REDS RELEASE FOUR U.S. AIRMEN

Soldiers Called Out In Industrial Crisis While Eden Is Defied

London — (AP) — Soldiers were called out to move the mail in Britain today and highways were lined with stranded holiday makers hitch-hiking their way home as striking railwaymen defied a back-to-work appeal by Prime Minister Eden.

The gravest industrial crisis since the general strike of 1926 confronted the nation with chaos as a walkout of 70,000 locomotive engineers and firemen brought rail service almost to a standstill.

With the Whitsun holiday weekend nearing an end, the full impact of the strike began to be felt — an impact threatening unemployment in factories counting on rail shipments for supplies.

A leader of the striking railwaymen declared defiantly: "The country will break before we break."

Skeleton train service was maintained on some regional lines, but the timetable was forgotten.

Eden was being kept informed of developments from Chequers, his official country home. He sent his labor minister, Sir Walter Monckton, back to London after consultations but there was no immediate new peace moves in the making.

Jim Baty, general secretary of the striking Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, met with his strike committee today but said he had no reason to expect any communications from the labor minister today.

"We are still not adverse to an honorable settlement, of course," Baty told reporters. "But the ball is not in our court."

A post office spokesman said trucks, with soldiers driving, would carry the mail to larger cities and other distributing centres to keep this phase of the country's business life moving as near normal as possible.

Eden's call in an emergency Sunday broadcast got a flat rejection from Albert Hallworth, assistant general secretary of ASLEF, who declared:

"We can and will hold out for at least three months. We are determined to see this thing through."

Eden in his broadcast asserted that his Conservative government, re-elected to another five-year term last week, will "do all we can to protect the nation from the worst effects of this strike."

"The government," he said, "will not hesitate to obtain any further power that may be necessary for this purpose."

The men quit work Saturday night, in the first big rail walkout since the general strike of 1926, to back up demands for pay boosts that would give them more of a differential over other er train workers.

During Sunday only 200 of 2,600 scheduled mainline trains left the sheds. They were manned by members of the rival National Union of Railwaymen, to which the bulk of British rail workers in other categories belong. The NUR has stood aloof from the current dispute.

Tens of thousands of Whitsun week-end holiday makers were stranded away from home. The big pinch was expected tonight as the long week-end winds up.

If the strike continues any length of time, industrial production will be paralyzed. A spokesman for the United Steel Corporation said its factories would be so piled up with finished products by the end of a week that "we shall have to start closing departments."

The state-owned railway system normally carries 1,000,000 tons of freight each day. On an ordinary weekday it operates 24,000 mainline and suburban passenger trains and 16,000 freight trains. A preliminary survey indicated about one-eighth of normal service could be maintained.

Eden's government announced it had taken emergency steps to ensure food supplies and sufficient fuel for public services. But authorities urged the public to conserve fuel, light and power, to use available transport as little as possible, and to use postal, telegraph and telephone services sparingly.

The government said ample food stocks are available throughout the country, explaining that most foods were transported by road. Plans have also been made to move essential foods usually carried by rail—such as milk for London.

The government warned that despite these precautions, it might have to impose restrictions on use of gas and electricity. Coal in Britain moves mainly by rail. The armed forces were asked to provide 250 trucks to carry mails by highway.

As yet the government apparently has made no move for a general callout of troops, as was done in 1926.

His Excellency At Magog

By BETTY BRADSHAW

Magog — Breaking through the clouds at the last minute, bright sunshine favored 1,500 people here this morning after they had gathered in rain threatening weather an hour before the scheduled visit of His Excellency, the Governor-General of Canada.

His Excellency, Vincent Massey was on the first lap of his Eastern Township tour today which later took him to Compton, where he toured King's Hall, and visited Miss Laura St. Laurent, sister of Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent. Back to Lennoxville before lunch, the vice-regal party was entertained at a reception at Bishop's University, and will proceed on a round of receptions and social events throughout the rest of the day.

The Magog reception was one of the warmest the Governor-General has yet received and hundreds of flag-waving French and English school children cheered him on his way to the Parc des Braves, where he addressed them and proclaimed their expected holiday.

His Excellency arrived in Magog at approximately 10 o'clock this morning from his overnight stay at Sherbrooke. Accompanying him were his secretary, Lionel Massey, Mrs. Lionel Massey, Esmond Butler, assistant to the secretary; Lt. Ian Macpherson, RCN, aide-de-camp, and Captain Guy Robillard, aide-de-camp.

City Hall was his first stop where he was greeted by His Worship, Ovide Bergeron, Mayor of Magog, and Mrs. Bergeron, along with City Aldermen and their wives, and several distinguished citizens.

Led by the Magog Harmony Band, the party proceeded to Parc des Braves, where his Excellency inspected the Guard of Honour, accompanied by Adrien St. Jacques, Commander. He was then greeted by Wesley McLaughlin, President of the Legion, who presented him with a wreath, which Mr. Massey placed on the War Memorial.

With the all-girl band from St. Patrice School accompanying him, they proceeded to the flag-decked bandstand, where official greetings were given to the Governor-General by Mayor Bergeron. Speaking in both French and English, Mr. Massey replied to the welcome, thanking the city for its warm reception.

A special honor was bestowed upon the youngsters of the Magog Cub pack when His Excellency requested them to leave their stand near the memorial and proceed to the platform, where he greeted them separately.

After his brief address, terminating at 40 minutes stay in Magog, His Excellency left the park shortly after 10:30 and proceeded by car with the Vice Regal party to Compton.

Russo-Tito Talks Enter Final Day

Belgrade, Yugoslavia — (AP) — President Tito and his Soviet visitors escaped the publicity limelight today to thresh out the final declaration of their conference.

The Yugoslav president Sunday took Soviet Communist party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev, Premier Nikolai Bulganin and their party to the Adriatic island of Brioni, a favorite vacation spot of Tito.

For the first time since the Russians arrived last Thursday, they got away from the camera barrage. The press was barred from the three-square-mile island.

The party will remain on Brioni until Tuesday, when the Russians leave for visits to Ljubljana and Zagreb, the capitals of Slovenia and Croatia.

Their chief task on the island was reported to be putting the final touches on a declaration of principles to govern future relations between Moscow and the former satellite chief who broke with Stalin and the Cominform in 1948.

Borba, the organ of the Yugoslav Communist party, predicted Sunday the document will provide for Tito's version of "active coexistence"—equality of all nations and states, respect for the independence, sovereignty and integrity of all countries, rights of all nations to defend themselves under the United Nations charter, non-interference in the internal affairs of other countries, condemnation of aggression and expansion, mutual respect among nations, peaceful solution of disputes and active international co-operation.

Borba said that despite "numerous" differences of opinion revealed in the talks, they had been "profitable."

Moscow radio, in a broadcast heard in London today, said the talks between Tito and the Soviets "are developing in a spirit of full mutual understanding."

