BRITISH MINISTER RESIGNS OFFICE

Duff Cooper Quits Over Distrust Of Foreign Policies

First Lord of the Admiralty Dislikes Policies Being Pursued and Likely to Be Pursued by Government—Marks Second Resignation from Cabinet Since Prime Minister Adopted Policy of Negotiating With Dictators to Ensure Peace.

London, October 1.—(AP)—Alfred Duff Cooper, First Lord of the Admiralty, resigned from Prime Minister Chamberlain's Cabinet today because he disagreed with the Government's foreign policy.

The Prime Minister accepted the resignation. In his letter of resignation, Mr. Duff Cooper said: "I profoundly distrust the foreign policy which the present Government is pursuing and seems likely to continue to pursue."

In accepting, the Prime Minister wrote: "Knowing you are sincerely convinced that the foreign policy of the present Government is a mistake, I agree with you in thinking it would not be proper for you to remain a member of the Government."

Mr. Duff Cooper is a Conservative, long known as one of the leading advocates in the Cabinet of a strong Anglo-French alliance.

As civilian head of the navy he directed the mobilization of the Fleet earlier this week when it appeared Great Britain and France together might fight Germany over the Czechoslovak issue.

The resignation came as a surprise in the midst of widespread public acclaim for Mr. Chamberlain for his achievement of a peaceful settlement of the crisis which only two days ago threatened to plunge Europe into war.

Mr. Duff Cooper, however, was understood to have been a Cabinet dissenter even from the original Anglo-French plan of September 19th for the cession of the Sudeten areas to Germany.

The First Lord of the Admiralty is the second member of Mr. Chamberlain's Cabinet to resign in disapproval of the Prime Minister's policy of bargaining with Europe's dictators for peace.

Anthony Eden quit as Foreign Secretary on February 20th. Mr. Duff Cooper's letter of resignation follows:

"It is extremely painful for me in the moment of your great triumph to be obliged to strike a discordant note.

"For reasons with which you are acquainted and which I propose to explain in the House of Commons in due course I profoundly distrust the foreign policy which the present Government is pursuing and seems likely to continue to pursue.

"Feeling as I do, I have considered that honor and loyalty demand that I should offer you my resignation. I do so with profound regret because I have been so proud to hold my present office, one I envied beyond all others in the state, and I have been so grateful to you for having placed such confidence in me, and for having shown me such invariable kindness and patience.

"Yours very truly, 'Duff Cooper.' Mr. Chamberlain replied: 'I have received your letter in which you tender your resignation from the Government with great personal regret.'

"But knowing you are sincerely convinced the foreign policy of the present Government is mistaken, I agree with you in thinking it would not be proper for you to remain a member of the Government."

"Before submitting your resignation for approval of His Majesty, the King, I should like to thank you for your work in the great office which you are now giving up and to express the conviction that differences over public policy will make no breach in our personal relations."

"Yours sincerely, 'N. Chamberlain.' ANGLO-ITALY PACT IS REPORTED NEAR

London, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Great Britain left Czechoslovakia to the map-makers today and steered a course toward what Prime Minister Chamberlain hoped would be peace in Europe for years to come.

CONDITION OF QUEEN MARY REPORTED UNCHANGED

London, October 1.—(C.P. Havas)—Condition of Queen Mary, who is suffering from laryngitis, was reported unchanged today. She will be confined to her room for several days, although it was emphasized the attack is not serious.

ILLEGALLY MANUFACTURED CIGARS

St. Johns, Que., Oct. 1.—Possibly the most spontaneous of a good five-cent cigar, but Magistrate Donat Lalonde doesn't believe in allowing them to be manufactured illegally.

Leandre Milette, of Iperville, Que., was fined fifty dollars or one month in jail yesterday when found guilty by the magistrate of possession and sale of illegally manufactured cigars.

SOLDIER'S SOLDIER IS THE MAN WHO WOULD BE CZECH DICTATOR

Gen. Ludwik Krejci, commander-in-chief of the efficient Czech armies, is the man who would almost certainly be dictator if Czechoslovakia is forced to become a totalitarian state by the current European crisis.

An engineer by profession, Krejci was a lieutenant in the Austrian army in the early part of the World War. He achieved his greatest distinction in the fierce battle of Bachmace, in the Ukraine, against the Germans, in 1918.

He returned to his native Moravia in 1920 acclaimed a hero, and immediately was made a divisional commander in the new army of the infant republic of Czechoslovakia.

Three years later he was sent to the famous war college of the French at St. Cyr. There he learned the finer points of concentrated gun fire and the value of quick mobilization.

When he returned he wore the clipped mustache of the French officer.

Promoted to chief of staff at that time he began planning a small army with a strong, quick, punch four years ago he was made commander-in-chief with the task of putting his plans into operation.

He has built the best small army in Europe. It has one machine gun for every twenty men, and heavy artillery that travels at fifty miles per hour.

General Krejci is a soldier's soldier. Military men know him best for his affable smile and for his heroic fighting against the Germans at Bachmace.

General Ludwik Krejci... he will rule Czechoslovakia if a military dictatorship is proclaimed.

FRANCE ORDERS DEMOBILIZING OF RESERVISTS

Million Men Called to Colors During Various Stages of Czech Crisis to Be Returned to Civil Life Over Week-End.

Paris, Oct. 1.—(AP)—General Marie-Gustave Gamelin, chief of staff, today ordered the demobilization of more than 1,000,000 reserves called to the colors at various stages during the Czechoslovak crisis.

The first reservists to be demobilized following the four-power Munich accord are expected to return to their homes over the week-end. At the same time measures have been taken to free vehicles and animals requisitioned for national defence purposes.

The partial demobilization marked France's jubilant return to normal, peace-time life on a day it had feared it would be at war.

Statesmen, however, kept a wary eye to the future as they examined the shifts in European relations already apparent from the Munich conference that brought peace.

None could doubt that a vast majority of Frenchmen were genuinely relieved that war had been averted. There were spontaneous outbursts all over France, among armed reservists who had been called for preparedness and now were being discharged, as well as civilians.

It was equally evident, however, that a growing number felt uncertain that peace bought at the price

Another Crisis Averted As Czechoslovaks Yield To Demands From Poland

Part of City of Teschen on Czech Side of Polish Border to Be Handed Over to Poland Before Tomorrow Afternoon—Poland Refuses to Accept Complete Contents of Four-Power Pact Reached at Munich for Partition of Czechoslovakia.

Warsaw, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Czechoslovakia would bring an era of security to Europe.

The Anglo-German friendship statement, virtually a non-aggression pact, announced by Chancellor Hitler and Prime Minister Chamberlain, was of first concern to this group.

Czechoslovakia's future as an independent nation was the second cardinal point of German policy of Government circles that the new friendship between Great Britain and Germany did not affect French-British co-operation, which has become the one basis of French foreign policy.

Less optimistic observers, however, recalled Hitler's dictum in "Mein Kampf," the autobiographical statement of his creed, that a statement of German policy must be to isolate France. These observers, therefore, saw the Rome-Berlin axis being extended to London, like a fence shutting France from the rest of Europe.

Even Leon Bailby, one of the leading advocates of a "peace at any price," declared in an editorial in the "Daily News" that peace bought at the price

Czechoslovakia accepted Poland's territorial demands in full today, thereby averting a threatened invasion.

Under terms of the demands the part of the city of Teschen on the Czechoslovak side of the border will be transferred to Poland before 2 p.m. Sunday (8 a.m., E.S.T.).

Within ten days Czechoslovakia will transfer to Poland the remainder of the Teschen district and the entire district of Freistadt.

Matters of other territories and plebiscites will be settled in direct negotiations between Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Czechoslovakia also agreed to release immediately all persons of Polish nationality from the Czechoslovakian army and to free all Poles imprisoned for political reasons.

A Government communique announcing the settlement stated that "the Polish Government meets with great joy the news of the conclusion of a painful quarrel between the two nations and a settlement corresponding to the peaceful intentions of Poland."

Czechoslovakia, after asking and receiving a one-hour extension of the time limit set by Poland, sent her acceptance in reply to Warsaw's "final" note.

The note, delivered in Prague just before midnight, was understood to have set noon today (5 a.m., E.S.T.) as the deadline for fulfilling "just" demands for Teschen Silesia, an area of 772 square miles inhabited by most of Czechoslovakia's 100,000 Poles.

The official Government organ, Gazeta Polska, made public three points which it said determined Poland's action in forwarding the categorical demand to Prague.

1.—Poland cannot tolerate any longer the shedding of Polish blood in the area.

2.—Poland does not recognize the separation of Europe into countries of second and third classes, and especially a new frontier separating Poland to be treated as a second-class country.

3.—"Since Poland was not invited to the Munich conference (at which French, Italian and British statesmen agreed to arrange for cession of certain predominantly German parts of Czechoslovakia to Germany), Poland cannot be bound by decisions of that conference."

A new series of incidents was reported today on the Polish-Czechoslovak frontier by the semi-official Polish frontier agency.

The agency also issued a communique saying the Polish Government was "obliged to draw the consequences and place responsibility on the Czechoslovak side."

That the situation was heading for a climax was further indicated by posters appearing in streets of the Polish part of Teschen, a city which straddles the frontier.

These appealed in large headings to "Our brothers of Osla land" (across the border) to hold out.

In the Polish army brings you freedom," the posters screamed. "The historical moment is close!"

"Not hours but only minutes separate us from each other. Should Czechoslovakia refuse to return Osla Silesia of its free will, the Polish army will make the decision."

A previous Polish note demanded evacuation of Czechoslovak troops from Teschen territory as a condition for negotiations on Polish demands for the same treatment of its minority as Czechoslovakia accorded Sudeten Germans. The Czechoslovaks replied to that note yesterday, and the Polish Government was said to have been amazed that it "dealt only in generalities."

Accused Woman Takes Stand In Her Own Defence In Beauce Murder Case

St. Joseph de Beauce, Que., Oct. 1.—Before a trial jury of grave-faced, rustic men-folk today was a chapter from Mrs. Achille Grouin's courtroom tale of happenings which preceded the death of her first husband, whom she is accused of poisoning to death.

Jury-men were to consider during a week-end adjournment what they had heard of the forty year old St. Methode farmwife's story, along with ten days of previous Crown testimony.

Achille Grouin also is charged jointly with his wife and will go on trial later. Grouin formerly was a hired man of Villemond Brochu, jack-of-all trades, and Mrs. Grouin's first husband.

Mrs. Grouin, who lived with Brochu for twenty years, marrying the hired man only two months after Brochu died in August, 1937, entered the witness box in the courtroom here yesterday to testify in her own defence.

Before adjournment which came while she was in the middle of testimony she had told of her desertion of her first husband previous to his death because he had made her "work too hard."

The quiet-spoken woman said she was called upon to do the chores on Brochu's farm while he travelled about the country peddling, selling meat and taxi-driving but it was his boast of his "affairs" with other village wives that made her leave home.

Mrs. Grouin told of having returned home from Magog, where she had gone to find work after making a "retreat" at the parish church.

It was when she was back that her husband took sick but refused to "take medicine," she testified. The forty-four year old victim of what a medico-legal expert described as "acute arsenic poisoning," during his illness had eaten "meat and potatoes when he should have taken only milk and water as the doctors said," added the woman.

