FLAMES LEAPT HIGH IN THE AIR AS FIRE DESTROYED OLD PHILIP CAREY WAREHOUSE IN LENNOXVILLE LAST NIGHT. (Photo: James Bruce)

Warehouse swallowed in flames

By CROSBIE COTTON
Record Reporter

LENNOXVILLE — Confusion still surrounds the fire which destroyed a large warehouse situated just off College street last night as firemen stood helpless because of lack of water.

Firemen late last night were unable to determine who owned the building, whether or not it was insured, amount of damages or the cause.

The warehouse was originally owned by Philip Carey Ltd. which burned down more than five years ago but it was not known last night if the building had been sold to Lennox Paper Co. which is expected to begin production on the old Carey lot within a year.

Lennoxville Fire Chief John Nichol and Mayor

Cecil Dougherty were unable to say who owned the building. The complete Lennoxville volunteer fire department numbering 24 were on hand to battle the blaze but their efforts were hampered by a lack of water in the near vicinity. Firemen were able to connect one hose to a fire hydrant situated nearly 700 yards away on College street. However, although there were numerous hose outlets on the hydrant, water pressure from the hydrant would barely pump through two-and-one-half inch hose.

Chief Nichol said, "the main isn't powerful enough. We are lucky to have the water we have because the hydrant is served by an old four-inch main."

The fire erupted shortly after 9 p.m. in the wooden structure which was approximately 200 by 150 feet. Flames leapt high in the air as rolls of paper in the warehouse went up in flames. Hundreds of townfolk gathered to watch the flaming spectacle.

The warehouse, which was completely ravished during the inferno, was described as a total loss. Some reports were that Lennox Paper Co. had been working in construction. The reports are unconfirmed.

All of the town's fire fighting equipment was used to battle the blaze. Firemen remained on the scene throughout the night.

It was the second major fire in Lennoxville within six months. Earlier the IGA food store on Queen street had been destroyed by flames. The store has not yet been rebuilt.

Financing shared-cost programs

No accord reached on health-care plan

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's first ministers seemed to throw everything but the kitchen sink into their discussions Thursday, but the only meaningful agreement achieved was to disagree.

They talked about financing health-care programs, the fight against regional disparity, federal aid to post-secondary education, promoting provincial interests abroad, screening foreign investment, shipping Saskatchewan rapeseed from Nipawin to Vancouver, and co-ordinating development of engineers.

But they were unable to reach agreement on federal proposals that would have made fundamental changes in the method of financing shared-cost programs like hospital insurance, medical care and post-secondary education.

The first ministers finally decided to toss the health programs back to officials for further study and to continue present education-financing arrangements for lack of any immediately achievable alternative.

Quebec and Ontario had put forward counter-proposals involving transfer of considerable tax power to the provinces, but despite Alberta and Newfoundland support the counterproposals were not accepted either.

SEES HOPE
Quebec Premier Robert Bourassa told reporters that although his proposal was not adopted, he feels the principle of tax transfers has gained ground.

But Premier Dave Barrett of British Columbia increased his opposition to that principle. Whereas before he had expressed concern, Thursday he told reporters flatly that the federal proposals for limited tax transfers would be damaging Canadian unity if accepted.

Today the conference moves on to discuss the economy in general, foreign ownership of land and the future of the conference secretariat.

The dominant topic during the first two days of the conference was a May 8 federal proposal to have the provinces take over the entire cost of shared-cost health programs in return for tax room.

The federal government would cut its personal income taxes and eliminate certain excise taxes, allowing the provinces to move into that vacated tax room and raise revenue to pay for the health programs.

Many provinces said the proposal, which would be equivalent to a transfer of 20.5 per cent of federal personal income tax this year, might well not be enough to cover the increasing costs of the programs.

Quebec called for the transfer of 28 per cent while Ontario wanted 26 per cent.

Several have-not provinces objected to the Quebec-Ontario proposals, saying they would reduce too much of Ottawa's tax power and could prevent Ottawa from fully performing its role in redistributing income and reducing regional disparity.

Dr. Gustave Gingras, President of the Canadian Medical Association said yesterday the cost of health care services should be shared by both the Federal and Provincial governments.

Dr. Gingras was speaking during an interview before he addressed a campaign meeting at the Sherbrooke Hospital last night. "The cost sharing system between the provincial and federal governments is working quite well," the president said. "I don't think much change is needed."

Dr. Gingras' statement came as provincial and federal government officials continue to debate the cost sharing procedure at a conference in Ottawa.

Federal spokesmen, however, saw hope that the provinces might change their minds and accept a plan put forward by Health Minister Marc Lalonde May 8, that was intended as a transitional arrangement leading to the tax-transfer system.

"Under the Lalonde plan, increases in federal contributions to health programs would be tied to increases in the gross national product. "I am confident that, having sharpened their pencils, they will accept the Lalonde formula," said Prime Minister Trudeau. If not, there would be no more federal proposals. "As far as we are concerned, that's it."

Local school board elections near

LENNOXVILLE (WM) — It's school election time again. This June, six commissioners on the St. Francis and Lennoxville Elementary School Boards come up for re-election.

Each commissioner usually serves a three-year period but because the new boards were formed last year, the government provided for drawing of lots so that three commissioners would be elected each year. This was to prevent all the commissioners coming up for election at the same time.

The three commissioners on the Lennoxville board whose seats are up for re-election are Mrs. Madge Paulette of Sherbrooke, Mr. Garth Fields of Magog and Mr. Aubrey Greer of Coaticook. In the St. Francis Sector Board the terms expire of Mr. William Rick of Danville, Mr. Edgar Stevens of Shipton and Mr. Lorne Eastman of

Melbourne Township.

The eleven commissioners on the Lennoxville Board and the nine on the St. Francis Board combine to make up the Eastern Townships Regional School Board which is responsible for administering education in the Alexander Galt and Richmond Regional High Schools.

If the seats are not challenged, the six school commissioners will be returned for a further three years.

In order to be named as a candidate for commissioner on the school board, it is necessary to be over 18, a Canadian citizen and have lived in the area covered by the board for a minimum of six months. It is not, however, necessary to live in the same ward the seat represents.

Nominations for candidates must be presented to the officer in charge at the polling stations on Monday, June 4 between 12 noon and 2 p.m. Two qualified voters in the area must nominate the candidate.

The polling stations for the wards are as follows:
LENNOXVILLE DISTRICT SCHOOL BOARD
Sherbrooke — Seat No. 5
Presently held by Mrs. Madge Paulette.
Sherbrooke Elementary School, Sherbrooke.
Magog — Seat No. 4

Ayer's Cliff and Coaticook — Seat No. 2
Presently held by Mr. Aubrey Greer.

Presently held by Mr. Edgar Stevens.
A.D.S. School, Danville.

Melbourne Township and Kingsbury — Seat No. 8
Presently held by Mr. Lorne Eastman.

Richmond Regional High School, Richmond.

If the seats are challenged, the school elections will take place at the above polling stations between 9 a.m. and 7 p.m. on Monday, June 11.

LENNOXVILLE DISTRICT

Mrs. Madge Paulette

Mrs. Paulette was appointed commissioner in November, 1972 by the Lennoxville District School Board Council of Commissioners to complete the one-year term of Mr. Wendell Greer who had resigned. She has, therefore, been Commissioner for only 7 months. She represents Ward 5 in Sherbrooke, and if re-elected in June, she will then represent this ward for the next 3 years.

Mrs. Paulette was born in Valleyfield, Que., and grew up in Beauharnois. She was graduated from Gault Institute in Valleyfield with great distinction in her high school leaving exams. She was awarded a Wilson Scholarship to McGill, which she maintained for four years. She was graduated with distinction in her B.A. in 1955 and was awarded a Weston Fellowship for study abroad. She obtained a postgraduate certificate in education (teacher training) from the University of London, London, England. She had experience teaching in public and high schools in London, followed by a year's teaching in Quebec.

She was married to Dr. Robert Paulette in 1957 and is the mother of four school age children. She has participated actively in school functions locally at the elementary and high school levels.

Mrs. Paulette is bilingual and has been active in the Sherbrooke Hospital Ladies' Auxiliary, the Community Concerts Association, various church-related activities, as well as being an active member of the Frontier Lodge camp committee, and the committee of Maplemount Homes, Inc.

Since becoming a Commissioner, Mrs. Paulette has visited over half of the schools in this district. She is also a member of the Pedagogical Committee and of the Ad Hoc Committee to make agreements between the Roman Catholic School Boards.

Garth Fields

Garth Fields has been a school commissioner in this area for eight years, first with the Magog School Board, then the Stanstead County Elementary Board and presently with the Lennoxville District School Board.

He serves on three school board committees, the Lennoxville District Executive Committee which meets regularly to make decisions on the day-to-day administration, the negotiations committee and the recently formed special committee to investigate the efficiency of the administration on the Eastern Townships Regional School Board.

Mr. Fields, 36, is married with three children. He lives on Main street in Magog and has worked for the past five years as a Systems Analyst with Canadian Ingersoll Rand.

After completing high school he took various diploma courses in accounting and investment dealers. He is now in the last year of the Canadian Institute of Management Course at Bishop's University.

Regarding his efficiency as a school commissioner, Mr. Fields believes his record will be the judge. He has taken very definite stands on all key issues and is not afraid to make his opinions known.

Mr. Fields says that during the past year he has worked with the Director General, Hugh Auger and Mr. Bean, Headmaster of the Magog School toward improved situations in the school. "The two administrators deserve the bulk of the credit," Mr. Fields admits.

On the achievements of the school boards during the past year, he points out that more than two hundred resolutions have been passed, each affecting in some way, the future of education in the area.

