ALLIES DECLARE TURKISH ARMY TO BE MUCH REDUCED

Limited to Number of Men Needed to Keep Order in Asia Minor

Much Opposition to Plan Allowing Turks to Stay in Constantinople

PARIS, March 3 (Havas.)—Turkey's army will be limited to the number of troops necessary to maintain order in Asia Minor, according to the Journal, which says Turkey will be compelled to keep her armed forces on the Asiatic side of the Bosphorus.

The League of Nations Council will hold its next meeting in Paris on March 12. Organization of the commission which is to investigate conditions in Russia will be taken up, it is understood.

BRITISH OPPOSITION.

PARIS, March 3 (United News Special)—Growing opposition in England to the agreement whereby the Turk remains in Constantinople, promises to cause a new alignment on the Adriatic problem and other features of peace yet to be finally settled.

In the meantime a demand is growing for a definite statement as to the position the United States intends to assume as regards Turkey.

While the exact terms of the participation of Turkish territory have not been decided upon finally, it was understood that the population of the Turkish Empire will be reduced from approximately 30,000,000 to 6,000,000, through the removal of areas now a part of the Empire.

DEADLOCK ON ADRIATIC.

The Council yesterday discussed financial clauses of the Treaty. First, consideration in the awarding of indemnities will be given to Greece, it was said, and second consideration to expenses of the army of occupation.

The Adriatic situation, it was indicated, virtually has reached a deadlock. Anton Trumbitch, the Jugo-Slav representative, declared in an interview that Jugo-Slavia is prepared to hold out against any settlement except that advocated by President Wilson, as long as Jugo-Slavia has the backing of the United States.

Jugo-Slavia, Trumbitch said, will withstand to the utmost the demand of the allied premiers for an immediate settlement of the dispute.

The Belgrade Government, Trumbitch said, will insist upon a settlement with these provisions: No domination for Italy in the Eastern Adriatic; an independent state of Fiume; control of the port of Fiume to be under the League of Nations, with provisions for the safeguarding of Jugo-Slavia's commercial interest.

MEANS OTHER CHANGES.

LONDON, March 3.—(United News, Special). — French authorities, who first advanced the Turkish plan adopted by the Allied Premiers, now virtually admit that France may be obliged to yield and thus permit Lloyd George to change his position, owing to the force of British public opinion. Several other questions will thus be reopened. France and Italy will insist upon adequate compensation, and their position is regarded as a strong one.

Should the Turk be expelled from Europe, the octopus it is expected Lloyd George will offer France as compensation first. Withdrawal of the demands that France give up the German ships she holds, and, second, That the position of France in Syria be strengthened.

In return for Italy's acquiescence in a revised Turkish programme it is expected England will support Italy's claims in the Adriatic as against the Jugo-Slavs. Italy's claims in Asia Minor would also be supported by the British.

But such trading cannot make the settlement a success, in the view of authorities, without guarantees for the near east.

PARIS PRESS COMMENT.

"The situation has reached the point where decrees are not sufficient." Le Temps declared yesterday. "Material means are necessary to impose the solution. It is therefore extremely urgent to know in what measure the United States is ready to furnish military, financial and other material cooperation that is necessary."

"Jugo-Slavia insists that there be no Italian domination of the eastern Adriatic coast. She insists also that the boundary be the line of the Arsa River and the Julian Alps. Thirdly, she stands for an independent state of Fiume, with the port of Fiume under control of the League of Nations.

"As to the port, however, we make the reservation that our economic interests there be safeguarded by the League's administration. We are tired out by eight years of war but Jugo-Slavia will not agree to a compromise which would be unsatisfactory, and therefore, in its nature, only temporary."

Trumbitch has denied having had any recent negotiations with Premier Nitti, of Italy. The Jugo-Slavs, he said, are content to stand by, awaiting developments.

CALL FOR PROTEST

NEW YORK, March 3.—Declaring that the Allied Premiers have tentatively planned partition of Armenia the American Committee for the Independence of Armenia today issued an appeal asking Americans to protest such action and also to demand the end of Turkish rule there. The committee is headed by James W. Gerard, former Ambassador to Germany. The proposed plan of the Premiers, dividing Armenia into four unequal parts according to the committee, follows:

"Its Mediterranean littoral which is also its richest portion, has been assigned to France. Its central provinces have been annexed to a proposed Kurdish State, under British protection. Its southwestern portions have been left under Turkish sovereignty. And what is much of it is made into an Armenian republic which comprises about one tenth of Turkish Armenia and parts of Russian Armenia. Proposed Armenia thus shut off from her littorals on both the Black and Mediterranean seas, land-locked and robbed of her chief resources, cannot achieve real independence and must remain a ward of the League of Nations."

LONDON, March 3—The disposition of the Turkish navy was definitely settled by the Allied Supreme Council today when it decided that the Peace Treaty should provide that the warships be broken up.

The Turkish army will be reduced to such a point by the peace terms that it would not be effective against another country.

The Council deliberated this morning over the report of Marshal Foch on the military situation as regards Turkey, but it did not determine upon the details of the military terms of the Treaty.

When Premier Nitti, of Italy, learned this morning that the French Prime Minister, M. Millerand, was unlikely to return to the London conference he reverted to his first plan to leave for Rome on Thursday. This will leave only the Foreign Ministers and Ambassadors to clear up the details of the Turkish Treaty, on which the Council is agreed in principle.

WILSON REPLY READY

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(United Press Special.)—President Wilson's reply to the late note of the British and French premiers on the Adriatic question is expected to be put on the cables tomorrow. The note was completed late Monday by the President and sent to the State Department.

The most important part of the President's reply is expected to be his answer to the Premiers' invitation to join them in a proposal to Italy and Jugo-Slavia to work out an Adriatic settlement between them on the bases of withdrawal of the previous proposals of the Allies and the United States.

The President will reply that any adjustment arrived at between Italy and Jugo-Slavia without coercion and to the satisfaction of both countries will be acceptable to him, but that he will not abandon the principle. The Executive, in expressing the above conclusions that he believes Italy can rightfully have, it was predicted here.

MILLIONAIRE IS STILL MISSING

Three Months' Constant Investigations Fail to Produce Clue

INCREASE REWARD

Fate of Theatrical Magnate and Secretary Much Discussed

TORONTO, Ont., March 3, (Special to Montreal Star.)—It was just three months to the day yesterday that Ambrose J. Small walked out by the front door of the Grand Opera House and disappeared from the world. Ever since December 2 last, not a living soul so far as is known, has set an eye on the missing millionaire.

When Mr. Small, went out of the world of Toronto he disappeared completely and left not a single trace behind that could be called a clue. The police authorities have worked diligently and long in trying to locate the whereabouts and to clear up the mystery of his sudden exit from his usual surroundings. The detectives who had the case in hand have followed every clue no matter how minute, but all their efforts to locate the missing man have missed fire. Whether Mr. Small is alive or dead is as great a mystery today as it was in December last.

John Doughty, the private secretary to Mr. Small, up to the time of his transfer of his theatres to the Montreal Syndicate, and who mysteriously disappeared on December 28, last has not up to the present been located and his whereabouts or fate is just as great a mystery as that of his late employer.

MUCH SPECULATION.

The questions today are being asked, are Ambrose Small and John Doughty both dead, are they away in some distant land, or are they somewhere being held for a ransom.

There are many friends of both men to favor each proposition.

Many of Mr. Small's intimates and those persons who have met him in business and know full well his ways, have all along held the view that he would return to Toronto when it suited his purpose. They still adhere to that opinion.

It was stated last night that the friends of Mr. Small are seriously considering the advisability of increasing the announced reward of $5,000 for information as to the present whereabouts of the missing man.

ATTEMPT TO MURDER STEPHEN FRIEDRICH

BUDAPEST, March 3.—(By The Associated Press)—An attempt was made this morning to assassinate Stephen Friedrich, former Premier, and Minister of War, in the present Hungarian Cabinet. Several shots were fired at the War Minister's motor car as he was crossing the Elizabeth bridge shortly befor noon. Herr Friedrich was not injured, however.

The War Minister's assailant escaped in an automobile held in readiness.

COMMERCE BOARD MEMBERS OPPOSE VIEWS OF ROBSON

O'Connor and Murdock Hold Act Does Not Check Sales

DOESN'T PREVENT

Can Deal with Co-operatives — New Member Likely Business Man

Special to The Star from Our Own Correspondent.

OTTAWA, March 3.—Upon the reasons for the resignation of Judge Robson of the Board of Commerce as set forth in the correspondence tabled last night, the other members of the Board, Commissioners O'Connor and Murdock, declined today to make any comment whatever.

There have been many rumors as to the reasons underlying Judge Robson's retirement, but the record as produced indicates that the essential cause is that experience has shown the unworkability of the enactment which confers upon the Board its authority.

It is known that with such an opinion the other Commissioners are absolutely at variance, though they have no desire to be drawn into the controversy.

A specific case cited by the retired Chief Commissioner is that, under the Act, wholesalers and others are barred from selling to co-operative concerns though the latter may well be an agency in reducing costs of living.

A reference to the Act shows that its vital purpose is to forbid accumulation and compel sales. It says that, "Nothing in the act shall prevent accumulation by farmers or compel wholesalers or jobbers to sell to other than such classes or persons as are accustomed to purchase from manufacturers, wholesalers or jobbers. The latter are not compelled to sell "otherwise than in accordance with the ordinary course of business."

This is construed in Government circles as leaving the law just as it was before.

The question hinges on the question of "compulsion." There are certain classes to which wholesalers are not "compelled" to sell.

It is claimed, however, that there is nothing to "prevent them selling to co-operative or any other concerns in the market to do business.

There is no doubt that the Act will be disgussed this session and, very possibly, amended. It was designed only as a starter and the original intention was that it should be subject to such amendments as experience might suggest the need of.

Considerable will depend upon the judgment of the Supreme Court on the constitutional powers of the Board. The case is to be argued week after next and an early judgment is anticipated. In the light of it, especially if it should be unfavorable, the Act may be re written.

The vacancy on the Board is very likely to be filled by the appointment of a business man if a broader scheme of reorganization be not carried out.

SEVERE REVERSE FOR DIRECT ACTION

British Labor, Even Miners, Turn Down General Strike Plan

SCHEME FIZZLES

London Congress Almost Certain to Swamp Violence Policy

LONDON, March 3.—(Special Star Cable. Copyright.)—It is now practically certain that the threat of direct action to force the Government's hand on the question of nationalization of the coal mining industry is about to fizzle out like a damp squib.

The Government, by refusing to budge from their standpoint, have clearly exposed the weakness of the nationalizers' position, it being now evident that in spite of passionate rhetoric and claims of solidarity no great body of trade unionists considers the question of such vital importance as to justify the calling into use of the general strike weapon.

Among the big unions that have already instructed their congress delegates to vote against direct action are the Railwaymen, the Cotton operatives, the General Workers and a number of Transport unions.

Even the miners themselves are not at one on the subject, for although the Northumberland delegates have received orders to vote for a general strike, in the neighboring county of Durham the Miners' Association has issued a circular to its lodges recommending that the representatives at the London congress should support political action, while certain Welsh mining districts are known to be hostile even to the principle of nationalization.

The success of those favoring constitutional political procedure thus seems assured, and the freely expressed prediction of last year that "Coal would kill the Coalition," is not at likely to achieve fulfuilment.

The plain facts are that the majority of trade unionists here are utterly tired of industrial strife, and less willing than at any time since the armistice to listen to the hotheads who advocates strikes on every occasion. Labor's chief desires at present are for formal prices and bye-election victories, and as general strike for mine nationalization will help in neither direction next week's congress evidently intends to give direct action its quietus.

WILL NOT MOVE RAILWAY OFFICES

C.N.R. Official and Hon. J. R. Reid Deny Change of Headquarters

TORONTO, Ont., March 3.—C. A. Hayes, vice president of the Canadian National Railways, declares that there is absolutely no foundation for the story that the headquarters of the Canadian National Railways are to be moved from Toronto to Montreal, despite the fact that some members of the traffic department of the road have been instructed to move from Toronto to Montreal within one month.

A special despatch from Ottawa quotes Hon. J. D. Reid, Minister of Railways and Canals, as saying that the Government had not even considered the matter of moving the head quarters of the C.N.R. from Toronto to Montreal.

"WET" MAJORITY

Vermont Towns Mostly Vote Liquor on Referendum

BURLINGTON, Vt., March 3.—Towns throughout Vermont voted on the question of license yesterday and this morning it was estimated that 75 per cent had voted wet. Rutland, St. Albans, Montpelier, Barre and other large places which have been strongholds of prohibition for years voted themselves into the wet column by substantial majorities.

MASSACHUSETTS FOLLOWS.

BOSTON, March 3.—Advices from Massachusetts towns out of 64 voted wet in their annual town meetings completed tonight, showed today's majority of these towns behind the state's wet majorities despite the fact that almost all had voted consistently "dry" for many years. Traditionally "dry" towns like Boxford, Middleboro, Lincoln and Manchester voted "wet" for the first time in their history. The few towns that went to the "dry" column did so in most cases by narrow margins, the majorities reduced in most.

PROVINCES AND EIGHT-HOUR DAY

Have Power to Enact Legislation, Says Minister of Labor

REGULATE SHIPPING

Resolution Would Authorize Commission to Govern Dom. Ocean Traffic

OTTAWA, Ont., March 3. — (By Canadian Press.)—The right to enact legislation on the eight-hour day is in the hands of Provincial governments, it is announced by the Minister of Labor, in connection with the application of one of the provinces for a ruling on the subject. The question is that the Federal Government has jurisdiction under its treaty making rights to enact such legislation as may be necessary to give effect to the provisions of any international treaty if the provincial legislatures do not see fit to act in the matter.

In connection with the National Industry Conference of last September, when legislation on the eight-hour day appeared to be of purely domestic concern, it was proposed to refer to the Supreme Court of Canada the jurisdiction of Federal and Provincial legislature in governing hours of employment. The adoption subsequently in Washington by the International Labor Conference of a draft convention on the subject of the eight-hour day in industrial employment has changed somewhat, it is stated in the Minister of Labor's announcement today.

GOVERN OCEAN TRAFFIC.

A resolution which, if carried into effect by Parliament would institute steps for the formation of a permanent commission to govern all ocean steamship traffic between ports in the United Kingdom and ports in Canada is to be brought before the house in a few days by Mr. S. J. Armstrong, Lambton East.

The resolution follows:

"That in the opinion of this House, the recommendations set forth in the final report of the Royal Commission on the natural resources trade and legislation of portions of His Majesty's Dominions and presented to both Houses of Parliament by command of His Majesty, in March 1917, showing that it is not desirable that the operations of the steamship companies carrying passengers and freight between the Dominion of Canada and the United Kingdom should remain longer without some measure of government supervision, should be given effect; and that this Government should take immediate steps to assist the Imperial Government in bringing about government control of the ocean carriers doing business (or, from time to time, doing business) between ports in the United Kingdom and ports in the Dominion of Canada, and that a permanent commission, representative of all parts of the Empire on the board, which shall be invested with wide powers relative to transportation of both high seas, such powers, as far as possible, to be similar or analogous to those conferred upon permanent commissioners charged with the supervision and control of the railway and steamship rates and their methods and conditions of operation."

Notice has also been given by Mr. Armstrong of a bill to amend the Railway Act, which if carried in the House and Senate would bring all lake and canal and coast wise steamship traffic in Canada under the board of railway commissioners. A similar bill to this has been before the House in preceding sessions, but it was defeated.

Mr. Armstrong points out in support of his resolution that Canada has spent some $400,000,000 on her waterways and harbors, and at present an unorganized and irresponsible Canadian Merchant Marine is being built up on our lakes, canals and rivers.

The question of the value of Canadian money on railway lines owned by the Dominion within the United States is to be raised in the House tomorrow by C. Powers, West Quebec. He will ask what value is placed on Canadian bills when presented on American branch lines of the Grand Trunk System.

Ancient walls and fortifications at Quebec may be placed as valuable heirlooms under the care of the National Battlefields Commission if an order to motion of Mr. Powers is favored by the House tomorrow. Mr. Powers contends that these walls and fortifications have become obsolete for military purposes and should be preserved as historical monuments.

SHANTUNG TODAY

Far East Protection Argument—Report U.S. Ends Commissions

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(Special by United Press)—Introduction in the Senate today of a resolution by Senator King, asking that Armenia be given independence and Turkey be curbed was the signal for an attack by Republican senators upon President Wilson for his alleged policy of secrecy with regard to foreign affairs.

WASHINGTON, March 3 (Special to The Star.)—Senate leaders hoped to make rapid progress today on the Lodge reservations to the Peace Treaty.

The Shantung reservation is before the Senate, which yesterday adopted the domestic questions and Monroe Doctrine reservations. Lodge's original reservation on both questions prevailed after many amendments and substitutes had been rejected.

The vote on the Monroe Doctrine reservation, which 17 Democrats supported, was held by Republican senators to prove conclusively that the treaty cannot be ratified. It showed, they said, that 22 Democrats, at the very least, will hold out against the Lodge program to the last. With the 14 Republican "bitter-enders" this would make a total of 36 votes against ratification. Thirty-three will prevent ratification.

WITHDRAW COMMISSIONS?

PARIS, March 3.—(United Press.)—Withdrawal of American representation in all the commissions set up by the Peace Conference was forecast here today.

Despatches from the United States, admitting that hope for ratification of the Treaty of Peace as it now stands virtually has died, led the French to believe that complete American withdrawal from the peace-making and enforcement may be imminent.

PLAN TO REDUCE COST OF LIVING

Gov. Smith Would Stop Hoarding and Licensing Food Dealers

ALBANY, N.Y., March 3.—Proposals designed to control and reduce the high cost of living were outlined by Gov. Smith in a message to the legislature today. The Governor declared investigation showed there had been an increase in living costs during the past six months. Here are the main points in the statutes which are to be introduced with the object of bringing prices down as stated in the Governor's message:

Hoarding will be made unlawful in order to prevent the withholding from the market of necessary foodstuffs and the destruction of foods for the purpose of enhancing prices.

Food dealers are to be licensed so that the State may control dealings in foodstuffs and gradually eliminate dealers who bring discredit on the trade.

Farm products are to be graded and the price of eggs will be lowered, it is hoped, by a systematic and careful grading. The use in food establishments of eggs which are not fresh will also be controlled.

Mr. Hanna is expected in Ottawa this afternoon. He will first confer with Hon. Dr. Reid, Minister of Railways, and Howard G. Kelly, president of the Grand Trunk, in regard to appointments to the temporary board of management of the Grand Trunk. Subsequently, the question of Government passenger ships is to be discussed with Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, Minister of Marine and Fisheries.

IRISH CONFERENCE MAY HEAR SENSATIONAL HOME RULE PROPOSALS

Dublin Report States that Sir Horace Plunkett Brings Word U. S. Joins Nations' League and Aids Exchange Solution if Ireland Gets Dominion Status—Geddes and Government Will Enforce Home Rule.

Special to The Star by a Staff Correspondent.

DUBLIN, March 3.—While Ulster is anxiously awaiting the arrival of Sir Edward Carson to decide its policy regarding the latest Home Rule Bill, the remainder of Ireland is holding back to hear the proposals of Sir Horace Plunkett, who has lately returned from the United States.

Sir Horace, since his arrival in England, has maintained absolute silence, but it is announced that the alternative demand to the present bill will be presented at a great representative reception to be held in Dublin on Thursday.

On the highest authority I am able to forecast the fact that Sir Horace Plunkett's policy would bring Ireland into the whirlpool of international affairs. First, it includes the previous demand for full Dominion status, giving the right of the various counties to decide their relations to the Constituent Assembly by a proportional representation vote. Then, the committee of the League of Nations would examine the claims of all parties to co-operate with the Assembly in the formulation of a political constitution.

SOMEWHAT STARTLING STATEMENT REGARDING PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

I understand that Sir Horace has the firm promise of the United States to withdraw the reservation to the Covenant of the League which gives Dominion votes in the League of Nations, and, also, to submit to entry of Ireland to League of Nations if Ireland is granted representation of a Dominion.

It is also stated that the United States would undertake to assist in the adjustment of the exchange situation if Ireland's problems be settled on a Dominion basis.

Meanwhile every effort is being made here to bring [illegible] parties to agree to Plunkett's proposals, and this effort is [illegible].

Not only all Ireland will be represented at Plunkett's meeting, including the Dublin members, but special efforts will be made to invite conference representatives of English opinion.

GEDDES SAYS MEASURE WILL BE PERMANENT SETTLEMENT

LONDON, March 3.—Sir Auckland Geddes, the new British ambassador to the United States, in an interview after a luncheon given by Lady Astor to correspondents today, said in part:

Lloyd George's proposed settlement of the Irish question will be enforced and finally accepted by the bulk of the Irish people. He expressed the opinion that the Sinn Fein are slowly swerving toward Home Rule.

As a result of a careful canvas of Irish opinion, Sir Auckland is convinced that the bill will be ultimately acceptable and be the basis for a permanent settlement.

BITTERLY CONDEMN FORMER KAISER

"Young Enough to Support Himself," Said German Legislator

MAY LOSE MONEY

Effort to Restore Wealth to Wilhelm May Fail

BERLIN, March 3.—(United Press Cable.)—Social Democrats in the Prussian assembly are bitterly opposing the Assembly's plan to restore much of his wealth to the former Kaiser, and to settle certain funds upon him.

In the debate upon bills covering return of the former emperor's property the Social-Democrats compared Wilhelm to an absconding employe of a bankrupt firm, who went so far as to ask his salary while he was absent from duty.

The former Kaiser, speakers asserted during the debate, ran away when he and the nation were in danger and deserves no consideration from the people of Prussia. Besides, one speaker asserted, Wilhelm is "young enough to support himself."

The Majority Socialists vied with the Independents in denunciation of the former ruler in an effort to defeat the proposed settlement by accomplishing the confiscation of the Hohenzollern possessions. This would be done through constitutional amendment, voting the former Emperor a fixed sum for his maintenance.

Deputy Graef, a Majority Socialist, declared that the ex-ruler had failed to live up to the historic precedents of his race. He had not died at the head of his troops. He chose instead, the deputy continued, a midnight flight to Holland, where "he is now promenading and sawing wood."

The deputy expressed doubt as to whether the former Emperor had subscribed to war loans, as had been claimed, while his claim that he had been the guardian of peace had been disproved by his continuous rattling of the sword and proclamations of the mailed fist. The Democrats and the Clericals joined in voting for the Government's measure providing that the settlement be referred to the committee of judiciary.

The judiciary committee now takes the Bill under advisement and conferences are expected to last many weeks.

The motion of the Majority Socialists providing for action by the National Assembly has been temporarily tabled.

Debate on Address Develops First Fireworks of Session

OTTAWA, March 3, (Special to The Star).—That "Sir Robert Borden has every confidence of being able to return to the Capital with a view to resuming his work at a later date this session," is the way the Hon. Dr. Reid, who met him in New York, expresses the Premier's intentions.

The two ministers and others who say the Prime Minister at New York or Halifax say his improvement is already considerable though he has been away but two of the four or five months he proposed to absent himself from the capital.

Dr. Reid's outline of Sir Robert's intention was in the form of a personally written memorandum to the press and so may be taken as official.

It had been fully expected that someone on the Opposition side would rise and press for information but no one made a move; not a man stirring. However, the Ministers issued a statement that goes to clear a beclouded atmosphere.

Sir Robert went away with the intention of staying about five months and had he been able to carry out his plan and have gone to South Africa, he would have been out of the range of an ungenerous speculation and curiosity. Circumstances caused the Admiralty to cancel the Jellicoe trip to that distant Dominion and the Premier comes back to this continent, proceeds to the South to continue his leave, but announces anew what he did when he left, his purpose of returning in the late spring. His future course will be dictated by his physical condition at the time, but the prognosis seems favorable.

Parliament is far more engrossed in the political situation than in any business, real or apprehended, before the House and the Premier naturally is its dominant figure. If he were to go out by reason of physical breakdown, or otherwise, nothing could avoid the chaotic turmoil of a general election.

RELIEVES THE SITUATION.

The announcement that he intends to come back and his well defined purpose of carrying on the Government till the present period of world stress has subsided and things come back to normal exercises an influence that is both salutary and stabilizing. It is perhaps a disappointment in certain quarters and places, a damper on certain trifling intrigues that always are underway, while it defers the bloom of some ambitions ever in the bud.

The favorable news, nevertheless, is a source of much satisfaction to the rank and file of the Ministerial party as to the country at large. They regard Sir Robert, now, as in the stress and sacrifice of war, as a sheet anchor for the ship of state which, in Canada, as throughout the world, faces for a time peculiarly troubled and adverse conditions.

The debate on the reply to Address runs true to the traditional form. It covers much of the familiar ground and considerable old porridge is stirred up and warmed over though, now and then, the House is stung with some new and original idea. D. D. McKenzie's contribution yesterday was characterized by quantity if not by particular quality. He made a speech on prohibition a year ago that needed a lot of explaining. Later he ran for the Liberal leadership on practically a free trade platform. Yesterday, in effect, he returned to an assault on the precious tenets of free trade and a few disciples of Cobden in the Chamber stood aghast. It listened like the very anthesis of the party pronunciamentos and taken in conjunction with some remarks in the other House, is an indication of the appraisal value of convention declarations over Mr. McKenzie's dictum that we should cut out all business with the United States till they accept at par the Canadian dollar, was regarded as somewhat extraordinary in view of supposed policy of that side of the House. In reality it was a companion piece to our old friend "no truck or trade with the Yankees." But, perhaps, the most notable thing of Mr. McKenzie's deliverance was that he quite overlooked the amendment of Mr. King of which, nominally at least, he is the seconder.

A SIGNIFICANT EVASION.

In substance, it calls for dissolution and a general election. It is not quite clear whether the gentleman was affected by a temporary amnesia; whether he simply forgot, or whether it was a studied and deliberate evasion. In any event, he steered completely around the only lurid patch in a somewhat barren discussion. Gentlemen on both sides of the House were overwhelmed by the omission, the more so because it had been anticipated, and even intimated that Mr. McKenzie would "go after" Sir George for the presumptuous suggestion that the King amendment is but a bit of "strategic camouflage."

This peculiarly significant and unexpected lapse would seem abundantly to justify the assumption of the Acting Premier that the fine applied art of politics is being played rather than that any real or sincere purpose dominates the proposal. It is also interpreted, in some Opposition quarters, that a certain rumored coldness between the new and the temporary leader of last year is more a matter of substance than imagination.

As indicating a Liberal-Unionist view which may or may not be typical, Major Mowat's confession of faith is not without significance. The nephew of Sir Oliver Mowat, of old and pious memory, professes to find in Unionism a more substantial Liberalism than under the old dispensation. He says he has found the association agreeable, the relations pleasant, and proclaims his contentment. If the party is to be consolidated, as he thinks it should be, he makes it clear, right now, that when the trumpet sounds and the roll is called, he will be there with the bells on. The attitude is not to be wholly discounted by the fact that the Major comes from Toronto, or the further influence of intimate association with Mr. Rowell.

THAT QUEBEC DECLARATION.

Any get-together propositions as affecting Quebec evidently finds no sympathetic support from Joseph Gauthier, of St. Hyacinthe, one who rarely speaks without saying something real. He represents Quebec as being in no resigning mood, not looking for or wanting any conference, but rather as having been slandered, and quietly waiting the opportunity of coming back, when opportunity offers, with the cumulative force of a long smouldering vengeance.

Gauthier is an aggressive and militant last-ditcher, a type not unknown on the other side of the House among the Ontario group. There is a disposition always to question their views as an accurate expression of predominant feeling anywhere.

F. H. Burnham, of Peterboro, sometimes chases rainbows, but his utterances always have about them the quality of originality. His flare up with Gauthier was the initial piece of fireworks, but the session is yet young. He represents the Grits as overwhelmed already by the farmers, and the Tories likely to be unless they are prudent in policy. His declaration that Protection is the efficient antidote of this rural hysteria, will find a sympathetic echo in many part of the House and country. He puts prohibitionists and witches in the same class, and if this be true, it suggests the horrifying thought of a human bonfire some day in the southeast corner of the Eastern Block.

The debate is well under way, and promises to creak along for the rest of the week, anyway, probably longer.

START BIG PROBE OF NAVY'S WORK

Sims' and Daniels' Complaints to Be Heard by Different Bodies

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(United Press Special.) — A double-barrelled investigation of the navy's work during the war will start in Washington next week.

While the senate naval affairs committee is probing Rear Admiral Sims' charges that the navy department's alleged inefficiency prolonged the conflict, a court of inquiry sitting at the request of Secretary Daniels will be looking into the complaint that Sims removed Rear Admiral Fletcher from command at Brest in 1917, without just cause.

Sims asserted that Fletcher was "so unsatisfactory in judgment and initiative that he was not fit to be in command at Brest. Fletcher wants Sims to prove it. This is not the Admiral Fletcher who fought at Vera Cruz.

URGES UNDERSTANDING WITH UNITED STATES

Von Reventlow Predicts Britain to Be Aligned Against U.S.

BERLIN, March 3. (Special Star Cable)—Germany must not forget that an understanding with the United States is vital, Count von Reventlow, former naval critic for the Tageblatt, declared in an article in the Tages Zeitung today.

Commenting on the campaign of the Liberal and radical press for an understanding with Great Britain, Reventlow warned that Germany "must not overlook British selfishness and must not forget that understanding with America is vital and would be vastly beneficial."

In the new alignment of nations, Reventlow said, Great Britain is sure to be arrayed against the United States and if Great Britain and Germany are together Germany must lose America.

JURY DISAGREES IN BURKE MURDER CASE

Former Deputy Sheriff Committed to Jail to Await New Trial

SKOWHEGAN, Me., March 3. — The jury at the trial of John A. Burke, former deputy sheriff and tax collector at Jackman, who was charged with the murder of Nelson W. Bartley, keeper of a sportsmen's hotel, reported a disagreement today after considering the case 19 hours. Burke was remanded to jail to await a re-trial.

Burke and Bartley had long been friends but quarreled shortly before the latter's death over Canadian liquor smuggling operations in which they had been engaged, and which had been financed with funds Burke had obtained as tax collector. On the night of the murder Burke returned home with a bullet wound in the leg and said that Bartley had shot him. Bartley's body was found in the woods three days later. The defence endeavored to show lack of time and opportunity for the killing and the removal of the body to the woods.

RRITISH DIVORCE LAWS BARBAROUS?

Conan Doyle Warns of Big Loss in Population by Separations

LONDON, March 3. — "Great Britain's divorce laws are the most barbarous in the world, just as our criminal laws used to be in the days when they hung men for stealing sheep," Conan Doyle said in an interview today.

"There are 300,000 persons in Britain who are not allowed to marry. They are separated, and not to form new alliances.

"The result is that for two generations we shall lose in population about the same number as would cover all our losses in the great war.

"If we first allowed all the people to be divorced, and then allowed them to remarry, we could fill up the enormous gap in our population besides making their lives more happy and normal, instead of miserable and morbid.

"We want also to deal with those who are separated, not by law but by private agreement, because they are very often the most delicate minded people who shrink from publicity. None the less, they may have good reasons for separation.

"These are the fathers and mothers of the future generation. Every other Protestant country in the world is more liberal in its divorce law than Great Britain."

ODD ITEMS

THE KEY TO HIS CELLAR.

OAKLAND, Calif., March 3.—Letters by the thousand are being received by the police department from the nation's thirsty. They want to know the ingredients of a drink consumed by a man, name undetermined, who was found buried in the garlic patch of an Italian a few evenings ago. Policeman Bray was making his rounds when he heard a healthy snore. He started an investigation and nearly stumbled on the head of a man, who had taken off his clothing, dug a hole in the garlic patch and buried himself except the head. The stranger told the officer he was sunning himself at the seashore and enjoying all kinds of happiness, and that the garlic had the odor of roses.

NEW YORK, March 3.—Mrs. Mary Mohr of Bensonhurst believes in safety first. Reading in the papers of the wave of crime, she came to the conclusion that there could be no safer place found for her jewels when she journeyed forth than her stocking. She has changed her mind. While she was on the way to visit her aunt, yesterday, in Bayonne, N. J., her garter became undone and her stocking fell. When she investigated, in the shelter of a doorway, two rings, a lavalier and a set of earrings all of which she valued at $2,300 were missing.

SHASTEKA, Finland, March 3.—Yusof Janson is not worried about his losing his popularity with his sweetheart, pretty Olga Ridenaski, because one of the village's young men has just obtained an automobile, the first to be owned here. Other girls might forget all about appointments with their young men, when the new auto draws up in front of their homes and the horn honks, but not Olga. Each evening she takes a ride with Yusof that she says beats any in an automobile.

Yusof, who for years sailed on a whaling ship, several ago caught a baby whale which he brought home and tamed. Each evening the whale, which outgrew the pond in which it was kept and had to be moved to the sea, swims up to the dock near the Janson home and waits there for its master. Yusof and Olga place a harness over its broad head, on which is strapped a seat. Then they give the word and the whale swims away at express speed its head well out of water, so that not even their feet get wet. At the end of each ride Olga and Yusof pour a bushel basket of smelts into the whale's mouth as a treat for the ride.

All of Caldwell's ticket was victorious with the exception of one councilmanic candidate.

WEDDING RING DEARTH CAUSED BY EXTENDED ACTIVITIES OF CUPID

Leap Year Marriages Presaged Will Break All Records—Shortage of Gold and Growing Demand Dealers' Explanation for Shortage

NEW YORK, March 3.—This Leap Year is starting out to set a record in marriages, according to statistics gathered from all parts of the country today.

Increases in marriage licenses during January and February this year over the corresponding period of 1919 ranged from a comparatively few to nearly 100 per cent. Of the cities reporting, Dallas showed the greatest increase. Boston was the only city to report a decrease.

Some officials, notably in New York, Milwaukee, Harrisburg, Denver and Lincoln, Nebr., attribute the gains to women taking advantage of their prerogative to do the proposing. Others suggested the culmination of war romances, while still others said improved economic conditions were responsible.

BIG GAINS in NEW YORK.

New York officials, who reported 6,050 licenses this year compared with 5,296 last year, based their belief that women are proposing on the fact that "a great number of them are paying the $1 license fee."

Harrisburg, Penn., reported 236 this year and 196 last year.

"The figures seem to prove that 1920 brides are not too slow to pop the question or, if not that possibly the leap year thought has lent courage to the men," said Recorder M. H. Taylor.

"Leap Year, perhaps has been responsible for the increase, but you'd better look at the divorce records before you form any conclusions said the license clerk in Lincoln, Nebr., in reporting 213 licenses this year against 152 in 1919.

"I attribute the gain to women's proposals," said Miss May Hines, Cupid's emissary at the Denver license bureau. She reported 533 this year and 301 last year.

Milwaukee reported 627 this year and 531 in 1919, officials giving Leap Year and the "men back from the war" as a reason.

Hartford, Conn., reporting 123 this year and 118 last year, believed culmination of war romances responsible for the increase.

Chicago, Detroit, St. Louis, Cleveland and Columbus, Ohio, said increases were due to higher wages and better economic conditions generally.

Boston, recording a decrease from 1,085 to 1,030 blamed the high cost of living and housing shortage.

Figures from other cities were:

Chicago, 5,376 this year, 4,867 last decrease in the demand for the engagement ring, it was said. The new year: Dallas, 831 and 470; Des Moines, 474 and 344; Detroit, 1,849 and 1,811; St. Louis, 1,400 and 1,238; Springfield, Ill., 122 and 162; Columbus, 576 and 406; Cleveland, 1,516 and 1,200; Richmond, Va., 303 and 288; Buffalo, 791 and 753; San Francisco, 1,125 and 894; Los Angeles, 1,625 and 1,067; Portland, Oregon, 350 and 332.

WEDDING RINGS SCARCE.

Following disclosures that the demand for marriage licenses has increased in all parts of the country during the first two months of Leap Year, it was learned here today there is a scarcity of wedding rings.

A shortage of gold and the growing demand, according to wholesale jewelers, have combined to bring about the ring "famine."

Prospects of combining the engagement and wedding rings into a special design which would serve both purposes, is being discussed and it is probable the new combination engagement-wedding ring will become a reality, jewelers say.

"The brevity" of present day romances has resulted in a noticeable combination ring, it is thought might prove profitable for both the consumer and the manufacturer.

"I can't say whether it's Leap Year or not—but something is wrong with the wedding ring question," declared John A. Griesen, wholesale jeweler.

"The recent decrease in demand for engagement rings is due either to the fact that Leap Year offers to the girls an opportunity to "work faster" at the proposing game and do away with long engagements or the lack of desire on the part of women to wear the rings.

"I think a combination engagement-wedding ring might relieve the present situation besides providing profitable to the prospective bridegrooms who in this manner might save the price of an extra ring."

RENTALS COMMITTEE AWAITING TENANTS WITH COMPLAINTS

Held Organization Meeting This Morning — Dr. Poissant Gives Views of the Proprietors in Defence of Increased Rents

The Montreal Increased Rentals Committee, formed by the Administrative Commission for the purpose of investigating complaints relative to alleged excessive increases in rentals this year, held its initial meeting this morning, decided on its course of procedure, and then adjourned to await the receipt of complaints from tenants who feel that they are being hardly dealt with by their landlords. As soon as three or four of these complaints are received by the chairman of the committee, addressed to J. Hamilton Ferns, at the City Hall, he will call the committee together again and invite the landlords concerned, with the tenants to appear before the committee to see if the increases are justified, and if not whether some amicable settlement cannot be arrived at.

It is pointed out that even if tenants have signed new leases at the increased rentals—which many have done because of the known shortage of houses and the fear they would not be able to get another apartment—they can come before the committee and make their complaints, and a way may be found of getting a reduction in the rental.

The members of the committee present this morning, in addition to the chairman, were F. W. Stewart, representing the City Improvement League; Dr. Desy, representing the Proprietors' League; and Dr. Poissant, nominated by the Chambre de Commerce.

The major portion of the time of the Committee was taken up this morning by hearing the views of Dr. Poissant relative to the right of landlords to increase their rentals. He maintained that since 1915 there had been some lean years for proprietors, who had reduced their rents considerably in order to hold their tenants during the war, when houses were plentiful, and that they had a perfect right now, in his opinion, to increase those rentals not only to pre-war prices, but also to something in excess of that in order to make up for past losses from the same tenants. He declared that he had lost $1,800 in rents during the war, and was anyone to blame him if he tried to make up some of that loss now?

It was pointed out by the chairman that the object of the committee was not to make any arbitrary rulings as to what rentals should be, but to deal with each case on its merits, and the evidence that would be put before them. A landlord would have the right to show how much his property cost him, what revenue he had received from it over a period of years, what expenditures he had made on the building, and what other charges he had on the property, and the committee would then decide what they thought was a fair rental, and try to come to some arrangement between the two parties on the matter.

