and Maplewood Presbyterian with assistance from St. Andrew's United Church completed a week of Vacation Bible School on Friday, July 9th, with parents visiting the classrooms and a combined assembly.

Meeting at Maple School from 8.45 to 11.30 a.m., it was a busy time for boys, girls and leaders to fulfil the schedule of Bible learning, Bible books, prayer, story, play, Bible drill, music, recess and activity. Some 189 different children came, making an average daily attendance of 162, with a group of 30 leaders, who incidentally were all parents.

An invitation was extended to the parents of all the children attending the Vacation School for the closing exercises Friday evening, July 9th from 7 to 7.30 to see the children in classes doing a portion of their schedule. As the gymnasium in Maple School is being used for storing desks, the children and parents joined together to cross over McLeod Avenue, to Maplewood Presbyterian Church Hall to see the final programme. Mr. A. E. Leavitt, who greeted the children each morning, welcomed the parents. Mrs. Jessie Robinson gave a registration and financial report. The Youth class presented a play on part of their theme, written by one of the students, Barbara Allen, entitled "The Golden Idol".

Rev. John Allan (Presbyterian representative) spoke to the combined parents and children on the theme "Discovering Christ", and of the 100th anniversary of Christian Witness in Formosa. The gifts of money for Formosa was presented by each class in turn and blessed by Mr. John Friedlander (Anglican representative).

A most enjoyable music cantata was led by Mrs. Daisy McVeigh, assisted by Mrs. E. Bobbitt. Rev. Howard Fraser (representing the United Church) closed the program with the Benediction.

On behalf of all the leaders, thanks is expressed to the Christian Education Group of St. George's Anglican Church, to Maplewood Church, to the parents who sent their children and who came also on Friday evening. Thanks also to all persons who helped during the school, in classhallway, kitchen, at recess outdoors, preparing crafts in advance, provided car rides, did baby sitting, typing, and in general helped and encouraged those who had the task of organizing this annual Bible Vacation School. Donations of money and materials, and items for crafts also went a long way to make such a tremendous success of the venture. The IGA Supermarket, Mr. S. C. Modeland, and Currie and Son are also to go on the list of those who should be thanked for their generosity.

There was no registration fee, as the churches as a whole set aside a part of each Sunday offering to make this school possible. The Protestant School Board gave the use of Maple School for the full week.

Looking for a title to head up this news story, it was decided to use the word "Ecumenical". In the dictionary it is defined as the whole Christian world in general. The whole group of leaders felt that this was a good way to describe last week's Daily Vacation Bible School, as there were Roman Catholic, Anglican, Baptist, United, Presbyterian and others in the whole registration of one hundred and eighty-nine.

A final meeting of leaders was held at the home of Mrs. Betty Blenkhorn, Lang Street, Colonia, on Monday morning and afternoon, July 12th. All but seven were able to attend, and go over the past week's activities, propose new ideas for next year, and have a few pleasant moments of fellowship.

Those who took part this year were Mesdames Marjorie Allan, Betty Blenkhorn, Phyllis and Hazel Black, Edith Carpenter, Shirley Christie, Margaret Crosbie, Janet Currie, Vera Esdon, Betty Jordan, Betty Johnston, Maria Klikar, Peggy Mackenzie, Daisy McVeigh, Wanda McKee, Mildred Morgan, Mary Maher, Betty Middleton, Janet Neal, Win Rees, Betty Thorne, Jessie Robinson, Jean Taylor, Gladys West, Rose Young, Eleanor Campbell, Edith Bobbitt and Mr. A.E. Leavitt. Rev. John Allan visited the school each day, and assisted the leaders in Bible training.

Guide And Brownie Notes

A successful tea was recently held at the home of Mrs. J. Cooper, Division Commissioner, for Brownie, Guide and Ranger leaders, of Chateauguay in honour of Mrs. Roberts, Area Commissioner.

Plans for a Youth Hostelling trip through England, during the Summer of 1966, were discussed. Two Guides from Chateauguay could be chosen to go on this exciting adventure. When the time arrives it is hoped that the community will be solidly behind these Guides.

Mrs. Spenard, Mrs. Toop, Mrs. Page, Mrs. McBurnie, Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. Crawley, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Tomkins, Mrs. Marchadier, Mrs. Van As, Mrs. Hanna, Mrs. Ellis, Mrs. Boudreau, Mrs. Bushe and Mrs. Kelly were present.

ST. ANDREW'S NOTES

(By Fergus Horsburgh)

Morning services are now being held at ten o'clock for the duration of the summer. Mrs. Lee Gilbert has taken over presidency over the organ and by all accounts is doing a fine job during the "holiday" of regular organist Alun Hughes.

Each Sunday this month the sermon will be based on one of Jesus' parables. Last Sunday the sermon's theme, entitled "Jesus, The Sinner's Friend", was based on the Grace of the Kingdom of God, illustrated by the Parable of the Two Debtors.

It is suggested that vacationing families who worship in other churches bring back copies of the Sunday bulletins and post them on the church poster board.

Editorial Notes...

We Could Be Headed For Inflation

FOR the past number of years economic conditions in Canada have been extremely good. There was a time when it looked is if our dollar would be too high in value in comparison with other currency and this would lad to a falling off in foreign trade. The Government of that time pegged it and now it is below the U.S. value and pays a premium in U.S. money. In other words it costs us more to buy a U.S. dollar, while it costs a U.S. Citizen less to buy a Canadian Dollar. This means he gets more for his dollar in Canada, or when buying Canadian goods. This change has helped to obtain for Canada an increase in business with many foreign countries. It was meant to do this.

However, economy seems to go in cycles like a revolving pendulum — it goes so far one way and then starts coming back the other way. It looks to us that we have reached that next cycle. The pendulum has been carrying on for some time now, but it is beginning to turn. Someone needs to step in to slow down the pendulum to keep it from gathering too much speed, it needs control in other words.

The economic factor is such that very soon domestic prices of goods and commodities of all kinds will be so high as to decrease the value of the dollar that it will not buy what it does today. When that happens this country will be facing inflation and this could cause a sharp fall into a depression of the worst kind.

Of late and at the present we are being faced with continually rising prices, strikes for increases of one kind and another and other calls for higher costs. Each time increases of costs are asked for, there is set off a round of price hikes which affect the whole economy.

We have recently experienced a bus strike, now we are just over a Gasoline Strike; there have been other strikes called. It is not the stoppage of work and inconvenience caused by these strikes, but it is the aftermath of meeting the increases that are demanded.

Immediately following the bus strike, there appeared advertisements which were seeking to raise bus fares by a certain percentage which it was said would be necessary to meet the increased costs of operation. It is understandable that the money must come from somewhere, so the increased portion of the costs is passed on to the bus passenger, who is Mr. Consumer.

Now Mr. Consumer can only stand so much also. We will assume that his portion of the increase amounts to one dollar per week in the bus strike and various other proportions in the other strikes and increased costs. Very soon he finds his wages are short by perhaps $5 or $10 per week and his take-home pay has dwindled and he cannot do as well as he did before. What does he do? He cannot dive down into the other pocket and bring up the difference. He goes to his Boss and says: I've got to have a raise, I can't meet my expenses on what I am earning here. If he belongs to a Union of Labour, no doubt the Union is already negotiating for him.

Mr. Boss has two alternatives, pay his employees more money and raise his prices accordingly, or, suspend business and let them all go. In all probability, the Boss will try to meet the increase and he will raise the price of his goods and services to cover the extra cost of production. This just adds another extra cost to living and it has not solved anything really. However, it goes on.