She said she had believed Brochu's illness to have been "acute indigestion" after doctors had told her so.

FINAL TRIBUTE PAID TO NOTED QUEBEC ARTIST

St. Petronille, Que., Oct. 1.—The French-Canada he knew and painted sympathetically for a half century bade farewell yesterday to Richard Walker, his neighbor of gifted brush and canvas.

In a vault beneath the little Anglican chapel of St. Mary on the historic Island of Orleans, a few miles below old Quebec City, the eighty-year-old painter of the habitants was buried with simple service within the sound of crashing Montmorency Falls.

Walking side by side with the sturdy habitant folk whose characteristics the Ontario-born artist transmitted to canvas with the artistry that earned him the title of "The Canadian Millet," prominent citizens of Quebec and this little settlement followed Walker to the grave.

From the vine-fronted cottage where the old artist lived the quiet retired life he adopted after coming here in 1883, the cortege wound first along a slanting beach road and then through leaf-dotted village streets to the tiny wooden chapel.

It was the quiet, rustic setting that Walker, the countryside-roaming artist, loved in life, and only a few minutes before the solemn procession got underway villagers had covered the route to clear it of cattle and other wandering livestock.

Burial of the painter under the hillside church, crowded to the doors for the brief service by Rev. Gerald Hibbert, culminated a notable story of his adoption of rural Quebec as home.

From New York, where he had established an art studio, Walker transferred his home to the upper point of this historic island and acted.

Formal German Occupation Of Sudeten Territory Under Way

Force Estimated at Thirty Thousand Men Entered Sudetenland Early This Morning After Reconnoitring Units Had Crossed Border During the Night—Strict Limitation Placed Upon Movements of Foreigners by German Military Command.

Headquarters of the German Army of Occupation, Passau, Germany, Oct. 1.—(AP)—The main body of the German army crossed the Czechoslovak frontier at 2 p.m. (8 a.m., E.S.T.) today, to start its formal occupation of Sudetenland.

Reconnoitring units had preceded the main body of the occupation force across the border during the early morning.

The force, estimated at about 30,000 men, was commanded by Colonel-General Ritter von Leeb.

It planned to occupy about one-quarter of the first zone of the ceded territory today, going as far as the Warner and Moldau rivers.

As the German troops advanced, they were separated from Czechoslovak forces by a neutral zone three thousand metres (3,270 yards) wide running roughly parallel to the new frontier.

Military law today ruled the first Czechoslovak zone occupied by the German army.

Foreigners not attached to headquarters or not accompanied by officers were subject to immediate arrest.

A German army about 30,000 strong this afternoon occupied the mountainous Bohemian forest along a sixty-mile stretch paralleling the Danube river.

The first zone taken over from Czechoslovaks stretched through the border town of Strubach through the towns of Rehberg, Wallern and Reasberg, curving downwards toward the frontier just outside of Krumau and outside Kaplitz to the frontier town of Unterhaid.

Krumau, the chief town of the region, and Kaplitz were not included in the German occupation. It was assumed that headquarters of the Czechs had withdrawn to Krumau, using the city as a new frontier base.

Twenty foreign newspapermen were accredited to the army of occupation. They were warned not to stray from a group for the purpose of independent observation, but were assured of an opportunity to see "everything."

Photographers were denied permission to enter the occupied territory. Newspapermen travelling in private and army automobiles were accompanied by staff officers.

Urgency Of Rearmament Prevented Competitive Bidding On Bren Guns

Ottawa, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Testimony as to the urgency of getting a Canadian source of supply for light machine guns was on the records of the Royal Commission investigating the Bren gun contract today.

The Commission will resume its hearings Monday.

Yesterday C. Fraser Elliott, Commissioner of Income Tax and member of the inter-departmental committee set up to control profits on Government armament contracts, told Commissioner H. H. Davis the committee was reluctant to pass on a contract for Bren guns without competitive bidding by various manufacturers but did not wish to delay the undertaking.

The inquiry is into a contract awarded the John Inglis Company of Toronto for the manufacture of seven thousand Bren guns on a cost plus ten per cent basis. The same company holds a contract to supply five thousand guns to the British War Office.

The inquiry results from a magazine article by Lieut. Col. George Drew, of Toronto, in which the terms of the contract were criticized.

Mr. Justice Davis said one of the questions he would have to consider was whether the committee had been brought into the picture early enough to enable it to deal with the matter in a practical way.

The first negotiations took place in 1934 and the committee was not called until 1935.

L. A. Forsyth, associate Government counsel, said the calling of the committee was not called until 1935.

Mr. Elliott said the inter-departmental committee was called to meet on the then proposed Inglis contract in January, 1938.

ASSERTS BANKS GIVE HELP TO E.T. FARMERS

Manager of Magog Bank Says Institutions Have Contributed Greatly to Development of Dairying Industry — Workmen Aided by Loans.

"I know from personal experience during a number of years spent in banking service in the Eastern Townships that banks have assisted farmers individually and contributed in no small way to the development of the dairying industry," declared A. W. Ling, manager of the Bank of Montreal in Magog, in an address delivered in this city last night.

As evidence of this fact Mr. Ling stated that a few years ago a group of farmers in the district where he was located wished to form a co-operative to manufacture butter. They had an opinion on the plant, which was to expire in a few days, and they required ten thousand dollars. In spite of all their efforts they had been unable to borrow this amount.

Mr. Ling said that he then offered his services and in two days the farmers had the needed amount, with which they bought the plant. Two-and-a-half years later this plant was fully paid for and this group of farmers had in their possession an asset worth ten thousand dollars, which they would not have had without the bank's assistance. Mr. Ling said.

Speaking of assistance given to workmen, the bank manager stated that in his branch alone, during the past two years, ninety-five workmen obtained Home Improvement Loans. He said this meant that in Magog, from the proceeds of these loans, an amount of about thirty thousand dollars was spent to renovate, repair and render more attractive the homes of the men.

The great majority of these men expressed their satisfaction and commented freely upon the real benefits they had derived from these loans, Mr. Ling said.

"I know that the bank managers throughout the Eastern Townships have at heart the welfare of the farmer, the workman and all classes of society," Mr. Ling said.

"It is popular to misrepresent Canada's chartered banks as having had some responsibility for bringing on the depression," Mr. Ling said. "They are charged with curtailing business, bringing price levels down with all the attendant grief by contracting loans of hundreds of millions of dollars.

"It is also suggested that we did nothing to head off the depression or to soften its effects for Canadians and that by expanding and contracting credit we bring on booms or depressions as and when we choose," he stated, adding that "this summarizes a misconception that is rampant today."

General managers were called up to testify before the Banking and Commerce Committee in 1934, Mr. Ling said. They stated that as early as the summer and fall of 1927 and from then on all head offices, entirely without agreement, started curbing their customers not to get into too extended a position as to inventories. More than that, the speaker said, each bank had become highly sensitive to the wave of unbridled stock speculation which was sweeping this continent.

Later, testifying before a Parliamentary Committee, the general managers established that the banks had no responsibility for the depression and that they foresaw it, warned against it, sought to curtail speculation and did curtail loans for speculative purposes.

Mr. Ling has spent seventeen years banking in different sections of the Eastern Townships.

MANY ATTENDED AYER'S CLIFF ANNUAL SUPPER

Residents of Many Sections of Eastern Townships Present at Fall Event Held by Beulah United Church.

Ayer's Cliff, Oct. 1.—Beautiful autumnal colors were used in decorating the vestry of Beulah United Church when the annual chicken supper sponsored by the congregation enjoyed one of the greatest successes yet attained.

About two hundred attended, including guests from Sherbrooke, Lennoxville, Cookshire, Coaticook, Beebe, Derby Line, Vt., Rock Island, Hatley, Mansonville and Magog.

The dining room was in charge of Mrs. E. S. Beerworth and Mrs. R. G. McHarg, who, with their able assistants, gave the guests excellent service.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rexford supervised the work in the kitchen, while Mrs. E. W. Sheldon looked after the pies and cakes. Mrs. A. F. Emberley and Mrs. J. A. Bourque were in charge of the salads, and Mrs. E. P. Lynn and Mrs. H. C. Dustin the coffee. Commendations are due the conveners for the systematic arrangements which gave such quick and courteous service. The satisfactory sum of eighty dollars was added to the church treasury.

was a "downright contradiction" of a statement in yesterday's Czechoslovak reply and "an effort to postpone solution of the Polish minority issue."

(Controversy over possession of Teschen has raged since the ninth century and, more recently, since Poland and Czechoslovakia became independent states under the post-war Versailles Treaty. In June, 1918, Polish and Czechoslovak representatives tried to agree on ownership of the district in succession to the Austro-Hungarian empire, but Czechoslovak troops occupied a part of the Duchy in January, 1919. Attempts were made to conduct an international - supervised plebiscite there but riots forced abandonment

WOLF CUBS IN FINE MEETING AT COATICOOK

Symbolic Dances by Cubs Featured Regular Session of First Wolf Pack in Guild Hall.

Coaticook, Oct. 1.—A meeting of the First Coaticook Wolf Cub Pack was held in the Guild Hall, when Lesley Baskerville took the "Scout's Promise" and was presented with the Cubmaster badge by Rev. W. W. Davis, retiring Scoutmaster.

A number of parents and friends of the boys were present and for them the Cubs performed two of their Wolf Pack jungle dances, first the hunger dance of Kaa the Python and a dance entitled "Death of Shere Khan the Tiger."

The boys, fifteen in number, then gave three cheers for L. M. Thomas, A. M. Baldwin, H. B. Ferrell and Dr. Church, who assisted so greatly in making possible their summer camp.

Mr. Davis, in addressing the parents and friends, urged them to give the Cubs and their new master, Mr. Baskerville, every support to keep the club prosperous and successful. Mr. Baskerville said he was much impressed with the benefits the young boys of the town are getting in making possible their summer camp.

Members of the Wolf Cub Pack were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kermyer and there presented Mr. Davis, their retiring Cubmaster, with a very fine fountain pen desk set.

Mr. R. H. Gooley has returned to Coaticook after an absence of several weeks spent at Old Orchard, Maine, and in Sherbrooke.

Miss Ruth Beerworth entertained a number of young lady friends at dinner on Wednesday in honor of Miss Hilda Gerard, who will leave town early in October to accompany Rev. W. W. Davis and family to their new home in Quebec City.

Urgency Of Rearmament Prevented Competitive Bidding On Bren Gun

The committee was determined by receipt of word from the War Office that it would purchase guns made in Canada.

A departmental memorandum submitted to the committee said if a crisis developed and Canada lacked guns to defend itself criticism would be directed to those responsible for providing guns if they neglected to urge speed.

At that time, in January, 1938, said Mr. Elliott, world conditions were less critical than they had been in the last few days.

After reluctantly giving up the idea of calling for competitive bids, Mr. Elliott said, the committee proceeded to examine the proposed Inglis contract in order to see that the public interest was protected. Two clauses, considered unusual, were eliminated. One would have given the company an exclusive license for the manufacture of Bren guns and the other would have permitted it to assign its rights.

were expected to be through regular diplomatic channels. Final details could then be worked out at another meeting of Chamberlain, Hitler, Daladier and Mussolini.