Dr. Poissant, however, seemed doubtful of the efficacy of the work the committee could do, and launched into lengthy statement regarding the value of a property he bought ten years ago for $5,000 which was assessed at $8,000, and which could not be replaced for $15,000 today, and wanted to know what assessment would be placed on such a building.

Mr. Stewart remarked that the committee were not there to discuss any one particular landlord's point of view, but to define the duties of the committee and let the people know what they were going to do and what they were there for. They could not discuss the individual view of each landlord.

Dr. Poissant said he would do all he could to assist in conciliation work, but he thought the committee might also study the whole question and if they found abuses, as he was convinced existed, they should try and get the Government to remedy them by legislation.

The chairman: If a man came and showed us he was getting seven or eight per cent on his investment and had made repairs the committee would judge if it was right.

Dr. Poissant: Suppose he made 12 or 15 per cent what would you do?

The Chairman: We would look into the matter and ascertain all the facts we could and then decide.

Dr. Poissant: The Committe has no power to subpoena anybody unfortunately.

The Chairman: There may be ways in which we can get the people required to come here.

The information that tenants will be asked to give to the committee either in writing or verbally is the name of their landlord, number of rooms occupied, monthly rental and increases, repairs done, term of lease and similar details, while landlords will be asked the rental increases from 1918, the number of apartments in the house, cost of improvements since lease was signed, the mortgages on the property, interest paid, other expenses, total expenses and receipts, insurance and similar facts.

Provincial Prohibition Convention Opened with Small Storm

WORDING IGNORED

Considerable Discussion Over Reconvening Last Year's Convention

The Provincial Prohibition convention in St. James' Methodist Church this morning opened with a clash over over the regularity of the notice calling the convention. As soon as Dr. E. I. Hart had read the minutes of an informal meeting of representatives of various temperance organizations at which a resolution was passed to reconvene last year's convention, Judge Leet asked, "can Dr. Hart explain why he did not call the convention in the way decided by the resolution?"

Dr. Trueman, in reply, regretted that the wording of the resolution had been departed from through neglect, and was only noticed when it was too late. The chairman, W. H. Wiggs, suggested that this could be put right by a motion that this be considered a re-convened convention. A resolution was then proposed "that this convention reassembled sustain the action of the committee in calling this convention to hear the reports of the campaign committee and take steps regarding further united action of all organizations in Quebec."

Judge Leet seconded this, expressing the wish, however, that the resolution should describe the convention as a "re-convened convention." The mover, Rev. J. J. Potter, could not agree to this, as there was no guarantee that all the last year's delegates were still here. The resolution was then carried unanimously.

Dr. Trueman's remark that he was sure Dr. Hart had tried to be fair, and did not wish to hurt anyone's feelings, further roused Judge Leet's ire. "When we know that Dr. Hart listened for half an hour to the committee discussing the wording of this summons, and then find that wording ignored, I cannot agree that he acted in good faith."

Chairman Wiggs: "A little stupidity is common to all men, and we should not allow a little fly in the ointment to bother us in so stupendous a matter."

MAKES GRAVE CHARGES.

Judge Leet: "There is no greater man for working in harmony than myself, and I resent any suggestion that I am bringing disharmony into the convention. But you know some people in Montreal are trying to kill the Dominion Alliance. The Dominion Alliance fought for this wording, and won, and it has been ignored, and the wording of the Anti-Liquor League followed."

R. L. Werry pointed out that it was out of order to discuss the matter further, as a resolution had been passed confirming the convening of the meeting.

S. J. Carter raised the question of how they could legally control the funds in the hands of the campaign committee, not being a re-call of the convention which created the committee. It was agreed that the delegates present who took part in the previous convention could meet as a re-convened meeting to deal with this question, and the business of the meeting was then proceeded with.

MORE DANGEROUS THAN GERMANS.

W. H. Wiggs and Dr. Trueman were appointed chairman and secretary of the convention. The previous year's business committee was re-elected, with power to add to their numbers and instructed to submit names for a resolutions committee. The report of the campaign committee was read and adopted. The question of the disposal of the funds in the hands of the campaign committee was referred to the business committee.

Rev. W. D. Reid pointed out in a short address that drink had wounded and maimed more men than the Germans, and we could not win until we united against the drink, just as the Allies had to unite under one command to defeat the Germans.

SAYS LIQUOR LAW NOT ENFORCED.

Howard Ross, K.C., opened the discussion on the Quebec liquor laws by a paper showing how provincial laws and the Scott Act defeated each other's purpose by their discrepancies.

Mrs. Scott considered the position very serious. She had called upon provincial officers regarding liquor law questions, and found them too busy buying and selling coal to attend to her. A provincial officer should be paid well and be independent of trading.

Rev. John Chisholm, who was entrusted with the meeting of returned soldiers, regretted the passing of the beer and wines law.

C. P. Rice was convinced that our regulation was far in advance of public opinion, and the best work the convention could do was along educational lines.

The committees appointed are as follows—Business committee: Presidents of all organizations represented, with the addition of J. H. Carson and Dr. E. I. Hart, and with power to add to their number. Resolutions committee: Rev. W. D. Reid, Judge Leet, Rev. Mr. Hinton, J. N. Stevenson, R. L. Werry, Mrs. J. Scott and Mrs. Curry.

THE MASS MEETING.

Tomorrow evening a mass meeting in the main auditorium of St. James' Methodist Church will be addressed by F. Scott McBride and other speakers. Mr. McBride is State Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Illinois, member of the General Council of the World League Against Alcoholism, and member of the Board of Trustees of the Anti-Saloon League of America. He was chairman of the conference committee whose plan of Anti-Saloon League re-organization was adopted by representatives of the various State leagues at Chicago last September.

Mr. McBride's most notable achievement as superintendent of the Illinois league was his work in connection with legislative campaigns.

Mr. McBride is a relentless prohibitionist and a master of the art of stirring up enthusiasm among his audience. He has spoken at every national convention of the Anti-Saloon League for eight years.

Man of Many Aliases Held on Three Charges of Theft

Liquor Dealer Says He Fell for Prisoner's Con Game

Henri Campeau, alias Belanger, alias Lepage, whose real name, however, is thought by the police to be Henri Carre, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Detectives Thibault and Therrien as he was walking along St. Catherine street east. He appeared this morning before Judge Lanctot and pleaded not guilty to three charges of theft—all alleged to have been confidence tricks, offering imaginary cases of wines and liquors and obtaining the money in advance.

Besides the names borrowed from the police department a number of other aliases were read and showed that he has been known as Genereux, Bienvenu, Desautel, Brown, Tremblay, Gagnon and other names.

According to the detective department the man was arrested about a year ago in Montreal, but made a most sensational escape, jumping from a third story window and landing unhurt in a back yard. For over twelve months he has successfully evaded the minions of the law, although he is said to be wanted in Ontario, Hull, Que., and other places in the Province of Quebec.

The three charges read out against him this morning were theft of $217 from Charles Edouard Trottier, a St. Denis street wine merchant, on February 23; theft of $320 from O. A. Rozon, on February 4 and theft of $50 from P. N. Cave on January 10.

According to Trottier the man with the many names came to his store one day and told the merchant confidentially that he had a few cases of "very fine champagne and brandy" for sale. It was private stock, the property of a professional man in the city and he had been authorized to sell it. His commission would be $2 per case.

As a very low price was asked the merchant decided that he was getting the wares dirt cheap and agreed to take it over. He was led to a house on Sherbrooke street where the supposed professional man "a doctor" had the liquor goods. There he was told that he must give the money in advance. As they were already inside the hall the would-be purchaser thought it safe to give over the $217 and did so. In the meantime the agent would go right into the next room and introduce the owner.

There elapsed a certain period of time before the merchant realized that he had been duped. He wandered back to his store with a heavy heart, but gave such a good description of his man at police headquarters that the arrest followed only a few days after.

The trial was fixed for March 10.

SAYS CUSTOMS CHARGES UNFAIR

Board of Trade Objects to Paying Customs on $4.86 for a Pound

The council of the Board of Trade, which meets this afternoon, is now taking up the question of the customs exchange rate of $4.86. This figure has no relation whatever to the actual value of the pound sterling and yet Canadian importers of British goods are compelled to pay to the Canadian Government on that value.

Big importers here are taking a serious view of the situation since, it is pointed out, the American exporter to Canada is enjoying advantages the other way. The importers of American goods only pay duty on the value at one dollar instead of $1.15 or as high as $1.18.

"A lot of the extra duty gouged out of the Canadian importers of British goods is thus given away to the American exporter," was the summing up of one importer today.

The fair basis of customs valuation has already been adopted by New Zealand. In the official New Zealand Gazette a rate averaged on the previous 14 days is proclaimed for all incoming merchandise. It is to some extent a fixed rate that Canadian importers are wishing for but a rate that bears some relation to the exchange market.

On inquiries made today it was learned that the system adopted by New Zealand would be acceptable to Canadian importers generally. Under the present rate of customs valuation there is over a dollar in the English pound against the Canadian importer of British goods and as much the other way in favor of American imports. This is given as another potent reason for the adverse exchange situation in Canada.

DOINGS AROUND McGILL

McGill Law Men Have Inspiring Visit from Country Cousin

The Mock Parliament sitting last night, for the last time this season, in the Union, was the scene of much hilarity due to the visit of "Si Whiffletree," his relatives and friends from Sims' Corners who came to present petitions on various subjects of great importance to His Majesty's Government and Loyal Opposition. The event was staged by the students of the Faculty of Law, who, feeling it incumbent upon them to produce an entertainment of real merit, saw to it that none of the details necessary to make the performance a success were lacking. The delegation from Sims' Corners was met at the Windsor Station and escorted through the streets, where objects of interest to the visitors, were pointed out. At the Union they were heartily welcomed by the honorable members of the House. The session from then on lost some of the austre parliamentary dignity which has been one of its characteristics in the past and the students proceeded to enjoy themselves heartily. At the close of the evening F. D. Genest, the creator of "Si" whose letters have appeared from time to time in one of the students' publication, received an ovation from his fellow students. The event proved so successful that it is hoped by many, that the Faculty of Law will see fit to make it an annual function.

The first annual meeting of the Old Scouts Club will be held tomorrow evening in Strathcona Hall. The election of officers will take place.

The Y.W.C.A. will open a campaign among the students of R.V.C. this week to raise funds necessary for the support of secretaries in Ceylon and Hong Kong to which the college women of Canada have pledged themselves. The objective for McGill women is $500.

The annual dinner of the Dental Society will be held in the Windsor Hotel on March 11.

The last of the series of inter-class debates of the R.V.C. students will be held this afternoon when the Seniors and Sophomores will discuss the follolinw subject:—Resolved that war is an essential factor in the development of a nation.

The first of the inter-collegiate debates with which McGill is concerned will take place on the evening of March 10 in the Union, where McGill will meet the representatives of Ottawa College to debate on the following subject: "Resolved that now that peace has been concluded there should be no greater or other restrictions upon freedom of speech and assembly than those which were the law of the land before the war.

At the meeting of the Political Economy Clug this evening the subject of the paper to be given by M. J. Raphael is "Organized Labor in Canada."

Nominations to offices in the larger students' societies are now complete with the result that six men have been elected by acclamation as follows: D. R. Learoyd, Med. '21, president of the Students' Council; C. R. Thompson, Science '22, vice-president of the Union; Sydney Davis, Science '22, secretary of the Union; R. L. Hamilton, president of the Track Club; G. A. Parkins, president of the Rugby Club; and J. H. Cuily, president of the Hockey Club. The nominations for president of the Union and of the Athletic Association will be voted upon later.

TRAFALGAR SCHOOL DEMONSTRATION.

A demonstration of gymnasium work by the pupils of Trafalgar Institute under Miss Eliot Edwards, physical director of the school, will be given in the school assembly hall on Saturday evening, at eight o'clock. Invitation have been issued to parents of the pupils.

McGILL HEADSHIP DISCUSSED TONIGHT

No Names for Principal Have Yet Come Before Committee

The members of the special committee, which was selected by the Board of Governors of McGill to name a new principal for the University, will meet for the first time to-night.

It was emphatically denied by the authorities that any names had been considered or that any steps had been taken in the matter yet. The rumor that the new head will be chosen from overseas is without foundation at present, for the committee has not met to discuss the question.

It was also stated that the trip to England which Wm. Birks one of the selection committee, is taking shortly was arranged long before the present situation developed.

Returned Men Attack Anti-British Hearst Publications

A denunciation of the Hearst newspapers and everything printed emanating from the Hearst Press, was delivered yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Executive Council of the Imperial Order Sons of the Empire. John MacNaughton said that the Canadian public were altogether too tolerant of the vile abuse that was heaped upon everything British by this arch enemy of the English speaking people.

"It would appear to be the policy of Hearst to take every possible opportunity of arousing the elements that make a profession of attacking the British Government and the people of the United Kingdom," said Mr. MacNaughton. "I would strongly advise that this Order, which should at once communicate with the Government and ask it to prohibit the entry into Canada of the Hearst publications."

Captain Gerrard and A. J. Whimbey both agreed with Mr. MacNaughton and the secretary was instructed to prepare a resolution embodying the opinion of the meeting.

A discussion then arose as to the Government appointments being made through the Civil Service Commission. Several expressed the opinion that the commission should be abolished, that as matters stand at present, it is directly detrimental to the returned man, officer or private, who possessing native wit or ability, but lacking academical training, is debarred from obtaining the employment to which he is entitled before any other person or class. It was decided to more fully discuss the matter and take action thereon at the next meeting.

It was announced that a meeting of the Order would be held Friday evening at 8 p.m. in the rooms of the Old Colony Club, Windsor Hotel, when Bernard Rose will deliver an address on the newly created Court of Industrial Relations that came into being as a result of a message from the Governor of the State of Kansas, calling an extraordinary session of the Legislature.

DOMINION-WIDE HIGHWAY PLAN

Important Action Expected at Good Roads' Convention

An inter-Provincial conference of Government highway officials will be the feature of the seventh annual Canadian Good Roads Convention which is to be held at the Royal Alexandra Hotel, Winnipeg, June 1, 2 and 3, under the presidency of S. L. Squire. This conference, which will commence on the second day of the convention, will follow up the work done at the last convention at Quebec, where an inter-Provincial convention of highway ministers was held, the result of which was a broadening of the policy adopted in the different provinces in regard to improved highways. These officials, acting as the official delegates of their respective governments, together with officials representing the Federal Government, will discuss such matters as road laws, traffic regulation, automobile taxation, as well as the construction and maintenance of highways and other matters connected therewith, with a view to working out a uniform system of laws for the whole Dominion.

Every municipality in Canada, and they number over 3,500, is being sent an invitation to send delegates to the convention, which is open to all members of the association, and seeing that millions of dollars have been spent on road work in the past, a great part of which has been wasted through lack of expert knowledge of how to solve the problems that have arisen in construction, it is anticipated that many hundreds of delegates will foregather in the prairie city in order to learn from the practical men who will be the speakers, what they should do to get the best return for their expenditure.

The major portion of the papers and discussions will be devoted to such aspects of road construction as particularly interest the western provinces, as conditions there are somewhat different from those that exist in the eastern provinces, and it is the desire of the executive of the Canadian Good Roads Association to have as speakers men who know western conditions and have in other parts of the country solved the difficulties that municipalities are up against there. The association has a Dominion charter, and its sole object is to collect and distribute information concerning highway legislation, construction and maintenance throughout Canada and to stimulate and encourage in all ways the improvement, construction and maintenance of roads, the whole from an educational and practical standpoint.

POLICE SEIZED 63 IN DISTRICT RAID

Ages Ranged from 18 to 60 —Men Fined—Women Remanded

Sixty-three men and women, ranging in age from 18 to 60 years, appeared before Recorder Semple to-day on charges of being keepers of disorderly houses, inmates of disorderly houses and selling liquor without a license.

Two of the male accused charged with being inmates, stated that they boarded at the house. Recorder Semple was loath to take their word and assessed them $25 and costs with the advice that it would be wise to move to a house with a more savory character.

Three others who had been freed on bail last night appeared and seemed to treat the matter as an immense joke. They were not familiar with the temperament of the Recorder, however. He assessed the "freshest" of these $100 and costs, the other two paying the usual $25.

In all but one case the men found in the resorts pleaded guilty to being found in a disorderly house, while the women pleaded not guilty and were remanded until March 10.

Capt. Sauve, Inspector Egan and the morality squad conducted the raids, nine houses being the total raided during yesterday afternoon and evening. In every case the keepers of the houses were charged with selling liquor.

INFLUENZA CASES STILL DECLINE

Ten Cases Reported Up to Noon Today—Figures Liable to Vary

A very marked decrease in the number of influenza cases reported to the City Hall this morning leads the city health department officers to reiterate their opinion that the disease is decidedly on the wane. Only 10 new cases were reported up to noon today. Four deaths were reported, two of them occurring from influenza and two from pneumonia.

Yesterday's figures were somewhat higher than those reported over the week-end. There were 53 new cases and 31 deaths. Of the latter 16 were from influenza, nine from pneumonia and six from broncho-pneumonia.

Dr. Boucher points out that the figures are liable to variation for some days yet and that the death list, resulting from cases reported a week ago, may increase for a few days, but he believes that the number of new cases will now show a rapid decline.

FUNERAL OF LATE M. J. STACK TODAY

Attended by two hundred and fifty mourners, the funeral of the late M. J. Stack took place this morning from 4824 Western avenue, Westmount, to St. Leo's Church, and thence to Cote des Neiges Cemetery. Public bodies with which the deceased was connected were represented at the funeral, including the Montreal Automobile Association, the Knights of Columbus, St. Patrick's Society and the Rotary Club, and a large number of personal friends and relatives were also present. A profusion of flowers decorated the cortege, an elaborate centrepiece representing a broken column, the tribute of a number of intimate friends, attracting considerable attention.

The body was received at St. Leo's Church by Father O. Gauthier, the parish priest, Mass being sung by Father Heffernan, of St. Augustine's, assisted by Father Cullinan and Father O'Byrne, of St. Laurent College, Father McShane, of St. Patrick's, and Father McCory, of St. Gabriel's, attended in the sanctuary, and Professor R. Pelletier officiated at the organ.

Among the large body of citizens who attended the funeral were George A. McNamee, representing the Automobile Club of Canada, William Jennings, Ald. Brennan, of Verdun; James Slattery, Dr. Chabot, Nelson Howard, George Bowers, Hugh Miller, J. Colfer and T. C. Kirby.

The Lafontaine Council of the Knights of Columbus, most of whose members have already subscribed individually, have forwarded a contribution of $3,000. Mgr. Gauthier and Judge Surveyor addressed a meeting of ex-students of St. Mary's College yesterday, urging the importance of the campaign.

DIED ON WAY HERE.

A verdict of natural death from the injuries received as the result of an accident was given this morning by Deputy Coroner Prince at the inquest into the death of W. H. Pinkham, 50 years of age, of Scotstown, P.Q., who died at Montfort Junction last night whilst on his way to this city for treatment at the Royal Victoria Hospital for the injuries he received when he fell from the top of a car on the C.N.R. tracks near his home, yesterday morning.

The condition of Mrs. W. J. Shaughnessy, 659 Mountain street, who has been under treatment for influenza at the Royal Victoria Hospital for the last eleven days, remains the same today, although the hospital reports there are signs of early improvement.

ANNUAL PASSES GRANTED BY C.P.R.

The granting or annual passes to employes of the Canadian Pacific Railway who have been in the service of the company for a long period, has been announced through the president, E. W. Beatty, K.C.

Officers, employes and their wives will benefit under the new scheme. An employe who has served continuously for ten years or more in a general superintendent's district, will be granted an annual pass over that district in which he is employed. Such an employe who has served continuously for twenty years will be granted an annual pass good over either eastern or western lines according to the district in which he is employed. Arrangements are made for the granting of passes to employes of other departments. Head office employes, men or women, of fifteen years' service will receive annual passes over either eastern or western lines.

The new scheme is part of the C.P.R.'s policy aiming at the contentment and loyalty of the employes. It is in line with Lord Shaughnessy's pension fund to which the employes contribute nothing, but which ensures them a protection in their declining years.

SMALL FIRE IN TENEMENT.

A fire which caused damage to the third floor of a tenement building, broke out at 204 Barre street, at nine o'clock this morning. The flames, which were caused by a coal stove which had been placed on a wooden floor, and which was used for heating purposes, spread rapidly along the floor and up the walls.

Three fire stations responded to the alarm, and under Capt. Dollan, were able to get the flames under control in twenty minutes. The blaze caused about $200 worth of damage.

You Long For Simple Pewter

Gilbert & Sullivan in one of their operas tell of a King of olden days of whom it was said that "every blessed thing he held was either Silver or of Gold that he longed for Simple Pewter." The opposite of this idea would fit most cases.

To-day people don't, of course, use pewter — the demand is for Fine Silver Plate which shall resemble as closely as may be genuine Sterling Silver.

Birks Plate has for its base metal a high quality English Nickle Silver over which is a heavy coating of pure Silver—hardened and finished to give that durability for which it is famous all over Canada.

THE DAY IN PARLIAMENT

SHARP DEBATE ON THE ADDRESS IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

D. D. Mackenzie Would Deal with No Country Not Recognizing Value of Dollar—Quebec Episode—Explanation of Robson Affair Asked

Special to The Star from Our Own Correspondent.

PRESS GALLERY, HOUSE OF COMMONS, OTTAWA, March 3.—The exchange situation was the subject of some interesting remarks during the debate on the address by D. D. Mackenzie, yesterday afternoon.

"Let me say this to the Government and to the country," said Mr. Mackenzie, "and I am not particular in what way it may be understood, in fact, it can be understood in only one way, that while I am anxious for the widest possible trade with foreign countries, I would not trade to the extent of one five-cent piece with any country which will not recognize my Canadian dollar at the full face value of that dollar. If this country is loyal to itself, loyal to its principles, loyal to its institutions, it will stand by Canadianism in the matter of having any trade with any country that will not recognize the Canadian dollar at the full value as international currency.

"I am not in favor of any restriction of trade, but I am in favor of Canada trading where there is fair trade and where she is properly treated. If there is any reason why any country should be willing to sell goods to us and yet not recognize the face value of the dollars with which we pay for them, that reason should be clearly stated.

"Although this condition of things has existed for some time, although millions have been lost to the people of Canada as a result of this condition, yet not a word has come from the Government with regard to the making of any effort to bring about better conditions or to relieve the people of Canada of this great drain upon their resources.

"I am not saying whether the Government could do anything or not, surely they could satisfy the people if it is possible to satisfy them in that regard, of what should or could be done in regard to the adverse exchange conditions which have prevailed during the past few months."

MOWAT'S ABLE DEFENSE OF GOVERNMENT.

Major H. W. Mowat of Toronto, described the Liberal amendment as a policy of "safety first." He made a strong plea for a reunion with Quebec. Mr. Blondin, he asserted, had been defeated in Quebec because he had stood for beliefs which were the beliefs of a great part of Canada. There were more real Liberals, he said, on the Unionist side of the House than on the other side. Men who called themselves Conservatives were more radical than those who called themselves Liberal. "I have been astounded," said he, "to find the uprootings some alleged Tories have proposed to do.

DECLARES UNION GOVERNMENT SAVED CANADA DURING WAR

Mr. Mowatt sketched briefly the circumstances under which he had entered the Unionist party. The Liberals who left their party, he affirmed, had expected to be defeated. They had no idea of personal aggrandizement. They were playing the game for what they thought was right for Canada and not for their party. The members to the right of the Speaker, he said, did not form a party, but he saw no reason why they did not form a party when a group of men desired good government without regard to party shibboleths. Why should they not form a party? If there was a party formed which accorded with their ideals, he could assure honorable gentlemen opposite that the Liberal-Unionists would join it. (Cheers.) It had been said that the Government was not popular. For himself he did not want to support a Government during the war because it was popular; he wanted to support it because it did what was right. How many things that were unpopular the Government had had to do. It was the only thing that saved Canada during the war, the fact that it had a Government which was not afraid to do things that were not popular. (Cheers).

QUEBEC WAITING FOR ITS HOUR.

L. J. Gauthier, of St. Hyacinthe, spoke briefly in English, in reply to the statement of Mr. Mowatt that he desired to see a rapprochement with Quebec.

Said Mr. Gauthier: "I will quote the voice of one of our public men who says that Quebec is not in a state of mind to enter into any conference. It has been misjudged; it has been badly treated; it has been slandered, it is waiting for its hour and after that it will confer but not before."

Speaking in French, Mr. Gauthier asserted that the Government had itself to blame for the creation of a strong Farmers' Party. That party had grown up because of the broken pledges of the Union Government. Mr. Gauthier congratulated his own province on its steadfastness in the face of general unrest.

J. H. Burnham inquired whether Mr. Gauthier intended his statement regarding Quebec's hour as a threat, and a brief altercation followed, Mr. Burnham asserting that when Quebec's hour did come, "we shall be ready to hold our own." He also declared that we have had to put up with insults from Quebec.

He predicted that the Liberals would be overswept by the "great swarm" of the Farmers' Party," and two years hence the Liberal Party would not be called by name. He expressed the view, too, that unless the Conservative Party returned to its principles, it also would go down before the United Farmers.

Prohibitionists came in for Mr. Burnham's attention, who declared that the logic of prohibition was illogical.

DEMANDS EXPLANATION OF ROBSON'S RESIGNATION.

P. F. Casgrain, of Charlevoix, Montmorency, demanded that the Government should make public the reasons for the resignation of Judge Robson, as "one of the most capable men the Government had made use of," but said that prices had not been reduced by the Board.

Mr. Casgrain affirmed that "the devil is not dead," and that his "spirit has animated the persons of several members of the Government in their repeated assurances that all is well with the country." He described the Government as composed of remnants of a past administration, "makeshifts," "dummies and green grocers."

KING'S ATTACK ON BORDEN CONDEMNED.

Dr. Thompson, of the Yukon, condemned the Opposition leader for his attack upon Sir Robert Borden when the Premier was away seeking the recovery of his health.

"I am sure my honorable friend does not wish to misrepresent me," interposed Mr. King. "If my remarks were in any way taken to mean what he infers, I am extremely sorry. They did not reflect in any way upon Sir Robert Borden as Prime Minister. Everyone hopes that he will soon be back again with his health fully restored. I wished to urge the desirability of a Prime Minister being in his place in the House to answer questions."

The last speaker of the day was Emmanuel Danjou, of Rimouski, who criticized the Government for the dismissals at the Bureau and for the War Time Election Act of 1917.

ATTACK IN PARLIAMENT ON PROHIBITIONISTS.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 3 (By Canadian Press).—A bitter attack upon prohibitionists by J. H. Burnham, Peterboro, featured the opening of the evening session. After declaring that the day of coal was over, and that electricity was not nearly as valuable to the business world as industrial alcohol, Mr. Burnham said this same industrial alcohol was the hope of the business world, but was in danger of being lost through the narrowness of the prohibitionists.

Even the alcohol which comes to Canada now has to go to Ottawa because of the nervousness of the prohibitionists and be diluted before it is sent out over the Dominion, he said.

If you would have the country thrown into the same frightful explosion as that which overtook Russia through this very same cause, then let the individual rights and individual liberties continue to be trampled upon. There never was any system which could substitute 'must' for 'ought,' he declared.

"I am also very glad to see that my friend on the other side of the House," he said, referring to D. D. McKenzie, "has come out openly and unequivocally for protection for Canadian industries. It takes courage to do that, especially among his present colleagues."

DOES NOT BLAME LABOR.

Mr. Bunham did not blame labor seeking shorter hours, especially coal miners, when coal operators across the line were said to be making from 400 to 2,000 per cent. profit. But the farmers' case was very much different owing to conditions over which he had no control. The farmer did not want shorter hours, neither did he want daylight saving, the speaker urged. He asked the farmers to picture what the rest of Canada would be like if the farmers lined up their organization on one side and the manufacturers on the other and went into a fight to the finish.

On the racial question, the speaker urged Ontario and Quebec to remember that if they quarrelled both would be ruined. He concluded his speech and his reference to prohibition with, "we must drop the racial and party cry. We are all men and should be loyal, loyal to old affiliations to some extent, but within reason. We are all human beings and must lastly be loyal to human liberty and human rights."

EMBARGO ON FOREIGN SECURITIES.

P. F. Casgrain, Charlevoix-Montmorency, criticized the Government for lack of definite legislative programme in the Speech from The Throne. If business was as good as stated in the Address, why was it necessary to place an embargo on the sale of foreign securities within Canada or to fix a price on Victory Bonds. The people of Canada were just as heavily taxed as those of any other country, he declared. Neither had the Government done anything to bring down the high cost of living.

Mr. Archambault gives notice that he will ask in the Commons for a return showing the list of lawyers in Quebec province who acted: (a) as public representatives; (b) military representatives; (c) in the office of the registrars; and (d) in the offices of the central appeal judge, during the administration of the Military Service Act, showing the amount paid to each of the said lawyers.

ROBSON CORRESPONDENCE TABLED.

When the House adjourned last night, Sir George Foster tabled in the House the correspondence between himself and Judge Robson, covering the latter's resignation as Chairman of the Board of Commerce.

JUDGE ROBSON'S LETTER.

Judge Robson, in his letter of resignation, states simply that he finds it impossible to remove his home to Ottawa and his presence is required in Winnipeg. The Acting Premier, in his acknowledgment, accepts Judge Robson's resignation with regret.

Judge Robson says: "The economic policy of the country should be towards high prices and against low prices. Numerous governmental agencies, at the expense of the people of Canada, are doing their best to get the highest world prices for Canadian produce. In view of this, any machinery to reduce prices of this produce is simply abortive."

The Combines and Fair Prices Act, adds Judge Robson, has been administered by the Board to deal only with the necessaries of life, and profiteers in other commodities were left to do as they please. The effect appeared to be to deter business men from dealing in such necessaries of life, for which, the judge points out, dealers had a right to get the highest possible price in the export market.

Judge Robson continued: "It seems to me, further, that the Act actually contains a provision which removes the last chance the consumer had to do anything for himself in reducing the cost of living. There never was, before the Act, anything to prevent a group of consumers from co-operating in the purchase of necessaries. They took their chance of being able to buy.

"But a declaration of Parliamentary policy crept in to the Act, and the manufacturer or wholesaler is not bound to sell to classes who were not accustomed to purchase from such manufacturers and wholesalers. This was designed to head off co-operative movements which were likely to make progress for the benefit of the consumer-members, and, as I say, restricted a remedy which elsewhere had been of some effect in price control."

"My short experience," the letter begins, "on the Board of Commerce in the administration of the Combines and Fair Prices Act has led me to views which make it improper for me to hold a position on that board. The fact is that I am out of sympathy with the Act, and it is my duty to inform you thereof."

UNFORSEEN EXPENSES.

Interesting figures are shown in a statement tabled yesterday with regard to miscellaneous unforseen expenses—the total is $32,222.70 — included in the total are the following: Prince of Wales visit $8,690.45; President of Brazil's visit, $4,333.62, while J. G. Rutherford's Racing Commission cost $7,200.00; other visits for which expenses were incurred were those of the King and Queen of Belgium, Cardinal Mercier, Prime Minister of New Zealand, General Pau and Miss Cartier.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL'S WARRANT.

A statement of Governor-General's warrants issued since the last session of Parliament, was tabled in the House last evening. It shows that a total of $101,790.00 was expended by the Government on the visit of the Prince of Wales, out of a total appropriation of $120,000.00. A total of $2,900,000.00 was expended for the purchase of seed grain and $150,000 for screenings for stock feed. The rebuilding of the elevator at Port Colborne accounted for an expenditure of $315,000.00, and $20,520.00 went for transportation of live stock and feed to Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba. Payments for relief of distress among the Indians totalled $44,155.00.

IN THE SENATE

REGARDS REMOVAL SUGAR RESTRICTION CHILDISH ACTION

Two Senate Leaders Take Leading Part in Debate on Address

BOARD DENOUNCED

Nations League, Exchange, Labor Unrest, Discussed by Senators

OTTAWA, March 3, (By Canadian Press).—Senator Bostock, leader of the Opposition, and Senator Lougheed, Government leader were heard in the Senate yesterday afternoon in the debate on the Address in reply to the Speech from The Throne.

Senator Bostock urged trade with countries which accepted the Canadian dollar at its face value and pointed out this would stimulate trade within the Empire. He characterized the action of the Board of Commerce in removing restrictions on sugar as childlike.

Senator James Lougheed said the work of the Board of Commerce on the whole was good and resulted in benefits to the people of the country. The greatness of Canada in the future depended largely on the development of manufacturing. While Canada was an agricultural country there were other natural resources to be developed.

Senator Chapais, in seconding the speech from the Throne, endorsed proportional representation.

Before the debate was begun, Sir James told Senator Bostock that the Government had no information concerning the report that Sir Auckland Geddes was to be appointed British Ambassador to Washington. He stated that the matter was one for the British Government alone.

Senator Foster gave notice calling for the appointment of a committee to consider a suitable memorial to the memory of Colonel Harry Baker, a member of Parliament, who fell in the war.

Sir James Lougheed gave notice of the appointment of a committee to act with a committee of the Commons to consider the consolidating of the law, translation and stenographic branches of the two Chambers.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

In seconding the address, Senator Chapais referred to the League of Nations. The idea of peoples allying for peace had not, he said, originated with President Wilson, but it was to his credit that he had proposed the plan to the Peace Conference. Canada had been accorded representation on the International Labor Bureau, but the Senator felt it was doubtful that uniform labor regulations could be established throughout the world. However, if a general code of principles could be formulated which would assure more harmonious co-operation among industrial classes, the International Labor Bureau would not have been created in vain.

Referring to the proposed Franchise Act, Senator Chapais advocated the Belgian system of proportional representation with manhood suffrage and plural voting. He advocated increased production to fight the high cost of living.

EXCHANGE SITUATION.

Senator Bostock, Opposition leader, in following referred to the depreciation of Canadian currency saying that people were beginning to understand that they must produce more and spend less, and that they would be well advised to deal with countries that accepted Canadian money at a higher valuation than was placed upon it by their immediate neighbors. The result would be stimulation of trade between Canada and other parts of the Empire. He said the country was beginning to view with alarm the large sum that it cost to operate the Government system of railways and were beginning to think that it might have been better to leave these railways under management which would have shown profits instead of deficits.

ATTACKS REMOVAL SUGAR REGULATIONS.

The action of the Board of Commerce in removing all restrictions on the price of sugar appeared to Senator Bostock, a childlike action for men in a position of trust. The Government should step in and teach the Commissioners their duty to the country. While regretting the illness of the Prime Minister, Senator Bostock thought it a dangerous thing for the country to be left so long without a Premier. He hoped that he should soon get back to strict observance of constitutional safeguards.

LABOR UNREST.

Sir James Lougheed, leader of the Government, referred to the disturbed conditions which Canada, in common with other nations, was facing owing to the war. Forces which had been held in check by autocracy were now expressing themselves in violence, and they might have to run their course before normal conditions would be restored. Labor unrest was adding to the difficulty of obtaining commodities. It was marvellous that the position of Canada had remained as good as it was.

Sir James referred appreciatively to the achievements of the Union Government during the war. Happily, he said, the trade of the country was the largest in its history. He defended the Board of Commerce, which, he said, had been working for the benefit of the people. In conclusion he emphasized the importance of developing Canadian manufacturers, and deprecated the tendency to pull down tariff walls under which, for the last forty years industries had been developed in the Dominion.

Senator Dandurand adjourned the debate, and the Senate adjourned until this afternoon.

WALL ST. BOND ROBBERY

Jules W. (Nicky) Arnstein, sought by the police in connection with the conspiracy to rob Wall Street brokers of $5,000,000 in securities. After he was seen in Cleveland, it is said that he received a tip that detectives were on their way from New York to arrest him and that he fled to Toledo. His wife, known on the stage as Fanny Brice, has declared that she knows nothing of his whereabouts.

GEDDES DECLARES TRADE RIVALRY IS ONLY HINDRANCE

Would End All English and American Propaganda

DRAWING TOGETHER

Guest at Unique Luncheon Tendered by Lady Astor at Her Home

LONDON, March 3 (United News Special) — Commercial rivalry is all that hinders a good understanding between the United States and Great Britain, declared Sir Auckland Geddes, newly appointed English Ambassador to Washington at a luncheon given by Lady Astor at her home yesterday. The other guests were American press correspondents.

"The best way to promote good will between the two countries," said Sir Auckland, who was formerly president of McGill University in Canada and has a wide acquaintance in the United States, "is to cut out all the English and American propaganda and to prove to the world that we have good will to all countries."

Lady Astor was quite genial and there was a comfortable feeling of home throughout the affair. Her children and their governess came in during the luncheon and were presented to the correspondents.

MOST UNIQUE LUNCHEON.

Everyone thought it was the most unique luncheon in the annals of diplomacy. Lady Astor chatted freely about Sir Auckland before his arrival at her home and expressed her entire satisfaction over his appointment, which, she said, she had worked hard to secure. He was remarkably suited for the post, she believed, because of his personal characteristics and because of his knowledge of the American gained throughout his residence in Canada.

Before asking Sir Auckland to speak, she called on each of the correspondents for an opinion as to the best way of promoting friendship between the two nations.

"I think that England and America have been receding from each other, but that the two nations are drawing together again," said the Ambassador. "It will take time and the best place to plant the seeds of good will is in the universities and colleges of the two countries. Over here labor follows the university men, who are in that way able to pass on much of their education."

AGAINST SECRET DIPLOMACY.

"Another reason for friction between the United States and Great Britain is that the people are so much alike they think any attempt to understand each other is unnecessary. They start off with the idea 'Here's a man like myself. He must hold the same views.' Then they find that he hasn't the same views and they are incensed. Whereas both would excuse the same thing in French and Germans."

Sir Auckland disclaimed any desire for secret diplomacy on the part of the British, saying that as soon as any decision was reached, it should be made public.

He pointed out the need in Italy, France and Germany for American and English products and urged that a helping hand be extended, particularly to Germany.

"We should say to Germany," he said, "Look here. You are down and out and we'll help you stand up. We can't lend you much, but we will do what we can. Maybe you will get sympathetic assistance from South America and the United States."

IS GREAT STUDENT.

Replying to a question on the Irish bill, Sir Auckland said that its reception had not been so hostile as had been expected, and that he had great hopes for a favorable settlement.

Sir Auckland is tall and studious looking. His quietly spoken words carry great force. Though he is serious, Lady Astor insists that he can tell a good joke. She asked him to repeat one which had amused her, but he declined with the excuse that all his good jokes would reach the other side of the Atlantic before he did if he told them at the luncheon, especially as he is not to sail until next month.

