REPLY OF TURKS CAUSES GRAVE APPREHENSION

Large Forces Of British Infantry Have Been Landed

Large Forces Of British Troops Arriving Daily

Soldiers Arriving to Reinforce the Lines on Asiatic Side of Bosphorus, Which the British Will Defend in Event the Turkish Nationalist Army at Ismid Begins a Movement Toward Constantinople—Situation Between Mustafa Kemal and the British Forces Was Extremely Tense Last Night, the Note from the Former Being Considered as Closing the Door to a Pacific Settlement of the Straits Question.

(Associated Press Despatch)

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 30.—Large forces of British infantry have been landed here from the trans-Atlantic liner, Glengorm Castle. These soldiers are to reinforce the lines on the Asiatic side of the Bosphorus, which the British will defend in the event the Turkish Nationalist army at Ismid begins a movement towards Constantinople. The Kemalists army is understood to consist of two divisions.

When the Glengorm Castle entered the Golden Horn and the masses of infantrymen became visible from the city, the immense gatherings of Greeks and Armenians seeking visas outside the inter-Allied passport bureaux quickly melted away. The expression was heard: "We won't bother with passports now. The British are sending ships and troops."

The arrival of these several thousand additional British troops has encouraged the Greeks and the Armenians here to discard their Turkish fezes and resume conventional western headgear. At the beginning of the present crisis every Greek and Armenian provided himself with a fez which he wore continuously until he thought the danger of Turkish occupation was past. British airplanes flew over the capital today causing a flurry of excitement in Stamboul. The aerial manoeuvres gave the populace another evidence of Great Britain's preparations to meet eventualities.

The continued arrival of British war units has lessened the danger of an uprising within the city and checked the panicky flight of Christians to neighboring countries.

DEBATING TERMS OF ANGORA GOVERNMENT'S REPLY

(Associated Press Despatch)

ANGORA, Sept. 30.—The National Assembly is debating terms of the Angora Government's reply to the Allied peace proposals. The reply is expected to be ready for transmission to the Allies by the middle of next week.

GENERAL IMPRESSION IS THAT ALMOST A MIRACLE WILL BE NEEDED TO AVERT WAR BETWEEN BRITAIN AND TURKS

LONDON, Sept. 30.—The grave and despondent view held in official quarters here regarding the prospects of averting a war with the Turks is shared in Allied military circles in Constantinople, according to despatches from the Eastern Capital to the Associated Press.

Mustapha Kemal Pasha's requirement that the British withdraw their troops from Asia Minor as a condition precedent to a limited retreat of the Ottoman forces from the neutral zone of the Straits is looked upon by local military opinion as closing the door to pacific settlement of the present dispute.

Whether this is the final view of the responsible military heads does not appear. Huge responsibility rests with the latter and their political colleagues. How and when the attempt to enforce the Government's demand for the withdrawal of the Kemalists is to be made now rests with Brigadier-General Sir Charles Harrington and Vice-Admiral Sir Osmond Brock, command forces in the Near East, and Sir Horace Rumbold, British High Commissioner in Constantinople. Their decision is awaited with profound suspense.

PLASTERERS IN CHICAGO GET HIGH WAGES

Downtrodden Union Plasterer Receives Twenty-Six Dollars Per Day.

(Associated Press Despatch)

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—Consider the poor, down-trodden union plasterer of Chicago, who rides to and from his work in a limousine, works short hours and gets only $26 a day during the week and $32 a day for four hours on Saturday and Sunday.

Terman H. Hottler, lumber dealer, and president of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association, told about it today at the noon day luncheon of the executive club. He said one contractor, who, with his associates, controls practically 100 per cent. of the plastering jobs in the city, said he paid his plasterers two dollars an hour and a ten-dollar-a-day bonus for working on his jobs. This makes twenty-six dollars a day for the union plasterer. The unions control the journeymen plasterers and their helpers, so there is no chance for a break in the labor market.

SCHOONER DESTROYED BY FIRE AT SEA

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—News of the destruction by fire at sea of the schooner Madeline Constance, of St. John's, Nfld., was received in a wireless message to the naval communication offices from the SS. Mauretania last night. The members of the crew were saved.

"All the lessons taught by one diplomat after another about the way to deal with the Turks have been ignored as though they did not exist," it says. "Lloyd George has turned our foreign policy inside out and made a mess of it." Such extracts might be multiplied indefinitely from the London and labor newspapers.

FIRE CLAIMED SEVEN VICTIMS AT NEW YORK

Many Others Injured—Dozens Saved in Thrilling Rescues by Firemen and Volunteers.

(Associated Press Despatch)

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Seven persons lost their lives in a fire which early today swept through a five-story apartment house at 241 West 109th Street in the centre of Manhattan. Nearly a score more were injured, several seriously, and dozens of others were saved in thrilling rescues by firemen and volunteers, who plunged through windows into the flames which had shut off escape from the twenty-four families inside.

One of the dead was a baby of four thrown from the burning building by a frantic mother. Another, a boy of sixteen, was killed when he jumped from a window. Three firemen were injured, and half a dozen others overcome by smoke and heat. The fire was brought under control after three hours of hard fighting.

UNITED STATES TO COMPETE IN SCHOONER RACE

American Committee Suggests that This Year's Race Be Made a Free-for-All.

(Associated Press Despatch)

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Sept. 30.—The barring of the United States schooner Mayflower by the Canadian trustees of the International Fishermen's Trophy will not prevent American participation in the cup series to be raced off this port next month, the American race committee announced at 1.30 o'clock this morning, after a meeting which lasted nearly six hours.

In a telegram to the Canadian trustees the United States body suggested that this year's race be made a free-for-all for fishing vessels, adding, however, that should the suggestion not be favored, a United States challenger will be chosen in the usual way.

Reckless Driver Knocks Down Lad On Wellington Street And Hurries Away—Young Lad Died While In The Ambulance

Large Touring Car Mowed Down Two Lads—Willie Hawken, Aged Thirteen, Was Terribly Mauled—Died in the Ambulance on Way to Hospital—Companion Was also Hurt—Motor Car Increased its Speed and Failed to Stop—Chief Couture Out All Night on Chase.

WELLINGTON Street South was the scene of another tragedy last night when young Willie Hawken, thirteen years of age, was knocked down by an automobile and killed practically instantly.

Importance is added to this unfortunate fatality owing to the callous disposition of the motorist who deliberately accelerated his speed and passed away into the night without making the slightest enquiry regarding the poor lad, for whose death he was responsible.

The accident occurred about 10.30 p.m., while Willie Hawken, thirteen years of age, was walking with a little friend, named Bain, along Wellington Street South. Bain had a little messenger wagon and both lads were hugging the curb as close as possible. Suddenly, without warning, a large touring car, swept down on the lads and Willie Hawken was dragged under the wheels and terribly maulled.

