FALL OF BILBAO APPEARS IMMINENT

Rush Evacuation Of City As Insurgents' Siege Lines Close

Refuge for About Ten Thousand Women and Children Now in Besieged Bilbao Virtually Assured Today as Fleet of Passenger Ships Raced to Evacuate as Many as Possible Before Insurgent Guns Close Port—Fascist Forces Rapidly Tightening Grip on Basque Capital Despite Defenders' Last Ditch Fight.

St. Jean de Luz, France, May 4.—Refuge for about ten thousand women and children from siege or bombardment in Bilbao was virtually assured today as a fleet of passenger ships raced to evacuate as many as possible before insurgent guns close the port. Bilbao's Basque defenders fought a last-ditch fight but insurgent dispatches said General Emilio Mola's troops were swarming into the mountainous region north of Bilbao and that their artillery already commanded the Nervion river, Bilbao's outlet to the Bay of Biscay. More than four thousand refugees, many children among them, were listed to sail tonight aboard the 10,000-ton Spanish liner Habana. Arrangements were made to charter another large ship to remove four thousand more children to England. The ship's identity was kept secret lest it become a prey of insurgent war vessels patrolling the Bay of Biscay.

Advices from Bordeaux, France, said several French steamers with a total capacity of two thousand refugee passengers were being coaled and provisioned for a dash to Bilbao.

FASCIST LEADERS CALL NEW CONSCRIPT CLASS

Salamanca, Spain, May 4.—General Francisco Franco today called to the colors all residents of insurgent-held Spain born during the first quarter of 1918. The mobilization order was contained in a decree issued at Burgos.

Heavy firing was reported continuing along the northern front in an official communique released today. The communique further stated that the advance on Bilbao had been temporarily halted to complete the mop-up of Basque contingents isolated in the rapid insurgent advance of the last three days.

Reported bombing of the insurgent-held city of Zaragoza was alleged to have killed twenty persons and wounded thirty, including women and children. In retaliation, General Gonzalo Queipo de Llano said last night in his regular broadcast, he had ordered intense aerial bombardment of the city of Jaen, capital of the Andalusian province of that name.

DEMAND INQUIRY INTO BURNING OF GUERNICA

Paris, May 4.—Spanish Foreign Minister Julio Alvarez de Vayo declared today his government would demand an international inquiry on the spot to fix the responsibility for destruction of Guernica, the "Holy City" of the Basques. About eight hundred persons were killed when Guernica was destroyed April 26. The government blamed insurgent aviators, the insurgents charged retreating Basques set Guernica afire.

CLAIM THREE THOUSAND ITALIANS SLAUGHTERED

St. Jean de Luz, France, May 4.—Basque defenders of Bilbao fought a last-ditch fight today to save the city and make possible the evacuation of at least a few thousand women and children. Spanish insurgent dispatches said Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 5.

Picture Of Family Life Dominates Spectacular Coronation Prospect

Time and the Discreet Modesty of King George VI Have Done Much to Mellow Opinions of Those Who Clung to Edward During Constitutional Crisis Last December—Memories of Former King Rapidly Drifting into Background.

London, May 4.—May 12 is imminent. But what of December 10 and all its momentous associations? Has England forgotten the conflicting emotions so exposed at that time or is she crowning George with still a wet eye on Edward VIII? These questions rest unanswered except by mere personal conviction or personal interpretation of public portents. They will be a challenging legacy for historians decades hence. Yet the straws that "fluttered" which way, every way, in December seem to be sweeping in the prevailing wind that on May 12 will unfurl the Royal Standard of George VI in no hesitant uncertainty. Time and the King's discreet mod-

Windsor Reunited With Woman He Loves More Than Empire

Duke Reflected Picture of Boyish Happiness as He Greeted Mrs. Simpson at French Chateau Today After Separation of Five Months—Early Announcement on Wedding Plans to Follow Meeting of Couple Today—Indicated Stay at French Chateau Will Be Brief.

Mons, France, May 4.—The Duke of Windsor was reunited today with the woman for whom he renounced his throne, Mrs. Wallis Simpson. Five months and one day of enforced loneliness for the former King ended at 1:45 p.m. (7:45 a.m. E.S.T.), when the Duke reached the Chateau de Candé.

He came from St. Wolfgang, Austria, by train and motor. Mrs. Simpson met him on the doorstep of the chateau. Preceded by a motorcycle policeman, the Duke's car roared through the gates. A truck, stacked with seventeen suitcases, panted along behind.

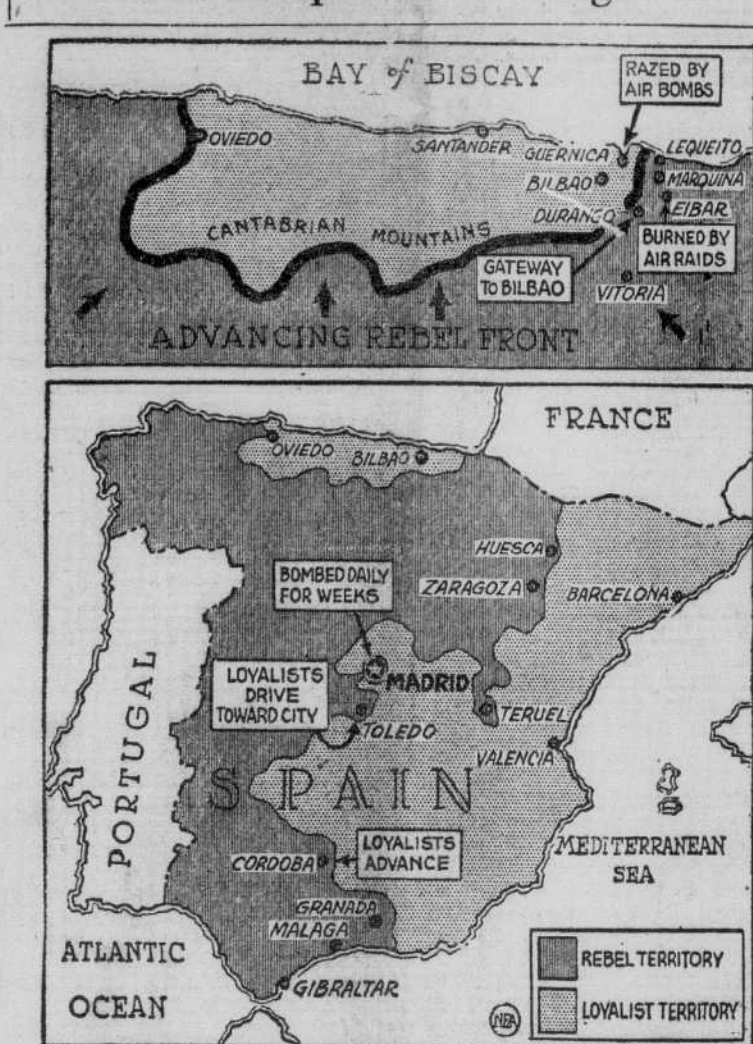

The Duke was an hour overdue. From Verneuil, where he left the Arnhem express, the motor trip consumed four long hours. The Duke jumped from the car and arm in arm with Mrs. Simpson went inside the castle. Within the mossy chateau, its great rooms gay with masses of lilacs, tulips and yellow acacia, a small house party awaited the Duke for luncheon.

During the morning Mrs. Simpson had walked in the garden alone. The day started out grey and chilly, but an hour before the Duke arrived the sun burst out to show the countryside in all its splendor. A knot of villagers had gathered outside the gates, with waiting newspapermen, to see "the Duke. Wearing sabots, the peasants climbed from bicycles and chatted with the gendarmes. Then they whirled Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 4.

OBJECTIVE IS CLOSER CO-OPERATION BETWEEN ITALY AND GERMANY

Rome, May 4.—Fascist and Nazi officials reported today that Premier Mussolini and Germany's Foreign Minister, Baron Konstantin Von Neurath, had made progress in their effort to make last year's Italo-German friendship agreement a workable piece of machinery. Informed persons on both sides said the conferees were approaching harmony on such major problems as the Spanish civil war, the League of Nations, a new Locarno Pact and an agreement on political and economic problems of the Danubian basin.

AUTHOR LACKS WORDS AT NEWS OF PRIZE AWARD

"I'm Astounded" and "I'm Overwhelmed" Only Words Woman Author Could Find with Which to Greet News that Her Book Won Pulitzer Prize.

New York, May 4.—Margaret Mitchell wrote 1,037 pages for "Gone With the Wind" but she could find only four words with which to greet the news that her book had won the annual Pulitzer prize.

"I'm astounded," was the first reaction of the Atlanta author. She groped for words. Then — "I'm overwhelmed."

The award for the novel of United States Civil War days in Georgia carried with it $1,000 in cash, a pittance compared to what she has earned from the 1,350,000 copies of the book already printed, or what she will earn from the motion picture about to be made. But in honor it was high, and Miss Mitchell joins a distinguished group of novelists who have received the award since its inauguration in 1918.

Miss Mitchell — in private life Mrs. John R. Marsh — was one of fourteen men and women honored with the Pulitzer awards in Journalism and Letters, announced last night by the trustees of Columbia University. Selection of her one and she says — only novel was one of the least surprising to most critics.

An undercurrent of criticism greeted the award to the play "You Can't Take It With You," by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman, as the best "original" American play, performed in New York, which she represents in marked fashion the educational value and power of the stage. Burns Mantle, drama critic of the New York Daily News, who last year criticized the Pulitzer drama award to Robert Sherwood's "Idiot's Delight," said he thought "the play chosen for a first prize should have more distinction in writing, be a little more of serious consequence and significance in the theatre."

SCOUT SAVED LIVES OF YOUNG CHILDREN

Amherst, N.S., May 4.—A thirteen year old Boy Scout was hailed today for saving two small children from death beneath the wheels of a speeding train—but if a passerby who saw the rescue had not told the other safety on the opposite side of the track. A kiddie car being pulled by one of the children was smashed by the train.

Weatherbee, his rescue performed, did not stop to find out the children's names. Nor did he bother to tell anybody about the occurrence. It was left to a passerby to tell the story two days later.

LONDON CLUBS EXPECT HEAVY LIQUOR SALES

At Least 250,000 Extra Barrels of Beer Will Be Consumed Before Coronation Celebrations Are Over—Night Clubs Plan Big Business.

London, May 4.—London is ready to celebrate the Coronation with foam and bubbles. No less than 250,000 extra barrels of beer, by a conservative estimate, will be consumed before the Coronation is over, and the leading hotels have stocked up heavily with champagne, wines and liquors.

The toast to "The King" is going to be drunk from one end of London to the other.

There is plenty of precedent. Samuel Pepys' record of the coronation of Charles II, for example, shows he sent his wife to bed, and went out to enjoy himself. The result was that when he got to bed himself his head "began to turn" just a little.

"I wondered," Pepys wrote in his diary, "to see how the ladies did tip." This year there will be at least two nights of extreme gaiety. At midnight May 11th, as Coronation Day begins, bedlam will break loose. The night of May 12th, after the King is crowned, will top the extravaganza of letting the bars down.

