Meanwhile the Riffian propaganda proceeds with some success, notably among the tribes south of the Oueghga, but the French hope the appearance of troops raised by the Sultan will serve to counteract it in a large measure.

AGREEMENT TO CONDUCT A COMBINED LAND BLOCKADE

(Associated Press Despatch) MADRID, July 9.—France and Spain yesterday signed an agreement to conduct a combined land blockade of the Moroccan rebel zone. The agreement, which supplements the sea blockade accord signed recently, was elected by the delegates of the Franco-Spanish Conference on Morocco a session here yesterday morning.

Louis Malvy, head of the French delegation, announced that a third accord, providing for French and Spanish political co-operation in Morocco, and considered the most important of the entire conference, would be signed today.

General Gomez Jordana, of Spain, who is president of the Conference, declared that the "accord signed provides for the blockading of the land borders to prevent traffic in arms, ammunition, foodstuffs and other commodities needed by the rebels, and to suppress suspicious manoeuvres.

FARMERS BEGIN TO CUT BEST HAY CROP IN YEARS

Haying Will Be General by Next Week—Corn Is Very Poor, Spoilt by Rains—Grains Fair.

The cutting of the best hay crop for some years has commenced fairly generally in this district. A number of farmers who were interviewed by the Record expressed themselves as highly pleased with their hay, although some of the other crops are not so satisfactory.

The Experimental Farm at Lennoxville agreed with the other farmers spoken to. It was declared at the Dominion farm that the hay crop was decidedly above average and that cutting had commenced. Corn was declared by the Lennoxville station and the other farmers to be in the worst condition of any of the crops, owing to the great amount of rain. Reports about corn were, indeed, pessimistic in the extreme.

Mr. John Ross, who has a large farm down the Brompton road, said his hay was very good and ahead of any year for some time, and that he would start cutting at the end of this week. Oats and potatoes fair and corn poor, were the conditions of his other crops, he mentioned.

At the farm of Mr. W. S. Armistage, on the Belvidere road, hay was again declared to be above average. Haying was in progress and it was said that such was the case in most of the farms in that section of the district. Corn was said to have been drowned by rains and to be in very bad shape. Grains were rather poor also as a result of the over-amount of moisture, although potatoes were quite good.

Opinions such as the above are the general expression of conditions by farmers in the district. The importance of the hay crop is great and the optimistic reports regarding it this year will be received with great satisfaction.

DEATH FOR ALL ANTI-FOREIGN DEMONSTRANTS

WAY WILL BE CLEARED SOON FOR CONFERENCE

LONDON, July 9.—The British Government is in constant touch with Washington and Tokio regarding the Chinese situation and the opinion is expressed in official circles here that the way will be cleared soon for a conference of the powers for adjustment of the Chinese customs. This in turn will offer an opportunity for the powers to co-operate with China in settling her house in order, officials here believe.

This opinion is based upon the recent ratification by French Chamber of Deputies of the treaties of forced China formulated by the Washington Conference. (One of these treaties contemplates an enquiry into the present extra territorial privileges enjoyed by foreigners in China and the other looks to an ultimate revision of the Chinese customs).

France is the last of the nine powers participating in these treaties to ratify them. The French Senate is yet to act and when French ratification is complete it should be possible for a conference of the powers and China to be held without delay, according to British officials.

Believe That Entire Genna Clan Has Been Marked For Death—Third Member Of Family Killed In Six Weeks In Chicago Gangland

Several Arrests Have Been Made by Police in Hope of Clearing Up Mystery—Latest Victim Yielded to Entreaties of Relatives at His Deathbed and Violated His Gangsters' Code of Silence to Gasp Name of Assassin.

(Associated Press Despatch) CHICAGO, July 9.—The name "Cavalero" was spoken by the dying Tony Genna, and three theories on the motives of his butchery against the Genna control of alcohol had caused the shooting, that an intended victim of an extortion scheme had struck him down, or that the shooting was another act of reprisal for the murder last November of Dean O'Banion, rival gang leader.

In the plea of Sam Genna, Tony's brother, for police protection, investigators saw grounds for belief that the entire Genna clan has been marked for death. "Please," begged Sam, "don't send me home. They're after me, too. First it's Angelo. Then it's Mike. Now it's Tony and next it'll be me."

A police escort was given Sam and he was taken to a secret hiding place. Search was made for Pete Genna, fined several days ago for carrying a pistol. Jim, the sixth brother, is supposed to be visiting in Sicily.

Similarity in the deaths of Tony Genna and O'Banion also was considered by the police. O'Banion, using a floral business as a cloak of respectability, was shot down as he greeted several men of foreign appearance in his shop. Genna, ostensibly a building contractor, advanced with extended hand to meet two occupants of an automobile which halted before a door in "Little Italy," where he had been waiting for half hour.

Five bullets were fired into his body. Tossing a pistol the assailants fled up the street and into a building. A raid on the place later disclosed a fifty gallon still and twenty-seven barrels of mash. Vito Pallero, admitted owner of the still, was held.

SPIRIT OF ANGLO-JAPANESE ALLIANCE STILL EXISTS

LONDON, July 9.—Prince Yasu-hito Chichibu, second son of the Mikado, who has arrived in England for several years' study at Oxford University, told interviewers yesterday that while the Anglo-Japanese Alliance has ceased "its spirit exists."

It is today as virile as ever and permeates the whole Japanese people," declared the Emperor's son.

WIND, RAIN AND HAIL TOOK HEAVY TOLL IN SEVERAL DISTRICTS OF MINNESOTA; SIX PERSONS KILLED

In Minneapolis Four Persons Were Killed, Eighteen Injured and One Reported Missing—Trail of Wreckage, Representing More Than $100,000 Property Damage, was Left—Fifty Per Cent. Crop Damage Reported in Wright and Eastern Meeker County, According to Early Estimates.

(Associated Press Despatch)

MINNEAPOLIS, July 9.—Wind, rain and hail took a heavy toll Wednesday in several districts of Minnesota, including the Twin Cities. In Minneapolis four persons were killed, eighteen were injured and one reported missing in a terrific win and rain storm which struck the south part of the city shortly after six p.m. A trail of wreckage, representing more than $100,000 property damage, was left.

Streets were flooded and for several hours during the evening were blocked by thousands of uprooted trees.

The Lake Harriet municipal pavilion, one of the most popular of the city's playgrounds, was the scene of the greatest catastrophe of the storm. A section of the building collapsed on fifty persons, killing Mrs. Emma Miller, her three-year-old daughter, injuring six other persons and throwing two hundred persons in a panic.

Charles R. Friester, a druggist, died of heart disease after the wind wrecked his store.

The fourth person killed was Willard J. Ford, 30, who was hurled fifty feet from the cab on a travelling crane at a local machine plant.

