Manufact[illegible]rers Are First to [illegible]ree on Their Tariff Demands

Delegation From the Manufacturers' Association is Then to Go to Ottawa Representing the Whole Body.

The manufacturers of Canada are beginning a tariff campaign. The Manufacturers' Association, which completed its organization a couple of years ago, and which labors in the interest of the manufacturers of Canada and, it claims, in the interest of the agriculturist and the consumer as well, has taken up the existing tariff.

A revision is to be prepared and will be in the hands of the Government before the session of Parliament which is expected to be called some time in January.

In the past there have been complaints against the tariff. Delegations of manufacturers have gone to Ottawa and presented their views to the ministers [illegible] each branch of manufacture has acted independent of every other. There has been no compromise [illegible] prepared [illegible] placed before the government [illegible] contrary the increases asked [illegible] one sector [illegible] have been opposed by another and the government [illegible] them to go home and agree [illegible] and then come to Ottawa again.

RECONCILE DIFFERENCES.

The Manufacturers' Association has undertaken to bring them into agreement. In the past the cotton men wanted more protection for [illegible] cloth which was their finished material. The shirt makers and others who used cotton cloths then raw material opposed this [illegible] would increase the cost of their raw material. The [illegible] producers [illegible] the [illegible] manufacturers, the [illegible] and shoe men [illegible].

Now the Manufacturers' Association [illegible] together the various interests and giving them an opportunity to agree upon something. In some cases sacrifices will have to be made by one branch of the manufacturing business for the benefit of another. But it is proposed that this shall be agreed upon before a visit is made to Ottawa and that the Government shall not be called upon to decide between conflicting claims [illegible] that the duty should be increased and the other that it should be lowered.

It is [illegible] by the manufacturers that in the past five or six years the conditions [illegible] manufacturing business have changed and that a change in the tariff should be made to meet the changed conditions.

MEETINGS TO BE HELD.

Meetings of the manufacturers are to be held shortly [illegible] in Montreal and Toronto [illegible] purpose of discussing the tariff [illegible] agreeing to any reform that is thought advisable.

Both the [illegible] Minister and the Minister of [illegible] Customs, have [illegible] the manufacturers the programme they are now adopting.

CIRCULAR NOTIFICATION.

which now obtain in Canada demand the immediate and thorough revision of the tariff upon lines which will more effectually transfer to the workshops of our Dominion the manufacture of many of the goods which we now import from other countries.

"That, in any such revision, the interests of all sections of the community, whether of agriculture, mining, fishing or manufacturing, should be fully considered with a view not only to the preservation, but to the further development of all these great natural industries.

"That, while such tariff should primarily be framed for Canadian interests, it should, nevertheless, give a substantial preference to the Mother Country and also to any other part of the British Empire with which reciprocal preferential trade can be arranged, recognizing, always, that under any conditions the minimum of tariff must afford adequate protection to all Canadian producers."

For the purpose of carrying out this resolution and seeking a readjustment of the present tariff on broad lines and from a thorough Canadian standpoint, the tariff committee wish to consult the members with reference to any changes they may desire. Please [illegible] carefully on the accompanying form any items in the tariff which you [illegible] giving full particulars in the manner therein set out. In suggesting any changes the operation of the present preferential tariff must be considered.

Note.—No recommendation re tariff changes will be made to the Government without first putting the proposed change before every member of the association.

Answers to this circular must be in the hands of the secretary on or before November 15th next. No proposed changes received after that date can have the support of the association.

W. K. McNAUGHT,
Chairman Tariff Committee.
R. J. YOUNGE,

AN INCREASE OF DUTY ON IRON WOULD BE RUINOUS

Ottawa, Oct. 28.—(Special.)—Another [illegible] signed by Mr. McNaught, chairman of the tariff committee, and invites the manufacturers [illegible] to make their wishes known in regard to the tariff.

The Herald correspondent has been given to understand that the proposal to raise the duties included an increased duty on pig iron, bar iron, steel billets, steel plates and, in fact, iron and steel generally. The correspondent's attention was drawn to statements of the representative of a manufactory whose raw material is iron and structural steel. The gentleman stated that the proposed increase of duties would be disastrous to his industry, that an increase in such iron and steel duties was [illegible] he said came from the [illegible] of the leading men in the [illegible] would be an increase in the present iron and steel duties.

Such an increase, he said, would leave him at the mercy of a few Canadian producers of iron and steel, who would naturally combine and put the price up as high as the tariff would allow.

"Could not this be overcome if the duty was also raised on his manufactured articles?" he was asked.

"No, it would be impossible for us to increase the price on our output to purchasers, and if the iron and steel duties were raised it would practically close up our business."

CANADA MAY SUPPLY THEM.

OTTAWA, Oct. 28.—(Special).—Hon. Sydney Fisher some time ago wrote Lord Strathcona in favor of Canada being allowed to supply horses and cattle for the re-stocking of the Boer farms. Lord Strathcona referred the matter to Mr. Chamberlain, and the latter now advises Mr. Fisher that Lord Milner has got charge of the work, and the Colonial Secretary handed Mr. Fisher's request over to him.

TEMISKAMING RAILWAY MAKING QUICK PROGRESS

Toronto, October 28.—(Special.)—The members of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway Commission will visit North Bay on November 6th, to look over the ground and inspect the progress of the work of construction, and to decide, in all probability, on the location of the southern terminus. Respecting the latter point, several deputations have arranged to meet the commissioners to lay before them the claims of North Bay as against those of the Nipissing Junction end of of the Grand Trunk line.

Four hundred men are now at work in carrying out the contractors' undertakings, of clearing the right of way, grading, etc. It is expected that the commission will be ready within a week to ask for prices for steel rails from the various manufacturers in Canada, United States, England and Belgium.

AT THE GENERAL HOSPITAL.

William Ross, of 1556 Ontario street, lost the top of a finger yesterday while at work in the Phoenix bridge works. His injury was treated at the General Hospital. A small boy named Peter Hoffman, of Richardson street, was brought to the General Hospital yesterday to have a bullet extracted from his leg. No reason was given for its presence there. Olive Lamothe, an employe of Pillow & Hersey, had his hand crushed yesterday. On being taken to the General Hospital it was found necessary to amputate a finger.

LABELLE CROPS ARE TOO LARGE.

Reports from the Colonization Society of Montreal show a marked increase in the population of the Labelle region, north of Montreal. The harvests this year have been remarkable. The farmers, in fact, have suffered from the abundance. That was the remark made by a farmer of the region who is spending a few days in the city.

"It is to be regretted," he said, "that over one-third of our wheat crop this year will be left on the fields. The cause of the trouble is the paucity of workmen. Help cannot be had anywhere.

"It is the oat crop that has suffered particularly. Last year farmers got high prices for oats. They sowed too plentifully in the spring, and the harvest has been too heavy for their labor.

"The settlers, as a rule, are happy. They are prospering. In fact, the whole region is developing marvelously."

HARROWS FOR SOUTH AFRICA.

OTTAWA, Oct. 28.—(Special).—The Crown agents of the Imperial Government, in South Africa, have cabled another order through the Dominion Department of Agriculture to the Massey-Harris Manufacturing Company for 2,000 more zig-zag harrows. This is a duplication of the first order, which was worth in the vicinity of $40,000, making $80,000 worth of machinery in all.

UNIQUE HONOR FOR A CANADIAN

Institution of Civil Engineers of Great Britain Award Medal to Dr. Dawson.

The council of the Institution of Civil Engineers of Great Britain has conferred a unique honor upon a Canadian by awarding the Watt gold medal to Dr. William Bell Dawson, M.A., for an able and valuable paper upon "Tide Gauges in Northern Climates and Isolated Situations." Dr. Dawson is chief engineer of the tidal survey of Canada, and his paper is the result of exhaustive researches into the tides and currents along the coasts of the Dominion.

The honor which the British Institution of Civil Engineers has conferred upon Dr. Dawson is an unusual distinction for a Canadian. Coming from such a source it is peculiarly gratifying, not only stamping as it does with the council's imprimatur the importance of the work being done by Dr. Dawson, and the great value attached to it in England, but marking the high appreciation of the distinction and authority which he has personally impressed upon his researches.

Dr. Dawson is a son of the late Sir William Dawson, so long connected with McGill University, and brother of the late Dr. George Dawson, head of geological survey, whose brilliant career was so lamentably cut short recently.

POLICE COURT CASES.

Joseph Morin pleaded guilty to theft before Judge Lafontaine this morning and was sent to jail for three months. Philas Columbe on the charge of stealing clothes was sent to jail for six months and Dieudonne Robert, accused of the theft of $40 worth of goods, was sent up for trial on October 31.

Most of the Dealers Expect to Receive Little Before December—Price is Not Yet Decided Upon.

The arrival of coal in Montreal is anxiously awaited.

Since the termination of the big strike the miners have put out several hundred thousand tons of coal. Almost every ton has been sent to cities in the United States.

Scarcely any coal has been shipped to the seaboard for transhipment to lake ports. Montreal receives coal—anthracite coal—principally by water, and as a consequence has been compelled to wait.

The views expressed some weeks ago by local coal dealers, that Canadian cities would get coal only after the American cities had been supplied, were stated anew to-day. In fact, according to some coal dealers, there is scarcely a rift in the dark cloud which not long since threatened a coal famine.

LITTLE BY WATER.

Most of the dealers interviewed today said they expected very little coal would, this year, come to Montreal by water. This is interpreted as indicating that coal will not come here in any great quantity before December 1, on which date navigation closes.

The principal ports of shipment on Lake Ontario are at Oswego, Fair Haven and Charlotte. To these ports the coal is sent from the mines by rail and afterwards put on barges and taken across the lake and down the St. Lawrence, through the canals, etc., to this port. That is the route followed when there is coal to be shipped.

Advices from the head offices in New York of many local coal dealers, are that they must not depend upon getting any coal for some time, and then very little, if any, will be forthcoming by water.

EXPECT DELAY.

Mr. Patrick, of the Pennsylvania Coal Company, said that from present indications very little coal would come to Montreal by water. The fact of the strike being settled, he said, did not bring coal to the city, and if it could not be brought here by water for one reason, that same reason could well point to a further delay in having it brought here by rail.

These views were corroborated by Mr. John Cavanagh, manager of the Ogdensburg Coal and Towing Company, who said there were very poor prospects of getting coal in any quantities this year by navigation. The importation of coal by rail, Mr. Cavanagh did not think would materially affect the price to consumers.

Ald. Farquhar Robertson, one of the leading coal dealers in the city, took much the same view as expressed above, and when asked when he expected coal would be shipped to Montreal, replied that "it first must be taken out of the ground."

ANOTHER VIEW.

In contradistinction to the views expressed above are those given by Mr. G. Hartt, of the Hartt & Adair Coal Company. He believes the operators are distributing the coal output fairly, and that Montreal will, in a very short time, be supplied with coal in quantities sufficient to supply immediate requirements.

The Hartt & Adair Coal Company receive their coal by rail. To-day four car loads arrived at the company's sheds, and more is now on the road.

"The coal coming from the mines," said Mr. Hartt, "will arrive daily, and I hope it will soon reach a normal quantity.

"There are many needs, requiring a great production, but I think the coal mined is being distributed fairly."

It is perhaps natural that owing to the degree of uncertainty regarding the arrival of coal in Montreal there should be some indecision as to what the prices will be. Some days ago the coal operators announced an advance of 50 cents per ton. This price, it appears, applies to New York. It is not known that this advance will be the basis of a fixed rate in Montreal. One dealer said today: "Prices will not be exorbitant, but it is scarcely fair to expect that they will be as low as they were last spring."

EXPLANATION OF MR. JOHN REDMOND

He Tells What Has Been Done With the Parnell Fund Money.

New York, October 28.—(Special.)—John Redmond, Chairman of the United Irish League and of the Irish Parliamentary party to-day made a statement concerning the disposition of the funds raised in this country to save Avondale, the estate of the late Charles Stewart Parnell, from the hands of outsiders. In a dispatch to the Evening Post from London on Saturday, it was said that Mrs. Dickinson, sister of the late Mr. Parnell, had written a letter to the Irish Times, in which she demanded a full accounting from Mr. Redmond, saying that his chance of success in America would be better if he could show that as regards the funds he collected to redeem the ancestral home of his former leader he had honestly and independently carried out the [illegible] and applied the moneys to the purposes for which they were subscribed.

Soon after the funds were collected Mr. Redmond wrote to Mrs. Dickinson, telling her that the money was to be used for the erection of a and the purchase of Avondale House [illegible] should be available as [illegible] of the Parnell family. At the sale of the estate the committee in charge of the funds tried to purchase the house [illegible] but their bid was [illegible] a Dublin butcher, who purchased the whole property. Mr. Redmond says that the funds were safely invested and will now be used to pay for the erection of the monument, it being no longer possible to purchase Avondale House. Mr. Redmond's statement is as follows:

"The funds collected by Lord Mayor [illegible] and myself never at any time passed through my hands. They were [illegible] the Parnell Monument Committee in Dublin and have been invested in Government stock for the treasurers of that committee by the most eminent stockbroker in Dublin, Mr. James McCann. As far as I know, the only account the expenditure has been in the purchase of a

which was required by the sculptor [illegible] making the monument, and in the purchase of a portion of the Avondale [illegible] These funds were collected for the purpose of creating a memorial to Parnell. The memorial was to consist of a monument in the streets in Dublin and if possible, the purchase of the Mansion House of Avondale to be held for the nation, much as Washington's birthplace is at Mount Vernon.

At the sale of the estate two years ago the committee bid for the house but were outbid by a Dublin butcher, [illegible] bid for the whole estate [illegible] the house. It afterwards [illegible] that he was acting in unison with Mr. John Parnell, and that he paid the latter $10,000 in addition to the $4,000 paid as a price of the estate.

It being no longer possible to purchase the house the committee made a contract with Augustus St. Gaudens to build the monument. There has been some regrettable delay, but the model is now complete and Mr. St. Gaudens is coming here to-morrow to show it to me. I hope the work will now proceed rapidly and that the monument will soon be in its place. The funds at hand are not enough to complete the payment of the monument, but there will be no difficulty in obtaining the [illegible] balance when required."

ILLNESS OF POPE'S PHYSICIAN.

Operation for Appendicitis Was Successfully Performed Upon Him To-Day.

Rome, Oct. 28.—The operation on Dr. Lapponi, the Pope's private physician, who is suffering from appendicitis, was successfully performed by Dr. Mazzoni, who operated on the Pope for a cyst about two years ago.

The Pope, who was very anxious, was informed of the result by telephone, and begged Dr. Mazzoni to go to him personally in order that he might hear more precise details.

TO ENCOURAGE HOME SAVINGS

City and District Savings Bank Puts New Plan Into Operation.

A unique step in the encouragement of small savings is being taken by the Montreal City and District Savings Bank, which to-day began issuing little "home savings banks," in which children and even older people whose earnings are too small to make a regular deposit at the bank's offices seem worth while, may store the silver or copper coins which they are able to spare from time to time.

The "home savings bank" is a neat but strong little nickel-plated iron box with a protected slot out of which no amount of manipulation will get the pennies which have once been dropped in, and a stout lock.

These miniature safes are being distributed free of cost by the City and District Savings Bank for the purpose of developing thrift among both big and little people of small means. The key to each box is kept at the bank's office, where it is to be taken at intervals for purposes of deposit, when a reasonable number of coins may have been accumulated by the "home department." The idea of the bank authorities is that the people look after the pennies and they look after the pounds, and the method adopted of bringing the two together appears to be an excellent one.

Each "home savings bank" distributed is accompanied by a little booklet, containing a few good "tips" on the value of small savings, and with blank pages for keeping a record of the amount put in the box. In this way several children in one family can make use of one bank, as the accountant of the "home branch" can keep an account of the sums deposited by each.

CARTAGE FIRMS WANT TO SUE CITY FOR DAMAGES

They Claim That the Condition of Commissioners Street is Causing Them to Lose Money Every Day.

The enthusiasm which outwardly animated the members of the Roads Committee when a few weeks ago they set out to investigate the condition of the city's streets seems to have waned considerably.

Nothing more is heard from headquarters at the City Hall. On the contrary the wails and complaint of citizens have increased because nothing is being done and the streets are getting worse and worse.

Above others perhaps, are heard the complaints of the freight carriers.

Transportation companies look to the city to provide them with good roads over which they may carry their freight with safety. They say they are entitled to good roads because they pay their taxes and their license. Good roads are prime factors in their business. Their heavy trucks laden with tons of merchandise cannot be run over streets filled with holes without loss of time and money. There is some talk at the present time among the principal transportation companies of taking joint action against the city to force it to put the streets in good condition, and at the same time to claim damages for losses sustained.

COMMISSIONERS STREET.

Commissioners Street is the one, particularly, regarding which loud complaints are made. Commissioners Street is one of the principal thoroughfares for freight carriers to and from the wharf. It is in a most deplorable condition. For practical purposes it is impassable. Some carters find it safer and shorter to drive up McGill Street to Craig and return to the east end of the wharf by Berri Street and the tunnel, than to attempt driving over Commissioners Street.

Mr. E. E. Belcourt, superintendent of the Shedden Forwarding Company, agents for the Grand Trunk, said to-day that he considered Commissioners Street a disgrace to the city and an injustice to the companies using it. The time had passed, he said, for mere comment and criticism, and some action should be taken to compel the city to put the street in a passable condition.

Commissioners Street, he said, was an essential thoroughfare in immediate and safe despatch of freight.

The wharf was not in very good condition, but that might be overlooked for the moment because of the repairs going on there. But Commissioners Street was the first one along the river front. It was the natural course through which passed all heavy freight east and west and vice versa along the wharf or to and from it. Still freight-carriers were unable to pass there because of the rut holes. Besides in most places the car tracks were six and seven inches above the roadbed and rendered driving positively dangerous. It frequently happened, indeed, that a load of merchandise was upset on the road. A few days ago several barrels of apples were strewn in all directions on the street. It was not criticism that should be made, said Mr. Belcourt, the Council or the Roads Committee should be held responsible.

Messrs. Lilley & Cameron, of the Lilley-Cameron Cartage Company, said to-day that the impassable condition of the streets particularly Commissioners Street, meant a loss to them of between $2 and $3 a day for each team they employed. This loss resulted from loss of time, accidents, and by not being able to put on sufficiently heavy loads.

"Where does all our money go?" enquired Mr. Lilley. "The city displays remarkable promptitude and energy in collecting our taxes and our licenses, why do they not give us good roads"

Mr. Lilley said that if any action were taken against the city to compel them to put the roads in good condition his firm could be depended upon to supply their share of the expense.

MUNICIPAL TENEMENTS FOR USE OF POOR PEOPLE

Conditions in Toronto Very Different From Those Met With Here.

Some few years ago Ald. Ames, at his own expense, made the first experiment in providing model tenements for the poorer element that had ever been undertaken in Canada.

Toronto is now about to follow his example, though there the corporation is expected to provide the funds.

In Canada the necessity for model tenements to supercede the hovels that abound in slums, has not made itself felt so strongly as in the congested districts in cities of the old land and the United States.

In Glasgow, Birmingham and London, municipal tenements have long been in operation and Ald. Ames says they are most beneficent.

London alone has spent $15,000,000 in carrying out the idea, and Liverpool has replaced over 8,000 unsanitary hovels with modern dwellings. These modern dwellings provide accommodation for 50,000 poor people.

TORONTO'S PLAN.

Down in Toronto Comptroller Graham now proposes that the city expropriate property where the buildings are in such a condition as to necessitate their removal as a matter of sanitary precaution, and on the property erect tenement houses for the accommodation of the poor. He anticipates that the undertaking would involve $50,000, and this sum, he believes, the people would vote cheerfully.

In Busby Lane, in this city, a number of Italians were found to occupy unsanitary hovels that were dangerous to the public health, and these premises were, by virtue of power invested in the Hygiene Committee, declared unfit for human habitation. Not being able to rent the houses again, the landlord is forced to have them removed.

Down in Toronto, the action of the law is much more expeditious; the medical health officer, when he sees fit, orders the hovels to be torn down.

Dr. Sheard has, in that city, just ordered a pair of wretched buildings to be razed. In one of these a man was paying $3 a month for two miserable rooms. Under Ald. Ames' plan, operated in this city, for very little more three excellent rooms, with all the sanitary conveniences, can be procured.

When Ald. Ames undertook the experiment here his idea was that he could make five per cent. on the investment, but the initial outlay was greater than he had at first contemplated and the result was consequently somewhat disappointing. Ald. Ames only obtains 3 per cent. on his outlay of $50,000.

NOT SAME CONDITIONS.

Ald. Ames does not think that the same necessity exists for municipal tenements in this city as in some others, not even excepting Toronto.

"We have slums here," said he, "but they are widely dissevered, not, as in Toronto, in one spot."

Mayor Cochrane agrees with this view. "Toronto is built on an altogether different plan from Montreal," said he. "We have places in both the east, north and west ends for the poorer elements of our population, and everywhere good homes can be secured at a very moderate rental."

Speaking of his experiment, Ald. Ames said this morning:

"Five years ago I purchased at about 80 cents a foot, a piece of land on the south-east side of William Street, (between Ann and Shannon streets).

"For density of population, high death rate, over-crowding, general un-sanitary condition and poverty, this locality was pre-eminent.

"Upon this piece of land now stand four blocks of buildings, containing homes of varying size and rental, for 39 families, with a grocery store upon the corner where no liquor is sold.

"The buildings conform to the popular type of small houses, three blocks being of two and one block of three stories. The construction is of a most substantial character. The walls are of solid brick; the floors rest on steel beams, and an air-space in the roof gives warmth in winter and coolness in summer. The floors of the kitchen are of concrete and drained to the centre.

"There are ten 3-roomed apartments for small families; 22 four-roomed apartments for the ordinary family in the neighborhood, four five-roomed apartments for larger families, and three 2½-storey six-roomed houses for foremen and similar tenants.

"The room will average 100 feet superficies and 900 cubic feet of space. The entries are lighted with electricity at the expense of the owners, the higher-priced dwellings can have gas-fixtures and slot metres. Each three-roomed and four roomed house is supplied, with a substantial cooking-stove. Every dwelling has its own sink, stationary wash tub and water closet. There is a janitor on the premises, his services being given in lieu of rent.

"Between the two inner blocks is a court 90 feet wide, with an electric light and a garden of flowers. Between the backs of parallel blocks the yards are concreted and are washed with a hose once a week by the janitor. Separate clothes-drying apparatus is supplied, to each family. Each tenant has his own garbage can, and twice every week the contents are removed during the night.

"For all this tenants pay as follows: Three rooms at $1.50 to $1.75 per week; Four rooms at $2 per week; five rooms at $2.50 per week; six rooms at $11 to $12 per month.

"These rates include electricity in the entries, water, janitor's attendance, etc. Were such items deducted, the charge for rent would be about the same as the average of the neighborhood, while the grade of accommodation is infinitely superior.

"An agent is employed to collect all rentals and any family that pays regularly throughout the year is allowed two weeks free occupation during April.

"So far, the houses have rented readily, and seem to meet the needs of the locality."

CANADIAN WARES ABROAD.

Another Firm is Succeeding in Establishing a Foreign Business.

Mr. M. Connor, of Aylmer, Ontario, was a passenger on the Tunisian, which arrived to-day. For a year and a half he has been in Great Britain and on the Continent, in the interests of the Goold, Shapley & Muir Co., of Brantford, manufacturers of wind-mills, power-mills, gas and gasoline engines, and other farm machinery. During this time, Mr. Connor succeeded in firmly establishing his firm's wares in the markets of Great Britain, Ireland, France, Holland, Belgium, Germany, Russia and South Africa, personally visiting all of the countries excepting the last-named. At the Glasgow Exposition a large display was made by the company, and it is Mr. Connor's opinion that that exposition did a vast amount of good in opening the eyes of the people of Great Britain, to the potentialities of the Dominion. The British preference, also, has helped Canada in a material degree. From a somewhat earnest study of the market, Mr. Connor came to the conclusion that the vast majority of the farmers of Great Britain want the embargo against Canadian cattle raised, but the Government persists on imposing it in what are supposed to be the interests of a comparatively few large cattle-breeders.

Mortality Statistics.

The mortality in Montreal last week was 102. Infantile debility was fatal in 19 cases, consumption in 10, and typhoid in 5.

Driver Blameless.

The inquest into the cause of the death of Antoine Desormeau, held yesterday, resulted in a verdict of death from injuries received by being run over by a carriage. The driver of the rig was not held responsible.

A Little Fire.

A little fire at 220 Dorchester Street was all that troubled the firemen yesterday. The fire was in the sitting room of Mr. C. Masson's residence. No. 2 company put it out and the salvage company spread a couple of covers.

Union Nationale Francaise.