Licensing laws for liquor will interfere to a certain extent with the night spots. Drinks may be served in restaurants and cabarets only up to a certain hour—usually midnight—unless special permission has been secured.

But London has got around that through the so-called "night clubs" or "bottle-party clubs." Visitors to these clubs must "join" for a nominal fee—usually about $1 to $2.50. The visitor signs forms which permit the club, as agent, to obtain liquor by the bottle from merchants. The bottles are labeled with the customer's name, placed on the table as his property and kept—if necessary—back a second or third time to finish off the contents.

By the same theory, the customer doesn't get any liquor until at least the night after he signs up, to give the club a chance to send out for the bottled goods.

MONTREAL'S DOLE ADMINISTRATION COMMENDED

Montreal, May 4.—Four charity groups sent representatives yesterday before the committee probing Montreal's Unemployment Relief Commission, and all expressed confidence in the city's dole administration. All four recorded "great satisfaction" with the commission as handled by Brig.-Gen. E. Deb. Panet and two co-commissioners, and suggested even wider discretionary authority for them.

By the same theory, the customer doesn't get any liquor until at least the night after he signs up, to give the club a chance to send out for the bottled goods.

ITALY TO PAY 13 TO 38 CENTS A WEEK FOR EACH NEW BABY

Rome, May 4.—The government is going to give Italian parents thirteen to thirty-eight cents a week for each new baby. The scheme is part of Premier Mussolini's plan to check the decline in Italy's birthrate.

If the prospective daddy is a factory worker, for instance, it will work out like this: one baby will add twenty-four cents to his normal weekly salary, two babies sixty-three cents, three babies ninety-four cents and four babies $1.50.

When he acquires a brood of ten, he will be eligible to receive a supplemental wage of $3.75 a week.

For an average workman that would mean an average increase of fifty per cent. over the wages he gets for his regular work.

Vatican Renews Demands For Freedom To Fulfill Its Mission In Germany

Latest Note Delivered by Catholic Church Authorities to Reich Government Representatives Declares that Economic Pressure Must Not Be Brought Against Catholics in Germany and that Catholic Schools and the Catholic Press Should Not Be Hampered—Regarded as Reply to Recent Attack by Hitler.

Vatican City, May 4.—Pope Pius told Chancellor Hitler today that the Catholic Church must be left free to fulfill its mission in Nazi Germany.

The Pontiff's reply to the recent German church note, which itself was a reply to the Pope's pre-Easter encyclical accusing the German Government of violating the 1933 Church-State concordat, was delivered by Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli to the German Ambassador to the Holy See, Diego von Bergen.

Vatican sources said the note did not mention Hitler's May Day speech, when he warned against sermons or "encyclicals" which "disturb" the Third Reich. It took a more moderate tone than the encyclical, and left the way open for further conversations about the concordat, which set up separate spheres of Church and State influence in the Reich.

The note maintained, however, the Church's insistence that economic pressure must not be brought to bear against Catholics in Germany; that Catholic schools and the Catholic press should not be hampered.

As the note was presented, German Foreign Minister Konstantin von Neurath, who is here visiting Premier Mussolini, drove with German Ambassador Ulrich von Hassell to Castel Gandolfo, where the Pope is in residence.

He did not see the Holy Father, however, and authoritative German sources said there was no possibility he would meet either Pope Pius or Cardinal Pacelli. Von Neurath's trip to Castel Gandolfo was to lunch at a lakeside restaurant owned by a friend of long standing.

ECONOMY PLAN HALTS FLOOD CONTROL MOVE

Efforts to Reduce Cost on United States Government Results in Indefinite Postponement of Hearings on Flood Control Measure.

Washington, May 4.—Efforts to cut the cost of government in the United States brought recommendations today for postponement of additional flood control projects and a $162,000,000 army housing programme.

Chairman Whittington (Democrat for Mississippi) of the House of Representatives Flood Control committee said hearings on emergency flood control measures would be delayed indefinitely.

President Roosevelt, he explained, had asked that action be put off until completion of a study of flood control in relation to power development and navigation aids. Some members predicted the President might discuss in a message to Congress a national system of flood control, power, navigation and land conservation, possibly based on the Tennessee Valley Authority idea.

ALEXANDRE GELINAS MAYOR OF SHAWINIGAN FALLS

Shawinigan Falls, Que., May 4.—Complete results of the mayoralty elections today confirmed the election of Alexandre Gelinas to succeed the late Mayor Lucien Bourassa. Gelinas had a majority of ninety-one, polling 538 votes to 747 for J. A. Bloudeau; 638 for J. A. Giguere and 316 for Louis Rousseau.

Ulster Leaders Decline To Accede To Any Proposals For Irish Merger

Government Members of Northern Ireland Parliament Renew Declaration that Ulster Intends to Remain Integral Part of British Empire—Resent Latest De Valera Constitution for United Ireland as Out of Place.

Belfast, May 4.—As the Irish Free State's new constitution remained the main topic of discussion here it was reported today that Viscount Craigavon and Sir Dawson Bates, Prime Minister and Home Secretary respectively, would place Northern Ireland's views on the new situation, directly before Prime Minister Baldwin.

Both are going to London for the Coronation. Neither would give out any definite information regarding their plans, but comment on President Eamon de Valera's move from other members of the Ulster Government follows:

Finance Minister John M. Andrews: "I am surprised, and I deeply regret that the present rulers of the Irish Free State evidently desire to separate it from the United Kingdom, of which Ulster, ever will form an inseparable part." Commerce Minister J. Milne Barrbour: "We have known Mr. de Valera's views for many years but we are just as determined to maintain our position as I dare say he is, on his part, to try to get the situation changed. The idea of Ireland as a separate entity does not appeal to us. We infinitely prefer our position as citizens of the United Kingdom." Agriculture Minister Sir Basil Brooke: "Northern Ireland is quite capable to look after its own affairs. We consider it impertinence for any outside person to suggest an alternative to our present constitution, which is permanent."

Foreign Agitators Barred In Future Quebec Labor Parleys

Although Approving Rights of Workers to Unionize, Premier Duplessis Warns that He Will Not Countenance Interference from International Unions Tainted with Communism—Announces that Orders for Arrest of Leaders in Montreal Dress Strike Have Been Suspended

WARNS AGAINST MANY DANGERS OF PRICE BOOM

Quebec, May 4.—The long-awaited Union Nationale Government bill to provide Quebec with a public-owned provincial hydro-electric system was scheduled to come before the Legislature today for preliminary study. Premier Maurice Duplessis announced last night he would introduce resolutions relating to the bill today.

Details of Quebec's venture into public ownership of electric utilities have not been made public, but the Premier said some time ago a start would be made on a small scale with a system in the northern mining and colonization region of Temiscamingue. Later a bill will be introduced to set up a five-man commission to study the whole question of electricity in the province.

Montreal's strike in the ladies' garment industry occupied the House yesterday. The Liberal and Nationalist oppositions protesting what they termed the Premier's high-handed and "despotic" declaration that he had ordered the arrest of two strike leaders. The Premier, also Attorney-General, told the Legislature the arrest orders had been suspended so as not to spoil the chances of a settlement of the dispute.

The men ordered arrested were Bernard Shane, organizer of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, and Raoul Trepanier, strike committee chairman. "So upset the mass of workers in this province a general strike might well Please turn to Page 2, Col. 5

A PERMANENT FIRE BRIGADE AT LENNOXVILLE

Town Council Decide to Replace Voluntary Force by Permanent Brigade of Ten Men and a Fire Chief—Varied Matters Studied by Councilors at Monthly Meeting.

Lennoxville is to have a paid fire brigade of ten men and a fire chief, all efficiently equipped with waterproof coats, boots and helmets. This was the decision of the Town Council at last night's regular monthly meeting, which was presided over by Mayor H. W. S. Downs and with all councilors present.

The Town Council is appreciative of the splendid work rendered in the past by Chief T. D. Bozer and the voluntary brigade, but it was felt that town would be better served by having a permanent force.

The entire plan as submitted by the fire committee met with the approval of the Council, and the committee was empowered to select suitable men for the department.

A letter was read from the Hon. J. S. Bourque, Minister of Public Works, stating that a grant for fire protection would be made by the Provincial Government provided the town complied with the regulations and made their request within two months.

A discussion took place regarding the building of new sidewalks, it being stated that no work of this type, except for a short piece near the Union Screen Plate Company, had been undertaken for the past six years. It was decided that a new sidewalk would be laid on Warren street, and that the flagstones from this street would be used on Massawippi street. Clough avenue is also in need of attention, but this was left over for further consideration as the expense involved was considered rather high. The levelling of Elvidere street and other work under consideration was also left in abeyance pending the surveyor's report.

E. J. Dundin, who complained regarding the dusty condition of the Sherbrooke-Lennoxville highway, was told that the town would take immediate action to remedy this situation.

A complaint was voiced by A. T. Spied regarding the loading of cattle in Lennoxville. These animals are left standing in the cars sometimes as long as three days and nights before being shipped. This creates a noise which is a nuisance to the community, Mr. Spied contended. He was assured that the police committee would notify the proper authorities that this must cease.

C. Howard Aikman, principal of the Lennoxville High School, spoke briefly to the councilors and, as head of the committee for the Coronation Day celebration, outlined the programme which was being drawn up. This will comprise a church parade in the morning, sporting events with prizes and a softball game during the afternoon, and a band concert and torchlight parade in the evening. The sum of one hundred dollars was voted by the Council toward the cost of this celebration.

Councillor Norrey Hunting reported the entrance to the Town Hall was considered unsafe and it was decided that the porch would be torn down and the front of the building made more presentable.

INDICTMENT IS FOUND LEGAL BY JUDGE COUTURE

Presentation of Evidence in Joint Trial of Louis Rodrigue and Lionel Girard, Charged with Conspiracy to Defraud, Inaugurated this Morning.

A motion to quash the indictment against Louis Rodrigue and Lionel Girard, both of this city, charged with conspiracy to defraud, was dismissed by Judge J. S. Couture in the magistrate's Court this morning as the climax to a long legal argument between Crown and defence attorneys that held the attention of the Court all yesterday afternoon.

Charles del. Mignault, attorney for the accused, who has selected speedy trials in the Magistrate's Court after being condemned to the Court of King's Bench, claimed that the indictment was illegal because it contained several accusations and covered offences for which Girard and Rodrigue had not been bound over for trial.

Antonio Drolet, Crown prosecutor, declared the indictment was legal in every way. It was founded on only one accusation that held an element of continuity, he said, and evidence in the preliminary hearing had shown that the alleged offence started as early as 1929, although the original complaint covered only the five year period between 1930 and 1935.

The defence attorney then requested more details regarding the complaint, but Judge Couture also refused this motion, remarking that the act of accusation was sufficiently detailed as it was. In the event that the defence was "caught by surprise" through the introduction of unexpected evidence, he said, arrangements could be made for an adjournment to allow the defence time to prepare to meet the new proof.

After these two defence moves were ruled out this morning, it appeared that the joint trial was about to start. But that was not to be for quite a few minutes at least. There was trouble about the witnesses.

