NEWS BRIEFS

Police search for Dubeau

DAVIDSON — Police continued to search for Gary Dubeau, who is wanted in the alleged abduction, assault and sexual assault of an Ottawa prostitute.

"He is still at large," said Const. Marc Ippersiel of the Sûreté du Québec (SQ) yesterday afternoon.

"However, we believe we will make an arrest soon."

The incident began early Friday morning in the Byward Market in Ottawa. Dubeau invited the 21-year-old prostitute into his 1983, blue Toyota 4x4 pickup truck.

While driving away, Dubeau claimed he was an undercover police officer and pulled out a set of handcuffs. He told the woman she was under arrest for prostitution.

When she asked to see his badge and identification, Dubeau pulled his truck over to the side of the road, and began to physically assault her, police say.

After forcing a sleeping bag over the young woman's head, Dubeau continued his assault, keeping her confined to his truck on the hour-long drive home.

"Once they arrived, he asked the woman if she wanted to be his girlfriend," said Const. Ippersiel.

She was taken into Dubeau's house, handcuffed and sexually assaulted. He continued to assault her throughout the night, Ippersiel said.

Late in the morning, Dubeau handcuffed the women to his bed and left his home to get some food.

While he was gone, the woman managed to slip her hands from the handcuffs and escaped to a neighbor's house where she called police.

"He did not return to his home and it was probably because of the police presence," said Const. Ippersiel.

A warrant was issued for Dubeau Friday afternoon.

"We are getting a lot of information from the public and we are still asking for the public's help," he added.

Anyone with information is asked to call the Pontiac MRC Sûreté du Québec in Campbell's Bay at Bay at 648-2141.

Valley Bats, Oldtimers put on show for fans

Money rasied for blind children, sound system

By PAUL MCGEE
Equity Editor

SHAWVILLE — From the first clang of the special puck, spectators at the Shawville arena were treated to a highly entertaining hockey game Saturday between the Can't See Squat Valley Bats and the Shawville Oldtimers.

The Valley Bats, comprised of eight partially-blind players and three sighted players, was put together three years ago to raise funds for the Blind Children of Canada.

Coach Larry Lepack said his players show true grit every time they hit the ice.

"It's remarkable that they have the courage to go out there," Lepack said.

(The Valley Bats use a two inch by six inch puck which clangs when making contact with solid objects such as hockey sticks, the ice or the boards.)

Lepack said his experience as a Greyhound bus driver and his friendship with Valley Bats' goaltender Keith McDonald, who has less than one per cent vision, got him involved with the team.

"I got involved because I saw what a difference guide dogs make for the blind," said Lepack, adding he often helps visually-impaired people on and off the bus.

However, the Valley Bats are not looking for sympathy. Instead, they accept their lot and approach both life and the hockey game with a sense of humour.

"I think we'll have a lot of fun with this," he said.

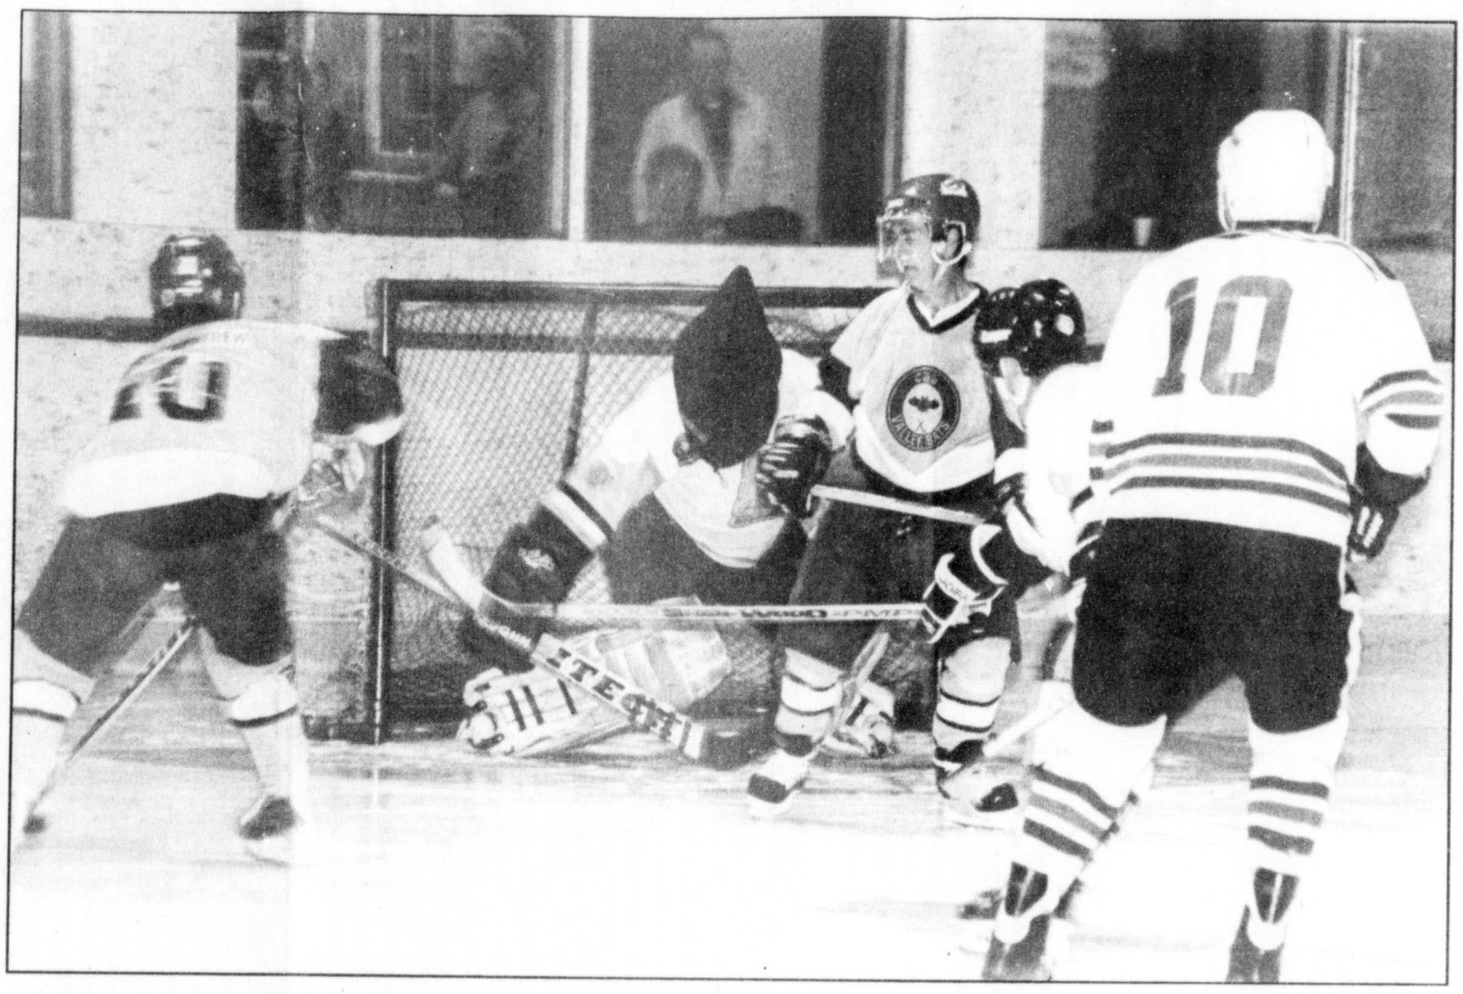
If Saturday's game is any indication, then fun it is.