A cynical critic of Sir Auckland once remarked:

"He knows everything about the human anatomy but nothing about human nature."

SWISS STAND BY NATIONS' LEAGUE

National Council Votes Adherence by Vote of 114 to 55

BERNE, March 3.—Adherence to the League of Nations by Switzerland was approved by the Swiss National Council yesterday, the vote standing 114 to 55. This decision does not bind this country to enter the league, but constitutes a recommendation for a plebiscite to be held during April or May, in which the people will voice their desires. The National Council was asked to approve Switzerland's entrance to the league by the Government a few days ago, after it had been decided to abandon what were known as the "American clauses," by which Switzerland would delay action until the United States Senate had ratified the Treaty of Versailles, a part of which is the covenant of the League of Nations.

Ex-Soldiers Protest Presence of German Poison Gas Inventor

HARTFORD, Conn., March 3.—Eleven former soldiers, permanently crippled from the effects of German poison gas and now inmates of Wildwood sanitarium here, have received word from the Labor Department in Washington that an investigation will be made into the status of Robert Beyer, a German chemist and inventor, who recently came to the United States.

The ex-soldiers recently sent a protest to Washington against Beyer's admission. Appended to the petition was a newspaper despatch from Boston in which Beyer was quoted as saying that he was the inventor of poison gas used by Germany in the war and that he had come to the United States to take a position with the International Harvester Co.

STATE OF RUSSIA DECEIVED WORLD

By Commander Lobie, former member of the French Chamber of Deputies, who has just returned from an official military mission in Siberia.

PARIS, March 3.—After a whole year spent in Siberia studying conditions, I am compelled to declare that France and the rest of the world have been systematically deceived with regard to conditions in Russia, despite my own reports, which were sent regularly to the French Government.

Had France known the truth, it would not have lent its support to the Omsk Government which was combined of timid elements and partisans of Czarism, scheming for reaction. Russia has both extreme communists and extreme reactionaries, Europe's error has been to support the latter against the former. The latter are only a small minority and not representative of the aspirations of the people, the mass of whom are sober democrats, asking only to be trusted. The world disowned that mass which was the most formidable enemy of violence, murder and pillage, because, although hating Czarism, it remained faithful to the revolution in order to achieve freedom.

Great Britain was the first of the powers to recognize its error and began long ago to prepare the road for a new policy. France and the rest of the world are now following suit, but it would have been better if they had led.

GERMANY FEARS BOLSHEVISM.

Special to The Star.

BERLIN, March 1.—Despite the fear prevailing in German official circles that peace with Soviet Russia might result in a flood of Bolshevist propaganda which, owing to the unsettled political conditions in Germany, might fall upon all too fertile ground, the conviction is gaining ground that negotiations with the Lenine Government are inevitable.

With the Anglo-Russian conferences at Copenhagen as a precedent, informal conversations are expected to be entered into shortly with the ultimate object of reopening diplomatic negotiations. Discussion of the question of exchanging prisoners is the immediate pretext. About 20,000 German prisoners are still held near Petrograd and Moscow, while there are still 15,000 Russian prisoners in Germany.

THEN MAMMA KNEW.

"Mamma, I lost my gum," cried little Harold.

"Hush, darling," she cut him off, then smiled apologetically at her guests.

"Mamma, I lost—" this time the mother, smiling vacantly over her portion of the chop suey lunch, effectively stopped Harold with a sharp pinch of his leg under the table.

When the guests had gone Harold pouted the explanation: "All I wanted to tell you, mamma, was that I'd lost my gum in your chop suey, but you wouldn't let me finish." — Detroit Saturday Night.

ERECT STATUE TO POPE BENEDICT

Special Cable to Chicago Daily News and Montreal Star by Edgar Ansel Mowrer, Copyright.

ROME, March 3.—An event unique in the world war history is announced by the Vatican organ, the Osservatore Romano. The inhabitants of Constantinople have raised funds for erecting a monument of Pope Benedict in the once holy city of St. Sophia.

The monument, for which the plans have been supplied by the Roman sculptor Quattrini, consists of a marble statue of the pontiff with the upraised hand in benediction. The statue will surmount a granite pedestal, on which will be inscribed in letters of gold the words: "To the benefactor of peoples without distinction of nationality or religion in grateful homage."

The subscription fund was headed by the Sultan followed by the Turkish Crown Prince and lesser princes, the Khedive of Egypt, the presidents of the delegations from the Republics of Armenia, Azerbeidjan, and Georgia, patriarchs, grand rabbis, and the officers of the larger banks and commercial enterprises. The Turkish newspapers first launched the idea, which has grown until it now has general support.

The act may mark the beginning of a new era in human life—an era of religious peace in which people of many creeds can unite in works recognized as beneficial to all mankind.

The Osservatore Romano remarks: "The statue of Benedict XV. will be a phosphorescent apparition amid the great mystic dream of Islam."

VERBAL DUST.

There is a certain long-suffering father whose nerves sometimes give way under questions from his talkative eight-year-old son.

"Dad," said the youngster, just as the old man settled down for a perusal of his newspaper, "Dad, am I made of dust?"

"I think not," repeated the unhappy parent, "Otherwise you would dry up once in a while."—Houston Post.

SONS OF IRELAND PAVE WAY TO QUE. TITLE BY VICTORY

Green Shirts Show Surprisingly Effective Form Against Montreal City League Champions in a Thrilling Game—Winners Meet Ottawa Next

The chances of having a Montreal team bring home the Allan Cup received a decided setback last night, when the Sons of Ireland, champions of the Quebec City League, defeated Victorias, the Montreal City League Champions, by a score of 6 to 3. The game was witnessed by the largest crowd seen at an amateur game this season and the majority of the people in the rink were supporters of the Quebec team.

The Sons of Ireland team was easily superior to the Victoria outfit, but do not measure up any better than some of the other amateur teams in Montreal. Every man on the team is a capable hockey player and the team play was very good at times, but they were given plenty of opportunity of ownking in on the Victorias' defence as the forwards of that team fell back every time they lost the puck. There was scarcely any attempt made at back-checking by the Montreal team, while their efforts at poke-checking were without result. Against a hard back-checking team it is doubtful if the Irishmen would be able to carry off the honors.

Henry Laroche proved to be the most dangerous man on the team from Quebec, as he secured the three goal lead in the first period that spelled defeat to Victorias. He is a very tricky player and has a vicious shot. McNaughton's stick handling was a treat but he tired quickly, as did most of the team, and played back on the defence during the third period. Morency and MacDonald proved to be the stumbling blocks on the Sons of Ireland defence, while Macdonald also was very effective in his rushing tactics.

The outstanding figure on the Victoria team, and probably the most effective player on the ice, was Magee. On several occasions he was called upon to block a rush alone and, in addition, carried the puck down the ice more consistently than any other man on the team. However, he invariably found himself alone when he looked for some one to pass the puck to. Slater was bottled up tightly in the first period, and didn't really get loose until the last session. Dawes played a hard game, but his checking was ineffective. Darcy is the victim of two easy shots in the first period and, although his work after that was good, the Vics failed to overcome the lead against them.

SAN UP BIG LEAD.

Sons of Ireland assumed the offensive at the opening of the game and Laroche scored on a beautiful long shot after one minute and a half of play. He followed by scoring two more, the end of which was after the first really nice puck handling of the evening. Slater scored the first goal for his team after an individual rush, by which he succeeded in passing his opponent's defence and drawing out the goal-tender.

Some hard and fast hockey was seen at the commencement of the second period with both teams pressing to secure an advantage, but the only tally registered was by Morency, for Sons of Ireland. The last spasm with the Greenshirts showing signs of tiring and Victorias began to force the play. Derouin got through on an individual rush, however, and beat Law with a shot. A minute later scored again from a scramble in front of the net. The lead secured would have disheartened many teams, but Victorias pressed the play and Darling beat out Lacombe with a shot from the right wing. Using a four-man combination, the Victoria team came down the ice and Slater shot, followed in and batted in the rebound. Victorias had all the play at the Quebec end in the final moments of the game, but could not score again before the gong sounded.

The Sons of Ireland will play the winners of the Ottawa Munitions-Brockville series in game on Friday night at the Mount Royal Arena, and the winners will be given the title of champions of the Province of Quebec. The teams:

LOYOLA JUNIOR TITLE.

Loyola College won the junior championship of the Province of Quebec by defeating Westmount High School last night. The score was 7 to 1 and about represents the play throughout the game. The Loyola team is very clever and will not be easily beaten by any of the junior teams in Canada.

If any one player could be selected as being better than the others Kelly would be the man chosen. He is a tricky little player and succeeded in scoring three goals last night. It is likely that Loyola will play off with the Ontario Junior champions for the junior championship of Canada. The teams:

DOG MEN RESIGN BY WHOLESALE AFTER MEETING

It looks as if the Montreal Kennel Association had gone to the dogs this time for sure.

At the most exciting meeting held since its inception all the office bearers and nearly all the executive gave notice of their proposed resignation, and at noon today those of the president, M. S. Kilby, the new Treasurer Cecil Hart who had accepted office, but recently at Mr. Kilby's special solicitation and L. W. Halliday, former president were mailed to the secretary, Alf Lepine who was considered to be at the bottom of all the trouble and by his advertising precipitated the explosion which last night all but wrecked the Association.

The quiet little Pellico Club, which for some years now has been the headquarters of the Association was seething with excitement last night when after a vote of 24 to 15, president Kilby got up and solemnly announced: "Gentlemen I am through."

This is the second time since he has held office in the Association that Mr. Kilby had threatened to resign, and while he withdrew his resignation upon a previous occasion when he was vice-president, it was generally considered that he meant it in earnest last night.

He made a good presiding officer however while the meeting lasted, and saw to it that the utterances of the members did not become too violent.

In a nutshell, the matter under discussion was what was called the pointed and startling advertising of the secretary in connection with the Westminster Kennel Club Show results. The committee and the president of the association had decided at one of their executive meetings that the advertising was misleading and intended as a slur on all wire breeders of Montreal, and, by a majority vote, had arrived at a decision to relieve the secretary of his duties.

After a lengthy discussion at the general meeting last night, a vote was taken and the action of the executive committee was found to meet with the approval of the general members of the club.

It was felt that an entire lack of confidence on the part of the general members was shown in the executive committee of the M. K. A., and it was intimated that the following mentioned officers will resign their appointments and retire from the club:

M. S. Kilby, president; W. L. Calder, 1st vice-president; Walter Holmes, 2nd vice-president; Cecil M. Hart, treasurer, also a number of the executive committee, including the indefatigable Len. Halliday, one of the founders of the Association.

In accordance with the constitution of the M.K.A., a new election will be called for by the retirement of members in question and it looks as though the lid is off.

Court proceedings are expected to arise out of remarks made under affidavit by the secretary, Mr. Lepine, against Mr. Kilby, the president.

After the President had explain the source of the trouble as stated above, Calder and Halliday were amongst the principal speakers supporting the action of the executive using as the main argument the contention that the advertisement in question was misleading and infra dig for a member of the executive to make use of.

The principal speakers deploring the action of the executive were Mr. Chisholm and Dr. Villeneuve. The former's principal argument was that even if a crime had been committed and he was not sure there had been, the punishment did not fit the crime. Dr. Villeneuve claimed that the fact that Mr. Lepine belonged to the executive should not prevent him from advertising his canine wares in whatever manner he liked to do so as long as he did not transgress the law.

Mr. Lepine himself made a touching appeal for justice, at the same time maintaining that he would advertise again in the same fashion if he had a chance, and insisting that every word of his advertisement was true according to the marked catalogue of the New York Westminster Kennel Show.

The vote was overwhelmingly against the executive though it is maintained that many of those voting for Lepine had full confidence in and liking for the office holders, but merely wanted to record their belief in the principle that an owner and breeder can advertise his dogs in any way he may see fit, without interference from the club as long as he does so legally.

The result of the meeting will probably seriously interfere with the big show that had been proposed for this spring.

OTTAWA IS HOT IN FAVOR OF AM. LACROSSE UNION

Special to The Star.

OTTAWA, March 3.—Officers of the Ottawa Lacrosse Club are enthusiastic about the proposed revoval amateur lacrosse in Eastern Canada. President George Booth of the Ottawa's, discussing the situation said:

"A return to amateurism is the only solution of the difficulties, which now confront lacrosse and which really threaten its extinction. The travelling and equipment expenses have become so much that the club's could not possible carry on on a professional basis. We can only play one game per week, except when a holiday intervenes, and there are so many counter-attractions, including golf, motoring, tennis and aquatics, that the patronage is usually hard hit. The cost of paraphernalia has gone up so much and travelling is so expensive that we must either get back to the amateur class or quit lacrosse. I would be delighted to see in operation a big league, including M. A. A. Nationals, Shamrocks, Ottawa and Cornwall. The return of the M. A. A. would be the greatest boost that lacrosse has received for many years."

It is understood that the annual meeting of the Ottawa Lacrosse Club will be held in the near future when the question will be discussed and delegates appointed to the annual gathering of the National Lacrosse Union.

"BISCUITS" WINS AGAIN.

BUFFALO, N.Y., March 3.—Stanislaus Zbyszko, giant Polish wrestler, defeated Bula Hevonpaa, Finn, here last night by two straight falls.

SOME EXCITEMENT AT VIC BASEBALL

An interesting game of indoor baseball took place last night at the Victoria Rifles Armory, Cathcart street, between the officers of the Royal Montreal Regiment, and Machine Gunners, resulting in favor of the Royals, with a score of 19 to 6.

The battery was a particular feature in the game with Lieut. Henry in the box, and Major J. E. McKenna, M.C., as catcher.

The base running of Lieut. Campbell, Major H. G. Brewer, M.C., Lieut. Sullivan was a great asset and added splendidly to the score.

The rooting of Capt. R. H. Hood materially assisted in keeping the players on their mettle, the good attendance of officers with their wives and lady friends was also noticeable.

In the Ford Motor Co. bowling league for the Hoben Cup the Tourings are leading, but Tractors and Sedans are tied for second, only one game behind and are giving them a hard race. The victory of the leaders over the Runabouts temporarily put them out of the race. The league standing is as follows:

	W.	L.
Tourings	9	3
Tractors	8	4
Sedans	8	4
Runabouts	6	7
Coupes	3	9
Trucks	3	9

ST. GEORGE'S SNOW SHOE CLUB.

L. DINER

President Good Welfare Council of the Y.M.H.A.

YOUNG MEN'S H. A. ACQUIRED FUTURE HOME

By one of the Directors.

After ten years of untiring effort the Young Men's Hebrew Association has at length succeeded in purchasing a club house.

The building purchased is the one at present in use by the Shamrock A.A.A., situated at 697 St. Urbain street, with all equipment therein.

The sudden announcement of purchase in yesterday's Star will undoubtedly come as a surprise to many who had almost given up hope of ever seeing the Hebrew boys in their own building. They will, however, suddenly wake up to the fact that there still is plenty of red blood in the active members of the association. We desire to make special mention of the good and welfare council of the Y.M.H.A. whose propaganda encouraged our building committee and our board of trustees to speed up the transaction. The following are the officers and the members of the good and welfare council: Hon. president, Maurice Goldberg; president, L. Diner, B.A., B.C.L.; vice-president, J. Hornstein; secretary treasurer, I. Diner, and H. Rubin, I. Pevzner, H. Schwartz, H. Diner, M. Bloom, L. Gelfand and L. I. Ram. All the above represent the active spirits of our association, and constantly brought it to bear upon the minds of our directors that now was the time for a building, and finally succeeded in seeing it through.

I. Diner, Chairman of the Building Committee issues the following statement:

As Chairman of the Building Committee, I desire to extend my sincerest thanks to my colleagues on the Board of Trustees, (Add. L. Rubenstein and M. Goldberg) and the members of the Board of Directors, who by their steadfastness and loyalty made the success of this venture a certainty.

I also desire to take this opportunity of thanking W. C. Munn, of Munn and Shea, for his valuable assistance, and for the benefit of his wide experience as a contractor and engineer.

To Louis Diner much credit is due for the capable manner in which he conducted the entire negotiations on behalf of the Y.M.H.A., which resulted in the property being purchased for the Y.M.H.A. at a much reduced figure.

The beauty of the present deal is that we have purchased a building already furnished for club purposes, together with a properly equipped gymnasium with sufficient ground adjoining for further extensions.

Whilst the newly purchased building is a tremendous improvement over our present quarters, yet we do not intend to stop here. Our next aim is the inauguration of another campaign for more funds for the purpose of enlarging the present gymnasium and the building of a swimming pool underneath the Gym.

I am very pleased to announce that no one was paid for any services rendered in connection with the purchase. They all gave their time and experience gratuitously to the Association.

TORONTO BANK LADIES BEAT ROYALS 2 TO 0

The fact that a referee for a ladies' hockey match has to be very diplomatic was shown last night when the fair sex of the Bank of Toronto downed the Royal representatives to the tune of 2-0. A spectator of last night's game would at first be startled by the clashing colors of the teams worn by the players. Having thoroughly recovered his sense of sight he would next notice how carefully and gingerly the officials handled the plays.

Apart from tams and officials, however, the game proceeded with Toronto on the offensive. Miss Gallagher was prominent in most of the rushes, and succeeded in tallying after an end to end rush. As the Royalites gradually gained speed on the offensive the Torontonians were put to it to keep them from scoring. With only thirty seconds to go, Miss Gallagher made another rush. Again she triumphed with a goal that made the score read 2-0.

What the first period lacked was made up for in the second. The Royalites played a wonderful game. Miss Kerr in goals stopped everything in sight. Matters were brought to a head when Miss Gallagher bodied Miss Kennedy. A wordy argument immediately took place which might have developed into a more strenuous affair had the referee not interfered. Towards the last few minutes of play the Royal supporters managed to get the puck into the nets but the referee disallowed the goal, thus dashing their high spirits to the very depths. Miss Conforth's rushes throughout the whole second period were very noticeable, but between Miss Coleman's excellent back-checking and Miss Kerr's good conduct in the nets, she was unable to score. When the final gong sounded the Torontonians were the victors with a 2-0 score.

R. C. G. A. ARRANGE TENTATIVE DATES FOR CHAMPIONSHIPS

The directors of the Royal Canadian Golf Association met here last night and the main point of discussion was allocating the various championships and deciding upon the tentative dates for the same. It had been hoped that Montreal would have been the scene of both the Canadian amateur and open championships, but the Kanawaki Golf Club very regretfully declined the honor of staging the open championship this year as they are making so many changes in their course they were afraid it would not be in titular condition for such an important fixture. This means also that the Professional Golfers' Association tournament will not be held here as invariably it is staged either immediately before or after the open on a nearby course.

The directors perforce will have to approach the Toronto, Ottawa and Hamilton clubs to see if they will accept it. No other clubs had applied for it, although it was generally understood last fall the Royal Ottawa Golf Club would welcome the event, and that the Rivermead Golf Club would be the venue of the professional championship.

Tuesday, Aug. 17 to Friday, August 20, have been suggested as the dates for this tournament wherever held.

Montreal will, however, be graced with the Canadian amateur championships and they will be played over the Beaconsfield course, which is being specially prepared for this event. Elaborate changes in the fairway and bunkerage system were instituted early last fall and with the coming of spring these will be advanced rapidly so that this splendid course will be a good test for the cream of Canada's golfers. The tournament will be held during the week commencing Monday, June 28, and the final will be played on the morning and afternoon of Saturday, July 3.

It was decided that 36 holes be the required distance in the qualifying round and in an effort to keep the calibre of the players up to a proper standard no players whose handicaps are more than 14, under the Calkins system, will be permitted to enter this year. This is a move in the right direction for last year at Lambton there were too many entries and they cluttered up the field.

The annual meeting of the R. C. G. A. will be held at the Beaconsfield Golf Club on the evening of June 20. Those present at the meeting were President David Brown, Hon. Secretary J. L. McCullough, and Directors W. W. Walker and Cecil Gordon. The above dates and changes are only tentative and must be submitted to the Toronto directors for approval but there is little doubt they will be adopted unanimously.

STRONG MEN LOST $3,000 GATE IN FIGHT

Hector Decarie, who was declared Champion Strong Man of the World last evening, was compelled to turn away an attendance valued at over three thousand dollars gate money, because his rival Cabana did not turn up to compete with him.

Travis, the New York strong man, has challenged Decarie. Cabana had tried to get an injunction to prevent last night's contest taking place pending a decision as to what constituted "a lift." Judge Duclos had refused to grant the injunction and had advised Cabana yesterday afternoon to be a sport and go on with the contest. Cabana telephoned, however, to the Monument National, where the contest was to be held, that he would not turn up.

Referee Raphael Ouimet who gave the decision regarding the "lift" against Cabana during the first contest last week and declared Decarie champion of the world last night, is a well known insurance man who formerly held the position of sporting editor of one of the French papers.

Judge Duclos in giving his judgment denying the injunction, said he did not see that any good purpose would be served by the court intervening with a writ of injunction. If the financial interests of the parties to the contest were protected, there could be no complaint if the writ were refused. He was prepared to order that the contestants' deposits should be deposited in court or in the hands of any person acceptable to both sides, and if they wished it, the court would order Tuesday night's receipts also placed in the care of the prothonotary pending a final settlement of the question over the interpretation of the contract conditions.

Finally, it was agreed that A. Leberge, who held the contestants' deposits, amounting altogether to $4,000, should be be placed in the hands of Mr. Bedard, clerk of the superior court, pending a further order of the court.

GOOD SHOWING BY CHEVALIER WITH CADDOCK

NEW YORK, March 3.—Earl Caddock, of Anita, Ia., former heavy-weight champion, threw Salvadore Chevalier, the French expert, with a head scissors and arm lock in 58 minutes and 11 seconds at Madison Square Garden here last night.

The contest preceded a match between Strangler Lewis and Jim Londos.

Chevalier weighed 200 pounds, fourteen more than his opponent. The Frenchman was the aggressor during the greater part of the first half hour. He was in difficulty twice later, but each time his defeat was delayed when the men went off the mat and under agreement, assumed erect positions.

Six minutes before the finish Caddock obtained a head scissors and tried to pin his man with an arm lock. Chevalier wiggled out, but only to fall victim to the same hold.

"Strangler" Ed. Lewis, of Kentucky threw Jim Londos, the Greek champion, with a headlock in 2 hours, four minutes and 43 seconds.

ART ROSS LEAGUE HAD GOOD MATCHES

In the feature of the Art Ross Hockey League triple-header at the Mount Royal Arena, Tacomas and Kensington played a draw, two all. Tacomas, at the termination of the first half, led by 2 to 0, but Kensington opened up the second half with a rush and kept shooting at Papineau till they finally ran in the tieing tally. Tacomas made various attempts to secure the goal that would give them a victory in the final four minutes, but they were unsuccessful.

In the opening game St. Lamberts added another victory to their list by defeating Foresters by 5 to 2. St. Lamberts assured their victory in the first half by scoring two goals and holding the Foresters scoreless. Foresters, after the resting period, started out by getting through to score in four minutes. St. Lambers were taking no chances and ran in two more in the next thirteen minutes. D. Hodges, on an end-to-end rush secured Foresters second and last tally. Grant, of St. Lambers, registered their fifth, twenty seconds later.

In the other game L'Aigion defeated Woodlands by 5 to 1. L'Aigion were masters of the game throughout and the result after the first half was never in doubt. The games were refereed by Hooper and Anderson.

Manager Robinson of the Dodgers gave them one hour of batting practice in the morning and a seven inning ball game in the afternoon yesterday at Jacksonville, Fla. The teams were led by Jimmy Johnson and Ed. Konetchy. The Koneys won by 6 to 5. Robbie used none of his regular pitchers on the mound. Schreiber, the Jacksonville boy, Vinces, a minor leaguer belonging to Chattanooga, and Colan, the Shicago semi-pro., worked for the Johnsons. Molerit and Miljus pitched for the Koneys.

U. S. QUESTION ENTRY RULES OLYMPIC GAMES

Special to The Star by Henry Farrell, United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, March 3.—New scoring regulations are to prevail at the Olympic games in Belgium next summer.

The first six in each event are to be awarded points on the basis of 7 for first place, 5 for second, 4 for third, 3 for fourth, 2 for fifth and 1 for sixth.

With prospects of Americans landing the first six places in numerous events, enough points seemed to be in the making to "cover" the team in unrepresented events and in some in which the boys of Uncle Sam might not be so proficient.

But a "joker" was buried in a paragraph near the end.

In the track and field events, in swimming, tennis, boxing and wrestling—events in which Americans nearly always prove superior—chances of an American clean-up are circumvented by the regulations limiting the entries to a maximum of four.

SOCCER GOSSIP

By CRAIG CAMPBELL

The P. Q. F. A. Council met last night to receive the report of the delegates who interviewed the D. F. A. on the guarantee necessary to cover Montreal's end of the Old Country team's visit, and also to draw up the cup dates. There is no change in the guarantee to the amount formerly discussed, viz., $3,000 for two games. Anything over and above this amount will go into the P. Q. F. A. coffers. The bargain is considered a good one, the feeling being that Montreal can easily supply a $1,500 soccer gate for so great an attraction.

A new club named Corinthians was granted affiliation, and will enter the Third Division.

The following dates were set for the various cup ties:

Charity Cup.

First round—May 22.
Second round—July 7.
Third round—July 21.
Semi-final—August 7.
Final—August 21.

Connaught Cup.

First round—May 26.
Second round—June 2.
Semi-final—June 12.
Final—June 26.

Quebec Cup.

First round—August 14.
Second round—August 25.
Third round—September 8.
Semi-final—September 18.
Final—September 25.

Internationals.

England vs. Ireland—May 24.
Ireland vs. Scotland—September 6.
Scotland vs. England — Thanksgiving Day.

Inter-city dates were left open until further word has been received from Toronto.

Secretary Josh Wilson says that all forms were mailed to clubs at the same time, and he is totally at a loss to account for several not having been received.

Dominion Bridge held their annual meeting on Monday evening, and there was no despondency over Second Division prospects, as they mean to fight their way back into the seniors. Officers elected for 1920 are: President, C. Fierd; vice-president, Norman Wilson; secretary-treasurer, Arthur Jones; committee, W. Raner, W. Norwell, T. Melville, J. Dennie, R. Ratcliffe, F. Cahill, J. Filton and W. Hughes.

FRENCH-CAN. SKI JUMPERS MAY GO TO OTTAWA MEET

In connection with the present activities of the Club de Ski Mont Royal l'Amerique another jumping contest will be held on Saturday afternoon at the club's new jump in the gully at the mountain. The event will start at 3 o'clock sharp, all the members who have been competing in a similar jumping contest last week-end, will all enter in addition with other club members.

It is not sure if K. Oliver, the provincial cross-country champion skier will compete in the above event, as it is said that he may be sent to Ottawa to represent the French-Canadian club in the open championship cross-country event which is to be held there this week-end. Paul Morton and W. A. Mattson may also be sent to Ottawa.

The complete list of officials and contestants for the above jumping contest will be announced in a day or so.

DUTCH RIDER FAVORED.

NEW YORK, Mar. 3.—Cane Van Nek sprint and road champion of Holland has been picked as the "dark horse" in the six day bicycle race, starting at Madison Square Garden midnight Sunday. The Hollander surprised the riders and trainers yesterday, when he arrived at the Newark Velodrome after following an automobile at 35 miles an hour and then set the pace for the field on the wooden track in a five mile dash.

Before sailing for this side Van Nek won two 24-hour races and broke Egg's hour record behind tandem pace. He teamed with Brocco, the Italian rider in the big race and has entered the five mile open event for professionals at the sports meet Saturday night.

REVIEW OF THE LOCAL ALLAN CUP PROSPECTS

Interest in the Allan Cup series is increasing daily. The Sons of Ireland of Quebec meet the Munitions team of Ottawa here on Friday night and the winner of that game is scheduled to meet the Bank of Montreal team, champions of the Montreal Bank League, on Monday evening. The Bank of Montreal team is leaving Thursday for Boston where they will meet the best teams in that district but will be back on Sunday prepared to battle for the honors. Meanwhile Secretary H. Roberge of the Bankers' League maintains that his league is entitled to the right to play in the elimination series as they were affiliated with that understanding. It is understood that Secretary W. Morrison of the Quebec section of the A. H. A. has wired the President of the C. A. H. A. asking for a definite ruling.

Word has been received from Jake Daubert, first baseman, that he has accepted terms and has forwarded his signed contract, it has been announced by the Cincinnati Club.

GREEN CURLERS IN FRIENDLY CONTEST PLAY CLOSE GAMES

Montreal Had Advantage Over Heather—Finals Played at Caledonia and Outremont—Final Tonight at St. Andrew's, Leather Medal at Thistle

Green curlers had first privilege of the ice last night at both Heather and Montreal clubs. A friendly four rink tournament was played off under the eyes of the plate glass skips.

A sudden rally at the last minute gave Heather the victory on Montreal ice but Montreal made a larger margin on Heather ice, winning out on points by 9.

In discussing the quality of the curling W. I. Fenwick, one of the veterans of the game, declared that many of the ends were worthy of a Governor General's match.

Tonight the green curlers will again have first call on the ice at both Caledonia and Heather for a friendly between the two clubs. Interest is very keen in both clubs as it is naturally impossible to guage even the possible form or strength of the opposing rinks.

It has been found that the year has been a particularly good one in the matter of recruits for the curling game. St. Andrews Curling Club will be represented in the Charity Bonspiel Saturday by more than twice as many rinks as they were represented by in the M. A. A. A. Trophy.

Outremont is another club strong in green curlers also Caledonia and practically every club in the city. Further games between green curlers of the city clubs are being organized.

MANY FINALS DUE.

There will be very few uncompleted club competitions at the end of the present season the weather having been consistently good from the time the ice was first laid down.

Finals are now being played off at every club.

At Caledonia the final of the Club Trophy was reached in fast games the winners being, J. W. Bonner's rink and the runners up A. E. Gallagher's rink. R. E. Jones and W. C. McAllister got their rinks as far as the semis.

Another final was played off at Outremont F. J. Turnbull getting custody of the Murray Shield after a hard game with Dr. A. Stackhouse's rink.

The next final to come along will be played tonight on St. Andrews ice between two tried and true opponents, Major Dan. Bethune and J. C. Stewart. Each rink has won out in the A and B series and there is every indication of a battle royal tonight. Major Bethune was last year's winner but has often been eliminated in the finals by J. C. Stewart.

ALL UP—THISTLE!

Tonight is Leather Medal night at Thistle and a record attendance is expected. It is not decided yet who will have the greatest number of wins to his credit and there are many aspirants for the Rawlings souvenir cup which goes with the final victory.

Doubles were the main feature last evening at the other city rinks.

BROSSEAU LET M'DONALD LAST FOURTEEN RDS.

HALIFAX, N. S., March 3.—Nearly 3,000 people, including visitors from Montreal, St. John and various parts of Nova Scotia, witnessed the bout for the middleweight championship of Canada between Eugene Brosseau of Montreal, the titleholder, and Roddie McDonald, of Glace Bay, at the G. W. V. A. tourney last night. Brosseau retained his title knocking out McDonald after two minutes and five seconds of the fourteenth round.

McDonald was unconscious for five minutes and while he has a technical knockout scored against him, it was the first time in his long career that he had been floored for the full count. Brosseau was too clever for his opponent, who, however, mixed it up with him, landing a number of blows which brought cheers from the crowd. Brosseau jabbed him with his left over and over again, cut his face badly, sent him to the floor many times, but McDonald came back and showed his willingness to again continued the fighting.

In the fourteenth Brosseau sent McDonald to the floor with a left to the jaw, he rose again and was settled with a right punch to the stomach.

Considerable money changed hands, most of the betting being on a knockout or the number of rounds.

More Truth Than Poetry

WHO'S AFRAID OF BURGLARS.

"Killing a burglar is not as dangerous or difficult as it sounds. They are nearly always undersized creatures, victims of drugs, alcohol or both, with badly shaped heads. Such men are not courageous and would not be dangerous in any fair fight."—Arthur Brisbane.

Behold the burglar, pale and frail,
A jaded, broken, brainless creature,
the years that he has spent in jail
Writ large on every furtive feature.
His horribly misshapen head
Denotes his intellect is zero,
But he can shoot you just as dead
As can a fear-defying hero.

The dope has sapped his intellect
(Admitting that he ever had one),
He has no conscience; we suspect
His soul must be a base and bad one.
But if he pressed his gun on us—
Against our heart, or even liver,—
Without unnecessary fuss,
We think we'd speedily deliver.

He always has been fond of booze;
And look at how the stuff has served him!
Attacks of alcoholic blues
Have chilled his courage and unnerved him.
A futile creature at his worst,
We ought to pity, not abhor him,
But if we chanced to see him first
We would not be a target for him.
His dope, his booze, his life in jail,
His lack of culture have been his bane,
But if we saw him we should quail,
And so, we'll bet, would Mr. Brisbane.

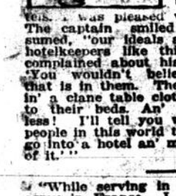
THE PASSING HOUR

NOT A POLITICAL REASON.

Mrs. Hoyle—I understand that you are trying to get votes for your husband for alderman.

Mrs. Doyle—Yes, the board meets once a month and I would like to have twelve times in the year when he did not have to tell me a fish story regarding where he had spent the evening.

Captain Lindsey Polk, director of Florida hotels, said recently in New York: "European hotels, even the best of them, are inferior to ours. While I was in Paris I saw an advertisement of a hotel and the boast the management made was that it was as good as the best American hotels. I was pleased with this tribute." The captain smiled: "Well," he resumed, "our ideals are high. No more hotelkeepers like this old fellow who complained about his summer visitors: 'You wouldn't believe the nonsense that is in them. They is always wantin' a clane table cloth an' clane sheets to their beds. An' table napkins, no less! I'll tell you what, there's sure people in this world that think they can go into a hotel an' make a convanience of it.'"



"While serving in the United States army in France, I was going from Marseilles to the [illegible] with a brother officer, says an American. "Upon leaving the station at Marseilles a lady sat at my right in the compartment of the train, while my brother officer sat across from me. On entering a tunnel I said to my friend, 'I am going to kiss the girl on my right, as she is very pretty.' The officer said, 'Go to it.' After coming out of the tunnel the brother officer said, 'Well, did you have a good time?' I said, 'Sure; wish there were more tunnels.' After a minute, the girl spoke to me in English, with a twinkle in her eye, and said she hoped there would be no more tunnels. Needless to say I had not kissed her while going through the tunnel, but I certainly was embarrassed when she spoke to me in English."

A bishop was travelling in a mining country and encountered an old Irishman [illegible] which hauled up ore out of a shaft. His hat was off and the sun was pouring on his unprotected head.

"Don't you know the sun will injure your brain if you expose it like that?" said the bishop.

The Irishman wiped the sweat off his forehead and looked at the clergyman.

"Do you think I'd be doing this all day if I had any brains?" he said.

MARCH 3.

Persons born on this date are fond of responsibility and can be relied upon to fill acceptably all places of trust.

Trained to methodical business habits they make excellent accountants, cashiers and bookkeepers. They are deeply religious and very loyal, and while changeable in their beliefs, are exceedingly generous to their friends.

The sign Jupiter governs many great artists and musicians and gives artistic love and appreciation for the best in art world.

When in doubt about the wisdom of making a change, these persons should hold every nerve and restless desire in strict obedience to the will, and thus be able to see all sides of this proposition plainly.

DEATH OF DR. EAVES, NOTED TENNIS PLAYER

Lawn tennis players the world over will hear with regret and surprise of the death of Dr. Eaves, which took place in a nursing home in London after a series of operations. One says with surprise because he was a typical lawn tennis player in his possession of the peculiar gift which lawn tennis, a game which braces without straining, bestows on those who play it regularly—the power of keeping old age at a distance. A month older than A. W. Gore, he was up to the outbreak of the war an almost equally familiar figure on lawn tennis courts, where his enterprising tactics made him a great favorite with the gallery.

Wilberforce Vaughan Eaves, M.D., M.R.C.P., L.R.C.P., was born in Melbourne in 1867. Though an Australian by birth and thoroughly Australian in temperament and style of play, from the point of view of lawn tennis he may be regarded as a naturalized Englishman; indeed, his birth falling when it did, it is unlikely that he would have made a name in lawn tennis had he resided in his native country. He is said to have learned the game while a schoolboy during his holidays at Folkestone. He represented England against Ireland in 1895 and 1896; he was a member of an English team that played against America in 1897 and in 1908-09 of the All-England team which toured in South Africa; and he was selected to represent the British Isles in the Davis Cup matches of 1907.

The list of his victories is a very long one. In his time he was Champion of Wales, Ireland, Scotland, New South Wales and Victoria; in 1907 he won the All-Comers Singles of the United States; and he won the Covered Courts Championship singles in 1897-98-99, and the doubles also (with Mr. C. H. Martin) in '95 and '96. Among minor successes may be mentioned nine victories at Dinard. He was never champion, but he enjoyed the greater, if more painful, distinction of being pointed out as the man who had never been champion. Spectators think of matches in terms of the cup and the lip, and they are apt to remember athletes by their dramatic failures. Mention Bonnet in a cricket pavilion and you will be told not of his great exertions, but of the balloon which made a safe landing in G. F. Grace's hands or of the bullet which stuck in George Ulyett's great fist. So it is with lawn tennis. Mrs. Chambers is the lady who failed to reach that mishit of Mlle. Lengen's, Mr. Parke the man who would have beaten Mr. Brookes if he had not touched the net with his racket. Mr. Beals Wright, the champion of 1910 but for trying too much with a certain stop volley at a crisis against Mr. Wilding. In none of these instances is it the final stroke that is remembered, but the stroke that the spectator chooses to consider decisive. It is, however, with a stroke that should have been final that the name of Dr. Eaves is associated. He wanted but one more point ain 1895 to beat Mr. W. Baddeley and becom wanted but one more point in 1895 to now told the ball stood still and Mr. Baddeley stayed practically off the court while he hit it.

Dr. Eaves, like other Australians, was primarily a volleyer. Mr. Wilding reports him as teaching "learn to volley and come up all the time." To reach the volleying position was not naturally easy for him ,for he was not very fast. But he possessed the Australian quality of first thinking out a plan and then devising a method of carrying it out. As he had a difficulty in reaching the net in one sprint, he taught himself to reach it in two stages—the second beginning with that difficult stroke, the running half-volley. He, is credited, too, with holding the English rights to the American twisty service and with having impressed its value on the Australasian players of the generation after his own.

He took part as a doctor in the South African War and for the last few years acted in a professional capacity at Woolwich Arsenal.