Mr. Drolet claimed that he had had no time to subpoena a number of witnesses residing in such out of the way places as St. Sebastian. Therefore, he desired to have the case postponed until the 10th, but Mr. Mignault expressed a desire to proceed at once. Mr. Drolet had been under the impression that Mr. Mignault was willing to agree to the introduction of the preliminary hearing depositions of these particular witnesses, but now he understood that Mr. Mignault was adverse to that arrangement.

Mr. Mignault explained that since Mr. Drolet and he had considered using the depositions, he had reviewed the records of the preliminary hearing and "was surprised to find them replete with illegals." Mr. Mignault explained that he was retained only last Friday to defend the accused, and he could not agree to the use of the depositions unless the witnesses were present to be cross-examined should that be necessary.

"Would it be possible," asked Judge Couture in a mildly sarcastic tone, to find some way of making this case more complicated?"

It was finally agreed to hear the witnesses already summoned by the Crown, and then adjourn until the others could be present.

Alfred Cote, fifty-three year old Chatham farmer, was the first witness called. He testified to a transaction he had had with Rodrigue and Girard in September, 1934, by which he exchanged his farm for a property at St. Francois Xavier de Brompton.

The case is continuing.

The Council likewise approved the re-planting of the bridge on Massawippi street and a resolution was adopted that the trees on main street be inspected.

Grants of twenty-five dollars were given to the Lennoxville Dahila and Floricultural Society, who will plant flowers at the Town Square and to the Victorian Order of Nurses, whose splendid work is much appreciated by the residents of Lennoxville.

Complaints were voiced by R. H. Fletcher, who stated that the refuse from the Franciscan Monastery was being dumped on his property, and from the garbage collector, who stated some citizens were leaving things for his collection which were outside those stipulated in his contract.

The Council expressed its appreciation to William Pratt who has consented to attend to the raising and lowering of the town flag during the absence of F. B. Day.

The connoisseurs of the world family, The Cockney says "God bless 'em" instead of "im" and the poet laureate significantly couples the Queen's name early in the official prayer:

"Grant to our Queen the strength that lifts and shares
"The daily burden that a monarch bears."

And all the while the King is gathering affection. This quiet, serious, sensitive forty-two year old man is being compared with his father who also had to follow the reign of a more lively, colorful man.

"Mind you, he'll gradually get precisely the same impersonal yet intimate affection his father enjoyed"—this from a man in a high position of state. "Well, he may be plain but we know him and he knows us."

The day when their Majesties journeyed on the Thames to open the Maritime Museum at Greenwich, police had to postpone their return owing to the greatly enthusiastic crowds which blocked the route.

It is said His Majesty is applying himself to his work in an earnest determination to win back respect for the monarchy as well as the affection of his people. He is studying welfare conditions, particularly looking into industrial affairs in relation to the common man.

That nervousness brings to mind the question of his health. Wild rumors are circulating attributing to him almost every ailment known to medicine. He himself, amused on one occasion, was reported to have remarked:

"If I suffered all I am said to suffer from I should either be dead or dying. Well really I am feeling very fit."

It is certain His Majesty's health is robust. His constitution is delicate but under care he manages well. With his interests fortunately lying rather in the quieter pursuits of books or milder exercises, it is thought he will not find the kingship too exhausting a task.

Regarding the more immediate considerations of the success of the Coronation, there have been reports that many bookings were cancelled. If Edward were being crowned, it is whispered, May 12 would be a greater day.

Mindful of Edward's abdication, some attribute the cancellations of George's comparative lack of popularity to the fact that he is a younger man, that theory, however, are inevitably numerous cancellations in such a giant event and normally such cancellations would pass without question.

If which is doubtful, there is an apparent slackening off in Coronation bookings and interest some argue more plausibly the fault is against the press, commercial hotels, travel agencies, shops, propagandists, and so forth, whose job is accused of being overdone and over-ballooned to the extent that people become leery of participating in such a maelstrom of humanity and activity.

And it is pointed out that industrial unrest and strikes—such as the current bus strike—are possible deterrents.

Actually, it is felt the Coronation in many ways will be a greater, gay affair than it would with Edward. The King has his Queen and the two princesses. And if anyone thinks this an overrated consideration let him read the English papers, noting the amount of news devoted to the feminine side of the festivities directly attributed to the participation of Queen Elizabeth and her daughters.

The King's interest in all the Coronation arrangements has been noteworthy. One instance the writer knows for a fact: On May 14 more than two thousand Empire troops will go to the palace to receive Coronation medals. The scheme was that only representatives of each contingent would actually receive a medal from the King, the others to be distributed through the ranks at the same time. The King objected, wanting to present each personally, and was only dissuaded when it was proved such a ceremony would take five hours.

Against difficult days ahead, the King is building on sturdy foundations to set the monarchy back on its pedestal. This he aims to do with out spectacular devices such as personal appeal and personal activity, but through thoughtful application to his duty. And his conception of duty is the same as Edward's—"Ich dien" is his motto. He will appeal to the subconscious rather than to the conscious minds of his people.

All in all, the counter of straws cannot escape the conclusion that George VI will be crowned amid genuine hurrahs of his kingdom.

PRESENT KING WITH BATON OF FIELD MARSHAL

London, May 4.—In the presence of seven field marshals wearing full dress uniforms, the King today was presented with his Field Marshal's baton at Buckingham Palace by Sir William Birdwood.

It had been originally planned to have the Duke of Connaught, as Senior Field Marshal, make the presentation, but the King's great-uncle was unable to attend owing to an indisposition.

The baton which His Majesty was asked to accept is about twenty-two inches long and one inch in diameter. The staff is covered with red velvet with gold lions passant guardant in eight rings upon it. At the top there is a chased gold mount with a wreath of rose, shamrock and thistle surmounted by St. George and The Dragon. The lower end has a mount of similar design.

The base bears the inscription: "His Majesty King George VI, Field Marshal, 11th December, 1936."

SNOW REMOVAL REFLECTED IN RAIL EARNINGS

Heavy Floods in Spring of 1936 Also Served to Offset Increased Earnings Reported by Quebec Central Railway—Officers Re-elected.

An increase of $41,089 in gross earnings, which for the year 1936 totalled $1,442,998, was reported at the annual meeting of the Quebec Central Railway held in Montreal yesterday, reflecting the improved economic conditions in the territory served by the company. Working expenses, including taxes, however, jumped $57,569, owing largely to the unusually heavy costs for snow removal during the first two months of the year and repairs to the line damaged by spring floods.

Net earnings declined by $16,480 to $47,939. Freight earnings advanced substantially but passenger receipts declined owing to the increasing competition from the private automobile.

Traffic prospects for the current year were reported as very encouraging, the earnings for the first quarter ended March 31 showing marked increases in both freight and passenger traffic over the corresponding period of last year.

The annual meeting of the Quebec Central Transportation Company, a highway subsidiary of the railway, was also held yesterday. This company operates motor coaches over some three hundred route miles of highway throughout the district served by the railway and the results of its operations during 1936 were considered satisfactory.

Services corresponding to that of last year are being re-established as the road conditions permit. A modern streamlined motor coach seating twenty-seven passengers has been added to the company's equipment.

The following were elected to the Board of Directors of the Quebec Central Railway Company: D. C. Coleman, Montreal; J. H. Walsh, Sherbrooke; L. B. Urwin, Montreal; E. P. Flintoft, K.C., Montreal; Charles D. Brasse and Thomas Lindley, London, England. The executive officers of the road are D. C. Coleman, president; J. H. Walsh, vice-president; F. Bramley, secretary; and G. D. Wadworth, general manager.

Windsor Reunited With Woman He Loves More Than An Empire

away the time munching chocolate and sipping from flagons of white wine.

A truck loaded with live pigs paused for a moment in the road and the driver gazed with mild curiosity at the crowd.

An Englishwoman, on a tour from London, outdid the newspaper photographers in taking pictures of everything in sight.

As the Duke's car passed, every British newspaperman removed his hat.

The Duke wore a black overcoat, but no hat. He leaned forward, smiling, and waved to the newspapermen.

The Duke's sun-tanned face was a picture of boyish happiness as he left the car at the chateau door and embraced Mrs. Simpson.

Only yesterday, she won final freedom from her second marriage—to Ernest Aldrich Simpson, London ships' broker. Her marriage to the Duke will follow probably late in May or in June.

Members of the Duke's entourage, a short time after his arrival, disclosed he was in favor of an early announcement of the marriage plans.

That announcement, it was indicated, might be forthcoming as soon as Mrs. Simpson has had time to discuss the arrangements.

The one-time Baltimore, Md., debutante was visibly excited as the hour of reunion neared.

A companion of the former king when he received the news from London that Mrs. Simpson's divorce was final, told of his jubilant cries and of the immediate questionings: "When's the next train for Paris?"

Mrs. Simpson's telephoned plea that he fly to her at Chateau de Cande, it was reported, brought a quick amendment to the Duke's plan to defer the reunion until after the coronation of his brother, George VI, on May 12.

The possibility that the Duke's stay at Chateau de Cande would be short found favor in view of advice that he had left most of his baggage at Vienna. This tallied with a statement by Mrs. Simpson's spokesman, Herman L. Rogers, that an immediate marriage was not envisaged.

A member of the Duke's staff disclosed the former monarch was considering writing a book to correct what he said were erroneous reports concerning the abdication.

To insure an undisturbed setting for the meeting armed contingents patrolled the grounds of Chateau de Cande or hid behind clumps of trees and hedges. Within the castle a half dozen British and French detectives were on guard.

The Duke was whisked away from Verneuil by automobile at about 9:30 a.m. when the Austrian made a carrying him from Austria made a special stop. He thus avoided Paris.

The arrival at Verneuil was witnessed by about two score of the village's 744 inhabitants, who ranged in a semi-circle about the station platform in the few minutes between arrival and departure.

The Duke greeted the chauffeur of the car Mrs. Simpson had sent with a hearty handshake.

Montreal, May 4.—Jean Bruchesi, professor at the University of Montreal, assumed his duties as Assistant Provincial Secretary in Quebec yesterday, after resigning from the local university's Faculty of Letters. He will retain his post as professor in the School of Social, Economic and Political Science.

Of French-Italian descent, Mr. Bruchesi was born in Montreal April 9, 1901, the son of Charles Bruchesi, K.C. Rush Evacuation Of City As Insurgents' Siege Lines Close

General Emilio Mola's troops were swarming into the mountainous region north of Bilbao and their artillery concentrated on the Nervion River, Bilbao's water outlet to the Bay of Biscay.

Basque reports declared, however, that Government soldiers were holding their ground west of Bermeo, a fishing town only about eight miles north of Bilbao.

The Government said that three thousand Italian troops in the insurgent army were killed in an assault when they were cut off from their base at Bermeo.

An indication was seen of Basque authorities' fears that their capital could not hold out in the face of the President of the Basque Government, Juan Antonio Aguirre.

Aside from those families, evacuation of civilians from tottering Bilbao thus far had brought safety only to foreigners, but removal of Spaniards was expected to begin today.

There appeared little likelihood, however, that many of the civilians in Bilbao—estimated to number some 350,000 since the insurgent grip tightened on the city—could be taken to foreign havens.

