A Terrific Gale Raging--Several Vessels Aground

Storm Has Been in Progress for Past Four Days from English Channel, Along Atlantic, to Bay of Biscay--Shows No Signs of Abating--Unidentified Freight Steamer Breaking Up Near Cape Gris Nez, Across English Channel from Dover, and There Seems Little Hope of Saving Crew--Only Four Men Out of Crew of Eighteen Were Rescued from Stranded Spanish Steamer--Storm Is General Throughout France.

(Associated Press Despatch)

PARIS, February 27.—Several steamers are aground from Dunkirk on the Strait of Dover to Biarritz on the Bay of Biscay, and many others today were sending out wireless calls for assistance in the terrific westerly gales which have been raging from the English Channel, along the Atlantic, to the Bay of Biscay, for the past four days, and this morning were showing no signs of abating.

An unidentified freight steamer is breaking up near Cape Gris Nez, across the English Channel from Dover, and there seems to be little hope of saving the crew.

Only four men out of a crew of eighteen were rescued from the stranded Spanish steamer Christina Rueda, near La Rochelle. This loss, together with the drowning of seven members of the life-saving station, whose boat capsized on Wednesday as it was putting out to the Christina Rueda, brings the loss of life at La Rochelle to twenty-one.

The Brest and Cherbourg roads are filled with craft of all kinds which are taking refuge from the storm.

The Lorient wireless station picked up yesterday afternoon distress signals from the Italian steamer Citta Di Elena, the Pelagia, a vessel of Greek registry, and another ship, the name of which could not be deciphered by the wireless operator. All three vessels were foundering in the heavy sea between the Ushant Light and the Bay of Biscay.

The storm is general throughout France. All telephone and telegraph communication between Paris and Brest is interrupted.

A tidal wave yesterday struck Sein Island, twenty-eight miles off Brest. The breakwater was demolished and all the houses in the lower part of the island were ruined. Hundreds of persons are homeless. No relief can be sent to the island as no boat would be able to live in the high seas that are running.

The Canadian Pacific offices this afternoon confirmed despatches from Rochester, Ireland, to the effect that the liner Mont Laurier was aground near here. Officials of the company said they understood the ship was on the beach, but there was no danger.

IRISH FAMINE STORY AT FIRST HAND

"No Food for the Pot; No Turf for the Fire; While the Black Rain Washes Potatoes From the Ground and the Wee Children Are Cryin'."

BY MILTON BRONNER

GALWAY, Feb. 25.—Hungry sits down at table as an unwelcome and bitterly feared guest and Cold keeps him company in thousands of cabin homes today in western Ireland.

That is what a partial potato crop failure and peat shortage mean for Galway and Donegal and Kerry and Mayo.

Here I am up against the real thing in this 1925 dearth in Ireland. Listen to the talk of Mrs. Bartley Connelly—out this way they pronounce it—"Kon-neely"—as she tells in curious sing-song English how it came about:

"And the black rain fell. All day and every day. All spring it fell, and all summer and all the rest of the year. Always the rain, the full roar of it. Sorrow and sorrow's sorrow. The potatoes were washed away or rotted. And the turf melted away with the wetness. No food for the pot. No turf for the fire. Emptiness and blackness in the house. And the children cryin' because of the hunger and the cold."

The people here always have been divided from acute suffering by a hair-line. Plenty they never know. Congestion is beyond belief. Centuries ago when Ireland was a conquered country the natives were driven from the fat lands of the east and found final refuge in the west which tempted nobody.

The Connelly cabin is the usual shanty of this coast—stone walls, badly thatched roof, one room 20 by 10 feet. The one door stands open so light can penetrate. The floor is the bare, rocky earth. The whole family and the chickens—when they have them—and the dog—and the pig—live in this shelter.

Mrs. Connelly tells me her man is away working on a neighboring and bigger farm. He gets a job there two days a week, and his total earnings are four shillings, about a dollar. With this, and the potatoes he can raise, the turf he can dry and the fish he can catch, Bartley Connelly, 45, must support himself, his wife and his eight children. Also, for this wretched place he calls home he must pay 18 shillings a year rental.

The housewife—with never a word of complaint or of cadding—invites the visitors within. On the hearth two pieces of turf flame feebly, emitting their acid smoke. In the corner I see a bundle of rags. They move. They are children cuddling against each other in a vain search for a little warmth.

The woes of the whole west Ireland famine region are written in the face of this sad and frightened little boy, found near Galway. Note the petticoat he is wearing and the feet bare in winter time.

They are Michael, 2, and Thomas, 3, and they are dressed in petticoats as are so many boys in this section, even those as old as 14. Over Connelly way, Mrs. Connelly says, people are worse off. Their fires are out.

Farms in this section consist of little postage stamp patches of land between rocks, boulders and bogs carefully fertilized with rotting seaweed. When the saints are favorable the cabin dwellers have potatoes, bread and fish for food and are kept warm by the turf fires on their hearths. But this year, nothing has been good. And although so far into an extensive trip up and down the western counties of Ireland I have not heard of a single authenticated case of death from starvation or from typhus fever, famine, accompanying plague, I have marveled that the people survive the hardship of their lives.

Light laughter is rare. Sadness is stamped on their faces and, especially in their eyes.

The present trouble has been a test of the Irish Free State government. Fairness requires that it be stated that the government has risen well to the occasion. Last December, foreseeing what was coming, the government allocated $500,000 for relief funds and relief work.

Over 6000 tons of coal are being shipped to the places where there is a peat shortage. It is sold at six pence (10 cents) a hundredweight. Wood for fires is also being sent in by the government. Seed potatoes for the next crop are being distributed. Eighteen thousand school children are being given a daily midday meal of bread, margarine and cocoa. Doctors are out in the districts to see that there is no epidemic, and so far they have been successful.

The relief work being done is mostly in the shape of road building which is thus a permanent asset to the country. Hundreds of men are thus being given employment at useful work, enabling them to tide their families over until the spring comes.

I talked with many parish priests up and down the coast and in many cases I got this message for charitable America:

"Send us shoes! Our own government is taking care of the people as regards food and fuel. But to clothe the bare feet of the women and children is not so easy. Send us shoes!"

St. Jean Baptiste Day Will In Future Be Legal Holiday In This Province--Measure Passed In House Without Any Opposition

Many Municipal Councils Endorsed Bill—Ernest Tetreau in Presenting Bill Stated that June 24, St. Jean Baptiste Day, Is the French-Canadians' National Holiday.

(Associated Press Despatch)

QUEBEC, Que., February 27.—June 24th, St. Jean Baptiste Day, is to be a legal holiday in the Province of Quebec in future. This decision was reached in the Legislative Assembly yesterday by an unanimous vote. Mr. Tetreau, who is Opposition member for Dorion, was given the entire field to himself, no one else speaking on the subject.

The preamble to the bill states that "whereas the province of Quebec is the cradle of French civilization in America and, since the time of the discovery of the country, has always been and still is the home of French Canadians; whereas, who form the immense majority therein, enjoy not only the widest political freedom but together with their historic rights possess special civil rights and in particular retain their own French laws; whereas, from the standpoint of their collectivity, dignity requires that their national festival, St. John the Baptist's Day, the date whereof is the 24th of June, be declared a holiday."

Mr. Tetreau said that since he had brought in the bill there had been a spontaneous response in favor of the bill, municipal council after municipal council, including those of Montreal and Quebec, having endorsed the idea, and many organizations had done likewise, and he calculated that the measure was supported by 1,200,000 French-Canadians. There had been no discordant note raised from any authorized source, the minority in the province being content. There had been talk that a similar measure would be asked for by other nationalities, but while he respected the other races in the provinces, and had no wish to diminish their importance, and remembered that, in dark days men of other races had aided the French-Canadians, the fact remained that the French-Canadians had been settled here for 150 years. There was no corner of the country not sprinkled with the blood of the pioneers, settlers and priests, and it was due to the hardy immigrants from Brittany and Normandy who had braved the Indian perils, the climate and the rigors of a new land that the country had been opened up. All strong races had their nation days, said Mr. Tetreau. The English had St. George's Day, the Irish St. Patrick's Day and the Scottish had St. Andrew's Day and these days made these races turn back to other countries to which they looked as home.

French National Holiday. French-Canadians liked France, and showed it in keeping the language, religion and customs of France, but were exclusively Canadian attached to British institutions, and the 14th of July, the French national holiday, did not mean to French-Canadians what St. George's Day, St. Patrick's Day and St. Andrew's Day did to the people of the English, Irish and Scottish races. "Our national day is June 24th," declared Mr. Tetreau.

He recalled that Pitt, in dividing Canada in 1791 into Lower and Upper Canada, had intended that Lower Canada should have opportunity for free development of a French people with French characteristics. The bill was given second reading, put through the House in committee and then given third reading. Opposition was strongly manifested against the measure introduced by Edouard Hamel, of Portneuf, reducing the qualifications necessary for municipal councillors. As the bill was reported to the House from the municipal code committee, the only change to the code was to the effect that municipal councillors need only be able to sign their names and read print, instead of, at present, being obliged to read and write fluently. Mr. Hamel did not see why more should be expected educationally from a municipal councillor than from a member of the Legislative Council. (Continued on Page 10.)