The following officers of the Union Nationale Francaise, have been elected for the year 1902-03: President, Mr. Jules Helbronner; first vice-president, Mr. L. Hanon; second vice-president, Mr. A. Martin; secretary, Mr. B. Hubert; censors, Messrs. H. Courgeaud, E. Deliot, Alf. Pinoteau; commissioners, Messrs. G. Pony, E. Boudet, M. Helbronner, jr., L. Maillard, T. A. Reeb and A. Duboulet.

Kicked by His Wife.

Jobias Branchaud keeps an hotel on Commissioners Street and yesterday he had his wife in the Recorder's Court on a charge of having kicked him. He alleges that she has a bad temper and is jealous of him, and made life generally unpleasant for him. He had taken an action for separation as to property and his complaint is that she came back, insisted on remaining and during a discussion over the matter the assault is said to have occurred. Mrs. Branchaud denied the charge and will have her trial on Friday.

Imperial Officer Dead.

An Imperial soldier, Staff Sergt. William Shipman, will be buried this afternoon at 3 o'clock from Wray's undertaking rooms, St. Catherine Street. Sergt. Shipman was on his way from Victoria, B.C., to England on sick leave, in company with his wife, and a number of other men, from the forces on the Pacific coast, when death overtook him on the C.P.R. train near Chapleau. The body was brought to this city last evening and will be accorded military burial. The Field Battery and Fifth Royal Scots will be accompanied by a military band and the men from the Pacific.

A Chef in Trouble.

Joseph Morin is 50 years of age and a chef by profession. He worked one day for Mr. Alcide Lacroix, of 514 Dorchester Street, and then departed. Mr. Lacroix found some pieces of cashmere and silk, gold rimmed eyeglasses and silk handkerchiefs and $1 were also gone. He notified the Detective Department and Detective Trudel was put on the case. The goods were found in a Craig Street store, where they had been sold for $1.25 and Morin was found comfortably located in an hotel on Jacques Cartier Square. He left his nice roomy quarters there with the detective and took up his temporary residence in the cells.

Late William Patterson.

The funeral of the late William Patterson yesterday afternoon was largely attended. It took place from the family residence, 406 Pine Avenue, to Mount Royal Cemetery. Every Masonic lodge in the city was represented. A delegation was also present from Mizpah Lodge, I.O.O.F. A short religious service was conducted at the house by Rev. James Fleck, of Knox Church, with which Mr. Patterson had been for a long time identified. The chief mourners were: Masters W. H. and L. J. Patterson, sons; Messrs John and David Patterson, brothers, John Wilson, Ottawa, and Ralph A. Beckett and Reginald Graves, Montreal, brothers-in-law, and Mr. Alfred Gourlay, nephew.

A WORD TO FARM TOILERS.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

The Home Friend of the Farmer and His Family in the Autumn Season.

After the labors, and toils of the summer time, and harvesting of crops in the early autumn, many of our farmers, their wives, daughters and sons, find themselves in a condition of health demanding careful attention if suffering is to be avoided later on. Many experience kidney trouble of some form, with some the liver is torpid, there is biliousness, nausea and vomiting, with loss of appetite and depression of spirits. Thousands who have been exposed to cold, damp winds and rains, now feel the twinges of terrible rheumatism, others, rundown by worry, overwork and irregular dieting, are tormented with the pangs of dyspepsia.

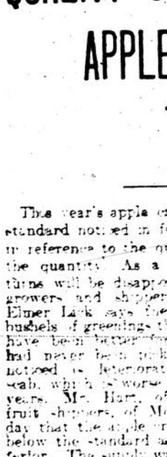
To the thousands of rundown, sickly and half dead men and women in farm homes we recommend with all honesty and confidence the worker's friend, Paine's Celery Compound, the only medicine that can quickly and fully restore strength to the weak body and vigor to the muscles. Paine's Celery Compound tones the stomach, it removes poisonous acids from the blood which cause rheumatism; it feeds the weak and diseased nerves and banishes neuralgic tortures; it purifies the blood and gives true vitality and life. The use of Paine's Celery Compound in autumn means the establishing of a perfect physical vigor to withstand the rigors of a severe winter.

QUALITY OF APPLES BAD THIS YEAR

The year's apple crop is not up to the standard noticed in former years. This is in reference to the quality rather than to the quantity. As a consequence the returns will be disappointing both to apple growers and shippers. Fruit Inspector Elmer Lick says there are thousands of bushels of greenings this year that it would have been better if the wormless product had never been picked. What has been noticed is deteriorating the crop is the scab, which is worse than it has been for years. Mr. Horr, of Hart & Tuckwell, fruit shippers, of McGill Street, said to-day that the apple crop was this year far below the standard as the apples were inferior. The supply was up to the standard but the quality of the apples was lacking, and that would prove a loss to the growers and shippers. The cause of the trouble has been the exceedingly wet season as it favored the growth and spread of the scabs.

PATRIOTISM

The stomach is a larger factor in "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" than most people are aware. Patriotism can withstand hunger but not dyspepsia.



The confirmed dyspeptic "is fit for treason, stratagems and spoils." The man who goes to the front for his country with a weak stomach will be a weak soldier, and a fault finder.

A sound stomach makes for good citizenship as well as for health and happiness.

Diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition are promptly and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It builds up the body with sound flesh and solid muscle.

"After I received the advice which you gave me in regard to my treatment," writes Geo. Dorner, Esq., of 1915 Pulaski Street, Baltimore, Maryland, "I used your 'Golden Medical Discovery' according to directions. After using four bottles I considered myself cured, as I have not felt any symptoms since. Had tried almost all remedies that I heard of that were good for dyspepsia, but without relief. Finally, I became discouraged, and wrote to you for advice, with the above result."

The dealer who offers a substitute for the "Discovery" is only seeking to make the little more profit realized on the sale of less meritorious preparations.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the paper covered book, or 50 stamps for the cloth bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

HEATING OF THE ARENA.

Numerous enquiries having been [illegible] the management of Mascagni Grau Opera Co. with regard to the heating of the Arena, during next Friday and Saturday evenings, the local managers take much pleasure in reminding the public of the fact, which may have been forgotten, that the board of directors of the Arena spent several thousand dollars last season in installing a magnificent steam-heating plant on the occasion of the visit there of the Maurice Grau Opera Co. Consequently the building is thoroughly equipped in the matter of warmth and comfort. Another matter which the patrons will be pleased to learn is the innovation which the management has made this season of advancing the stage and proscenium twenty-five feet forward, thus further condensing the auditorium, so that seeing and hearing will be much better than previous seasons.

THE PROPERTY QUALIFICATION.

The Chambre de Commerce wants the property qualification for Mayor and aldermen of Montreal abolished and at the meeting of the council to-morrow will adopt a resolution to that effect.

Montreal is the only city on the continent of America requiring a property qualification of $10,000 for the Mayor. Such cities as New York, Boston and Chicago, larger than Montreal, do not require any such qualification.

I WILL CURE YOU OF

Rheumatism

Else No Money is Wanted.

After 2,600 experiments, I have learned how to cure Rheumatism. Not to turn bony joints into flesh again; that is impossible. But I can cure the disease always, at any stage, and forever.

I ask for no money. Simply write me a postal and I will send you an order on your nearest druggist for six bottles Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure, for every druggist keeps it. Use it for a month, and, if it succeeds, the cost is only $5.50. If it fails, I will pay your druggist myself.

I have no samples, because any medicine that can affect Rheumatism quickly must be drugged to the verge of danger. I use no such drugs and it is folly to take them. You must get the disease out of the blood.

My remedy does that, even in the most difficult, obstinate cases. No matter how impossible this seems to you, I know it and I take the risk.

I have cured tens of thousands of cases in this way, and my records show that 39 out of 40 who get those six bottles pay gladly.

I have learned that people in general are honest with a physician who cures them. That is all I ask. If I fail I don't expect a penny from you.

Simply write me a postal card or letter. I will send you my book about Rheumatism, and an order for the medicine. Take it for a month, as it won't harm you anyway.

If it fails, it is free, and I leave the decision with you. Address Dr. Shoop, Box 39, Racine, Wis.

Mild cases, not chronic, are often cured by one or two bottles. At all druggists.

THE TARIFF AND THE LEAD MINES

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy Says Government Should Take Steps to Keep Out American Products.

President Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, of the Canadian Pacific, made to-day a most important announcement with regard to the steps that are being taken for the development of lead and silver and copper mining in British Columbia; for the extension of the scope of the company's smelting operations at Traill, and the tariff policy which he thinks Canada ought to adopt in order that the country may secure the full benefit of its lead productions and the industries arising out of them.

For some time past capitalists, engineers and mining managers who have come down from the West have laid strong emphasis upon the need for the assimilation of the Canadian tariff as regards mining imports to that of the United States.

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy takes up a strong attitude on the question, and says that things have now reached a stage when action on the part of the Government is, if not exactly imperative, very greatly to be desired.

The company has decided upon a very considerable outlay at the Traill smelting establishment in order to do work there that has hitherto been done in the United States at considerable expense to Canada and no little profit to the republic

The men from the West who have been interviewed on the subject here have been unanimous in testifying to the difficulty of operating the mines at a profit owing to the obstacles that stand in the way of finding a profitable market.

Sir Thomas says: "It is not alone that Canada is unable to hold her own with America under existing conditions, but lead from Mexico and Germany is forcing the lead that is produced in Canada out of our own market.

"There is always, says the Western man, a good field for disposal of lead produced in the United States, thanks to the high protective tariff which is in force there, which is practically prohibitive except as regards lead from Mexico and Germany, which is manipulated so as to swamp the Canadian market.

They have a most ingenious method of refining and corroding lead from Mexico while it is in bond in the United States and of re-shipping it again to Canada in the form of the finished product.

In other words, Mexican and German lead in bullion form partially treated can be shipped into America duty free provided its equivalent in value is shipped out of that country into Canada in the form of pig lead or white lead.

Against the importation of this finished product, of which the United States gets the benefit of the manufacture, there is a duty of $5 per ton on pig lead into Canada. The duty against this product in the United States is $42 per ton.

In regard to white lead, it is said, the United States imposes a duty of more than $50 a ton, while in Canada the duty is less on the raw material than it is in its finished state.

Sir Thomas said to-day that the unsatisfactory condition of affairs as regards lead mining has prevailed for years, and is to be traced to times long before the present Government came into office.

The policy of the Canadian Pacific had, Sir Thomas said, always been to help the mines as far as they could by making the freight rates as low as possible.

Enquiry into the conditions under which the mineral resources could be developed had convinced the company that the freight rates must be reduced, but they had to face the fact that while they might reduce the rates, there was no certainty that the miners would benefit, because the same price would be charged for the finished product as had been charged before the reduction. This led the Canadian Pacific to establish their own smelter at Traill. It had been a grtat boon to the British Columbia mines because the company had reduced the smelting charges 50 per cent. and they had reduced the freight rates 70 per cent.

Up to the present the smelter had confined itself to the production of matte from the copper ore, and of bullion from silver and lead ores. The further process of refining had to be done in the United States, and the furnace refiners there had enjoyed the profits to be derived from separating the silver from the lead and from the manufacture of pig lead and white lead.

Quite recently the Canadian Pacific had come to the conclusion that they might go a step further and produce the pig lead themselves, while those associated with the paint industries in Montreal might associate for the production of white lead from the pig by the establishment of works in this city.

With the end just explained in view, the company installed a small electric stamping plant at their works and had thoroughly demonstrated the practicability of producing lead from pig by electricity. The production had not been so large as had been anticipated from the single ten-ton plant which cost, Sir Thomas said, about $25,000; but the production could easily be increased. They now proposed to construct four or five additional ten-ton stamping plants. This would involve an outlay of about $140,000 or $150,000.

It is the first introduction of the production of pig by electrical process in Canada, and Sir Thomas says that the success of it is beyond question.

Two conditions are, however, indispensable. One is that they should be able to secure the Canadian market for the Canadian product, and the other is that the supply from the mines should always be maintained.

Sir Thomas says he believes the mines can be depended upon for the necessary supplies of ore, and in order to secure the Canadian market the tariff must be raised to that of the United States.

STREET OPENING CAUSES TROUBLE

For several years the payment of the cost of opening Milton Street has occasioned dissensions among the proprietors in that district, and even now, after a commission has made a redistribution of the amount, trouble is still anticipated.

The original roll put the whole cost of the opening of the thoroughfare on the proprietors owning property in the street itself, but in such unequal apportionments, and apparently with such disregard as to whether the lots assessed fronted or had their side lines on the street, that it gave rise to no end of complaints and protests on the part of those assessed.

Finally the roll was set aside by the courts and a new one ordered to be made, commissioners having been appointed for the purpose.

These have just completed a new roll in which they spread the cost over the area bordered by Pine Avenue, McTavish Street, Sherbrooke Street and St. Lawrence Main, assessing the properties on both sides of the streets mentioned and on all properties situated on thoroughfares within the intervening area.

A meeting of the interested parties has been called to confer with the Commissioners at the City Hall on the 10th of November next, to hear objections, if any, against the finding of the Commission.

It is not to be doubted that the objections will be many and vigorous, as there is room for such a wide difference of opinion in such matters.

LARGE CONCOURSE ATTENDED FUNERAL

The mortal remains of the late Mr. Patrick Gallery were conveyed to their last resting place in Cote des Neiges cemetery this morning, attended by the largest cortege that has left St. Ann's parish in many years.

Requiem mas was sung at eight o'clock in St. Ann's Church, Father Caron being the celebrant.

Mr. P. J. Shea presided at the organ, and Mr. W. Murphy, the leader of the choir, directed the musical service.

The late Mr. Gallery was one of the oldest Irish Catholic residents in the city, and the church was crowded with citizens of every nationality and creed anxious to bear testimony to his unvarying worth.

The chief mourners were the three sons of the deceased; his brothers, Daniel, Michael, James and John; Ald. Walsh, William Walsh, John Walsh, and Mark Walsh, the deceased's father-in-law.

Among those present were: Ald. N. Lapointe, Ald. Bumbray, ex-Ald. Conroy, City Surveyor Barlow, Inspector Lezatt, Detective O'Keefe, Michael Downs, Joseph Dillon, T. J. O'Neil, Thomas O'Connell, James Kenehan, John Power, John Tucker, Dr. J. J. McGarrey, J. Quinn, William Heelan, Ed. Quinn, F. J. Hartford, J. Corcoran, M. Hughes, J. Slattery, Ed. Power, J. BIG CARGO ON THE TUNISIAN

From the gloomy depths of the hold in the Allan line steamship Tunisian a small army of longshoremen are hard at work transferring to the sheds one of the largest cargoes ever brought from Liverpool to Montreal.

When the Tunisian moored at her wharf yesterday afternoon she had her record inward cargo on board. She had also on board, stowed safely away in the forward holds, the first shipment of coal she has ever carried.

Carrying coal is an entirely new departure by the Allan line. The coal was ordered and shipped before the settlement of the pig strike. The intention of the Allan Line Company was to sell the coal here and thus help to relieve the crisis which it was at one time feared Montreal had to face. As it is the 1,000 tons of coal brought over by the Tunisian is a welcome addition to the city's stock of fuel and was eagerly snapped up.

In addition to the 1,000 tons of coal the Tunisian brought over some 3,000 tons of general cargo, including large consignments of fine dry goods and expensive liquors.

This big cargo marks practically the end of a successful season for the Allan line. The last sailing from Liverpool is scheduled for next Thursday, while their last vessel leaving Montreal will sail this year probably on November 19.

MINERS GRADUALLY RETURNING.

Active Preparations Go on for Mitchell Day to be Celebrated To-Morrow.

Wilkesbarre, October 28.—No additional collieries were started in the Wyoming region to-day, but the number of miners at work is larger than it was yesterday, consequently the coal output to-day will be larger than on Monday.

Active preparations for the celebration of Mitchell day to-morrow continue. There will be demonstrations in nearly all the coal towns. President Mitchell will take part in the celebration to be held in this city.

TO HELP THE CHURCH.

Bishop Carmichael Makes Appeal to St. George's Congregation.

Preceding his sermon in St. George's Church on Sunday, Bishop Carmichael made an appeal to the congregation on behalf of the efforts of the residents in our locality on the Upper Ottawa to erect a church building. The clergyman of the parish will be in Montreal this week, and the Bishop commended him to the good offices of the members of the congregation, expressing the gratification he would feel if this, his first appeal since his appointment as Coadjutor Bishop, should result in St. George's assuming responsibility for the entire cost of the much-needed edifice —a matter of some $2,500.

WATERPROOF JACKETS.

When Chief Benoit, of the fire brigade, was in New York at the fire chiefs' convention, he saw some waterproof jackets which he thought would be just the thing here, and as a sample lot bought enough for the subchiefs. They came to-day, and are certainly a good, warm and serviceable garment, and one which will no doubt be brought into general use for men and officers alike.

WEEKLY SERVICE FROM ST. JOHN?

St. John, N.B., October 28.—(Special.)—James Oborne, general superintendent of the C.P.R., to-day called on Major White to see if some provision can be made for the C.P.R. to get additional wharf accommodation this winter. It is said that one of the steamship lines that is to run a fortnightly service will put on a weekly line if it can get wharf room. A proposition is that the Intercolonial give the Canadian Pacific the free use of one of its berths, which will not likely be used this winter.

MORE DOUKHOBOR STOCK SOLD BY PUBLIC AUCTION

Winnipeg, Oct. 28.—T. H. Meredith, a cattle dealer of Yorkton, who is here, said there had been a second sale of Doukhobors' stock at Fort Qu'Appelle. The sale was conducted by agents of the Government, and seventy head of cattle, seven horses and other stock were auctioned. He estimated the entire receipts realized on the Doukhobor stock to be in the neighborhood of $20,000, which it is intended to hold in trust to be used in the event of the Doukhobors falling into a state of absolute poverty and want, as a result of their eccentricities.

Toronto, Oct. 28.—(Special.)—Mr. Heltver, representative of the Upper Canada Bible Society, has returned to the city after spending five weeks in the Doukhobor settlements near Yorkton, Assiniboia. Mr. Heltver is a Russian by birth, and, therefore, understands the language of that interesting group of settlers.

In his opinion three-fourths of the Doukhobors in the settlements he visited are open converts to the new religious belief, which has led many of the Doukhobors to set free all their animals, while others in the settlement are in sympathy with it, but hesitate because of the hardships in the winter which the vegetable-producing clothing would entail.

He says that any movement represented in force that may now be going on, and which in some quarters has been represented as on the advance of so many of starving people, is in reality only an attempt of the fanatical element to convert the neighboring Doukhobors to their exaggerated beliefs.

Dubuc was working in the company's works, in St. Henri, last November, when, while, as he claims, he was acting under the foreman's orders, he had his fingers so crushed under a heavy piece of iron that they had to be amputated.

A PRINCIPLE WORTH FIGHTING FOR.

There is scarcely any room for doubt that the principle of the British preference will be relegated to one side if the Conservatives have their way. In respect to it there are just two sets of opinions held by declared opponents of the Government. There are those who, conceding something to the strong feeling of good will towards Great Britain that has been so manifest in the past few years, would make some pretence of maintaining the principle, while actually rendering it useless and inoperative. This view was voiced by the manufacturers, at Halifax, when they declared in favor of "a substantial preference to the Mother Country" but—"under any conditions the minimum tariff must afford adequate protection to all Canadian producers." There can be no misunderstanding this attitude. It is a warning to Great Britain that, however useful her markets may be to us, we do not propose that our markets shall any longer be of any use to her. It means that, if the authors of the programme have their way, there will be another steady falling away of Canadian purchases of British goods, as there was between 1879 and 1897. It means that while one department of our administrative organization is doing all in its power to increase exportations from Canada to Great Britain, another department will be interposing a most effective obstacle against the importation of British goods to Canada. It means that those who pretend to be most anxious to force the United States to facilitate a free interchange of products, are determined that there shall not be a free interchange of products in the case of Great Britain. If this wing of the Conservative party is to have its way, clearly the British preference will be as though it were not.

On the other hand, such of them as do not fall in with this view of "nullifying the preference by indirect means," are themselves no more favorable to it. They denounce the proposal as "adding hypocrisy to folly," and they call for "a tariff applying not to countries but to imports," that is to say, a tariff in which the British preference shall have no part, a tariff in which countries which receive our exportable products on favorable terms shall be treated no better than countries which seek to prevent us from selling them anything.

These are the two lines on which Conservatives approach the consideration of the British preference. Not one of their leaders can be found to say a good word for the preference itself. The only question is how it may most conveniently be got rid of. One set are for declaring open war upon it. The other set are for saying nice things about it for the present, and, once they get into office, quietly putting it out of business. There is agreement only on the point that it must be made away with.

Is it worth while for Liberals to offer a strenuous resistance to these attacks, and to fight hard enough for an election or two to secure the maintenance of the principle so attacked? To us it seems well worth while. We must, if Canada is going to make the progress we all hope and expect, clear our minds of the idea that the whole machinery of government exists for the purpose of securing a handsome profit, in good times and in bad times, to this industry or to that industry. We must look upon the commerce and industry of the Dominion as it really is, diversified, dependent here upon one set of conditions, there upon another set. We must try to discriminate, to distinguish the more important industries from the less important. We must be prepared, with the facts before us, to consider the full effect upon our present circumstances and our future prospects, of the great and growing exports of Canadian produce, now mounting by tens of millions annually to figures not dreamed of in the days when the original protectionists prefigured an organization of agriculture and industry that should be independent of the outside world. That house fell like a house of cards. We must be more cautious before we accept such another. We must fairly and honestly decide whether, in face of so many failures of other nations to work it, we wish to try the exclusive policy, or whether, looking to the vastness of our resources of certain kinds, we shall base our expectations of progress upon the development of those resources and the finding of markets for them. If we reject the theory—and that high priest of protection, President McKinley, rejected it in his last words—that any nation, however large, can cut itself off from the currents of the world's trade and be the better for it, then we should bend all our energies to the task of enlarging the area within which our products may be sold on terms which leave a margin of profit, and within which our producers may purchase to advantage. The principle of the British preference bids fair to become a mighty instrument for the accomplishment of this work.

What, in the end, is the motive of the British preference? It is not that, because of natural affection for Great Britain, we make British merchants and manufacturers a present of something that belongs of right to our manufacturers and merchants. It is that, Great Britain having, from any motives whatsoever, thrown open her markets free to our products, we think such treatment deserving of recognition, and we propose to show our appreciation. We propose to indicate to all nations that we are prepared to do the decent thing by them if they will do the decent thing by us. We propose to let the United States, for example, understand that American goods cannot enter this country on the same terms as British goods so long as American legislation hampers the development and progress of Canada and British legislation promotes that development. We propose to let Germany, for example, know that we distinguish between her treatment of our exportable products and the treatment accorded us by Great Britain. What may come of much pondering upon the lesson time will tell. But it looks very much as though the nations were already beginning to see the reasonableness of it, for France is evidently willing to meet us half way to-day, and to-morrow it may be the turn of Germany and the States. For a quarter of a century now we have tried to enlarge our markets by threats of retaliation and have only gone from bad to worse. We have begun now to make the nations engage in rivalry for an exchange of favors with us. We prosper. But we Liberals, who have made ourselves the champions of the new departure, must be prepared to fight for it and to fight hard if the principle is to permanently triumph.

THE TARIFF AN ISSUE IN AMERICAN POLITICS.

It has now become clear that the revision of the tariff will be the main issue in the next Presidential election in the United States. The Democrats, forced to take action by the fact that elections are being held for the House of Representatives and in several of the States, have succeeded in effecting something very like party harmony by putting tariff revision in the foreground and relegating all other issues and differences to the rear. Mr. Cleveland, who on that issue led the Democracy to the only victories they have won since the war, has made several pronouncements in the past few weeks, and none of his old enemies within the party have had a word to say against him. Mr. Bryan, who stands for all that lost Cleveland the confidence of the party, has dropped all his silver talk, and has come out strong for tariff revision. Mr. Hill, who has had his own troubles with both Cleveland and Bryan, is posing in New York as the apostle of the new crusade, and acting like a man who hopes to lead the campaign in 1904. So strong is the feeling throughout the country that the newspapers are almost prepared to see the Democrats obtain a majority in the popular House at Washington, and in New York, while the Republican Governor has a good chance of re-election, there are many indications that the vote may be close, and there are some who expect to see the Democrat elected. Beginning in 1897, the trusts have had their day. Their gigantic amalgamations attracted the attention of the country. Now the people who buy from the trusts are going to have their day. They have given the new plan a trial, and there is general dissatisfaction with it. It was natural for the Democrats to fall back upon their old prophecies of what would happen. Indeed the only disturbing element in the present movement is the fact that the politicians have taken up with the tariff revision movement rather too much in a hurry. We may suppose, however, that they have looked upon the congressional election as the starting point of their campaign. If they carry the House, so much the better. If they come near carrying it there will still be stimulus enough to warrant their going on with an educative campaign between now and 1904. With the Republicans also squinting at revision, it is safe to assume that hereafter the tendency of the American tariff will be downward.