When interviewed between periods, a huffing and puffing Valley Bat Chuck Lambert, who has six per cent of his vision, quipped "you blinded me" when the photographer snapped his picture at the bench.

"It's hard out there," said Lambert, who responded 'Hell no!' when asked if he quit smoking.

"They tell me I'm blind, not stupid," he added.

Even Lepack got into the act as a barrage of humour shots hit the air with the frequency of shots on goal in a Team Canada-Switzerland game.



Paul McGee, THE EQUITY

WHERE'S THE PUCK?: The Can't See Squat Valley Bats put pressure on Shawville Oldtimers' goaltender Lee Tepperman at the arena Saturday. Tepperman had to wear a hood to be on par with Valley Bats' goalie Keith McDonald who has less than one per cent of his vision. The fundraiser game between the Valley Bats — comprised of three sighted and eight visually-impaired players — raised $300 for the Blind Children of Canada Fund and $1,000 for the arena sound system.

With the Oldtimers leading 5-1, Lepack needled his goaltender McDonald.

"The goalie is not stopping the pucks because they are screening him," he joked. "If (McDonald) doesn't play well, he has to drive home."

Conspiracy of fun

Even the referee and announcer were in on the fun. With Shawville leading 6-5 in the third period, the Oldtimers were penalized for "too many men on the ice" and Albert Armstrong and Bill Murray were sent to the penalty box to give the Valley Bats a two-man advantage.

With the Valley Bats pressing, the announcer called for Shawville goalie Lee Tepperman to report to the bench. Of course, Tepperman, who had to wear a hood over his mask to be on par with the Valley Bats goalie, didn't bite and stayed put.

With 19 seconds left, Armstrong was sent to the box for unnecessary roughing.

On the powerplay, Lambert put pressure on Tepperman, who stopped the first shot. Lambert went behind the net and came back out front with another large puck and chucked it into the net with his hand to tie the game 7-7.

When the shootout using the large puck failed to yield a winner, the Valley Bats' Steve McDonald fired a regular puck behind Tepperman to net the tie-breaker.

However, the big winners on the night were the fans, the sound system fundraiser and the Blind Children of Canada.

Close Canada-U.S. bond at dance

By PAUL MCGEE

OTTER LAKE — The Sept. 11 terrorist attacks in the U.S. have not only sparked a flurry of fundraising north of the border, but has brought Americans and Canadians closer together.

"I think it's about time," says Gladys Brennan, a New Jersey resident who has owned a cottage in Otter Lake since 1964.

"It's a shame it took a tragedy to get everyone together."

The 73-year-old woman was one of the patrons of the fundraiser dance for the American Disaster Relief fund at the Otter Lake RA hall Saturday.

Brennan has close connections to Canada. Her mother-in-law Ida Hahn was born in Otter Lake. Hahn married Tom Brennan of New York; Gladys married their son Ed in 1946.

"I spent my honeymoon here," Brennan said.

As well, her daughter Susan married her childhood sweetheart Lee Desabrais, of Otter Lake, who she met while spending time at the family cottage during the summer.

"It's history reversing," Brennan said.

"My father-in-law married a Canadian and my daughter married a Canadian.

Though she was in Otter Lake at the time, the horrific events of Sept. 11 struck close to Brennan.