Popular admiration of Mr. Chamberlain's Munich mission — which brought peace to a western Europe on the brink of war — continued high. There were evidences, however, that his political opponents were preparing a barrage of criticism in parliamentary next week.

L. C. M. S. Amery and Winston Churchill were among Conservatives who have criticized Mr. Chamberlain's methods. The Liberal leader, Sir Archibald Sinclair, declared in a statement that "the power and will of the German dictator had prevailed over the will of the free people of Britain, France and Czechoslovakia."

PRELATE CALLS FOR NATIONAL THANKSGIVING

Archbishop of Canterbury Announces Conference of Churchmen Later in Month to Discuss World Problems.

London, Oct. 1.—(G-Havas)—Most Rev. Cosmo Gordon Lang, Archbishop of Canterbury, today expressed profound thanks to God for the preservation of peace in Europe, praised the statesmen who assured it, and urged Britons to seek resolutely to remove the basic causes of war. He declared tomorrow a day of "national thanksgiving."

The archbishop, who conferred with church leaders at Lambeth Palace yesterday, announced he would summon a more important conference of churchmen the middle of this month to discuss world problems.

"No words are needed to describe the relief which the agreement reached at Munich has brought to the people of this country and indeed to the world," the prelate said in a statement.

"As Sunday, September 18 (after the meeting between Prime Minister Chamberlain and Chancellor Hitler at Berchtesgaden) was observed as a day of national prayer, so Sunday, October 2, must needs be observed as a day of national thanksgiving by God's mercy we have been delivered from the imminent danger of war."

"We cannot, we dare not, doubt that the sudden lifting up of the cloud which for the past weeks has darkened and oppressed our life is an answer to the great volume of prayer which, with most impressive unity and reality, has been rising to God."

He writes these words and those which follow after a consultation with the representatives of Christian churches in England and Scotland whom I invited to meet me at Lambeth Palace on Friday.

Although thanksgiving to God for his mercies will be uppermost in our hearts, I hope that the thoughts of Christian people, and indeed all our fellow citizens, and the words which may be spoken on Sunday, will have a wider range.

"They will surely include thankfulness, admiration and gratitude for the courage and persistence of the struggle for peace of our own Prime Minister, who has at last had his reward."

"Nor shall we forget gratitude to the other statesmen at Munich, whose joint labor made the agreement possible. We shall also think with sympathy of the Czechoslovakia Republic, with cordial recognition of its self-restraint and of the very hard sacrifices which it has been asked to make for the sake of peace."

must our people sacrifice their future safety for momentary ease."

Declaring the problems of peace cannot be solved by words, the London Star (Liberal) doubts if any pact between Germany and Great Britain will suffice to deal with them. "Peace in Europe can only be settled on a European basis and not by a partial or limited agreement," the Star adds.

"Cannot Britain now face peace as she faced the threat of war?" asked the Evening News (Independent). "It was not only fear which stirred in men's hearts. We have found something near unity again in facing a common danger. Does it need always a great peril to bring out that spiritual strength in a democracy? Need that spirit be lost?"

Meanwhile, Birmingham, the home town of the Prime Minister, was planning a popular welcome for its most distinguished citizen when he returns October 14th to address his constituents. As a civic tribute to the Prime Minister, Birmingham's Lord Mayor announced inauguration of a peace thanksgiving fund to which citizens are invited to contribute. Disposal of the fund will be subject to Mr. Chamberlain's wishes.

Tomorrow special services of thanksgiving will be held in churches throughout the land.

SECOND INOCULATION IN BURY

On Tuesday, October 4, from ten to eleven a.m., the health officer will be in the Town Hall of Bury for the second inoculation against diphtheria. On other days during the coming week the County Health Unit staff will be proceeding to the physical examination of school children in rural areas.

As so many people are now or have lately been suffering from common colds it is suggested that one always should use a handkerchief when coughing or sneezing. Very often a general illness accompanies the nasal symptoms, which are then called an attack of grippe. It is then particularly advisable to stay in the house for a day or two while taking an adequate treatment.

Should this precaution be overlooked by the parents, the teachers could, in the class room, separate the healthy ones from those suffering with a cold. Sufficient humidity in the atmosphere would prevent the congestion produced in the nasal passage by frequent overheating of houses in fall and winter.

LENNOXVILLE

Thirty-six school children and children of pre-school age received medical examination and anti-diphtheria inoculations from Dr. J. E. Winder today at the Institute of the Town Hall.

This work was under the auspices of the Sherbrooke County Women's Institutes, and Dr. Winder was assisted by Mrs. Perley W. Herring, county convener of Child Welfare and Public Health, Mrs. F. R. Titcomb, who is the Lennoxville convener of this department of the Women's Institutes activities, and also Mrs. Ralph E. Mosher and Mrs. C. A. Prince.

These children came from various parts of the surrounding districts, and it is expected that medical inspection of the Lennoxville High School will take place some time later.

The splendid accomplishments of the Sherbrooke County Women's Institutes in Child Welfare and Public Health work cannot be too highly praised, for they have been, and are bending, every effort towards safeguarding the health of school children in this district.

The friends of Mrs. Malcolm Campbell are sorry to learn that she is again a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital. A complete and satisfactory recovery is wished for her by all.

New System Being Adopted In Connection With Relief Work

Quebec Government Will in Future Relieve Civic Authorities of Much of Burden and Responsibility Attached to Operation of Relief Organization—Men Working on Relief Projects Will Be Paid Directly by Government.

Sherbrooke is considered one of the few privileged municipalities in the Province as regards a new system of relief work administration to be inaugurated on Wednesday next, by which the Quebec Government will relieve the civic authorities of much of the burden and responsibility attached to the operation of the relief organization.

Salaries to the men engaged upon relief projects will in future be paid out by the Provincial Government instead of by the City Hall, Maurice Cormier, City Treasurer, explained to a Record reporter today. Under the old system, the city has received its bulk cheque from the Provincial Government and has distributed it among the men engaged on municipal undertakings being executed as relief measures. The new order will eliminate such tedious work, accounting and such responsibilities as far as the City Hall staff is concerned.

Furthermore, Mr. Cormier continued, the question of rents will be handled differently. At the present time, the city withholds a certain portion of a relief worker's salary to meet his rental obligations at the end of the month; but in future this responsibility will rest with the employee himself. He will receive his full salary from the Government, and out of this he will have to make provisions for his rent and other necessities of life.

City Hall officials are confident that this procedure will work out satisfactorily and will no doubt, they think, elevate the morale of the man who is on relief projects but is not the complete master of his weekly pay-envelope, in that the city withholds a certain portion.

Mr. Cormier pointed out that no longer exists any such thing as "direct relief," or dole. The term has no place in City Hall parlance. The Government is likewise intent upon eliminating it from its vocabulary, he said.

The city will continue to carry out the investigations relating to the applicants for relief work, but Government inspectors and supervisors will be in Sherbrooke in the future.

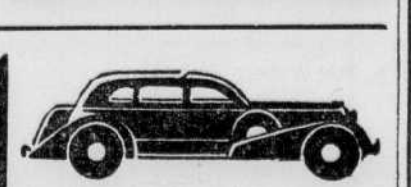

Mr. Cormier pointed out that the new system is being adopted thanks to Col. the Hon. Johnny Bourque, Provincial Minister of Public Works and Lands and Forests.

CO-EDUCATION DEBATE THEME AT UNIVERSITY

Negative Team Awarded Decision on Argument "Resolved that Co-education Should Be Abolished."

The old common room of Bishop's University was the scene of a short but highly informative debate last night when six freshmen aired their views on the subject of co-education. The debate represented the debut of these half dozen first year men into extra-curricular activities.

Actual resolution before the house was "Resolved that Co-education Should Be Abolished," and was supported by the affirmative team of Ian Hay, Russell Rexford and Raymond Tulk. They divided their points into three divisions — the point of view of the professor, the male students and the female students.

Messrs. Leggett, Boyle and Shaughnessy represented the negative, and were awarded the decision by the judge, Dr. E. E. Boothroyd, M. A., D.C.L., vice-principal of the university.

Hay the first speaker for the affirmative, presented the case from the point of view of the professors. The presence of both sexes in the classroom results in divided attention and mental barriers, he claimed, adding that the co-educational system also brought about dissatisfaction caused by the necessary restrictions it imposes.

Rexford, taking the view of the co-eds, showed that girls are neglected and have no real standing in the student body. They suffer as a result of their competition with men and do not derive the full benefits of their education. Separate colleges would avoid this difficulty, he said.

Tulk tried to show that girls distract men at lectures, and that men did not come to college to acquire the social graces that the opposition claimed they did. The innocent budding female scientists slow up the work of the faster men scholars, he believed.

In a very abbreviated speech, Leggett of the negative side, said that men students developed social life through co-education and received inspiration in their work from the female element at the college. As an example he pointed out that the football team played better with the co-eds watching from the sidelines.

Boyle said that experience was the best guide to the success of co-education and that it had shown the old theoretical objections to the system to be wrong. Another important factor, he urged, was the cost of the education, which would be much greater with the separate schools than necessary if the present system was abolished.

Shaughnessy, the last debater of the evening, defended co-education, claiming that men needed the polishing of manners that it offered. Men can become better acquainted with the views of women and acquire a broader outlook. In closing, he said, "Women are very difficult things to handle—why shouldn't we learn how to handle them?"

Dr. Boothroyd, the judge and commentator, announced his decision and offered several helpful criticisms to the debaters. He showed Continued on page 5, col. 3.

Permission To Abandon Operation of Farnham-Frelighsburg Line Accorded

Operation of the C.N.R.'s Farnham-Frelighsburg line, a distance of 17.9 miles, will be abandoned by virtue of a majority judgment of the Board of Transport Commissioners issued in Ottawa yesterday.

F. N. Garceau, deputy chief commissioner, filed a dissenting judgment in which he said railway employees put out of jobs for public convenience should be compensated. "There is no reason why the general principle of law and equity that no one can be compelled to give up his property (wealth) for public utility without adequate compensation should not apply in this case."

First order permitting abandonment of the line was made in 1935 but its operation was delayed after representations had been made by affected interests. A hearing held at Farnham last June 15 has resulted, however, in confirming the 1935 order.

The present order is to become effective ninety days after September 8 "without prejudice to whatever rights or remedies may be open to the parties in courts of competent jurisdiction as to the terms of existing agreements."

Savage Battle As Canadians Storm Canal Du Nord In September, 1918
The long story of Canada's part in the Great War contains nothing to equal in savagery the fighting which took place in the battle for the storming of the Canal du Nord, in September, 1918. On other fields the Canadian Corps had achieved great renown by the bravery, the dash and the resourcefulness of its attacks, and by the grim stubbornness of its defence. Each battle had a feature exclusive to itself, but all had evoked the highest qualities of the Canadian soldiers, and in every case these qualities had prevailed.

The feature of the actions subsequent to the triumph at the Canal du Nord was the desperate character of the enemy's resistance. His last system of defence broken, himself driven back to open country with no other line behind which he might rally, the German soldier, prompted by sheer desperation, turned the battles for Cambrai into a shambles.