As onlookers let out a cry of warning, the car sped into the darkness without its occupants the slightest notion of stopping to make enquiries. The two lads were on their proper side of the road and were coming towards Sherbrooke from Lennoxville and, at the time of the accident, were near the Regal Tire and Rubber Company's factory. The motor car evidently cut right across the road and mowed down the lads in brutal fashion.

BAIN BOY NOT SERIOUSLY HURT.

Lord's ambulance was soon on the scene of the tragedy, but it was found that Willie Hawken had suffered a broken neck, a broken left collar bone and a large number of bruises all over his body. He died in the ambulance on his way to the hospital, where Dr. Gordon Hume was waiting to be of assistance.

The lad's body was sent back to Lord's undertaking parlors, where it will be held pending the holding of the inquest. This will probably be held some time this evening.

Hawken's companion, young Bain, was also rather badly bruised about the head, and when picked up was lying on the curb, while little Hawken was lying with one foot on the car tracks.

On being advised of the circumstances, the local police immediately entered into communication with Stanstead, Coaticook, Compton and other points where the car might pass through and notice was given that the car would be travelling with only one light as the other had been smashed during the accident and the rim of the lamp was found on the ground. POLICE ARE INVESTIGATING. Later in the evening, Chief of Police Couture set out to search the country and followed a number of clues without success. In one instance a license number given, was located at Marville, but it was proven beyond question that this was not the car involved. The Chief went down to Stanstead, Compton, out on the Coaticook road, to Marville and other points considered likely to have seen the fugitive car go by, and it was only at nine o'clock this morning that he returned without having been able to lay hands on the culprits.

Young Willie Hawken resided with his grandmother on Wellington Street South, a few doors below Galt Street, and it was only a few months ago that his grandfather, Wm. Hawken, died. There is an uncle, Mr. George Hawken, residing in South Stukely, and he is expected here this afternoon.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Sept. 30.—Harry Greb easily outpointed Captain Bob Roper, of Chicago, here last night in a ten round bout, newspaper critics agreed.

REVOLUTIONARY COMMITTEE HAS SENT INVITATION TO VENIZELOS; GREEKS PLAN TO DEFEND THRACE

Greek Army, Backed by Navy, Stands Ready to Push on War Effectively in Thrace, but Leaders Believe that Their Past Experiences Justify Prudent Control in Athens by Military Representatives Until a Genuine People's Government Comes into Power.

(Associated Press Despatch)

PARIS, Sept. 30.—Former Premier Venizelos received a telegram from the revolutionary committee yesterday expressing entire confidence in him and charging him with the defence of the National cause. Mr. Venizelos in his reply promised the fullest of consideration to the offer.

ALEXANDRE ZAIMIS TO HEAD NEW MINISTRY.

(Associated Press Despatch)

ATHENS, Sept. 30.—Alexandre Zaimis, who was premier when Constantine was expelled from Greece, in 1917, and whose father headed the Greek cabinet when King Otto I. was dethroned by the revolution of 1862, has been selected to head the new ministry, which is composed of independents, Venizelists and military officers.

A most favorable impression was created by the proclamation of the revolutionary committee that the arrested political and military leaders shall remain in prison, but that the manner of their trial shall be left to the future National Assembly.

The French and British ministers emphasized to the committee that trial of these persons before a revolutionary tribunal would create a bad impression throughout Europe, and suggested they be given a trial such as was accorded former Premier Caillaux of France.

The committee has given the new cabinet authority to issue necessary decrees, pending the creation of a new parliament and it has been decided that the Mussulman populations of Macedonia and Thrace shall henceforth vote as separate constituencies and be entitled to choose nineteen members of parliament. It is now stated that Constantine plans to reside in Palermo, Italy. Athens remains tranquil.

The revolutionary committee's determination to sit in supervision over the acts of the cabinet until a government founded on the will of the people, as expressed by elections, can come into being, seems to be based on the idea that the vital interests of the nation demand such procedure.

The army, backed by the navy, stands ready to push on the war effectively in Thrace, but its leaders believe that their past experiences justify prudent control in Athens by military representatives until a genuine people's government comes into power.

The executive committee has conferred with the chiefs of all the political groups in an effort to determine the national will.

The arrest of a number of former government leaders is described as being due to a desire to impose justice as an example to future possible offenders. One allegation put forward is that, while in power, these leaders refused to listen to the advice from Great Britain that so long as Constantine was allowed to remain on the throne, the cause of Greece was hopeless.

NEW CABINET SWORN IN.

PARIS, Sept. 30.—A despatch to the Havas Agency from Athens says the new cabinet of Premier Zaimis was sworn in yesterday afternoon.

VENIZELOS ARRIVES AT LONDON.

(Associated Press Despatch)

LONDON, Sept. 30.—Former Premier Venizelos has arrived in London from Paris, and declares his intention of remaining here for several weeks, with the exception of such short trips to France as may be necessary. Upon his arrival he said his visit was connected with "private affairs," and declared it was quite untrue he had been asked to visit the foreign office.

Speaking of his possible return to Athens, he refused to comment further than to remark:

"You already know of the communication I have received from them. (The revolutionary committee in charge of the Greek Government.)"

"TINO" SHIPPED THE CROWN JEWELS TO SWITZERLAND.

(Associated Press Despatch)

PARIS, Sept. 30.—It is asserted King Constantine has ten millions gold francs safely invested and had some time ago shipped to Switzerland the crown jewels.

EX-PREMIER VENIZELOS HAS ACCEPTED INVITATION EXTENDED TO HIM BY REVOLUTIONARY COMMITTEE

(Associated Press Despatch)

PARIS, Sept. 30.—Venizelos, last night telegraphed to Athens his acceptance of the invitation extended by the revolutionary committee, to take up the task of defending Greece's interests in the Allied capitals.

Shortly after sending the message he left for London, where he hopes to see Viscount Curzon, British Foreign Secretary, some time today.

Venizelos' reply to the revolutionary committee thanked the new government warmly for its confidence in him, and put him on record as agreeing to undertake the task of "defending the political programme of the present Greek government."

From noon yesterday, when he arrived from Desauville, until midnight, the former premier went over the situation thoroughly with groups of his personal and political friends.

His decision immediately to associate himself with the revolutionary government is believed to be based upon reports sent him from Athens by his former associates, as even the French Foreign Office had thought under the circumstances, he was unlikely to accept for the present.

It was felt in political circles here that the Allied position on the return of Thrace to the Turks would make it impossible for him to comply, as the avowed aim of the Greek revolutionists is to retain Thrace.