"It was a very bad day," she said. "I had three children and one granddaughter a few blocks from the World Trade Centre."

Another granddaughter escaped certain death when she didn't have to change planes at the Newark airport, where two of the hijacked planes flew from.

As well, Brennan's son, Ed Brennan Jr., the commissioner in charge of all fire departments in Upper New York State, lost 11 of his firefighters at the World Trade Centre.

Devastating

"It's devastating," Brennan said. "We passed by two weeks later and it was still smoking."

The tight American-Canadian connection was also emphasized by Mayor Terry Richard (who joined the Reg Carkner and Terence Christopher Band to sing "Imagine" by John Lennon).

"It's nice to be here to help our American friends because if the situation was reversed, they'd be the first to give us a helping hand," Richard said.

CANADA-US BOND: The Municipality of Leslie, Clapham and Huddersfield held a fundraiser dance Saturday for the American Disaster Relief Fund. The amount raised was not available at press time. The fire department cadets did raise $222 by selling flags and pins. Here, Gladys Brennan, of New Jersey, stands with her grandson Tim Desabrais, of Otter Lake.

Richard went on to relate the story of Otter Lake's first fire truck. In 1964, a fire that destroyed a home in Otter Lake put in motion the need for a fire department. Art Bash, an American cottaging in Otter Lake found a truck in Batavia, New York for the burgeoning fire department.

"Art Bash promised he would find a fire truck and he did," said Richard, adding the municipality purchased the truck in the spring of 1965.

The local firefighters were also commended for their contributions to the community.

"They are always willing and able to help," Richard said. "Again tonight, the fire department is looking after the bar. It's only appropriate that we thank the fire department with a round of applause."

The fire department\s cadets raised $171 by selling American flags earlier in the week and another $51 Saturday evening by selling red,white and blue pin-ribbons made by Joan Dubeau. The amount raised by the admission and bar sales was not available at press time.

CT scan gets inspected

Open house on weekend officially introduces unit

By PAUL MCGEE
Equity Editor

PONTIAC — Though it has been operating since June, the CT scan — paid for by public and private donations during a three-year fundraising drive — was officially unveiled at the Pontiac Community Hospital on the weekend.

The Pontiac Community Hospital Foundation held open houses for significant contributors Saturday and the general public Sunday. Both days drew small crowds to the hospital to view the CT scan, which cost $900,000 for the purchase and installation.

(On Sept. 21, Sylvain Simard, the Minister Responsible for the Outaouais, while speaking on behalf of Health Minister Remy Trudel, said the "cost and installation" of the CT scan was "assumed in the provincial budget." Neither minister has responded to requests by the media for an apology or clarification.)

On Saturday, after groups were given tours of the machine and the Galileo station which allows for immediate image viewing, campaign chairman Donald Lavallée opened the speeches.

"As it's the last day of Thanksgiving Week, it is fitting on behalf of the board and hospital to take the opportunity to thank people who contributed to the CT scan," Lavallée said. "People overwhelmingly answered the call."

Lavallée then named a few groups that made significant contributions to the fundraiser including the foundation ($200,000), the Lions Club International ($150,000), and Smurfit Stone ($100,000).

Lavallée admitted that he was uncertain the idea would fly when it first surfaced about four years ago.

"`I was a little bit skeptical at the beginning," Lavallée said.

However, the project did take off after the administration and the foundation put their heads together.

"Dr. Tom O'Neill said to me, 'Charlotte, do you think we can pull this off?'" said Charlotte L'Ecuyer, director-general of Pontiac Health Services. "I said, 'You get the money, I'll take care of the rest.'"

One major obstacle the project had to overcome was getting permission from the Quebec Ministry of Health to install a CT scan. The ministry at first wasn't convinced the hospital had the volume of patients necessary to warrant a CT scan.

"The idea started about four years ago, but became more formalized three years ago," said foundation president Dr. O'Neill.

"On behalf of the foundation, thanks for all fundraising efforts, mostly the generosity of the people of Pontiac.

"It's truly a remarkable achievement."

Dr. O'Neill went on to thank the many organizations for supporting the fundraiser and said "the icing on the cake was the donation by Smurfit-Stone."

The worldwide corporation donated $100,000 after Nancy Elliot, of the Portage mill, wrote to CEO and president Dr. Michael Smurfit and told him about the fundraiser.

Dr. Smurfit was duly impressed with the fundraiser and decided to donate the money, which was delivered personally in June by William Wandmacher, vice-president of Smurfit-Stone's North American operations.

Last up to the podium was Pontiac MRC Warden Michael McCrank, who congratulated the community at large for bringing the CT scan to the hospital.

"The good thing about speaking last is that most of the good things have already been said," McCrank quipped.

"Congratulations to the community.

Snowsuit fund ready for winter

Donations, suits now accepted

SHAWVILLE — The Snowsuit Fund has started collecting donations and snowsuits for needy kids for winter.

Starting Nov. 1, needy children can get snowsuits at the Maison de la Famille in Fort Coulonge. Names of children needing a snowsuit are referred to the Maison de la Famille by the CLSC. Parents have to bring along the child receiving the snowsuit to try it on.

Suits needed

"We have over 30 kids so far that need snowsuits," said Rhonda Morrison, a member of the Snowsuit Fund Committee. "There is definitely a need for them."

The snowsuits cost $10 each unless the person cannot afford the price and are available only for children.