GETTING INFORMATION AT FIRST HAND.

The situation must be pretty grave in South Africa when Mr. Chamberlain finds it can no longer be satisfactorily observed through the eyes of Lord Milner and the other delegated advisers of the Colonial Office. The decision to go there and see things for himself can hardly be set down to Mr. Chamberlain's love for the unconventional. It must be borne in mind that he has rejected the advice of Lord Milner to suspend constitutional government in Cape Colony, and it is quite probable he feels that the last word has not yet been spoken on that subject. If he is to face the House of Commons over it one of these days, he can hardly be blamed for wanting to have all the information he can get at first hand. It is fair to suppose, moreover, that Cape Colony is not the principal object of his solicitude. He has elected to let the Cape get along the best it can, even if it has to go through days like those when we stoned Lord Elgin in Montreal. For the Transvaal and the Orange River Colony the problems are not so much constitutional as administrative, and there is a powerful colony of capitalists in London interested in keeping from Mr. Chamberlain and his colleagues information about the mines and other matters as to which it is essential to be right. Perhaps, too, it is just a little significant that the announcement of Mr. Chamberlain's intention to sail for South Africa comes at the same time as a similar announcement, also unexpected, from General De Wet.

Honorary Colonelcies.

King Edward has never dreamed for one moment of conferring any honorary colonelcy of a British regiment upon President Roosevelt.

It is hardly necessary to point out that there is no precedent in Europe for the conferring of any honorary colonelcy in a foreign army upon the president of a republic. No country is more lavish in the distribution of honorary colonelcies than Russia. Not only foreign rulers and princes of the blood, but also queens and princesses, and even royal babies in the cradle, are gazetted as titular commanders of boys, as well as girls in long clothes this or that Muscovite regiment.

But in spite of this, neither the late nor the present Czar ever dreamed for one moment of offering a colonelcy to any of the presidents of the French republic, although the latter is so closely bound to Russia by an offensive and defensive alliance. For presidents of republics who owe their positions as chief magistrates of their respective nations to the votes of their fellow-citizens, hold their their offices for a more or less brief term, at the close of which they retire into private life, and sometimes into obscurity.

It would be obviously inconvenient to saddle a distinguished regiment with an honorary commander who would hold his colonelcy for life, but who might possibly on retiring from the presidency of a republic adopt a profession and a mode of life which would impair the prestige of the corps with which his name was connected, and possibly even end by tarnishing the regimental escutch on through financial disaster or scandal in which he might become involved.

In one word, the president of a republic on the completion of his term of office becomes a private citizen, and the latter is not, according to Old World ethics, qualified to hold a position as honorary colonel of a foreign regiment.

If there is one European power more than any other that has been particularly chary about the grant of colonelcies to foreign rulers, it has been England. It is only within the last decade that a compliment of this kind has ever been paid to any foreign sovereign, Queen Victoria inaugurating the practice as far as England was concerned by appointing her grandson, the Kaiser, to the honorary colonelcy of the First Royal Dragoons.

Shortly afterward she appointed the Czar, who had become her grandson by his marriage, to the honorary command of the Second Dragoons, better known as the Royal Scots Greys. Emperor Francis Joseph is the honorary colonel of the First Dragoon Guards, while the King of Portugal is the titular colonel of the Oxfordshire Light Infantry Regiment, a corps which greatly distinguished itself in the defence of Portugal against the first Napoleon at the beginning of the last century.

This completes the list of foreign potentates holding colonelcies of English regiments, and there is not the slightest prospect of its being increased by the addition of the name of President Roosevelt.

Babyhood

(By J. G. Holland.)

What is the little one thinking about?
Very wonderful things, no doubt!
Unwritten history!
Unfathomed mystery!
Yet he laughs and cries and eats and drinks
And chuckles and crows and nods and winks,
As if his head were as full of kinks
And curious riddles as any sphinx!
Warped by colic and wet by tears,
Punctured by pins and tortured by fears,
Our little nephew will lose two years,
And he'll never know
Where the summers go—
He need not laugh, for he'll find it so.

Who can tell what a baby thinks?
Who can follow the gossamer links
By which the manikin feels his way
Out from the shore of the great unknown,
Blind, and wailing, and alone,
Into the light of day?
Out from the shore of the unknown sea,
Tossing in pitiful agony—
Of the unknown sea that roels and rolls,
Specked with the barks of little souls—
Barks that were launched on the other side,
And slipped from heaven on an ebbing tide!

What does he think of his mother's eyes?
What does he think of his mother's hair?
What of the cradle roof that flies
Forward and backward through the air?
What does he think of his mother's breast,
Bare and beautiful, smooth and white,
Seeking it ever with fresh delight—
Cup of his life and couch of his rest?
What does he think when her quick embrace
Presses his hand and buries his face
Deep where the heart throbs sink and swell
With a tenderness she can never tell,
Though she murmurs the words
Of all the birds—
Words she has learned to murmur well?
Now he thinks he'll go to sleep!
I can see the shadow creep
Over his eyes in soft eclipse,
Over his brow and over his lips,
Over his little finger tips!
Softly sinking, down he goes!
Down he goes! down he goes!
See! he is hushed in sweet repose!

Random Press Notes

SYMPATHY FOR CRIMINALS.

(Public Ledger).

There should be no mawkish sympathy for criminals. The law must run its course with them. But the faint traces of a better nature that appear sometimes in the most confirmed reprobates suggests the query whether they have had a fair chance to develop the divine spark.

TWO VOTERS.

(Minneapolis Times).

The man who says after the election, "Well, I didn't take the trouble to vote," is the man who is not to be respected in business or social life. This has been said to the voter very often, but is as true as the first time it was uttered or written.

WRITTEN AS PREMIER.

(Montreal Finance Chronicle).

Those who condemn the apparently severe terms of Sir Wilfrid's letter to one with whom he was on such friendly terms, do not sufficiently consider that it was written as Premier of Canada to a colleague, not as the letter of one friend to another. It recalls the dismissal, in 1867, of Sir George Grey in terms of harshness by the Duke of Buckingham, who, on meeting that distinguished official, was most profuse in assurances of his friendship, and even apologized for the severity of the language he had used in his letter of recall. Official relations involve duties which are, at times, out of harmony with those of a personal nature and ought not to be allowed to interefere with each other.

ITS USUAL IGNORANCE.

(St. John Sun).

The London Chronicle, which thinks that the Conservative party may accept Mr. Tarte as a leader for want of an effective one of its own, is displaying not more than its usual ignorance of Canadian affairs. There is no reason to suppose that Mr. Tarte intends to join the Conservative party. The Opposition will, of course, reap some benefit from his retirement from Sir Wilfrid's side, and if he votes and speaks in support of Conservative principles he will naturally be counted on the side of the Conservative party. But the Conservatives are too well satisfied with the leader they have to desire to replace him, even if a better man than Mr. Tarte were available for the position. The Opposition members are not likely to criticise too severely a man who is fighting their battle, or to say anything to discourage the former Minister of Public Works in well-doing. But having in their own leader a man of eminent ability, high character and unblemished public and private record, one whom they regard with affection and respect, and who is fulfilling in a most acceptable and successful way the high task assigned to him, the Liberal-Conservatives of Canada are content.

What Is Being Played at Local Theatres this Week

"HEARTS AFLAME" AT THE ACADEMY.

The first play of a writer, like the first book of an author, is always interesting. There is a certain pleasure which can be compared to no other, in making one's acquaintance with the mentality of a playwright, in noting the peculiar mental trend, the new point of view. That is, doubtless, one of the reasons why the Academy last night was well filled to see Mrs. Gertrude Greville Haines' society drama, "Hearts Aflame." The other reasons were largely due to the interest which had been skilfully aroused in the sartorial portion of the production by a propaganda of education conducted through the daily press. In fact it is probably the case that quite as many people know where the gowns came from as who wrote the play.

MISS JANE HOLLY,

However, knowledge of the compelling cause of their presence is not so essential to the success of a play as the fact that the audiences are pleased. That of last night even became enthusiastic at times. There were several curtain calls and the different members of the company were applauded individually and collectively with vigor and discrimination.

"Hearts Aflame" is founded on, or at least follows extremely closely, a short story which, after its publication in one of the well-known magazines half a dozen years ago, has served as the type and model of a considerable number of imitations. Mrs. Haines seems to have caught the spirit of the story and to have selected with considerable insight the characters and situations best suited for a play. On this frame work, however, she has lavished a large amount of unnecessary adornment—if adornment part of it can be called—with the result that the thread of the plot is lost sight of and forgotten for several comparatively long periods. The recentering one's eyes can be accomplished only with obvious far and effort which are unpleasant. There is far too much diffusion. Too much overdevelopment of unessential and sometimes uninteresting incidents to allow "Hearts Aflame" to be a strong play.

The weight of a mighty moral purpose seems also to have oppressed Mrs. Haines greatly. Her subject comes so close to the line of the censor that doubtless a mighty moral purpose was essential for self-justification, and there is no doubt that Mrs. Haines is honest in her belief that her play may do something to reform the social conditions she pictures with, at times, appalling fidelity to originals; but, while honesty of purpose is granted, one may still question the wisdom of the attack and the value of the methods adopted. To prove that "Hearts Aflame" is destined to reform society, it is only necessary to mention that it contains probably more monologue to the square foot of manuscript than any play produced here for some years—always excepting "Beyond Human Power" and the Immortal Ibsen. There are monologues on such sweet and sacred subjects as motherhood and love, also monologues on vice and sin and philosophical musings which in length are fairly entitled to rank as dissertations. And all the world knows that the only way to really reach the heart of a frivolous society man or woman is to plant them in front of the footlights and pour in monologue at close range. The only difficulty is to keep them awake during the process.

"Hearts Aflame," however, boasts attractive features other than its theme and constructions. The gowns, one is informed on creditable authority, are the finest ever seen in Montreal; the scenery and stage accessories are costly and appropriate and the mechanical effects are good.

The cast contains some excellent people and some who are not so good. Miss Dorothy Dorr, who has most of the monologuing to do, is doubtless the leading woman, but she does not bear her honors gracefully. Elocution with Miss Dorr is very evidently an Art with a capital letter. No syllable is too insignificant to escape her undivided attention, and no word of so little consequence as not to be loaded with all the emphasis it can carry. It is doubtful if such meanings, writhings and gesticulations have been seen on the Academy stage for forty years as Miss Dorr indulged in last night. It quite carried one back to the days of the long-distance, robust dramatic art. Unfortunately every other member of the cast of "Hearts Aflame" has been trained in the modern school of quietness and repression, and the contrast was striking, to say the least.

Bijou Fernandez, however, who is next to Miss Dorr on the programme, is excellent, and succeeds in retaining a good part of the sympathy which the leading lady fails to hold. Miss Lucille Watson, well known to many Montrealers, added a touch of distinct and individual charm to the scenes in which she appeared, and Miss Florida Pier and Miss Katherin Raynor justified the expectations of their friends here.

The men of the company are far better than the women. Mr. Joseph Kilgour handles a difficult role with consummate skill and delicacy, and even in the strong dramatic passages, keeps himself well in hand. Mr. Arnold Daly and Morton Selton in less prominent roles are equally as effective.

"TRILBY" THIS WEEK AT PROCTOR'S THEATRE.

"Trilby" is the offering at Proctor's this week, and it is probably one of the best plays that has held the boards at that popular playhouse for several weeks. Every member of the cast carries through his or her part in a way to bring out all that is in it, and in the representation of "Trilby" there is much of human interest, of pathos and of humor.

Mr. Robert Drouet, as Svengali, demonstrates his versatility—he was as much at ease in the difficult role of the shaggy musician as when portraying the hero in a comedy. His work throughout is admirable, and his death scene could scarcely be more realistic. Miss Bonstelle, as Trilby, the artist's model, goes through the various trials of DuMaurier's heroine with a full appreciation of each situation. Mr. Oscar Graham, as Little Billie, was equal to all the disappointments and obstacles that confronted him. The three friends, of which he was one, and Messrs. Walker and Horning the others, proved in every instance to be faithful to each other, and their appearance was always greeted by the audience. Mrs. Vincent, as the French matron, and Mr. Dorris, as Gecko, were well up to their usual standard; Mr. George Barr, the clergyman and uncle of Little Billie, was natural in the solicitude he felt for his nephew, who sought the hand of a woman far beneath his station in life. Press Eldridge, as usual, was very funny and carried the audience with him for a quarter of an hour.

"THE SIGN OF THE CROSS" AT THE FRANCAIS.

An unusually large Monday night audience witnessed that picture of the strenuous life in early Rome, portrayed in "The Sign of the Cross," which is the attraction at the Theatre Francais this week. "The Sign of the Cross" is too well known in Montreal to call for any detailed description. It is presented this time by a capable company and is well staged and well dressed. The Marcus Superbus, of Mr. George Flood, is a good bit of intense acting, while the emotional character of Mercia is judiciously interpreted by Miss Lily Lorell. The Nero of Mr. John Thomson does not bear the stamp of genius but it is good enough to be acceptable. The presentation pleased the audience and there was the usual fluttering of handkerchiefs when the audience could not longer look upon the sufferings of Mercia unmoved.

ANNA EVA FAY AT WINDSOR HALL.

Miss Anna Eva Fay opened the second week of her performance here last night with a full house, and her spectators were as far as ever from being able to explain her weird achievements. No revelation was given of the uncanny sounds which come from the empty cabinet, or of how a young woman with her hands tied to an iron ring behind her back could cause so much disturbance.

In the concluding part of the programme, scores of questions were read from pieces of paper, which had never left the hand of the writer, the names of the questioners were correctly given, and even the location of their seat was indicated by the hand of the mysterious young woman who sat on the platform with a sheet covering her head, stating and expounding inquiries one after the other as fast as she could talk.

Most of the questions asked last night were of a private nature but were none the less accurately read.

One man asked the number of his watch and was told it correctly, although it ran up into five figures.

Another wanted to know if we should have a month of fine weather, but Miss Fay didn't see much prospect of even a week of that desirable commodity.

A young man wanted to know why the object of his affection had refused to accede to his ardent appeal. And it did not need the pointing finger of Miss Fay to locate the blushing lover, who was told "You didn't go about it the right way. You were too rough. Try again and do it prettily and you'll get her."

An aspiring youth asking if he had any special talent was told that he would make a good civil engineer.

Some one wanting to locate a lost instrument was directed to a particular pawnshop.

A gentleman in the bald-headed row, who wanted to know how to get hair on his head was recommended to consult the Sutherland Sisters.

A young lady asked "What do I want?" and became fiery red when she was told that she wanted to get married.

CONCERT OF THE BELGIAN SOCIETY.

An exclusively Belgian concert was given in the Stanley Hall last night under the auspices of the Belgian League and the patronage of Mayor Cochrane. The long programme was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience, and two instrumental numbers by Messrs. J. J. Goulet and J. B. Dubois were heartily encored. The programme which was given under the direction of Mr. Goulet was as follows:

"THE SPAN OF LIFE" AT THE ROYAL.

The Theatre Royal has melodrama this week in "The Span of Life." The play is not at all bad and the presentation is very good. The company are well balanced, and put up a really good performance for the money. The Donazetta trio do some clever acrobatic work, and in their bridge-building scene they do a very neat act. The play is one with the usual designing villain who is aided by his mother. Then there is the hero and the heroine, who are rather persecuted but who finally evade all efforts to put them out of the way. Of course the play would be incomplete without comedy lovers and they have a very good pair in a cockney and his lass. Wallace Hopper as Blunt was a very good lead. Preston Kendall, the morphine fiend Leach was very bad, and so he should be as he was the villain, but not so bad as an actor. Miss Francis is a very pretty heroine, who won the favor of the patrons, while the bold, bad, Mrs. Jelf, Miss Deihl, received their approbatory hisses. The rest of the company were about evenly balanced, and taken as a whole the play is very well presented.

"LA COMTESSE SARAH" AT THE NOUVEAUTES.

"La Comtesse Sarah," a society drama of the old French school is the offering at the Theatre des Nouveautes this week. The play is one of Georges Olivet's, who describes his heroine, the Countess Sarah as "an adorable creature but cold and heartless." Her marriage with the Count de Canalbelles is born of a whim rather than love. Cupid's little darts do not enter her heart until she meets Pierre Severac. The Count discovers the treachery, accuses his wife and ends by forgiving her in truly French style. Severac, too, is forgiven when the count discovers that his niece is in love with him. The young people are married. But the Countess is still as much as ever in love with Severac. The receipt of a letter from his young wife telling of her happiness with Severac breaks the heart of the Countess and she commits suicide. Miss D'Arbelly was effective as the Countess, especially in her passionate love scenes with Severac. The other members of the company were all that could be desired in their parts.

China's New Rebellion

From time to time recently echoes of fresh revolt in that vast, unknown land which to the world is simply China, still mythical, in spite of the conquering eyes that have plunged eager glances into its most sacred mysteries, have stirred but a faint revival of interest in its ultimate fate. And yet events are now taking place which may possibly have the most far-reaching effects upon the world's history.

Even the American people ordinarily so shrewdly alive to developments that concern their own welfare, have not yet comprehended, as a mass, how near those millions of people tinged with yellow are in their destiny to the millions whose skins are white. The portents, which should be guides and warnings, pass unnoticed. And yet to anyone who knows the large, tremendous possibilities of that distant empire, who has even the passing sympathy humanity gives to other human kind—to anyone who has no more than a comprehension of the picturesqueness in a cataclysm—China's fortunes, as they veer to-day, are vibrant with a thrilling concern that must rise to anxiety wherever the observer comprehends the really knit bonds that hold together the peoples of the world and the powers that rule them.

This disturbance in China which reports call revolt, is in reality eternal revolution. The imperial government with troops half organized and half trained, confronts tumultuous dissension, born partly of its people's needs, but chiefly the outgrowth of a smoldering wrath of patriotism which the government, by every right of power, brands as treason. Formidable revolution raises a bloodstained hand at China's very heart. And into the provinces—which are her life and strength and large impressiveness—the teeth of hungry Europe sink.

To the Western glance the whole vast uprising seems to have its embodiment in the personality of one man—Hung Ming. But the West sees in him no more than the leader of an angry peasantry—a rioter fomenting broad disorder. Strange misconceptions! What the Stuarts were to England under the Hanoverians the Hungs have been to China. What Don Carlos is now to Spain Hung Ming is in this vast kingdom of the East. He is the Tartar's hereditary foe.

This great commander is not Wat Tyler. In his veins runs the virile blood of an ancestry famous for ten centuries. When the Sung dynasty held its sway, 1,000 years ago, the Hungs were the respected literati of the nation. Down to the period of the Manchu invasion the Han Lin College claimed among its most splendid glories the membership of scions of the Hungs. In all those years the ministry of state was the prerogative of this family—the last of the pure Chinese rulers. The Hungs were statesmen of renown and literati of acknowledged fame.

BRYAN STOPPED BY FIRE.

Durango, Col., Oct. 28.—While W. J. Bryan was delivering a political speech here last night an alarm of fire was given, and it was found that the building beneath the hall was in flames. The meeting adjourned and the audience left the building without accident. The building was saved.

BUILDING OF SHAMROCK III.

Glasgow, Oct. 28.—The actual building of the Shamrock III. will be begun within a fortnight. The bending of her frames is nearly finished and the shaping of her keel plates has commenced.

ARGENTEUIL WILL BE READY FOR THE WRIT

Toronto, Oct. 28.—(Special.)—The Globe, in referring to Mr. Christie's nomination for Argenteuil, says:

"The nomination seems to have evoked much enthusiasm amongst those present. The most notable address was that of Hon. Mr. Fisher, Minister of Agriculture. Mr. Fisher keeps himself informed of the latest phases in agricultural progress, and his references to the enormous figures that are needed to express the vastly increasing farm products of this country were well received by the farmers of Argenteuil. Mr. Fisher also touched the national pride of his hearers by reminding them of the more prominent part Canada is taking in the world's affairs. This position she owed as much to industry and indomitable energy of her sons as to her fertile soil and vast resources.

"Mr. Fisher demonstrated to the farmers that his chief interest was in the markets where he sold his products. He reminded them of Premier Laurier's saying in that county on one occasion, that the prosperity of the farmer was the basis of all prosperity, and the truth of that was being manifested now. The Liberals of Argenteuil are entering on a contest with fine confidence, and whenever a writ is issued they will be ready."

COLUMBIA MAY PROVE VERY HARD TO MANAGE

Long Expected Response is Not What the United States Hoped for.

Washington, Oct. 27.—The long-expected response of the Colombian Government to the proposition made by the State Department for the negotiation of a canal treaty on the lines of the Spooner Act, has reached Washington, and was presented to the State Department to-day by Mr. Herran, the secretary of the Colombian legation.

It is difficult to learn the exact nature of this communication, but it is known that it is not altogether an unqualified acceptance of the State Department proposition. It is, however, friendly, and does not close negotiations by any means, though it unquestionably sets back the date of final agreement by opening up new topics for argument.

For one thing, the Colombian Government now is entirely dissatisfied with the small amount of payment to be made to it by the United States under the terms of the protocol, which it is proposed to use as the basis of the treaty. This sum is seven million dollars. Colombia wants at least ten million dollars. Moreover, the original proposal looked to a wait of four years before beginning the payment of annual rental, the amount of which was then fixed by mutual agreement. Colombia now asks the United States to agree at once to a lump yearly payment of $600,000, which will considerably increase the immediate cost of the enteerprise.

The Colombian Government clings to its contention that it has no constitutional authority to alienate any Colombian territory and reiterates that the best it can do to meet the language of the Spooner Act, which looks to perpetuate control by the United States over the canal strip, is to make a 100-year lease with a distinct stipulation that the same shall be renewable by the United States at the expiration of the first century.

NICKEL RIGHTS IN NEW CALEDONIA

The Canadian Company Has Purchased Rights in the French Colony.

The company which owns the nickel deposits of Canada is also one of the principal owners of the one other great deposit in the world, that of New Caledonia, the French convict island in the Southern Pacific. The purchases of the Canadian company in New Caledonia were recently made and it now divides with the Nickel Society of Paris, controlled by the Rothschilds, the ownership of the New Caledonia deposits. The announcement of this purchase was made by Mr. Robert G. Leckie yesterday. Mr. Leckie, who is a Canadian engineer, has just returned from the French colony.

Mr. Leckie said that the French colony produces fully one-half of the nickel consumption of the world, and Canada the other half, although the ores of the respective countries differ very materially. The Canadian ore, he explained, is a sulphide of nickel and copper, while that of New Caledonia is a silicate of nickel and magnesia. The deposits, he added, are large in New Caledonia and can be mined cheaply, as none of the deposits are far from a shipping port. There is no smelting plant on the island.

He found, however, that the labor question was a difficult one to solve. The natives are no good as miners, and this element has to be imported from China, Japan and the French settlements of India. The natives are called the Kanaka, who cannot be induced to settle down to steady work, although they are employed as guides and packers.

There have been no convicts sent to the colony by France for a number of years, but there are still a number working out long sentences. Efforts to induce colonizing in the island have failed, though liberal inducements have been offered by the Republic. The population is estimated at 53,000.

For some reason or other French capitalists are not disposed to enter largely upon projects of development, although English and Australian investments have been considerable.

Mr. Leckie found that the French people themselves, although born in France and thoroughly patriotic, complain of the lack of enterprise displayed by the motherland and they do not hesitate to say they would be pleased to see the colony annexed to New Zealand or Australia.

Mr. Leckie said that at the time of the Fashoda affair the Australians had their little fleet and an army of 5,000 men ready to invade New Caledonia, and would have met with no opposition on the part of the inhabitants, although the French garrison of about 1,500 men would have offered resistance.

The governor of the island, Mr. Leckie said, is a capable man and much in earnest about developing the resources of the island. A railway is being built from Noumea, the capital, to the north end of the island, a distance of 150 miles, but Mr. Leckie thinks it will be some time before it is completed.

CHANGE OF MANAGEMENT.

There has been a change in the Canadian management of the Ocean Accident and Guarantee Company. The general supervision of the affairs in the Dominion has been relinquished by Messrs. Rolland, Lyman & Burnett, and they have accepted the general agency for the province of Quebec. Mr. Charles Hoffman Neely has been appointed pro tem manager of the corporation's business throughout the United States and Canada.

WAS NO MIRACLE.

GOOD DAME BROVOSTS BROUGHT BACK FROM THE BRINK OF THE GRAVE.