BURY

On September 22, some sixty to seventy friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Francis J. Bennett to mark the occasion of her birthday by a surprise party, and to afford an opportunity to express their esteem and respect. The Brookbury Ladies' Aid members were the instigators of the affair, and so well was the secret kept that Mrs. Bennett was genuinely and completely surprised. Not only was Mrs. Bennett's birthday duly honored, but more especially was occasion taken to give expression to the very great appreciation felt by the congregation of the Brookbury Methodist Church to her unflinching and devoted service as organist for the past twenty years, given without remuneration, but for the love of the cause of the church.

Mr. Bennett, who for over thirty years has looked after the church, for similar recognition, and simply as an indication of the love and good-will of the people, and not by any means as a measure of that love, a $10 bill was handed to both Mr. and Mrs. Bennett. The presentation was made by Rev. M. E. Wilson, and replies were given by both of the recipients. The party spent a very happy evening, overflowing on the lawn, where games were played by lantern light, and an altogether happy and joyous time was spent by all.

NEW METHOD OF REDUCING FAT

A news item from abroad informs us that the American method of producing a slim, trim figure is meeting with astonishing success. This system, which has made such a wonderful impression over there, must be the Marmola Prescription Tablet method of reducing fat. It is safe to say that we have nothing better for this purpose in this country. Anything that will reduce the excess flesh steadily and easily without injury to the stomach, the causing of wrinkles, the help of exercising or dieting, or interference with one's meals is a mighty important and useful addition to civilization's necessities. Just such a catalogue of good results follow the use of these pleasant, harmless and economical little fat reducers. We say economical because Marmola Prescription Tablets (made in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription) can be obtained of any druggist the world over or from the Marmola Company, 4512 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich., for one dollar a case, which is a decidedly economical price, considering the number of tablets each case contains. They are harmless.

When Nature requires assistance, she will not be slow in conveying to you an intimation of the fact. Decline of energy, inability to sleep well, headache, biliousness, constipation, a general sluggishness of mind and body and any sign of digestive "unrest" should impel you to seek the aid of a reliable medicine without delay. There is no better—no surer—no safer—than this proven remedy.

ASCOT WOMEN'S INSTITUTE. The Ascot Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. James Paige on Thursday afternoon, when a very busy session was held. Mrs. W.H. Pearson, the president, opened the meeting in the usual manner and the secretary read the minutes of the last meeting, which were unanimously adopted. A large amount of correspondence, received since the last meeting, was read. The standing committees brought in reports along different lines of work. As the plans for the serving of hot cocoa at the Ascot Consolidated School through the winter months are still under way, it was stated that it had been necessary to purchase an oil stove. In order to meet the expense entailed and other items of extra cost involved, the Institute has decided to hold a baked bean supper as a means of raising money. A committee was appointed to make arrangements for this event, which, it was decided, would be held on October thirteenth, in the basement of the Consolidated School. An apron sale in aid of the Girls' Club will also be held on the same evening, and it is hoped that the event will be a great success. After the business meeting a very pleasant half hour was spent. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by the Misses Maud Pearson and Doris McCurdy. The next meeting will be held on October 19th, at the home of Mrs. W. J. Parnell.

MOLIERE. Jean-Baptiste Poquelin, dit Moliere, was born in Paris on the 15th of January, 1622. His father was then a valet to King Louis XIII. In 1645 he became a lawyer; during that period he became associated with a few young men who were presenting plays for their own amusement. They afterwards formed a regular company and it was then that young Poquelin began his career as a comedian, taking the name of Moliere. Being obliged to leave Paris to earn a living, he travelled through the Province, from 1646 to 1658, with a company he had formed, presenting small plays most of which were written by himself. Returning to Paris in 1658 he was commanded to play before King Louis XIV and from that time he was accorded Royal Patronage. And it was on the 9th of September 1668 that Moliere appeared before His Majesty at le theatre du Palais Royal in "L'Avare," a play of his own composition. Four Branches of W. A. Met. The resumption of the activities of the Women's Auxiliary of St. George's Church had an auspicious beginning on Friday afternoon, when the four branches met in the hall in an interesting and profitable gathering. The day was very beautiful, and a very large attendance of members and visitors took advantage of the trip to attend. The Rev. R. W. E. Wright, rector of the church, presided over the informal programme which commenced the afternoon's proceedings. Mrs. Gifford gave a helpful address in her capacity of president of the W. A., speaking words of inspiration for the work of the coming year. She referred to the special thank offerings brought in by the members during the afternoon as marks of gratitude for the bountiful blessings of the year. The special message to the church, she said, was, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature." She referred to the childhood of Christ, the "silent years" when He "grew in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and man," so that coming to His life work He was a fully prepared leader of men. The church must also train for leadership, so that His command could be carried out to the fullest extent. Mrs. Woolsey, of Thetford Mines, diocesan secretary, who was passing town on her way to California, was present, and brought a message of cheer and inspiration. Mrs. R. Seivright, of Sherbrooke, charmed the members of the "Little Helpers," who were present, with a missionary story, and Mrs. Brown, organist of St. George's Church, contributed two pleasing piano solos to the programme. Interesting letters were read from missions in Chapeau, Ont., containing cordial thanks for the children's outfits prepared and sent by the Girls' Auxiliary during the past year. Rev. Mr. Wright addressed the gathering at the close of the programme, expressing his appreciation of the thank offering custom recently inaugurated in the W. A., especially as teaching the children the missionary habit. He stated that the missionary assessment on St.

SYNOPSIS GIVEN OF MOLIERE'S MASTERPIECE

"L'Avare," Comedy by Moliere, Will Be Presented Here on Monday.

The presentation of "The Miser," considered by many to be Moliere's masterpiece, will be given at His Majesty's Theatre on Monday evening by the Comedie Francaise, which will include Maurice de Feraudy in its cast.

