Residents protest against apartments on Stanton

Fifteen residents of the Thornhill and Churchill area of Westmount — backing up a protest to the erection of a multi-storey apartment house for Stanton avenue opposite the fire station — believe they may have scored a temporary victory.

Eastvale news and notes

(Delayed by cribbage)

Eastvale council met Monday and half of the aldermen attended. Mayor Pruno, regrettably absent from the past few meetings due to an extended tour of eastern provinces, was in the chair.

The Mayor opened the meeting with a request that the minutes of the previous meeting be read. Then, checking himself, he muttered: "Why read the minutes? We all know what's in the minutes—There's no point in reading them."

"Take them as read," cried a council member. They were.

Alderman Fury rose to say that permission to serve liquor at wedding functions had been granted for a local banquet hall.

"Who said we're narrow minded," an alderman interjected. "A little drink never hurt anybody," said another.

"We can be as modern as the next town," agreed a third.

Alderman Pushing rose with motions of his own.

"I move that the mayor and secretary treasurer sign a contract for a billboard on city land.

A scream of horror. "Billboards in our fair town! How could you! Think of the sights cut off! Think of our reputation! Think of the children! Think of the adults! Think, think, think!

"Calm down," said Pushing. "The land belongs to the city but it is in Montreal.

Rubbing his hands with glee, he continued, "We get the scratch, they get the sign. Clever what?"

Everyone agreed that it was brilliant. A slight intermission followed while the aldermen recovered from their glee.

At the conclusion of the interlude, Pushing again took the floor.

"There are three clods," said he, "holding up our plans for a bigger and better boulevard. They refuse to sell their proper-

* At a closed meeting of council Monday the protest was received by councillors.

Though the residents have no idea of what went on behind the closed door of the council chamber, their representative has received a letter from the city stating that the matter is being postponed for a couple of months, and that in any event nothing definite will be done until the protest has been heard.

Taking heart from this news, the 15 are checking their ammunition and preparing for the skirmish, come when it may.

Main reason for the protest is the lack of parking space in the general area, intensified by the fact that there are two churches and a synagogue just around the corner.

While those against the construction admit they were not present April 3 when a public meeting was called for protests to a zoning change that opens the way to such construction, nor did they notice the change on a subsequent colored map in the annual report, they are just as much against the situation as if they had.

ties at the price we wish to pay. We're going to take the land anyway. Let's expropriate.

"And the beauty of it is," murmured another alderman, "the whole thing is legal."

The meeting must have taken five minutes. It was almost time to adjourn behind closed doors where secrecy could prevail.

In rapid succession council approved trivial items involving an expenditure of more than $100,000.

The mayor suggested the meeting adjourn to . . . "When?"

"Let's not name a time," suggested an alderman. "Let's keep everybody guessing."

"Capital. Meeting adjourned."

Next week's weather

By ERIC NEAL

July 12 to 19

Another mainly pleasant week with very little rain. Light winds. This relatively dry year forest fire smoke could bring additional showers to some regions. Hot, sultry and humid, then some thunderstorm relief. Morning mists here and heavy fogs for the Maritimes and Gulf Coasts. This is still iceberg time around Newfoundland. Temperature range 50-85°F; sunshine hours 55 this week.

Bright and hot into mid-week with risk of thunderstorms in Ontario, northern Laurentians and Eastern Townships or Vermont. Windstorms with hail but little rain in the Prairies, this summer being the dry peak for the west. Drizzle probable in central Quebec.

Mainly fair to end the week with some very local thunder-showers, but heavy storms probable in all the north country from Abitibi to Labrador, also the Maritimes. Haymaking time in the south. Fishing poor.

NOTE: Stormy evenings Wednesday, Friday and Sunday; occasionally Tuesday and Saturday. Sunny Monday afternoon into Wednesday; also Thur. Fri. Sat. and most Sunday mornings. Occasional "freak storms" possibly due to current "Weather Control" experiments.

Excavation proceedings started Wednesday on Clarke Ave. above Sherbrooke — the first step in the face-lifting operation which that street is to enjoy this summer.

Expropriation planned against hold-outs

Expropriation proceedings are being planned against three property owners in the St. Catherine St. extension area according to a report presented at the Council meeting Monday night. The city has been unable to come to terms with these three concerning the purchase price for their lots.

The owners were advised that they had until today to agree to sale or face expropriation action in Superior Court.

The properties involved are the last of the 21 which lay on the route between Victoria and Claremont to be used for the extension.

Prices determined by the City's appraiser for the properties are as follows: for part of lots 52 and 53, $500.00; for part of lot 66, $2,372.81; and for part of lots 73 and 74A, $6,000.00.

Honesty only policy Rose tells accused in grocery theft

Justice tempered with mercy was the order of the day Wednesday when before Judge Bernard Rose of the Municipal Court appeared a 24 year old resident of N.D.G. charged with stealing over $100.00 of groceries and cash from a Westmount merchant.

Judge Rose heard the young man tell of his wife and family, of one child in hospital and of eviction from his $25.00 a month apartment for non-payment of rent.

"The court realizes that extenuating circumstances might have entered into this case," said Judge Rose, "but you must recognize that your act was no solution to your problem. Honesty is not the best policy, but the only policy in your dealings with others."

A week was allowed for restitution of the amount stolen and the young man was released.

Council commits $100,000 for works

A total of more than $100,000. was committed by Council Monday to allow work on an additional slate of public works improvements. Four items are included in the program.

Highest commitment was of $34,000.00 to cover the cost of landscaping, roadway, parking area and sidewalks at the site of the artificial ice rink.

