

"Monument to Youth of Malaya" Canadians Help Build Boys' Town

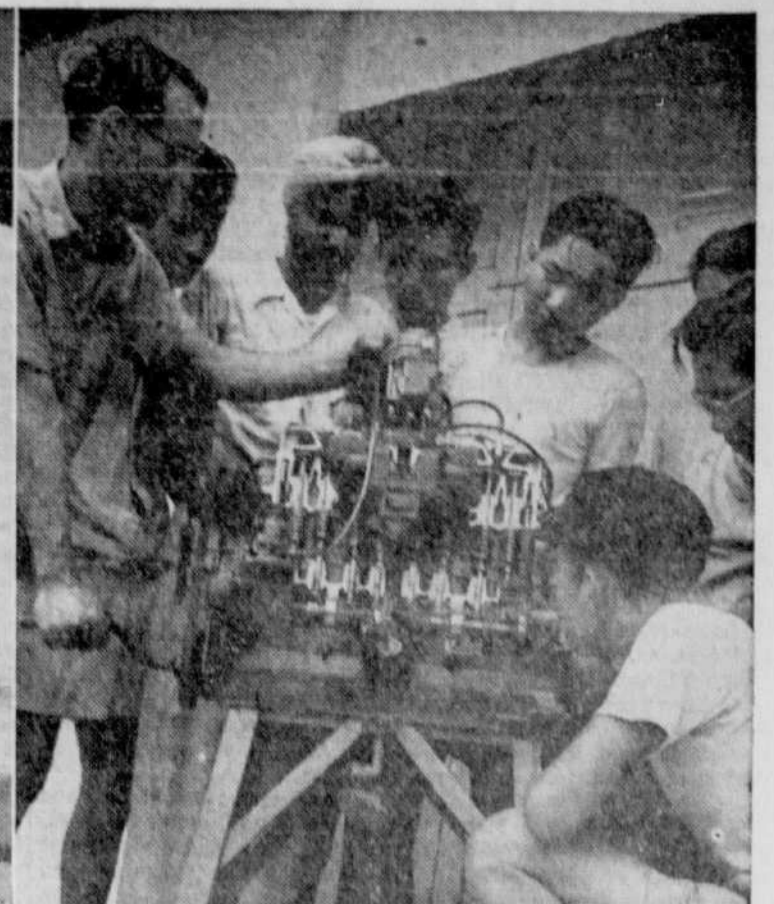

Less than a decade ago Brother Vincent went out from the Order of St. Gabriel in Montreal with the dream of founding in far-away Singapore a "Monument to the Youth of Malaya" — a Boys' Town where abandoned, underprivileged and "problem" boys of every race, colour and creed would have a home, a school and a place to call their own. Today the dream has flowered into a thriving cosmopolitan town where Malayan, Chinese and Indian boys live and grow in an atmosphere of cheerful goodwill and cooperation.

Brother Vincent, who still continues his work as Director of Singapore's Boys' Town, is much-revered by the youths under his care. Above, he admires a calendar designed and printed by boys at the school.

Another Canadian, Brother Ephrem of Three Rivers, Que., (left) is in charge of mechanical training at the school. Above, he explains the mysteries of an internal combustion engine to a group of interested students.