A synopsis of "L'Avare," comedy by Moliere, given in five acts and presented September 9th, 1668, is as follows:

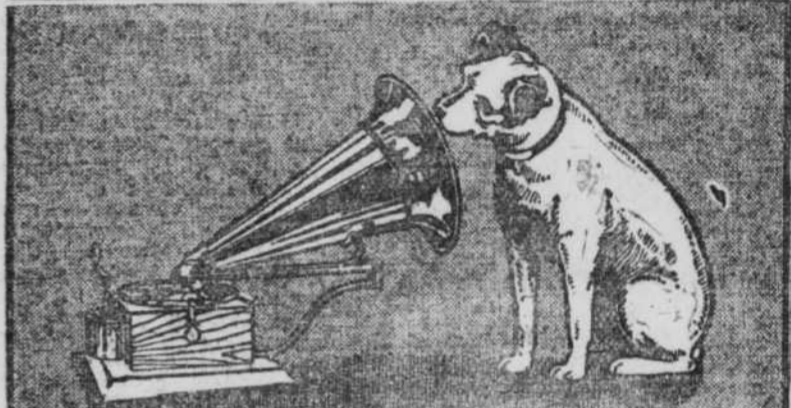

Harpagon, although a downright miser, being a burgher, is obliged to keep up a big establishment, and has in his service, a steward, Valere; a valet, La Fleche, attached to the service of his son, Cleante; two footmen, Brindavoine and La Merluise; a coachman-cook, the famous Maitre Jacques; a chamber-maid, Dame Claude; a carriage, two horses, etc. Truth to tell, the steward serves him but for the sake of the gracious look from the pretty eyes of his daughter, Elise; the garments of the footmen are falling in rags, the horses weakened from want of food, are unable to drag the carriage, nevertheless Harpagon increases his income by lending money at an extraordinary usurious rate, through the medium of brokers. A sum of ten thousand pounds which he has just received, is causing him intolerable anxiety, for, having no confidence in vaults or safes, he has buried his treasure in the garden, and is in constant terror for fear it will be stolen. His Parsimony has reached the point where he is endeavoring to marry his daughter to a man as old as himself, neighbor Anselme, who exacts no dowry; his son, Cleante, enamoured of a poor young girl, is unable to bestow any gifts on the object of his affection, without having recourse to usurers.

A broker by the name of Maitre Simon, puts Cleante in touch with a money lender who in exchange for a note of 15,000 pounds, offers 12,000 pounds in cash at 25 p.c. interest, and the balance in furniture, tapes, trunks, unserviceable firearms, even to a stuffed crocodile. Cleante consents for he must have the money at any cost; but when the lender and the borrower are brought face to face, behold the father and son; an extremely humorous scene ensues, replete with contradictions, pleasing as well as dramatic. This scene, as well as the whole play, is a classic.

Another complication arises when Harpagon, taking the advice of a shrewd woman, Froine, wishes to marry Marianne. He proposes to drive Marianne and her mother in his carriage to the fair and on their return entertain them to supper. Maitre Jacques must distinguish himself, he, therefore, draws up a menu: four kinds of soup, entrees, extremities... Harpagon cries out as though he were being killed, and Valere hastens to his side, declaring that such a repast would be extremely injurious to one's health; that we should eat to live and not live to eat, which beautiful words the miser resolves to have engraved in letters of gold.

To ascertain the exact nature of the sentiment his son entertains towards Marianne, he feigns to consent to their union. Cleante falls into the trap laid by his father and when he has told him of their secret interviews, their plighted troth, etc., Harpagon allows the mask to drop, and orders Cleante to give up Marianne, whom he reserves for himself. A violent scene takes place between father and son; comedy almost turning into drama.

But behold, La Fleche has dug up the buried treasure of Harpagon and comes to entrust it to Cleante. Harpagon at once discovers the theft; after giving vent to his despair in a monologue, which has become renowned, he sends for an officer whom he instructs to start an enquiry, and if necessary to torture his staff, to obtain the necessary information. When questioned, Maitre Jacques throws suspicion on Valere, the steward; this latter, whose conscience is not quite clear, having that same morning promised to marry Elise, hearing talk of stolen goods, treasures carried off, believes that the talk concerns the daughter of Harpagon, and confesses his crime; the situation clears up only when Cleante extols the beautiful eyes of the treasure which he covets: "The beautiful eyes of my casket!" cries Harpagon. All is soon made clear; Anselme, with whom Harpagon had tried to arrange a marriage with Elise, discovers that Valere and Marianne are his children who had been kidnapped in infancy. He renounces Elise in favor of his son, and Harpagon too happy at recovering his treasure consents to the marriage of Marianne and Cleante.

self. "I'd give my life to hear you say just once again—as you did down at Osterway—that you love me!"

"You've never been the same since then. I've tried not to believe it—but I know you never have. In what way am I different—I've done my best to make you care for me. I'd give you every penny I possess if you wanted it, Jean; for God's sake say it's not true. You can't care for O'Neill—he's been such a brute to you—you told me yourself—you can't care for him."

Jean looked at his white, passionate face, and the hard, angry words rising in her heart, died.

"I do care for him," she said. "I care for him so much that if he hadn't a shilling in the world, or a friend, I'd marry him and think myself the happiest woman who ever lived."

Gavin turned away with a groan. It was impossible not to feel sorry for him. Jean tried to harden her heart, though she did not want to hurt him. She could not forget that he had done everything in his power to set her against Robin.

But he was still weak from his accident. There was a little silence; then he rose—he took her almost roughly by the shoulders, forcing her to meet his eyes.

"And if I refuse to give you up to that—that cheat! he said passionately. She tried to free herself.

"How dare you say such things?" she broke out furiously. "You've told me enough lies about him—I—"

Her voice quieted. "Don't let us part bad friends, Gavin—I haven't forgotten how good you've been to me—I would love you if I could, but—oh, what is the use of trying to explain?"

"He'll never care for you as I do—he can amuse himself with any woman. Look at the way he runs after that Mrs. Rutherford and Lillian. I've never looked at another woman since I've known you."

Jean's eyes flashed. "You seem to have forgotten that night at Euston." Her voice was hard; she shivered a little at the memory. "But I haven't forgotten it. Oh, the awful time when I waited there alone—in the fog. I shall never forget it as long as I live."

"It wasn't my fault. I wrote—you ought to have had my letter."

She made a little gesture of weariness. "It's too late to talk about it. It's all over and done with."

"It's not done with—it never will be till you are my wife. I'm not going to give you up like this without a struggle. I've never cared for any other woman; and now—just when I thought we were going to be happy." He let her go—he clenched his fists. "Curse O'Neill—curse him," he broke out passionately.

Jean turned to the door. She was afraid of saying too much; but Gavin was there before her. He stood with his back to it, preventing her from going.

"Jean, haven't you any pity for me—just a little?" His voice was broken and constrained, but Jean stood unmoved. In her heart she despised him. She mentally contrasted him with Robin—Robin who would have rather died than plead for himself in such circumstances; who would rather have died than deliberately have tried to smirch another man's name for his own advantage.

She raised her eyes to his face; they were no longer even sorry.

"You lied to me deliberately about Robin," she said. "I never meant to tell you that I knew—but now, as you've said it all over again, I can't help it. What you told me about India was a lie, and you knew it. Mr. Symons knew it, too. It was not Robin who cheated at cards, but my father—and he is dead! Oh!" she broke out with sudden agitation, "let me go before I say anything more. I wanted to spare you—I've tried only to remember how good you've been to me. Let me go!"