FINE ENTRY FOR GRAND NATIONAL RUN MAR. 26

The racing expert of the London Times says:

Differences of opinion are so strongly felt and expressed as to the desirability of limiting the top weight in the Grand National to 12st. 7lb. that it would almost seem as if those who condemn the innovation would have been pleased to find a poor entry for the race on March 26, as that could have been advanced as affording evidence that owners of steeplechase horses were opposed to the rule. The answer to the protest that every horse in a handicap ought to be given an equal chance is that this cannot possibly be assured, because the entry might include such bad animals that if they were to be tenderly considered the good ones would of necessity be crushed out with burdens which rendered their prospects utterly hopeless.

I am strongly in favour of the 12st. 7lb. maximum, holding the idea that a horse who is not within 3st. of the presumable best of contemporary 'chasers should be confined to some humbler task than competing in a Grand National. The ringing cheers which greeted the victories of Manifesto, Jerry M. and Poethlyn after they had carried home the burden which before the days of Cloister, who also won with 12st. 7lb., was supposed to be entirely prohibitive, shows what is thought about it by the great body of racegoers. King Edward's Ambush II. came near to being added to the gallant company. He had 12st. 7lb. at his last attempt, and it was maintained that he failed by reason of his artfulness. He had only to jump the last fence in order to win—for the second time. Catching sight of a gap he cunningly made for it, with the result that, taking it sideways, he crossed his legs on landing and came down.

Mrs. Hugh Peel's Poethlyn has by no means frightened away competitors as it was declared by opponents of the limit that he was certain to do. Very much on the contrary, the nomination for the Grand National, published in last night's Calendar, is more numerous than friends of the sport can well have expected or hoped. The total is 61. Before the war, in 1914, there were 58. It is almost inevitable that a large proportion of a Grand National field will meet with mishaps. When Mr. Frank Bibby's Glenside beat 25 opponents in 1911 he was the only one that escaped some sort of disaster. There is always the chance, and that not a small one, that some of the best will come down, very likely through no fault of their own—the unwelcome attentions of a loose horse, a swerve by a neighbour in rising at a fence, getting involved with a fallen horse on landing, and so on. And Poethlyn, who is, of course, extremely likely to win if he stands up, is not by any means an immaculate jumper. He blundered badly more than once or twice when he ran last month at Gatwick, saving himself by his cleverness; for as his jockey, Piggott, remarked, he always seems to have a fifth leg to get him out of a difficulty. The Lancer will have grown stronger than they were last year.

Three previous National winners besides Poethlyn are engaged, Mr. James Hennessy's Lutteur III., now a veteran of 16, for it was as a five-year-old that he achieved the feat in 1909, Lady Nelson's Ally Sloper, and Mr. E. Aldridge's Sunloch, the last named an unworthy representative who carried the minimum, 9st. 7lb. Poethlyn and Lutteur III. are stable companions, though if both run they will, of course, do so on their merits; but it may be concluded that there is little hope for the French horse, Escott, who trains him, scarcely supposed that his charge could beat Captain Brian Bibby's Waystrtree when the two met at Kempton Park in November. Ally Sloper has greatly deteriorated, and Sunloch has had a very inglorious career since his victory. All except some half dozen of last year's field are in the entry. Those who will attract most attention are the three Irish horses, Mr. E. W. Hope Johnston's Ballyboggan, who was second in 1919; Major Gerrard's Troytown, who demonstrated his ability to jump the fences by winning the Champion Steeplechase, and went to Auteuil, where he carried off the Grand Steeplechase de Paris; and Mr. O'Toole's Clonree, winner of the Grand Sefton Steeplechase at Liverpool in November. Last year Poethlyn was giving Ballyboggan 11lb., so that it should be easy to weight these two—protesters against the maximum was that nothing can have a chance with Mrs. Peel's horse.

PRO. BOXING

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 3.—Jack Dempsey and his manager, Jack Kearns, have informed the federal authorities that they are ready to surrender and give bonds on the draft evading indictments returned against them last week in San Francisco.

PHILADELPHIA, March 3. — Mike O'Dowd, middleweight champion, stopped Jack McCarron, Allentown, Pa., in the second round of a scheduled six-round bout recently. In the first round O'Dowd sent the Allentown boxer to the floor three times for the count of five. After regaining his feet the third time McCarron was so weak that he dropped to the floor and took a count of seven. When he was knocked down in the second round his seconds threw a towel in the ring.

Central's next match will be with M.A.A.A. Blues, at Peel street gym. on March 6. Highland will play M.A.A.A. Reds on same date. Line-up follows:

Tickets for the dance to be held on March 29th can be had from any member of the committee.

GRAND HANDICAP TO BE STAGED AT CLEVELAND

PHILADELPHIA, March 3. — Edgewater Park in Cleveland, Ohio, will be the scene of the 1920 Grand American Handicap Trapshooting tournament — the blue ribbon tournament of trapdom. The tournament will more than likely be held the week following the Grand Circuit trotting races — the week of August 23.

Cleveland intends to run a real shoot. It is the ambition of those behind the tournament to make this the greatest Grand American Handicap ever held, and these men know how well the shoot was handled in Dayton and at the South Shore County Club.

Twelve traps will be erected in Edgewater Park—twelve traps in a straight line, the first time that twelve traps were ever erected for use in the Grand American Handicap.

We have is on good authority that the Preliminary Handicap will be restored to the program this year and that the twelve traps will be used in the Preliminary and Grand American Handicaps. On the other days ten traps will be used.

The shooting will be done over the water, the same as in Chicago, although the traps may be a little further back of the water's edge than they were at the South Shore Club.

Cleveland is working on the assumption that if the Grand American Handicap is a success that they will be given the handicap again in 1921 and possibly 1922. Those handling the shoot are not working on the idea that this is the only time Cleveland will conduct the tournament.

It isn't likely that the Cleveland people will bother about a Beginners' trap or a practice trap, or the other things that would go a long way towards making trapshooting a bigger sport than it is; the only thing they are concerned in is running the tournament as it appears on the program off in a satisfactory manner.

It is the intention of the Cleveland management to engage high school boys to pull the traps, keep score, referees, etc., and these boys will be taken in hand one week before the shoot and instructed in their duties daily. They will all be in uniform so that they may be distinguished from other boys on the ground.

Cleveland was awarded the Grand American Handicap over Atlantic City, N.J. The seashore town wanted to stage the shoot the last week in September. This and the fact that the committee felt that Atlantic City was too far East killed the sea shore city. How the committee arrive at the fact that Atlantic City is too far East for the big tournament is beyond us.

Atlantic City isn't too far East to bring more than 300 shooters to the Westy Hogans. Keeping the Grand American Handicap in the same section all the time isn't going to benefit the rest of the country a great deal.

Toledo, O., had a chance to get the Grand American, but one of the managing editors of a newspaper in that city made such a rumpus because another newspaper, in his city was so much more alive than his paper that the telegraphic war eliminated Toledo — which had everything one could desire in the staging of a Grand American Handicap.

St. Louis and Chicago put in conditional bids for the shoot — offering to take the event in case other applications were unsatisfactory.

This looks like a big trapshooting year

Courtesy is not an exclusive Canadian quality. But Canadians are noted for it. "Thank you," and "Beg your pardon"" are typical Canadian phrases. Certainly in a concern which has its roots deep in Canada, Canadianisms should not be taboo. HYDRO ELECTRIC PLAN POSTPONED

Damage to City Would Amount to Nearly a Million

There is little likelihood for the present of anything farther being done in connection with the scheme of a Montreal syndicate to develop a hydro-electric plant of 45,000 horsepower on the Riviere des Prairies near Sault au Recollet, which was very much before the provincial and municipal governments towards the end of last year.

The promoters of the proposal have received from the Administrative Commission a statement of the damages, which it is anticipated would accrue to the city and especially to its sewage outlet systems on the Back River, through the changing of the course of the stream which would be necessary in order to develop the required power. It was intended to run a dam across the river from near the Convent of the Sacred Heart down to Perry's Island, and then across to Jesus Island from below the eastern end of the small island.

This would mean cutting off the flow of water past the big sewer outlets, and the city, having reckoned the cost of constructing intercepting sewers to carry the water below the dam, and the expense it would be to the city having to invest its money in this work earlier than the natural development of the district might warrant, came to the conclusion that the damage resulting from the carrying out of the scheme would amount to over three quarters of a million dollars, and the promoters were so informed.

The commission, while anxious to see any development of an industrial centre on the Back River, could not agree to the power scheme being carried out unless the citizens were guaranteed against all damages, and as there was no prospect of the city getting its power for lightning or other purposes from the scheme, the proposals made by the syndicate were investigated only on the damage basis. The Federal Government, to whom application had been made for power to vary the stream, Riviere des Prairies being classed as a navigable river—and they consented to the scheme provided the Quebec Government approved. The Provincial Government approved of the proposal subject to the syndicate satisfying Montreal in regard to damages, and hence the proposal came to the Administrative Commission, who have had a lot of correspondence and consultations on the subject.

The result is the compiling of the damage claim possibilities, and this was sent to the promoters just two months ago, since when nothing more has been heard of the scheme, and it is considered at the city hall that the expense of putting it into operation is so heavy that the promoters have decided, for the present, not to push the proposal.

DENIKINE ARMY REPORTED TRAPPED

LONDON, March 3.—General Denekine's army has been trapped in the Kuban peninsula, southeast of the Sea of Azov, it is claimed in a Russian Soviet official statement dated Sunday and received today by wireless from Moscow.

A Bolshevik communique received yesterday announced the capture of Stavropol, in the northern Caucasus, the Soviet forces defeating Denekine's troops and annihilating the first Kuban corps. The statement at hand today shows a Bolshevik advance of some 90 miles to the northwest and announces the capture of Tikhoryetskaya, a railroad junction point eighty miles northeast of Yekaterinodar.

(The taking of this junction is probably the basis of the claim that Denekine's forces are trapped, as it cuts their line of communication southeastward into the Caucasus and leaves open only the route through Yekaterinodar to the Black Sea sand Novorossilk.)

CANTATA WELL SUNG AT CRESCENT CHURCH

Barnby Composition Feature of Concert Directed by Mr. Brown

While Sir Joseph Barnby's cantata "The Lord is King" was the chief feature of a concert given Monday night in Knox Crescent Church, under direction of G. Harold Brown, organist and choirmaster, various other items which completed the program were probably not less enjoyed by an audience of goodly proportions. Organ solos by Mr. Brown; the Prize Song from "The Mastersingers," played on the violin by Miss Ruth Duncan, a musician of exceptional talent; a quartet for male voices written by Mr. Brown; and vocal solos, were all rendered in a manner that was highly satisfying. The choral singing was much admired for precise attacks and good finishing of phrases, as well as for the balance of the choir; and the solo singers, Mrs. E. W. Griffith, Mrs. Wm. Ewing, A. Taylor and C. Medlar, sang with feeling and musical effect.

MISS JOPP'S CONCERT.

The concert given by invitation in Westmount by Miss Marie Jopp, assisted by Emil Taranto, violinist, and Mrs. Hodgson, accompanist, showed that Miss Jopp is a singer who has youth, intelligence and marked interpretative ability. She sang French, Italian and English songs, those that she did best being Reynaldo Hahn's "D'une Prison," Cesar Franck's "Marriage des Roses," and several to English words. Mr. Taranto played the Saint-Saens "Havanaise," and the Meditation from "Thais" as charmingly as ever.

ARMENIAN RELIEF MEETING CALLED

No question is more prominently before the public today than that of Armenia. The attitude of Viscount Bryce and Lord Robert Cecil in England has brought home with great force to the British attention the present appaling condition of suffering amongst the remnant of the Armenian people. This interest has crossed the Atlantic into Canada, and has called forth a hearty response throughout our Dominion. Armenia is starving to death, or what still remains of it after the deadly work done by the Turk. The Armenians were our allies during the world struggle and General Allenby has paid a great tribute to the services rendered by Armenian contingents in Palestine and elsewhere.

A committee of prominent Montreal business and professional men, believing that the time has now come when Montreal should do something to help this stricken people, have called a meeting for Thursday afternoon in the Board of Trade rooms at 4 o'clock for the purpose of creating a local organization for Armenia's relief. All those who are interested in this great question are invited to be present.

DRINK SITUATION NOT IMPROVED

Charity Organization Statistics Show "Hard Stuff" Easy to Get

A series of statistics in regard to the drink situation has been completed by workers of the Charity Organization Society. The city has been divided into four parts—central, east, north, and west ends, and full reports of conditions have been sent in.

From the point of view of the prohibitionist the situation is far from happy, according to the results reported by the Charity Organization workers. There is practically as much drunkenness today as there was in the days before prohibition, "hard stuff" can still be obtained, although the somewhat prohibitive prices have led to the poorer people drinking beer. The bar abolition has not ameliorized the situation, if anything aggravated it.

One of the statisticians reports: "Liquor sold at present seems to have a most demoralizing effect upon men; it makes them violent. Liquor is quite easy to obtain."

Another says in his report: "Believe that men are still able to get whiskey in certain parts of the district. There is what the Point St. Charles people call 'a per cent pub' out of which men come rolling every night. It is suspected they get something stronger than beer."

Still another worker deplores the "enormous" amount of "empties" collected each morning in the back yards of the saloons. The beer, according to district visitors, is quite strong enough to produce severe "buns," and the men whom they have been observing come wandering home hiccoughing and swaying. Sobriety has not come to Montreal yet in spite of prohibition and the general report is far from optimistic.

The unemployment figures of the Charity Organization show that 41 cases of men out of work were reported during the month of February. Minute details as to the causes are given in the report.

The society is providing for families left fatherless from the influenza epidemics. The chief want is warm clothing especially for children.

CITY WILL FIGHT INCREASE IN FARES

When the Railway Commission resumes its meetings here on Tuesday next the city, through its advocate, W. H. Butler, will proceed with the objections raised at the last meeting of the board to the increase in the rate of commuters' tickets, which had been announced by the railway companies to go into effect on March 1, but which, on an order from the chairman of the board, have been postponed for one month. Since that meeting Mr. Butler has received from the railway companies the necessary data regarding the cost of transportation, and he will strongly oppose the big increases that are proposed. This especially applies to the Bordeaux line, where the increases in the trip tickets vary from 73 per cent to 117 per cent. On other lines also there has been considerable increases, all of which will be opposed by the city. Mr. Butler will also ask the board for an order compelling the Grand Trunk to resume the daily service of trains between Montreal and the former municipality of Cote St. Paul, which in years past had a service of six trains a day each way under a contract between the municipality and the company. These trains were cut off during the war and now the citizens in that district ask that they be re-established. The city will also formally object to the proposal of the Montreal and Southern Counties Railway to increase their fares by approximately twenty per cent.

H. J. Swetman will be the chairman of the evening.

CAPT. E. B. SAVAGE, M.C.

Who died yesterday in the Royal Victoria Hospital from the effects of influenza.

CAPT. E. B. SAVAGE IS 'FLU VICTIM

Was Well Known Rugby Player—Won Military Cross

Canadian Rugby football lost a staunch supporter yesterday when Capt. Edward Baldwin Savage, M.C., succumbed to influenza after two weeks' sickness at the Royal Victoria Hospital.

Capt. Savage, who was the son of John G. Savage, was born in Montreal 33 years ago and educated at Montreal High School and McGill University. Prior to the war he practiced as a chartered accountant in his own interest, being head of the firm of E. B. Savage and Company. At the cessation of hostilities he joined McDonald, Savage, Currie and Company.

In the spring of 1915 he recruited a draft for the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery and accompanied it to England in January 1916. He reached France in June of that year, where he served twelve months with the 7th Battery, following which he was attached to the staff of the Divisional Artillery with the rank of captain and ultimately decorated with the Military Cross.

All his life he took a keen interest in athletics and when nine years of age made a track record at the Montreal High School which remains unbroken. He was a member, as hurdler, of the Canadian Olympic team which competed in London in 1911 but his greatest athletic feats were in the realm of rugby football. He was outside wing man on the M.A.A.A. team during 1905, 1906, 1907 and 1908. It is claimed that there has never been, in the history of Canadian football, a surer tackle or faster wing man than "Ted" Savage.

Capt. Savage married Miss Marion Douglas Creelman, daughter of the late A. R. Creelman, K.C., general counsel of the C.P.R., who survives him, with one son and one daughter. He is also survived by his father, three brothers, three sisters and three step-sisters.

CHARLES GARVICE, NOVELIST, IS DEAD

Was Also Famous Dramatist and Journalist of England

LONDON, March 3.—Charles Garvice, novelist, dramatist and journalist, died Monday night.

These novels include: "Nance," "Her Heart's Desire," "The Outcast of the Family," "A Coronet of Shame," "Just a Girl," "In Cupid's Chains," "Love Decides," "Linked by Fate," "Love the Tyrant," "A Girl of Spirit," "Diana and Destiny," "Where Love Leads," "The Gold in the Gutter," "In Wolf's Clothing," "Queen Kate," "The Scribbler's Club," "Two Maids and a Man," and "The One Girl in the World." Among his plays are: "The Fisherman's Daughter," and "A Life's Mistake." He was also part author of two other plays, "A Heritage of Hate," and "Marigold Comes to Town."

Mr. Garvice was president of the Institute of Lecturers, and former president, of the Farmers' and Landowners' Association. He was fond of outdoor life, and his favorite recreations, apart from amateur farming, were riding, fishing and motoring. He was a Fellow of the Royal Society of Literature, for a time chairman of the Authors' Club.

In the twelve months just before the war Mr. Garvice sold over a million copies of his novels in Great Britain and the British Dominions, leaving out of account his sales in the United States, where he also had a big market. All told he had sold something like 7,000,000 copies of his books up to the time of the war.

WINNIPEG BUILDERS OPPOSE HOUSING PLAN

City's Proposition to Build Terraces Meets Disfavor

WINNIPEG, March 3.—Proposals made to the City Council by the Civic Housing Commission, to the effect that the city should build terraces and sell or rent the housing accommodation provided thereby, will be strongly opposed by the Builders' Exchange, it was announced yesterday. The Exchange is willing to support any attempts to relieve the housing situation under the present system, whereby a purchaser is found for the house before it is built. The proposition of building without having purchasers on hand will be fought, however, on the ground that the risk of loss to the public is not justified.

It is expected that the Exchange will call a special meeting to consider the matter, and the Winnipeg Realty Association also will discuss the question at a special meeting called for Friday night.

SAY PULP SHIPMENTS PURCHASED ILLEGALLY

Stocks for Fitchburg Bought in Error—Big Shortage

FITCHBURG, March 3.—Because of the shortage of pulp six local paper mills were closed temporarily. Four of the mills are owned by the Fitchburg Paper Company and two are of the Crocker Burbank Corporation chain. It is thought that by the end of the week some of the mills may re-open.

Other mills are running at a disadvantage because of the shortage, and it is feared they may be forced to close. The paper company expected several carloads of pulp last week. The shipment was located on the St. Lawrence River and will not arrive here for several days. Other shipments have been found held in Montreal, having been purchased illegally, through error.

Washing Won't Rid Head Of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 3, 1920.

QUEBEC AND THE REST OF CANADA.

IT is just as foolish as it is mischievous to attempt to read into the declaration of L. J. Gauthier, in Parliament yesterday, something that Mr. Gauthier in all probability never intended.

Quebec has little enough ground to be satisfied with her status at Ottawa today. Part of the present condition is perhaps consequent upon Quebec's own action, but part is not. This province did not see eye to eye with the rest of Canada on the great issue that tore this country from 1914 to 1918. The consequence was that in the election of 1917 Quebec did not vote as the rest of Canada voted. Right or wrong, that was Quebec's prerogative. But the serious grievance which Quebec feels, and rightly feels, is the attitude of mistrust and suspicion held toward it by a certain element in the other provinces. Quebec being neither blind nor altogether foolish, has read and marked attack after demagogic attack made against it by men and newspapers more concerned in the collection of votes and dollars than in the welfare of the country. This province has been the target for more than one deliberate campaign of vilification, of downright falsehood and of dangerous racial and religious mischief-making. It feels that in a large section of Canada it is misunderstood and, what is worse, that there is no desire upon the part of certain sections of the Canadian population to understand it any better. There is little profit to be gained from elaborate inter-election "missions" into Quebec, if, when votes are to be got, a popular method of getting them is to attack this province. Just so long as this method is pursued periodically in certain quarters there will be "soreness" in Quebec.

But between a feeling of irritation against habitual offenders with a resultant desire to state its case before an unprejudiced population and a secret cherishing of an intended "revenge," there is a world of difference. If Mr. Gauthier were really actuated by the dangerous, inflammable sentiments that have been read into his words, he would be just as much in the minority in Quebec as the "race and creed" capitalisers in the other provinces. For that is the discouraging part of the whole situation. All this pestilential propaganda of racial hostility is kept alive and carefully fanned by a handful of bare-brained fanatics in all the provinces who have found that the game can be made to pay well and who, periodically, work it for all it is worth. When the time at last comes that the voters of Canada, English and French alike estimate these gentry at what they are worth, there will be a real understanding that will not pass away.

GERMANY FROM WITHIN.

"IN high diplomatic circles it is asserted that the Supreme Conference has come to recognize that Germany ruined would mean a weak spot and a dangerous spot in Europe."

So, nearly sixteen months after the signing of the armistice, "high diplomatic circles" have "come to recognize" what the man on the street knew before the ink was dry on the paper that gave the order to cease fire.

Yet, after all, it matters little whether the high diplomatic officials have, at this late day, had the truth of this obvious principle burned into their intelligences. The question that the world is asking today is: "Has Germany herself learned its truth? Germany is quick to grasp the economic lessons that tend towards her preferment, but only through sweat and tired muscles will the regeneration of her people be brought about. Not even the passing of the Commonwealth Act is of more importance than the recognition by Germany that if she fails there is no hope for the peace of Europe.

For Germany must learn the lesson that she is no longer a glorified Prussia, that she is no longer an autocracy with visions of world rule, that she is a homogeneous people of free and voluntarily-allied peoples, and not an aggregation of serfs bowing in humble posture to some tyrant rule. The lesson will be hard to grasp, but unless it is learned there can be no assurance of peace. German salvation cannot come from without, and for want of solidarity the nation stands unsteadily. The constitution must be federal in spirit and not merely binding in its provisions. It must be a cementing of national and inter-dependent ideals, and not a mere dovetailing of differing ambitions.

The world has read too long of Germany's wanting ambition. It would be better pleased today to hear of her success in re-building.

That Montreal lecturer who will speak here this week on "Statesmen I have met," must have travelled extensively abroad.

LORD SINHA SPEAKS.

IT is indicative of the dangerous ferment of ill-conceived theories of government, that the granting of the limited Home Rule to India seems to have failed to awaken that enthusiasm in the Empire and elsewhere which its importance deserves. India constitutes so vast an Imperial problem, it can easily be understood how any alternative to a despotic administration there would appal the most courageous statesman. How far British Government in India during the past sixty years has been successful—so far as success is spelled by sentiment—only the future can determine. It is one of the penalties of autocracy, that it has few apologists among its subjects. Yet at the same time there is nothing inherently improbable in well-balanced and equitable administration being associated with a wise despotism.

The system that has prevailed in India since the Mutiny is about to come to a close. The Government of India Act, as Lord Sinha declares in his latest speech, opens a new era in which the people of India are to be associated with those principles of democracy of which India herself knows little, but of which she "hears the voice of the charmer in the market-place." Yet it must not be supposed that the great Reform Bill of India is a "reward" for Indian loyalty during the war. Its sponsors rightly claim for it that it is the partial fulfillment of the promises made by Britain when India first came under the British Crown. But obviously India cannot be always governed from Downing Street. A day was bound to come when the two hundred and fifty million people, composing that nation, must have a direct and exciting control over the machinery of their country's government.

Whether the Act of which Lord Sinha speaks is timely or judicious is debateable, but of the spirit out of which it was evoked, and of the sympathy out of which it was born, there is no question.

The issue that the Government of India Act raises, as Lord Sinha says, is in the last analysis fundamental. The gradual identification of Indians with the government of their own country is a worthy ideal only if it can be established that a sovereign power owes something more than good government to the peoples under its control. This delegation of authority in the meanwhile is a thing that is just now very much in the fashion. In the same way it is also in the fashion for Governments to flee from the tasks of governing as soon as the dictates of popularity and common sense seem to diverge.

The possible tragedy of Indian Reform lies in the fact that it can only be tested by putting it into practical effect. It will be too late to withdraw it when once its provisions are operating. Rights once conceded to a democracy cannot be withdrawn, however much reason and prudence seem to demand their temporary suspension.

SOMETHING IS WRONG.

ACCORDING to information gleaned by the Charity Organization, and from court records, it is evident there is great laxity in the enforcement of the liquor laws. As many as fifty drunks in one day have appeared before the Recorder, and the matter has been scathingly commented upon by the head of the court.

Apart from the sale of light beer and light wines, Montreal is supposed to be officially dry.

Papers in the United States poke much fun at this city because of its alleged open defiance of the liquor laws.

When court records show that drunkenness is nearly as common here as when three hundred and fifty bars could legally remain open, there are grounds for this jeering and reproach.

It is unfair that the city's reputation should be openly juggled with. It is the duty of the Attorney-General to see measures are enforced which will result in decent observance of the new law.

The Provincial authorities have declared that the sale of strong liquor shall be for medicinal purposes only; it must be obtained on a doctor's prescription; must not be sold by the glass, while only shops controlled by the Provincial authorities must fill prescriptions.

It is contended by liquor inspectors that they are enforcing the enactment to the best of their ability. In such case some entirely new methods of enforcement are called for on the part of the authorities.

It is a matter of public scandal that there are places all over the city where liquor can be bought with the greatest ease.

This is not the fault of the present law. If Quebec were bone dry legally under the present system of enforcement, blind pigs and bootleggers would flourish as they do now. But the inevitable effect of continued laxity will be to bring this law into contempt and prove the wine and beer experiment wrong in the minds of moderate people.

An Indiana jury took just two minutes to acquit a man who shot to death one who said: "To hell with the United States." Capital punishment evidently is still favored for certain crimes.

Poets.

Vain is the chiming of forgotten bells
That the wind sways above a ruined shrine.
Vainer his voice in whom no longer dwells
Hunger than craves immortal bread and wine.

Light songs we breathe that perish with our breath
Out of our lips that have not kissed the rod.
They shall not live who have not tasted death.
They only sing who are struck dumb by God.

THE WORLD'S PRESS

A Favorite No Longer.

Brooklyn Eagle: Has anyone recited "Beautiful Snow" lately? Probably not. Recitationists know what "safety first" means. They'll run no needless risk.

From War To Peace.

Pall Mall Gazette: An unusual-looking collier is plying between Cardiff and Genoa at the present time. It is no other than the old battleship Italia, requisitioned by the Italian Government to carry Welsh coal to its ports. The Italia is doing the job effectively, though very expensively, since she carries only 7,000 tons, 2,000 of which she consumes herself on her way to Italy. She was launched in 1880, and was then the largest warship in the world. She carried 100 guns, and was able to steam at the then excessive speed of 18½ knots. How have the mighty fallen!

The Fourth Kind of Courage.

New York Sun and Herald: It takes one kind of courage to fight a burglar when your life is in danger. That's self-preservation. It takes another kind of courage to tackle the burglar when only your property is in danger. That's righteous indignation. A third kind is the courage which sends a good policeman or soldier where his business calls him. That's duty. But when the burglar is in somebody else's cellar at midnight and nothing is in danger except somebody else's property, the kind of courage that sends a man down the stairs is a fourth variety. It's the sort of nerve novelists give to romantic heroes. Major McMurtry and Mr. Bacon had it in an exalted degree.

Monarchy or Republic in China.

Hong Kong Press: There may be some ex-Ministers of the old Ta Ching Court who cherish a wish to see their old masters once again exercising political power, but there can be no real peace and order in China until the Republican regime is firmly established. So long as the agreement by which the Republic is pledged to accord "favorable treatment" to the Manchus, is respected, the best interests of the Manchus lie in political retirement. It is plain to most students of political conditions in China that another attempt to restore the Manchus to the throne would but aggravate and enlarge the dissensions already existing, and it certainly could not be made with any prospect of permanent success.

In the Blues.

London Daily Express: Dearer boots and—dearer blouses. There sounds a knell for those who deck themselves to please man and to consume with despair opposing woman. Dearer blouses—the economic tragedy is familiar in the annals of these our days. The tragedy of fashion is scarcely less. The tragedy of health may be greatest. There seems only one way to defeat a fifty per cent increase in the cost of a blouse, and that is to use less material. But if so, wherewithal shall a woman be clothed? Already pneumonia has been defied and a once agreeable convention of snow-white evening necks has been shattered by the reddened V of blusterous winds. The reduction of quantity can go no further if woman, for all a hardiness which man dare not emulate, is to survive at all. Perhaps the blouse will disappear.

The Child Still Lives.

London Observer: The declaration of British feeling which Lord Grey's letter has called forth has no interfering purpose. The nation has placed on record that it has come to understand the position of the United States, and should they elect for co-operation will welcome it under the reservations they believe it right to lay down. Big things must have small beginnings, and we are not hoping for a new world at a stroke. But it is everything to make the beginning. Though the functions of the League in its first stage fall short of what was planned at Paris, we shall be very well content to know that it lives and is not still-born. Life will mean growth, and the fact that civilization in either hemisphere has accepted is as a living, although infant, conception will endow it at once with the potentialities of infinite development.

Venizelos Defines a Statesman.

Kansas City Star: Venizelos, the great Greek statesman, is quoted by the Outlook as saying in a speech in Paris: "I am an idealist. But I am also a realist. As I understand it, idealism is not opposed to realism, but to materialism." The world is full of idealists who are visionaries. Their heads are in the clouds. They have fine purposes, but they are so lacking in practical knowledge of human nature that their purposes simply evaporate into thin air—or sometimes into poison gas. Consider the pacifists. The world is full of realists who have no ideals. They are eminently practical, but their limitations make them dangerous leaders. They are materialists without the vision and imagination necessary in handling human affairs. The German war leaders were examples of this sort. The great need in the United States today is leadership of the kind described by Venizelos—of idealists who also are realists, of men of vision who are not visionaries.

FROM THE STAR FILES

THIRTY YEARS AGO.

(From The Star Files, March 3, 1890.)

Rome.—Pope Leo XIII. celebrated his 80th birthday yesterday, Sunday, and tomorrow will be the twelfth anniversary of his coronation.

Pope Leo XIII.

The Roman Catholic faith made great progress during the reign of the late Pope Leo XIII., whose popularity was widespread among nations. Visited in person by the late King Edward. His Holiness maintained the friendliest relations with English-speaking people, the United States also coming in for a large share of his attention. It was in his reign that John Henry Newman was elevated to the Cardinalate, as well as Archbishop Gibbons, of Baltimore.

His Holiness was a tireless worker, and though often in delicate health astonished those about him by his unceasing activity. In his last illness, those in attendance could never say enough of his thoughtfulness for the doctors and others who ministered to him.

Civilization owes much to him for his stand on the labor and social questions, his encyclicals setting forth with profound erudition the Christian principles bearing between capital and labor and giving a vigorous impulse to the social movement along Christian lines. The ecclesiastical sciences found in him a generous patron. In 1883 he opened the Vatican archives, on which occasion he published a splendid encyclical on the importance of historical studies. He was constant in his vigilance and his pontificate was one of the most brilliant in the history of his church.

His Holiness died in 1903.—(Ed. note.)

Montreal. — After May 1 the Police Department will occupy all the basement offices at the City Hall, thus displacing the health officials, who will be provided with more airy and brighter accommodation on the top floor, which is easily reached by means of the elevator.

Montreal. — The 72nd anniversary of St. James Methodist Sunday School was observed yesterday. The evening meeting was conducted by Messrs. Crossley and Hunter. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Henderson, announced that these evangelical meetings, which have been in progress for quite a little time, would end this week.

Paris.—The Government has decided to institute proceedings against the Journal L'Egalite for advising German Socialists to shoot Emperor William.

Toronto.—A big public meeting will be held tomorrow to discuss the celebration next year of the 100th anniversary of the foundation of the Province of Ontario.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

(From The Star Files, March 3, 1900.)

London.—The War Office has received the following despatch from Gen. Buller: "Ladysmith.—I find the defeat of the Boers more complete than I had dared to anticipate. This whole district is completely clear of them."

McGill Without a Pilot

(McGill Daily.)

The announcement by the Board of Governors yesterday that Sir Auckland Geddes, who for the past year has been nominally principal of McGill, has tendered his resignation will not create a great deal of surprise in University circles. In fact this has been awaited for some time by most of us, and for a long while by a few. McGill has lost a brilliant man and one who is, better than anyone whom we can think of at the present, fitted to carry the burden imposed upon her principal and to lead her in the drive which she must make towards greater success.

We are reminded of events which transpired about a year ago. April 4, 1919, was McGill day in London. To herald the inauguration of the principalship of Sir Auckland Geddes, Mr. W. M. Birks, of this city, gathered around him at the Carlton Hotel a noteworthy company of Englishmen and Canadians, including Lord Milner, Sir Robert Borden, Bonar Law, the late Sir Wm. Osler and others. In proposing the toast of the evening "The McGill University and its New Principal," Mr. Bonar Law admitted that both he and the British Premier had tried hard to convince Sir Auckland that his greatest opportunities for usefulness and his duty lay rather in England than in Canada.

In replying to the toast Sir Auckland Geddes definitely pointed out why he had put aside high political ambition to accept this Canadian principalship. These were his words:

"I do not believe at the present moment, and in this I ask leave to differ from my right honorable friend, that anything in this country, not even in the Government, is of greater importance if we take a long view, than the work of education in Canada. If I did not believe it to be of greater importance than the work I was doing or was likely to do here, I would, in spite of my inclination, have refused the offer of the principalship of McGill.

"There is no factor more important for the future peace of the world than the development of good and cordial relations between the two great English-speaking peoples of the United States and the British Empire. Canada is the key to that position, and Canadian universities because of their control over the flexible mind of youth hold that key, and of all these universities McGill, because of its history and geographical position, is bound to be the most important. So I am glad to go to the very spot of all others which I believe to be the most important at the present time. In a short time I hope to be sailing back to Montreal to take up my work at my old university. Changes there will be in the university. Growth there must be. This is a time of reconstruction of our systems, and no university, no human institution, can sit placidly, serenely smiling unless the serenity be the serenity of death.

"There must be change. There must be growth, and we mean to aim high. There is no doubt that we are in the midst of events which must affect a movement of the centre of gravity of human affairs; how many degrees we cannot say, but it has moved. We cannot in Canada hope at present to rival in point of numbers and physical size our great southern neighbor, but we can and will, if we are true to ourselves, more than rival her in those things which are of first importance, the things of the intellect and spirit. In war these things have proved themselves justified, and in peace and in history they are the only things that open pathways for the ascent of man."

Shortly after this came the news that he would be unable to at once relinquish his position in the Cabinet and was immediately granted leave of absence. This announcement gave birth to doubt which since that time has been steadily growing. The question was whether Sir Auckland would stand by his convictions as expressed in his opening remarks at the banquet and come here or yield to the persuasive influence of such men as Lloyd George and Bonar Law. Since then it has been evident that he has either their attack and the natural result is expressed in the cable received yesterday.

We can only hope that Sir Auckland Geddes may achieve as much fame and success as British Ambassador at Washington as he might have here, following what he once considered the Path of Duty.

HELP THE HOSPITALS.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star:

Sir,—Having read Dr. A. E. Vipond's letter in the Star, may I be permitted to add a few remarks re the "Alexandra Isolation Hospital." I speak from personal experience having come out from Glasgow, Scotland, some seven years ago to an appointment as nurse at the above Hospital.

As a fever trained nurse and knowing fever work thoroughly and the experience of the methods of the city hospitals of Glasgow and other large cities in Britain, I cannot help writing on behalf of a fever hospital, on a much larger scale than the "Alexandra" is now. Miss Fairie who was matron then was splendid and did all in her power to have improvements made.

I have often wondered if the people of Montreal realize how necessary a large isolation hospital is to a city the size of Montreal.

The population of Montreal is steadily increasing, and it stands to reason that the hospital requirements of the city will grow in proportion. I cannot understand why there are not at least two large isolation hospitals to cope with the amount of infection which is always rife in large cities. I consider that all infectious and contagious diseases should be isolated, and certainly the Alexandra Hospital and the Hotel Dieu do the work splendidly, and every effort should be made to carry on the good work being done. Why not have city hospitals built on a large scale and make the city responsible for the up Keep? In the meantime, surely everybody will do their best to contribute financial aid for the Alexandra as the majority of the cases admitted there must find it almost impossible to pay even a little.

The results of the recent "Forward Movement" of the city churches clearly demonstrates the willingness of the public to subscribe to missionary work. They ought to be as willing to subscribe as large sums for so worthy and urgent a cause at their own doors.

H. DOBBIE.

A NEEDED TAX REFORM.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—Do you agree that the present high cost of everything has been brought about partly by the Government's method of taxing and that the daily newspapers could correct the misfortune and bring prices down in six months' time if they set out to?

If you will follow me I know you will agree that the above is a fact.

Take for an example an individual, firm or corporation that bought $100,000 worth of stumpage (timberlands) before the present price inflation. The stumpage may have had a $50,000 mortgage on it, so the net investment was $50,000 and doubtless represents about all the owner is worth and therefore this is the figure used to calculate his income taxes on. The value of this stumpage today probably is a million dollars, the owner would be only too glad to cash in by sawing it into lumber or selling it to make woodpulp and willingly would pay a good big tax if allowed to do it and this is just what the owner should be allowed to do if we are going to get prices down by increased production. Under the present Excess Profit Tax Law he, the owner cannot do this unless he wants to turn over more than half of his good fortune to the Government. This individual, firm or corporation must hold back his timber and just market about 1-15 each year in order to pay a fair tax rate under the present Excess Profit Tax Law. If he marketed the entire lot of stumpage in one year the Government would take more than one half of the entire gross amount he received or over $500,000 tax; if he sells nothing and lets the trees grow he pays no tax.

Just think, this one thing (stumpage) increases the price of practically everything, first the price of lumber and wood-pulp because of this artificial shortage brought about by the Excess Profit Tax Law, this in turn raises the price of furniture, cost of building, cost of waggons and freight cars, crates and shipping boxes for food and wearing apparel, etc., this same artificial shortage makes paper and everything requiring paper go up.

You will quickly realize, Mr. Editor, this same thing holds true in all kinds of ore, coal, cattle, etc., you are heavily penalized by your Government and called a profiteerer by the public if you work overtime and increase production, which everyone admits is the only way to bring prices down.

Is it not plain the only solution is a flat rate of taxation and not the present Excess Profit Tax? Let it be so much per unit or a certain per cent on the amount of business you do. With a tax like this in force everyone would rush to cash in at the existing high prices which would naturally bring prices down.

