THE FOUL MURDER NEAR ROME

The Cowardly Assassin of the Unfortunate Princess Still Alive.

Rome, March 3.—All Rome is still talking of the sensational murder on Thursday of the Princess Giulia Trionza di Santella, the Queen's Lady-in-Waiting, by Lieut. Baron Paterno. Not in many years has the capital been so stirred by a sordid crime.

Paterno late to-night was still slowly improving. The bullet which he fired with the intention of killing himself is still imbedded in his skull. Although he is conscious and able to talk, he refused to give any explanation as to why he stabbed and killed the woman who had befriended him.

The police, however, are not averse to making known what their investigations are unfolding. These they say show that Paterno treated the woman brutally before he finally uncompassionately took off. The Princess, frail and unhappy with her husband, they allege, fell an easy prey to the rapacious nobleman, whose scandalous adventures had brought him to the threshold of expulsion from the army.

According to the police, Paterno met the Princess in 1908 at Palermo. He became the friend also of the Prince. The friendship between the two men became so great that Paterno had himself made head of the Mafia and brought about the election of Prince Trionza as Mayor of Palermo.

It is reported also that the Prince, returning home one night from a meeting of the municipal council, found his wife and Paterno together. Enraged, the Prince fired upon Paterno, but missed his mark and Paterno escaped.

When Queen Helena was informed of the relations existing between Paterno and the Princess, she called the Princess before her and induced her to confess everything. Throwing herself at the feet of the Queen and crying out in her desperation, the Princess took oath that she would break with Paterno, begin life anew and henceforth be only an affectionate mother to her two little daughters.

From this moment, according to the authorities, Paterno, seeing that his prey was about to escape, became furious in his actions toward the Princess, and several times created scenes even within the Quirinal itself, shouting: "I shall murder you! I shall strangle you—here in the Royal Palace, amid the ladies of the court, next to the Queen."

Paterno's demands for money, it is said, became more and more imperative, and once it is alleged he even attacked the Princess in the ante-chamber to the room in which were the King and Queen. The Princess in defending herself on this occasion had her bracelet broken, and this Paterno picked up and put in his pocket. Then he left her, still threatening. The testimony of the Princess because of her loans or gifts to Paterno is said to have been reduced to $160 a month.

When the tragedy occurred the two daughters of the murdered woman were driving out in a court carriage. When they returned to the Quirinal they asked, as was their custom, for their mother. No one had the heart to tell them the truth, so they were informed that the Princess had met with an automobile accident and that her return to the Palace would therefore be delayed. Two locks of hair were cut to-day from the head of the dead woman and later will be given to the children.

A post-mortem examination to-day showed that the Princess was first wounded in the back and then in the neck. Either of the wounds would have been mortal. On the left arm also were found two slight wounds.

ONE KILLED AND FOUR INJURED

By Being Run Down by Aero-plane at an Exhibition in Madrid.

Madrid, March 3.—M. Mauvais, a French aviator, while giving a demonstration here to-day, drove his machine into a crowd of spectators who ran into his path in the Aerodrome, killing one woman and seriously injuring four other persons, including Col. Villar y Villate, a brother of former Minister of War General Villar. Mauvais himself was uninjured.

The accident was due to the spectators breaking through the barriers and rushing out on the field before the Frenchman got the aeroplane well into the air. The woman who was killed was decapitated by the propeller of the machine.

ALL QUIET NOW AT SPRINGHILL

Requisition to Be Made for More Troops—Only Thirty-five There at Present.

Springhill, N. S., March 3.—Following the riot of yesterday, comparative quiet prevails at the mines. Men are standing around in groups discussing the situation, but no disturbance took place to-day. Of 12 strikers who returned to work at the first of the week, 5 stayed at home, 3 of them because they would not face the hostile demonstration to which they were subjected yesterday, and 2 because of injuries sustained at the hands of the crowd. The two were Stephen Kenney, whose back was hurt by a stone, and Howard Koon, struck by a piece of ice on the back of the head.

The charge against Manager Sharpe, who was arrested by the town police, was "inciting to riot." The case against him and the other man arrested comes up to-morrow morning before Stipendiary Hunter at Springhill.

There will be a requisition for further troops to be sent to Springhill. The force now on the scene numbers 35 men, under Major Grey, and reinforcements are being asked for. The general opinion is that further men will not return to work in the mines unless protection is afforded, something that yesterday's events apparently showed does not exist. The strike has now continued for 18 months.

AN OFFER TO SELL CATHOLIC VOTES

Through Knights of Columbus
Said to Have Been Made by a Politician.

Washington, March 3.—That a resident of Washington, whom he named, had represented to him and other Congressmen as able, through the organization known as the Knights of Columbus, to deliver, for a suitable consideration, "Catholic votes" in large blocks in various districts throughout the country, was asserted on the floor of the House to-day by Representative Ben Johnson, of Kentucky. The assertion caused much private discussion, but there was no comment on the floor and no action was taken.

Mr. Johnson said that the offer was made to him four years ago of 4,000 such votes in his district for his reelection, in return for a money consideration. He said he received a letter inviting him to meet the writer, whom he named, and that the offer was made at that meeting. He declared that other members of Congress had more recently received similar offers.

The statement was made in connection with the consideration of a bill for changing the name of a street in Washington and Mr. Johnson said the man chiefly interested in the bill was the man who had made the offer to him.

PROPOSED FLIGHT OF AVIATORS

From Pau to Paris—Four Competitors Are to Start in the Race.

Pau, France, March 3.—Four military aviators left here to-day in aeroplanes for Paris in an endeavor to repeat the flight made by Captain Bollenger early in February from Paris to Pau, by way of Bordeaux. The distance is about 500 miles. On the first stage two of the aviators, Lieutenant De Malherbe and Ensign Cueneau, arrived safely at Libourne, about 20 miles northeast of Bordeaux and 100 miles from Pau.

Lieutenant Princet got lost in the fog and landed at Mont De Marsan, 40 miles north of Pau, and Lieutenant De Rose broke down shortly after the start. He is repairing his machine a short distance from Pau.

Captain Bollenger will leave here to-morrow for Bordeaux in his aeroplane to catch up with the other officers, and all five of them will then set off together for Paris.

DOG CHASED HOG UNDER RAILWAY TRAIN.

Two innocent lives were sacrificed on the railway at Levis yesterday, but it is understood that no inquest is to be held. The lives were crushed out under the wheels of the down L. C. R. train from Montreal.

The accident, which was witnessed by a number of horror-stricken spectators, took place just as the train had slowed down to cross the diamond on its way to the station across the river.

It was a thrilling scene and yet it might have been avoided had the victims only exercised common sense. But, perhaps, common sense is not given to the animal kingdom, for the victims were not of the human variety.

As a matter of fact, a frisky dog got after a well-developed hog, and in the course of their riotous chase both ran under the L. C. R. engine—and furnished the story.

THE PLAY "APRES MOI" WITHDRAWN IN PARIS.

Paris, March 3.—Henry Bernstein to-night voluntarily withdrew his play, "Après Moi," from the Comedie Francaise. Mr. Bernstein said the action was taken because of his desire to prevent further untoward demonstrations by the "Camelots du Rio" and others hostile to the play.

THE SACRIFICE, A GRAND OPERA

Produced in Boston, Mass.—
The Plot Is Laid on Mexican Border.

Boston, Mass., March 3.—"The Sacrifice," a grand opera, composed by Frederick S. Converse, a native of Massachusetts, and conducted by Wallace Goodrich, a Bostonian, was presented for the first time on any stage at the Boston Opera House to-night. A fashionable audience, in which were many music critics from other cities, welcomed this new opera in English.

The action of the opera has to do with the stirring times along the Mexican border in the middle 19s, "the march of the races" forming the background and atmosphere of the drama, while the music presents melodies from Mexican folklore.

In the plot, Captain Burton, of the American army, falls in love with a Mexican beauty, Chonita, who has followed her lover, Bernal, to the frontier. She is compelled to receive the attentions of the American as he is in charge of the forces protecting her home. Her lover, a leader of the Mexican forces, attacks Burton in a frenzy of jealousy, while Chonita, trying to prevent the encounter, is seriously wounded by Burton. The American officer has an opportunity to give up Bernal or to be shot as a spy, but love of Chonita and to satisfy his ideal of his military honor, permits himself to be killed by Bernal's followers, and the lovers are united.

Miss Alice Neilson was cast in the part of Chonita, while Constantino, a Spaniard, appropriately filled the role of Bernal. Blanchard, the baritone, was Captain Burton. The scenes of the drama are laid in a garden of Chonita's home, inside a mission church, and in Chonita's bedroom, while the action covers but three days.

AN EX-REEVE SENT TO TRIAL

On a Charge of Bribery in Connection with a Road—Other Cases.

Woodstock, Ont., March 3.—John Youngs, ex-Reeve of West Zorra, was this afternoon committed to stand his trial for attempting bribery, at a higher court by Magistrate Ball, who is conducting the preliminary hearing on the subject of the Oxford graft inquiry. The ten charges against ex-Warden M. T. Buchanan were held over until next Thursday, when the one case incomplete of the three laid against ex-Councillor B. B. McCarty, which was adjourned owing to the illness of an important witness, will be taken up. The charges against McCarty are accepting money to turn contracts to a London hardware firm. The charge on which the Magistrate sent Youngs for trial is "that he, being a member and warden of the corporation of the county of Oxford, did unlawfully and corruptly offer and attempt to obtain for himself from one William Smith, the sum of $50 to use the power and influence of his position as such councillor and warden to procure for the said William Smith $5,000 from the corporation of the county of Oxford for the said William Smith's road."

Smith went into the box and told of having had a talk with Youngs in regard to the sale of the road, which lies north of the city. Witness told Youngs that he wanted $5,000 for it. Youngs replied that he did not think the county would pay that much, but he stated that if he, Smith, would pay him $50, he would do his best to get him the price. Witness did not accept the proposition. The next year Smith got $4,600 for the road. Under cross-examination Smith said he was inclined to take Youngs' offer as a bribe as he knew he would be warden the next year.

Crown Attorney Ball the announced that he would withdraw the Cameron charge, in which Youngs was alleged to have offered a bribe for the late Miller's position, while on the charge that he offered R. E. Butler $1,000 for his influence to get him the Miller's job, Youngs elected to be tried by a jury.

The remarkable interest manifested in the cases, was indicated this morning when farmers for miles around drove into the city and parked the police court room to suffocation. Many were turned away, and waited for news of what happened in the street below.

Toronto, March 3.—"There will be an anti-reciprocity resolution introduced in the Legislature," said Sir John A. Macdonald this afternoon. "There is no foundation for the statement of an anonymous source that there had been any doubt as to arriving at a conclusion. There are no two opinions in the government party on the subject, and there has been no delay in coming to a conclusion."

Montreal, March 3.—The crowded has made it necessary to transfer a number of the prisoners to Quebec. This morning Governor Vallee visited Chief Campeau and requested that he be given fifteen men for the purpose of conveying fifty prisoners to Quebec to-morrow. Fifteen men from the different stations in the city have been selected and will convey the party to the Ancient Capital by special train to-morrow.

ELEVATED RAILWAY FOR MONTREAL

Capitalists Looking for a Charter to Build One—Aldermen
Opposed to it.

Montreal, March 3.—That an effort is being made to obtain a charter to build an elevated railway along Craig street from one end of the city to the other is confirmed by Mr. W. B. Powell, general manager of the Montreal and Southern Counties Railway, but Mr. Powell says that it is not the Montreal and Southern Counties which is looking for the charter. Mr. Powell has just returned from Quebec, where he was fighting the exclusive clause of the Tramways Bill. "There certainly are parties down there interested in an elevated railway," said Mr. Powell. "The name of the thing is to be, I believe, 'The Elevated Rapid Transit Company.' Just who is behind it I don't know. There is some Montreal bond broker interested, but I understand that he is merely representing big interests who are behind the thing."

The general sentiment among the aldermen who were at the City Hall this morning appeared to be opposed to the granting of the right to any company to build an elevated railway system through the city streets.

PROFESSOR LEACOCK

ON RECIPROCITY.