"Bill 27, which established the new board structure brought together eleven commissioners at the regional level," he explains. "Few of us knew more than two or three of his fellow commissioners. There is no doubt that time and energy was spent in familiarizing ourselves with each other."

Aubrey Greer

We regret no biography or picture was available from Mr. Edgar Stevens, seat 3 representing Shipton; and that Mr. Aubrey Greer, seat 2 for Ayer's Cliff and Coaticook, only provided THE RECORD with a photograph.

ST. FRANCIS SECTOR

William Rick

Mr. William S. Rick, running in the Danville seat, is a native of the town, is married and has six children, two at Richmond Regional and one at A.D.S. Elementary.

He is a vice-president, treasurer and director of H.P. Power Drives Inc., and a treasurer of Norcan Rolls Ltd., as well as being a member of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, Royal Canadian Legion Branch 41, and of Trinity United Church, Danville.

Mr. Rick obtained his education at the Danville and Asbestos High Schools and Sir George Williams University.

In a newsletter, he publishes for the Danville residents, Mr. Rick made the following recommendations: "savings of approximately $26,000 yearly could be attained with the moving of the ETRSB from its present site to the Lafontaine School. The latter will be purchased from La Commission des Ecoles Catholiques de Sherbrooke for $1.00 (one Dollar). These savings would be effected over a three-year period."

"No doubt you have been reading the Sherbrooke Record reports about school accounts. The school account is made up of 32 different sub-accounts covering various activities at Alexander Galt High School and these funds have not been under the control of the Board since the inception of the school. The school board engaged McDonald Currie & Co. to audit these accounts and weaknesses were found in the accounting system."

Mr. Rick indicated he has a detailed financial statement available to any interested ratepayer.

"The past year has been interesting and I have learned a great deal about the school system. I have attended some 39 board and committee meetings. There have been times when I have been frustrated and others when I have been elated."

"Generally it has been satisfactory. I have tended to concentrate on the financial aspect of the school board rather than the educational because my training and experience has been in that area."

"I feel that if we hire good administrators, principals and teachers and provide them with all their needs (within reason) we are then doing our job. We are, at all times, trying to strengthen our staff and provide better educational services and facilities in our area."

Lorne Eastman

Mr. Lorne E. Eastman, the incumbent of Melbourne Township, is a native of Sherbrooke. Married and the father of five children with one in university and the others in school, he attained his basic education at Sherbrooke High and Bishop's University. He is office manager for Ewing & Sons (1968) Inc., of Melbourne.

During his tenure on education, Mr. Eastman has performed the following functions: served on a workshop committee under Regulation I at Waterloo High School, and was the Waterloo representative on the workshop committee Massey-Vanier workshop committee, a member of the St. Francis sector elementary school. He was elected as a commissioner to the St. Francis Sector Board representing Melbourne Twp., and Kingsbury. Mr. Eastman serves on the executive and finance committees of the sector board. He is a representative of the Eastern Townships and a member of the Quebec Association of Protestant School Boards.

Mr. Eastman indicated his impressions of work on the school boards. "My personal feelings were that the first year's operations of the St. Francis Sector Board were most fruitful and objective. All members worked in close harmony with school administrators and much was learned and accomplished."

"I did not feel that the function of the Regional Board was as successful. There were mixed feelings of mistrust between some board members and administrative personnel that often led to interminable discussions of topics of a lesser nature and the waste of valuable time by the Board in general."

"I am sure that one which we have all learned in this first year's experience is that near government control of our educational system is a distressing situation and all members of the English-speaking community in this province must be prepared to work more diligently to preserve what is left."

If you can't eat the daisies

By JEAN SHARP
CP Women's Editor

TORONTO (CP) — You can turn a springtime pest into an asset and cut the food budget at the same time, if you harvest your dandelions and eat them.

Sylvia Boorman says she has never considered dandelions a nuisance because so much of a dandelion can be used.

"It's a marvellous plant," Miss Boorman is the author of Wild Plums and Brandy, a cookbook of wild foods.

She said: "The dandelion has been used in pharmacology for ages. The roots were boiled and the liquid used for eye ailments. It has also been used as a heartburn recipe."

You can also cut the root and use it as a coffee substitute, as pioneers did in days of scarcity.

"Cut it into little pieces and dry it, in a 200-degree oven in six to eight hours or overnight.

USED AS GARNISH

"There is something else I've never gone after. At the top of the root, just under the ground, is the beginning of the green, called the crown, and that evidently makes a lovely salad garnish."

You can use the leaves themselves in salads or cooked, as a vegetable.

"They must be young for a salad. The leaf is no good after the plant has blossomed and blown away."

"You can blanch the leaves by putting a barrel over them as they grow. Although I don't know why people want them blanched, I'm quite happy with them green."

People once boiled the leaves and used the water as a tonic.

"The flowers can be boiled up with pennyroyal leaves and the water is said to be a good specific for menstrual pains and cramps.

"Apart from that, you can, I think, eat the buds, but I have never done that."

Beware of spray

If you do decide to harvest dandelions for eating, be wary of taking them from sprayed areas.

"I would say it's advisable, whatever you're picking, to be sure it hasn't been sprayed. You can tell because everything looks so foul and brown."

Even then, be sure to wash the plants thoroughly.

Miss Boorman says you might find dandelion leaves a little bitter and prefer to use them mixed with other greens, as you do some varieties of lettuce.

If you want to use them alone, dress them with a little French dressing, garlic and sugar. Add ripe olives or stir brown sugar into lemon juice and pour the mixture over chilled leaves.

SERVE THEM COOKED

If you want to serve dandelion greens cooked, boil them briefly in salted water, cook just long enough to make them tender and serve with salt, pepper and butter.

You can sautee them in olive oil or butter with a bit of chopped garlic. Cook them 10 or 15 minutes and they should come out crisp.

If you want to serve them creamed, cook them in boiling water and chop them when they're done. Make a sauce by melting a tablespoon of butter, mixing in a tablespoon of flour and a tablespoon of stock or the water in which the dandelions have been cooked. Add salt and pepper and stir into the chopped leaves.

Serve the dandelions on fried croutons and put a dollop of sour cream on top.

Technological advance a curse

By KATHERINE KENNEDY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

R. D. Symons considered oil mankind's "greatest curse." He called the transition to tractors from horses in farming "the big betrayal" and questioned today's standard of living.

But the former Saskatchewan cowboy's deepest regret, expressed in his book, Where the Wagon Led, was that machines and urbanization had separated man from his roots, from the natural earth where he belongs.

Mr. Symons tells of a time — an incredibly short 50 years ago — when people could get their bearings from the lay of the long matted grass and predict blizzards by "the duck egg green in the northwestern sky."

His book, subtitled One Man's Memories of the Cowboy's Life in the Old West, is an eloquent memorial to the days of the open range before the arrival of the homesteaders who "fenced it into tight little holdings."

The author came to Maple Creek, Sask., from England at the age of 16. Alex Gow, a Scottish rancher, saw that the boy (whom he called Charlie) had "an education and a notion" — even if he were green — and hired him as a ranch hand.

So Charlie began his practical education, which he shares in rich descriptions and 70 original pen-and-ink sketches.

The boy learns to brand and wean cattle, to help with calving and roundups. He learns to break, train and unsex horses. Equally important, he learns the habits of horses and cattle.

He describes the wiles of old range mares and says when sleeping calves were disturbed they would bawl "until a troop of cows came charging over the skyline like Arabs among the dunes, their horns curved like scimitars against the bright sky."

The details of a cowboy's life are all included: what he had in his bedroll, how the grub wagon operated, why he sang while riding night herd, how his bunkhouse looked.

Natural justice was recognized on the Prairies. The long hard "die up" winter of 1907 in which thousands of cattle froze was "nature's revenge on the men who tried to cheat her by killing her buffalo."

The unspoiled prairies are described by Mr. Symons with an artist's sensitivity. "I look far away over swell over blue swell to the hazy tips of the Bear Paws. Meadowlarks fluting. Grey sage burgeoning to purple and gold. Green prairies merging into violet distance."

A chinook was heralded by "a great arch hanging over Eagle Butte." "There was a faint smell that reminded me of low tide at Winchelsea; then the wind would come with a rush and a roar, and every loose board on the barn roof would flap and squeak."

In the book's epilogue Mr. Symons says oil has done far more harm than good in the world. The use of tractors had not led to increased production per acre but only increased production per man.

BHAKTI — On CBC-TV's World of Music, Sunday, May 27 at 3 p.m., a unique dance film by Maurice Bejart stars his famous Ballet of the 20th Century in Bhakti, which uses a blend of actuality film and dance sequences to contrast two irreconcilable philosophies — the materialism of the West, and the spiritualism of the East. This scene shows two dancers with Indian musicians on the banks of the Ganges, at Benares, India, where the film was partially shot.

Deceived husband should keep quiet

Dear Ann Landers: About six years ago I accidentally discovered through blood typing that I could not be the biological father of one of my children. After confronting my wife with the scientific evidence, she confessed it was true, and named the man who had fathered the child. Two days later she admitted that every one of our four children have different fathers. None is mine.

teen-agers, should be told who their real fathers are? Every one of these men lives in town and has a family. I ask this question because it might be a bad thing if our teen-age son, for example, should fall in love with his half-sister and not know she was related. What do you say? — Deceived

I rode the school bus for three years, 50 miles a day, 25 miles to and 25 miles from. Our driver had no problem with kids fighting and screaming. He wouldn't put up with it. When there was any commotion he simply pulled the bus over to the shoulder of the road and stopped. He never said one word. In fact he didn't even turn around — just looked into his rear-view mirror and the culprits knew that they were being observed.