"We don't often give snowsuits to teenagers," said Morrison. "We don't take anything over size 14."

Drop-off place

Anyone who wants to make a money or snowsuit donation can take it to the Snowsuit Fund office below Dr. Thomas O'Neill's office on Main Street or the Royal Bank in Shawville.

The Snowsuit Fund will also take mitts and hats for donations. A pair of mitts and a hat will be included with each snowsuit purchased.

Fighting terror

So, our leaders pass omnibus legislation to address the problem of terrorism in Canada. Finally.

Finally, because terrorism is a problem that should have been addressed a long time ago, not after the evil criminals did their legwork leading to Sept. 11 and put into motion the anthrax delivery system.

On university campuses in the '80s, the politically-attuned crowd suspected that the threats of terrorism around the world were increasing, be they in Ireland, the Middle East or elsewhere. Discussions in class, which invariably spilled over to the bar, led to the notion that terrorism would be the "next war." Though greenhorns when it came to national security and espionage, the undergraduates were honing in on what has become cold, hard reality. Which begs the question: Why do our leaders have a tendency to slay the monsters after they attack? Couldn't they cut the monsters off at the knees before they pick up speed?

If a group of students can paint a picture of the rise of terrorism without "secret" knowledge, where were our leaders, our security experts, our intelligence officers? It is obvious now that some of these terrorists lived in Canada or had Canadian connections. Which is why the terrorism legislation, a good thin g, should have been passed a lot sooner.

Are Canadians going to continue to be lulled by our leaders into thinking we are immune to terrorist attacks, or any other worldy evils? Do they forget that in the 1960s we had our own homegrown terrorists who were involved in murder, kidnapping and bombings?

Members of the House should not be congratulated for passing the legislation, but, rather, they should be reminded, constantly, that they are elected by the people to represent the interests of the people in an effective manner. They should stop pussyfooting around the realities we all face and be straight with the Canadian people.

Charles (Charlie) P. Bowie

We regret to announce the passing September 27th of Charles P. (Charlie) Bowie of New Liskeard. Mr. Bowie was in his 85th year, having been predeceased by his beloved wife Mabel in July of 1999, and granddaughter Bethany. He is survived by three sons, Franklyn (Vancouver), Michael (Sault Ste. Marie), and Stephen (Toronto), grandchildren Kenneth, Jennifer, Melissa, Carson and Erin, and 4 great grandchildren Morgan, Jake, Willie, and Bridget.

Charlie was a devout member of his church, and served his community tirelessly. Having retired his post as Executive Director of the Temiskaming Hospitals in 1981, he spent many years on the New Liskeard Town Council, and with numerous municipal boards and committees, in addition to his involvement with Branch 629 of the Royal Canadian Legion. YOUR OPINION

Priorities

Dear Editor,

The Progressive Conservative Party and the Canadian Alliance have both indicated that they unequivocally support the government's decision to provide a military component to the struggle against terrorism. Indeed, an argument can be made that the very recent conversion of our Prime Minister from laissez-faire bystander to participant is in large part due to the urging of the opposition parties.

Defence and security form the cornerstone of any nation's central government. Our military has been shaken by slashed budgets and unfair criticism for far too long. Now that they have once again been called to place themselves in harms way they deserve our unwavering support. That support however, must have substance to it. We must be prepared to redirect our priorities so that every effort is made to give them the best opportunity to perform not only this mission, but future missions in an increasingly unpredictable world.

When the House sits, Jean Chretien will find a great deal of support among politicians of most stripes, and an unprecedented willingness to co-operate with the Government. It is an opportunity he must cultivate for the sake of all Canadians. He can no longer continue to marginalize Parliament and individual MP's as has been the custom throughout his tenure, rather he must seek to involve our elected representatives in the decision-making process.

Canadians desire unity, but they demand leadership.

Jean Chretien is our Prime Minister at a critical point in our history. The decisions made in the coming months will impact us greatly for years to come and it is imperative that they be made engaging the full force of our democratic process, utilizing every value, every skill, every bit of experience possessed by each and every politician honoured to be serving their country at this historical time.

ENVIRONMENT FORUM

Bristol Guides experience Cushing Nature Retreat

By KATHARINE FLETCHER

The room was dark. Nine faces, illuminated by Jo Ellen Cushing's slides, reflected excitement as the First Bristol Girl Guides' Company listened to this expert talk about her passion: birds of prey.

"What endangered species is this?" Jo Ellen asks.

Beside me, Chelsea Smith responds, "Peregrine falcon!"

"Good!" says Jo Ellen. "It's a buteo. There are two types of hawks in our region, the accipiters and buteos."

She explains the difference between them. The former have long tails and short rounded wings, design features that assist navigating through forests, while buteos have short, fan-shaped tails and long tails, making soaring on thermals in open spaces easier.

Eight other young women are in the troupe: Rachel Whelen, Pam Henderson, Taylor Tubman, Heather Dale, Natasha Plouffe, Rebecca Zacharias, Adrienne Plouffe, and Elizabeth Whicher. In the company of group leader Ann Taylor and her mother Yvonne Taylor, the girls enjoyed a four-hour outing at Cushing's Nature Retreat, near Ladysmith, on Sunday October 14. I was to tag along.

The Cushing's goal, as stated on their website, is to "provide a semi-wilderness environment that encourages relaxation, recreation and education through self-discovery by observing and communing with nature."