Professor Leacock of McGill University will lecture on "Reciprocity" this evening at the Columbus Hall. It should be understood from the first that his arguments will be against Reciprocity, as he is a confirmed opponent of the proposed fiscal change. On the other hand, it should be also understood that, although he will attack the agreement, he will not be influenced by any partisan considerations in so doing. He will discuss it from the non-partisan standpoint of the student of national and political economy, whose business it is to regard these matters without the prejudice incidental to the party camps.

The occasion will be no mere political demonstration, and it is anticipated that a large number of both Liberals and Conservatives will take this opportunity of hearing an independent, unbiased view of the most vital question now before the Canadian public.

"MUSIC HATH CHARMS."

Gramophone music is said to increase the yield of milk from cows, says the Vancouver Province. A farmer perched on a high stool in the barnyard turning the music-box crank and changing the discs while the hired man extracts the lacteal fluid from "Bossy" comes as near being a pastoral paradise as anything imaginable.

ADDING TO OUR

COMMON COUNTRY.

"These considerations lead me to the conclusion that the adoption of the pending treaty would, from the national standpoint, be such an act of wisdom as was the adoption of the treaties in the past that have added to our common country more than half its present area."

It is reported that Hon. James Wilson, United States Secretary of Agriculture, used the above language in the closing part of a statement on reciprocity, which was prepared for circulation where it would do the most good. The remainder of the statement was sent out, but the paragraph quoted above is understood to have been blue-pencilled by President Taft as not suited to the Canadian market.

ATTACKING MR. BRYCE.

Certain papers have raised a peculiar question of diplomatic ethics concerning the propriety of Ambassador Bryce's intervention in connection with the proposed reciprocity treaty. Some English critics have declared that the desires of the Laurier Ministry are not identical with the best interests of England, and Ambassador Bryce, as England's representative, should have considered England's interests first.

With the former statement we are entirely in accord. We believe that the Reciprocity agreement would surely act to the detriment of Canada and the Empire. But, as far as Mr. Bryce is concerned, we presume that it was his duty to assist the Canadian delegates if they had need of him, and, if he did so, it is a mistake to endeavor to make political capital out of the fact.

INCONSISTENT POLICIES.

The Transcontinental project and Reciprocity are so antagonistic that it is impossible to reconcile them, to justify both. The Transcontinental was designed to build up Canada as a nation independent of the States, to keep Canada's trade within her own borders, to unite the Provinces. Every argument advanced by the Laurier party in favor of the Transcontinental is in direct opposition to their arguments in favor of Reciprocity.

When Sir Wilfrid commended the former project to Parliament he read out this patriotic preamble to the contract entered into between his Government and the incorporators of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway:

"Whereas, having regard to the growth of population and the rapid development of the production and trade of Manitoba and the Northwest Territories, and to the great area of fertile and productive land in all the Provinces and territories as yet without railway facilities, and to the rapidly expanding trade and commerce of the Dominion, it is in the interest of Canada that a line of railway, designed to secure the most direct and economical interchange of traffic between Eastern Canada and the Provinces and territories west of the Great Lakes, to open up and develop the northern zone of the Dominion, to promote the internal and foreign trade of Canada and to develop commerce through Canadian ports, should be constructed and operated as a common highway across the Dominion, from ocean to ocean, and wholly within Canadian territory."

Sir Wilfrid continued to emphasize the national aspect of the undertaking. He said:

"Our fertile prairies are becoming settled, and are going forward by leaps and bounds. Thousands and hundreds of thousands of immigrants are coming in every year. For one, two, three generations, at least, and perhaps more, these new settlers will grow cereals, and probably nothing else. They will have need of everything that is required by civilized men. They will have need of clothing, furniture and every other kind of manufacture. Then, sir, what shall we do? Shall we allow them to be supplied by our American neighbors, or shall we provide a railway which will enable our manufacturers in Ontario and Quebec to supply them with what they shall require? There is one thing above all which will be their need, and that is lumber. They must have lumber for their houses, their barns, their stables and all their buildings. Where are they to get it? Not from the section of country where they live and work, for the lumber is not there. But, luckily for us, the other sections of the road, the section between Moncton and Quebec, and the section across the Rocky Mountains, are rich in lumber of every kind; and the moment the road is open there will be established at once an important trade between all the sections covered by the railway. Nor is that all. There is another branch of trade which seems to be forgotten or passed over at present, but which is also of the greatest importance. I refer to the cattle trade. I need hardly tell you, sir, that the foothills of the Rockies are perhaps to-day the best grazing lands under the sun; and the herds of domestic cattle in those grazing districts are becoming as numerous as were the buffaloes of old. The breeders must find an exit to the ocean.

"This new line, by its shortness, directness and climatic conditions, is an ideal line for the cattle trade. The shipper, when he lands his cattle at Quebec, St. John or Halifax, will have them in the ideal condition of being able to set at once to sea without any loss of weight."

The Premier urged Parliament to rush on this $300,000,000 national railroad, so that the West might ship its grain and cattle through Quebec, St. John and Halifax, and that the West might draw its clothing, its furniture, manufactured goods and necessities from Ontario and Quebec instead of being supplied by its American neighbors.

Sir Wilfrid concluded with the following eloquent appeal:

"The Canadian Confederation would have been a union on paper, and a union on paper only, but for the fact that the Grand Trunk Railway and the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Intercolonial Railway brought all parts of our country together to act in union and to beat with the same heart. This new railway will be another link in that chain of union. It will not only open territory hitherto idle and unprofitable; it will not only force Canadian trade into Canadian channels; it will not only promote citizenship between old Canada and new Canada, but it will secure us our commercial independence, and it will forever make us free from the bondage of the bonding privilege. For that reason alone, in my estimation, it would be worth all the sacrifices and far more than we are called upon to make."

IV.—NO RECIPROCITY.

What does Reciprocity mean? It means free trade in Natural Products.

What are Natural Products? Practically this is only another name for the Natural Resources of a country.

And this means the Birthright of a People, the original heritage upon which their civilization is built.

Reciprocity, then, is free trade in Natural Resources.

Here are two Nations.

They are proposing to initiate Reciprocity.

That is, they are about to throw open their Natural Resources, each to the other.

But look at them.

The one is a people already grown and established—their institutions and the basis of their citizenship long since driven deep in the soil.

The other is a little people, small in the achievement of the present—great in the prospect of the future.

Look now at the Natural Resources of the two.

Those of the one have gone to build up a mighty civilization, but they lie prostrate beneath its weight.

Ask of the devastated forests of Wisconsin and the lacerated farm land of Kansas, where are the Natural Resources of the United States.

Scarcely an acre of the Free Land, the Homestead Farms, left to the Newcomer.

The forests, still a notable acreage, are clutched and torn by the Paper Trust and the Lumber Combine, till one State alone sees as many trees taken from the soil as the whole Dominion of Canada.

And now, what?

The ravenous maw of American industry opens wide, the restless eye of the Trust looks abroad for new fields.

"Down with the barriers!" is the cry.

On to Canada!

Down with the slumbering pine woods of Columbia, and the pulpwood wilderness of New Ontario.

Rip and tear the soil of Alberta that its grain may pour into the millers' hopper of Minneapolis.

Down with it, out with it, away south with it—the whole natural heritage of the Canadian people that should have been held in trust for their descendants.

And meantime smile, if you can, with the simper of the fools content at the sale of your little peck of potatoes in the Boston market.

Clutch tight the Yankee Nickle of your profit.

You may well treasure it.

You have sold for it your birthright and your future.

STEPHEN LEACOCK.

THE BATTLE CRIES OF 1891.

In 1891 this reciprocity was fought and conquered for a while. In those days there were some stirring battle cries that apply with equal force to-day. The following, which made a great impression at the time, was written by R. K. Kernighan for the Toronto Evening Telegram, February 23rd, 1891:—

THE MEN OF THE NORTHERN ZONE.

Oh, we are the men of the Northern Zone. Shall a bit be placed in our mouth?

If ever a Northerner lost his throne? Did the conqueror come from the South?

Nay, nay—and the answer blent In chorus is southward sent.

Since when has a Southerner's conquering steel Hewed out in the North a throne?

Since when has the Southerner placed his heel On the men of the Northern Zone?

Our hearts are as free as the rivers that flow To the sea, where the North Star shines;

Our lives are as free as the breezes that blow Through the crests of our native pines.

We never will bend the knee, We'll always and aye be free;

For liberty reigns in the land of the real; Our brothers are round her throne;

A Southerner never shall place his heel On the men of the Northern Zone.

Oh, shall we shatter our ancient name, And lower our patriot crest?

And leave a heritage dark with shame To the infant upon the breast?

Nay, nay—and the answer blent In chorus is southward sent:

"Ye claim to be free—and so are we— Let your fellow freemen alone;

For the Southerner never shall place his heel On the men of the Northern Zone."

Shall the mothers that bore us bow the head, And blush for degenerate sons?

Are the patriot fires gone out and dead? Hot brothers stand to the guns!

Let the flag be nailed to the mast— Defying the coming blast;

For Canada's sons are true as steel, Their motto is muscle and bone.

The Southerner never shall place his heel On the men of the Northern Zone.

Oh, we are the men of the Northern Zone, Where the maples their branches toss;

The Great Bear rides in his state alone, Afar from the Southern Cross.

Our people shall aye be free, They never shall bend the knee;

For this is the land of the true and real, Where freedom is bred in the bone.

The Southerner never shall place his heel On the men of the Northern Zone.

—R. K. Kernighan, in the Evening Telegram, February 23, 1891.

RECESSIONAL.

(For Canada's Days of Peril.)

By John Boyd.

God of our fathers, in this day When danger faces our fair land,

Teach those the error of their way, Who with a bold and impious hand

Would our great heritage betray; God of the nations, guard us yet,

"Lest we forget, lest we forget."

Our fathers built on solid base, Inspired by fervent love and zeal

True patriots all, of sturdy race, Sought but to serve the common weal

Shall we their memories disgrace? God of our fathers guard us yet,

"Lest we forget, lest we forget."

Now hostile hosts behold with greed The goodly riches of our state,

Seek us to serve their selfish need, And lure us to a recreant's fate.

Guard us against the traitorous deed; "Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet,"

"Lest we forget, lest we forget."

Arouse the manhood of our land, Inflame all hearts with patriot fire,

From ocean to ocean's strand Strengthen a people's righteous ire,

Illume the darkness with Thy brand, Spirit of Freedom guard us yet,

"Lest we forget, lest we forget."

The Hamilton Herald considers it unfair that Russia should jump on China just after the inhabitants had cut off their cues. The desire to catch them where the hair was short could not be resisted.

"Good teeth are an essential qualification for good citizenship," is the dictum of the Alberta Medical Association. Vicious tendencies in children have been traced to bad teeth, and atrocious crimes committed by men whose masticating apparatus was defective.

King George has removed the ten minutes' time limit that was formerly placed on the sermons of clergymen selected to preach before the sovereign. Many excellent sermons were preached within that period, and their popularity was not confined to royalty.

He Is 55 Years Old But Young in Vitality

"I can show you how to restore your youth and how to keep it. A 'Health Belt Man' CANNOT grow old; he must be young." Weakness, Nervousness, Unmanliness have conditions to be laughed at by the intelligent user of my great appliance, for it gives, in abundance, all that vim, vigor and nerve force which the weakened system craves. Worn every night and all night for two or three months, it sends a great, warm, glowing volume of electricity into your body through the nerve centres at small of back; from the first hour's use you experience a decided benefit; there is a great mysterious force which gets right to work. No conditions imposed except that dissipation must cease. Help Nature that much; the Belt will do the rest. It takes the weakness and kink out of your back; it drives rheumatism pains away from all parts of the body; you will feel and look young and strong again; people noticing your physical change will be more attracted toward you on account of your vitality and life; in two months you can experience the full vigor of perfect health. Henry Eggman, Norwich, Ont., writes: "Your Health Belt cured me of Nervous Debility, Lost Vigor, Kidney and Bladder troubles after all else failed." This is but one testimonial among thousands which you may see if you care to.

TAILOR'S SON WHO BECAME COUNT

Blackmail Charge in London as Sequel to the D'Aulby Case.

London, March 3.—Another curious phase in the career of the Comte D'Aulby, who is the son of a Brain-tree tailor, was developed at Marylebone Police Court, on Tuesday.