Dear Wyoming: It is the responsibility of the driver to deliver his cargo safely. Obstreperous behavior is as much of a safety hazard as faulty brakes. The disciplinary measure you described sounds perfect. I recommend it.

Dear Ann Landers: I can't understand the logic of the young couples who don't want to have children because "there are already too many people fouling up the environment." Yet they have a dog or a cat, or both. Don't animals breathe oxygen and excrete waste? I'm for ecological preservation, but what about this nonsense? — I Like Kids

I walked around in a state of shock for a week. Finally I had a long talk with my clergyman and my doctor. They both asked me if I felt any resentment against the children. I said no. They then asked if I could forgive my wife. I said yes. At that point I was advised to keep the family together and decided I'd do it. I figured she was a good wife and mother with a sex problem.

When things calmed down (it usually took less than a minute) he'd get the bus rolling again. This man never had an accident and all the kids had a lot of respect for him.

So, Ann, whenever you get a letter from a bus driver who complains that the kids are running wild on his bus and jeopardizing their lives, toss it right back. Ask what's the matter with him? — Wyoming

Dear Deceived: I say — say nothing. The chances of one of your children marrying a half-sister or brother are probably remote. If it appears that such a marriage might occur, consult your physician about the genetic hazards. The emotional impact on your children, should you tell them, might be disastrous.

Dear L.L.K.: Any couple who would rather have a pet than a child should have it. It's their right. I'd hate to be born into a family that would rather have had a dog or a cat. How about you?

What I need to know is this, Ann. Do you feel that the children, now that they are

I just read the letter from the driver of the school bus who complained that the kids were so unruly he had a hard time driving. He described their lack of discipline as a safety problem. May I say, Ann, this bus driver has a lot to learn and I know someone who could teach him.

Decision awaited

LENNOXVILLE (CC) — Champlain Regional College's Board of Governors are expected to face up to a series of resolutions passed by the faculty at the college's Lennoxville campus when the board meets in Quebec tonight.

The faculty resolutions passed May 11 deal with the future of Raymond McGrath as campus director for the coming academic year. Mr. McGrath has been re-instated as Lennoxville campus principal but transferred on special assignment to the post of Research and Development for the college - a position in the tri-campus college's central administrative offices in Sherbrooke.

The faculty, which voted earlier this month to unionize and join the Quebec Teachers Corporation, passed two resolutions which concerned the future of Mr. McGrath.

The faculty asked the Director General of the CEGEP, Frederick Turley, to divulge whether or not he will recommend to the Board of Governors that Mr. McGrath's contract as campus director in Lennoxville be renewed for the next academic year.

The faculty demanded that Mr. Turley divulge the information before May 18. According to sources close to the college yesterday, Mr. Turley had not given an answer to the resolution.

Sources say Joyce Smith, chairman of the Board of Governors, passed the resolution

CMA head fears government changes

Citizen hospital interest waning

SHERBROOKE (CC) — Dr. Gustave Gingras, president of the Canadian Medical Association, said yesterday he feared changes being introduced into the Quebec health industry might have detrimental effects on community involvement in local hospitals.

Mr. Gingras was answering a question concerning the future of the Sherbrooke Hospital under changes currently being ordered by the provincial government. The new medical system, which will certainly affect the Sherbrooke Hospital, were made necessary when the Quebec legislature passed Bill 65 two years ago.

"Although I am not that up to date with all the exchanges I fear that the government might discourage community involvement in their hospital," he said. "I am afraid the people will lose interest in their hospital."

"I certainly hope this won't happen in Sherbrooke," he said. "Still there is that possibility." Health and Social Service Council (ETHSSC), said when contacted later in the evening that Mr. Gingras' fears are probably not going to become reality. The ETHSSC is the government body charged with implementing the changes recommended in Bill 65.

"I am optimistic the new system will work," he said. "All residents have to give it a try. It is change but it is also progress," he added.

Mr. Painchaud added the changes will bring better efficiency to the health industry in the region. "Don't expect everything to happen at once," he said. "It might take a while but the public will be assured of more efficient and much better medical service."

In the interview yesterday, Dr. Gingras, who recently returned from a study of acupuncture in China, said he believed acupuncture would be used often in the Canadian medical profession within two years.

He said that acupuncture should be only performed by qualified physicians and that legislation passed by government should ascertain that it is only undertaken by physicians.

DISTINGUISHED VISITOR — Dr. Gustave Gingras, president of the Canadian Medical Association was in Sherbrooke last night. Above, he is seen speaking with Lewis Rosenbloom, public relations chairman at Sherbrooke hospital.

YOU WON'T TAKE MY TOYS AWAY — That seems to be the tenet of the expression on the face of one tot at the Hotel-Dieu hospital. The fresh air scene is but one of the murals in the Pediatrics Ward which make life brighter for both patients and staff.

Walls become visual delight

SHERBROOKE (JD) — A $68,000 L.I.P. grant made things much brighter in area hospitals this year. Halls in the pediatrics ward of Hotel-Dieu were the usual drab color until Decor Estrie came into existence.

The group, at a press conference, said: "The plan of this group is to create beauty where no beauty existed."

"Our original project may have been to paint walls, what has evolved is something much greater and of larger scope. The emphasis was laid on going to them, all to often, the joys of our world have been forgotten - our hospitals, and we concentrated on Hotel-Dieu - a very busy spot with its 325 beds.

"We realized a hospital is, for many, a place of suffering and loneliness - where better to plant the seeds of confidence and happiness? As music has been used to soothe, we feel visual arts have a more intense calming effect on patients." This was corroborated by Miss Lise Foucault, R.N. "During the year I have worked here, the morale of not only the patients but all the staff has improved tremendously. Of course we had to take the crayons away from the younger children until the murals were covered with a clear varnish! All of us look forward to coming to work now, something that was lacking in the past," she said.

Decor Estrie put in 574 man-weeks in their beautification projects. They are hopefully anticipating an extension of the program to November to permit them to broaden its scope.

So far they have concentrated on the Bowen St. institution and the Sherbrooke Seminary, however, the reaction from administrators has been such they have had the green light from the Sherbrooke Hospital - according to a spokesman - and would also like to work at C.H.U., St. Vincent-de-Paul, Youville hospitals as well as Le Foyer St. Joseph and Residence de l'Estrie, both homes for the elderly.

L.I.P. projects are designed to make work, and the bulk of all funds is used for salaries. In this instance they spent $17.00 per man week for materials and operating expenses.

One look at the average child in the pediatrics ward at Hotel-Dieu is proof of the venture.

Relais St. Francois opened

SHERBROOKE (JD) — Officials from all phases of society formally opened the Relais St. Francois, last night. The centre is a combination half-way house and retention centre for wayward adolescents.

Built in the present traditional provincial government style of concrete covered with a coating, it appears not to be what it was designed to function as.

A spokesman said the centre, hopefully in full operation by this November, will accommodate 110 young people, of both languages and sexes, in an attempt to put them back on the paths necessary to reintegrate into society.

"The term juvenile delinquent is a thing of the past," said Charles Theriault, "we think of the children as being unadaptable in the context of their lives. This applies whether or not they are destitute and come and seek shelter and guidance, if they are referred to us by a welfare organization, or if they are referred to us by a judge of the Juvenile Court.

"We have three basic functions - harbouring youngsters who have no shelter, attempting to reconcile family arguments - (often the cause of running away) and sheltering and teaching the "hard nosed juvenile" who has made a botch of school.

"In all cases we try and evaluate the particular situation and best prepare the youth. Some of them are with us overnight others could be held here as long as one year.

"In some cases those who are with us on a long term basis are allowed to attend schools outside the perimeter of our buildings. Attendance at outside schools, however, is not a must as we have personnel trained to educate in both English and French. I just add that 20 per cent of our present residents, 50, are of English heritage.

The centre is, for the present at maximum capacity, the usual condition of being short staffed. Hopefully when the girls wing is opened - tentatively in November - there will be enough trained personnel to handle the load.

Arts, crafts show success

ROCK ISLAND (IH) — The May 11-20 Arts and Crafts Exhibition at Our Lady of Mercy Parish hall in Rock Island was a decided success as close to 3000 persons came from near and far from both sides of the Boundary to view the week-long exhibit.

The exhibit was the brainchild of the parish priest, Father Roch Lecours, who, when visiting the homes of his parishioners, saw some of their work.

The idea gave way to actual planning and soon 175 people from Rock Island, Stanstead and Beebe, French and English-speaking, Catholic and Protestants, contributed their talents to the exhibition. The total value of arts and crafts totaled some $30,000.

The exhibits included about every type of art and craft, paintings, weaving, knitting, sewing, ceramics, and many others. In the entrance was a display of work from the science classes of the Ursuline convent in Stanstead. Two rooms were created, a living room and a kitchen, and a birthday being celebrated complete with cake.

"Next year, we hope to have another exhibition," said Father Lecours, "and add pottery and sculpturing."

Scourge declining

The new wave of nationalism which is sweeping Canada today is concerned not only with making Canadians aware of their own culture (and getting government support to do it) but of making other peoples — especially the British and Americans — aware of us as well. We are now subsidizing book forays into these countries, and film and television productions as well.

Without careful selection, however, these cultural expeditions may backfire. They may make other people aware of us and our "culture" in ways we don't want. Instead of winning respect and a wider acceptance for our product, they may make us a laughing-stock.

From critical reaction in England this seems to be what has happened after the initial showing of the CBC's Whiteoaks of Jalna. Anyone who saw this series when it was presented in Canada (and there can have been few who had the stamina to see it all the way through) could have told the CBC that its export would be a mistake: It should have been put in mothballs before it was presented even to a Canadian audience. To export it has been, predictably, a disaster.