It was a treat for the girls to first enjoy a guided hike on the Cushing's Yellow Trail to a beaver pond and rockfall, then tour the Cushing Mews where Jo Ellen keeps her birds of prey. The pièce de resistance was the slide show where, after the hike, the girls participated in a lively discussion. Jo Ellen herself took most of the superb photographs, which depicted the seven different kinds of birds of prey in Canada: Eagles, hawks, falcons, osprey, owls, vultures and buzzards.

First, the hike. Now, you know kids: possibly their most intriguing find was a pile of bones. "A deer!" announced Derek Cushing, the oldest of the Cushings four children, eager to identify the scattered bones beside the trail."

"Euwww..." The collective groan emanated from the gaggle of guides. But predictably, they all drew closer. A few adventurous ones clustered around the pile, becoming detectives. "What's this?" Elizabeth Whicher asked, pointing to a vertebrae. A lively discussion followed, chaired by Derek and his brother Kirk, while proud parents Geoffrey and Jo Ellen watched.

Identifying marks were discovered by the kids: a clump of hair, bleached by the elements, was found beside the remnants of the skeleton. Definitely deer, all agreed.

But the kill site wasn't the actual feature of the hike. The beaver pond with its sturdy dam was the focal point of the hike. Beside the pond, in the protection of the woods, we sat while listening to Geoffrey explain the ecology of beaver habitats. The girls learned about the habitat beavers create for songbirds like pileated woodpeckers and white-throated sparrows, and how beavers prefer to eat poplars.

"If you see spruce or balsam fir ringed by beaver, you know that the animal is stressed."

"How long would it take the beaver to create this dam?" asks a Guide.

"Good question," nods Geoffrey. "I'm guessing here but it would perhaps take two days for two beavers to construct a dam about this wide." As he speaks, his arm describes an arc between two trees perhaps 1.5 metres high and 4 metres long.

He expands on his theme of habitat and keen observation. "Everything tells a story here. There are trees that are two, three hundred years old here. Trees that were saplings in 1652 when Montreal was being settled. The old timers here call the very old white pine Œyellow pine.' We'll see one in a few minutes, leaning out over a rockfall on the other side of the pond."

With that, he invites us to walk across the beaver dam that his four kids, Derek, Kirk, Corie Jo and Janna Lee have already tested for us. Their successful scamper encourages us all, and soon we're at the four hundred year-old rockfall, which starts a discussion of plate tectonics, fault lines and earth tremors. Our region is susceptible to earthquakes, and the giant boulders now provide a habitat for other species such as porcupine.

"Look down there," says Jo Ellen. Two smooth bones, looking for all the world as if they'd been carefully placed there by someone, gleam in the daylight. Not only does the rockfall provide a home for woodland critters, it provides the cover so that predators can devour their prey sheltered from the elements.

The same elements that have weathered the rocks. "What causes erosion?" asks Geoffrey of the Guides, who are all clustered on a boulder that perhaps a few hundred years ago tumbled into what became the beaver pond. As the girls discuss the weathering action of the elements... the freezing/melting action of snow and ice, the wind and rain... my mind wanders, scanning the intense faces of the girls.

This Girl Guide group is having a ball. There's no better way to learn than being outside, involved, participating in an activity that leads to hands-on exploration of our natural world. I observe that there's not a whimper of objection, not a bored-looking young lady in the group. Geoffrey then suggests a scramble up the rockfall and, while Jo Ellen and I step aside, the entire group passes by, eventually getting on hands and knees in sections, as they negotiate the steep slope.

On the other side, we rejoin them, re-crossing the dam and returning to the lodge. Very soon we're at Cushing Mews, examining Jo Ellen's birds of prey up close. She explains the different action of hawks... the accipiter's "dash and grab" style of hunting, versus the buteos which spy their prey from the sky, else perch on a branch, scanning for a rodent or smaller bird.

We meet Casper, the barn owl, an endangered species. "There are only three breeding pairs left in Ontario," she notes. The group is particularly entranced by the Ferruginous hawks, a male and female. The latter is the largest. Says Jo-Ellen. "Females are 35% larger than the males."

And later, as we watch her slides in the lodge, she explains why. "The females such as the ferruginous hawks, have a large brood patch in the middle of their breast, unlike the males. The male will sit a nest, but he cannot cover the eggs totally or for long. As well, she needs to be bigger because when food is scarce she can hunt larger prey such as rabbits, and won't compete with the male."

All too soon 7:00 p.m. arrives and parents are waiting in their cars. The evening is over. But not quite... "May we see the eggs?" pipes up Chelsea Smith eagerly. Jo Ellen smiles and before we know it, is holding up different sized and coloured eggs before the group of Guides.

A most excellent afternoon was had by all of us.

REFLECTIONS: 118 YEARS OF NEWS

The Way We Were

COMPILED BY HEATHER DICKSON, PUBLISHER

25 Years Ago

October 13, 1976

Historical museum officially opened: Saturday started out just like any other early October Saturday with a threat of rain and winds and not enough sunshine to entice a person outside. But then this was the day that the Hon John G Diefenbaker was coming to Shawville so people bestirred themselves early to make last minute preparations. The threatened rain became a downpour and the presence of Diefenbaker in town brought such a crowd as to assure one and all that whoever invites this great person to town should also hire a hall. As everyone set out for home the storm worked its way up into a veritable blizzard and the rain turned to snow.

Death separates twin Hodgins brothers: Robert Edmond Hodgins, a life-long resident of the township of Thorne, died Saturday morning on the farm where he was born 78 years ago. He had been seriously ill for six weeks at Hodgins.