EXTENDS TO WOMEN SAME RIGHTS TO DIVORCE AS HELD BY MEN IN COURTS OF WESTERN PROVINCES

Bill, Sponsored by Joseph Shaw, Independent Member for Calgary West, Was Carried on Division in the House of Commons Yesterday by a Vote of 109 to 69 and Given Second Reading—C. A. Fournier Protested Against Measure, Claiming that It Was Not Right for Parliament to Pass Divorce Bill.

(Associated Press Despatch)

OTTAWA, Ont., February 27.—When the House of Commons goes into session again this afternoon the proposed distribution of the canteen fund will be taken up.

Yesterday, in the House of Commons, a bill sponsored by Joseph T. Shaw, Independent member for Calgary West, to extend to women the same rights to divorce as already held by men in the courts of the four western provinces, was carried on division of 109 to 69, and given second reading.

MEASURE CONDEMNED BY QUEBEC MEMBER—CLAIMED IT IS NOT RIGHT FOR PARLIAMENT TO PASS DIVORCE BILL

Mr. Shaw pointed out that Ontario and Quebec were the only provinces in the Dominion of Canada whose courts did not have the power to grant divorce. This right, however, existed in all the other provinces by reason of the fact that such power existed in them prior to joining Confederation.

In the three maritime provinces, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, the specified grounds for divorce were the same for the husband as for the wife. But in the four western provinces, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, it was easier for the husband to obtain a divorce than for his spouse, by reason of the fact that when these various provinces entered Confederation the divorce law governing was that which prevailed in England, in 1858 in some cases, and 1870 in the others.

The Parliament of Canada could grant divorce on any grounds it saw fit, although certain practices had grown up. The wife must prove in the western courts, not only adultery but desertion for three years, "without reasonable excuse." This last phrase gave great leeway to a scapegrace husband. Mr. Shaw explained that his motion was simply a matter of doing justice to the women of the four western provinces, by placing them on an equality with men in the eyes of the divorce courts. Persons with strong religious convictions, which led them to oppose divorce, could scarcely deny the right of equality of women in the matter.

Another Suggestion.

A. D. Beaubien (Progressive, Provencher) suggested that it might be advisable to equalize the law by putting man on an equal with woman, so that he would have to prove cruelty.

Mr. Shaw quoted at length from a statement made by the British Columbia member for the equality of relationship of men and women before the law.

In closing, Mr. Shaw stated that he had received resolutions from hundreds of women's organizations supporting his proposal. It had also been endorsed by a number of men's organizations in the west.

Protested Against Bill.

C. A. Fournier (Liberal, Belchasse) protested against the bill as involving a principle to which he was strongly opposed. "Of what sin are we guilty that we have to face this divorce evil at the present session?" asked Mr. Fournier. Divorce was contrary to all authority, to the law of nature, to the moral law, and to religion. Divorce resulted in broken hearts, ruined homes and injured children, he persisted.

"It is right for Parliament to pass a divorce bill under any circumstances?" asked J. S. Woodsworth (Labor, Winnipeg Centre). "No," replied Mr. Fournier.

"I am protesting now," retorted Mr. Fournier. He went on to say that the granting of divorce today had reached the point of comedy. If not of farce. It constituted the greatest menace to our institutions, of which the home was the foundation. If a married couple had made a mistake they should suffer for the good of humanity. Marriages were made too easily, and the fact that many of them were entered into without the sanction of the Church lowered the standard of the contract.

"Where are the Dominion Alliance, the Anti-Cigarette League, the Anti-Betting League, the Methodist Alliance, the Women's Christian Association, the Referendum Committee and other organizations?"

PROTEST GERRYMANDER BILL.

(Associated Press Despatch) INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 27.—The Indiana Democratic Senators who fled into Ohio, tying up business in the upper branch of the State Legislature in protest against attempts to pass a Gerry-mander Bill, arrived here at one-ten this morning after an uneventful trip from Dayton.

BIG CONVENT AT L'AVENIR WAS GUTTED BY FIRE

Convent of Assumption Was Prey to Flames Early This Morning—All Boarders and Sisters Safely Out of Building—Catholic Church in Danger—Iberville Also Scene of Fire.

(Special to The Record)

L'AVENIR, Que., Feb. 27.—Some thirty-five young girls and the Reverend Sisters of the convent of the Assumption here were forced to make a hurried exit from their building at an early hour this morning as a result of a very bad fire which had started from an unknown cause in the building. The building was very badly gutted as a result of the fire, but most of the contents of the building, including the personal effects of the convent girls and the furniture of the building, were saved.

The fire was first noticed in the dormitory, and quickly spread to all parts of the building. All activities were centered in getting the children and Sisters out of the building safely, and this was done in a very short time. People from the town were quickly on the scene and all united in an attempt to save the building and much of the contents were taken out of the building. Poor water supply, only a volunteer fire department and a very heavy wind, with cold biting frost, did much to hinder progress in fighting the flames. Although every possible effort was made to save the convent it was soon apparent that the fire was making very rapid progress.

Catholic Church in Danger.

The heavy wind did a great deal to scatter the sparks, and in a short time the Roman Catholic Church, which adjoining the convent, was also in great danger. Every effort, however, was made to keep the sparks from making any headway. The church at one time caught fire but the flames were soon extinguished and at noon the flames were finally conquered. The loss will be about $15,000, it is estimated.

Three Storey Building

The Convent of the Assumption was a large three storey stone building, and was used by the Sisters as a boarding and day school for girls. As soon as the fire was discovered, a large number of the townspeople were on the scene, and all rendered very valuable assistance in helping to get the children out of the building, and also in keeping the flames from spreading.

FIRE CAUSED HEAVY DAMAGE AT IBERVILLE

(Associated Press Despatch) MONTREAL, Feb. 27.—Fire which broke out at ten thirty last night destroyed the main building and outhouses composing the scholasticate of the Marist Brothers, half a mile from Iberville, Que. The loss is estimated at $25,000.

"Punch" has been allowed to leave the Sherbrooke Hospital, and is at his home, Bowen Avenue South. He did not suffer a fractured ankle as was at first expected, the X-ray showing only a bad sprain.

CLASSIC AND POPULAR MUSIC IN RADIO PROGRAMME

A special radio programme will be provided for Lennoxville Station 2 GH on Sunday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock by the Sherbrooke Trio composed of Messrs. Louis Steele, violinist; Cliff Price, cellist, and Reginald Haggarty, pianist, with Miss Annie Baldwin, of Sherbrooke, soprano soloist. The trio will feature Beethoven's trios, numbers 7 and 8, and Haydn's number 3. They will also play popular numbers by request.

THIS IS A NEW ONE.

A number of R.M.D. readers have advised the Record of receipt of a circular from a firm giving only a P. O. Box address in Montreal and advising them that they have won a consolation prize in the company's puzzle contest which entitles them to a $10 string of pearls and stating that these will be forwarded on receipt of 98c to cover costs. The recipients have not participated in any contest, the whole evidently being a scheme to get 98c from them.

Recipients of this letter should ignore it as far as remittance is concerned. They should, however, hand the letter to their postmaster or send to the P. O. Department at Ottawa. The law is very strict with regard to the use of the mails for catch schemes.

MISS JARVIS ADDRESSED INSTITUTE MEETING

the chair, and after the opening exercises the usual routine of business was carried out.

Miss Jarvis, Superintendent of Quebec Institutes, gave a most instructive talk on "Institute Technique," touching upon the history of the institute in this province and the excellent work accomplished by officers and members.

A vote of thanks was extended to Miss Jarvis by Mrs. Paige, and at the conclusion of the meeting refreshments were served the hostess, who was assisted by Mrs. Robert Brown and Miss Reba Hatch.

The meeting was much enjoyed by all, and before the members departed it was decided to hold a special meeting on Tuesday evening, March 10th, to arrange for a play the W. I. members are planning to put on.

MINSTREL SHOW TO BE STAGED AT QUEBEC

Mr. Albert Blier, director of the 1925 Minstrel Show under the auspices of the Sherbrooke Snowshoe Club, left today for Quebec City to complete arrangements with representatives of the Quebec Snowshoe Club regarding the staging of the show in the Ancient Capital during the local club's visit there this week-end.

This show, which played with such great success at the Premier Theatre here for two nights and one afternoon last week, is scheduled to be put on in the Chateau Frontenac hall on Saturday evening next.

The programme will be somewhat revised to suit the occasion, but it is understood that none of the "essentials" will be omitted. The Sherbrooke Club will take their eight-piece orchestra for the occasion.

ANNIVERSARY SERVICES AT BAPTIST CHURCH ON SUNDAY

The anniversary services at the Baptist Church will be held on Sunday and Monday, March 1st and 2nd. The Rev. J. H. Gordon, M.A., D.D., of Montreal, will be the special preacher.