Before the court was Alexander Tscherniadi, described as a retired Russian army officer, who was charged on remand with conspiring with the count to obtain money from Mme. de Choiseul (formerly Mrs. Charles Hamilton Paine) by threatening to publish certain letters. The case for the prosecution was that D'Aulby claimed £40,000, which he alleged the late Mr. Paine, the millionaire, agreed to pay in respect of pictures from D'Aulby Chateau, at Tours, and that he intended to force payment by means of letters.

Joseph Labic, through the interpreter, stated that he was a retired avoué and editor of legal publications, living in Rue Picot, Paris. On March 1, 1910, he was asked by Mrs. Hamilton Paine to assist her in connection with her affairs with respect to the D'Aulby case. D'Aulby was represented in Paris by Mr. Boddington, a barrister, who represented English solicitors in Surrey street, London. D'Aulby was also represented by Maitre Alain and Maitre Maurice Bernard in Paris, and at Tours by Maitre Torean. Mme. Paine's avoué at Tours was Maitre Deschene. On May 25 he went to Maitre Alain's office with Maitre Deschene and there they saw Maitre Alain and Mr. Boddington. There he was shown some copies of letters by M. Alain.

Was anything said about Mme. Paine obtaining the letters?—Yes, Maitre Alain said she ought to buy back those letters.

Did he give any reason for that?—He said it would cause scandal in the American colony in Paris if it was known that Mme. Paine had written those letters to D'Aulby.

Was any price mentioned?—Yes, 175,000fr.

Continuing, the witness said that the avoué told him that the originals of the letters were in the hands of M. Behrend, and would be given up. That appeared to be said on behalf, not only of M. Behrend, but of D'Aulby. M. Alain offered to let him take the letters away, in order that he might convince Mme. Paine of their grave contents.

Witness asked that when he received the letters Maitre Alain had already marked the scandalous passages and said he had also marked in red pencil the passages relating to the pictures.

Did Mme. Paine agree to pay anything for the letters?—She immediately answered that she refused to pay one centime for the letters. M. Plumont, Mme. Paine's barrister, said, wrote to him to that effect. At the interview between Maitre Alain and Mr. Boddington, they said that, as Mme. Paine had two million francs income, it was nothing for her to spend that money to buy the letters. The previous evening they mentioned 500,000fr.

Mr. Muir: Was D'Aulby sentenced to a month's imprisonment?—Yes; on Jan. 14.

Mr. Palmer: And immediately discharged.

In reply to Mr. Palmer, the witness said the sentence of one month was for certifying that one picture out of the £40,000 worth of pictures in question was a Corot, whereas it was not, and in view of the long period that he had been in custody he was immediately discharged.

A further remand was ordered at this stage.

READS LIKE REAL LIFE FAIRY TALE

Girl Who Sang Carols in Streets
Trained to be Great Vocalist.

London, March 3.—The story of a little singer shortly to be introduced to the public as a "prodigy" is one of those romances of everyday life that sound like a fairy tale.

The heroine is a sweet little miss of thirteen summers, and Mme. Amy Sherwin, the well-known voice-trainer of Regent street, herself a former prima donna of note, is the good fairy. One Christmas night carol singers visited a house at Hampstead. Here Mme. Sherwin resided, and her delight at hearing a voice of such purity and quality as the little girl's in such surroundings inspired the good fairy to make inquiries, and eventually to adopt the child singer. Now she has been given the professional name of Stella Carol, in memory of so wonderful a meeting.

"It was really a romantic meeting," says Mme. Sherwin, "quite in the approved fairy-book style. I had just returned from my salon to my home in Hampstead—very weary after a hard day with my pupils. Suddenly, outside my window, the voices of two little girls rose in a Christmas carol. I was annoyed at the disturbance, but gradually my annoyance gave way to surprise and wonder.

"Both the little girls had very sweet voices, and when one of them sang top A and produced a note of perfect purity I went to the door to find out what manner of children they might be. I brought them into my drawing-room and learnt their story. They were two little sisters from Holloway—two of a family of twelve—trying to get some money to buy their mother a surprise present for Christmas.

"They sang again—one of them holding a half-eaten apple—and I was so impressed by the natural beauty of the voices that I determined to take the elder one and train her for the singing profession.

"I sent them home at once with instructions not to sing in the open air, and next day saw their

"Now Miss Stella Carol is living with me. I have practically adopted her, and have taken complete charge of her education. She has her own bedroom, and a maid to look after her. She will also have a governess to teach her languages and to take charge of her during her afternoon walks.

"Already her upper notes are improving. She can sing top D and E flat with perfect purity. She has a winsome and modest little face, and I have every hope that at her debut, within the next three months, she will create a furore."

This was the story told by Mme. Sherwin to the "Daily Mirror" representative, but when he called on Miss Stella Carol at her new home she was too shy and bashful to speak a single word, but she looked very contented and happy—happy beyond words, in fact. When asked if she liked her new life Stella's lips moved in the way very little girls say "Yes," and when the Pressman hoped that she would become another Melba or Tetrazzini she fixed her eyes on her toes and blushed in a perfect agony of silence.

Stella, however, had confided to a friend that on Christmas Eve, when she and her sister were singing carols in the street, they made 13s. for the present for mother.

Topics of the day

ANNEXIPROCITY.

A former Canadian now living in St. Paul Minn., writes The Montreal Star as follows:—

Sir,—I enclose a clipping from the front page of the St. Paul Dispatch of February 15, the day after Congress voted so overwhelmingly in favor of the reciprocity agreement. It shows the North American continent as this paper sees it, providing the United States Senate duplicates the action of the House. This map is more eloquent than words, and I wish every Canadian who is in favor of the ratification of this agreement by Parliament could see it.

The Minneapolis Journal on the same date came out editorially with a scurrilous article anent the coming of the Duke of Connaught as Governor-General, ridiculing the forthcoming ceremonies in connection with the King's coronation, and insulting Canadians by practically stating that their loyalty to the Empire was gauged by dollars and cents.

Two days later the Minneapolis Tribune, under the heading, "Joking with the British," in an editorial endeavored to explain away the break made by Champ Clark, the Speaker-elect of the new Congress. It said in part: "There is no telling what evil may not come from the gratuitous humor of his inference in the closing debate upon the McCall reciprocity bill to the future union of the whole North American continent under a single flag. There is a continent full of lively Latins to the south of us the nimble witted Gauls are our friends at a pinch, the European continent lay before him and even the Asiatics have proved that they can see the point of a joke. Why need he point his clumsy shaft at a nation of English that take twenty-four hours to digest a joke, and a sub-nation who receive it only by trepanning?"

Fellow-Canadians, you see in what esteem you are held by your dear cousins on this side of the line and how disinterested they are in this agreement for the three papers mentioned are the most influential and widely circulated of any papers west of Chicago.

I was talking with a friend who owns three grocery stores in Minneapolis and who is a well-educated conservative business man. He gave it as his opinion that the United States would get Canada in time, that they needed it, and that what the United States wanted they went after, and in answer to a question of mine stated that they would buy it from England, and if they could not buy it they would fight for it. Now this is of course sheer nonsense, but it shows the kind of talk that is fostered by the newspapers and politicians, and four-fifths of the people of this country have the same ideas, namely, that they need Canada and sooner or later somehow they will get her. The majority of Canadians do not know but the politicians of Canada, especially those who have been active year after year in begging for closer trade relations with this country, know that the tariff wall has been raised higher and higher against Canada with the openly avowed purpose of forcing her into political union. This country has been so egotistical in the past that they actually believed that Canada could not get along without them, but they have awakened to the fact that a nation has grown up to the north of them who is competing with them in the markets of the world, and what they were unable to accomplish by arrogance and a high tariff, they are now trying to accomplish by jollying and a show of generosity by doing the thing that they have always wanted to do, open their markets to Canada's raw natural products.

It is brought forward by the papers of this country now, as an argument to whip some of the opposing politicians into line, that this will be the last opportunity the United States will have to make a trade like this with Canada, that if it is not secured at this time, Canada will form closer trade relations with the Mother Country which will surely lead to Imperial Federation, and that this opportunity would not have occurred, had Sir Wilfrid Laurier not been anxious to divert public attention from some of his other measures which he wished them to forget. There is no denying the fact here, however, that the ratification of this agreement is the only thing that will swing the Republican nomination to Taft in 1912 as he was elected on a platform calling for a drastic reduction of the tariff against Canada, and the next Congress would have done it without any remuneration from Canada.

I was born in 1863 in Frontenac County and lived there 29 years, and have paid taxes there on the old homestead to the present time. I came here in 1893, where I have resided since, having business interests here, but in all this time, I have had no desire to sell my birthright for a mess of pottage. I am a British subject still, and it costs me something too. Take the one item of taxes, my loyalty to my country in that one item alone costs me more than $20 a year. The home alongside of me here is owned by a citizen of this country and he pays under $50 a year taxes. On my lot and house exactly the same size as his I pay over $70 a year in taxes, all because I am not available to the politicians.

DEATH OF THE REV. DR. J. E. HALL

Prominent Presbyterian Divine
Passes Away from Effects of Paralytic Stroke.

Montreal, March 3.—The Rev. Dr. J. Edgar Hill, pastor of St. Andrew's Church of Scotland, succumbed this afternoon to a paralytic attack which seized him on Wednesday evening after speaking at a missionary meeting earlier in the day. He was walking homeward with a friend and passing over Dominion Square at the time of the seizure. Not the most intimate friends or relatives had any suspicion or warning of anything being wrong, nor apparently had the Doctor himself, for after attending the meeting in question and giving a missionary lecture, he called at the University Club, in University street, chatted with his old friend, Mr. John Williamson, on such topics of the day as reciprocity, education and other matters, with as much vigor and zest as a man in the prime of life; then set out shortly for his home in Peel street in company with Mr. Williamson. Just as they got into Dominion Square alongside the Y.M.C.A., Dr. Hill fell, giving Mr. Williamson the impression that he had merely slipped on the icy pavement.

Dr. Hill was not conscious when picked up, but recovered, later on, and up to Thursday evening was quite clear in intellect and also able to converse and hear. The paralysis was chiefly evident in the limbs. On Thursday evening, however, a change for the worse took place, and, relapsing into unconsciousness, he grew rapidly worse, the end coming this afternoon at half-past four.

Dr. Hill was born at Glasgow, Scotland, in 1842. He studied at Edinburgh University and after graduating in 1872 was licensed by the Edinburgh Presbytery. He was presented with the living of the parish of Burnt Isle, Pife, and after four years received a call to the parish of St. Paul's, Dundee, where he remained until 1882, in which year he was nominated to St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church of Scotland, Montreal. Dr. Hill was a man of public spirit and held office in various institutions and societies.

TONIGHT'S LECTURE AT COLUMBUS HALL

Will Be Free to All—200 Seats
Reserved for Ladies and Their Escorts—No Tickets.

Don't forget that it is to-night at 8.15 o'clock that Professor Leacock will lecture on Reciprocity. To clear any misunderstandings that may have arisen, it will be as well to say that the lecture will be free to all, and there will be no charge for reserved seats. A certain number of reserved seats in front will be reserved for ladies or ladies and their escorts. This number will probably be about 200, and, as Columbus Hall will seat about 750, there will be plenty of good seats for others. No tickets will be given out.

In addition to Professor Leacock, who will approach the question as a political economist, Mr. R. J. Younge, of Montreal, will treat it from the commercial view. Letters will probably be read from the Hon. Clifford Sifton, Mr. Lash, a leading Liberal of Toronto, and others.

Quite a number of Liberals have announced their intention of going to hear Professor Leacock speak, and a large attendance is sure to be in evidence.

SMALL FIRES.

The firemen were called out twice yesterday morning to two small fires. The first was to extinguish a blaze in some ash barrels in the yard of St. Roch's Church. The second was for a fire caused by an overheated stove in a house in Notre Dame des Anges street. The loss in the latter case will be about $150.

PACIFIC PASS COAL FIELDS.

The general annual meeting of the shareholders of the Pacific Pass Coal Fields, Limited, was held yesterday at the company's office, Montreal, and a great number of shareholders were present, the different reports of the directors were approved, showing that the company was in a first-class condition. The following board of directors were elected: Mr. E. B. Greenfield, Hons. Senators R. MacKay and P. A. Choquette, Messrs. J. W. McConnell, H. A. Lovett, R. Brunet, E. de Bernis, A. H. Cook, E. T. Ross and W. MacPherson.