For more than six weeks the German armies on the Western Front had conducted a series of attacks. Everywhere along the battle-line furious offensives had breached their positions. Sullenly, but fighting every step of the way, the enemy was being hunted out of the lines they had constructed years before and which they had believed impregnable. Their casualties were enormous, and in order to maintain their positions they had sent forward strength many divisions had been dispersed. Their reserves were now exhausted. The spectre of defeat in the field haunted the German High Command. The task now was not to achieve a military success which would warrant the imposition of exacting terms upon the Allies, but to stave off a disaster in the hope that the terms which the Allies themselves would impose might not be too humiliating.

The lengths to which the military leaders of Germany were willing to go, the sacrifices they were prepared to make, found their exemplification in the ferocious battles which raged north-west of Cambrai between September 28th and October 1st. In these four days thirteen German divisions succeeded in attacking four Canadian divisions. On the ridges of Abancourt, in the ravines of Bantigny, at Becourt, Sancourt and Cuvillers — within a triangle whose base was about six miles — the final and decisive battles of the war were fought.

The Canadian Corps suffered tremendous casualties. Attack and counter-attack followed in regular succession. Day and night the units of all four divisions wrote their story in letters of blood on the rolling terrain around Cambrai. Some Canadian battalions taking part in this engagement were themselves reduced to shadows of their normal strength. Yet, the feeling that this was the final large-scale battle possessed all ranks. Others would undoubtedly follow, but the men whose names in progress would determine the issue of what might come after.

And so the titanic combats raged, the Canadians resolute in their bid for victory, the Germans equally resolute and reckless in their determination to avert defeat.

The story of the fighting in these days is a sad one, for its appendix was the long list of killed and wounded—a list bearing some of the most illustrious names in the Canadian Corps. It could not be otherwise when a defence of the magnitude indicated was offered. Yet, bit by bit the Canadians fought their way forward. Sometimes they would lose what had been gained, only to regain it later. Positions changed hands many times, with the numbers of attackers and defenders thinning each time. The line would sag, then tauten, advance, break back here or there, recover itself and move forward again. All this in a murderous atmosphere of shelling and machine gunning.

October 1st, 1918, was the critical day for the Canadian Corps. The 1st and 3rd Canadian Divisions launched their attack northwest of Cambrai in what one historian has termed "the most appalling of all these battles between the Canals." It is enough to say that after fighting steadily from five o'clock in the morning until well into the darkness, the Canadians, utterly fatigued and

FINE REPORTS AT OPENING OF Y.M.C.A. DRIVE

Nothing But Progress as Unit Will Bring About Desired Reward, Membership Canvassers Told Last Night.

E. R. Richardson, speaking at the opening supper of the Y.M.C.A. Membership Canvassers last evening, likened the campaign to the construction of a modern sky scraper. Perfect planning is required. A perfect organization with one man in complete authority who has made sure he has competent workers around him. With plan and organization complete there must be perfect performance by the workers. Thus, step by step, from foundation to flag pole, construction follows a faultless schedule. For the builder has learned from costly experience that there is only one way to get work done economically and well—by intelligent planning and concerted action.

"This same co-operative spirit that builds sky scrapers builds results in membership campaigns," said Mr. Richardson. "Practise this spirit of working together during the campaign. It is as much for your sake as it is for the Y. Nothing but progress as a unit will bring the desired reward we really want—the reward of a successful campaign."

Real enthusiasm was manifest, and preliminary reports which augur well for the success of the drive were turned in by enthusiastic canvassers. A tasty supper was prepared by Mrs. Z. W. Griffith, Mrs. H. B. Johnson, Mrs. J. W. Terrey, Mrs. H. W. Welsh and Mrs. C. Ross, members of the Y.M.C.A. Ladies' Auxiliary, and served by Mrs. S. A. Belmont, Mrs. L. Arter and the Misses Shirley Wolter, Mary Long and Ora Standish. Carl Griffith led a snappy sing-song accompanied by Wright Gibson on the piano.

Mr. Richardson introduced A. C. Stevens, president of the "Y". Mr. Stevens referred to the European situation and of the effect the peaceful solution would have on business in the near future. He felt the encouraging outlook should have a splendid effect on the outcome of the campaign.

W. H. Wolter, general secretary of the "Y", provided the canvassers with important campaign information, stating that everything possible had been done to acquaint the prospects with the privileges and advantages of the local association.

Hawley Griffith, Captain of the "Go-Getters", also spoke briefly. Dr. Tom Southwood, leader of the Y's Men's Group, issued a challenge, stating that while their reports were not as good as their opponents', the Y's Men were out to show they were one hundred per cent behind the Y.M.C.A.

Those taking part in the campaign are: E. R. Richardson, campaign chairman; Hawley Griffith's "Go-Getters"; Herbert Shaw, Bruce Lothrop, Howard Moffatt, Gordon Whately, David Reid, Norman Walker, Harry Shea, Bill Hammond, Abe Eichenberg, Russell Wheeler, E. ## Heavy Decrease In Building Permits Noted In September

Local Construction Continued Downward Trend as Decrease of $108,700 Compared with Same Period in 1937 Was Registered Last Month—Total Decrease of $118,700 During First Nine Months of Present Year—No Explanation for Slump Given.

Continuing the downward trend prevalent during the past nine months, building permits issued in September recorded a decrease of $108,700 in comparison with the same period a year ago, it was noted in statistics released at the City Hall today. September figures total $30,800 against $149,500 in the same month last year.

Figures for the past nine months show that there has been a considerable slump in local construction this year as compared with the building during the corresponding period in 1937. To date this year building permits aggregate $519,600 as against $705,140 for the same period last year, a decrease of $185,540.

I do not know the reasons," he said. Last month the permit involving the largest sum was issued to Bachelier-Wingate for the construction of a $15,500 storage plant and office building on Lansdowne street. A $10,000 permit was granted to the City of Sherbrooke for construction at the summer Vacation Colony and one of $1,000 for a storage building.

Total permits issued for the first nine months of 1937 and 1938 follow:

| Month     | 1937      | 1938      |

If we confess our sins, He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.—I John 1:9.

A Trying Week Is Over

People are breathing easier. There is a feeling of renewed hope, new life and confidence in the minds of all. The past week has been an anxious one. For a time it looked hopeless. War was almost certain and people were hoping against hope that things would right themselves.

Today the danger has passed. Peace seems assured and Britain's Prime Minister stands as the man of the hour—the man whose diplomacy and action saved the lives of millions of young men who otherwise might have been slaughtered in another world conflict such as the world witnessed in 1914-18.

From the palaces of kings and the hamlets of ordinary people prayers were offered. In cathedrals, churches and homes people turned to God in their plight. These prayers did not go unanswered. The Prince of Peace listened and, in the words of Tennyson, "More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of."

Hope burns anew in the hearts and minds of all. It is hoped that the settlement which has been effected will be of a lasting nature and that man will have learned the lesson of peace on earth to men of good-will.

The past crisis has proved that nations do not want war. May the way have been paved for a permanent peace which alone can give man and nations the opportunity which is needed to enjoy to the fullest the blessings and happiness of peace and the opportunity of living together in a bond of mutual understanding, good-will and international accord.

The Payroll Levy

The Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce stands upon firm ground in its protest against the Order-in-Council appearing in the Quebec Official Gazette providing for a levy of one-half of one per cent upon the gross payrolls of all employers for the operation of the Fair Wage Board. This law covers not only manufacturers but all commercial and professional enterprises employing labor other than that of the proprietor. The sum of $1,500,000 annually is expected to be raised by this tax.

If the Fair Wage Board costs this much to operate, the benefits which accrue from its ordinances are not worth the price and some means should be taken to reduce the expenditure. If the levy exceeds the cost of financing the Board, it simply constitutes increased taxation of an indirect nature and therefore was outside the competence of the Provincial Government to impose.

Industry of the Province of Quebec has at present a taxation burden which has about reached the limit and any further levies might prove the straw which broke the camel's back. The Government would be well-advised to heed the protests of the employers of labor before placing the new impost in effect.

Biased News Comments

The critical developments in the European situation during the past few weeks, and especially the compromise agreement accorded Chancellor Hitler, has brought forward a stream of propaganda by United States radio "news commentators" much of which is directly critical of Great Britain and to a lesser extent of France. In addition to this highly-colored comment, many unreliable stories have been spread over the air from time to time designed to excite the populace with their vividness if not with their accurateness.

The events of the past week have proved if Canadians desire to keep a sane British Empire viewpoint on any situation they should avoid listening to American commentators. The American broadcasts are for purely American consumption, and are not written for Canadians. The opinions of the men carry no weight at all in this country, and often little in their own with intelligent, serious-minded people.

The Canadian Press, which through its staff in London is in constant touch with the British Government and knows every move that is made or contemplated, supplies a very comprehensive service to its member newspapers. The Canadian Press also furnishes the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation with four news bulletins a day, as a further service to the public by the newspapers. These broadcasts, which give some of the highlights of the day's news, are based on facts. They neither add to nor take from the true situation. Canadians would do well to listen to these broadcasts from the C.B.C., and not waste time on the conjecturings of anti-British commentators across the border.

Editor's Note-Book

Again, it's British diplomacy that saved the day.

The name of Neville Chamberlain will go down in history as one of the greatest of British statesmen.

Divine Providence did not turn a deaf ear to the prayers and supplications of the Empire. The people, men, women and children, in all walks and stations of life bowed their heads in reverent supplication. And their prayers did not go unheeded.

It was a noble gesture on the part of Rev. Canon H. R. Bigg to open the doors of St. Peter's Church for prayer and intercession during the world crisis. His invitation to the population of Sherbrooke received a generous response. Within the walls of this house of prayer many found comfort and consolation during the trying hours.

Whatever became of the old personal line: "He resigned to accept a more lucrative position?"

One hundred per cent Nazis are forbidden to buy from non-Aryans, but there seems to be no objection to looting their shops.

Love at first sight may not always be a great success, but it does save time.

OCTOBER

O love, turn from the unchanging sea, and gaze Down these grey slopes upon the year grown old, A-dying mid the autumn-scented haze, That hanging o'er the hollow in the wood, Where the wind-bitten ancient elms unfold Grey church, long barn, orchard, and red-roofed stead,

Wrought in dead days for men a long while dead. Come down, O love; may our hands still meet, Since still we live today, forgetting June, Forgetting May, deeming October sweet— O harken, harken, through the afternoon, The grey tower sings a strange old tinkling tune. Sweet, sweet, and sad, the tolling year's last breath, Too satiate of life to strive with death.

—William Morris.

POETRY AND POLITICS

What has poetry to do with politics? In a practical sense, nearly nothing; in an ultimate sense, everything.

Who can picture, even in an age when Utopias are being pursued fast and furiously, who can picture long lines of enthusiastic citizens clamouring at the polling-booths to register their vote to elect a poet their representative? Or can you imagine the placards: VOTE FOR ROBINSON THE WRITER OF RHYMES—though I do hear there's an American candidate in the south who's crowning his way to political success. If that's possible, why not elect our poet forthwith on some such slogan as: HE'S GOT RYHTE, HE'S GOT RHYME?