By making a flat rate of taxation as on theatre tickets, soda water, etc., you do not penalize the individual, firm or corporation who increases his production and helps reduce prices. He only pays the same tax as the fellow who likes to hold production down so the margin of profit will keep on increasing.

J. S. OTIS.

ARE THERE NO TRAFFIC BY-LAWS?

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—Starting from the corner of Greene avenue and St. Catherine street west recently, I walked down as far as Bleury street. After being almost covered with dirty water several times by automobiles racing along at 25 to 30 miles an hour, I took note of the number of cars that were violating the traffic laws. I counted seven, whose drivers should have been arrested for what I call a disgrace to the city. The first one was at the corner of Atwater and St. Catherine. A west-bound car was stopped discharging passengers when a car drove up, passed the tram car and covered the passengers with water and dirty snow. The next one was at St. Mark and St. Catherine on the east-bound side, and again at Guy street, where there is a traffic policeman on duty, and where he can't help but see it, but he won't say anything. The average man in his car is a better citizen than the man on the street, to his knowledge, and he is only there to wave his hands. This happened all along St. Catherine street, and I can see it every day. I hope the Administrative Commission will see this and take a tip that things like this are just what other cities have stopped years ago. But Montreal hasn't thought of it yet. Time someone woke up and got busy looking after the citizens who should be protected by the traffic cop.

CHANCERY WINDFALLS, 1919.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star:

Sir,—During the past year a large number of advertisements were published by order of the Courts of Chancery inquiring for missing heirs, and your readers may, therefore, like to have a list of the more important cases.

The next-of-kin or relations of the following persons were sought: Robert Billing (Norfolk); James Barrow, (Kent); Agnes E. Conlon (Southport); Frederick Bucknall, (Somerset); Mary Cooper, (Tooting); Mary Collis, Daniel Deane (died 1894); Robert Danson, (Surrey); Charles G. Stanley, (Melbourne); Frederick James Griffith, Mary Ann Mattey, Agnes, Elizabeth and Mary Newby (born 1661-1676), Agnes Preston, (married 1689),—Selina Hallfield, (Bangor, 60 Down); Gertrude A. Howard, (Liverpool); Elizabeth Annie Jones, (Greenwich); Thomas Toton Jackson, (died 1892), John Kinsman, Ellen Linde King, (died 1912); Harriet M. Mackell, Sarah and William Hitchcock, George Metcalfe, (London, died 1865); Mary Ann Pucker, Ada M. Peyton, Edward Shippey, (Manchester), William Thompson, (Newcastle-on-Tyne), Agnes Dunstan, (Cornwall) and Mary Emma Gregory.

In addition, the following were mentioned as interested in Chancery funds: B. J. Wellingham, who took part in the Spanish-American War; George and Ann Glandfield, Robert P. Crease (or Caseway); James Adam Clarke, Ann Hunter Dexter, Marion Griffith Arnold Thomas A. Grundy, (South Africa); Thomas G. Grundy, (Canada); Henry C. Jenkins, (Barry, Montreal and Cape Town); and William Bond Taylor, (Manchester). SIDNEY H. PRESTON.

TORONTO'S CONVENTION.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—Once again, in a leading editorial, you bring the Queen City into prominence. Why? Are you jealous of her virtues? Or is it because you have never attended a real convention in a real city?

No; I do not think these are the real reasons. But it is the fact that you know that spirits in Toronto now form a greater body than sewage water doctored by chloride, and that other spirits may be in a position (or might be towards the end of the convention) to tell the good citizens of Toronto how to wrangle more spirits from some secret yet handy sub-Ontarian deposit, and spend their wealth in their own province, seems to be worrying you a bit. But do not be disappointed. Don't you remember Prof. Leacock's dream end of 1916, or thereabouts, when he was able not only to do his business on arrival at 7.30 a.m. in Toronto and return same day by the 9 a.m., but he was also able to purchase from Montreal over the telephone "one special and soda?" Go and do likewise. Dream you have attended the convention, and that you never missed a round.

A SOMNAMBULIST.

EVOLUTION AND IMMORTALITY.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—In a recent Star the interesting and able defense of Sir Oliver Lodge by Martha J. Mortimer was somewhat marred by the statement, "That evolution is relatively merged with immortality." This cannot be true, the two doctrines are diametrically opposed, the one supported by several sciences, the other founded on imagination. Such gentlemen as Sir Oliver Lodge and Dr. A. R. Wallace (who shared honors with Darwin), command respect, but their belief in the supernatural, does not influence the natural law of evolution. The late Professor Haeckel in "The Riddle of the Universe," closes a chapter on the subject thus, "The belief in the immortality of the human soul is a dogma which is in hopeless contradiction with the most solid empirical truths of modern science."

NORMAN KING.

THE SPOOF OF SPOOKS.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—If I am not greatly in error, the modes of speech in common use upon this earth have been found always adequate to the demands of the simplest and the most profound intellects.

The plasticity of our speech is such as to admit of phraseology being found for all purposes, whilst the coining of new terms and methods of expression has never acted as a real deterrent to the progress of knowledge.

It seems, therefore, to be a very lame excuse for the paucity of information and enlightenment obtainable from the spooks' sphere, when we are told by an advanced scientist of the calibre of Sir Oliver Lodge, that those who have long "been in the other state develop more interest in what is strange and unearthly, and strive in their inter-world conversation to give us an inkling of them; but our speech generally proves to be a non-conductor for such ideas."

Our language fits the special phraseology of our individual avocations, of all sports, of music, and of arts. It answers to the highly specialised demands of the super-scientific.

Regarding its plasticity in the latter direction, innumerable instances might be given, such as, for instance, Heckel's "Perigenesis of the Plastidule," and other writings upon the problems of pathenogensis, the discussion of oogenesis, and the unravelling of the mysteries of the zygote, the origin of the phorozoon, and the phenomena of mitoses.

This alleged non-conductor of the ideas of our etheric friends presents no insurmountable difficulties to those who wish to enter upon the elucidation of such subjects as the migration of atoms in organic structures or compounds. It lends itself to the treatment of many phases of matter. In a recent discussion of the isomerism of two dinitrobenzidenes, this stubborn language suffered no material disgrace or degeneration when used to explain the meaning of the fact of diethyl diphenyldiacetate furnishing ethyl dibenzo—cycloheptia—diene carboxylate, whilst diphenyl—diacetyl chloride is convertible into hydroxypyrene!

Surely a language that can accomplish so much, should offer no inordinate difficulties to the etheric bodies of the many learned men who have gone before?

Our present mode of speech has sufficed in scope and expression to enlighten us on the character and doings of the Neanderman, the Magdalenians, Solutrians, the Aurignacians, and other races of prehistoric mankind, dating as far back as the early period of glacial extension, estimated to be from 80,000 to 150,000 years ago.

With such a world of instances of the adaptability of our language to suit any desired conditions, new or old, what is offered as the explanation of its failure to cope with etheric conditions?

Is it really the fault of language, or the spoof of the spooks?

Concerning Chesterfields

THERE is more in a Bell Chesterfield or Chesterfield Chair than meets the eye. It is what is under the covering fabric that counts in upholstered furniture.

The finest Velvet or Silk Damask covering cannot atone for poor interior construction and poor filling material. Fair as are the prices of our Chesterfields, it would be possible for us to sell them for considerably less—were we content to use inferior construction and shoddy materials. This we would never consent to do.

Only highly tempered springs, the finest webbing, best hair, cotton and down, are used in our stuff-over furniture. The frames are hand made of well seasoned hardwood. Every Bell Chesterfield or Chair is a permanent haven of comfort, being honestly made from the cover to the webbing. Only in this way can perfect resilience and durability be assured.

A Bell Chesterfield is worthy of a place in your home. We invite you to visit us at the Galleries and personally inspect our range of designs. A comprehensive collection of suitable covering materials always on hand.

MARGARET CURRIE'S CHATS

BUYING IN CANADA.

"May I express my appreciation of your articles on buying Canadian-made goods in preference to those manufactured in the U.S.A. About fifteen years ago some patriotic women tried to organize a campaign along these lines, but Canadians are so careless and 'laissez-faire' that they are apt to buy anything that pleases them, without making enquiries as to whether they can get as good an article in their own country.

"Women are being blamed unjustly in some quarters for the H. C. of L. but I'm afraid in this question of buying American (in its narrow sense) goods, they are the chief offenders. Let us hope the exchange situation will open some eyes and cause them to show a little more foresightedness in their daily life.

"Our manufacturers have had a hard struggle to cope with this indifference on the part of the householder and especially of society women. But the trade-mark 'Made-in-Canada' is prominent now on many varieties of goods, if people will only take the trouble to ask for the things which are already known and appreciated abroad.

"The U.S.A. is a foreign nation which is out to exploit our national resources for their own benefit, and to make us economically so dependent upon them that political absorption will, they think, speedily follow. It is too bad to see so many Canadians playing into their hands. There are few things we actually need from our Southern neighbor, while our raw products in many cases are vital to their large population.

"It is inevitable that a nation of one hundred and ten million side by side with one of nine million must influence the latter considerably, especially when the same language is spoken, but we can retain our individuality, and refuse to be swamped if we will put Canada first as far as they are concerned, and remember that our development should be from East to West, a link between Europe, Asia and the central part of that great British League of Nations already established.

"The aim of the U.S.A. has always been, and is today, to force Canada to become another of the American republics, over which she would hold authority, in some sort. It is a bad condition of national life that American newspapers, magazines and moving pictures should flood this country, often with anti-British propaganda, and the remedy is for each individual to help along all projects which aim to preserve our nationality, traditions, and separate entity.

"As you suggest, let Canadians spend their money at home in vacations and as a winter resort for the well-to-do,—there is always the British West Indies. Our forefathers kept this country free, and built it up in the face of hostility and much greater difficulties than we have to contend with, and with our greater area and much greater natural advantages, there is no reason why this country of ours should not be eventually the most prosperous of the continent. But to this end we must cultivate our self-respect, and support all Canadian enterprises that have to compete with so rich and aggressive a rival.

"If for the last ten years Canadians had had a distinct ideal, some of the projects which have had to go out of business would be flourishing today, there would be no unemployment, and our population might have been double. Anyway is it too much to hope that in the next generation there will be less affectation among the young girls who 'must have American style, you know,' in their boots and shoes, or must run down to New York to buy a blouse."

CANADIAN.

Ed. Note:—It is gratifying to know that the "Made-in-Canada" idea is growing in favor, and, as "Canadian" so justly observes, if we will stand together on the question, there is no reason why we should not have definite and valuable results.

GYMNASTIC EXERCISE

I noticed on a leading page of a Montreal paper an article with reference to young children dancing, and that teachers in the schools are complaining that boys and girls have nothing in their heads but dances, and cannot give proper application to their studies.

I have a daughter attending one of the protestant schools, where gymnasium exercises are given, and mostly these exercises are in the form of dancing and throwing their legs about. My daughter comes home and shows her mother what she is being taught at school and she says it is disgraceful the way the young girls are taught to throw their feet up into the air. In fact my wife does not think it right that my daughter should practice this exercise before me, her own father.

What kind of teaching is this that our children are getting? That is not what we send our children to school for. Another exercise they have to do is to kneel on the floor and then touch the floor with their chin. We wonder at children's clothes getting so dirty, but they are being taught to dirty their clothes under the guise of gymnastic exercises.

I think it is about time such exercises should stop, and that if gymnastic exercises are given, they should be confined to bar bell, dumb bell and club exercises only. A PARENT.

Ans:—I cannot understand how anyone can object to the sort of folk dancing that is taught in gymnasium exercises. It must be extreme prudery that could see anything wrong in it.

JOYS OF CHILDREN.

May I offer an answer to "One of Them's" letter? I would like her to see this—particularly on that part of her letter where she says children are weakly and all married women are sickly.

I am five years married and have a "mere man" for a husband—but he is everything that is good, kind and thoughtful. I might say I do all my own housework and have two of the most wonderful children.

In my opinion and that of all our married friends married life is an eternal bliss! Unselfish devotion each to the other. Learn to understand your husband, make yourself acquainted with his work—read yourself well up on all his favorite subjects; learn to like his authors and of course when he comes home, evenings will find you together talking interestedly about those things he likes best. He will regard you as a "pal" which is the biggest compliment any woman is glad to hear from her husband. I am in every sense of the word my husband's pal. He always calls me that. We are extremely happy. He goes out with his "boy friends" bowling once a week, also he has his evenings off for lodge meetings twice a month and I do not object to his bringing home his friends for a quiet game of poker once every two weeks.

As for our children, they most certainly are not weakly. One weighed 8¾ pounds when born and now weighs 35 pounds at 2½ years. The other weighed 14 pounds when born and now at five months old weighs 33½ pounds. Do you call that weakly or puny children? Well, I don't. And I can point out to "One of Them" that she most certainly is wrong—that begetting children does not tend towards making married women "sickly" but makes them stronger, healthier and more and more in love with life and their own environments.

It is women who want to get married so that they can go around more freely without a single thought of adhering to the laws of nature, those women who are too selfish to beget children because it means staying home—giving up all thoughts of "good times," bringing up God's blessings to be good men and women—those are the woman who are sickly—certainly not the woman who has children.

It is nice to travel and visit interesting places—but it takes only four years to tour the world, once your four years are over, you have seen the world and all its interesting things—what then?

But when you have the most wonderful and interesting thing nature can give—a child—you have it for your lifetime. It never ceases to interest you—their wonderful questions and cute ways, their extreme love that brings you closer to your husband and he to you,—a life-long tie that binds till and even after death!

I know hundreds of women who feel as I do, and very few who feel as "One of Them" does.

I hope I have not taken up too much of your time, but I feel very strong on this children question. It is true they are bothersome until they can talk enough to tell you why they are crying, but then what is more cute than a darling little infant who dimples sweetly whenever you look at her? A LOVER OF CHILDREN.

HAZEL EYES

I think your friend's advice is excellent. Get away for a few months, then get back home and then make up your mind.

Bloused Jacket Frock for Spring

Eton and bolero jacket effects are greatly in evidence in the line-up of spring suits and tailored frocks for street wear. As a matter of fact, many of the suits and dresses bear such a close resemblance eo each other that it is difficult to tell whether the garment under observation is a suit or a dress until it is actually handled.

The sketch illustrates a smart tailored frock for spring, cut with a jacket front and bloused back, wide Roman-striped ribbon being used to form a girdle and vest. The garment as originally designed was shown in navy tricotine. The skirt featured plain and accordion-pleated panels. The high-standing collar at the back of the jacket is usually extremely becoming. This collar must of course be reinforced by the use of a lightweight buckram or hair cloth to make it hold its shape.

In making this dress, a fitted bodice lining is cut to fasten in the centre front and the vest and skirt fasten invisibly at the left side.

Jacket suits and dresses are distinctly youthful and, of course, are most becoming to the slender, straight figure.

In addition to the waist length bloused and jacket effects, frocks featuring a bloused over bodice, with fulness at the hip line, are also shown. This is a season when various silhouettes find equal favor and the styles featured are so numerous that it will be really difficult for any woman to look badly dressed, if she keeps her clothes in immaculate condition and gives proper attention to accessories.

A discussion of street frocks for spring naturally brings up the question of wraps. The cape coat is to be a favorite. The dolman, with its uncomfortable sleeve arrangement, has been shelved for the present and the cape coat, which has borrowed its good points and done away with the poor ones, has taken its place. Many satin and silk wraps for street wear are being shown. A decidedly charming garment is the reversible cape coat, wool fabric on one side and satin or silk on the other.

THE AWAKENING OF ELAINE CADMAN

By CAROLYN BEECHER

CHAPTER LVII.

Elaine Vanderwater with characteristic pride was facing a situation that she was beginning to feel might become almost hopeless, if not shameful, Kane was wasting her fortune, perhaps was untrue.

Now, too, another element had entered into the situation, a disturbing element. Elaine thought much of Larry Goodman in these days, dear old Larry, who was so thoughtful and who loved her. She now knew that as certainly as she knew she lived. She had seen the look in his eyes when he came to inquire for little Henry, but more surely had he shown it the afternoon he advised her a man who loved, who longed to protect, to possess.

That there was nothing between them now she dimly felt was her fault. She had scarcely kept up even a friendly acquaintance with him because of Kane's jealousy, which he never hesitated to express. But was it jealousy. Somehow she had begun to doubt if even in that he had been quite honest. Had it been because he feared if she kept up her friendly relations with Larry and the others they might tell her things, open her eyes to his actions?

She had times when she felt the situation quite hopeless. Once or twice when Malcolm Gregg had called her on the telephone, she had been tempted to make an appointment with him, but as usual she had hesitated, saying to herself that she would try a little while longer, although feeling that it would be in vain.

She had granted Kane's demands for money; paid their ever increasing bills without comment.

"I might as well let him have it all and be through with it," she said to herself, "as to drag it along and quarrel. He may get some of his own deals finished by the time it is all gone."

She had a feeling at that time that God owed her something; that she had been cheated in some way. At times but for her boy she would have thought life scarcely worth while. Yet she still loved Kane; rather she still clung to the idea that she loved him. She surely did not love any one else—not even Larry—although she now knew of his love for her. She had missed him, missed the companionship of all her young friends, him most of all perhaps. There was no coquetry in Elaine. Kane was her husband, the father of her boy. When she became his wife she had taken an obligation upon herself. She would fulfil it to the best of her ability.

But her disturbed mind gave her no real chance to think straight. To keep Kane satisfied was now to give up practically all of her charitable work in which she had been so interested and which she had considered a solemn trust from her father. She was immensely relieved when she found that her hospital and the other institutions she had helped were not to suffer because of her inability to keep on as she had done. She found that some unknown benefactor was taking upon himself, or herself, the same responsibility she had taken and was making the same donations, in some cases even more generously.

"I tried to do as you wanted me to, dad, but I couldn't," she said one day as she stood looking at his picture.

Larry called. He found her eyes moist, her heart filled with sorrow. It was always so now when she talked to that pictured father.

"What is it, Elaine? Anything you can tell me?" he asked as he took both her hands in his.

"I was talking to Dad, Larry. I miss him so." The tears overflowed.

"Don't dear. I'd give my life for you, Elaine, for the right to tell you the things I think, how I feel! But—I haven't that right. Even my calling for a few moments may be wrong—may cause you trouble."

"I miss you, Larry. You—and others."

"I know you do, you dear, brave girl. I——" He stopped, let her hands go and asked after the boy. He could not trust himself to say more; she should have been his, the one woman in all the world he had ever thought to call wife; and now she was lost to him.

After this they talked simply, like old friends. But it was after this call that Elaine realized more than ever before that Larry Goodman loved her; that if it had not been for Kane she might have cared for him.

LITTLE STORIES FOR BEDTIME

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS

BLACKY THE CROW MAKES FUN OF REDDY FOX

When you see a crow about
Then for mischief pray watch out.

Blacky the crow is an early riser. He needs to be in winter, for at best the days are short, and there is none too much time to get enough to eat. You see, in winter food is scarce, and often Blacky has to fly far to get enough to keep him reasonably comfortable.

On this particular morning Blacky was awake as soon as it was light enough to see. He shook himself, smoothed out his feathers and then left the big, thick hemlock tree in which he had spent the night. He flew straight toward the Green Meadows. He was on his way to the Big River, for he hoped to find a dead fish or some other food on the edge of the open water. There is not much that the sharp eyes of Blacky Crow miss. As he passed over the old bramble-tangle on the edge of the Green Forest he saw two little brown forms squatting side by side close together. "As I live," muttered Blacky, "there is Peter Rabbit and Mrs. Peter. However in the world did Peter induce Mrs. Peter to come way over here?" He was tempted to stop and ask them, but thought better of it and held his tongue.

Straight over the snowcovered Green Meadows he flew past the dear Old Briar-patch. He didn't intend to stop there, but when those sharp eyes of his saw a spot of red half-hidden under the bushes on the edge of the Old Briar-patch, he changed his mind. He circled and alighted in the top of a little tree and his sharp eyes twinkled and snapped as he looked down. There lay Reddy Fox, and Blacky's wits are so sharp that he knew instantly why Reddy was there. He knew that Reddy had found out that Peter was away from the dear Old Briar-patch and was lying in wait for Peter to come home. He remembered the two little brown worms squatting in the bramble-tangle on the edge of the Green Forest. It had been quite clear to him that they had settled themselves to spend the day there, and now he understood why. He knew that somehow they knew that it wasn't safe for them to return to the dear Old Briar-patch.

Blacky began to chuckle hoarsely, for you know his voice is very hoarse. Reddy Fox looked up at him and snarled. Reddy and Blacky are not the best of friends. Blacky chuckled harder than ever. "Since when have you made your home in the dear Old Briar-patch?" he asked innocently.

Reddy knew that Blacky knew that he wasn't making his home in the dear old Briar-patch. Reddy knew that Blacky knew just why he was hiding there. "Go on about your own business, you black mischiefmaker," snarled Reddy.

Blacky continued to chuckle in the most provoking way. "You've picked out a comfortable place to spend the day, Reddy," said he. "Do you usually call on people when they are not at home? Peter and Mrs. Peter have decided to spend the day over in the Green Forest."

"What's that?" snarled Reddy Fox. "You know very well that Mrs. Peter never leaves the dear Old Briar-patch. She is hiding somewhere in here now."

Blacky laughed right out. "Then little Mrs. Peter must have a double," said he. "I saw some one exactly like her with Peter not five minutes ago, and if I am any judge they have no intention of coming back to the dear Old Briar-patch today. They've fooled you, Reddy Fox. They've fooled you. A great hunter you are to be fooled by a pair of rabbits." Then Blacky began to caw at the top of his lungs, and to every one within hearing, that "Caw! caw! caw!" meant "Fox! fox! fox!"

Reddy glared up at Blacky helplessly. Then he got to his feet, shook himself, and with such dignity as he could, trotted off in the direction of the Old Pasture. He knew that it was useless to remain there now that Blacky the Crow had discovered him. And to this day he wonders why Peter did not come home as usual at sun-up that morning, and how it happened that little Mrs. Peter was over in the old bramble-tangle on the edge of the Green Forest instead of at home in the dear Old Briar-patch.

"Go on about your own business, you black mischief-maker," snarled Reddy

TO REMOVE BLUING STAINS.

There are three kinds of bluing in common use and a stain from one of them must be treated according to the composition of the bluing that caused it.

Ultramarine blue comes in balls or blocks which are tied in a heavy cotton or flannel cloth (sometimes called the bluing rag) and when bluing water is required this is shaken about in clear water. The water becomes blue because there are small insoluble grains of blue held in suspension, and these must be kept stirred, else they will fall to the bottom of the dish and stain the clothes which touch them there.

To remove stains of ultramarine blue, soak a fresh stain in abundance of clear cold water, or if the stain has dried and is stubborn, wash it with soap and water, as you would in ordinary washing, using plenty of soap and rubbing vigorously. If, however, the stain is too heavy for either of these methods, use a ten per cent solution of acetic acid, in the water in which the stained clothes are soaked. After using the acid, rinse the clothes in clear water with a few drops of ammonia added, and afterwards rinse again in plenty of clear water.

Liquid blue in use commercially is Prussian blue, or ferric ferro-cyanide. It looks green blue in water. To test for this, put a few drops in a glass and add a solution of washing soda. Heat this by placing the glass in boiling water, and if it is Prussian blue, a reddish brown flaky substance will be formed. This is ferric hydroxide.

Fresh stains from this kind of blue can be removed by cold water, but old stains need boiling water.

If red stains that look like rust are found on clothes rinsed in Prussian blue they are formed by the same red substance found in the glass when testing for it; it is similar to iron rust and can be removed by the same method, salts of lemon and boiling water.

Analin blue is made from coal tar. Stains from it can be removed by cold or by boiling water.

STRIKE LEADERS MAY APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL

Ward Hollands Voices Prediction in Event of Conviction

CHANCE OF WINNING

Claims English Law Differs from Canadian Regarding Sympathetic Strike

Special to The Star.

WINNIPEG, March 3 (Special to The Star) — A probability that the strike leaders will attempt to appeal directly to the Privy Council in the event they are convicted, in the trial just drawing to a close, was forecast by defence counsel. The prediction, voiced by Ward Hollands, who represents George Armstrong, is based on a written judgment of Court of Appeal, on R. B. Russell's case, just handed down, in which five appellante justices unanimously uphold Russell's conviction, and characterize the Winnipeg general strike as a "step toward revolution," and "an attempt to establish soviet rule in Canada."

The defence see the futility of carrying the case to the Appeal Court, if the strike leaders are convicted, because the evidence in the Russell and present trials has been largely along the same lines and the Appeal Justices, in their judgments, leave no room for doubt as to their opinion regarding whether the strike was legal or otherwise.

They are confident, however, that in the event of conviction, and if given permission to carry the case to the Privy Council, they have a good chance of winning, because the English law on general or sympathetic strikes, differs materially from the Canadian law. Under the English law, upon which the Privy Council would decide the appeal, the defence counsel assert, there can be no question as to the legality of the Winnipeg strike.

If William Ivens, George Armstrong, Aldermen John Queen and A. A. Heaps, W. A. Pritchard, R. J. Johns and R. E. Bray, are convicted, the defence will ask permission at once to take the case to the Privy Council, according to Hollands, and at the same time will take the Russell case.

CROWN'S ADDRESS DELAYED.

Argument over right of defence to see portions of Crown exhibits in the strike trial and search for "missing papers," occupied virtually the whole of the afternoon's session, effectively postponing the opening of the Crown's jury speech by A. J. Andrews, K.C., which was billed for yesterday afternoon.

After argument had been finally settled, William Ivens and W. H. Trueman, K. C., counsel for Aldermen John Queen and A. A. Heaps, took up the balance of the day, pointing out extracts from strike bulletins and copies of the Western Labor News, which they wished Justice Metcalfe to call to the attention of the jury, as explanatory of extracts entered as exhibits by the Crown.

A whole mass of documents, including pamphlets, letters and speeches, will be gone over today in the same manner, and it is possible that Andrews will not be able to start his speech until tomorrow.

W. H. Trueman contended that where portions of the article were put in as an exhibit by the Crown, defence should be permitted to refer to the entire article, in addressing the jury.

"Then I'll have to take the position of telling the jury that I consider the Crown has been unfair to the accused in putting in only extracts from articles," said Trueman.

"And I'll have to take the position that I can see nothing whatever to quarrel with in Crown's conduct of this case," said the judge.

"I think it comes in very poor grace for Trueman, who just entered his case yesterday morning, to comment on the fairness of the Crown," said Isaac Pitblado, K. C.

When the session opened, R. A. Bonnar, K. C., asked for a bill of particulars in the case, but the document, which has been missing for more than a week, could not be found.

Fetcher McDonald, registrar, was called to the stand and questioned. The last he saw of the document, he said, was when he loaned it to E. J. McMurray, defence counsel.

The mystery is still unsolved.

Judge Metcalfe ordered the registrar to lock the indictment in his vault and to let no one touch it but himself.

After McDonald had left the stand, Andrews called Sergeant Waugh, R.N. M.P., who testified he had seen Joe Knight, the Edmonton radical, in the court room recently.

Sergt. Fripps said he had seen J. Kavanaugh of Vancouver, in court since the trial started. This evidence came as a complete surprise, and no one, aside from the Crown counsel, seemed to know why the testimony was brought in.

The jury had a half day off, being excused when the argument over exhibits started.

KAPUSKASING PROBE

Hon. W. E. Raney Announces No Change Proposed for O.T.A.

TORONTO, March 3. — The commission investigating the soldiers' settlement at Kapuskasing left last night for the camp. Evidence there will be taken direct from the settlers and the commission members will personally investigate conditions. Many witnesses will be called, too, upon climatic conditions, the chances of assuring crops in that part, and the effect of clearing large tracts upon the frost attacks during the growing season.

Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, under whose regime as Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines, the colony was proposed and formed, volunteered evidence yesterday to the Commission. The main point in question was a pulp mill which settlers alleged was promised to them. Mr. Ferguson declared that it was not promised, but that it had been hinted at as a part of the scheme later. It was expected, he said, that a small industrial community would grow up beside the agricultural settlement. The scheme, however, he told the commission was purely agricultural, as it was promised to the men.

GROCERS OPPOSE DISCOUNTS.

The question of discounts occupied much of the afternoon session of the Ontario Wholesale Grocers' Association yesterday in the King Edward Hotel, and the following resolution was finally endorsed: "That uniform terms on groceries be set, with no discounts of any kind, and interest at the rate of 7 per cent be charged at the end of 30 days."

In a telegram from the Nova Scotia Wholesale Grocers' Association, it was requested that a delegation be appointed by the Ontario Association to co-operate with it in an effort to block the continuation of the excess business tax. Hugh Blain, of Toronto and H. W. Chamberlain of Ottawa, were named to accompany a delegation of Nova Scotia to Ottawa, and there to present their case to the Government.

WANT MORE ORGANIZATION.

Speaker after speaker yesterday, at the third annual convention of the Ontario Retail Automobile, Garage and Accessory Dealers' section of the Retail Merchants' Association, held at 2 College street, stressed the need for greater and more thorough organization of the dealers. There was too much "cut-throat" business going on, and organization and co-operation were the only things which could stop it, one delegate said. "It has become evident during the last few years that we are living in a day of organization, and there was practically never a time in the history of the retail automobile garages and accessory business when it was more necessary for those engaged in this particular line to be organized than at present, President S. H. Rowed, of London, said in his opening address.

"I have no doubt that the deliberations of this convention will be conducive to the elevation of the standard of retail merchandizing to a much higher plane."

PROF. BALLANTYNE NOMINATED

Rev. Prof. James Ballantyne, D.D., was nominated for the moderatorship of the general assembly by the Presbytery, of Toronto, at its regular meeting yesterday. Prof. Ballantyne who is on the staff of Knox College, is one of the most prominent leaders in the Presbyterian Church of Canada, and has been actively engaged in the promotion of missionary work as well as in educational affairs.

The Presbytery accepted the resignation of Rev. Dr. John Neil from the pastorate of Westminster Church. Some attempt was made to prevent Dr. Neil resigning. Prof. Ballantyne moved that the resignation be not accepted and that the congregation be asked to detain him as their minister (without responsibility and authority, in order that he might have full standing as a member of the Presbytery. The motion was withdrawn on the request of Dr. Neil.

SETTLE WESTERN PROVINCIAL ROAD ROUTE.

The route of the provincial highway or trunk road across Western Ontario to the border at Windsor is settled. Hon. F. C. Biggs, Minister of Public Works and Highways told a gigantic deputation, representing all the municipalities from the Niagara frontier across southwestern Ontario yesterday, that the road would be from London to Chatham, to Windsor, and from London to St. Thomas to Maidstone. The latter is a road bringing St. Thomas into the system and then connecting with the Chatham-Windsor road at the village of Maidstone.

It simply means that the Longwoods road is the provincial highway and a part of the Talbot road running to St. Thomas is also on the provincial highway system. This part of the provincial highway has been the theme of vigorous contention ever since provincial highways were spoken of.

The two routes had many supporters. Even up to the last minute there seemed a great difference of opinion. With the big deputation yesterday was small deputation which was to ask that both roads be provincial highways throughout their entire length. The deputation was from Essex, and Major J. C. Tolmie, M.P.P. for Windsor, was its chief spokesman. It met the other deputation before Premier Drury and Hon. Mr. Biggs came in. It was urged by them that the entire representation of the two deputations should ask for both roads. Various speakers said that this would spoil their case, in view of the fact that economy was needed in the Government. No agreement was reached and the Essex deputation left the assembly chamber to wait a chance to meet Mr. Biggs later.

PROBE MOTION DEFEATED.

After a prolonged debate, which occupied fully the three and a half hours special session of the city council yesterday afternoon, Alderman Joseph Singer's motion, that the Attorney-General be advised that the city council wishes an inquiry under the Public Inquiries Act into the conduct of the Toronto Police Court was defeated by 14 votes to 10. The vote was only taken after most of the members present had spoken. Although it was feared that insufficient members would be present to make a quorum the attendance was up to normal, and more than usual interest in the speeches, was shown throughout the debate.

NO CHANCES IN O. T. A.

No chances will be made in the Ontario Temperance Act at the coming session of the Legislature. In a letter addressed yesterday to Rev. Ben Spence of the Dominion Alliance, Hon. W. E. Raney makes the matter clear. It does not mean however, that no steps will be taken to make Ontario "dryer" than it is, Mr. Raney points out that he is not dealing with the subject of asking the Dominion Government for permission for a referendum. "That is a subjection which the Government is to hear representations and on which it will in due time make a pronouncement," he stated.

Mr. Raney's letter is largely regarding jurisdiction in the law and points out the necessity of taking safe ground. It is written in reply to a delegation of the Dominion Alliance, which waited on the Government some days ago.

TWO BANDITS CAUGHT.

The patch darned in an overcoat to mend a hole caused by a cigarette burn, and a father's recognition of the coat as belonging to his son, led to the arrest of what is claimed to be one of the most dangerous gangs of hold-up men and budding criminals seen in Toronto for some years, yesterday afternoon and last night. When Carl Minchington was knocked down, bound and gagged, and the store at 110 Queen street east, where he was a clerk, robbed by three men last Friday, one of the robbers appropriated Minchington's coat. Later on in the day James White was arrested for the robbery but no trace could be found of the others.

Permanent and practical memorials to James Watt, who died a century ago this year, are planned by a number of British scientific and engineering organizations.

PROPOSE WATERWAY SCHEME FOR PRAIRIES

WINNIPEG, March 3, (Special to The Star.)—The formation of a Western Waterway's Association was advocated yesterday by Mayor C. F. Gray, to encourage the development of waterways in Prairie provinces. As an example of what might be accomplished, the mayor said that the Saskatchewan River could be made navigable, to permit the transportation of coal from western fields. This waterway, he pointed out, runs through an immense pulpwood area and a district which is rich enough in copper sulphide deposits to supply the whole North American continent with sulphuric acid.

6,000 People Daily

Start This New Teeth-Cleaning Method

All Statements Approved by High Dental Authorities

Millions of teeth are being cleaned in a new way. And 6,000 new people daily are writing for a ten-day test.

Everywhere the results are seen in teeth that glisten—teeth with envied luster. Ask the owners and they will tell you that Pepsodent has done it.

But this means more than white teeth. Those careful people are fighting film, and film is the great tooth wrecker. Most tooth troubles are nowadays traced to it.

Film—the Chief Enemy

Film is that viscous coat which you feel with your tongue. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. The tooth brush does not end it. The ordinary tooth paste does not dissolve it. So much remains to cloud the teeth and it may do a ceaseless damage.

Film is what discolors—not the teeth. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Thus well-brushed teeth, as millions know, discolor and decay. And serious tooth diseases are alarming in extent.

Science Now Combats It

These facts have long been known. Dental science long has sought a way to daily fight film. But the only way seemed periodic dental cleaning to remove the film and tartar.

Now science has discovered an efficient film combatant. Able authorities have proved it by convincing clinical and laboratory tests.

For home use, the method is now embodied in a dentifrice called Pepsodent—a modern, scientific tooth paste. And, to show its effects, a 10-Day Tube is being sent to anyone who asks.

Make This Simple Test

Pepsodent is based on pepsin, the digestant of albumin. The film is albuminous matter. The object of Pepsodent is to dissolve it, then to day by day combat it.

This method long seemed impossible. Pepsin must be activated, and the usual agent is an acid harmful to the teeth. But a harmless activating method has been found. Years of tests have proved that. So now this active pepsin can be every day applied.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the slimy film. See how teeth whiten as the fixed film disappears.

See the results, and our book will tell you how they come about. Then decide for yourself between the old ways and the new.

The test will be a revelation, and you owe it to yourself. Mail the coupon to us today.

Teach Children to Employ It

When you see what Pepsodent does, teach the children to employ it.

Brushing is inadequate for saving teeth, and millions of mothers know it. The film will wreck them if you don't combat it.

This ten-day test will show you how to fight the film. It will point the way to whiter, safer teeth.

It will tell you how the children can avoid some troubles that you know.

See that they do it. There are few things more important.

The Quickest Way to Stop a Cough

This home-made syrup does the work in a hurry. Easily prepared, and saves about $2

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too — children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a 16-oz. bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Of use clarified molasses, honey or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make 16 ounces —a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded.

McADOO URGES AMERICA TO BUY BRITISH COLONIES

In Payment He Would Give Britain Credit on War Debt

MANY DRAWBACKS

Former Secretary in Capital Believed Nursing Political Boom

Special to The Star by David Lawrence. Copyright, 1920.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—William Gibbs McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, is in town for a little while, presumably to nurse along his political boom. Having dealt with matters of taxation, it is natural that he should be found discussing ways of reducing taxes. And the most novel suggestion he makes is that the United States shall buy several British colonies such as the Bermudas, Jamaica, British Honduras, Barbados, the Bahamas, Nassau and other islands off the Atlantic coast of this continent. In payment, Mr. McAdoo declares the United States should give Great Britain credit on her war debt to us. This, he believes, will help Great Britain and ourselves because it will tend to stabilize foreign exchange and mean an earlier settlement of the European debt.

OF GREAT VALUE.

It is hard to estimate what the price of the islands is on the market of international barter, but not long ago the United States purchased the Danish West Indies for $25,000,000. Of course the British possessions are much more valuable than that. The price might be calculated on the basis of exports and imports and some of the British possessions are worth a good deal. Jamaica, for instance, has plenty of sugar, though its rum isn't particularly useful at this time. On the whole the United States could find a billion dollars worth of value in some of these islands, without much trouble and get it back in commodities in a short time.

PROHIBITION HINDERS.

But if it were not for the principle enunciated by the distinguished father-in-law of Mr. McAdoo, namely the principle of self-determination, it would be easy to get the proposition going, for it is said that British sentiment is not a bit adverse to discussion of the matter. What, for instance, would be the opinion of peoples in the Bermudas, Bahamas and so on about being annexed to dryland? Seriously speaking, there has been an annexation movement in some of these British islands for some time. They have wanted to be annexed to the United States for various reasons, mostly commercial advantages growing out of geographical proximity. But the advantages of prohibition have not yet taken hold of the British imagination. Perhaps the islands could be gotten ready for annexation only after some of the anti-saloon league agents had been able to sow the seed which was so effective inside the United States.

Mr. McAdoo, however, sees the question purely as to its bearing on financial relations between the British Empire and the United States. Says Mr. McAdoo:

FINANCIAL RELATIONS.