She Had Bright's Disease, Heart Disease and Rheumatism, and Was Ready to Lie Down and Die, But Now She is Strong and Happy Once More.

St. Maglorie, Que., Oct. 27.—There is no happier woman in all Quebec to-day than the good Dame Louis Brovosts. Two years ago broken in health and spirits she had almost resolved to give up the struggle. Too feeble to work, tortured with the pains of Rheumatism, suffering from Bright's Disease and Heart Trouble, she was apparently only waiting for the grave to close over her. To-day she is a strong, healthy, happy woman. No, it was no miracle that brought about the change; her troubles all came from diseased Kidneys, and she used that one sure cure, Dodd's Kidney Pills.

But here is the story as Dame Brovosts tells it herself. She never tires of telling it, for having suffered so much herself she sympathizes with others and is anxious to do what she can to relieve them.

"I suffered from Bright's Disease, Heart Disease and Rheumatism," she states, "and I was so discouraged I had no hope of being able to find any remedy to save my life. I was so feeble I was unable to do anything. I suffered for sixteen years with Rheumatism. There were two years and a half I suffered with Bright's Disease.

"I tried all the medicines in the world and grew worse and worse. There was three months I stopped taking everything and made up my mind to let myself die, without taking any more medicine.

"By chance I read one of Dodd's Kidney Pills advertisements and made up my mind to try again with Dodd's Kidney Pills. The good the first box did surprised me. I have taken twenty boxes and I am well of my Bright's disease and my Heart Disease and my Rheumatism. I am in perfect health and I am very joyful. Dodd's Kidney Pills saved my life."

THE LEAD MEN IN CONFERENCE

British Columbian Producers and Eastern Consumers Met Here Last Week.

Mr. Fowler, of Nelson, B.C., representing the silver lead mining interests of British Columbia, and Mr. Aldridge, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, representing the smelting interests of Canada, had a conference with the consumers of lead in Montreal within the last few days.

The object of the conference was to devise some means, if possible, to remove the anomaly which at present exists in the fact that all the lead used in Canada is imported, while all the lead produced in Canada is shipped out.

The conference embraced manufacturers of lead pipe and shot, as well as consumers of white lead, red lead, etc. The Columbians explained to the paint and pipe men that the present tariff did not admit of the lead mines being worked. It would be necessary to have a higher duty placed upon pig lead in order to put them on a profitable working basis.

The consumers expressed the view that there is much difficulty in the way of advancing the duty on pig lead, as it is the raw material from which all other lead products are made. They expressed their willingness, however, to accept such a decision as the Government might see fit to come to with respect to aiding the mining industry, whether by bonusing the production of lead or raising the duty. It was claimed, however, that the products of pig lead cannot be made in the Dominion unless there is such a general revision made of the whole lead tariff which will afford some protection to the manufacturers of pipes, shot, white and red lead over the duty which may be levied on pig lead.

The matter is to be further considered by the various interests and will doubtless be brought before the Government in detail.

The consuming firms represented at the conference were the Thos. Robertson & Co., the Montreal Rolling Mills Co., the Canada Paint Co., the James Robertson Co., and others.

FOUR CROOKS ARE WELL KNOWN HERE

Four crooks, in the bank robbing line, were recently arrested in Syracuse, N.Y., and their photographs were sent to Chief Carpenter. He and his men have identified two of them as men known to the Canadian police. They gave their names as William O'Brien and Robert Evans, but the Detective Department knew them as Oliver Olsen and Billy Black. In 1899 the Danville Bank was robbed and the McCarthy gang were wanted for it. Olsen was one of them and was arrested, but as there was a lack of evidence he was released. Black is from Toronto and is known to be a bank breaker of skull and daring. He worked in the west with many thieves of note. He put in his last term in jail in Kingston penitentiary and had recently visited this city, but an interview with one of the local detectives was not to be had as he left before they saw him.

QUEBEC MAN MARRIED IN NEW YORK CITY

New York, Oct. 28.—Felix Carbray, consul from Portugal to Quebec, was married Saturday by Archbishop Farley, in St. Gabriel's Church, this city, to Mrs. Brigit Connolly, whose maiden name is the same as that borne by her husband. She is a sister of his former wife and is the widow of N. K. Connolly, a well known contractor of this city.

Through the similarity in their names Felix Carbray became acquainted with William Carbray, and married one of his daughters. The death of Felix Carbray's wife followed soon after that of Mr. Connolly.

For thirty years Mr. Carbray has been Portuguese consul at Quebec. The family of William Carbray have also lived there many years. Felix Carbray is a member of the shipping commission firm of Carbray, Son & Co. Mrs. Connolly for several years lived in New York, but recently removed to Quebec.

ARCHBISHOP DUHAMEL'S 28TH ANNIVERSARY TO-DAY

Ottawa, Oct. 28.—(Special.)—The 28th anniversary of the consecration of Archbishop Duhamel was observed to-day.

At 8.30 o'clock His Grace celebrated pontifical high mass at the Basilica, which was attended by the leading priests of the diocese. The canons and priests of the city and neighboring parishes were all invited to be present. The pupils of the De la Salle School assisted in the choral service.

After mass a dinner was held at the Archbishop's Palace, at which the visiting priests assembled. Mgr. Falconio, apostolic delegate, also attended and joined in the congratulations to the beloved head of the Ottawa diocese.

IMMIGRATION TO THE WEST

Mr. R. E. Gosnell, Government Statistician, Tells of Efforts.

Mr. R. E. Gosnell, Government statistician and chief of the Immigration Department in British Columbia, was at the Windsor Hotel yesterday on his way back from England to the Pacific Coast.

Mr. Gosnell accompanied the Premier of British Columbia, the Hon. James Dunsmuir, to England when he went to attend the coronation ceremonies, and acted as his secretary. Mr. Dunsmuir returned home soon after the celebration was over, but Mr. Gosnell remained behind to look after some immigration work.

Speaking of the prospects of immigration to British Columbia, Mr. Gosnell says that the efforts of the province are now being directed to obtain working farmers with a small capital, and in this they have been fairly successful.

Farming and dairy production is not keeping pace quite with the mining and industrial population. British Columbia can now offer good inducements to immigrants of this class who are coming up in large numbers.

Mr. Gosnell says the discovery of hematite iron on Vancouver Island, which had just been announced in the telegraphic news from the British Columbia capital, would without doubt mean the start of an iron industry on a large scale at the Pacific end of the continent. The fact that magnatite iron ore existed had long been known, but now that the hematite had been found they would be able to produce iron and steel which could be used in all kinds of industrial works and machinery.

Upon tariff questions Mr. Gosnell had little to say, beyond remarking that the people of British Columbia thought they contributed more than their fair proportion to the government of the country. They were taxed to the amount of $15 a head and that, he argued, was more than those who lived down east paid. They had to import more, and thus they paid more to the treasury, but the province was prosperous, and paradoxical as it may seem, what he dreaded most was another boom, for "booms" carried in their trail a vast amount of commercial and industrial trouble and such an aftermath of general discredit that they were things that we might pray to be delivered from.

What British Columbia wanted was steady progress and no "booms."

Harsh cough syrups are not fit for children. They require to cure their coughs and colds a sweet and soothing syrup like Dr. Laviolette's syrup of Turpentine. Always have it on hand, for it is the best friend your family of little ones can have.—Adv.

ABSORBING PROBLEM

Of the Present Day.

The absorbing problem of to-day is, how to expend one's income so as to attain the best results; that is, get full value for one's money.

It may truthfully be said that this has been, is, and always will be an absorbing problem to those with limited means; but the fact remains that, with the price of living necessities constantly rising one must husband one's resources more carefully than ever before if he would live within his income. In saying that prices are rising, we except one article which has come to occupy a prominent place in the family medicine closet, and that is the specific for piles or hemorrhoids known as Pyramid Pile Cure; this remedy is still sold by druggists at the old prices of fifty cents, and one dollar, and these prices will remain unchanged. Those to whom this preparation has brought relief and a cure after years of suffering do not need to be told of its merits; others are advised that it is the greatest boon ever discovered to all those afflicted with any form of piles; it is in suppository form, is easily applied, reaches the seat of the complaint, and gives immediate relief and a lasting cure.

The reader may have tried salves, ointments and lotions without benefit, and feeling that his money has been wasted, resolves to suffer on rather than experiment farther. The reason for the failure of these treatments is, that they do not reach the seat of the trouble, and hence do not remove the cause, as does Pyramid Pile Cure. A little book describing piles, their cause and cure, is published by the Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., and anyone may procure a copy by sending name and address to above firm. As showing the estimation in which this remedy is held by the public it may interest the reader to know that its sales now exceed those of all other pile remedies combined.

AMALGAMATION OF THE SHOE MEN BEING DISCUSSED

Mr. C. A. Johnston, the Promoter, Speaks Glowingly of Proposed Combination.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

Toronto, Oct. 28.—C. A. Johnson returned to Toronto yesterday after spending some time in Quebec promoting the amalgamation of boot and shoe makers of Canada. He states that amalgamation would undoubtedly be arranged at an early date. The Quebec makers meet on Wednesday and then in two or three weeks, a general meeting will be held, probably in Montreal, at which all the manufacturers who intend entering the arrangement will be represented.

The capital of the new concern would be between $8,300,000 and $10,000,000, and would embrace some forty factories.

The sole object of the combination would be to effect economy in production and distribution. To illustrate the waste of the present system, Mr. Johnson said some of the factories manufactured and carried as many as 750 different kinds of shoes, involving a great waste.

Under the new arrangement the factory would probably make only from 100 to 150 lines. The Ontario makers would probably specialize on fine shoes, leaving the coarser varieties to the Quebec makers, who could produce them at lower cost. It is expected that a saving of 10 per cent. per annum on the present expenditure will be effected.

One result of the amalgamation would be the establishment of a last factory in Canada. At present $200,000 is spent each year in the United States for lasts to be used in Canada, and these lasts can be used for only one year.

With the assurance that it would secure all the Canadian trade, a last factory could be profitably run in this country.

NOTRE DAME AMBULANCE KEPT ON THE RUN

The Notre Dame Hospital ambulance did not get much rest yesterday, nor did the staff in attendance. They had six calls that covered a large amount of territory. The first call came from Robin's sash factory, Decarriers street, where Maurice Langlois, of 888 St. Andre Street, had his arm pierced by a drill. His shirt sleeve caught in the machinery and drew his arm under the drill. His injury was not very serious. The next run of the ambulance was to Notre Dame and Panet Streets where Joseph Beareau was suffering from bruises, but Joseph could not tell whether he had been hit by a trolley or had fallen on the sidewalk. Half an hour later a carter named Alfred Fortier fell off his cart at Jacques Cartier Square and was bruised and shaken up. In forty-five minutes after Octave Gagne, a confectioner, was crossing Notre Dame Street at the corner of Atwater Avenue when he was knocked down by a grocery waggon and his head and face were cut. Another call came in half an hour when a seven-year old lad named Patrick Smith was run over by a cart at the corner of Smith and Young Streets. He was not hurt much and after his hurts were attended to he went home.

FOUR SMALL CONCERTS INSTEAD OF A BIG ONE

No big uptown concert will be held by the directors of the Sailors' Institute this year as has been the custom in the past. Instead a series of four special concerts will be held in the hall of the Institute. The first of the series will take place to-night, when, among the artists secured, are Miss Bertha Ferguson, Mr. Percy Woodley, Mr. Reginald O. Thicke, Master Willie Eckstein and Wilfrid Laurier Small, and the sailors from the ships in port. Captain Bales will take the chair. The evening of November 4, will be "Customs Night," the programme for it is being arranged by Mr. Harry McLaughlin and it is hoped that Mr. R. S. White, Collector of Customs, will preside. The concert of November 11 is in the hands of Mr. Geo. Hodge and the last concert of the season will be held November 18. The programme is being arranged by Miss Hollinshead. Mr. Alex. McFee, president of the Board of Trade, will be in the chair.

POINT ST. CHARLES

The Point people are loud in their praises for the local aldermen who have secured recent street openings for them.

Rev. Myles Crombie and Rev. Frank Read, who were both seriously indisposed, are now able to go about their respective duties.

A literary and debating society will be formed in connection with the Congregational Church, on Thursday evening, at 191 Ash Avenue.

Dr. G. Christie is only making a flying visit to his old home on Rozel Street. He has received the appointment of medical superintendent on the Elder-Dempster liner Lake Erie.

Fred. Dixon, the little fellow whose foot was taken off on the G.T.R. tracks near the subway, last Saturday, is progressing favorably. It was stated at the hospital that he was one of the "grittiest" of patients ever seen there.

A tour through the churches last Sunday would have shown that notwithstanding the wet weather, every building was full. From the Baptist church in the west to the subway, there could not have been less than 3,500 people in the five churches.

Mrs. Mancantelli, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Wilson, of 596 Wellington Street, left for her home in Alexandria, Egypt, accompanied by her daughter. She travelled that long distance in order to be present at the recent marriage of her son.

Rev. Dr. Alex. Richardson, brother of Mr. J. D. Richardson, of 765 Wellington Street, is on his way home from the old land. He has been taking a post graduate course in medicine at Edinburgh University. He was previous to that in the ministry in Kingston, Ont.

Active preparations are being made for a thorough canvass of Point St. Charles on behalf of the new Railroad Y.M.C.A. A local committee, consisting of five from each of the churches is being formed, and it is hoped that the $10,000 required from the residents will be forthcoming by the spring.

The evening classes at Lorne School show a largely increased attendance over last year, and between the evening attendances at the schools, the drawing class and the G. T. Literary and Scientific Association, a large percentage of our youth is engaged in adding to their intellectual equipment.

The season is on when local organizations and churches plan for their winter entertainment efforts. Already two proposed bazaars are receiving their initiatory impulses. The P.A.A.A., in a sturdy effort to reduce their debt, will hold a four days' bazaar in December, and the Congregational Church is planning for a sale of work and entertainment in the same month

The many friends of Mr. W. C. Montagnani, until recently secretary of the Railroad Y.M.C.A., will be pleased to learn of his success as leader of the fine movement in Rochester, N.Y. The Y.M.C.A. in that city for the benefit of the street railway men is one of the very finest on the continent. Mr. Montagnani hopes to be in the Point about Christmas, but will take to the lakeside city one of our popular young ladies.

There is a growing opinion among the residents of the district concerned that the man, Harrison, recently sentenced to hard labor for cruelty to his son, is not as guilty as the decision of the bench would make him appear. It is alleged, and supported at least by fairly reliable authority, that the chief bruise on the boy's body was caused by an accident he met with in his play, and this, with other things, suggest the propriety of a further investigation. Harrison, senior, bears a very fair reputation amongst his neighbors.

The Point St. Charles Congregational Church was crowded Sunday evening, on the occasion of the first of the monthly illustrated sermons. These sermons are to be given on the last Sunday evening in each month. The subject was "Sin, conscience and salvation," from the text: Romans, 6. 23. The pictures illustrating the discourse were from the brush of Frank Beard, and were thrown on the large screen by a stereopticon in charge of Mr. J. W. Davidson, the well known artist of this city. "The Holy City" was sung by Mr. J. H. Pritchard, and the choir rendered their part very acceptably. A deep impression was evidently made on the congregation and the service was deeply reverent throughout. For the next service Mr. Davidson is painting several slides from the manuscript sermon supplied by the pastor.

LAKE ST. JOHN AND CHICOUTIMI'S BIG GRANT TO TRANS-CANADA RY.

Three Counties See in the New Project a Great Benefit to That Territory.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

Quebec, Oct. 28.—A public meeting was held at Chicoutimi on Sunday last which was one of the most remarkable of the kind ever held in the province, and is an indication of the patriotism which has of late years been evidenced in Quebec—the ever-increasing desire for commercial and financial progress.

The object of the meeting was to discuss the expediency of a vote by the Counties of Lake St. John and Chicoutimi of $100,000 in favor of the proposed trans-Canada railway, and for this purpose delegates were appointed from all of the forty-seven parishes comprised in the three counties. The delegates, with the wardens and mayors, numbered nearly 400. Some of them travelled as far as 130 miles to attend the meeting.

After very full explanations by the promoters and very ample discussion of the scheme by the delegates, resolutions were adopted, without a dissenting voice, fully endorsing the project, and calling upon the county councils to vote the necessary aid.

The following resolutions were adopted by the meeting:

That this meeting, having heard the explanations of the promoters of the Trans-Canada Railway, is of opinion that the said railway is of the greatest importance to Canada, and especially to the Saguenay District. Its proposed route offers the shortest, most level and best outlet for the products of Manitoba and the great Northwest.

The second resolution was as follows:

That in view of the competition now existing for the railway development of the James Bay territory from Ontario and from other sections of the Province of Quebec, and in view of the fact that another important line of railway has been chartered to build a new road from Manitoba to Quebec by the St. Maurice Valley, it is of the utmost importance to the people of the Saguenay that every effort should be made to hasten the construction of the Trans-Canada Railway, which will be tributary to the Lake St. John district and to the ports of Chicoutimi and St. Alphonse, before those other projects become more advanced; and

That the county councils of the Counties of Chicoutimi, of Lake St. John Nos. 1 and 3, and Lake St. John No. 2 be and are hereby respectfully requested to submit to the ratepayers by-laws granting aid towards the construction of the said railway.

JUDGMENTS YESTERDAY

FALLS ON THE WORKMAN.

The Court of King's Bench in Appeal rendered an interesting judgment to the effect that when a piece of work is destroyed by fire in the course of construction, even if it is on the premises of the party for whom it is being done, the loss falls upon the workman, unless the fire was the result of some fault of the customer. This decision was given in a suit brought by Messrs. Lessard & Harris, contractors, against Mr. Shallow for $260 for plumbing work in his residence at Dorion. The defence was to the effect that before the work had been completed or accepted, it was wholly destroyed by fire without any fault of the defendant. The court below set aside this plea and awarded judgment in favor of the plaintiff. The Court of Appeal reversed this decision on the ground that the loss fell upon the workman, under article 1684 of the civil code, unless it were established that the loss was caused by the fault of the owner, or that he was in default of receiving the thing, which had not been shown in the present case.

MAY VERIFY GOODS.

The Court of Appeal in the action of Poindron vs. the American Express Co., maintained the right of the consignee to verify and identity goods before paying charges. Poindron, the plaintiff in the court below, sued the American Express Company for damages for the non-delivery of a case of glassware. The defence was to the effect that the goods were deliverable on payment of charges amounting to $11.84, and that the plaintiff had not offered payment. The court below maintained the defence and dismissed the action.

This judgment was reversed in appeal, the majority of the court being of the opinion that the appellant Poindron had the right to verify and identify the goods before paying charges.

SOUTH SHORE'S APPLICATION.

The Court of Appeal has maintained the decision of Judge Mathieu rejecting the application of the South Shore Railway Company for an interim injunction to restrain the Grand Trunk Railway Company from interfering with the South Shore Railway running trains between St. Lambert Junction and Bonaventure Station. The court was of the opinion that no reason had been presented why it should interfere in the judgment appealed from, a judgment rendered by the learned trial judge in the exercise of a discretion which should not be questioned or disturbed except in the event of manifest error, an exception which is not apparent in the present case.

DEMERS VS. LAROCQUE.

Judgment has been rendered in the Court of Appeal confirming the judgment of the court below in the case of Demers and Larocque. The appeal was from a judgment which maintained the action of the respondent Larocque for damages to the extent of $345, because the appellant, Demers, had not properly executed the work on a house which he had undertaken to construct for the respondent. Complaint was made especially that the furnace did not heat the house properly, and the court found that this complaint was well founded and allowed $295 damages for it and $50 damages for other defects.

TRUST AND LOAN CO.

The Court of Appeal has rendered judgment in the case of the Trust and Loan Company of Canada vs. Mrs. A. J. Corriveau, and Mrs. A. J. Corriveau vs. Thos. Gauthier. It appeared to the majority of the court that in both cases the loans in question were made at the solicitation of Mr. Corriveau for his benefit, that the proceeds were employed by him for his own use, and that Mrs. Corriveau individually derived no benefit from the transaction. The court held that the cases fell under the purview of article 1301, civil code, which enacts that a wife cannot bind herself for her husband, and that any such obligation contracted by her is void, and of no effect. The judgment of the court below was therefore confirmed in the first case and the appeal dismissed; and the judgment in the case of Mrs. Corriveau against Gauthier was reversed and the action maintained.

NO PLACE TO TREAT CASE OF MEASLES

The crying necessity for a civic hospital for contagious diseases was brought forcibly to the notice of the staff of the General Hospital last night.

The institution was thrown into a flutter of excitement by the appearance in the vestibule of a woman suffering from a severe attack of measles.

There was a good many people about at the time, and the staff found itself in the curious predicament of having a patient on its hands suffering from a very simple malady, but one of which the treatment was entirely beyond the scope of the hospital.

There was nothing for it but to send the woman away. Fortunately she lived in a house within a few blocks of the hospital, and she was removed there in an ambulance.

The woman was brought to the hospital by two young girls, but they disappeared as soon as they had seen her safe within the hospital.

WATERPROOF MEN ASK A HIGHER TARIFF

The waterproof clothing manufacturers of Montreal met yesterday in the office of Mr. E. H. Cooper, secretary of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, to discuss the tariff as it affected them, and came to the conclusion that they needed more protection. The following resolution, moved by Mr. E.L. Rosenthal, and seconded by Mr. H. Wener, was therefore adopted:

"We, the Waterproof Clothing Manufacturers of Montreal, wish to place ourselves on record as being strongly in favor of adequate protection to Canadian labor in all its branches. We believe the important industry we represent should be duly protected against the slaughtering tactics of the United States manufacturers, and we are equally agreed that the cotton manufacturers from whom we obtain a large supply of our raw material should be adequately protected."

KIDNEY DISEASE.

EVERY YEAR THOUSANDS SUFFER AND DIE FROM KIDNEY DISEASE, THAT NEVER KNEW THE EXACT NATURE OF THEIR AILMENT.

Among the Most Easily Noted Symptoms Are Pain in the Back, Frequent Desire to Urinate, Constant Headache, Sleeplessness, and Nervousness.

When these signals of danger are unheeded, and proper precaution is not taken to avert more serious results, the very worst form of kidney trouble will develop, namely, Bright's Disease, which is almost incurable.

To obtain quick relief and a sure cure you must at once commence to take Ferrozone. It is a treatment for kidney and bladder troubles of undoubted merit, and is prescribed now by all doctors and physicians who are abreast of their profession. Hospitals, Sanitariums, and all public health institutions rely on Ferrozone in all derangements of the kidneys, and claim that it effects more cures of chronic cases than any other remedy.

The action of Ferrozone is very mild and efficient, and can be depended upon to give satisfactory results in every case. It brings about a healthy condition of all the organs of the body, causes the kidneys to eliminate all poisonous products and wastes of the body. It purifies and enriches the blood, reconstructs wasted tissues, excites healthy appetite and promotes good digestion. By the regular use of Ferrozone nutrition is improved, and strength to ward off disease is established, and maintained.

No remedy for the alleviation and cure of kidney disease can possibly equal or surpass Ferrozone. This fact is conceded by all those who have used it, and a trial will convince you of its merits. Don't be misled into accepting a cheap, unworthy substitute, but insist on having the genuine Ferrozone. It is the very best that money, brains, skill and scientific research can produce, and that is the best sort of remedy you want. Price 50 cts. per box, or three boxes for $1.25, at druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

The heavy seas washing over the decks swept away every movable and smashed one of the life boats. A steerage passenger came on deck and was struck by a wave, and when picked up it was found that his skull, several ribs and a leg were fractured. He died the same evening and was buried at sea. RAILWAY NEWS

Canadian transportation interests cannot well pass entirely unnoticed the investigation at St. Paul into the so-called merger of the northerly transcontinental lines of the United States through the medium of the Northern Securities Company, which has been in progress for about a fortnight. Mr. J. J. Hill, president of the company, as well as of the Great Northern Railway, who was upon the stand for several hours, entered into a full and apparently frank explanation of all the transactions that led up to the final formation of the company. The acquisition of the Burlington road, which was particularly inquired into, had for its object the distinct purposes, first, the supply of coal for the Northwest; second, the furnishing of a market for Pacific coast lumber, and third, the control of Oriental traffic. He stated that the scheme of buying the Burlington was not new. It had been seriously considered as far back as 1897, but conditions at that time were not such as to make it practicable.

