Cardinal continues talks

PARIS (CP) — Education Minister Jean-Guy Cardinal of Quebec, waited forward by an outpouring of Gaullist oratory, French cuisine and classical culture, sees a variety of leading French officials today as part of an itinerary in startling contrast to that awaiting him in Britain.

Cardinal goes to London Sunday after the glittering red-carpet reception being tendered him on a visit to France which began Wednesday.

His schedule in the British capital is solely a matter of such engagements as meetings with businessmen and Quebec students.

But no meetings with British politicians were announced in contrast with the galaxy of French leaders Cardinal is seeing in Paris.

His schedule today includes a date for lunch with Foreign Minister Michel Debre and a talk with French Premier Maurice Couve de murville. IMPROVE CO-OPERATION

Main motive behind Cardinal's round of talks and socializing here is a significant step-up in the present level of Franco-Quebec co-operation.

President Charles de Gaulle, who already has toasted the Quebec visitor and meets him again Friday, included richly-worded salutes to Franco-Quebec ties in his Wednesday night salute to Cardinal and other top members of the Quebec delegation.

De Gaulle told dinner guests at the Elvsee Palace—and they did not include Canadian Ambassador Paul Beaulieu—that "the French living on both sides of the Atlantic... have officially rediscovered one another."

As if to reinforce warm words with utmost hospitality, the French leader entertained his guests with a presentation of 18th-century drama by the famed Comedie Francaise, a variety of classical music and a wealth of mouth-watering wines and dishes.

Beaulieu was expected to be among the guests when Cardinal and other members of the Quebec delegation gather for their lunch with Debre at the Quai d'Orsay, headquarters of the French foreign affairs minister.

TAKE BACK SEAT

But Canadian federal officials were given the back-seat treatment by de Gaulle himself in what the newspaper Le Monde suggests may be another attempt by the president to irritate Ottawa into possibly care-less action.

The emphasis in activities planned for Cardinal and Industry Minister Jean-Paul Beaudry today is on French technical and scientific accomplishments

New provincial party is cooling agent

Enthusiasm for an early provincial general election so apparent a few short weeks ago, especially among the Opposition Liberal forces but to an extent felt in Union Nationale circles, has cooled noticeably in recent days. Even the Parti Quebecois seems indifferent to the prospects for an early test of public opinion.

The cooling agent is a new element in the provincial political complex — the Christian Nationalist Party, an extreme right wing group headed by Leo Tremblay, a convinced separatist from Quebec City, who announced yesterday that he would publish next week 100,000 copies of a 75-page document outlining his party's platform for the next general election.

Mr. Tremblay claims that his party has 150,000 active supporters and older party observers admit privately that he may not be too far off the mark.

In rural constituencies in the Eastern Townships and other south shore constituencies the Christian Nationalists have been showing remarkable strength, especially at the grass roots level and appear making inroads into the ranks of both the older parties and the Parti Quebecois headed by Rene Levesque.

The Christian Nationalists are making their appeal to those separatist elements who gave their support to Ralliement Nationale candidates in the last provincial election, the ultra conservatives of separatist leanings who find little in common with the left-wing faction of the Parti Quebecois led by Rene Levesque.

Mr. Levesque's Sovereignty Association movement, which dominates the Parti Quebecois, is urban-oriented and essentially socialistic, while the Christian Socialists are strong supporters of the theory of private ownership, especially as it affects the "small man," — the owner of the family farm and the corner grocery store.

By CUTHBERT JONES

Party founder Leo Tremblay said Tuesday the booklet to be released next week contains an outline of the party's ideology and the results of more than 10 years of research on "the deepest aspirations, the desires and the ambitions of the Quebec people."

One of its chief aims is to fight educational reform in this province and to seek a return to traditional Roman Catholic, French-Canadian values.

In this it is invading the area of support given the Union Nationale in rural Quebec in the last election.

One of the chief objections offered by the Union Nationale speakers against the Liberals in 1966 was that they were going too far too fast in the field of educational reform.

Not only were the reforms destroying the basic moral values of the province but they were costing too much money, with the result that property taxes to finance education had become unbearable for the small proprietor, especially the family farm owner.

The Christian Nationalists, like the Parti Quebecois, has never contested a provincial election but both have representatives in the National Assembly, as the result of defections of members of the older parties.

Rene Levesque quit the Liberals to head the separatist Parti Quebecois while Dr. Gaston Tremblay, elected as Union Nationale member for Montmorency, crossed the floor to adopt Christian Nationalist ideals.

One thing worrying the older party organizers is the finan-

Commission has cutting comments

QUEBEC (CP) — Highlights of the first volume of the final report of the Royal Commission on administration of justice:

Quebec is only "marking time" in the fight against crime.

The province is "a pretty vindictive state in treatment of the accused and the prisoner."

It deprives the accused of his liberty more often and for longer periods than most other societies and keeps guilty persons in prisons for longer periods.

Administration of justice should be overhauled to stress rehabilitation rather than imprisonment.

The 400 autonomous police forces in Quebec should amalgamate to form 10 regional forces to co-ordinate the fight against crime.

Legal aid guaranteeing free access to legal information and defence before the courts is recommended.

With some exceptions, personal bail should be replaced by a simple promise to appear at the time set for trial.

With restrictions, sentences should be imposed by "specialists in human sciences" such as psychologists who are best able to judge how criminals can be rehabilitated.

"A true and workable declaration of human rights" is needed.

Probation services should be reorganized within the justice department and expanded significantly.

Offenders should be able to pay fines by instalment or by working a number of hours for the state.

Institution of a system of part-time detention, enabling prisoners to retain contact with their families.

The provincial government should have exclusive jurisdiction in correctional matters.

News in brief

Fires shots
MOSCOW (CP) — A mentally unbalanced young man fired several shots at a motorcade led by the Soviet Union's four cosmonaut heroes Wednesday, severely injuring a chauffeur and inflicting slight wounds on cosmonaut Georgy Beregovoy, the Soviet foreign ministry said today.

The shooting took place before more than 1,000 onlookers at the entrance to the Kremlin, but it was hushed up for nearly 24 hours.

Back again
PRAGUE (Reuters) — Two Czechoslovak intellectuals who helped formulate the country's liberalization program last year were reported back in Prague today after returning from exile.

News of their return came Wednesday night after it was reported two more persons set fire to themselves, bringing to four the self-burnings so far, and amid reports Russian troops have arrested an unspecified number of Czechoslovaks.

Spot strikes
MONTREAL (CP) — The 60,000-member Quebec Teachers' Corporation has organized rotating or spot strikes to begin by the end of this month in English-and French-speaking Roman Catholic schools. Why? Corporation President Raymond Laliberte says a request for a voice in decision making is one of the more contentious issues still to be resolved in the conflict which has dragged on for the last 18 months.

Ship's skipper is suspected of violating navy regulations

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — A navy court told Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher Wednesday that he was suspected of violating naval regulations in surrendering the intelligence ship Pueblo to the North Koreans.

He was informed by the five admirals constituting a court of inquiry that anything he said from now on might be used against him in court-martial proceedings.

But Bucher, obviously shaken by the statement, said he would continue to give "full details" of the Pueblo's capture and of the 11 months he and his 81 surviving crew members spent in captivity.

Bucher resumes his testimony today—the first anniversary of the seizure of the ship by the North Koreans.

Wednesday, Bucher, 41, described how he gave up the Pueblo with her guns still covered. The court recessed briefly after he told of "receiving" aboard a party of North Korean riflemen about 20 miles off Wonsan Harbor and how they prodded his crew to sitting positions on the deck.

CAUTIONS BUCHER
After their return, his face

tensed as he heard counsel for the navy, Capt. William Newsome, declare: "Commander Bucher, it is my duty to tell you that facts revealed in this court of inquiry render you to be suspect of a violation of USNR Article 0730.

"And you are further advised that you don't have to make any further statement on it and any further statement on it may be used as evidence against you in a subsequent trial."

A court of inquiry is not a military trial, like a court-martial, but only an investigative hearing. Nevertheless Bucher's status suddenly had changed from "a party to the court" to "suspect." Shortly after the crew's release just before Christmas at least two navy admirals had called Bucher and his men heroes.

Newsome quoted regulations: "The commanding officer shall not permit his command to be searched by any person representing a foreign state nor permit any person representing a foreign state nor permit any other personnel under his command to be removed from that command by such a person, so long as he has the power to resist."

Bucher's civilian lawyer, E. Miles Harvey, immediately demanded: "Commander, at the time the North Koreans first set foot on your ship did you any longer have the power to resist?"

"No, I did not," Bucher answered.

The navy, through Wednesday, had raised these points against Bucher:

1. He failed to comprehend fully the possibility of an attack.
2. His men weren't issued small arms.
3. Bucher waited too long to order destruction of classified equipment and documents.

Bucher testified that he waited until after one boarding attempt by the North Koreans, a sea chase and their first salvo of cannon fire before giving the

Ministers make defense

OTTAWA (CP) — Three Liberal cabinet ministers threw up a stout defence Wednesday night against Conservative charges that the government is responsible for the tie-up of 31 vessels waiting at Vancouver to load Canadian grain for export.

