News in brief

Roads hazardous

The Sherbrooke office of the provincial roads department this morning issued a dangerous driving warning following yesterday's blizzard.

Three routes, 24, 28 and 34, in the Megantic area were reported still closed to traffic this morning. They are expected to be open by late this afternoon.

All other roads in the area are reported "passable", covered with snow and icy.

Demands canal

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—The United Nations Security Council appealed early today for an immediate cease-fire in the two-day clash between Panamanians and U.S. forces in the Panama Canal Zone.

The move came after Panama, charging U.S. forces with aggression, demanded that the Panama Canal be taken out of U.S. hands and either nationalized or placed under international control.

PCs saw planks

MONTREAL (CP)—The policy drafting committee of the Progressive Conservative party today tackled the hard core of its problem of writing a vote-attracting program for the next general election, whenever it may come.

The 21-member group, preparing for the Feb. 3-5 annual general meeting of the party expected to draw more than 3,000 delegates and guests to Ottawa, worked all day Friday without finding any ready-made solutions.

To cut RCAF

OTTAWA (CP)—The number of RCAF home defence squadrons, reduced to five from nine in 1961, will be cut further to three by mid-year.

Associate Defence Minister Carlin announced Friday the CF-101 Voodoo jet interceptor squadron at Ottawa will be disbanded March 31 and the squadron at North Bay June 30.

Carnival starts

QUEBEC (CP)—A Canadian winter can be fun and old Quebec City sets out to prove it once again when Bonhomme Carnival arrives tonight to get everybody in the mood for the Winter Carnival.

The beloved snowman this year will pop up at a 60-foot-high plywood birthday cake concocted by carnival workers to mark the 10th anniversary of the colorful festival.

Buys US wheat

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union today signed a contract to buy 1,000,000 tons of wheat in the United States, the news agency Tass reported in a broadcast monitored here.

Smoke report

WASHINGTON (AP)—The federal government makes public today its special advisory committee's findings on how smoking affects life and health.

The report was expected to link smoking to a number of ailments, including lung cancer and heart disease.

Irene at home

VANCOUVER (CP)—Irene Rebrin, for years alien in the country of her birth, is starting to feel at home in Canada.

"I like the scenery, the people and my work," says the blonde, China-born language teacher at the University of British Columbia.

Miss Rebrin, who has been under threat of deportation from Canada since 1959, has been granted status as a landed immigrant.

Haven in a presidential pocket

Canadian lumber unhindered

WASHINGTON—(TNS)—U.S.-Canadian relations got off to a good start this year.

As the bells were ringing the old year out, they were also ringing out Congressional Bill HR 2513 which would have been the first successful step in a protectionist campaign to keep out Canadian lumber.

President Lyndon Johnson killed the bill by a "pocket-veto"—which means, in effect, that he stuck the distasteful document in his pocket and did nothing about it for 10 days after Congress approved it.

So at midnight, December 31 it quietly passed out like the last guest at a party.

HR 2513 sounded harmless enough. It provided that imports like nails, which arrive in bulk and are repacked into little cardboard boxes, carry a stamp showing the country of origin.

In the Senate, Messrs. Jordan of Idaho and Magnuson of Washington hammered on an amendment to include "sawed lumber and wood products."

COSTS LESS

Up went the danger flag at the Canadian embassy. Ambassador Charles Ritchie put on his official frown and hurried to the State Department to protest. The British Columbia lumber lobby sprang into action.

For Canada suspected a plot American West Coast lumbermen have long tried to keep out Canadian West Coast softwood which is no better or worse but costs less.

Last February they were rebuffed by the U.S. Tariff Commission which saw no reason to impose tariffs or import quotas on the Canadian wood, or demand that it be marked "made in Canada."

An Indian child starves to death and officialdom explains failure

It is with foreboding that one sits down to a holiday dinner after reading a news item that an Indian child has starved to death on a reserve in northern Saskatchewan. There is little comfort in the professional quibbling of a medical examiner that the child may not have died of malnutrition, even if all the symptoms of starvation were present.

There is something chilling about the lack of public attention focused on the death of a child in Canada because he had no food. Especially when the child was a ward of the country, one of the more than 170,000 Indians on 2,239 reserves who are supposed to

So they went to Congress, seeking redress. More than 40 U.S. lumber lobby bills are now lying around the Senate and House of Representatives, none of which seems likely to get very far.

If only a handful became law, the use of Canadian lumber would be forbidden in all U.S. government construction or federally-backed housing.

ing, and each piece would have to be unpacked at the border and branded as foreign.

Nearly 80 per cent of Canada's lumber exports go to the U.S. and amount to one-seventh of all lumber used here.

Bill HR 2513 seemed like the breakthrough. On the surface it merely gave Canada the privilege of stamping huge maple leaves on its products.

This later became part of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (1947), an international sacred cow which can be kicked but not barbecued. Bill HR 2513 thus became the first test of President Johnson's sincerity towards the Kennedy ideal of freer world trade and his hopes of good relations with Canada.

Mr. Johnson came through for both.

He said this was not the time to raise new trade barriers and violate a long standing trade agreement with Canada when the U.S. was trying to improve relations with Canada. Also it would probably cause new price increases in U.S. construction.

Brezhnev, new Red Crown Prince

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Nikita Khrushchev has found himself a new Red Crown Prince. According to the Kremlinologists, his most likely successor will be Leonid Brezhnev, 57, president of the Soviet Union.

The question of how and to whom power would be transferred in the event of Khrushchev's death or retirement seems to have been under close scrutiny in Moscow since the assassination of President Kennedy.

The Soviet premier, 70, has hinted that he is not "immortal." "After all, I cannot hold the posts I now occupy in the party and the government forever," he told a workers conference in Moscow.

Beset by domestic economic troubles and the mounting conflict with Red China, Khrushchev is also reported to be suffering from fatigue.

But what guarantees does he have that the man he personally designated a heir apparent will actually succeed him?

Less than two hours after John F. Kennedy's death Vice President Lyndon Johnson was sworn in as President and acknowledged as the new leader of the United States.

Despite the historic tragedy, the constitutional process remained steadfast.

But orderly succession is not provided for in the Soviet constitution. The nature of the succession in the Red dictatorship is such that each new leader in the past has gained his power supremacy inside the Communist party apparatus after considerable intrigue, strife and blood-letting.

When Lenin died, Leon Trotsky was regarded as his logical successor. Yet it was the obscure and "mediocre" Stalin who outmaneuvered Trotsky.

1953, the most powerful men in Russia were Lavrenti Beria, chief of the secret police, Georgi Malenkov, secretary of the Communist party, and Vyacheslav Molotov, Lenin's close collaborator. Yet the unknown Khrushchev eventually outwitted them all.

Khrushchev once hinted in conversations with Western diplomats that he considered Frol Kozlov as his heir-apparent. But Kozlov disappeared from the Soviet political scene last April when he reportedly suffered a stroke.

To be sure, the "paralyzed" Kozlov was re-elected as a member of the all-powerful Presidium at the recent meeting of the Central Committee of the Russian Communist party. Specialists on Soviet affairs regard this unprecedented action as a clear indication that Kozlov, who is believed to be backing Red China's Mao Tse-tung against Khrushchev, has strong support in the Kremlin. His illness may be more political than physical.

In addition to Brezhnev and Kozlov, others in the party currently are fighting for power in the Kremlin. Prominent among them is Nikolai Podgorny, a Ukrainian like Khrushchev, Vasily Polakov, chief of the party's agricultural committee, and that old Stalinist, Mikhail Suslov.

The darkest horse of them all is Leonid Ilychev, a sinister-looking little man who is Khrushchev's top propagandist and ideological whip. He has been climbing steadily to the top in recent months.

Khrushchev might want Brezhnev to succeed him should he pass from the political scene in 1964. But his real successor is likely to be the man who will prove himself only after the passing of the Soviet premier.

This was, he drew out, a reduction of $500,000,000 under the current budget. This may be only one half of one per cent, but it sounds good.

It is also the smallest budget compared to the burgeoning gross national product since 1951. Since he entered the White House last Nov. 22, one of the blackest days in American history, Mr. Johnson has tried to follow the liberal policies of his mur-

LYNDON JOHNSON INTRODUCES THE BIG DEAL, TEXAS-STYLE

By GORDON DONALDSON

WASHINGTON—(TNS)—After the New Horizon—President Lyndon Johnson's 10-gallon hatful of hope for everybody.

The tall Texan's State of the Union message to Congress stirred applause from every corner of the House of Representatives' chamber, from liberal and conservative senators and congressmen, Supreme Court and cabinet members, from northerners and southerners.

Its foreign policy cadences aroused fresh hope abroad. The new President offered a substantial reduction in America's military budget and nuclear stockpiling and challenged the Soviet Union to do the same. The arms race, he intimated, is over.

This had been widely predicted for months, but Johnson finally whooped the defense spenders into the corral.

In a speech of 2,850 words, the shortest annual message in 30 years, he promised to honor John Kennedy's policies abroad, prune the budget at home, and use the savings to attack poverty in the U.S.

It was gigantic, Texas-sized production. Some who remember Johnson's early training in the Roosevelt New Deal years call it the Big Deal.

Senator Barry Goldwater who hopes to oppose Johnson for the presidency next fall said half-admiringly: "He out-Roosevelted Roosevelt, out-Kennedied Kennedy, and made Harry Truman look like a piker."

Johnson cut the ground from under the conservatives by promising economy in government—as much economy as the national economy can stand.

Senator Harry Byrd, the Virginia Democratic boss and foe of any kind of spending, was moved to congratulate him on cutting the budget deficit "from $10,000,000,000 to under $5,000,000,000, and trimming off waste."

Republicans who try constantly for less government and less of anything that costs a lot, were hard-pressed to fault his proposals. All that Everett Dirksen, the Republican leader in the Senate, could manage to say, was that the speech was impressive and "earnestly and very sincerely presented."

Lyndon Johnson cut the budget by more than anyone had dreamed. He got his proposal down from an anticipated $100,000,000,000 or more for the next fiscal year to a giant-economy sized $97,900,000,000.

This was, he drew out, a reduction of $500,000,000 under the current budget. This may be only one half of one per cent, but it sounds good.