The fury of the storm had abated by the time it crossed the river into St. Paul. Minor damage was done there by the wind and four persons were injured in a series of accidents incident to the driving rain and wind.

Local storms of varying intensity, from mild summer showers to terrific bombardments of hail and torrential rains were reported from many sections of the state. At least fifty per cent crop damage was suffered in Wright and eastern Meeker county, according to early estimates, by the wind, hail and near tonadoes which swept that section.

WILL REPAIR MONTREAL TO QUEBEC ROAD

Is Most Important Resurfacing Project Decided Upon by Government for Some Time.

(Associated Press Despatch) QUEBEC, July 9.—Completed in 1916, the Quebec-Montreal Highway, which was the first through highway built in this province, is in need of such urgent repairs after nine years heavy traffic that Hon. J. L. Perron, Minister of Roads, announced that resurfacing of some of the sections affected would be started without delay.

In fact yesterday afternoon tenders for the execution of the work on a distance of seventeen miles were opened and the contracts will be awarded next week, being at present under study by the Minister.

This is the most important resurfacing project decided upon by the government for some time, but in addition to this highway a contract for the resurfacing of the Three Rivers-Grand Mere road will be given next week also. This road has been subject to very heavy traffic due to the development of the industrial centres in that region.

CROPS ARE GOOD GENERALLY IN THIS PROVINCE

Government Officials Issue Statement Regarding Present Condition of Products—Crops in Townships Delayed Fortnight.

The Provincial Bureau of Statistics through reports gathered by the official agronomists of the Province of Quebec, have made a close study of the present condition of crops and have issued the following statement which will be of interest in many farmers in this locality.

"Cold and rain somewhat delayed the seeding in the lower St. Lawrence which was only completed in the first week of June. The cattle came out of winter quarters in very good condition. The general appearance of the crops varies between good and very good. There is still a quantity of hay and potatoes without buyers although offered at a very low price."

Seeding in the Quebec District was delayed a fortnight, on account of frequent rain and cold and was only finished in the middle of June. The cattle were in good condition at the end of the winter and were put to graze between the last week of May and the first week of June. Pastures, meadows, grain and potato crops look promising. Root crops, vegetables, corn and fodder corn suffered during the cold, rainy weather. Fruit and berries present a good appearance. There are still quantities of hay on the market but there is no demand.

In the Montreal district seeding was carried out on time with the exception of a few places, where it was slightly delayed but without any appreciable damage. It was completed at the end of May. On account of hay being unusually plentiful, the cattle which were in good condition were put to pasture between the end of May and beginning of June. Pastures, meadows, potatoes, cereal and tobacco crops present, in general, a good appearance. In some localities, root plants, vegetables, corn and fodder corn suffered somewhat from the rain and low temperature. Fruit and berries are very promising. A large quantity of hay is unsold for lack of buyers. Sales of 300 bushels of potatoes at 30 cents a bag are reported.

In Abitibi, Temiscamingue and Lake St. John, the seeding which was delayed by cold and rain, was completed about the tenth of June. Cattle were put to graze around the same time. Meadows and pastures appear to be in excellent condition and grain, vegetables, potatoes, fruit and berries look very promising. There is yet a quantity of hay unsold.

The Eastern Townships suffered particularly from cold rainy weather which delayed the seeding on an average of a fortnight. Cattle were in the pastures around May 15th. Cereals, vegetables, corn and fodder corn promise so far, only a fair crop on account of too frequent rain and cold. In one locality it is reported that two-year-old hay is still unsold.

BUSY SESSION WAS HELD BY BURY COUNCIL

Want McCanna Bridge Built This Year—Other Important Matters Attended To.

BURY, July 8.—The usual monthly meeting of the municipal council was held on Monday afternoon. There were present Mayor James W. Dawson and Councillors A. Brouillette, F. G. Bennett, F. G. H. MacLeod and L. E. Rainey.

Mr. Alfred Chapman appeared before the council with a request for some gravel to put on the sidewalk in front of the cemetery. The secretary was instructed to give the necessary order to the overseer of that district.

The secretary reported that a favorable report had been received on the sample of gravel for the Chauncey Allison pit sent to the laboratory of the Department of Roads. Further correspondence had with the Department of Roads in reference to the federal grant was considered, and the matter is now closed.

Some discussion followed on gravel pits in the Bury Corner neighborhood, and it was decided that arrangements be made for opening a new pit in that section, and to Mr. Duncan Winslow was let the job of opening the pit and building a road to it almost exclusively, and that a public subscription through the village and the immediate vicinity would be productive of sufficient funds to make the desired improvement.

The secretary reported that the Department of Public Works had sent out an engineer to examine the 'Strapps bridge. It transpired through the following discussion that the McCanna bridge was in worse shape than the other, and it was decided to approach the department with a view of having the McCanna bridge built this year in place of the Strapps bridge.

Notice of motion was given to bring in a by-law at a special session of the council for the graveling of a portion of the Scottstown road under the government grant of 50 per cent. This work is already being proceeded with under the direction of the resident engineer of this division.

Notice of motion was also given to bring in at the same meeting a by-law for the building of a concrete and steel bridge on the 50 per cent basis. A number of road bills were examined and passed for payment.

PETER RABBIT LEARNS MORE • By Thornton W. Burgess. From others knowledge may be wrung, By means of a persistent tongue. —Peter Rabbit.

Peter Rabbit was having a wonderful time. There he sat in a bramble-tangle on the edge of the Old Pasture, comfortable and safe, while just outside sat Digger the Badger talking in the most friendly way. He had just told Peter how he happened to be there when his home was in the Far West.

"You and Old Man Coyote ought to be the best of friends, for you both come from the Far West, and you both got here in about the same way," said Peter.

"We are friends," replied Digger. "Peter rubbed his wabby little nose softly. 'It didn't look that way just now to me,' he declared. 'Old Man Coyote certainly was planning to spring on you.'"

Digger chuckled. "He forgets himself once in a while," said he. "We really are very good friends. He thought he saw a chance to catch me by surprise and he just couldn't resist the temptation. I don't blame him. It isn't as easy to get a living here as it used to be when there were Prairie Dogs all about. Then it was no trouble at all to get a dinner. My I would like a tender young Prairie Dog this very minute!"

Peter was puzzled and he showed it. "I guess I don't know the Prairie Dogs," said he. "Are they any relations of Bowser the Hound?"

Digger the Badger laughed right out. "They are not even a millionth cousin," said he. "They don't even belong to the Dog family at all."

"Then why are they called Dogs for?" demanded Peter.

"Goodness only knows," replied Digger. "I suppose it is because they bark, but even their bark isn't at all like a Dog's bark. They are related to Johnny Chuck."