Who's mental?

Whatever the reason, or reasons, the declining incidence of aerial hijacking is a welcome development.

An International Air Transport Association survey shows only one hijack attempt anywhere in the world this year compared with sixty attempts last year and a record eighty-six in 1969.

The safety of air travel has thus vastly improved with the odds increasing against this particularly frightening and dangerous type of crime.

It is difficult to guess exactly what may have been responsible for the dramatic turn-around.

Certainly it has been amply demonstrated for would-be hijackers that this brand of crime doesn't pay. There has been only one case of note in which a hijacker got away with a sizeable ransom without subsequently being brought to justice. He parachuted from a jetliner with $200,000 somewhere between Seattle, Washington, and Reno, Nevada, in November, 1971, but it is by no means certain that he escaped with his life.

Confiscation of ransoms by refuge countries must also have had a restraining effect, particularly when it is known that conditions of life for hijackers in such countries may be no bed of roses. In this connection, the anti-hijacking treaty concluded early this year by Cuba, the United States and Canada must have helped close off a handy haven for North American hijackers.

The imposition of stringent security measures at North American airports in recent months, while costly and inconvenient, has doubtless had positive results.

It is also possible that sick and criminal minds were seized for a time with a sort of hijack craze that has now run its course.

Whether one or some of these factors in combination are indeed making the hijacking scourge a thing of the past, its passing won't stir any nostalgic regrets.

Laughing stock

Psychiatrists working in Belfast say that the integrating force of public disorder has done a world of good to the mental health of the province. People with nothing else to do find rioting, murder and the dismembering of neighbors highly recreational — as long as the neighbors belong to another communal group and not to their own.

This is not surprising news. It is said that professional football has kept a number of men of violence from lives of violence off the football field. Presumably therefore we ought all to be grateful that the slum dwellers of Belfast have found what we used to call "integration" when we meant a sense of general well-being.

On the other hand, the psychiatrists are worried that when the happiness of blowing the legs off office girls dining in public restaurants passes away, peace is almost certain to bring a major health problem to Ulster.

This is a fascinating thought. It should teach the rest of the world that things are never what they seem. The rest of the world was under the impression that Ulster already had a serious mental health problem and that people who blew one another up and killed close to 800 other people were somewhat less than stable.

Opinion from the French press

This is a selection of editorials on current topics, translated from the French-language press of Canada.

Ottawa Le Droit: Condemned to life imprisonment for the murder of two game wardens, Jean-Paul Mercier has escaped.

Orthodox members of civil rights leagues and other organizations of a similar nature would be shocked if, recaptured, Mercier was really imprisoned for life. They would say it was inhuman.

None of these orthodox thinkers would be shocked if, in order to escape from the police, Mercier killed one or two of them. On the other hand, there would be cries of indignation if the policemen, during the course of their duties, killed Mercier.

In these circumstances, we understand the uncertainty of Maurice Saint-Pierre, director of the Quebec Provincial Police, concerning the risks his men and all other policemen in Canada are running.

Mercier's escape and that of his companions has finally moved Canada's solicitor-general, Warren Allmand, to order an inquiry into Quebec's penitentiaries.

Like Erik Nielsen, the Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for the Yukon, we would like to see the inquiry include all penal institutions in Canada because escapes are taking place everywhere. It will be excellent to investigate, but it is now and not when the inquiry ends that one must act to prevent further escapes.

We sin against good sense and become dangerously ridiculous when prisoners who are not saints are taken to the Forum for hockey games. We are also criminally ridiculous when a hardened criminal is left at his wife's house without surveillance.

Prisoners must be treated humanely but no humane principles justify offering them hockey games which honest citizens, who barely earn their living to feed their family honorably, cannot even afford. There is no need to hold an inquiry to end such "delicate" treatment.

There is also no need for an inquiry in order to apply full life imprisonment sentences.

No one is ever imprisoned for life. Murderers walk free seven or 10 years after being imprisoned.

We are not asking for the re-establishment of capital punishment; we are only asking that the state and the law protect the honest citizen against murderers.

Mr. Allmand's inquiry is necessary, however, if only to shed light on internal accomplices from whom prisoners want to escape can benefit. At the same time, it may shed light on the drug trafficking which rumors say is carried out by guards. The inquiry must also establish whether the humanitarian measures which prisoners enjoy are overrated. —Marcel Gingras (May 16)

Montreal Le Devoir: In case one did not believe the remarks of Robert Bourassa and Raymond Garneau concerning Quebec's economy, three recent indications show that, if everything is not perfect, there has been at least a clear improvement.

On three different fronts, Quebec has recorded points.

The first improvement has been made on the Canadian bond market. Among the motives for this regained confidence, one must stress the improved state of Quebec's public finances. At the same time that it has avoided increasing taxes, the current government has succeeded in keeping the fluctuations of public borrowing within reasonable limits.

The second improvement is in the sector of unemployment which has been a stumbling block for the Bourassa government since 1970.

When Mr. Bourassa came to power in May, 1970, Quebec's unemployment rate was eight per cent. Now, for the first time in three or four years, unemployment shows a significant decrease. And if the current rate keeps up, we will see in 1973 the biggest increase in employment since 1966.

If employment is doing better, this reflects... another important improvement in the investment sector.

It would be interesting in this regard to proceed with a detailed enumeration of numerous investment projects, both private and public, currently under way in Quebec. In the absence of complete data, let us restrict ourselves to recalling what the last Statistics Canada bulletin said concerning investment prospects for 1973.

One sees, in effect, that the most impressive progress in 1973 will be in the private investments, while public investment is keeping pace.

Quebec is not at the end of its difficulties. But the three indications we have examined leave no doubt that Quebec's economic health is better than at any other time in the last four or five years.

Claude Ryan (May 17). Montreal La Presse: Since 1950, Montreal's population has increased by 46 per cent, the number of cars by 400 per cent. On the other hand, in the corresponding period, the number of passengers using public transport has diminished by 27 per cent. Even with the opening of the subway, the number of persons using public transport has not ceased to diminish.

Urban specialists predict that in 1978, the number of cars will have increased by 26 per cent. They estimate that extension of the subway will bring more cars into town because of the economic rise which results from any improvement or development.

Roads Minister Bernard Poirard has announced that within five years there will be 180 more miles of highway in the Montreal area. This will make the 1.1 million motorists of 1978 very happy.

But all this time, the highways are bringing more and more people into the downtown area. And Montreal will become more and more troubled, not to say congested, by this increasing wave.

As in Ontario and California, the government must help the cities solve their transport problems. It is all very well to construct highways for those who arrive, leave or want to avoid the city. But the citizens must also be able to live. Building highways is useful to some people. But there are others to think of.

One can actually predict that it will eventually take longer to go from downtown Montreal to the airport than to go from Montreal to New York.

But it is just as important, if not more urgent, to transform the mentality of motorists.

It would be a pity if the municipal administration were forced to take radical steps to chase cars out of the city.

But if the welfare of some becomes Public Enemy No. 1 of others, the community must be protected in spite of itself. —Jean-Guy Dubuc (May 22)

Quebec Le Soleil: As well as food prices, gasoline prices will be subjected to inflationary pressures this summer because of the predicted shortage in the United States and the repercussions this will have on Canada.

The federal government is currently studying a program which includes two prices for gasoline and oil in Canada, one for our own internal market and a higher price for export to the United States.

A two-price policy for Canada would give preference to the national market in view of the world shortage and, in effect, impose a tax on exports, most of which are directed to the United States.

The scarcity of gasoline brings to mind the fact that the line currently traced across Canada by the Ottawa River concerning supplies may soon disappear.

Choice is ours

Dear Sir: Changes in the health and welfare services as set up in Bill 65 are taking place in the region.

Included in these changes is the election of a new Board of Directors of the Sherbrooke Hospital. Notices in the press covering the election of two patients or former patients to the Board, state that at least 100 qualified patients and former patients must be present for an election to take place.

Information received from the office of the Executive Director of the Sherbrooke Hospital indicates that if less than 100 electors are present, the Eastern Townships Health and Social Services Regional Council will appoint two directors of their choosing.

As a concerned citizen, I would urge all individuals qualified to vote, to attend the meeting called to elect these directors. This will take place at the Norton Annex, Sherbrooke Hospital, Argyle Street, Sherbrooke, on June 11 at 8 p.m.

Wondrous: is the sight!
Oh, the beauty of that tree
With its blossoms fair

Memory too it brings to me

Who are the real culprits?

To the Editor: Perhaps too much has been voiced, certainly too little has been done to eradicate the loose handling of dangerous criminals and the increase of violence. Perhaps the real culprits are the minds behind the crimes and misguided politicians — more so than the men who pull the trigger.

Former Judge Maurice Mulligan contended the rehabilitation of prisoners has taken precedence over the protection of society. Many voices, including George Street, parole chairman, Peter Reilly, member for Ottawa West, and even Hon. Warren Allmand, Solicitor General, take the soft view. George Street's argument in Weekend Magazine is cohesive, but never does he mention the murderer, who is our worst menace. Some politicians are idealists, some stupid, but along with poverty, passion, prejudice and drugs they play their role in a sad and worsening situation.

Those who condone the pampering of murderers cannot be so naive as to argue the death penalty is no deterrent to murders, nor that vengeance is the objective. It just must be a mistaken sense of values by some representatives of the people.

Surely we have enough members in the legislature with the guts to vote for the restoration of the ultimate penalty. What an amazing contradiction to take a man's life because he kills a policeman but not if he kills another law abiding citizen.