It is also the smallest budget compared to the burgeoning gross national product since 1951. Since he entered the White House last Nov. 22, one of the blackest days in American history, Mr. Johnson has tried to follow the liberal policies of his mur-

Holy Land overlaps borders

Pope Paul's own miracle was an open gate

JERUSALEM, ISRAEL SECTOR—(TNS)—Pope Paul's visit to the Holy Land produced a miracle; it cracked the sealed border between Jordan and Israel.

For a 24-hour period the Mandelbaum Gate, the only opening to Jerusalem's two hostile sectors, took on the aspect of the Canadian-U.S. border at Fort Erie.

EASY CROSSING

Journalists crossed easily from Jordan into Israel and back again—an unheard-of procedure—simply by showing a press card. In old Jerusalem, Israel was no longer of in whispers.

The miracle was short-lived. Today border regulations, based on the Jordanian principle that Israel is occupied Palestine, are as tight as they ever were.

The day-long open border period was accomplished by pressure from newsmen who persuaded Jordanian officials that unless there was free opportunity to get the facts about the Pope's visit, its value for promoting Jordan as a mecca for pilgrims would be doubtful.

For the first time in 16 years—ever since the State of Israel was created—the two inimical neighbors had a taste of what it was like for information to travel freely across the border.

overlaps borders and if others are to follow the Pontiff's footsteps access restrictions based on political considerations cannot be too severe. Jordan will probably continue the requirement that the border be crossed only in one direction from its territory into Israel, but unofficially it may be more lenient in the future in making exceptions.

The old ban against Jews visiting Jordan will also hold although some non-Israeli Jewish newspapermen were allowed to cover the Pope's itinerary on both sides of the Mandelbaum Gate.

Inevitably because of the hostile atmosphere, politics and propaganda marred the Pontifical pilgrimage. Israel studiously adhered to Pope Paul's request to keep the visit religious in spirit. Jordan injected liberal doses of anti-Israel propaganda into the proceedings.

But in fairness to the Jordanians the problem of displaced refugees is not simply a political issue. They view it as a question of justice and compassion with relevance to a personage like Pope Paul whose essential interest is morality.

Inevitably too, rivalry developed in arrangements to keep the Papal tour running smoothly. The Jordanians tried hard but could not match the Israelis for efficiency.

In Israel the job of maintaining order and security was given the police who went about their business quietly and with a minimum of guns.

In Jordan the army took over. Sporting the latest sub-machine guns the soldiers looked smart but hadn't the least idea of how to handle crowds who broke through barriers confident that the weapons would not be used against them.

when your double will jeopardize the setting trick."

North and South would have had no trouble making four of five no-trump had they found their way into a no-trump contract, but they had a nice 4-4 spade fit and, after North raised spades, South contracted for game in that suit.

West thought he had four tricks against this spade game and his double resounded like a clap of thunder.

But it was not nearly as loud as his partner's cries of rage when South managed to wrap up the game.

West cashed his ace of diamonds and followed with the ace of hearts. Then he led a second heart and waited happily for what he thought would be two trump tricks.

Unfortunately for West the two trump tricks failed to develop.

South won the second heart with the ten and promptly led a low trump toward dummy.

West false-carded with the nine, but South was not fooled. He was going to play West for four trumps come rain or drought.

He played one of dummy's high hearts and held his breath anxiously while West followed.

Then he played dummy's queen of clubs, his own king and queen of diamonds and king of clubs.

West had to follow to all these tricks and now South led a low spade. West won with the ten, but had to lead away from him to give South his contract.

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Writers of television dramas during the last two seasons have been busily exploring problem adolescents—delinquents, gang members, narcotic addicts, thieves. Meanwhile, one television producer has been planning a series about bright, healthy and happy children.

The program called Science All Stars, begins Sunday on ABC (4:30-5 EST). Guests will include a 16-year-old Seattle boy who built a television camera for $40; a 13-year-old Chicago boy who constructs robots and an 11-year-old Brooklyn girl who made a two-foot model of a subway, complete with self-operating electric door.

Steve Carlin's own television and radio experience includes writing and producing such action shows as Gangbusters and Counterspy. He also was involved in some of broadcasting's most successful game shows, including Quiz Kids, and, unhappily, The $64,000 Question.

The science show had its beginnings when Sputnik I went up and Carlin, a serious-minded man, realized the importance of stimulating young Americans' interest in science. He spent two years travelling around the country attending science fairs and interviewing young exhibitors.

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Behind the limpid eyes of Yvette Mimieux lies a whim of iron. Her agents found that out this week. She fired them.

Her studio will soon discover it. She's going to ask for a new deal.

Yvette is shopping for agents, and the new team will have the assignment of adjusting her contract with MGM. It has only two more years to run, but the winsome blonde years to be free from the studio's exclusive control.

"Last year MGM presented me with six different scripts, and all of them were fantastic," she said. "I couldn't possibly do them, and I told the studio so. As far as I can see, there is nothing out there for me in the future. So why shouldn't I be free to take some of the attractive possibilities that come along on the outside."

MGM balked. With an eye to her freedom she is incorporating herself and plans to buy story properties which she could play. She has despaired of getting MGM to do the same. She discovered the novel Lilith and sent copies to studio bigwigs. Nothing happened. Robert Rossen snapped it up for Columbia.

Yvette's last two films have been for other companies—Diamond Head and Toys in the Attic. But she did return to the parent lot for a television show.

It was a surprise because the girl, on principle, has long held out against television.

"But it would be unrealistic to overlook the ability of television to reach a mass audience," she explained. "In one night on TV I can be seen by more people than would go to three hit movies."

So Yvette takes the plunge next week in a Dr. Kildare show, a two-parter. She plays a surfing enthusiast who refuses to give up her board even though a mild epilepsy attack makes it appear the sport would be dangerous for her.

High Times

HELLO AGAIN and welcome back to High Times and more high school chit chat after a two-week break for what I hope was a wonderful Christmas and New Year's.

Right into the thick of things . . . Sunnyside High School Red Cross is sponsoring a dance January 18 at the Rock Island School. The Record Hop begins at 8 p.m. and carries through to 11.30 p.m. Admission is 50 cents stag or 75 cents drag.

RED CROSS CONFERENCE — A Red Cross conference is to be held at North Hatley High School. Date set is February 7 according to NHHS correspondent Gloria Knapp.

YEARBOOK SALES — Time of the year has come for the selling of subscriptions to high school yearbooks. Hope all the recent grads of each high school will still continue to subscribe to their high school yearbook. It's fun to see how "things have changed since I left there." The Sherbrooke High School yearbook the Dumbel has been on sale since January 6. Each student must sell three books. In charge of circulation is Peggy Westerman and Wendy Christmas. The Dumbels will be printed and distributed in June.

HARD AT WORK on organizing their yearbook, Sunnyside High School students had individual, class and activity pictures taken at school January 22 for the Strobe. Here's an interesting bit about the Strobe I never knew before. Ever wonder what Strobe means? It is the letters of the three towns, ST for Stanstead; RO for Rock Island and BE for Beebe.

Students attending Sunnyside High School come from these three villages.

AUSTRALIAN PEN PAL — High Times is gradually becoming a clearing house for pen pals. A letter recently reached my desk from Mrs. P. M. Adams of Fitch Bay who is seeking a pen pal for a 15 year-old Australian girl. Mrs. Adams has sent a copy of the girl's letter and her address to The Record. If you would like to correspond with Janice Collins, Vennacher Street, Merriwa 3N, New South Wales I will be glad to forward her letter.

Janice is a third year high school student. She is a 1st class Guide now working for her Queen's Guide. Janice plans a nursing career.

Janice's letter is most interesting. She describes in detail her town Merriwa, which is an Aboriginal word meaning land of many trees. She has a wonderful account of her country and it's history and describes in detail her high school courses.

By SANDRA

GYM TRANSFORMATION — The student body, of Sherbrooke's St. Patrick High School were amazed, I hear, at the difference in their gymnasium when they returned to school after the Christmas holidays. During the 18-day holiday the Catholic School Commission renovated the stage and varnished the floor. Boundaries of basketball, badminton and volleyball were marked out on the floor. All the physical education equipment is now installed according to High Times correspondent Richard Wilson.

CHESS CLUB — Activities of the Sherbrooke High School Chess Club are in full swing under the direction of Ronald Holden. President, for 1964 is John Mawhood and vice president Dave Sinclair. Tournament chairman is Jessica Johnson.

EXAM TIME — Now that the holidays have ended the students at Sherbrooke's St. Patrick High School begin studying for their second set of examinations. The second quarter exams will begin January 15 and continue through to January 25.

A SOCIAL NIGHT — The Home and School Association of Princess Elizabeth High School, Magog, is sponsoring a social night January 17 at the school. Cards will be played in the library and dancing will be in the gymnasium. Activities begin at 8 p.m. Refreshments will be served. Everyone is welcome.

DEBATING CONTEST — Grades ten and eleven students at Cookshire High School are busy preparing material for debates according to correspondent Marilyn Fraser. Finalists will be chosen to make up a negative and an affirmative team to compete in the inter-high school debating contest at Bishop's University in February.

RED CROSS DANCE — The Cookshire High School Red Cross council is sponsoring a dance January 17 from 8 to 12 p.m. Admission is 35 cents stag and 50 cents drag.

HI-Y DANCE — There will be a Hi-Yi dance tonight at the YMCA on Dufferin Avenue beginning at 8 p.m. It is sponsored by the Hi-Y Club of Sherbrooke.

Grades one, two parlent Français

Emphasis on bilingualism in Quebec has resulted in the extension of conversational French instruction to grades one and two in all of Sherbrooke's English-speaking Protestant elementary schools.

First and second graders attending the Lawrence and Mitchell schools are now receiving French instruction five days a week in 20-minute classes.

Students at East Ward receive instruction twice a week, Wright W. Gibson, principal - superintendent of Sherbrooke Protestant Schools said Friday.

Until this year, French instruction was not introduced in the schools' course of studies until grade three.

The Sherbrooke Protestant School Board has hired a full-time language specialist, McGill graduate, Miss Mary Bourne.