The more the situation as developed by Mr. Hill is studied the more clearly do his purposes in connection with the joint development of the transcontinental and trans-Pacific traffic appear. As Mr. Hill states, the people of the Orient are at the present time comparatively poor; they cannot buy a great deal from us, and yet they need to buy a great deal to ensure rapid growth. Their necessities are greatly in excess of their immediate resources, but it is also apparent that, given the means, the prospective commerce of those countries will be of great magnitude. It is evidently Mr. Hill's object to aid in this development in order that he may later enjoy the fruits of it. He proposes to demonstrate to those people that America is the proper market in which to obtain their supplies and dispose of their surplus. If necessary he is prepared to assume the risk involved in this demonstration. Does Japan need cotton, Mr. Hill sends them American cotton and tells them that if it is not satisfactory they need not pay for it. When Japan needs a railroad he offers to lay down American rails in that country cheaper than they can be bought from either England or Belgium. So with flour or any other article they can use; and in return he takes their products and disposes of them in this country. The object that Mr. Hill has in view is precisely what the Canadian Pacific and the people of British Columbia are now endeavoring to accomplish. They, too, are looking to the development of new Oriental markets.

C.P.R. ORDERS LOCOMOTIVES IN SCOTLAND.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company has determined upon the purchase of its next instalment of locomotives in the United Kingdom. The requirements of the traffic outpace the capacity of its workshops, and as the locomotive works of the United States are overcrowded with home orders, the company has decided to have a dozen ten-wheeled locomtives built in Scotland. The unprecedented growth of the through traffic of the company has necessitated large equipment of passenger rolling stock, freight equipment and motive power.

Recent orders for additions to freight equipment were: To Rhodes & Curry, Amherst, N.S., 500 30-ton flat cars; Crossen Car Company, Cobourg, Ont., 500 30-ton flat cars; Canadian Pacific Railway shops, Perth, 500 30-ton box cars. On completion of a present order of twenty first-class passenger cars the company's shops at Hochelaga will commence work on an additional order for ten.

THE TEMISCAMING RAILWAY.

Next week the members of the Temiscaming Railway Commission will visit North Bay to decide on the location of the southern terminus. Several deputations have arranged to meet the commissioners to lay before them the claims of North Bay, as against those of Nipissing Junction, the end of the Grand Trunk line. Four hundred men are now at work in clearing right of way and grading, and it is expected that the commission will be ready within a week to ask for prices for eighty-pound steel rails from manufacturers in Canada, the United States, England and Belgium.

MR. PRICE RETURNS.

Mr. H. A. Price, assistant general passenger agent of the Intercolonial Railway, has returned from Washington, D.C., and other American points, where he attended the annual meeting of the Canadian Ticket Agents' Association. He was accompanied by Mrs. Price.

MR. INNES LEAVES C.P.R.

Mr. A. Innes, divisional superintendent of the C.P.R., who has been in the service of the company for twenty-one years, has retired from its service and has begun his duties of general superintendent of the Canadian Northern at Winnipeg.

MR. BORDEN AT HALIFAX.

Conservative Leader Was Met at the Station by Many of His Party.

Halifax, N.S., October 28.—Mr. R. L. Borden was given a reception on his arrival in Halifax last night. The railway station was crowded. A large number of the prominent Liberal-Conservatives of the city and many Liberals were on hand.

As Mr. and Mrs. Borden alighted from the train the band struck up, "See the Crowning Hero Comes." A bouquet, tied with the Liberal-Conservative colors, was presented to Mrs. Borden. They were escorted to a barouche driven by four horses. There was a brilliant display of fireworks.

A procession of carriages was formed, and the leader was escorted to his residence at the Northwest Arm.

Mr. and Mrs. Borden had come on the Maritime Express as far as Sackville, where Mr. Borden stopped off to meet Mr. H. A. Powell and other Liberal-Conservatives.

IT IS DOUBTFUL

If Local Applications Alone Ever Cured a Case of Catarrh.

Most remedies for the treatment of catarrh are in the form of sprays, inhalers, powders, washes or salves, all purely local applications and many of them often give temporary relief, but the reason none of them ever really cure chronic catarrh is because catarrh is not a local disease and it cannot be cured simply by treating the local symptoms.

Moreover the more serious forms of catarrh, like catarrh of the stomach and catarrh of the bronchial tubes, cannot be reached at all by local applications and the fact that neglected catarrh of the head very soon involves the bronchial tubes, stomach and liver, demonstrates that the disease is a blood disorder, a constitutional malady and not at all a local disease.

To really cure catarrh the system must be cleansed from catarrhal poison by an internal remedy which acts effectively upon the blood and liver.

The success of a new catarrh remedy, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, is because it drives out of the system, through natural channels, the catarrhal poison and the mucous lining of the nose, throat and trachea are freed from the excessive mucus which collects and causes the hawking, spitting and gagging, because the excessive secretion is not furnished from healthy blood.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets contain many of the same valuable antiseptics used in sprays and inhalers, but instead of being applied to the inflamed membranes of the nose and throat, they are taken into the stomach and thus reach the blood, the real seat and cause of the disease.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are large, pleasant tasting lozenges, composed of Red Gum, Hydrastan, Bloodroot, and similar catarrh specifics, and so safe to use that little children suffering from colds take them with the same beneficial results as adult persons.

No trace of cocaine or opiates, so common in catarrh medicines, can be found in Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

A VERY SIMPLE REMEDY FOR WOMEN

When in need of a stimulant to aid nature's work, women will find Melcher's Red Cross Canadian Gin a most beneficial and effective tonic. It is well known that the effects derived from the medicinal properties of the juniper berry, from which gin is made, is invaluable to a woman's constitution, and especially when the Geneva is of such a refined quality as the "Red Cross." It is not only an absolutely Pure Gin, but it is the only Gin which, before being offered to the trade, is matured for years in bonded warehouses, where it has acquired that delicacy of flavor and mellowness of taste perfectly unknown to any other gin.

A SESSION OF THE COURT OF KING'S BENCH (Crown side), holding criminal jurisdiction in and for the DISTRICT OF MONTREAL, will be held in the COURT HOUSE, in the CITY OF MONTREAL, on MONDAY, THE THIRD DAY OF NOVEMBER NEXT, at TEN o'clock in the forenoon.

In consequence, I give PUBLIC NOTICE to all who intend to proceed against any prisoners now in the Common Gaol of the said District, and all others, that they must be present then and there; and I also give notice to all Justices of the Peace, Coroners and Peace Officers, in and for the said District, that they must be present then and there, with their Records, Rolls, Indictments and other Documents, in order to do those things which belong to them in their respective capacities.

THE SWEET, LONG DAYS.

(By Margaret E. Sangster.)

The sweet long days when the morning breaks
Over the mountains in rose and gold,
When the shadows linger on vale and lakes,
And the afterglow tints field and wold,
The summer days when the pasture land
Lies dappled with daisies beneath the sun,
When the wave swash up on the pebbly strand,
And the little ripples leap and run.

The sweet, long days when the children play
Merry and sweet as the day is long,
Driving the cows and tossing the hay,
And singing many a snatch of song.
When mother is busy from morn till eve,
And father is earning the children's bread;
In every task when a prayer they weave
For blessings to rest on each little head.

The sweet, long days when, though trouble may come,
We bear the trouble in trustful cheer
For ever is God our constant home,
A refuge and shelter from grief and fear,
The sweet, long days when our Father sends
Foretaste and pattern of days to be,
In the time when the measure by days shall end,
On the fadeless shore of the Crystal Sea.

As Seen by Her.

The ninth annual report of the National Council of Women of Canada, just issued from the office of the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Willoughby Cummings, Toronto, contains a full account of the proceedings at the ninth annual meeting, held in St. John, N.B., this summer.

Much information of a useful character is given, and the book should be valuable for reference to the women engaged in any work of a public character.

The roll of all local councils and affiliated societies is given, with names and addresses, committees and life members.

The reports are of great interest. They deal with a large number of subjects, and give a great amount of the latest and most accurate information on laws for the better protection of women and children, promotion of industrial and fine arts, care of the aged and infirm poor, women at school boards, female immigration, and the promotion of Doukhobor home industries.

The papers read at the meeting will also be found most interesting and instructive, especially those dealing with Provident schemes and kindred questions.

The book, which should certainly find a place on the desk of every woman interested in work of all kinds, can be procured from Mrs. Cummings, 44 Dawson street, Toronto, for fifty cents.

GLOVE FORMS FOR CLEANING.

Glove forms to be used in cleaning gloves are sold in the department stores. Their use is much better than the old practice of stretching the gloves with the hand. In cleaning gloves great care should be exercised in the use of gasoline or naphtha. The ring or other mark left should be wiped off carefully with a clean cloth or another stain will be left.

With gasoline use about one cup of gasoline to two quarts of water. Use the cleaning material only in the day time and never in a cold room. Even the rubbing of silk against silk in a cold room may cause an explosion of gasoline or naphtha.

OVER IN JAPAN.

The lovely Japanese is taking on occidental garments even in her native land. She of high degree is really quite European in her clothes in her own country.

This means that several American modistes are carrying on a thriving business in the flowery kingdom.

These American women who are clever enough to take advantage of the fashion condition in the enterprising little island are also wise in their adaptations. They are combining the grace of Japanese drapery with occidental vogues.

It is told in Paris fashion books that this Japanese-Occidental type is likely to become popular in Europe—which, of course, means there's a possibility the style may crop out in the United States.

HO WTO INCREASE WEIGHT.

"Want to learn how to increase your weight and gain strength and nerve force in the easiest possible way?" asked the plump little woman, as she settled into a corner of the divan for a comfortable chat. Her listeners were half a dozen women who go in for the strenuous life to a greater or less degree and consequently any one of them could stand a few extra pounds without inconvenience. "Of course," was the reply in chorus. "Well, then, drink milk, nothing but milk for months," said the plump one. "I've tried it and I think that I am a pretty good illustration of the effectiveness of the milk diet. Four months ago I was a nervous wreck. Couldn't stand anything; wept if the least thing went wrong at home, jumped a foot every time the door bell rung and was fast becoming a nuisance to myself and all the rest of the family. Fortunately, I have a little common sense and my doctor has more, so when I was ordered to drop everything and just 'rust' for awhile, I did it with the result that I have gained 51 pounds in weight and my health is completely restored. I lived on milk, as I told you, and rested according to directions, spending my time in a lovely old rest cure home. The diet and the rest effected a cure without any medicine whatever. I might add, though, that the milk was not the ordinary decoction served by the dealers of the metropolis, but a rich, creamy substance furnished by the finest breed of Jersey cows. How hard it was for an active body like me to 'rust' for sixteen weeks you strenuous folks can appreciate, but if you want to become plump and contented with the world in general just try my remedy."

The regular meeting of the association will be held on Tuesday, November 4.

FRIEND OF FIFTY YEARS EXPRESSES HER GRIEF

Rochester, N.Y., Oct. 27.—There is one home in this city in which the announcement of the death of Elizabeth Cady Stanton fell with crushing force. The first intimation which Susan B. Anthony had that her friend of fifty years was not in her usual health was late Sunday afternoon, when a telegram announcing Mrs. Stanton's death was received from New York.

"She will be cremated," said Miss Anthony sadly; "that was her wish. It was fifty years ago last May that we met first at Seneca Falls. We were both young women, in our prime. There has been an unbroken friendship from that day to this.

"We never agreed on every point, but on the central point of woman suffrage we always agreed, and that was the pivotal question. We never listened to stories of each other and never believed anything told of the disloyalty of each to the other.

"Through the early days when the world was against us we stood together. Mrs. Stanton was always a perfectly courageous woman, a leader of thought and new movements. I always called her the philosopher and statesman of our movement.

"I cannot express myself at all as I feel. I am too crushed to say much, but if she had outlived me she would have had fine words to express our friendship. I can't say it in words."

TO STUDY JUDAISM.

A call has been issued for a general meeting of the Jewish ladies of all the congregations in Montreal for the organization of a society which proposes to make a thorough study of the History of Judaism and of Jewish history among its members. The gathering is to be held in the lecture hall of the Baron de Hirsch Institute, on Beaury Street, on Sunday, November 2, at 3.30 in the afternoon. In connection with the study of the special subject to be decided on at the meeting, a course of lectures on kindred topics will be arranged. The ladies who are heading the movement are Miss Sophia Hirsch, Mrs. R. Jackson, Mrs. J. Michaels, Miss Helen Lewis, Miss Annie Samuels and Mrs. Mark Workman.

HALLOWE'EN GAMES AND SUITABLE PARTY COSTUMES

The chill days of autumn are here at last, and Hallowe'en will be upon us next Friday. The wise girl is she who plans far in advance of the time when she is to entertain her young friends, and particularly on an occasion like All Hallows Eve. It is the night of all nights when superstitions are rife, when the fairies, the elves, the gnomes and the goblins are out in force, when the fates of the maids and the men are revealed, and when lovers play their cards to win. Young folks give the rein to their fancy and romp and play like children, forgetful of their dignity.

The question of decoration for an affair on Hallowe'en is an important one. Pumpkins, cornstalks, bunches of carrots, cabbages, and, in fact, any kind of country vegetable should be used. The pumpkins, of course, should be made into lanterns, and used as the only lightoing of the rooms. This produces a weird effect and the shadows thrown through the irregular openings of the lantern, forming the face of a man, are grotesque and picturesque.

"Notice.—A meeting of ye ghosts, ye elves, ye fairies and ye other spirits of ye towne on ye Pasyack River will be held at ye abode of ye spirit of Prometheus Lord, at ye seventh house on ye north side of Dead Man's lane on Hallowe'en. Ye are requested to attend."

The guests are expected to arrive in costume. Dainty laces and chiffons have no place in a Hallowe'en party, and the wise girl will come attired in some simple dress that can not be injured in the fray. The costume that is easiest of preparation is the ghost dress. A sheet may be draped over the dress and fastened securely. It must be long, and it must be loose. Over the head should be thrown a pillow case, with slits for the eyes and the corners tied up with black ribbon, so that they look like ears. The individuality may be maintained by the slits that will serve for eyes. If they are of peculiar shape they give the wearer a unique appearance, and much amusement is caused among the other guests. For the early part of the evening there should be no speaking, and the effect is most ludicrous, of a roomful of people motioning, gesticulating, and trying in every way to carry on a conversation without the use of their voices and with the ridiculously funny expression of the blank, white pillow case. Before very long the guests are in an uproar of merriment. All the old games may be played, but the revelation of the future should be left until after the supper. Such games as pillows and keys cause a good deal of fun, for there is no distinction between the men and the women, and the kiss between the parties is not sufficiently like a kiss to count as one. Paring the apple and throwing the skin over the left shoulder is a favorite way of discovering one's future lord or lady, and another favorite occupation is the toasting of chestnuts before the open fire, it there is one or over the stove. Two chestnuts are chosen and named and set side by side to roast. Sometimes one, when roasted, pops off from the other, and not infrequently does it happen that the second one follows; then again the nuts will remain where they are put, and yet again they will separate for good. This, of course, forecasts the future of the people for whom the nuts were named. The masks should be removed before the supper, and, in fact, there should be no games until after the supper.

The supper table must receive considerable attention. It must be laid with the utmost care. There should be candles set in vegetables, plenty of fruit and nuts in sight and all the old-fashioned tableware possible to get. However, it is wisest to let the old-fashioned idea rest here, for the supper must be of the daintiest.

Bouillon.
Lobster patties. Chicken croquettes.
Rolled sandwiches.
Olives. Salted almonds.
Ice cream in mouids. Little cakes.
Coffee.

If the affair is small and more informal, a more modest menu might be served. One easy of preparation, if the hostess wishes to overlook it herself, is as follows:—

Creamed oysters. Sandwiches.
Olives.
Ice cream. Cake.
Bon Bons.
Coffee.

Ducking for apples is always enjoyed, no matter how old or dignified the guests may be. The apple on a string, to be caught by the teeth, is indispensable at a Hallowe'en affair, as is the cutting of the flour mould with the wedding ring in the centre. There are numberless games which can furnish an evening's entertainment.

Hallowe'en was established in the fourth century, and has been in general observance since the ninth century. It is the eve of the Feast of All Saints, which occurs on November 1.

NEWSPAPER PEOPLE TALK TO CLUB WOMEN

For once the members of the fourth estate had their innings. A large audience at the Y.M.C.A. yesterday afternoon listened attentively while Captain E. J. Chambers talked before the Montreal Women's Club on "How the newspaper obtains and serves up the news of the day," and later Miss Josephine Robb, a New York newspaper woman, in a bright little speech, given in a very distinct voice, spoke in defence of the much-abused and widely-read yellow journals.

It was an interesting afternoon, for besides the above speeches, to which every one listened with keen attention, and incidentally acquired a good deal of information, Mrs. Genevieve Greville Haines, whose play, "Hearts Aflame," is at the Academy, made a brief speech thanking the club for its courtesy and attention to herself and Miss Robb. If the club were not pleased with the little speech—which it certainly did enjoy—it was, to a woman, grateful for the chance of admiring such a stunning turn-out as Mrs. Haines wore. It consisted of a trailing brown velvet gown, an ermine collar, a big brown velvet hat, with glowing nasturtiums for trimming, and one of the nose veils. Miss Robb was also in brown velvet, with a hat to match.

Miss Eglaugh presided, and some routine business was conducted.

Captain Chambers' chatty account of life on a daily newspaper, with its system, and its many sources of information, its omissions and commissions, its sorrows and joys, its sense of honor which forbids the printing of news which harms some and does good to none, and the fact that the papers generally have more matter than can be used probably opened the eyes of many who picture the reporters running at random with a note book and pencil looking for something to put in the paper.

The speaker, himself a newspaper man of long experience, paid a high tribute to the truthfulness, enterprise and cleverness of the Montreal press as contrasted with many yellow journals. He also won the gratitude of the newspaper women present by his remarks upon the great usefulness of women in newspaper work, a the large field of their labors. Captain Chambers spoke of the sporting instinct and loyalty which induces a man or woman to do the best that can be done for the sake of the paper. Reference was made, too, to the pleasant and unpleasant side of the work, especially interviewing.

Miss Robb, in speaking of new journalism, said the yellow journals were careful in their methods. In the office of one big paper is a guide for the reporters which reads, "Accuracy, brevity, conciseness."

The sensational effect is obtained more by the pictures than by the actual reading matter. This has been proved by comparison with several journals. "Fake stories" were apt to endanger a reporter's position on the paper.

After the meeting the guests of honor held an informal reception.

METHODISTS MISSIONS.

Port Hope, Ont., Oct. 27.—The Women's Methodist Mission Board has concluded its sessions. Officers for the coming year were elected as follows: Mrs. W. E. Ross, Montreal, president; Mrs. A. Carman, Toronto, first vice-president; recording secretary, Mrs. A. M. Phillips, Toronto; field corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. S. Strachan; home corresponding secretary, Mrs. G. P. McKay, Toronto; treasurer, Miss Marcella Willies, Toronto. The presidents of the various branches are also vice-presidents by virtue of office.

The total expenditures of the board were $49,437, of which $26,370 was for the work in Japan; $6,765 for China, and $7,166 for India.

Captain W. S. Conger, of the Special Service Regiment, lately stationed at Halifax, was in the city to-day. He went to St. Johns to settle up accounts in connection with the regiment.

MRS. HAINES TALKS OF HORSES AND DOGS

"I have been writing plays since I was in short dresses," said Mrs. Genevieve Haines, at the Windsor yesterday, "but it was awfully hard to get managers to show their good points. They were very polite and pleasant, but that was all. I used to gnash my teeth and go home and write some more. I am delighted that "Hearts Aflame" is so successful, and I hope the Montrealers will like it."

Mrs. Haines looks very young, has been endowed with more than her share of good looks—in fact is charmingly pretty—and completely gives the lie to the old idea that women who write know necessarily nothing about clothes. On Saturday morning she wore a very smart tailored gown of Oxford grey, with soft green velvet piping and revers, and flaring cuffs of the same velvet. With this was worn a black satin and white blouse, and a round grey hat with black.

"The gowns in the play really are lovely," said Mrs. Haines, "and the very newest things out. We had them before they were seen in Paris. The new things are not displayed there till rather late, and I sent a special agent over to get the gowns for the play before the Parisians could have seen them.

"As to that divided skirt Alison wears, it is a most comfortable thing. I wore it myself this summer at Richfield Springs. There's a funny story about that. When Alison wore it afterwards, she said:

"It must, of course, be my imagination, but positively this skirt smells horsey. Its probably because I have the spirit of the part so well.

"I assured her it was no imagination, but a fact that the skirt had been used."

Mrs. Haines, like all Southerners, loves dogs and horses, and is a capital horsewoman. She has a number of dogs, some of which were bought in Canada.

The young authoress hi visited Montreal before when her husband was here with Mrs. Fiske, and her company is charmed with the city.

For the Cook.

Tomatoes With Onions.

Empty a can of tomatoes into saucepan, place over a fire and when hot add one small onion chopped fine, with salt and pepper to taste and a little sugar. Stew twenty minutes, and add a teaspoonful of butter and a good handful of bread crumbs. Simmer five or ten minutes, then serve.

Tomato Chowder.

Put five slices of salt pork in a hot frying pan; as they brown turn and brown the other side; put the slices to one side; add to the hot pork fat one medium sized onion, sliced, and cook a delicate brown; add two level tablespoonfuls of flour; stir this for three minutes; put half a quart can of tomatoes in an agate saucepan with one-third of a cup of well washed rice and the pork cut in small pieces; add to the flour and onion one pint of water; stir until boiling, then pour it over the tomato and rice; add salt and pepper to season; cover the pan closely and let contents simmer one hour, or until the rice is very tender. If the chowder is a little too thick add a little boiling water.

Eggs Cooked in Milk.

Bring fresh milk to nearly boiling point, drop a muffin ring into it, and in this break an egg. As soon as the egg is cooked enough lift it out with a broad knife and lay it upon hot toast that has been buttered and slightly moistened by warm milk poured upon it from a spoon. A little salt and a pinch of pepper makes a perfect preparation for any breakfast or lunch table, and is especially welcome to an invalid.

A Woman's Calvary

By Jean Middlemas

"My poor girl!" she murmured. "You must try not to suffer so keenly for the sorrows of others, or your own life will be utterly wretched."

"The sorrows of others!" repeated Betty, who had not for a moment lost consciousness. "Surely they are my sorrows, too? She—she was my mother's child—my sister."

Then, as in a flash, Lady Bury understood all that the mysteriously intimate connection with the Burghleys had concealed, and deeply she upbraided herself for having so rashly meddled and chattered, thus increasing an amount of pain and suffering that was already almost too poignant to be borne. All she could do now was to be as kind and helpful as possible to the crushed, quivering girl.

But on Betty neither Lady Bury's kindness nor her remorse had any effect. Her thoughts were all directed to Ernest Treherne.

Was he lying dead in that wood where Dorothy had died, and by his brother's hand?

She shivered as she pictured the terrible retribution. If only Lady Bury would tell her some more, for who dared she ask as to the welfare of her sister's murderer? But Lady Bury was silent, feeling she had already said too much; she only purred and tried to soothe.

Then at last the question that could no longer be held back came tremulously: "Is he dead?"

"No, dear, no. No one is dead. He is lying at a cottage close by rather severely wounded. It was an accident. Orme fired the shot, but he intended it for—another."

It was Lady Bury's turn to shiver, but of this Betty took no notice. She only said "Ah!" in a tone of deep relief. Part of the tension at least had been removed, and she, in some degree, recovered her composure the more quickly as she wanted to rid herself of Lady Bury, who did not linger long when she found the girl was better. She was not fond of emotional scenes; perhaps, also, she felt she had done enough mischief for one day. So she departed without even finding out what was in the parcel addressed to Orme.

No sooner did Betty find herself free than she buckled on her armor of strength. She wrote a note to Mabel's schoolmistress asking her to keep the child till her return, and to tell her she was suddenly compelled to go and see Miss Castleton, therefore not to be anxious about her.

In less than an hour Betty set off for Hurstley.

CHAPTER XXII.

THE STORY OF THE CRIME.

Old Nannie crept about noiselessly. Roy Mackenzie sat in the lower room listening to the melancholy sougning in the trees, and waiting, waiting for the doctor who would soon arrive; waiting for the melancholy verdict he feared would be given.

In the bedroom overhead, where Dorothy Hunter had died, where for the last week he himself had reigned, Ernest Treherne lay unconscious. Where Orme was neither of the watchers knew, and in that supreme hour neither cared.

Roy Mackenzie, who during a chequered career had had some experience of wounds, had staunched Ernest's, and rendered first aid with no little ability, but his knowledge made him fully aware that this was no case to be trifled with.

He doubted the efficiency of the village doctor, though he had been sent for, and he intended to "wire" in the morning as soon as the post-office was open, for a London celebrity, with whom he was personally acquainted.

When the village medico arrived about twelve o'clock he took even a graver view of the case than did Roy Mackenzie himself, and considerably irritated that gentleman by fussing about how and why the wound had been inflicted.

"It was an accident," said Mackenzie. "I think we will leave these inquiries till the wounded man is better."

"But suppose he never gets better?"