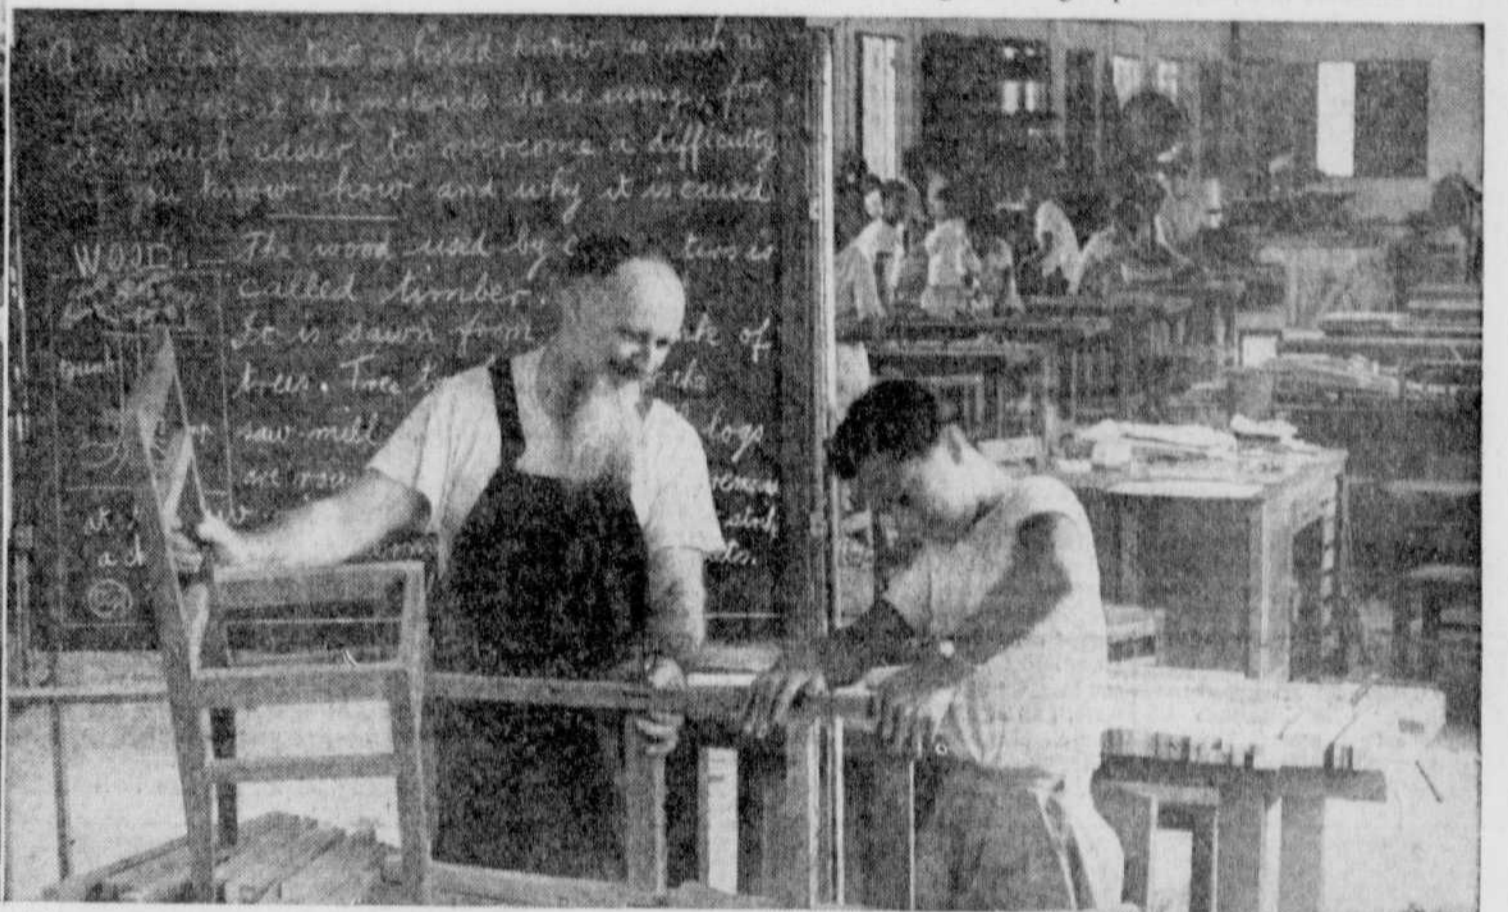

Cane furniture making, at which the boys are particularly adept, has always been very popular at the school. The youths, who range from 13-17 years, worship each according to his own faith.

Brother Emanuel (centre) who also comes from Montreal, conducts a history class in the tranquility of the pleasant grounds which make up the Town.

National Film Board of Canada Photos by Richard Harrington.

The carpentry class is under the supervision of Brother Henry of France. Here are built most of the cabinets, desks and chairs required in the school and dormitories. When a boy is ready to graduate every effort is made to help him find suitable employment; many are permitted to continue living in Boys' Town until they feel ready to move out into that larger world from which the Town first gave them shelter.

The Doctor
Says

MEDICINE SEEKS TO BROADEN UNDERSTANDING OF PAIN

"I have often wondered," writes S. "if the members of the medical fraternity have ever attempted to rate the many types of pain.
Several years ago I experienced three or four severe attacks of kidney colic from stones and honestly can't imagine anything more painful.

"My wife contends that nothing could possibly be more painful than childbirth. I suppose there have been women who have experienced childbirth as well as kidney colic and wonder if any c o m p a r i s o n s have been made."