The relighting of Sunnyside avenue, to complement the face lifting which that street is presently undergoing, will cost $42,500.00. The commitment, however, is divided into two sections—one covering the lighting between Lexington and Bellevue avenues ($23,500) and the other for the installations from Victoria to Lexington avenues ($19,000.00).

These figures include the salvaging of the existent equipment for use on other streets when the need for replacement arises. The new installations will be of the type recently placed along Westmount avenue.

To cover cost of rebuilding sidewalks on Victoria avenue between Westmount avenue and The Boulevard Council provided $21,860. It was originally intended merely to patch these walks where they seemed most damaged. On reinspection, however, it was decided that complete renovation would prove more economical.

'Y' Penny Carnival to be held Thursday

The Annual Penny Carnival will be held on Thursday, July 17 at 7.30 p.m., it was announced today by Victor Bryant, Director of the Westmount YMCA Summer Fun Club. Mr. Bryant stated that proceeds of this Carnival will be donated to the YMCA World Service Fund for work in various countries in the World. Carnival Night will be an opportunity for parents and friends of the campers to see the program the youngsters have been participating in during the past three weeks. Last year the Carnival proceeds reached $66.45—a very fine effort by these young campers.

During the past two weeks, 87 campers spent one day at Saratoga Beach and 88 travelled to Crystal Beach. Other program included a picnic on Mt. Royal, group trips to Lafontaine Park, St. Helen's Island, Chateau de Ramezay, Belmont Park and a movie "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs".

Last Friday, 14 boys, 6 counsellors and Mr. Bryant spent an overnight at Lake Bixby in the Laurentians. A welcome guest was Lew Waller, last year's Camp Director and former Physical Director of the Westmount "Y". This evening, the girls will make a similar attempt to "rough it" in the Laurentians for an overnight under the direction of Mr. Bryant and the girl counsellors.

The Westmount YMCA Summer Fun Club will operate for an additional four weeks to August 15. Any Westmount youngster between the ages of 9 - 15, who might be interested in attending the camp, is asked to call WE 7-3916 for additional information and ask for Vic Bryant, Director.

RMR band plays at park Monday

The Royal Montreal Regiment Band, under the direction of A. Fleming, will play Monday evening in Westmount Park. Their program comprises: O Canada; Knights of the Road, by Huffer; Poet & Peasant, by Von Suppe; Bright Eyes, by Finlayson; Tea For Two, by Youmans; The Merry Widow, by Lehar; H. M. Jollies, by Alford; Old Panama, by Alford; Sun Valley Mountains, by Ogden; Cranberry Corners, by Klein; The Man I Love, by Gershwin; The Rosary, by Nevins; Victory Bell, by Schaefer.

New Laurentian highway enhances area network

Construction of the Laurentian Highway has now reached the stage where the Laurentian Autoroute Board can announce that the section on the Island of Montreal and St. Martin will be ready for use by fall.

By the time this is completed and the proposed extension of the Metropolitan Boulevard is carried through, the City of Saint Laurent will be surrounded by one of the finest networks of super-highways in the country.

This is in the somewhat distant future. What of the immediate repercussions which will be felt as the Laurentian Highway skirts the eastern sector of the city and outlets and entrances to the autoroute channel traffic through its streets?

Although the highway will only touch Saint Laurent at a small section on the south east boundary at the Metropolitan boulevard and at the north east corner where it connects with Henri Bourassa boulevard, the most important junction will be where it meets Cote Vertu road. There will be situated one of the main exits and entrances.

Cote Vertu will be widened from Dutrisac as far as Muir and the laying down of sewers and waterworks will begin this week. Cost of this section of the

Examiner Profile

He heals to conquer

By CYNTHIA JONES

The man entrusted with keeping Montreal's great footballers, the Alouettes, fit is their genial trainer Ernest McKenzie, from North Carolina.

From 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. these days you find him at the Westmount Athletic Grounds where about 70 rugged fellows are trying out for this year's team.

"Ernie," as he is known in sporting circles, pains because, besides being their trainer, Ernie is a physiotherapist of 21 years' standing.

In 1954 Coach Douglas Walker asked Ernie to come from Wakeforest College for the seven weeks' training period to help out with the Alouettes. Ernie liked the job and Montreal so much that he decided to come back for good in 1955. For nine years he had been physiotherapist and head trainer at the college near Raleigh. Before that he had worked a two-year stint in the same capacity at the Ivy League college of Dartmouth at Hanover, New Hampshire.

burg. I went to high school in Pittsburg and took my bachelor of science degree at the University of Pittsburg. I did my post graduate work here in physiotherapy. I always tried to be a good athlete but between you and me I was never a standout.

Since February 9, 1956, Ernie has been realizing an ambition. He has his own clinic, the Westmount Physical Therapy Clinic, at 4296 St. Catherine street. He calls his 765 patients "guests." They come to him with arthritis, arthritis, lumbago, polio, muscle injuries, bad backs, knees, ankles etc. His equipment includes whirlpool bath, diathermy (deep heat), ultrasonic sound wave and every type of lamp and electric machine used in physiotherapy.

His partner is a former patient, attractive Mrs. E. Cullen, known to all as Miss Kay, who keeps the books and acts as receptionist.

During an interview at the clinic, Ernie kept darting back and forth to see his "guests." One was having a "whirlpool" treatment on a bad knee. An attractive young woman was receiving heat therapy on a shoulder. Two Greek sailors also had arrived for treatment.

"I have a cross-section of guests," said Ernie. "Everyone who walks through the door is a challenge and I do my best for them because my philosophy is that 'you can't be happy unless you are healthy' and I like seeing people happy. It bothers me when they aren't."