It is expected an increase in trade between Yugoslavia and the Soviet bloc will be one result of the talks.

It appeared clear the Russians Yugoslavia back into the Soviet bloc had they been able to attract Tito to a policy of armed neutrality such as they instituted in Austria.

Announcement Made By Peiping Radio; Predicted By Menon

Tokyo — (AP) — Peiping radio announced tonight that four imprisoned American airmen have been released.

A broadcast said a military tribunal of the supreme people's court of the People's Republic of China tried the four May 24 and sentenced them to be deported.

Peiping charged that the four committed such criminal actions as flying their military aircraft into China's territorial air to conduct harassment and provocation.

"Their crimes endangered the security of China and the peaceful life of the Chinese people," the broadcast continued.

The charges have long since been denied by the U. S. State Department.

The broadcast identified them as Capt. Harold F. Fischer, Jr., Lieut. Lyle W. Cameron, Lt.-Col. Edwin L. Heller and Lieut. Roland W. Parks.

Earlier today Indian Diplomat V. K. Krishna Menon stated that Communist China would announce within a few hours its decision to release four American fighter pilots shot down in the Korean war.

A state department spokesman in Washington "welcomed" Menon's report and said release of the airmen "would eliminate one cause of international tension." Menon's announcement had been expected in Washington. The Indian diplomat had reported the information to U.S. Ambassador John Sherman Cooper at New Delhi two days ago.

A Canadian airman shot down and captured during the Korean war was released by the Chinese Reds last fall. He is Sqdn. Ldr. A. R. Andy MacKenzie of Montreal. Following his release he told of meeting some of the imprisoned Americans in Communist prison camps.

Menon, Prime Minister Nehru's top foreign affairs adviser who has just returned from Peiping, intimated to a press conference that still other U.S. airmen held by Peiping might be freed soon.

The Chinese last November announced 11 other American airmen and two civilians had been sentenced to prison terms ranging from four years to life imprisonment for espionage. The U.S. vigorously denied the spy charges.

Calling the decision to release the four fighter pilots a "major step" toward relaxation of tension in the Far East, the special Indian envoy said cases of other U.S. servicemen still held in China are "constantly under review."

Menon did not say when the men would be released or at what frontier. He indicated, however, that they would be freed soon after the Peiping announcement if they had not already crossed the Red Chinese border at that time.

Most other Western personnel released by the Reds, including MacKenzie, have been freed at the Hong Kong frontier.

Menon said the Communists would announce the release as a "contribution to the lowering of tensions," made in response to "our India's request."

The United States demanded the airmen's release in the United Nations assembly last fall. The assembly directed Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld to do all possible to secure their freedom, and since then Hammarskjöld has been negotiating actively with Peiping.

Fischer and the other three—all fighter pilots—had been held in Mukden, Manchuria. Fischer's parents have said he wrote them recently that he and his companions had been moved to Peiping. Fischer's letters to his parents also told of improved treatment.

The other 11 airmen held by the Chinese Reds on espionage charges were the survivors of a B-29 bomber destroyed in North Korea Jan. 12, 1953, six months before the fighting ended.

At the same time the Chinese announced that these men had been sentenced to jail terms, they also announced the release of the four airmen.

Marie, shy and reserved, remained at home where she has helped her mother with household chores since last July when she left her novitiate in a Quebec City convent.

Red China Air Power Threat To U.S. Force

Washington — (AP) — Official reports from the Formosa Strait indicate Red China's air power has reached the point where it represents a challenge to United States air strength in the Far East.

It is no secret that Peiping has pressed its air base rebuilding program without abatement all through its new campaign of soft talk.

The Reds are known to have done work on 20 air fields in the triangle between Shanghai, Hankow and Canton. Not all are ready. Some runways still sprout grass; others are staked out but not yet built.

Nevertheless 10 of them are believed capable of launching light jet bombers, 15 of sending up jet fighters and the other five of landing jets but not providing enough space for take-offs of any but light, propeller-driven craft.

Of 20 fields built by the Japanese during the Second World War and being restored by the Reds, 14 lie in easy jet striking distance of the Nationalist island of Formosa. Six others are on the outer perimeter.

Along with this data come reports of more and more new-type Russian MIG jets flying for the China Reds.

Without reference to Red China's air strength, Representative George Mahon Dem. Tex. said Sunday he anticipates that the U. S. air force "will ask for $200,000,000 more soon to accelerate our heavy bomber program."

Mahon, a member of the House of Representatives appropriations committee, said on a television program he recently had discussed the bomber program with Air Force Secretary H. H. Arnold, who announced last week a speedup in production of the U. S.'s most potent heavy bomber, the B-52.

Senator Stuart Symington Dem. Mo. former secretary of the air force, said on a recorded radio interview Sunday he thinks the Russian air force is "now larger" than the U. S.'s.

He called for a complete re-examination of the administration's air force program. Democratic Senate leader Lyndon B. Johnson had done the same in an interview Saturday.

While avoiding any talk of when the Reds might strike, speculation in that Red China already is superior to Nationalist China in air strength. It has more and better planes. Further, Red China's air power may be superior to that of Nationalist China plus the U. S. 7th Fleet guarding Formosa.

Aronson Captured By Police At Airport

Toronto — (AP) — Arthur Aronson, sought since May 19 in the biggest manhunt in Ontario in four years, says he tried to surrender a week ago but lost his nerve.

He was to appear in court here today on charges of robbery and armed robbery in connection with two recent bank holdups.

The 26-year-old ex-convict and former miner, charged with armed robbery following the $2,300 holdup of a Toronto-Dominion bank branch here in which a bank clerk was killed, was arrested Saturday night at nearby Malton airport where he had gone to catch a flight for western Canada.

He was unarmed and gave up without a struggle to police, who, on a tip from Hamilton, had staked out the airport buildings.

Police detectives mingled with the crowd until Aronson showed up to claim his travelling bag. Then they stepped in and made the arrest.

Later, Aronson told his mother he had tried to give himself up but failed and upon thinking it over became frightened and decided "to keep on running."

Aronson also was charged with robbery in connection with the holdup last Jan. 26 of the same bank. At that time a man took $8,000 from a teller after passing a note to her. No weapon was used in this robbery.

He was the second man arrested in the May 19 holdup. Lloyd Simpson, 32, was arrested the same night and charged with armed robbery. He had a bullet wound in his back.

Aronson ran out of luck in Hamilton, police said. He had been in the Toronto district since the robbery and bought a liquor permit from a downtown store May 21 under the name of Henderson. Last Monday he took a room in a downtown Hamilton hotel.

Saturday, a woman who knew him in school saw him drinking in a Hamilton bar. She said she called to him but he fled, so she called the police.