MARRIAGES

KIDD—MacCASKILL.
GOULD, Que., Sept. 30.—A wedding of more than usual interest took place at the home of Mr. John MacCaskill on Wednesday, September 20th, at 7.30 p.m. when his eldest daughter, Catherine Ruth, was united in holy-wedlock to Mr. George Lyman Kidd, of East Stanbridge. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. K. MacLennan, pastor of Chalmers' Presbyterian Church, under a beautiful arch of cut flowers and ferns surmounted by seven large white bells erected for the occasion in the corner of the parlor.

As the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Mrs. H. Atkinson, filled the air, the bridal party descended the stairway and took their places under the arch. The bride, leaning on her father's arm, looked very beautiful in her bridal robes of white satin with pearl trimmings and sleeves and wore the time honored trailing veil and wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses and maiden hair fern. The bridesmaid, Miss Edith MacCaskill, sister of the bride, was gowned in a dainty dress of palest green silk georgette, and a satin girdle, and carried a bouquet of shell pink chrysanthemums, asters and ferns. The groom was supported by Mr. F. Corey, of East Stanbridge.

After congratulations, a bounteous and delicious buffet lunch was served to the guests, who numbered about one hundred. The wedding cake occupied a prominent place in the centre of the dining-table, and was decorated with silver berries and surmounted by a wedding bell and rested on a bank of cut flowers. The house was beautifully and artistically decorated throughout with cut flowers, ferns, potted plants and large quantities of autumn berries. The bannisters of the stairway, down which the bridal party proceeded to the parlor were a solid mass of cut flowers. Japanese lanterns in their many and varied colors were all round the house and grounds. The wedding gifts were many and costly, testifying to the esteem in which the young couple are held. After the wedding cake was served, much merriment was created by the serving of the "bridal cake," which contained more than the usual ingredients called for in the making of cakes. There was a ring for the first to be married, a piece of silver for the one who was destined to be wealthy, a button for the bachelor and a thimble for the most industrious. Much fun was enjoyed in searching for these emblems. After this the company returned to the parlor where a vocal treat was enjoyed. Those who contributed to the evening's entertainment were Mrs. G. Fortin and Messrs. F. Corey, R. Fortin and G. Kidd. The bride officiated at the piano in her usual capable manner.

Mr. and Mrs. Kidd left by auto for a trip through the New England States, amid showers of confetti and good wishes, and on their return will reside at Stanbridge East. The bride was born and has always lived here, and took an active and noble part in church and social life, and will be much missed. The best wishes of her many friends go with her to her new home.

Out of town guests who attended the reception were Mr. and Mrs. W. Lefebvre, of Lennoxville, Mr. Kelley, the Misses Margaret and Laura MacDonald and Margaret MacIver, of Sherbrooke; Mr. and Mrs. F. Corey, Mr. R. Fortin, Mrs. G. Fortin, Mr. and Mrs. G. Kidd, parents of the groom, of Stanbridge; Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Pope, Mr. and Mrs. J. Robinson, Mrs. S. Scott, of Cookshire; Mrs. J. Haloway and son, Donald, sister and nephew of the groom, Mrs. A. Cameron, Miss M. MacLeod, of Bury; and Mrs. Gordon McLeish, also of Bury.

leaving today for their home in Brooklyn, N.Y. They will be accompanied by Miss Dorothy Martin.

A surprise party was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Small, King street, on Tuesday evening in honor of their daughter, Miss Catherine Small. Covers were laid for sixteen and the table decorations and favors were very pretty. Mrs. Charles Hurst, Mrs. Chas. Coombs and Mrs. Walter Coombs assisted in the entertaining of the children. Games were played and several piano solos were rendered by Misses Margaret Scott, Muriel Scott and Master E. Small. Recitations were given by Misses Patricia Williams, Hilda Banks, Helen Wolfe and Master George Banks. A schottische dance was given by Catherine Small, Helen and Mary Wolfe. E. T. BOARDS FALL MEETING.

The Eastern Townships Associated Boards of Trade assembles again on Tuesday, when the Fall convention will be held at Bury. These meetings bring together representative citizens of many Eastern Township communities and quite apart from the discussion and actions regarding many topics serve a very useful purpose in consolidating the people of the Eastern Townships and reminding them that these counties of Southern Quebec are a distinct community with common interests.

The actual accomplishments of the organization since its inception some ten or twelve years ago have been very important. A watchful eye has been kept upon railway and mail services. Good roads have been promoted. Farm help has been secured for Eastern Townships farms through the affiliated immigration society. Many matters of vital interest to Southern Quebec, relative to agriculture and industry have been discussed.

Prominent men of the Dominion have readily accepted invitations to attend the conventions and deliver addresses.

It is expected that the meeting at Bury will include many citizens not directly associated with Board of Trade work. The invitation is to all interested.

There are federated boards of trade in some other sections of country but probably none organized just on this popular basis which makes the Eastern Townships assemblies a gathering of the people to discuss questions concerning their own section of Canada.

THE SKATING RINK PROJECT.

A movement is underway to bring about the construction of an adequate skating rink in Sherbrooke. It is to be hoped this will succeed.

For some years Sherbrooke young people have been deprived of facilities for the full enjoyment of this winter pastime. The loss has been keenly felt. Hockey has languished and the boys and girls have sadly missed the exercise which a well arranged rink affords.

The project is deserving of public support. It is to be hoped the organizers of the movement will vigorously continue the work initiated and bring it to an early and successful issue.

THE EX-KAISER'S PLEA.

The ex-Kaiser's memoirs, which are being given to the public, do not seem likely to make his case before the world much stronger than it has been since he launched the world war.

The New York Times in this connection says: "Publication of the ex-Kaiser's Memoirs is an event of which the true significance should not be overlooked. It is much more than an affair of bookmaking or publishing enterprise. What we have is an appeal to the judgment of mankind. Eight years ago Wilhelm II. thought himself the most powerful man on earth. More than that, he held himself accountable to no earthly tribunal. During his whole reign he had proclaimed himself the anointed of Heaven, ruling by divine right. What he willed became of itself right and law. All who questioned his wisdom or opposed his policies were bound to be dashed to pieces. To nothing but his own conscience and to no one but the Almighty would he even consent to render an account of his stewardship."

"Now, however, this once haughty despot of the common people turns to make to them a pleading defence of his conduct. He addresses an 'Apologia Pro Vita Sua' to the whole world. The former monarch, who scorned the idea of being answerable to the German Reichstag, now submits his case to the Parliament of Man. This is something extraordinary and unexampled. The ex-Kaiser has discovered that there is such a thing as a public opinion of the world, mightier than any throned monarch, and before it he humbly bows today, seeking to anticipate the verdict of history."