BACHELOR

Ernie, a 46-year-old bachelor, with curly white hair, brown eyes and a beaming countenance, said that he is in excellent shape himself although he no longer pursues any single sport, with the exception of fishing. For two years he served as a sailor in the U.S. Navy working as a physiotherapist.

Many of his patients are polio victims. "After the war at Wakeforest I opened a clinic in 1949 following the big polio epidemic and used to work on the victims gratis," he said. In 1951 he won the Humanitarian Award given by the State of North Carolina. This trophy adorns his clinic reception wall.

Another trophy is that of the National College Baseball Championship — 9th annual tournament championship '55 won by his gang at Wakeforest. His Boy Scouts of America Trophy, which he prides most, is dated 1952.

On the walls also are pictures of the Alouettes in 1955, '56 and '57. Above them is a treasured football sign by the players of the Westmount High School to whom he has given time, treatment and advice, and an autographed Alouette football.

Ernie said that people should make the most of themselves by watching their posture, not overindulging at table. "There is a sport for everyone, even if it's ping-pong," he said. He thinks reducing exercises after the age of 35 should be supervised.

A Mason, member of the Westmount Chapter, Ernie for the last three years has trained both the north and south teams for Garbage Poll Day in Montreal West at New Year's.

Perhaps Ernie is best described in "The Game Guy's Prayer," which is framed in his clinic and begins "Help me to be a sport in this little camp of life."

WE SAY

The metro story told Rotarians

MAYOR Reginald Dawson of the Town of Mount Royal spoke to members of the Westmount Rotary Club last week, and had a lot of sound sense on the matter of metropolitan government.

To keep pace with the growth of population, he pointed out, and the anticipated major shift from rural to urban living, we must embark on large scale developments and improvements.

Housing is one of the major tasks. Water and sewers are two others.

Metropolitan government, he warned, will not be a cure-all, but metropolitan planning must be done. It is unlikely, he said, that taxes will be lowered with the advent of metropolitan government, and he urged that cost of major over-all improvements be shared by higher levels of government.

Webster mentioned for higher post

ACCORDING to word from Ottawa, Ross Webster, Conservative Member of the Federal Parliament for this riding, is prominently mentioned for one of the posts of assistant to a Minister.

In our opinion, this would be a sound choice.

A successful businessman, a resident of the area with a record of public service in the Navy and in other pursuits, Ross Webster would carry to such a post a wealth of business acumen and experience.

In swinging the riding to the Conservative banner, in his second try, he displayed a marked degree of organizing ability and a singleness of purpose.

Lifting him to the level of assistant to a Cabinet Minister would be a tribute also to the district, one that in the past has sent such illustrious men to the Federal House as Mr. Justice Abbott and the late R. S. White.

We hope Ross makes it.

Pat the firemen for 'fog' method

WESTMOUNT'S fire-fighters don't get too many fires, as the local record for fire prevention is high.

At a recent display, however, they showed their prowess with "fog" a new and daring method of extinguishing blazes.

"Fog" fire-fighting is nothing new for the Westmount smoke-eaters. As a matter of fact, it has been used here for the past two decades and more.

About 1935, when this method of fighting fires was first demonstrated on a large scale, this city bought its first fog-nozzles, applicators for regular hose equipment.

For small fires, in a room or shed, the fog does a better job and causes less water damage as less water is used, although at higher pressure.

At a recent display, arranged by consultant C. L. Blickstead, the Westmount firemen won the day with their fog method.

A MISUNDERSTANDING

LOOKING for a new "angle" Dawn Kedgaree's publicity agent suggested that she should collect pictures. "My house is full of them," she said. It was then explained that by pictures he did not mean signed photographs of wealthy admirers. Paintings were the idea. Old Masters and French Impressionists. "Go to the galleries and photograph some," she said. No, said the agent. She must buy the originals. "What's the use of them?" she asked. "It's culture," said the man. "Oh," said Dawn, "why didn't you say so at first?" Trivia Tansy, of course, has many expensively bound books on her dressing-table. When opened, each discloses a neat receptacle for toilet accessories, especially a large edition of "War and Peace."

Cemetery was Jewish according to record

A correspondent signing himself J.S.S.A. queries a statement made in the issue of June 6th regarding the location of the first Canadian Jewish cemetery which was given as being in what is now Dominion Square in Montreal.

The writer claims that it was known as St. Anthony's Roman Catholic cemetery, and his grand parents owned a burial lot there.

Editor's note: Our authority for the statement is taken from the Gazetteer of Montreal by Borthwick (Mechanics' Library) which says:

"In 1775 they (the members of the Spanish and Portuguese Synagogue) purchased a piece of ground at the present (or near) Dominion Square, and the first Jew to be interred there was Lazarus David in 1776, the year following the purchase of the ground. The stone bore the date, October 22, 1776."

Holidays

By

The Venerable

R. Kenneth Naylor, D.D.,

Rector, Trinity Memorial Church

Yes, we have closed our schools, but education does not stand still. We still are under training and the community has a concern in it, even if we have set our trained teachers free.

Some of the children are fortunate enough to get away to the country for the whole summer. There, unconsciously, they learn to hike and swim, to play tennis, perhaps, and all the games they missed in the winter. Or, they may den up with an armful of comics and completely waste their summer. Those who go to camps are preserved from that waste of time. There activities are controlled and directed and there is the incentive of competition and organized games.