Squads of detectives searched Hamilton beer parlors, and at the Royal Connaught Hotel found a bartender who recognized the man's description. He had served him beer earlier the same day.

A bellhop recognized the description as the man who only minutes before had taken an airline limousine from the hotel to Malton, 20 miles west of here.

Toronto police were notified. Detective found a big man with a crew haircut just stepping away from the ticket window in the passenger rotunda at Malton. In his hand was a ticket to Winnipeg.

At first Aronson told police his name was Henderson and produced the Toronto liquor permit to prove it. Then police said, the man turned to them and said: "I'm the man you're looking for, I'm Aronson."

That "Sell-Out" At Geneva

One of the most distressing things about public affairs is the way that emotional charges come, through constant repeating, to be accepted in many places as solid fact.

A year ago this coming July, the Western powers, meeting with the Communists at Geneva, negotiated the Indochina truce which divided Viet Nam into two parts, one Communist and the other free.

Continuously since that time, it has been the habit of some of our more emotional politicians to refer to this pact as the "sell-out" of Indochina. It has been charged again and again that at Geneva the West "let" some 10 million Vietnamese slip behind the Bamboo Curtain.

The version of the events in Indochina and Geneva has been propounded so steadily that it has been picked up by others who do not appear to realize its distortions.

A review of 1954 events may serve as a useful corrective.

Last spring, after a hard battle, the Red Vietnamese captured the French-held fortress of Dienbienphu in what is now called North Viet Nam. Though the place was a minor outpost, the French had fortified it heavily and had deliberately sought this fight from fixed lines. They were confident they could win such a contest.

At the time of this decisive battle, the Vietminh already held large areas of North Viet Nam, including portions of the rich Red River delta lying between the sea and the key northern city of Hanoi.

When Dienbienphu fell, it was widely predicted that an "exhausted" rebel army would be unable to push onto new conquest for weeks or months to come.

But what happened in fact, as a glance at the dispatches of that time will show, is that the Reds regrouped quickly and began pressing eastward toward Hanoi with embarrassing speed. It became readily apparent, and on this the trained observer on the scene agreed, that Hanoi was a doomed city and would fall to the Vietminh before very much time passed.

This was the actual military situation, and the prospect, when the conferees were meeting at Geneva. The tital northern heart of Indochina was gone — or going.

You cannot "sell out" what you do not have to sell. All the evidence indicates that if France and the West had not handed over North Viet Nam at Geneva, the Reds would soon have had it all — and perhaps much more.

Possibly only important intervention by Britain and America could have blocked the Vietminh conquest. Neither was willing to step in, and the weary French army was no match for the augmented rebel force supplied by China and Russia.

None of this means nothing could have been done by the West, including America, at an earlier stage to save Indochina. Mistakes may well have been many. British-American intervention might have been a wise course, through certainly it would have been politically difficult in nations just freed of the Korean war burden.

But the point is that by the time of Dienbienphu and Geneva, the cause was lost. The historians will have to argue whether the West let North Indochina slip away gradually, through a policy of blindness and drift. It was not "sold" at Geneva, for no one will buy what he knows he can take anyway.

What We Pay In Work

It is, in our experience, an arresting form of advertisement. It tells not in the coin of currency but in the coin of work how much the average Canadian has to pay today for his gallon of gasoline and how much less now than in other days.

Back in 1939, we are told by a recent and striking advertisement of Imperial Oil Limited, the time amount of work was 33 minutes. Seven years later, in 1946, Mr. Average Canadian had to work only 29 minutes for the wherewithal to buy a gallon — a considerable cut. Now the working time is 17 minutes, little more than half as long as in 1939.

Although the actual price of gasoline has gone up the line has been held relatively well owing to improved efficiency of production and increased research, marketing and demand. The hoist in the average Canadian's income is obviously the chief factor in bettering his gasoline purchasing power but to research goes the credit for making that gasoline field a substantial bonus of more automotive running miles.

Work is the true basis, at least in the ideal, of currency, our medium of exchange. It is work that keeps most of us alive.

How much work does the average Canadian pay today for his food, specifically, for bread, milk, meat? How much for his rent or for the privilege of owning a home? How much working time, by the same kind of translation, does he give to his church, to charity, to entertainment, to his doctor, who sometimes follows on the heels of entertainment, and to his governing bodies? And how do these figures compare to those of former days?

These time figures may have been worked out but we haven't seen the general results. Some may say these statistics might prove disturbing; might make work seem more onerous; might even direct resentment against certain products and services whose prices have risen sharply owing largely to factors beyond the purveyors' control.

But it would be interesting to most, if tiring and, possibly, appalling to a few, to have more working time-purchase comparisons. Then we would know just who, and what, in a material way, we work for.

Woman Mayor To Apply Household Ideas

St. Etienne De Lauzon, Que. — Mrs. Elizabeth Rousseau, new mayor of this community, plans to use the same principles to boost the region's economy as she does on her household budget.

"A woman can buy twice as much as a man with $1 for her own home, so there's no reason I can't do it for St. Etienne," she says.

Mrs. Rousseau, who is in her 50s, was elected mayor of this town with a 20-vote margin on May 16. The community on the south shore of the St. Lawrence eight miles east of Quebec has a population of 900, but farmers of the surrounding area are allowed to vote in municipal elections.

"I made only three political speeches during my campaign, but 3,000 persons turned out for the last one," she said.

No dawdler, she called the first council meeting the day after the election, although she was still too hoarse to speak above a whisper.

She wants to attract industry to this rural region. "During my two-year term I'm going to write businessmen to let them know we want them in St. Etienne," she said.

She has already proved her own business capabilities by building up a tourist hotel business on the highway linking Quebec City with Sherbrooke.

"I have a few cabins, too, and now that the election is over, I'm going to have a motel built," she said.

As well, she plans to build a beach on the Beau Rivage river which runs near her door.

Mrs. Rousseau's role in the business is far more than supervising. For the four-month tourist season, she works from 4 a. m. to midnight cleaning rooms that can accommodate 75 persons and cooking as many as 200 meals a day. Her only help comes from her children, three sons and a daughter.

Contact with thousands of visitors from across Canada and the United States has not encouraged her to travel.

"I love my own home and St. Etienne and I want to stay right here," she said firmly.

Mrs. Rousseau, who was born in the community, left briefly as a teenager to study teaching at Sturgeon Falls, Ont., and later taught in Navan, Ont. She returned here to marry, raise her family, and found a business.

Her husband, Aristide, a railroad engineer, was mayor of the town from 1942 to 1947.

"All the good work he started was neglected by the next mayor," she said. "I made up my mind two years ago that I had to take office to put things back in order."

Great Confusion Caused By Election Of Convicts

Belfast, Northern Ireland — (Reuters) — Political confusion blanketed much of Northern Ireland today, created by the victory of two jailed Sinn Fein candidates in the British general election.