In a six-hour Commons emergency debate triggered by a motion from Stanley Korchinski (PC — Mackenzie), which accused the government of mismanagement in getting dry grain to Vancouver:

1. Trade Minister Jean-Luc Pepin said the bottleneck results from an unexpected high demand for Canadian wheat and the desire to move as much tough and wet grain to Vancouver terminals for drying. Unusually low temperatures also were an important factor.

2. Agriculture Minister H. A. Olson said Conservative charges are "unjustified and unwarranted" and a disservice to Canadian grain producers.

3. Otto Long, minister without portfolio with special responsibility for agriculture, lamented the personal attacks on Mr. Pepin and the Canadian wheat board. MPs from farming areas should concentrate instead on presenting to the public the special difficulties facing Canadian agriculture.

Even before the debate began, the CPR announced in Montreal that the first of a number of special trains carrying dry No. 2 Northern wheat was en route from the Prairies to Vancouver.

Levesque predicts power play

MONTREAL (CP) — Rene Levesque, leader of the nationalist Parti Quebecois, said Wednesday his party could take power in Quebec as early as 1973 if Quebecers would take a rational look at its platform.

Mr. Levesque told students at the University of Montreal that no matter what percentage of votes swept his party into power, "we will immediately undertake measures to bring a new constitution to the people." This would be done by means of a referendum "not more than a year" after taking office.

The element which would bind French-speaking Quebecers together was their language.

"We must integrate our language in all sectors of French life, including the economy.

"We can no longer survive in limbo. We must release the yoke of suppression now."
Mr. Levesque also criticized the Chambre de commerce du Quebec—the Quebec Chamber of Commerce—for its analyses of an independent and sovereign Quebec.

He said a recent survey by the chamber concluding that the standard of living in an independent Quebec would drop 10 per cent was "simply propaganda."

The survey also predicted a stagnation of primary industries and an over-all deterioration of the economy.

"The best economists in the province today are serving with the Quebec government and they are appalled that they are not in a position to refute the arguments

Domtar union signs and pays up; work starts to re-open mills

Men started work at 8 a.m. today at the Domtar mill in Windsor.
The men in East Angus did not start work this morning, although East Angus mill foremen were touring the plant early today.
Last night, a labor contract was signed and the unions paid the company $20,000 to compensate for damages caused to the two paper mills during the strike which started July 18.
Tuesday night, the strikers accepted the company's contract offer.
GETS 30 CENTS MORE
Under the contract that expires Oct. 31, 1971, workers are to receive an average hourly wage increase of 30 cents to bring the average hourly rate to $3.28.

The union originally asked for a 35-cent-an-hour increase over two years and government-mediated proposals were for 35 cents in a three-year contract.
In addition to the wage increase, the contract provides two-cent increases in shift premiums to 10 cents an hour for 4 p.m. to midnight work and to 17 cents an hour for midnight to 8 a.m. work.
Workers at Windsor voted 68 per cent in favor of the contract and workers at the East Angus mill voted 80 per cent in favor.
Gerard Taylor, a strike director in East Angus, said Wednesday he did not think the workers were satisfied with the contract they voted to accept.

He said they had no choice, because of circumstances, except to vote in favor of the contract.
The striking employees decided earlier this week they would return to work if court charges against union leaders were dropped.
The company replied that criminal cases already in the courts could not be arrested.
The charges concern mainly the incident last November when 150 men, allegedly strikers according to the company, broke into the Windsor plant and occupied it for 26 hours.
During this long siege, office equipment was damaged, machines were smashed, a wall clock had been struck by a rifle bullet, desks and filing cabinets overturned, and bureaus were ransacked.

Company officials estimated the damages to be $75,000 and began court proceedings soon after the occupation.
During the first week of November, three union leaders were arraigned in Court of Sessions.
That night, a mammoth march took place in Sherbrooke and ended in front of the Courthouse where more than 1,000 shouting men burned a Provincial Court judge in effigy.
Police stood by and watched as the huge throng shouted anti-injunction slogans and some more violent members of the crowd started to throw rocks at the Courthouse windows.

When the court hearings began, more than 250 striking employees filled Superior Court and the men continued to follow the proceedings for about two weeks.
Then, the number of strikers in the listeners' gallery thinned but there was always a sizable crowd.
The strike caused other violent incidents in East Angus and Windsor. Company officials claimed they had been threatened, spat at and intimidated by strikers.

CONTROL SOUGHT — Strong government control of wastes was deemed the only effective way to preserve water resources during a panel discussion at Bishop's University.

T. A. Judson, head of Bishop's economics department; and Dr. J. W. McCubbin, dean of science at the university. (Record photo: Paul Lindell)

Injunction breaches net $19,100 in fines

Five of the unions who have been involved in the strike against Domtar Pulp and Paper company, and some of their members and leaders have been fined a total $19,100 by Mr. Justice William Mitchell for injunction breaches which constitute contempt of court.
Mr. Justice Mitchell passed judgment in the case, after weeks of hearings, at which Domtar testified that strikers violated the injunction by intimidating foremen and company executives by occupying the company's Windsor plant and causing damage to equipment and the building and by forcing company guards to leave their posts. The company brought forward long lines of witnesses to testify about various types of injunction breaches.

At one point during the dispute, Marcel Pepin, president of the Confederation of National Trade Unions said at a meeting in Sherbrooke that Domtar was threatening the whole labor movement by not dropping the injunction charges.

The unions had refused to go back to work until Domtar dropped the injunction complaints. During the hearings Domtar lawyers brought forth evidence against the unions, responsible officers, and individual strikers, who, by their evidence, had violated in various ways the some times sticky rules imposed by injunctions.

Mr. Justice Mitchell yesterday fined the unions and the individuals amounts relative to the violations he had found them guilty of.
(See "Injunction" P. 7)

Experts toss pollution into governmental laps

A panel of professors at Bishop's University last night examined the problem of water pollution from an inter-disciplinary viewpoint and concluded generally that strong government control over the wastes being dumped into rivers and lakes is the only way water resources can be preserved.
On the panel, organized by a number of local groups concerned about pollution were: Dr. J. W. McCubbin, Dean of the Bishop's Faculty of Science, Dr. T. A. Judson, head of the Department of Economics, Dr. J. K. Lowther of the Biology Department, Professor H. McConnell of the Department of Political Science and

Mr. J. D. Booth of the Geography Department.
Dean McCubbin said that the technology and engineering knowledge to stop water pollution is available and the situation can be improved and will be improved as the need arises.
Professor McConnell said that in view of the fact that provincial and municipal boundaries rarely coincide with drainage basins, there is a strong need for inter-governmental co-operation since a single government cannot handle all the problems involved.
He suggested that water pollution control be placed under a central co-ordinating authority which could then lead other sectors of government.

The federal water act which is currently in the workings, he said, may be the signal for the federal government to take the lead in defining areas of jurisdiction and making grants available to other levels of government for the fight against pollution.
"In addition to the need for government control," he said, "there is an equal need for an informed body of public opinion in favor of pollution control."
Dr. Judson presented a possibly unique proposal. He said that while government control is necessary, costs for water pollution are hard to distribute satisfactorily between industries and public individuals.
He proposed instead that the government determine the amount of pollution which could be permissible, then sell pollution rights to certain firms of individuals. After a time the cost of pollution rights will have risen to the point where to find a method of treating wastes rather than paying for pollution rights.

For international airport Quebec's Lussier presses for south shore location

OTTAWA—(CP)—Robert Lussier, Quebec's minister of municipal affairs, had a three-hour meeting yesterday with federal transport department officials to press for selection of a St. Lawrence south shore location for a new Montreal international airport.

The meeting ended with no firm decision. Provincial and federal officials are to meet again before any final decision on the location is announced.
"We are well satisfied with this meeting," Mr. Lussier said after emerging from the session.
Transport Minister Paul Hell-yer was present for the first two hours of the meeting but had to leave to attend to other duties.

Mr. Lussier and other federal officials held discussions for another hour.
Those who took part in the discussions "will report to our respective governments" before arrangements are made for a final meeting, Mr. Lussier told reporters when today's meeting broke up.

Federal officials are inclined to a new airport location in the southwestern part of the province, between Dorval, the present international airport just west of Montreal, and the Ontario-Quebec border.
The provincial government is pressing for selection of a site southeast of Montreal.
Mr. Lussier said the province's aim is to locate the new airport where it will have the greatest economic impact for the province.

Five Montreal-area MPs announced Tuesday that they are in favor of a location on the north shore of the St. Lawrence.
They issued a statement calling on members of the Quebec legislature from the north shore area to support efforts to have a new airport, made necessary because of crowded conditions at Dorval, located there.