I have human feelings for all mankind. The demented criminal is no exception, but to mollycoddle habitual law breakers borders on the comic; to give leave of absence to the alleged murderer of his former wife enabling him to honeymoon in Spain is pure Gilbert & Sullivan and should be put to music. To murder a taxi driver for $2.50, the murderer knowing he can get away with it, is grimly hilarious.

A law without teeth encourages mass rape, hijacking, extortion, kidnappings, senseless snipings and the arsonists bent on using gasoline causing destruction and multiple deaths.

Rehabilitations — yes, humane treatment — yes, but retain some teeth in the law. Why the insatiable determination to change the time honoured deterrent for the protection of the innocent?

Let the judges and law enforcement personnel pursue their purpose unhampered. They are friends of society.

Some may disagree, but more voters will agree with the death penalty and the reprieve in extenuating circumstances. Executions today are not spectacles as in the past, as some political propagandists like to depict them — merely a quick painless dispatch with only necessary witnesses present and then — no more hockey matches or honeymoons or offspring for the murderer, and less over-population in our penitentiaries.

Death is an ugly prospect for most, but why pity the ruthless killer, the dealer in deaths who at present feels secure in his trade?

Vesco's financial finagling

WASHINGTON — The international financial finagler, Robert Vesco, believes that the way to a politician's heart is through his pocketbook. In both the United States and Costa Rica, he has tried to buy his way into the good graces of Presidents Richard Nixon and Jose Figueres themselves.

The approach was through their families. In the United States Vesco cozied up to the President's wheeling-dealing brother, Donald Nixon, whose son has been sharing the good life with the financier as his personal aide. We have been reporting on the strange relationship between Vesco and the Nixons since February 16, 1972.

To gather the facts and gain access to the President's brother, my associate George Clifford posed as a businessman. He found Donald Nixon an irresponsible operator who talked incessantly about business deals and winked knowingly to emphasize the significance of what he was saying.

A typical remark: "Don't overlook the possibility of trade with China. And with Russia," he said, winking. "There is opportunity there. Someone has to do business with them."

YOUNG DON

Nixon also confided that John Erlichman, the deposed White House aide, talked to Donald Jr. about his job with Vesco. Apparently, the box was something of a disappointment to the family. He had been in the mountains, said the father, associating with hippies.

"That dumb b——," Don Nixon said of his son. "John Erlichman talked to him for a couple of hours and told him he had to behave himself over there (with Vesco). You know, he told him he was the President's nephew and couldn't do anything to embarrass the President."

Just as Vesco sought out Donald Nixon, the financier also zeroed in on President Jose Figueres' family, including his son Marti. A secret CIA report, made available to us, quotes the President's nephew, Fernando Figueres, as saying the family business enterprises were "doing poorly."

"Fernando Figueres, who manages some of the President's businesses, said that he personally has asked to be allowed to resign because of these financial difficulties," notes the CIA. "He commented that all the members of the President's family are deeply concerned with family financial matters and the fact that the President does not seem to be able to administer his business enterprises profitably."

'OBSESSED'

Still another source close to the respected Costa Rican President quoted him as saying "that his financial situation was very bad. (The source) indicated that Figueres seemed obsessed with his financial problems."

The situation was made to order for Vesco, who has been accused by the Securities and Exchange Commission of looting $224 million from his foreign-based investment complex and moving the money to Costa Rica and the Bahamas.

The finagler ingratiated himself with Figueres by helping to solve some of his financial problems. The grateful Figueres wrote to President Nixon last July about the SEC investigation of Vesco, expressing concern that it might jeopardize Costa Rica's development.

Garden of green thumb delights

FLEURIMONT (JD) — It is only appropriate there should be a massive bit of flower power here — the series of greenhouses operated by Art Goodhue.

16,000 square feet under glass and plastic which consume an average of 900 gallons of oil weekly through the most rigorous periods of winter — one example of why pot and bedding plants command the price they receive.

An estimated 350,000 plants pass through the doors annually. "We sell to the consumer — no wholesalers come in to get the pick of the crop, and as we grow all our bedding plants, with the exception of geraniums, from seed — we can ensure our quality. Sure it's a bit riskier in some ways than growing from tubers, but we feel we have the best to offer our clients in the end," Art said.

A SEED-GROWN BEGONIA

"A trial with seedlings from another grower proved our theory — we had nothing but troubles. When we plant individual seeds in individual pots we have all factors under control. Sterilized soil ensures no weeds nor harmful earth bacteria will impede growing."

This is a far cry from the first greenhouse on the farm Art was born on in 1910. "It was 21 by 44 feet 27 years ago and so low I had to crawl in and out of it."

The seas of blossoms and buds are beyond description. The aroma is heady enough to send a flock of bees soaring into ecstasy.

"We start our begonias from seed in November — it has become a year round business. Quite frankly we couldn't have achieved the level of quality if I didn't have devoted and diligent help."

Mr. Goodhue also preaches the virtues of trees, shrubs, grass and flowering plants as effective environmental controls.

"Green survival is the nomenclature. Few persons are aware of the roles trees, for instance, play in our daily lives. They use up carbon dioxide in a process called photosynthesis and produce 30 per cent of the oxygen in the air. They diminish noise pollution along highways, can screen undesirable sights such as junk yards and filter dust and dirt from the air."

"They provide shade during the heat of summer, yet shed their leaves during the fall permitting direct sunlight in the winter, and provide shelter and food for many birds and wild life."

"Herbage has always been a part of my life, other than during the six years I spent in the forces during World War II," Art said. "As a matter of fact I developed and built all this with Veterans Land Act grants."

When asked the secret of good growth he retorted, "You've got to have two thumbs, one green, the other dirty. If you don't love flowers or plants you'll have trouble growing them. The dirty one is the one you use to plant and nurture them with."

Carson not always happy-go-lucky

By JAY SHARBUTT

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Carson, whose business it is to make people laugh, didn't appear happy at all. It was 2:30 p.m. and he had less than two hours to finish writing the night's monologue.

Shortly after 5:30 p.m., when NBC starts taping the Tonight Show in New York, he'd be in a studio starting that monologue and hoping the audience would laugh.

The writers with whom he collaborates on the show belong to the Writers' Guild. The guild was on strike and so were they. And Carson had become the star scribbler as well as the star.

He sat behind the desk, jotting down ideas for the monologue. He looked as carefree as a hungover reporter told to analyse the new city budget 10 minutes before deadline.

It appeared a bad time for an interview. He was polite, but wasted no words. During pauses in questions, one got the feeling a gnome was going to pop up with a sign that said, "What next, dummy?"

DISLIKES INTERVIEWS

Two nights earlier on the show, Carson had mentioned that being interviewed always made him vaguely uneasy. He was asked about this later.

"I guess it's because often the things you say wind up out of context," he said. "I think sometimes it's because of the concept the writer has of you and I can understand that."

"Sometimes the guy is trying to get a rise out of you, and I do that myself now and then on the show."

The show, of which Carson has been host since October, 1962, left New York for "beautiful downtown Burbank," California, in May last year. It was making a three-week return visit here when he was interviewed.

Why did he move the show to California?

"Well, 17 years ago there was quite a bit of entertainment coming out of New York," he said. "You had the Sullivan show, Garry Moore was on, there were a lot of variety shows."

"There was a certain excitement here, but then it started dwindling and everything started moving out to the coast. I just thought it was time to move there."

FEELS STRAIN

The 47-year-old performer, who often is kidded about his frequent vacations from the Tonight Show, estimates he did nearly 170 of the shows last year.

Checks slip-up

BEND, Ore. (AP) — Realtor Frank Taylor received a cheque for $900,000 from the First National Bank of Oregon.

"After I stopped laughing, I wondered what I should do with it," Taylor said. He decid to check up on the cheque.

A bank official told him a machine goofed in the process of making out a 59-cent refund, owed to Taylor on an insurance policy. The bank asked him to return the cheque.

"That's what I'm going to do," Taylor shrugged. "I don't know what else to do with it."

HAVE WE GOT FLOWERS — The hanging Gardens of Babyion had little on the selection of floral baskets shown here.

Approximately ten junior members took part in a very nice ceremony honoring the Past Noble Grands.

Sister Betty Pow reported having sent Sister Hazel Cunningham a get-well card signed by all the members. Several Sisters reported having visited with Sister Hazel by phone as she is now at home and feeling much better. Sister Betty also reported that Brother Darrah of Restoration Lodge is in the Montreal General Hospital where he has had eye surgery.

Under communications, a letter was read concerning an insurance policy for Oddfellows and Rebekahs. This insurance is a $1000. (one thousand dollar) accidental Life or dismemberment policy. Any member who is interested can get an application form from the Recording secretary.

Farewell tea party

Mrs. Gordon Statton, who is leaving shortly to make her home in New Zealand, was the guest of honor at a salad tea at the home of Mrs. Harriet Morrill on Wednesday afternoon. Some twenty five friends were assembled there for an afternoon of pleasant social chatter — at which time Mrs. Statton was presented with a gift from them, along with best wishes for a safe voyage and a happy future in her new home.

Mrs. Statton, deeply touched by these gestures, thanked them for their thoughtfulness and assured them that they would all be often in her thoughts. All enjoyed the delicious salad tea served by the hostesses, Mrs. Morrill and Mrs. Nellie Lockwood.