The immediate question is whether the defeated Ulster Unionist candidates will appeal to the courts against the election of bricklayer Tom Mitchell, 23, and office worker Philip Clarke, 21, both serving long prison terms. The Unionists could claim that as convicts they are "disqualified persons."

If the Unionists go to the high court, the question then is: Will the court award the two seats to the Unionist candidates? Or will it call by-elections?

If another election is held, predictions have been that the Sinn Feiners will again put forward Mitchell and Clarke as candidates.

The situation points up the centuries-old bitterness between Britain and Ireland, now concentrated in the division of Ireland into the independent Irish Republic and Northern Ireland, a part of the United Kingdom.

The Sinn Fein — the name means "ourselves alone" — is the political arm of the outlawed Irish Republican Army. It has pledged to bring about the union of Northern Ireland with the independent republic, by force if necessary.

Mitchell and Clarke are each serving 10-year sentences for taking part in an armed attack on a British army barracks at Armagh last year in which five soldiers were wounded.

In last week's election, the Sinn Fein contested all 12 seats in Northern Ireland, polling 150,000 votes largely at the expense of Irish Nationalists who also advocate union with the republic but are more moderate. Sinn Fein won only the two seats. The Nationalists, who formerly held the two seats, did not contest them this time.

Mitchell won the right to represent mid-Ulster and Clarke topped the poll in the Fermanagh and South Tyrone constituency, defeating a wealthy landowner, Lt.-Col. R. G. Grosvenor.

Neither winner would go to Parliament in any case. Their platform included a pledge to renounce their seats as a protest against the partition of Ireland.

Both Sinn Feiners defeated candidates of the Ulster Unionist party, allied with Sir Anthony Eden's Conservatives. It supports the link with Britain.

Prior to the election, Unionist leader W. W. B. Topping promised that, if Sinn Feiners were elected, an application would be made to unseat them as "disqualified persons."

Executive committees of Unionist associations in both constituencies are expected to meet within the next few days to consider the situation.

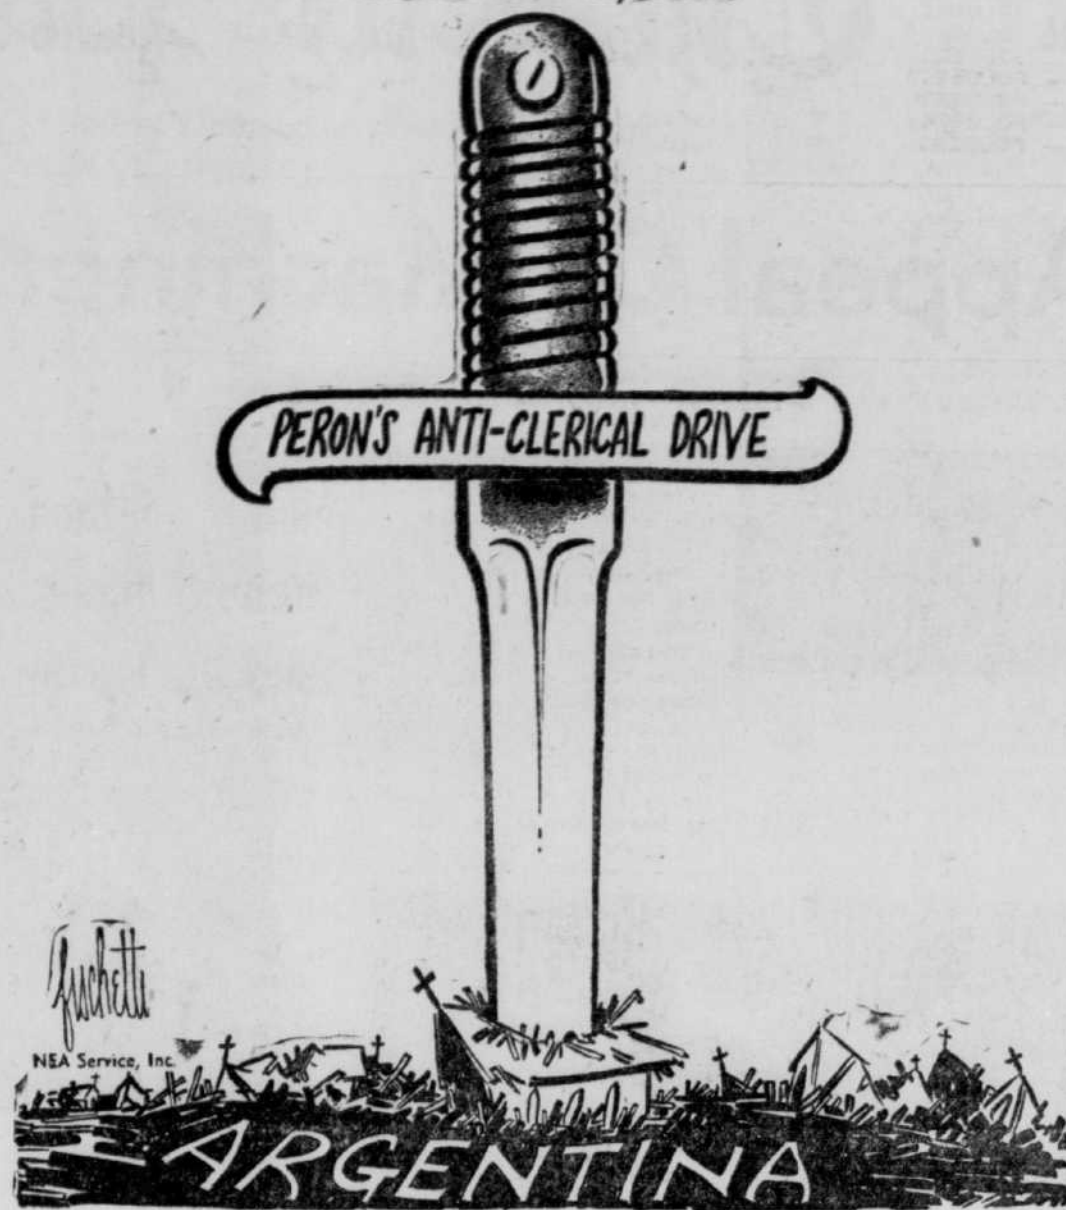

They face a hazardous choice. If they secure the disqualification of the Sinn Feiners, they risk stirring up fresh trouble among the supporters of Irish unity.

If they decline to take the action they threatened during the election campaign, they face charges of "moral cowardice."