Bishop's fashions take a new twist

A fashion show with a new twist and a bilingual flavor will be featured at the Bishop's Centennial Theatre this evening at 8:30 p.m.
The new twist can be found in the theme of the show which is The Emperor's New Clothes and the setting for the storybook show is the parade route to the emperor's palace.
Along the line of march the viewer will be confronted by Water Baby Land with its appropriate array of bathing suits and beach bunnies, Little Red Riding Hood and her neck of the woods which will undoubtedly be a microcosm of the great outdoors, and the sleepy little kingdom of Wee Willie Winkle which will be bustling, for once, with the latest in sleepytime wear.
If the mystical journey through these disparate locations in fantasyland is not enough, the secret surprise ending will bring you back to earth again, if nothing else.
The bilingual flavor for the event is derived from the fact that Sue Hammond, second-year representative on the Bishop's Women's Society has joined with Lise Goudreau of the University of Sherbrooke to produce this fashion first.
The show, which will be presenting a variety of styles will concentrate on creations for the young and the young at heart as well.
Styles from La Gamine and Le Bottier in Sherbrooke will be complemented by fashions from the girls' own wardrobes. Participating as models will be 14 girls from Bishop's and five from the University of Sherbrooke.
The latest answers to the problems of the clothes-conscious girl will not, however be the only attractions at the show.
The three princesses of the upcoming Bishop's winter carnival will be unveiled for the first time anywhere and the Bishop's Modern Dance Group will also appear on stage. Music Professor Howard Brown will play during the show as will one of the local rock bands.

Curtain time for the fairyland gala once again is 8:30 p.m. Thursday and admission is $1.50 for high school students. Tickets may be obtained during the day from the Centennial Theatre box office or prior to the show.

Strike settlement to boost region economy

Decision by Domtar employees at the Windsor and East Angus plants to accept the compromise agreement worked out by the company and union representatives is an important step towards restoring the economy of this region, which has suffered severely as a result of the six-month old walkout.

Not only does the settlement mean that the 1,200 employees at the two mills will have their normal purchasing power restored but also that the hundreds of suppliers of raw materials can look forward to the re-establishment on their principal customer.

In one important respect the pulp and paper industry holds a unique position among the manufacturers of this area.

Whereas most firms are fabricators of raw materials purchased elsewhere, the paper mills obtain their basic raw material — pulpwood — from local producers.

In addition to wood cut on their own limits, the paper companies make heavy purchases from private suppliers, large and small.

Hundreds of farmers who normally find an important income supplement in the cutting and sale of pulpwood have had their purchasing power reduced substantially by the inability of the company to take delivery of the pulpwood.

And dozens of truckers whose chief or only source of revenue is the transportation of the wood are facing grim times or even bankruptcy.

This has been reflected in reduced business for merchants, garage owners and dozens of other lines of commerce.

It may take some weeks, or even months, before the effects of the strike wear off but the settlement means that future economic trends should be for the better rather than for the worse.

Anyone who says autos no longer have cranks hasn't ridden with our neighbor lately.

CBC Olympic cost high

Canadians may have been more impressed with the manner in which the state-owned Canadian Broadcasting Corporation covered the summer Olympics in Mexico City than they were with the performance of the Canadian athletes, but when they learn that the CBC spent $930,000 on this venture they may lose some of their enthusiasm.

Some $315,000 of this was recovered from advertising revenues but this still leaves the CBC with a net deficit of $615,000 on the undertaking as compared with the expenses of $160,000 paid out by the Canadian team at the games.

Admittedly the CBC had to pay the Olympic committee for the broadcasting rights and that the living costs of their personnel was higher than that paid by the athletes at Olympic Village.

But one question the Canadian taxpayers, who in the final analysis must pay the CBC deficits, are entitled to ask is why the CBC found it necessary to send 181 persons — three more than the whole Canadian Olympic team and its 34 officials combined — to do the job.

Faced with the alleged need of increasing postage rates and reducing mail service to cut down supposed deficits in the Post Office Department, the Cabinet should show the same enthusiasm for bringing the CBC into line on the matter of expenditures.

Right about now is when you're due to locate the boxful of bulbs you wanted to put away with the Christmas decorations.

Powell's back

Race factor still hovers over scene

WASHINGTON (CP) — Adam Clayton Powell, the swinging pastor-politician from Harlem, is back in the United States Congress with a $25,000 fine, loss of $55,000 in back pay unless he wins a court suit on that point and stripped of the 22 years of seniority and the committee chairmanship that made him a power.

Still unsettled is this question: Was race a factor in Powell's expulsion March 1, 1967, from the House of Representatives on grounds he used $40,000 in public funds for goodies, including wine, women and song?

"White racism excluded Adam Clayton Powell," the light-skinned Negro said after it happened. As he toured New York last summer with another soul brother of controversial record—former heavyweight champion Cassius Clay now known as Muhammed Ali—Powell drove his contention home.

"We're here to shake hands with the people and show them what the land of the free and the home of the brave has done to two champions. I'm not in Congress and he's not in the ring."

WAS HE JOBBED?

Clay was stripped of his title for refusing to be drafted.

The Amsterdam News, the Harlem weekly, said what undoubtedly most of the 21,000,000 black Americans believe about Powell: "We still feel he was jobbed out of his job because of his race."

That's one side of the case. Few congressmen have put their own views on record. But it also seems possible that one reason why Powell got his job back was concern about irritation his case has caused among black Americans.

Many congressmen voted for Powell's ouster in 1967 from concern that his flamboyant living habits, bravado and lack of humility were bad for the congressional image. He had crossed the fine line between borderline abuse of public funds practised by some colleagues, and openly revelled in it.

"One may junket, juice, philander or cavort to excess with lobbyists without risking even a mild rebuke—so long as the proper form is observed," Larry King wrote in a recent article for Harper's magazine. He is a former congressional staff employee.

"Despite his former well-known transgressions, Representative Adam Clayton Powell angered his colleagues only after he claimed: 'I haven't done anything more than other congressmen, nor, by the grace of God, do I intend to do anything less.'" WIFE ON PAYROLL
A blunt admission of the use of borderline practices came from Emmanuel Celler, 80, who headed the court originally finding Powell guilty and then championed his eventual readmission.

"Judge not lest ye be judged," said Celler, "particularly with reference to dear ones on the payroll. . . ."

Powell had his wife on the payroll for six years, cashing her cheques for his own use while keeping her in isolation in Puerto Rico. He had also been free in claiming government funds for travel for his staff, who included a former beauty queen and his current consort, Corinne (Huff) Huff.

But to the likes of Republican H. R. Gross of Ohio, who fought the Powell readmission to the last, Powell's sin was that he "would have the people of this nation believe that he did nothing that all the rest of us here have done and are still doing—lying, cheating and stealing."

Readmission also was urged on the principle that Powell, twice re-elected by his usual smashing majorities after his expulsion, was the people's choice despite his lapses from grace.

And the New York Times, praising the reseat as well as the $25,000 fine on Powell's $35,000 annual salary, said "so long as the people of Harlem are so misguided as to prefer to be represented by Adam Clayton Powell, the nation must abide by their choice."

Powell returned unrepentant, vowing to "behave the same as I always did," and speedily ordered a redecorating job for his office.

Lennoxville man elaborates on the wisdom of Biblical sayings

Dear Sir:

A Jan. 16 news story appeared on page three of the Record under the title No hell fire message brought to the Eastern Townships.

The speakers expressed their opinion that God was love.

It is true that God is merciful, but He is also holy and just and can never be merciful at the expense of His justice.

All His attributes are equally balanced, and cannot conflict with each other. God is long suffering and slow to anger but will by no means clear the guilty.

God's mercy flows only through one channel, and that is the Salvation of Christ. Sinners who refuse to accept life through His death must ever dwell with devouring fire. He that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the Wrath of God abideth on him. (John 3:36)

I have talked with those who believed in no hell fire for unrepentant sinners but the bible teaches that hell is real where the souls of the wicked go after death to await the judgment before the great white throne.

God will be the judge and He will judge in righteousness. Sinners are not always punished in this life but the unrepentant sinners will learn "that God is not mocked for whatsoever a man soweth that will he also reap."

Listen to Paul, "it is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God." (Hebrews 10:31). And it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment. (Hebrews 9:27)

Now listen to the dying words of sinners because they were fully convinced that the dwelling place of the damned was a real place. (Talleyrand Perigord): "I am suffering the pangs of the damned!" (Mirabeau) give me laudanum that I may not think of eternity (Francis Newport): "Oh, that I was to lie upon the fire that never is quenched a thousand years, to purchase the favor of God and be reunited to Him again! But it is a fruitless wish.

Millions of millions of years will bring me no nearer to the end of torments than one poor hour. Oh, eternity, eternity! forever and forever! Oh, the insufferable pangs of hell! and the dying words of the saved. (Martha McCrackin) "How bright the room! How full of Angels!" (Dr. Cullen) "I wish I had the power of writing, I would describe how pleasant it is to die."

Luke 16:31: if they hear not Moses and the prophets, neither will they be persuaded though one rose from the dead.

Sincerely,
FREDERICK DIX,
Lennoxville.

Bygone days

TEN YEARS AGO

The annual Vestry meeting of the Church of St. Paul the Apostle, was held in the Church Hall with Rev. R. S. Jervis-Read, Rector, acting as chairman.