What happens to the dollars? Why it now requires more of each dollar to pay for the things needed. As prices of goods soar, they are less in demand and unemployment follows as firms let their staffs go. Prices have been steadily rising in a number of fields the past while and we are heading for that peak which could be the straw that breaks the camel's back. The government should be watching this, rather than yoasting of how well everything is. They should be looking farther than the present day. In many cases today, prices are in excess of actual values and that is not a good situation to be in. The component parts of various commodities have been increased so much, that when the whole is assembled, actual value is no longer there. Artificial values do not make for stability. In other words as prices advance, there is no betterment in quality which might be the only thing that could maintain the equality of value.

Chateauguay Valley Historical Society Off On Project

THE meeting of the Chateauguay Historical Society held last week resulted in building a new enthusiasm to get things done. This is an encouraging sign, because it will get people working in all parts of the area on a worthwhile project that should have good and beneficial results for both Society and community.

The Society needs funds, it must have money to carry of its project and to pay off old liabilities. Some of the Fund raising projects of the past have not been too successful in adding extra cash in the coffers. It is therefore that future plans should be with the idea that a profit must be made, or the idea should be scrapped. Contributions are needed, large and small which in the aggregate will amount to a tidy sum. This is one way the Society will be able to reach its goal. We believe that tours of historical sites throughout the area would result in gains once they became known and the plan is worked out properly. But like other things, a start must be made soon to take advantage of the season. Given these funds, we are sure the Society can make a worthwhile advance during this season and be well in operation by next.

The meeting was enthusiastic for a museum and there is every indication at this time that such will be forthcoming at the Battle Site at Allans Corners. Encouragement will be given to people to visit the site by organizing picnics and such and having tourists stop at this point.

To this end, articles of pioneer days and of interest, are required for display purposes in the log building at the site which the Society now intends to fit as a museum. People throughout the Valley who have items of interest and would either donate or loan them are now being asked to come forward and inform the Society of this. All items would be well taken care of and would be catalogued for exhibition purposes with short notes on the history of the item. The more interesting the museum can be made, the greater it will be as an attraction.

Volunteers were enrolled to canvass for such items and a search of the area within the Valley is to be made with the plan of obtaining as many items as possible in the shortest time. It is also hoped that collectors who perhaps would not part with items at this time might be persuaded to will their collection to the Society.

Once the museum has been established, it will be expanded and developed as funds and other developments will allow. In this way the plan will be used for a centennial propect and it will be done without other help. We do feel however, that under the centenial plan of grants that this area should be entitled to some assistance for its project and it should not all be going to Valleyfield. It does not seem to us that was the original plan. The plan of the museum is one of historical value that will tie in with the commemoration of the centennial in the fact that it will carry history into perpetuity. It therfore, because of its merit and value in the years to come, should be supported.

It is therefore hoped that the people of the Valley will support the aims of the Society to the utmost in order that success will crown the efforts.

AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

SUGAR AND SPICE
by Bill Smiley

WE'RE COOL

Year after year, we moan about the bitter winter, or dreary fall, or the backward spring...until July and August, when we take the rare-felt heat as a personal affront, and whine increasingly.

Along about the first part of July, we usually get a little whiff of that hot weather we've been looking forward to since Christmas. Nothing torrid. Just a little breath of warmth that a native of the tropics would sneer at. So what do we do? Do we cast off our long-handled underwear and burn it in the streets? Do we have a big welcome party for genial old Sol?

Not we. We totter around complaining even more bitterly than we did all winter. We adopt a harassed air. If we live in the city, we dash from one tomb-like air-conditioned building to another, inevitably catching a wicked summer cold in the process. We greet each other with anguished groans and that old folk-saying, "Hot nuff fer yuh?"

Some idiots try to fight fire with firewater. With remarkable ease they convince themselves that a long cool one is the only way to beat the heat. Which is about as effective as trying to put out a small blaze by pouring gasoline on it.

Others have an even more silly solution. Their idea of getting away from the heat is to hit the highway, drive for four hours in extreme discomfort to a beach where they lie baking with similar sweaty citizenry, before retiring to sleep in a cabin like a steam bath.

Most of the preceding remarks have to do with the male population, poor devils. I must admit that women and children stand up to the heat better. Big reason, of course, is their attire, or lack of it.

Small fry have less clothing on them in this weather than there is in the handkerchief their old man totes around in his hip pocket. Women, whose name is vanity, are interested in acquiring a tan, so expose every possible inch and ounce to the dazed gaze of the men. Women's summer garments are a delight to the eye, and the ultimate in common sense. Maybe that's why ladies don't sweat, but just perspire.

Not so the men. Unless they're on their holidays, they face the heat with a surly lack of compromise that would be admirable, were it not stupid. Most of them wear the same clothes in summer as in winter, except for an overcoat. The odd one will take off his jacket. A few sneakily remove their tie. And the wild individual will roll up his shirt-sleeves when it hits a hundred.

But that's about as far as they'll go. The vast majority of men wear wool socks, heavy leather shoes, long trousers of wool or flannel, and the same shirts they wear in January.

One more thing that makes a man miserable in the heat is the amount of junk he has to carry in his pants pockets. In cool weather he can spread it around in jacket and overcoat pockets. But when he has only trousers pockets in which to carry cigarettes, lighter, handkerchief, coins, car keys, pen, notebook, pipe and tobacco, golf tees, sinkers and about 50 other essentials, he looks about the shape of an old tree, covered with fungus.

Hot weather is not for men. They should all be given about six weeks off in the summer, while the scantily clad women and kids keep things going. The men won't be happy until they sniff the first nip of fall in the air, and can start grumbling about the cold, and what it costs to heat the place.

"COUNTRY NOTEBOOK"

BY WALKER RILEY

"Country Notebook" by Mr. Walker Riley, Agricultural Extension Specialist with Macdonald College is a weekly feature which we trust will be of interest to all in the Chateauguay Valley.

Corn insects seem to be taking more than their usual toll this year. And one of my small balloons has been shot down in flames.

Until a month ago, I thought I had the answer to most of the spotty stands of corn. Treating the seed just before planting with Lindane for wireworms and with Diazinon for seed maggots does give excellent control of these two pests.

But this year along comes two others I haven't met before. In Pontiac County, it's the Glassy Cutworn and south of the river it seems to be the Potato Stem Borer that's causing much of the trouble. Neither of these are controlled by seed treatment.

If you want to know which is the culprit in your corn field, carefully dig up one of the damaged plants. If it's the Glassy Cutworm, you will see where he has eaten chunks out of the stem just below ground level. Most other species of cutworms feed above ground level. If you are lucky (or unlucky) you may find a specimen still working. He looks like any other cutworm, except he is shiny, and hence the name.

These lads are most common in fields ploughed out of sod. They are not so often found in second-year crops. It is too late for treatment this season — all the damage is done that is likely to be done. But next year, apply Aldrin, or Heptachlor if you can get it, in a four-inch band half an inch above the seed and in front of the press wheel of the planter. This is the recommendation of Dr. Vernon Vickery of the Department of Entomology at the College. He likes to avoid broadcast applications of these powerful insecticides if at all possible; they destroy not only the pests but also the pests' natural enemies, he says.

The Potato Stem Borer is a different matter. This chappie, it seems, is not a regular pest; epidemics are unpredictable, and it attacks many kinds of plants besides corn. Like the Glassy Cutworn, he feeds just below ground level. But you will find a small round hole where he has punctured the stem and climbed inside to eat the heart out of the growing point. If you can find him, he is 1 1/4 inches when fully grown, naked, with brown head and pink back. When he has finished feeding, he forms a pupa in the ground. The adult emerges as a moth.

I haven't heard that the corn root-worm is yet giving trouble in Quebec as it is in some of the older corn-growing areas.