However, there are many children who do not get to the country. For them there are playgrounds, equipped and supervised. The City and the Parks and Playgrounds Association have done a wonderful work in providing such accommodation in all parts of the City. Even so there are not enough parks and we find the streets occupied by children because they are too far away from a playground.

Then again, one finds a little group — a gang of four or five boys, who go off by themselves and make their own games. Some years ago I was taking a short cut across the mountain, and found such a gang of four boys. They had brought a few potatoes and a small pail of water. They made a fire behind a stone wall and were boiling their potatoes. The potatoes must have been dreadful but to them they were the food of the gods. They had brought together the essentials of the outdoor, primitive life, from which we have all emerged — water, fire and food. They were renewing the history of the race. That is holiday education. The pity is that there is not more of it, for there is a real danger in holidays; that is undirected or misdirected ganging. It comes with boys and girls who are too old for the small playgrounds and too far from the big playing fields, or too lacking in purpose to find them. There is a field of activity for young men who could organize in their own districts and turn holidays into a school of citizenship.

T. M. Atkinson, 49, buried Tuesday

Final tribute was paid Tuesday at Jos. C. Wray and Brother Inc., Mountain St., to Thomas Martin Atkinson, who died early Monday at his home, 470 Cote St. Antoine Road, Westmount, at the age of 49. Mr. Atkinson was advertising manager of Du Pont Company of Canada (1956) Limited.

A past president of the Association of Canadian Advertising and Sales Executive Club of Montreal, Mr. Atkinson was born in Simcoe, Ont. He graduated from McGill University with a B. Eng. degree and from Harvard University with an MBA.

In the 20 years he spent with Canadian Industries Limited before it was divided in 1954 into two companies — one being Du Pont of Canada — he held a wide range of appointments. He joined that company as assistant to the general manager of the chemical group. He was transferred to the sales division in 1936 as assistant to the division manager. During the years 1940-1942, he was manager of the sales statistics department in the general chemical division and in 1943-1945 he was assistant product sales manager in that division. In 1945 he was named assistant to vice-president Herbert H. Lank, now president of Du Pont of Canada, and was appointed to the advertising department as control manager in 1947. He became C-I-L's advertising department manager in 1949 and manager of Du Pont of Canada's advertising department in 1954.

In part he said: "The Church reminds builders that the family is the basis of society and family requirements must be met."

Mayor R. Labrosse lauded contractors who have shown a spirit of cooperation. Councillors M. Bergeron, A. Kuchiran, J. P. Gilmour, P. E. Labrosse were in attendance. Fernand Alain, president of Alain Construction, builders of Hillcrest Gardens, assured the municipal officials of cooperation, and was host to the gathering following the official blessing.

Municipal judge pays tribute to newspapers in weekly field

Sir:

What distinguishes the community newspaper from its metropolitan daily and weekly contemporaries is that the first devotes its news and editorial columns to what is of local interest. It is familiar without being intrusive.

It prints full reports of local activities and encourages a closer and deeper interest in the work and accomplishments of organizations and groups that concern themselves wholly with community matters.

It will not permit itself to become involved in controversies or differences between parties or groups that labor more in party or group interest than the welfare of the local population.

It will not allow its columns to be exploited to capitalize alleged misdeeds and wrong doing on the part of those to whom the local or general public have given their confidence; nor will it stoop to insinuation or innuendo to arouse suspicion or betray lack of confidence in those who hold public office.

It is neither partisan nor prejudiced — except in cases where purely local issues call for discussion and remedial action.

The neighborhood paper cannot be used as an agency or instrument to carry on a campaign to vilify or defame public men. It generally gives praise to those to whom praise is due and takes it for granted that those who hold public office will carry out their duties in a satisfactory way.

While the community newspaper cannot give coverage to national and world events in the same degree as the metropolitan press, there is really no need for such information which is available through the several radio stations. The community newspaper is a link between the residents in the district in which it circulates. It also provides a medium for local merchants to advertise their wares and appeal more directly to those living in the district whose patronage they seek.

Its correspondence columns are generously open to all who have anything to say that is worthwhile. In some places many an excellent letter dealing with what is important is consigned to the waste paper basket by the person in control of the "letters to the editor" and may have a dislike of the correspondent or strongly disagree with the views he expresses.

The local newspaper which is generally non-partisan and independent welcomes correspondence that is written in decent and courteous terms. It will print nothing likely to hurt the religious or racial susceptibilities of its readers. It can be read by old and young since it does not give publicity to the sordid details of crime and immorality. It is a constructive influence and merits the support of the community it serves. While the metropolitan daily or weekly may cater to a larger clientele, it is the neighborhood paper that partakes of the nature of a family organ.

That it is needed, is borne out by the fact that there are hundreds of district papers that have a steady and growing circulation. Within recent years quite a number of the larger dailies were forced to suspend or amalgamate while the ably edited district papers continue to hold their own. The local newspaper has played its part in promoting Canadian progress and will continue to do so as it gets the encouragement and support to which it is entitled from those it serves and defends.