QUEBEC BIBLE SOCIETY.

The regular monthly meeting of the Committee of the Quebec Bible Society took place on Thursday evening, March 2, President Mr. R. B. Lindsay in the chair. There was a good attendance of members. The Hon. Secretary was warmly welcomed to his place and congratulated on his recovery from a serious illness. A good deal of important business was transacted. Miss H. Kimball was appointed the society's depository from May 1, 1911, on the expiration of Mr. J. J. Moore's contract, the work to be carried on in same premises. The matter of a children's celebration of the Tercentenary of the Authorized Version of the English Bible was recommended to the Ministerial Association for settlement. The Secretary placed in the hands of the members present copies of the Society's Annual Report, which is this year one of great interest. Owing to the illness of the secretary, Mr. A. Hyde kindly saw the report through the press. It will be distributed to subscribers in a few days. The work of the society is encouraging, and is constantly making new friends.

FIREMEN HAD AN EARLY MORNING CALL.

The firemen from No. 5 Station had an early morning call to attend to a blaze which had been caused by placing hot ashes in a barrel near one of the stalls in the Champlain Market. Mr. Sam. Verina, the vigilant night watchman, discovered the fire and at once called out the men from No. 5. The fire did not amount to anything, and the turn out of the firemen might have been avoided if a little common sense had been used. The run of the firemen was the second within two days, both in the early hours of the morning, and both caused by the thoughtless dumping of hot ashes.

"There's a Reason"

BRILLIANT EVENT AT THE CHATEAU

Banquet of Canadian Mining Institute—Fine Cheer and Good Fellowship.

With the banquet last night the Canadian Mining Institute brought one of the most successful conventions which it has held for a long time to a brilliant close. The banquet was largely attended, and the beautiful Empire Room of the Chateau Frontenac presented a bright and animated appearance. Mr. Adams, president of the Institute, occupied the chair, and a number of excellent speeches were delivered. The Provincial Government was represented by the Hon. C. B. Devlin, Minister of Mines and Colonization, in the absence of Premier Gouin, who was prevented from attending owing to his duties in the House. Dr. James Douglas, a pioneer in the mining industry, gave some interesting recollections dealing largely with the early days of copper mining in the United States.

The closing day of the convention was devoted to a more than usual interesting series of papers. The place of the next meeting was not decided upon, it being left to the executive to choose the city in which the delegates will again meet.

Among the matters dealt with at the meeting yesterday afternoon was the report of the president, Dr. Adams dealt with the estimates of the iron resources of the world. He quoted figures compiled by the Swedish International Geological Congress, which was held last summer, and, according to the figures, the outlook for the world was from Canada.

At the banquet last night the Chateau Frontenac had prepared a special menu for the two hundred or more guests who sat down. The guests were presented with an asbestos card (of weight), which was a novelty in the way of a menu card.

After the usual loyal toasts had been proposed, letters of regret from Dominion and Provincial Ministers were read. The toast to "The King" was drunk with an enthusiastic outburst of loyalty. The next toast was to the Dominion and Provincial Parliaments.

Mr. Congdon, a gentleman who has conducted seats from the Atlantic to the Arctic, was called upon to respond, and his address was one which aroused much enthusiasm. The greatness of the British Empire, he said, was the liberty which its subjects enjoyed.

Hon. C. B. Devlin responded for the Provincial Government. In a witty speech he stated that the Provincial Government, which he represented, regarded the Canadian Mining Institute as one of the most important bodies in the Dominion. They were among the builders of the Empire and the country. He spoke in the name of the Premier, who was unable to be present, owing to his Parliamentary duties (or at least owing to the Opposition), but he would assure them that the Government of the Province of Quebec would do all that was possible to help them. Ontario had had its development in mining and while Quebec was still a bit behind, he was sure that this Province would reap the benefits of the efforts which were now being put forward to develop its mineral resources.

The dean of the mining industry, Dr. James Douglass, a former Quebecker, and one of the pioneers in mining development, was then called upon by Mr. J. Penhale, who acted as toastmaster, to propose the toast of the "Mining Industry." Dr. Douglass gave a very interesting retrospect of the early days of the mining industry in Canada and the United States. The toast was responded to by Mr. John E. Hardman, who spoke of the wonderful development in mineral wealth which the Dominion of Canada had shown in the last decade. The possibilities of the Dominion were not yet fully realized, and he was certain that Ontario and Quebec, within the next few years, would be the centre of the mining industry of the world.

There were a number of other toasts, as well as several songs. The latter might be called a feature, when Mr. Hay and his hard-working assistants rendered what the toastmaster, J. Penhale, was pleased to call the national anthem of the Institute, "Drill, Ye Warriors, Drill," with sledge and anvil accompaniment.

Verdict of New York Singer Against Railroad Affirmed in the West

St. Paul, Minn., March 3.—As the result of a decision on appeal, Miss Emma M. Libaire, a New York singer, who lost her voice when a Minneapolis and St. Louis train crashed into an automobile in which she was riding, near Lake Minnetonka, will collect $8,500 from the railroad.
Her suit was fought bitterly on the ground that the verdict was excessive. The jury in the trial court brought in a verdict of $11,500, which the Court reduced to $8,500. This is affirmed.
The court cited the revised laws of 1905, imposing on a railroad company the duty of causing a bell to be rung and a whistle to be blown as a train approaches a public crossing. Authorities also were cited to show that an action by a married woman for personal injury brought in the State where the injury occurred is governed by the laws of such State as to the right of recovery and the damages recoverable regardless of the place of plaintiff's domicile.
Where damages to a wife resulting from defendant's actionable fault have in no part been caused by the wife's own wrong, two distinct causes of action may accrue, one to her, for the direct injuries to her husband and the consequential injuries to him, consisting of loss of her services and society and of the expense to which he may have been put, the Court held. The wife in this State may sue in her own name for her injuries, which are direct, and as Mrs. Libaire is married she was entitled to maintain action in her own name and to recover for injuries to her person, including damages for loss of earning capacity as a singer.

THE WAR AGAINST GAMBLING RESORTS
Causes a Spectacular Battle in the Heart of New York—Police Storm Den

New York, March 3.—The most spectacular battle in the police war against gambling resorts was fought late to-day in the Times' square where great crowds leaving the matinee performances of neighboring theatre witnessed the engagement. Hydraulic jacks, axes and sledge hammers failed to break the steel barred doors nearly six inches thick which protected a third floor room of a three story building on Broadway from intrusion by Deputy Police Commissioner W. J. Flynn and a squad of detectives. Determined to gain access to the suspected place, they were finally forced to run up a ladder to one of the windows fronting on Broadway. The excitement which this move created attracted so many thousands of people that it was necessary to send for a large force of reserves and even for the extra patrol of mounted police to handle the throng. By the time the police had got into the room, by way of the ladder, the alleged principals in the gambling resort had escaped through some iron barred windows in the rear and disappeared by way of the roof of a vaudeville theatre adjoining. No less than 200 men were found in the room, however, and several arrests were made. The police added a notable collection to their already big museum of gambling devices, which have been seized in recent raids.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE OF A YOUNG GIRL
Montreal, March 3.—A young singer named Pearl, 23 years of age, and attached to the Red Moon moving picture theatre, on Ontario street, attempted to take her life at 1.30 o'clock this morning by swallowing a violent poison. Fortunately her cries were heard and Dr. G. E. Beaugrand, 763 Ontario street east, was summoned and administered an emetic. The young woman will have to answer to the charge of attempted suicide, which was due to despair in being unable to get regular employment.

SKI JUMPERS WILL MEET TODAY

Annual Competition of the Quebec Club Promises to Be a Most Interesting One

There promises to be lots of sport at the annual competition of the Quebec Ski Club, which takes place this afternoon at the jump and track on the Quebec Club.

Skiing has now become one of the most popular of winter pastimes, and the Quebec Club has a large number of enthusiastic and daring exponents of the art.

The annual competitions of the club have drawn out large crowds of spectators, and have provided lots of sensational thrills for all those who attend.

This year's competition promises to be more successful than any which has been held previously, and it is expected that a great crowd of spectators will be on hand to see the events.

The competitions will start about 4 o'clock p.m., and as there is a large list those who attend will undoubtedly have an opportunity of seeing something exceptionally good.

As already announced by the Chronicle, the Club this year have made the rules governing the competition stricter, and it now requires the competitor to keep his feet till reaching the flag placed at the turn, as otherwise his jump will not count, and as each competitor has five jumps we will no doubt see some very fine jumping and previous records broken.

The club jump is in rear of the Ross Rifle factory, and it is a course that should afford great sport.

The Quebec Ski Club has asked a special favor that those who intend going to see the competition would kindly leave their dogs at home, as last year several serious accidents nearly occurred owing to their canine friends being in the way of the jumpers.

DOUBLE-HEADER AT THE RINK TO-NIGHT

There will be a game at the Quebec Rink to-night between St. Patrick's and Crescents, in the City League, which promises to be an exciting one. The St. Patrick's are running strong with Laval for the championship, and they cannot afford to lose any games. The club will therefore put out its strongest line-up, and will make every effort to pull off a victory. The Crescents are not talking much, but it is said that they have a line-up that will make St. Patrick's travel at top speed all the way. In addition to the City League match, there will be a game between the W. A. Marsh Co. and the Rock City Tobacco Co. Whether the tobacco men can smoke out leather men, or whether the latter can tan the tobacco men is to be proved, but it will all be put on the last and smoked to-night.

KNOCKOUT BROWN AND WOLGAST HAVE HARD FIGHT

New York, March 3.—While he was forced out of the ring at the close "Knockout" Brown, the tow-headed little New York lightweight, gained a popular decision over Ad Wolgast, the world's lightweight champion, in a slashing ten round bout to-night at the National Sporting Club of America. Three weeks ago Brown fought Wolgast at Philadelphia and the crowd of 3,000 which saw him fight to-night voted him a victory, although the law requires that no decision be given. Brown forced the fighting from the start and on the whole gave more punishment than he received. In the clinches, Wolgast showed superior ring generalship with his infighting. He kept pounding Brown's kidneys in a way that was decidedly effective, and this proceeding met with great disapproval from the Brown supporters, who hissed the champion. While Brown seemed to have a decided advantage in the early rounds Wolgast did greater execution towards the close of the contest. Neither was in distress at any time during the bout and no blood was drawn. In the last round Brown was backing toward the ropes as Wolgast rushed him. They clinched and rolled through the ropes together and Brown would have fallen from the ring had not a cluster of hands shoved him back. The usual crowd of sporting celebrities witnessed the bout and every available inch of the club house was packed.

WOULD REDUCE LACROSSE FIELD

And Play the Game With Less Men—Suggestion of Montreal Man.

At the annual meeting of the National Lacrosse Union in Toronto next month, President W. E. Findlay, of the Montreal Lacrosse Club, will make a suggestion, in fact it will be put before the meeting as a resolution that may make a great change in the national summer game. Mr. Findlay's proposition in brief is to reduce the size of the field and to reduce the size of the teams.

Mr. Findlay proposes to reduce the length of the field to 100 yards between goals and the teams to ten men each. At the present time the rules call for a distance of at least 120 yards between goals, but while the rule sets a minimum distance it says nothing whatever about a maximum distance. Thus on some grounds the limit is 120 yards, while on others the distance is much greater.

By making a uniform distance, and by limiting the distance behind the goals in which the ball may be in play Mr. Findlay hopes to see a game developed that will appeal more strongly than ever to the spectators. By reducing the size of the field Mr. Findlay paves the way for the reduction of the number of men on the team. As the game is at present there are always spells during which players at one end or the other are comparatively idle. By reducing the teams and playing ten men aside Mr. Findlay anticipates that this objectionable feature can be eliminated. Another and probably still more important factor in the eyes of the professional clubs is the fact that a couple less players need be carried on the salary list effecting a saving of possibly of fifteen hundred dollars a year to some clubs.

YOUNG MCGOVERN BEATEN.

Poughkeepsie, N.Y., March 3.—In what was to be a ten round bout between Young McGovern, of Brooklyn, and Battling Chester, of New York, before the Brighton Athletic Association, here to-night, McGovern's seconds threw up the sponge in the ninth round. McGovern broke his hand in the fourth round and was knocked down seven times during the battle.