France and Britain plan to transport five thousand, if possible, to France, where they have prepared to provide for them temporarily.

Several British freighters which got food into Bilbao last week despite the menace of insurgent guns still are lying at the Basque port. They might be used to take out refugees, along with three French steamships which are scheduled to leave Bordeaux for Bilbao tonight.

The French ships can carry two thousand persons.

The British destroyer Faulknor brought out twelve foreign refugees yesterday, including the British consul and vice-consul, and the French dispatch ship Somme arrived here later with seventy-two Frenchmen and Belgians.

INSURGENT GARRISON BLASTED TO DEATH

Madrid, May 4.—Three hundred insurgents were blown to death, it was reported today, when three houses in which they had sought to beat off attacking Government troops were blasted with dynamite.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK MARKET

Montreal, May 4.—Receipts on the Montreal cattle markets today were: 93 cattle, 6 sheep, 1,034 hogs and 1,290 calves.

The cattle were practically all cows of the big-bodied dairy type of plain to medium quality. Prices were unchanged. One dollar per head is deducted on all horned cattle weighing over four hundred pounds.

Calves were practically all of plain to medium quality and were sold in mixed lots at prices ranging from $4.35 to $5.25, with the bulk of the sales at $5 to $5.25. No tops.

Hogs were steady at $9.25 for hams, fed and watered. Selects drew one dollar per hog premium. Butchers and heavies were $8.75, extra heavies $8.25 and light hogs $8.25 to $8.75. Sows ranged from $6 to $7.

SPORTING NOTES

"HARDBOOTS" WILL NEVER FORGET SANDE'S FEAT
Louisville, Ky., May 4.—"The Earl" is in town again.

It's been five years since the great Sande visited Churchill Downs but the "hardboots" will never forget the handy lad from Idaho who rode three Kentucky Derby winners. They speak his name almost in reverence when recalling the deeds of Derby greats.

Earl is not here to ride in the sixty-third running of the Derby. Those days are over. But he, as two horses in Sevenshifter and Fencing that may have something to say about the division of the $50,000 purse late Saturday afternoon.

"They've got an outside chance," said Sande today as he watched his horses breeze over the Churchill Downs oval. "Yes, I'd say they have a little better than an outside chance."

At the same time, to restore communications and supply lines between their main body and three thousand comrades beleaguered in University City on Madrid's north-western edge.

On the Teruel front, about 135 miles east of Madrid, the Government opened vigorous artillery and rifle fire, including heavy losses on Franco's salient toward the Mediterranean coast, the War Ministry announced.

Basque counter-attacks were reported driving back Italian contingents northeast of Bilbao as Government air raids of the first magnitude left devastation in rebel-held sectors of Guadalajara Province, northeast of Madrid.

In the Durango sector, southeast of Bilbao, the insurgents reportedly were driven from their base of attack when the defenders launched a counter-offensive, killing more than one hundred.

A fleet of sixty-three Government battle planes bombed and strafed insurgent points in Guadalajara Province throughout the entire afternoon yesterday.

Mayoral Powers.

While J. E. Gregoire, mayor of Quebec City and dissident Nationalist member of the Legislative Assembly for Montmagny, may not have a very lofty opinion of Premier Duplessis as the result of the Prime Minister's refusal to grant him some rather unusual powers, his views will be far from shared by other residents of the Province. What the Mayor sought was the right to authorize expenditures of $500 or less without consulting the executive committee of the City Council. The Prime Minister was of the opinion that this was going somewhat too far, as the clause did not limit the number of $500 expenditures the Quebec mayor might make. This, he feared, would provide too strong an instrument of patronage in the hands of any Chief Magistrate who did not take the highest views of the duties of his office.

The majority of the municipalities of the Province which are in financial difficulties today can trace their troubles to too free expenditures in past years. What is needed today is a tightening of the purse-strings, not the relaxation of control as proposed by Mayor Gregoire. Perhaps the New England idea of the Town Meeting whereby the individual items of the municipal budget are submitted for the direct approval or rejection of the ratepayers might have much to commend it in spite of its somewhat complicated procedure.

Fatal Mixture.

The coroner of Cuyahoga county, most populous county in Ohio, has investigated all auto traffic deaths for the first quarter of 1937, and he announces that 58 per cent. of the persons killed had been drinking. The ratio was about the same for drivers who were killed and for pedestrian victims.

Now the point is that in most of these cases the victims were not what we call drunk. By no means. They had "just had a few drinks"—just enough to dull that hairline quickness of observation and reaction which is the price of safety in the modern big-city traffic stream.

It is a hackneyed old saying, but it is still true—gasoline and alcohol are a fatal mixture, even when the proportion of alcohol is very small.

The Decline in Commodity Prices.

The recent reaction in commodity prices should be welcomed generally as it will hurt few people except the speculators who miscalculated as the greater part of the trade buying was done during the earlier stages of the boom, states the Monthly Review of the National City Bank of New York. In copper, for example, the United States domestic sales at prices from ten to fourteen cents inclusive were over 360,000 tons, while from fourteen to seventeen cents, the high, they totalled hardly more than 60,000 tons, mostly to London speculators. Continuing the Review states:

Nor will the reaction have unfavorable effects on production and employment. At the lower levels prices still return profits even to high cost producers, in most lines. The mines opened will not soon shut down, and the increased output of other staples will be maintained indefinitely. For the consuming industries the lower prices are favorable; the rise in costs is checked, and this has been their chief worry, for fear consumers would or could not pay the higher prices.

Both Government officials and private observers, impressed by the rapid price advances, have expressed even during the past month the fear that the recovery was turning into an unhealthy boom; and in comment from both quarters the emphasis has turned from methods of promoting business expansion to the problem of preventing the upswing from getting out of hand.

It is undeniable that in certain lines there was a basis for these fears. With speculative demands and forward buying added to normal requirements for consumption, an increasing number of industries were driven to their practical capacity, particularly those which encountered production difficulties such as "bottle necks," strikes, or scarcity of skilled labor. The same applies to commodities in which restriction of output was practised. The continued demand for the product of these industries—a demand supported in part by purchasing power put into circulation through the Government deficit, and by foreign armament demands—was outrunning production and hence causing congestion in the markets and forcing up prices.

If the boom psychology has been dissipated by the price reactions, the situation is sounder all around. It is important to remember, however, that prices are only symptoms registering conditions in the markets. The real dangers go deeper. One is the artificial purchasing power distributed to consumers, and the way to reduce this is to cut Government expenditures and balance the budget. Another is the limitation of production, and the way to overcome this is to encourage capital investment, relieve the "bottle necks," and discourage practices whose effect is to restrict output and raise costs.

As to the possibility of the advance being resumed, the controlling influence naturally will be the situation when shipments are completed against orders now on the books. If consumption of manufactured goods has kept pace with deliveries of raw materials, and consumer demand is still strong, the staple commodities will naturally benefit. In any event, however, supplies will be more abundant.

It may be added that the reaction is instructive to those who are inclined to overrate the influence of expanding gold supplies upon commodity price trends, without sufficient consideration of the supply and demand in each market. Gold affects commodity prices only as it is directly spent for commodities, or becomes the basis of new credit which increases the demand for them; and as a rule there are other factors in the markets more influential than these.

Exaggerated Radio "News."

The extent to which "news" broadcast from some radio stations is exaggerated and distorted is once again illustrated by the New York case in which Charles Locke, news and radio writer, is suing Floyd Gibbons, news commentator, for $250,000 because, he says, Gibbons in a radio broadcast distorted and dramatized the script he had written for the commentator on the Ohio flood situation last January.

Locke claims his reputation as a careful news writer was injured and that he has lost valuable contracts as a result of these distortions. Among the charges he tosses at Gibbons is one that the broadcaster asserted that he was reading the script by the light of a railroad lantern, whereas he was reading the script by the usual and customary electric light. Locke also declares that Gibbons told the radio audience that he was talking to a diver located five miles away under twenty feet of water; whereas in truth and in fact Gibbons was talking to an actor in the studio through a loud speaker.

The defence is also interesting. The distortion charges are not denied, but passed over lightly with the excuse that they were "dramatic" and made a good story.

This case serves to emphasize the fact that the newspaper is by far the most reliable news and advertising medium.

What Editors Say

HOW SHOULD PERSISTENT FISH POACHER BE TREATED.

Owen Sound Sun-Times. What the law needs is a penalty which will make the fellow who thinks it smart to slip in ahead of the season and by fair means or foul—generally foul—grab off a lot of fish do a lot of considering before he goes a-poaching. The game warden is a restraining influence, of course; but he cannot be everywhere at once and the poacher usually manages to "get a line" on his whereabouts before he ventures on his predatory trips.

Something is needed to deter him from taking the risk—something he will feel more than the infliction of a fine. Certainly there should be something stiff for the fellow who has shown that a fine has not stopped him.

It is needless for us to say again what we think of poachers; we have said it before. But we can repeat that, in our opinion, no punishment is too severe for the miserable apology for a sportsman who sneaks in and helps to spoil the streams and ponds for those who observe the rules of sportsmanship.

THE AVERAGE DRIVER.

Galt Reporter. The average motorist, according to a spokesman for the Harvard university bureau for street traffic research, has good intentions, is fairly skilful and is, on the whole, a safe driver. Then why are thousands on this continent dying in traffic accidents and hundreds of thousands of others being injured every year? The average driver who is, on the whole, a safe driver cannot be exempt from responsibility.

The Harvard bureau spokesman places responsibility squarely upon that driver. He does get into accidents. Why? Not because he is unskilled or habitually reckless. He gets into accidents and becomes involved in slaughter because "he has certain minor failings which assume major importance when he is in a hurry." It is the duty of the average driver, therefore, to face his minor failings squarely and see to it that they do not become dominant in emergencies and make him responsible for manslaughter and serious property damage.

REFITTING OF ABBEY TO COST LARGE AMOUNT

Increased Seating for Coronation Ceremony, However, Expected to Bring Treasury $350,000 Which Will Be Used to Offset $2,500,000 to Be Spent on Coronation Costs.

London, May 4.—The most expensive coronation of modern times in Great Britain will be the Coronation of King George and Queen Elizabeth on May 12th.

More than $2,500,000 will be incurred by the Treasury, in Coronation costs. The sum of $350,000 will be regained, however, from the sale of seats in the stands along the route of the Royal procession.

The Coronation of George IV, conducted on what was then an unprecedented scale of lavishness, cost $1,200,000 in 1821. His successor, William IV, was a man of modest habits, and his Coronation cost the country only $210,000.

Queen Victoria's Coronation was also conducted simply, partly because of her youth at the time, and cost only $350,000.

Edward VII's coronation, in 1902, was held at the comparatively low figure of $905,000, in view of the fact that his sudden illness, which caused a postponement of the ceremony, must have largely added to the initial cost. George V's coronation, in 1911, cost $925,000.

The greatest part of the increased expense in connection with the present Coronation, compared with that of George V, arises from the preparation of Westminster Abbey and the annex now being built at the West End of the Abbey.