Former Shawvillite now cabinet minister: Eldest son of Mr and Mrs Norval Horner, formerly of North Clarendon and now of Creelman, Sask., W H Horner has been named deputy minister of agriculture for the western province.

Local news: First real snow fall of the season in this district - Oct. 18.

Mr R J Hamilton who came home from the Rouge last week reports that his camps are built and everything in ship shape to begin operations, and also that there is lots of timber. he has about 40 men engaged. he reports also that during the past summer bears raided a keep-over in that district, and consumed 12 bags of flour, as well as quantities of raisins, prunes, oats and some tea, the chests contained the latter being found broken up outside the camp when the theft was discovered by the keeper a day or two later. A trap was set in the door way and one of the marauders was nabbed. After that there were no more visits from Mr Bruin, or his apparently large family connection.

Race Meet not up to expectations: The Race Meet held at the Exhibition Grounds last Friday, under the auspices of Shawville Driving Club, hardly came up to the expectations of the promoters, through failure of several of the horses to put in an appearance, a also to a brand of weather that did not conduce to draw a large attendance from the element of the population who are not strictly speaking race tracks enthusiasts.

Local news: The steam Murphy (Capt. Ricard) has finished the season's towing and will be laid up for the winter at Portage du Fort as usual.

A German mining engineer representing some New York capitalists visited the Calumet Gelena Mines on Thursday last. He was shown around by Mr R McRitchie, of Bryson.

Mr F Rueckwald of Rueckwald and Schock, Ladysmith, was here on Thursday with teams for the engine and boiler which is to supply power for the sawmill and factory which these gentlemen have recently erected at Ladysmith.

Another case of typhoid fever has developed in Mr Finnigan's family, Albert, the eldest son having contracted the disease in a serious form. Mr Thomas Dale's son Samuel is also laid up with the malady.

Mr Alex Kilgour relates of a little girl, whom he met on the way to Yarm school last Friday, having in her possession a bouquet, which included a sprig of strawberry, having one ripe and one green strawberry and a blossom.

Shawville was converted into a veritable hog-town on Monday, occasioned by the delivery of a large number of porkers to Mr Sullivan. The hogs came from all quarters, the Germans of Leslie and Thorne contributing a big percentage of those brought in.

Three day care centres to be built

By GILLES PARENT

CAMPBELL'S BAY — Two Child Care Centres, CPE Picabou and CPE Tebizinân join their efforts to set up three new Day Care Centres in the Pontiac.

The ministère de la Famille et de l'Enfance recently authorized the building of three new Day Care Centres capable of accommodating 96 children. The three Day Care Centres will be built simultaneously at Isle-aux-Allumettes, Mansfield et Pontefract as well as Shawville.

The Day Care Centre of Isle-aux-Allumettes representing an investment of $264 625 will accommodate 29 children of which five will be infants (3 to 18 months). It will be built on the corner of Rochon Street and Centennial and will be managed by CPE Picabou.

The Day Care Centre of Mansfield et Pontefract, was authorized 31 places for children but will eventually accommodate 36 of which ten will be infants (3 to 18 months). Built on the corner of chemin de la Chute and rue Lévesque, it represents an investment of $309 625 and will also be managed by CPE Picabou. A first in Québec : A CPE will open two new Day Care Centres at the same time.

The third Day Care Centre will be managed by CPE Tebizinân and will be built in Shawville. Besides accommodating 36 children of which eight will be infants (3 to 18 months), it will house the administration offices; it represents an investment of $ 333 625. Services could be offered in the evening for shift workers of Shawville should such a need be determined. Negotiations are still in progress to find the adequate building lot.

Trois nouvelles garderies seront construites dans le Pontiac

CAMPBELL'S BAY — Les deux centres de la petite enfance Picabou et Tebizinân joignent leurs efforts pour mettre sur pied trois nouvelles garderies dans le Pontiac.

En effet, le ministère de la Famille et de l'Enfance vient d'autoriser la construction de 3 nouvelles installations qui pourront accueillir 96 enfants. Ces trois garderies seront construites simultanément à l'Isle-aux-Allumettes, à Mansfield et Pontefract ainsi qu'à Shawville.

L'installation de l'Isle-aux-Allumettes qui représente un investissement de 264 625 $, accueillera 29 enfants dont 5 poupons (entre 3 et 18 mois). Elle sera construite au coin des rues Rochon et Centennial et gérée par le CPE Picabou.

L'installation de Mansfield et Pontefract, autorisée pour 31 places, accueillera éventuellement 36 enfants dont 10 poupons (entre 3 et 18 mois). Construite au coin du chemin de la Chute et de la rue Lévesque, elle représente un investissement de 309 625 $ et sera également gérée par le CPE Picabou. Une première au Québec : Un CPE ouvrira deux installations en même temps.

Pour ce qui est de la troisième installation, cette dernière, gérée par le CPE Tebizinân, sera construite à Shawville. En plus d'accueillir 36 enfants dont 8 poupons (entre 3 et 18 mois), elle abritera les bureaux administratifs et représente un investissement de 333 625 $. Des services pourront être offerts en soirée pour les travailleurs de quarts de Shawville si tels besoins sont identifiés. Les négociations sont toujours en „ours pour trouver le terrain adéquat.