ZBYSZKO DEFEATS ROLLER.

Philadelphia, March 3.—Zbyszko, the Polish champion, defeated Dr. B. F. Roller in a wrestling match at the American Athletic Club here to-night, taking two falls in one hour and 18 minutes. The men were matched to wrestle to a finish, the struggle hold alone being barred. In the first fall Zbyszko secured a half nelson and neck hold and pinned his opponent to the mat. A few minutes later he secured a rolling fall.

QUEEN TEAM WON IN BOSTON.

Boston, March 3.—Queen hockey team defeated the Victorias, a newly organized local team, 3 to 2, at the Boston Arena to-night. The Kingston players won through skillful combination play. Johnny Heron, captain of last year's Yale team, played a brilliant game for the Victorias, while Box, the Queen's 18-year-old forward, starred for the visitors. The first half ended with the score 1 to 1.

CURLING MATCH FOR PELL CUP.

The blue ribbon competition between the Victoria and Quebec Curling Clubs will be contested to-day at 3 p.m. on the Quebec Rink. This trophy was presented a few years ago by Arch. Pell, Esq., of New York, to be annually competed for by the best rink from each club. Skip Bruneau will defend the trophy, which is held by the Quebec Club, against a strong rink skipped by Bignell for Victorias.

MONCTONS ARE CHAMPIONS OF MARITIME PROVINCES.

Halifax, N.S., March 3.—The Moncton Victorias defeated the Halifax professionals in the final game of the Starr trophy series to-night by a score of nine to three. The game was fast and interesting. The first half started at a brisk pace, with both teams playing excellent hockey. At half-time the score was three to one in favor of Moncton. In this period Wilkie received a severe blow in the head and had to retire. Crockett, of Moncton, went off to even the sides. Moncton scored six times in the second half and Halifax found the net twice. By thus defeating Halifax, the Victorias retain the Starr trophy, having scored a total of 32 goals to Halifax's 19.

A MONTREAL ALDERMAN LOSES HIS SEAT.

Montreal, March 3.—Judgment was rendered in the Court of Review this morning in the case of invalidation of Ald. Dubeau's election. The judgment of the Superior Court was maintained unanimously and Mr. Dubeau loses his seat. The case in the Superior Court had been heard by Mr. Justice Laurendeau and the election of Mr. Dubeau, as alderman of Lafontaine ward, had been declared null and void, because of lack of property qualification. Justices Tait, Fortin and Delorme were on the bench.

HOCKEY SUPPLIES FOR SOUTH AFRICA.

In Weekly Report No. 325, Commissioner Poussette, then stationed at Durban, gave an account of a new project to erect a skating rink in Johannesburg, and invited manufacturers of skates and hockey supplies to forward to Durban office catalogues, accompanied by f.o.b. prices Montreal and St. John, best accounts, shipping and gross weights, and ocean freight rates.

The following account of the operation of the rink appeared in a recent copy of the African World:

"The new ice skating rink for Johannesburg should be open in about six months' time. Lord Methuen laid the foundation stone a few weeks ago. The new rink is being erected on the site of an old roller skating rink in Noord street, near Park Station. By May next it is hoped there will be added to the buildings of Johannesburg a structure that will be an acquisition to the city's architectural beauty, and which will substantially contribute to the healthy and legitimate amusement of the people of the Witwatersrand.

The promoters of the scheme have been very careful to see that their ice manufacturing machinery is of the very latest type, and avoiding the pitfalls of their predecessors in some of the large home and continental cities, they claim to have obtained a plant in which will secure an even surface in the least possible time, and which will make skating at once easy and comfortable, with the minimum of risk of injury. Skeptical people would be inclined to say that it was too bold a move to attempt to provide an ice skating rink in a city of such recent origin as Johannesburg, but the directors of the Niagara, Limited, have given their scheme the most exhaustive consideration, and every little detail has received very careful attention indeed, until there is practically no chance of its failure. In a word, the directors, having regard to the magnitude of their undertaking, are taking no chances, and are bent on seeing that a fair return is made for the capital invested, the capital of the small man, it may be mentioned. For those who may not care to skate, there will be placed at their disposal spacious galleries, in which to watch the skaters or to promenade. These galleries will hold something like 3,000 people.

As was pointed out, the adoption of hockey is almost certain to follow; indeed, a species of the game is now played there on roller skates. Canadian manufacturers and merchants might do well to act upon the advice regarding catalogues, etc., and send such information to Commissioner Chesley at Durban.

Press Opinions

A DOUBLE MASTER STROKE.
(Buffalo News.)

It is not the least interesting feature of the new reciprocity deal that it is regarded in both countries as a master stroke of political policy. It was the general feeling in this country that the outlook for President Taft's re-election was very discouraging before this deal was made and submitted to Congress.

Discontent, criticism, complaint of many kinds were the most common expressions of the people. But from the day that reciprocity was announced as an agreement which had been concluded and was subject only to ratification of the legislative bodies in each country, the President has increased in strength with the people in the most remarkable way.

On the other hand, reports from Canada show that Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Government accomplished quite as clever a stroke of business in the political sense as in the commercial, when the reciprocity deal was agreed to. The Laurier Government has been in power for fourteen years, a term of office which is without precedent in American political history, for our President, who corresponds more nearly to the Prime Minister than any other official, never exceeds eight years in command of the executive power in the country, backed by a majority in Congress.

The greatest admirers of Sir Wilfrid agree that his ministry was losing somewhat in strength, was taking on rather the condition of an old boat still seaworthy but less staunch than formerly, and that something needed to be done to restore it to its best estate, and the thing has been done by means of the reciprocity agreement. It gives his administration a first-class measure to support and battle for and put the opposition into such a quandary as to enfeeble its force.

EGGS AND RECIPROCITY.
(Hamilton Spectator.)

That wonderful reciprocity market of ninety millions is already showing its uncertainty in at least one direction. Yesterday eggs sold in New York at 20 cents a dozen, with the price dropping. One dealer is selling a dozen eggs for eight cents to purchasers of fifty cents' worth of other goods. Would the egg-producing community of Canada like to have the American egg surplus thrown into Canada just now to drive down the prices?

ANOTHER CONSTITUTIONAL CRISIS.

Great Britain is not the only place in which there is a constitutional crisis. The Isle of Man, made familiar to all readers of fiction by Hall Caine, is also troubled with a question as to the right of the people to control the public purse.

The Isle of Man has possessed a form of self-government for many, many years, but some of the provisions of that system of government have become so complicated that there has resulted what is a practical deadlock.

The Governor retains many of the rights of the old line of kings and is clothed with autocratic powers which seem ridiculous in this twentieth century. He is assisted by a council composed entirely of nominated members, seven being lawyers and three churchmen.

The popular chamber, that elected by the people of the Island, is known as the House of Keys, but all bills have to run the gauntlet of the Tynwald court, a joint meeting of the two houses, presided over by the Governor in person. Finally when the bills are ready for sanction, a public proclamation is made on Tynwald Hill, this being a quaint survival of the days before printing presses and newspapers and official gazettes were known.

This ceremony generally takes place in the summer season and is quite an attractive feature to the many tourists who visit the Island.

The conflict which is now agitating the Manxmen is one concerning public utility. The Island spends some £1,700 each year in advertising its attractions to the tourist. A business member of the House of Keys proposed that instead of this sum being divided into two items, as has been allowed in the past, it should be handed over en bloc to the committee which has charge of the advertising. The proposal was at once vetoed by the Governor who ruled that no member of the House of Keys could propose a resolution as to money matters in Tynwald court without having first secured sanction to do so from the Governor.

The House of Keys at once protested. Its members claim that as representatives of the people they have a right to dispose of the money as they please, admitting, however, that their action is subject to the veto of the Governor. The point in dispute is as to whether the veto commences to operate before the motion is made or after it has been disposed of. The members of the Keys steadily maintain their right to discuss every question of finance both in their own house and in Tynwald court. They have refused to accept the Governor's ruling and have asserted their determination to take no further part in the proceedings in Tynwald court until the deadlock has been ended.

The Governor, Lord Raglan, stands equally firm and the deadlock can only be solved by a general election, which may soon be expected now. The Manxmen insist upon their right of self-government and decline to be "coerced" by any nominee of the Crown.

The solution of the question will be interesting, but in these days of democracy it must end in victory for the people.—Ottawa Free Press.

THE HOME RULE FOR IRELAND LIKE GLADSTONE'S.

London, March 3.—Augustine Birrell, Chief Secretary for Ireland, speaking at Oxford to-night, indicated that the Government's Home Rule bill for Ireland would be on the lines of Gladstone's second Home Rule measure, subject to modifications that time has shown to be wise and rational. He said that the Government is now engaged in an inquiry into the financial position of Ireland preparatory to granting Home Rule.

KILLED BY A TROLLEY CAR.

New Haven, Conn., March 3.—Frederick H. Welton, of Cheshire, one of the occupants of a taxicab struck by a trolley car here late last night, died at a local hospital to-night. Internal injuries caused his death. He was 40 years old and leaves a widow.

Booth's Kidney Pills Cured

What Doctors Called Bright's Disease

Mrs. M. Lewis, 13 St. David Place, Toronto, Ont., says: "I had doctored for over two years with many different specialists, but could find little relief. I was so weak and run down that I could not get up from a chair without supporting myself with both hands. My whole system had become so weakened and run down that I could scarcely walk. I was advised by a friend Booth's Kidney Pills. They gave me quick relief and I was soon rid of my suffering. I will always gladly recommend Booth's Kidney Pills and speak a good word for them."

Don't neglect your kidneys; once they go wrong they get a firm hold before the sufferer knows it, and back ache, headache, lameness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy, and Bright's disease follow in merciless succession. Cure the kidneys with the guaranteed and safe remedy, Booth's Kidney Pills.

COWARDLY ASSAULT.

A young man named Andrew, of Cap Blanc, now lies in a serious condition in the Hotel Dieu Hospital, whither he was removed from his home as the result of a cowardly assault committed upon him on Mardi Gras evening last. He is badly bruised about the face and body, while it is also feared he received internal injuries. According to the story told, Andrew, arrayed in a female costume, was on his way to the Drill Hall for the purpose of joining the Mardi Gras parade, and when passing along Champlain street, it is alleged, he was set upon by four men, who brutally assaulted him, the victim being unable to defend himself owing to being handicapped by his costume. After the peating he was removed to his home, but so serious did his injuries develop that it was deemed advisable to remove him to hospital. It is said that Andrew knows his assailants and will take action against them.

Eat and Get Thin

This is turning an old phrase face about but modern methods of reducing fat have made this revision possible. If you are overfat and also averse to physical exertion and likewise fond of the table and still want to reduce your excess flesh several pounds, do this: Go to your druggist (or write the Marmola Co., 854 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich.) and give him (or send them) 75 cents. For this modest amount of money the druggist will put you in the way of satisfying your ambition for a nice, trim, slim figure. He will hand you a large case of Marmola Prescription Tablets (compounded in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription), one of which you must take after each meal and at bedtime until you begin to lose your fat at the rate of 12 to 16 ounces a day. That is all. Just go on eating what you like, leave exercising to the athletes, but take your little tablet faithfully and without a doubt that flabby flesh will quickly take up to itself wings, leaving behind it your natural self, neatly clothed in firm flesh and trim muscles.

MONTREALERS ARE QUITE PLEASED

Over the Arrangements Reached on the Tramway Bill in the Legislature.

Montreal, March 3.—"Everybody is satisfied and happy," said Mayor Grien to-night, speaking in the name of his colleagues of the Montreal delegation, which has been at Quebec in connection with the Tramways bill, and which returned to the city on the 6.30 p.m. train. His Worship stated the Tramways bill would most likely go through, but it would be pruned in such a way as to despoil it of many of its objectionable features. The jurisdiction of the city would not be encroached upon by the Public Utilities Commission, as the latter body would be called upon to act only as a sort of referee in case of protracted disagreement between the company and the city.

The Mayor stated it was assured that the contract between the city and the company would be for a term of thirty or forty years. It was probable that clauses would be inserted therein providing for a revision of this contract every decade or so. Montreal had become such a large city and so great were the prospects for further enlargement that it was imperative that the M.S.R. should be formed into one sole company, with one central administration.

Representatives of the street railway who came up with the civic delegation expressed like sentiments of satisfaction at the progress made.