"Under those melancholy circumstances it will then also be time enough to prosecute inquiries."

"I presume you fired the shot?"

"I did not."

"Who else was there?"

"I decline to answer. When Mr. Treherne is better, ask him; if unfortunately he should not recover then the case must go before a court of law."

With this answer the village medico was perforce compelled to be satisfied, though he was most anxious for the details that neither Nannie nor Roy Mackenzie would provide.

With the telegram to the London specialist Mackenzie also sent a letter to Lord Redmayne telling him of the dangerous condition of his second son, and how the shot had been fired by the older one. He did not expect that any notice would be taken of his missive. Nevertheless, he considered it was not only right that Lord Redmayne should be made acquainted with the facts, but he also wished to remove some of the responsibility from himself. With Miss Castleton it was also desirable that he should communicate. This he would do after he had obtained the London opinion.

It was so far favorable, that success had attended the extraction of the bullet, and therefore unless complications arose, they might be hopeful.

Meantime, old Nannie and Roy Mackenzie were the only nurses. Nannie would not hear of any professional assistance being called in while she was capable of looking after Mr. Treherne herself; and so thoroughly alert and active had the old woman become that the celebrated surgeon gave in to her wishes, being fully aware what a valuable and intelligent assistant Major Mackenzie would prove did difficulty arise.

Nor did anyone come to disturb the situation. Those who were using every effort to ward off the advance of the all-powerful foe were left undisturbed.

Neither from Lord Redmayne nor Lord Orme was there even a message. Ernest Treherne was better, in so far that there need be no anxiety about the wound. He was quite conscious, and knew those about him, smiled pleasantly at them at times, and thanked them gratefully for their unceasing kindness. Nevertheless, he did not rally and improve as he ought to have done. It was obvious that he was making no effort to live.

"What was there to live for?" he asked himself as he lay there in the dark shades, while the vision of two girls so strangely blended in one image haunted him persistently.

The surgeon from London, who, owing to his friendship with Major Mackenzie had been several times to see him, could not understand why he did not improve more quickly, since there was no undue amount of fever, no reason for this dilatory convalescence.

Roy Mackenzie and old Nannie thought they knew, though neither of them had as yet spoken of their knowledge to the other. Roy Mackenzie was waiting for the old woman's confidence. The hour when he would receive it was, he saw, not very far distant, and he expected it would, if spontaneous, be a little more complete.

Nannie had been watching through the night, while Roy Mackenzie slept, and a sad, restless night of tossing and fitful sleep had Ernest passed.

"To sleep, perchance to dream."

She had listened, as the weary hours of the long night passed on, the many murmured words uttered in semi-somnolence, which would never have been spoken in wakefulness, and for the first time she fully realized what a weight of misery and despair the accusation of having committed a foul crime had laid upon him. She heard the constant coupling of the names Dorothy and Betty, but even knowing what she did of the story of the past, she could not understand in what way these two women were so closely linked.

STRIKE COMMISSION BEGINS ITS WORK

At First Session Determines on the Procedure to be Followed—Baer Objects to Recognition of Union.

Washington, October 28.—The Anthracite Coal Strike Commission yesterday in the hearing room of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, held its first conference with the parties to the controversy in the anthracite regions. There was a full representation of both operators and miners, and members of the press, and other interested parties were present. The commission occupied the elevated seats generally filled by members of the Inter-State Commission, Judge Gray as president, occupying the centre seat, and Messrs. Wright, Watkins, and Clark, the seats to the right of him, in the order named, while General Wilson, Bishop Spalding and Mr. Parker sat on the left in the order of their names.

The proceedings covered about two hours' time, and were given up entirely to a discussion of the time and method of proceeding with the proposed investigation. The commission decided to begin its work next Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. The first days of the investigation to be devoted to an examination of the mines and homes of the miners, starting in the vicinity of Scranton. The entire anthracite field will be covered.

There was considerable discussion over a proposition made by the commission to have expert accountants appointed to audit statements of wages, and classifying of miners to be made to the operators for the use of the commission, but no result was reached on this point beyond the announcement by the chairman of the commission's intention to appoint such an accountant in case his services should be found necessary.

President Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers, and District President Fahey, appeared for the miners, and the coal carrying roads were represented by President Baer, of the Philadelphia and Reading; E. E. Thomas, chairman of the Erie directorate; Alfred Walter, president of the Lehigh Valley; W. H. Truesdale, president of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western; David Wilcox, vice-president of the Delaware and Hudson; John B. Kerr, vice-president of the Scranton Coal Company and Elk Hill Coal and Iron Company; J. B. Torrey, attorney for the Delaware and Hudson; and Francis L. Cowan, attorney for the Lehigh Valley Company.

Before the opening of the proceedings, the members of the commission and the representatives of the contesting parties were photographed.

MODE OF PROCEDURE.

Judge Gray, the president of the commission, then read the order of the President creating the commission, and in a general way outlined the procedure to be followed in the presentation of the issues. He said that in accordance with the immemorial practice among English-speaking peoples the commission would first receive the statements or demands of the miners who were to be regarded, for the purposes of this case, as the prosecutors. The reply of the other side could then be heard. Judge Gray said, in order that the commission might have before it a definite issue.

MINERS' DEMANDS.

Mr. Mitchell, as the representative of the miners, presented a copy of the original declaration of the miners, as formulated by the Shamokin convention as the basis of demands of the miners. This demand is, first, for an increase of 20 per cent. in wages of those not engaged by the day; second, a reduction of 20 per cent. in those engaged by the day; third, the payment for coal mined by weight at a minimum rate of 60 cents per ton of 2,240 pounds; fourth, a wage agreement between the operators and the miners for adjustment of wages.

OBJECTED TO UNION.

Mr. Baer, on the part of the coal operators, took exception to Mr. Mitchell's appearance before the commission as a representative of the strikers as such in their individual capacity. The commission made no attempt to settle the controversy, but it was apparent that the recognition of the miners' union would be an important and knotty problem for the arbitrators.

Presidents Baer and Thomas suggested that the commission proceed at once to the coal fields in order that it might be informed at the outset as to the conditions there.

It was agreed that Mr. Mitchell should file with the commission next Monday a detailed statement of the claims of the miners. The statement he read to-day was a preliminary statement of the case. The representatives of the operators announced that they would file an answer to this statement of Mr. Mitchell on Monday, within three days of that time.

COMPANIES' BOOKS.

It was suggested an expert should be appointed to go through the books of the coal companies to secure data upon which to work, but President Baer and other representatives of the companies immediately objected and suggested that they would furnish whatever information it needed. This question precipitated a long discussion, in which the coal presidents and the miners' representatives took part.

Mr. Baer said the operators would be prepared to meet the miners in the region and to assist in giving all information. Many of the individual operators are not represented and they were not consulted and were not compromised by the letter he had written.

Judge Gray suggested that they could be represented. At the meeting next Monday they would determine which of the companies would be taken up first and the place of meeting could be determined by the location of the coal company taken up.

OPERATORS' VIEWS.

Mr. Baer made a point of saying that the case of each coal company would be dealt with separately. He would contend for the sliding scale in the regulation of wages. "I shall urge the adoption of that profit sharing plan," he said, "which gave us peace formerly in our relation to our employes."

Mr. Thomas, of the Hillside Iron and Coal and the Pennsylvania Coal Company, said he noticed that the word "arbitration" had been applied to the commission's work, while he wanted it considered as an investigation.

Judge Gray said the President's instruction settled that as an arbitration.

President Gray announced that the commission for the present would proceed without appointing an expert, but that it would require that statements be presented, and added, an accountant could be secured in case it was found his services were needed.

TO INSPECT MINES.

The question of the examination by the commission into the conditions into which the mining of anthracite coal is conducted was then entered on, and Mr. Watkins, of the commission, suggested that a week or ten days' time would be necessary in order to make an adequate examination of physical conditions about the mines. He appealed to Mr. Thomas for his opinion as to the time necessary, and that gentleman replied:—"You will certainly need that much time; I should think that thirty days would be none too little. We've grown gray in our study of that question."

Mr. Baer also fell in with the suggestion, saying that it would be impossible to do justice to the investigation without a complete inspection of the mines and the methods of operating them. Mr. Mitchell thought that not only should there be an inspection of the mines, but also of the homes of the miners.

ACCEPT NO FAVORS.

After consulting the members of the commission President Gray announced that it would begin its inspection next Thursday, commencing its work in district 1, in which the city of Scranton is located. While the subject was up, Mr. Baer said that the mine operators would furnish all facilities at their command to enable the commission to make its investigation thoroughly, adding that they would place a special train at the disposal of the commission, providing also for the accommodation of a representative of the miners.

The public meeting of the commission came to a close, and the commissioners retired for the purpose of private consultation. They first took up the question that had been raised by the proffer of a special train by Mr. Baer, and unanimously decided not to accept the train. The exchange of views brought out the fact that the commissioners expect personally to pay all of their expenses, accepting no favors and relying on the Government to reimburse them if so disposed. An agreement was reached to leave Scranton at 9 o'clock next Thursday morning for the first tour of inspection. There was, however, no agreement as to what mines should be visited first, that point being left for future determination.

RUSHING COAL TO THE SEABOARD

Wilkesbarre, Pa., October 28.—More coal was mined and more men were employed in mining yesterday than any day since the mines in the anthracite region resumed work.

The only districts that lag behind in the output are Lehigh and Mahanoy. The individual operators and their employes in those districts are still at loggerheads. In the Wyoming and Lackawanna regions all the collieries are in operation with the exception of a few which are still under water. The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, the Delaware and Hudson, the Lehigh Valley, the Temple Coal and Iron Company, the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre the Erie and the Ontario and Western all had large outputs to-day, and heavy trains of coal were moved rapidly to seaboard points. The miners and laborers who left the region during the strike are returning in large numbers.

SCOTCH MINERS DEMAND INCREASE.

Glasgow, October 27.—The Scotch miners have demanded an increase of 12 1-2 per cent. in wages. About 70,000 miners are affected.

FRENCH STRIKERS WANT NO INTERFERENCE

Paris, October 28.—The national committee of the strikers met at the Bourse du Travail yesterday. M. Cotte, leader of the French southern miners, and a member of the Chamber of Deputies read letters and telegrams going to show that the companies were putting pressure on the miners to compel them to resume work. M. Cotte telephoned Prime Minister Combes an expression of the committee's displeasure at this action, insisting that the Premier should immediately intervene to stop it. M. Combes invited the committee to meet him at the Home Office, where an interview of nearly an hour's duration was held. M. Combes promised to prevent all proceedings which would interfere with the right of the men to strike.

The strikers at Rochefort have become riotous, and the troops have been called out. There is a complete stoppage of work in the Pas de Calais district.

IMPROVING THE PORT OF LONDON

London, October 27.—A special conference, summoned by the Lord Mayor, representing the mercantile, banking and manufacturing interests of the capital, met at the Mansion House today to consider the improvement of the facilities of the port of London. On motion of Lord Avebury, president of the Central Association of Bankers, the conference agreed to appoint a thoroughly representative committee to approach the Government on the subject. The committee includes three representatives of the city corporation, which already had a special committee investigating the same question.

VENERATE A PRIEST AGAINST HIS WILL

St. Petersburg, Oct. 27.—The ignorance and religious fanaticism of the Russian peasantry is illustrated by the persistent veneration of the famous Father John of Cronstadt against his will. Portraits of him are frequently used as sacred images, and several sects have been formed to uphold the doctrine of the divinity of the Cronstadt priest, despite his vehement protests. He has been compelled to go personally to Kostroma to stop the growth of his worshippers. A peasant there wrote a hymn in honor of Father John, placing him almost on an equality with the persons of the Trinity. During services in Cronstadt the peasants openly maintain their conviction that he is Christ. One aged pilgrim, who insisted on so declaring, was arrested and threatened with punishment. He declared with enthusiasm that he would gladly die for his Saviour. Voices frequently interrupted the services, exclaiming, "Thou art holy," "Behold He has come down from heaven." The priest usually replied, "How dare you speak so? I am only a sinful man like you. It is Satan speaking through your mouth in order to cause confusion among the devout. Who are you? Come out from the crowd." They rarely obey, and the police are unable to discover the fanatics.

SOLD BELOW PAR FOR FIRST TIME IN YEARS

Berlin, Oct. 28.—The shares of both the Hamburg-American and North German Lloyd steamship companies went below par last week for the first time in years. Hamburg-American shares were sold heavily all the week.

The bears operated with the rumors of a bad freight market, the competition of British coal vessels for return cargoes from New York, low estimates of the year's dividends and the illness of General Manager Ballin, of the Hamburg Line.

It was stated authoritatively later that Manager Ballin's illness is not serious. The shares of ocean transportation companies made a partial recovery. Hamburg-American and North German Lloyd both reached 102 yesterday.

AUNT FORCED TO PAY MISS NEAL FOR LIBEL

London, Oct. 27.—The libel suit of Miss Dora Neal against her aunt, Lady Henry Gordon-Lennox, has been settled out of court. The charges have been withdrawn and Miss Neal is to receive £2,000 in addition to the costs. This suit was brought last February. Miss Neal charged that her aunt had made some remarks which were a reflection on her character. The Lord Chief Justice urged that the matter be settled privately in order to avoid a scandal. Miss Neal declined the compromise arranged by the lawyers last August, and insisted upon a vindication. The Lord Chancellor thereupon restored the case to the calendar.

TURKISH TROOPS IN BRITISH TERRITORY

Constantinople, October 27.—Sir Nicholas O'Connor, the British ambassador, has informed the Porte that Turkish troops have advanced into British territory near Aden, and that unless they are withdrawn, Great Britain is bound to expel them. A ministerial commission deliberated on the question Sunday. The second dragoman of the British embassy has started for Aden. A boundary commission is now delimiting the Anglo-Turkish frontier.

WU IS GOING.

Washington, October 27.—Wu Ting Fang, the Chinese minister, has been recalled to his country by a special edict, which was received by him today. He is ordered to return by the most direct route to Shanghai, and will leave as soon as he can pack his effects, probably within two weeks. He will become minister of commerce, and will also be a member of the joint commission to negotiate commercial treaties.

MOLINEUX TRIAL DRAWS TO AN END

New York, Oct. 28.—Florence Rogers, daughter of Mrs. Katharine J. Adams, of whose murder Roland B. Molineux is accused, was the most conspicuous witness on the stand at the trial yesterday. Her appearance attracted an unusual crowd of women, who followed the examination of the witness with the keenest of attention. Mrs. Rogers was subjected to a close examination regarding her relations with Harry Cornish, but little that was significant was elicited in this line of enquiry. Mrs. Rogers related the circumstances of her mother's death immediately after taking the poison, and identified the glass in which the fatal draught was administered, and from which she said she afterwards saw Cornish drink. The greater part of the session was devoted to the examination of handwriting experts. It was remarked in court after the adjournment that the case of the prosecution would close to-day, in which event the case may go to the jury by the end of the week.

PANAMA CANAL PROJECT.

Paris, Oct. 27.—The announcement of the decision of Attorney-General Knox that he found the title to the Panama Canal property to be valid and unencumbered has been received here with much satisfaction by the officials of the company and the Government. M. Lampre, secretary of the company, said to-day that the decision bore out his contention before the Moran committee of the Senate. He expects that the next step will be the conclusion of a treaty with Colombia. While the secretary foresees some delay in ratifying the treaty, he says Mr. Knox's decision assures the carrying out of the Panama project.

KAISER GOES TO LONDON.

Berlin, October 27.—Emperor William will leave Kiel on the royal yacht Hohenzollern for the Thames on Nov. 6. No confirmation can be received in official quarters of the report that the Crown Prince will go to the United States in 1904 to visit the Louisiana purchase exposition at St. Louis. The general feeling is, however, that the prince will go.

BOMB KILLED A CHILD.

Rome, October 27.—A bomb was exploded outside the Episcopal Palace at Leghorn last night. One child was killed and another dangerously injured.

NEW CONTRACT OF COAL COMPANY

Agreement With New England Gas and Coke People Modified.

Boston, October 27.—The New England Gas and Coke Company, which is now one of the constituents of the Massachusetts Gas companies, has made a new contract for its coal supply with the Dominion Coal Company, which contract supplants the one made by Henry M. Whitney when president of both companies. Recently James Ross, now president of the Dominion Coal Company, and the Dominion Iron and Steel Company, came to Boston and set up a claim that the receivership of the New England Gas and Coke Company had nullified the Whitney contract under which the coke company was to receive coal up to the requirement of 1,000 ovens for $1.90 a ton.

No agreement was reached, and, consequently, President Ross returned to Montreal and served notice upon the coke company that shipments of coal from Cape Breton to the coke plant at Everett would cease upon a certain date. The coke company had only 11,000 tons of coal on hand. The coal furnished the coke company under the Whitney contract is culm, or the fine waste of the mines, and at $1.90 a ton shows a profit to the shippers, but up to date the coke company has only 400 ovens. The Whitney contract called for coal up to the capacity of 1,000 ovens for twenty-one years, which would mean a possible output of between 1,500,000 and 2,000,000 tons a year. This might require heavy drafts upon regular coal to make up a culm deficiency.

The new contract which has resulted from President Ross's stand, provides for a supply of coal for 400 ovens at about present prices, and for a sliding scale of prices for the supply of extra ovens. All other claims between the two companies have been adjusted.

The coke company has been put on a basis to insure profitable operation under any circumstances. Under the six months' receivership the net earnings were $413,955. At this rate a year's net earnings would be $827,910, which would be equal to 4 per cent. on the $10,080,600 of preferred stock and 4.1 per cent. on the $10,640,000 of common stock.

FORGED TITLES OF NOBILITY

Noble Ancestors Made While You Wait by Vienna Expert.

Vienna, October 27.—An extraordinary trial has begun at Prague. The accused is Alois Muller Von Mildenberg, who is described as an economic expert, aged 64 years. He is charged with wholesale forgery of bogus titles of nobility. Twenty-three separate charges have been brought against him involving hundreds of forgeries of state documents, rescripts of emperors and certificates of births, marriages and deaths. His clients included many well known officials and private citizens. In one instance a wealthy resident of Bressburg, Count Belarcen Clarky, desired to obtain the dignity of Imperial Chamberlain, which requires the holders of the office to be a lineal descendant of sixteen noble ancestors. Mildenburg undertook to furnish them for the count. In another case the prisoner is accused of forging rescripts of Emperor Leopold. The first is dated 1697 and the other 1688. The accused's operations extended over ten years, and it is believed that he obtained large sums of money. In one case he demanded a fee of £3,300.

GERMAN MERCHANTS ARE SECURING THE TRADE

Supplanting All Other Countries in the Balkans and the Levant.

London, Oct. 28.—The Vienna correspondent of the Times says that the progress of German commerce is one of the most marked features of recent trade developments in the Balkans and part of the Levant, where Austria-Hungary was formerly supreme.

This German success, says the correspondent, seems largely due to the antiquated ideas in regard to economic affairs prevailing in the Austrian aristocratic and official world, which is accused by the industrial element of neglecting to afford effective state support and encouragement of industry. Such state aid is one of the main causes of German success.

The correspondent remarks that another cause of German predominance in the near east, and even within Austria-Hungary itself, is the vigorous self-advertising of the Germans. They have managed to convert a considerable portion of their military renown into a reputation for high industrial capacity, which reputation some of the best judges are not always prepared to confirm.

The powerful influence of the German press, adds the correspondent, has almost completely hypnotized public opinion in Vienna. It is only on rare occasions, such as the publication of the German customs tariff bill, that Austrians realize that they are becoming economically, as well as politically and intellectually, a colony of the German Empire.

OTTAWA COLLEGE AND ROUGH RIDERS

Will Play Off in Ottawa—Faculty Won't Stop the Match—College the Favorite.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

Ottawa, Oct. 28.—It is certain that the Ottawa College Rugby fifteen and the Rough Riders will play off here for the Dominion championship, and the match will likely take place on Saturday, Nov. 15, as that will be the first open date. Father Emery, rector of Ottawa College, stated yesterday that so far as he knew the faculty would not object to the contest taking place, as the two teams are eager to meet. While there is a keen rivalry between the two fifteens, there is no bitter feeling, and as a consequence they will play football when they come together and will refrain from slugging each other.

The collegians and the Rough Riders have shown that they are easily the two best teams in the Quebec and Ontario unions, and a match between them should prove a source of pleasure to lovers of Rugoy football. Both have been playing a clean, scientific game, which augurs well for the quality of ball to be played when they clash.

The college will have a shade the better of the Rough Riders in the matter of practice, for it has still two matches to play, and these will develop and strengthen its team work. On the other hand, unless the city team can arrange for an exhibition match, it will have to rely on the afternoons at the Rideau Hall grounds to prepare for the fray. Both fifteens are confident.

A Professional Team.

Professional football has caught on immensely over in Philadelphia, and some great games may be expected when the Pittsburg team of all stars meets the Quaker eleven later in the season. The Pittsburg team is captained and coached by W. B. Richardson, who was one of the greatest players Brown ever had behind the line.

This Pittsburg team should be a wonder, judging from the men Richardson has under contract. At centre he has Sherring, a man who weighs 218 pounds, stands 6 feet 1 inch and is very fast for a man of his weight. For substitute centre there is another Sandow, who is nick-named "Strong Man Barney." He is a powerful chap, who makes a specialty of weight lifting. When not engaged in football he runs a physical culture school out in Illinois.

At guard is where Pittsburg shines with Kerkhoff, formerly of the Chicago A. A. He is a bruiser, standing 6 feet 5 inches and weighs 250 pounds. Richardson says that he runs like a low gear. When he hits a line something has to give way. The other guard is filled by Lawler, who played on the Orange, Elizabeth and Knickerbocker teams. He stands 6 feet 3 inches and weighs 240 pounds. Right tackle is filled by John Lang, a famous ex-college player from Washington and Jefferson. He weighs 227 pounds and is said to be a corker—as good as Kerkhoff with the ball.

McNulty, of Notre Dame, Ind., fills the other tackle. He weighs 224 pounds and is said to be as strong as a bull. Artie Miller, formerly of the Carlisle Indians, is at left end with Arthur Foe on the other side of the line. Richardson plays quarter-back, with Shirley Ellis, of Harvard, at full-back. Fred Crollius is right half-back and Christy Mathewson left half-back.

Richardson says that Matthewson's punting is wonderful, booting the ball right along for 65 yards, and that he has done 90 yards in practice.

Pittsburg will play in Philadelphia on Nov. 8 and the game should be a great battle between the ex-college stars.—Exchange.

I MAKE STRONG MEN!

Give me a man broken down from dissipation, hard work, or worry, from any cause which has sapped his vitality. Let him follow my advice for three months, and I will make him as vigorous in every respect as any man of his age.

I will not promise to make a Hercules of a man who was never intended by nature to be strong and sturdy. Even that man I can make better than he is, but the man who has been strong and has lost his strength I can make as good as he ever was.

I can give back to any man what he has lost by abuse of the laws of nature.

A man who is nervous, whose brain and body are weak, who sleeps badly, awakes more tired than when he went to bed, who is easily discouraged, inclined to brood over imaginary troubles, who has lost ambition and energy to tackle hard problems, lacks the animal electricity which the Dr. McLaughlin Electric Belt supplies.

The whole force of vitality in your body is dependent upon your animal electricity. When you lose that by draining the system in any manner my Dr. McLaughlin Electric Belt will replace it and will cure you.

It has a wonderful influence upon tired, weak nerves. It braces and invigorates them and stirs up a great force of energy in a man.

It's as good for women as for men. Worn while you sleep, it causes no trouble. You feel the gentle, glowing heat from it constantly, but no sting, no burning, as in old-style belts.

DR. McLAUGHLIN'S OFFER.

Give me evidence of your honesty and good faith by offering me reasonable security. You may then use the Belt at my risk and

PAY WHEN CURED.

SPECIAL NOTICE—I have the only electric appliance sold with which you receive the advice of a practical physician. The success of any electric belt depends upon its intelligent application.

FREE—Call and see my Belt, and get an idea of what it will do; let me explain it to you. Consultation is FREE. For the benefit of those who cannot call, I have a nicely illustrated book, which every man and woman should read. I will send it, closely sealed, free, upon request. Write to-day.

YALE, HARVARD AND PRINCETON

These Three Form a Class by Themselvs, Says Charles Chadwick.

Charles Chadwick, sums up the situation across the line as follows:

"Columbia's impressive defeat at Princeton last Saturday leaves Yale, Harvard and Princeton the only undefeated colleges on the Eastern gridiron. Pennsylvania, the Carlisle Indians, Cornell, Columbia and all the smaller teams have already gone under. Thus after passing through many vicissitudes in the past few years the situation reverts at last to something analagous to its former status.