By LAURENT PRICE

MORE than thirty years ago, Tyrone Power, father of the current stage and movie favorite, upon being asked in a newspaper interview what made a city outstanding, replied: "Restaurants". The famous actor of yesteryear added that in his estimation only five cities in North America qualified: New York, San Francisco, New Orleans, Montreal and Quebec. At the time, Power senior was playing in St. Louis, and as no Canadian visitors were present, the inclusion of the last two cities could not be construed as merely a gracious tribute. Son Tyrone Power, recently in Montreal playing a theatre engagement, reiterated his father's sentiments, but changed the order placing our city higher on the list and next to New York. We're quite sure both Powers were also cognizant of museums, schools, parks, homes and other factors which contribute to a city's charm; but with a couple of decades separating the father's and son's careers tramping the length and breadth of the continent, apparently Montreal's appeal to gourmets remains undiminished; and, if anything, has improved over the years. For this column's initial appearance, on an editorial and pictorial assignment covering restaurants, supper clubs and assorted other boites in and out of Montreal, it's pleasant to know that the readership constitutes a large segment making up the clientele of these establishments, justifying their discriminating support, as well as international recognition.

one is bound to reveal a percentage of drink traps, clip joints and sundry murky deadfalls. But compared to other towns, the proportionate rate is extremely low. Any young blade worth his salt, who has graduated from the corner drug store soda fountain and able to get off his stool unaided, can spot and avoid them. Credit for Montreal's unique and eminent position in the restaurant and cafe entertainment field (in referring to Montreal, we include those outlying inns within a large radius, but which have in their operations been influenced directly by standards set and originated for the Montreal trade) may be attributed to the foresight and intelligence of managers and owners connected with the industry. Leo Dandurand, who resurrected Drury's and established the Cafe Martin, is one of the first to come to mind. Both restaurants are now world famous, and have been used as a pattern by others. The Ritz Carlton management has shown infinite good taste. The choice of talent, presented this past season in the Ritz

Cafe, was unsurpassed anywhere. The smooth function of their other rooms deserves high praise. Ruby Foo's thanks to the efforts of Henry Manella and his associates, has eclipsed the New York original many times over. Tommy Tomasso has rendered an enlightened service to the general dining out scene. His Piazza Tomasso is a shining exemplar. Henri Charbonneau, the enterprising manager of the La Salle hotel, has kept pace with high quality and service in his eating departments. Stan Ferguson of the Queens, Ernie Ireland of the Sheraton Mount Royal, the Martin family of the New Carlton, the Desjardins family, and many, many others have made lasting contributions. In the night club section, Peter Van Der North has brought outstanding performers to the El Morocco; the Bellevue Casino inaugurated and maintained a high standard of entertainment of its type in their Ontario street premises. And, there are still many others whose praises should be sung.

The Tureck touch

By
RUDOLF KLEIN

WRITTEN to soothe the nights of an eighteenth century Russian ambassador suffering from insomnia, Bach's Goldberg Variations have since kept concert audiences the world over wide awake. Rosalyn Tureck (HMV ALP 1548-9) shows why her playing of Bach, conducting the orchestra from the piano stool, has been filling London's Festival Hall. The 30 Variations take an hour and a half to play. They take up four record sides. But performed by Miss Tureck — a Bach specialist since her school-room days in Chicago — there is never any suggestion of monotonous, so great is her ability to vary touch and tone in this noble piece of music.

In contrast

Miss Tureck is almost a one-composer artist; she rarely plays anything except Bach. In contrast, Richard Tauber, the Australian tenor who settled in England and died there 10 years ago, took a great variety of roles, shuttling between grand opera and operettas. Perhaps his favorite composer was Lehar, whose Merry Widow had a recent run at Sadler's Wells.

Now an anthology of some of his most famous operatic perlophone PMB 1011). It is disappointing, Tauber undoubtedly had an exceptionally strong and virile voice: a splendid instrument for romantic operas. But in Mozart — to which one side of this record is devoted — the ringing, thrilling tone is often obtained at the expense of smooth singing. To be recommended chiefly to those with nostalgic memories of Tauber.

A tenor who achieves smooth singing but lacks Tauber's full-blooded tone is Jussi Bjöling. As the hero of Puccini's Tosca (RCA 1605162) he is persuasive but not passionate enough for the music.

Confident

Soprano Zinka Milanov in the name part, which she sang at Covent Garden last summer, shows absolute confidence; her voice is always well controlled. Baritone Leonard Warren, as the villain of the piece, never quite suggest the oily insincerity and savagery of the character despite his strong singing.

Contentment

With worthless things a bird can build a home,
A prize to him, a straw, a wisp of hay,
He takes his precious plunder where he may, —
And then, he trills and sings his happy song,
As if, would to us, his debt repay.

Should we not learn to choose the simple things,
— The happiness, so dear, that living brings,
Contentment, and assurance, that will be
A base, a home, a firm security?

Local journalist takes top honors in CWPC 23rd annual competition

Dusty Vineberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Vineberg, 603 Belmont avenue, Westmount, a staff reporter on the Star has won the top news writing award given by the Canadian Women's Press Club.

The 23rd annual competition, open to all Canadian women writers is known as the CWPC Members' Memorial Awards and first prize winners in each of five categories receive the coveted CWPC medal plus $100.00 cash. The runners-up, first and second honorable mentions, receive engraved certificates.

The contest was established in 1935 to pay tribute to the memory of great women journalists who helped not only to build the CWPC but also to further the status of women in journalism and its allied fields. A total of 206 entries were received in English and French.

Miss Vineberg, a native Westmounter, began her journalistic career on the McGill Daily while a student. She graduated from McGill University with a BA in 1948 and took an M Sc degree in journalism from Columbia University, New York, the following year. She was employed in publicity work for the Combined Jewish Appeal in Montreal for six years prior to joining the Star staff, two years ago.

Her story "Pioneer Surgery," published in the Star, was about the first successful "artificial heart" operation performed in Montreal on an 11-year-old boy.

The judge R. L. Sandburn, editor of the Calgary Herald said the story "deals with complicated scientific procedure simply and accurately, so that any person of average intelligence could understand it easily. It is thoroughly backgrounded, it is well written and has warmth of feeling."