Some spotty stands are due simply to the drought. It has been too dry to germinate. Fall ploughing has shown to be best in this regard. And I am surprised to find the best germination has been on the lighter soils this year. There's an excellent stand northeast of Shawville planted over four inches deep in very sandy soil about the middle of May.

By the way, most commercial corn seed comes treated with a fungicide. This gives protection against seed-decay organisms, but none against insects. Insecticides must be added at the farm shortly before planting.

Galen Driver has sent out Recommendations for Disease and Insect Control in Corn to his 800 Quebec Farmers' Association members. If you would like a copy, I know he would be pleased to send you one. It's worth having ready for next year.

As I write, it is raining. A beautiful rain. The end, we hope, of the drought 1965.

Over the July 4th weekend, I made a round-trip of the Ottawa Valley to see if crop conditions were as bad as reported. They were.

I have never seen such uniformly bald, barren pastures. I looked for the exceptional farm where pastures were still good, but didn't find it.

Dalton Hodgins, for instance, with 35 head of cattle to feed had used up not only his nine acres of permanent pasture but also two thirds of his hayfields. The green oats, already shooting and only six inches high, will go next. Winter feed will have to come from twenty-two acres of corn. Like many others in Pontiac County, he has doubled his acreage of that crop in an attempt to beat the hazards of drought.

If you have a field of Trefoil, save it for seed; it is going to be very scarce and very expensive next year. This is the advice of Dr. John Bubar. The seed crop in the Northeastern States, where most of the trefoil seed is produced, is a washout this year.

Dr. Bubar points out that the threshed trefoil still makes excellent feed. But harvesting is tricky. Get in touch with him for suggestions.

Letter to The Editor

Dear Old Gleaner:

I had about decided I would not renew my subscription, but for so many years it has been my welcome guest, I miss its weekly visit, even tho' it has much I am not familiar with. Yet it does mention a few folks remaining, whom I do know, and I like to sort of feel in touch with them.

In a few weeks I will be almost as old as the Gleaner —90.

When a little girl, FRIDAY was THE DAY of the week, for that was GLEANER DAY at our house and my Father Simon Rennie read it all the way.

ROUND BYRE and RING

By Frank Napier

A lot of Ayrshire history was tied-up, so to speak, in the group which I had the pleasure of joining at the Chateau, Huntingdon, at noontime, Saturday, July 10,

On that occasion, Gilbert Macmillan and I were the luncheon guests of Archie Roy of Balquhidder Farm, and Douglas A. Ness of Burnside Farms, both of Howick. A third guest was Harry J. Strohmeyer Jr., of White Plains, N.Y., doubtless the most famous cattle photographer of all time, anywhere.

At one time, first Harry Strohmeyer, and then his former partner, the late John Carpenter, used to make an annual trip to Ormstown Exhibition and the Quebec Provincial Exposition, respectively, but those trips were discontinued several years ago because of stress of other engagements at those times. On this occasion, however, he came across as an acquaintance and patron, Douglas A. Ness, of R. R. Ness & Sons Ltd. The assignment being obligement to his long time photographing animals distinged for the Burnside 72nd Anniversary Sale; also for several pictures in connection with the forthcoming 50th Anniversary Sale of the Howick-Hundon-Ayrshire Club.

Fifty Years Ago

While Archie Roy is perhaps of the younger middle age and Douglas A. Ness of the older middle age classes, they have been respectively acquainted with Harry Strohmeyer for nearly four decades, while Gilbert Macmillan and this writer have been intimately acquainted with him since he became an animal photographer. In the latter instance, fifty years ago this month.

Incidentally, in 1926 Gilbert Macmillan was closely connected with Harry Strohmeyer in the construction of a Work of Art, the "Model Ayrshire Cow" picture. An Ayrshire committee comprised Gilbert Macmillan, (the late) Edgar C. Budge and (the late) John L. Stansell used a group of photographs (Strohmeyer's by the way) in selecting the various sections of the anatomy of a cow. Finally having agreed on what they believed would constitute the desired model they handed the various sections of photographs to Harry Strohmeyer to assemble and photograph. The colouring was, of course, the work of the engraver's artist.

We presume that he inherited and learned the elements of photography from his father, Harry Strohmeyer Sr., who was one of the most famous landscape photographers of his day and age. Nevertheless, it might be said that Harry junior started from scratch as a Livestock Photographer. At that time the leading, most popular livestock photographer, and deservedly so, was "Bob" Hildebrand, while Bob's former compatriots and successors as the Live Stock Photo Company gave him keen competition. However, by the 1920's Harry had attained the leadership, so to speak, insofar as the portrayal of dairy cattle were concerned. He was, of course, equally proficient insofar as beef cattle and other breeds were concerned, but because of the calls for his own service, likewise of his partner for several years, he had to mostly concentrate on dairy cattle. By the way, the late John Carpenter, partner of Harry for a number of years until his retiral because of ill health, was originally an apprentice of Harry's.

Nowadays, while he is now in his 75th year, Harry is still as busy as ever, mostly on special assignments, as for instance he recently returned from one such in California. Unfortunately, his Canadian trips are now mostly confined to such special assignments as the present, and the Royal Winter Fair, which, by the way, he has never missed since it was initiated.

Beechridge Church Service Well Attended

BEECHRIDGE — The Beechridge Presbyterian Church started its bi-weekly services on June 20th., 1965, at 2.30 p.m. with a wonderful crowd.

Chairs were set in the aisles on account of the splendid turnout.

The Maplewood Presbyterian Congregation brought the chairs from their own Church in Chateauguay and set them up for the two choirs and they set the rest in the aisles. Even with the extra chairs that were so graciously brought from Maplewood Church there were a few standing.

The Maplewood Folks had Special Programs printed for the 144th. Anniversary of the founding of Beechridge Presbyterian Congregation.

The pulpit was occupied by the Minister of Maplewood and Beechridge Churches, Rev. John F. Allan B.A., B.D., and Rev. Kenneth Barker B.A., B.D., M.Th., of St. Andrews Church, St. Lambert, Que.

The Adult choir rendered a beautiful Anthem "I will Greatly Rejoice in the Lord." And the Junior Choir sang very Angelically under the guidance of their Instructress.

Mr. David Smith, Maplewood's ever-efficient Organist and Choir director, again played the music for the occasion so exact as well as lead the Adult Choir in their singing that it made the people who came from far distances feel that it was an hour well spent and promised to come to the Bi-Weekly services again.

The Maplewood Choirs are to be congratulated on their singing. Their harmonious voices rang out like a great Ocean of Praise.

The grounds were all cleaned up and a new fence was erected from the church to the highway on both sides with the pickets painted white. Two new gates were also put in place of the rusted ones that had done their time.

The graveyard and in front of church down to the highway was all moved and everything was neat.

The giant spiraea shrubs on either side of the Church were out in full bloom which helped to make the surroundings inviting.

The young men of Beechridge Church took up the collection which amounted to $64.25. The Secretary-Treasurer thanked Mr. Donald Black for an extra $5.00 which he gave towards the fence in remembrance of his Mother, who attended the Church in her lifetime.

Answer to Last Week's Puzzle —
SCIENTISTS FALL OUT OVER ATOM

Valleyfield To Be Featured In World Regatta In Agreement With Expo '67

The 1965 version of the annual Valleyfield International Regatta, scheduled for July 17 and 18, is expected to be the most important running of the annual speedboat classic, in its 27 years history, according to an announcement today by Charlemagne Chatel, of Valleyfield, President of the Regatta.

Key to the increased activity at this year's Regatta, according to Chatel, is an agreement with Expo 67 to present the 1967 World Regatta as a part of Canada's World Exhibition program. It is said to be the first sport event to be officially recognized by Expo and Canada's Centennial Commission.