Dr. Gordon was born in Prince Edward Island and is one of her most illustrious sons. He was educated at Acadia College and at Newton Theological Seminary, Boston. He has held most successful pastorates at Charlottetown, P.E.I.; St. John, N.B., and in Montreal. Both the Maritimes, Ontario and Quebec conventions have elected him to the highest office in their gift. Some years ago Acadia conferred on him the degree of Doctor of Divinity. For a time he was Professor of Homiletics and Practical Theology in Brandon College, Manitoba.

Special music for the day has been prepared. In the morning, Miss Willard and Mrs. Salter will sing "The Lord Is My Shepherd" (Henry Smart), and the anthem will be "Rock of Ages" (Dudley Buck). In the evening, Miss Wilkie will sing "Hear! O My People" (Frederick Stevenson), and the anthem will be "Erst Another Sabbath Close" (Ernest R. Bowles).

On Monday evening supper will be served at six-thirty o'clock, to be followed by a social hour and programme.

A special Thank Offering will be taken at each service on behalf of the Building Fund.

This is the first anniversary in the new edifice and the pastor and officers of the Church extend a cordial invitation to all to share in the services.

FUNERAL OF LATE MRS. C. ROBERTSON

There passed away at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Price, on February 24th, Mrs. C. Robertson, nee Miss Isabella Mathers, formerly of Sherbrooke, and one of this city's oldest inhabitants.

The deceased was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Mathers, who resided at the corner of Short and Belvidere streets, this city, for several years, coming to Canada in 1872 from Leeds, England.

The late Mrs. Robertson was early left a widow with two children, her husband having been killed while in the employ of the B. A. L. Co.

About twenty years ago, she took up her residence with her daughter, Mrs. S. Price, of Waterloo. The family afterwards moved to Montreal, and since then, she had spent her time visiting her two daughters, Mrs. Price, of Montreal, and Mrs. Findlater, of St. Johns.

The deceased was operated on for cancer in Montreal in October last, but never fully recovered from her operation, and died at the home of her daughter in Montreal, where she was residing at the time.

The funeral services were held in Montreal, after which the remains were brought to Sherbrooke on the 12:00 C.P.R. train yesterday, and laid to rest in the Elmwood Cemetery.

The remains were accompanied to their last resting place by Mr. and Mrs. S. Price, of Montreal, and Mr. and Mrs. Findlater, of St. Johns.

The other members of the family were Mrs. Oakes and Mrs. Davis, sisters of the deceased and Mr. F. Mathers, a brother, all of whom predeceased Mrs. Robertson several years ago.

MR. WALSH ADDRESSED Y'S MEN

Last night, Mr. T. D. Walsh, Jr., pointed out the duty and gave some splendid advice to the Y's Men at their weekly meeting. Mr. Walsh took as his subject, "Government in Business, and Business in Government."

In his introduction he dealt with conditions as they are in Russia today, revealing the condition of a country which was overgrown in business, and which had been in quiet recent years the largest exporter of wheat in the world, but now had become a very large buyer of Canadian wheat, and whose purchases had influenced the wheat markets the world over. This speaker pointed out was extreme democracy or democracy gone wild.

The speaker stated that people suffer more from extreme democracy than from extreme autocracy. He then dealt with the responsibility of the voters in seeing that a place in the government of the country. He emphasized the fact that in modern days the populace

FEBRUARY THAW CAUGHT A MOST SEVERE COLD

After Earning a Record for Erratic Doings, the Mercury Has Returned Again to Normal Point—Snow and Lower Temperature Mark Return of Winter.

From soup to nuts is an applicable description of the weather of the short but, this year, most changeable month of February.

The extremes in temperature were experienced here as in other places, the mercury playing peek-a-boo with the zero point. On Tuesday, February 24th, the thermometer registered thirty-seven above, and on Wednesday it went to forty-four above, but that was not the high point, for on February 9th and 11th it rose to fifty-three above.

The extremes, however, occurred between Wednesday afternoon and this morning, the mercury falling from forty-four above to ten below, being the temperatures recorded at the Experimental Farm. The big jump occurred during the late hours of last night when the mercury flopped from 40 above to 10 below in a few hours.

Added to this was a strong nor-wester and drifting snowfall, which was decidedly wintry.

Records of the "barometric antics" in Montreal show that the mercury fell 22 points in 12 hours, and the wind reached a 48 mile-an-hour velocity. The St. Francis Valley can hold its own in the way of wind velocity and yesterday afternoon and evening were uncomfortable periods for any one obliged to be out where the St. Francis breeze could reach them.

ICY BLAST STRIKES MONTREAL

(Associated Press Despatch) MONTREAL, Feb. 27.—Made all the more severe by the spring-like weather Montreal has enjoyed for several days, mid-winter blasts of icy-wind late yesterday began to forcibly remind citizens that winter was by no means at an end, and within twelve hours the mercury had fallen twenty-two degrees. This sudden drop in the temperature was accompanied by a forty-eight mile an hour gale, which swept through the streets with such force last evening that many persons were literally blown off their feet. At an early hour today the thermometer registered a few points below zero, but the wind, displaying few signs of abatement, made the cold more intense.

Stanstead College Notes

Old Boys' Basketball A team of old boys is expected down from Montreal on Saturday afternoon to test the worth of the present generation in basketball. The personnel of the visitors is not known as yet, but the names of such players as Stanley Meigs, Gib Kerr and Chas. Palais are mentioned for the Old Boys' team. This game will follow the girls' game.

Annual Carnival

The annual carnival will take place on Saturday night. This has always been a big night in the college year and there is every expectation that February 28th, will not be behind the carnival night of other years.

Mr. Jack Maule is in charge of the committee for the carnival. He announces that prizes will be offered to the best dressed ladies and gentlemen. The committee of judges has not as yet been announced, but it has been stated that the most competent judges of modern fashion will be on hand to look 'em over. The return of the Old Boys for the week-end will be a pleasant feature of the carnival.

Bert Taylor Talking about "old boys," the friends of the college and particularly the students have been following with keen interest the meteoric career of Bert Taylor, who is a freshman at McGill this year. In addition to all his other activities, Bert has taken up boxing and has met with phenomenal success in this branch of sport. In the university bouts Taylor defeated Jedd Merrin, the past inter-collegiate champion, and last Saturday, while representing McGill in the inter-collegiate assault-at-arms at Toronto he won the inter-collegiate championship in his weight. His opponent was the captain of the Toronto Varsity squad, and Taylor held him to a draw in the regular three rounds. An overtime round was called for by the judges, and although Taylor had broken a finger, he went into the final round and with only one good hand, backed up with wonderful grit, he defeated his opponent and brought honor to himself, to Old McGill and to Stanstead College.

stood aghast at the ventures of governments and failed to realize that they were responsible for the men they put in authority. He claimed the need of the hour the world over was business in government by men who really understood what government was for, the protection of the rights and privileges of the people governed. He then went on to deal with the questions of "Governments in Business," indicating that here was a place of danger. He stated that to date governments in business have not made a success, except in departments of postal and telegraph service, but that did not necessarily mean that governments could not and should not handle other business. He said the great essential for success in any such venture was the placing in authority of men with business ability.

The two points that the speaker

ROAD DEPT. TO CARRY OUT AN EXTENSIVE PLAN

Will Spend All Money Voted If Necessary to Give Employment, Chairman of Department States—Total Amount About $385,000.

Speaking to the Record this morning Alderman Langis, chairman of the city road department, said that it was the intention of the road department to spend as much of the $385,000 voted to that department as possible in doing different work throughout the city and thus furnish as much work as possible in the city. He declared, however, that it was not certain just how much would be spent, because if working conditions improved and the workmen are able to secure work somewhere else it would not be necessary for the Road Department to do so much work at one time. If this work was done, however, it was chiefly to help employment.

The following list contains the work which the department intends to do in connection with sewers, paving and sidewalks:

WILL LIKELY GRANT REQUEST FOR CROSSING

Investigation Made by City and C.P.R. Officials for Crossing at Intersection of Short, St. Martin and Fabre Streets—Result of Request Made to City Council.

The request made to the City Council some time ago by residents of the West Ward that a level crossing be placed at the intersection of St. Martin, Short and Fabre streets is likely to be granted, according to present indications.

An investigation was recently made in this connection by Mr. A. K. Drury, of the Railway Commission, Mr. Ballantyne, of the C.P.R., members of the road committee, His Worship the Mayor and the city engineer, Mr. T. Tremblay. These gentlemen carefully investigated the situation and all were of the opinion that the crossing in its present condition was very dangerous, and that something should be done.

Owing to the fact that the C.P.R. has forbidden trespassing on their tracks, it is necessary for many of the school children going to school and many people going to church to go by the Galt street viaduct. It is also necessary for the residents of the west side of the crossing to go along the Galt street viaduct to get to places of business on the east side.