The Cross They Bear

From The Pen Of E.T. Writers

ROBIN RED BREAST

For eighteen years, robins have built their nest
In an old hall window facing the west.
The original nest is there still;
Built upon the broad window sill.
Each year early in the Spring
Robins gather there and sing,
Renovate the nest and hatch their young;
Early risers, with the sun;
Busy as bees the whole day through;
Interesting to watch what ere they do.
Three weeks, Mother sits upon the nest,
Keeping eggs warm beneath her breast.
Then one day, if all goes well,
"Peep," they look out of their shell.
One can hardly credit; such a little brood
Can devour such a quantity of food.
Then one day as you look out,
Those wee robins are hopping about
Over the lawn beneath the trees.
They learn to fly, with the greatest of ease.
Come little birdies, as often as you please,
And repair your nest beneath the eaves.
No one will disturb you or your nest,
Built on the old window sill facing the west.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

From the Record files of Saturday, May 30, 1925.

Impressive ceremonies were held at Georgeville for the unveiling of the war memorial at that town. Among those taking part in the ceremony were Rev. C. E. S. Bown, Rev. John Murray, and Mrs. E. Routledge.

Indications are that the Dominion Government will appropriate the sum of five million dollars as a partial compensation for the depositors in the defunct Home Bank.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

From the Record files of Thursday, May 30, 1935.

At the annual meeting of the Ayer's Cliff Cemetery, the following officers were elected: J. N. Hibbard, L. L. Clough, V. A. Davis, W. P.

Berwick, J. E. Bayley, Mrs. C. H. Libby, W. S. Keeler, and E. H. Chadsey.

Considerable mystery is apparent in international circles over the appointment of the mystery man, Joachim von Ribbentrop, as an ambassador by the German Government with full powers to act on behalf of the Third Reich.

TEN YEARS AGO

From the Record files of Wednesday, May 30, 1945.

GET MAIN IDEA OF THE HOLDUP PLAY

The average experienced player is used to the main idea of the holdup play. You usually hold up an ace in the suit opened by the enemy against your no-trump contract; that is, you don't take the first trick, and sometimes you don't take the second.

The principle is much the same in today's hand except that the holdup must be employed even though declarer has two sure tricks in the enemy's suit.

West opens the four of spades against South's normal contract of three no-trump, and South allows East to win the first trick with the jack of spades. East now switches to the queen of hearts, and South must once more refuse the trick even though he has two sure winners in the suit.

It is now impossible for the defenders to defeat the contract. It doesn't matter whether East continues with his own heart suit or switches back to his partner's spades. In either case, declarer wins and gives up a club. The opponent who wins can neither run his own suit nor establish his partner's suit. South can therefore knock out the other top club and take his nine tricks in complete safety.

Notice the difference if South wins the first spade. When South leads clubs, East wins with the ace of clubs and leads his other spade. This enables West to get in with the king of clubs in time to defeat the contract with the rest of the spades.

I would be equally fatal for South to refuse the first spade but take the first heart. West would then win the first club

And everywhere you look, to its new touches give Meteor grace and liveliness that set it apart, head and shoulders above the ordinary! There are 13 beautiful body styles—all longer, lower, and wider. You get a V-8 power bonus without paying a premium! Meteor models offer a 162 Hp. overhead-valve V-8; Rideau and Niagara models a 175 Hp. overhead-valve V-8. Both are backed by experience gained in manufacturing over 17 million V-8 engines. A 182 Hp.* is available with Merc-O-Matic Drive.*

In Meteor V-8 you'll feel instantaneous response whenever you need big reserves of smooth power to whisk you out of "tight spots", level out steep hills, or for safe passing on the highway. You'll be immediately aware of new steering ease and extra-smooth riding. That's because new ball-joint suspension gives virtually friction-free front wheel action, and embodies front springs tilted to cushion out head-on as well as up-and-down shock.

Bradley, president; C. S. Adams, secretary; R. F. Cowan, treasurer. The Directors are besides the above, Mrs. J. C. Reilly, R. Tomuschat, J. W. Young, and M. E. Bailey. Mr. James Smith is the caretaker.

During the past year the capital has been increased by $1,165 through sales of lots and by the legacy of $1,000 from the estate of the late Miss Martha Oliver. A plan of the cemetery has been drawn and two copies have been prepared, one is in the hands of the secretary and the other is in the possession of the treasurer. This work was done and donated to the company by C. S. Adams.

At this meeting a motion was approved to put a new roof on the vault and it was also decided to level up and lay out two rows of lots on the west side of the cemetery road.

A delegation consisting of Messrs. Clifton Jersey, Clare Bedard, Raymond Bedard and Lawrence Smith and representing the Chapel Cemetery on West Hill were present to discuss the possibility of the Chapel Cemetery being incorporated with Mansonville Cemetery Company. These men are keenly interested in this project and have decided to sponsor a drive to raise funds to help in the venture. Their objective is $3,000.

Red Wings And Black Hawks Complete Another Deal As Eight Players Are Switched; Champs Get Hollingworth

Chicago. — (CP) — Eight secondline players will swap uniforms next season following completion of another in the innumerable series of deals between Detroit Red Wings and Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League.

The Hawks sent defenseman Buck Hollingworth and forwards Johnny McCormack, Dave Creighton and Jerry Toppazzini to the Wings during the week-end in exchange for defenseman Benny Wolt and forwards Tony Leswick, Glen Skov and Johnny Wilson.

Scarcely a year goes by without a trade between the Wings, seven-time NHL champions, and the Hawks, who finished five of the same seven years in the league cellar. Apart from the newly acquired quartet, five men on the Chicago roster once wore Detroit uniforms.

Numerically the week-end deal was the biggest since 1949, when the Red Wings gave up five players to get standout defenseman Bob Goldman and three others who are no longer with the club.

LESWICK BEST KNOWN
Of the eight involved in the latest deal, the most renowned is Leswick, a five-foot-six 160-pounder whose close-checking play has been the despair of the opposition's top-scoring right-wingers for years.

At 32, Leswick's best days as a marksman are behind him—he was a 27-goal man for New York Rangers eight years ago—but he still managed to score 10 goals for the Wings last season between defensive assignments.

Skov, a 24-year-old center, has effectively filled defensive and offensive assignments for the Wings, reaching his goal-scoring high of 17 two years ago. Last season he centered Leswick and Marty Pavelkic on Detroit's "checking" line, which produced a startlingly high total of 39 goals.

Wilson, heralded as one of the best of the Wings' rookie crop three years ago when he scored 23 goals, produced 17 the following year and slumped to a disappointing 12 last season.

A 26-year-old left-winger, he is expected to team up with his older brother, Larry, whom the Wings dealt off to Chicago in 1953.

Wolt, a 27-year-old 190-pounder, has spent four years as Detroit's No. 4 defenseman.

The key man acquired by the Wings is Hollingworth, a 21-year-old youngster whom the Hawks obtained from the Montreal Canadian farm organization last year and who rated among the best rookie defensemen in the league.

Toppazzini, a 23-year-old right-winger who spent two years shuttling between Boston Bruins and their Hershey farm club in the American Hockey League before the Hawks got him in mid-season two years ago, also doubles as a defenseman.