The medical profession has always been interested in pain and there have been many articles and even books on that subject.
The comparison of one pain with another is difficult, however.

This is primarily because pain is not felt by someone else and it is therefore difficult to measure. Also, a present pain always feels worse than one that is just a memory.

There are, however, many other factors related to the severity of pain. People vary widely in their reaction to pain and even the same person may find a pain virtually intolerable at one time and stand it well at another.

Attempts have been made to compare the severity of different pains. Those who have suffered with severe kidney colic and the pains of childbirth usually say that the former is the more severe.

To some extent pain is useful.
By this I mean that it is often an important clue to the nature of an underlying condition which r e q u i r e s medical or surgical treatment. The location of the pain, rather than its severity, is the more important.

For example, pain is often helpful to the physician in making a diagnosis of such disorders as acute appendicitis, gallstones or a heart attack, in addition to the kidney stones mentioned by our correspondent.

There are times, however, when the pain is valueless as an aid in diagnosis or for any other purpose. Under such circumstances we can be happy that there are so many anesthetics and pain-reducing preparations now available.

The suffering from surgery would be intense, and indeed many of the procedures themselves impossible, were it not for anesthetics. Furthermore, in some kinds of painful disorders such as advanced cancer, the pain-reducing drugs are of enormous benefit.

It seems safe to say that no one goes through life without at some time suffering from pain.
This may be extremely severe and long-lasting; it may be easily tolerated and temporary; it may be useful in tracing the cause, or it may be useless.

No doubt human beings will always suffer from pain, but it is becoming better understood all the time and means of relieving it are also improving.

Lana's Latest Released

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Lana Turner's new movie, its release pushed up to ride with the headlines, shows the blonde actress in near-suicidal grief over the death of an illicit lover.

The movie, Another Time, Another Place, was originally scheduled for September release, but Paramount Pictures now plans to release it May 1.

"The picture is a gamble both for us and Lana," said a Paramount executive who didn't want his name used. "It could well decide what effect Lana's current troubles will have on her career."

The movie was made by Lana's own company, Lanturn Productions, for Paramount release.

Most Hollywood sources believe that the sensational headlines about the slaying of Lana's underworld boy friend, Johnny Stompanato, will boost her box office value. Lana's daughter, Cheryl Crane, 14, told police she stabbed Stompanato April 4 to protect her mother from harm at his hands.

The picture was previewed Monday night for a few members of the press. It was made in England, and Stompanato was there part of the time. Lana last Friday told a coroner's inquest that the one-time henchman of ex-gambler Mickey Cohen choked her and held a razor blade to her face during an argument in a London hotel room.

Johnson's Co., Theford, Wins Safety Award

THETFORD MINES — World has been received that Johnson's Company Ltd. has been awarded the John T. Ryan Regional Trophy for outstanding achievement in the prevention of accidents during 1957. Since competition for this award is very keen in the mining world, it is with great pride that the local company made known their winning of this award.

Inaugurated in 1942 by the Mine Safety Appliances Company of Canada in honor of their late and venerated president, the John T. Ryan Trophy is awarded annually to promote safety at Canadian mines with underground operations.

The trophies are divided into two classes: Dominion trophies for the best safety record in Canada and regional trophies. Johnson's Company won the trophy for Quebec and Maritime Provinces section. Competitions for these trophies are held by the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy through co-operation with the Federal and Provincial Department of Mines, the Workmen's Compensation Boards and the various regional mining and accident prevention associations. Awards are based on the best mine safety record in the year as determined by the lowest frequency of accidents per thousand men employed throughout the year.

This is the first time that this trophy has been won by a mine in the Theford area, the previous winners in the Quebec and East Division being, Stadacona Mines Ltd., Rouyn; Belleterre Quebec Mines Ltd., Belleterre; Perron Gold Mines Ltd., Perron; Signa Mines Ltd., Bourlamaque; Canadian Johnsonville Co., Asbestos; Canadian Malartic Gold Mines, Malartic; and Waite Amulet Mines, Noranda.

During the course of an interview, an official of Johnson's Company declared that the company was very proud to have obtained the trophy. As a result of a safety program adopted several years ago, the safety record of the company improved each year and the award that has been just received shows, in a tangible way, the success of the efforts made to reduce the number of accidents and to make work safer for the employees.

Tribute was paid to E. Lucien Lavigne, who was safety superintendent when the safety program was launched, and to Oliver F. Morrison, the present safety superintendent, for their tireless efforts in organizing and supervising safety work.