Miss Bourne began her travels to the three schools in late November. Besides teaching conversational French, Miss Bourne is teaching classes in remedial French at the senior elementary level.

TENDERS FOR DEMOLITION

The City of Sherbrooke is calling tenders for the demolition of two houses on Terrill street.

Tenders will be received at the City Clerk's office on or before January 20th, 1964, at 4 p.m.

Contractors may obtain specifications and tender forms at the building inspector's office at the City Hall, 145 Wellington north, Sherbrooke.

The City of Sherbrooke does not bind itself to accept any of the tenders.

H. P. Emond,
City Clerk.

"With the trend towards bilingualism we are trying to make the children conscious of another language," said Mr. Gibson.

The Sherbrooke schools, said Mr. Gibson, are following the gradual trend such as in Montreal schools towards the introduction of French in the primary grades.

Mr. Gibson believes much of the credit in this new trend goes to the research and public pronouncements of Dr. Wilder Penfield, world renowned neurosurgeon.

Mr. Penfield has said that the younger a child is started on a language, the more likely he is to master it.

"A child enters first grade in his sixth year. He is introduced to several subjects and the first grade is a normal place to start teaching the French language," said Mr. Gibson.

While the first graders begin by learning nouns, small phrases and answering simple questions, Mr. Gibson said it is hoped that by building up a small vocabulary the children will be encouraged to play with French-speaking children.

Introduction of French at the grade one level, will not change the grade three course too much, said Mr. Gibson. "By the time they reach grade three, though, they should be enriched a little," he said.

Parents have indicated they are in favor of the early introduction to the French language, said Mr. Gibson.

At an age when the children are still learning the A.B.C.'s of the English language, Mr. Gibson said there is no confusion among the children in learning another language.

Weak batteries common

Faulty flash equipment can ruin pictures

Do you operate a flash attachment with your camera? Have you been having difficulty with your exposure? Faulty flash equipment will give you various degrees of underexposed negatives.

The cause can be one of many things. However the most common will be found in inefficient batteries.

The basic function of the flash is to be triggered by the shutter either internally or by other mechanical means when the shutter is fully opened to utilize the fullest amount of the flash bulb.

Shutter synchronization is so adjusted as to allow a 16 millisecond delay, in other words, to allow time for the flash bulb to reach its peak when the shutter is at its widest opening. Any change of this arrangement will surely lead to under exposed negatives and perhaps no picture at all.

In more cases than we would care to mention, the battery is the culprit. It is either too old, or has run down through use.

Quite often the first picture being taken with the flash will give a printable negative but, alas, on the second picture no flash goes off or if it does, much to your amazement there is no image on your negative.

This is caused by the battery operating in a weakened condition and increasing the 16 millisecond delay to a point where the shutter is already closing again or already shut. So it is worth while to know something about the different batteries available and their particular uses.

The first battery on the list is a zinc carbon. It is cheap, designed for intermittent use, and also has a short storage shelf life.

The next is manganese alkaline. This battery costs twice as much as zinc carbon but it lasts longer and it recharges fast after each flash.

It has a steel shell construction and shelf life is from eight months to two years under normal room temperatures.

Also there is the mercury battery which is the same price as the manganese alkaline. It has a long useful life in applications requiring a constant low drain, like light meters. It is not recommended for high drain required by flash or electric drive movie cameras. Its recuperation is good and shelf life is long.

Camera talk

There is also the nickel-cadmium battery. It costs four times as much as the manganese alkaline and mercury batteries. It is rechargeable but won't hold its charge for a long period of time. It works well over a wide temperature range and is used in electronic flash units, powers electric drive movie cameras, and various other electric driven equipment. Chemical names referred to in battery names are used in conjunction with other chemicals and the amount of these other chemicals changes the battery application for particular jobs.

So next time you're having difficulty with your flash equipment, first check all your connections with the flash cord.

Secondly, replace your batteries with those recommended for flash bulb use. This type of battery gives you the maximum power on a short fraction of a second and then recuperates for future use.

A little tip about flash bulbs. Wet the end of the bulb before inserting in the receptacle. This will assure a complete circuit.

FAULTY FLASH — Illustrated on the left is a prime example of your camera being out of synchronization. This can be caused by mechanical or battery failure. In most cases it is the battery. Firing the bulb too late is the main cause of under-exposure of your negative as you are using the light of the flash bulb before it has reached its peak. A simple remedy — a new battery.

Urges students at university to break away from conformity

"There is no better place than the university to make a fool of yourself."

This was the opinion of Tony Butler, a third year Arts student at Bishop's University, who was one of two students on a five man panel at the university's Education Seminar, Is Our University a Blind Guide?

The seminar was divided into three sections, each introduced by a professor on the panel and followed by general audience discussion. Dr. Gerald Vallières outlined the responsibilities of the university to the student, claiming provision for the pursuit of learning as its primary function. Many students felt that the university fails to provide the proper guidance that is essential in course and career selections.

Miss Marigold Fry, Professor of Philosophy, reasoned that the student has no obligation to himself, because the two cannot be divided. It was admitted, however, that the student owed it to himself to take advantage of the opportunity provided.

Miss Fry particularly criticised the feeling of many graduates that the world owes them a living, and spoke of developing the best potentialities within oneself.

Rev. J. D. F. Anido claimed that the student should desire and pursue the subjects he has chosen, relegating the desire to simply attain a degree to secondary importance. He urged all students to act themselves, be idealistic and more critical of the status quo.

Education Committee Chairwoman, Miss Jackie Evans, felt that the particular responsibility of the university was the encouragement of students to think for themselves. It was felt that this was an area where improvement would be welcome.

In his concluding remarks, panel chairman Ross Paul claimed that there should not be a need to schedule such an evening. Mr. Paul felt that the clash of ideas involved should instead be going on constantly at a university. He noted that those in the audience who had been bored could attribute only a portion of the blame to the panel.

"If you have found the evening dull, you must blame yourselves," he noted. "This seminar is intended only to provide a stimulus, and will not answer anyone's questions."

He thanked the many faculty members for their support, claiming that few other universities could boast such interest in student ideas by its professors.

Welfare judge is in hospital
Sherbrooke's Social Welfare Court Judge Roger Bouchard is still resting in Quebec's Hotel Dieu Hospital after undergoing a minor operation.

He will be back on the bench here February 8 officials reported today.

So next time you're having difficulty with your flash equipment, first check all your connections with the flash cord.

Secondly, replace your batteries with those recommended for flash bulb use. This type of battery gives you the maximum power on a short fraction of a second and then recuperates for future use.

Scouting and Cubbing

By KEN BARTLETT

The holiday lull in scouting activities will be broken this week and boys will be learning their knots as well as totting their school books. In the new year troops and packs will be taking stock of their programs and activities. One such troop and pack — the Third Sherbrooke are planning to move to a new home — the Mitchell School Auditorium. The obvious advantages are that it is closer to the boys' homes, and it is much more spacious. Those of us who have worked in halls cluttered up with iron posts can appreciate a room without them. It will seem strange at first not having two Scout groups at the foot of Montreal St., but we wish the "Third" well.

BULWER - BIRCHTON

The more rural troops quite naturally seem to do better at many out-door activities. The Bulwer-Birchton Troop, for instance, has distinguished itself in other years by its proficiency in marksmanship. Last week-end the Troop entered two teams in competition for the Burland Shield. This Trophy is an open competition for all scout troops in the Province of Quebec. The junior team was represented by Patrol Leader Robert Richardson and Scouts Donald Pickett, William Lackie and Brian Labere. The senior team was captained by Patrol Leader Donald Rothney with Scouts Leigh Grapes, Thomas Hall-sall and Clayton Lackie. Although the results will not be out until Jan. 15th we feel Skipper Labere and his boys will do well.

The Bulwer - Birchton Troop has also been busy passing swimming badges. The Scouts recently spent an evening at the Sherbrooke Y.M.C.A. Three of the group — Robert Richardson, William Lackie, and Clayton Lackie having satisfied the Examiner, David Wood that they could pass the Scout requirements were given their badge cards for swimming.

SCOUT MAGAZINE

Everyone in Scouting — mothers, fathers, boys are anxiously waiting for the first issue of the new Scout magazine — "Canadian Boy." Every registered boy in Canada gets one, and the publication date is Jan. 15th. It is interesting to note that the man who has most to do with this magazine is Executive Commissioner George N. Beers (Publications).

Before going to Ottawa as a professional Scouter, George Beers was a Scoutmaster.

NOTICE TO THE RESIDENTS OF LENNOXVILLE

Christmas Trees will be Picked Up,
Wednesday, January 15th.

Signed,

The Town of Lennoxville.

Asbestos winter works program underway

The winter works program is now under way and an estimated $87,520, will be spent on construction of sidewalks, sewer systems, a tennis court and park. Ninety per cent of the labor costs will be financed by the provincial and federal governments with the town paying the balance.

The sidewalks, costing $28,076 for a total distance of 13,850 feet will be constructed as follows: St. Edmond Street, 400 feet; Chasse Street, 480 feet; 5th Avenue, 1,300 feet; Webb Street, 400 feet; 5th Avenue, south side, 700 feet; St. Louis Street, 450 feet; Bergeron Street, 600 feet; Blvd. Morin, 1000 feet; Dupuis Street, 200 feet; Gagnon Street, 525 feet; Jutra Street, 400 feet; La-France Street, 950 feet; Morrill Street, 400 feet; Noel Street, 1,200 feet; Panneton Street, 950 feet; St. Jacques Street, 1,050 feet; St. Roch Street, 1,250 feet; 1st Avenue, 985 feet; 3rd Avenue, 485 feet.

SCOUTING AND

The roads department will open a section of St. Luc Blvd from Coulston Avenue in a northerly direction, to connect with Manville Street, in the east section, a distance of 1,400 feet. Cost of the project to level the ground and for fill and to gravel is estimated at $5,000. An additional amount of $2,800, will be spent to open 6th Avenue, to Blvd Morin, a distance of 655 feet with $500, being allocated to extend St. Roch Street to join Blvd. Olivier.

A new garage and municipal warehouse, 50 by 100 feet, costing $6,500, is now under construction on Blvd. St. Luc at the intersection of St. Jacques.