Ces garderies offriront un service de garde éducatif à un coût minime (5 $ par jour) pour les enfants de moins de 5 ans, dans un environnement favorisant le développement social, intellectuel et émotionnel de l'enfant. Les centres de la petite enfance sont des organismes sans but lucratif régis par le ministère de la Famille et de l'Enfance et gérés par un conseil d'administration composé principalement de parents utilisateurs du service. Les CPE sont exploités à des fins sociales et sans intentions pécuniaires.

En plus de créer de nouveaux emplois, ces trois projets d'envergure auront des retombées économiques annuelles importantes pour le territoire du Pontiac.

Ces trois nouvelles garderies s'ajouteront à celles déjà existantes dans la région, soit l'Univers des Bambinos de Luskville avec ses 34 places et ses 170 places en milieu familial pour le CPE Tebizinân, et l'installation de Picabou à Campbell's Bay avec ses 47 places en garderie et ses 50 places en milieu familial.

Les principaux partenaires des centres de la petite enfance dans ces trois projets sont le ministère de la Famille et de l'Enfance, le Centre local d'emploi du Pontiac, le Centre local de développement du Pontiac, les municipalités de l'Isle-aux-Allumettes, de Mansfield et Pontefract, de Fort-Coulonge et de Shawville.

Le début des travaux de construction est prévu pour mars 2002 et l'ouverture des trois nouvelles installations pour la fin juillet 2002.

Les familles désirant réserver une place pour un enfant peuvent le faire en communiquant avec le CPE Picabou au 819-648-5545 pour les garderies de l'Isle-aux-Allumettes et de Mansfield et Pontefract et avec le CPE Tebizinân au 819-458-2573 ou au 888-458-2574 pour l'installation de Shawville.

Hockey, hockey and more hockey, season starts

By DAVE MOORE
Equity Sports

OUTAOUAIS – Minor hockey is underway in the Outaouais with games being played in the Metro league.

Both Fort Coulonge and the Shawville teams got into the action with all sides faring out quite well, winning and tying, all but the Peewee Draveurs. Generally, the Pontiac as a whole gets very little time to prepare so the outcome was good for their first week.

The Juvenile Draveurs started their season against the Gatineau Olympiques. Coulonge managed two goals from Martin Danis, assisted by Eric Jolin, and Paul Martin (unassisted), but couldn't hang on as Gatineau slipped back into the game to tie 2-2.

The Midget Pontiacs opened the regular season with a 4-2 win over the Gatineau Cougars. Pontiac's Dan Moore opened the scoring early in the first period, jumping on a rebound (Shane Powell and Blair Campeau assisted).

Pontiacs upped their lead to 2-0 with Shawn Laframboise netting his first of two (Steve McCord, Jason Campbell).

A turn-over at the blueline caused the Gatineau Draveurs to split the score, but goals from Shane Powell and Laframboise would pad the Pontiacs' lead to a 4-1. Gatineau got one more late.

Happy with the outcome, coach Randy Powell said the team preformed well despite only a few practices. Goalie Patrick Marcotte played a sharp game.

Steve Dumouchel's Bantam "C" Pontiacs got a decent start with a 1-1 tie against the Gatineau Cougars. Jordan Kearns scored (Justin Carson, Shane Powell) the lone goal for 1-0 lead at the time.

Kyle Meredith was sharp in the nets for the Bantams in a game that Dumouchel says they should have won easily, but the guys "couldn't find the net," given the opportunity.

Gary Ladouceur's Bantam "B" Draveurs got a 2-1 win over the Cougars in Gatineau. They got markers from Marc Fleury (Nicholas Martin) and Jeremy Frost (Fleury) in a tight game.

The Shawville Peewees didn't see action but Luc Vaillancourt's Peewees Draveurs saw the losing end in a 3-1 tilt to Gatineau. Andrew Armour scored for Coulonge with Pierre Chartrand assisting.

The Fort Coulonge Atom "B" Draveurs got the drop on everybody in terms of playing, they started last week, winning 7-5 over Gatineau. Results were not available.

The results for the Atom Draveurs second match with the Gatineau Rempart this weekend with Trever Bourque and Scott Levesque with two (one unassisted), scoring in a 3-1 win. Assists went to Phillipe O'Brien and Ben Labine on the first two goals of the game.

Marty Brownlee's Atom "A" Pontiacs hammered Gatineau 7-0 in their home opener Saturday. David Hobbs (3), Lance Orr (2), Dylon Wisotzki and Jacob Bourgeau scored for the Atoms. Orr, Bourgeau, Michael Baker and Matt Hobbs drew assists in the match.

Trevor Fraser's Novice "A" stomped Cobden Muskrat Voyageurs 8-1 Saturday in exhibition play. Travis Stewart nailed three goals, Matt Alexander (2), along with Ross Coté (2).

Assists went to Stewart, Coté, Colton Keon, Brady Pirie and Brett Carson with three.

GAINING CONTROL: The Pontiacs' Matt MacDougall slips away from a Kings attacker during the Pontiacs home game Friday. Pontiacs won 4-3. Below, the offical face-off with Vaughn Bastien and son William of Bastien Tire to start the season on home ice.

Juniors undefeated at home

By DAVE MOORE

SHAWVILLE – A huge home game from the Pontiac Junior B's and a pretty good one for defenceman Brent Maurice. Maurice helped set up three goals, as he and the rest of the team took on the current number one Valley Division Club, the Carleton Place Kings Friday night and kept their undefeated home record intact.