Peter pricked up his ears. "Really and truly, Mr. Badger?" he exclaimed.

Digger nodded. "Really and truly," said he. "Yap Yap the Prairie Dog is cousin to Johnny Chuck. Whenever I see Johnny sitting up on his doorstep it makes me homesick. It always reminds me of Yap Yap. He sits up in just the same way. Yes, sir, every time I see Johnny Chuck I get land. A most enjoyable day was spent. The family had not thus met together for sixteen years.

to thinking about my old home out in the Far West. I get homesick. I just ache to hear Yap Yap yapping at sight of me. You ought to see a Prairie Dog town, Peter.

"A what?" cried Peter.

"A Prairie Dog town," repeated Digger.

"I guess I don't know what that is," said Peter scratching a long ear with a long hind foot.

"It is a place where ever and ever so many Prairie Dogs have their homes close together," explained Digger. "I've seen places where the doorsteps of Prairie Dog houses stretched away so far that I couldn't see where they ended."

Peter frankly looked his disbelief. "Mr. Badger," said he, "I can't swallow all those Prairie Dogs."

"Nobody asked you to swallow them," retorted Digger. "But I tell you right now that I could swallow one or two of them right now if I could get them. I suppose you mean that you don't believe what I have told you."

Peter looked very much embarrassed. "It's pretty hard to believe," he ventured. "I think you are just having fun with me."

"No," replied Digger, "what I have told you is all true."

REV. MR. RUSSELL
OF PRESENT
Former Sherbrooke Curate Glad to Be Back Here—Touches Questions of the Day in Interview.

"To one who has been away from the Eastern Townships there is a great charm in revisiting this part of Quebec, which I consider unrivalled for scenic beauty," remarked the Reverend E. C. Russell, rector of St. Ann's Church, New York and former curate of St. Peter's Church, Sherbrooke, when interviewed by the Record yesterday. Mr. Russell is in town for July and is in charge of St. Peter's while Rev. H. R. Biggs is away on his holidays.

"It has always been a puzzle to me," said Mr. Russell, "why Quebec capital did not build summer hotels. Lake Memphremagog and Lake Massawippi, as well as other points which would be equally delightful to tourists. Surely such a movement, apart from its soundness as a business proposition, would lend itself to the very thing that Canada needs at this time, namely, development."

Further remarking about Sherbrooke, he said that one of its features in his opinion was its up-to-date street railway system, which, from point of view of equipment and service, is way above average for cities of this size.

Mr. Russell said he noticed that this city followed the old custom of marching prisoners publicly through the streets between the jail and the court-house, "which custom, I do think, is degrading and antiquated and certainly not in harmony with the spirit of our age."

Defends Modern Generation.
When questioned regarding the modern generation, the rector of St. Ann's expressed agreement with Dean Fritchard, acting dean of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, New York, who, preaching in St. Ann's several weeks ago, said that the spirit of the age was a spirit of youth, and if older people failed to understand its exuberance or allow for its spontaneity, they had better "tune out" and meditate on their own youth.

The church in New York was more alive than it had ever been, stated Mr. Russell, and the controversy between fundamentalism and modernism had done more to stir up dormant Christians than anything outside of Church Union in Canada. Attendance at the New York churches last Lent and Easter was larger than for years and "any evil prophet who predicts that the church is on the wane had better refrain from expressing opinions, because those who see things in their relation to the hour predict a forward movement in Christianity, the like of which has not been seen since the time of the Reformation."

Confident Of American Relationship
When touching upon the question of American-Canadian relationship, Rev. Mr. Russell remarked that he noticed in the papers that the annual bogey of annexation to the United States had been featured for election purposes. "I have not heard of any talk in the United States favoring the project and those people with whom I came into contact in Canada are not desirous of changing allegiance. The British love the traditions of their motherland too dearly to sever the same, and the foot of a steep hill he either hit a stone or in some other way was overturned. The spot where he had the accident is not one of much traffic and it is thought he was lying some time before he was found. He lived for only an hour and a half at the Central Maine General Hospital, where he was taken.

Mr. Swallow was twenty years old and was one of ten children. He lived at the family home and assisted in the farm work, and was a member of Hamlin Lodge, Knights of Pythias. He is survived by his father and mother, Leon L. and Ada (Robinson) Swallow, three sisters and six brothers. The funeral was held on Tuesday and was conducted by Rev. C. G. Miller.

LITTLE GIRL KNOCKED DOWN AT COATICOOK

Irene Grenier, Aged Six, Hit by Car—Hopes Held for Recovery—General News.

NORTH COATICOOK, July 9. A sad auto accident occurred here at 9 o'clock Monday morning when a car driven by Mr. R. Hamby of Coaticook, in turning the corner from Compton to Rivendale street, ran over little Irene Grenier, aged 6 years. The little girl passed under both the front and rear wheels of the car. She was unconscious for several hours but at time of writing the doctors hold out hopes of her recovery. The little girl, accompanied by her two little sisters, had just stepped out of Mr. Cameron's store where they had purchased some candy and were crossing the street to their home when the car hit Irene. This corner is rather dangerous just now, as all the traffic of the main highway from Sherbrooke to Coaticook and Norton Mills has to detour here while the bridge near Regent street is being rebuilt.

FAVORABLE CROP OUTLOOK.

On the whole, according to reports, the crop outlook in this country, East and West, is about the most favorable in recent years. This section of country is to have a bumper hay yield, and this is the most important crop we raise in these parts. There has been too much rain on low lands and the grain and root crops are backward and in some cases damaged. There is, however, still time for growth and the Eastern Townships and Eastern Canada as a whole will have a good harvest. Out in the west a wheat crop in excess of 400,000,000 bushels is predicted.

All this spells improved business conditions throughout Canada. Prices for agricultural products may not be all that could be desired, but it has been again and again demonstrated that prosperity depends upon the crop. The outlook, therefore, is a pleasing one.

CELEBRATING RAILWAY CENTENARY.

The completion of 100 years of the use of railways in Great Britain is expected to be celebrated during the first few days of July and these celebrations will center in Stockton because it was there that the first railways came into existence. There will be a procession of railway engines, rollingstock and material estimated to be more than six miles long, which will picture the development of railway transport during the past 100 years. According to advices it will include Stephenson's locomotive No. 1 which will draw a replica of the load which it hauled on September 27, 1825. In connection with these centenary celebrations the International Railway Congress is to be held in Great Britain.

British transportation experts say that the greatest of all tasks that face the railways of the present day is that of recasting their system to meet new competitive conditions. It is not just a matter of adapting themselves to the changing circumstances of the day, but of reorganization on fresh and modern lines. Among other things there is the turnover from steam power to electricity. It is felt that this surely will have to take place, and that the method of financing so desirable a result must be developed for it is seen that electrification will not only benefit the railway, but will help in electric power consumption in the towns, will give cleaner towns, a cleaner countryside, cleaner railways and greatly increase the inducement to travel.