Runners-up in the "best news story" class were Dinah Kerr, Victoria Daily Times for a story about a hold-up and Simma Holt of the Vancouver Sun for a story dealing with a mother's attempt to save her son from the gallows.

Other winners were: Best Feature story: Kay Cronin, Vancouver Province for a story published in the British Columbia Catholic; honorable mentions: Mary Ann Fitzgerald, Regina Leader Post and Simma Holt, Vancouver Sun.

Column Writing: Mrs. Maggie Grant, Toronto Globe and Mail; honorable mentions: Margaret Aitken, MP, Toronto Telegram and Mrs. Larrie McLaughlin, Hamilton, a freelance writer.

Best Magazine article: Dorothy Pechey, women's editor, Regina Leader Post for a story published in Chatelaine; honorable mentions: Pamela A. Baker, London Free Press and Mrs. Joan May, London Free Press.

Radio - Television scripts: Shirley Brett, Montreal CBC women's commentator who recently moved to Vancouver where she married Sgt. Lorne Foley of the RCAF. Honorable mentions were Eileen Laurie, CBC Vancouver and Baba Brown, CBC Toronto.

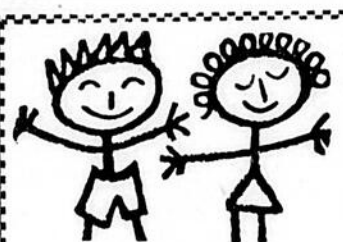

Miss Brett won for her entry "Me and My Sack" broadcast over CBM and the Trans Canada network. She is a native of Galt, Ont. and a graduate in journalism from the University of Western Ontario. She worked briefly for the CBC in Toronto before becoming their Montreal women's commentator.

Quota Club of Montreal sends representatives to annual convention

"Quotarians Look to the Future" is the theme of the thirty-seventh annual convention of Quota Club International at San Francisco opening on July 2 in the Sheraton-Plaza Hotel.

The Quota Club of Montreal have chosen as delegates to the convention Miss Norah E. McCarthy, president, with Mrs. Mabel A. Perry as alternate delegate. Miss Doris Smythe will also be present.

Over 600 delegates are expected to this session, representing Quota Clubs in Australia, Canada, Mexico and the United States. "Quota," which means "we share," is a service club of women executives from each business or professional activity in its city, and since its founding in 1919 has grown to a membership of over 10,000 and 300 clubs.

The theme speaker is Dr. Joseph Kaplan, chairman of the United States Committee of the International Geophysical Year, who will talk on "Science and the Future." Other speakers are Mrs. Phyllis Weber, only woman scientist working on the Vanguard Project in Redlands, California; the Founder of Quota International, Mrs. Wanda Frey Joiner; and Mr. Paul Speegle, columnist of the San Francisco Call-Bulletin.

Miss McCarthy will be one of the panel speakers on the subject "Women Working in the Nuclear Age," with Hope Childer, Torrington, Conn.; Evelyn Follett, Oakland, Cal.; Vivien Ingram, Flint, Mich.; and Mrs. Helen Agnew, Monroe, La., as moderator.

A program of service in the field of Girls' Work, the hard of hearing and international co-operation through help to children in war-torn countries and international fellowships, which are the particular interests of Quota Clubs, will be voted upon. The Convention will conclude after the installation of officers at a banquet on Saturday, July 5.

VON to integrate home nursing plan with Federal aid

With nine Provinces preparing to co-operate with the Federal Government in hospital insurance plans, Provincial Associations of the Victorian Order of Nurses are actively planning to integrate home nursing service with these plans. When hospitalization benefits become available on a much wider scale, a sharp increase can be expected in the number of patients seeking admission. This will mean a faster turnover in hospitals and patients must be returned to their homes more speedily than in the past. If this is to be done without detriment to the well-being of the patient, home nursing care will be required, perhaps for an extended period, care of a high professional standard carried out under the direction of the patient's doctor or the hospital clinic.

According to Miss Christine Livingston, Director in Chief of the Order, who has just returned to Ottawa from a trip through the Western Provinces, there is a high degree of enthusiasm for what the V.O.N. regards as a new and stimulating challenge. "It is our opinion," said Miss Livingston, "that at no time has there been a greater need for the sort of service that the V.O.N. is in a position to provide, with a nursing staff skilled in home nursing care in so many Canadian communities."

In British Columbia, Alberta and Manitoba the Provincial Associations of the V.O.N. have already made submissions to the Provincial governments outlining the sort of home nursing care that they are prepared to give patients on discharge from hospital, a service that will help to relieve the strain on hospital beds and facilities which are still limited. Similar studies are in progress and submissions are being made in other Provinces.

The Victorian Order, Miss Livingston points out, has had sixty years of experience in visiting nursing, offering this service on a cost basis. Further, the Order has pioneered in the field of care and rehabilitation of patients after leaving hospital, through pilot projects in Toronto and Montreal.

Christian Science

How spiritual understanding of God as eternal Life brings health and healing will be explained in Christian Science services Sunday.

Bible selections in the Lesson-Sermon on "Life" include the account of John of Christ Jesus' healing of the nobleman's son.

A correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy declares: "Jesus never asked if disease were acute or chronic, and he never recommended attention to laws or health, never gave drugs, never prayed to know if God were willing that a man should live. He understood man, whose Life is God, to be immortal, and knew that man has not two lives, one to be destroyed and the other to be made indestructible" (369:16).

The Golden Text is from John (17:3): "This is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent."