"This tardy recognition of a world-wide sentiment that assesses and judges is made fuller by the manner in which the ex-Kaiser's plea is given to the public. It is done simultaneously in all countries. Wherever newspapers are printed the Memoirs of the fallen German Emperor will be read. It is not, in the first instance, a case of an expensive book to be purchased by comparatively few, to be added to libraries and to be studied mainly by historical inquirers, but of a distribution as wide as print can make it and at the cost to the reader of only the price of a daily paper. Nothing like this has ever been known before."

"Parts of the ex-Kaiser's narrative bear the plain mark of a consciousness that he has to face an adverse verdict already given against him. Some of his excuses are accusations. In particular will it be found that he struggles to make head against the universal opinion that he cut a sorry figure at the time of his abdication and flight to Holland. Even Napoleon III., at Sedan, could preface his offer of surrender by the words: 'Not having been able to find death at the head of my troops.' No such beau geste is possible for the Exile of Doorn."

TODAY'S A HOLIDAY.

September 30, 1922.

San Geronimo.

Pueblo Indians of New Mexico observe today the feast of San Geronimo, at the formal occasion for the ending of the crop-gathering season. At the Pueblo de Taos a strange admixture of pagan and Christian rites is to be observed. All the Pueblo tribes besides Apaches and Utes are represented. It is said that hundreds of years ago a great chief wandered into the desert, never returning. In his honor his children gather every year. It is not difficult to link this up with the desert wanderings of St. Jerome.

The image of the saint, in fact, is the central figure. A relay race with fifteen young braves from each tribe participating, is held, and the tribe which wins has the honor of keeping the image for a year. The contestants are gaudily painted, and they are as fleet as the proverbial Indians. One interesting survival of Montezuma days is the hoisting of a sacrificial lamb on a pole some sixty feet high. After being suspended there for some hours the lamb is released.

Games and sports of a strenuous nature occupy the entire day. Another pagan survival is the practice of masked Indians running about playing tricks upon the spectators, ducking boys in the water, stealing fruit from traders and throwing dust upon men, women, children and horses. It is a reflection of the All Fools' Day customs prevalent in all civilizations.

PRESS COMMENT

SPENDTHRIFT YOUTH.

(Kitchener Record.)
 There are few young men nowadays who show habits of thrift and economy. There is a disposition to spend rather than save, and through love of personal adornment, expensive habits, and a lack of that desire to lay aside funds for a rainy day, our young men are not acquiring a reputation for forehandedness, which might prove of inestimable value to them in the future. We would not desire them to be mean or selfish, but there is a happy medium between a spendthrift and a miser.

LET'S HOPE THIS IS TRUE.

(Indianapolis News.)
 Maybe it will work out this way: The high price of coal will make people more economical with it; the economy will lessen the demand, and the lessened demand may cause a decline in price. It's a long road to travel, but it may be the only one.

WHERE KIPLING SCORED.

(Memphis Commercial Appeal.)
 The most convincing part of Kipling's denial is the sentence: I have not discontinued the habit of saying what I wish to say over my own signature." And he might have added "at my own price." Knowing how thrifty Rudyard is, we hardly believe he would have passed up such a good opportunity to gather a few more American dollars.

HITCHING HOOVER TO A STAR.

(Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph.)
 A planet recently discovered by a Vienna astronomer has been named Hooveria, in recognition of Herbert Hoover's relief work in Austria. This comes pretty close to following Emerson's advice, "Hitch your wagon to a star," but it must be admitted that hitching a name to a star is much easier than hitching a large vehicle.

HARDING VETOES BONUS.

(Toronto Globe.)
 President Harding has finally and emphatically vetoed the United States Soldiers' Bonus Bill, to the great relief of Congress and the country. Few of its supporters believed in the principle, but a vigorous lobby and the fear of the soldiers' vote in November carried the day. There was so little sincerity behind the measure that Congress made no provision for payment. The President rejects it on this ground, and estimates the bill would call for an outlay of $750,000,000 in the first four years, and eventually from $4,000,000,000 to $5,000,000,000. Rightly he pleads that first place be given the claims of disabled soldiers, upon whom, he says, 25 billion dollars will be spent in the course of time.

PERILS OF DICTATION.

(Toronto Globe.)
 For the conveniences due to bad hand-writing the typewriter was supposed to be at least a partial remedy. But a Philadelphia Judge denounces the machine as an enemy, declaring that the ease of dictating to stenographers has encouraged lawyers, especially mediocre ones, to lengthen their legal papers to an appalling degree. "When lawyers had to write out their own briefs," he said, "they were concise. Now they not only waste good white paper and time of their stenographers, but they murder the time of the Judge, who has to wade through the mass of unnecessary matter they submit only because it is so easy for them to submit it."
 No doubt there is a temptation to prolixity in all kinds of dictated matter; it is so much easier to talk than to form the letters in the old, slow and painful way. Editors and printers, however, find great relief in increased legibility, and undue prolixity finds its punishment in the wastepaper basket. The poor Judge has no such remedy.

WOULD NOT SEND YOUNG MEN TO PENITENTIARY

Hon. Senator Choquette Makes Suggestion that Penal Farms Be Established.

TORONTO, Sept. 30.—A plan which would revolutionize the penitentiary system of Canada is to be brought before the Child Welfare conference today by Hon. Senator Philippe August Choquette, L.L.D., K.C., of Quebec City, Judge of the Sessions of the Peace, Province of Quebec, who for the past sixteen years has been a member of the Canadian Senate, and who previous to his elevation to the Upper Chamber, was for fifteen years a member of Dominion Parliament.

It is that no man under the age of twenty-five should be made to enter a penitentiary. A keen student of criminology and human nature, and one who has delved deeply into the question of prison reform, he has conceived the idea of the establishment of what might be described as penal farms. These would be patterned to a certain extent after the manner of municipal jail farms, but would be a vast improvement on them owing to the fact that those sent to them would be kept there for a period of two years at least.

Judge Choquette stated that he had already laid this proposition before the Attorney-General of Quebec, and had secured his unqualified endorsement of the idea. This morning he has arranged for an interview with Attorney-General Rancie on the question, and has high hopes of obtaining Ontario's support in this vital matter.

CAMPAIGN FOR BETTER HEALTH IN PROVINCE

Educational Campaign in Hygiene Instituted by Provincial Bureau of Health.

From October 8th to October 14th the Provincial Bureau of Health will hold throughout the province an educational campaign for the benefit of the whole population, but especially of school children. Everywhere on the same day will be given short, clear and complete lectures on one health subject, so as to cover in the week the principal divisions of the science of health conservation.