"From the very inception of college football in 1876 to the early nineties, Yale, Harvard and Princeton held undisputed sway in the football world, and the great battles fought for the final supremacy in November were always between members of that famous trio. It was Yale vs. Harvard and Yale vs. Princeton, and more rarely Princeton vs. Harvard.

The University of Pennsylvania was the first one to break in on the old order of affairs.

In November 1892, the Philadelphia boys, who had put teams in the field on a level with the smaller colleges, suddenly flashed forth into the football firmament by defeating Princeton in a sanguinary struggle by a score of 4 to 0. The gloom which prevailed at the New Jersey town was only matched by the utter surprise and dismay engendered at New Haven. In spite of the defeat by Yale a week later by a score of 28 to 0, Pennsylvania had broken the ice at last.

PENN SCORED AGAINST YALE.

"The next year Yale and Pennsylvania met at Manhattan Field in what was to be the final contest between these two universities. Yale's goal line had been uncrossed for three years The final score was 14 to 6 in Yale's favor, and Osgood's touchdown was a practical victory for Pennsylvania.

"This was the beginning of the "Big Four," The smaller colleges from now on began to approach the level of the leaders, until within recent years Cornell has beaten Princeton, Columbia has beaten Yale, Princeton and Pennsylvania, Lafayette has beaten Pennsylvania, and many others, including Carlisle, West Point and Brown have become dangerous.

"The situation finally became, in 1899 and 1900 a veritable chaos of surprises. Then the reaction began During the past three years Pennsylvania has gradually sunk to the level of a second rate team, so that this year her defeats were to a great extent expected.

"The Carlisle Indians, who had for a number of years been counted on as a factor in the situation, were defeated early this season by Bucknell. Cornell next disappeared from view by suffering unexpected defeat at the hands of the Carlisle Indians; and finally, West Point, Annapolis and Brown having met big teams and been shoved to the wall, Columbia, the last remaining hope of the new regime, went to pieces before the fierce onslaughts of the Princeton Tigers.

With the preliminary season thus cleared up, and with the old-time trio, Yale, Harvard, and Princeton, ready for their November games a comparison of these teams may be made with some approximation of accuracy.

HARVARD'S GOOD RECORD

Harvard is slightly in the lead. She has a strong team, which is developing slowly. Her score last Saturday of only six points against the remarkably fast Brown team does not being to indicate her superiority. In the first place Harvard, as contrasted with Yale has a superb kicking game, and this was not used at all. Not a single time did Harvard punt the ball, and only once, on the occasion when Marshall tried a drop kick for goal from the 25-yard line and failed, did she use any other kind of a kick. It was all rushing, and only once was Harvard held for downs. Several fumbles and once a mistake in signals were responsible for the low score, and these are faults which can be corrected. Kernan's end runs were the feature of the day, while Marshall caught punts and ran them back in faultless style, and Graydon hurdled the centre effectively.

The balk field, in fact, played fast football. The line showed, also, the results of the careful coaching of the past week. They played lower and faster than they have previously this season, and their mass plays inside of tackle were well interfered for. In the second place, Brown did not once cross Harvard's 40-yard line.

Yale seems to have found an easier proposition in Syracuse than was expected. The score of 24 to 0 was the result of a powerful offensive rush line. From tackle to tackle Yale is stronger to-day than Harvard, but her weakness at end and at kicking relegate her to second place. Brown, left half-back and captain of the Syracuse eleven, cleared the Yale left end and over sixty yards, and had it not been for the good individual work of Glass the ex-Syracuse player, in overtaking him at the ten-yard line, he would have scored on the Blue.

PRINCETON CLOSE UP.

"While I am inclined to put Princeton in third place, it is not by any great margin of superiority possessed by either Harvard or Yale. Princeton in defeating Columbia—21 to 0—showed that she possessed in addition to a team of fighters a kicking game which is superior even to that possessed by Harvard. De Witt's sixty-yard punts and the way in which Henry and Davis got down the field under them, were first class football. Then, too, the versatile De Witt, who, next to Glass and possibly Goss, of Yale, is the best guard on the gridiron, distinguished himself by a successful place kick from a point on the forty-five-yard line and only twenty yards from the side-lines.

Princeton's rush-line is, however, not the equal of either Harvard's or Yale's in point of weight and its work on defensive is very uneven. Several times Columbia's backs broke through clean on their feet, showing that somebody in the forward line must have been completely put out of the play.

"Princeton met with bad luck Saturday. Burke and Kafer were both retired with broken collar-bones and will probably be out of the game all season. Burke was Princeton's star quarter-back last year, and was compelled to retire for the season then as now, on account of a serious injury. The loss of Burke from the game will be regretted by all lovers of the game, as there was not a quarter-back on the gridiron his superior."

Questions and Answers at the Examination of a Football Candidate.

The applicant for a place on the college football team was put through a long and rigid examination. Following are the questions asked by the captain and the answers of the applicant:

Q.—Age?
A.—Nineteen.
Q.—Weight?
A.—Hundred and sixty-four.
Q.—Knuckles hard?
A.—I can crack boiler plate with 'em.
Q.—Good biter?
A.—Bite an iron spike in two.
Q.—A good kicker?
A.—Kick a man's lungs out.
Q.—What would you do if you were running towards the enemy's goal with the ball and their crack player tackled you?
A.—I would throw the ball to my support, after which I would tackle the tackle.
Q.—Please explain.
A.—I would place my right arm under his chin and my left over his knees, then I would bend his back over my right knee until his spine cracked, after which I would jump up and down on him with my spikes.
Q.—How would you amuse him while doing this?
A.—I would permit him to chew my thumb.
Q.—Suppose you found yourself the under man in a pile up?
A.—I would eat my way out.
Q.—How would you tackle a heavyweight tackle?
A.—I would first butt a hole through his vitals and before he recovered from the shock I would pick him up and throw him over the grand stand.
Q.—Suppose you were defeated in doing this?
A.—Then I should swallow the ball and stand pat.
Q.—What are the three cardinal indispensables in a football game?
A.—A doctor, an ambulance and a hospital.
Q.—Anything else?
A.—A funeral.
Q.—You cherish no personal ill-feeling against the members of opposing teams?
A.—Not in the least.
Q.—I understand that you know nothing of the technical points of the game?
A.—That is true.
You will do; please sign here.

Dr. Bowie's Opinion.

"It was a great game, and won by a great team. The Rough Riders justly earned their title of champions, and will give the College one of the greatest battles ever known in the history of football when they meet for the championship of the Dominion. To me it looks like an even break. What advantage the Collegians have behind the line is made up by Ottawa's superior ability on the forward division. It should be a great game, and one well worth travelling a distance to see. Buckham, Kennedy and Chesterton form the greatest trio of scrimmagers I have ever seen, and in Kennedy the Rough Riders have a great centre player. His heeling out is clean and accurate, in fact Ottawa's methods of scrimmaging the ball are the fairest and most legal that I have ever had the pleasure of witnessing."

Punts.

Brits will practice on Thursday. Every man has promised to be out.

Next Saturday's games are Brits at Brockville and College at Montreal.

Westmount plays the first of the finals with Quebec next Saturday in Quebec.

The story from Ottawa that Hutton and Ralph were about to remove to Toronto to play football, hockey and lacrosse, was a fabrication—like most stories from Ottawa.—Toronto Globe.

Chess.

LASKER ALMOST BEATEN.

New York, Oct. 27.—Lasker, the world's champion chess player, narrowly escaped being beaten by the local expert, Lipschuetz, last night in a match game at the Manhattan Chess Club. Lipschuetz started the game with a Vienna opening and had a chance of administering a mate in two moves, beginning with his 26th move, but he allowed Lasker to escape, for he did not see the mate. The game was finally adjourned at an early hour this morning, to be resumed on Wednesday.

Chess and Checker League.

The Montreal Checker, Chess and Euchre League will hold its annual meeting in their rooms, 307 William Street, on Wednesday evening next. A large attendance is expected, and it is hoped all old members will attend. During the summer a lot of handsome prizes have been secured for competitions. The euchre games will be started at once and the checker tournament for the club cup will come on later.

NO HEAT RACING AT MEMPHIS

C. K. G. Billings Decides to Break Away and Run All Races as Dashes.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 28.—The Memphis Trotting Association, through Secretary Murray Howe, has announced the abandonment of the present system of heat harness racing, which has been in vogue in harness racing circles since 1806. C. K. G. Billings, the wealthy New Yorker, who owns the local trotting track, is said to be disgusted with the present system, which enables drivers to lay up heats at will, that he has instructed Secretary Howe to frame all of his races in the future on the dash system, of one race deciding first, second and third moneys, after the manner employed on the running turf.

It is stated that the cause of Mr. Billings' determination to abandon the style of harness racing that has been in use in this country for a hundred years, was the confession of Millard Saunders, the Californian, who, when called into the stand, admitted to the judges on the first day of the local meeting that he had not tried to win the first heat with Sir Albert S. Nervolo, an outsider, took the heat, but Sir Albert S. afterward won the race. In the meantime the layers were relieved of several thousands of dollars on Nervolo's victory by Saunders and his following.

The local association will be the first to start the so-called revolution of harness racing rules, and Secretary Howe announces that all stakes and purses for future meetings will be offered for the first, second and third horses to the wire in every race.

TWO WORLD'S RECORDS,

A Half Mile in :57 3-4 seconds.—A New Two-Mile Record.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 27.—The special match race for $12,000 a side between the pacers Prince Alert and Sir Albert S., one heat at a half mile, resulted in an easy victory for the former at the Memphis Driving Park yesterday in the remarkable time of 57 3-4 seconds. This establishes a new world's record for this distance in a race, lowering the former time by 2 1-2 seconds. After scoring several times the horses got away to a good start. Sanders immediately sent Sir Albert S. forward and he led Prince Alert by two lengths. At the quarter pole Sanders increased his lead by three lengths, and the timers hung out 28 1-2 for the quarter. Making the turn, for home, Sir Albert S., still in a commanding lead, broke badly, and Prince Alert forged to the front and won by three lengths. Many horsemen expressed the opinion that had Sir Albert S. kept his feet the results would have been different and time reduced at least a quarter of a second. The former record for half a mile was 1.00 4, held by Audobon Boy.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 28. — At the Memphis Trotting Association's fall meeting Saturday the racing was up to its former high standard. Another world's record for stallions was announced from the judge's stand, when Norvola paced two miles in 4.25 1-4. The horse was accompanied by a runner over the entire course.

Hockey

Northern Electric Co.'s Club.

The Northern Electric Company's Hockey Club, at its annual meeting, elected the following officers for the ensuing season: Hon. president, C. W. Brown; hon. vice-president, F. P. Ritchie; president, A. M. Ritchie; vice-president, G. A. Smith; secretary, R. Purvis; treasurer, H. E. Warren; manager, G. Henry. Committee: F. Strike, R. Menzies, E. Maynard, W. Coldwell, E. Landry and A. Black. It has been suggested that a league composed of the hockey clubs connected with the various manufacturing concerns in the city should be formed. The secretary would be pleased to hear from any of the clubs with their views on the subject.

Scots Beat Garrison.

The Military Euchre League season opened last evening, when the Royal Scots defeated the 2nd R.C.A. by 51 to 45. Sergt. Hamilton, P.W.F., was referee.

BASKETBALL MEN IGNORE A.A.U.

The College Teams Will Go Ahead and Play on Their Own Hook.

New York, Oct. 27.—College basketball players have practically decided to ignore the Amateur Athletic Union in their games this season. This decision was reached unofficially at a secret session of the Intercollegiate Basketball Association recently held in this city. The question was argued for two hours by members of the association, which includes Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Columbia and Cornell, but it was agreed that, while no final action should be taken, the colleges should go ahead and play their games irrespective of any ruling of the Amateur Athletic Union.

This action is due to the interference of the A. A. U. in college basketball affairs last season. In 1901 the A. A. U. disqualified the basketball teams of Yale and Columbia because these fives played teams that were not registered with the Amateur Athletic Union. The union has a rule that all basketball teams must be registered with it as amateurs. When an unregistered team plays a registered five both teams are disqualified from playing any other registered organization.

The A. A. U. makes no pretence of controlling purely intercollegiate basketball matches, but it does provide that as soon as a college team plays a military or Young Men's Christian Association team both fives must be registered with the union to avoid disqualification.

The college basketball players are at a loss to see why the union, which has no jurisdiction over many other branches of college sport, should assume this control in basketball. The collegians say that they cannot see why they should be compelled to register as amateurs in an association not recognized by their colleges as having control over basketball matters when their standing as amateurs is established by the rules of the faculty athletic committees. Furthermore, they say they cannot understand why the A.A.U. should dictate what games they may play when these same faculty committees exercise supervision over their schedules.

Accordingly the basketball teams of Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Columbia and Cornell will arrange their games without consideration of any possible ruling by the A.A.U. If they are disqualified they will go ahead playing and, unlike last year, make no effort at reinstatement.

Baseball

The New York List.

New York, October 27.—Manager McGraw, of the New York Baseball Club, has announced the names of the players which he has signed for next season as follows: Pitchers Mathewson, McGinnity, Taylor, Miller and Cronin; catchers, Bowerman, Bresnahan, Barner (Boston American), and Robinson; infields, McGraw, McGann, Smith, G. Davis (Chicago) and Elberfield (Detroit), outfielders, Van Haltren, Brown Dunn, Lauder and Mertes (Chicago), Dave Fultz (Philadelphia American), and Jess Burkett (St. Louis American), have accepted the New York Club's terms, and McGraw says they will undoubtedly sign with him. Burkett has received a cheque for a good amount in advance from the New York Club.

McGraw says that the list of players issued by President Ban Johnson at Chicago on Saturday is misleading, as it contains the names of several players who have signed with the New York and other National League clubs. President Ebbitts, of the Brooklyn Club declares that Captain Keeler signed with the rival organization, and Barney Dreyfuss and Harry Pullman, of the Pittsburg Club, who are in this city at present, declared to-night that Leach, Conroy and Smith will remain with the Pittsburg team, although they are mentioned in the American League list as having signed to play on the team which Ban Johnson proposes to place in this city next year.

Cricket

Philadelphia for England.

New York, Oct. 25.—It has been definitely decided to send another cricket team to England in the spring. Although the schedule for the team has not been completed, it is stated there will be no trouble in securing the desired fixtures.

The committee of the Associated Cricket Clubs of Philadelphia in charge of the selection of the team, at a meeting just held, decided to have the team known as the Gentlemen of Philadelphia. Twenty-five players were selected, to whom letters will be addressed asking if they can make the trip if selected. The actual team of twelve to fourteen men will be chosen from those who reply in the affirmative.

Dwyer Knocked Out.

Jack Beansey, of Troy, N.Y., settled a long dispute as to whether he or Jimmy Dwyer is the better man, by knocking Dwyer out in a round and a half at Maisonneuve last night.

A good crowd saw the fight and it was fast, clean work while it lasted. There was no love lost between the men, but they broke clean from the clinches and refrained from rough work. The first round was give and take for both. In the second, Beansey rushed his man and after a minute and 40 seconds of a mix-up, landed a left on the point of the jaw that sent Dwyer sprawling into a corner and his seconds had to pick him up.

It was the first time that Beansey ever took the aggressive. Hitherto he has been content to be simply on the defensive, and he took all sorts of punishment without any sign of distress. The offensive suited him better and he has improved greatly during the past two months.

A preliminary four rounds between Langevin and Brewnrigg was a school-boy exhibition that should have been a draw, but was given to Langevin. A final bout of three rounds between "two strangers," Sam Curdy, of Brooklyn, and Joe Swift, of Montreal, was called a draw. Both boys mixed it up freely, and they may meet again at a future date.

Miscellaneous

Amethyst Euchre Club.

The first general meeting of the Amethyst Euchre and Social Club was held last evening in Conservatory Hall. There was a very large attendance. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, A. Hannaford; secretary, Chas. Brown; treasurer, R. Brown. All arrangements were made for the opening night, Wednesday, Nov. 12th, at Conservatory Hall, where the club will meet every fortnight thereafter on Wednesday evenings. The meeting then adjourned, when a little dancing was indulged in.

Aquatics.

May Challenge Towns.

A rising man in Australian rowing and probably the next claimant for the sculling championship which George Towns is taking to the Antipodes with him is William Tressider, of Newcastle, N.S.W. Towns defeated him in several handicaps before his visit to England, but Tressider, like Towns himself, has improved much in the interval, and his friends think he is now quite a match for the champion on even terms. In all probability Towns, who sailed for Australia last Friday, will receive a challenge on Tressider's behalf soon after his arrival. Both men hail from Newcastle, so that the race between them would probably be rowed on the Hunter River instead of over the Parramatta course at Sydney.

PEACE AGAIN DISTURBED.

Toronto Street Railway Officials and Employes Have Some Differences.

Toronto, Oct. 28.—Friction has again arisen between the officials of the Street Railway Company and the employes, due, the men say, to the overbearing and hostile spirit shown by a few of the subordinate officials ever since the strike in the summer.

The latest difficulty has arisen over the suspension of four men, all of whom were prominent during the strike, and two of whom are old employes of the company. No reasons for the suspension being given in some of the cases, and those given in the others being, the men say, so meagre as to justify a demand on the part of the men for an investigation.

This investigation will be demanded at the hands of the company at as early a date as possible.

INFRINGEMENT OF A TRADE MARK.

In an action in the High Court of Justice for Ontario, recently tried before Chancellor Boyd at Toronto, the Slater Shoe Co. and Chas. E. Slater, president, of Montreal, makers of the famous Slater shoe, obtained a judgment forever restraining F. C. Wilkinson, a boot and shoe dealer of Owen Sound from advertising, offering, exposing for sale or selling boots or shoes not made by the Slater Shoe Co., as "Slater shoes," "Slater goods," or "The Slater shoe." The Chancellor also ordered Wilkinson to pay the heavy costs of the action. The Chancellor, after hearing the evidence, decided that no one, except the Slater Shoe Co., had a right to use the name "Slater shoes," "Slater goods," "The Slater shoe," or any similar names in connection with boots and shoes, and that Wilkinson had no right to use any name or names in connection with boots and shoes which might enable him to pass off a shoe not of the company's make, as being of their make, nor in any way to reap the benefit of the reputation which the Slater shoe has acquired throughout the Dominion of Canada.

LETTERS PATENT.

Ottawa, Oct. 27.—(Special.)—Letters patent have been issued to the Great Northern Lumber Company, Limited, of which the principal stockholders are in Montreal. The applicants were J. B. Scott, John E. Martin, W. B. Staveley, of Montreal, and H. T. Evans, of Lachine. The object of the company is to purchase timber lands and build and operate saw and planing mills, and other real and personal property, and to take over the properties of J. Bain Scott and Solomon Cole, in the Township of Grandeson, in Terrebonne, Quebec. The total value of the property is $26,355. The total capital stock is $50,000.

Letters patent have been issued to Messrs. Geo. E. Drummond, F. C. Henshaw, T. J. Drummond and Edgar McDougall, of Montreal, and C. W. Brega, of Chicago, for the purpose of taking over and operating the business of the Londonderry Iron Company. The capital stock of the new company is $1,000,000.

IT WAS PROBABLY MURDER.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—The corpse of Nels Anderson, said to have been one of the best-known steamship men in the country, was found yesterday in a clump of bushes on the Washington Park golf links by a passing policeman. A bullet hole is in the man's head but no trace of any weapons can be found.

Anderson was at one time general agent of the White Star Steamship Company and was connected also with the Atlantic Steamship Company. His home was in Chicago.

Conforming.

Foot soles are curved and soft.
Shoe soles are flat and hard!

Breaking in new shoes invariably means shaping the foot soles to the shoe soles, till wear moulds the insoles to the curves of the feet.

The RESILIA is the only shoe which conforms to the shape of the foot sole immediately, from the first moment it is borne upon, and without any "breaking in."

It does this through the compressible nature of the resilient, elastic, cushion centre-sole, which is placed between the leather insole and outsole, instead of the usual scrap filling.

Observe foot sole in picture of lower shoe beneath.

The end of this week the directors of the Richelieu Co. are going down to Sorel to inspect the new steamer Montreal. The boat is now nearly completed. The finishing touches are still necessary, but she will be all ready long before the season opens next spring. A few directors have seen her lately, and are greatly pleased with her appearance.

Activity at the Mines.

Rossland is far from dead. Indeed, although the public has lost all interest in the situation up there, there has been a revival of shipping and there is much more doing than many suspect. A Rossland wire says: "With last week's shipments of ore the year's aggregate tonnage to date is within a few tons of their output for 1901. It is, therefore, assured that unless something unforeseen occurs the present year's tonnage will be fully 50,000 tons greater than last year, a substantial and gratifying increase. The week's production was as follows: Leroi, 3,568 tons; Leroi No. 2, 504 tons; Centre Star, 2,040 tons; War Eagle, 1,260 tons; Velvet, 60 tons. Total, 7,772 tons. Year to date, 273,371 tons.

The B.C. Mines.

The mines in British Columbia are going ahead merrily, and shipments are increasing steadily. The great wonder is the Boundary district, and from the mines in this district, lying between Grand Forks and Greenwood, twelve thousand tons of gold-copper ore were shipped last week. For the first time in the history of Canada all was treated on the Canadian side by Canadian smelters, viz., the big Granby smelter at Grand Forks, the B.C. smelter at Greenwood, and the Standard at Boundary Falls. In the Republic district, Washington, the San Poil and Quilp Mines also sent shipments to these smelters. From the Rossland district over eight thousand tons of gold-copper ore were shipped to the Trail and Northport smelters. Statistics are just to hand showing that Rossland's pay roll runs over ninety-three thousand dollars per month. The shipments from the silver properties around Slocan City up to date for this year amount to over five thousand tons. This is the dry ore belt. The total shipments from the Slocan district, 25,000 tons. The Le Roi's profits for the month of August were $79,486. The Payne mine has increased its force to one hundred men. The Ruth and Rambler-Cariboo have each laid off twenty men. Shipments from the Rossland mines have had to be curtailed owing to the lack of coke from Fernie.

Factors in Market.

Election day is close at hand, and when this approaches, and the country is being stumped, no matter what the issue, says the New York Stockholder, Wall Street is generally inclined to lay low, and do a lot of thinking. A year ago, it may be recalled, we were having a very similar market. Bank clearings and railroad returns were evidencing phenomenal activity in trade and industry, but the foreign financial situation was not as comfortable as might be, and although money was easier at home, trading in stocks fell to 400,000 or 500,000 shares a day. There was a little spurt just about this time, October 23 and 24, but it was short-lived. With the election over, however—in fact, on the day immediately following—business took on a considerable spurt, and million-share days were again recorded. The weight was lifted and prices advanced.

Dominion Coal Makes a New Contract With the N.E. Coke Co.

Stocks still continue extremely dull. There is no life to either the local or Wall Street market, and as a general thing there have been but few changes in prices.

There has been some talk lately of smaller railroad earnings in the States, but results as a matter of fact continue very satisfactory. During the third week of October 43 roads showed a gross gain of 8.05 per cent., which is nothing to be discouraged over. A rather remarkable decrease has been shown by Erie, however, which has of course, been affected by the coal strike. The road shows the very large net decrease for the quarter of $589,564.

The new contract, which has resulted from President Ross' stand, provides for a supply of coal for 400 ovens at about present prices, and for a sliding scale of prices for the supply for extra ovens. All other claims between the two companies have been adjusted.

Reasons for this state of affairs are the election, possibility of gold shipments, and the Western railroad strike rumors. The Street generally seems to feel bearish, still on any further setbacks market is likely to experience a rally. Sales to noon amounted to 209,000 shares in a featureless market. Money, 4 per cent.

Received by W. H. Weir & Son, over direct private wire from Edward Sweet & Co., members New York Stock Exchange:—Foreign houses received advices of a recovery in Americans in London just before the opening, consequently their operations were small and their selling lighter than expected. The bulk of the buying seemed to be covering of shorts, who were disappointed by the rise in London. In Union Pacific there was good support below 104, and in B. & A. there seemed to be a temporary cessation of selling by the Harris-Gates interests.

The steadiness of the market encouraged renewed manipulation of Missouri Pacific and Texas Pacific, both of which developed strength during the second hour. C.F.I. moved contrary to the rest of the market. There was considerable liquidation in it, and very little buying by the Hawley brokers. Money continued easy, most of the loans being made at 4 per cent. Business is still very light, and most of the transactions are made by the professional element.