"It is highly desirable both on our own account and that of our Allies that the settlement of our loans to our Allies be rendered as quick and easy as possible. Our chief debtor, is of course, Great Britain, and this arises naturally out of the fact that Great Britain has liberally pledged her credit to sustain that of her Allies. Now for the past one hundred years, Great Britain has held certain islands in and near our shores, Jamaica, the Bahamas, Barbados, Nassau, British Honduras, and the Bermudas, off our South Atlantic coast. These British possessions so long held by a friendly maritime power do not jeopardize the security of the Atlantic and gulf coast of the United States. With the process of time we now have become the leading economic power in the world, and have developed the Panama Canal and a navy and merchant marine which make these islands more than ever important to us. Might it not be possible to work out a plan by which England's debt to us could be reduced by the transfer to us of certain British possessions in the western hemisphere to the extent of their value?

THINKS NO OBJECTION.

"The British Empire at this moment comprises one-sixth of the land area of the whole world; and, according to British economic experts the surplus capital of the mother country will for many years to come be expended in the development of the agricultural and mineral resources of the great self-governing dominions and of India. I imagine that Great Britain would not object to such a disposition of these islands, especially as they would go to a friendly power. I see nothing in such a proposal to offend the just pride of a great people, whereas such a liquidation of a portion of the British debt might be a happy solution of a part of Great Britain's immediate financial problem."

SOME DIFFERENCES.

Inquiry among British correspondents in the national capital leads to the conclusion that the matter would not be unfavorably received in Great Britain were it not for the fact that British policy is for the present inseparably interwoven with what happens to the League of Nations and proposals for naval disarmament. If the League is dead and Europe goes back to the old order of things, then the British Government must bear in mind the excellent use which she made of her Atlantic possessions as a rendezvous for the British navy during the last war. Some valuable naval bases are scattered in the North and South Atlantic which Great Britain would be loath to give up. Yet if international disarmament is put into effect through the League of Nations Great Britain would have as little use for naval stations as she would for more battleships and the tendency of American naval men is reflected in the statements just made by Rear-Admiral Badger and concurred in by other members of the general naval board to the effect that the United States should have "the largest navy in the world."

DEPENDS ON BRITAIN.

It is hard to say whether this is a direct consequence of the discouraging fate of the latest efforts at international co-operation or the usual rivalry which naval men feel about other navies. Anyway, so long as naval expansion continues on both sides of the Atlantic, Mr. McAdoo's suggestion depends for its acceptance by the British on elimination of valuable naval bases, not to mention the opportunity that must be given to give the residents of the British colonies to say how they feel about keeping their islands entirely surrounded by wetness or annexed to dry land.

OPINION OF BRITISH.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(United News Special.) — Representatives of Great Britain in the capital professed to have little interest in the suggestion of William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, that the United States should purchase British island possessions in the West Indies.

McAdoo suggested the war debt of Great Britain to this government might be reduced through the transfer of Jamaica, the Bahamas, Bermudas, the Barbadoes and British.

"I guess we are not so poor as all that," said one high British official, with considerable asperity. He predicted the proposal would meet with little favor in Britain, saying pride would prevent its acceptance, if nothing else did.

He said the matter had not been formally suggested to Britain in any way, and added with some emphasis that the idea did not emanate from British quarters.

British officials agreed that before such a transfer might be made the wishes of the islanders would have to be consulted. It would not be in accord with the principles laid down at the Peace Conference to take the people under the American flag unless they agreed to it, they pointed out.

It was suggested that the islanders might favor the transfer because of the commercial advantages to be gained. Naval questions might enter, for during the war His Majesty's fleets found the Atlantic islands highly useful as bases.

The United States already has closed connections with the republic of Cuba, the largest island of the Antilles group, owns Porto Rico and the Virgin Islands, and dominates Haiti and Sando Domingo.

It was suggested the same proposal might meet with favor in France. Many of the Lesser Antilles, to the south of Cuba, extending toward the coast of Venezuela, are French possessions.

The question of price caused speculation. The Virgin Islands, comparatively small and economically unimportant, brought $25,000,000 when sold by the Danes. They were of course, purchased largely for strategic reasons.

The chief importance of the islands in an economic way is in the production of sugar, the United States being largely dependent on Cuba and the neighboring islands for this product. In addition, they grow much coffee and tobacco, products consumed to a greater extent by America than by any other nation.

BRITISH HOUSE DISCUSS FINANCES

Supplementary Estimates Nearly Forty Million Pounds

PEACE EXPENDITURE

Much Criticism Aroused Over Expenses for Paris Accommodations

LONDON, March 3 (By Canadian Press) — The House of Commons yesterday went into committee of supply to handle financial questions arising out of the supplementary estimates and they will be similarly engaged for the next two sessions. The supplementary estimates include about 20 million pounds for Civil Service and revenue; six and a half millions on account of the bread subsidy; and nearly 6 millions for the Board of Trade for the deficiency under the coal mines control agreement.

The discussion initiated excursions into many regions of finance and public services but produced no outstanding incident. Much criticism was aroused over the expenditure of £820,000 merely for accommodations in Paris for the Peace Conference, but all amendments were defeated.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer answered inquiries about the Government's continued financial interest in the British Cellulose Company. He explained that a condition was that in any future war the Government could take the management of the company over. Shares had been taken in lieu of the Government's prior lien charges and the Government's thousand shares for the expansion of the industry in peace time would be of great advantage to the country.

Replying to a question, the Chancellor said that in the budget shortly to be submitted, revenue and expenditure would balance.

The House of Lords gave the proportional representation Bill for local elections a second reading and discussed nationalization and the fate of the yeomanry regiments.

The Government gave an assurance that nationalization of mineral rights did not mean commitment to a policy of general nationalization of industry. The yeomanry question rose on the decision to retain only ten yeomanry regiments as cavalry, the others being turned into other arms. The Government stated that their decision was final.

SCHLESWIG FREEDOM

Emancipation from Prussia Proclaimed, Advices State

LONDON, March 3.—A despatch from Flensburg, Schleswig-Holstein, says it is reported that representatives of the Schleswig and Holstein organizations, together with members of various political parties, assembled at Rendsburg, Holstein, yesterday to proclaim the emancipation of Schleswig-Holstein from Prussia and the establishment of a new state.

According to the despatch, the State Commissary, Dr. Koester, in an address, said:

"I'm going to Berlin this evening to hand over this declaration of independence.

RED CROSS CONGRES S FORMALLY OPENED

German Admission to League Debated—Lady Drummond Attends

GENEVA, March 3 (By Associated Press) — At the opening of the Congress of Red Cross Societies here yesterday, Henry P. Davison, chairman of the board of governors, sketched the growth of the movement since its inception at Geneva 57 years ago, and the tremendous advance in medical science during the war. Describing the lamentable conditions existing in the world today, he said:

"Who is there amongst us who is not asking himself whether civilization is to break, whether madness is to dethrone sanity, and whether or not the war with all its horrors may, after all, have been but the beginning of something that is worse to follow?"

Wherever delegates met yesterday one question debated was whether Germans and Austrians would be admitted to the congress.

Neutral and American delegates were in favor of raising the ban against them, while opinions of Allied delegates were divided. The Board of Governors will decide the question.

The board is comprised of delegates from Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan, and the United States and is being organized in the same manner as the League of Nations Board. Only four members have arrived, Sir Arthur Stanley, representing Great Britain, having being delayed.

The decision of the board must be unanimous, and it is understood that the French and Italian members are like to oppose the entry of Germany and Austria.

Those opposing the immediate admission of Germany and Austria, are said not to treat the question altogether as one of bias, or one to be decided by emotions resulting from the war. They are said to believe that the policy of the League is to work through stable governments and stable Red Cross societies, and that neither in Germany nor Austria are there sufficiently well organized societies to become suitable members of the League, and that the Governments of these countries are far from being upon solid foundations.

Madame Paderewski, wife of the former Polish premier, heads the Polish delegation. The eight other delegates present are: Mrs. Rachel Crowley, delegate of the League of Nations; Miss Alice Favre and Mrs. Maurice Dunant, Switzerland; Lady Robinson, Australia; Lady Drummond, Canada; Mrs. W. K. Draper, United States; Miss Augusta Stang, Norway and Mrs. O. F. Wilson, New Zealand.

FRENCH SENATE ADOPTS ARMY BILL

PARIS, March 3.—The Senate yesterday adopted the bill of the Chamber of Deputies incorporating the army class of 1920 into the military establishment. M. Lefebvre, Minister of War of France, was following most closely the question of the disarmament of Germany, and so long as we have not certain assurances as regards German military activity we are obliged to preserve a force necessary to assure France the respect and security to which we are entitled.

MEETS GRUESOME DEATH.

A gruesome story was told at an inquest held recently at Dundalk, concerning the death of a farm laborer named Thomas McKenna, of Milltown. It appears that deceased was in the kitchen of a public house at Philipstown, belonging to Mrs. McEntaggart. She left the place to attend to some cattle and when she returned she found McKenna lying on the ground with his head in the middle of the fire. He was removed to the infirmary where he died later. Medical evidence went to show that the right parietal bone was completely burned away, and the brain was scorced and visible.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 3. — Mr. Alfred J. Larden, who for the last thirty years has been a member of the international union of printing pressmen, and for the past 24 years secretary of its local union, has been elected as Canadian trustee of the Printing Pressmen's and Assistants' Home in the state of Tennessee, after one of the most bitter union election contests that has been held in the United States.

Word as to the result of the voting of the different locals in the United States, and Canada, was received by Mr. Larden, from international headquarters last night, and showed that president L. G. Berry of San Francisco had been re-elected, and that his entire slate had carried.

LADY ROSS DEAD

Widow of ex-Prime Minister of Ontario Succumbs at Santa Barbara

Special to The Star.

TORONTO, March 3.—Word was received yesterday of the death by heart failure at Santa Barbara, California, on Sunday, February 29, of Lady Ross, widow of Sir George Ross, ex-Prime Minister of Ontario, and a daughter of John R. Peel, of London, Ontario. Paul Peel, R.C.A., the famous Canadian painter, was a brother, and the family was closely related to that of the distinguished British statesman, Sir Robert Peel. Before her marriage in 1907 Miss Mildred Peel was herself a painter and sculptress of considerable note, having studied in Paris under Constant. Besides a number of portrait busts of public men, she did the bust of Laura Secord for the monument at Lundy's Lane. Lady Ross is survived by two sisters: Mrs. R. B. Belden, Toronto, and Miss Daisy Peel of Santa Barbara, Calif., and two brothers, Dr. Alfred Peel of St. Helen, Oregon, and Mr. Fred Peel of Edmonton, Alberta.

LONDON, March 3.—The Times announces the sudden death at Stratford-on-Avon of Arthur Henry Bullen.

Arthur Henry Bullen established in 1904 the Shakespeare head press at Stratford-on-Avon. His publications have to do with the works of the earlier English poets. He was born in 1857.

STOP PURCHASING IN UNITED STATES

WINNIPEG, March 3.—"That we the Winnipeg unit of the Army and Navy Veterans' Association resolve that we will abstain from purchasing American goods until such time as the Canadian dollar is worth 100 cents in the United States, and we ask the co-operation of all Canadians to this end."

This resolution was unanimously carried at a general meeting of the association last night.

FATHER'S AMENDMENT.

"And what do you propose to do now, William?" asked the father of the son who had just come home after graduation at college.

"Oh," yawned the optimistic youngman, "I think I'll go over to New York and look for a position at five thousand per—you understand? At five thousand per."

"Oh, yes," said the old man, "I understand. You mean at five thousand perhaps?"—Pathfinder.

TO HELP GERMANY REGAIN FOOTING

Peace Conference Shows Notable Change of Attitude

FRANCE CONCEDES

Recognized That Germany Ruined Would Mean Danger to Europe

LONDON, March 3 (By Associated Press) — A noteworthy phase of the present meeting of the Peace Conference is the changed attitude toward Germany. In high diplomatic circles it is asserted that the conference has come to recognize that Germany ruined would mean a weak spot and a dangerous spot in Europe.

Great Britain, and personally Mr. Lloyd George, the British Premier, are credited with being the chief forces in bringing about this policy. The French peace delegation is described as moving toward this point of view reluctantly, although it is moving. It is asserted that the French are less immovable than when M. Clemenceau was at the helm of state. How to set Germany on her feet is one of the largest questions the conference is now considering. It is considered probable that it will sanction an international loan to Germany, but the question of security is a basic one.

It is expected that a plan will be arranged which will offer inducements to the rich smaller neutral countries to subscribe to a loan. Even Britain, her representatives believe, will contribute, officially or unofficially, although her financial commitments of various sorts arising from the war are greater than those of any other nation.

The question of finally fixing Germany's war indemnities at a specific sum also is being discussed. The belief is being expressed that the German Government can organize its finances and industries more efficiently if the German people know what their obligations are to be and what they are to be called upon to pay. This question was one left by the Treaty to the Reparations Commission, but the present idea seems to be that the conference likely will take it out of the hands of the commission.

ALLOTTMENT OF RAW MATERIALS.

The purchase and allottment of raw materials and of food, which the conference is considering, and on which the necessity of a joint arrangement is recognized, is likely to involve consideration for former enemy countries. They probably will be given a fair share in the distribution in accordance with the new policy of putting them on their feet.

The Peace Conference is reaching its decisions more slowly than otherwise would be the case because of the difficulties of language. The proceedings are being conducted in three languages, English, French and Italian. There are no members of the conferences who understand all three languages, and few who understand even two perfectly. This involves interpreting and re-interpreting everything said at the council table. Even then it develops at the next day's meeting that one delegation did not understand clearly the precise attitude of another delegation.

The question most agitating the Italians and the Jugo-Slavs still is what President Wilson's attitude will be toward the proposition of a direct settlement between them of their territorial claims.

PARIS HONORS WAR HEROES.

PARIS, March 3.—Paris has honored France's great war heroes by renaming a number of streets. Boulevards have been named after Georges Clemenceau, Petain, Foch, Joffre and Poincare.

VICTORIA, B.C., March 3.—One million bushels of grain in the hands of the Peace River country farmers is held up for want of transportation. This is the latest news on Peace River congestion communicated to Premier Oliver in a telegram from W. Wade, secretary of the Peace River Board of Trade.

STARTING ONE-MAN CARS IN HALIFAX

New Machines are Broader and Lower for Safety Purposes

MINE WORKERS MEET

Big Convention at Truro on April 5—Yarmouth Harbor Improvement

Special to The Star.

HALIFAX, March 3.—Five of the new safety cars ordered by the Nova Scotia Tramway Company, have arrived and instruction of operators has started. Already ten of these cars have made their first appearance on the Halifax car lines, but only in an official capacity. They are good to look at, and appear roomy and comfortable. The safety car is broader than the ordinary Halifax car and lower. These cars will be operated by one man and will be pay-as-you-enter." They will be placed on the Belt Line route.

Mayor Parker recently received a telegraphic enquiry from the Mayor of Nashville, Tenn., who was evidently under the impression that the safety cars had been in operation at Halifax for some time, asking if they were satisfactory and if more were to be installed.

FLU HITS THEATRICALS.

The musical revue, recently put on at the Imperial Theatre, St. John, by the Loyalist Chapter, I. O. D. E., was to have been brought to the Majestic, Halifax, Monday and Tuesday of next week—the players going to St. John—but owing to the severe illness of some of the chapter members the engagement has been postponed until a later date.

Mrs. J. D. Medcalfe has gone to Montreal to join her husband, who has accepted a position in that city.

The "flu" is supposed to have passed its peak in Halifax. To date the cases have been quite mild and few deaths.

The annual convention of the United Mine Workers, District No. 26, will be held at Truro on April 5th, according to the announcement made by President Robt. Baxter. The meeting, which is usually held in February, has been delayed this year to permit the completion of the work of the various conciliation boards now considering wage dispute between miners and operators. It was also pointed out by President Baxter that the award of the commission now sitting at Washington, considering the demands of the coal miners in the United States for wage increases will not be issued until March 9th, and as this award may govern Nova Scotia miners in making their demands, it is necessary to have the convention, called at a later date than usual. "We will draft our policy from the results of the deliberations of the commission at Washington," said President Baxter. "Whatever changes they recommend we will probably recommend in Nova Scotia."

GOES TO WEST INDIES.

Dr. J. B. Black, of Windsor, has sailed for the West Indies, to be gone some months for his health.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Strand, of Windsor, plan to leave shortly for the South.

At a monthly meeting of the Kentville Board of Trade, held last week, the members strongly endorsed resolutions passed by the Board of Trade at Yarmouth, regarding the improvement of Yarmouth Harbor, so that ships of the largest capacity might be able to enter Nova Scotia's western port, when the home-coming visitors begin to arrive in 1924.

The matter of an athletic field, community house and rink, as proposed by the town improvement committee, was also endorsed.

The Royal Nova Scotia yatch squadron, at a recent meeting, has decided to have temporary quarters on the North-West arm, which would give a place for yatchs, dingbys, etc. to be moored and for holding dingby races.

The Old Harbor Station will still be retained for the yatchs and general centre. The coming season bids fair to be a good one. The officers were elected as follows: Commodore, H. G. DeWolfe; Vice-commodore, George Winters; Rear-commodore, W. J. Rowe; secretary-treasurer, E. R. McNutt; committee of management; R. T. MacDreith, R. A. Corbett, John E. Wood, H. G. Lawrence, E. A. Bell; Auditors: H. H. Stimpson, W. Weston.

BUILDING BOOM.

There has been a big boom in building in Kentville this year. Mr. Wright of Waifield has started work on a $7,500 contract, an addition to the headquarters at the railway station, which, when completed will exhibit an enlarged and up-to-date depot restaurant, as well as additional office room on the upper floors, while at the Cornwallis Inn, the work is already so advanced, that one gets an idea of how attractive the building will be when completed. Many private residences have also been started.

The citizens of Windsor have already subscribed $10,000 to the building fund of King's College—as the Windsor people are keen on keeping King's on its old historic site.

The retail merchants have decided to submit a bill to Legislature this session, asking for an early closing bill to be passed—that the half-holiday might be had all year round except December. After the bill is passed the hours can be decided upon.

SAYS ENVER PASHA RESIDING IN BERLIN

Leader of Young Turks Believed to Be Seeking Support

LONDON, Mar. 3.—Enver Pasha, the former Turkish war minister and leader of the Young Turks, is reported to have been living in Berlin during the past week under an assumed name, according to a despatch to the Times from that city. It is supposed he was desirous of arousing sympathy for the Young Turks.

Enver Pasha has several times been reported in Berlin. A Constantinople despatch under date of December 12, said that he had been crowned king of Kurdestan. A sentence of death is hanging over him, a court-martial at Constantinople having condemned him, in conjunction with other Turkish leaders, for his part in the conduct of the Government during the war.

EXPECT FLOCK OF VISITORS TO THE WAR AREAS

Said That American Company is Planning a Series of Hotels in Zone

MUCH TO BE SEEN

So Far Few Have Tried to Get to Scenes of War—What Charges are

By DORIS HEMMING.

ARTICLE V.

PARIS, Feb. 6, (By Mail).—During the past five years the American public has concentrated its attention unswervingly on the little strip of land in Northern France across which fortune tossed the successes of the Great War. With the spring of 1920 tourist America plans to visit the scene of so many communiques and so many newspaper stories, the reality of so many maps and photographs. Here and there the company of American and Canadian visitors will include a pilgrim who has crossed the Atlantic with one aim in view, that of finding the last resting place of the boy who lost his life for the sake of the great victory.

France has scarcely had time to give a thought to preparations for her overseas visitors, so busy has she been with the problems of after the war. That the pilgrims and sightseers are coming every Canadian in Paris knows, but the French in their pre-occupation do not realize the sympathy and interest they claim among their Allies overseas.

At the moment the battlefields are devoid of visitors. This is the season of rain and mud and tourist travel has not begun. Consequently there are practically no facilities for travellers in the devastated regions, but a shrewd guess assures a supply of hotels, restaurants and motor cars, as soon as the demand makes itself apparent.

As a matter of fact a number of wealthy Americans are already planning to operate a chain of hotels in the battle zones next summer. The syndicate plans to purchase the controlling shares of at least twenty existing hotels, the largest being at Chateau-Thierry and Ypres, which will be the chief centres of attraction for United States tourists.

The syndicate's plan of catering for the tourist traffic promises to be highly systematized. Visitors arriving in Paris, if their hotel arrangements have not been made, will find a hotel bureau established, from which their wants will be telephoned to the area they intend to visit. Rooms at certain hotels will be definitely assigned to them and payments for the rooms will be made at the Paris office, thus eliminating the necessity of carrying large amounts of cash during an extended itinerary. When the visitor arrives at the railroad station nearest the "war zone hotel," he will find an automobile waiting to take him to his destination.

From the initial twenty hotels a system will develop which will include at least a hundred small inns, each of which would be able to operate economically by a system of "purchases in bulk" of food materials and other necessities.

TO STABILIZE RATES.

Another interesting feature of this plan is that there will be a fixed charge for each room, and the tourist, when registering at the Paris office, would be able to continue his journey to the battle areas with the knowledge that the charges would not be suddenly raised sky high by the sudden arrival of a few hundred unexpected visitors.

But this is all in the future, plans and project however feasible they seem. To return to the cold fact of present day conditions, the obvious way to visit the battlefields is to place oneself and one's ambitions in the hands of Cook, the American Express, or any of the other companies who decorate their front windows with signs and fingerposts leading enquirers to the information desk within. There is no doubt but that this is the easiest way to visit the battlefields.

Prices quoted by the agencies differ of course, according to the accommodation desired. If the tourist travels all the way from Paris by motor the cost is naturally much greater than if he travels by rail to Rheims, Arras or Verdun and takes an automobile from there. To give a fair idea of what can be had at a moderate expense let us quote an agent in the rue Cambon who offers to conduct a minimum of three tourists to the Arras front and back for 250 francs each ($25). For this sum he provides 2nd class railway fares to Arras, one night's lodging and all meals at the Arras Hotel, and two long motor trips on the battlefields. The entire journey takes two days, leaving Paris at 10:30 a.m. the first day and returning at 10:30 p.m. the following night. These rates are decidedly reasonable. Some agencies charge as much as 400 francs.

If one wishes to be independent one can book a ticket from Paris to Arras for 20 francs second class ($2) and risk the chance of obtaining accommodation in the town. For the moment beds in Arras are scarcer than they were in Washington during the war. The Bosche has not left one house in ten intact, and the result is that a waterproof bedroom is more to be desired than great riches. One is glad to have the privilege of paying 30 to 40 francs ($3 to $4) for a night's lodging without asking for more than primitive comforts.

EATING NOT TOO DEAR.

During the past month two restaurants have been opened in the town, the Hotel du Commerce and the Cafe de l'Univers. To the limited extent of their accommodation these two restaurants provide an excellent meal at a reasonable price—soup, cold meat, salad, bread, pastry and coffee (with milk in it by all the gods) for 7 francs (70c.) Anyone accustomed to French prices is visibly relieved to read the total of the little bill.

A motor car is less easily obtained. At the moment there are one or two chauffeurs in the broken city who are willing to tour the battlefields at the rate of 2 or 3 francs per kilometre—roughly 30c to 50c per mile. This is a very satisfactory arrangement as one can drive all day long to the limit of one's purse, or cut down expenses by sharing the car with a friend or two. One is also able to visit the parts of the front in which one is specially interested.

There is no doubt but that every Canadian tourist will come to France with a fixed object in view, based on the letters and stories of the boy who saw the front illumined by the enemy's shells, not quiet and deserted as it is today. There is an immense satisfaction in being able to make a detour to visit a battery position hallowed by many stories, a billet which was the unwritten address of many home letters, and above all in spending a quiet half hour in the strange little cemeteries that one finds here and there behind the lines. These are privileges that one can hardly expect to obtain when travelling with a tourist agency and guide. Yet when all is said and done it is just these incidents that are the object of the journey all the way across the Atlantic.

MILITARY EVENTS

MILITARY QUERIES AND ANSWERS

L. E. J., Fullum St.—Will you kindly inform me if it is possible to get a loan for the purpose of starting a small shop. I am at present taking a course.

A.—I expect you mean from the Government. I wouldn't know how to go about it if I wanted one myself.

F. J. G., Grand Ave.—Could you kindly advise me what would be the best way to locate a man who enlisted in Ottawa and worked for the Government as an Instructor in the automobile school. This man used to be the Principal of the Automobile school in Ottawa, his address was 471-473 Wellington St. I have paid $35.00 for a composite course in his school and during the time that I was in France this man went out of business. I have with me a membership card which entitles me to enter his school at any time. I have been told that this man worked for the Government as an Automobile Instructor and I have written to Ottawa twice addressing my letters to the Militia Department but was told this man could not be located.

A.—It seems to me that you have already been given an answer by the militia people, Ottawa. I am afraid that you can do nothing, unless you write to the Chief of Police, Ottawa.

Mentioned and Marked. — A long looked for visible proof of "Mention in Despatches has at last been sanctioned by the British Army Council The order issued yesterday at Ottawa reads: "His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to approve of an emblem being worn on the riband of the Victory Medal by all personnel borne on the strength of the British, Dominion, Colonial and Indian Expeditionary Forces, who have been "Mentioned" one or more times in the military despatches during the recent war, by a commander in the field. The emblem will be an oak leaf in bronze. Two emblems will be supplied in each case. Additional emblems will not be worn in respect of a second or subsequent mention in despatches."

Easy Way to Remove Freckles and Eruptions

Some women have skin of such texture they occasionally are annoyed by the sudden appearance of freckles, slight eruptions or fine lines. March winds usually play havoc with skins of that kind. In such cases if one will procure an ounce of common mercolized wax at any drug store, apply a little of it before retiring, like cold cream, she can easily overcome the trouble. When the wax is washed off the next morning, almost invisible flaky skin particles come with it. The entire outer cuticle is removed in this way in a week or so, with all its defects. No bleach could so effectually remove freckles or blemishes. The new surface is smooth, clear and fresh looking. No harm or inconvenience accompanies this simple treatment.

WOMEN'S WORK

Lectured on Old London and India at Women's Luncheon

Fascinating glimpses of old London followed by interesting views of the work of the Zenana Mission in India, illustrated the lecture which the Rev. Thomas Carter, secretary of the Zenana Mission, gave before the Women's Canadian Club, following the club luncheon at the Windsor Hotel yesterday.

The slides of old London included views of the historic churches of the past, St. Paul's Cathedral, burned in the great fire of 1666, of the former Royal Exchange with its grasshopper-topped spire, of the old Montagu House on whose site the British Museum stands today, of Newgate prison and other corners of Dickens' London. One of Cassels' delightful sketches of Dick Swiveller and the Marchioness, was thrown in to assist in creating atmosphere.

Carrying his hearers to India of today, Mr. Carter placed before them the pitiable plight of the women in the Zenanas of India. He spoke with sorrow of the fate of the child widows of the country, of whom there were some 40,000,000. Views of the schools established in Bombay, Benares and other Indian cities by the Zenana Mission were shown and particular interest was aroused by a picture of India's first veterinary hospital, one started in the first instance by the mission but finally built and equipped by the Government.

The mission which he represented, confined its activities to helping the women and children of India, said Mr. Carter, and he claimed that the work it was doing in preserving and training child life was empire building in the widest sense.

Mrs. A. R. Howell took the chair in the absence of the president and introduced the speaker.

WOMEN'S ART SOCIETY.

The 17th Century journalist, essayist and poet, Joseph Addison, was the subject of an address by G. F. Wright in Strathcona Hall yesterday afternoon before the Women's Art Society. After a brief sketch of Addison's life, the speaker turned to his journalistic work, which, he said, began with The Spectator and was continued after the cessation of that paper in the columns of The Tatler. The Tatler marked the beginning of a new period in which his best work was the "Essay on Milton." Sir Roger de Coverley was Addison's own conception and the most charming character in his writings of the time.

Addison's prose was said to possess much of the sonorous singing quality which Swinburne and Keats showed in their poetry. It was mentioned that Addison wrote with equal facility in Latin or English, prose or poetry, but the speaker contended that his English prose writings were the best, for after two hundred years they alone live for the average reader and speak of the great character behind them. The thanks of the meeting were expressed to Mr. Wright by Mrs. H. Wallace Stroud, who presided.

WANT CONFERENCE ON CIVIC WAGES

Employes' Union to Send Delegation to Administrative Commission

The employes at the City Hall, members of the Mutual Union of Civic Employes at their regular meeting last night decided to send a delegation to the Administrative Commission in regard to the classification recently made by the Civil Service Commission. Several of the members considered the classification of salaries as too low and regret was expressed that the Civil Service Commissioner had not held conferences with the employes before it was issued, as had been promised.

Inquiries at the City Hall show that the conference has not been lost sight of, and that the classification issued was, as stated in the introductory paragraphs of it, only provincial and was subject to amendment in accordance had been to hold the conference earlier, but the delay on the part of the city council in permitting the negotiations for settlement of it, had delayed matters, but that now the decks were clear the conference would shortly be held, after the employes had had the opportunity of studying the proposals.

The chairman of the Administrative Commission also stated that the salaries fixed for heads of departments did not represent what they considered the present holders of those positions should get. They were all men of experience of many years who had started at salaries below the minimum in many cases, and had risen to their present positions through experience. The salaries they were now getting were amply justified and no change would be made in them, for the city was willing to pay those officials for their experience.

SHE WANTED PROGRESS.

"No, sah, Ah doan't neber ride on dem things," said an old colored lady, looking in on the merry-go-round. "Why, de other day I seen dat Rastus Johnson git on an' ride as much as a dollah's worth an' git off at the very same place he got on at, an' I sez to him, 'Rastus,' I sez, 'yo' spent yo' money, but whar yo' been?'"—Boston Transcript.

A Suggestion for Saving

CASH in the pocket encourages careless spending.

You will find it a much easier task to save if you keep your "Spending" money in a Savings Account with The Bank of Toronto. There it is safe and can be drawn upon when really needed.

A reluctance to draw from that account will grow upon you, and protect you from many needless expenditures.

Once the saving habit is acquired, the account, with its earnings of interest, will steadily grow to a substantial amount.

Many young men and women are working out this scheme with us to advantage.

It is a plan worthy of a trial.

GIVES ATTITUDE OF DISTILLERS

Favor Only Sale of Liquor for Use in Private Homes

VANCOUVER B.C. March 3.—(By Canadian Press)—The sixth annual convention of the people's prohibition Association of British Columbia opens this afternoon for a two day's session. Important recommendations for the strengthening of prohibitory legislation, including the placing of liquor control in the hands of an independent commission and remedies for alleged abuse of the medical prescription system, will be discussed officials state. Prohibitionists express willingness to face a referendum campaign at any time.

R. T. Ferguson, Winnipeg legal representative of Canadian distillers, who is in the city, has outlined the position of the distillers, should they be consulted before a referendum is submitted. He said they were opposed to restoration of the drinking bar or to any system involving delivery of spirits to purchasers at any place but his own home; that adults occupying a private dwelling should be granted a permit to purchase and use liquor on the premises, such permits to be sent to Goverment agencies, established for the purpose, whereupon delivery would be made.

MARRIAGE CONTRACT IS BEFORE COURTS

The First Division of the Court of Review,—Justices Demers, Panneton and de Lorimier, will decide on an interesting question bearing on a marriage contract, which has just been submitted to it in the case of Dame Pauline Yerusolwitz against Moses Yerusolwitz. The latter died while the case was pending and the instance has been taken up by the Montreal Trust Company in the quality of executor and trustee under the defendant's will.

The court has to decide if there was error in the judgment of first instance, which found that defendant's plea constituted a complete admission that the sum of $5,000 given to plaintiff by the marriage contract was not paid either at the time or since the marriage.

FIVE NEUTRALS TO ENTER THE LEAGUE

WASHINGTON, March 3. —Texts of formal notification by five neutral countries of their adherence to the League of Nations have been received here. They are Argentine, Paraguay, Chile, Persia and Spain.

An old man of 90 named John McDermott met with a painful death recently at Augharesany, near Donaghmore, Tyrone. He was attempting to light a fire for his grandson, whom he expected home from work, when he fell in, and was badly burned about the face and neck. A doctor was soon in attendance, but the old man succumbed to his injuries in a very short time.

EUROPE WILL BUY CANADIAN PRODUCE

Dr. W. J. Robertson Says Dominion Goods Stand Ace High Across Ocean

TRURO, N.S., March 3.—(Special to Montreal Star.)—Dr. J. W. Robertson of Ottawa, who was with the Canadian representatives at the Peace Conference in Paris delivered an interesting address here tonight under the auspices of the Canadian Club. The meeting was the first of a series to be held in the farming centres of the province, the itinerary having been arranged by Dr. Melville Cumming, of Truro, secretary for Agriculture. Prof. J. M. Trueman, president of the Canadian Club, presided.

Dr. Robertson's advice to the farmers was to produce all they possibly could during the next two years and he assured them that Canadian produce was so well thought of in Europe that it would bring top prices.

He urged all possible production because of personal profit to the producer and to serve starving humanity. "Let's all go to it," he said. "Europe's production has been reduced twenty-five per cent, and millions are starving. Between now and the next harvest from three to seven millions of people in Central Europe will die from lack of food unless help is sent. The number of farm animals in Europe, especially cows, have been greatly reduced and it will be ten years before there will be enough milk and dairy products produced by Europe for her own consumption. Twenty years hence millions of those who are now children will be weak in body because of lack of milk in babyhood."

He uttered a strong protest against the waste and extravagance which is apparent all over the Dominion, saying that it did not become us when the price of war has not been paid except by the blood of those who died. Dr. Robertson talked interestingly of his visits to Europe during the war and since the signing of the armistice. He spoke of disposing of the surplus stocks of Canadian bacon, wheat, etc., and in this connection paid a high tribute to Herbert Hoover's fairness and friendliness to Canada.

Y.M.C.A. IN CHINA.

That the Y.M.C.A. was more of a national institution in China than in Canada was the statement made last night by Major J. H. Wallace, of the National Council of Toronto at the meeting of the Montreal Metropolitan foreign work committee at the Central Y.M.C.A.

Major Wallace shewed that when Dr. Mott asked China to collect $100,000 towards the Y.M.C.A. war campaign China responded with $1,300,000. In speaking of the foreign work of the association Major Wallace declared that the Y.M.C.A. work was being carried on in nineteen different countries and in all the storm centres of Europe and had been in operation for thirty years.

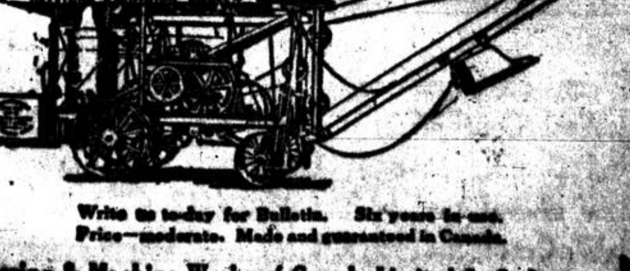
Big money in Cellar Digging if you use a

PRACTICALLY no end to the digging and excavating work the Keystone Excavator Model 4 can do. Cellar digging seems to be "just made" for it. Many other uses, too.

The Keystone travels under its own power. Weighs only 13 tons, so it can go almost anywhere a dump wagon can.

Has 32 h.p. steam engine, special steel frame construction and sturdy ground-gripping outriggers. Its 20 feet of working range gives it a capacity of 150 to 300 yards per day in any sort of ground.

In cellar digging it stays on the level. Backs up and "takes the cellar with it," drag-line fashion. Works fast. Easily handled. No teams needed in the excavation. Big money earner.



Write us today for Bulletin. Six years in use. Price—moderate. Made and guaranteed in Canada.

HOLY GHOST CHIEFS DESERT FOLLOWERS

Little Colony of 500 Persons Starving Near Lisbon Falls, Maine

CHILDREN EMACIATED

"Elijah" of Sect and One of Disciples Living in Comparative Luxury

Special to The Star.

DURHAM, Maine, March 3.—Deserted by their leaders, who have moved to a land of plenty, 500 members of the "Holy Ghost and Us" religious cult are now reported to be on the verge of starvation in their colony on the bleak, snowbound sand hill of Shiloh, just outside Lisbon Falls.

The "infidelity" of several emaciated children who stole out of the settlement, begged food from the farmers and ate it ravenously like animals, led to the discovery of the starving condition of the colony.

The Rev. Frank M. Sanford, "Elijah" of the "Holy Ghost and Us" and his family, except one married son, have moved to Boston for the remainder of the winter, while Moses Holland, one of Sanford's disciples and his family, are reported to be living in something akin to luxury on a farm at Pleasant Point, Maine, overlooking Merry Meeting Bay, near Bath.

CAUSE OF FAMINE.

Left in charge of the Holy Ghost and Us camp is John Sanford, son of "Elijah" Sanford, and the son's wife, the daughter of Holland. The young couple are both under 22, but rigidly enforcing one of the rules of the religion "Lay not up for yourselves the treasures of the earth."

This rule is said to have been responsible for the present famine in the camp, as its observance prevented the members from storing a winter's supply of food.

Elders Tupper and Gleason are said to be the only older members of the governing circle who remained in camp, and they subordinate to Sanford and his wife.

Although the grown-up members of the sect seem to be staunch of their faith, the children have been weakening. Since one 14-year-old boy turned "infidel" and begged food at the kitchen door of Elisha Beal's farmhouse near the Sand Hill of Shiloh other half-starved children have been going on daily foraging expeditions.

The other farmers of the neighborhood heard of the case and are doing all they can to turn the little ones out of the camp so that they may feed them.

ADJOURN WATERWAY HEARING TO MAY 1

Canadian Delegates Put Forward Strong Plea for Proposal

BUFFALO, N.Y., March 3. (By Associated Press) — The initial hearings on the proposal to canalize the St. Lawrence river at a cost of $100,000,000, to be borne by Canada and the United States, adjourned yesterday afternoon to meet on May 1, when the first sworn testimony on the feasibility of the plan will be taken. Proponents will submit proof and will be subject to cross-examination by opponents of the project, it was announced.

The place for the May meeting has not been decided. Delegations from Canada, the western and eastern States submitted lists of cities desiring to be heard and from these the commission will make up an itinerary to be announced later.

Delegations from Canada and the Western States championed the cause of the St. Lawrence route at the closing session of the two-day meeting here yesterday afternoon.

Charles P. Craig, executive secretary of the Inland Waterway Commission, said it was a crime to allow the potential power of the St. Lawrence to go to waste.

"We are facing a transportation emergency in the west and Canada is ready to co-operate with us," said Mr. Craig. "We are facing a common peril. That is why the west is solid behind the movement. We will show you something of transfer charges both here and in New York that make present routes unprofitable when we swear witnesses."

Speakers from Canada who favored the undertaking were: H. S. Gurley, of the Toronto Board of Trade; A. C. Gardner, of Hamilton; E. C. Lewis, of the Canadian Deep Waterways and Power Association; and John M. Campbell, of the Kingston Board of Trade.