The erection of stands along the procession route is also responsible in part for the advancement in costs in the matter of labor and material. In the Abbey itself it is necessary on the present occasion to increase the seating accommodation to nearly 8,000, or about 1,000 more than at the Coronation in 1911. Sound amplification and general radio arrangements are items in the bill on this occasion which have not appeared previously.

Decorations along the route, floodlighting, and the adornment of thousands of government buildings outside of London such as post offices and revenue buildings, have never previously been undertaken by the Office of Works.

The lower ranks of the civil service are not to be overlooked in the allocation of seats on Government stands along the line of the procession route. Altogether the government will have some 85,000 seats at its disposal.

UTAH WOMEN START A BOTTLE MOUNTAIN

Salt Lake City, May 4.—A mountain of glass—a final resting place for old bottles—was started by clubwomen today.

Twenty acres of land set aside by municipal authorities as "mountain territory," were dedicated yesterday as the spot upon which a glittering crystal tower is to rise.

Members of the Wasatch Literary Club, sponsors of the project, shattered the first bottles.

Said Mrs. Hal Powers, chairman of the Club's Civic Improvement Committee: "Glass fragments, piled upon each other, catch the sun so beautifully and shine and glow wonderfully under lights at night. I consider 'glass mountains' an ideal solution to the old bottle problem."

"What is the connecting link between the animal and the vegetable kingdom?" asks a correspondent. Steve.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

PLAYS SAFE BY DISCARD

Declarer, Short in Trump, Refuses to Ruff Trick Protecting Hand Against Bad Distribution.

By Wm. E. McKenney, Secretary, American Bridge League.

One reason why most good bridge players insist upon four of partner's bid suit to justify a raise, unless he has rebid, is that, if partner has bid on a four-card suit, a raise with three gives declarer a bare majority of the trump and leaves no safety margin to guard against a bad split in trumps.

However, there are many situations in which declarer himself can guard against four trumps in one hand, by the simple expedient of discarding a loser, instead of trumping.

In today's hand, as the heart suit is divided four and four in the hands

YOUNGSTER AND DOG RESCUED BY POLICE

Unidentified Man Also Took Part in Human Chain Which Saved Boy Who Had Got onto Narrow Ledge in Vancouver Park to Rescue Dog.

Vancouver, May 4.—Kenneth Weaver vowed today Vancouver policemen were "swell guys" and police said Kenneth would be recommended for a Humane Society medal after two traffic officers and an unidentified man rescued the thirteen-year-old boy and his dog from a narrow ledge in Stanley Park.

Police said they would recommend the medal for Kenneth in recognition of his attempt to rescue his dog which had fallen onto the ledge, twelve feet below the brink of a 100-foot cliff in Vancouver's Seagirt Park.

Kenneth climbed down to the ledge and looped his belt around the dog's body, but found he was unable to scale the cliff again.

His cries for help were answered by Constables Allen Eggrins and Charles Boyd. With the help of a man whose name was not learned, the officers formed a human-chain, sprawling down the uneven cliff face with Eggrins grasping Boyd by the feet and the stranger braced and holding Eggrins similarly to the top.

SEEKS HUSBAND WITH A THOUSAND DOLLARS

Windsor, Ont., Girl Offers to Marry Any Man Between Ages of Twenty and Forty-Five Who Will Pay Off Court Judgment Against Fostermother.

Windsor, Ont., May 4.—The old story of saving the family from clutches of the landlord by paying off the homestead mortgage has a new slant today. Aileen Belle, 19 years old, is willing to marry any man between 20 and 45 who will give her $1,000 on the wedding day.

The purpose of Aileen's offer—to repay her fostermother who raised her since she was a baby and who is in danger of losing her Stratford, Ont., home. The fostermother who operates a boarding house here will lose the Stratford property unless a $500 court order is satisfied. There is also a $500 mortgage.

A good housekeeper by her own recommendation, Aileen weighs 139 pounds and is five feet, three and one-half inches tall. Her cooking specialty is spaghetti and she's a blues singer.

When Aileen says she will marry "any man," she doesn't mean just that. She reserves the right of rejection. She has a slight preference for tall, dark men but "it doesn't matter as long as he is fairly good looking. Everyone can't be handsome."

CANADIANS AND THEIR INDUSTRIES... AND THEIR BANK

CANADA'S TRADE WITH THE WORLD

In the last calendar year Canada had a foreign trade amounting to $1,663,093,000, an increase of 19.7%, as compared with an average of 8.1% for 24 leading countries. In this exchange the Dominion had a favourable balance (including exportation of gold as a commodity) of $393,000,000.

Another feature of international trade was the tourist business, incoming and outgoing, totalling $355,568,000, the balance in Canada's favour being $155,958,000.

With the figures for tourist trade added to those for ordinary commerce, our international trade rose to $2,018,661,000, with a total balance in Canada's favour of more than half a billion dollars.

Banking plays a vital part in the upbuilding of the foreign trade of Canada, and foreign trade is the backbone of the native industries which are the foundation of Canada's economic structure.

Barrett, president of the local club,
Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Holtham, Mr.
and Mrs. W. G. Cross, Mr. and Mrs.
Lee Audet, Mr. and Mrs. J. T.
Hawkins, Messrs. Rosaire Samson,
George Ewing, Gerald Wiggett and
John Hovey.

Among those from Sherbrooke who are attending the annual Rotary conference in Montreal are Mr. Karl
E. Barrett, president of the local club,
Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Holtham, Mr.
and Mrs. W. G. Cross, Mr. and Mrs.
Lee Audet, Messrs. Rosaire Samson,
George Ewing, Gerald Wiggett and
John Hovey.

Mrs. Harold Billson, Mrs. Kenneth Kind and Miss Nora Walters entertained the members of St.
Agnes' Guild very pleasantly last evening at the former's home on Hubbard avenue. Miss Doris Price, the president, presided, and after making plans for a rummage sale, tentative arrangements were made for a supper to be held later in the season. An enjoyable social hour ensued, and at its conclusion the hostesses served delicious refreshments.

Mr. Rene Turck, French Consul
General, and Mrs. Turck, of Montreal, who arrived here at noon this morning, will be the guests of honour at a dinner to be given this evening by L'Union Musicale at the New Wellington, at which Mrs. L. E.
Codere, the president, will preside.
Immediately after their arrival they were luncheon guests at the Provincial House of the Sisters of Charity in East Sherbrooke, leaving afterwards for Coaticook, where a reception was held in their honor at the Presentation of Mary Convent. Later they were entertained at tea by Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Bachand at their residence on Cutting street, Coaticook. This evening the distinguished visitors will be the guests of L'Alliance Francaise at
"The Parthenon" where Mr. Turck will be the guest speaker.

Mrs. G. T. Armstrong, Mrs. W. S.
Allen, Mrs. J. A. Barrie and Mrs.
William Bailey were tea hostesses yesterday afternoon following the regular meeting of the King George Fifth Chapter of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire at the MacKinnon Memorial. Mrs. W.
E. Loomis, the regent, presided, and $15 was voted towards the convention fund for the National Chapter meeting. Future activities were discussed and mention was made of the coming I.O.D.E. tag days sponsored by the Municipal Chapter of Sherbrooke.

The Quebec Provincial annual meeting, recently held in Montreal, was most interestingly reviewed by Mrs. Loomis for the benefit of those who were unable to attend this important event.

Afternoon tea was served by the hostesses, assisted by Miss May Mitchell, Miss Edith Martens and Mrs. W. Kinkead.

The Misses Kathleen Clark, Marie McLester, Florence Clark and Genevieve Smith were hostesses at a delightful bridge party in "The Parthenon" last evening for the benefit of St. Patrick's Mission Circle.
Coronation colors were effectively used in decorating the already attractive living room, which was lighted with many red, white and blue candles. Bridge was played at five tables, the prizes being won by Miss Flossie Sheridan and Miss Daphne Mooney. At the conclusion of the game the hostesses served delicious refreshments.

Another very charming event sponsored by the same society was a card party given by Miss Maud Stewart at her home on Fulton avenue, when bridge was played at six tables and the prize was won by Miss Eva McConnell.
The hostess on this occasion was assisted in her hospitable duties by Miss Margaret Mitton and Miss Evelyn Murray.

SPOKE ON "POSSIBILITIES IN THE AMATEUR'S GARDEN"
An interesting illustrated lecture on "The Possibilities in the Amate-ur's Garden" was delivered before an appreciative audience in Convocation Hall of Bishop's University, Lennoxville, last evening by Dr. T.
G. Bunting, professor of horticulture at Macdonald College.

Professor Bunting outlined, by way of introduction, some of the chemical and physiological aspects, emphasizing the fact that proper care of trees, shrubs and smaller plants is essential to their successful growth.
Throughout his lecture the speaker gave numerous hints of value to the gardener, whether amateur or professional, and made a special plea for the improvement of the appearance of urban homes by intelligent use of trees, shrubs and perennials.

Rev. A. H. McGreer, O.B.E., M.A., D.D., principal of the University, introduced and thanked the speaker, while Rev. Elton Scott,
M.A., Warden of the Divinity House, operated the lantern slide projector.
D. S. Paterson and I. M. McLean acted as ushers, and Sid Davies was in charge of the lighting.

WITNESS IN GRIMARD-
RODRIGUE CASE JAILED
FOR DRUNKENNESS
Pierre Lauzon, of Chertiville, came to the city to testify in Court and landed in jail.

He looked decidedly sheepish
when he stepped into the prisoner's dock in the local Police Court this morning to plead guilty to a charge of having been drunk and disorderly on King street west last night.

"You're quite a way from home,"
the Recorder remarked. "What are you doing in Sherbrooke?"

"I came to testify in Court," the prisoner replied.
He explained that he was a witness in the case of Lionel Grimard and Louis Rodrigue now proceeding before Magistrate J. S. Couture.
Yesterday the case was adjourned until this morning. Lauzon indulged a bit too freely. He caused a dis-

REQUEST CROSS
BE ERECTED ON CITY HEIGHTS

Mayor Assured Large Delegation that Their Proposal
Would Be Given Serious Consideration.

An illuminated cross overlooking the city was advocated as a tangible and lasting memorial of the city's centenary celebration by a large and representative gathering of local citizens who waited upon the Mayor and aldermen at last night's regular meeting of the City Council.

The members of the delegation were cordially received by the City Fathers and given the assurance that their suggestion would be favorably considered.

His Worship the Mayor remarked that the Council was not in a position to make a decision immediately.
There were, he said, many phases of the question to be studied.

If, however, the erection of such a cross is impossible upon the Mayor and aldermen at last night's regular meeting of the City Council.

Rev. Father Biron, of St. John the Baptist Church, Rev. Father A.
Goyette, of the Immaculate Conception Church in the West Ward, and Dr. Valmore O'Brien, representing the St. John the Baptist Society, spoke in favor of the project.

All speakers heartily endorsed the project and were in agreement that such a cross should be erected on a hill in East Sherbrooke where it could be seen from all approaches to the city.

Ex-Mayor J. K. Edwards was the only English-speaking citizen to form part of the delegation. Mr. Edwards explained that he was not officially representing any portion of the English-speaking population. He was, Mr. Edwards said, there simply to give his own views and to say that he felt no more suitable memorial of the centenary could be conceived than the erection of such a cross. The cross, he said, was the symbol of Christianity and was honored by Christians of all religious faiths.