Rev. Lennox Williams Paid final tribute

Final tribute was paid Thursday at the Cathedral of the Holy Trinity in Quebec City to Rt. Rev. Lennox Waldron Williams, MA, DCL, DD, former Bishop of Quebec, who died Tuesday at his summer residence in Tadoussac. He was in his 99th year.

Mrs. J. R. Wallace of Westmount is a daughter.

Bishop Williams, born in Lennoxville in 1859, was a son of Rt. Rev. James William Williams, fourth Anglican Bishop of Quebec. He was educated at Bishop's College School, St. John's College, Oxford, Eng., and the Clergy School, Leeds, Eng. In 1899, he received the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity from Bishop's University, Lennoxville.

The whole period of his ministry was spent in the province of Quebec. He was deeply interested in education and civil affairs in this province and was an active sportsman. He was greatly esteemed and loved both by the clergy under his direction and by the people of Quebec City.

New Laurentian . . .

work is estimated at $400,000 and this is only the beginning. It is hoped to start work as soon as possible on the section of Cote Vertu between Muir and the new Autoroute. This is not possible at the moment, because sewers have to be laid and that cannot start until the Decarie-Raimbault Collector is completed. This part of the work will cost an estimated $500,000.

To further facilitate the expected increase in traffic, it is also planned to begin work in a few years on the Dutrisac-Laurentian boulevard section of Cote Vertu. However, the cost of expropriating land for the widening of Cote Vertu here is high and the traffic heavy. The City has therefore, decided to go ahead where the costs are lower than they are in the centre of Saint Laurent.

Another development, which is a direct result of the construction detailed above, will be the opening next year of Toupin boulevard in the northern part of the city. Named after City Manager, Lucien Toupin, it will extend from the CNR tracks to the city limits and is expected in a few years to stretch from Gouin boulevard to Bois Franc road.

Bois Franc will itself be widened from La France to Dutilleul. It will link up with Henri Bourassa boulevard, where another exit and entrance to the Autoroute will be located.

Clearly, these immediate projects and the future extension of the Metropolitan boulevard, will be a tremendous asset to Saint Laurent. With already over five hundred businesses and industries in an area of which only 25% is fully utilised, these major roadways will provide easy access for moving merchandise and personnel.

Their value is well-nigh incalculable and will undoubtedly provide additional stimulus to Saint Laurent's booming development.

Good Old Rain... or Flood

Dow's golf tourney re-slated for LaSalle course on Sunday

A RECORD field of professionals and class "A" assistants will tee off at Ville LaSalle Sunday in the 4th annual Quebec Professional Golf Championship. The heavy rain cancelled the tourney last Sunday.

At stake are the Dow Trophy and a purse of $3,500. Last year's champion, Jack Kay of Pine Grove, will be defending his title and seeking another top prize of $700 that goes with it.

The entry list is the biggest in the tournament's history. John Costigan, honorary secretary-treasurer of the Quebec PGA, said in releasing the draw. Last year's field totalled 60.

Spectators, who will enjoy free parking and free admission privileges, are expected to give most of their attention to these five "big" threesomes: Damien Gauthier — Johnny Henrick — Stan Horne; Jack Archer — Bill Kerr — Rudy Huot; Jack Kay —

Jules Huot — Jim Swarbrick; Stan Kolar — Gerry Proulx — Alan Johnston; and Stan Baird — Pat Fletcher — Len Harman.

HOT 66

The forecast of pro Baird who said the tourney would be won with five under saw his own course record of 66 broken when Bob Dean of Cornwall shot a 65 in Friday's Pro-Amateur match at LaSalle. In the press-TV-radio match last week, Baird came in with a 68 to top the pros.

Dean was out in 33, went wild on the back nine with five birdies for a sizzling 32. Par is 35-37 for the 6,400 yard course.

Playing flawless golf throughout his round, Dean missed firing a 64 when a stubborn three-foot putt on the 18th veered away from the cup and he had to settle for his seventh birdie.

"It was the best 18-hole round of my career," said Dean, as his fellow professionals congratulated him. There wasn't a weak point in his entire game, woods and irons were working to perfection and except for the solitary wayward putt his putter acted like magic.

His round was only one of nine sub-par and five par rounds turned in by the professionals. Alan Johnson, assistant pro at Kanawaki finished with a 68, three strokes back of Dean.

Childs (lead), G. McCracken (second), N. McKenna (third) and R. Fender (skip) who is the secretary-treasurer of the PQLBA.

Local cricket teams back in action: special games slated

Teams of the Montreal District Cricket league will be back into league action on Saturday with three special games as added attraction.

A team from Philadelphia will play Saturday against Janadair: Sunday against Adastrians and Monday against Westmount.

In the Ontario-Quebec match, the locals retained the Lord atholstan trophy in a one game match which had to be called on Sunday due to the heavy rain. The Quebec team have lost this trophy for the past four years and prior to that time, they had won it five straight times.

On Saturday, Quebec declared at 266 for 9 and at stumps Ontario had lost four wickets for 69 runs.

George Lowbridge and Graham Ellison opened the innings for the home side and were still together at luncheon adjournment. Lowbridge was out to a good catch in the slips in the first over after lunch after making partnership had realized 105 runs.

The second wicket fell at 109 when Ellison skied the ball attempting a pull shot. He had made a most stylish 42. Charlie White with 31 and Dave Lawless 17 became associated in a fourth wicket partnership of 47 carrying the score along to 159.

With runs needed quickly, Mel Rilstone ran up a fast 38, including two sixes. Dick Cronney and Gerry Comacho contributed 13 runs each. The innings was declared closed at 4:30 p.m. with the score at 226 for nine. The most successful bowler for Ontario was Kelly Bonadie, who bowled 31 overs and took four for 65. Tim Gibson finished three for 60.