Goodin-Walker marriage solemnized

A very pretty Easter wedding took place on Saturday, April 21, at 11 a.m. in St. Alban's Anglican Church, Scotstown. Nancy Jane Lise, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mick Goodin of Scotstown became the bride of Floyd William Walker, only son of Mrs. Ethel Walker of Lennoxville. The Rev. Maxwell C.M. Jones officiated at the double-ring ceremony, assisted by Rev. Ronald Smith.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Fashioned by Madame Paul, her dress was a replica of the Victorian gown of Mrs. Ed McCrum, the late maternal grandmother of the bride. Made of sheer shantung, the skirt, in three tiers of ruffle, fell in a long train. The high-necked yoke was hand-stitched with lace insertions. A ruffle accentuated the yoke and full sleeves which were gathered in a band of lace at the wrist. Her waist-length veil descended from a white shantung and lace pillbox. She carried a very quaint bouquet of mixed flowers.

The maid of honour, Miss Gail Tinker, wore a white blouse of swiss eyelet, with full sleeves. A ruffle trimmed the yoke and high neckline. The floor-length satin skirt, a deep purple colour, had a wide sash, tied in a bow in the back. The fitted line of the skirt fell into a wide flowing ruffle.

The bridesmaids, Miss Helen Walker and Mrs. Peter Goodin, wore the same Victorian style, with white blouses and deep pink satin skirts. The maid-of-honor carried a basket of deep pink carnations and daisies while the bridesmaids carried baskets of deep purple carnations and daisies. Their headpieces were of white veiling held in place by a satin chou in the colour of their skirts.

Mr. Peter Ives, friend of the groom, was best man. Cpl. Larry Goodin, brother of the bride, and Mr. Tony Hough, friend of the groom, were the ushers.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Goodin, was in a royal blue floor-length dress, trimmed with white. Her corsage was of pink roses. The groom's mother, Mrs. Walker, chose a brown floor-length gown with a corsage of yellow carnations.

Mrs. Mildred Goodin, paternal grandmother of the bride, was in a printed blue and white floor-length dress with a yellow corsage of carnations.

Mr. Henry Moulard, the soloist, accompanied by the organist, Mrs. Maurice Auray, sang "Eternally Yours" as the bride awaited the Wedding March. During the signing of the register, Mr. Moulard sang "Love Me Tender." Baskets of tulips, irises, and daffodils decorated the front of the church. White roses with satin bows marked the pews.

A dinner reception was held in the Champlain Room, of the East Angus Hotel. Mr. Peter Goodin, brother of the bride, acted as Master of Ceremonies. Taped music was played during the dinner and for dancing later. Miss Cindy Auray was in charge of the guest book.

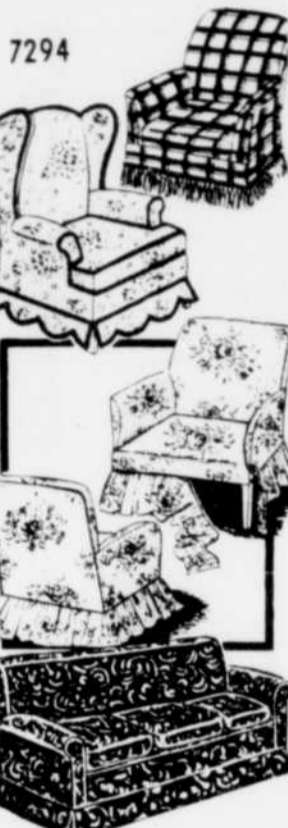

The happy couple left on a short trip. Mrs. Walker travelling in a grey suit, with a boutonniere of red cherries.

Guests attended from Toronto, Windsor, and Ottawa, Ont., Hingham, Mass., Montreal, Cowansville, and Manitoba.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Goodin, the night prior to the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Walker are now residing in Thompson, Manitoba.

After drawing trumps he should have cashed the king and ace of diamonds. He would have dropped East's queen and been home with game and rubber.

Would he have looked silly if West held the diamond queen? Not at all. He would simply have led a third diamond and discarded his deuce of clubs. West would have been caught in an end play.

Suppose East held three diamonds to the queen? South could ruff, enter dummy with a trump, lead the three of clubs and duck completely. West would still have been end-played.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

By Oswald & James Jacoby

"Finesses, finesses, finesses," shrieked South. "Lucky players never lose one. I had to lose three out of three."

His king of hearts had lost to East's ace at trick one. East had led the suit back and after trumping the third heart South had played two rounds of trumps. He then lost a club finesse to West's king. A club came back and South finally tried a diamond finesse to wind up down two.

We agree that with all finesses right South would have made six. We also know that if he felt impelled to take every finesse he should have taken the diamond finesse first. That way he could have finally discarded a club on the ace of dia-

BROOKBURY - The May meeting of the Brookbury W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Rufus Stevenson on the regular date.

The meeting opened in the usual manner with the Opening Ode, the Creed and the Salute to the Flag.

The Roll Call - Bring Slips or Plants for Sale - was answered by 12 members. Two visitors were welcomed at this meeting.

Our President, Mrs. Ralph Coleman, in a few well-chosen words, congratulated three of our W.I. members, Mrs. R. Stevenson, Mrs. Flora McIntyre and Mrs. Donald Clark who have been elected as President, Secretary and Treasurer respectively of the Compton County Institute for the next term. Our members are highly honoured to have three of our Brookbury W.I. Women as County Officers.

The treasurer, Mrs. Sterling Batley, gave her report showing very satisfactory results from the Food Sale held on April 25 and Card Party in the Bury Town Hall held on May 2nd. Several donations were received from members who could not attend either the Food Sale or Card Party.

A motion was made that all bills be paid.

The correspondence was read by the Secretary. Letters of thanks for flowers and cards of sympathy, also a letter concerning Educational Services being offered to adults at the Eastern Townships Regional School Board.

Mrs. O. Lowe, the Secretary, read a well prepared and detailed report of the Annual County W.I. meeting held at East Angus on April 30, which many of our members attended.

Donations of $1.00 per member were handed in to be sent to the County W.I. for the Bursary Fund.

Some discussion took place about the proposed trip by the county W.I. to Steinberg's to see the special demonstration given on meat cutting to those who wished to go. It was decided by our members that fall would be a better time to go, so this information is to be forwarded to the County members who were organizing the trip.

Plans were made to give a shower to a bride-to-be on June 2nd at our hall in Brookbury at 2 p.m.

Our next meeting will be held on June 7 at the Hall and we are planning to invite the Canterbury, East Angus and Scotstown W.I. members to be our guests at this meeting. A report is to be given of the Annual Convention at Macdonald College. Mrs. Flora McIntyre offered to prepare the rest of the program for that meeting.

A letter of thanks was voted to be sent to a lady in Bury for a box of good used clothing she had given to our W.I.

The meeting was adjourned and delicious refreshments served by the hostess, Mrs. Stevenson.

Slips which had been brought by members were sold adding a small sum to our treasury.

SCOTSTOWN - Mrs. F.B. Mayhew was hostess at her home for the May meeting of the Women's Institute on Monday evening, May 7, with seven members present.

The president opened the meeting with the Collect and Ode. Mrs. Mayhew read the minutes of the March meeting as there was no meeting held in April. The roll call was answered by giving a gardening hint. Treasurer's report showed that talent money and a donation of money had been received from Mrs. Philip Boy, a member now residing in Kingston. Ont. Mrs. Ladd had held three more classes for the Guides, who were learning embroidery stitches.

Letters were read from The Sherbrooke Hospital, reply from Champlain Regional College, Save the Children and an invitation from a sister branch to attend their June meeting.

A donation was voted to the Sherbrooke Hospital Campaign and also money for public speaking and pins for pupils at the Pope Memorial School in Bury. Five ditty bags would be packed. Material for making the bags would be given by Mrs. Woolley and made by Mrs. F.B. Mayhew.

Articles read by the different convenors were on Blood Tests in Cancer from the Reader's Digest, Clipping on French and English taught in schools, on Plastic people and ways of improving pot roasts with soup.

Plans were made to invite the members of the Canterbury ladies and the ladies in town to a social evening and hobby show in the United Church Hall on May 28 at 8 p.m. There will also be a guest speaker who will speak on coloured glass.

The copies of the Federated news were given out, also some copies of Contact.

Mrs. Bea Atkin gave the report of the County Annual meeting and Mrs. Ladd also added a few highlights. All were pleased that Mrs. Dewar Scott won first prize at the county meeting on her pillowcases. She also has entered articles for the J. & P. Coats Competition. Mrs. F.B. Mayhew donated a hand woven apron for the donation for the F.W.I.C. Convention in Banff.

The members present handed in their talent money and Mrs. Ladd held a seed guessing contest. Meeting adjourned and Mrs. Fred Buck assisted Mrs. Mayhew in serving refreshments at the dining room table.

SUTTON - The regular meeting of the Sutton Women's Institute was held in Grace Church Parish Hall, Thursday afternoon, May 10 with Mrs. L. Breesee, Mrs. L. Cooke and Mrs. G. Mandigo as co-hostesses; in the absence of Mrs. Mandigo.

The roll call was What are you planting in your garden. The motto for the month was You cannot teach a man anything, you only help him find it for himself.

The program was exchange of seeds, plants, slips and bulbs. The minutes were read and accepted.

Mrs. Mudgett gave the report of the dinner finance for the County Convention. The president thanked all who worked on committee, furnished food and gave donations.

Correspondence was a nice thank you note from Mr. and Mrs. Sweet for the nice piece of anniversary cake sent to them. Mr. and Mrs. Sweet will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary in June. Congratulations.

Convenors were Agriculture -

Mrs. Lahue read an article on wild rice.

All were sorry to hear that Miss Ellen Thompson was undergoing surgery that day and a Get Well card was signed by all to send to her. Flowers will also be sent to her in hospital. Birthday greetings were sung to Mrs. Slinger who paid into the birthday box. It was moved and seconded that $10.00 be put in the Library Fund, this was money received from a quilt sale. Once again, flowers will be planted in front of the Town Hall and in the planter near the Post Office Parking Lot.