While the question of an illuminated cross was under discussion, Mayor Rioux referred to an open letter which appeared in yesterday's issue of La Tribune in which the English-speaking city and the centenary officials for planning to spend $8,000 on a centenary bonfire
but declined to erect a cross.

Such statements, the Mayor said, were totally misleading and unjust.
The city had never refused to erect a cross and there never had been any mention of spending $8,000 on a bonfire. People who were inclined to criticize would do well, the Chief Magistrate said, to secure correct information before making any public statement.

Apart from the discussion of the proposed illuminated cross, last night's Council session proved to be a rather brief one, with routine business comprising the greater part of the agenda.

The Council endorsed the purchase of 10,000 electric lamp globes in five different colors, 10,000 feet of red wiring, all of which will be used in connection with the centenary celebration.

The aldermen likewise approved the construction of a concrete sidewalk on the west side of William street from the MacKinnon Memorial to Bank street. This project is to cost $1,100.

The Mayor, the chairman of the Police Committee and the Chief of Police were authorized to fix salaries of the military drill instructor and the physical training instructor and also to enlist their recruits from the Police Cadet Corps. The instructors were to be under the exclusive supervision of the Chief of Police.
The training of police cadets began yesterday.

The Council approved the payment of $1,000 for the concrete sidewalk from the concrete sidewalk leading from the Court House steps to Strathcona Square.

Ald. M. T. Armitage, chairman of the Finance Committee, gave notice of motion that at the next regular Council meeting he would introduce a by-law governing tag-days. At present there is no such by-law, Alderman Armitage explained. The purpose of his proposed by-law is not to curtail or eliminate worthy tag-days, but to have the necessary legislation in force to prevent any abuse of tag-days during the city's centenary celebration.

The Mayor and aldermen received an invitation from Rev. Canon H. R.
Bigg, rector of St. Peter's Church, to attend a Coronation Day service in that church.

It was also decided that His Majesty's Coronation would be officially commemorated here by the planting of an oak tree on the Parade Grounds.

IT DEPENDS ON HOW YOU
HOLD YOUR HEAD

Atlantic City, N.J., May 4.—
When a fellow with a splitting headache holds his head it's probably something more than a woeful gesture.

If he knows the right holds it may help his headache a lot, Drs. J. R.
Graham and G. Wolff, of the New York Hospital, told the American Society for Clinical Investigation.

They reported the throbbing pain of migraine headache was caused by throbbing blood vessels in the head, and that by holding a finger on the offending artery, on the temple behind the ear, or on the side of the neck, the pain could be subdued.

LOCAL ROTARY CLUB ENTERS A NEW DISTRICT

Sherbrooke Rotarians Today Sponsoring Luncheon at the Annual Conference in Montreal of 28th District of Rotary International.

Montreal, May 4. — The Sherbrooke Rotary Club, in company with Three Rivers and Quebec, will be included in the Vermont and New Hampshire districts in June, it was announced here today by the retiring district governor, Leland P.
Hamilton, at the annual convention of the 28th District of Rotary International.

Owing to the growth of Rotary in Quebec area, clubs in the province will be aligned with three different districts. District 28 will be split, one section to comprise Montreal, Westmount and Hawkesbury, and the other, Hull, Ottawa, Toronto and surrounding clubs and the western part of New York State. Quebec, Three Rivers and Sherbrooke will join the Vermont and New Hampshire districts.

The Sherbrooke Rotarians are today sponsoring a luncheon at the Hotel Chateaubien when B. N.
Holtham will speak on "Ten Minutes of Rotary" and the "Chanteclere" representing of Sherbrooke, under the direction of Hector St. Pierre, will be heard in a number of French folk songs and other selections.

Dr. Phil Huycik, of Kingston, Ont., was nominated governor of District 28A and George B. Cummings, of Binghamton, N.Y., governor of District 28B at yesterday's business session. District 28 now being divided, it was reported.

Leland P. Hamilton, of Oneonta, N.Y., retiring district governor, spoke of the previous excellent service to Rotary in their respective communities given by the two incumbents who will take office following confirmation of their nominations at the June conference of Rotary International to be held at Nice, France.

A ceremony in which present and past district officers, preceded by two scouts carrying the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes, entered to the playing of a pipe, heralded
the opening of the conference by B.
W. Roberts, of Montreal, conference chairman. Rev. Dr. Leslie Pidgeon, past international president, said
the invocation.

Official welcome was extended on behalf of the mayor by Ald. Omer Cote who declared that International Rotary with its widely known high aims and achievements and its drawing together of leaders in various fields of activity was an organization that must be a force for good in the world. J. Arthur Lapras, as president of Montreal
Rotary Club, host club to the conference, also welcomed the delegates.
Acknowledgment was made by Alex. Thompson of Geneva, N.Y., who said that the Rotarians were meeting in warm fellowship to promote thoughtfulness for others.

Following a musical tribute for those who had passed away, rendered by the Ithaca Rotary Quartette, a short talk was given by Ernest W. Dunbar of Cambridge, Mass., chairman of the club service committee, Rotary International, and a message coming from Will R.
Manier, Jr., Nashville, Tennessee,
president of Rotary International, was read. In it the president wished success for the conference and hoped for the co-operation of all Rotarians, to extend the ideal of Rotary.

A call was made by Mr. Hamilton that the delegates do their full duty to Rotary by their determination to carry into effect on their return home the suggestions for service which the conference would make before them. He regretted the loss of Quebec and Sherbrooke from the 28th District, but to ensure efficient supervision on the part of the governors it had been found imperative to effect the division. A district membership of 4,472 and an attendance percentage at all meetings of 79.7 was reported.

HOTELKEEPERS' ASSOCIATION OF SHERBROOKE

10—At a meeting held at the City Hall, April 27th, 1937, the sixteen hotel keepers of the City of Sherbrooke have regularly formed themselves into an association to be known as "The Hotel Keepers' Association of Sherbrooke," every one of the affiliated members signing to this effect by-laws prepared by an experienced lawyer.

20—The first of said by-laws reads as follows:
The Association is for the purpose of protecting the interests of hotel keepers of the City of Sherbrooke, and to promote all legislation and regulations for the improvement of their conditions and for the purpose of serving the public to its better advantage.

30—The hotel keepers of Sherbrooke represent a total valuation of nearly one and a half million dollars and pay taxes on same.

40—At a dinner tendered by the Chamber of Commerce of Sherbrooke, Thursday evening last,
April 29, His Worship The Mayor of the City, Colonel Emile Rioux, before being duly and officially informed of the existence of the new Association, deemed it proper to maltreat the hotelmen publicly,
calling them such names as "racketeers" and "profiteers," impugning their better intentions and purpose, and threatening to visit them with municipal thunders for the crime of raising the retail price of beer, preparing to "proffiter" at the occasion of the Centennial and at the expense of the reputation of our fair city.

50—So as to set all the facts right before public opinion, the undersigned, trustees regularly elected and being the "Board of Directors" of the Hotel Keepers' Association, have the honor to state emphatically as follows: (a) That the first and most important aim of the new organization is to place the hotels of Sherbrooke in a situation such as to be able to better serve the public during the Centennial celebration; (b) During a year of readjustment which, from all standpoints, fully justifies them so to act, to re-establish—not to raise—the former retail prices of beer so as to enable themselves to pay their personnel more equitable wages.
(c) That the hotel keepers of Sherbrooke have at heart just as much, if not more, than any other trade group, the complete success of the Centennial celebration and they place themselves at the disposal of the Mayor and the City Council to help in the most efficient way possible. They will gladly subscribe their fair share towards insuring such success.

60—The hotel keepers of Sherbrooke sincerely believe that their trade is legitimate and from all standpoints, they consider themselves as honorable and conscientious citizens and they will do their utmost to have law and order respected in their establishments as well during the Centennial weeks or during any other time.

Electric Refrigeration Had Its Inception Late In Nineteenth Century

Learned French Scientist Discovered in 1876 that Colder Temperatures Could Be Obtained with Machines Using Ether—Problem of Preserving Food One of Serious Matters Confronting Every Nation of Civilized World Until Recent Years When Electric Refrigerator Was Invented.

Artificial means of making ice became practical only as late as the nineteenth century when Tellier, a learned French scientist, discovered that colder temperature could be obtained with machines using ether. That was in 1876. All Tellier's resources were devoted to the construction of what has developed into the modern refrigerator, and although many changes have revolutionized his invention the principle is today the same.

Ether was first used by Tellier in his early experiments. He later resorted to other chemicals which his successors in this line of work employed extensively.

In 1913 the scientific world acclaimed Tellier as the "Father of Refrigeration" and he received a high award from the French Institute and the Legion of Honor Cross from the French Government.

Although it is constructed upon the same principles, there is a vast difference between the modern refrigerator and that of Tellier's day. Every day improvements are being made to develop more perfect means of refrigeration and to eliminate any danger that might threaten human safety.

As now practised, mechanical refrigeration is accomplished by means of a volatile liquid which boils in metal "evaporators" at a low temperature, absorbing the necessary heat from the air or liquid which is to be cooled. With volatile liquids like ammonia, carbon dioxide and sulphur dioxide, the temperature at which boiling takes place is determined by the pressure, for by varying the boiling pressure it is possible to secure any desired temperature of evaporation. Two distinct cycles, compression and absorption processes, are employed in modern mechanical refrigeration.

The problem of preserving food was one of the serious matters confronting every nation of the civilized world from the earliest times until recent years when the electric refrigerator was invented. The introduction of the refrigerator into the modern home has done away with all the drawbacks associated with the preservation of food.

Nature provides only a short time each year of proper refrigeration, scientists have discovered. The remaining days find the temperature either above fifty degrees, the danger point, or below thirty-two degrees, the freezing point. Furthermore, it is known that freezing ruins fresh vegetables, destroys the cell structure of meat and renders milk unpalatable. The growth of harmful bacteria is much more rapid when perishable foods have been frozen and then subjected to higher temperature, even for a short period. However, owners of electric refrigerators are afforded a valuable safeguard against disease. It is natural for cold air to fall and warm air rise. Accordingly the circulation of air inside the refrigerator is caused by the air which is cooled around the froster falling to the bottom of the food compartment and pushing the warmer air to the top. As the air circulates over the food it picks up tiny particles of the food itself and it is the transfer of the minute particles from various foods which causes the transfer of food odors. These food particles contained in the air of the refrigerator are filtered out when the air comes in contact with the froster. This means that the air in the refrigerator will be continuously cleaned.

When the advantages to be derived from electric refrigeration are considered, it is very evident that no home or apartment house is complete without one of these modern and health-safeguarding inventions.

JAPANESE PREMIER REFUSES TO RESIGN

Tokyo, May 4.—Premier Senjuro Hayashi indicated today he would refuse to heed widespread demands the Government resign after its defeat at the polls on Friday.

The tiny-supported Premier, who conferred lengthily with his cabinet and then had an audience with Emperor Hirohito, was reported planning either to combat or compromise with opposition political parties which retained about 400 of the 466 Parliamentary seats.