Why not? From paper-hanger to Dictator: From poet to president. But even if the populace felt a little doubtful about letting a poet represent their interests, or a lyricist balance their budget, might we not at least find him behind the scenes? As private adviser to the Minister of Fisheries, say; or secretary in the House of Commons. Surely Friday would be a joy to the Minister of Fisheries running it on some such lines as:

Beautiful dish
Canadian fish
The more you have
The more you wish!

Or, surely, Hansard would be much more impressive done up in blank verse?

No? Well perhaps you're right. If I rightly remember, historically, the direct participation of poetry in politics was not always a success. Indeed, Plato, when he designed his Ideal Republic, excluded poets entirely from the state. I believe he calls them rascals. You will remember Dante was kicked out of Florence because of his politics. Shakespeare had to withdraw his play "Richard II" as being a little too suggestive of Elizabeth's insecure hold on the crown—or is that rumour? At any rate, Byron, although he did die for the politics of Greece, made a poor show in the House of Lords; Shelley got mixed up with Godwin's political abstractions and was drowned in the bay of Lerici—though I do admit that's a telescoped way of putting it! Sheridan, it is true, had more success with politics—and our own politicians will have to have a little more to do with literature before they'll turn similar magnificent periods. But then, Sheridan wrote his most famous plays in prose—and I have not yet heard that Burke, that master of language, was anything of a poet.

But despite the meagre political record set up by poets in history it does seem that, in our own times, poetry has finally entered politics successfully. There is Sir Robert Vansittart, a poet in the British foreign office; and, O wonderful event, the Irish Free State has just elected a poet, Douglas Hyde, to be their first President.

I'd like to see a well-seasoned poet given the Portfolio of a Minister of Culture at Ottawa—but that's not likely to happen. Canadian politicians seem to cherish the comfortable idea that culture will look after itself. But, that apart, I have no wish to suggest that a modern poet about forthwith get himself into active politics. That is not his place—that is why I use levity about it without damaging my sincerity. I only mean to suggest that politics is synonymous with poetry—and it would be a good thing if politicians could read poetry's wisdom of their business once in a while; or if that's too tough a bit of gristle to bite through that you, the electors, saw to it that they did!

I have been told that a popular character of recent radio programmes is someone named "Baby Snooks"—a playmate of a customer who is always asking "Why?" Now, if I were running for a seat in the House of Commons I'd have this "Baby Snooks" draw up my political platform. And it would be a very poetical one too; it would consist of one word: WHY?

Let me give an illustration: there is a serious railroad problem in Canada; in fact, a plank in the political platform that is really a spring-board. Well, I might hear in the Commons one day some member stoutly defend the continuance of the taxes to support this railroad; I'd promptly get up and make my speech of one word: Why? And he'd say, to prevent the nation falling into geographical pieces. I'd say: Why? He'd go on, that we may maintain ourselves as a nation of course. Why? So that over ten million people may continue to enjoy freedom in their homes, and justice in both places.

That is how a railroad runs straight into poetry. There is the connection between politics and poetry! That is what I meant when I said: poetry has little to do with direct politics, but has everything to do with ultimate politics. Government means a Social Order; and a Social Order means everything that English poetry has dealt with for the last ten centuries: justice, peace, and the individual necessities of love and labour.

Politics deals with things as they are; poetry would have it deal with things as they matter. That is why I connect politics with poetry. It needs it!

In these years of doubtful grace, poets can't keep apart from politics. If the poet's material is life, and life is, more than ever before, political—why then the poet must needs lead his Pegasus to a political fountain to water it. How could a poet, if he wished to give his poems any importance, write of "Lotos-Easters" for instance, when he knows that a good fraction of his true audience is in the Winter-Relief Line? Bread's more important just now than lotos-flowers.

Poetry has been called an extension of experience. Well, what is a poet to write of when the experience of a good goblet of the globe is machine-guns and high-explosive bombs? Poetry became almost fatally divorced from life in the years from Browning to the Great War. Poems came to have no or little connection with life as the mass of people knew it. Only now, as it seems to me, is poetry becoming regarded not as a proxy luxury—but as something which a human being may turn to clarify his own experience. But alas, I admit I may be wrong even about that.

A nation's poetry is her vision. Sometimes, as is the case of Canada today, the vision of a nation's poetry is not clear; the great poet, who unifies the spirit of a nation, is lacking. At least to my knowledge, we have not yet had one.

Let me show you how poetry attempts to align itself with life as it is; how poets attempt politics without running for parliament. Almost without exception the younger poets of consequence in England today have identified themselves and their work not only with politics, but with even a party within politics. Their position is comparable to some of those anonymous poets who wrote the magnificent political poetry of the psalms.

The younger poets in England profess themselves well to the left: Auden, Spender, Lewis. Those who haven't, at least to my knowledge, are hardly less concerned with social politics. No doubt you have heard the phrase: "Left-wing poet." For these, one side of politics happens in their estimation to be nearer their idea of Utopia than another. And so, they feel, to be effective, they must identify themselves at least partly, to that side. For my part, I don't think you can make poetry partisan, and to that extent they are wrong. They don't think so. But they damage themselves by coming perilously near political propaganda; they prejudice themselves by forgetting that poetry is also private and lyrical.

Politics being what they are to-day, it is not surprising that the poetry which deals with politics should take a dramatic form. In fact, the present poetic revival in the theatre derives its importance from social politics. Macleish, in America, deals with the crash of the stock-market in his play "Panic"; some of you may have heard over the air his social drama "The Fall of the City." Among English poets, I think the most notable contribution to the play which deals with Fascism and its opponents.

In their shorter poems, English poets are almost bitterly alive to social evils. They endeavour to warn the complacent; they urge to action the indolent; they formulate the question-mark that is every man's future, so that he may know what the present asks of him; or, quite simply, he tries to state the issue precisely—as MacNeice, for instance, in this:

AUBADE

Having bitten on life like a sharp apple
Or, playing it like a fish, been happy,
Having felt with fingers that the sky is blue,
What have we after that to look forward to?

Not the twilight of the gods but
apreciate dawn
Or sorrow and grey bricks, and newsboys crying war.

Our time is no time for the poet to romanticize!

You will well remember September 14th when we reached the edge of the cataclysm. Here is how politicians weeps in a versifier. His goodness or badness is left to your judgment. I call it:

REDUCE DUMMY'S TRUMP POWER TO SET GRAND SLAM CONTRACT

The bidding has gone for six hectic rounds, with Hillel R. King, of Washington, holding the East hand and egging his opponents on to a final grand slam contract, which he doubled. Then came the selection of a lead.

With two aces, King felt that there must be a most unusual distribution if North and South could take all of the tricks. The bidding showed that both North and South had plenty of trumps, hence his trump lead was based on the reduction of ruffing power in both hands. The lead was logical, as South was marked with no aces by his responding bid of five clubs to North's

WHAT REASON?

(Ottawa Citizen)

Why has Italy suddenly changed in its attitude towards the Jews—and by Italy is meant Mussolini, of course. It cannot be that he is converted to the Nazi purity claptrap. Is the reason political? Is it to please Hitler and also the Arabs? Or is it the alleged discovery that Jewish people are, for great reasons, against Fascism in all other parts of the world? Whatever the explanation, Italy has suffered in prestige as a result of its new racial rulings.

THOSE WHO SHIRK RESPONSIBILITY

(Toronto Saturday Night)

The revulsion of popular feeling in Canada after the announcement on Monday morning was violent. It may not be equally permanent. The Canadians were somewhat entitled to their revulsion, for there is no doubt that the great majority of them had been quite prepared to follow Mr. Chamberlain into a war against Germany—which, however, would not have involved Canada in any very immediate danger to her own territory.

The Americans indulged in an equally violent revulsion, to which they were not entitled at all; for there is not the slightest reason to suppose that the majority of them desire Herr Hitler to be put in his place by anybody but the British, French, Russians and Czechoslovakians—no doubt with some support of United States munitions on the cash-and-carry basis, but certainly without any American military aid. The American attitude on all delicate European problems is determined almost entirely by the process of wishful thinking. They would like Czechoslovakia to be preserved, but they have not the slightest intention of taking a hand in the preserving. It is an attitude which has never been better typified than by Senator Pittman, Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, when he said the other day, in an interview on the Sino-Japanese War, that "If the Chinese Government is driven back to a cave in the mountains three thousand miles from the coast, and the Government consists only of Chiang Kai-shek, I would continue to recognize that Government as the Government of all China." Such utterances may be satisfying to the utterer, but they do no good to Chiang Kai-shek, nor to Haile Selassie, nor to Premier Beneš, nor to the cause of peace and justice anywhere in the world. The cause of peace and justice can be maintained only by those who are willing to take some responsibility. Nothing is done for it by those who wash their hands and say, "I am innocent of the blood of this just nation."

LADIES' GROUP HELD MEETING AT LEMESURIER

Lemesurier, October 1.—The Auxiliary of the Women's Missionary Society met at the home of Mrs. William Dunn. A pleasant afternoon was spent in quilting the quilt being given by a life member who now lives in Detroit.

The devotional part of the meeting was in the hands of the president, who opened it with singing. This was followed by Scripture reading and prayer, led by Rev. H. K. Gimour.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The secretary and treasurer read their reports. A summary of the sectional meeting held in Inverness was given by the president.

Offering was received and the meeting closed with praise and prayer. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

General Notes: Mr. and Mrs. James A. Watt, of Sherbrooke, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hutchison. The Misses Margaret and Bea Savage and Messrs. Alex Savage and C. Crosby, of Lennoxville, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. Savage.

Rich Trimming Or Simple Elegance Identifies New Fall "Dressy" Hats

New York.—The return engagement of dressy daytime clothes and the prominence in the fall fashion picture of dinner suits and dinner dresses make semi-formal hats important news. This is a season when gay little "lady" hats are to be considered as seriously as more casual types for street and sports.

The semi-tricorn, left, of fine silky velour, is finished with two high feather wings in soft rose with the rose shading to pinkish gray at the edges. The small black tricorn, right, has pink French roses on the crown, a circular face veil and a fan-shaped bit of the embroidered veiling standing straight up at the black.

CANVASSERS FOR HOSPITAL FUND GUESTS AT TEA

The annual campaign for the Sherbrooke Hospital has already reached $10,000.93, and when final results are obtainable it is expected the grand total will reach $12,000. It was revealed yesterday at a largely-attended meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary, held at "Rockmount," prior to the tea given there in honor of the canvassers.

Mrs. L. A. Darcy, the president, presided and before proceeding with the afternoon's business, repeated prayers of thankfulness for peace restored, these being fervently echoed in the hearts of all present.

To Mrs. R. H. Moulton, secretary, fell the pleasant task of announcing the result of the campaign to date as $1,050.93, it being stated that that final returns have not yet been received and that there is every indication the amount will reach the grand total of $1,200, before the books are finally closed for the 1938 campaign.

Mrs. Moulton first expressed the thanks of the president and executive to the canvassers for their splendid work to the press, the Sherbrooke Record and Telegram, for campaign publicity to Miss M. Sutherland, who broadcast and to the local station for providing the facilities, the Sherbrooke Trust for accepting returns, which help was invaluable, and to the merchants who donated door prizes. The names of Mrs. David Wilson and Mrs. Robert Newton were included among the canvassers, for they kindly used their cars in conveying the collectors to several outside places.