Some time ago a resident of the west ward was crossing the C.P.R. tracks when he was arrested by the C.P.R. official and fined. This incident led the people of the west ward to ask for a level crossing.

It is quite likely that the recent investigation will result in a request by Mr. Drury to the Railway Board, and that a level crossing will be placed here as requested.

It is learned that this new crossing will be for pedestrians only, and that a crossing for teams and auto will not be made, as it is thought the Galt street viaduct can easily be used in this connection.

LENNOXVILLE

Millinery Demonstration

Yesterday was one of the most enjoyable days yet experienced by the Women's Institute, when a millinery demonstration was conducted by Miss Jarvis, head of the Provincial Women's Institute, and her assistant, Miss Poole, of Macdonald College. A class of about twenty members and their daughters profited by the instructions on hat covering, the making of flowers, etc., and the practical results of the day were most creditable. A basket lunch was served at noon, making an attractive feature of the day. Miss Jarvis and Miss Poole were accorded a hearty vote of thanks for their kind help.

MIGRATION FROM CANADA TO THE U. S. SLACKENS

During the twelve months ended June 30th, 1924, emigration from Canada and Newfoundland to the United States totalled 209,288, according to figures just announced by the chairman of the House Immigration Committee at Washington. For the final six months of 1924 the total was only 64,672, indicating a probable annual influx of about 130,000, or a reduction of nearly 38 per cent.

OPEN SWITCH IS GIVEN AS CAUSE OF COLLISION

C. P. R. Chicago-Montreal Flier Collided With Freight Train—Four Taken to Hospital.

(Associated Press Despatch)
PERTH, Ont., Feb. 27.—The head on collision between the Canadian Pacific Railway Chicago-Montreal flier and a stationary freight train at the Glen Tay siding yesterday afternoon had caused no loss of life, it was stated at the hospital here this morning to which four members of the train crews, the most seriously injured in the wreck, were removed.

Engineer Norris, of the passenger train, who was severely cut about the face and head, was reported as resting easily. It had not been determined until late this morning whether he had sustained a fracture of the skull.

David Bourne, Toronto, engineer of the passenger train for instructional purposes, dining car Steward Anderson, Toronto, and Baggage-man Hanson, Montreal, who were also removed to the hospital, were doing nicely and their dismissal from the hospital was expected over the week-end.

All members of the Ottawa professional hockey team which was en route home from a match at Hamilton, and a number of whom suffered minor injuries, were reported to have completely recovered. Other than a broken rib, suffered by Frank Ahearn, president of the club, the injuries received by the hockey players consisted only of bruises and a severe shaking up.

An open switch is given as the cause for the smash-up.

AN OFF SEASON IN THE WOODS.

According to statements of lumbermen the Weather Man has not provided the right sort of conditions for a good season in the woods. The cut has been small, owing to general market conditions, and now the bad state of roads for hauling is resulting in much of the cut being left in the woods.

There is still time for a few good snow falls, but experience has shown that wood that is not hauled before March is not likely to reach the mill or the siding during the spring.

The loss, however, may not be very material. There may, in fact, be an actual gain through advancing prices.

This is an off year so far as pulpwood prices are concerned. Next year, consequently, ought to be a good one. There's not much likelihood of an embargo intervening. So the pulpwood and lumber which is lying cut in the woods may very likely more than earn interest on investment while waiting for next year's snow roads.

BUSINESS IMPROVEMENT.

An improvement in business conditions is referred to in an article which has just appeared in the Boston Bank Bulletin. "Industrial expansion continues with marked acceleration since the first of the year," remarks the writer. The iron industries in the States as well as in Canada appear to have felt the industrial revival in a marked degree. The article observes in this connection: "Pig iron production, the chief barometer of industrial activity, averaged 108,000 tons daily during January, the highest since March of last year. The volume of trade, though below that of production, is substantial. Car loadings are above a year ago, while January bank clearings broke all records. The combined sales of mail-order houses and chain stores for last month were 15 per cent. above the same period in 1924."

The writer, however, is not too sure that a business boom has begun for he adds, "This is the third consecutive year that has opened auspiciously, but the last two periods of prosperity have proved to be of short duration. The fundamentals of the present situation, however, are more favorable. The upward movement is more general, extending to practically all lines. The leather, rubber, and fertilizer industries for the first time since 1921 are on a satisfactory basis. The cotton industry is constantly improving, with margins of profit on the increase. The automobile industry anticipates sales for 1925 equal to those of last year. The building industry has good prospects for the remainder of the year. The purchasing power of the farmer is rapidly approaching parity. From abroad come reports of increasing trade and growing confidence. The gradual stabilization of European exchanges is removing the uncertainties and risks which have been a serious handicap for some years. The world economic system is in better balance than at any time since the war, and provides a sustaining influence for general improvement. Business movement is proceeding cautiously, however. This is shown by a continuation of small lot buying and by the general indisposition toward future commitments for extended periods. The restraint for the most part is self-imposed. In short, there is an apparent tendency among manufacturers and distributors in primary markets to make a careful analysis of the situation before forging ahead."

As long as the movement of business is on the up grade, there will be little complaint. And this is really the hope for 1925, not for a boom year, not for a quick revival of full prosperity, but a steady improvement all along the line.

MR. BOK'S "GREAT WAR."

Edward Bok, the noted American editor, has recently published a book entitled "The Americanization of Edward Bok." In this book he tells of a special service that was run in the magazine of which he was editor and adds, "The service was finally stopped by the Great War of 1917-1918."

This reference to "Great War 1917-18" prompts the Toronto Star to remark: "This proves, perhaps better than anything else in the book, how thorough was the Americanization of Mr. Bok. Familiar as we all have been with the claim that the Americans won the war, Mr. Bok's new claim goes further than that. Not only did they win the war, but evidently, as he sees it, there wasn't any war until the United States entered it in 1917, or even if a war had been going on between 1914 and 1917 it did not become the Great War until the Americans got into it. The Americanization of Edward Bok is as thorough a job as we have seen."

PRESS COMMENT

THE DAY OF WONDERS.

(Wichita Eagle)

Daily the electrical wonders of the world increase. And they are growing complicated. A farmer near Andover telephoned to the Kansas Gas & Electric Company yesterday: "Send your trouble-shooter out here quick. My wires are crossed. The radio is frozen up and the refrigerator is talking."

OUT OF POLITICS.

(Owen Sound Sun-Times)

What has become of the slogan, "Keep the temperance question out of politics"? If the proposal to double the strength of O.T.A. beer is to be discussed on its merits it will have to be cut out of the Government bill and decided by a private bill on which every member will be perfectly free to speak and vote according to preference or judgment without fear of the party whip.

THICKEN UP POPULATION.

(London Free Press)

Heretofore the Province of Ontario has been the great supply house for the population of the West. Ontario has let her people go. Ontario has missed her returned soldier opportunity. Ontario has allowed British and other immigration simply to "pass through." In future it will be well for Ontario to harken to those who, like Premier Greenfield, advise her to "thicken up."

THE WIDER VIEW OF THINGS.

(Christian Science Monitor)

In the day-by-day records of events in Europe, there is much which might, if badly interpreted, tend toward discouragement. But in any survey of the conditions in Europe as a whole there must be found many elements of the most heartening character. It is essential, therefore, that the cables news should be placed in its proper perspective and should not be confounded with the general trend of things.

Undoubtedly progress in the direction of peace and prosperity has been made during the past year. No observer who takes a sufficiently broad view can be deceived. The relations between France and Germany, in spite of the immediate disputes, are vastly improved. Russia shows some signs of settling down, and is gradually being admitted into the comity of nations. England, which was in bad terms with its neighbor across the Channel, is now striving to act with its former ally. The misunderstanding between America and various European countries, including France, is being dissipated. Austria has been placed on its feet and Hungary has been saved from ruin. The relations between the countries of the Little Entente and the countries which formerly were leaders of the "Ramsdell Empire" are indisputably better. In short, there is ground for hope and confidence. Europe is setting to work to rehabilitate itself and to find, in forgetfulness of its old feuds, the basis for unity.

THE PART LAWS PLAY.

(Houston Post-Dispatch)

William H. Mitchell, treasurer and general manager of the Houston textile mills, in his address to the Kiwanis Club, touched upon a vital phase of the development of industry, when he included in his enumeration of the advantages that Houston possesses as a location for cotton mills, favorable laws.

That is something to be kept steadily in mind, if we are to create here a great textile manufacturing center. Cheap fuel, an abundance of intelligent labor, proximity to the raw material, unexcelled transportation facilities—these are all important, but without laws that give assurance of protection to capital in its investments, and encourages it to expand its activities, our natural advantages will not be of much practical value.

It is quite the usual thing to attribute the marvelous development of the textile industry in the Southeastern States to their natural advantages, particularly to their abundance of water power. But another factor just as important has been the absence of laws in the Carolinas that handicapped industry and repelled capital that sought investment there.