The treasurer reported a balance of $213.87 in the bank, also that Sutton won second prize in the rug contest. As this branch celebrates its 50th anniversary in October members were asked to bring to the June meeting suggestions on how they will celebrate.

They are to have pen pals from a B.C. Branch.

Three members paid dues.

Mrs. Buche won the surprise parcel. The report of the convention held in Sutton, May 3, was given by Mrs. Buche and Mrs. Knights. Much credit was given these ladies for the wonderful and interesting report. There are 107 members in the Brome County Women's Institute.

All were pleased to note that Brome fair will continue for several years although several of the smaller ones are being closed.

The semi-annual convention will be held at the same place in Sutton, September 20, 1973, at 1 p.m.

The fall contest is to be an article of needlepoint done in wool. Maple sugar cakes are being sent to Macdonald College for the convention being held in Banff.

The meeting was adjourned and a sing-song of several old pieces was enjoyed with Mrs. Fred Knights at the piano, after which a delicious lunch was served by the hostesses. The hall was decorated with baskets of apple blossoms and small vases of the same flowers on each table. The hostesses were thanked by each member.

Obituaries

PERCY L. MOSHER of Ayer's Cliff

At the home of his daughter in Magog, after only a brief illness, Mr. Percy Leander Mosher passed peacefully away on April 30, 1973.

The deceased was the fourth son of John and Mary Mosher. He was born in Ayer's Cliff, 94 years ago, April 26, 1879.

Percy Mosher had lived in and around Ayer's Cliff most of his life. Nine years ago, he suffered a severe heart attack and shortly after he came to Magog to make his home with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell.

He was married in 1905 to Julia B. Rollins who predeceased him 33 years ago. They had ten children, eight of whom survive him: Myrtle (Mrs. Sam Morse) of Hatley, Gerald of Stanstead, Alice (Mrs. John Campbell) of Magog, Eula (Mrs. Allan Wright) of Lennoxville, Burton of Coaticook, Lylah (Mrs. Robert Burns) of North Bay, Ont., Ernest of Toronto and Vivian (Mrs. Al Jamieson) of Willowdale, Ont. He also leaves one brother, Mr. Albert Mosher of Ayer's Cliff and one sister, Mrs. Roy Eryou of Beebe, besides many grandchildren, great-grandchildren, nieces and nephews.

The large number of friends and relatives who gathered at the United Church in Ayer's Cliff to pay their last tribute showed the esteem felt by all.

The service was conducted by Rev. Close of Magog. Mrs. Jessie Pierce sang two of his favourite hymns, Jesus Saviour Pilot Me and Safe in the Arms of Jesus. Rock of Ages was sung by the congregation.

The bearers were Lysie Thompson, Cecil Tyler, Nelson Pierce, Stanley Cooper, Stewart Cass and Algernon Piercy.

Interment was in the family lot at Ayer's Cliff.

ALBERT PROCTOR of Mystic

The death occurred at the Lagace Hospital, Bedford, on April 19, 1973, of Albert Proctor of Mystic, in his 64th year, after a long illness, having suffered a stroke nine years ago, which left him partially paralyzed and handicapped.

Albert Proctor was the youngest child of the late George Proctor and his wife Olchie Pharo.

He was first employed as a plumber, working for the late Guilan Casey of Bedford, and later for the late Cyril Chrysler of Riceburg. Later he was employed at the Torrington Co. at Bedford, as a machinist, where he remained for 33 years.

On December 24, 1931, he was married to Hilda May Boomhower, eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Boomhower of Stanbridge East. Of this union were born three children, one daughter, Joyce (Mrs. James Smith) and one son, Carl, and one son who died in infancy. He is also survived by one brother, George Proctor, of Mystic, and one sister, Pearl (Mrs. Richard Smith) of Bedford. One sister, Freda (Mrs. Harry Black) of Bedford, predeceased him.

The funeral was held at the Mystic United Church, with the pastor, Rev. Keith Eddy officiating, and interment in the Mystic Cemetery.

LAWRENCE (JOE) REVER of Tomfobia

After finishing school he entered the employ of the Butterfield Plant at Rock Island where he remained for 25 years. In 1943, he purchased a farm at Macks Mills, near Tomfobia where the family have since resided.

In 1930, Mr. Rever was united in marriage to Mildred Brown and for several years they resided in Rock Island. His cheerful disposition made him popular with all who knew him.

The funeral was held from the Cass Funeral Home, across the street to the Christ Anglican church, Stanstead, for the service at 2:00 o'clock on April 25.

Rev. Ronald Smith, pastor of St. Andrew's church officiated. Mrs. Alfred Middleton played the organ. Two favorite hymns were sung, Rock of Ages and I know that My Redeemer Liveth.

WI-UCW meetings in the Townships

SOUTH BOLTON — The monthly meeting of the South Bolton Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Harold Needham, with eight members and four visitors present.

The President, Mrs. Iva Wightman called the meeting to order with all repeating the Collect Roll Call. Tell an old farm custom now out-dated. Correspondence read and discussed by the secretary and treasurer Mrs. Beatrice Burbank, who was voted in to that office at this meeting. Plans for cleaning the W.I. Hall was discussed. An Agriculture Contest was held by the Convenor Mrs. Harold Needham, Mrs. Burbank, being the winner. Articles shown, to be entered into competition at the County Convention. Birthday cards signed for members and get-well cards for the sick and shut-ins.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. Needham and a social hour enjoyed by all. June meeting will be held in the W.I. Hall.

SOCIAL NOTES

Recently one of our senior citizens, Mrs. Ethel Coates, enjoyed two hours of fishing from a boat at Lake O'Mally, baiting her own hook. She was quite lucky in catching some nice trout.

Mrs. Bruce Fowler, Prescott, Ont., spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Willey. Other recent callers and dinner guests on Sunday were Mr. Bruce Fowler, Mr. and Mrs. David Fowler and son Davy, Prescott, Ont., Miss Therza Dufresne, Mr. David McKinnon, Montreal, and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Willey, Waterloo.

Mrs. Willis Willey and daughter, Miss Lorna Willey, were in Magog on Friday to visit an eye specialist.

Several members of the South Bolton Women's Institute attended the Women's Institute Annual County Convention in Sutton on May 3.

WATERLOO-WARDEN — The Waterloo-Warden Women's Institute members met on May 2, at the home of the Secretary, Mrs. C. Thompson, with President, Mrs. L. Maynes, welcoming the members and two visitors, then led in the singing of the Ode and the recitation of the Collect. In answering the Roll Call members named their favourite use of herbs; most of the members picked up useful seasoning hints to try out when preparing meals.

Mrs. Thompson read the minutes of the April meeting; correspondence included an invitation from the Granby West W.I. to attend the Semi-annual County Meeting being held in Granby, May 15. Eight members are planning to attend.

Mrs. M. Sicard, Treasurer, presented the financial report.

Arrangements were made to forward to the Q.W.I. Annual Convention, for judging and display, items made by members to be entered in the J.P. Coats embroidery competition and the Q.W.I. handicrafts competition.

The Care package, donated by Mrs. Shirley Sicard, was won by a guest, Miss C. Mountford.

Gifts for the F.W.I.C. Convention, to be held this year in Banff, Alta., were handed in by Miss Ashton. A brief discussion followed on the plans for an evening of entertainment to be held on June 21, slides of France, Spain and Italy will be shown.

Miss A. Ashton, Education convenor, read an article on the Seminar, held recently at Bromont, by the District of Bedford Association for the Mentally Retarded.

Mrs. G. George, Citizenship convenor, read an article entitled The Great Outdoors Boom goes on and an item on the cost, in the Province of Quebec, of licenses for camping vehicles. Both of these reports are of more-than-passing interest to families interested in touring and camping, in this province particularly.

Mrs. W. Copping, Publicity convenor, advised the members that the Shefford County Branches will be allotted space in the July edition of the Macdonald Journal to tell of their activities. A subject has been chosen, and the article will be written by Mrs. Copping and forwarded to our Provincial Publicity convenor in time to meet the deadline.

Mrs. A. Bazinet, Agriculture, held two contests, one of which was to identify twelve displayed samples of herbs and spices, this was more difficult than it appeared, nevertheless, several of the group won prizes. Mrs. Bazinet then handed out copies of a very attractive booklet, entitled The Canadian Spice Manual and Cookbook. She then conducted a sale of plants, bulbs and seeds brought in by the members.

Mrs. Maynes gave each member a copy of an article which told of the origin of the prayer which is repeated at all of our meetings, and known to so many club women as the Mary Stewart Collect. This reading is of especial interest to newer members.

Mrs. Maynes thanked Mrs.

Thompson for her hospitality, and the hostesses, Mrs. A. Bazinet, Mrs. R. Benoit and Mrs. Maynes then served refreshments, which brought to an end another most enjoyable meeting. The June meeting will be held at the home of Miss A. Ashton on June 6.

Bid to oust Loyola fails

TRIOIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP) — An attempt to expel Loyola College of Montreal from the Quebec University Athletic Association (QUAA) failed at the QUAA's general assembly, which ended Thursday.

The motion to get rid of the institution did not get the necessary two-thirds majority.

Several French-language schools have criticized Loyola for its recruiting policies, particularly in basketball. This season, three institutions—Laval University of Quebec City, University of Sherbrooke and University of Quebec-Montreal—refused to play Loyola in basketball. The main reason cited was the fact Loyola had 11 Americans on its 12-man basketball roster.

A proposal to limit the number of non-Canadians on a basketball team also was defeated. Bruce Coulter, athletic director at Bishop's University, said last month he would make a motion that would limit the number of non-Canadians per team to five in 1973-74, four the next year and three by 1975-76 and thereafter.