Asked to explain the most pressing needs for the hospital at the moment, Miss Verna K. Beane, superintendent, suggested money for blood transfusions and an extra vacuum cleaner. The meeting then voted $200 for the former and $77.43, the cost of the latter.

Plans for the annual jam shower at the Nurses' Home on November 10th concluded the business period. Congratulatory remarks were made by Dr. E. A. Tomkins, chairman of the Medical Board, Mr. Gordon Armitage, chairman of the Hospital executive and Mr. W. E. Paton, who suggested the advisability of an interne at the Sherbrooke Hospital.

Prior to adjournment Mrs. R. W. E. Wright voiced the thanks of the Auxiliary to Mrs. Andrea Paton Robinson whose gracious hospitality everyone so much appreciated, for it was a pleasure to visit "Rockmount" her lovely home. The door prizes were won by Mrs. Stewart, of Lennoxville, Mrs. A. C. Stevens and Mrs. E. A. Lunderville, of Sherbrooke.

Tea was served in the dining room, Mrs. L. A. Darcy and Mrs. Andrew Sangster presiding at the beautifully appointed tea table, which was lovely with late autumn flowers from the "Rockmount" gardens.

SMALL SHAPES MOST FAVORED, MANY WITH ELABORATE VEILS

A diminutive turban, left, of black velvet with a pert, peaked crown, is finished with a dramatic black veil with black sequins in geometric design. The shiny, silky black velour model, right, also to wear with afternoon or dinner dresses, is simply a skull cap with a huge flower of self fabric posed at the front. Pearl pins are fastened into the petals.

In all types of hats the diminutive silhouette is most popular right now. And tiny fur toques are the darlings of the hour. One Fifth Avenue collection includes a smart chinchilla rabbit toque, worn far forward and shown with a matching man and bolero jacket. A black felt turban, black, the favorite is accented with color.

It is estimated that about seventy per cent of the hats being sold these days are black, usually touched off with a spot of color—a bright feather, a jeweled ornament, a flower or a bow of vivid veiling. Most popular colors among the remaining thirty per cent are fuchsia and various other shades of purple, hunter's green, rust, brown, dark gray.

Tested Recipes

GARNISHES BOUND TO MAKE VEGETABLE MEALS TEMPTING. Variety, in my opinion, is the only justification for an all-vegetable main course. A vegetable plate can be appealing and colorful, but only if made of carefully chosen combinations of fresh vegetables with tempting garnishes and accompaniments. You will not save money on a vegetable dinner or luncheon unless you are clever about juggling your marketing and menus, so that the purchases you make will provide the vegetable or salad part of several meals.

To be attractive and well balanced, the vegetable plate should include at least three fresh vegetables, in addition to potatoes. One of these should be cooked with milk, cheese or eggs to balance the meal. In addition, there should be something crisp and crunchy—a small serving of raw vegetable salad in a cup of lettuce, cucumber slices, radishes, celery, carrot sticks or olives.

Grilled fruit may, if you wish, be substituted for one of the vegetables. Crisp bacon or tiny well browned cocktail sausages may be considered garnishes, but they will do much to make the absence of the usual serving of meat noticed.

The following recipes will do much to make your vegetable dinners enjoyable: GRILLED TOMATOES-CHEESE SOUFFLE. 4 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 1 cup cheese, grated, 1 salt and pepper, 4 eggs, separated, 4 large tomatoes, Toast, bacon.

Make a thick white sauce from the butter, flour and milk. When smooth, add the cheese, season to taste and stir until the cheese is melted. Remove from the heat and add the well beaten egg yolks. Cool. Peel the tomatoes, trim off the ends and cut each in four slices. Season with salt and pepper and broil on each side. Transfer the tomato slices to rounds of buttered toast and arrange in a buttered baking pan.

Fold the stiffly beaten egg whites into the cheese mixture and heap on the tomato slices. Bake in a hot oven fifteen minutes. Lift with a pancake turner to the hot dinner plates, surround with other vegetables and garnishes and serve at once. This recipe makes sixteen servings. For the average family cut the recipe in half.

ORANGE SWEET POTATO. 3 oranges, 4 medium-sized sweet potatoes, boiled, 2 tablespoons grated orange rind, 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/2 cup melted butter, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 8 marshmallows, cut up. Cut the oranges in half crosswise. Remove the pulp without breaking the rind. Use a sharp scissors or knife and flute the edges. Remove the boiled or baked sweet potato from the skins and mash with the remaining ingredients. Beat until fluffy and pile the mixture lightly into the orange shells. Put a small dab of butter on top of each potato heap and sprinkle with a little additional grated orange rind. Place under the broiler and brown the potatoes lightly on top. Serve immediately. Tiny sausages may be served instead of bacon for the "garnish." Six servings. MUSHROOMS WITH CORN. 12 large mushrooms, 2 teaspoons minced onion, 1 1/2 cups cooked or canned whole kernel corn, 2 tablespoons minced parsley. Peel the mushroom caps. Clean the stems, chop and saute in butter with the onion about five minutes. Add the corn and season to taste with salt and pepper. Heat thoroughly, then add the parsley. Meanwhile, saute the mushroom caps in butter until light brown and tender. Remove to the hot plates and heap the dressings with the corn mixture. Serve two to each person.

BRIDE-TO-BE WAS FETED BY BEEBE FRIENDS

Beebe, October 1.—The Misses Barbara Beane, Josephine Wells, and Edith Wood were joint hostesses at the former's home, at a cup and saucer shower in honor of Miss Beulah Rexford, a popular bride-to-be, whose marriage is taking place next month.

A miniature bride, daintily-dressed, occupied the position beside the guest-of-honor's chair, her billowing skirts concealing the numerous packages which later in the evening were presented by Miss Wood. Miss Rexford graciously thanked her friends for the lovely gifts. The evening was spent in various games and music, after which lunch was served by the hostesses from the tea table, which was very attractive with pink and white streamers and lighted pink tapers and centered with a beautifully decorated bride's cake.

RALLY DAY OBSERVED

Rally Day was observed in the United Church, service being held in the evening. The church was prettily decorated with autumn leaves. Several of the pupils took part in the service, the theme of which was "The Bible, Chained and Free." The musical part of the service was led by a Junior Choir.

Several pupils in the Primary Department received their promotion certificates from beginner's class to primary. Jean Berry, Sally Ann Allaire, Elaine Shepley, Robert Howie and Charles Henderson, Gwen Berry, Sylvia Corey, Joyce Maxwell, Mary Jean Mackie, Marilyn Stewart, Donald Venning, Bruce Anderson, Charles Smith and Donald Stewart were advanced from the primary to junior division.

FINE ADDRESS AT ABBOTSFORD GROUP MEETING

Abbotsford, October 1.—A special meeting of the Women's Institute was held at "Woodbine," the occasion of a visit from Miss Hazel B. McCain, superintendent of the Quebec W.I., Macdonald College.

Mrs. J. F. Fisk, the president, was in the chair and after the routine business, turned the meeting over to Miss McCain, who spoke of the work in other parts of the province and told of attending the session of the conference held by the Canadian Association for Adult Education, the Canadian Handicraft Guild and the Canadian Education Association in Halifax, Saint John and Charlottetown last summer.

Miss McCain then introduced Miss Deneke, Honorary Secretary of the Oxfordshire, England, W.I., and president of the Elford branch of the W.I., which Lady Tweedsmuir was president for fifteen years prior to coming to Canada. Miss Deneke is visiting Institutes across Canada and, on her return from the West, will spend a month in Ottawa as guest of their Excellencies.

The speaker gave a very interesting account of the work carried on by the Institute in Oxfordshire. They, like Abbotsford, are situated near a university, from which those who wish to study may obtain valuable assistance. Demonstrations and lessons in sewing, crafts and cooking are provided for those of a more practical term of mind. The social hour is a part of every meeting.

Mrs. M. E. Honey thanked the speaker on behalf of the members. Tea was served by the hostesses, the Misses Edith and Laura Fick. Miss McCain and Miss Deneke were luncheon guests of Mrs. D. J. Fisk.

Attractions at the Local Theatres

Warner Baxter and Marjorie Weaver in "I'll Give a Million," which opens at the Granada Theatre tomorrow.

At The Granada
 "I'll Give a Million," which opens at the Granada Theatre tomorrow, is one of the gayest, most hilarious cinematic romances to come out of Hollywood in many months.

Romance Warner Baxter; gorgeously glamorous Marjorie Weaver; at last in glittering reinment; Peter Lorre, the erstwhile maimed Mr. Moto, a riotously funny characterization; beloved Jean Harlow in a part as charming as his famous Country Doctor; that master of facial facility, John Carradine; exciting Lynn Bari; Fritz Feld in the best thing he has done since the Pled Piper in Rheinhardt's "The Miracle."

That's just a quick glimpse of the cast which adds up to hundreds—and introduces Shorty, a clever scene-stealing smart. Only the keen mind of smart writers could logically tie up the gamut of high society, and the idea of a whole town in Southern France suddenly inaugurating kindness to tramps—just because Warner Baxter, seeking refuge from fair-weather pals, says he'll give a million francs for a real friend.

The added attraction is "Bulldog Drummond in Africa," starring John Howard and Heather Angel.

At The Premier
 Action, romance, drama, comedy—and an excellent cast; these are included in "Come On, Leathernecks," which opens at the Premier Theatre tomorrow.

Richard Cromwell is seen in the starring role as a young West Point graduate who has been an all-American football player. He enters the Marine Corps, only to try to get out of 55 to 80 cents. Other heavy traders at gains of 50 to 100 cents included Kerr-Addison, Mining Corporation, Sylvanite, Teck & Hughes, Powell-Royan and Central Patricia.

Trading expanded in the western oil share market and the price tone improved. Royalite led the advance, stepping up $2 to close yesterday at $42. Calgary-Edmonton, Okalpa, Home and Anglo-Canadian commanded higher prices.

STOCKS REGAIN EARLY LOSSES ON PEACE NEWS

Sharpest Rebound of Year
Noted on Canadian Stock
Exchanges with Easing of Tense European Situation.

Toronto, Oct. 1.—Canadian stock markets celebrated the signing of a new peace in Europe this week by registering the sharpest price rebound of the year. The buying rush on the Toronto Exchange in the opening hour on Friday was the heaviest in the history of the exchange with the selling of two first hours in the panic session of 1929.

The week opened with the world in the throes of the war scare and with stocks continuing the downward course they had followed for a month or more. Then came the announcement that the armistice would be made at Munich to settle Czechoslovakia's German minority issue and the market started a cautious recovery.

The rally continued through the remaining full sessions of the week, bringing the aggregate recovery of the industrial shares up 12.24 in the Toronto Exchange index to the level of pre-war session sessions while the gold stocks netted an index gain of 12.99 and the base metals 9.09.

Individual advances in the week ranged up to 55 among the more active sector issues, notably in the steel and utility groups. A few posted still greater gains. National Steel Car advanced nine dollars, Massey Harris preferred ten dollars while Dominion Bridge, Building Products, Bell Telephone, Steel of Canada, Walkers Common, Consolidated Bakeries, Canadian Car and Foundry Common and others advanced $3 to $5 each.