And by the same token, the tendency of New England mills to move to the South is caused in part, as Mr. Mitchell points out, by the growing disposition in the Northeastern States to enact laws that discourage the industry and restrict the operation of the mills on a profitable basis. New England for a great many years has been the center of a great textile industry. The fact that it is losing its pre-eminence to another section with more liberal laws, is indicative of the importance that attaches to the laws relating to the industry.

THE POTATO EMBARGO.

(Toronto Globe)

The embargo placed by the British authorities against potatoes from this country as well as from the United States will have the effect of further restricting the markets of Maritime Province farmers. Last year a fairly good trade was worked up by the shippers of the three Eastern Provinces, when about one hundred thousand barrels or bags of potatoes were shipped to Britain. The export continued brisk also during the first two months of this year. Hitherto Maritime Province potatoes have found their principal export market in Cuba and the West Indies. Last year approximately three times as many tubers went South as were sent to Britain.

Canadian experts disagree with those of Britain that potatoes from this country carried the Colorado beetle abroad. Everybody knows that this beetle, or common potato bug, is found in nearly every potato patch, and the spraying of the plants with Paris green or other poison is about as much a part of potato growing as the cultivation. The presence of the beetle, however, does not hinder good potato crops, provided the simplest precautions are taken. Some time ago the Ontario Provincial Entomologist, L. Caesar, gave it as his opinion that if Canadian potatoes were shipped between October 15th and April there would be no danger of the carrying the beetle abroad, because during that time the insects take to the soil. The grading of potatoes and the removal of any soil attached to them would also be a preventive.

The opinion in Canada apparently is that the British authorities are making use of a rather flimsy pretext to ban potatoes from the Dominion. Some exporters express the opinion that the embargo has been placed with the idea of encouraging potato growing in Britain rather than from fear of the Colorado beetle.

CUSTOMS HOUSE AT DERBY LINE WAS URGED

Tells of Difficulties Under Which Inspectors Work.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Feb. 27.—Congressman Gibson, addressing the House through the vehicle of extension of remarks in the Congressional Record, raised a plea for small towns in need of post offices and customs house buildings, taking Derby Line, Vermont, as his example. He also spoke of the need of a new post office building at Bellows Falls.

Col. Gibson's remarks were in reference to the Elliot public buildings bill which provides a total of $150,000,000 to be expended in this way over a period of six years. One-third of the entire amount is for buildings in the District of Columbia.

Speaking of the provision of this legislation which authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury to name the locations of new buildings, Col. Gibson said, "The act proposes a departure from the custom heretofore followed in that it takes away from Congress the function of establishing public buildings and places it under the direction and control of executive departments."

MR. AND MRS. ROCKEFELLER ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT OF THEIR ONLY DAUGHTER

Will Marry D. M. Milton, Jr., a Young New York Attorney—Wedding Will Take Place in May.

She has three brothers, John D. Rockefeller 3rd, Nelson A. Rockefeller and Laurence S. Rockefeller. She was formally introduced to society on November 22nd, 1922.

MAGOG

Dr. Maurice Donigan, of Montreal, spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donigan.

Mrs. W. Sheldon spent Saturday and Sunday with friends in Sherbrooke.

The long-drawn-out thaw is rapidly destroying the winter roads. There has been quite an epidemic of a mild form of la grippe, causing the attendance at school to fall considerably below the average.

The rain and drizzle of Saturday night prevented the hockey match scheduled between a team of dental students of Montreal and the Magog seniors from being played, much to the displeasure of the visitors, the local team and fans.

The society social held in the Sunday School rooms of the Methodist Church, under the auspices of Mrs. Connors' class, proved a financial and social success. The costumes were varied, and added much to the merriment and enjoyment of the evening. It was found necessary to fine a few persons who had been indiscreet enough to wear their customary jewelry, this not being considered a sign of poverty.

A regular monthly meeting of the members of the Magog Social Service Club was held at the home of Mrs. Ernest Bradley on Tuesday afternoon of this week. Among the items of routine business the entertainment committee brought up, and the question of a play to be staged soon in the future.

Mrs. E. Donald is visiting friends in Montreal for a few days. The members of the W. M. S. met at the home of Mrs. Henry Chamberlin on Wednesday of this week. The regular fortnightly "500" will be held in the Masonic reception hall on Monday evening next, March 2nd.

From time to time hunters, trappers and farmers have brought word to town of hounds chasing deer, and as time passes these reports seem to increase. One farmer noticed a hound chasing a deer on three separate occasions in one week. Becoming exasperated at this frequent and illegal hunting he caught the hound, and at last reports had it chained in his own barn waiting to see if the owner would come for it. The game law plainly states that the dog can be shot. A more flagrant case is one which took place a Sunday or two ago when two hounds were seen to run down a fawn on the lake and worry it so seriously that it died soon after it had been rescued by individuals who witnessed the deed and drove off the hounds in an effort to save its life.

Travel on the lake by motor car was quite a common occurrence last week. It is stated that five cars made the trip from Newmont to Magog, which is rather a rare occurrence the hospital there. Miss Annie Grimson, who has been spending the past month with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Grimson, is leaving Monday to take up her duties again in the Sherbrooke Hospital.

RECENT INVENTIONS OF INTEREST TO EASTERN TOWNSHIPS FARMERS

(By C. J. Lynde, Macdonald College, Que.)

PULVERIZED SEEDER

The seedbox here is positioned between the two gangs of rollers and the seed spouts are aligned so the seed falls in the furrows of the front rollers. The hind rollers split the ridges and cover the seed. A seed box for grass seed is attached and its spouts pass behind the rear rollers where the seed is covered by the drag chains.

FEEDING TROUGH

This trough is made from one metal sheet after the pattern shown. Under the overturned edge on one side is a supply pipe with several outlets. Feed is poured into the funnel outside the fence and passes through the supply pipe into all parts of the trough simultaneously.

GUARD FOR CULTIVATOR

This simple device consists of a

having one end flattened and curved to clamp on the axle of the cultivator. Its point goes under fallen corn stalks and raises them out of the path of the wheels.

ROOFING NAILS

Advantages claimed for these nails are that they prevent the edges of composition shingles from curling up and, if driven in just over the slots of the last course, form a guide for laying the next one without the use of a chalk line.

PLOW ATTACHMENT

This attachment is for use with the plow known as a "middle buster" and is designed to break up the "pan" in the bottom of the furrow. The main bracket of the device clamps on the beam and the point is carried on a segment pivotally mounted on this bracket.

BERRY BOX

To form a box from this blank it is folded at the upright dotted lines and the tongue on the left end is serted in the slot of the right side. The bottom flaps are then turned up and locked together. The four upper flaps may be folded over for a cover or turned inside to reinforce the box. (Address Inquiries Farm Inventions Editor.)

METHODS FOR STARTING THE TOMATO PLANTS

General Review Given of Experiment Carried Out at Cap Rouge Experimental Station.

Why transplant? Should tomato plants be pricked out? If so, how many times? Will it pay the commercial grower, the market trader and the home gardener to do this extra work? These were some of the questions often asked during farmers' excursions. Of course, the rule had been to transplant two or three times, thinking that this developed a better root system. But was this the only or even the main reason? Was it not possible that the spacing given to the plants after they are pricked out makes them more stocky than the ones which generally grow too close to each other and get spindly when they are not transplanted?

Experiment at Cap Rouge. — In 1916, an experiment was commenced at the Cap Rouge Experimental Station, and continued during six years. Seed was sown in flats, and plants grown in the greenhouse until the weather permitted to transfer the flats to hot-beds where plants were hardened before being set out in the field. One lot was not pricked out, another was pricked out once, another twice, and still another three times. All plants were given about the same space, the ones which were not pricked out being thinned to the same distance at which the ones which were pricked out were placed. Naturally, seed of a very uniform strain was used each year, either Alarcón or a Cap Rouge selection of Earliana.

Results.—The average of seven years shows that the lot not pricked out yielded at the rate of 29741 pounds of ripe fruit and 26161 of green, forming a total of 55902 per acre; pricked out once: ripe, 29792; green, 28027, total, 57819; pricked out twice: ripe, 31374; green, 26662; total, 58036; pricked out three times: ripe, 30299; green, 27310; total, 57609. The above figures show that the difference, either for total crop or, which is very important, for the crop of ripe fruit, was never much above 5 per cent in favor of one or more transplantings, which is not more than the possible experimental error.

Deductions.—In this case, tomato plants not pricked out yielded practically as much as others transplanted from one to three times.

will reduce them and leave no blemishes. Stops lameness promptly. Does not blister or remove the hair, and the horse can be worked. $2.50 a bottle, delivered. Book 6 R Free. W. F. Young, Inc., 180 Lyman Bldg., Montreal

This is contrary to expectations, but the experiment was conducted carefully and replicated six times. A plausible explanation is that plants not pricked out are generally left too thick, whilst these were thinned, at the same time as the others were transplanted, to the same distance as the latter were put in. As this method is the simplest and the least costly, it might be tried, but the grower should be careful to do the three thinnings when the plants are the size they would have been when transplanted. ## LECTURE ON TEA BY REV. MR. LOVE AT SWEETSBURG

Large Crowd Attended Annual Social Evening of Christ Church Congregation.