Robert Meredith & Co., received the following over their private wire from Zimmermann & Forshay, New York:—The market again this morning was without life apparently, and prices in sympathy with London's quotations were generally lower, with one or two exceptions, which moved irregularly. London bought moderately soon after the opening and sold on the advance, its total trading 25,000 shares, selling 12,000 on balance. The improvement in prices is variously regarded. A majority profess to see nothing more than temporarily over-sold conditions, covering and subsequent sale by the room traders. A strong minority regard the market as unduly depressed, and see nothing except poor business in the way of a fairly prolonged advance. Sales to noon were 204,000 shares. FEATURES OF THE MONTREAL MARKETS

GRAIN.—Business in grain continues quiet; the undertone to the local market remains on account of light receipts. The demand for oats for local consumption was fair. Sales of lots of No. 2 white were made at 35 1-4c ex store, and were quoted at 34 1-2c afloat for export account. Buckwheat was quiet at 57 1-2c afloat, peas at 77 1-2c, rye at 55c, and No. 3 extra barley at 48 1-2c to 49c.

FLOUR.—The market is firm at the recent advance in prices. There was a good cable enquiry for spring wheat flour, but some millers state they are refusing orders at present, being already sold up for some time to come. Business in Ontario flour was fair, prices remaining unchanged as yet. Choice Manitoba spring wheat patents, $4.10; seconds, $3.80; strong bakers', $3.40; winter wheat patents, $3.75 to $4.00; straight rollers, $3.50 to $3.60; do., in bags, $1.65 to $1.75; extras, $1.55 to $1.60.

OATS—Demand was fair and tone of market is firm. Further sales of car lots, to arrive, $4.35 per barrel.

BRAN.—The tone of the market is firm, and no change in prices is anticipated at present. There was a good demand, further orders from American buyers being on the market, but had to be declined as millers are closely sold up. Manitoba bran, in bags, $16 to $17; Manitoba shorts, $18 to $19; Ontario bran, in bulk, $15; shorts, $17 to $18; and mouillie, $23 to $30, as to quality.

CHEESE. — The market continues firm. Cable limits were advanced in several cases sufficiently to make an increase of 1-8c per lb. This trade was confined to eastern makes, which are obtainable at 11 3-8c. Factories down the river yesterday offered 5,000 boxes at the wharf, prices being 11 1-8c to 11 1-4c, an advance of 1-16 on last week's price. Offerings this week were not equal in quality to last week, yet prices held steady. Finest Ontario, 11 5-8c to 11 3-4c; finest Townships, 11 1-2c to 11 5-8c; finest Quebec, 11 3-8c to 11 1-2c; fine cheese, 11c to 11 1-4c.

BUTTER.—The market was strong, with fully 1-4c per lb. higher prices the rule. Townships creamery sold at 20 3-4c, and even this bid was refused by some sellers. It was a seller's market, and they are satisfied with the outlook, as the price is low compared with the figures ruling the same time last fall. Fancy Townships creamery, 20 3-4c to 21c; finest Townships creamery, 20 5-8c to 20 3-4c; finest Quebec creamery, 20 1-2c to 20 5-8c; fine creamery, 20c to 20 1-4c; dairy butter, 16c to 16 1-2c; dairy seconds, 15c to 15 1-2c.

EXPORT CATTLE.

The trade in local export live stock circles has been rather quiet of late, owing to the continued discouraging cable advices from the two leading markets and the low prices ruling; consequently Canadian shippers have lost money, and as there are no signs at present of immediate improvement, they have curtailed their operations to some extent, and only filling ocean freight space that they have actually under contract. The decline in prices in foreign markets, however, has had its full influence on this side, as prices for export cattle have been steadily tending downward, and are now at the lowest point of the season so far as recent sales are concerned. Sales of choice beeves in the Toronto market have taken place at $4.75 to $5, and medium stock at $4.40 to $4.65 per 100 lbs.

CATTLE IN ENGLAND.

London, Oct. 27.—The trade in cattle was slow, and the tone of the market for choice States was easier, prices being ¼c lower than a week ago at 13¾c, while Canadians were steady at 12½c for choice. Sheep were unchanged at 12c.

Millfeed at $15 for cars of shorts and $13 for bran in bulk, east or middle. Manitoba millfeed is steady at $19 for shorts and $17 for bran, in car lots, sacks included, Toronto.

STATEMENT OF CANADIAN BANKS

The September report of Canadian banks is several days late, but the statement is nevertheless interesting. It shows a considerable expansion of the banks during September, but does not reflect the free "calling" of loans attributed to bankers towards the end of that month. Note circulation was active, there being an increase of $5,903,000 during the month, as compared with an increase of $4,675,000 in September of last year. It must be remembered, however, that the paid-up capital of the banks is $3,500,000 greater than a year ago. The total circulation on September 30th last was $60,905,801, whereas the capital is $71,084,000, which would justify a still further increase of $10,000,000, taking the banks collectively.

"Call loans" show an increase of over $2,000,000 in Canada during September, whilst there is a contraction of $2,500,000 in the "call loan" item of our banks outside Canada. The increase of nearly $7,000,000 in commercial discounts in Canada in September shows the activity in trade and commerce. Our banks also increased their commercial paper discounts outside of Canada to the extent of $4,500,000. The total expansion of loans and discounts of all kinds in September is therefore $11,000,000. But against this is an increase of $7,600,000 in the deposits of Canadian banks during September. The leading items of the statement, as compared with a year ago, are as follows:—

EPIDEMIC OF GRIPPE PREVALENT IN THE CITY

Montreal is again in the clutches of the dreaded grippe germ.

An epidemic of a mild form of the malady has been rife in the city for several days. Doctors say they have scarcely ever known so many people to be suffering from colds at the same time, and the epidemic is spreading rapidly.

The germ that is causing all the trouble flourishes exceedingly in the fall climate of Montreal. It thrives upon the weather which the city has been experiencing recently.

Fortunately the present epidemic, according to the doctors, is only a mild form of the genuine influenza. So far there have been very few cases of pneumonia following the attack. It is feared, however, that the present epidemic is only a forerunnner of an outbreak of the more serious form of the disease, the extremely contagious nature of which would make it a formidable problem to cope with. As it is the doctors have their hands full.

The waiting room of every family physician of note is crowded daily with victims of the germ, who are ill enough to be thoroughly miserable, but yet not ill enough to be quite incapacitated.

The epidemic has had a curious effect upon the drug business. There has been such a demand for the popular remedies for colds that many chemists have been entirely sold out and find some difficulty in filling physicians' prescriptions. If the epidemic continues much longer the victims will be forced to grin and bear their discomfort until the attack has run its natural course.

GREAT WHEAT SHIPMENTS BY THE C.P.R.

While the shortage of cars for the transportation of grain from the Northwest is the burden of many complaints, the Canadian Pacific are able to point to a splendid record for the season. Up to October 21 they had, according to the official figures come to hand, marketed 13,524,100 bushels of wheat, as against 8,033,433 at the corresponding date last year. They have loaded 8,182 cars, as against 6,526, and they have received into the elevators at Fort William 7,053,689, as against 5,205,462 last year, and shipped from there 5,936,533, against 4,056,169.

Mr. McNicoll, the general manager of the system, who has been at Winnipeg for the last week, is expected here to-night. He has, it is understood, directed personal attention to the possibility of expansion in transportation facilities.

WILL HAVE TO FIGHT CASES OVER AGAIN

Owing to the recent decision of Judge Langelier in the Superior Court, which declared illegal the old form of conviction used in the Recorder's Court, by which fines were ordered to be paid to the clerk of the court, instead of merely being put at the disposal of the city, the city's fight against the sale of cattle in the Montreal stock yards will have to be begun all over again with fresh test cases in the Recorder's Court.

When the argument on the petition for a writ of certiorari in respect to the Recorder's conviction of Laurin and McNaughton, the two drovers condemned for selling cattle in the Montreal stock yards in Point St. Charles contrary to the civic by-law, the city attorney stated that the city wished to desist from the judgment, and he moved that the convictions in both cases be withdrawn on the ground that the form of the conviction was irregular.

Messrs. Goldstein & Sharp, acting for the petitioners, strongly opposed this. They said that these were test cases in which an important principle was at stake. If the decision of the Recorder were sustained it would mean that the Montreal Stock Yards Company would have to go out of business, and that the Grand Trunk Railway would have to give up the cattle business in Montreal. If, on the other hand, the present convictions were merely desisted from, without the court maintaining the right to sell cattle in the Point St. Charles yards, the drovers who had been driven from them for fear of prosecution would be afraid to return. They therefore insisted that the convictions should be quashed and not merely desisted from.

Mr. Ethier's reply will be filed later, but in speaking of the matter to a representative of The Herald this afternoon, he explained that the reason of his motion to have the convictions withdrawn was that the City Attorneys did not wish the city to be put to the expense of certiorari proceedings in the Superior Court, when the whole case might be thrown out through a technical error in the form of the Recorder's conviction. It was, therefore, their desire to let the present cases drop and commence other test cases in the Recorders' Court.

A petition was also presented to Judge Mathieu in Practice Court, by the representatives of the Montreal Stock Yards Company, for a writ of injunction to prevent the city from bringing other cases until those of Laurin & McNaughton were settled. The argument on this application will take place on Thursday.

TO RECOVER MARGINS.

Mr. C. S. Garland, through his attorneys, Messrs. Lafleur, Macdougall & MacFarlane, has brought action against Mr. J. P. Tache to recover the sum of $3,341. The plaintiff claims that the defendant instructed him to hold certain stocks for him on a margin; that the market value of the stocks fell; that the defendant failed to cover the margin, and that, as a result the plaintiff suffered financial loss to the extent of $3,341.

FOR BREACH OF CONTRACT.

Mr. Justice Loranger this morning rendered judgment for the plaintiff in the case of F. C. Skelton vs. Joseph Mackay. The plaintiff sued for $1,066.97 damages which he claimed he was entitled to through the defendant's breach of contract to make shirts for him, by which he was unable to fill his own contracts. The court condemns the defendant to pay $202.25.

ALD. LEBEUF ATTACKS CHIEF OF POLICE LEGAULT

Charges Him With Systematically Ignoring Dictates of Police Committee.

Ald. Lebeuf, chairman of the Police Committee, startled the members of the City Council yesterday afternoon by making a vigorous onslaught upon Chief of Police Legault.

There was much amusement at some of the alderman's personal references, but the impression remained among those who heard the speech that the incident is not yet closed.

Ald. Lebeuf washes his hands of the chief altogether; he charges that the orders of the Police Committee are systematically ignored by that official.

Ald. Vallieres was the indirect cause of the rebuke which was meted out to the chief. He wanted to know, as was rumored, whether the police were being utilized to procure evidence against keepers of disorderly houses. Instances, he believed, had come to light where the men who acted as informers to trap the fallen had in turn fallen themselves.

"Ald. Vallieres has been correctly informed," responded Ald. Lebeuf. "But the police participate in the work contrary to the explicit orders of the committee.

"As far back as September 10 the committee passed a resolution forbidding the practice, but I have good reason for believing that it still continues.

"I am not surprised that this difficulty should have arisen. When there was a vacancy in the chieftainship to fill the committee reported in favor of one man, but only seven members of this Council voted for him.

"The majority chose the present chief, now let the majority be responsible.

"The chief is very polite. He shakes our two hands, listens to what we say, offers us a cigar, but does not our orders.

"We take great trouble in examining candidates for the force in order to see if they drink, if their characters are good, if they can read and write, and so forth, and when they become policemen the chief gives them money to make them shameful informers.

"I am disgusted with the conduct of the chief, and I don't intend to be held responsible for the administration of the department any longer.

"If the Council is satisfied with the chief, I presume I must be satisfied.

"If, on the contrary, a new chief is thought desirable, let the Council select him.

"The chief will perhaps maintain that the cases in which the police were recently used as decoys were begun prior to the committee taking action. But that is not so. Cases have come to my notice which were begun only recently."

Ald. Lebeuf's speech created quite a sensation, and a large-sized investigation seemed to loom in the distance.

"It occurs to me," remarked Ald. Ekers, "that if the chief has done wrong the Council is not exactly the place in which to prefer verbal charges against him. The way that the Police Committee should proceed, if it has any complaint to make against the chief, is to formulate a report for presentation to this Council. We would then have something substantial upon which to base our judgment. As it is, there is nothing before the Council except the remarks which Ald. Lebeuf has seen fit to make. Is Ald. Lebeuf prepared to lay a definite charge against the chief?"

"I will have nothing further to do with the matter," asserted Ald. Lebeuf, with vehemence. "I have done my best to get the chief to comply with the wishes of the committee, but such efforts are futile. He is always very willing to do as we desire when we are there, but so soon as our backs are turned he follows the dictates of his own sweet will."

"What becomes of the whiskey seized by the police in their raids?" asked one of the aldermen.

"The liquor seized by the police—I don't know where it goes," was Ald. Lebeuf's more direct response.

CITY WAIFS.

Ald. Chausse brought up the question of the waifs that are sent to the Montfort Asylum at the expense of the city. He spoke of a case which he thought was deserving, but had been refused by the city.

Mayor Cochrane said that a great many applications were refused by the city, but not before the merits of each had been thoroughly investigated. The trouble was that in the past the city had been too lenient in delaing with applicants, and he felt the time had come to draw the line somewhere.

Some of the aldermen wanted the Police Committee to have charge of the applications.

Ald. Lebeuf remarked that the statutes gave that privilege to the Recorder's Court, which appointed an official who made special reports on each case. He thought the system could be changed for the better, but at present that power was not in the hands of the Council.

No action was taken.

DELORIMIER'S GRIEVANCE.

A report was presented from the Road Committee favoring the connection of the sewerage of the town of Delorimier with that of the city of Montreal.

Ald. Laporte opposed the report on the ground that the town of Delorimier had refused to liquidate its indebtedness to the city for water.

Since 1894 the city, it appears, has been supplying the municipality with water, the total amount now due being $8,500. The city sued for this amount, but by a judgment of Mr. Justice Tellier, of the Superior Court, the suit was dismissed for lack of proof. At the same time the municipality confessed judgment for $260, claiming that they had not collected from the ratepayers, and that the city of Montreal had been paid for the water consumed by the manufacturing corporations in the municipality, all of which were furnished by water through the same meter as that which supplied the citizens.

It was no fault of the city's, said Ald. Laporte, if the town of Delorimier had failed to make collections for the water supplied.

Upon motion of Ald. L. N. Lapointe, it was decided to refer the report back to the Road Committee to be re-studied.

QUESTIONS AND PETITIONS.

Ald. L. A. Lapointe wanted to know how it came about that the street crossings were in such disgraceful condition, and was informed that there was no money with which to keep them clean. Ald. Vallieres said that there were only eighty men in the Road Department to keep 180 miles of street in order. Ald. Lapointe said he did not want to find fault at this season of the year, but he hoped next year enough money would be voted to have a sufficient number of them, and enough money to do this work.

Ald. Ouimet wanted some light on the offer alleged to have been made by the Messrs. Forget of $100,000 with which to purchase fuel. The Mayor replied no such letters had been sent to the city. A personal letter had been sent to him, but he never gave the writer's name to the newspapers. As for the wood purchased by the city, payment for that had been guaranteed by a number of aldermen individually, and this wood, in all likelihood, would be sold to charitable institutions.

Ald. Bumbray presented a petition asking the city to assume the whole cost of the expropriation of St. Catherine street, between Havre and Desery.

CITY LOSES MONEY.

The report recommending the payment of $4,400 to Mr. Roy for buildings he had erected on city property at the Eastern Abattoir was adopted. A few weeks ago the city had a chance to settle this claim for $3,500. Objections were raised by a couple of aldermen on technical grounds, and the courts were appealed to. With costs, the city loses about $1,500 by the transaction.

Ald. Giroux gave notice of motion that in thirty days he would introduce an amendment allowing barber shops to remain open Sunday mornings. He explained for many people who worked six days in the week this was a necessity.

HON. MR. TARTE PLEASED WITH VISIT TO THE SAULT

Much Impressed by the Possibilities of Development—Met American Capitalists.

Hon. J. Israel Tarte returned yesterday from Sault Ste. Marie, where he assisted at the formal inauguration of the hydraulic powers in connection with the immense enterprise of Mr. Clergue.

The ex-Minister greatly admires the business ability and success of Mr. Clergue. He is enthused in what has already been accomplished at Sault Ste. Marie and is confident that it is but the initial step in an era of greater development and progress. The syndicate of which Mr. Clergue is the moving spirit, controls the two sides of St. Mary's river. One is the American side, the other, Canadian.

"On the Canadian side," said the ex-Minister, "are seen a rail mill, with a capacity of several hundred tons a day; paper and pulp mills, while a new industry will shortly be created for the manufacture of pig iron. When the powers on the Canadian side will have been fully developed, there will be 100,000 horse-power ready for use. Sault Ste. Marie is destined to become a great city. At present it has a population of 18,000 people. Not many years will pass before it is 90,000.

"The splendid hydraulic powers inaugurated on Saturday on the American side command 66,000 horse-power.

"Of that amount 26,000 horse-power has been leased and the revenue from that alone suffices to pay the interest of 5 per cent. on all the capital invested, which is about five millions.

While at Sault Ste. Marie Hon. Mr. Tarte met several of the capitalists interested in the Clergue works. He told them jocularly that he had left the Canadian Cabinet to fight them. He said he wanted to have a tariff for Canada that would close our markets to Americans until they opened their markets to us.

THE BOER FARMERS' DELEGATION AT OTTAWA

Oshawa, Ont., Oct. 28.—The Boer farmers' delegation visited Oshawa yesterday. They were accompanied by Captain H. J. Kirkpatrick, D.S.O., of the South African Constabulary, and wife; W. W. Moore, of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, in charge of the party, and G. C. Creelman, superintendent of Farmers' Institute, Toronto. They were met by the Mayor, President McLaughlin, of the McLaughlin Carriage Company, and other gentlemen.

They proceeded to the Schofield woollen mills, and displayed much interest in the process of manufacture as explained by a member of the firm. Proceeding to the McLaughlin carriage works, which the delegates especially desired to visit, the party was divided and piloted through the extensive works by George W. and Sam McLaughlin.

Deep interest was manifested as the various departments of this industry were successively visited. A special car was placed at their disposal by the Oshawa Railway Company.

SUPREME COURT CASES.

Arguments in the Yukon Royalties Cases Concluded and Judgment Reserved.

Ottawa, Oct. 28.—In the Supreme Court yesterday, the arguments in the Yukon royalties cases were concluded and judgment was reserved. The Chief Justice left the bench.

Pither & Leiser vs. Manley was next heard. The appellants, plaintiffs, sued on a promissory note, and Manley's defence was that he had conveyed a lot in Grand Forks, B.C., in full satisfaction of the claim. Plaintiffs contended that there had been a mistake, that the lot actually deeded to them was not the property offered in settlement, and that they never got the lot bargained for, nor accepted the lot actually conveyed. The trial court found for the plaintiffs, but this judgment was reversed by the Supreme Court of British Columbia. The plaintiffs now appeal. Davis, K.C., for appellants. Duff, K.C., for respondent. The arguments of counsel will be concluded to-morrow morning.

A NEW SEWAGE SYSTEM.

Toronto May Have One at a Cost of More Than Two Million Dollars.

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 28.—The ratepayers of Toronto will be asked next January to vote $2,385,000 for a new sewage disposal system.

This is the estimated cost of the more expensive of two schemes suggested by the city engineer, but the voting of the money does not commit the council to either proposition. That will be a matter for future decision, once the citizens have expressed their willingness to foot the bill, whichever it may be.

STRIKERS RETURN TO WORK.

Kingston, Ont., Oct. 28.—Four striking machinists have renounced the union and returned to work in the locomotive works. R. Stockhill, of the union, says:

"Their going away does not injure us one particle. The strike will go on as strong as ever. They are the first out of 76 to desert the union."

GEN. BOOTH AT WOODSTOCK.

Woodstock, Ont., Oct. 28. — Gen. Booth, founder of the Salvation Army, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Eva Booth, and his private secretary, reached Woodstock yesterday, and were at once driven to the home of Mr. John White. Last evening the general spoke in Knox Church on "Lessons of My Life."

THE INDIANS AND RELIGION.

A Presbyterian Replies to Archbishop Langevin's Remarks of Last Sunday.

Toronto, Oct. 28.—Archbishop Langevin, of Manitoba, is reported as having, in the course of a sermon preached in Montreal on Sunday, complained of the proselytism practised by members of the Protestant sects in the Northwest. He claims they directed their chief endeavors towards securing Indians who had been gathered into the fold of the Roman Catholic Church.

Rev. R. P. McKay, secretary of Foreign Misisons of the Presbyterian Church, is out of the city and could not be seen in regard to the Archbishop's statement.

Rev. J. A. Macdonald, editor of the Westminster, stated, however, that he was not acquainted with the special case to which Archbishop Langevin referred.

"The question is not which of us is going to get them, but who is going to do anything for the Indians. They float from one church to another, and owing to the different views between Protestants, who believe in attaching to a church merely as a means toward his salvation, and of the Catholics, who consider attachment to the church as of supreme importance, extremists on both sides are far too apt to misunderstand the works of another sect."

TO BUY BIRTHDAY GIFT FOR THE POPE.

QUEBEC, Oct. 27.—It has been announced in the Roman Catholic churches here that on February 20 next His Holiness Pope Leo XIII. will celebrate the 25th anniversary of his accesion as head of the Catholic Church, and as it has been decided to present him on this occasion with a golden tiara and mantle, it was asked that each one of the faithful subscribe at least one cent for the purpose.

NO PARTIALITY SHOWN.

Somewhat Lively Episode in Kingston City Council Over an Appointment.

Kingston, Oct. 28.—(Special.)—An unusual episode occurred at the Council last night. An appointment was to be made to fill a vacancy in the waterworks office. It had been filled by a Roman Catholic and a Protestant was the leading favorite.

During the debate Ald. J. J. Behan entered his protest against the way Catholics were being crowded out of the city uilding. His people, he said, had noticed the gradual movement and resented it. There was danger in the procedure, as it might create bitterness, a thing he would deplore, as in recent years much brotherliness had been evidenced between people of the two faiths. He spoke in sorrow, but he did so because forced to do it by recent events.

Ald. King, chairman of the waterworks committee, in reply, insisted that the charge was unfounded. In recent appointments, it was true, Protestants had replaced Catholics, just as in previous cases Catholics had replaced Protestants. Religion never counted in appointments, the sole question being that of qualification, and on this score alone appointments were made. The Protestant appointment was confirmed.

QUEBEC MAN MEETS STRANGE DEATH ON SHIP

Captain's Rifle Discharged, and Pilot Fortier Received Bullet in the Back.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

Quebec, Oct. 28.—The city papers on Tuesday, October 21, contained the death notice of Phileas Fortier, an apprentice pilot, who died at Newfoundland, and was buried in his native parish, St. Jean, Island of Orleans.

The deceased was a son of Mr. Joseph Fortier, a well-known pilot, who resides with his family at St. Jean.

Since the burial of the young man a sensational story concerning his death his been communicated to the lads parents.

It is said that young Fortier last summer engaged on board a small steamer called the Ineway, accompanied by another apprentice pilot named Noel.

They proceeded down the river as far as Bic, when they both signed articles for the remainder of the voyage down the Labrador coast, where Noel took leave of the vessel, leaving his companion, Fortier, on board.

This was in the early part of September, and, according to the story, a few days later Fortier was at the wheel of the vessel when the engineer was handling a Winchester rifle and called a Norwegian sailor to look at it, and while turning the rifle in his hand the weapon went off and a bullet lodged in the back of young Fortier.

According to the information, the wounded man was placed in his bunk and made sign his discharge papers, which freed the captain from any further responsibility. He was neglected, it is alleged, and later placed on board a passing vessel, which conveyed him to a hospital at Newfoundland, where he soon afterwards died.

The matter will be thoroughly investigated by the deceased's parents.

St. John, N.B., Oct. 28.—(Special.)—Rev. George M. Campbell, pastor of Centenary Church, the leading Methodist church in St. John, has received a call to Wesley Methodist Church, Vancouver, the largest Methodist congregation west of Winnipeg.

Rev. Mr. Campbell has not answered the telegram, but as he has only served a year of his four years in Centenary, it is doubtful if he will accept the call at the present time. He recently returned from a trip to the Pacific and is greatly impressed with the country.

MAY FORM BANKERS' CLUB.

Toronto, Oct. 28.—A movement is on foot in banking circles to establish a bankers' club in this city and secure the old Athenium Club premises as headquarters. A circular has been issued to the various banks, and if the response is at all favorable further steps will be taken to develop the scheme.

To Recognize Purity.

Adulteration has grown to such a fine art, that it is almost impossible for a woman now-a-days to detect the false from the true; but a chemical analysis will always detect adulteration. Prof. W. Hodgson Ellis, Official Analyst to the Dominion Government, after a number of analyses, reports that "Sunlight Soap is a pure and well-made soap." Try Sunlight Soap—Octagon Bar—next wash day, and you will see that Prof. Ellis is right. No one should know better than he. 210