CANADA'S FUEL PROBLEM

Scientists tell us that Canada has the greatest coal reserves in the world. And yet all Eastern Canada is buying imported coal.

The Ottawa Journal discussing Canada's fuel problem says:

"Threat of a strike by American anthracite miners is an unpleasant reminder that after all the talk and promised action of the past eight years practically all of Central Canada is still dependent for its fuel supply upon the whims and moods of United States miners and operators. Competent experts assure us that ordinary Nova Scotia coal can be made into coke with a fuel value of anthracite and put into the consumer's cellar at a lower cost. The same experts tell us that we have millions of tons of good coal in Alberta and other places ready to be mined and used. Yet despite the fact that fuel is vital to life in this climate for nearly seven months of the year, that fuel cost is becoming oppressive, and that Canadian consumers are at the mercy of American coal barons and American union leaders the Government of Canada sits twiddling its thumbs doing nothing. To our curious leaders, vote-catching nonsense about reform of the Senate and the alternative vote—coupled with generous use of the pork barrel—is imperative; but such a practical question as a fuel supply is simply not for statesmen. What do Western voters care about Ontario's coal? The question, however, is a grave one. It is too grave to be allowed to drift on until some calamity forces us into doing what common sense and a little national pride should compel us to do now."

Monday of this week was the regular date on which School Commissioners are elected. There was quite a contingent of Papal Zouaves in town on Monday en route from Coaticook to Joliette, they having been present at a certain function at Coaticook the "Sunday" before. Headed by the local parish band, they marched through Main Street up Merry St., to St. Patrick's Church, where they spent the dinner hour, during their stay the local populace was privileged to hear a number of selections from both bands. The Zouave uniforms of red and grey lent quite a picturesque touch to the quieter colors of the civilian onlookers.

Misses Janet Stevenson and Mildred Olney as flower girls wore dresses and hats of blue organdie and carried baskets of pink roses. Mr. George R. Morrill, brother of the bride, acted as best man and Messrs. Leslie Parker and Leslie Stimson as ushers.

Following the ceremony the bridal party and their friends drove to the home of the bride, where a bountiful supper was served to over one hundred guests.

This lake was born overnight near Jackson's Hole, Wyoming, when an earthquake caused the top of Chief Mountain to fall off and slip down into the river valley, forming a dam half a mile across and 225 feet above the old river bed. Across the lake, to the right, the waters cover a ranch house that was on the bank of the stream before the landslide, and in the foreground the ragged stumps and limbs of uprooted trees can be made out.

NEW YORK July 9.—The veteran spitballer, Stanley Coveleskie, a Cleveland cast-off traded to Washington late last season, today is the leading twirler in the American League with eleven victories out of twelve starts.

Coveleskie marked his latest triumph for the world champions yesterday by a 10 to 2 victory over the White Sox, which gives the Senators a grip at the head of the American League by two and one-half games.

The Athletics broke even with Cleveland. The Indians took the first game by 14 to 3, pounding four Philadelphia pitchers for nineteen hits. In the second encounter Eddie Rommel checked the Cleveland batting and the Mackmen won by 7 to 5.

Detroit hung up a double victory over the Red Sox, 5 to 0 and 8 to 2. In the first shut-out the Tigers have enjoyed this year, Daus allowed Boston but six hits. Heimann hit a homer in each game.

The Yankee's losing streak, which had stretched to four games, stopped with victory over the Browns in a loose game. Ruth's seventh homer of the season with one on in the third helped the Hugmen to a 6 to 4 win. Each club used three pitchers.

Rain caused a lull on the National League front, the two games between the Pirates and the Giants going over to today. One game still separates the McGraw club from the peak.

The Cardinals came out on the long end of a 5 to 4 score with the Braves in the only National League contest played, showers forcing the other clubs to remain idle. Mails held Boston scoreless until the ninth inning, when pinch hitters helped stage a rally.

Foster H. Edwards, recruit from Dartmouth College, has been released by the Braves to the Worcester club.

LOCALS GAVE RICHMOND BAD TRIMMING
Sherbrooke travelled to Richmond last night and the score resembled more that of a basketball game than the result of nine innings of baseball. Sherbrooke was at the long end of the 23 to 10 event.

Richmond opened the hostilities by securing six counters in the first frame.

The meeting scheduled for tonight will take place at eight o'clock at the American House. It is hoped that all the fans really interested will attend, for it will be decided whether or not professional baseball will be maintained in Sherbrooke.

LACROSSE ST. PATS WON AGAINST EAST SHERBROOKE
Superior staying power and first class team work enabled the St. Pats to register a victory over East Sherbrooke in their scheduled City Lacrosse League match on the Parade Grounds last evening, the final count being 4 goals to 2.

The East Sherbrooke lads led at the end of the first period by 2 goals to 1, but in the second session St. Pats tallied the only counter and evened up the score. In the final frame the Irishmen had the best of the play and ran in two more goals, meanwhile holding their opponents scoreless.

Jack Hatcher and Eddie Wolfe got the credit for the East Sherbrooke team's tallies, while for St. Pats Pat Slattery counted three times and L. Dore once. Quite a large crowd of enthusiasts gathered at the Parade Grounds to witness the contest.

The line-ups were:
St. Patrick's—Garnon, Parks, McGinty, Whitcomb, E. Kenalty, Milton, F. Kenalty, Hetherington, Slattery, Dore, Subs, D. Timmins and Roy.

East Sherbrooke—C. Sawyer, L. O'Donnell, T. Wolfe, Bunneau, Couture, W. Sharpe, G. McDonald, E. Wolfe, J. Hatcher, J. McDonald, Morin, Sub.

HOOVER AND BERESFORD TO RACE AGAIN (Associated Press Despatch)
HENLEY-ON-THAMES, July 9.—The race between Jack Beresford, Jr., crack English carman, and Walter M. Hoover, of Philadelphia, for the Philadelphia Gold Challenge Cup which Beresford won at the Paris Olympics last year, will be rowed Monday afternoon over a mile and a half course on the Thames at Putney.

Beresford eliminated Hoover in the Diamond Sculls during this year's Henley regatta.

Hoover went to England principally to challenge Beresford for the Philadelphia gold cup, which in the United States has been considered emblematic of the amateur singles sculling championship of the world. He developed recently, however, that the British do not attach this significance to the cup and Beresford de-

What Is Fame in France?—Face Fungi and Psychology—U.S. Cabinet Crisis—Ottawa Oddities

LOUIS BARTHOU, former premier of France, a cabinet minister on six different occasions, president of the reparations commission, senator and member of the French Academy, walked through the streets of Paris unnoticed to consult President Doumergue. Crowds lined the streets in front of the palace. He elbowed his way through them, unobserved. Luis Angel Firpo, well-beaten battler, wanted to take a look at the same palace. No sooner had he appeared on the streets than there were cries of "There is Firpo! Vive Firpo!" Exactly what is this thing they call fame?