SWEETSBURG, Que., Feb. 14. —The annual social evening of the congregation of Christ Church was held in the basement of the church. Rev. Mr. Love had procured slides for the occasion on the origin and production of tea.

The origin of tea is traced back to China. Many years ago, according to tradition, a godly man of that country, by name Deruna, in great sorrow for some misconduct, caused his eyebrows to be shaved off and they fell to the ground. The next day when he returned to the place where his eyebrows had been dropped he found some bushes growing. Amazed at this strange plant, and out of curiosity, he tasted one of the leaves. Finding that it was delightful to the taste, he made with these leaves a beverage called "tea."

The tea plant is started from seed, and requires about five years before its leaves are ready to be picked. In the tea-growing countries of the world the plant is not allowed to grow more than three feet high and four or five feet in diameter, except for the purpose of obtaining seed. The plant in the maturity stage attains to a height of thirty feet.

The picking of the leaves is done mostly by women. After it is gathered in large baskets the next step depends on the kind of tea to be manufactured. If green tea, the leaves are allowed to wilt and are roasted in a furnace. They are then exposed to dry, rolled, and again roasted. After it has passed through cutting machines it is graded and put in packages.

The process varies for black tea. First it is allowed to ferment to a certain extent, then fermentation is suddenly checked by roasting it. After being dried and rolled it is graded and packed.

To produce a very choice brand of tea, the plants are placed under covers which furnish more protection from weather conditions than that used for growing ginseng in this country.

The best tea never leaves its domain. The native has two methods of manufacture. If it is to be shipped to a foreign clime a part of the formulae is omitted, whereas if consumed locally, it is made by a different process. Thus the method of manufacture and the lapse of time required for shipment account in a large measure for the inferior grades of tea in our country.

For many years the production of tea was confined solely to China, but of late years it has spread to Japan, India, Ceylon and the United States. The tea plant requires a moist climate and thrives best in high altitudes. Japan is specially adapted to this, while Ceylon produces the best tea in the world. The tea plantation in South Carolina has not yet been fully developed, but present conditions point to success in the future.

The greatest factor, however, opposed to the operation is the lack of labor to carry on that line of work. Statistics prove that the yearly consumption of tea is increasing, and thus we find the price of tea gradually rising. It is estimated that in Great Britain nine pounds of tea per capita are used yearly, while Canada comes next with five pounds per capita yearly; the United States one pound per capita, and Russia three-quarters pound per capita.

After the address sample packages of orange pekoe tea were distributed to each family with the compliments of the Salada Tea Company of Montreal.

The singing of some patriotic pieces and the national anthem concluded the very instructive lecture, and an hour of social intercourse, games and the serving of cake and coffee brought to a close a most profitable evening.

WINDSOR

The Misses Emma and Margaret Giroux entertained at a most enjoyable bridge and dancing party on Saturday evening at the home of their mother, Mrs. M. Giroux. Four tables were played, resulting in Miss Kleis McCabe winning first, Mr. John L. Baumann second, and Mr. Warren the consolation prize. After dancing and dainty refreshments, songs by Mr. C. E. Forze, violin solos by Mr. A. Parrott and mandolin by Mr. Warren gave much added pleasure. Mrs. Raymond Provencher and Miss Ursel McIntyre accompanied on the piano. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. Davidson and Misses Minnie and Doris Giroux, of Sherbrooke, and Mr. John L. Baumann, of Eustis.

Rev. P. Beauchamp was in town this week making arrangements for the French service on Sunday afternoon, March 1st, in the United Church.

The town was in darkness on Saturday night when a short circuit was caused by some one carelessly throwing a bunch of fence wire across the current. The repairs were difficult on account of the high water and huge blocks of ice interfering.

A novel service was conducted in the United Church on Sunday evening last when, without warning, the congregation was deprived of light. A few flash lights were requisitioned and the hearty singing in the dark proved the excellent vocal powers of the large congregation assembled.

Mrs. Gerald Bockus, who returned to town with her husband last week, has just recovered from an attack of the grippe.

Ten pink candles sparkled around the prettily decorated birthday cake that centred the tea table in the dining room of the home of Mrs. J. W. Quinn on Saturday evening when a delightful home party was given in honor of her son, Bernard O'Reilly Quinn, who had attained his tenth birthday. The guests were received at the door by "Barney" himself (as he is better known) and ushered into the library. Presently tea was announced and fourteen ladies repaired to the dining room which was beautifully fragrant with spring flowers and where a table was laden with things a boy loves. The repeat over the young people were entertained in the library with all the funny things possible to "tune in" on by Mr. Quinn and piano selections by Mrs. Raymond Provencher. Games were also enjoyed and the time came all too soon for separation. Bernard was the recipient of several pretty birthday gifts.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

FRIGHT AND HOPE.

By Thornton W. Burgess.
Always hope. To it cling fast.
Be sure you'll somehow win at last.

—Peter Rabbit.

Of course Peter Rabbit, squeezed into the little hole at the back of Buster Bear's bedroom, heard the strange noise—part whine, part grunt and part growl—that had awakened and frightened Reddy Fox. He heard Reddy jump and run. He knew by the hurry Reddy was in that Reddy was badly frightened. But, being back in that hole, he couldn't see who had made that dreadful noise.

"My goodness!" cried Peter under his breath. "What can that be? Never have I heard such a noise. It sounds as if it were right in Buster Bear's bedroom. Perhaps it is just outside. I hope so. Anyway, Reddy Fox has gone and I have got to get out of here. I can't stand it being squeezed in here another minute."

So Peter wriggled and twisted and squirmed until at last he had his head out of the narrow entrance to that hole in the back of Buster Bear's bedroom. Then he knew where that strange noise was coming from. He knew that Buster Bear was making it!

"Oh!" cried Peter under his breath. "It's Buster Bear! He is waking up! Whatever shall I do now?"

Peter tried to wriggle back into that little hole, but he couldn't. His heart was going thump-thump-thump so that it seemed to him that Buster certainly must hear it. He was so frightened that it seemed to him he couldn't breathe. Not for the world would he have gone into Buster Bear's bedroom had it entered his head that it was anywhere near time for Buster to wake up.

contest, which I hope the corner folk will like to work out. I have tried to make the instructions clear. You simply have to blot out with your pencil any white lines that spoil the form of the kittens you find. Some are standing, others lying, and some look as if they were watching for mice. I must not tell you how many kittens there are, for that would spoil the fun, but the one who gets the largest number will be the prize winner.

We must not forget our old friends, Peter and Reddy, who are having quite exciting times this week. The story writer gives us all some good advice in saying: "No matter how badly off you may be, never give up hope." That will be a good thought to have when you are searching for the kittens.

Until tomorrow best wishes from UNCLE JIM.

"Oh!" cried Peter under his breath. "It is Buster Bear! He is waking up!"

"What a dreadful position to be in!" thought Peter. "If Buster Bear finds me here I'll never, never see the dear Old Briar Patch again. I do hope he won't look around. I don't dare try to run past him because then he would be sure to see me. I hope he will be so anxious to see what it is like outside that he won't look around inside at all. If he goes right out I'll be right at his heels. Reddy Fox won't be around. He won't want Buster Bear to know that he has been around here. Oh, I do hope Buster will go right out! Ouch! I can't stay in here any longer. I'm so squeezed in this tight hole that I can hardly breathe."

Peter began to wriggle and squirm again, but he took great care that he made no noise in doing it. At last he was out of that little hole. For the first time since he had gone there he was able to take a long breath and get on his feet. He was stiff all over. He squatted down close to the little hole and waited for what would happen next. If Buster Bear should discover him he could squeeze back into that little hole. If Buster Bear didn't discover him he might have a chance to get out of Buster's bedroom. He was as badly frightened as ever, but with that fright there was now some hope. Peter was one of those who always hope. Always he is hoping for the best. That is where he is wise. No matter how badly off you may be, never give up hope. (Copyright, 1925, by T. W. Burgess)

BLOT-OUTS

THE C. C. C. CONTEST

Open to all readers of the Children's Corner under 14 years.
A prize will be awarded for the best "Blot-Out" picture sent in to the Corner by Thursday, each week.

In today's corner we begin a series of contest pictures, the Blot-Outs. In this picture there are—well, how many kittens are there?