It was believed Premier Hayashi could remain in office on the plea that a national emergency exists, making delay of new elections advisable for the country's stability. Political authorities forecast a period of internal tension.

Some observers predicted that Hayashi, even though he continues in office now, would be forced out when the Diet (Parliament) convenes in August.

To achieve internal harmony, Hayashi was said to be ready to give three vacant cabinet portfolios to members of the two principal parties, Minseito and Seiyukai. However, all the victorious parties, including proletarian groups that increased their representation, insisted it would be unconstitutional and illegal for the Government to remain in power in defiance of the people's expressed disfavor.

WOMAN M.P. URGES ARTISTIC BOTANY

White-Haired Mother of Parliament from the Yukon Explains Simple Requirements Needed to Preserve Wild Flowers.

Ottawa, May 4.—"Patience, fresh flowers, absorbent cotton, blotting paper and cardboard are all you need to preserve the beauty of wild flowers," Mrs. George Black says.

The little white-haired member of Parliament from the Yukon has given her formula for pressing and mounting fresh flowers so their beauty may be preserved. She is the originator of the craft known as artistic botany and says flowers mounted in this way last as long as five years.

"After gathering, press the flowers between alternate layers of second-grade cotton and blotting paper, taking care to tuck tiny wisps of cotton between each petal of many-petaled flowers," is her first instruction.

"Then press a medium weight, and in ten or twelve hours open to see if the flowers are in good shape. If they are still moist replace the upper layer of cotton with a fresh supply, and press again lightly until dry.

"When assured of this fact," she says, "remove all the cotton threads with moist finger and thumb, using great care, as dried flowers are fragile and break easily. When pressing such flowers as lady slippers, stuff and pouch with a tiny wad of cotton."

Now the flowers are ready to be mounted. "On water-color paper paint in a background of suitable coloring, studying the flowers with a view to using a wash that will bring out the natural colors," says Mrs. Black.

"Paste the flowers on this card with paste made from flour to which may be added one-fifth mucilage and a liberal amount of salt. Now paint in shadows to make flowers stand out. Cover the card with marine, pink, white or yellow and your 'artistic flower' will be ready for mat and frame."

When making score or place cards, says Mrs. Black, marine is unnecessary, but narrow, brightly-colored ribbons add to the effect and general beauty.

DUCK DECIDES TO "HOTEL" KITTENS

Wilmington, N.C., May 4.—Capt. Warren Jones, Coast Line conductor, evicted a litter of kittens from under his house. Mama Cat resourcefully moved them into a duck nest in Jones' garden after removing two duck eggs.

Kelvinator Has Year-Round Value In Modern Home, Experience Shows

Electric Refrigeration Favored by Parents Who Consider Health of Their Children of Primary Importance — Freezing as Means of Preserving Freshness in Soft Fruits and Vegetables Now Recognized and Is Destined to Become Increasingly Popular.

It is at this time of the year, with the advent of warm, sunny weather, that the housewife yearns for electric refrigeration; and justly so, for if she is deprived of this modern method of preserving her foodstuff she will have to resort to the old-fashioned ice-box, and that is no longer a cheerful prospect.

Human nature being what it is, it is not strange that the approach of summer should bring with it the period of maximum activity on the part of refrigeration salesmen. However, that does not mean that electric refrigeration is a "one-season" necessity in the home. The value of such a refrigeration system extends the twelve months of the year. This is easily understood, for there is no season except summer in the home. It is wrong to think otherwise. It is true, of course, that the same service is not demanded of the refrigerator in winter as in summer. But the benefits to be derived from it during winter are great. During the cold months, for instance, refrigerators are more fully stocked with food which is generally considered too heavy for summer meals. Again, more entertaining is done at home in the winter season and thereby an additional burden is placed on the food accommodation. Modern parents favor the up-to-date refrigerator, believing that when the activities of their children in the fresh air are restricted by school hours it is most important that their food supply be guarded. While it is universally accepted that it is wise to guard the food supply against germs in summer, it is evident that it is doubly so in winter because at that time resistance against disease is lower. These are only a few of the reasons that make the purchase of electric refrigeration not a single season investment, but the acquisition of a year-round accommodation without which the modern kitchen is incomplete.

Refrigeration is ever a faithful friend to the modern wife who participates in the social activities of her community. No longer has she to worry whether her refreshments will be presentable, for she has found that possession of a refrigerator is a decided convenience in the storing and serving of delicatibles.

Sherbrooke district is well represented in the sale of electric refrigeration, the different models being handled by the following agencies: "Frigidaire," H. C. Wilson and Son; "Sparton," Keeler and Cross, Ltd.; "General Electric," Echenberg Bros.; "Norge," Sherbrooke Electric Appliances, Ltd.; "Westinghouse," Levesque, Ltd., and Hector Lanctot; "Hostess," Codere, Ltd.; and "Kelvinator," J. S. Mitchell and Co., Ltd.

There seems to be little doubt that freezing as a means of preserving freshness in soft fruits and vegetables is now recognized and destined to become increasingly popular, particularly for the hotel, restaurant and even for export trade.

According to figures released by the Canadian government, 1936 saw practically double the volume of cherries and raspberries treated in this manner as compared with the previous year. Strawberries, however, were not so favored, but there is no reflection on the value of freezing. The crop was seriously affected by an exceptionally dry spell just when the fruit most needed moisture, therefore there existed a scarcity even for day to day needs during the harvest season.

Vegetables such as asparagus, peas, beans and spinach are also coming into more popular use in the frozen state. It is safe to say that the time is not far distant when there will be general public acceptance of frozen foods as superior to the canned product.

LEARNS HOW TO MAKE CABBAGE FIT FOR KINGS

American Hostess in Ottawa Collected Variety of Recipes Designed to Tempt Most Jaded Appetite.

Ottawa, May 4. — During her travels in foreign lands Mrs. Ely Eliot Palmer, wife of the councillor of the United States legation here, collected a variety of recipes designed to tempt the most jaded spring appetite.

For the homely cabbage Mrs. Palmer has one from Roumania that contains where the walrus ended in his "talk of cabbages and kings." Here it is:

"Select a fine, firm head of cabbage. Scald with boiling water and let stand for one-half hour. Drain and dry with a soft cloth. Take two teaspoons of rice, one-half pound of sausage meat, a little chopped onion and parsley and mix well.

"Open the centre of the cabbage and carefully put in a spoonful of the mixture between the leaves until each layer is stuffed. Press together, tie in a cheese-cloth bag. Put in salted boiling water and boil for two hours. Serve hot with cream sauce and garnish with fried sausage."

From Spain she has a new dress for the cauliflower:

"Take one pound of cauliflower, cook well in salted water (cold) drain and wash by hand, add one cup of peas, one-half cup of butter, two whites of eggs well beaten. Grease mold, add bread, bake in oven one-half hour. Serve with white sauce to which has been added cream, grated cheese and an egg yolk."

Ramadan month in Palestine, somewhat similar to Lent, is a time of real hardship for the Arab, says Mrs. Palmer. From dawn to dusk he cannot take even a glass of water and that on a hot summer day in Palestine (for this month varies according to the full-moon periods) is no joke. At dawn and at dusk, if he can distinguish a hair held up to the sky the Arab can break fast and indulge in a meal. And, from Mrs. Palmer's description, the meals are huge.

Grilled mutton and rice are the favorite dish. For eight people, Mrs. Palmer explained, the Arabs will roast perhaps 30 pounds of sheep and put it on a huge tray piled high with rice. The eight sit around and pluck the desired portions with their hands. Then spiced meat-balls of cabbage meat might be served. "Top it off with a mixture of pastry filled with honey and chopped nuts and then a large slice of watermelon as a digestive and you feel that you cannot possibly eat any more ever!" As a close to her list of recipes Mrs. Palmer has a sweet, Papanasi by name, from Roumania: "One pound of cottage cheese, one tablespoon of flour, one tablespoon of sugar, one egg whole beaten and lemon rind. Make into cakes. Roll in flour, fry and serve with cream."

TIGERS FATTEN THEIR MARGIN OVER YANKEES

Detroit Batted Out Victory Over White Sox—Gerald Walker, Fast Flying Right Fielder, Returns to Spotlight—Boston Took a Fall Out of Giants.

The right mental attitude is a wonderful thing, as witness the case of Gerald Walker, fast-flying right fielder of the Detroit Tigers and, at the moment, American League batting leader and a front-runner in virtually every department of play.

Gerald was the king-pin of the Tiger attack today as Mickey Cochran and his men opened a home stand against the eastern clubs, led by the World Champion Yankees. Simultaneously, the White Sox, Indians and Browns were entertaining the A's, Senators and Red Sox. In the National League, eastern teams played hosts.

Walker had in recent seasons been criticized for headstrong or over-impetuous base-running that robbed him of hits and his mates of scores. Gerald took those cracks to heart, with the result that his game suffered.

This spring, however, he decided not to pay any attention to what he read about himself in the papers. As a result, he's been going like a streak.

He was in there again yesterday while the Tigers took another half-game margin on second-place Yanks. Though rookie Pat McLaughlin lasted only three innings in his first starting game, Detroit collected nineteen assorted hits off four assorted White Sox pitchers to win by twelve to nine.

The biggest blow of the afternoon was Hank Greenberg's home with the bases loaded. Walker chimed in with two hits as the first five men in the Detroit batting order—Jo-Jo White, Cochran, Charley Geisinger, Greenberg and Walker—bagged thirteen of their team's safeties.

With the Indians and Browns rained out and the other teams unscheduled, the Tigers and White Sox were the only ones active in the junior circuit.

In the National League Billy Werber hit his first 1937 game off the Bees in yesterday's duel with the Giants' Hal Schumacher at Boston. Each team bagged six hits, but the Bees bunched four of theirs in one inning to gain a three to one victory.

At Ebbets Field, site of so many deft doings, the Dodgers lost to the Phils by fourteen to eight after four Philadelphia and five Brooklyn pitchers had paraded to and from the scene.

ORIOLES LOSING STREAK IS OUTSTANDING
Losing streaks can be just as impressive as winning streaks, especially when the team picked to win the pennant is the victim.

The Baltimore Orioles have one of the greatest names in baseball, but they are carrying a lot of new ones from their fans. To date the Orioles have dropped ten straight games and are nestling cozily at the bottom of the International League without a single victory on their record.

Yesterday's ten to seven loss to the Rochester Red Wings was in keeping with the Orioles' performance thus far this season. Pitching is the main trouble. The opposition has averaged 8.1 runs per game and the Orioles, although they have collected nineteen home runs, have been able to score only 5.4 runs a contest. And all ten games have been played at home, something unusual in losing streaks.

The Red Wings collected the home runs in yesterday's tilt, with Johnny Hopp, Hugh Poland and Jack Crouch making round trip blows.

Tommy Henrich, who escaped from the plantation of the Cleveland Indians, continued to celebrate his freedom with the Newark Bears. Henrich hit a triple and a single, driving in two runs, as the Bears stopped the Toronto Maple Leafs by five to two.