SHERLOCK HOLMES, that most noted of detectives, has blossomed out once more. Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, the author of his adventures, must have more or less of a Holmes streak himself. There is one story concerning the great British concocter of thrillers which seems new and which is worthy of repetition even if it is not.

Conan Doyle, on one occasion, selected the names of ten highly respectable fellow citizens and sent the same wire to each one. It read: "Fly at once. All is discovered." By nightfall the whole ten were on their way to the continent.

GP. TRUMPER, who is hairdresser to King George, declares that every big, well-developed man looks the better for a beard. And he talks of the wonderful psychological effect of face fungi on the individual and on the race. Well, they tried it in Russia and look what happened.

THERE seems to be a crisis—that is what one usually calls it—yes, there seems to be a crisis in the cabinet councils of U.S.A. President Coolidge, the silent solon, has declared against fishing. He is reported as saying that fishing is a diversion for children.

Attorney-General Sargent, an ardent angler, says that he thinks that the president's words have been misconstrued. What he really meant, says Mr. Sargent, was that a man who fishes never grows old. Herbert Hoover is the strong silent man in the case. He is a great fisherman; but he will say nothing.

WHAT Canada seems to need is a publicity agent for pigs. Hon. W. R. Motherwell, minister of agriculture, is authority for the statement that we imported 5,000,000 pounds of pork last year. He did not say how much we exported.

GENERAL DAWES of the Dawes plan, noted for peculiar pipes and mild profanity, who is, incidentally, vice-president of U.S.A., said a few days ago that he, General Pershing and William Jennings Bryan were old cronies. "John was known as a representative of the proletariat," he goes on, "I, as one of the bourgeoisie and Bryan as a scion of the organized predatory plutocracy. For Bryan lived in a two-story house, I in a one-story cottage and John paid $10 a month for a room in the third story of a downtown business block."

In view of this interesting revelation, it is interesting to recall a recent confession of General Pershing regarding this same General Dawes. "The chills run up and down my spine whenever Charley Dawes rises to speak of me," known weakness for exaggeration.

Wizard of Canadian National Financing Becomes the New Napoleon of Wall Street

Clarence Dillon Underwrote $500,000 For the C.N.R. in Five Years—Has Just Executed the Greatest Financial Industrial Coup in History—Upsets All Traditions of Big Business—No Bustle, No Hurry, No Rush

THE man who, with his associates, has underwritten a half-billion dollars' worth of Canadian National Railways securities, is Clarence Dillon, head of Dillon, Read and Company, international bankers, with headquarters in New York. He recently executed the greatest industrial financial coup known to history. This transaction consisted in outbidding the great American banking house of Morgan and buying the automobile business of Dodge Brothers for a price reputed to be $146,000,000 cash.

Had this sale of the Dodge Brothers' automobile plant and business been accomplished according to stage and movie specifications, there would have been a thrilling succession of heated conferences, neck-and-neck races by automobile and special train between rival bidders and airplane couriers on frantic missions between New York and Detroit. Instead, this largest cash transaction in industrial history was handled by long distance telephone between two quiet offices.

Mr. Dillon is a calm, deliberate man of 43. His seemingly daring undertakings appear consistent with his business philosophy, for he, the high apostle of relaxation, takes things easily, almost lazily. Could he drive a golf ball and putt in that manner, he could make par on many a course. He does not become excited, and what is more heretical to the usual doctrine of business success, he declared that he had started out to become an artist and not a financier.

When he was graduated from college in 1905 he married and set out for Paris, Rome and other cities, where he spent two years studying art, painting, architecture and literature. He doesn't seem to know exactly why he swung from art to finance, except that he was obliged to support a bride and found in business a reader means of accomplishing that end than in art. But he still devotes much time to the study of art, literature and architecture. That has probably made business more interesting. For business is a big part of his life, and life, he says, has been improved through his love of the arts. He has plenty of reasons why business is not to be considered prosaic.

A thumb-nail sketch of his career is to be considered in leading up to the circumstances which permitted him to be the sales-chief for $500,000,000 worth of Canadian National Railway securities. When he returned from Europe he engaged in the machinery business in the mid-west. Selling out after a time he went to New York, where through the good offices of a former classmate, William A. Phillips, he secured a position with the well-known bond firm of William A. Read and Company. That was in 1913, only twelve years ago. A warm friendship between Mr. Read and Mr. Dillon developed.

Headed His Firm

IN 1914 Mr. Dillon was sent to the Chicago office of the firm, where he watched the wheels of banking go around, and decided he liked it. He went back to New York the same year, and in 1916 was taken into partnership in William A. Read and Company, becoming head of the firm in the same year, after the death of Mr. Read. This is the sort of meteoric career that fascinates the public and leaves it rather breathless.

It was after Mr. Dillon's accession to leadership that his firm began to go into financial enterprises on a large scale. The first of the really large enterprises to be undertaken by the new organization was in 1919 when Clarence Dillon engineered the $100,000,000 Steel and Tube merger, involving six large steel companies. In 1920 the bank stepped afield and underwrote $15,000,000 Canadian Northern Railway bonds, thus opening an account with the world's largest railroad system, the Canadian National Railways, for which this bank is said to have underwritten the record total of $500,000,000 in less than five years. This performance knows no equal in banking or financial circles.

Mr. Dillon is undismayed by intricate and difficult problems. Take, for example, his masterful genius and ability in surmounting difficulties in his easy handling of the perplexing Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company's complicated position. That was in 1921. Last year the company earned $17,000,000.

Foreign loans have had a distinct appeal to Mr. Dillon. Brazil, The Netherlands, France, Germany, Japan, Poland and Holland are only a few of the countries who have come to him

No Doubt About It

AS active a man as Lord Curzon, whose death removes an outstanding political figure, must have made a bad invalid. One of his forms of activity was to answer the telephone himself, which once gave rise to an amusing incident.

A young man in the foreign office rang up Lord Curzon, who was then foreign secretary, and, thinking he was addressing a secretary he knew, asked: "Is the Imperial Blighter there?" "The Imperial Blighter is speaking," came the reply.