Pontiac 4
Kings 3
Pontiac 6
Royals 5

It was a close 4-3 win for the Pontiacs, who enjoy a modest 2-0-1 record at home.

The Pontiacs opened the scoring in the first period on the power play from Dave Croteau, (Brent Maurice-Steve Beck) and then jumped to a 2-0 lead when Jordan MacDougall (Maurice-Brad Fleury) scored, taping in the puck when Kings' goalie, Joey Theberge had it trapped between his skate and the post.

The Kings stormed back to tie the game at 2-2 on goals from Dan Cavanagh and Mark Mitchell in the second period and actually took the lead five minutes into the third period on Mitchell's second of the night.

But that proved to be it for the Kings as the Juniors came back with Fleury netting his first of the season with a set up from Maurice, with his third assist of the night.

The Pontiacs' Rocky White scored the winner, unassisted, midway in the period.

First game back for Joel Cardinal Sunday in Richmond after sitting out four-games. The rest didn't slow him down with a three assists in a 6-6 draw with the Goulbourn Royals.

It easily could have been a Pontiacs' win as the Juniors gave up five-straight power play goals to the Royals that lead to the tie.

The Pontiacs held a 3-1 lead in the first period on goals from Beck, (Cardinal), Shawn Daly, (Cardinal) and Jon Maurice, (Daly).

The Royals scored twice in the second period but all the while, Juniors' Taylor Miles, Fleury and Brent Maurice, with his second goal of the game, took a 6-3 lead heading into the last period.

Fleury, Shawn Romain, Jordan MacDougall (2), Miles and Cardinal drew assists.

The Pontiacs didn't give up the lead as much as the Royals took advantage of 20-plus minutes handed out in penalties to the Juniors in the last period. They added to the last two power play goals with three more, once five minutes into the third and twice with time dwindling to nothing.

Royals' goals came from Tim Ralph, Bill Cowley, Kirk Jorgenson, Ryan Kennedy, Jeff Windle and Brian Wood.

The Pontiac Juniors are not going to be home this weekend, but on the road for two starting in Arnprior Friday night at 8 p.m. Sunday they take on the Renfrew Timberwolves at 7:30 p.m.

The following week the Juniors are home for two nights with Arnprior on Friday, Ottawa West on Sunday.

The "Dash for cash," continues as Trish White failed to zero in on the bag of dough while blindfolded. It will be $150 for Friday's game, $200 on Sunday if no one gets Friday.

Alberta bound, the Juniors are going to be Alberta bound.

The Pontiac Juniors have given the Spirit of the North Junior B hockey tournament in Slave Lake notice that they will be attending the late December tournament.

It's a couple of hours north of Edmonton, half way to High Prairie.

Come smiling through the door.

People who have cottages on the Island closed them for the winter after Thanksgiving. Among them were Elizabeth and Nan Cahill, Ottawa. The day they left for home, they brought me a lovely container of apple jelly which they made using the cores and skins of the apples and the pulp for pies etc. In this way there is no waste.

Lionettes celebrate 35 years

By ANNA STEWART

Our hunters are all home after the moose hunt minus a moose. It started out with Jim forgetting his suspenders to hold his pants up. So I guess he thought he would only moon the moose this year. Anyway he saw one moose get excited and began to run after it but it got away with his eye glasses. So if anyone sees a runaway bare bottomed moose wearing glasses, that's "Jim's moose".

On Thursday evening the Bryson Lionettes celebrated their 35th anniversary with a pot luck supper with our three baby clubs. Shawville, Arnprior and Campbell's Bay. We were honoured with the presence of Lionette Charlene Graham of the Quyon club. The Bryson Lions Club donated all the wine for the tables. The Lions hall was beautifully adorned with decorations, straw, pumpkins and fall flowers done by Lionette Gisele Evans with the help of a few of our Lionettes. Perfect attendance pins were given out to the girls by the Lionette president. Door prizes were drawn throughout the evening. We were very pleased at the turn out we had from the different clubs. Thank you for the lovely food they brought.

Happy 40th anniversary to Dave and Sylvia Hodgins of Shawville and many more of them to come.

Our sympathy to the St. Pierre family, his wife Florence, his children, Connie Cameron, Margot Newberry, Helen Morin, Paulette Laroche, Susan, John, Rejean, Jerry and Robert on the death of their father Lionel. Also sympathy to Edna Lepine Lance on the death of her brother Raymond Lepine of Cornwall.

Visiting me while Jim was away was Elsie Letts of Shawville, Heather and Marcel Bertrand, Sylvie and Jacob Stewart of Fort Coulonge.

We have an Easter lily in full bloom in our garden. Fine big blooms are on it and a few buds still to come out.

Get well wishes to Mary Jay and also Mary Baird. Hope you will soon be on the mend.

Euchre winners this week is 50/50 Sheila Racine. Door prize Tom Hearty. Men's 2nd prize Perry Kluke and Oscar Dumouchel. Ladies first prize went to Liz Bastien. Ladies 2nd prize went to Rose Lance, Rita McGuire and Bella Lasalles.

If anyone has pennies for the snow suit fund the Lionettes would appreciate them.

Congratulations to Mary and Bert Frost of Ottawa on the birth of their third grandchild, Finn Thomas McSwiggan. Proud parents Tommy and Sheila McSwiggan of Ottawa.

Winners of the basket draw by the Bryson C.W.L. was Jeannette Romain on the first basket and Adam Racine on the second basket. Congratulations.

Have a safe and healthy week.