'A' Division
Saturday: Verdun at West Indians; Canadair at Stelco; Westmount at Adastrians; Mt. Royal at Wanderers.

'B' Division
Saturday: TCA at Canadair; Adastrians at Westmount; Wanderers at Rolls Royce; West Indians receive bye.

July 12: Philadelphia at Canadair; July 13: Philadelphia at Adastrians; July 14: Philadelphia at Westmount.

Trapshooters elect F. M. McCormick, dir.

Frank M. McCormick of Montreal, Executive Director of the Canadian Civilian Association of Marksmen, has been named Manager of Canada's shooting team at the World Shooting Championships August 13-27 in Moscow.

Twelve marksmen will represent Canada at the contest. They will leave Montreal by air for Russia August 12.

The team will consist of five trap shooters, four small-bore rifle shooters, one pistol entry and two running deer entries. Most of the team has already been selected.

Snowdon clubs now in last half of action

No matter how thin you cut the Snowdon Major Fastball league cake, the most interesting race is the one that is being set by Steinberg's, Prosper and Pepsi Cola for second place.

Before the flood on Sunday which cancelled all games, afternoon and evening, Prosper came up with a 6-4 win over Verdun, pushing the Sportsmen further into the cellar and helping Pepsi to hold onto fourth place. It could be that the three clubs, Grocers, Pepsi and Prosper are fighting to stay out of fourth and last playoff position.

The edge that Steinberg's held over their rivals was they had a couple of games in hand which will help them to hold onto second place.

If you talk to some of the rabid Snowdon fans who follow the teams around the three park circuit, they'll settle for the way that the standing was on Monday morning with Dow well ahead in first place, Steinberg's in second, Prosper in third and Pepsi in fourth with Verdun out of the money. They feel that Verdun are just a little too late to do any great damage. But, that remains to be seen. Coach Les Hynes is worrying about his hitting. Even pitcher Paul Saindon in the fold, the help may have arrived a little too late.

All teams are now settled down to their rosters and it will be for the managers to work in the best players to the tight spots who will produce the best to win ball games.

Andy Anderson came up with a 6-4 win over Verdun putting Prosper once again among their rivals Pepsi and Steinberg's. He hit a good one that drove in two runs for Prosper. Paul Saindon and Dave Pearce pitched for Verdun. Paul entered the game in the sixth.

Jack Boyce came through with a two run homer to help Verdun's cause. Verdun picked off a run in the first and third. Prosper took over the game in the third with three runs. Verdun went ahead in the seventh with two runs but saw it tied up in the eighth by Prosper and lost in the ninth with two Prosper runs.

Action gets underway tonight at Trenholme when Pepsi takes on Dow.

The Pepsi crew face a tough week. They play Prosper on Thursday and again on Sunday. They are in Verdun next Tuesday against Verdun in their second game of the week. The Verdun crew take on Prosper on Sunday in the east end. Dow will be in action again on Monday against Prosper.

Verdun played three games in two days, picking up a single point from a 3-3 draw on Tuesday night at Willibrord Park against Dow. In the second game of the twin bill, Dow trimmed the Verdun crew 8-1.

Adding to this insult, Verdun were swamped 15-0 by Steinberg's Monday night at Trenholme mostly from the lack of bench.

Pappy O'Reilly tied the score after hitting a double in the seventh inning. The game went into extra innings but was called in the ninth as there was another game to follow.

SNOWDON GAMES
Tonight: Pepsi at Dow, Trenholme Park, 8.45.
Thursday: Prosper at Pepsi, Trenholme Park, 8.45.
Sunday: Verdun at Prosper, Prefontaine Park, 2.00; Pepsi at Prosper, Trenholme Park, 8.00.
Monday: Prosper at Dow, Trenholme Park, 8.45.
Tuesday: Pepsi at Verdun, Willibrord Park, 7.45.

Corriveau heads Snowdon batting

With the schedule at its half way mark, Andre Corriveau, Prosper is still the leader of the batting race of the Snowdon Major Fastball league with an average of .447.

He has 17 hits for 38 times at the plate.

Pete Constable, Dow, the league-leading team, holds down second place with a .414 average. With batters who have more than 30 trips to the plate, there are now Verdun batters among the leading 10 and only one Pepsi Cola.

Close scoring LL games are featured

Close scoring games was the main "dish" on Little League menu as Indians nipped Orioles 6-5, Athletics defeated Yanks by the same count and the Cardinals edged the Reds 2-1.

League the games produced larger gaps in the scoring as Loislers walloped Kinsmen 7-3 and Couisneau dumped Bois-Francis 5-3.

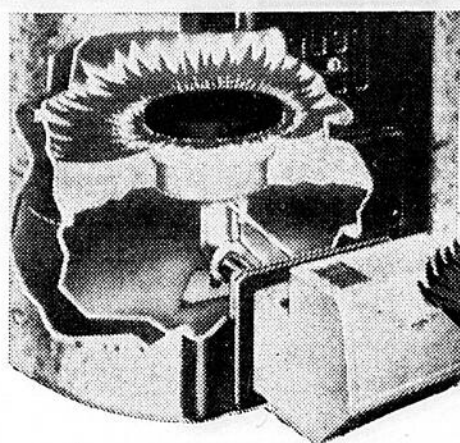

Donald McGowan, who is steadily becoming a star pitcher in the little league ranks, hurled Loislers win and also collected two doubles and a single, as did teammate R. Burnett.