Although the Valleyfield Regatta is already sanctioned by both the Canadian Boating Federation and the American Power Boat Association, says Chatel, the Expo agreement plus the consideration being given by the A.P.B.A. to name the Regatta as the official 1967 North American championship event, have resulted in a crash program to make the Valleyfield event second to none in the world. The North American Championship has never been held outside the U.S.A.

As a part of the new program this year, the Club Nautique de Valleyfield, organizers of the annual international classic, have already announced a record number of 12 trophies to be placed in competition, a new high of $3700 in cash purses and a broad extension of classes on the program, to cover every conceivable world class of competitive power boat, inboard or outboard.

In all, a total of 20 races are scheduled continuously from 12:30 p.m. on Saturday, July 17, and 16 races from 1:00 p.m. on Sunday.

The new classes and the expanded program are expected to bring a record number of competitors to Valleyfield this year.

Among the new classes added to this year's program the SK or Ski Boat class is most likely to prove a crowd pleaser. These powerful boats, designed to tow several water skiers at high speeds, should provide a new dimension of speed and thrills for the over 50,000 persons normally on hand during the Sunday afternoon heats, where they are scheduled at 2:00 p.m. and 2:45 p.m.

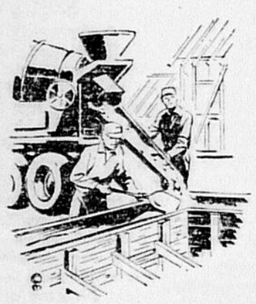

Still most popular of all the events with the crowd, however, is expected to be the 266 class, fastest of all the entries on the two day program. Speeds of up to 80 m.p.h. over the surface of St. Francis Bay are not uncommon as these "prima donnas" of power racing, literally skim over the 1 2/3 mile Valleyfield course. They will be competing for the top position O'Keefe Trophy and the $175 purse per heat. 266 class races are scheduled for 3:30 and 4:00 Sunday afternoon.

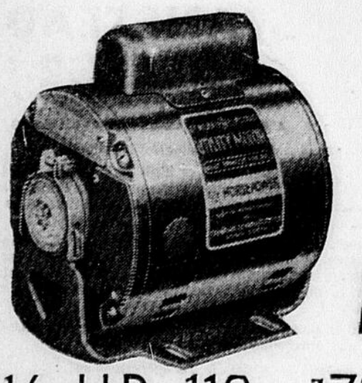

A further part of the Regatta expansion program, includes new modern facilities at the Club Nautique regatta headquarters and within the Valleyfield area itself construction of extended new motel facilities to accomodate competitors and spectators alike.

Presiding over the social side of Regatta weekend will be the Regatta Queen, 23 year old, brown eyed, black haired Rachel Mercier, of Valleyfield.

Queen Rachel will have plenty to do with 3 dances and literally dozens of special receptions and shows set for the July 17-18 weekend.

Hemmingford

Annual Staff Dinner

The annual dinner of the staff, the School Board and the bus drivers of the Hemmingford High School was held on 4th June at the Lacolle Inn. After a delicious turkey dinner the highlight of the evening was a presentation to the Secretary of the Board, Mr. Ed. Ellerton. Mr. Alister Somerville, Chairman of the Board, made the presentation, which took the form of a comfortable platform rocking chair, upholstered in brown, made by Kroehler. In a brief speech, Mr. Somerville thanked Mr. Ellerton for his faithful services to the Board which have extended over a period of eighteen years. Mr. Ellerton was, said Mr. Somerville, the best Tax Collector in the Province! He hoped the chair would enable him to enjoy the leisure time he would have after his retirement which will take place this year. In reply, Mr. Ellerton thanked all present for the delightful gift and then kept all the company highly amused the most interesting and wittiest speech heard for many a day. Several of those present suggested that Mr. Ellerton now extend his activities to include speech-making, they so enjoyed his impromptu effort.

Please phone!

Letter to the Editor

Macdonald College, Que.
July 10, 1965

The Editor,
The Gleaner,
Huntingdon, P.Q.
Dear Sir:

The comments by Frank Napier on fodder radish in your July 7th issue were drawn to my attention. I became aware of the interest in radish in Britain during a visit to Agricultural Research Institutions in Great Britain last summer. So far, radish is being looked on as an experimental novelty and it does show some promise as a source of fall fodder. I obtained seed from the Welsh Plant Breeding Station, Aberystwyth, Wales, and trials of a very preliminary nature were established this year at Macdonald College, Lennoxville and La Pocatiere.

British practice is to seed about August 1st and to graze in October and November. There are many questions that must be answered before we can recommend fodder radish to Quebec farmers. For example, should we seed August 1st? Daylength is a critical factor and our days are the same length on July 7th as they are in Aberystwyth on August 1st. Will they tolerate our August heat? Areas in Britain where this is grown are cool and moist in August. Do we get adequate moisture for radish prior to our fall frosts? Will radish harden off under our conditions so they will be fit to graze in October? If we get satisfactory answers to these questions and if we consider radish promising, we can then start to consider the desirability of radish vs. other fall forages such as kale or the turnips that some farmers in your area have seeded with their grass seed and to see if these yield enough to be worthwhile. Another problem I foresee with radish has to do with seed production. This is one limitation on their use in Britain and may cause this seed to be expensive.

I also want to point out the fodder radish is only one of many plant introductions that are being looked at by forage workers in Eastern Canada. The list of those that have been looked at and considered unsatisfactory or not worth developing is enormous. Anyone really interested in the extent of this work might find it interesting to visit the Introduction Nursery for Forage Crops at the Ottawa Research Station (Central Experimental Farm), Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Let me assure you that we look at a lot, and that whenever anything new and interesting comes along you will hear of it in the "Country Notebook" and through the "Recommendations of the Quebec Seed Board".

Yours truly,
J. S. Bubar,
Assistant Professor of Agronomy.

RECENT VISITORS TO THIS DISTRICT

Mr. and Mrs. William Platt

of Oakridges, Ont. (formerly of Powerscourt) have been renewing acquaintances in this district for the first time in three years. They arrived on July 1 accompanied by their son, Elmer, and his wife and last Thursday, July 8, Mr. and Mrs. Russel Milne drove them to Cornwall where they stayed overnight with friends before taking a bus to their home near Aurora, Ont.

Mrs. Platt, the former Annie Wood, celebrated her 80th birthday in February of this year and Mr. Platt will be 91 years of age in November. They were married almost 56 years ago — Sept. 29, 1909. A son, Fred, predeceased thef in 1959 and their other son Elmer lives in Toronto.

It will be twelve years in October since Mr. and Mrs. Platt moved from Powerscourt to Oakridges where Mr. Platt has a large garden which he tends himself. Both Mr. and Mrs. Platt are active and alert and greatly enjoyed their visit here with relatives and friends.

Some Telephone Numbers To Change Soon

A series of telephone numbers which have almost became household words to thousands of telephone subscribers in Montreal suburban areas are about to disappear. Effective July 26th, 1965, both the Long Distance and Assistance Operators will be reached by dialling the single digit "O" (zero); Repair Service in your exchange will become "4104"; and the Information Operator will be reached on "411".

These changes are being made in order to introduce faster and more convenient Direct Distance Dialing for all customers in the metropolitan area. Next year, the existing access code for DDD — "112" — will be changed to the single digit "1", thus reducing the number of digits required to place a DDD call. But before this simplified DDD service can be introduced, all numbers presently beginning with the numeral "1" must be changed.

The new Information and Long Distance Operator numbers will be standard throughout the metropolitan region and will ultimately conform to the service number systems used throughout most of Canada and the United States.