The comprehension of the notions of hygiene is easy for all ages and all minds, but their actual practice is the more readily obtained when begun at an early age, and for this reason the efforts of the department will bear upon the school children. Teachers will give lectures during class hours and on the holiday in the week their pupils will be required to write a short paper on the observations they may make at home.

The lectures to be given by the teachers, or at least their essential points, have been published in a book that will be distributed in all the schools. As this week of hygiene should only be the beginning of a systematic campaign to be carried during the whole year, this book should be used as the basis of similar lectures for at least once every week in the school year.

At the same time the district inspectors of the Provincial Bureau of Health will give lectures outside of the school to municipal councils, the various religious and social associations in every city, town and village. These lectures will be illustrated with moving pictures so as to render them as interesting and instructive as possible.

The fight against disease is twofold: First, disease must be prevented before it is borne; secondly, it must be cured once it has spread. It is with the first of these two phases that hygiene is concerned. The saying that "One ounce of prevention is better than ten pounds of cure" is a true definition of the benefits of hygiene, whose mission it is to prevent disease from coming, from taking a hold in the community and from spreading. It will be readily understood that it is much easier to create conditions that will prevent disease from spreading than to have to cure those who may be stricken with disease.

It is for this reason that the science of hygiene takes a more and more important place in the duties of public powers. Hygiene has become a scientific specialty, enlisting many physicians and engineers and the collection of books bearing on it becomes daily greater and greater.

In its eight-day campaign and in the efforts that will carry it on through the year, the Provincial Bureau of Health has the entire support of the Hon. Provincial Secretary and of the Department of Public Instruction. Clergymen, always devoted to the well-being of the population, will lend a precious help on the eighth, which is a Sunday, and will give sound and precious advice from the pulpit.

The school children will cooperate in giving their attention to the advice imparted to them and in putting in practice the notions which they have obtained.

The habit of hygiene is easily acquired. It soon becomes a second nature which unconsciously holds sway during life. The science of hygiene is the most easy to vulgarize because it is founded on cleanliness, both moral, intellectual and physical, as well for self as for others and for all things.

Building Construction of Every Description

AN UP-TO-DATE SIX ROOM BUNGALOW

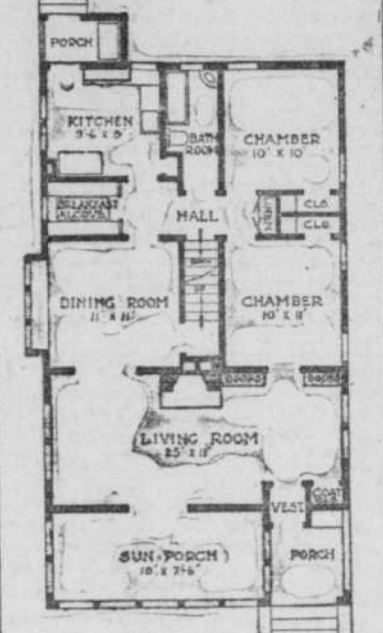

Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home. Just give me my bungalow and I'll never care to roam.

Thus might the old familiar song be paraphrased in this modern day of bungalows. In fact we are quite certain that had John Howard Payne written his famous song in 1922 instead of 'way back about 1822 that he would have written it with the bungalow in mind for surely no type of house is more homey than the bungalow.

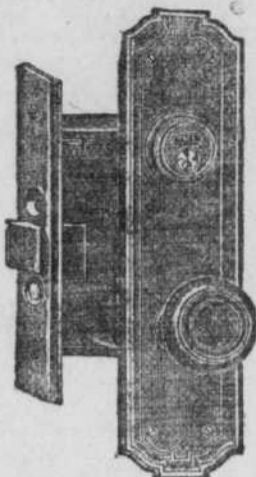

Today's model is an ideal design. Containing six rooms, it is just a nice size for either the young married couple or for a small family. A fireplace and built in book cases make the living room a cozy and delightful room while the sun porch across the front of the house is a pleasant feature. This can be unglazed in hot weather and made into a charming outdoor sitting room. A bay window makes the dining room a cheery spot, and the breakfast alcove between the dining room and the kitchen will save the housewife many an extra step and much valuable time. The kitchen is up-to-date in every detail and there is space on the rear porch for the refrigerator. Two bedrooms with closets, a bath room, linen closet and a tiny back hall complete the floor plan. The bath room and kitchen adjoining, allow for the centering of the plumbing which is a saving in expense. There is an attic for storage and a full basement with concrete foundation.

There are hardwood floors throughout, and the interior finish is birch, enameled. As shown here it is of frame construction with stucco finish and it is estimated that it would cost between $4,000 and $6,000 to build it, exclusive of the plumbing and heating. It is thirty-eight feet by twenty-six feet wide, exclusive of the porches and the height of the first floor is nine feet and of the basement, seven feet six inches.

FROM THE GROUND UP

it is important that construction and equipment of your new home shall come up to well recognized standards. No detail is more important than the selection of serviceable hardware trimmings that will blend harmoniously with the rest of the structure.

YALE LOCK SETS

in many attractive designs and finishes, have the solid quality and workmanlike finish that means long years of service. They are standard goods which are giving satisfaction in homes and other buildings in all parts of the world.

MANITOBA WILL EXTEND ROAD CONSTRUCTION

The Contemplated Financing Will Make Provision for Roads.

WINNIPEG — Contemplated financing in Manitoba will make provision for extension of the good roads programme, according to Hon. W. R. Clubb, minister of public works in the new farmer government. In the last few years Manitoba has spent $5,500,000 on good roads, with the result that the province has 900 miles of roads that have been gravelled, and there are now 3,000 miles of standard graded roads redeemed from the once famous "prairie trails." In addition, Manitoba has spent half a million dollars on bridges.

The minister of public works referred to the fact that Ontario has been catering to its tourist trade. "If Manitoba is going to have a tourist trade it must have good roads for the tourists to travel upon," he emphasized.

Manitoba's decision to further her good roads building conforms with the current western movement to link up all the main transcontinental highways through to Pacific coast. Highways in Western Canada formed the subject discussed by M. A. Lyons, A.M.E., I.C., chief engineer of the Good Roads Board.

BUILDING IN SHERBROOKE IS MUCH LARGER

Figures for 1922 Are Higher Than Those for the Previous Year.

The building permits for August continue to show that improvement which marked the figures throughout building season. The total for forty-four large cities given at $19,429,687, compares with $9,077,581 for the same month last year, while the total of $92,302,274 indicates an increase for the seven months of the year of $27,055,179.

