MONTREAL, C. E.—The largest and most populous City of British North America, and chief seat of commerce and principal Port of Entry for the Canadas, is situated at the head of sea or outward navigation; and at the foot of the great chain of River, Lake, and Canal navigation, which extends westward to Chicago and Fond du Lac, a distance of about 1400 miles, embracing an almost unequalled extent of inland water communication. It occupies one of the most commanding positions in America; and stands on a large, fertile, and beautiful island of the same name, 30 miles in length by 10 miles of extreme breadth, formed by the confluence of the Ottawa and St. Lawrence Rivers, and on the north bank of the latter. Thus situated at the point of junction of two very important rivers, with a free communication seawards (though 90 miles above the influence of the tides, and upwards of 300 miles from salt water), Montreal possesses all the advantages of both an inland city and a seaport, accessible to steamships and other vessels of over 1800 tons burthen. Holding too the keys, as it were, of the navigation of the Canals and Lakes,—the latter styled "the new Mediterranean,"—its position with reference to Quebec, Canada West, the Western States, New York, Boston, Albany, Portland, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Newfoundland, Prince Edward Island, makes it, by means of its extensive water and railway communications, the great centre of attraction and COMMERCIAL EMPORIUM of Canada. The City is the chief seat of manufacturing operations in the Province; and it has many extensive and costly establishments, the productions of which will compare favorably with those of other countries. The principal business streets are Notre Dame, St. Paul, Commissioners, McGill, Great St. James, and the Main Streets of the St. Lawrence, Quebec, St. Anns, St. Joseph, and St. Antoine Suburbs. The City and Suburbs are well lighted with gas, and many of the principal streets paved with stone. From whichever side approached, Montreal and its vicinity (the wood-clad "Mont Royal" forming a magnificent background), with its numerous beautiful villas, orchards, and delightful drives, its grand and stately edifices, and many elegant public and other buildings of cut stone, adorned with glittering roofs and domes, tall spires and lofty towers, present to the view of the beholder a vast, picturesque, and grand panorama. Among the many handsome buildings of which Montreal can boast, space only admits the mention of a few,—the Bonsecours Market, erected at a cost of $287,300, which is said to be the finest market building on the Continent; the Court House, costing $296,569; the French Cathedral, the Bank of Montreal, the City Bank, Bank of British North America, St. Andrew's (Scotch) Church, McGill College, the Jesuits' College, the General Hospital, St. George's Church, Wesleyan Church, the Post Office, and Custom House. Montreal has also magnificent water works, lately constructed, at an outlay of over $1,200,000. The water is drawn from the St. Lawrence, a mile and a half above the Lachine Rapids, and conducted a distance of five miles through an open canal to a capacious basin, where it is, by powerful and costly machinery, forced up through the pumping-main, two miles and three quarters in length, to reservoirs on the brow of the Mountain, capable of containing fifteen million gallons. The Harbor and Basins, into which the last link of the great Canadian inland canals debouches, though not large, are good, convenient, and safe; and they are capable of indefinite extension and improvement at comparatively small expense. The wharves, extending over a mile in length, are surmounted by a massive cut-stone wall, along the height of which is a pleasant promenade and wide street, affording a fine view of the river and its shipping. There are numerous inclined planes from the wharves, by which carriages ascend to the street above; and the whole, for appearance, commodiousness, and cleanliness, is unexcelled by any port on the continent. From Point St. Charles, at the head of the Harbor, to St. Lambert, on the opposite shore, a distance of about two miles, this great "Father of Rivers"—the Saint Lawrence—is being spanned by the Victoria Bridge. With its two long abutments and twenty-four massive piers of solid masonry, this bridge of iron, built on the tubular principle,—the greatest work of the kind ever attempted,—with its centre track for cars and locomotives, and projecting wings forming on either side a pathway for foot passengers, will be when finished the masterpiece of engineering and wonder of the world. So situate, Montreal even at present possesses unrivalled facilities and advantages for commerce, whether foreign or domestic; and when the Victoria Bridge is completed, it cannot fail to become the great central depot for the traffic of a chain of unbroken railway communication upwards of 1100 miles in length, with its numerous tributaries and connections. The cars of the Grand Trunk Railway run daily to Quebec, Portland, and Canada West; connecting at Toronto with the Great Western, and the Ontario, Simcoe, and Lake Huron Railways—in a word, with the Great West. By the line to Portland, a communication with the States is obtained, and a winter seaport afforded. The Champlain and St. Lawrence and the Montreal and New York Railways also afford direct communication with New York, Boston, and the principal Cities in the United States, and connect with all the Southern roads on the Northern part of the Continent. In summer, to these advantages, as already observed, is conjoined that of the navigation, which is usually open from about the middle of April to the end of November. A line of splendid, powerful, and fast screw-steamers, subsidized by Government and performing regular mail-service, ply weekly in summer between Liverpool and Montreal, and fortnightly in winter between the former place and Portland. During the season of navigation, daily lines of steamers, propellers, and other vessels run between Montreal and Quebec, Ottawa, Prescott, Brockville, Kingston, Cobourg, Port Hope, Toronto, Hamilton, and many other Lake and River ports, eastward as well as westward. Up to 1832, Montreal was merely an out-port of Quebec: that year it was made a free and separate port of entry; and its annual progress since has been remarkable. In 1856 the value of imports was $16,144,696, and of exports $3,825,564; vessels from sea 232 with an aggregate burthen of 69,962 tons. Value of assessed property in 1856, $25,565,833; and revenue of the City, from all sources, $285,032. Montreal is distant from Liverpool 2750 miles, from Quebec 180 miles, from Kingston 173 miles, from Toronto 333 miles, from Ottawa 120 miles, from New York 400 miles, from Boston 334 miles, and from Portland 292 miles. The City returns three members to the Provincial Parliament. Its population is about 75,000, and is steadily increasing: during 1856 the increase exceeded 5000.

Place of meeting, 30 Bonaventure st., first Wednesday in every month at half-past two o'clock.

The Committee, from the commencement of their exertions, have been quite aware that little permanent good could be effected in education without a comprehensive system of training, their attention and aim were, therefore, early directed to the supply of a pressing want in Canada East, that of a Normal School, in which certain objects of primary importance should be kept in view, such as the early and complete training of teachers; the furnishing them with sound and varied religious truth; instructing them in the best mode of maintaining discipline without harshness; a system of correctness and regularity in the keeping of registers; an uniform plan for fitting up and furnishing school houses.

The McGill Normal school, very lately established by Government, has recently amalgamated with the Society's school, the following being the principal bases of negociation:

1st. The McGill Normal will give to the teachers in training in the Colonial Church and School Society's Model School, all the advantages of its classes, aids and diplomas; receiving them as regular Pupils under the regulations.

3rd. The principal of the University of McGill College, and the Normal School Professors, will constitute the Faculty of the McGill Normal School and will prepare bye-laws for its secular and religious instruction and general management, for the approval of the Corporation; such bye-laws to be approved by the Committee of the Colonial Church and School Society, in so far as they affect their Model school or teachers in training.

4th. The School of the Colonial Church and School Society will remain under its present management, and will be constituted a branch Model school, receiving the pupil teachers of the McGill Normal School, for practice in teaching.

The Society's Model school is fitted up and supplied with School material, carefully and constantly selected from the most approved stocks. It comprises a boys', girls' and infants' school, with upwards of 400 scholars,