Conveners reports followed:

Agriculture reported on the adverse effects insecticides had on bees, thousands of them dying through poisoned pollen. Owners of bees and those who used insecticides are meeting to discuss how those things can be remedied as a shortage of honey would be a loss to everyone, especially the 125,000 bee keepers in Ontario.

Education spoke of the school for retarded children (John Kennedy) Children from 6-21 are taught there — 12 in a class. All facilities are in use and a swimming pool is in course of construction. Teachers of French in Toronto schools are to have a month's training each year. Saskatchewan has State schools, now 2% of their taxes is being spent on education.

Citizenship reported that W.I. will increase its shipment of school and other books, some being sent to the West Indies.

Home Economics — "A soft-rubber sink stopper is a fine thing to give a grip in opening bottles and jars; To fry chickens, cook first, then dip in butter and fry; Buttermilk is a good source of calcium; No poultry injected with hormones for growth can be sold on the open market.

Welfare and Health said that in the mounting scale of deaths and disabilities 75% of them were caused by negligence of parents.

Publicity told of the part played by Canada in the World Food Program (WFP) which went into effect in 1963. After the United States and West Germany, Canada is the largest contributor to the WFP. Canadian food contributions include, dairy products, wheat, wheat flour, fish, dried eggs and milk products. These have been shipped to 21 countries in Asia, Africa, the Mid-East and Latin America.

A three-minute or less impromptu talk on varied topics drawn by the members, some of which were quite interesting.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem after which refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Moe, Mrs. Parkinson and Miss Ethel Cavers and a social hour enjoyed.

President Ormstown W.I. Resigns Due To Ill Health

The July meeting of the Ormstown Women's Institute was held on Tuesday, July 7, at 2 p.m. at the home of Mrs. C. Moe, with an attendance of 18 members and 7 visitors who responded to the Roll Call with "My most annoying task". The vice-president, Mrs. McKell, presided.

The minutes of the June meeting were read and approved. Letters of thanks were read from secretary of "Save the Children's Fund" for the Christmas stockings sent; also from Mrs. Rember, for plant and cards sent her during her recent illness.

A letter of resignation from her office as President, due to ill-health, from Mrs. Rember was read and acted upon.

The treasurer reported a balance on hand of $72.73.

Arnold MacNaughton Guest Speaker At Hemmingford W.I.

The July meeting of the Hemmingford Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Ernest Merlin on July 7th at 2 P.M. Mrs. James Robertson acted as president in the absence of Mrs. Robert Curry. Mrs. Robertson welcomed guests for the day, they being the Ormstown Women's Institute Branch and also some Hemmingford ladies.

Items of interest were read from Mrs. James Robertson's concise report of the Provincial Convention at MacDonald College. Mrs. Fred Greer thanked her for bringing so much of the news of the Convention back to us.

Agricultural Convenor Mrs. Harris read an article on the Centinenal Rose and also special care on cut flowers. The July 23 trip to Carillon, Quebec was discussed. In the early fall a nearly new sale of clothing will be held.

The roll call was answered by telling what our favorite vacation spot is.

Mrs. Harris introduced guest speaker, Arnold MacNaughton. His topic was "The Royal Family Liniage. "Everyone found this topic interesting and informative. Mrs. Hugh McAdam thanked the speaker by saying that she didn't know how he could possibly have so much information at his fingertips and that she was sure everyone had learned a great deal of history from his talk.

The hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Ernest Merlin, Mrs. Hugh McAdam and Mrs. Florence Barr.

Riverfield Presbyterian Church

Riverfield Presbyterian Church, situated on the North bank of the English River was built as a frame building first in 1846. The corner stone for the psesent building was laid on June 24th, 1869. It was not until November 5th., 1871 that the church was completed. Twenty-five years later it was renovated.

A Partial History Of Riverfield Presbyterian Church

Riverfield Presbyterian urch situated on the north k of the English River built by the pioneers who immigrated from Scotland and Ireland.

The first settlers on the English River came from Scotland in 1821 and by 1828 quite a settlement had been established so a friendly gathering was called together to discuss the erection of a school house. It was decided that two acres of ground be purchased for a school and cemetery. In due time a small school building was erected in the north east corner of the site of the prtsent cemetery with Mr. Wm. MacGregor as school master. The first religious service was conducted there by Rev. Mr. Colquhorin of Georgetown.

Such was the concern of these sturdy pioneers for their school that a fine of two shillings (or a day's work in improving and keeping in repair the said school and burying ground) should be levied against any member who absented himself without a satisfactory reason from a general meeting.

Along the Norton Creek the settlers were visited by Congregational ministers from Franklin and about 1840 a small church was erected in the roadside near Wylie's Creek.

Rev. James Law, an ordained minister (a seceder) from the U.S.A. began preaching about 1843 in the school house and in private houses so in 1845 Mr. James Houston donated a piece of land (now owned by Mr. Burton Reddick) on which was erected a small frame building. The first communion was celebrated in this church in May 1846 and before long the worshippers from the Norton Creek joined in with them.

On March 16, 1848 these "Free Church" worshippers sent a petition to the Presbytery in Montreal asking for a regular organization. A communion Roll with 30 names attached was prepared on May 8th with Messrs. Daniel MacGregor, John Muir and Moses Douglas ordained as elders and Messrs. James Carmichael, James Houston, Thomas Gebbie and John Miller appointed as deacons for the congregation of "English River".

Rev. James Fettes from Scotland worked with great zeal and energy among his flock and opened the first Sunday School with a staff consisting of Messrs. Wm. McKell, John Miller and Miss Mary Carson (Mrs. Wm. Wylie).

Around the year 1853 a glebe was purchased midway between Riverfield and Howick (on the farm now owned by Mr. Andrew MacFarlane) where a manse was erected.

Rev. Mr. Fettes was succeeded by Rev. Wm. Troup and he, by Rev. John Milne both from Scotland.

Then in 1860 a call was given Rev. Alexander Young of "Canada West" who opened up a service in Howick Village so that the charge was now known as "English River and Howick".

Rev. C.M. MacKeracher was inducted on May 5, 1867 and served this congregation faithfully and well for twenty-nine years. During his pastorate the cornerstone congregation met in the old Houston Church and was ably addressed by Rev. Alexander Young, a former minister. Then all marched down the road about one quarter of a mile to the site of the new church beside the school and cemetery.

One of the pleasing features of the day was the marching of the school children in the procession and their delightful singing under the leadership of their school master, Mr. Martin.

The corner stone was laid in place by the session assisted by Mr. John MacFarlane. Rev. Mr. Clarke of Ormstown offered the dedicatory prayer and Dr. Irvine of Montreal delivered a masterly address while the Rev. C.M. Mac Keracher stated the contents of the box placed in the cornerstone.

It was not until Nov. 5, 1871 that the imposing stone edifice was completed as the cut stone had to be drawn on wagons all the way from Montreal.

Twenty-five years later the church underwent some renovations but the first service conducted after these were completed was a very sad one. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Mac Keracher had fallen ill and on Aug. 5th, 1896 he fell asleep. His funeral service was conducted by Rev. Dr. Amaron assisted by many members of Presbytery and he was laid to rest in English River Cemetery.

Rev. J.W. McLeod, the next pastor was inducted on March 31st, 1897 and carried on the work with great zeal until 1903. During his pastorate the glebe was sold and a new imposing high manse was erected at Riverfield in 1897.

Rev. J.M. Kelloch, M.A., who followed was an ardent worker for temperance and it was largely due to his leadership that the licensed saloon was abolished in the district. Riverfield Y.W.C.T.U. was organized in 1904 and at that time was the largest society of its kind in the Province.