Following the reading of the Canon Laws by the Rector, the following officers were elected for the coming year: People's Warden, T. W. Oak; Rector's Warden, H. Graham; Envelope Secretary, E. Bryant; Auditors, J. Allanson and J. Drew; Vestry Clerk, Mrs. M. Dillon.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

The fifth annual congregational meeting was held in the Church Hall on Denault Street with the Pastor, Rev. Roy P. Stafford presiding and D. R. Armitage, congregational secretary recording.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Representative members of Trinity United Church filled Wesley Hall to hear the annual reports of organizations and to elect new board members. Rev. Fred Williams occupied the chair, and George Brault, secretary of the Official Board, acted as secretary of the meeting.

Reports of the various women's organizations of the church were a highlight.

The impressive figures revealed a vast amount of social and missionary work done during the year.

Woman points out passages from Bible

Dear Sir:

When I glanced through the Jan. 16 edition of the Record, my eyes caught an article on Page 3 I quote: "Jehovah's Witnesses no hell fire message brought to Townships." The remarks were made by William Veenstra, district supervisor of Jehovah's Witnesses.

I realize that people will read the Record but at the same time there are many people who might not search the Word of God. I would like to make my point quite clear. There is a hell fire and I quote from the King James version of the Bible which we all have heard of: Matthew Chapter 5 verse 22: "But I say unto you, that whosoever is angry with his brother without a cause shall be in danger of the judgment and whosoever shall say to his brother, Ra-ca, shall be in danger of the council; but whosoever shall say Thou Fool, shall be in danger of hell fire."

These were Jesus' own words as he talked with the disciples. Another reference is in the Revelation Chapter 20, verses 13, 14, 15: "And the sea gave up the dead which were in it; and death and hell delivered up the dead which were in them; and they were judged every man according to their works and death and hell were cast in the Lake of Fire. This is the second death, and whosoever was not found written in the Book of Life was cast into the Lake of fire." These are just a few references.

My concern is this, that if there is a lost soul without the Lord Jesus Christ as their own personal Savior who would take time to pray daily in seeking the Lord's guidance, I'm certain that if one was truly seeking, the Lord would open your eyes of understanding. We must first, however, be willing to open our hearts to Him and let Him be the Master of our life.

Jesus Christ took every man's sin unto Him when he was nailed to the cross. Therefore Jesus Christ is the mediator between God and you and I. He died for us that we might have Eternal Life. In dying for us God shows His mercy but He is also a God of wrath and of judgment.

In closing may I please quote from Revelation Chapter 22 verses 18, 19: "For I testify unto every man that heareth the words of the prophecy of this book, if any man shall add unto these things, God shall add unto him the plagues that are written in this book; and if any man shall take away from the words of the Book of this Prophecy, God shall take away his part out of the book of Life, and out of the Holy City, and from the things that are written in this book." I feel that if we should ask God for his daily cleansing through the blood of Jesus Christ which paid the price for all sin. We are born sinners and it's only through accepting God's gift to the whole world that is His Son Jesus Christ, who has already paid the price for our sins through His blood that we won't have to be afraid of this Hell Fire.

Sincerely,
MRS. GLENDA SMITH,
Ayer's Cliff, Quebec

Canadian policy on Communist China is suspended in limbo

By HEWARD GRAFFTEY

Canadian foreign policy seems suspended in a state of philosophical limbo as we enter yet another week of the review.

Well up on the list of items involved in this policy thinking is, not surprisingly, the question of Canadian diplomatic recognition for Mainland China.

We have long flirted with the idea, and have toyed with various policies to carry it out. Yet our tradition of failure in making concrete moves towards recognizing Communist China — despite our vast wheat sales to her — has created well-founded scepticism.

That is why, when Mr. Trudeau and Mr. Wilson discussed pros and cons of recognition in London prior to the Commonwealth meeting, many Canadians felt a sense of déjà vu.

Indeed, the historical background raises doubts, even now, about the success of a venture on our part to accord diplomatic recognition.

Nineteen years ago this month, at a conference of Commonwealth external affairs ministers in Colombo, Lester Pearson endorsed Nehru's plea for recognition of the new regime in Peking under Mao Tse-Tung. Prime Minister St. Laurent, in turn, backed the stand of his external affairs minister.

But at the same time, the United States was initiating policy relating to Communist China which would be hard, if not impossible, to reverse even in part for years to come.

The result, as everyone knows, is that it is in Washington and not at Commonwealth conferences where we can take a true measure of our freedom of movement.

Our manoeuvrability there — especially in relations with Communist China, has been practically nil.

From St. Laurent to Trudeau, a succession of Canadian prime ministers and external affairs ministers agreed with the idea of diplomatic recognition of Red China. Yet they all met with the same rebuff from largely the same source.

At a press conference in New Delhi in 1954, for example, during his world tour, Mr. St. Laurent supported the principle of seating Communist China at the United Nations. President Eisenhower lost no time firing off a "please explain" note through the State Department.

John Diefenbaker shared Mr. St. Laurent's views on the subject, and in June, 1958, when he visited Ottawa, Diefenbaker attempted to bring up the subject in his East block offices.

Eisenhower's temper flashed, and it seemed the subject was dropped — the only incident that in any way marred an otherwise cordial and happy meeting between the two North American leaders.

Pearson's encounters with Lyndon Johnson do not appear to have been any more fruitful.

The exercise of diplomacy in this area on both the question of diplomatic recognition and the matter of seating Communist China at the United Nations — has been difficult for Canadians.

To draw on personal experience, I recall that during the 13th session of the UN General Assembly, Canada's external affairs minister, Sydney Smith, continually polled the Canadian delegation on the advisability of voting to seat Red China.

As a delegate that year, and as one who favored the proposition that Red China be brought into the political and diplomatic mainstream, I accompanied Smith to a meeting with American UN Ambassador William Cabot Lodge — only to be disappointed. Things had not changed.

Eight years later, I was again at the United Nations with the Canadian delegation, as was the then relatively unknown Pierre Trudeau.

It seemed ridiculous to me that Canada had been fence sitting for so long, and I issued a press release to the effect that the time had come for Canada to vote in favor of seating Red China in this "world" body.

My release pointed out that, at the time, disarmament talks were at a most productive stage, but that since China was about to explode a nuclear device, it was more crucial than ever to bring that country, with its vast population, into this and many other international agreements.

I also felt that Canada's stand and vote regarding Red China at the UN had damaged our prestige.

From talks with U.S. state department officials, in New York and in Washington, I detected some softening in the U.S. line, and a desire on the part of these officials to see Canada take its own line relating to recognition of China, possibly affecting future U.S. options.

After releasing my statement to the press, I showed it to Mr. Trudeau, who was then Prime Minister Pearson's parliamentary secretary. He wholeheartedly and enthusiastically seconded my view.

Today, Mr. Trudeau could not be in a better position to implement his views. He is prime minister, and he has put everyone in a frame of mind, as a result of the "review", to expect some major changes in Canadian foreign policy.

Moreover, with the Johnson administration ended in the United States, we find ourselves in a transition period which, in itself, should temporarily allow Canada a higher degree of flexibility on the international scene.

It may be that the house Canada bought in Peking for Chester Ronning some years ago, when once before we were on the verge of diplomatic recognition, will soon be put to use after all — housing Canada's first ambassador to Communist China.

COLORFUL COSTUMES — worn by the guests at the Harrington-Durrant wedding in Kano, Nigeria formed an attractive contrast.

A wedding a little out of the usual

MARRIED IN NIGERIA — Mr. and Mrs. Robert George Harrington after their recent wedding in Kano, Nigeria.

The wedding of Myrna Florence Durrant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Y. Durrant of Sherbrooke, was a little out of the ordinary.

Miss Durrant was married to Robert George Harrington, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Harrington of Picton, Ont., at a ceremony in Kano, Nigeria, December 7, 1968.

The bride and matron of honor wore open toed sandals with their long formal gowns, and guests at the wedding included representatives from a number of continents and countries such as New Zealand, India, Pakistan, Malaysia, Lebanon, Poland, England, Ireland, United States, Trinidad, Italy and Canada.

The couple have been teaching in Kano under the auspices of the Canadian International Development Agency, Ottawa.

The new Mrs. Harrington has been in Kano as a math and science teacher at the secondary school level for the past five years. Mr. Harrington is an English teacher also at the secondary school level. The two met while in Kano.

She received her education in Quebec City where she taught high school after attending Macdonald College, McGill University and University of British Columbia.

For the wedding, in Our Lady of Fatima Church, the bride wore a floor-length gown of lace over slipper satin. A knee-length veil of embroidered tulle was held in place by a pearl encrusted headband. She carried a bridal bouquet of white and yellow roses dotted with white frangipanis. Her shoes were silver sandals.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Tad Bogacki, wore a floor-length dress of heavy red silk and gold sandals. She carried a bouquet of all white baby chrysanthemums.

Traditional wedding music was played by one of the sisters from St. Louis' Secondary School, Kano.

David Joefield, a friend of the groom's from Trinidad, was best man. The ceremony was followed by the Nuptial Mass with Rev. Father Hughes officiating.