Several years ago we remember going to Ottawa and being genially shown around Dominion Headquarters by our good friend, George Beers. We understand, that in order to assure success in the publication field, one has to have a hard core of professional people. In the case of the "Canadian Boy" it is not a magazine run by amateurs. We hope it is as successful as it promises to be—since there is a need for it.

Special service bulletin for Mutual Life policyholders

More good news for policyholders... your Mutual Life dividends are increased again!

This year Mutual Life policyholders will again share in a substantial dividend increase—the ninth in the last eleven years. This means another reduction in the already low cost of Mutual Life insurance.

In 1964, dividends paid to owners of individual policies will total $16.5 million—an increase of $1,350,000 over the amount paid in 1963! If you are leaving your dividends with the company to accumulate at interest, the rate paid in 1964 will be 4.9 per cent, increased from 4.75 per cent.

Mutual Life of Canada policyholders are accustomed to big dividends. If you are not a policyholder, there's a Mutual Life representative nearby who will gladly tell you about life insurance at low cost from the company with the outstanding dividend record.

QCR fares reduced

Effective January 14, 1964 the Quebec Central has announced substantial reduction in passenger fares between Sherbrooke and Quebec, also from all points on the Quebec Central operations to Sherbrooke and Quebec.

The new low fares will be good to start journeys on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays and will be limited to return at any time on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays of the same week. These fares are intended to encourage travel to the larger centres for business purposes, etc., in the middle of the week when there is ample accommodation available, thus relieving the more crowded conditions that sometimes occur by the concentration of travel on weekends.

Tickets will be interchangeable on Quebec Central trains and buses and the cost will reflect the present one-way rail fare plus 25% for the round trip. They represent approximately only the cost of gasoline for the operation of a private automobile for the same distance and compare very favourably with the Red, White and Blue and Faresaver Plans now in effect on other railroads.

In addition, the Quebec Central is retaining its former weekend fares between all points good going from Friday and returning up until Monday, which are lower than regular fares and compare favourably with fares in effect over competing lines.

This means that when travelling via Quebec Central the public can enjoy reduced fares on any day of the week where round trips are made on the same day to Sherbrooke and Quebec or where the return trip is made within short limits of two, three or four days. In cases of longer stays standard or regular fares will apply.

As nice a solution as this is, it is a long-range one. Bold new moves, such as schools that will teach Indians trades and skills, and legislation that would compel employers to hire them as apprentices, help only the youth. For the older generation, there must be a holding action, one that will not ease their present plight but will enable them to make some advances during the period of change.

The immediate problem is that the Indians need help: the kind that will show them how they can make better use of their land, how they can adapt themselves to get work in the industries pushing the frontier backwards, and how they can improve their still all too prevalent primitive living conditions.

PEACE CORPS?
Why not a Peace Corps of dedicated Canadians who would surrender part of their affluence to try to pass on the benefits of their skills, talents and education to a people long neglected and forgotten. Canada is still seeking a national memorial for John F. Kennedy, an idealist who in the last months of his life was channeling the idea of his Peace Corps not only to the underdeveloped nations but to the poverty-stricken of his own land.

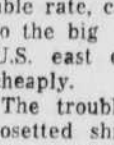

Instead of a study that will underline what thinking people already know, why not a Canadian Peace Corps where the talented and the dedicated would be given the opportunity to help the Indians rise from their plight.

Sooner or later we will have to do it anyway. The advances of medicine mean that fewer Indian children die at birth or in infancy, and that fewer adults succumb to disease in middle age. The reserves are already bulging from a population explosion and already the treks are under way to the big cities and a life of economic misery for unskilled, uneducated and untrained people in the urban slums.

For those who bemoan a lack of national purpose for young Canadians, such a Peace Corps directed toward the Indian problem might well be a beginning of a sense of national dedication.

And it just might happen that we all may find out in academic terms just why it was that a child, supposed to be cared for and protected by Government from cradle to grave, happened to starve to death at Christmastime 1963.

Sentence for 3 are suspended
Three Sherbrooke teenagers arrested last week in a small foreign stolen car were given suspended sentences in Sherbrooke. Social Welfare Court yesterday and returned home.

The three, all first offenders, will be kept under the surveillance of Social Welfare Court officers.

All are pupils in Sherbrooke schools.

Varied supporting roles in Lenn'ville production
From the young man about town who overcame the reluctance of the debutante in last year's Lenn'ville Players production to a retired schoolmaster living on his memories in the transition facing Robin Allen in Separate Tables, the groups forthcoming production.

In voice and attitude Mr. Allen is working up a consistent performance in one of the many supporting roles in this play.

His former opposite number, Diana Glass who played the debutante, finds himself in love in the first episode of this year's play, and married in the second to a student who tries desperately to pursue his medical studies in spite of the interruptions of life in a seaside hotel. This part is played by John Clifton, last seen on the local stage as a dashing naval officer in 'The Middle Watch'.

Dorothy Hewson, who gave a memorable performance as a medium in 'Blithe Spirit' several years ago, reappears as a sweet and mindless old lady, and with Janet Angrave, playing a spinster who plays the horses, adds variety to the register of hotel guests.

The most dynamic of the supporting roles is played by Jane Clifton, another veteran of last year's play. Here she portrays a supremely snobbish and selfish widow who tries to impose her will not only upon her daughter, but upon all the other guests. She meets opposition in the manageress of the hotel, who watches over her varied guests like a guardian angel, and quietly but firmly guides their lives for them.

The manageress is played by Eileen Dollin, who has had four starring roles with the Lenn'ville Players.

The play is directed by Edna Perry, and produced by Lewis Evans. It will be performed on the B.C.S. stage on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, Jan. 30 and 31, and Feb. 1, on behalf of the Lenn'ville Wing of the Sherbrooke Hospital Ladies' Auxiliary.

Health clinics are scheduled
The Sherbrooke Health Clinic will immunize children against diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus and poliomyelitis and will vaccinate against smallpox at two clinics to be held in Sherbrooke and Lenn'ville next week.

The clinics will be held on Wednesday, January 15 at the Lenn'ville United Church and Thursday, January 16 at St. Peter's Church from 2:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m.

dered predecessor in which he sincerely believed.

He retains his own advantages as a southerner, a driving force in the Senate and the man of the wide open spaces. His first message to Congress was undoubtedly his own. The ringing point and counterpoint phrases ("We intend to bury none and we do not intend to be buried")—"We shall neither act as aggressors nor tolerate acts of aggression"—bore the mark of Kennedy's speech writer Ted Sorensen.

But the speech, which was to have been released to the press 26 hours before delivery, was held up for a day while LBJ added his own style.

He declared war on poverty in the U.S. He will use money saved on defense to help the 22,000,000 "forgotten Americans" who live "on the outskirts of hope."

Lyndon Johnson began that drive Wednesday.

He came out foursquare for civil rights for the Negro. He demanded an end to "not some but all racial discrimination" as far as federal power permitted.

QCR fares reduced

Effective January 14, 1964 the Quebec Central has announced substantial reduction in passenger fares between Sherbrooke and Quebec, also from all points on the Quebec Central operations to Sherbrooke and Quebec.

The new low fares will be good to start journeys on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays and will be limited to return at any time on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays of the same week. These fares are intended to encourage travel to the larger centres for business purposes, etc., in the middle of the week when there is ample accommodation available, thus relieving the more crowded conditions that sometimes occur by the concentration of travel on weekends.

It will be the teachers who will take the notes — filling out Department evaluation questionnaires — primarily concerned with student reaction.

"A follow-up on the program will be held in the classroom afterwards," said Mr. Gibson.

The Sherbrooke Board first heard of the program through a Department circular in October and again at a workshop held for area teachers at Mitchell School in November. At that time a session on audio-visual aids was presented by John Gaw of Quebec City, director of Audio-Visual Quebec Department of Education.

Christian Science Churches Will Hold Communion Services
On Sunday, January 12

Communion services will be held Sunday in Christian Science churches throughout the world. This is a semi-annual occasion at which, in many of the branches of The Mother Church, new members are formally received. Among the special observances followed by all the churches are when the First Reader reads the Church Tenets in their entirety, and when the congregation kneels in silent communion—the only occasion on which kneeling forms a part of a Christian Science church service.

In the reading of the week's Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Sacrament," emphasis will be laid upon the inability of ritual and ceremony to take the place of obedience, humility, and spiritual understanding.

SANGSTER MEMORIAL U.C.W.

Church on February 14.

The congregational annual meeting will be held in the church hall, on January 27, preceded by a Pot Luck Supper.

A social afternoon will be held in the Church Hall Tuesday, January 15 at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Currie was assisted at the lunch hour by Mrs. S. Sjoden and Mrs. F. Taboika.

The next meeting will be held in the church hall, on February 3, at which time, Mrs. J. Hall will show slides taken on a recent trip to Europe.

Mrs. F. Gelinas, chairman of nominating committee presented the following slate of officers for the ensuing year.

Honorary president, Mrs. C. M. Currie; president, Mrs. R. Larrabee; first vice-president, Mrs. E. Morel; second vice-president, Mrs. M. MacCoubrey; treasurer, Mrs. J. Hoskin and secretary, Mrs. A. Noble.

Dr. C. M. Currie then conducted the installation of these officers, speaking of the importance of the U.C.W. to the church and commending the members on their achievements.

The president, thanked the members for their support and for the work accomplished during the year. Two new members were welcomed to the U.C.W.

Conveners were appointed to the various committees and plans made for forthcoming activities. The possibility of holding meetings once a month, instead of every two weeks was discussed and it was decided to try this for six months. Meetings to be held the first Wednesday of each month.

The president announced the World Day of Prayer service to be held in the Baptist

For and about Women

Personals

Mr. Byron Labonte has returned to La Macaza, Que., after spending the holiday season at the home of his mother, Mrs. Nora Labonte, Queen Street, Lennoxville.

Rev. David Fearon has returned to Labrador City after having spent the New Year holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fearon, Sand Hill.

Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hamilton Bacon, of Pointe Claire, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Ellen Adelaide, to Mr. Thomas Andrew Reisner, of Quebec, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Tibor Reisner, of Montreal. The marriage has been arranged to take place in June.