"We have a future that will warrant canalization of the rivers of Canada to give us navigation and power," said Mr. Gurley. "We have spent nine million dollars at Toronto to deepen the harbor, and Hamilton will spend twenty millions. Canada is ready to deal with the United States fairly and on international lines."

Mr. Lewis sought to correct the idea that canalization of the St. Lawrence was a Canadian project. It originated in the United States, he said, and Canada readily considered it. He declared that private capital was ready to build the canal without cost to either country in return for the power privilege, although he did not favor private control of power rights. He estimated the saving on transportation of wheat from the west to tidewater by way of a St. Lawrence ship canal at five cents a bushel.

PERSHING URGES U.S. PREPAREDNESS

Would Retain Sufficient War Plants for Speedy Production

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Retention of sufficient war time posts and war plants to permit rapid expansion of the army and resumption of production of war materials at full capacity, will be recommended by General Pershing, he indicated yesterday on his return to Washington after a three months' tour of inspection of camps, cantonments and supply depots over the country.

The General's full report to Secretary of War Baker probably will be made within ten days.

There is strong sentiment throughout the United States in favor of universal service of some sort, the General said, based on recognition of the benefit to the men themselves and also on the fear that "we might not have Allies to hold the line for us in the next war."

GERMANS' TRIAL

Herman Wessels to Face U.S. Court-martial as Spy

NEW YORK, March 3. — Federal Judge Matton decided yesterday in Brooklyn that Herman Wessels, an officer in the German Navy, charged with having been a German spy here during the war, a crime for which the penalty is death, must stand trial by naval court-martial.

Wessels, who was arrested on May 1, 1918, while posing as Carl Rodriguer, a citizen of the Swiss Republic, sought a trial by jury in the Federal Court, on the grounds that he was taken into custody in New York.

ROSEN DENIES FRAUD CHARGE

Hearing of Cases in Court of King's Bench Commenced This Morning

The greater part of the first morning of the March term of the Court of King's Bench, over which Mr. Justice Desy is presiding, was spent in the customary routine business of the opening of the session. The jurors' list was called, a limited number of exemptions granted and the majority of the accused brought into court to plead, applications being made by Crown Prosecutor J. C. Walsh, K.C., in a few instances for bench warrants for their attendance. The first case on the list, one of assault, was commenced shortly before the adjournment and is being continued at the afternoon session.

David Rosen and Louis Bouchard, who have appeared upon numerous occasions in the lower courts on various charges in connection with three-card monte and other card games, pleaded not guilty to the charge of conspiring to defraud, or alternatively stealing, or alternatively obtaining by false pretenses the sum of $15. Rosen, who is already serving a term of nine months to which he was sentenced by Judge Bazin, appeared in the dock in prison dress.

On behalf of the accused R. L. Calder, K.C., made a motion that the trial be postponed to the next assize on the ground that the status of the three card monte game was at present the subject of litigation in the Civil Courts and no decision upon the question had been made yet. His Lordship stated that he would deliver judgment upon the motion on March 10.

SELECTED LAWYER.

Considerable amusement was created in court when a prisoner, charged with theft, was asked by the clerk if he had a lawyer. He replied that he had not but would like to choose one and from a court room filled with members of the legal profession, promptly selected Alderman Jacobs. The latter informed His Lordship that while he appreciated the honor he was unacquainted with the details of the case and asked that the hearing be put back to the 10th. This step being opposed by the Crown, the matter dropped.

David Levesque pleaded not guilty to the charge of causing grievous bodily harm to Constable Euclid D'Aoust and was defended by R. L. Calder, K.C. Constable D'Aoust testified that on the night of December 31, while accused was a prisoner in his custody he assaulted him, biting off one thumb nail. Constable Gagnon supported this testimony and Detective Sergeant Lamont gave evidence that on the night in question, accused made two visits to detective headquarters at 9 o'clock and 11 o'clock respectively and eventually created such a disturbance, attacking witness himself, that he was compelled to place him under arrest.

The hearing continues.

COMBAT BOLSHEVISM THROUGH PROPAGANDA

Kipling, Haggard and Others Will Furnish Material

LONDON, March 3, (United Press Special)—Formation of a "liberty league," backed by some of the leading writers of Great Britain, was announced in a letter to the Times today. The league will attempt to combat Bolshevism with its own weapon—propaganda, the letter said.

It was signed by Rudyard Kipling, H. Rider Haggard, Lord Sydenham and others.

The signers of the letter will furnish the "anti-red" propaganda to be disseminated throughout the Empire, according to the letter, and will appeal for funds to assist in carrying out the work.

"We desire, in clean, open fashion, to fight what we believe is the greatest and most terrible evil by letting light into the dark places," the letter said. "We believe in the adage that truth will prevail and that its light should not be hidden under a bushel."

ALL MILK MUST BE PASTEURIZED

Milk Bylaw to Be Amended —Want Traffic Bylaw Adopted

The new milk by-law, which is now before the Administrative Commission for consideration, will probably be amended slightly at the request of Dr. Boucher, director of Public Health, so as to allow a period of one year from the passing of the law within which all milk in the city, except what is known as certified milk, shall be pasteurized. Dr. Boucher stated this morning that the majority of the different organizations of the city were strongly in favor of the pasteurization of the city's milk supply, and the alterations that had been proposed by these organizations were ones that would be given careful consideration.

The city traffic by-laws have now been completed, and approved by the Administrative Commission and by the law department. They will be printed in the course of a few days and sent to the city council for their approval, with a request that they be considered at the earliest possible moment so that they can be put in force before motor traffic becomes very heavy.

The by-laws have to lie on the table for a period of thirty days, so that if the traffic laws reach the Council for their meeting on Monday next, they should be in force by the second week in April, provided the aldermen approve of them. Seeing that the draft of the law was approved after several conferences between the commission and the various bodies interested in the question, it is not anticipated that strong opposition will develop.

The most important clause is that dealing with the prohibition of parking of automobiles on the important thoroughfares of the city both uptown and downtown, and the provision of parking spaces for cars on Victoria square, Champ de Mars, Youville square and Place d'Armes. A proposal was made some time ago to abolish the green in Youville square, off McGill street, and make the parking space avilable there larger, but no steps have been take in this direction yet. If the by-law passes, however, it is likely that several changes will be made in the city's open spaces to meet the requirements of automobilists.

Changes are also being made in the law regarding the licenses to be paid for taxicabs and autos plying for hire in the city, the fee being rased, it is stated, from $5 to $15, to put them on the same basis as cabs. A change is also to be made in the water rate law, insofar as it applies to meters, provision being made that if the amount of water, consumed and paid for at $1.15 per 1,000 cubic feet is not equal to the amount that would be paid by a tax of 6 per cent on the assessed value of the building, the latter shall be the basis of the taxation levied.

CONVICTIONS IN CHARITY TAX CASES

City Inspectors Kept to Investigate Old System Houses

The collection of the amusement tax from the different theatres for the benefit, so far as one cent per ticket is concerned for the city hospitals, and the remainder for the benefit of the city treasury, is bringing in a considerable revenue to the city without much expense in collection. Agreements have been made by the superintendent of privileges and licenses with the majority of the theatres by which the tax is included in the seat ticket, and the public and the city are both saved inconvenience. There are, however, some theatres where the old system of a separate charity tax ticket is issued, and the city has to keep inspectors employed to check up these places and see that the law is being observed.

These inspectors have brought several cases recently before the Recorder's Court on charges of not obeying the law, and in them the Recorders have inflicted fines varying from $30 to $40. The following convictions were secured during the month of February according to the report issued by the license department today:

February 10. — Gaston Beaupre, doorkeeper at the "Star" moving picture house, 2383 Notre Dame street west, for allowing persons to enter without the amusement tax ticket, $40 and costs or two months.

February 13. — George Callious, doorkeeper at the "Sun" moving picture house, 2509 Notre Dame street west, for not tearing the amusement tax ticket, same penalty.

Feb. 20.—William Hurst, doorkeeper at the "Centre Palace" moving picture house, 496 Centre street, same offence, same penalty.

Feb. 27.—Lucien Mathieu, doorkeeper at the "Theatre Maisonneuve," 571 Ontario street, Maisonneuve, for allowing persons to enter without the amusement tax picket, $30 and costs or one month.

Feb. 27.—Leda Pelletier, cashier of same theatre, for not selling and delivering the amusement tax ticket, same penalty.

Feb. 27.—Abraham Lawand, temporary cashier of same theatre, same offence, same penalty.

TO ASK DISMISSAL OF WILLIAM IVENS

Failing This Defense Counsel Will Conclude Strike Leader's Case

WINNIPEG, March 3.—(Special to The Star)—Intimation that the counsel for the defence will move for the withdrawal of the case from the jury and the discharge of the seven strike leaders on the ground of insufficient evidence was given today by Ward Hollands, one of the defence counsel, for his own client, R. J. Johns. Mr. Hollands will argue for the withdrawal of count seven in the indictment, which charges "committing a common nuisance," on the ground that Johns was not in the city at any time during the strike.

All the morning session was given over to the submission of documentary evidence. Although indications were that A. J. Andrews, K.C., prosecutor would begin his address to the jury this afternoon, he would not make definite announcement because, he said, he did not know how much time would be required to introduce the remainder of the documents.

THE HUT PROGRAM.

To-night there will be the regular mid-week sing song service with an interesting lecture on "The Man who Spoiled the Music" which will be illustrated with lantern slides. Basketball will be played by the returned men on Thursday evening. Friday night there will be a concert and comedy playlet with other entertaining vaudeville numbers while pictures will again be shown on Saturday night.

JUGO-SLAV REPLY "STAND-PAT" NOTE

Claims Strict Adherence to Allied Terms of December 9

INSISTS ON LIASSA

Declare Italian Attitude Not Justified by the Facts

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(Associated Press)—Strict adherence to the British, French and American agreement of December 9 on the Adriatic question characterized the reply of January 20 of the Jugo-Slav Government to the French and British "ultimatum" on January 14. The Jugo-Slav note, which was made public yesterday by the State Department raises many of the same objections as set forth in President Wilson's note of January 19 protesting against the overturning of the previously agreed solution of the vexatious problem.

The single insistent difference which distinguishes the point of view of the Jugo-Slav reply from that of the agreement signed by Secretary Polk on behalf of the United States December 9, is over the cession to Italy of the Island of Liassa which, according to the Jugo-Slav note "is purely Slav and from an economic point of view indissolubly united with Dalmatia."

MAKES A PROTEST.

Concerning the readjustment of "the Wilson line as proposed in the French and British proposals," the note declares such an "unjustifiable annexation of purely Jugo-Slav territories would bring about a new and flagrant violation of the principles of nationalities. It would inevitably create a permanent hotbed of irridentism within the frontiers of Italy of a nature precisely analagous to that which was held as a justification of the claims of Italia Irridenta in which its return to the mother country was demanded."

The aggrandizement of Italian territory to the east of the Wilson line in Senozetcha region, the note asserts, cannot be justified on the grounds of better protection for Trieste.

By bringing a line to within six kilometres of the Saint Pierre railroad junction, it is added, the Vienna artery of the Jugo-Slav railroad lines would be directly menaced. The "extraordinary complexities" which the ascription of the territory between the coast and the Fiume railroad line would create according to President Wilson's memorandum were likewise objected to on account of unsurmountable obstacles" in the Jugo-Slav note.

FIUME-ZARA CLAIM.

While accepting the independence of Fiume and Zara, the Jugo-Slav Government records its objection to the separation of the diplomatic representatives of the cities from the control of the League of Nations. As in the Wilson memorandum, it is argued that such a course paves the way for rebellion and annexation.

Along with this constrained acceptance of the independence of Zara the Jugo-Slavs emphasize the imminent consequence of commercial ruin which must ensue with the separation of Zara from its administrative association with Dalmatia, and for this reason the right to transfer the Credit Foncier Bank of Dalmatia from Zara is requested as well as all matters pertaining to the provincial administration now lodged in the city.

THE ALBANIAN PROBLEM.

The solution of the Albanian proviso, the Jugo-Slav Government suggests would be best followed by a continuance of the status established by the Conference of Ambassadors in London in 1913 which was for a local autonomous Government without outside interference.

In the event of any other resolution, the note declares, the northern frontier adjoining Jugo-Slavia would have to be modified.

The question of the division of the Austro-Hungarian war and commercial fleets, the note declares to be a part of the Adriatic problem and a settlement on this point is demanded.

15 MORE DISMISSED IN CONSPIRACY CASE

85 Defendants Now Left in the Newberry Trial

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 3.—Fifteen more defendants were discharged by Judge Sessions in the Newbury elections conspiracy trial today. This left the field at 85 defendants.

The fifth count of the indictment was also dismissed. This was founded on Federal statute dealing with the purchase of votes.

Judge Sessions took both actions on his own motion. He said that a "very close attention to the prosecution's evidence and a very careful study of the evidence," had convinced him that he would be unwarranted in holding the men for a jury verdict. He directed the clerk to enter a formal verdict of "not guilty" in the 15 cases.

PRESIDENT OUT FOR AUTO RIDE

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(United Press Special)—President Wilson today took his first automobile ride since he became seriously ill early in October.

The President, with Mrs. Wilson and Dr. Cary T. Crayson, left the White House about 11 o'clock in a closed car. Another car containing secret service men, followed.

The President has been urging Dr. Grayson to allow him to ride since Christmas. Grayson was unwilling to do this until the President's physical condition warranted.

The morning was the warmest of the winter here and the weather unusually clear.

It was first planned to make the trip yesterday afternoon but Grayson decided to defer it until this morning.

MAY PUT TAX ON WAR FORTUNES

LONDON, March 3.—(United Press Special.)—The income tax commission, now investigating incomes throughout the United Kingdom probably will recommend an exemption of 150 pounds for bachelors and 250 for married men, it was learned today.

Investigation into the possibility of a tax upon war fortunes by the Board of Inland Revenue continues. The Board has issued a statement declaring that Great Britain's wealth increased 4,000,000,000 pounds during the war, including 200,000,000 pounds among 280 individuals.

GET LIQUOR AFTER BATTLE ON SHIP

Crew of the President Wilson Resist Seizure by Inspectors

NEW YORK, March 3.—After a pitched battle in the darkened bunk room of the steamship President Wilson in which members of the crew tried to defend their supplies of contraband liquor, Government agents today seized 537 bottles of cognac which had been hidden on the ship.

The President Wilson arrived from Trieste Thursday and Government agents conducted searches at various times. It was revealed today that liquor was found in the fire room, the cook's quarters, the bakery, the quartermaster's room and in the bilge.

When the three inspectors entered the firemen's quarters about eighty men were in their bunks. The crew regarded them indifferently and were aroused only when the searchers came upon suspicious lumps in the bunk mattresses. In a few minutes a bewiledring array of bottled liquor was hauled forth by the inspectors from mattresses, three of which contained 30 bottles each, and from beneath false bottoms in the men's lockers. From behind a bulkhead twenty-one bottles were produced.

The bottles were placed on a table over which one of the inspectors stood guard. Suddenly the lights were switched off and the framework of an iron bunk was hurled upon the table. Various other objects crashed upon the table, the men leaped from their bunks and in a moment the room was the scene of the utmost confusion. The crew shouted and fought, but the inspectors, taking advantage of the gloom, edged their way through to the door, where the light switch was finally located.

One of the agents thereupon sent for assistance and when three more inspectors arrived the crew was driven aside and the liquor seized.

Officers today also seized 550 bottles of cognac aboard the steamships Morro Castle and Monterey, from Havana and 150 bottles of bacardi rum on the steamship Munamar from Antilla, Cuba. The rum was found beneath 150 fathoms of anchor chain, so heavy that it could be moved only by a steam winch.

URGES UNIFORMITY OF DIVORCE LAWS

N. B. Gash Declares Judicial Systems Too Varied and Conflicting

TORONTO, March 3. — Uniformity of Canadian laws of divorce was urged by president N. B. Gash, in his address to the Ontario Bar Association which opened its fourteenth annual meeting at Osgoode Hall this morning. He said, "the judical systems of the civilized countries throughout the world are too varied and conflicting to permit any divorce of an international and uniform system of divorce laws, but it is high time that Canada began to put her house in order, and for this purpose Parliament should bring down a general law superceeding all the Provincial laws on the subject and transferring to courts constituted for the purpose the disposition of such cases.

LONDON, March 3.—(By Associated Press)—Russian Bolshevik forces are advancing rapidly in the Caucasus region, according to an official telegram received by Reuter's Limited, from Moscow. "NICKEY" ARNSTEIN IS STILL MISSING

NEW YORK, March 3.—(Special to The Star). — Police and the district attorney's office today shed no light on the mystery of the missing "Nickey" Arnstein, the three detectives, the lawyer and the alleged plot to steal $5,000,000 in bonds from Wall Street firms.

Arnstein, characterized as the "master-mind" in the bond plot, has proved equally masterful in evading arrest, it was admitted. Even his attorneys here, who for a week have been promising his conditional surrender, today said they were no longer in touch with Arnstein and doubted if he would surrender at all.

HIGH COST FLYING IS GOING HIGHER

BLACK LAKE OFFER--COAL CO.'S YEAR--LOCAL PRICES STRONG

SPANISH RIVER'S STRONG REVIVAL; BREWERIES ROSE

Trading in the early session of the local stock market today was of considerable larger proportions than yesterday, but with one or two exceptions there was little of interest to mark the broader trading. Atlantic Sugar, Breweries, and Spanish River issues provided the bulk of the transactions, with Ames prfd. moderately in demand.

Spanish River common continued in good demand throughout the morning and after easing 1-4 from the opening at 84, rallied sharply, and closed at 84 3-4, up 1 1-2. The preferred was a strong spot on the list. Opening at 125 it advanced to 127 on a limited turnover, closing with a net gain of 1 1-4.

Atlantic Sugar acted erratically. After opening at 95 1-4 it declined abruptly in the early trading to 94, rallied slightly, only to ease off later, and closed the morning at 95 1-4, up 3-8.

Breweries was fairly active maintaining its position as a leader in activity. the opening at 51 was unchanged, and it closed at 51 1-4, up 1-4, after having touched 3-8.

Price Bros., sold at 270. up six from the last sale. Wayagamack at 72 was up 1, while Laurentide was fractionally stronger at 84 3-4.

The balance of the list presented little of particular note, the leading features being: Ont. Steel 50, down 1; Dom. Canners, 58 to 1-2 to 58, up 1; Dom. Steel, 70 unchanged; Car, 56 steady; Shawinigan 109,; unchanged Textile 123 to 122, unchanged; Ames Holden 132; Steel of Cnada 78, up ½; Detroit 105, up 1; Penmans 116 1-8, up 7-8; Brazilian 43, up 1-2; Brompton 76, up ½; and Ames-Holden pfd., 109½, unchanged.

MR. JACOBS DESIRES BLACK LAKE CONTROL

TORONTO, March, 3, (Special to The Star)—It is understood here that the offer which the Black Lake Asbestos & Chrome Company has under consideration concerning the purchase of a block of the company's securities is from J. A. Jacobs, of Montreal, whose connection with the Eastern Townships Asbestos industry has been well known for some years.

The offer which Mr. Jacobs is stated to have made is for the purchase of a block of $200,000 of bonds at 50, three thousand shares of preferred stock at 25, and seven thousand shares of common at 12, all of which are slightly above the present market prices.

Mr. Jacobs, it is stated, is prepared to back to back up his offer with a $50,000 deposit with a trust company as a guarantee of good faith and is willing to allow any shareholders who desire to dispose of their securities to sell at those prices.

In return Mr. Jacobs desires control of the board with the privilege of moving the head office from this city to Montreal. It is expected that something definite regarding this offer will be made known after the annual meeting which is taking place today.

The board of directors was re-elected without change, as follows: Sir Charles Gordon, president; Charles Meredith, vice-president; Sir Herbert Holt, M. P. Davis, G. H. Duggan, R. G. Drinnan, J. M. Mackie, C. P. Hill and C. R. Hamilton.

Press Opinions on N.Y. Situation

Times:—The fluctuation of stocks yesterday disclosed nothing except the efforts of professional traders to acquire small profits. In an unusually dull session the railroad group, excepting Southern Pacific and one or two other issues, tended to ease off and the industrial list backed and filled without holding to a definite course longer than a quarter hour at a stretch. The fact that call money stayed persistently at 10 per cent, a rate which has seemed to be the minimum for several days, despite larger offerings than the demand could absorb, was evidently a damper upon genuine speculative operations with a broader range than in and out shifts.

Sun and Herald: — There was no special change in speculative conditions in yesterday's stock market. Trading was dull, and there was no settled price tendency either one way or the other. The market did not move enough, in fact, to enable the average trader to pay commission on his commitments. There was some satisfaction in the fact that the bear party was not able to make any progress on the selling side, but it must have been very discouraging nevertheless to the constructive interests to watch the market ignore such important considerations as the settlement of the steel suit and the signing of the railroad bill.

World:—While everybody in the financial district agreed yesterday that the decision of the United States Supreme Court, sustaining the legal existence of the United States Steel Corporation, is certain to have an inspiring effect on big business and will increase the courage of investors in industrial securities, nobody was surprised that its influence on the stock market was not great at this time. There is only one factor of real importance at this time, and that is the money situation.

Tribune:—To many financial observers the market looks as if it has reached a stage where no great improvement either in point of activity or in price can be expected until developments with a bearing upon speculative values are such as to restore confidence on the part of a public that has been disillusioned by the recent swift decline. Brokers all complain of a great falling off in outside participation. In other words, the public is not buying stocks. With the public out of the market, the movement of prices is mainly a reflection of the whims of the professional traders, who are basing their operations to a large extent upon technical considerations that shift rapidly from day to day.

According to statistics published by the Greek Ministry of Shipping, in the year 1919 new ships of an aggregate capacity of 265,400 tons were added to the Greek mercantile marine, which now totals 680,000 tons.

NARROW RANGE IN NEW YORK PRICES WITH LIST QUIET

NEW YORK, March 3. — Fractional changes prevailed at the uncertain opening of today's stock market except in oils which were moderately strong, while equipments and miscellaneous specialties denoted further pressure. Royal Dutch and Shell Transport recovered part of yesterday's losses, but American Woollen, New York Air Brake and Endicott-Johnson reacted 1 to almost 3 points. Further buying of oils, steels and motors soon imparted steadiness to the general list, Trading was light, however, rails showing none of their recent activity.

United States Steel opened at 95¼, up ¼; Central Leather 77¼, off ¼; Missouri Pacific 29¼, unchanged; Studebaker 82¼, off ¼; Canadian Pacific 120, off ¾; United States Rubber 95½, up ⅝; Southern Pacific 96⅝, up ⅝; Mexican Petroleum 169, up ½; Pan-American 82½, unchanged; Pennsylvania 42¾, unchanged; Bethlehem B, 84⅝, unchanged; Tobacco Products 65, off ½; American Woollen 114¾, off ⅝.

Oils made additional gains during the morning, especially the Mexican group, and motors also improved. There was relative activity in shippings, marine common and preferred, American International, Atlantic Gulf and United Fruit gaining 1½ to 4¾ points. Prominent steels, other than Crucible, were barely steady, and equipments showed further hesitation. Rails were altogether unresponsive to the acceptance of wage arbitration by the brotherhoods, tending mainly lower. Call loans held at 10 per cent but call money continued very scarce at recent high bids. Foreign exchange was firm and Liberty bonds shaded again.

There was not much change in the majority of stocks in the early afternoon, and the market was very quiet. C. P. R. sold off from 120 to 118¾. General Motors was about the most active stock, and showed the widest range, opening at 238 to 239½, reacting to 236½, and rallying soon after 1 p.m. to 242½. Trading in Crucible faded away to very small proportions, the range being 196½ to 196. U. S. Steel moved within a fractional range of 95½ to 94⅞ to 95 and Beth. Steel B from 84⅝ to 85¼ to 84½. Baldwin was a weak spot, selling off from 110 to 107½. Scotia was firmer at 56½.

Other features were: Wool, 114¾ to 115½ to 112½ to 114¾; Union Pac., 119⅝ to 118½; Texas Pac. 36½ to 34¾; Tobacco Prods., 65 to 62½ to 63; Studebaker 82¼ to 83⅜; St. Paul, 37⅞ to 38¼ to 37¾; Southern Ry., 24⅛ to 25¼ to 24; Southern Pac. 96⅝ to 95¼; Sinclair 39¼ to 40; Rock Island 37¼ to 35¼ to 36¾; Rubber 95½ to 94⅛ to 95; Reading 75½ to 74¼ to 75; Republic 86½ to 87 to 76¼; Pere Marquette, 29½ to ¾ to 28½ to 29¼; Pan-American 82½ to 84⅝ to ¼; Mop. 29⅝ to 28¾ to 29; Mex. Paper 73¼; Chandler 122⅝; Royal Dutch 98⅜; Retail Stores 67⅜; Midvale, 40; Frisco 22½.

FUNDS NORMAL HERE; STERLING TONE STEADY

The New York foreign exchange market this morning was less strong, in the main. Sterling exchange opened the day at $3.42¼ for demand and $3.43 for cables, advanced to $3.43 for demand and $3.43¾ for cables, eased ½ cent, then recovered to $3.43¼ for demand and $3.44 for cables in the late morning.

French francs were quoted at 14.22 for cheques and 14.20 for cables; Italian lire 18.38 for cheques and 18.33 for cables; and German marks 1.08 to 1.08 cents for cheques.

New York funds in Montreal today were dull and the rate was nominally quoted at 14 7-8 per cent premium.

Swiss cables were 6.14; pesta cables 17.40; Belgian cables 13.65 and Guilders, demand 36 3-4; cables 36 7-8.

AMES HOLDEN MEETING

The annual general meeting of Ames-Holden-McCready, Limited, has been called for March 25, at noon.

GOLD MINES MORE ACTIVE

TORONTO, March 3.—Revived interest in gold stocks marked the morning session on the standard mining exchange this morning. Prices generally were firm and brokers voiced the opinion that the strong under the market augured well in view of the scanty transactions approximately 30,000 shares, changing hands. A hundred shares of Dome sold at $13.50, Dome Lake settled at 9 and McIntyre moved up a point to $2.07. Porcupine Crown reacted on profit taking to 34½ Kirkland Lake was steady at 73. In the silvers La Rose sold at 52½ and Beaver at 63½.

LOAN AND MORTGAGE CO.

The annual meeting of the Montreal Loan and Mortgage Company was held today, and the financial report, as recently reviewed in the Star, was adopted as satisfactory. The board of directors and officers re-elected as follows: Richard Bolton, president; George Caverhill, vice-president; C. E. Gault, M.L.A., S. A. McMurtry, W. E. Bolton and Herbert Racine; R. A. Kydd, manager.

Opinions from Wall Street

E. W. Wagner Co.—Would take advantage of bear drives to make purchases.

Hayden, Stone & Co.—Market is in throes of readjustment period. Process has reached point where goodly number of stocks are intrinsically cheap and worth buying. There are still number of issues that seem to us out of line in comparison with others. Only thing to be done is to make thorough study of values and buy well within one's ability to protect one's self.

Spencer Trask & Co.—Reports coming to hand indicates that while trade continues at high rate of speed, forward business is growing much more cautious and feeling is apparently crystallising into expectation of lower commodity prices within relatively short time.

Block, Maloney & Co.—If financial situation calls for deflation, any good news of general character can hardly be reflected to full in market.

Springs & Co.—Favor purchases of good railroad stocks and think there is little risk in buying low-priced rails and also dividend payers where are selling at prices that make yield attractive.

Clark, Childs & Co.—Money market faces activity in payment of national and state taxes middle of month, and it is impossible to figure how after that operation things are going to improve much.

E. & C. Randolph.—H. L. Evans wires; Market stagnant. Seems temporarily sold out. No liquidation immediately in sight All bull activity held in check by money situation which shows no sign of improvement. Impossible to guess how long this will continue or which way market will move temporarily when activity is resumed.

Laidlaw & Co.—Depressing influence of money situation so dominates market that even passage of railroad bill and favorable decision in steel case have not had more than passing effect. If market does not respond to such good developments it is evident that for time at least there is only one conclusion as to price trend.

Post & Flagg.—It looks as if market would have to bide its time until there is some indication of relaxation in money market.

Logan & Bryan: In view of fact the security markets have gone through severe liquidating process, it would seem as though greater possibilities will be found on buying side of market.

S. P. Burger of Pynchon & Co., wires Craig Luther & Irving:—On setbacks of sizable importance moderate turn would seem possible if purchases are confined to low priced rails, oils, equipment and steel.

Topics of the Street

Trading on the local stock market this morning involved 7,014 shares as compared with 10,361 shares yesterday morning, a falling off of 3,347 shares. Once again Sugar and Breweries occupied a prominent place, while Spanish River once more came into its own and ranked as the second more active stock of the session, being second to Sugar, which again retained the leadership.

The more active stocks this morning were: Sugar, 3,198 shares; Spanish River, 1,520; Breweries, 1,215; Ames preferred, 352; Spanish River preferred, 240; Canners, 160; Textile, 135; Shawinigan, 110; Laurentide, 100, and Iron, 100.

Now that bond dealers and stock brokers know what the Minister of Finance wants them to do with respect to the ... with a view to conserving the working capital of the Dominion, it cannot be said that there is anything like whole-hearted ... the Street's attitude.

There are a number of interests who are prepared to sink personal preference and feeling to elevate the standard of high patriotic motives, but there are others who do not. They cannot see it in that light, and even though they do finally determine to subscribe their names to the undertaking submitted to them, it will be against their own inclinations and judgment.

It is not a matter of the loss of a few orders and commissions which actuate some in their opposition. It is because they believe it to be an unwise economic proposal and one which will do the country more harm than good.

In other cases there is a fear that the response of the various interests concerned will be by no means unanimous and that even if they do consent to subscribe to the restrictions it will be to no avail, as some others will get the business which they might as well have retained so far as the net economic advantage is concerned.

Another point is made that it would be impossible to make everybody feel comfortable under the operation of the restrictions by a conviction that offenders would soon be tracked by the banks.

It is claimed that there are various methods which could easily be adopted to put through selling orders without the banks having any knowledge of the nature of the transactions. This would particularly apply to dealings through New York.

The objection to the restrictions are by no means confined to the stock brokers. From the first there has been a distinct objection on the part of many bond dealers and the retirement of the Royal Securities from the Bond Dealers' ... which is now reported ... naturally associated with this matter.

... in the Street that ... greatly whether the restriction plan is respected or not now. ... of well informed bond interests that the selling movement was very largely over. It was stated that it had become difficult to secure offerings in London for the Canadian market, and what is left will only be dribbles of stocks and bonds in relatively small lots.

The main thing is that Canada has made known to the world that its "basket" is full and cannot hold any more, that the country's financial capacity for re-purchasing has been extended to the point of depletion of ready cash and that it would be unwise to expect the Dominion to do more than it has done.

This in itself ought to go a long way towards stopping the flow which it is desired to stop, and will perhaps be more effective than binding bond dealers and stock brokers to any hard and fast agreement respecting what they will and will not do in the premises.

REDUCE SUGAR PRICE

NEW YORK, March. 3—The American Sugar Co. this morning reduced its price of refined sugars one cent a pound to 14 cents less 2% for cash. The company is not taking any new business at the new levels at present owing to the accumulation of orders and weather conditions. Other refiners are unchanged.

INTERCOLONIAL COAL CO. ANNUAL REPORT STRONG

The annual general meeting of the shareholders of the Intercolonial Coal Mining Company, Limited, was held at the head office of the company here today. In the absence out of town of the president, Charles Fergie, D. Forbes Angus occupied the chair.

Shareholders considered the financial statement covering 1919 operations. The report showed net income available to common stockholders of $58,464 against $77,280 in 1918, and $99,990 in 1917. The lower net for the year just ended, is largely due to the larger distrubution on the preferred stock, amounting to $22,879 as compared with $15,253 in 1918, a larger depreciation write off, amounting to $46,142 against $35,681, and a tax provision of $10,378 against $8,336 in the previous year. This was accomplished out of operating revenues only slightly above those of the preceding year, and amounting to $152,499 as against $150,458 in 1918 and $183,419 in 1917.

Common dividends were higher, the distribution being made over the full year, as compared with only one quarter in 1918. They took up, therefore, $47,500, against $12,500 in 1918 and nothing in 1917. After the deduction, there remained a surplus on the year's operations of $10,964 as compared with $64,780 in 1918 and $99,990 in 1917, and with the 1919 surplus added in, balance at credit of profit and loss at the beginning of 1920 amounted to $254,831, compared with $243,868 in 1918 and $179,088 in 1917.

Profit and loss account compares as follows:

The balance sheet shows added liquid strength, current assets having increased in the year from $344,240 to $360,977, while current liabilities decreased from $49,309 to $46,832. This leaves net working capital of $314,165 at the end of 1919 as compared with $294,931 at the end of 1918.

Owing to a rather generous writing down of property account from $1,427,671 to $1,402,609, and the elimination among the assets of an item, "call loan, $152,000," showing in the 1918 report, total assets were lower at $1,763,606 as compared with $1,771,311 in 1918. Cash increased from $26,726 to $61,467, while investments are up from $14,500 to $135,000, this latter item being earmarked "Canadian War Loans—1918 and 1919." Accounts and bills receivable increased from $86,088 to $103,750.

Among the liabilities, changes were not of a very broad nature.

In his report, the chairman said;

"Your directors have to report another satisfactory and successful year's operations, both output and earnings showing increases. The total quantity of coal raised was 185,417 tons, compared with 176,814 tons the year previous, an increase of 8,603 tons. For the first few months of the year, demand fell off considerably, owing to unsettled conditions following the cessation of hostilities. The demand, however, by early summer, had become sufficiently adequate to absorb without difficulty, the total available output, and the year closed with orders considerably in excess of the supply.

"During the first half of the year, the clay plant made a very satisfactory showing, but, owing to dullness in the steel industry later, had to be closed down, operations ceasing in September, as a result of insufficient demand for clay and clay products.

"On December 1st, the 5-year 5 per cent debentures matured, and by the end of the year, all of this issue had been redeemed with the exception of $1,500.00. This leaves now in the matter of outstanding bonds only the 1st mortgage 6 per cent issue due 1923. Of this issue, there were redeemed during the year $17,000, leaving now only outstanding $119,500.

"Your directors are pleased to report the mines in good shape, and with every indication that the demand will be fully equal to the supply, look forward to the prospects of another good year ahead."

The retiring board of directors was reelected for the ensuing year.

BREWERIES' DIVIDEND ON 16 PER CENT BASIS

Another chapter in the romance of National Breweries dividends was written in today, when the directors met and declared a quarterly rate of $1 per share for the first three months of 1920, thus putting the stock on the equivalent of 16 per cent. The first payment on the new basis will be made April 1 to stock record of March 31.

The dividend is made on the basis of dollars per share owing to the recent division of the par value of the stock into four of $25 each in place of $100, as originally arranged.

This is the third change in the dividend since the company started to distribute profits on the common a year ago. It started off with a 6 per cent rate, paid April 1, 1919, and for the last quarter of that year made the rate 10 per cent. That made three distributions at the rate of 6 per cent and one of 2½ per cent, or 7 per cent for the year in all.

This announcement was in line with the expectations of the Street, and is understood to foreshadow a strong statement of earnings for the past year, when it is forthcoming shortly.

Tramways Declares Arrears' Dividend

After a meeting of the board of directors of the Montreal Tramways Company today it was announced that it had been decided to pay another dividend of 2½ per cent on account of arrears. It is for the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1918, and is the second declared lately, the first one of like amount having been paid on Dec. 31 last for the quarter ended June 30, 1918.

This leaves 12½ per cent still in arrears, and while today's action came somewhat sooner than the Street expected, it is accepted as confirming the belief that it is the policy of the company to continue paying off arrears gradually until the obligation to the shareholders is liquidated. The dividend is payable to shareholders of record on March 30.

Cattle Trade Quiet; Hog Market Firmer

There were 112 head of cattle on the market this morning, of this number about 50 head of fair steers had been carried over from yesterday. Owing to the fact that packers are receiving quite a number of good cattle at their own sidings, bought at Toronto and country points as well, sales of good steers are a bit slow. Common cattle were sold out quickly at steady prices.

Quotations per 100 lbs.: — Butcher steers, good, $12.00 to $13.00, medium, $11.00 to $12.00, common $9.00 to $11.00; butcher heifers, medium $9.50 to $11.00, common, $7.50 to $9.00 butcher cows, medium $7.00 to $9.50; cutters, $5.50 to $6.50; butcher bulls, common $8.00 to $9.50.

Receipts of calves were 242; 20 good ... averaging 135 pounds were sold for $20.00 per hundred, good veal calves were sold for $17.00 and $18.00. Thin young calves are not wanted. A number of this grade of calves have been sold for $13.00 and $12.00 is offered for a few that are as yet unsold.

Quotations per 100 lbs.:—Good veal, $17.00 to $20.00, medium $15.00 to $17.00

There were very few sheep and lambs offered, and prices did not show any change. Ewes were quoted at $9 to $12 per 100 pounds, and lambs at $17 to $18 per 100 pounds.

Hog receipts were 314, and the market, which has been very firm, ruled slightly stronger at $19.75 per 100 pounds for choice selects.

IMPORTS FROM UNITED STATES SHOW DECREASE

Canada was the only important country to which American exports showed a decline in value last year, as compared with 1918, according to a statement issued by the National City Bank. The total shipments in 1919 were only $734,000,000, against $887,000,000 in 1918 and $829,000,000 in 1917. Analyzing the change in trade the statement continues as follows:

"This fall in exports to Canada, occurs in a very large part at least in the classes of material which Canada was buying for war purposes in 1918 and 1917, and did not need for that purpose in 1919. Wheat for example, of which Canada is always a large producer and large exporter, totaled $61,646,000 in our exports to Canada in 1918, and only $3,336,000 in 1919, suggesting that her large importation of our wheat in 1918 was intended for a further movement to Europe either for Canadian troops or those of the Allies. Corn, of which the export to Canada in 1918 was practically $20,000,000, dropped to a little over $10,000,000 in 1919, while steel billets fell off $19,000,000 in 1919, as compared with 1918; raw cotton, $13,000,000; fuel oil, $11,000,000; coal, $17,000,000; copper, $4,000,000; lead, $2,000,000; steel plates, $3,000,000; steel sheets, $2,000,000; tin plate, $5,000,000; pig iron $6,000,000.