Following the church ceremony, a cocktail reception was held at the Pink Peacock Hotel in the Sabon Gari, Kano. Peter Falvey of Government Girls' College, Kano, was master of ceremonies. Tad Bogacki proposed the toast to the bride. A beautiful three-tiered frosted wedding cake was made and decorated by a Mrs. Wickstrom of the Sudan Interior Mission, Kano. Approximately 130 guests attended. The staffs from the two schools where the bride and groom teach, Government Girls' College, Wudil, were well represented. Many teachers were present from the Craft School, Wudil, the Women's Training College, Kano, and the Teachers' College, Bichi.

Later, a smaller group of selected friends who had helped with the wedding arrangements met in the Pink Peacock Hotel for a dinner of Chinese and Malaysian food.

The groom's gift to the bride was a locally hand-worked gold brooch representing a Muslim motif called the Northern knot. The matron of honor and best man were each presented with cial support being received by the Tremblay forces.

Money backing

According to one man intimately connected with fund raising for one of the established parties, the volume of donations to the CN cause is greater than that given any party in the past.

Creditists, who spawned the new party, have financed their campaigns in the past by collections at their meetings and small donations from their supporters, a policy that seems to be paying off for the new group.

At least Christian Nationalist spokesmen have money enough for half-hour broadcasts on prime time each week on the French-language private television stations — and this is not purchased for 75 cents.

Stress science

as well as on the purely political.

Even enthusiasts of Franco-Quebec co-operation see most of its achievements so far as being in cultural and technical fields, in addition to whatever political dividends it may have earned its backers.

But increasingly heard here are calls for more effective involvement by French businessmen in Quebec, as proof of readiness by Paris to put more commercial cash into the province's development.

YEAR WAS TOUGH

France has had a tough year economically, one sign of which is de Gaulle's decision to reduce by 10 per cent his government's contribution to Franco-West German youth exchanges.

His determination to maintain French presence in Quebec remains seemingly unaffected by budgetary cuts, however.

Possibly the only bright light from the Ottawa's point of view Wednesday was the news conference performance of Gen. Jean-Victor Allard, chief of Canada's defence staff.

Must prove

QUEBEC (CP) — Dairy farmers will have to prove their eligibility each year for the federal milk subsidy, Agriculture Minister Olson announced today.

Addressing the annual meeting of the Dairy Farmers of Canada here, Mr. Olson also said a milk-quality standard will be imposed as a qualification in receiving a subsidy quota.

For the new dairy year which starts April 1, farmers who failed to apply for a subsidy quota last year — 1968-69 — will be eligible to apply.

DOUBLE TROUBLE DONE

Identical twins Terry and Tracy Bruce await a fingerprint expert's verdict on who's who. Their mother had used a nail-polish spot to tell them apart, but that recently came out in the wash tub. Mrs. DeWitt Bruce says she plans to have a dot tattooed on one of the girls so they won't need to wear hospital ID bracelets all their lives.

QUEBEC SCENE

Masse subs for Cardinal

QUEBEC (CP) — Marcel Masse will assume the responsibilities of Education Minister Jean-Guy Cardinal during Mr. Cardinal's current visit to London and Paris, it was announced Wednesday.

Acting premier Paul Doyon said Mr. Masse, at present minister without portfolio responsible for the public service, has already had several months' experience as minister without portfolio responsible to the education department.

Mr. Cardinal is on a visit to London and Paris with a delegation of Quebec officials.

The delegation left Canada Jan. 21 and was to return Jan. 29.

Started to load

MONTREAL (CP) — CP Rail announced Wednesday it has started to load and move special trainloads of dry No. 2 northern wheat from the Prairies to Vancouver for export.

S. M. Gossage, vice-president of the railway, said the first of the special grain trains were to start moving toward Vancouver Wednesday night.

They were requested by the Canadian wheat board and will take from two to three days to get to Vancouver from loading points in the Prairies.

Mr. Gossage said CP Rail has 3,787 boxcars loaded with 7,500,000 bushels of various grain at Vancouver or en route there from the Prairies.

Mr. Menard announced the launching of the party at a news conference.

He said Quebeckers are unhappy about unemployment, labor problems, separatism and general misgovernment.

Cancel meeting

QUEBEC (CP) — The first meeting of the national assembly

by committee set up "to examine the problem of freedom of the press," scheduled for next Tuesday, was called off Wednesday.

Health Minister Jean-Paul Cloutier, chairman of the nine-member committee, told reporters a new date will be set after discussion between Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand and Opposition Leader Jean Lesage.

Seek contract

OTTAWA (CP) — Protestant teachers in Western Quebec decided Wednesday night to seek a new contract by themselves rather than wait for a province-wide settlement.

Negotiations between Quebec's 70,000 teachers and the government broke down shortly before Christmas.

The 300-member Western Quebec Protestant Teachers Association met here and decided to seek approval from the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers to negotiate directly with the Quebec West Protestant School Boards Association.

Raymond Watson, chairman of the local association's salary committee, said it was difficult to negotiate on a province-wide basis because of "radically different backgrounds."

Will set up

MONTREAL (CP) — Imperial Tobacco Co. of Canada Ltd. is setting up a corporate structure to handle tobacco operations, president John Keith announced Wednesday.

Possibly in operation by April, the structure will be called Imperial Tobacco Products Ltd.

The change involves what Mr. Keith called some important shifts of people and responsibilities to reflect the developing organizational concept.

Abdicated

MONTREAL (CP) — Parliament and to a large degree the cabinet have abdicated their responsibility in levelling taxes, Philip Vineberg, Montreal lawyer and taxation authority, said Wednesday.

He told the 51st annual meeting of the Canadian Construction Association that too many tax changes now are being made by civil servants through the way they interpret regulations.

Mr. Vineberg, a past president of the Canadian Tax Foundation, told delegates that Canada was experiencing taxation without representation.

He said there are scores of examples where established tax principles had been changed by an official of the taxation department changing the interpretation of laws that had stood up for years.

Disenchanted

CAP CHAT, Que. (CP) — Unemployed workers in the Gaspé North area have become disenchanted with a report by the mayor of Cap Chat that 75 per cent of the 380 employees of Pamo Construction and Madeleine Mines are residents of the area.

The report was presented to the workers at a meeting Tuesday night by Mayor Paul-Emile Levesque of Cap Chat, a community 240 miles northeast of Quebec City.

Set up bureau

MONTREAL (CP) — L. R. Hobbs, director of police and security at the port of Montreal, urged importers Wednesday to set up a cargo-loss bureau to help reduce crime on the waterfront.

Mr. Hobbs told a meeting of the Canadian Importers Association there will never be a practical manner to separate losses, damages and shortages from actual thefts without such a bureau.

A cargo-loss bureau would enable the gathering of reliable statistics regarding the amount and type of thefts in the Canadian ports.

Seek contract

OTTAWA (CP) — Protestant teachers in Western Quebec decided Wednesday night to seek a new contract by themselves rather than wait for a province-wide settlement.

Negotiations between Quebec's 70,000 teachers and the government broke down shortly before Christmas.

The 300-member Western Quebec Protestant Teachers Association met here and decided to seek approval from the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers to negotiate directly with the Quebec West Protestant School Boards Association.

Raymond Watson, chairman of the local association's salary committee, said it was difficult to negotiate on a province-wide basis because of "radically different backgrounds."

Scots are disturbed over visit by Queen

EDINBURGH (CP) — With traditional wariness of south-of-the-border actions, many Scots are disturbed by a decision to have the Queen officially attend the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland next May. Touchy political and religious problems are involved in the first such attendance by a reigning monarch since the union of the British and Scottish thrones in 1603. While the Queen is head of the state Church of England, she has no say in the affairs of the Presbyterian kirk. The custom is for the monarch to have an address read to the assembly by a lord high commissioner appointed for the purpose, usually an eminent Scot but occasionally a member of the Royal Family. The decision for Queen Elizabeth to read her address in person and thereby break with a 350-year custom is looked on here as a political one. The kirk has expressed "delight," but Scots as a whole take the cynical view that it is a concession to the rising tide of Scottish nationalist feeling.

Three Villages

Miss Lillian Keeler, Stanstead, was a weekend visitor of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Bullock, Beebe. Mrs. Carl Gustafson, Lennoxville, was a caller of Mr. and Mrs. Merton Davis, Rock Island. Miss Linda Davis, a senior nurse at the Sherbrooke Hospital School of Nursing, had been ill with the flu at the Norton Residence. Miss Joyce Wilson, Denver, Colo., has returned after visiting her mother, Mrs. B. E. Wilson and family, Derby Line, and skiing on some of the Vermont slopes. Mrs. B. E. Wilson was in Lexington, Mass., where she visited her sister, Mrs. George Caspar. Several attended the funeral of Mrs. Curtis Parker at the Cass Funeral Home, Stanstead. Mrs. Parker was a resident for several years at Judd's Mills. Following the death of her husband, she sold the property and made her home with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hutchins at Georgeville. Mrs. Parker died Jan. 13 at the Sherbrooke Hospital. She was 83 years of age. Mrs. William Comstock, Sr., Rock Island, entertained the Stan-Rock Club Jan. 8. The members were joined by a guest, Mrs. Comstock's daughter, Mrs. Terry Robinson. Games were played and the winners received prizes. Refreshments were served. Mrs. Rudy Miller will hostess the February party. Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Mongeau and family, Rock Island, were visitors of the latter's family at Hatley.