Mr. James Morgan, who represented the citizens' committee, was also of the same view, and declared that matters had gone on in a way which was satisfactory to the body which he represented.

The question again comes up on Tuesday morning before the Railway Committee.

LOSS ON SECOND MATTER BY MAIL

Is Heavy Both in Canada and the United States—Postage on Magazines.

Washington, D.C. March 3.—The Post Office Appropriation Bill carrying a total of about $258,000,000 was passed by the Senate to-night at 7 o'clock, and that body took a recess soon thereafter until 9 o'clock. Despite the fact that Senator Penrose repeated time and again his statement that he intended to withdraw the objectionable clause increasing the rates on magazines, the debate continued in the Senate for several hours.

Senator Carter, who undertook to explain the position to the Post Office Department and its claim that $50,000,000 is lost each year on second class matter, was interrupted repeatedly. In response to the statement that Canada carries second class matter at a quarter of a cent a pound, Mr. Carter presented a telegram from the Postmaster-General of Canada stating that the Dominion loses large sums annually in handling this class of matter. The loss is not so large as in the United States, the telegram explained, because the volume of business is not so large and because the Dominion laws of classification of postal matter are stricter.

Senators Owen and Bristow roundly denounced the proposed increase on the magazines. The latter, turning to where Postmaster-General Hitchcock was seated in the chamber, said the Senate had a right to know whether the deficit in the Post Office Department is due to second class matter or "inefficiency and mismanagement in the department." He added that he did not wish to criticize the present management, nor the incumbent of the office who had inherited a system for which he is not responsible.

Senator Jones said the magazines had proved themselves unworthy of consideration by making scurrilous charges against the President.

Senator Penrose finally was recognized. In place of the clause raising the rates on the magazines he offered an amendment authorizing the President to appoint a committee of three members thoroughly to investigate the whole subject of the cost of handling second class matter. One of the commissioners, it is provided, shall be a judicial officer of the Government and the other two shall be persons who hold no office and have no connection whatever with the Post Office Department or with any magazine or newspaper. This amendment was adopted unanimously.

OLD BILL MINER GETS

20 YEARS' IMPRISONMENT.

Gainesville, Ga., March 3.—George Anderson, alias "Old Bill" Miner, who escaped from the penitentiary at New Westminster, B.C., was given a prison sentence of 20 years, and Geo. Hamford and Chas. Hunter sentences of 15 years each, here to-day for complicity in the robbery of an express car on a Southern Railway passenger train near White Sulphur Springs, recently. Had he escaped conviction, arrangements had been made by the Canadian Government to have Anderson held for extradition, so that he could be taken back to British Columbia to serve out a life sentence for robbing a Canadian Pacific Railway train.

AN EXPLOSION IN A PIPE LINE

Caused the Death of Three Men and Injury of Seven—Monetary Loss Small.

Niagara Falls, March 3.—Names of dead:—David Hendershott, Niagara Falls, N.Y.; William Orchard, Niagara Falls, N.Y.; Charles McGongle, Tonawanda, N.Y.

Names of injured:—George Rowe, Chippewa, badly cut and bruised about face and body; John Otto, cut center forehead, face and head cut; George Gaivey, carpenter, concussion and face cut; James Nelson, head hands and limbs cut; Hy. J. Ryan, scalp wound; Robert Moran, leg bruised and scalp wound; David McKinnon, bruises about head and face.

Three men were killed and seven injured by an explosion in the pipe line of the Ontario Power Company this morning.

Few hopes are entertained for the recovery of two of the injured, Geo. Rowe, of Chippewa, and Wm. Forsythe, of Niagara Falls south.

All the victims were well known local mechanics.

All access to the pipe line has been cut off, and the top of the bank patrolled by a squad to prevent anyone going below the bank.

After a rigid investigation by Superintendent H. H. Wilson, of the Ontario Power Company, he stated that the explosion was caused by natural gas leaking from a gas main in the tunnel which leads into the new power house extension. The explosion occurred right in the mouth of the tunnel where excavation work is being carried on below the bank. The explosion threw the gang of men against the wall of the new extension with such tremendous force that three of them were hurled into a mass of broken bones and flesh.

The gang was in charge of John Otto, carpenter foreman. The accident caused a panic among the foreigners employed on the work and they ran screaming to the top of the bank in wild bewilderment. The plant of the company is not injured.

General Superintendent Hugh H. Wilson stated that the loss aside from the fatalities would be trifling, possibly not exceeding $5,000. There is a small gas line within the penstock for heating purposes and it is thought that gas escaping from the pipe produced the fatal combustion.

About twenty carpenters had been working about the entrance to the penstock for nearly an hour before the explosion occurred. Suddenly the steel penstock crumpled up and workmen were hurled about the power house in helpless, bleeding masses.

Orchard's body was not positively identified until papers were found in a pocket of his coat.

Alfred Godfrey, of Chippewa, was standing on the steel top of the penstock on the upper bank of the river at the time of the explosion, and narrowly escaped a horrible death. Godfrey fell against the rock that surrounds the penstock. Rocks began to fall and his body was badly bruised, but the steel top of the penstock fell against him, stopping him against the rock wall. After a hard half hour's work he was removed from his perilous position.

RECIPROCITY WAS HOTLY CONDEMNED

In the Home Town of the Minister of Railways and Canals.

Brockville, Ont., March 3.—"Be it resolved, that in the opinion of this meeting, the proposed reciprocity arrangement will be a serious menace to the best interests of Canada and the British Empire and should be opposed by all true Canadians, irrespective of party allegiance." The foregoing was the substance of a resolution adopted amid great enthusiasm at a largely attended mass meeting of the citizens of Brockville and surrounding district, held to-night at the Victoria Hall and presided over by Mr. H. A. Stewart, K.C. It was introduced at the close of stirring addresses delivered by C. S. Goodeve, M.P., Richard Blain, M.P., Dr. Reid, M.P., A. E. Donovan, M.L.A., and Jno. Webster.

The various phases were set forth to an audience that gave patient and intelligent hearing in the home town of the Minister of Railways and Canals. The opposition arguments advanced were largely those already advanced on the floor of the House of Commons. Mr. Goodeve struck a high Imperial note in his peroration, which was vociferously applauded. He contended that the whole tendency of the reciprocity agreement was to subvert the national and Imperial spirit of Canada, to undermine the ties which unite Canada to Great Britain, under whose protection this country has enjoyed for so many years the inestimable blessings of peace and boundless prosperity.

CASES IN THE SUPREME COURT

Number of Arguments Heard and Judgments Reserved—Maritime Provinces Case.

Ottawa, March 3.—In the Supreme Court to-day the arguments in Alberta Irrigation Company vs. the King were concluded and judgment was reserved.

The case of the Canadian Northern Railway Company vs. Macdonald was next taken up. The circumstances in this case are similar to those of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company vs. City of Fort William (45 S.C.R. 412) in which the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council recently granted special leave for appeal. At the suggestion of the Court the hearing was postponed until after a decision has been given in the Fort William case. Chrusler, K.C., and G. G. MacDonnell appeared for the appellants; W. L. Scott for respondent.

The appeal was then taken up in the North-West Thresher Company vs. Fredericks. In this case the appeal is per saltum from the judgment of Mr. Justice Newlands which decided that the company should not hold a lien for a judgment registered against the respondent's homestead, which was, by the statute of Saskatchewan, exempt from seizure and sale in execution. The issue involved affects the right of the company to maintain a cloud on the homestead's title by charging or binding it in virtue of the judgment in respect of which it can have no remedy by execution until such time as the lands might possibly cease to be occupied as a homestead, thereby losing the privilege of exemption. Judgment was reserved.

Stratton vs. Vachon was then heard. The appellant claimed a commission amounting to $6,250 for effecting a sale of a hotel and other property for the late James Flanagan, of Saskatoon, Sask., and $125,000. The trial judge dismissed the claim on the ground that the sale had been in fact negotiated by one Moore and on different terms. This decision was affirmed by the Supreme Court of Saskatchewan in banco. The appellant contends that Moore was a partner of the actual purchasers whom he had introduced to Flanagan and that the transaction had been closed secretly between the parties in an attempt to deprive him of commission. The appellant appeared in person. Judgment was reserved.

The Maritime Provinces cases will be taken up on March 8th, 1911.

CHOLERA OUTBREAK IN HONOLULU

Fifteen Cases Reported and Thirteen Deaths—All Were Natives.

Honolulu, March 3.—Two more deaths from cholera were reported to-day. This brings the total number of cases to fifteen, of which thirteen have proved fatal. The territorial board of health has started to clean the city thoroughly, taking one section at a time. The Legislature appointed a committee to-day to investigate conditions in the quarantined part of the city.

The crew of the steamer Sierra, which arrived from San Francisco to-day, was not allowed to come ashore. Neither will crews of other steamers be allowed to leave their ships while in port.

BILL TO PROHIBIT THE SALE OF SHORT STOCKS.

Albany, N. Y., March 3.—Senator Stillwell's bill, prohibiting short sales of stock, was reported favorably to-day by the Senate Codes Committee, by a vote of 5 to 4. The commission appointed by Governor Hughes to investigate Wall Street methods reported against abolishing short sales, pointing out that they were a market regulator.

LONG VAUDEVILLE WAR BROUGHT TO A CLOSE.

New York, March 3.—A vaudeville war of fifteen years' duration was ended to-day when Marcus Loew, a New York theatrical manager, bought an interest in and took over active control of the vaudeville houses owned or booked by William Morris, Inc. The theatres include prominent houses in New York, Brooklyn, Chicago, St. Louis and Cincinnati, and nearly a hundred theatres which were booked by the William Morris offices in the West and Southwest. Mr. Morris will remain with Mr. Loew as his associate.

TAFT ABANDONS ALL HIS HOPES

Of the Present Congress Passing the Reciprocity Bill—Is Glad About Other Bills.

Washington, March 3.—Having abandoned hope of seeing reciprocity passed by the present Congress, President Taft, late to-day after returning from his usual long afternoon walk, declared that he had noticed the setting sun, but that he also had seen a new moon in the heavens. The President has not yet decided when he will issue his proclamation calling the new Congress together, nor has the date been fixed.

Despite the fact that the measure, which above all others, he desired to see passed at this session, did not become law, the President was rejoicing to-night over the large number of bills he favored which have been passed.

The Judiciary Codification Bill, he considers one of the most important additions to the legal procedure of the country passed in the last half century. The provision for the fortification of the Panama Canal was particularly pleasing to him.

Much has been accomplished by the present session, he feels, which will be of lasting benefit to the country. He had no unkind words for the dying Congress, because it could not see its way clear to pass his reciprocity measure. He is waiting for the "new moon" of the coming Congress to fulfill his desires in that direction.

PEARY'S FRIENDS GAIN THEIR POINT

The Man Alleged to Have Reached the Pole Created a Rear Admiral.

Washington, March 3.—The plans of the friends of Captain Robt. E. Peary to secure Congressional recognition of his Polar achievement progressed rapidly to-day, when the House, by a vote of 154 to 34, passed an amended Senate bill according him honors.

The original Senate bill authorized the President to appoint Peary a rear admiral in the navy, to be carried as an additional number in grade, and to place him upon the retired list at the highest pay in the grade. The House amended bill so as to authorize the President to place him on the retired list of the corps of civil engineers, with the rank of rear admiral, to date from April 6, 1909, and so as to render the thanks of Congress for "his Arctic explorations resulting in reaching the North Pole." When the measure was brought up Mr. Mason, of Arkansas, tried to fight it off, but he was overruled, and the bill went to conference. The Senate later in the evening "reconciled in the House amendments and passed the bill, which makes it a law as soon as signed. Under this bill Peary will be placed "on the retired list of the corps of civil engineers" with the rank of rear admiral to date from April 6, 1909, with the highest retired pay of that grade under existing law."

That is the date upon which Peary attained his goal.

THE BEAUTY OF THE LAW'S DELAYS

Montreal, March 3.—The third hearing before a jury of the famous case of Demetrios Karavolitis against the Canadian Rubber Company was concluded to-night, and the whole matter is now back where it started several years ago, save that something like $10,000 has been incurred in fees and costs.