Although the senior base metal shares were not offered in quantity in recent periods of weakness they were marked down sharply in price. Noranda touched $60 on Thursday and snapped back to $73 on Friday, holding a net gain of $3.50 for the week. Smelters registered a net advance of $6. International Nickel $3.75 and Hudson Bay $1. Waite-Amulet closed Friday at $6.35, up $1.85 in a week. The smaller base metals posted more moderate gains.

Senior golds, Lake Shore, Dome, McIntyre and Buffalo-Ankerite came through the week with gains of $1.50 to $2.75 with Lake Shore leading the advance. High lights of the secondary gold group included Macassa, MacLeod - Cockshutt, Bralorne, O'Brien, Pickle Crow, Hard Rock and Wright-Hargreaves with gains of 55 to 80 cents. Other heavy traders at gains of 50 to 100 cents included Kerr-Addison, Mining Corporation, Sylvanite, Teck & Hughes, Powell-Royan and Central Patricia.

Trading expanded in the western oil share market and the price tone improved. Royalite led the advance, stepping up $2 to close yesterday at $42. Calgary-Edmonton, Okalpa, Home and Anglo-Canadian commanded higher prices.

Country And Dairy Products Prices
 Montreal, Oct. 1.—Trading was quiet on the Montreal produce markets, with prices showing little change. There was a shade easier tone on butter and cheese markets, while the egg market as well as potato prices were steady to a little firmer. Poultry buying for Thanksgiving trade featured that division, but here also the trading was still on the quiet side.

Spot sales of butter at the Canadian Commodity Exchange were 100 boxes of 88 score at 22 1/4¢ and 65 boxes of 88 score at 21 1/4¢, with the close 22¢ to 22 1/4¢ on the former and 21 1/4¢ to 21 1/2¢ on the latter. One December butter futures sold at 22 1/4¢. Futures closed easier, unchanged to one-eighth of a cent lower, at 22¢ to 22 1/4¢ for October, 22 1/4¢ to 22 1/2¢ for November and 22 1/4¢ to 22 1/2¢ for December. GOODYEAR MAINTAINS FAVORABLE EARNINGS
 Net For Nine Months In Excess Of Dividends.
 Toronto, Oct. 1.—In a letter to shareholders of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., of Canada, Limited, accompanying dividend cheques for the third quarter of 1938, the President, A. G. Partridge, says: "The earnings of your company for the first three-quarters of the current fiscal year compare quite favorably with those for the same period last year. Dividends have been fully earned on both Preferred and Common shares, after ample provisions have been made for depreciation, obsolescence and the usual reserves."

"During this period our sales volume has been somewhat lower than last year, due to general business conditions which, we are happy to say, show signs of improvement and with the automobile manufacturers rapidly getting into production on their 1939 models, our sales volume should keep up very well during the last quarter of the year."

Both Creamery and Dairy Butter One Cent a Pound Less Than Week Ago at Lansdowne Market Yesterday—Eggs Remained Firm, While Apples Dropped and New Potatoes Advanced—Grain Market Quotations Up.

Although butter dropped in price slightly over a week ago, quotations in the various divisions of Lansdowne Market yesterday remained generally firm, with comparatively few variations being recorded.

Both creamery and dairy butter were one cent a pound less than last week, the former retailing for twenty-seven and twenty-eight cents, while the latter was bringing from twenty-four to twenty-six cents. Eggs remained firm, Grade A large selling for forty-five cents and Grade A medium for forty-two cents. Grade A 1 remained firm at fifty cents a dozen, while pullets' eggs could be had anywhere from twenty-five to thirty-eight cents.

A drop in the prevailing price of local apples was also noted, some booths selling a peck for a minimum quotation of twenty-five cents. Top price remained at fifty cents. New potatoes climbed from fifteen cents to twenty cents a peck because of the prevalence of wet weather recently, causing the potatoes to rot.

No variations were recorded in the provision market, but in the grain market prices were inclined to advance. Both first and second part flour was ten cents a hundred weight more than last week, with shorts and bran each one dollar up. No. 3 C. W. Barley was three cents a bushel higher and No. 3 C.W. oats one cent over last week's quotations.

STIRRING TALK IS DELIVERED AT SCOTSTOWN

Rev. George Dibble Gives Forceful Address on "The Four-Fold Identity of the Believer in Christ Jesus."

Scotstown, October 1.—In St. Andrew's United Church, in the presence of the pastor, Rev. C. J. Gustafson, the service was conducted by Rev. George Dibble, who gave a forceful and stirring address on "The Four-Fold Identity of the Believer in Christ Jesus," based on Romans, chapter six.

Concluding the series of Singing Mission services, Mrs. Dibble spoke Sunday afternoon on "The Relationship in the Home." Special music featured selections from the ensemble and a solo by John Cox relative to the subject.

A beautiful Bible was awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Hefenden, of Sherbrooke, who, with their children, represented the largest family present. The topic for the evening, presented by Mrs. Dibble, was "Someone's Last Call." A large congregation, many from surrounding districts, was present at both these services.

Continued interest was shown throughout the second week of these special services. Meetings were held in the Town Hall as the church afforded limited accommodation. Work among the young people was especially stressed, meetings being held daily with the young people from the various churches.

A young people's service was held in the Town Hall, when about eighty couples were present and joined in community singing, after which supper was served by interested friends. The tables were decorated in red and blue with white candles and following supper the Christian Companionship Club was organized with Elmer MacIver, president, Walter Henderson, vice-president, Elaine Scott, treasurer, Miriam MacLeod, secretary and advisory adults, Rev. C. J. Gustafson, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Scott and Mr. Payson Sherman, M.L.A.

A short talk was given by Dr. Hill, of Sherbrooke, and a period of games enjoyed, after which the evening closed with prayer and singing "Blessed Be the Tie That Binds."

Mr. and Mrs. Dibble and the Misses Restrick, Crean and Bosworth, have gone to Canada, Vt., where they will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Jackson, later going to Sherbrooke, where they will continue the work of the Singing Mission.

W.M.S. SECTIONAL MEETING HELD
The sectional meeting of this district of the Women's Missionary Society of the Quebec Presbytery was held here, with a large gathering of representatives from Sherbrooke, Milan, Melboro and Goud.

Mrs. Philip Boy, sectional president, was in the chair and conducted the session, which opened with the singing of a hymn, "O, God of Bethel." Mrs. George Martin, of Goud, read the Scripture lesson followed by prayer by Mrs. McLeish. In a few well chosen words, Mrs. McLeish welcomed the guests and was ably responded to by Mrs. Willis MacDonald, Milan.

Most satisfactory reports were given by Mrs. Kenneth Murray, of Milan, and Mrs. A. P. McLeod, of Scotstown, of their respective auxiliaries.

The discursive portion was opened by Mrs. George Martin with the following problems, "how to make the meetings interesting, getting the young interested and meeting our allocation." Others taking part were Mrs. McKelvie and Mrs. K. Murray. Mrs. McKelvie spoke of how vital it is to auxiliaries to get the young interested in missionary work and on meeting the allocation, voluntarily giving being the ideal way.

Mrs. K. Murray referred to the society of members in their auxiliary and having to give up the Mission band, which was much regretted. Although handicapped by having so few members they have always managed to meet their allocation.

Mrs. Gilson, Presbyterian president, spoke of the work that could be done by Mission Bands and young women's groups. The library secretary, Mrs. George Martin, gave a brief review of her work the past six years and found it increasing and interesting. A solo, "Living For Jesus," sung by Mrs. Helgeson, accompanied by Mrs. Irving Elger, was much enjoyed.

Mrs. Philip Boy introduced the guest speaker for the day, Mrs. A. Murray, of Sherbrooke, who took as her subject, "How the Gospel Reached Our Forefathers." Going back to the Holy Land and beginning with Paul, the speaker told of the great apostle of the Gentiles, and other Christian workers, showing the missionary spirit and zeal on down the ages up to the present time. The address proved most helpful and inspiring to all present.

A vote of thanks was moved to Mrs. Murray.

Mr. Murdoch J. MacDonald has returned from Milan, where he was guest of his brother, Mr. Angus MacDonald.

Among those who attended the Communion services in Milan on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Nicholson, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth MacDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Dan R. MacDonald and Mr. Angus MacDonald.

Mrs. Murray for her inspirational address by Mrs. A. P. McLeod and was seconded by Mrs. J. McLean. The offering amounted to $6.50 and the dedicational prayer was offered by Mrs. D. A. Melver.

After singing "Blessed Be the Tie That Binds," Mrs. McKelvie gave the closing remarks. The closing prayer by Mrs. McLeish and the Lord's Prayer in union brought a very interesting and profitable meeting to a close.

Following adjournment, a pleasant social hour was enjoyed, during which refreshments were served by members of the W.M.S.

HARVEST SERVICE HELD
The annual Harvest Thanksgiving service was held in St. Alban's Church on Wednesday evening. The preacher was Rev. W. C. # NATIONAL LEAGUE CHASE MAY END TODAY

Pirates Clinging To Chance To Take Cubs

Traynormen Pulled Out by Skin of Teeth Yesterday, and Will Have to Repeat Feat Today—Two Pittsburg Wins and Two Losses for Cubs Would Make Buccaneers Winners by Percentage Point.

There's a chance—more than a faint one—that the National Baseball League race may end today just short of exhaustion for everyone concerned.

If Chicago Cubs manage to win both games of their doubleheader with St. Louis Cardinals where they couldn't break a seven to seven deadlock before darkness caught them yesterday, or if the Cubs win one game and Pittsburgh Pirates lose another to Cincinnati, it will be all over. Otherwise it can't end before Sunday, the final day of an exciting season.

There was a somewhat similar situation yesterday, but the Pirates pulled out by the skin of their teeth by whipping the Reds four to two in the second game of their twin bill after Cincinnati's Paul Derringer had let them down with five hits to take the opener seven to one. This, combined with the Chicago-St. Louis deadlock left them standing this way:

W. L. P. C. G. B. T. P.
Chicago . . . 88 61 591 — 3
Pittsburgh . . . 86 62 581 1 1/2 2
If Pittsburgh should lose and Chicago should break even today, the standing would look like this:

W. L. P. C. G. B. T. P.
Chicago . . . 89 62 589 —
Pittsburgh . . . 86 63 577 2 1
The only thing that keeps that one and a half game that is Chicago's margin looking as big as a mountain is that if the Bucs don't lose, the Cubs also must win twice. Two Pittsburgh triumphs and two defeats in three games for Chicago would leave them virtually tied, but by playing fewer games the Pirates would gain the edge of one percentage point, 587 to 586.

Derringer gained his twenty-first victory of the season yesterday with a masterful mound performance against the Pirates while homers by Wally Berger and Ernie Lombardi in the fifth sewed up the game. Then it was turn about as Russ Bauers limited the Reds to four blows and made a double and triple himself while Arky Vaughan hit for the circuit and Gus Tubb whacked out three hits.