Hold annual meeting of Guild, elect officers

BURY — The Ladies Guild of St. Paul's Church held its annual meeting, deferred from Jan. 8, due to weather conditions, in the Parish Hall on Jan. 15. With Mrs. Wilbert Buchanan presiding, the meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. M. Jones. Correspondence was read by the secretary, Mrs. Douglas Harrison. Mrs. H. B. Lawrence, treasurer, gave the financial report which showed all major commitments met. A new member was welcomed. All committees gave good reports of the work done during the year. Several donations were received for the work table. In regard to the current series of card parties, being sponsored by the Guild, it was decided to appoint five members each card party night to take charge of prizes, food and cleaning up afterwards. Previous to election of officers, Mrs. Buchanan thanked the members for their cheerful and willing co-operation during her term of office. RE-ELECT OFFICERS Mr. Jones then took the chair for the election of officers, which resulted in all officers being re-elected. They are: President, Mrs. Wilbert Buchanan; first vice-president, Mrs. Rayfield Ross; second vice-president, Mrs. Reggie Thompson; treasurer, Mrs. H. B. Lawrence; and secretary, Mrs. Douglas Harrison. Mrs. Jones moved a vote of thanks to the officers and committees who have so consistently given of their time and effort. It was responded to with hearty applause. The meeting was closed with prayer by Mr. Jones. Refreshments served by members were provided by Mrs. Clarence Barter and Mrs. Elmore Barter, both unable to attend because of illness.

Border A. C. W. votes money to relief fund

STANSTEAD — Mrs. Edward Hyatt was hostess for the postponed meeting of Christ Church Anglican Church Women held at her home on Jan. 15. The meeting was opened using materials from The Living Message magazine. Later, Mrs. A. H. Scarth, president, conducted the study period using a questionnaire from the magazine and from book, "Prejudice and Discrimination." A sum of $20 was sent to the Diocesan treasurer earmarked for an Indian Residential school in Quebec. The disbanded Junior Auxiliary funds of $17 was increased to $20 by the ACW treasury, and sent to the Unitarian Relief fund. The date of May 6 was set for a card party in the Parish Hall and the June 6 meeting is to be held in the Parish Hall at which time an auction will take place and materials on the sale of Holland bulbs will be on display. Plans for both event are to be completed as dates draw near. Mrs. Donald Prangley will hostess the Feb. 5 meeting at her home. The meeting adjourned and Mrs. Hyatt served afternoon tea. Mrs. Scarth poured.

Table with bridge hand notations: NORTH (D), WEST, SOUTH, EAST, and various card symbols like AK854, AQ, KJ10, A92, etc.

Stayman bid by South and three spade response by North. The Jacoby Transfer bids will also arrive at four spades with North as declarer. South will respond three hearts to the opening two no-trump bid. This bid shows spades and a hand of any strength from nothing on up.

We imagine quite a few North American pairs reached a spade slam with today's North-South cards in the Charity tourney. Some North players might open one spade and proceed to six after a raise from partner.

Guild meets at Bishopton

BISHOPTON — The Ladies Guild held its meeting Jan. 18 with Mrs. Ernest Jenkinson with twelve members present. It was decided to hold the congregational dinner at the school house on Jan. 26 at 1 p.m. A vestry meeting will be held in the afternoon of the same day, at the same place.

Played from the North seat the slam is not too bad a contract. The location of the king of hearts doesn't matter because South can probably get rid of his fourth diamond but since East held the queen of diamonds there is no way to bring home 12 tricks and the slam bidders will wind up in the soup.

North should open two no-trump with his very good 21 points. Some South players will pass and let North play two no-trump for a bad score. Those who don't use Stayman or the Jacoby transfer will respond three spades and will play at game after a raise from North. A diamond lead will hold them to four odd because the defense will take the first three tricks but most will make an over-trick after the normal club opening lead.

Stayman bidders will reach four spades with North as declarer after a three-club

Veneral Disease May Pass to Infant

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—What are the symptoms of veneral disease? Can it be passed from a mother to her baby?

A—Gonorrhea starts with a severe burning pain on urination starting five or six days after an exposure. This is associated with a discharge of pus from the urethra. These symptoms are more likely to occur in men than in women. But, in women, the uterine tubes may become infected, causing pain and often sterility.

Syphilis starts with a small hard tumor or chancre on the genitals which develops from 10 to 90 days after exposure. Because it is painless it may go unnoticed, especially in women. About four weeks later there may be a skin rash that resembles measles.

A mother who has gonorrhea may, at the time of delivery, pass the infection to the baby's eyes. This is a common cause of blindness in the past and is why all states require prophylactic treatment of the eyes of every newborn. A mother with untreated syphilis may transmit the disease to her baby by way of the blood passing through the umbilical cord.

Q—What complications in men are caused by gonorrhea?

A—Niter and saltwater are other names for potassium nitrate. Its value in reducing sexual desire has been greatly overrated and it is no longer prescribed for this or any other purpose.

Q—I am taking Regroton. It gives me a headache. Could the headache be caused by prolonged use of this drug?

A—Yes. Other side effects include nausea, diarrhea and muscle cramps.

Kinnear's Mills UCW holds first meeting of new year

KINNEAR'S MILLS — The first meeting of the new year was held by the UCW on Jan. 9 with Mrs. Jack Allan as hostess. The devotional period was led by Mrs. Charles Cruickshank and opened with the singing of the hymn, Standing at the Portal of the Opening Year. The pianist was Mrs. Murray Nugent.

Mrs. Cruickshank gave a brief but inspiring message using as her theme, Unity of Faith. Mrs. Russell Rothney read verses from Chapter 4 of Ephesians and Mrs. Gordon Morrison also read from the same chapter. Mrs. Cruickshank mentioned how verses from this chapter presents us with a clean slate, free from bitterness and anger, making each one a forgiving person ready to begin a new year with untroubled hearts. She also reviewed the aims of the devotional period.

A review of Rev. Colin L. West's Christmas work was given. Mr. West was formerly a pastor at Kinnear's Mills and Mrs. West and family now live at New Liskeard, Ont. This Christmas news letter was passed around to the members.

During the program a humorous reading, The Weather Prophet, was given. The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. J. Edgar Nugent. As it was the annual meeting a detailed report of the year's work was given by the treasurer, Mrs. Eric MacRae, which showed a satisfactory balance.

Correspondence included thank you notes for gifts received. Several members paid fees and one new member was welcomed into the UCW.

Pamphlets for the World's Day of Prayer Service are to be ordered. The treasurer also was requested to buy two new record books.

It was decided to discontinue the Birthday Club formed many years ago.

Mrs. Cruickshank asked that for the next meeting each one try to bring some information concerning the United Church of Leeds Village, which has been demolished and it is hoped to be able to compile a history.

Mrs. Russell Rothney offered to entertain the next meeting at her home.

"I am only 30—too young for the ulcer. I tell my bosses: 'If I won't do, tell me so and I go.'"

Denny McLain top athlete in AP poll

NEW YORK (AP) — Denny McLain, the flamboyant Detroit Tigers pitcher, today was named Male Athlete of the Year in the 38th annual Associated Press poll.

McLain became the fourth baseball player in succession and the seventh in the last eight polls to find himself sitting on top of the sports world.

In those eight years only Don Schollander, the swimming star of America's 1964 Olympic team, has managed to break baseball's hold on the award.

McLain posted 31 victories—in 1968—becoming the first pitcher to reach the 30-victory plateau since Dizzy Dean in 1934.

In the balloting by sports writers and broadcasters, McLain drew 108 first-place votes and amassed a total of 517 points on the basis of three points for first place, two for second and one for third.

Only three other athletes received more than 200 points—O. J. Simpson, the Heisman Trophy winner from Southern California, pitcher Bob Gibson of St. Louis Cardinals and quarterback Earl Morrall of Baltimore Colts, the only pro football player to crack the Top Ten.

The poll, however, was taken before the Super Bowl game, which will become a part of the 1969 voting, and therefore does not reflect the stunning upset polled off by quarterback Joe Namath.

Champ Bob Foster floors De Paula in quick order

NEW YORK (AP) — Light heavyweight champion Bob Foster said it wasn't his easiest fight. But his first-round technical knockout of outmatched Frankie De Paula in a title defence at Madison Square Garden Wednesday night has to rate high up on any fighter's soft touch list.

It took the six-foot-3½ champ from Washington, D.C., just two minutes and 17 seconds to drop the five-foot-8½ challenger from Jersey City, N.J., on the canvas three times. Under New York's three knockdowns in one round rule, the fight was automatically over for the 5-1 underdog.

In that brief period of time, Foster, who once fought for $23 and quit the ring in disgust when he couldn't get any fights, earned about $75,000 from the gross gate of $189,129 contributed by 16,129 fans and from television. De Paula earned about $37,500.