In the beginning, the plaintiff, Karavolitis, sued the Canadian Rubber Company for $7,000 damages for the loss of an arm in a machine, claiming that he had not been properly instructed. The first jury disagreed. The second found for the plaintiff in $3,500, but reduced this amount to $1,500 on the ground of contributory negligence. This verdict was fought up to the Supreme Court of Canada, which ordered a new trial on the ground that Judge St. Pierre had gone outside the legal bounds in his charge to the jury.

The matter started again, with a fight as to whether the plaintiff was entitled to a jury trial, which was carried to the Court of Appeal and won by the plaintiff. After this it came back to the Superior Court and started on Thursday before Judge Greenfield and a jury, with the present result that since the jurors cannot agree another trial must be started later on to try and get twelve men who can come to some decision.

MR. ELISEE DUPUIS A FRANK TESTIMONIAL

Mr. Elisee Dupuis, of St. Paul de la Croix, was suffering from weakness, ST. MICHEL'S WINE cured him and he acknowledges its value.

Mr. Elisee Dupuis' trade is a hard one, that of sawyer; he had used his strength unparagonably and, human endurance having its limits, he began to grow weak until finally the day came when he realized that he must find a remedy for his enfeebled condition. Mr. Elisee Dupuis has the courage of his convictions. This may be seen by the following letter:

MESSRS. BOIVIN, WILSON & CO., Montreal.

Gentlemen:—Many people hesitate at the idea of seeing their photographs or testimony published in the newspapers. For my part, I am not of these. When one obtains relief from his sufferings through another's help, it seems to me only just to give credit to whom it is due and show gratitude for the good that has been done.

It is for this reason, gentlemen, that I take pleasure in thanking you for the marvelous results procured by means of your ST. MICHEL'S WINE, which I used for weakness, from which I suffered for many years. In my trade we are much more exposed than in many others. We over-exert ourselves, with the results you know and we often become extremely weak. I have been through the mill and if to-day I am enjoying good health, it is due in great part to the restorative properties of ST. MICHEL'S WINE. Since I have been taking this treatment I can attend to my work without fear of feeling weak as I used to formerly. I heartily urge my co-workers to follow my example, because I am certain that ST. MICHEL'S WINE will be worth its weight in gold to them. Once more, thank you a thousand times, thank you.

Very truly yours,

ELISEE DUPUIS,
St. Paul de la Croix.

P.S.—You will find enclosed my photograph which I had taken after being restored to health. One dozen and a half bottles were sufficient to make me strong again.

Thousands of persons have thus felt the benevolent action of ST. MICHEL'S WINE. We are receiving new testimonials daily which we will be able to publish with the permission of our correspondents.

The Wigton (Cumberland) magistrates on Tuesday objected to the principle of issuing liquor license to married women, and refused to transfer a license to a woman whose husband, it was stated, was shortly going to Canada.

Dr. Paget, Bishop of Stepney, speaking at Willesden on Tuesday, said that he found that such so-called labor-saving devices as telephones, taxicabs, and private secretaries had really the opposite effect. They merely enabled a man to crowd more work into a day, and made life more strenuous, swifter, and harder.

Introduced by a Sawley (Derbyshire) lace manufacturer, lace-trimmed waistcoats are being made for both morning and evening wear—one design of morning waistcoat consisting of purple cloth trimmed with black lace. Another (evening) waistcoat is of white lace over sea-green cloth.

Dr. Brander, medical officer at Sheffield Workhouse, told the guardians at their meeting on Wednesday that he attributed the existence of heart disease which he had found in a number of young men to excessive cigarette smoking. Some of the men admitted smoking as many as thirty cigarettes a day.

The cost of electrifying twenty or thirty acres of fruit crops was £200, said Mr. J. Newman at Wednesday's meeting of the National Fruit Growers' Association. The unique mummy which is in the Royal College of Surgeons' Museum, known as Ra-Nefar, was stated by Professor Elliot Smith in a lecture on Wednesday to be by far the most ancient mummy ever found. Mr. Turner, ex-Mayor of Guildford, stated at a banquet on Wednesday that as a result of the persistent refusal of the South-Western Railway to run a train leaving Balford at nine a.m., and arriving at Waterloo at 9.40—a train they considered necessary—the Guildford Chamber of Trade was considering the advisability of diverting the goods traffic to the South-Eastern and Brighton Companies.

Miss Maria Wellbeloved, who was for twenty-two years maid in the late Queen Victoria's household, died at Sunningdale on Wednesday, aged eighty-three.

One hundred and sixty-three thousand people who had been in receipt of parish relief drew pensions as a result of the removal of pauper disqualification. Of these 136,000 were in England and Wales, 10,000 in Scotland, and 17,000 in Ireland.

The total number of known habitual criminals at large within the Metropolitan Police District at the date of compiling the return, says a Home Office return to Parliament, was 1,081, of whom 912 were men and 169 women.

The annual return of the Dunmow Friendly Society, which is composed chiefly of agricultural laborers, shows a balance of assets amounting to £39,867, or nearly £40 per member. It was established by farm laborers in 1832.

About two thousand amateur photographers are in revolt against the Leeds Corporation owing to the proposed new water charges. From June next camerists who do their own developing will have to pay a minimum imposed of 10s. per annum.

Elizabeth Burton, an aged woman, who was admitted to Nottingham Workhouse, being very ill and apparently destitute, was found to have £92 in gold sewn in her clothes. The guardians decided on Tuesday to deduct 10s. weekly for maintenance and nursing.

In compliance with a request from the chief officer of the London Fire Brigade, arrangements have been made for holding evening classes for firemen in arithmetic, mensuration, and English at seven fire stations in evening schools.

Arrangements are in hand for the amalgamation and control under a joint board of the London General and the Great Eastern Omnibus Companies.

Search in the county archives by the Bedfordshire County Records Committee has brought to light a document which dates back to the reign of King John. It is a parchment, upon which, in magnificent archaic penmanship, is written a deed of gift, referring to property at Burncestra (Bicester.)

TWO BOYS WHO HOAXED A TOWN

Builders Work for Hours Before Trick Is Discovered—
Hundreds Victimized.

London, March 3.—The extraordinary series of hoaxes recently perpetrated upon Hull ministers, tradesmen and others by two young clerks, named Marry Cyril Godson, eighteen, and John Ward, fifteen, was dealt with on Tuesday by the Hull stipendiary, when the lads were charged with stealing their employers' stationery, writing an abusive letter to the Rev. R. M. Medward, and trying to obtain waggons of coal in the name of the Rev. W. H. Heap and Mr. J. Meale, minister and organist respectively at Queen's Hall, Hull.

Detective Duguid said that when he arrested Godson the lad was reading a "penny dreadful" entitled "Villain's Deeds." The boys had cut out from periodicals and advertisements various letters and posted these on writing-paper to form various sentences.

One ran: "The Rev. Mr. Heap drinks eggs and beer." In another instance the nose of a man in a picture of a beer advertisement was red-dened and the name "Mr. Heap" inscribed.

Godson declared he had permission to use his employers' paper. He admitted writing to his own employers. He also admitted that in previous situations he had been guilty of malicious mischief, such as puncturing cycle-tires and putting bottles of oil in a person's pocket without the corks being properly fixed.

The magistrate said the oil joke was most disgusting. The boys were convicted of stealing stationery, and counsel intimated that the prosecution would not proceed with the other charges.

It was said that twenty-seven letters had been sent out by prisoners and were forged in eleven different names. The number of firms known to have been victimized was thirty-seven, though counsel said he could easily find 137. The goods supplied were to the value of £250. One letter was a bogus order for two thousand bills.

A builder was ordered to send his men to repair the roof of the Queen's Hall, and they were working on the roof some hours before the hoax was discovered. Orders for the delivery of goods were sent out wholesale, one being for forty-seven barrels of beef, and another for sixty turkeys; waggons of coal were ordered from Sheffield and Rotherham, and other goods were delivered from London.

Other letters were to the members of the Queen's Hall Brotherhood purporting to be an invitation from the Rev. W. Heap to a farewell sermon. Another letter, sent to Mr. Meale, purporting to be from a member of the church who threatened to leave on account of his abominable playing. It was said that a hoax epidemic broke out in Hull every three years.

Ward was placed on probation for a year and Godson for three years.

CHESS TOURNAMENT.

Tarrasch and Vidmar and Schlechter and Maroczy drew their games, while those between Leonhardt and Rubinstein and Buras and Spielmann were adjourned. Tomorrow and Sunday will be devoted exclusively to the playing of unfinished games. The ninth round in the tournament is scheduled for Monday afternoon.

GREAT TR'ALS ON TRANSCONTINENTAL

Alphonse Jonelle Tells Tale Filled With Human Interest.

Hardships attending work brought on Kidney Disease which threatened his life.—Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him.

Chicoutimi Ville, Chicoutimi Co., Que., March 3.—(Special).—The trials of those men who push the great railroads through the obstacles Nature thrusts in their way have been proclaimed in many a page of fiction. But no story ever told is of more absorbing interest or teaches a greater moral than the actual experiences of Alphonse Jonelle, foreman on the Transcontinental, and well known here.

"I contracted Kidney Disease working on the Transcontinental, where I am a foreman," Mr. Jonelle states. "My skin had a harsh, dry feeling, and it itched and burned at night. I was always tired. Then came the pangs or rheumatism, and I finally got so bad I could not attend to my work. For five years I suffered, and in the end Bright's Disease developed.

"Then I began to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Six boxes cured me completely. Dodd's Kidney Pills also cured my wife, who was suffering from Kidney Disease."

From all parts of Canada, and every day, reports come of Kidney Disease cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. There is never a case reported where Dodd's Kidney Pills have failed. They never fail.

BRAVEST MAN OF THE YEAR

Stanhope Medal for Engineer
Who Saved His Brother—
Four Edward Medals.

London, March 3.—The Stanhope Gold Medal for the bravest deed of the year has been awarded by the Royal Humane Society to Frank Fraser, chief engineer on the steam trawler Donside, of Aberdeen.

Shortly after midnight on Aug. 27 last, in dark, rough weather, the Donside was on the Viking Bank 225 miles from Aberdeen. Notwithstanding that the sea was running very high, the captain decided to shoot the trawl. In the operation John Fraser, a deck hand, was carried overboard. Hearing the cry, "Man overboard!" Frank Fraser at once rushed from below and plunging into the heavy sea seized the man, his own brother, and both drifted astern.

By means of a light in the after rigging the men could be faintly seen, and a rope was thrown. Frank Fraser grasped this, but his hands being greasy with oil from the engines he had great difficulty in retaining his hold, and it was only after fifteen minutes' exertion that the two brothers were got on board.

Admiral Sir E. R. Fremantle, who presided at Tuesday's meeting of the Royal Humane Society, when this award was made, is himself a member of the Stanhope Medal.

Heroism in a Well.

King George has granted Edward Medals of the Second Class to the following:—

Frank Smith and John Waplington for bravery in endeavoring to save a well-worker. The latter, with Albert Templeman, was sinking a well at East Markham, Notts, and had fired a shot to blast the rock. After the well had been tested with a lamp and found free from gas, Templeman went down. He became dizzy and asked for a ladder and a rope. Without fastening the rope round him he went to climb the ladder, and when half-way up fell back.

Waplington then descended, but could not lift his comrade and came up dazed. After a brief rest he went down again, and was again overcome. Frank Smith, the foreman, had a rope fastened round him and succeeded in attaching it to Templeman, who was pulled up. Smith reached the surface in a state of collapse, and, unfortunately, Templeman was dead when brought up.

Hugh Thomas Hughes, for saving a man from a bull. On Aug. 30, 1910, Mr. Samuel Needham, of Man Farm, Castleton, Derbyshire, was driving his cattle home when a bull attacked him, and began to gore him. Mr. Hughes, a district surveyor, of Chapel-en-le-Frith, who was passing, managed to drive off the bull by beating it about the face and eyes with his cap.

William John Soper, for heroism at a mine fire. On Sept. 13, 1909, a fire occurred in the Cote de'Or Mine at Obuassi, Gold Coast, and a European named Penrose and eight natives lost their lives, fumes overwhelming those who tried to put it out. Soper, a miner, went in with two natives, and, crawling along through foul air which extinguished their candles, found three unconscious natives, all of whom they saved alive. Soper returned to the workings five times, and was more than once seriously affected by the fumes.

Rewards for Brave Woman.