Mr. Kelloch accepted a call to Manitoba in 1908 and Rev. R.L. Ballantyne was inducted on March 19, 1909. During his pastorate the old open horse sheds at Riverfield were replaced by large closed-in sheds and the cemetery was levelled and made into a beautiful lawn and is still one of the most neatly kept in the province.

Mr. Ballantyne accepting a call to Maisonneuve in 1911 was succeeded by Rev. Donald Fraser, B.A., who returned to the Maritimes in less than a year.

In 1912 with the consent of Presbytery the name of the charge was changed to that of "Riverfield and Howick".

Rev. Stuart A. Woods was chosen as the next pastor and was inducted on Dec. 19, 1913.

Glenelm

GLENELM — Mrs. Mildred Helm has returned to her home after spending twelve days in the Huntingdon County Hospital receiving treatment for a severe burn.

Up until this time, 50 years ago the charge had known only four secretary-treasurers — the first one being Mr. Thos. Gebbie followed by Mr. George McClenaghan who served faithfully for nearly half a century, Miss Christina Mc Leod and Mr. James Sills.

Liturgie — "J'ai pitié de cette foule." A cette époque les boulangers ne couraient pas les rues, encore moins les chemins déserts de la campagne. D'autant plus que les techniques commerciales des pèlerinages et des manifestations religieuses n'étaient pas encore au point! En apparence, c'est un incident banal. La foule, gagnée par l'enthousiasme, s'est mise à suivre Jésus, sans songer à se munir de provisions. La retraite a duré plus longtemps que prévu; trois jours. Et si les âmes sont satisfaites, les estomacs crient famine. Apparemment la situation est sans issue. On est loin de toute habitation et plusieurs n'auront sans doute pas la force de rentrer chez eux. Aux grands maux les grands remèdes! Les disciples ont sept pains pas un de plus. Jésus fait asseoir la foule. Il prononce la prière habituelle de "bénédiction", qui est en réalité une "action de grâce" au Seigneur pour ses dons. Puis la distribution commence. Il en va de même pour les "petits poissons". Quand tout le monde est rassasié, on recueille les "miettes": sept corbeiles. Leur bonne volonté leur docilité sont récompensées.

Liturgy — A teen-ager's "No." For the first years, others were always saying "No" to you. If it was not your mother, not letting you drink too much milk, it was your father, not letting you put toys into your mouth. Even brothers and sisters were in the act, telling you "No" when you wanted to play too near the street. As years passed by, and you were finishing grade school, you gradually learned how to say "No" to yourself concerning things of less importance. And, now, more and more is left to you to decide. You must learn how to say "No" to yourself, to live by your own "No". When the gang wants you to go to a movie which is billed as "adult entertainment", can you say "No?" When the girls gather in a corner of a restaurant for something non-caloric, can you say "No" when the conversation turns to gossip? Take three minutes today, and examine how well you have learned to say "No". "No" requires solid judgment, conviction, determination and initiative. As a teen-ager, can you say "No" and really mean it?

La commission scolaire catholique locale se prépare à la prochaine année académique-. Présentation du budget au mois d'août

Une assemblée régulière de la Commission Scolaire Catholique de Huntingdon avait lieu mercredi le 7 juillet sous la présidence de M. Gérald Crête et en présence des commissaires Laurent Nadeau, Lawrence McCallum et Léonard Grenon.

L'assemblée débuta par la prière, après quoi le secrétaire M. Hervé Tessier fit lecture de la correspondance.

Un accusé de réception du Ministère de l'éducation au sujet de la vente par soumission de l'école de Herdman approuvant le refus de la commission d'accepter une soumission d'un dollar et endossant la décision des commissaires d'en convier la vente à un courtier en immeubles. Une autre lettre du Ministère faisant suite à un voyage à Québec du Président et du secrétaire, annonçant des octrois de $36,112.24, $20,966. et de 25% cet automne à la commission scolaire. Enfin une dernière du Ministère de l'Education encore au sujet des élections tenues récemment.

On discuta alors de l'engagement d'une institutrice pour enseigner la septième année anglaise pour le prochain terme. Certaines démarches auprès de personnes qualifiées s'étant avérées sans résultat, il fut décidé de publier l'offre d'emploi dans les journaux.

Au sujet des réparations usuelles à effectuer aux écoles, il fut décidé que les commissaires feraient eux-mêmes l'inspection des deux édifices pour se rendre compte des améliorations nécessaires.

M. Tessier annonça par ailleurs que M. Stewart, vérificateur officiel au Ministère de l'Education, serait à Huntingdon mercredi le 4 août pour expliquer aux secrétaires-trésoriers des commissions scolaires de la région les nouvelles normes régissant leurs budgets. Les commissaires sont aussi invités.

Les cinq contrats pour le transport des élèves au primaire seront d'un an cette année. Des demandes de soumissions paraîtront d'ici peu dans le journal et les soumissions seront ouvertes à une assemblée spéciale qui sera tenue mercredi le 28 juillet. On tint à préciser que les véhicules devront rencontrer l'approbation de tous les commissaires.

Les commissaires discutèrent ensuite longuement de la question des cours de rattrapage pour les élèves du primaire; ecrtains rapports indiquent en effet qu'une trentaine d'élèves auraient avantage à en suivre. Contacté au sujet d'octroi, le Gouvernement a fait savoir qu'aucun octroi n'est accordé pour de tels cours au primaire. Certains membres ayant suggéré que la Commission scolaire défraie la moitié des dépenses, et les parents, l'autre moitié, il fut finalement décidé que la question soit étudiée davantage pendant quelques jours avant d'en venir à une décision finale.

La grève des détaillants d'essence n'aura pas duré longtemps, mais les grévistes ont gagné leur point, aux dépens du consommateur en effet, il en coûte maintenant de deux à trois cents de plus le gallon pour s'approvisionner en gazoline dans la plupart des régions.

Dans la Vallée de Châteauguay, la grève fut aussi de courte durée. Au début de l'après-midi mercredi, une cavalcade d'environ vingt voitures ayant à bord plusieurs occupants, fit son entrée à Ormstown. Les automobilistes qui rencontraient la cavalcade sur la route croyaient qu'il s'agissait d'un convoi funèbre, tous les véhicules circulant les phares allumés. Arrêtant devant chaque station de service, ils enjoignirent les préposés de fermer leurs pompes. Un garagiste d'Ormstown, Archie McCormick, protesta et un membre du groupe brisa les ampoules de verre placées sur le côté des pompes et par où l'on voit l'essence se déverser pendant que les dollars et les cents s'additionnent. Quelqu'un qui essaierait de servir de l'essence sans ces ampoules verrait le carburant s'échapper par le côté de la pompe plutôt que de couler dans le boyau distributeur.

D'Ormstown, la cavalcade se dirigea vers Huntingdon, arrêtant au magasin général Royce Ruddock à Dewittville, où ils bloquèrent la route 4 jusqu'à ce que les pompes à cet endroit soit fermées. La filée d'autos continua alors sa route vers Huntingdon arrivant au garage Riverside Motors vers 3 heures p.m. On signifia immédiatement à tous les préposés de station de service d'avoir à fermer leurs pompes. On laissa entendre aux détaillants locaux que s'ils devaient ré-ouvrir sans permission, ils pouvaient s'attendre à des représailles. Un détaillant expliqua plus tard au Gleaner que cela signifiait des boyaux coupés, des pompes brisées ou encore des fenêtres fracassées.