Foster, winner of 13 straight including 12 knockouts, and his manager, Mushky Salow, plan today to go over a stack of offers for title defences.

OFFERS TOTAL $300,000

Salow said he had offers totalling more than $300,000 for defences against Gregorio Peralta in Argentina, Peiro Del Papa in Italy, Bob Dunlap in Australia, Yvan Preberg in Yugoslavia and Jose Torres in Puerto Rico.

The Garden offered a shot at the winner of the heavyweight fight here Feb. 3 between Toronto's George Chuvalo and Buster Mathis.

Russians want more games, Sherbrooke possible site

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Soviet hockey team would like to play one or two more games against Canada's nationals during their current tour and the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association will try to accommodate them, executive director Gordon Jukes said Wednesday.

A decision will be made later this week when the Russians arrive for games Sunday and Tuesday in Winnipeg.

Jukes said the Russians have declared they are prepared to stay a couple of extra days to make up the scheduled Jan. 18 opener at Montreal, which was cancelled when they did not arrive on time.

They might even be able to stay long enough for an extra game, extending the tour to nine games.

Commitments of the Canadian squad and availability of ice in eastern Canada now are being investigated before reaching a decision, Jukes said.

The series now is scheduled to wind up Jan. 30 at Ottawa, where the Russians also play Jan. 24.

Jukes said the CAHA would prefer not to play a third game at Ottawa and it did not appear its mind. The investigation into possible eastern venues is being handled by eastern CAHA representatives, said Jukes. Centres mentioned as possibilities included Quebec City, Sherbrooke, Shawinigan, Kingston and Kitchener.

The Province would be interested in holding the game. This was brought about by the Russians' demand for a couple of more games. Since David Molson, president of the Montreal Canadiens and the Montreal Forum, has refused to think about it following the foul-up last week the CAHA is seeking other sites.

President Crochetiere stated he had contacted the Sports Commission regarding the game but the final answer will come following the semi-annual meeting of the CAHA in Winnipeg this weekend. The Sports Palace would be an ideal place but Quebec City is also seeking the game, stated President Crochetiere.

If Sherbrooke is granted the game it would certainly create considerable interest around the Townships and it should be a sell out. The fans have been reading plenty about the Russians but this would be an opportunity of seeing them in action.

Nationals find out Russians don't tire after 40 minutes, win 8-3

VICTORIA (CP) — "We play Canada to learn," said coach Anatoli Tarasov of the Russian national hockey team. But so far on their tour, the Russians have been giving lessons to the Canadian nationals.

Wednesday night's lesson, learned during an 8-3 loss to Russia, was that the Russians don't tire after 40 minutes.

Canada did and allowed three unanswered goals in the final period. But the Canadians played far better in the first two frames than they did in a 7-0 trouncing in Vancouver Tuesday night.

"Our forwards played much better, but our defence was having a bad game," said Canadian coach Jackie McLeod, whose team also lost 4-2 to the Russians in Toronto last Sunday night.

Gerry Pinder scored two for Canada and Derek Holmes one as the Russians held period leads of 4-2 and 5-3.

Wayne Stephenson, goalie with the Winnipeg-based national team, was pulled after the first period for Steve Rexe of the Ottawa-based crew, who made some fine saves.

But Rexe didn't have the help he needed from his defence, who again handed goals to the Russians by poor clearing attempts. Victor Zinger bobbled a few, but handled long shots well in the Russian goal.

TWO SCORE TWICE
 Vladimir Vikulov and Vladimir Petrov each scored twice for the visitors. Single goals came from Alexander Ragulin, Vyacheslav Starshinov, Boris Matorov and Boris Mihailov.

Each club drew nine minor penalties before a sellout crowd of 5,298 and Bob Birdsell of Canada was assessed a third-period misconduct for arguing a cross-checking call against Ted Hargreaves.

The teams meet again in Ottawa Friday night.

Tempers flared several times and once in the second period each team was down to four men after a series of penalties.

Holmes scored Canada's first, converting Jean Cusson's shot. Pinder counted his first after Jack Bownass, 36-year-old coach of the Eastern Nats, shot through a crowd in front of Zinger.

John Piscopo of Laconia, N. H. upsets veterans to win Sutton Sled-Dog Race

SUTTON — (Special) — John Piscopo, 21-year-old dog sled driver from Laconia, New Hampshire, pulled an upset in winning the annual Sutton International Sled-Dog Race over a field of veteran drivers last weekend.

Beating all 17 other teams, including fine strings of huskies driven by such former champions as Mrs. Jean Bryar, Dick Moulton and Eddie Silvain, Saturday afternoon the newcomer sped his Siberians to a well earned victory. Then in the dividing Sunday heat, the determined young New Englander repeated his win to earn top honors: a $300 purse and the championship trophy.

His total time, split almost equally for the two-day event, was 1 hr. 30 min. 55 sec for the overall 28-mile distance.

With a slightly lower score of 1 hr. 32 min. 3 sec. Malcolm McDougall, of Ste. Agathe des Monts, clinched second place by defeating last year's champion, Richard Moulton, from New Hampshire.

In fourth and fifth place, were expert drivers, Debbie Molberg from New Hampshire and Eddie Silvain, of Lac Beauport, Que.

Interviewed as he prepared his string for the Sunday heat, John Piscopo revealed that despite his youthful age, he is far from a newcomer to sled dog racing.

"I started to race when 11," he said "and have competed for 10 years. Now, while at Belknap University, I still enjoy taking time out to enter derbies."

He said the 14-mile course had been well planned, but a sudden thaw and drizzling rain made it treacherous for the first heat Saturday.

Later the temperature lowered to below freezing and the rain stopped. However, snow fell in the valley, and Piscopo and the other competitors had to drive through wind-driven snow.

Prior to the Sunday race Malcolm McDougall also was interviewed.

"I will try my best to win for Canada," said the 44-year-old Ste. Agathe driver. "I have a good team of well trained Siberians." He had two lead dogs, Dan and Biah, aged 3 and 4.

"I raced at Val Morin last week," said the Ste. Agathe driver, "and I plan to enter a number of derbies this winter. Included are races at Quebec, Ottawa, North Bay, and the big derby at Fairbanks, Alaska. My son Jamie, who raced here six years ago when only 13, is attending the University of Alaska — and he will also compete.

At Val Morin the winner was John Bastien, the 24-year-old son of Chief H. Bastien, president of Bastien Bros. Inc., at Huron Village, the Indian reservation near Quebec City.

At Sutton, for the third time, the up-and-coming driver was accompanied by the Chief, a congenial, thoroughly bilingual gentleman. This time he finished eighth.

"This winter," said Chief Bastien, "Jean and I will compete in Minnesota. I will fly, and Jean will truck the dogs."

The Bastien string is a cross-breed of Siberians and German shepherds. It's a fine looking team with a good leader.

Besides Jean Bryar, champion at the first Sutton International Sled Dog Race, attractive Debbie Molberg, third place winner last year, was back again from Center Harbor, N.H., with a handsome, speedy team of Siberians.

"I don't expect to do as well as last year," she said with a smile. "I've been busy training some pups. I'm trying out two new two-year-old leaders and I hope they will prove good."

Even after a poor start on Saturday afternoon, Debbie braved the icy trail Sunday and her fast time earned the attractive miss fourth place honor. Her total time of 1 hr. 34 min. 14 sec. was a bare few seconds better than Eddie Silvain's, champion in 1967.

On Sunday the drivers proved their mettle and determination when faced with a strong challenge. Called together by Robert Boulanger, at a drivers' meeting, they were asked if they wanted to cancel the second event because of dangerous icy conditions along the course. One such stretch of glare ice was 1,000 feet long but they chose to take the risk anyway.

Mrs. Bryar, who was not feeling up to par, and two or three less experienced drivers scratched. Fortunately, no one was injured but although 18 started Saturday, only 13 managed to complete the race within a deadline time Sunday. Of that number Debbie Molberg finished fourth. She was the only woman in the Sunday event.

The prize money and trophy was presented by the Junior Chamber of Commerce at Auberge de Sutton following Sunday's race. In all, the sum of $1,000 was distributed among the drivers.

Bears still setting pace

There are seven good reasons why Hershey Bears are first and Springfield Kings last in the American Hockey League's Eastern Division.

The two teams met for the eighth time Wednesday night and the Bears came away with their seventh victory, 4-1. That increased their lead over idle Providence to six points and left Springfield the same number of points behind Baltimore, which lost to Cleveland 5-2 in the only other action.

Stan Gilbertson's goal at 3:02 of the first period started the Bears on their way. Michel Harvey, the AHL's leading scorer, made it 2-0 with his 28th goal in the second period. Ralph Keller and Mike Mahoney talked in the final period around a goal by Springfield's Gary Croteau.

Midway through the second period, Ab DeMarco tried a long shot which Chuck Lefley picked up. Lefley shot and Pinder dumped the rebound into the net at 11:38.

The Russians held only a 42-39 margin in shots on goal and the Canadians outshot Russia 17-15 in the first period.

Said McLeod: "We'll make changes for Friday's game in Ottawa. John Ferguson and Paul Cadieux will be on defence and we'll try two lines from the Ottawa team."