Tea and bridge

The ladies of the Sherbrooke Curling Club will be holding the first tea and bridge of the season, in the club room, on Tuesday, January 14 and the convener will be Mrs. E. L. Edney.

Hostesses for the afternoon are: Mrs. R. Gosselin, Mrs. K. Giff, Mrs. O. Goyette, Mrs. E. Hall, Mrs. L. Edmond, Mrs. L. Forest, Mrs. H. Fowles, Mrs. M. Erskine and Miss N. Duncan.

Pouring tea during the afternoon are: Mrs. W. L. R. Stewart, Mrs. D. Arnett, Mrs. W. Lavallee and Mrs. B. Phelan.

FIT FOR A QUEEN — This strapless, slim-fitting gown, designed by Quebec couturier Jean Fortin, will be worn by the queen of Quebec's Winter Carnival, which begins January 23. The gown is of antique white nylon matelasse and fans out at the back to suggest a brief train. It will be worn with a back-buttoned sleeveless bolero of white satin, embroidered with gold bugle beads and sequins in a stylized leaf pattern. (CP Photo)

Food Tips

Hearty winter meals and summer salads alike bloom with the mild, sweet flavour and rich colour of this important member of the capsicum family.

Paprika has the advantage over most other spices of adding both flavour and colour to any dish. And because its flavour is so mild it can be used lavishly to add colour to cream soups and sauces, baked potatoes and other vegetables and, most important of all, to bring out the succulent juiciness of fried or broiled chicken or fish.

Marriages

Payne-McKelvey

ST. CATHARINES, ONT.—The marriage of Sara Alma, of St. Catharines, Ont., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. McKelvey, of Cherry River, to Irwin Payne, of St. Catharines, Ont., son of the late Mrs. M. Payne, of St. Catharines, Ont., took place on December 14, 1963, at 2:30 o'clock, in the Westminster United Church, St. Catharines, Ont. Rev. E. Ashley officiated at the double ring ceremony. Christmas garlands and trees were used to decorate the church and the guest pews were marked with white satin bows.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a hand-clipped Chantilly lace dress, highlighted at the neckline and on the skirt with iridescent sequins, the fitted basque bodice having a sabrina neckline and long sleeves.

The sides of the bouffant skirt were fashioned with six scalloped flounces, and a panel of tulle at the back, fell into a cathedral train. She wore a Queen's crown of crystals, which held her four-tier illusion veil in place.

Over her dress she wore a fox fur stole. Her only jewellery was a diamond pendant, a gift of the groom. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Mrs. Robert Whitcomb, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and wore a street-length dress of gold peau de soie, the bodice being fashioned with a scooped neckline and elbow length sleeves, the skirt being bell-shaped, trimmed with small bows. She carried a bouquet of gold and white chrysanthemums.

Miss Janice Misener, was bridesmaid and Miss Crystal Whitcomb, niece of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. They wore turquoise dresses, styled identical to that of the matron of honor and carried bouquets of turquoise and white mums. All attendants wore crowns with circular veils and white fox fur stoles.

Mr. A. L. McKelvey, brother of the bride, acted as best man and the usher was Mr. Donald Nichols.

The bride's mother was attired in a grey wool dress with black and white accessories. Her corsage was of pink and white carnations.

Following the ceremony, the reception was held at the Colonial Room, the bride's table being centered with the three-tier wedding cake. Christmas candles completed the decor.

Later the couple left for a tour of Ontario, the bride wearing for travelling, a three-piece blue suit, with black and white accessories. She wore a corsage of red roses.

Guests were from Cherry River, Magog, Sherbrooke and Toronto, Ont.

The couple are residing at 24 Queenston Street, St. Catharines, Ont.

Glovely!

Never underestimate the power of a pair of clean white gloves. Many a woman has found that they help to open doors both social and business. They also lift the spirits of the wearer by making an old costume feel and look new.

MUSIC ON RECORDS

By HUGH DOHERTY

FOR THOSE with an ear for the modern and the obscure, two new releases will be of interest.

SHOSTAKOVICH: Symphony No. 4: The Philadelphia Orchestra, Eugene Ormandy cond. (COLUMBIA stereo MS 6459) — Although written in 1935, this symphony was never performed until 1961. According to some sources, this was because the work aroused such hostility among the members of the orchestra that the composer himself withdrew it. However, according to the liner notes, Stalin was displeased with Shostakovich's more radical music, and the symphony was withdrawn more for political than for musical reasons. Whatever the true story, this is the work's first recording on this continent. The listener who knows Shostakovich will find the symphony much more modern in flavor than most of his other symphonies. Indeed, compared with some of the composer's later works, the Fourth is avant garde, even though it is, strictly speaking, a mixture of the traditional and the progressive. In view of Shostakovich's career in Russia, this may be his most honest symphony.

THE MUSIC OF ARNOLD SCHOENBERG (Volume Two); Verklarte Nacht, Pelleas and Melisande, Three little orchestra pieces, Variations for Orchestra, Prelude to the Genesis Suite; The CBC Symphony Orchestra, Robert Craft cond. (COLUMBIA two stereo discs M 2 S 694) — Except for Verklarte Nacht and Pelleas and Melisande, the works on this album are examples of the twelve-note technique, pioneered by Schoenberg.

For this reason, the average listener will find himself bewildered and perhaps irritated by the unfamiliar noises the twelve-note system produces. To help him, a booklet of notes is included with the album. They are comprehensive notes of a fairly technical nature. No one who is not a student of music will find them of much value. It is of particular interest that Canada's CBC orchestra has been chosen to perform these works. Our national group appears to be highly regarded in modern music circles. A year or so ago, it will be remembered, Stravinsky remarked on how well the CBC orchestra performed his works, and many recordings bore this out.

Canadian Artistic Dies, Inc., of Sherbrooke, is executing a centennial medal for the province of Prince Edward Island to commemorate the first Conference on Confederation, which was held in Charlottetown in 1864, and which led to the confederation of Canada in 1867.

While Prince Edward Island did not enter into confederation until 1873, it has the distinction of being the birthplace of the Confederation of Canada, having been host to the First Conference.

The obverse of the medal depicts the new Fathers of Confederation Building and the adjoining old Provincial Building, with a bordering inscription, PROVIDENCE BEING THEIR GUIDE THEY BUILT BETTER THAN THEY KNEW.

The representation of the new building complex was decided on for the medal as it is being built by the people of Canada as a national monument to Confederation.

It will house a memorial theatre, art gallery, museum and library. It is now being erected in Charlottetown and will be officially opened on September 1st, 1964, the centenary of the First Conference.

In the centre of the reverse, on a clear field, is the intriguing Centennial Symbol of the Province, with a border inscription, CENTENNIAL OF FIRST CONFEDERATION CONFERENCE OF CANADA, and a tiny radiate maple leaf.

It is 1 1/4" in diameter and will be struck in several metals.

The school children of the province will receive the medal in aluminum. An unlimited quantity in bronze will be available to the public at $1.00.

There will be a limited striking of 5000 in sterling silver, which will sell at $5.00, and a few in 10K gold at $50.00.

Orders for medals, accompanied by cheque or money order, should be addressed to Prince Edward Island Centennial Committee, P.O. Box 2000, Charlottetown, P.E.I.

The Killilea family

Love, hope, laughter make tragedy easier

WITH LOVE FROM KAREN by Marie Killilea, Prentice-Hall of Canada, 371 Pages, $6.00.

This is a family book. It is a warm and moving account of the ups and downs of the Killilea family over a period of some six or seven years. "With Love From Karen" was written, actually, as a response to the twenty-seven thousand letters from around the world that Mrs. Killilea received following the publication of "Karen." In this earlier book, she presented her young daughter, Karen, a victim of cerebral palsy, to the world and thus became the recipient of thousands of letters of admiration and encouragement as well as appeals for help and instruction. Seeing the utter impossibility of answering twenty-seven thousand letters, Mrs. Killilea has chosen this way of expressing her own appreciation, that of her daughter and entire family. She has opened the doors of the rambling Victorian house on Long Island Sound and permitted us to bask in the warmth and the gaiety so prevalent in her home. She, herself, is a most delightful person to know as is Jimmy, her wise and gentle husband. We renew our friendship with the gallant teen-age Karen and come to know Gloria, a daughter adopted when she was fifteen, Marie, Rory and the enchanting late addition, Kiratin Killilea.

Mrs. Killilea includes us in every intimate family problem and they are legion. We see how often humor comes to her rescue when disaster threatens. The book is written with love and hope. Karen's disease is only one side of this new story. We are deeply concerned with Gloria's romance and its long delayed fulfillment because of religious difficulties. We watch the winsome Marie mature and marry; Rory embark on the very beginning of a stage career and we are thrilled by the fact that, at forty-three, Mrs. Killilea gives birth to the beloved and much wanted Kirstin. There is so much love and laughter in the book that it bubbles over and makes the moments of tragedy and heartbreak more bearable. There are many amusing occasions. With Jean Kerr ("Please Don't Eat The Daisies") and her family as close next door neighbors, life could hardly fail to produce some hilarious moments. One really enters into this world of the Killilea family and becomes part of the hectic disorder of that huge old house, overrun with friends, relatives, children, dogs, cats and birds.

It is a book for the whole family to read together. Each child might more truly appreciate the blessing of a perfect limb and a sound body.

By
GLADYS
TAYLOR

Some time ago I wrote a column on what I called the bread-butter-and-jam type of novel—that is, the kind of book which goes into endless detail, either for the purpose of making a minor novel look major or to add the realism believed by many writers to be implicit in an unending parade of intimate particulars.

However my more recent novel reading has reminded me that despite the number of books being written in this style there are also a good many being written in what Enda Ferber in her latest autobiography, A KIND OF MAGIC, calls the 'me-go or early Indian - peace - pipe-grunt' school of writing.

My most recent exposure to the skeletal type of writing which Miss Reber has so aptly described has been in the books, HUNGRY HILLS reviewed on this page last week and SIR WILLIAM reviewed this week.

The authors of these two books, Canadian George Ryga and American, David Staction are essentially as unlike in style as their books are in content, but they do have one thing in common. An economy of words which infuriates while it intrigues, frustrates while it fascinates, and in the end leaves the reader wailing, "What happened?" To put it bluntly, their books don't end—they straggle off.