New Variety of Wrestling

GEORGES HACKENSCHMIDT, whose name is easier to pronounce than it is to spell, has taken to a new kind of wrestling. He has written a ten-volume work on philosophy! "My wrestling days are over," the one-time world's champion said recently. "I know it sounds foolish for me to take up philosophy, but there it is. I feel I have something that will help my fellow-man, and you are rich only as you enrich the lives of others!" Hackenschmidt, who is a Russian, started his work while he was a prisoner in Germany.

as borrowers. He has negotiated large loans for the Standard Oil Company, and he gave to Palm Beach, Fla., its railroad contact with the rest of the world. Railways, oils, waterpower, steel, rubber, automobile, corporate loans have been some of the chief forms of commercial activity that have engaged his interest as a banker. His penchant for doing business without the borders of the United States has always been to the fore.

Languages His Hobby

ONE of his hobbies in business is that of talking the language of the man with whom he is negotiating, a rule not easy to follow in the case of foreign loans. In French, German or Italian negotiations, Mr. Dillon speaks the language of the loan seeker. These three languages he is said to speak with about equal facility.

This financier, who is a comparatively young man and newcomer in banking circles, has around him several young men, for he is known as one who encourages youth. His office is a quiet spot—more like a reading-room than an office, with not even a desk, just a table with one telephone on it. All the dramatic accessories of a busy office are lacking. There is no mad rushing in and out of attendants with telegrams and letters and memo's. If it had a visitor's gallery for those who wanted to pop in and get a close-up of big, high-pressure office working at top speed, then the gallery would be a flop and would never play to capacity.

When his attention is called to the reputation he has as a super-salesman who races about the country on limited trains and chartered airplanes when closing a deal, he smiles and enjoys the picture because it is so different.

A patron of the arts, a proficient architect, an amateur farmer of ability, but above all a loyal and inspiring leader of his organization, Mr. Dillon to-day stands as the new Napoleon of Wall Street.

A SIGN OF FAME

IF ever you are in Paris, dining at a restaurant, and see a charming lady sweep everything off her table—plates, glasses, flower, and all—because she did not like the soup, wretch what follows.

If the manager is an angry as he has a right to be, the discontented lady is just an ordinary lady who is not permitted to do such things. But if the manager smiles, directs the waiter to lay the table afresh, and beams over the broken crockery—then the lady is Mistinguett, the dancer and idol of Paris.

Mistinguett does not usually express herself in this way, but, on the authority of another famous dancer, she has done such things.

Another little habit of hers is to snatch the change which your waiter is bringing to you, and to give it to some poor woman. Many a surprised diner has discovered himself generous upon Mistinguett's impulse—and been flattered by it.

For Mistinguett is not an ordinary person. Her very legs are insured for $1,000,000.

LOOKS ARE DECEIVING PARTICULARLY ON STAGE

AN amusing story is told by Miss Margaret Bannerman, the Canadian actress, who is getting a reputation for such things.

It concerns a certain actress who, though married and long past her first youth, makes up so wonderfully in flapper parts that she looks no more than about eighteen.

A short while ago, while she was on tour, a youthful admirer sought out the manager of the company and proceeded to fish for an introduction to the charming little lady.

"I've enjoyed her acting immensely, and I should like to know her," he said. "I'm sure she's as charming and sweet off the stage as she is on."

"She's all that," agreed the manager cordially—so cordially that a fearful suspicion flashed into the youth's mind.

"I say, you—you're not her husband, are you?" he faltered.

"No, oh, no!" said the manager. "I'm her son!"

PRIVATE TO GOVERNOR

MAJOR J. A. BURDON, the recently-appointed governor of British Honduras, tells an unusual story of his rise from the ranks.

"When I was a young man," he said, "I went from the university into the military service of the king as an enlisted recruit, and for five years I remained a private soldier before I got my commission. I think it is not improbable that I am the first private who has graduated from the ranks of his majesty's forces to the high position of governor of a British colony."

DAUGHTER OF THE REGIMENT

BORN and reared in a military barracks; now the highest paid actress in the world—that is Miss Gloria Swanson's career in a nutshell, and it makes fiction writ beside it!

"My father was a soldier, and as he moved from station to station I saw a good deal of the world in my early years. Army life is the best training in the world. I know that, and the discipline which I felt in my early years has 'stood me in good stead ever since.'"

Miss Swanson delights in an incident that once occurred to her knowledge in a certain regiment. Two privates were arguing, and one assumed a fighting attitude, when the captain remarked, sharply: "That will do there. We don't want any fighting men in this regiment."

HON. MEDERIC MARTIN, ex-mayor of Montreal, still takes a fatherly interest in the city over which he ruled for so many years. The other day he met Mr. Justice Coderre, whose police probe revealed pits of darkness in the eastern city.

"Montreal has made a terrible descent since it enjoyed my beneficent reign," remarked Hon. Mederic, sorrowfully.

"Oh, her reputation will rise again, phoenix-like," remarked the justice.

"Well, I hope so," said the ex-mayor, "but I was in Ottawa recently, and Tommy Church, seven times mayor of Toronto, told me a story of a friend of his who was taking his wife and small boy on a short visit to Montreal. On the eve of departure, the small boy, preparing for his prayers, asked: 'Do we leave for Montreal to-morrow, mama?'"

"Yes," was the reply.

"Then I'd better say good-bye to God to-night," said the little Toronto lad."

He Believed in Signs

NOT only is Lord Leverhulme one of the ablest of the world's captains of industry; he is also a raconteur of no mean order, as witness his latest story of a new-rich profiteer who was playing bridge in a charity tournament.

His partner, a bishop's wife, left the call to him, and he made it diamonds. But when he laid his hand down it contained only two diamonds, both low cards.

"Why in the world," said the bishop's wife, "did you go diamonds on such a hand as that?"

"I thought I seen you twiddle your diamond ring, ma'am," explained the profiteer.

Formed His Philosophy In the Police Courts

J. C. Shaw, the Colonel Denison of Vancouver, Takes His First Holiday in Eleven Years

"THE Colonel Denison of Vancouver," J. C. Shaw, the senior magistrate of the Terminal City, has taken a holiday, the first for eleven years. Born at Charlottetown, P. E. I., he gravitated, like so many other "islanders," to the Pacific province in 1892, first practising law in Vancouver, and then moving to the Greenwood district, where he prospected for a while, but later returned to the practise of his profession. He was a member of the legislature for a couple of terms, but 15 years ago was appointed police magistrate of the big B. C. city. He is also judge of the juvenile court. Accompanied by Mrs. Shaw, he has gone to Europe for six months, "just to play about," but those who know him best are sure that part of his "playing" will be the investigation of magisterial methods in the old world. Fifteen years on the bench have given Mr. Shaw a philosophy of life all his own. Here are a few of his sentiments:

Boys are shy; girls are bold. Parents are largely to blame for youthful delinquency. Fathers and mothers should be punished for deliberate neglect of moral teaching.

I would certainly place the use of the rod to keep the child straight, amongst the household commandments.

Modesty is the foundation of woman's loveliness.