The weary Cubs, after getting a

LOCAL CLUB SEEKS BUDDY O'CONNOR

Negotiations to secure the services of Buddy O'Connor to centre one of the Red Raiders' lines this winter are being carried on by officials of the local club, the Record was informed this morning by Manager Art Lapierre.

"Hank" Harris has not signed as yet to play with the Red Raiders but Lapierre is confident that he will be with the team when the season opens.

One finger already was injured before yesterday's game. The other went out of commission when a foul tip caught it squarely, jamming the first two joints and ripping the nail nearly off.

Leading Pirates by a game and one-half, the Cubs needed to win two of their remaining three games today and tomorrow to clinch the flag, providing Pirates captured their two from Cincinnati Reds. They could win one game and still lose the championship to Pittsburgh by a slim percentage point.

Yesterday's tie was a heart-breaker for the Cubs, who had won their last ten straight. They blew what had looked like a safe six to one lead in the early innings. They came near losing it when the Cards loaded the bases with only one out in the last of the ninth.

Yesterday's Stars
Outstanding players in yesterday's major league games were:
Johnny Mize, Cardinals: His triple with bases loaded led Cards comeback to tie Cubs seven to seven.

"O. S." after a historical date means "old style" and refers to the Julian calendar.

HARTNETT SAD AS HIRELINGS OPPOSE CARDS

Fiery Manager, Benched with Finger Gash, Able to Lend Moral Assistance Only as Cubs Battle in "Clutch."

St. Louis, Oct. 1.—(P)—Gabby Hartnett sat glumly on the bench for today, two fingers of his big right hand shrouded in tape and gauze, as his weary Chicago Cubs battled St. Louis Cardinals in their vital doubleheader, the offspring of yesterday's 7-7 tie game.

When his players needed his steady influence and potent bat most, Hartnett found himself benched, unable to lend them more than moral encouragement. He didn't even know whether he would be able to catch in the World Series next week if his Cubs should nose out Pittsburgh Pirates for the National League pennant.

One finger already was injured before yesterday's game. The other went out of commission when a foul tip caught it squarely, jamming the first two joints and ripping the nail nearly off.

Leading Pirates by a game and one-half, the Cubs needed to win two of their remaining three games today and tomorrow to clinch the flag, providing Pirates captured their two from Cincinnati Reds. They could win one game and still lose the championship to Pittsburgh by a slim percentage point.

Yesterday's Stars
Outstanding players in yesterday's major league games were:
Johnny Mize, Cardinals: His triple with bases loaded led Cards comeback to tie Cubs seven to seven.

"O. S." after a historical date means "old style" and refers to the Julian calendar.

TIME MARCHES AS GREENBERG KEEPS TRYING

Knocking Off Tomorrow's Game for Doubleheader Sunday Slices at Least Two Innings Off Hank's Chances.

New York, Oct. 1.—(P)—They're certainly not making it any easier for Hankus Pankus Greenberg. Knocking off tomorrow's game for a doubleheader Sunday is almost sure to slice at least a couple of innings off Hank's chances of catching the Babe—cause darkness always catches up with the second games of these October double bills.

Cub pitching staff looks so-o-o-o tired. Makes you wonder what'll happen when those Yanks show up—provided the Cubs do get the flag. . . Sharpshooter Wilfred Hitzel, the Minneapolis basketball whiz, may take his tricks shots into the movies this winter, and then bring 'em to the World Fair here next year. . . He's the fellow who can sink his shots any way you call them.

Paavo Nurmi took one look at Gunnar Barlund, the heavyweight, on a running track in their native Finland—and told him he should get into the fight game. . . He did. In the World Series it'll be fun to watch Carl Reynolds, the 'Cub ballhawk, come sliding home against Bill Dickey, the Yanks' catcher. They haven't seen much of each other since Bill hung one on Carl (then a Senator) back in '32, and they carted Carl off to the hospital with a busted jaw. . . Minor league ball broke all records this year. . . With thirty-seven clubs starting the season, and not a dime in debt, Dutch Bergman is calling it his "League of Nations" football squad down at Catholic U. . . Fourteen nationalities, including a couple of Greeks and an honest-to-goodness Chippewa Indian.

John Wickham, a little six-foot-four fellow from Findlay, Ohio, had to miss the first couple of weeks practice with the Tulsa U. freshmen. Seems he had to wait till they built a couple of shoes to go around his size 14 1-2 toes. . . In many cities, the right to carry a white cane is reserved for the blind.

In Sporting Vein

By Allan Bryce.

So its off for St. Lambert and a taste of victory, it is hoped, for Athletics. The boys are leaving by car early tomorrow morning, although a few left today to spend the week-end in Montreal. A good deal of hard work has been put in by the players in preparation for this, the opening game of the season, and it will be too bad if it all goes for naught.

St. Lambert fans will probably get a kick out of Ken Jackson's kicking, providing he can put the toe to the leather in the fashion of which he is capable. They may also see Haily Evans and "Dusty" Miller ghosting around the end and into open field if all goes well. Fred Sinclair and Buss Tomlinson should rip the opposing line asunder on more than one occasion.

Officials of the team entertain fond hopes that they will be able to field at least one full line-up that is properly equipped. There are about sixteen sweaters, and the rest of the players will have to wear a jersey of some kind, preferably red in color. Perhaps a sufficient number of shoulder pads, shoes and pairs of pants can be scraped together so that the lads will not go naked, (or nearly so), to the slaughter.

The crying need for equipment cannot be overlooked, and it is certainly to be desired that steps be taken to remedy the deplorable sad situation.

The result of the B.C.S.-Bishop's University practice clash demonstrated two things: First, that B.C.S. will probably be the team to give Stanstead a fight in the Interscholastic League, and, second, that the college crew need plenty of work before they can be a serious threat in the Intercollegiate Union.

It is hard to understand just why the Sherbrooke High School players have had so little tackling practice. Equipment was acquired at the first of the week, yet the lads did very little of the fundamental work that is necessary in constructing a polished team. They came down in civies on Thursday and ran through their signals. Certainly they know their plays well, but of what avail are the trickiest of formations if the front line cannot block and the ends and linemen cannot tackle.

Drummondville and Asbestos soccer squads were all set to go in the Province of Quebec Football Association Cup final this afternoon. News from both camps was that the players were in good shape and ready to stage the finest tilt that had been seen here this season. Experts predicted that Drummondville would throw speed and quick-passing against the steady, crummy style of soccer used by the Miners.

Commissioners' High School of Quebec will send its football squad into the Eastern Townships again this year to meet Stanstead College and Sherbrooke High School. The Quebec lads will travel to Quebec before their league games commence. The exhibition clash with Lennoxville High plus the encounter in Quebec are expected to put the local crew in its best form for competition in the Interscholastic circuit.

The Cubs of Chicago will chuckle if they do beat the Bucs for the World Series berth. Confident of victory for Pie Traynor and his lads, the Bucs' bosses bought loads of lumber to build additions to the grandstands at Forbes Field. They will probably go into the lumber business during the off-season. Who "woodn't" in their position.

Incidentally, the "Y" bowling alleys should continue to be as popular as they have been during the last two seasons. They have been renovated and made up-to-date during the summer and are expected to stand up under the grind.

The Tuggers, Chippers, Idlers, Jackbits, Snubbers and Grinders are at it again. We mean the Rand bowlers. The Jackbits got off to a flying start by biting off two out of three strings from the Idlers, who just stood around idly while the Jackbits went rolling along. Jack Hillman did most of the work although Dave Robins did his bit. The Tuggers tugged and the Snubbers ignored them. Both won a strinz. The Chippers

YANKEE HANDS OPPONENTS IN FINAL SERIES

Newark, N.J., Oct. 1.—(P)—The "Little World Series," opening today with Newark Bears matched against Kansas City Blues in minor league baseball's major classic, might easily develop into an old-fashioned Donnybrook Fair.

The set up is a natural for one. Consider the picture:

- 1.—Both clubs are members of the Yankee farm system under the individual ownership of Col. Jacob Ruppert;
- 2.—Thirteen players on the Kansas City roster formerly either played with the Bears or trained with them;
- 3.—Both clubs came from behind after trailing their play-off rivals; one to three in preliminary competition;
- 4.—Players on both sides will be playing their hearts out for recognition of their hope of landing jobs with the parent New York Yankees.

The managers, Billy Meyers, of the Blues, and Johnny Neun, of the Bears, are completing their first year with the clubs. The only party in the action who won't be in there swinging is Col. Ruppert. He's taking things easy in his home across the river after an illness. What's more he's not taking sides in the conflict and won't be persuaded into giving an opinion or declaring a preference.

chipped off one string while the Grinders ground out one to make their match "even stephen". These Grinders seem to know their bowling from the ground up, but the Chippers still feel chipper about the whole thing.

"Jack Brown, of Brown University," the astute football specialist, who knows his players, especially his kickers, to a tee, has been making imaginary rounds of the Eastern Townships in search of a lad to boot and pass for the Providence seat of learning next fall.

This "Mr. Brown" looked the High School stars over. He also claims he looked them under, although he hastened to point out to him that to do so would be impossible. Somewhat of a wit, we trust, this "Brown" had words with a certain "Scribs," who dashes off a few notes on High School activities for the "Dumbbell" and other publications, notably the "Scoop."

"Brown" talked this scribe blue in the face, and it was a very black picture he painted. Although supposedly searching for a kicker, "Brown" invariably brought the subject around to passing. Fondly he described how he used to throw passes in his prime. . . at any rate, he does toss the ball in sterling fashion.

Detroit Tigers are figuring on a pennant in 1940, with Schoolboy Rowe coming back and a flock of good looking rookies on the way up. But they're about convinced it can't be done for '38.

Hey, Jake Ruppert, how about your two farms, Kansas City and Newark, tangling in the 'Little World Series'? What with the Yankees and all, first thing you know they'll be investigating the good Colonel for a monopoly in restraint of trade.

Harry Cooper, Horton Smith, Jimmy Thomson and Lawson Little are so fagged out from their exhibition tour they're beginning to look a little like some of us duffers. They're taking a month off to rest up.

RECORDS FALL IN LEXINGTON HARNESS RACES

Seven World Marks Shattered in Six Days of Turf-Pounding at Annual Trots—Billy Direct Ran 1:55 Mile.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 1.—(A)—Harness racing's record books appeared due for a wholesale overhauling today, the result of seven shattered world records in six days of grand circuit turf-pounding at the annual Lexington trots.

Never, said Jesse Shuff, secretary of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association, has a harness meeting produced so many new world standards.

Foremost among the record achievements was the 1:55 mile turned in by Billy Direct, four-year-old pacer owned by McConville and Downey, of Godensburg, N.Y. The time, fastest in turf history for pacers or trotters, bested the 1905 mark set by the famed Dan Patch.

Then Greghound, six-year-old gelding owned by E. J. Baker, of St. Charles, Ill., lowered his own world trotting record to 1:55 1/4 for a mile to take, technically, second honors.

Three world records were smashed yesterday in the concluding programme of the meeting as Rosalind set a new mark of 1:57 for trotting mares. Her Ladyship established a new record of 1:56 3/4 for pacing mares and Chief Counsel chalked up a 1:57 3/4 performance for a new three-year-old pacing standard. All were exhibition races against time.