It seems to be indigenous to this type of writing that the characters are always left in much the same indefinable situations as they were when the reader met them. Seldom is anything solved, only changed. Books of this kind always remind me of a conversation struck up between strangers on a train. It begins with no past and usually ends with no future.

However, despite its limitations, this type of writing is popular with both readers and writers. It is popular with readers for, I think, two reasons. First, because it is so fast-paced it drags the reader along in spite of himself. And second because its stark, yet striking phraseology, has an oddly vitalizing effect. For instance in this type of book instead of spelling out the details of "that parked car in the lane" or giving the reason for "that startled exchange of glances in the hotel lobby," the author gives the reader a delightful opportunity to fill out his own version of what took place on those occasions.

As I've said, it has a vitalizing—maybe even rejuvenating effect! "Me-go" writing is popular with writers for somewhat the inverse of the above reasons. (I might add that I suspect this style is particularly popular with lazy writers!)

First, because it obviously saves the writer a lot of sit-at-the-typewriter time if he can get the reader to do his work for him—namely the filling out of those details about the parked car and the startled exchange of glances. Second because it saves the author a lot of plotting and the working out of a credible sequence of events if by his sparse style he can race the reader through the book so fast that he doesn't stop to ask what the plot is or whether the things the author said did happen, actually could happen.

Nonetheless, limited and tricky, as I may suspect this type of writing to be, it is, as I have conceded, very popular and therefore not something I would dissuade other writers from emulating. All I would suggest to potential devotees of this style is that they'd be a lot more popular with me if they'd hold a pow-wow, on the subject of their "me-go or early Indian-peace-pipe-grunt" kind of books and try to come up with at least a few Honest Injun "story-with-an-ending" volumes as well.

THE HEROINE IS GLUTTONISH BUT THE GOSSIP TITILLATES

SIR WILLIAM by David Staction, 352 pp., PUTNAM & COMPANY.

If you saw the movie LADY HAMILTON and loved it, don't read this book. They are as different as pickles and angel food cake.

The book SIR WILLIAM, as might be guessed from the title, is a cuckolded husband's-eye view of the Lady Hamilton and Lord Nelson liaison. But contrary to what might be expected, Sir William viewed the situation neither with bitterness nor alarm but with a distinctly fatherly attitude. He even managed a vaguely grandfatherly feeling for Horatia, the illicit result of this union.

As a novel, SIR WILLIAM is as untrue to the expected norm as Sir William Hamilton was to the expected betrayed husband image. The heroine, if Lady Hamilton can be called that, is revealed as being gluttonish, eventually very fat, seldom loverish either as wife or mistress and almost completely don't-care-ish as a mother. Lord Horatio Nelson proves to be as unromantic and unrewarding a husband-substitute as any woman might wish she hadn't betrayed her mate for. In short no fiction writer would ever try to pen a novel about such an unprepossessing trio.

To be exact David Staction hasn't either. Using those three only as his pivot point he has written what might far more truly be called an extended gossip-column of the period than a novel. However don't let this gossip-column aspect deter you. So adroitly has Mr. Staction worked in so many details about the art, literature, music, morals and manners of the time that the book would be fascinating without the admittedly titillating Sir William - Emma - Horatio triangle.

SIR WILLIAM is amusing, satiric and urbane. Excellent post-Christmas reading.

OF SPIES AND STRATAGEMS by Stanley Lovell, 191 pages, Prentice Hall.

Stanley P. Lovell is a chemist and holds over 70 U.S. and foreign patents; he was director of research and development for the office of strategic services, Washington, D.C., during the Second World War and is credited with inventing many of the weapons used during the war; his services were rewarded by his receiving the Presidential Medal for Merit with Citation in 1948. In OF SPIES AND STRATAGEMS, Mr. Lovell reveals what went on behind the scenes during those hectic days, revelations he promised to keep for twenty years. He tells of his experiences in the field of strategic operation, including his association with "The greatest intelligence system in the world . . . the British Secret Intelligence Service, called 'Broadway' . . . founded by Sir Francis Walsingham, one of the first Queen Elizabeth's courtiers, in 1557." The author, being himself a man of exceptional ability and courage, neither falsely modest nor arrogantly immodest, recognizes ability and courage in others and gives credit where credit is due.

Because of the nature of his work he was nicknamed Moriarty, after Sherlock Holmes' famous antagonist, and it proved a very apt one. For Mr. Lovell was an ingenious, inventive and, when needs be, ruthless adversary. Yet the book is written in an entertaining and lively manner, the underlying drama all the more evident because it is not belaboured.

Mr. Lovell's story covers such divergent fields as an attempted assassination of Churchill and Roosevelt; the turning of a Nazi spy into a British knight; an interview with Goering two days before his death; a Top Secret weapon put on public display at Washington's Hyde Park Museum; bitter, feuding within the Strategic Services; and nonsense signs on London's blitzed street stalls. He tells how Churchill almost gave up the war but instead shouted out the words that formed the nucleus of the greatest speech of our time; and he writes of an interview he had with the German philosopher Oswald Spengler, in 1934. At that time Mr. Spengler told the author that there would be a war in 1939 which would settle nothing and that there would be a Third World War in 1964.

OF SPIES AND STRATAGEMS is a book to make the merely curious thoughtful.

Canada Council called miserly to literature

OTTAWA — (CP) — H. R. Percy, editor of the Canadian Author and Bookman, accused the Canada Council Tuesday night of leaning unduly towards the academic in its support of Canadian letters.

He told an Ottawa branch meeting of the Canadian Authors' Association that no doubt the council "is simply playing safe" but this is one field in which timidity and excessive prudence can only defeat all endeavor.

"The patronage must be bold, positive, and as imaginative as the work it would beget," he said. "Some way must be found—and found soon—to underwrite the creation, as well as to facilitate the study, of works of Canadian literature."

The Author and Bookman is the publication of the Canadian Authors' Association. Mr. Percy said one thing in 1963 that did not make for rejoicing among the writers of Canada "was the shabbiness of their treatment by the Canada Council."

WHEN ALL IS SAID AND DONE

Claudia's creator tells her tale

WHEN ALL IS SAID AND DONE, An autobiography by Rose Franken, Doubleday, 397 Pp., $6.95.

Rose Franken's world-famous novels are woven around the lives of simple people who might be the family you live just over the way, yet they are acceptable, and have been for years, to even the sophisticated and literary. When she was urged by her publishers to write of her experiences she explained: "I have never been blessed, or damned by a great urge to write, nor do I have any illusion that people are panting to hear about the not too eventful things that have happened to me in the past half-century." This, we consider, is making light of her successes as well as her difficulties and is typical of the modesty and wholesomeness of a remarkable woman of great talent and ability.

Rose Franken married early in life. Her first husband, Dr. Franken, was encouraging and inspiring, and was with her in London when one of her plays, "Outrageous Fortune" was played before Queen Mary. He died, leaving her with three boys. The period of her anxiety when he was ill with tuberculosis is a story in itself. Happily, she remarried, and Bill Meloney, a man of like interests and ability went on from where Dr. Franken had left off as a pillar of strength to her in her work and varied interests. Together they became a writing team.

Rose Franken has many books to her credit. Women readers, for years, bought Red Book Magazine to find out what was happening to Claudia and David. Her Claudia books are, perhaps, the best known of her works, but her plays were distinctive and popular and were acceptable to New York and Hollywood.

Now, somewhere near sixty-five years of age, Miss Franken has been forced by her doctors to slow down. She and her husband have a log cabin in a spot in the country beloved by them and here have retired.

There are a number of photographs in the book, showing Miss Franken, her family and friends. She is very attractive but her autobiography has drawn a more vivid and effective picture, portraying, as it does, the thoughts, dreams and philosophy of a remarkable wife and mother.

One of the signs of greatness is the ability to laugh at ourselves. This story bubbles with wit and humour. Rose Franken could never be serious about anything, even her greatest achievement, the creation of one of the classical characters of American literature.

A JEW RETURNS TO TORONTO

IN RETURN: THE AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF SIGMUND SAMUEL, University of Toronto Press, $4.50.

Sigmund Samuel, on whom Toronto lavished honor, found it to be "one of the most quietly bigoted cities in Europe or America."

It was not anti-Semitism of which he complained; he rarely uses the word in these memoirs. He speaks of prejudice, and therein lies the key to this industrialist-philanthropist-art collector's harsh judgment of the place where he was born.

He therefore did not identify himself with the Jews as a people but with the Jews as co-religionists only. His friends and interests were mostly non-Jewish.

He emulated the conduct of members of the English Establishment, seeking acceptance by the proper social clubs, trying for a seat in the British parliament, ordering a family coat of arms, developing an interest in universal art with just the right stress on the cultural treasures of his native country.

He considered himself a gentleman in the Anglo-Saxon tradition and the social equal of the so-called upper classes, as indeed he was.

All this made social barriers, when he encountered them, harder for him to bear than for most Jews, who can fall back on group loyalty.

This is not to say that Samuel had no devotion to his religion. On the contrary he wore it like a badge.

But he took little pride in the creation of the state of Israel, which has straightened the backs of other Jews and rendered exclusion from local social clubs a matter of minor importance.

Still Dr. Samuel loved Toronto and left an indelible imprint on it. His Canadiana Gallery, the Royal Ontario Museum, the University of Toronto library, Western Hospital all bear witness to his largesse.

Pierre Radisson's trip and ordeal with Indians becomes vivid Canadiana

RUNNER OF THE WOODS, by C. T. Ritchie, Macmillan, pp. 160, $2.50.

On a spring morning nearly three hundred years ago, Pierre Radisson and two young companions left the village of Three Rivers on a hunting trip; to bring back to the new settlement a much needed supply of fresh meat. The wide St. Lawrence River gleamed on their left. Ahead of them, the woods stretched eighty miles to Ville Marie on Mount Royal Island. . . .