Family prayers, led by the father, produce more good than the world wots of.

Boys and girls need more romance of the right kind in their lives. Let us cleave to the idea that it is romantic to be honorable.

Mr. Shaw delights in telling of an occasion in the Vancouver court when a man, who was in the witness box for the first time, became bewildered at the many titles given to the man on the bench. Some called him "Your Honor," others "Your Worship," and still others just "Magistrate." And he, in a desire to be right, and, perhaps, with the idea of being original, addressed the magistrate as "Your Majesty!"

Marie, Rumania's Queen, Is a Royal Democrat

Speaks Frankly About the Possibility the Prince of Wales Marrying Her Daughter, Princess Ileana

QUEEN MARIE is to Rumania what the Prince of Wales is to the British Empire. The social life of Bucharest, the Rumanian capital, rotates about her. She is admired not only as the royal consort but as a stylishly dressed woman of conquering charm and undoubted achievement.

What does she think of royalties in an age of democracy? She answers the question quite frankly.

"If a queen believes that she is no good," she declares, "if she thinks that the times when queens are useful and necessary are over, then she had better not be a queen at all."

She sums up the situation from her point of view by asking one question: "Would you consider it a fine thing for a captain to forsake his ship in the middle of a stormy sea?"

It matters not if royalties should be abolished in her land during her lifetime. Marie of Rumania will always remain a queen.

She has been much in the spotlight of late. She is a facile writer and her articles on the subject of feminine fashions have drawn a great deal of attention. She is naturally somewhat of a democrat. She likes the movies. One of her stories is now being dramatized in London. And finally, the rumor persists that her daughter, the Princess Ileana, may marry the Prince of Wales.

Princess Ileana is beautiful, she is talented and she has been carefully brought up.

Her mother, the queen, frankly says that she would have no opposition to such a marriage, but adds, quite frankly, that she is no match-maker. Anyone, prince or commoner, seeking her daughter's hand, must come and win her. She is not angling for suitors.

"The Prince of Wales and my daughter only met when they were mere children," she adds, "and they have never seen each other since."

Nothing has yet been officially said about an engagement.

DISAPPEARED IN PERSIA BUT TURNED UP AGAIN

WHEN Lord Rawlinson, commander-in-chief of the British forces in India, died in Delhi the other day, the peerage and a grant of $150,000 for his services as head of the Fourth Army in France automatically became extinct. But the baronetcy, which passed on to him from his father, goes to his brother, Sir Alfred Rawlinson.

Canadians may remember that he was familiarly referred to in France as "Rawley," and by the French and Belgians as "Gen. Bonne Humeur." His brother, also, was affectionately known as "Toby," and was famous for his hair-breadth war-time escapes. He was miraculously rescued when aboard a torpedoed steamer in the Mediterranean, only to barely avoid death through an infected arm. He disappeared in Persia, only to turn up again at Baku in command of a small British force fighting against the Turks in the interests of the Caspian republic.

EVEN A PUBLIC CONCERN MAY WATER ITS STOCK

J. S. WOODSWORTH, M.P., leader of the Labor party in the federal House, was holding forth for the benefit of a Sunday afternoon audience in Montreal on the subject of public versus private enterprise.

"A public enterprise no doubt lacks one of the incentives of private enterprise," he declared, "for there is no temptation to water the stock."

"Hoot mon. Hae ye no read about the Quebec Liquor Commission?" said a voice from the centre of the hall.

One More Canadian World's Champion

J. Corbett Mitchell, of Saskatchewan, present holder of the world's wheat growing championship, is the only man who has ever won that honor three times running. He expects to do it again. Mr. Mitchell is shown here with Mrs. Mitchell on their arrival home after an extensive lecture tour of the British Isles.

CHAPTER XXXVII.
Henry the Eighth was cross and weary, and he had taken off his choking ruffe, complaining that he could not breathe and was hunched up in a corner of the car, his thick red neck showing above his elaborate tunic, his grey head nodding wearily. Eleanor, wrapped in her cloak, sat back beside him with closed eyes, her face white and weary, and opposite them Diana laughed and chattered to Joe Bansted as if she had not danced through the long night and knew no weariness.

It was rapidly getting light, and the London streets looked grey and depressing in their emptiness. When the car stopped at old Grantham's big, ugly house, Bansted spoke in a whisper to Diana: "Let me tell them tonight. I don't feel that you really belong to me till all the world knows."

She shook her head, smiling gently. "Tonight? It's morning now. No just wait a little while. They will all know soon."

But in her heart she was already rebelling against his words. She did not belong to him; she would never belong to anyone but Rolf.

CHAPTER XXXVIII.
Eleanor Tells the Truth.
Eleanor was staying the night with them, and when they went upstairs Diana followed her to her room.

"Are you very tired?" "No. As we're so late, there doesn't seem much sense in going to bed at all, does there?"

Eleanor flung her coat down on the bed and searched for a cigarette, waiting for the confidence which she felt was coming.

Diana shut the door and went over to the fire, kneeling down before it, grateful for its warmth on her face.

Since she said good-bye to Rolf she had felt cold, desperately cold, as if the chill of death had swept over her and taken possession of her since she tore herself from the shelter of Rolf's arms.

But she was quite resolute in her determination; she had given her word to Bansted, and there would be no drawing back.

"I'm engaged to Mr. Bansted, Eleanor."

Mrs. Colman was lighting a cigarette, and she dropped the match suddenly, lifting her eyes in swift amazement.

"Engaged—to Joe?" "Yes." "Oh!"

There was a little silence, then Diana said quietly: "You're not going to congratulate me? And Eleanor, that match is burning the carpet."

Eleanor stooped mechanically and picked it up, throwing it into the grate, then she said slowly: "Well, I suppose I ought not to be surprised, but I think I am."

"Why?" "Diana was curled up on the hearthrug now, her chin resting in the cup of her hands, her eyes, very wide and serious, fixed on the elder woman's face.

"Why?" she asked again. "I don't know—I don't know—I hope you'll be happy, dear."

Diana shrugged her shoulders. "He won't beat me, if that's what you mean, and I shan't quarrel with him if I can help it; but I shall never be 'happy' in the way I understand happiness, unless I can marry Rolf. And as I can't do that—"

She stood up suddenly, her calmness deserting her, the color rising in her cheeks. "Eleanor, he was there tonight—at the ball, and we talked, and he told me that he loves me, that he had always loved me—"

"Diana!" "Yes, he did; and it's true. And I told him that I had always loved him, and I have. I shall never love anyone else as long as I live, and—"

and he's going to marry Jean Fraser quite soon." "But, why? why! . . . if you and he—"

"Oh, I know, I know, but you don't understand. She's ill, very ill. He wanted her to be told the truth, but I can't let him do that. He went back to her of his own free will and wish, and to tell her now that it was all a mistake—oh, how could I!"

when it comes to sports ensembles than for formal wear, as this costume demonstrates. Soft brown silk faille, carved bone buttons and plaided taffeta of blue and red on a neutral background make an attractive combination. The frock is short sleeves and the back is of faille, jabot, front of blouse and a back yoke being of the taffeta.