Bill Harris, veteran Buffalo Bison right-hander, was hit fifteen times by the Jersey City Giants, but managed to hang on and win by nine to four. The victory came largely through the work of Moe Mulcahy who hit two doubles, a single and a triple.

The Montreal Royals pounded two Syracuse pitchers for fifteen hits to trip the Chiefs by eight to three. Marvin Duke went the route for the Royals, gave up eight hits and contributed two singles to the Royals' attack.

DATES OF GOLF TOURNAMENTS IN E.T. ANNOUNCED

Schedule Includes Five Championship Tourneys, Southern Canada Cup Team Competition and Five Field Days—Tom Moilyneux Was Elected President.

Dates for the championship tournaments and field days were arranged and officers for the ensuing year elected at the eleventh annual meeting of the Eastern Townships Golf Association held at the New Sherbrooke House. The Eastern Townships amateur championship, the most important event on the schedule, and senior and mixed tournaments and the Southern Canada Cup (team play) competition will be played on the eighteen-hole Sherbrooke Country Club course; Lennoxville will be the scene of the Eastern Townships Junior Championship and the Father and Son contest will be held at Richmond. In addition to these events, field days will be staged at the Granby, Danville, Dufferin Heights, Lennoxville and St. Francis courses.

Tom Moilyneux, of the St. Francis Club, was elected president; Arthur Wassell, of Dufferin Heights, vice-president; O. G. Smith, of Thetford Mines, honorary president; B. N. Holtham, of the Sherbrooke Country Club, secretary-treasurer; J. O. Michaud, of Richmond, R. M. Bishop, of Lennoxville, R. Cleveland, of Danville, and G. Barker, of Cowansville, members of the executive, and J. P. L. Stewart, of Lennoxville, handicap manager.

Some new rules were suggested for the Sherbrooke Record trophy for the Eastern Townships team championship and for the annual amateur event, final decision on which was left to the new executive. In connection with the Record Trophy, the suggestion was that teams should not be named beforehand but the winner declared on the basis of the best four scores of any competing club. The suggestion in connection with the amateur championship was that after the qualifying rounds the first thirty players should be divided into three flights, with prizes in each flight.

The report of the president, O. G. Smith, disclosed that the Association had had a very active year despite the falling off in the number of entries in the various events. Yesterday the welcoming reception consisted of only four reporters, one photographer and Manager Joe Jacobs—which may be the tip-off on how everyone is fed up on the heavyweight situation.

Melodist, the Wood Memorial winner, left for Louisville and the Derby last night.

They say Merrit Lane, New Jersey lawyer, who is representing Jimmy Praddock in the Garden suit, collects $1,000 for every day he is actively engaged in handling the case.

Reports which had Joe McCarthy, manager of the Yankees, rushed to a Buffalo hospital, were erroneous. Joe spent the Yankee off-day in the old home town, but left for Detroit last night. The rumors spread so fast that the Yankee front office put in a telephone call to Buffalo to check up.

Mike Jacobs tried painting his house Sunday, fell off a ladder and sprained a shoulder. . . . Ouch!

Jim Johnston, Jr., son of the Garden maestro, is taking bows for keeping a jump ahead of such smart fight managers as Samamy Goldman and Pete 'The Fox' Reilly and signing Paul Junior, Portland, Me., lightweight prospect. Paul makes his big time debut against Al Casimiri in a prelim on the Tony Canzoneri-Lou Ambers card on Friday night.

John Henry Lewis, the light-heavyweight champion, has attractive offers from two London fight clubs.

Al Jolson, stage and screen star, has offered $25,000 for a bout between his negro featherweight, Henry Armstrong, and the winner of Friday night's Lou Ambers-Tony Canzoneri lightweight scrap. Jimmy Kelly, Greenwell Villages night spot owner, will bet the same amount either Canzoneri or Ambers can lick Armstrong.

Win, lose or draw against Canzoneri, Ambers is going to tour England, France, Germany, Belgium and Italy after the fight.

GRANBY STADIUM HAD A FAVORABLE BALANCE.
Granby, May 4.—Patrick E. Delaney, K.C., of Granby, was re-elected president of the Granby Stadium, Incorporated, at the annual meeting held in the Windsor Hotel here. Dr. J. M. Dube was also re-elected vice-president.

According to reports the receipts for 1936 totalled $2,000 and expenses amounted to $900, leaving a favorable balance for the year. The lighting system installed last summer cost $3,500.

Officers for the ensuing year are: Patrick Delaney, K.C., president; Dr. J. M. Dube, vice-president; Jules Crevier, secretary; Leon Gendreau, treasurer; W. O. Lewis, A. Langlois and David Bouchard, directors.

home on the short end of the spoils. Alex McCullough, of Hamilton, avenged the defeat of his fellow-townsmen, Ward, by clubbing out a decision over Billy Barrie, Quebec titleholder at 118 pounds.

Chuck Baker continued the Hamilton cause by defeating Jerry Polissano, University Settlement, Montreal, and Quebec lightweight champion, Len Stein, Toronto heavyweight, gave Ontario the edge when he scored a technical knockout over Harry Bray, Quebec champion, after 1:30 of the second round.

BOXING
QUEBEC AMATEUR BOXERS FARED ILL AT TORONTO
Toronto, May 4.—Two Quebec amateur boxing champions fared ill here last night in Lions Club tourney in Maple Leaf Gardens.

ONTARIO BOXERS HAD SLIGHT EDGE ON MONTREALERS
Toronto, May 4.—Ontario boxers turned back an invasion from Montreal in the Lions Club annual boxing show last night, taking three verdicts in five bouts. A crowd of 3,011 cash customers cheered the Montrealers for their fine exhibitions in all contests.

Joe Gagnon, University Settlement, Montreal, gave the Quebec boxers a good start when he won a split decision over Fred Ward, of Hamilton, Ont., in a 112-pound class bout. After the count had been evened, Harry Hurst, Quebec champion at 126 pounds, scored Montreal's second victory with a clean-cut decision over Jackie Roberts, of Toronto.

But in the remaining two bouts the Ontario fighters proved too good to send the Montreal contingent

PUTTING THE BLAME

SPORTS FLASHES

New York, May 4.—Max Baer has done some tall running round to get a shot at the heavyweight title. This is his fourth trip across the Atlantic since he came over to meet Joe Louis last year. Max estimates the five trips set him back around $15,000 in passage (ship and zeppelin) hotels and incidentals. When Max arrived for the Louis bout he was met by forty reporters, almost as many photographers and newsreel men and a delegation of celebs including both Jimmy Johnston and Mike Jacobs. Yesterday the welcoming delegation consisted of only four reporters, one photographer and Manager Joe Jacobs—which may be the tip-off on how everyone is fed up on the heavyweight situation.

UNCOVER STORY OF HOW THREE TRAPPERS DIED

Chill Winter, Retreating Slowly from Quebec's Northland, Today Left Story of Triple Tragedy Etched on Country's Rugged Face.

Quebec, May 4.—Chill winter, retreating slowly from Quebec's northland, left a story of triple tragedy etched on the country's rugged face today. Three trappers died, each alone, in the solitude of deep winter. Miles apart they died, as numbing cold overtook them: Yet each had called the same village his home.

The news of their deaths came to the village of St. Lawrence, where the bodies of the three trappers were found by a hunter on the Gulf of St. Lawrence shore, villagers could only guess at how long the trio had been dead before that.

Paul Blanchette, after trying vainly to carry Absalom Gamache's body into the village, told of finding his companion dead two hundred miles north of Seven Islands. They had gone north together and separated with Lac Gras the rendezvous.

Blanchette kept it, only to find Gamache dead on the frozen lake surface, his snowshoes still strapped on. Exhaustion and cold apparently had claimed him.

Alexandre Bellefleur and William Boyd died twenty-five miles apart and one hundred miles north of home. An Indian guide found Bellefleur dead in bed at Riviere Moisis, his blanket-wrapped body frozen and an open book beside the still fingers.

Boyd was found in almost identical circumstances, dead in bed in his Shellbrake River hut. He appeared to have been overcome by cold as he slept.

GLASS LOVER FOOLED LOVE BIRD. Boonville, Ind., May 4.—The Boonville Building and Loan Association long has brightened its mundane tasks by having love birds in its office. One died, and the survivor pined with loneliness.

But a substitute was obtained. It didn't look much like a bird to humans, but it did to the love bird. It was done with a mirror.

MUCH IT COSTS THEY WHO WEAR THEIR CORONET

Thousands of Pounds Will Be Represented in Crimson and Purple Robes and Glittering Coronets Which the Titled Folk of Britain Will Wear When They See Monarch Crowned.

London, May 4.—If you were a duke invited to attend the coronation of George VI in Westminster Abbey, you'd have to write out a check for approximately $612 for clothes alone. And your wife's bills would more than double that.

Thousands of pounds will be represented in the crimson and purple robes and glittering coronets which the titled folk of Britain will wear when they see the monarch crowned.

While prices for robes and uniforms vary widely according to the quality of the materials used, there are but slight differences in the cost of the trimmings which help distinguish various ranks of the peerage.

A duke or a marquess, for example, pays slightly more than one dollar above the price charged for an earl or a viscount; the earl or viscount nearly three dollars more than a baron.

Coronets differ more widely in price according to the amount of decoration they bear. Here dukes and barons come out best. Their headgear is simpler—and therefore cheaper—than that worn by an earl, a marquess or a viscount. In fact a duke can secure a cheap line in coronets for ninety-five dollars while an earl must pay at least ten dollars more.

The lowest rank of peeress, the baroness, must set aside at least $500 for the clothes she will need for the Abbey ceremonial. The viscountess, countess, marchioness and duchess each will pay more as the degree of rank goes higher—the duchess's bills probably totalling more than $2,000. And the gowns and robes bought with this money can be worn only once or twice in a lifetime.

Peeresses' robes must be crimson velvet, or purple velvet if they are of royal blood—and the court gowns they wear underneath them must be white, cream, silver or gold. Money can be saved by wearing mock ermine instead of first quality fur, and machine-made material instead of the correct hand-woven velvet.

Mayfair dressmakers, who have been busy on coronation orders for some months, say seventeen yards of velvet is needed for a duchess's robe compared with fifteen yards for a baroness. The ermine trimming on a duchess's robe is three inches wider than in the peeress of lower degree.

One of the most expensive items of the robes for peeresses are the golden girdle and tassels which cost about twenty-five dollars. Meanwhile the coronation theme is becoming noticeable in men's clothing. Coronation colors will be incorporated in most of the spring suitings. Savile Row predicts, and red and white pin-stripes on a blue background are expected to be popular.

Ties with tiny embroidered crowns and the symbol "G.R.V.I." already are in the stores, and there are shirts adorned with the letters of the word "Coronation" in various patterns for the very brave. Pajamas with reproductions of the Empire flags across the chest are expected to make their first appearance soon in shops. Girls will find tiny maps of the dominions printed on satin pajamas, each country having its own design. The map of Africa has elephants and ostriches, Australia a leaping kangaroo, and England is represented by a beekeeper guarding a Tudor rose.

"The hour brings the man." And later the girl arrives.