In twenty-eight Eastern cities the total of $9,168,218 for August was higher by $2,667,249 than for the same month last year, while for the seven months the increase was $20,435,631. In the Western cities a $5,000,000 permit for a new pier at Vancouver had an important effect, raising the total for the month to $7,261,469, an increase of $4,784,875, and making $20,424,072 for the seven months, an increase of $6,619,488.

Toronto continues to show marked activity with an increase for the month and $1,080,817, and an increase for the year to date of $8,915,548. Vancouver shows a higher total for the month, but that is due to the one important permit referred to above. Toronto's total is also swelled by the figures for York township. Montreal stands next, these being the only cities to show seven figures totals for the month.

Sherbrooke is shown to have a higher total for the eight months in 1922 with $1,256,315, compared to $937,793 for 1921.

The month of August showed $240,225, and an increase of $151,692 over last year.

Manitoba, before the Engineering Institute of Canada in convention in Winnipeg. There was, he said, no reason why there should be roads except to serve the public. Roads positioned as they were entirely devoted to and could be considered only from the viewpoint of service.

Mr. Lyons discussed the financial aspect of good road building. He said it was not quite clear to him why the Dominion Government should undertake the financing of road building. Those who were interested in the matter could doubtless supply adequate reasons why the federal authorities should finance road construction. On the other hand provincial government obtained revenue from sources which received service from roads so it appeared to him that the financing should be the function of provincial or municipal governments.

RED SOX HAND A WHITEWASH TO NEW YORK

Jack Quinn Held Yankees Well in Check—Browns Chalked up a Victory.

(Associated Press Despatch) NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The mathematical uncertainty in the American League pennant race existed today with but two games left of the schedules of each of the contenders, New York and St. Louis.

The Red Sox, 1 to 0, and a chance to clinch the championship. The Browns, meanwhile, clung to the possibility that they may tie the leaders and thus necessitate a play-off series by defeating the Chicago White Sox by 3 to 2.

One victory for the Yankees on a defeat for the Browns will settle the race. In order to obtain a tie, the Browns must win today and tomorrow from the White Sox, while the Yankees lose to Chicago today and to Washington tomorrow.

Although favored by all odds to emerge the victors, the Yankees have caused something bordering on apprehension among their followers by a sudden slump in hitting, with the pennant goal in sight. In the last three games, one with Cleveland and two with Boston, the team has scored but one run and collected fifteen hits.

CANVASSERS FOR RINK TO MEET ON TUESDAY

Definite Action Likely to Be Decided Next Tuesday.

A special meeting of the canvassers engaged in securing stock subscriptions for the proposed Sherbrooke skating rink was held in the Board of Trade room last night, but only half a dozen of the members put in an appearance.

The general consensus of opinion was that the proposition was being received very favorably, and while a fairly large number of $250 subscriptions could be looked for, larger grants were to be confined to a dozen prominent citizens, who looked upon the issue from a public spirit point of view.

SHERBROOKE'S LAST APPEARANCE TOMORROW

The second game of the Sherbrooke-Three Rivers opens today and the result will have an important effect upon the standing. If the locals can get behind Hunt today and help him to win his game, the prospects for at least one game tomorrow will be extremely bright.

GARRISON REPLY TO BEEBE

Editor Sherbrooke Daily Record: Sir:—In reference to the letter of Mr. Chandlish, captain Beebe Football Club, in yesterday's paper, giving his ideas of Beebe-Garrison game at Beebe on Saturday, September 16th, he stated that Garrison arrived minus the official referee.

Now this was no fault of the Garrison Club as they stated they did not know who was appointed to referee the game and after waiting till two o'clock to see if one showed up, they started for Beebe without one under the impression that he had gone down some other way.

But on arriving at Beebe they found out that he had not showed up, so it was necessary to appoint one. Mr. Thompson was spoken of but Beebe would not agree to him because he came from Richmond, but is not secretary of the Richmond Club which Mr. Chandlish stated in his letter.

Then Beebe brought up Mr. Cook of Ottawa, who is working at Beebe, and the Garrison captain stated that he was willing for him to referee the game providing he gave them a square deal, and after twenty minutes delay, in which time Mr. Cook was getting a whistle, the game started.

Both teams were working hard for a goal, and Campbell of Garrison scored. It was admitted by Beebe supporters that it was a goal, but although fair and square it was disallowed by the referee, the linesman appealed but was ordered off the field by the referee.

Now in regard to Garrison supporters crowding on the field in a very threatening manner (towards the referee) there was one supporter who went on and spoke to the referee and he was followed off the field by one of the Beebe players who wanted to fight and not being satisfied with that he came up to the dressing room and stated he was still there.

The Garrison team and supporters (including several ladies) were leaving the field they were hooted at and called names which I will not mention while sand and gravel was thrown at them. I do not think that the Beebe Club or supporters were ever treated this way in Sherbrooke as I have had the opportunity of seeing several games played here.

I know the Garrison team is quite ready to meet the Beebe team any time and any place, but they want a square deal, which they did not get on September 16th, at Beebe.

Yours truly, J. LAURENCE, Garrison F. C. Sherbrooke, Sept. 29-22.

GARRISON AT BEEBE

The Garrison team left early after dinner for Beebe where they are scheduled to play in the semi-final of the Sherbrooke Hospital Charity Cup. This promises to be the keenest game of the season and when the two teams met a couple of weeks ago, the Garrison players left the field a few minutes before the close with Beebe leading 1-0.

BOXING

CARPENTIER NOT RETIRING FROM RING

(Associated Press Despatch) PARIS, Sept. 30.—I will be able to begin again in a few months, for I am far from giving up boxing," said Georges Carpentier, in an interview published this morning in Le Journal, regarding his defeat last Sunday by Battling Siki.

"What I have to do now is to wipe out that defeat by a new series of victories. So I propose, first of all to take a month's rest, then take up physical culture before beginning to train again. And I will have my revenge, I can promise you."

WILLS WON DECISION

FINALS PLAYED IN TOURNEYS AT LOCAL COURSE

Miss Marion Tomlinson Captured Ladies' Club Championship—Alex Fraser Won the Turnbull Trophy.

The finals in two of the annual competitions were completed over the course of the St. Francis Golf Club yesterday afternoon, Alex Fraser winning the Turnbull Memorial trophy by defeating Gordon Miller by four up and two to play, while Miss Marion Tomlinson won the ladies' championship trophy when she defeated Miss Eleanor Jenkes by five up and four to play.

The weather throughout a strong cross wind and the fast condition of the greens gave the contestants quite a little trouble. Both contests were fairly interesting, but the brand of golf furnished was not of extraordinary calibre.

The finals in the club championship will be played this afternoon on the course of the St. Francis Golf Club here yesterday.