Born at Copper Cliff, Ont., Toppazzini has never matched the form he showed in sparkling Barrie Flyers to the Memorial Cup in 1948, his last year as an amateur.

McCormack, a veteran defenseman, will be moving to his fourth NHL club, having served terms with Toronto and Montreal during his 10-year career before moving on to Chicago last season.

A 29-year-old six-footer, the Edmonton-born McCormack is one of the most effective penalty-killers in the league.

Creighton, a 24-year-old native of Port Arthur, twice scored 20 goals for the Bruins during a six-year stay but was unable to find the range regularly last season with Toronto or Chicago. The Hawks picked him up from the Leafs in mid-season.

It's High Time National League Commenced To Take Chicago Cubs Seriously; Yanks Post 6th Straight

It's high time for the rest of the National League clubs to start taking the youth-minded Chicago Cubs seriously.

Six straight series triumph and 13 victories in their last 17 games have entrenched last year's seventh placers firmly in the runner-up spot today, six games behind the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers and three in front of the defending champion New York Giants.

With the only big name — outfielder Hank Sauer — sitting on the bench, the Cubs have been depending mostly upon sophomores and unheralded first-year men. And from the looks of things, the Cubs might wind up with both the rookie-of-the-year and sophomore-of-the-year honors.

Second-year man Ernie Banks drove in four runs with a grand slam homer and rookie Bob Speake scored three times and drove in the first of five runs in the big third inning Sunday to spark the Cubs to a 9-6 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

The Dodgers took the rubber of their three-game series from the Giants 8-5 to maintain their six-game bulge on the Cubs as Duke Snider, Junior Gilliam and Jackie Robinson homered. Stan Musial's three-run homer helped the St. Louis Cardinals whip Cincinnati 7-2 and vault into fourth race as the Braves dropped to fifth, one percentage point ahead of the Reds.

Philadelphia ran its winning streak to seven straight with a 5-2 triumph over Pittsburgh, but the Pirates were leading 8-3 as they came to bat in the seventh when the Pennsylvania curfew law halted activity in the second game. The game will be resumed July 8.

Bob Grim won a brilliant 1-0 hurling duel from Baltimore's Art Schallack as the New York Yankees captured their sixth straight and their 13th in the last 14 games. Herb Score struck out five to boost his league-leading total to 82 as the Cleveland Indians defeated Kansas City 4-2. Chicago's White Sox thrashed Detroit 9-3 and Boston outslugged Washington 12-7.

Banks and Randy Johnson batted in seven runs between them in the Cubs' victory. Banks' 10th homer of the season was his second grand slammer. Jackson walloped a homer with two outs aboard to give relief pitcher Hal Jeffcoat his sixth victory without a defeat.

The Dodgers scored five runs in the first three innings, routing starter Johnny Antonelli. Homers by Willie Mays and Alvin Dark saved the Giants from a rout.

Robin Roberts spun an eight-hitter for his seventh victory as his Philadelphia mates gave him a 4-0 lead in the first inning by shelling Pittsburgh starter Laurin Pepper from the mound before he could retire a single batter. Frank Thomas, who hit his second homer of the season in the opener, also hit a four-bagger in the second as the Pirates amassed 16 hits. Rookie outfielder Roberto Clemente had five hits, three doubles and two singles. Earl Torgesen collected four hits and Del Ennis drove in three runs for the Phillies in the first game.

Ninth-inning singles by Mickey Mantle and Elston Howard furnished the only Yankee run off Schallack.

A Kansas City crowd of 26,418 that swelled the attendance for 19 home games to 399,515 saw the Athletics come within a whisker of pulling a victory over Cleveland out of the fire.

Trailing 4-1 in the ninth, the Athletics sent Cleveland rookie Herb Score to the showers with three straight singles that scored a run. After a force play at third and another single, reliever Ray Narleski struck out Gus Zernial and Don Mossi, another reliever, fanned pinch-hitter Elmer Valo to end the game.

Larry Doby smashed a 500-foot homer for the Indians to become only the fourth player in history of the Kansas City Stadium to drive a ball over the right field wall.

Mike Fornieles scattered nine hits for his fourth White Sox victory and his third over the Tigers. Jim Rivera drove in two Chicago runs with a homer and scored three times.

Jackie Jensen batted in five runs with a pair of homers, a single and sacrifice fly and Ted Williams clouted a double and triple as the Red Sox outlasted the Senators in a 31-hit spree.

Wes Santee Fails To Break Barrier
Reading, Pa. — (AP) — The four-minute mile eluded Wes Santee again Sunday but the Kansas cowboy won the seventh annual Gerry Karver mile almost as he pleased with a clocking of 4:05.4.

Santee was a good 50 yards in front of Horace Ashenfelter, Olympic 3,000 metre steeplechase champion, when he breached the tape.

It was felt that the fact three runners in London Saturday pushed across the four-minute barrier in one

Baseball Doubleheader Washed Out, Meet This Evening

Jean-Pierre Roy Slated To Hurl Opener At 6.30; Gary Kolod Will Work Second Against Classy Braves

The Weather Man emerged the winner in last night's doubleheader between the Quebec Braves and the Sherbrooke Indians as a late afternoon downfall forced postponement. This evening the teams will try another twin-bill with the first one slated for 6.30 and the other following immediately after.

Jean-Pierre Roy, former Montreal hurler and Provincial League topper with Three Rivers, will again draw the assignment for the abbreviated opener while Gary Kolod will go in the second tilt announced Manager Hartness last night following the postponement.

Roy and Kolod will both be gunning for their initial wins in the league. Kolod lost his first appearance last week while Roy will be making his debut tonight against the Braves. Mike Morrison is setting the pace for the local hurlers with three wins against one setback with Hal Larned chalking up three victories and two losses while Wilf Sirois has three decisions against four defeats to complete the top half of the staff.

Red Meyer is the leading hitter with .337 with Roy Nixon following with .307 to complete the 300 class. Normie Dussault is third with .295 with Kel Roberts next with .291 and Wendy Hall .289. Hockey Chambers has .287 and then the list drops off with a quick descent.

In Quebec Saturday evening the Hartness squad dropped a close 8-7 verdict to the Braves. The home club rallied with five big runs in the seventh to overcome the Indians' 6-3 lead and pull out with the win.

Rufus Johnson homered for the Braves with two mates aboard to spearhead the rally. Mike Marinko started for the Braves but Roger Clapp finished the tilt and earned the decision.

The high-flying St. John Canadiens, victims of their own errors Saturday, bucked up Sunday to sweep a doubleheader from the lowly Thetford Mines Miners and maintain their three-game lead over Quebec Braves in the Provincial Baseball League.

The Canadiens walloped the Miners 6-1 in the opener and won the abbreviated nightcap 6-5 in eight innings. The Miners shaded St. John's 4-3 Saturday, capitalizing on three errors by the Canadiens.