For her plucky conduct in helping a constable who was being shot at by a burglar in the Borough, Mrs. Frances Wright, of 57 Great Bland street, Borough, was on Wednesday presented with the Carnegie medal and a cheque for £10, and next week she is to be decorated by the King with the Albert Medal.

It will be remembered that Police-Constable Haytred chased a burglar, who repeatedly fired at him. Despite this, the officer seized him, and the man then placed the revolver to the constable's temple and pulled the trigger, but the weapon missed fire. Although the man was firing, Mrs. Wright helped the constable in his struggle with the burglar, and once or twice struck the burglar in her indignation at the use of the revolver.

In presenting the medal and £10 from the Carnegie Hero Fund to her at the Tower Bridge Police Court, the magistrate (Mr. Cecil Chapman) said she acted with a disregard of danger which deserved the highest commendation. Courage, both moral and physical, was a quality essential to good citizenship, and, fortunately for the world, it was not more rarely found in women than in men. He congratulated her upon her brave deed.

Mrs. Wright, who modestly expressed her thanks, has received the following letter from the Under-Secretary of State:—

In continuation of the letter addressed to you on the 4th inst., I am directed by the Secretary of State to say that on Thursday, Feb. 23, His Majesty will personally decorate you with the Albert Medal which has been awarded to you, and I am to request that you will attend at the Home Office at 10.30 a.m. on that day.

Mr. Justice Grantham awarded Mrs. Wright £10 at the Old Bailey on Jan. 14, the day on which Arthur was sentenced to penal servitude for life for attempted murder.

Police-Constable Byford was presented with the illuminated certificate of the Society of Life-Saving at Fires at Enfield Police Station on Wednesday for rescuing a caretaker from a fire at the Old Manor House, Enfield, on Dec. 16.

POLICE AT END OF ARNOLD SEARCH

Officially Register the Young Woman as "Missing" and Accept the Suicide Theory.

New York, March 3.—In the archives of the New York Police Department the name of Miss Dorothy Harriet Canille Arnold, who disappeared on December 12 last, was registered officially as "missing" yesterday. The mystery by this act takes its place by the side of scores of others which have engaged the attention of the police in recent years, none of which have been solved.

This action was due to the belief of the police that the missing young woman is dead and that in all probability she committed suicide in some out-of-the-way spot, the location of which time may reveal. Deputy Commissioner Flynn, who yesterday admitted for the first time his belief that Miss Arnold is dead, regards the suicide theory extremely plausible because of the lack of motive for assassination.

Mr. Flynn stated that he was thoroughly convinced that the wide publicity given the facts in this case, not only in this country but abroad, must have developed clues by which she would have been traced were she alive. As it is, every clue thus far obtained has served only to deepen the mystery of the strange disappearance instead of shedding any light upon the affair.

In support of the theory of suicide, the police point out that Miss Arnold was deeply chagrined by her failure to have her stories accepted by magazine editors, and, coupled with this, is the story of a love episode in which Miss Arnold figured. Mr. Flynn stated that in his judgment these two disappointments preyed upon the young woman's mind and may have produced a suicidal mania.

BOWEL TROUBLE MAKES SICKLY BABIES

Bowel trouble is the cause of most of the ailments from which little ones suffer. When baby's bowels are not working regularly illness is sure to appear, but when the bowels are regular the little one is usually bright, active and happy. No other medicine for babies has such good effect on the bowels as has Baby's Own Tablets. They make their action regular, sweeten the stomach and promote good health. Concerning them Mrs. Freeman Feener, of Barry's Corner, N.S., writes: "I can heartily recommend Baby's Own Tablets for all the troubles from which little ones suffer. My baby girl was troubled with her bowels and was so small and puny I thought we would lose her. I saw Baby's Own Tablets advertised and began giving them to her and now she is a big, healthy, happy baby. For this I think the Tablets, and I always keep them in the house." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MONTREAL BILL CAUSES DELAY

In the Prorogation of Legislature—Debate on the King Edward Monument.

The Montreal Tramway bill was again up before the Railway Committee of the Legislative Assembly yesterday morning, but little progress was made and the bill was again postponed until next Tuesday afternoon. This bill will undoubtedly delay the prorogation, as it has yet to pass the Private Bills Committee, third reading in the Assembly, then goes before the Private Bills Committee of the Legislative Council and then be disposed of in the Upper House. Consequently the House, which opened on the 10th January, will probably be in session for another couple of weeks.

In the Legislative Assembly several items on the order paper were disposed of at both sittings, but almost the entire afternoon was taken up with a debate on resolutions concerning a transfer of certain property to the Battledfields Commission and the erection of a monument to King Edward VII. These resolutions will be taken up again on Monday next. The Legislative Council also sat yesterday and disposed of considerable work and adjourned over until Monday afternoon.

Hon. Mr. Taschereau's resolutions respecting the transfer to the Battledfields Commission of certain property, and for the erection of a monument to the memory of King Edward VII. occupied almost the entire afternoon sitting of the Legislative Assembly and were finally adopted at 6 o'clock, but not concurred in, as Mr. Lavergne objected, and concurrence will be asked for on Monday, as it requires the unanimous consent of the House to concur in resolutions at the same sitting as when they are adopted.

This discussion was principally between Hon. Mr. Taschereau, on the one side, Messrs. Tellier, Bourassa and Lavergne on the other, although Sir Lomer Gouin, Hon. Mr. McKenzie and Messrs. Gault and Pennington also took part in the debate.

The preamble of the bill was adopted, but all the clauses were more or less discussed, particularly that relating to the construction of a monument to King Edward VII. This was the fourth time these resolutions have been before the House, and some new arguments were brought out in the debate.

Mr. Tellier protested against the Government ceding land to the commission without good and valid consideration, and after having obtained the sanction of the Legislature, and made a suggestion to that effect, but his suggestion was not accepted. However, an amendment was added at the request of the Opposition to the effect that the Battledfields Commission should make an annual financial statement of its affairs to the Provincial Treasurer.

Mr. Lavergne again referred to the Monument des Braves, on the St. Foy road, and criticized the Minister of Public Works for having sold the monument to the Battledfields Commission for one dollar.

Hon. Mr. Taschereau replied that the monument had been erected with money collected from English and French-Canadian subscribers and that it had been presented to the St. Jean Baptiste Society, which in turn handed it over to the Provincial Government for the latter to look after. He did not think that a better opportunity existed than now and that was of presenting the monument to the Battledfields Commission, and he had full confidence that they would always keep the monument in the best of order. The monument was a souvenir of a French victory and there was no more appropriate place for it than in the National Park.

Mr. Lavergne had not much confidence in the commission and did not think that the Government was justified in handing over the Monument des Braves to them.

Mr. Bourassa expressed surprise that the Provincial Government should dispose of a provincial property, without authority of the Legislature, to a commission appointed by the Federal Government when such commission could be revoked at any time. If such was to happen, remarked the Nationalist leader, to whom would the monument revert? Continuing, Mr. Bourassa remarked that this National Park would probably cost millions before it was completed, and most of that money would be subscribed by the Federal Government. He asked Hon. Mr. Taschereau why he had not consulted the House before selling the Monument des Braves and the latter replied that he did not consider it of such a commercial importance to do so.

Mr. Bourassa remarked that, judging from their report to the Federal Government the commissioners appear to be under the impression that the transfer to them of the Quebec jail was an understood matter.

Hon. Mr. Taschereau replied that the Government would not dispose of the jail property without consulting the House, and would be indemnified for the loss of the building.

Mr. Tellier asked Sir Lomer Gouin when the Government would cease making use of the Quebec jail, and the Premier replied, "not before 50 years."

Mr. Tellier objected to the Government binding the province for such a long period, and Sir Lomer replied that the intention was only to grant the prison property when the building would be of no further use for its present purpose.

Mr. Pennington, Megantic, was pleased to see that the Government was taking the necessary means to have a national park in Quebec, and there was no better place to have it than on the Battledfields. Hon. Mr. McKenzie congratulated the latter speaker for his remarks and also supported the resolution. The resolution was finally adopted with an amendment to the effect that the jail property would not be disposed of without the consent of the Legislature.

The next and last clause caused another discussion, and read as follows: "That it shall be lawful for the Lieutenant Governor in Council to cause to be erected in the National Battledfields Park a monument to the memory of His late Majesty King Edward VII., and to give the property thereof to the said Battledfields Commission; that the cost of the said monument shall not exceed twenty thousand dollars; and that the same shall be paid by warrants of the Lieutenant Governor out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund of the Province."

Mr. Bourassa had no objection to the erection of a monument to King Edward VII., but thought that such a monument should be constructed by a popular subscription, such as is now being done in Montreal. Moreover, the Federal Government should erect the monument to the late King and each province invited to build a monument to commemorate the historical character of their history, and which also could be erected in the Park.

Mr. Tellier remarked that the monument should be one of the finest ever erected in this province, and will cost more than the Government intends to spend. If the Minister of Public Works only intends voting $20,000 for that purpose, the monument will not be worthy of the great King, for whom it is intended. If the Government wanted to erect a monument to the late Sovereign, it should be the best that could be erected or nothing at all, and he was sure that the amount suggested was not sufficient. However, perhaps, like in other cases, the Government will ask the House to vote an additional amount next session and a further and larger amount in the following session.

The chairman asked if the committee agreed to adopt the clause, when Mr. Lavergne objected, and asked Hon. Mr. Taschereau if he was certain to have a monument erected for $20,000.

Hon. Mr. Taschereau—We will call for tenders for a monument not to cost more than that amount.

Mr. Lavergne—That is all the Government knows. For several weeks past we have asked for more information regarding these resolutions and all we can get is abuse from certain newspapers who say that Nationalists oppose the erection of a monument to Edward VII. He was of opinion that there were certain things that were more pressing than the proposed monument, and there were people who did more for this province than King Edward VII., and there was never any suggestion to erect monuments to their memory. Such a monument, as that proposed, should be erected by the Federal authorities, but, as usual, the present Government does not know where it is going to, and next year it will be asking the House for another vote of $20,000.

Mr. Gault suggested that the Government increase the amount if it wished to erect a fine monument, and also took occasion to ask if the Government intended contributing towards the cost of erecting a monument to King Edward, in Montreal.

Hon. Mr. Taschereau replied that the Government knew nothing officially about that monument, and all they knew was what they read in the newspapers. If a request was made for a contribution the Government would consider the matter.

Mr. Bourassa remarked that he had never hid his admiration which all British subjects should have, for King Edward VII., who was a model for constitutional kings, and a model which every Governor General in Canada should follow, but insisted that the Federal Government should erect the monument and each province have their separate monument in the National Park. He asked the Minister of Public Works if he had had any correspondence with the other provinces in connection with this monument.

Hon. Mr. Taschereau replied that he had conferred only with the Battledfields Commissioners, who were satisfied that a splendid monument could be erected for $20,000. He intended to have all Canadian artists compete for the plan of the monument.

Mr. Lavergne sarcastically remarked that the commissioners were apparently the artists who were to estimate the value of the monument. If the last speaker was going to limit the plans to Canadians he would probably have something similar to the monument erected to the South African heroes in this city, which cost $15,000 and was such a disgrace that it should be removed.

Mr. Tellier suggested to amend the clause by inserting the words, "that the Government 'contribute' towards the erection of a monument to King Edward VII."

After further remarks from Messrs. Taschereau and Lavergne, the clause was carried without amendment. The resolutions were then adopted, but as Mr. Lavergne objected to concur in the resolutions, further consideration was postponed until Monday next.

Before recess Hon. Mr. Caron's bill to amend the Revised Statutes, 1909, respecting co-operative agricultural societies, was passed in third reading.

In the evening most of the time was devoted to private bills, when the following were adopted:

To incorporate the Hebrew Sheltering and Orphan's Home.

An act to establish a new division for municipal and registration purposes at St. Joseph Benoit, Laire d'Amqui, and to divide the county of Matane into two divisions for municipal and registration purposes.

An act respecting the estate of Ernest Leduc.

Progress was reported on the bill to incorporate the Congregation Chavayrin Kall Yisrael, and Sir Lomer Gouin's bill respecting exhibitions of moving pictures was read a third time, and progress was reported on Premier Gouin's bill to establish the Metropolitan Parks Commission.

The House adjourned at 11 p.m.