"I want to see all our boys in action against the Russians this tour. We should start getting some of the breaks soon."

remaining. The Vics also have played 41 games while the Gaults only 39. In their last ten games the Gaults have managed a mere two wins, one tie and seven defeats. Granby in their last two outings, blanked the Eastern Nationals 4-0 only to be shut-out 4-0 by the Tigers in the ensuing encounter.

Sherbrooke travels to Victoriaville tonight in search of their first victory in the Jean Beliveau Sports Center this season.

In one other game, third place is on the line, as the Granby Vics and the St. Hyacinthe Gaults tangle in St. Hyacinthe.

As a result of the scheduling tonight Sherbrooke Beavers cannot help but remain four points out of fourth place. If the Beavers can muster an attack good enough to beat the Tigers, they will remain only two points out of fourth place.

Sherbrooke Beavers after struggling to remain in contention in the Quebec Provincial Senior Hockey League standings, have the opportunity tonight to move to within two points of fourth place and an all-important playoff berth.

As a result of the scheduling tonight Sherbrooke Beavers cannot help but remain four points out of fourth place. If the Beavers can muster an attack good enough to beat the Tigers, they will remain only two points out of fourth place.

Tonight's game marks the third time within seven days the Beavers have faced the Tigers. Last Thursday evening the Tigers embarrassed Sherbrooke 8-2 and Tuesday evening, at the Sports Palace, Sherbrooke outplayed and outshot the Tigers only to end deadlocked 1-1.

The Beavers did much to enhance their playoff hopes over the weekend as they outclassed the Gaults 6-0 Friday night at the Sports Palace and then Sunday stunned the redhot Chicoutimi Saguenens 4-2 before a total crowd of 5,000 fans, 2,100 Friday night and 2,900 Sunday evening.

The worst thing which could happen to the Beavers tonight would be a loss coupled with a tie between the Vics and Gaults. This would move Sherbrooke back to five points out of fourth place.

The Beavers have played 41 games thus far and have 19

Hi-Y Boys' Jamboree slated for Saturday

The Maroon and White of Sherbrooke High School, annual hardcourt strongmen, are favored once again this year to walk off with top honors in the Senior Division of the 13th annual Hi-Y Boys' Invitational High School Basketball Jamboree.

The tournament will be held at the Sherbrooke High School gym Saturday. Games are scheduled to begin early in the morning and run throughout the day. The finals in both divisions will get underway around 7:00 p.m.

Competition should be keen in both the Junior and Senior Divisions according to reports from various informed sources. The Cowansville area generally provide tough competition; last year's junior contingent having won the coveted crown.

SHS downed the highly favored Irish of St. Pat's High last year to earn the J. S. Mitchell Trophy emblematic of senior basketball supremacy in the ET. SHS clipped St. Pat's 46-42 in one of the closest finals in some time.

In 1967 St. Pat's walked over the Maroon and White by 22 points, 53-31 while the Sunnyside Juniors outclassed all opponents to earn the Junior

Williams can pass - no bones about it

NEW YORK—(N.E.A.)—This is not a story about grim dedication to a purpose, sweat, sacrifice and finally success. Not at all. Shucks, Hambone Williams never sweated anything—not much anyway.

Growing up around San Diego, he acquired a reputation as a pretty loosey-goosey guy—hence the nickname Hambone, or, as close friends call him, Bones.

Two years ago, Art (Bones, Hambone, etc.) Williams was earning about $100 a week working at the Convoir shipping department in San Diego. He was 27 years old, married and going nowhere at an incredible speed.

These days, however, Williams plays guard for the San Diego Rockets. Coach Jack McMahon thinks he may be the best passer in the National Basketball Association, if not the world. Now Bones Williams makes considerably more than $100 a week.

The events that transpired to bring Art Williams to the threshold of stardom in the NBA are slightly confused in everyone's mind except Hambone's. It has all been very clear to him.

After graduating from high school, Williams spent one year at California Poly (Pomona), then quit and got married. The next four or five years were filled with idle admiration of Oscar Robertson and Wilt Chamberlain and work at various factories. The closest he came to the NBA were day-dreams.

Night brought temporary relief. He played basketball for a factory team and an occasional AAU outfit. He was comfortable then, he said, because it felt natural.

Two years ago, former NBA great Arnie Risen—who had known Williams about 10 years—wrote Bones a note, asking him to come down to San Diego's rookie camp and try out. Bones had no second thoughts as he packed his toothbrush and sneakers.

"I was pretty confident," Williams recalled. "I'd watched the other guys play and I thought I could make it. Basketball just comes natural to me, I guess."

SIDEWALKS BURIED IN RICHMOND—With the town's only snowblower broken-down, the recent snow storms have covered over the sidewalks to a depth of three to four feet, and narrowed down the roadways to a minimum. Residents who have to walk along the roads are in danger of being hit by the motorists who in many cases are not reducing their driving speeds, due to the abnormal conditions. The photos show the conditions along Craig Street, a main artery of the town, and, College Street, a residential section, where a great number of school children have to travel back and forth to the Regional School. (Record photos: Wm. H. Lunan Studio)

Scotstown UCW reviews group's 1968 activities

SCOTSTOWN — Mrs. W. A. Ladd was hostess for the January meeting of the United Church Women at her home on Jan. 15. There was a small attendance owing to illness. A moment of silence was observed for a life member of the W.M.S., the late Mrs. C. M. Smith, and Dr. Roy Pounder, who both died in December. A donation of money would be sent to the Heart Foundation Fund in memory of Mrs. Smith, who was a faithful member of St. Andrew's United Church and the organizations. The worship service, taken from the Clip sheet, was given by Mrs. F. B. Mayhew. Mrs. Ladd conducted the annual business meeting. Members paid annual fees and plans were made for refreshments at the congregational meeting. Mrs. Mayhew reported having written a thank-you note to members of Lewis Lodge, No. 53 of the I.O.O.F. for their donation of money to help defray the cost of the candy for the Community Christmas Sunday School Tree. The U.C.W. voted to pay the balance of the candy bill. Thank-yous were read from Miss Mary MacDonald, Dr. Montgomery for the supply bale and an acknowledgement from the Smith family for sympathy card. Mrs. Blanche MacLeod thanked the members for the Christmas gift and those who visited her while she was confined to the house. The treasurer gave the annual statement which showed a fair balance on hand to start the year. The secretary's annual report showed that the group had a successful year under the leadership of Mrs. W. A. Ladd. Members took part in the World Day of Prayer in the Presbyterian Church; eight members attended the Presbyterian Rally in Bury in September; insurance both on the manse and electric organ was renewed for three years. Members donated articles and material during the year for the sales tables; gift was given Miss Isabelle Miller, R.N. in Hong Kong and birthday gift to the church's sponsored child in the S.O.S. Village in Austria. Bride remembered with a gift. Money donated to The Home and School and paid for clothing for needy children in the school; donation to the Presbyterian Sunday school for supplies and donation to Maplemount Home in Cookshire. Articles sent in supply bale were three baby jackets, one pair cub pants and shirt and two towels. Members and friends were visited when sick, cards sent on different occasions to members and friends during the year with a 40th wedding anniversary card sent to Mr. and Mrs. Angus MacKenzie, Gagnon. Dinner meeting was held in November and Christmas tea and sale in December. The allocation of $225 was met. Money was raised by envelope giving and payment of fees, proceeds of the sale and donations given by some ladies of the congregation and friends. Mrs. Ross MacDonald will be hostess for the February meeting. At the close of the meeting Mrs. Ladd served refreshments.

Use of poster reveals new approach to missions

SCOTSTOWN — The Evening Auxiliary of the Presbyterian W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. John Morrison. Mrs. A. W. Murray was in charge of the worship service and study, taken from the new study book, New forms of Mission. Mrs. Murray pointed out on a poster new ways of looking at missions and gave a scripture reference for each of the followings: Mission belongs to each of us; Place of mission, Everywhere. Mission is the care of the earth. Every Christian must be a mission. Mission is the setness of the church to proclaim God's love in witness, service and fellowship.

Members paid annual fees and a donation was gratefully received from Mrs. J. W. Smith, of Montreal. Mrs. W. G. MacLeod gave an interesting report of the annual Quebec Presbyterian held in Sherbrooke, when a tentative date was set for the May Rally to be held in Scotstown. The next meeting will be in the afternoon at the home of Mrs. Albert Murray on Feb. 4, when the Afternoon W.M.S. Auxiliary will be guests. Mrs. W. A. Murray closed the meeting with prayer. Mrs. Bill MacAskill assisted Mrs. Morrison in serving refreshments.

Bury Guild sponsors series of card parties

GRAIN MILL FIRE BURNS ON — Fire that destroyed the mill in Danville, with an estimated damage of $150,000 continues to be a problem. To date, the fire department has made two additional trips to the scene to water-down the ruins which persist in burning-off the tons of grain which are enveloped under the ice covered timbers. Owners of the mill, Pierre Roy and Sons expect to re-build as warmer weather sets in. In the photo may be seen the ruins with a portion to the right, which still stands and