All three walked into a greater adventure; two never to return and Pierre to a Mohawk encampment. Under severe tests the young man's courage won the unwilling approval of his captors; he was adopted into a family on the expectation that he would eventually avenge the death of their youngest son. "The rest was up to Pierre, who must learn to think, speak, and behave like a true Mohawk. Otherwise he must die like any other captive." How he faced up to the fearful conditions is a tale of thrilling excitement, engrossing interest and re-created terror. Kindness, love and protection are barely tolerated.

The story comes vividly alive through the imagination and skill of C. T. Ritchie. Detailed research substantiates Pierre's exploits in RUNNER OF THE WOODS; a worthy addition to the series Great Stories of Canada; and William Wheeler's illustrations enrich this true story of experience with the Iroquois.

The United States Post Office Department has announced that commemorative stamps will be issued this year for the New York World's Fair and to mark anniversaries in Nevada and New Jersey. Four new stamps had previously been announced, these will commemorate the Battle of the Wilderness in the Civil War Centennial series, the frontier artist Charles M. Russell, naturalist John Muir and the U.S. Customs Bureau, the latter will be a postal card. The World's Fair stamp will be issued in Flushing, New York on April 22, the opening day of the fair. The Nevada stamp will commemorate 100 years of Statehood and the New Jersey issue the 300th Anniversary of the English acquisition of that area.

Stamps commemorating major fairs or expositions are a postal tradition dating back to the World's Columbian Exposition of 1893 in Chicago when a series of sixteen stamps on the theme of Columbus discovering America were issued.

Nevada, the Silver State, is at the present time enjoying a population explosion and the number of residents has trebled in the last twenty years but, in spite of this, the total number of people is still only 285,000. When Nevada entered the Union as the 36th State in 1864 the population was 25,000. The name Nevada is Spanish for "snow-capped" and refers to the mountains on the western border.

The New Jersey stamp has reference to the gift of New Jersey and New York areas by Charles II to his brother the Duke of York although at the time the land was occupied by the Dutch. The Duke decided that the New York State area was sufficient for him and so he transferred New Jersey to two court favourites, John, Lord Berkeley and Sir George Carteret. These two men named the area New Jersey in preference to New Caesarea and did so in token to the Island of Jersey which Carteret had defended during the Parliamentary Wars. It is interesting to note that there were a total of 9,966,543 First Day Covers serviced by the United States Post Office Department during 1963. Total sales at the Philatelic Bureau to stamp collectors was $2,870,584.10.

Stamps collectors will find many times that they have some attractive stamps from Lower Canada called Bill Stamps. These do have a philatelic connection to the hobby. The following is an extract from a directive issued by H. L. Langevin, Postmaster General on February 12, 1867 at Ottawa: "Postmasters entrusted with the sale of Bill, Law, or Registration Stamps (stamps to be used in Lower Canada in paying fees of Deeds, etc. in Registry Offices) are required to be careful to keep their accounts and remittances connected with such sales, and the application for further supplies, entirely distinct from their accounts, remittances and applications in connection with Postage Revenue, Postage Stamps, or Money Order business."

The same directive also offers an explanation to that mysterious marking found on many old letters and covers "When a letter is posted at an office after the despatch of the Mail for which it was intended, but on the same day, the postmaster should mark it opposite the postmark, either by stamp or with pen and ink - "Too Late" - to show that the letter was posted too late for the Mail of the day of which it bears the postmark."

Togo will issue a new definitive set of stamps this month and the designs are said to be really good. The stamps will be printed in multi-colour photogravure by the Government Printers of the State of Israel. Ghana will issue stamps during 1964 for the "International Quiet Sun Years", the U.P.U. Congress, the Olympic Games and Unesco Week and will also commemorate the first anniversary of the signing of the Addis Ababa Charter.

The set of stamps to be issued this month by Jamaica featuring Miss World, Carole Joan Crawford, has caused a great stir in philatelic circles. The young lady is certainly attractive and surely a Queen among beauties but the issue of such a set from the Crown Agents has caused much comment. The Crown Agents do not, of course, decide the type of stamps a country will issue, nor do they plan the values, they merely market the stamps through an approved list of dealers throughout the world. The Governments of the various colonies and countries do all the planning. The set from Jamaica will rank among the more beautiful sets of the year and will enhance any collection. The values will be 3d, 1/ and 1/6.

Where do babies come from?

WHERE DO BABIES COME FROM? by Denis Huisman and Jane Bastid, Dobson, $1.95.

This straightforward book will be appreciated by those parents who don't quite know how to begin a lecture on the facts of life. They are all here, and well explained in twelve one or two page "lessons."

The text is simple enough to be understood by a five-year-old, yet contains enough information to satisfy a ten-year-old. There are no digressions on birds, bees, and life in general, which can be discouraging to children looking for simple and specific answers.

It is illustrated by excellent line drawings, diagrams and photographs.

NANCY KAVANAGH

SUPPLEMENT TIME

This is the time of year when the album manufacturers issue the supplements for the year just passed. The Washington Press makers of the famous WHITE ACE line of pages will have their supplements on the market very soon — order your needs now and then you will be able to mount your stamps — supplements will be available for Canada, Vatican, United States, Ghana, Israel, United Nations, Japan and Ryukus among others.

BLACK HAWKS DOMINATE NHL ALL-STAR TEAM

As was expected the Chicago Black Hawks dominated the National Hockey League All-Star team for the first half of the current season. They placed four members with the Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs splitting the other two spots on the squad.

The Hawks, holders of first place through most of the first half of the season, placed two more on the second team while the Leafs had three nominated and the Red Wings and Canadiens one each. There was a tie between Toronto's Frank Mahovlich and Dave Balon of Montreal for the left wing spot on the team.

The first-team players receive $500 while the second squad pick up $250 apiece for being named. At the end of the season the players will receive another similar amount for their efforts.

Bobby Hull of Chicago was the only player to receive a unanimous poll, gaining all 90 points. Glenn Hall and Pierre Pilote each picked up 88 while Jean Beliveau received 82, Tim Horton 80, and Ken Wharham 76. All won by comfortable margins over their rivals on the second team. Stan Mikita was the high man on the second squad with 60 points.

These squads are similar to the ones picked in the AP Poll a week ago. The first squad is the same but the second is a little different. The NHL has Bower, Vasko, Bann, Mikita, Howe with Mahovlich and Balon tied. The AP had Charlie Hodge, Al Macneil, Vasko, Mikita, Andy Bathgate and Dave Balon.

The funny thing about it all is the big difference between the winners and the runners-up on the second squad. Jean Beliveau polled 82 points while Mikita picked up only 60. A big difference between the two.

Our National Hockey team has already made their first appearance in Europe by knocking over a West German squad 9-5. It was their first game on the tour before taking part in the Olympic Games at Innsbruck, Austria.

The Olympics may surprise a lot of people before everything is over. So far in the special CAHA tournament they did very well considering they were supposed to be a pushover for the Czechs and Swedes and they more than held their own.

We think maybe Father David Bauer held his charges back a little in order not to give the visitors any idea of what they can expect when the chips are down. A member of the team stated that they were told to play conservative hockey and not display anything outstanding. It looks as though Father Bauer has been playing a little game of possum with our visitors.

From now on we imagine they will be doing the same thing in their pre-game warm-ups but when they meet in Innsbruck Jan. 29. It will be a little different. It will be interesting to follow and see how things will turn out.

The Eastern Townships District British Consols playdowns ended in a two-way tie following the six-game round-robin series. Pete Cross of Sherbrooke and Les Gartschore of Danville will now meet for the right to move into the Provincial playdowns next month.

The two rinks finished with identical results, 5-and-1, to lead their rivals. Commencing tomorrow afternoon at the Sherbrooke Club the two rinks will open a best-of-three affair with the second game slated in Danville next Sunday and if a third game is necessary it will be played on neutral ice in Windsor.

Skip Cross and his young rink may not be in the class of the more veteraned curlers but they will certainly put up a good fight before it is over. Ernie Taylor, leads for the group, while Ash Lathrop, Bob Dwyer comprise the foursome. Les Gartschore has Claude Thibault, R. Beliveau and R. Dugre which gives him plenty of all-around experience. Anyway it should be a good series. They are slated to play at 2 p.m.

The annual Sherbrooke Curling Club Bonspiel ends this evening when the finalists square off at 8 p.m. in all three trophies. The boys have been tossing all week and a few of the favored rinks have fallen by the wayside.

The semi-finals are booked this afternoon while in the evening the finals will be played. There has been plenty of curling around this week and since last night it has been do-or-die for all rinks. So today some good curling should be witnessed. The general public is invited to take in the matches today.

Congratulations are in order to Mrs. A. W. Kerridge and her Sherbrooke rink for sweeping the Silver "D" Section A playdowns of Zone 4 they will now meet Section B winners for the right to advance into the Provincial Silver "D" playoffs.

Mrs. Kerridge with Mrs. D. McGregor, Mrs. G. Delisle and Mrs. F. J. Sangster won all three games in the event. It was supposed to be a double round-robin but the executive of the Provincial group ruled against it ordering only a single.

Fishing permits for anglers in Quebec will be valid henceforth from April 1 to March 31 of the following year, announced Lionel Bertrand, Minister of Tourism, Game and Fishing Department. Previously they were valid from Jan. 1 to Dec. 31. The change will apply to permits issued in 1963, making them valid until next March 31. This should meet with the approval of fishermen.

Stan Fox president and manager of the Windsor Bulldogs, was suspended by the CAHA for "conduct detrimental to the good of hockey as a representative of a Canadian team overseas." Fox figures it was because he borrowed an extra $500 and refused to play unless he received it but we understand that there are other reasons.

It seems that the Bulldogs forgot where and who they were and did things which reflected on Canada and it is for this reason that Fox has been suspended. When you represent Canada overseas you just don't do what you feel like. You must be on good behaviour at all times.

Molson's win, tie for first place in ETABA

Molson's Independents remain tied for first place in the E.T.A.B.A., as they squeezed out a 48-40 victory over the winless Lennoxville Grads in a game played at University of Sherbrooke.

The Christmas Holiday lay-off hurt both clubs as play was ragged and missed baskets the order of the night. None the less, the closeness of the score kept the game exciting and the issue was in doubt to the end.

Independents led at half time 20-17 only to lose their early in the third quarter as the Grads took over for a five minute stretch. Molson's caught up and forged ahead as time ran out, to rack up their fourth win against one loss.