A third Sunday doubleheader saw Burlington Athletics take Three Rivers Phillies 6-5 in the opener and 4-0 in the seventh-inning nightcap. The Phillies edged Burlington 2-1 Saturday.

Ramond Faldago, the Puerto Rican right-hander who last week pitched a no-hit, no-run game for St. John's Sunday registered his fifth victory of the season against no defeats in hurling the opener for the Canadiens. Faldago limited the Miners to seven hits while his teammates pound-

Quinella Pays $182.40 While $92.90 Is Collected For Place; Aileen Darnley Rewards Backers $88.90 On Win Ticket

Upsets were in the forelight at the local track with the majority of them being registered afternoon. The high of the afternoon went to Guy Cane in the eighth race when he paid $92.90 for a place ticket while Aileen Darnley came through with $88.90 on a straight investment. The lucky pickers on the quinella in the third race yesterday were rewarded the sum of $182.40 for their efforts.

Dan Murphy of Massena, N.Y., drove his favored pacing mare Miss Dean Patch to victory in the main event on yesterday's card when she finished ahead of the field in both ends of the Handicap Trot and Pace for a purse of $500. Amedee Beaudoin of Bulwer kept right in the middle of the race for driving honors when he teamed his Lena Directly to first place to win both heats in the Handicap Pace. They were the only double winners on the Sunday card.

The first upset of the day came in the third race when Lucien Denault pulled a quickie on the field with Aileen Darnley to pay the sum of $88.90 on a win ticket.

The other high of the day went to J. Wiener and Guy Cane in the eighth when they finished second to collect the sum of $99.20, tops of the day. The rest of the prices were fair as the bettors came up with the lucky ones.

The daily double paid $45.95 while the high quinella of the week-end was in the third race yesterday when $182.40 was paid to the backers of Aileen Darnley and Joe Dale. The others were $13.20 and $8.85.

On Saturday evening the bettors were not quite so lucky as no outstanding prices were collected. The quinellas were $10.65, $49.20 and $32.50 with the double winners collecting the sum of $15.85. The high on the straight ticket went to Alpine Hanover in the eighth; the sixth race took the tops for the place and show bets. Gay Vibart paid $14.00 and E. Cole's Prewin came through with a third-place finish to pay $29.70.

Beliveau's Salary Must Be Tops In National League

Montreal — (P) — If you want to do a little off-season speculating about the hockey salary of Jean Beliveau, start out with this: He got $20,000 in his last season as an amateur.

That's the figure — the contract figure — given by George Imlach, general manager of Quebec Aces of the Quebec Hockey League. George should know because he had the big centre-ice star of Montreal Canadiens under his wing when the circuit was amateur — the Quebec Senior Hockey League.

"He was worth it because of the attendance he dragged in, and there's no secret about it now," said Imlach during a fan-fanning session following the QHL's annual meeting Saturday.

Nobody would give authoritatively Beliveau's present salary in the National Hockey League, but the consensus was this: Big Jean's five-year contract with Canadiens will enrich him by $100,000, including a bonus figure spread out over the five years. Actual figures for salary and bonus were not indicated.

Perfect Weather Is Forecast For 500-Mile Classic

Indianapolis. — (P) — Perfect auto racing weather — bright sunshine, low temperatures and little wind — was forecast today for the 39th running of the 500-mile Memorial Day race at Indianapolis motor speedway.

Officials of the American Automobile Association contest board, which runs the show, predicted a track record barring accidents which could slow the race.

Lennoxville Golf Match Ends In Tie

The annual president vs. vice-president match ended in a tie at Lennoxville on Saturday with each team picking up 15½ points. President Bert Worster's aggregation jumped into an early lead but first vice-president Eddie McGinty's squad made a strong comeback to tie the match.

The low gross for the field was won by Garth Smith who fired a 77. Smith had a 42 on his first trip around the course but shot a brilliant even par 35 on the second nine. Marcel Fortier and Gordon Harmer tied for second low gross. Each had 80. Fortier scored a pair of 40's while Harmer has 41-39.

The low net was won by Aldei Gagnon who had a gross 100 minus a 32 handicap for a 68 net. Some fifty golfers took part in the event which proved to be a huge success. John Lefebvre and Pat Murphy completed the list for the top five low gross scorers with 81 each.

The Calcutta tournament gets underway tonight rain or shine and twenty teams will start out in the quest for the jack pot which will be split up at the end of the season. Tee off time is from 5:15 until 6:30 p.m.

Following the Calcutta movies on golf, will be shown. Three top films included pin-hi, the 44th Canadian Open and sub-par golf will be shown.

This Wednesday evening the weekly mixed events will get underway.

Jackie Pearce Wins Schulling Championship

Aces And Chics Granted Permission To Suspend Operations From QHL; Eddie Shore Interested In Entering

Montreal. — (CP) — The Quebec Hockey League at its annual meeting Saturday granted the request of the Quebec and Chicoutimi clubs to suspend operations for the 1955-56 season.

The meeting adjourned until June 29 at which time, it was stated, the composition of the league will be definitely decided.

It is believed that should the situation regarding Quebec and Chicoutimi change during the interim, withdrawal of the requests for suspending operations would be favorably considered.

Following the closed meetings, it was announced that three cities, which were not named, have indicated interest in entering the minor professional loop.

The 30-day adjournment came on motion of the Shawinigan Falls club. General Manager Ken Reardon said the club has been unable, because of late play, to complete all financial and other official reports so all league business could be wound up at Saturday's meeting.

The Edinburg Trophy series between the victorious Shawinigan Falls Cataracts and Edmonton Flyers of the Western Hockey League extended into May.

Quebec representatives asked to withdraw from the circuit because of failure to come to an agreement with city authorities for continued use of the city-owned Coliseum. They said it would be impossible to operate under financial terms demanded by the city.

General manager George Imlach of Quebec Aces said he has already had offers for his players in wholesale lots.

The difficulties of the Chicoutimi club have been lack of attendance and public support, and general manager Rolfe Hebert said the request to suspend operations was his only immediate recourse.

A possibility that Ottawa Senators might re-enter the league under Eddie Shore was seen. The former National Hockey League star, who for years has operated largely in the American Hockey League, was present at the meeting.

It was reliable reported that Shore is willing to put a team in Ottawa if the Cantor interests, who have taken over the Auditorium there, don't go into hockey.

The franchise of the Ottawa Senators reverted to the league when owner Tommy Gorman called it quits in the middle of last season. Gorman said he was losing money steadily and blamed his predicament largely on television of NHL games into the Ottawa area.

When the NHL owners met in Toronto last week, steps were taken towards helping minor circuits through TV blackouts.