JABOT LIKE REVERS
on this spring coat mark its individuality. They are faced with a quaint tan and brown printed crepe de chine which also lines the little coat. Tan charmeuse with a fringe of light colored fur for trimming, makes the coat. A narrow band of gold braiding finishes the bands of fur on top.

HORIZONTAL OR VERTICAL one's jabot may run either way and spell smartness, at that. The jabot on this ensemble prefers the horizontal and is matched by the pleated apron front. A wide tuck, finished with black ribbon at the edge, gives the effect of a tunic. It ties behind in sashes. Blue charmeuse for coat and printed crepe de chine, red and blue on an oyster shade background, make the frock

Who is Canada's Largest Tax Payer?

The Quebec Liquor Commission has paid $19,144,343 in Customs and Excise in the first three years of its existence

NEARLY 35 per cent (34.9 to be exact) of the gross revenue from the liquor stores has been levied in Customs and Excise Duties.

In 1921 there was a considerable increase in the tax on alcohols, and the new system established in Quebec was first to feel the effect. In the very first year of operation the Liquor Commission paid $5,166,436 in taxes. In 1922 this was increased to $6,566,000 and in 1923 the taxes amounted to $7,411,907, making a total of $19,144,343 in three years.

In addition, the Liquor Commission pays probably the largest sales tax in the country.

On a case of liquor costing $16.00 at point of origin, the Commission pays $17.08 for Customs and $2.85 Sales Tax. It should be noted that in computing the Sales Tax, the levy is made not only on the total cost of $33.08 but on the British Excise of $23.93 as well. Out of this $2.85 the Commission pays in reality only 80 cents on the actual value of the goods and a tax of $2.05 on other taxes. In fact, the Sales Tax paid by the Commission is 16 1/2 per cent on the prime cost of the goods.

A study of these figures shows that the aggregate amount of the Customs, Excise and Sales Taxes is 124 per cent of the cost of the goods. On a bottle costing $1.33 the Commission pays in Customs and Excise $1.66, exclusive of freight, cartage, insurance, administration, etc.

Despite the fact that the increase in taxes on alcohols since the creation of the Liquor Commission is unprecedented, it is recognized that the price of spirituous liquors is lower in the Province of Quebec than anywhere else in the Dominion.

EXTRACT from the testimony of RENE LAMARCHE at the Parliamentary inquiry into the operations of the Liquor Commission:

- Q. "Is it your function to determine costs at the Liquor Commission?" A. "Yes, for the imports." Q. "What was the purchase price of these 5,947 imperial gallons of Scotch?" A. "We paid $34,536.05 at the rate of exchange on delivery date." Q. "Now, what were the transportation charges?" A. "Freight amounted to $884.20; gauging, $20.52; wharfage, $45.25; insurance, $274.65; cartage, $454.00; casks, $1,614.00. We also paid in taxes when passing the customs entry, $71,345.87." Q. "The Customs and Excise represent twice the purchase price?" A. "Yes, twice; twice the purchase price and expenditures."

GRANBY GIRL WAS FORCED TO ENTER CONVENT

Issues Habeas Corpus Proceedings Demanding Production of Young Woman—Girl Declares She Was Carried from Granby in a Car.

(Associated Press Despatch) MONTREAL, July 9.—Declaring that she was seized by a Granby bailiff, forced into a motor car and brought forcibly to Montreal, Albina Fontaine, a Granby girl, 20 years of age, through her half-brother, Wilfrid Lapointe, of Sainte Preudent, of Roxton Pond, is endeavoring to secure her release from a Montreal convent.

Mr. Lapointe secured the right to issue a writ of habeas corpus directed against the Sisters of Notre Dame de Charite du Bon Pasteur on Sherbrooke street, Montreal, from Mr. Justice Lane in the Practice Division of the Superior Court yesterday afternoon. In his petition he says that he is the half-brother of Albain Fontaine, 20 years and four months old, the daughter of Napoleon Fontaine and Ida Tetrault, of Granby. He says that the young lady's father is a chronic invalid and that for the past three years she has been living with her half-brother, Mr. Lapointe, at Roxton Pond.

Forcibly Taken to Montreal. He alleges that at seven o'clock at night on July 2, 1925, she was seized and forcibly taken to Montreal by Dolci Fortin, a Granby bailiff, and he swears that he has reason to believe that she was shut up in the convent of the Good Shepherd against whose owner the writ is directed. The writ calls for the production of the girl's body before a judge of the Superior Court on July 15, and orders that an explanation be given of the reasons why she is being held against her will.

Mr. Lapointe swears that no civil or criminal action was pending against Miss Fontaine. A. D. Pelletier, solicitor for Mr. Lapointe, says that the bailiff walked up the young lady when she was busy milking cows, and when she answered in the affirmative, he told her to wash her hands, forced her into an automobile and drove her to Montreal.

Sister Superior Gives Explanation. Sister Directress Marie de Lourdes of Maison Ste. Helene, a department of the women's jail, 350 Fullum street, stated that Miss Fontaine was kept in that institution at the request of her father. She says that early last Friday morning Miss Fontaine was brought to the Bon Pasteur convent by her father and another man in an automobile. The girl appeared to be in a very sad state, and the father told the sister directress that her half-brother had been trying to wean her away from Roman Catholicism. He said that the two children, his wife had before she married him were Protestants, and that one of them, Wilfrid, had enticed the girl to go to live with him and was trying to apostatize her. She had written to her family telling them of the matter, and he had decided to put her with the nuns, with her consent, so that her soul might not be endangered. Sister Marie de Lourdes said that she was in their institution on the recommendation of the Rev. Abbe Martel of Granby.

A. D. Pelletier, solicitor for Wilfrid Fontaine, says that the girl did go on three occasions with her brother to a Protestant church, and he had heard that the Roman Catholic priest of Granby was annoyed about it.

GOLF BROUGHT ABOUT ACTION FOR DIVORCE

Wife Charged Husband With "Unheard of Cruelties" Upon Her on Golf Course.

(Associated Press Despatch) DES MOINES, Iowa, July 9.—Happiness reigned in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford E. Hinshaw, of this city, until they took up golf yesterday said her husband imposed "unheard of cruelties" upon her on the golf course. He would kick her ball off the green every time she made a good approach, she said, and especially would he do this when she reached the green in fewer shots than he did. Judge Utterback granted Mrs. Hinshaw the divorce and fifty dollars a month alimony.