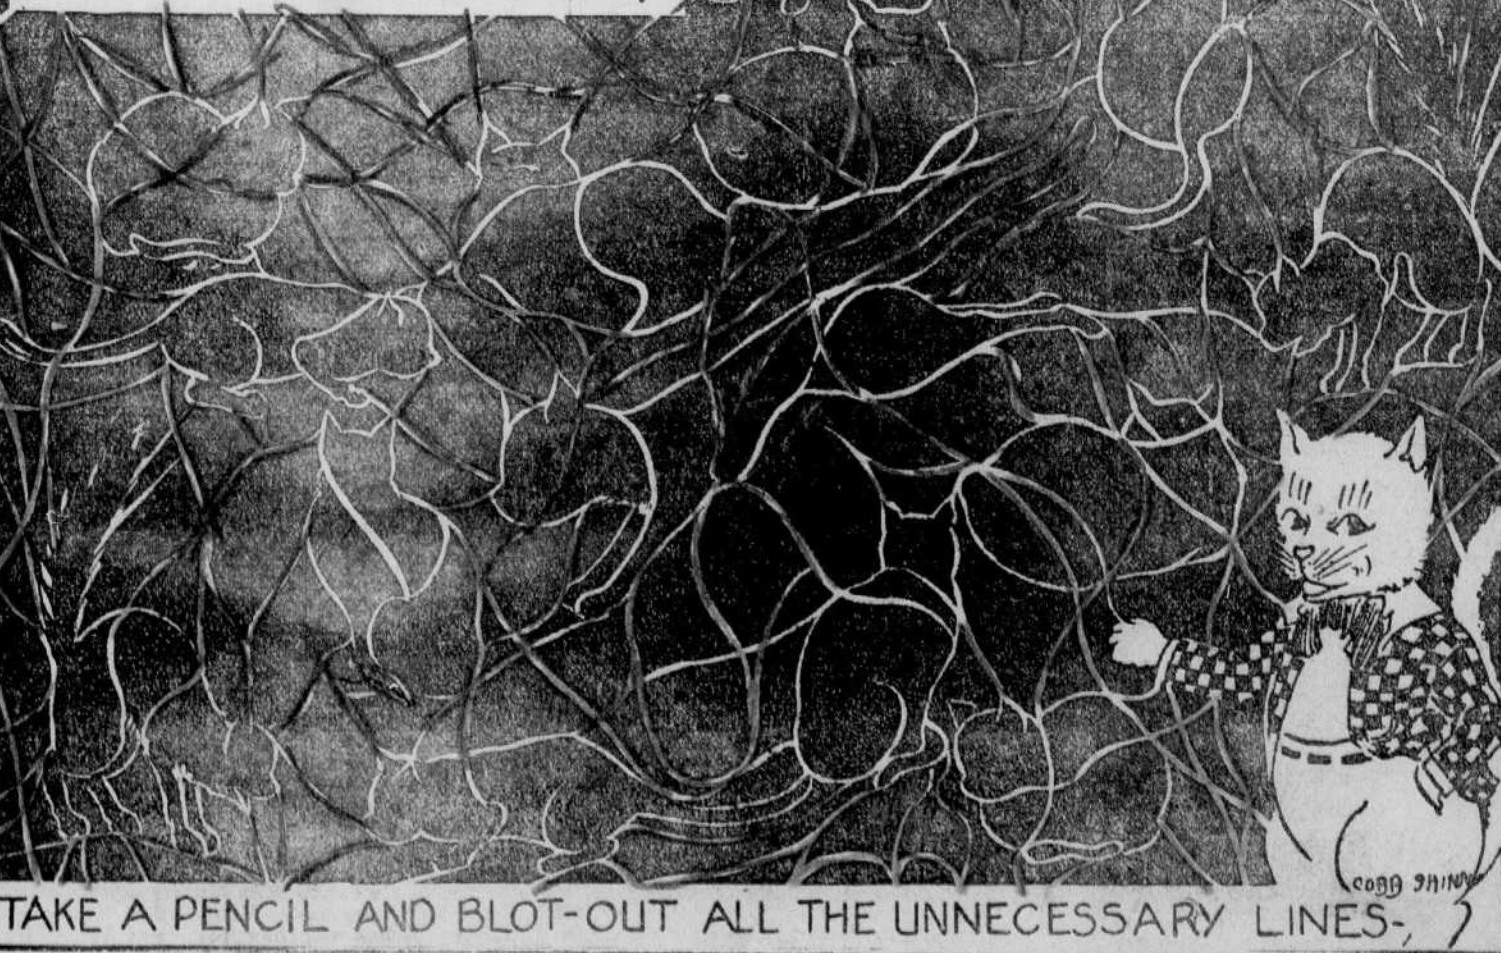

All you need is a pencil and your wits to find them. Try to locate a kitten, then blot out with your pencil all the unnecessary lines around the kitten, and any that goes across it. Search for several kittens; you will be surprised to see how many there are.

Write on a piece of paper your name, age and address, also how many kittens you have found. Fasten it to the picture cut from the paper and mail it to the Children's Corner, Sherbrooke Daily Record. Allow time enough for your letter to travel from your home to Sherbrooke, so we can have the picture by Thursday.

The correct number of kittens and neatness count in awarding the prize, which will be a nice story book.

(By Ruby M. Ayres)

CHAPTER XVIII.

She went upstairs to dress; she took great pains to make herself look pretty. When Kettering arrived she noticed that his eyes went past her gloomily as if looking for someone else.

"Gladys is not coming," she said. His face brightened.

"Not coming? Ought I to be sorry, I wonder?" She laughed.

"That's rude." "I'm sorry." He tucked the rug round her, and they started away down the drive. "You don't want the wheel, I suppose?" he asked whimsically.

Christine shook her head. "Have you—you been crying?" Kettering asked abruptly.

Christine flushed scarlet. "Whatever makes you ask me that?"

SPORTING NEWS

RUTH AIMS TO BREAK HOME
RUN RECORDManager McGraw Yesterday Took Charge of Practice at Giants'
Training Camp.

(Associated Press Despatch)
NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Babe Ruth's double barreled goal this year is to eclipse the record season's home run harvest of fifty-nine, which he established in 1921, and to lead both major leagues in batting. This is uppermost in the mind of the favorite son of swat as he bolts out the off-season's excess tonnage at Hot Springs. Ruth starts his thirteenth season in the major, this year.

Manager John McGraw took charge of practice at the Giants training camp at Sarasota, Fla., yesterday and came out of several conferences with the signed contracts of Jack Scott, Jack Bentley and Art Nehf, all pitchers. Frankie Frisch is expected to sign up today.

The pitchers unleashed some speed yesterday at the Yankee camp in St. Petersburg. Nick Cunniff, who appears to have made a deep impression on Manager Miller Huggins, continues to hit far and wide. Waite Hoyt, Joe Dugan, Lou Gehrig and Whitey Witt will join the camp in a few days.

The advance guard of the Boston Braves arrived at St. Petersburg yesterday. The only batters missing were catcher Michael O'Neill and pitchers Benton and Graham.

Several veterans of the Cleveland Indians staff are suffering from sore arms according to reports from the training camp at Lakeland, Fla.

The Cincinnati Reds leave tomorrow for the south to begin spring training. Manager Hendricks says the team will be a real contender this year.

Manager George Sisler and the St. Louis Browns went through their first workout at Tarpon Springs, yesterday. Twenty men were in uniform, with the only absentee being pitcher Bush. Girard and Danforth and catchers Dixon and Porter.

HOCKEY

TOWN SECONDS DOWNED STANSTEAD COLLEGE
STANSTEAD, Feb. 27.—On Tuesday night the town second team defeated the college hockey squad in a return game. The previous game was won by the college by a score of 3 to 2 and Tuesday night's exhibition was won by the same score. The winners first goal was a rather unfortunate one for their opponents, because it was scored by Roy, the college left winger. In attempting to get started on a rush down the rink Roy swerved around and pushed the puck past the unsuspecting Amyot. Babe Smith and Stewart scored the other goals for the town seconds. The school boys' goals both came from the stick of the sharp shooting Maule. Joe Mayhew played a real good game in goal and turned away several hard shots.

STANSTEAD COLLEGE BEAT SHERBROOKE HIGH TEAM
STANSTEAD, Feb. 27.—Last Saturday afternoon the hockey squad of Sherbrooke High School suffered defeat at the hands of the Stanstead College team when these old time rivals met for their first ice contest this winter. The game was played at the Olympic rink before a large crowd of college students and a few residents of the Three Villages.

Sherbrooke opened up strong, but they did not last, and it was only a matter of keeping the score down as low as possible insofar as the visitors were concerned. The game was not as good as the game played here a week ago.

Jack Maule was the star of the afternoon. He was all over the ice at all times and was near enough to the goal to score seven times. For the visitors Bouchard played a very good game.

The final score was S. W. C. 11; S. H. S. 3.

The game was well handled by Mr. Jenkins.

REACTIONARY TONE TODAY
ON WALL STREET 'CHANGE

(Associated Press Despatch)
NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Stock prices displayed a reactionary tone at the opening of today's market as a result of selling inspired by the raising of the New York Federal Reserve discount rate. General Electric broke 3 1/2 points and American Can, Baldwin, American Smelting and Refining and Texas and Pacific sold off 1 to 1 1/2 points.

NEW YORK PRESS
MARKET COMMENT

Furnished by McManamy & Walsh

Journal of Commerce—Traders anxious to make a profit were evidently in a good many cases of the opinion that things were about due to have another backward swing and that they would do well to "get on board."