It was understood Shore might take over the dormant franchise of the Sherbrooke Saints, which suspended operations before last season, and transfer the franchise to Ottawa if that arrangement were more suitable than trying to acquire the Ottawa franchise itself.

President George Slater of the QHL said that despite the present unsettled situation, he is confident that the league will be better than ever next season, especially with interest expressed by other cities. Two of the cities were reported, without confirmation, to be St. Jerome and Sorel.

When last season ended there were five clubs in the circuit — Shawinigan Falls, Montreal Royals, Quebec Aces, Valleyfield Braves and Chicoutimi Sagueniens.

You can't go ALL-OUT
If you feel ALL-IN

These days most people work under pressure, worry more, sleep less. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living, lowered resistance, overwork, worry—any of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest, that "tired-out" heavy-headed feeling often follow. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Ask for Dodd's Kidney Pills at any drug counter.

His worrying hours, too, are shorter today

Joe never had it so good!

Today he earns more than twice as much as he did ten years ago. His hours are shorter. And the new plant where he works is bright, modern and efficient—a vast improvement on the old one.

And there's another important change—one that benefits Joe and his family in a personal way. Not so long ago, he used to envy the workers in big plants because they had group life insurance. But now Joe's company, though comparatively small, has arranged a similar plan which also provides health and accident insurance, as well as pensions.

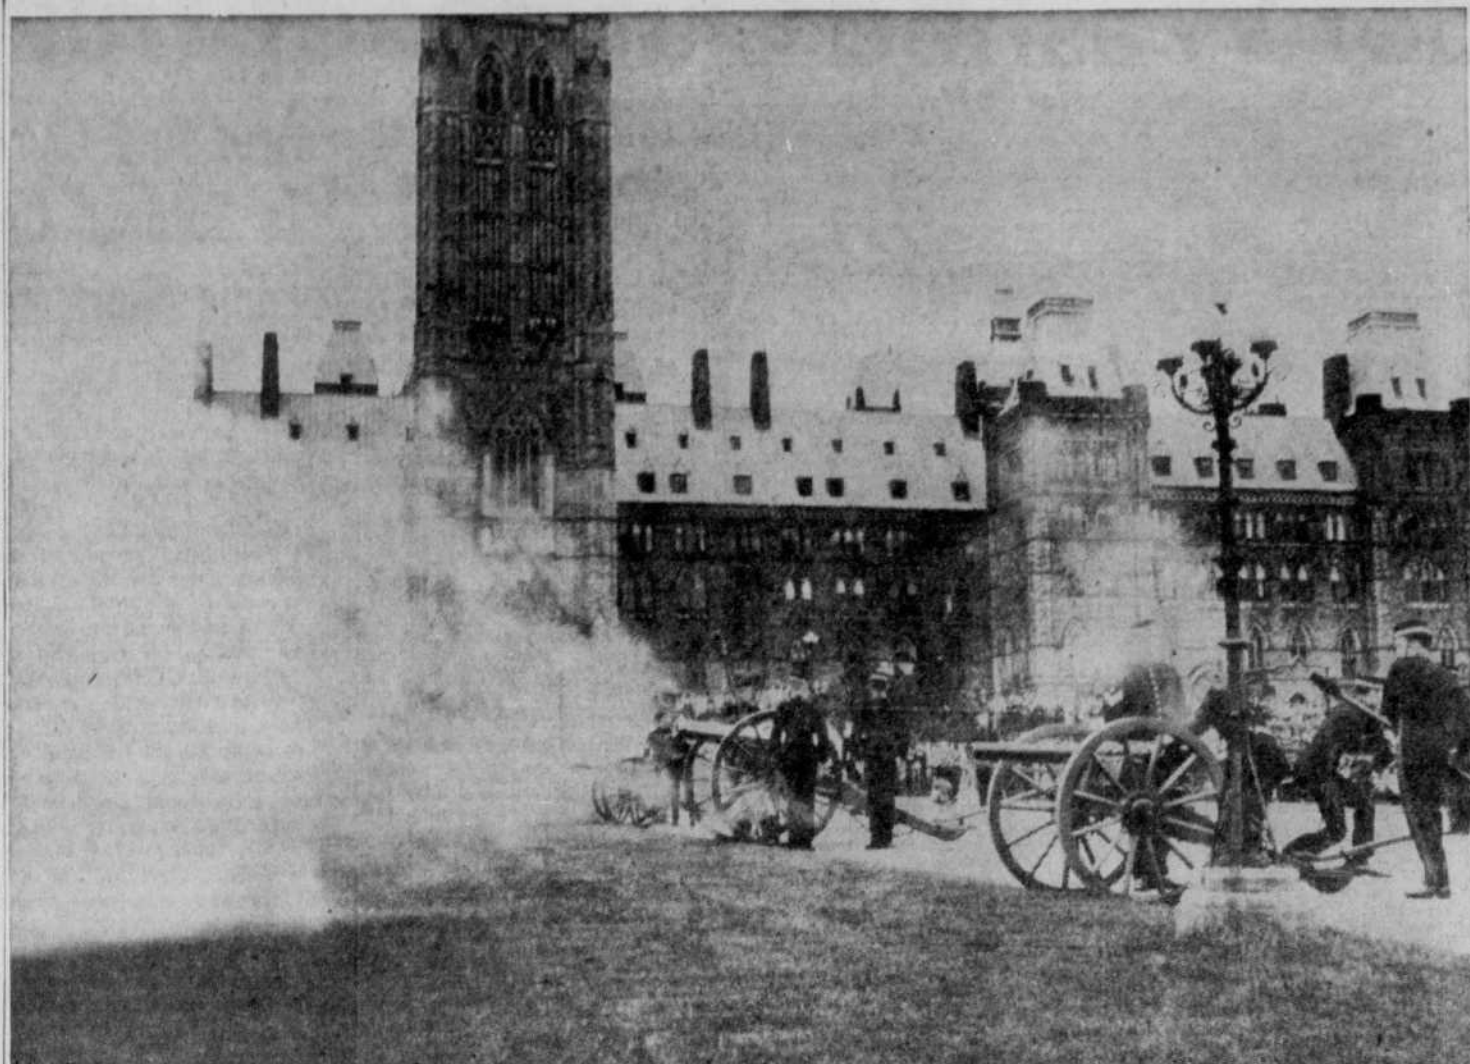

This coverage takes a big load of worry off Joe's mind. Especially the group life insurance—which adds extra dollars for his family's protection over and above the life insurance he has provided on his own.

Joe's experience is like that of thousands of workers in many different businesses throughout the country. Group insurance, little known 25 years ago, has developed rapidly because it meets such a vital need. It has met this need so successfully that last year, Canadians received a total of about 90 million dollars in group benefits from life insurance companies.

Here is more evidence that life insurance companies, and their representatives, are constantly seeking new and better ways to serve the needs of Canadians in all walks of life!