SERIES CHOSEN

The QUAA will start its hockey season Nov. 2 and, for the first time, the hockey final will be a best two-of-three. In the past, a sudden-death game decided the championship.

Andre Huneault of University of Montreal was re-elected for a second term as president.

The separate men's and women's technical committees have been replaced by a five-member technical committee.

The QUAA also plans to hire a commissioner to enforce the rules of the association. The commissioner will be chosen from outside the circles of institution members.

Harness track opens Sunday

SHERBROOKE (GH) — Rapid repairs and renovations have been made to the stable area, grandstand and racing surface of Exhibition Park here to prepare for its opening day, May 27.

The directing officers are Dr. Lucien Bachand, president, from Asbestos; Maurice Proteau, vice-president, from Knowlton; Andre Charpentier, secretary-treasurer, from Sherbrooke; and Yvon Allan, director, from Levis, Que., are the controlling shareholders of the track, which has been under new ownership for three weeks.

Gabe Trahan came from Toronto to assume the role of general manager. Mr. Trahan had previously held the title of Director of all Judges and had earlier been the Supervisor of Harness Racing for Canada.

"It is no secret that it was a poorly run establishment before," he said, "it will be an interesting challenge to bring the track up to where it should be."

Mr. Trahan said the track will develop as fast as it can, according to its needs. The laying of a new stone-dust surface got under way last week. Repairs on public facilities and stable grounds have been in operation for two weeks.

The president and vice-president of the Canadian Trotting Association (CTA), along with the president of the United Horsemen Association (UHHA) and Loto-Perfecta representatives will be on hand for the opening Sunday's field will offer two special races at the open-house meeting presented by the CTA and UHHA.

The scale of purses will double last year's. Loto-Perfecta will hold a stake race at the park with a purse of $19,000 this year.

Mr. Trahan said most, if not all of the 250 stables on the grounds are expected to be filled. Horses will arrive this year from Richelieu Park in Montreal, Granby, Drummondville and St. Hyacinthe. As in the past, races will be run Tuesday and Thursday nights and Sunday afternoons.

Mr. Trahan trained and drove his own horses for 15 years. He won his first purse here, and continued racing at the park for two years.

He said his work in Toronto kept him travelling or in the office much of the time. Here, he feels he will be directly involved with the track and will be able to establish personal contacts with the horsemen, some of whom he knows from his earlier days. He is glad to be here, he said. Many of his relatives live within 100 miles of Sherbrooke.

On opening day he will lead a parade around the track in a sulky that dates back to 1892. It has huge wheels with wooden spokes and hubs and rubber tires.

Wilbur Wood spins eleventh mound win

"He's just Wilbur Wonderful!" says Chuck Tanner. He's really Wilbur Wood, but you can pardon the Chicago White Sox manager for speaking in superlatives. Chicago's star pitcher had just won his 11th game, tops in the majors, with a 4-1 decision over California Angels Thursday.

"My knuckler was real good," said Wood, celebrating with a cigar. "I don't know why, but it wasn't breaking too sharply and was around the plate all the time."

Because of his fabulous start, an 11-3 record and 10 victories in the last 11 games, Wood was naturally asked about a possible 30-victory year, or even 40, for that matter.

"No comment," he said. "My goal now is the next game—No. 12."

In the other American League games, Boston Red Sox walloped Milwaukee Brewers 10-1, Detroit Tigers blanked New York Yankees 4-0 and Minnesota Twins trimmed Kansas City Royals 2-0. Ryan postponed a doubleheader between Baltimore Orioles and Cleveland Indians.

METS IN MARATHON

In the National League, Atlanta Braves turned back San Francisco Giants 2-1 and New York Mets stopped Los Angeles Dodgers 7-3 in 19 innings.

Detroit entertains Oakland tonight in American League action while Texas visits New York, Kansas City is at Minnesota, California in Milwaukee and Cleveland at Chicago.

Six National League games are on tap with Houston Astros at Pittsburgh Pirates, Chicago Cubs at Cincinnati Reds, Atlanta at St. Louis Cardinals, Philadelphia Phillies visiting San Diego Padres, New York at Los Angeles and the Giants entertaining Montreal Expos.

FREE TICKETS TO PIRATES — The Union of Caisse Populaires for the Sherbrooke region announced a twofold promotion with the Sherbrooke Pirates yesterday. ## Bucs rebound with 10-7 win

THREE RIVERS (CC) — The roles were reversed last night as Sherbrooke Pirates faced Three Rivers Eagles.

Wednesday evening, the Eagles pushed Sherbrooke out of first place as they capitalized on Sherbrooke's six errors to come out 7-4 winners.

However, Sherbrooke bounced Three Rivers into second place and jumped back into first last night in the river city as they capitalized on Three Rivers' errors to come out ahead 10-7. The baby Bucs pushed across three runs in the top of the ninth inning to break a 7-7 tie and provide the margin of victory. Two of the runs came home as a result of two Eagle errors.

But the big story of the night was the Pirates six-run outburst in the eighth inning. Three Rivers carried a 6-1 lead into the inning and appeared to be on their way to their second consecutive win over Sherbrooke.

But Ken Macha singled and Dave Arrington cracked a homer to cut the margin to three runs and pinch hitter John Vance cut it to two with a run-scoring single. The key blow of the inning, however, came from Tony Armas who continued his hitting streak with his fifth homer of the year bringing in three runs.

The Eagles scored once in the eighth only to have the Pirates come back with their rally in the ninth. Three Rivers built up a 3-0 edge in the first inning with the help of Rusty Wards two-run double. Ward also cracked another two-run two-bagger in the fifth when the Eagles added another pair of runs off Bud Witleyman. Kent Tekulve picked up the win for the baby Bucs.

In other Eastern League action last night Quebec took both ends of a double header from Bristol Red Sox winning the first game 2-1 and the second 6-2. Pittsfield Rangers handed Waterbury Dodgers their fourth straight loss 8-7. The West Haven Reading game was postponed.

The Pirates are at home tonight to face Quebec Carnivals at Amedee Roy Stadium. More than 4,000 fans are expected to be on hand for the game which starts at 8 p.m. as the evening is being sponsored by the Union of Caisse Populaires in the Sherbrooke region. At a press conference yesterday afternoon the Caisse Populaires management announced a two-fold project. Tonight the Caisse Populaires in the region are giving away tickets. Free tickets can be picked up at any of the 83 Caisse Populaires in the region. You don't even have to be a member to get a free ticket. The second part of the project is season "passports" to all Pirates home games between Monday and Friday (included) for children under the age of 16. Buttons which allow children to enter the home games are available free from any Caisse Populaire in the region. The Caisse Populaire has

F & G club to assist water research group

STANSTEAD (Special) — The Stanstead County Fish and Game Club have received a communique from The McGill Water Research Group asking for assistance to perch anglers.

During 1973, they shall be continuing their research on the responses of animal and plant life to the addition of nutrients at Newport and other sources. The object is to determine the effects of those and other influences on the quality and quantity of life in Lake Memphremagog. To this end, they will continue investigation of the abundance, types and growth rates of algae, insects and fish in various areas of the lake.

As a new project in 1973, they wish to investigate movements of the yellow perch. They will be capturing, tagging and releasing approximately 1000 perch this season and would greatly appreciate angler assistance in returning the tags. These tags are red nylon streamers placed in the back fin of the fish with an address and number printed on each streamer.

They would like to receive the following information with each streamer: (a) date and hour of capture, (b) location of capture on the lake and depth (c) your name and mailing address. They will send fifty cents for each tag returned to Department of Biology, Memphremagog Project, McGill University, Montreal.

Details of the time and place of tagging and release will be sent with the reward. As in 1972, they will be placing small buoys on the lake to mark samplings stations. These will be clearly marked as property of McGill Water Research Group and they would appreciate cooperation in leaving them as placed.

Everything that's happened in outboards in the last ten years, has happened right here.

LOOP-CHARGED CYLINDERS
 Evinrude's loop-charged cylinder design develops more horsepower from less fuel. This system allows the engine to run cooler at higher rpm's, generating even more power.

PRESSURE-BACKED PISTON RINGS
 Increases engine life and improves fuel economy. The higher the combustion power, the tighter the piston ring seals the combustion chamber. When the pressure reduces, the ring relaxes, minimizing friction.

NEW FIXED IDLE JETS FOR SMOOTHER IDLING AND TROLLING

NEW SUPER-STRONG TRANSOM BRACKET WITH PRE-SET TILT LOCK

PULSE-TUNED EXHAUST
 Gives you more power on less fuel without additional engine size. Evinrude's sophisticated double-tuned exhaust system uses the exhaust pressure pulse of one cylinder to tune the other. The fuel-air mixture is cleaner, more powerful.

EVINRUDE 65

FIREPOWER ELECTRONIC CD IGNITION
 Quickest, surest starting there is. Delivers up to 40,000 volts to the spark plug — 250 times faster at the firing gap. Longer plug life. No points to adjust. Smoother idling for trolling and running.

POLLUTION CONTROL ENGINEERING
 We're working to keep our waters clean. So every '73 Evinrude is drainless. All fuel is recycled into additional power.

COMPUTER-SELECTED LOWER UNIT
 Out of millions of alternatives, Evinrude's engineers, with the help of a computer — selected the most efficient combination of underwater shape, gear ratio and propeller design power-matched for each outboard in the line.

Every major advance made in outboard motor engineering in the last ten years has been pioneered by Evinrude. And we've packed them all into our 1973 Evinrude loop-charged 65 and 50 hp models. The result is compact outboards for unbeatable performance in their class, and matchless reliability for you.