Wall Street Journal—Increased N.Y. Federal Reserve discount rate which action was taken after the close was preceded by the greatest amount of well distributed strength witnessed in the stock market since the primary forward movement was temporarily checked in the early part of the year.

Wall Street Journal will say today:—

Railway Steel Springs net $6.63 a share. Earnings $1,841,159 compare with $3,341,271 in 1923.

Dutch show improvement. Banks write off bad debts and 1924 tax receipts greater than expected.

American Loco could pay extra. Granby earns $3.47 estimated. In 1924 earned about $2.70 a share.

Central Leather reduces expenses. Hopes to earn preferred dividends if business volume is sufficient.

SALE OF LIQUOR BEYOND 12 MILE LIMIT LEGAL

Judge Declares that Seizure of British Schooner Last October Was Illegal.

(Associated Press Despatch)
NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 27.—Seizure of the British schooner Over the Top, following the sale of twenty-five cases of liquor to special agents of the United States Internal Revenue Department, who visited the vessel at anchor nineteen miles off the coast on October 19, 1924, was illegal, according to the decision handed down in the United States District Court by Judge Edwin S. Thomas.

In his decision the judge holds that the sale of the liquor, beyond the twelve mile limit from shore, was a legal transaction, and notwithstanding that the liquor sold was bought ashore by the Federal authorities, neither the vessel nor the cargo can be held for a violation of the law. The libels against the vessel and her cargo are dismissed.

MISS ROCKEFELLER TO DO PART OF OWN HOUSEWORK

Will Live Within Her Husband's Income as a Lawyer and Will Not Have an Automobile.

(Associated Press Despatch)
NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—When Abby Rockefeller, the nation's richest heiress, marries her childhood sweetheart, David M. Milton, Jr., a boy who works for a living, she will do part of her own housework, live within her husband's income as a lawyer, and will not have an automobile. And furthermore, said her father, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., through a representative, Abby will be well qualified to live as the wife of a comparatively poor man because she has been taught, with her brothers, the value of money.

At the age of eight Abby received thirty cents each week, ten cents of which went to weekly church collections, and ten cents to a savings account—which left the world's richest youngster ten cents to squander. A few years later she received a whole dollar to be responsible for. None of the children ever had more than two dollars a week.

"But the question of discrimination between points which were on the C.P.R. in 1897 and others established since that time produces a difficult situation which can only be met satisfactorily by action by the parliament of Canada," the premier said.

WALES PRESENT AT SERVICE IN ST. PAUL'S

Alarmist Warning that Dome of Cathedral Was on Eve of Collapse Failed to Keep Prince from Welsh Festival Service.

(Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, Feb. 27.—The Prince of Wales and about two thousand other persons, undeterred by alarmist warnings that the dome of St. Paul's was on the eve of collapse, attended a Welsh festival service in the Cathedral last evening and escaped unscathed.

The Prince, who apparently belongs to that large section of the public who accepts the assurance of the Cathedral experts that there is no danger in its present condition, sat immediately beneath the dome without showing alarm or once looking up to see if it was coming down. The remainder of the congregation was evidently equally unconcerned.

The service was conducted in the Welsh language, of which the Prince, although nominally the head of the Welsh people, is virtually as ignorant as the vast majority of the people of the British Isles. He managed, nevertheless, to join in the hymns and responses, although he said afterward he would like to have a phonetic copy of the prayers.

After the devotions the Prince went to see the finals of a military boxing tournament and distributed the prizes to the winners.

LETTERS WERE ADMITTED IN STOKES CASE

Stokes and Three of His Former Agents Charged With Conspiring to Defame Character of Mrs. Stokes.

(Associated Press Despatch)
CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—Copies of purported letters from W. E. D. Stokes, New York millionaire, instructing a private detective, Edward W. Altz, of Chicago, to obtain affidavits that Mrs. Helen Ellwood Stokes, of Denver, his estranged wife, was a former inmate of the Everleigh Club, notorious Chicago resort of years ago, were admitted in evidence in the trial of Stokes and others yesterday.

Stokes and three of his former agents are charged with conspiracy to defame the character of Mrs. Stokes, in order to aid Stokes' unsuccessful divorce action in New York. The letters mentioned, in one connection or another, the names of Nicky Arnstein, Jack Johnson, Tex Rickard, Marshall Field, Jr., Marshall Field, Sr., Peggy Hopkins Joyce and Stanley Joyce, her divorced husband.

Altz, on the stand, identified the letters as written to him by Stokes about two years ago when he was in Stokes' employ.

One of the letters introduced said that Mrs. Stokes had been among inmates of the Everleigh Club questioned by investigators for the Marshall Field family after "Marshall Field, Jr., was murdered in the Everleigh Club."

Another letter, described by Assistant State's Attorney Milton D. Smith, as "doubly, trebly and quadruply underscored by Stokes in red and green ink," declared: "I know the Chicago situation from every angle, and who killed Marshall Field."

"I knew Marshall Field, Jr., and senior," said another letter, in which Stokes insisted he was certain Mrs. Stokes had been in the Everleigh Club. Stokes asked Altz to get in communication with the investigators for the Marshall Field family.

Another letter suggested that Altz might obtain information from Stanley Joyce, who was then the husband of Peggy Hopkins Joyce. It authorized Altz to extend an offer on the part of Stokes to aid in Joyce's pending divorce action.

"Mrs. Stokes," the letter said, "is said to have married a lumberman in Wisconsin and to have received alimony from him. A lumberman she knows is Joyce. Ask Joyce what he knows."

FAMOUS LEANING TOWER IN DANGER OF FALLING

Was Built Between Twelfth and Thirteenth Centuries and From Top Leans Fourteen Feet Off Perpendicular.

(Associated Press Despatch)
ROME, Feb. 27.—The Tribune publishes a despatch from Pisa asserting that fear is expressed that the famous leaning tower is in danger of falling. The tower was built between the twelfth and thirteenth centuries, and from the top leans fourteen feet off the perpendicular.

For years there has been discussion as to whether it was thus purposely built, or whether the leaning tendency was due to displacement of the structure. The first alarm for the stability of the tower was reported in 1907. A special commission was then appointed, and after a long study and examination came to the conclusion that there had been a slight increase in the slant since measurements were taken 150 years previously. The change had developed so uniformly that no immediate danger was believed to exist.

LORD BALFOUR'S ARRIVAL TO BE DAY OF PROTEST

Arabs in Palestine Will Cease Work and Assemble in Their Places of Worship on Day Balfour Arrives, as Mark of Protest.

(Associated Press Despatch)
JERUSALEM, Feb. 27.—The executive of the Christian Moslem Association in Jerusalem is determined to make the day of Lord Balfour's arrival in Palestine a day of protest, it is indicated in cables sent out by the Palestine Arab executive to Lord Balfour and other prominent persons who are expected to arrive here in connection with the opening of the Hebrew University scheduled to take place on April first.

(Lord Balfour is the author of the famous Balfour Declaration, that Great Britain would use her best endeavors to facilitate the establishment in Palestine of a national home for the Jewish people.)

The day of Lord Balfour's arrival, the Arabs in entire Palestine will cease work and assemble in their places of worship. The authorities of the Moslem Holy places and the national institutions will refuse to receive Lord Balfour; and the Arab press will on that day carry black borders, according to the programme outlined by the Arab executive.

The amendment to the revenue law, which would place a tax on foreigners, in addition to their regular income tax, was proposed by Deputy Henry Pate, and jammed through the House without sufficient discussion to attract the attention of the tired deputies.

The amendment as adopted specifically provides that all foreign visitors intending to remain in France more than a fortnight must obtain within eighteen hours of their arrival an identity card for which a tax of 72 francs in all is charged. These cards are valid for three years, when they must be renewed, and the fee for renewal is fixed at 200 francs.

AMENDMENT TO REVENUE LAW CAUSES STIR

Was Jammed Through French House Without Sufficient Discussion to Attract Attention of Tired Deputies.

(Associated Press Despatch)
PARIS, Feb. 27.—The voting by the Chamber of Deputies in the wee small hours of the morning when only about fifty deputies were present, of a clause of the finance law raising the price of identity cards for foreigners residing in France to 200 francs, today created considerable stir in the foreign colonies of Paris and among firms depending on tourist trade for their existence.

The amendment to the revenue law, which would place a tax on foreigners, in addition to their regular income tax, was proposed by Deputy Henry Pate, and jammed through the House without sufficient discussion to attract the attention of the tired deputies.

Does your pen Qualify?
Yes, it's a Waterman's

Any fountain pen's usefulness depends upon three things—the nib, the ink supply and the flow.

The nib must conform—the ink supply must be generous—the flow must be steady and continuous.

There is a Waterman's nib to suit every possible style of handwriting. The ink supply in every Waterman's is greater than that of any other pen of similar size. The "spoon" feed—exclusive to Waterman's—is the one method by which a steady flow of ink is assured.

It is because of these features—because of its ability to write properly at all times—that there are more Waterman's in use than all other makes of fountain pens combined.