On demanda à un représentant du Gleaner qui prenait des photos si celles-ci étaient bien destinées au Gleaner. La réponse ayant été dans l'affirmative, l'homme qui avait posé la question affirma qu'il était un propriétaire de station de service de Valleyfield et qu'il accompagnait d'autres opérateurs de station de service dans cette tournée dans le but de convaincre tous les détaillants à se joindre à la grève. Il prétendit qu'on ne faisait pas la grève en vue de faire payer l'essence plus cher au public, mais pour que les compagnies d'huile vendent au même prix à tous. Il affirma qu'un détaillant de Valleyfield payait son carburant 11 cents le gallon moins cher que ses compétiteurs. On voulait aussi que les compagnies d'huile réduisent leur loyer d'un cent par gallon. Quand on demanda à ce porte-parole qui avait brisé les ampoules au garage McCormick d'Ormstown, il nia avoir eu connaissance de tout dommage ou de toute tentative d'intimidation sous quelque forme que ce soit. Il émit l'opinion que peut-être "une bande de durs" s'était jointe au groupe légitime et s'était infiltrée parmi les rangs de la cavalcade du début. Il maintint que le "groupe légitime" qui a visité Ormstown et Huntingdon mercredi était composé de propriétaires de station de service de Valleyfield, Beauharnois et St-Zotique.

Quoiqu'il en soit, on ne demanda à personne de cette région de joindre la cavalcade. De plus, sauf peut-être pour quelques autos où prenaient place un ou deux occupants, personne dans le groupe ne portait d'uniforme ou de vêtement ressemblant de près ou de loin à ce que portent ordinairement les préposés aux stations de service.

On avait auparavant organisé à Valleyfield un bureau de direction régional qui avait décidé que certaines personnes pourraient s'approvisionner en carburant tous les jours de la grève à certaines stations de service. Mais ce bureau de direction n'avait pris aucune disposition à l'égard des cultivateurs, des touristes, des vendeurs etc. Un grociste en viande de Montréal confia à un marchand de Huntingdon que ses camions ne pouvaient obtenir de la gazoline dans la métropole et qu'il ne pourrait pas l'approvisionner tant que durerait la grève. Les dirigeants du bureau de Valleyfield avisèrent les stations de service de Huntingdon qu'ils viendraient jeudi vers une heure de l'après-midi pour donner les directives quant à qui pourrait obtenir de l'essence et où il serait permis d'en servir. A partir d'une heure quart, comme ils ne s'étaient pas présentés, les stations de service locales commencèrent à ouvrir une à une.

La grève est finie. Les gens de cette région n'eurent que très peu à en souffrir, mais M. tout le monde perd une valeur de trois cents sur chaque gallon de gazoline qu'il achète.

Fête en l'honneur de M. Paul Leduc, Officier de douanes à sa retraite, mardi soir

M. PAUL LEDUC

Un souper, où étaient présents plus d'une centaine d'amis et confrères officiers, avait lieu mardi soir le 6 juillet à la salle de la Légion de Huntingdon, en l'honneur de M. Paul Leduc, Superintendant en charge du poste de douanes de Trout River, à se retraite.

Entre autres cadeaux offerts à M. Leduc, dont le passe-temps à sa demeure de Trout River est l'apiculture, un appareil appelé extracteur de miel fut présenté par M. Sanschagrin, Collecteur à Huntingdon.

On remarquait à la table d'honneur, M. et Mme Sanschagrin, M. et Mme Leduc, la mère de M. Leduc, Mme Onésime Leduc, M. et Mme C. R. Hawley, qui succèdera à M. Leduc au poste de Trout River, M. et Mme A. P. Dufresne, Officier en charge du Personnel du District, M. et Mme J. Legras, Ass. Off. du Personnel du District, et le fils de M. Leduc, M. l'abbé Lucien Leduc.

On remarquait aussi la présence de M. et Mme Baxter, sous-collecteur en charge à Trout River, N.Y.

M. Leduc entra au service civil le 4 août 1926 à Trout River et servit pendant très de 40 ans jusqu'à ce jour. Il fut nommé Sous-Collecteur à Trout River le 1er avril 1939 et y demeura Superintendant en charge jusqu'à sa retraite.

Les témoignages offerts par les différentes personnes invitées à prendre la parole durant la soirée présentèrent M. Leduc à la fois comme un homme avec lequel il était extrêmement agréable de travailler et comme un officier très compétent au service du public. M. Hawley, qui agissait aussi comme Maître de Cérémonie, rendit hommage à son prédécesseur disant que s'il était aujourd'hui en position de lui succéder c'était dû aux conseils et au bon travail de celui-ci. Il ajouta que M. Leduc serait toujours le bienvenu aux douanes de Trout River comme il espérait que lui-même le serait quand il irait chez M. Leduc pour des conseils.

On rendit aussi hommage à Mme Leduc qui fut aux côtés de son époux tout au long de ces années, acceptant tous les petits inconvénients que la position exigente de son mari lui causait quelquefois. Un présent lui fut offert par Mme Cosgrove.

M. Leduc remercia toutes les personnes présentes de même que tous ceux qui avaient participé à l'"organisation de cette fête. Il avoua qu'il était très touché de toute cette amitié qui lui était témoignée et invita tout le monde à lui rendre visite à Trout River.

Après le souper, tous tinrent à serrer la main au couple et à s'entretenir quelque peu avec eux.

Courte histoire de l'Espagne

15,000 ans avant Jésus-Christ des hommes dessinent des taureaux sur les parois des grottes d'Altamira. Le pays n'est encore qu'une péninsule: l'Ibérie. Les Grecs la font entrer dans la légente en y plaçant le Jardin des Hespérides où Hercule va chercher la pomme d'or. L'histoire va y faire son entrée avec Carthage et les guerres puniques: lés troupes d'Hannibal ne peuvent atteindre Rome qu'en passant par Gibraltar. César achève la conquête en 33 avant J.-C. Après lui Rome donne à ces nouvelles provinces ibériques des villes, des routes, une langue, un droit et avec la christianisation de l'Empire, la religion catholique. Au Ve siècle les Visigoths envahissent le pays.

Au VIIe siècle, Mahomet prêche l'Islam et les musulmans traversent l'Afrique. Tarik, en 711, soumet toute la péninsule (Gibraltar perpétue son nom: Djebel Tarik). Les Arabes, à l'apogée de leur civilisation bâtissent à Cordoue la deuxième mosquée du monde, et la première université de l'Occident. Grenade le dernier bastion maure, sera pris en janvier 1492. L'Espagne moderne commencera avec Christophe Colomb qui découvre l'Amérique en 1492. L'Unité territoriale s'était faite dix-huit ans auparavant avec le mariage de Ferdinand d'Aragon et d'Isabelle de Castille, les Rois catholiques. Charles Quint ouvre le "Siècle d'or", un siècle qui va durer cent cinquante ans. L'empire de Charles Quint comprendra: l'Espagne, l'Amérique latine, les Pays-Bas et les Flandres, la Sardaigne, la Sicile, la moitié du Sud de l'Italie Naples l'Allemagne, le Portugal avec le Brésil et les colonies d'Afrique et des Indes: "Sur ce royaume le soleil ne se couche jamais".

La France au XVIIe siècle, l'Angleterre au XVIIIe ravissent à l'Espagne son hégémonie européenne. C'est la décadence. La France, jusqu'alors admirée, est haie lorsque Napoléon, en 1808, envahit l'Espagne. Le peuple se mobilise spontanément contre un pays qui a guillotiné Louis XVI et chassé ses prêtres. C'est l'effroyable guerre immortalisée par Goya, où le siège de Saragosse fit 50,000 morts. L'espoir de rénovation s'effondre. L'Amérique latine en profite pour conquérir son indépendance. Ses illusions coloniales perdues, l'Espagne vit ses vrais problèmes: une terre mal partagée et mal exploitée: les paysans se révoltent ou émigrent.