The return of Doug Sullivan to the Lennoxville lineup strengthened the Grads attack as he and Merl Harvey each with 11 followed by Bruce Coulter and Clem Chapple with 8 each. Scoring was very evenly distributed with almost all of the players of both clubs hitting the tally sheet.

MOLSON'S INDEPENDENTS: G. Smith 11, B. Coulter 8, C. Chapple 8, J. Ouellette 7, D. Patridge 6, C. Bishop 6, J. Silver 2, B. MacGibbon. Total 48.

LENNOXVILLE GRADS: M. Harvey 12, D. Sullivan 12, D. Crosby 6, V. Horsemann 4, R. Rene 4, H. Chapman 2, D. Little, B. Bowers. Total 40.

British to use new rule for boxing pros

LONDON (AP) — The British boxing board of control ruled Friday that a boxer stopped in any British professional bout will be automatically suspended for 21 days.

The new rule tightens up the old regulation under which a boxer knocked out or stopped was suspended until given a medical clearance.

Zimmerman wins giant slalom, Canucks down

WENGEN, Switzerland (AP) — World champion Egon Zimmerman, a 24-year-old Austrian hotel chef, easily won the first giant slalom race of the Laubhorn Ski Tournament Friday as fog and a snow drizzle contributed to a disappointing performance by the U.S. Olympic team.

They failed to place in the first five.

Zimmerman, wearing yellow goggles that helped him see through the thick fog on the upper part of the course on a 7,000-foot high glacier at the foot of Elger Mountain, made a time of 1:19.8 minutes.

He won by nearly a second from his countryman Karl Schranz, whose time was 1:20.8. The 3,200-foot course had 51 gates and a drop of 1,000 feet.

Zimmerman's performance confirmed him as a top contender for the giant slalom gold medal at the Winter Olympics at Innsbruck, Austria, starting Jan. 29. He won the world giant slalom title at Chamonix, France, in 1962, while Schranz won the combined world championship.

The name of other Canadian scorers was not immediately available.

The Canadians drew four two-minute penalties during the game, the Germans none.

Bower out tonight, Bruins at Toronto

Lesson for future big-league week before that Detroit were hockey players: If you want to keep your job, don't be kind to the opposition.

Johnny Bower, veteran Toronto Maple Leaf goalie, could have been trying tonight for his fourth straight Saturday-night shutout at Maple Leaf Gardens.

Instead, he'll be watching alternate goalie Don Simmons work against Boston Bruins, because Bower made the unforgivable mistake of worrying about a fallen opponent.

According to an official announcement from the Leafs, Bower will be resting a bruised hand. But it's no secret to those who watched Thursday's practice session that the ancient reminder stomped off in a huff after being rebuked by manager-coach Punch Imlach.

Imlach told Bower his job was strictly stopping shots, not worrying about the condition of opposing National Hockey League forwards who happen to crash into the boards near Bower's cage.

IMLACH ANNOYED — After Montreal Canadiens winger John Ferguson made such a dive Wednesday night, Bower annoyed Imlach by leaving his post to inquire whether Ferguson was injured. Imlach's attitude is: Let them fall where they will. Bower disagreed. Bower is benched.

While the second-place Leafs entertain the Bruins tonight, fourth-place Detroit Red Wings, who beat league-leading Chicago 5-3 in Detroit Thursday night, will take on the Black Hawks again in Chicago.

Sunday night the Leafs go to Boston, Montreal will be at Chicago and surging New York Rangers will test their four-game winning streak at Detroit. Thursday the Rangers defeated the Bruins 5-3.

Simmons will have to be sharp tonight to keep the Leafs' Saturday-night record intact. A week ago Bower shutout the Hawks 3-0. The Saturday before that Boston fell 2-0 and a

Pete Herman has gloves Dempsey used to fight Jess Willard and says they definitely were not loaded

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Pete Herman, one-time world bantamweight champion, claims he has the gloves Jack Dempsey used when he won the heavy-weight title from Jess Willard in 1919—and says they definitely were not loaded for the controversial fight.

The 67-year-old Herman spoke out Friday to challenge the memoirs of the late Jack (Doc) Kearns, Dempsey's manager in 1919. Kearns' story of the historic bout in Toledo, in a copyrighted article in Sports Illustrated magazine, says the manager used plaster of paris and water in bandaging Dempsey's hands.

But Herman disclaims the story, using as evidence the gloves, which he says he had for 20 years.

"A seaman, I can't even remember his name now, gave them to me 20 or 25 years ago," Herman said. "He was a very close friend of Dempsey and also a friend of mine."

"He knew how close Jack and I were so he promised them to me. I had to wait a long time to get them even after this guy promised them to me, but he finally came across with them."

The Sports Illustrated story said Kearns absolved Dempsey of any knowledge of the event. Dempsey denied everything, even after his death.

Asbestos Pee Wees to play Victoriaville

ASBESTOS — Asbestos Pee Wee team, which was formed this season will play an exhibition game here Sunday afternoon, January 12, at 2:30 p.m. in the Recreation Centre, against Victoriaville.

The club is entered in the International tournament to be played in Quebec City in February.

Financial problems confronted the young group at the start and by public appeal the team is gradually getting a footing.

Alfred Lafamme, president of the Eastern Transport Limited, who is honorary president of the club, equipped each of the sixteen players with sweaters, pants and jackets. The Aramis association donated $60 to supply protective helmets for the players.

The line-up for Sunday's game is Andre Patry, goal, with Robert Godbout, spare; defence, Serge Frechette, Serge Campagna, Paul Dion and Gaetan Turgeon; forwards, Serge Charron, Jean-Guy Bachand, Andre Corriveau, Laurent Vienne, Daniel Boisvert, Real Desfosse, Rock Desfosse, Yves Patry, Michel Lecompte and Pierre Corbeil.

A small admittance charge will be collected to help defray the costs of operations.

Four inches not enough say officials

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP) — Innsbruck had its first snow in six weeks Friday but not enough that officials could call off emergency preparations for the Winter Olympics which start Jan. 29.

About four inches of snow fell overnight in nearby areas where the Olympic Alpine and Nordic ski events are to be staged. The snow then stopped, though there were relatively heavy falls elsewhere in Austria and the weekend forecast called for more snow.

Austrian army emergency crews continued packing the Olympic downhill, slalom and giant slalom runs in the Lizum valley southwest of here. The tracks have a coating of ice after being squirted with water by firemen.

Leafs complete trade with Rochester club

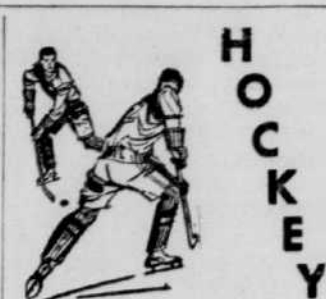

TORONTO (CP) — General manager Frank Pollock of Toronto Maple Leafs baseball club Friday announced the trade of shortstop Ted Kazanski for third baseman Ossie Virgil, 30, of Rochester Red Wings.

He also announced the purchase of Bill Kern, a 31-year-old outfielder from Portland of the Pacific Coast League.

Kazanski, 29, who has spent the past two seasons with Toronto of the International League, batted .267 last season, with 15 home runs and 57 runs batted in.

Last year was Virgil's finest of his 11-year career. He had a batting average of .307 with 11 home runs and 75 runs batted in.

Sherman will start Charley Johnson of St. Louis Cardinals at quarterback, with Norman

Odds against East team in Pro Bowl game change with Gifford

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The odds against the East team in Sunday's National Football League Pro Bowl game rose a trifle Friday as Frank Gifford of New York Giants arrived.

He'll take over Buddy Dial's position at flanker back.

Dial, recently swapped from Pittsburgh to Dallas, sprained his knee in a pre-game workout and was sent home Thursday, leaving a crucial vacancy on the East squad.

Promoters put in a call to Gifford. They caught him golfing at Bakersfield, Calif., his hometown. It's only about 100 miles north of Los Angeles.

"All I need is a hat and a pair of shoes," said Gifford, who has played in six previous Pro Bowl games.

He started drilling with Allie Sherman's team Friday in what, for most players, was the last full workout.

Gifford's reputation as a clutch player probably kept the West's edge as favorite from rising even more. The Westerners are the choice by a touch-down.

Sherman, coach of the Giants, said he was glad to have his flanker star.

"I had hoped the coaches might pick Gifford earlier," he said. "He was our money player and he won three important games for us."

Gifford will wear Dial's number, 84, but Washington's Bobby Mitchell will take Dial's place in the starting lineup.

Sherman will start Charley Johnson of St. Louis Cardinals at quarterback, with Norman

Beavers seek second win tomorrow at home to Gauls; Rockets move to Granby hoping for a repeat success

St. Hyacinthe Gauls will be the visiting team here tomorrow afternoon when the Beavers will be out to try and post their second win on their home ice. In their last outing before their home town fans the Dube clan rallied to post a 4-3 overtime victory over the Drummondville Rockets.

In the other tilt on the agenda Coach Bobby Pepin and his Rockets will move over to Granby to tangle with the front-running Vics. On their last visit to Granby the Rockets eked out a close 4-3 victory and will be gunning to reduce the margin the Bedard crew holds over them.

Coach Gilles Dube will be after a win over the Gauls and so far this year on their home ice the Beavers have been lucky against St. Hyacinthe.

Coach Savary has a couple of new players on his squad since their last appearance which should make a difference.

The Beavers, last Sunday in St. Hyacinthe, pulled a surprise when they held the Gauls to a 4-4 deadlock. Sherbrooke held the upper hand in that game and the home club was forced to come from behind to earn the tie.

The Beavers of late have been rolling along in fine gear. They are still a sort of off-and-on again outfit coming up with some very good games at different times. Of late they have commenced to click better and with Gilles Picard on the blue-line they have added extra strength.

The game in Granby should be a tough one as both clubs will be gunning for a win. The Vics will be out to protect their slim three-point lead while the Rockets will be trying to reduce that margin. The top goalies of the league will be facing each other.

In Sherbrooke the top scorers of the league will be facing each other with Guy Black and Rene Pepin in action. Black has massed a total of 34 points