"These articles are the principal ones in which a fall occurred in 1919, and curiously their fall aggregates practically as much as the entire reduction in our exports to Canada in 1919. Others of the hundreds of articles of the class required by the domestic market of Canada show in a large proportion of cases an increase in 1919. In cotton cloths, for example, the exports to Canada in 1919 show larger totals in every class of cotton goods, cloths dyed in the piece showing an increase of $2,500,000 in 1919, as compared with 1918; unbleached cloth an increase of nearly $1,000,000; and other grades of cotton cloths a similar increase. Among the other classes of merchandise in which the value sent to Canada in 1919 is greater than in 1918 are automobiles, a gain of about $3,000,000; dyestuffs, materials for tanning, cotton knit goods, dried and preserved fruits, furs, sewing machines, typewriters, galvanized iron, barbed wire, sole leather, upper leather, boots and shoes, bacon and lard, turpentine, crude mineral oil, illuminating oil, gasoline, motion picture films, woolen wearing apparel, butter and cheese."

CORN MARKET HIGHER, RECEIPTS ARE LIGHT

CHICAGO, March 3.—Fresh upturns in the price of corn today were associated more or less with continued scarcity of receipts. Besides, attention of traders still focussed to a considerable extent on the unusual heavy consumption of corn on farms. Reports were also current that abandonment of winter wheat acreage would be above the average this season.

Opening prices which ranged from ⅛c off to 1⅛c advance, with May $1.39⅝ to $1.40¼, and July $1.34 to $1.34¼ were followed by a moderate setback and then by gains all around.

Oats paralleled the action of corn. After opening unchanged to ⅜ higher, including May 83 to 83¼, the market sagged, but then rose higher than before.

Provisions were weak as a result of large stocks at western packing centres.

Chicago corn range to noon:

Corn.	Open.	High.	Low.	Noon.
March	147
May	140¼	140⅝	139¼	140⅜
July	134¼	134⅜	133¾	134½

LINEN TRADE FACING SEVERE FLAX FAMINE

The scarcity of spinning flax available for mill use has reached proportions unlike anything hitherto known in the industry. It is much worse than in the war period, for last year's lack of shipments from Russia was almost absolute.

A recent estimate showed that the net supply of flax available in Great Britain for spinning purposes in 1913 was 107,000 tons, while last year it had dwindled to 31,000 tons. This accounts for the fact that mills there are running at less than a third capacity. The Government is still in control of the prices for the Irish flax crop of 1919. This has brought about a condition where the farmer sees the spinner and manufacturer and merchant secure any price bid for finished goods, while he must take what the Government allows, and cannot take more. Under such circumstances there is no inducement to plant as much flax in Ireland, or elsewhere in the Kingdom, as there was in war-times.

Flax brings from seven to eight times the pre-war values. In 1913 a great part of the spinning flax used in Great Britain came from abroad. Belgium, for example, supplied 28,000,000 pounds in that year. Last year it supplied less than a million pounds. A partial cure will come when French and Belgian mills are able to spin supplies from flax grown this year.

Although prices for linens are from four to five times as high as they were in 1913, there is a bountiful market for anything that can be used to supply the demand. While there is a strong feeling in the trade that prices have reached a dangerous level, there seems little likelihood of recessions at the producing end. The mills in Belfast are working only 25 hours a week and with a very limited number of operatives at work.

As high as 72 shillings has been paid for 25s weft, an advance of 6 shillings since the last reports, less than three weeks ago. The call for linens in local houses does not diminish to any extent, and principally in those parts of the market where manufacturers have absolutely withdrawn through inability to guarantee any deliveries in a positive way.

NEW YORK, March 3. — The Wall Street Journal this morning says: "The end of the embargo by which Canadian banks and financial houses will not handle transactions which send money out of Canada in exchange for securities, is predicted. The embargo is only a gentleman's agreement, and there is no way of enforcing penalties."

Texas United Oil Company Shares At $2.25 Per Share

These shares are now paying a dividend of 24 per cent. per annum on par value of $1.00. We advise immediate purchase of this stock. Ten wells are producing 3,000 barrels of oil per day. Eight other wells are being sunk, and large returns at present price of stock are most promising within a short time.

Texas Oil fields produce 75% of the output of the United States.

Last month's official sworn statement to Government Controller shows Texas United Oil Co. as ranking 57 out of 603 producing companies.

We conservatively expect this stock to increase its dividends and market value within a short time fully 100%.

With over a million and a half dollars worth of holdings, Texas United Oil Co. should become one of the largest independent companies in Texas at an early date.

HUGH BRODIE DIED SUDDENLY

Hugh Brodie, senior partner in the firm of Brodie and Harvie, flour merchants, Bleury street, died suddenly while at lunch shortly after one o'clock this afternoon. Mr. Brodie was at business this morning, and left his office at the usual time to take lunch at the National Club. He had not begun his meal when he collapsed in his chair, and expired a few moments later. He was over 70 years of age. The club will be closed for the remainder of the day as a mark of respect to the deceased, who was one of its oldest members.

Pressing for Action Against Luxuries

TORONTO, Ont., March 3.—Canadian bankers have pressed and are pressing the Government at Ottawa to prohibit the importation of non-essential commodities from the United States that the Government had promised to take the matter up at an early date. It was also stated that the Government would have to introduce legislation at this session to deal with the matter. None of those acquainted with what took place at the conferences, however, will mention any of the commodities which have been named. Passenger automobiles are mentioned almost first where a discussion takes place on the matter.

Increase Reported in Dom. Canners' Profits

HAMILTON, March 3.—The annual financial statement of the Dominion Canners, Limited, which was presented to shareholders at the annual general meeting held here today, shows a satisfactory increase in profits. Before the deduction of bond interest and preferred dividends, but after providing for business profits war tax, earnings for the year amounted to $810,823, as compared with $745,324 in the same period of 1918, an increase of $74,499. This together with the balance at profit and loss account at the beginning of the year of $1,472,222, would make the total amount available for bond interest, preferred and common dividends and any other charges, $2,292,045.

Teach the Children to Save

Habits are acquired early in life. Children, who are taught the value of money and the habit of saving, grow up into good business men and capable women.

The easiest way to teach children to save, is to start a Savings Account for each child ($1.00 each is sufficient). After a child has saved another dollar to make an additional deposit, he or she will have a better appreciation of just what a dollar stands for, and how much work and self-denial it represents.

NOTICE

THE LITTLE GEM MINING COMPANY LIMITED

The present issue of stock which was underwritten by Freeman & Company for development work at the Mine has been practically sold out.

There are still a few shares left for those who wish to subscribe, but the offer will positively be closed at 7 P.M. on Saturday, March 6th.

In our full page advertisements in the "Star" of February 14th and 21st, you read the Mining Engineer's report on the Webfoot Mine, also telegrams and letters received from absolutely reliable authorities relative to the value of the Mine and its immense possibilities.

We told you all about the Little Gem Company, also gave you full information regarding the Engineer and Manager, who they are, what they are doing and what they are going to do.

The mill will be installed and dividends paid within nine months, that means this year, and still bigger dividends will be paid next year and for twenty years to come.

Don't forget that we have offered you the chance to share in the riches of the Little Gem. Telegram just received from Mr. Matthews, Engineer-in-charge, dated Feb. 19th, reads as follows:—

TELEGRAM.

Vein widening Quartz two feet wider looks very good and pans strong.

(signed) Matthews.

The words "pans strong" mean that the ore pans lots of gold, and "Quartz two feet wider" means considerable more ore. In fact, instead of 200,000 tons it will be nearer 300,000 tons, or $9,000,000. Even this, we know, is very conservative. A few months will tell the tale. We would ask you to call at our offices so that we can show you the proofs of all we claim. We have them all here for your personal inspection.

Any out-of-town cheques must reach us by that date, 100 shares or $100.00 worth, smallest subscription we will accept.

How Can Farm Production Be Increased?

Labor-saving machinery will meet the farm labor problem.

Increased production is necessary—50% more efficiency is needed. Shortage of farm help and scarcity of horses creates a real problem.

A practical, easily-run tractor at a reasonable initial outlay and upkeep is a necessity.

We shall soon offer the 8% Cumulative Preferred Stock of a well-known Company manufacturing tractors. There are no bonds ahead of this issue. A Bonus of Common Stock is given.

OAKOAL

ANOTHER FUEL TRIUMPH

Forty-two Lbs. of our New Fuel Burned Continuously and Efficiently for Thirty Hours.

To tell the public that any fuel would burn this long without proof would cause the public to smile—but this fact has been proved right here in Montreal in the far-famed Windsor Hotel, where it was witnessed by hundreds of people and where the proof of this statement can be verified.

Imagine the wonderful possibilities of a fuel burning for 30 hours at a cost of only 19 cents. No other fuel ever made anything near like such a record.

This fuel was OAKOAL, and during the year the Oakoal Co. (Canada), Limited, will erect in Montreal a duplicate of the Toronto plant, which will produce 200 tons daily.

Montrealers have the opportunity of subscribing for shares in the Oakoal Co. (Canada), Limited, the prospective earnings of which are so large that we hesitate to put them forward.

The demand for Oakoal will surely at all times exceed the production, and even at a rate per ton considerably lower than coal, the profits are assured and permanent. Get information now.

Directors of the Company are: Chas. N. Haldenby, President, of the Sanderson Pearcy Co., Paint and Varnish Manufacturers, Toronto; Dr. J. A. Armstrong, Vice-President; W. R. Jackson, Customs Broker, Toronto; J. E. Potts, Banker, Toronto; Jas. R. Lang, Managing Director. Shareholders include Bank Managers, Wholesale, Professional and Scientific men, and the general public who have fully investigated the company and its claims.

If you cannot call at our office, write or wire for literature containing the evidence of our claims. Fill out either of the coupons below and mail at once. Better make reservations immediately.

DEFEND MEXICO IN OIL CONTROVERSY

American Producer Says False Idea Has Been Conveyed

STIRS CAPITAL

Says Stories of Bandits and Robberies Greatly Exaggerated

Special to The Star by David Lawrence. Copyright 1920.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Mexico is not without friends in the United States, but when an oil operator bobs up as a defender of President Carranza and the Mexican constitution and says a false idea has been conveyed about the petroleum controversy, naturally the national capital sits up and take notice.

Joseph F. Guffey, of Pittsburgh, is the new champion of Mexican nationalism and his remarks just issued in the form of a statement after a seven week's trip through Mexico, have provoked interest, not merely because Mr. Guffey is an intimate friend of Attorney-General A. Mitchell Palmer and one of the boosters for the latter's presidential candidacy and in personata at the White House, but because he is himself president of the Atlantic Gulf Oil Corporation and the head of several other oil companies operating below the Rio Grande.

MAD NO DIFFICULTY.

"We have endeavored at all times," says Mr. Guffey, "to work in harmony with the Mexican Government, and have had no difficulty in obtaining the necessary permits for drilling on our properties. To indicate the extent and character of our company's operations, I may say we have a potential production of 250,000 barrels daily from three wells, one of them rated the largest in the whole, and are now constructing pipe lines to these wells."

But Mr. Guffey starts right out with the flat statement that there is "a widespread misapprehension in the United States concerning affairs in Mexico and there is a belief almost universal that Americans and American investors particularly oil investors and their properties are being discriminated against, persecuted and their properties confiscated by the Mexican Government."

STORIES EXAGGERATED.

Mr. Guffey says most of the stories about bandits and robberies are exaggerated aid if traced to their source would "undoubtedly be found to have emanated from propagandists interested in forcing American intervention in Mexico, the chief offenders in this respect are so-called associations for the protection of American rights in Mexico." This is an oft-repeated charge on the part of persons not interested in oil wells, but is something else from an oil operator and doubtless the National Association for the Protection of American rights will have some comment on Mr. Guffey's observations in due time.

Mr. Guffey goes on to say that the Mexicans "are not attempting to confiscate all properties developed and operated by American companies, for if such were its purpose, it could easily double or treble the export tax of eleven cents a barrel which was collected on all oil exported from such taxes last year of about 16,000,000 pesos—less than five per cent. of the total Government taxes from all sources."

TAKE NEW PERMITS.

Mr. Guffey claims that recognition of the Mexican constitution would have meant the payment of only 880,000 last year, a small sum when the enormous annual Mexican oil production is considered. He says that all any companies have to do to conform to the Mexican requirements "is to recognize the constitution, denounce all concessions and leases obtained prior to its adoption and take out new permits." He adds that his own company and subsidiaries are practically the only American concerns which have accepted the Mexican constitution and "because of this no interference has been experienced in carrying out development work."

"President Carranza," declared Mr. Guffey, "I regard as an intelligent, high-type constructive and honest statesman, a man who has a definite objective and is making rapid and systematic progress toward its attainment. He has done more for Mexico and the Mexican people than any other President in its history."

MEXICO PROSPEROUS.

Mr. Guffey says Mexico is prosperous; travel is safe and that order is being restored "as rapidly and effectively as one could reasonably expect."

But that isn't all. Mr. Guffey, who is a Democratic leader in Pennsylvania doesn't stop at a description of Mexican conditions and a tribute to the Mexican President. He takes issue with a recent speech by Governor Lowden, who says is quoted in press despatches as referring to conditions in Mexico as "deplorable."

"Probably an investigation would show," says Mr. Guffey "that there have been more hold-ups, robberies and murders in Illinois during Governor Lowden's term as Governor than in the whole of Mexico during a like period."

All this is a new point of view from an oil operator and incidentally a radically different view from that expressed in notes sent by our department of state to Mexico in recent months wherein it is claimed that conditions are deplorable, that Mexico was trying to "confiscate" properties of American oil companies and that protection was not being furnished Americans operating in Mexico. "It is time" concludes Mr. Guffey "that the people and business interests of the United States begin cultivating an appreciation of these 16,000,000 living south of the Rio Grande."

There may be or not be significance in Mr. Guffey's statement issued on his return to Washington. With Lansing's departure and Ambassador Fletcher's resignation President Wilson may be getting ready to repudiate much of what has been said on the Mexican question by state department officials. Or it may mean, as some oil men say, that Mr. Guffey's statement is his come-back against other oil operators who have bitterly denounced him for accepting permits from the Mexicans to drill wells when others could not get them. The next few days ought to tell what's back of it all.

Elecution Recital by Miss C. A. Dogherty In the Victoria Hall

The art of elocution is one of the most difficult to acquire. It is an art that has been sadly neglected and one whose importance is seldom realized. Although to become a good elocutionist is impossible for those who are born without that gift, many vocal and dramatic students would greatly profit by its adoption. Elocution is no exception to the rule, that, to become really great in any art, one must be born with the ability, for genius can be developed but not created.

Miss Carol A. Dogherty, who gave a dramatic recital in Victoria Hall last evening, assisted by Miss Hilda Cousins, soprano, and W. J. Stephenson, baritone, under the auspices of the Frances Williard W.C.T.U., has unmistakeable talent but her program was inclined to be slightly juvenile. Had she chosen numbers of more interest to grown up people, her debut as an elocutionist might have been more interesting. However, Miss Dogherty will no doubt have ample opportunity to display her talents in more advanced works in the near future.

In portraying comic characters her personality and skill are shown to their best advantage and the audience last night thoroughly enjoyed her interpretation of "At the Movies," a very clever little dialogue which was natural and true to life in every way.

Miss Cousins and Mr. Stephenson have both excellent voices, and with Mrs. Frankiyn Hodgson, who accompanied them, they rendered some very enjoyable songs. R. G.

THEIR TURN.

Bolshevism is a many-headed monster. At a fete recently given by Leon and Anatolis Trotsky, there was food in abundance, wine sparkled in the glasses, and music was provided by a gypsy orchestra. Suddenly the sound of the instruments ceased, and the musicians shouted to the merry guests:

"Why should you be the only ones to dance? You are behaving like the bourgeois. It is our turn now!"—Living Age.

AGED IRISHMAN DIES.

Mr. John Thompson, Aghalee, county Down, died recently at his home, Culmore, in his 102nd year. Deceased was a wonderful old man, and when he had reached his century was to be seen working busily on his farm. Even last summer he was engaged daily building hay in his stack-yard. The old man lived all his life at Aghalee and died in the house in which he was born. He was married but his wife died some years ago, and his only son assisted him in the management of the farm.

IT may seem unbelievable, but it is none the less true that motion picture actresses are occasionally to be found driving in automobiles when attired in other than evening dress.

After twelve weeks of continuous work before the camera June Elvidge has finally completed the filming on "The Law of the Yukon," the adaptation from the well-known poem by Robert W. Service. The company has spent its entire time at Port Henry, New York, in the heart of the Adirondack Mountains, where the film was made. Why not in the Yukon?

Miss Irene Rich, a well known meteor picture actress, was bequeathed $30,000 by her uncle, the late Thomas Brooks Luther, on condition that she leave motion pictures and retire into private life. The proposition was rejected by Miss Rich, who prefers to continue her film career. Miss Rich lives with her mother in the Hollywood film colony.

Mitchell Lewis, who is to appear in several of Jack London's greatest stories, asserts that the "old wild West, she ain't what she used to be."

"The softening influence is creeping in day by day," he commented. "Why, only last week a judge up in the State of Washington refused to let the lawyer for the I. W. W. carry his revolver into court."

For the first time in the history of the motion picture, the aeroplane is to be used as a wind machine. This interesting departure in the use of the aeroplane is occasioned by the filming of Rex Beach's story, "The North Wind's Malice", which is now being made at Port Henry, on the shores of Lake Champlain, New York.

The friend whom Finis Fox, author of "Should a Woman Tell?" brought out from Los Angeles to the studios was most impressed by the gorgeous string of pearls worn by one of the actresses in a society scene in May Allison's newest play, "The Cheater."

"Wonderful jewels," remarked the friend. "I'd like to make my wife a present like that. What do you suppose such a string costs?"

Mr. Fox reflected a moment.

"The string won't set you back so much," he replied. "It's the pearls that make the bankroll quiver."

• • •

Numerous photoplays are "salacious," "wallow in the most atrocious and exaggerated kinds of crime" and are otherwise depraved and pernicious, writes an actor of four years' experience, and many will agree with him. But to correct the evil of such productions he relies on magic—for he puts his faith in censorship, calling expressly for "a censor wise, conscientious, autocratic, incorruptible and withal artistic," and only magic could produce such a censor.

• • •

Another notice has been received to the effect that a director is "rushing" East with a print of the picture he has just completed. If any motion picture director, producer or player has ever made the trip across the continent at normal speed the phenomenon has not been recorded.

The Shuberts are preparing their long-expected revival of "Florodora." Rehearsals are under way, and it will be a midspring production in New York. The cast is more than impressive—Eleanor Painter as Dolores, George Hassell as Tweedlepeck, Christie MacDonald as Lady Hallycrood, and John T. Murray as Gilfain.

ALFRED CORTOT

Leading French pianist who returns to Montreal in April to give another concert.

"Now go on home and don't be hangin' around the pitcher studios," said the new doorman at a certain plant in Hollywood. The little girl in the pigtails and the striped dress looked for a moment disconsolate, then she became appealing.

"Please, won't you let me in," she asked, "I'm Viola Dana, and they're holding a scene from 'Eliza Comes to Stay' for me. I ran outside for a moment to find where that dog of mine had gone. And if I'm late for that scene, Mr. Karger 'll keep me in after school—"

The little girl was allowed to enter.

Richard Walton Tully's Hawaiian love-play, "The Bird of Paradise," continues to be the reigning success of the London season. Produced there by Tully early in October, it is constantly playing to capacity houses, with every indication that it will continue to do so for two or three years. Meanwhile Tully has launched a second company which is touring in the larger cities of Great Britain, while at present he is rehearsing a third company for the smaller British cities. That completed, Tully will go to Paris to start rehearsals of the French production of the same play.

Singers at the Imperial Theatre lately have been soprano and tenor, so that the singing this week of Norton Adkins, who is a baritone has the virtue of variety added to its native worth. Mr. Adkins' voice is of moderate volume, but carries clearly and is of a timbre most pleasing to hear. Low notes are resonant, middle notes are firm and upper notes are there when he wants them. Last night Mr. Adkins sang Valentine's song from "Faust" in English, and an English encore. He sang with expression, and not a word was lost.

Erlanger's "Aphrodite," one of the novelties produced in New York by the Chicago Opera Company, has met with a chilling reception at the hands of critics. Mr. Huneker "goes for it" vigorously, and Mr. Krehbiel says, of the first performance: "The music was empty, bombastic and could not have been saved by the best of singing." Mr. Krehbiel continues: "This work is wholly an artistic abomination." The libretto is based on the story of Pierre Louys. Mary Garden had the chief woman's part, and among those in the cast was the Montreal singer, Irene Pavloska. Mr. Huneker and Mr. Krehbiel seem agreed that the opera is merely licentious without being artistic.

Famous Parisian Landmark to Be Demolished Now

PARIS, March 3—The artist colony is in a state of indignation because the Moulin Radet is to be removed from the Montmartre. The hillside and top of Montmartre were at one time covered with windmills. The number dwindled to two, the Moulin Radet anti the Moulin de la Galette, and for generations artists have visited Montmartre for the purpose of sketching these century-old buildings. The Radet is to be torn down to make room for the construction of new houses.

MANSLAUGHTER AVERTED.

"The ending of my story has been completely spoiled by careless proofreading," complained the angry author. "Here at the conclusion, where the judge looks down at the detective and asks, 'Are you Pendleton King?' what does the printer make him say? Listen! 'The great detective, snatching off his false beard, replied "I a.m." '"

"That certainly leaves the readers in the dark," mused the waggish editor. —Boston Transcript.

Final Games of Season in the Bankers' League

The Bankers will play tonight at Victoria Rink games which were originally intended to be played on 18th February as specified by their schedule, but had to be postponed so that the championship could be decided sooner. The Montreal meet Molson 8-9, Toronto-Royal 9-10, Merchants-Commerce 10-11. None of these games have a bearing on the championship as same has been won by Bank of Montreal, however, exciting contest may be looked for tonight, as the weaker teams have been permitted to strengthen their line-ups by procuring a few good players from City League teams.

On Thursday the Royal Bank girls' squad will meet Commerce girls in a game at Victoria Rink from 6-7. Mr. Beck, president of the Bankers' League, will be the referee.

D.U.R. LAUNCH BIG CAMPAIGN AGAINST MUNICIPAL PLAN

Buying Up Whole Pages of Newspaper Space to Justify Position

ELECTIONS IN MONTH

Company's Statement for First Time Explains Their Side

DETROIT, Mich., March 3, (Special to The Star.)—With the date of the spring elections only a month away when the electors of Detroit will vote on Mayor Couzens plan for a municipality-owned and operated street railway system, the Detroit United Railway has begun an extensive publicity campaign. Whole pages of newspaper space is being purchased to set forth the arguments of the company, while smaller spaces are being used daily to explain to street car patrons the reasons for the usual delays to traffic in different parts of the city. Up to the present, no effort had ever been made by the D. U. R. to tell why its cars travelled sometimes in "bunches" and sometimes not at all.

Now, all is as clear as sunshine. The following official statement is issued by the Detroit United and gives perhaps a better insight into its ramifications in the matter of construction of new lines, than any thing that has yet appeared. The article particularly places the onus for its retarded development in the matter of building new lines, upon the city authorities.

"Both in population and area, the city of Detroit is vastly greater than it was 25 years ago. In that period of 25 years we have built or are building in the city of Detroit, every foot of railway track Detroit authorities would allow us to build. When restrained from building in the city we went outside, and by outside authority, built many miles of railways. The limits of the city have since been extended to include this outside mileage. More than half of the present population of Detroit ,and possibly more than half the industries of Detroit, are located upon or contiguous to, and are served by these lines built by outside authority.

"Throughout that entire period of 25 years the rate of fare exacted by railway company in Detroit has been greatly less than the company was authorized to receive ,and at least twenty per cent. below rates prevailing for like service in other American cities. It is plain from this bare statement of fact that the company has not at any time exploited public by overcharges.

"The stockholders of company have made of their railways a savings bank all the money the company has received from securities sold, as well as their surplus earnings from operation, less dividends, aggregating less than banks would have paid for use of their money, have been used for development of property, grown within that 25 years from barely 100 miles to nearly 1,000 miles. Investigations by public authorities—municipal, state and national—have shown that bare physical values of the company are largely in excess of all outstanding obligations. These facts show the company has not been at any time financially exploited. If then, we have not exploited the riding public and have not exploited the investing public, and have built in Detroit to the full extent we have been allowed to build, who is there in Detroit or outside of Detroit that can complain.

WAR'S HANDICAP.

"During the period of world war, including year 1919, we were greatly handicapped in the development of the company's plant—not alone by exigencies of war, including commandeering of materials required for development—but otherwise, as the public can fully understand. In the years 1914 and 1915, we were instructed by city authorities to avoid construction in Detroit pending a vote of people on municipal ownership, toward end of the latter year. Similar conditions prevailed as to year 1919, when another vote on municipal ownership was taken. Within the period of the war, as mentioned above, we expended on capital account for equipment and extensions, upwards of twelve millions of dollars. Six and three quarters millions of this amount was expended in as rapid work as we could do immediately, following vote of the people—the first vote of the people for municipal ownership—which vote we construed to mean that the people desired us to go ahead and serve them. But for interferences above mentioned, and with any kind of support by the city authorities, our expenditures for development would have been more than twice as great.

"It is hardly fair that those in authority or having public ear, who have done everything in their power to prevent us from extending the service, should now make inadequate service the sole basis for attacking us.

BUILDING NEW EQUIPMENT.

"On April 7, 1919, the people again voted down the proposition to take over our lines in Detroit. We immediately placed orders for materials in large quantities for car and track building and proceeded when these materials were obtained, to construction of cars on a large scale in our Highland Park Shops. Now cars are now being turned out of these shops day by day. And in addition, orders are placed and are being filled for cars outside of our own shops, to cost more than a million dollars.

"These things we have done in our own volition, in pursuance of a settled policy to do everything in our power to serve the people, whatever the attitude of public authorities may be just as in the past. We have been able, handicapped by lack of support as we have been, to contribute much toward the growth and development of Detroit, and we would gladly do infinitely more should we be allowed to do it."

CHANGE IN G.T.R. SUPERINTENDENTS

W. R. Davidson Goes to West, R. H. Fish Superintendent Here

W. R. Davidson, general superintendent of the Grand Trunk eastern lines, has just been reappointed to his former position of superintendent of Grand Trunk western lines.

Mr. Davidson has had a wide experience of the lines which have just been surrendered by the United States Government. His territory extends from the Detroit and St. Clair rivers westward.

He was first appointed superintendent of the western lines in September 1917. Prior to that he was superintendent at London and later at Detroit.

The vacancy in the eastern lines will be filled by R. H. Fish with headquarters in Montreal. His territory extends from Portland, Me., to Toronto and also the Georgian Bay and Ottawa lines.

Mr. Fish has advanced to his present important position from being superintendent at Stratford Division, a position he has held since 1916.

Mr. Fish received his early training in the motive power department of the Grand Trunk, and, like Mr. Davidson, was a trainmaster prior to his first position as superintendent.

ST. PATRICK'S ARE SORE ON OTTAWA

TORONTO, March 3.—It looks as if the St. Patricks and Ottawa officials will have a merry battle when they clash at the next meeting of the National Hockey League, and it is all because of the high handed way in which Tommy Gorman, of Ottawa, acted here on Saturday when he told the St. Patrick officials that the Senators would not go on the ice unless fifty tickets were forthcoming for the use of the Ottawa Club. Charlie Querrie is real peeved. Of course the St. Patricks' officials managed to satisfy the Ottawa Club with tickets after some worry. It wasn't so much the demand that made the St. Patricks' officials sore as it was the way the demand was made. There is nothing in the N. H. L. constitution to say that a visiting club is entitled to tickets but all are willing to hold some out if requested to do so. Gorman says he told Querrie the week before to save some tickets but Querrie says he has no recollection of the request. The tickets were of course all sold out on Wednesday morning and none held for Ottawa. There may also be trouble over the demand of Ottawa that Goal Umpire George Cruise be restrained from acting last Saturday. Gorman said Ottawa would not start with Cruise behind the nets and told Referee Cooper Smeaton so. This caused some hard feeling but the St. Patricks acceded and Eddie Clark took Cruise's place. What the St. Patrick Club claims is that Ottawa are trying to run the league and what is more getting away with it. Officials are appointed in each city by President Calder and the latter, Toronto claims, should see to it that the clubs do not butt in. It is considered here that if Ottawa visiting clubs never get their share of the breaks on disputed goals and it is a cinch the goal umpires would not be changed at the request of visiting clubs. From this distance it certainly looks like a merry time when President Calder calls the next meeting. It is understood that young Forbes, signed by St. Patricks to play goal is receiving $1,000 for the balance of this season.

His contract is said to be for $1,200. He also received $50 for signing his contract on Saturday night. The "Kid" may not be very high in years but he certainly is in business matters." I have signed many a player in lacrosse and hockey," stated Charlie Querrie, "but young Forbes was the toughest bird I ever tackled." Those who predict that Forbes will not make good on account of his build seem doomed to have their "dope" spilled. He certainly stepped into a hard game on Saturday and no fault could be found with his work.

Local Ladies Receive Trenton's Challenge

Although ladies' hockey has suffered a setback in Quebec it is still in the limelight in Ontario. The Ladies' Hockey Club of Trenton send a challenge to any local ladies' team or an all-star team composed of local players. It would be most suitable for the Trenton ladies to arrive late any Saturday afternoon and play Saturday night. The manager of this ladies' organization is Miss Olive Smith, and any replies can be sent to her c.o. of Molson's Bank, Trenton. It is understood that the challengers have a good reputation, having beaten the C.P.R. aggregation, which was the championship Toronto team.

TOBACCO TEAMS PLAY.

On Thursday night the fast hockey team representing the Tobacco Products Corp. defeated for the second time the C. P. Verdun by the score of 5 to 2. The game was well contested and was witnessed by a large crowd. The Phillip Morris team was forced to play overtime in order to win the game, Johnston, Harrison and A. Henil were the pick of the winners, each scoring a goal.

COAL PRODUCTION IN FRANCE LOWER

Pit Workers' Daily Output Has Decreased Almost One-third

SITUATION SERIOUS

Papers Point Out Economic Future Depends on Transportation

PARIS, March 3. (By Associated Press)—The falling off in the individual production of the coal miners is one of the discouraging factors brought out in a leading article in L'Economiste Francais, in which the country's coal problem is discussed. The pit worker's daily production in 1913 on the average is given as 2,156 pounds; it has now fallen to 1,760.

The article emphasizes the fact that France's economic future depends upon transportation and coal and cites the official figures showing that the amount available is a little below the estimated 70,000,000 tons needed this year. The country's probable production is placed at 20,000,000 tons, including that produced in the devastated mine areas in the north, which last year dug only 605,000 tons, as compared with an output of about 20,000,000 tons before the war.

Germany is relied upon for 27,000,000 tons and importations from England and Belgium will amount to twenty or twenty-one millions. Increased importation from the United States is not looked for because of various transportation difficulties and the rate of exchange. In the last half of 1919 only 500,000 tons of American coal were imported.

The writer says that the only flexible factor is home production, to which the Government looks for an annual increase of at least five million tons. The writer also suggests that the problem may be solved by the miners increasing their output individually, as well as by increasing the hours of labor, as has recently been done in Germany.

REV. D. J. NEUGEWIRTZ LEAVING MISSION

If God could work such a miracle as the liberation of Palestine from Turkish rule, Canon Gould pointed out to the Montreal Jewish Mission last night, then people must be dull of perception not to see the equal possibilities of His bringing about the miracle of the conversion of the Jews. There was nothing weaker, he said, than the protest that it would be an offence to the Mohammedan religion to drive the Turk out of Constantinople; they had already been driven from half a dozen holy cities.

He thought the idea of Turks guarding the Holy Sepulchre was as absurd as that of Mohammedans guarding Westminster Abbey. The country had no mineral resources, unless oil were found, but offered good agricultural prospects and lent itself ideally to the development of the spiritual and prophetic nature. He had hopes that the Jews, returning for idealistic reasons, to their ancient land, detached from territorial ambitions, with a great history of triumph and sorrow and degradation behind them, might become a nation of prophets once more and supply the world's great need, an international mind.

The seventeenth annual report, presented by Rev. D. J. Neugewirtz, and the treasurer's report presented by R. J. Buchanan, both showed a highly encouraging state of affairs. Bishop Farthing, presiding, announced Mr. Neugewirtz' retirement for a prolonged rest after seventeen years' missionary service.

SENATE ADOPTS TWO RESERVATIONS

Monroe Doctrine Clause, Framed by Republicans, Again Approved

LITTLE DEBATE

Other Reservation Asserts U.S. Control Over Domestic Questions

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(By Associated Press)—The Monroe Doctrine reservation which has been one of the storm centres of the Peace Treaty fight, was re-adopted in the Senate yesterday in the same form as written by the Republican leaders and approved by the Senate at the last session.

The other adopted reservation asserts the full jurisdiction of the United States over purely domestic questions.

Little debate attended the Senate's action, all apparently conceding that the successive roll calls were merely formalities to let everyone go on record once more before the final deadlock, which now generally is expected to put the Treaty over into the campaign. Old rumblings of the bitter fight over the reservations in November kept coming to the surface, however, despite the efforts of the leaders to bring discussion to a close, and in most quarters predictions of a ratification vote this week were extended.

On the Monroe Doctrine reservation seven Democrats who did not vote for adoption in November swung over to the Republicans on today's roll call. They were: Senators Beckham, Kentucky; Fletcher, Florida; Pittman and Henderson, Nevada; King, Utah; Smith, Georgia, and Myers, Montana.

TWO MONKEYS ESCAPED FIRE

Investigations into four fires were held yesterday afternoon by Fire Commissioner Latulippe, the most important being that in which nine monkeys, dozens of birds and several dogs lost their lives when the store in which they were confined at 39 St. Lawrence boulevard, caught fire on the evening of February 26.

The store is occupied by the Montreal Bird Company, and at the time of the outbreak there were eleven monkeys and several dogs in the building. One dog was saved, and, as only nine monkeys were discovered after the fire it is thought that two managed to escape. If this is so, there are two trained monkeys at large in the city at the present time.

No cause was established for the fire which broke out early on the morning of February 28 in the premises of the cigar factory of Adolphe Tribodeau, 455 Maisonneuve street.

No cause for the fire which destroyed the garage and car of Armand Fournier, butcher, of 2159 St. Catherine street east, on the night of Feb. 25, could be found. The total damage is estimated at about $1,500 and the insurance amounted to only $1,200.

SIR THOMAS STUART DEAD IN AUSTRALIA

Was Actively Identified with Medical and Scientific Bodies

SYDNEY, N.S.W., March 3.—The death is announced of Sir Thomas Anderson Stuart, dean of the faculty of medicine in the University of Sydney. He was born in Scotland in 1856.

Sir Thomas was actively identified with many of the medical and scientific societies of Great Britain and achieved wide publicity when he organized the expedition of the Royal Society of London to Funafuti, an island of the Ellice group in the Pacific ocean. The expedition, by boring to a depth of one thousand [illegible] in coral rock, secured confirmation of the Darwinian theory of reef formation. Sir Thomas was a frequent contributor to many scientific journals and as a result was known in scientific circles throughout the world.

MUST EDUCATE ADULT DELINQUENT

The adult delinquent was the subject discussed at the weekly meeting of the Federation of Social Workers held in Strathcona Hall Monday, Miss Philips presiding.

A. M. Nicol, contending that the deliquent belonged to society, urged that the educational facilities in prison should be up to date in regard to room, desks, books, maps, teaching staff, examinations, and awards. A departmental committee should review the entire question, and bring in recommendations for immediate application. Dealing with the adult delinquent in the first stage of his lawlessness, he cited the excellent working of the Suspended Sentence Act in other countries and charged the Dominion as behind these. Referring to the work of the Committee of Sixteen he suggested that unless the Suspended Sentence Act could be amended, the new reform passed at Quebec would be a remedy worse than the disease. A poor man's lawyer was long overdue. Prison aid agencies ought to be affiliated with the prisons.

In the discussion that followed O. Dawson, Charity Organization Society, moved that a committee be appointed to bring these and other suggestions to the attention of the new Federated Charities Council. The Rev. H. S. Laws, cited a case of distress that pointed to the need of women being provided with employment before they left prison.

An Important Statement About WOMEN'S SUITS

We are publishing this statement to remove what we believe to be a prevailing wrong impression—namely, that prices of women's suits for Spring are excessively high.

There was never a bigger mistake. And, in order to sweep away this impression we intend to use deeds as well as words.

We want to introduce you to some very smart Spring suits, of which we have a large number to offer at 39.75.

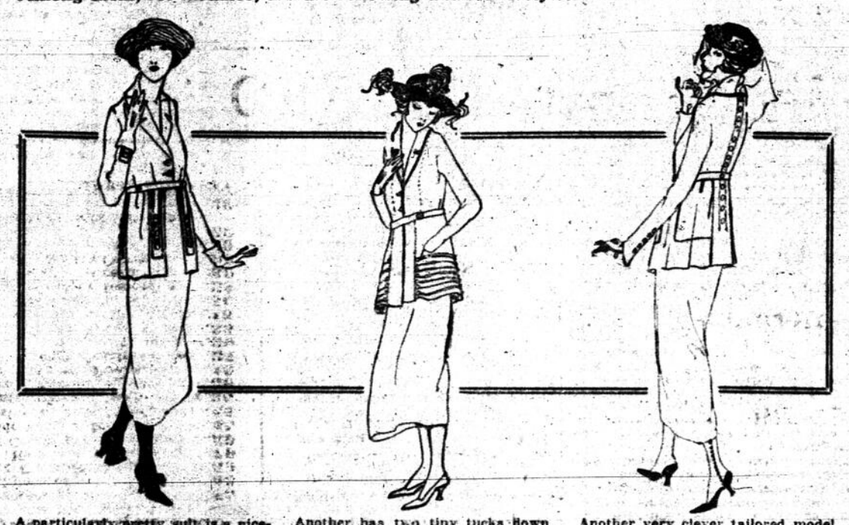
These are in several up-to-date styles, made of navy blue and black serges, with plain and fancy linings.

They are all belted models, some of them in short-waisted effect for the smaller woman or miss.

Buttons, silk braid, novelty pockets and over-collars of silk are some of the trimmings.

All are well-tailored suits of good quality serge.

Among them, for instance, are the following attractive styles.



A particularly pretty suit is a nicely-tailored belted model. The lower part of the coat is adorned with tabs of self-material, trimmed with silk in double panels and smoked pearl pockets. This effect also being carried out on the sleeves.

Another has two tiny tucks down the centre of the back, with a row of buttons between. The bottom of the coat is braided in cuff effect, round to the pockets. There are many buttons on the sleeves. A roll collar with an over-collar of white crepe.

Another very clever tailored model is one on which the only trimming consists of several rows of silk braid on the pockets. There is a tailored collar and revers down to bottom of coat bound with braid. A ribbon belt. The dull bone buttons are very effective on the navy blue.

We most earnestly recommend these very reasonably-priced suits. Price 39.75