Aujourd'hui l'Espagne sort d'une longue période de troubles dont le point culminant fut le terrible affrontement des événements de 1936 qui vont la saigner d'un million de morts. Mais elle a réussi à se tenir à l'écart du conflit mondial. Le soleil même qui étouffait cette terre lui redonne la vie: 12 millions de touristes l'année dernière. Une vocation économique nouvelle s'offre à l'Espagne.

L'Espagne parle quatre langues. Trois sont latines (castillan, catalan, galicien), une d'origine inconnue: le basque. Le Castillan, langue des chrétiens qui ont reconquis la péninsule, est la langue officielle. Six millions d'Espagnols parlent le catalan. Le doux galicien, proche du portugais, subsiste dans les régions isolées du Nord-Ouest (2,500,000 personnes). Grâce à 500,000 Basques espagnols, survit une langue également parlée en France.

Partout dans les faubourgs et sur les routes, nous croisons le monde étrange des Gitans. Axec eux toute communication profonde reste difficile. Leur misère souvent nous fait peine, sans qu'elle paraisse tellement les affecter. Nous admirons davantage encore la beauté brûlante de leurs enfants. Nous admirons aussi leur art d'exploiter le touriste de mille manières dont la plus courante consiste à lâcher sur lui un essaim de petits mendiants qui sauront lui soutirer toute sa monnaie et continueront à le harceler jusqu'à ce qu'il prenne la fuite.

Le pélerinage de Saint Jacques de Compostelle dure depuis huit siècles. Il faut avoir suivi le séculaire chemin de Saint Jacques pour comprendre la ferveur qui entoure le patron de l'Espagne. Les pèlerins du XXe siècle vont généralement en automobile, mais certains groupes rejoignent Saint-Jacques à motocyclette, à cheval, à dos d'âne ou à pied. On donnait au Moyen-Age le nom de Rey au premier des pèlerins qui apercevait la basilique. Tous les Rey, Roy, Leroy, King (anglais) ont eu un ancien pèlerin de Saint-Jacques pour ancêtre.

Le taux de la taxe du village d'Ormstown est fixé à 11 mills. Tables de pique-nique installées au parc

Au cours de son assemblée régulière de lundi le 5 juillet, tenue sous la présidence de M. le Maire Bruno Beaulieu et en présence de tous les membres, le conseil du village d'Ormstown a fixé le taux de la taxe municipale à 11 mills du dollar d'évaluation pour l'année 1965. Le secrétaire fut autorisé à préparer le rôle de perception en conséquence et à en donner avis.

Une autre décision d'importance fut celle de fournir à partir du 5 juillet, et ce sur demande et avec l'autorisation du conseil, les services d'eau aux applicants résidant aux environs du chemin Jamestown aux conditions du contrat usuel, soit $30. par an. Le conduit sera de 1/2" de diamètre et le coût de l'installation sera aux frais de l'applicant; la connexion avec le conduit principal sera faite par les employés de la ville.

Un don de $25. fut voté à la Campagne de la Croix-Rouge d'Ormstown 1965.

Une plainte au sujet d'un arbre faisant obstruction sur la rue Wellington fut référée au comité des rues.

La firme d'ingénieurs Lindsay Cosgrove & Associés fut engagée comme ingénieur-conseil du village d'Ormstown, aux conditions de l'offre par M. Cosgrove lors de sa visite au conseil le 5 avril; cette firme fera le relevé des alentours du chemin Jamestown pour déterminer la profondeur et le site des égouts, etc.

Un groupe de contribuables du Rang des Botreaux était présent à l'assemblée afin de porter plainte au sujet de l'emplacement projeté pour le nouveau dépotoir municipal. Le conseil leur fit savoir qu'on étudierait cette plainte.

Le secrétaire fut autorisé à acheter 12 imperméables pour les pompiers et à acheter du boyau d'"arrosage pour remplacer l'équipement usé ou endommagé.

Le contrat pour les réparations et la peinture à la carrosserie du camion du village fut accordée à Adoris Dandurand Body Shop pour la somme de $150.

On autorisa l'achat d'un révolver .357 mag. destiné à l'usage du constable Barrington.

Il fut décidé que le conseil fasse faire deux tables à pique-nique qui seront installées au parc War Memorial Community Centre à l'usage du public.

Le conseiller Ernest Sauvé fut nommé en charge des employés du village jusqu'à l'assemblée régulière du mois d'août.

On apporta le changement suivant au rôle d'évaluation: Compagnie Ferroviaire Canadien National à Lomer Dumas, lot No. P-78.

On autorisa enfin le paiement des comptes suivants: Association des Eleveurs de Bétail et Mme B. Cullen, $150.; John Rennie, $103.50; Oswald Primeau, $81.; Jack Barrington, $91.50; W.S. Cullen, $2,000.; Comp. d'électr. Shawinigan, $437.97; M.E. Barrington, $8.40; Gabriel Langevin Inc., $2.14; Le Journal, $13.; Francis Hankin & Co. Ltée, $66.89; Compagnie Terry Machinery, $41.38; Mme James Lussier, $3.; Régional Construction, $13.34; Station de Service White Rose, $2.; Station de Service J.P. Gibeault, $34.86; Beauchamp & Frères, .91; D.A. Barrington, $1.91; John E. Pétition demandant des lumières de rue sur le chemin Ridge, au conseil de Godmanchester

Une assemblée régulière du conseil de Godmanchester avait lieu lundi le 5 juillet en présence de tous les membres, sauf le conseiller Leblanc, et sous la présidence du Maire Charles R. Reid.

On accepta avec regret la résignation du conseiller Arthur, celui-ci ayant disposé de sa propriété dans les limites de la dite municipalité.

M. Wallace J. Rennie fut nommé conseiller au siège No. 2 pour le remplacer.

M. Arthur remercia le conseil pour sa coopération et affirma que c'était avec plaisir qu'il avait participé aux réunions du conseil pendant neuf ans. Il souhaita à ses membres tout le succès possible.

M. Stephen Quenneville se présenta devant le conseil pour appuyer la pétition qui avait été soumise au mois de juin, au sujet de lumières de rue à la limite nord de la ville, sur la route 4.

On lut et fila une pétition signée par 18 contribuables et parties intéressées demandant des lumières de rue sur le chemin Ridge, de la rue Lac à Loiselle & Legault, et demandant aussi que cette partie devienne une zone de 30 milles à l'heure.

On demanda au Département de la Voirie de déclarer cette partie de chemin dans la municipalité de Godmanchester, du chemin de Planches au chemin Connaught, zone de 30 milles à l'heure.

Le rapport de M. W.J. Todd inspecteur rural, fut lu, filé et accepté, Wilby Robidoux payant les frais s'élevant à $10.

La lettre de Mme Ellen B. McKellar datée du 15 juin fut lue et filée, de même que l'accusé réception de la secrétaire, datée du 23 juin.

Mme M.A. Barrett, Secrétaire-Trésorière, fut nommée inspecteur des bâtiments.

On nomma le Maire et le conseiller Hunter pour rencontrer M. J.P. Cossette de Valleyfield au sujet d'un règlement.

On approuva le paiement des comptes suivants: Huntingdon Gleaner Inc., $34.20; I. Quesnel, $2.; M.A. Barrett, $150.; Comp. d'électricité Shawinigan, $40.54; Wallace Rennie $145.; R. Durnin, $115.60; Olivier Leblanc, $174.40; R. Ruddock, $17.90; Huntingdon Auto Parts, $46.28; Royce Beattie, $60.; W.J. Todd, $10.
